Eight Adults, Teenage Boy Rescued After Drifting 12 Days on Schooner

HONOLULU, T. H., (AP)—Eight adults and a 13-year-old boy were rescued from a derelict racing schooner in early morning darkness yesterday after the ship had drifted for 12-days with a broken mainmast.

The Navy Transport Lt. Robert Craig reported she discovered the 75-foot former luxury schooner Idalia wallowing helpless 1618O miles north of Honolulu.

The schooner had a shattered mainmast, no radio, no auxiliary power, and was drifting several miles off course.

"It was a stroke of luck we stumbled on her," a Navy spokesman said. The Craig was steaming on an altered course to avoid unfavorable trade winds in the north.

Damage to the schooner, the Idalia, was so great the Navy sank the former luxury yacht, gun runner and trans-Pacific racer as a menace to navigation.

The crewmembers were in good condition and did not require medical attention, the Navy said. Their food supply was low, but there was some fishing equipment aboard the schooner.

Budd Carew, skippee of the Idalia, told naval authorities the schooner left Honolulu May 9 and was headed for Los Angeles. He admitted the ship had sailed from Honolulu with no extra sails, no radio, no auxiliary power and weakened rigging.

It was an inglorious end to the career of the famed racer. She had cost $86,000 when built in 1908 and spent exciting years racing to Honolulu, running guns, and carrying party-bound movie stars and personalities around the Pacific.

Members of the crew besides Carew were identified by the Navy as his wife, Ally 16810 Millburgh Rd.) Azusa, Calif., Harold R. Clark and his wife Edna (1693 Nevada St.) Reno, Nev.; William D. Hitchcock Kingston, Mass.; Janet Mosure (905 Silva Ave.) Santa Rosa., Calif.; Steven Morales, Frank Akon and George Davis Jr., the boy, all of Honolulu.

Young Davis was on his way to the mainland to visit his grandmother, Mrs. Dewy F. Littlefield of Inglewood, Calif., He and the rest of the crewmembers will arrive in San Francisco aboard the Craig tomorrow.

58 Hurt as Blast Rips Tank Car

INSTITUTE, W. VA., (AP) — At least 58 persons were injured, none seriously, in a series of explosions that ripped through a tank car and chemical containers at the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Co. plant here Friday night.

None were killed and a number of persons were discharged from the hospital soon after receiving treatment. Of the injured, 38 were employes. The others lived in the vicinity and were injured by flying glass and plaster.

The force of the blast shattered windows within a 20 mile radius in the Kanawha River valley where the plant is located. Company officials said that fire caused by the explosion still was burning this morning in some of the storage tanks but was under control.

Fire started by the blasts raged unchecked for more than four hours. Firemen from several cities in the area were called to battle the flames. The plant was without water or lights because of damage done by the explosions.

The initial blast ripped through a tank car containing an organic chemcial and three explosions followed in rapid succession. A fourth rocked the area about 90 minutes later.

The first blast shook buildings at least 15 miles from the plant and knocked windows out of houses and stores more than a mile from the scene.

Hopes Fade for Early Cease-Fire In Indo-China as Reds Veto Plan

GENEVA (UP) Prospects for an early cease-fire in Indochina faded today with the disclosure of a reported Communist rejection of a French troop movement plan.

Informed sources said the plan called for withdrawal of Red Viet Minh forces from Laos and Cambodia and patchwork regrouping of forces in the third and lowest Indochinese state, Viet Nam.

Viet Minh Vice Minister of Defense Tea Quang Buu immediately refused to proceed along these lines, the sources said.

It was understood the Communist representatives at the Far Eastern peace talks put forward equally unacceptable terms demanding the turning over of large areas of all three states to Communist regimes.

The proposal and counter-proposal were made Friday.

But the United States and France hoped to speed up the Indochina talks in two ways:

1. By getting the 19-nation Korean conference started on a formula for gracefully breaking off the hopeless unification negotiations.

2. By swiftly translating the new accords on defense measures into visible actions in Indochina calculated to impress the Communists.

Informed sources said Friday that the United States had reassured France that it will intervene in Indochina with planes and ships if Red Chinese or Soviet air forces join in the fight.

Unemployment in Industrial Areas Shows New Hike

WASHINGTON (UP) — Thirty-one industrial centers have been added to the Labor Department's list of areas of substantial unemployment in the nation to bring the total to 123.

The Labor Department said Friday night the latest areas to be placed in the substantial unemployment category included 16 major industrial centers and 15 smaller ones.

The department also reported that information from non-farm employers indicates there will be "few significant changes" in the employment situation for most of the nation's 149 major industrial centers before mid-summer.

However the department said reports from state employment offices and employers shows that "most sections of the nation" had seasonal employment rises in construction and other outdoor activities and in non-manufacturing industries between March and May.

The department said recent declines in overall unemployment totals "have not yet significantly reduced" unemployment in most of the country's major production and employment centers.

The government listed 3,465,000 jobless in April, the first decline since last fall when unemployment started climbing until it reached a peak of 3,700,000 last winter. Unemployment figures for May will be published Monday.

The 16 major areas added to the list are: New York—Buffalo, Utica-Rome, Albany-Schenectady-Troy; Pennsylvania — Erie, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Reading; Illinois — Aurora, Joliet, Peoria; Indiana—Evansville and Fort Wayne; Fall River, Mass.; Jackson, Miss.; Knoxville, Tenn., and St. Louis, Mo.

Four major areas were also added to the list of those having "moderate" unemployment. These were Chicago, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Lancaster, Pa., and Norfolk-Portsmouth, Va.

The 15 smaller industrial areas added to the substantial category are Milford, Mass.; Jamestown-Dunkirk, N.Y.; Berwick - Bloomsburg, Pa.; Alexander City, Ala.; Bristol - Johnson City - Kingsport, Tenn.-Va.; Adrian and Benton Harbor, Mich.; Beaver Dam, Wis.; Frankfort and Owensboro, Ky.; Burlington, Iowa; Joplin, St. Joseph and Springfield, Mo., and Pittsburg, Kan.

Local Police Seek Man For Hit-Run Accident

Anaheim police today are searching for a man wanted on suspicion of hit and run and auto theft after he was involved in an accident at the intersection of Los Angeles street and La Palma avenue at 9:10 p.m. yesterday.

Police reported today that following the collision with an automobile operated by Patrick Thomas Jones, 37, of Montebello, the unknown man ran from the car and disappeared before officers arrived. Jones was reportedly not injured in the crash.

At 10:15 p.m., Joe Magdaleno, 22, 304 East Center St., came to the local station and reported that his car had been stolen from the rear of the Grand thetaer where it had been parked. Police said this was the same macnine involved in the collision.

Kuchel Reports Mailing Only Three Speeches

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif) said in a statement today that he has mailed only three speeches since he took over Vice President Richard M. Nixon's Senate seat in 1953.

In each case, the Kuchel statement said, copies of the speeches "were separately addressed to individuals," and not simply mailed to box-holders.

The statement said Kuchel mailed 15,000 copies of a tidelands speech delivered last April 13 in the Senate, 17,000 copies of a Bricker Amendment speech last July 1 made at the California VFW encampment, and 5,000 copies of a Lincoln Day speech in Los Angeles this year.

IN THE MIDDLE OF A WAR—A farmer in the Red River Delta area in Indo-China ignores a French Union convoy halted by a Communist road block as he works his field. This was among the last pictures taken by Robert Capa for Life Magazine before he was killed by a land mine. It was a road block such as this when Capa left the convoy to enter the field where he was killed.

MARIE MacDONALD SEPARATES FROM HUSBAND

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Marie MacDonald said today she has separated from Shoe magnate Harry Karl because "of a personality clash and general incompatibility."

BRITAIN TO CONTINUE WAIT-SEE POLICY

LONDON (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden reported to the cabinet today on the Geneva conference and informed sources said the government decided against any "drastic" changes in its wait-and-see policy.

Two Officers, Bandit Wounded as Gun Battle Climaxes $42 Holdup

TEMPLE CITY (AP)—Authorities today held four men following a gun battle which climaxed a $42 insurance office holdup in which two sheriff's officers and a bandit were wounded.

Wounded in yesterday's battle were deputies Charles Hill, 34, and Donald Herpolsheimer. Hill was shot through the foot and Hepolsheimer was grazed in the leg by a .38 caliber slug.

The wounded gunman was identified as Earl C. Porter, 21, of Long Beach. He was shot in the thigh.

Sheriff's officers said Porter was shot in an alley after his three companions deserted him during the gun battle.

The other suspects were identified as Fred T. Holly, 21, a Coast Guardsman stationed at Terminal Island; Harvard N. Scott, also a Terminal Island Coast Guardsman, and Homer Doswell, 34, of Long Beach.

Investigators said Holly and Porter entered the National Life and Accident Insurance office while Doswell and Scott waited in a car.

The shooting began when six officers, tipped by an employe's alarm, appeared on the scene.

Porter was wounded in the battle. Holly slipped out of the insurance office but was captured three blocks away hiding in a fig tree, deputies said.

Scott and Doswell were arrested later in Long Beach.

Holifield Says AEC Torn by Serious Rift

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif) said today the Atomic Energy Commission is torn by a serious rift that must be healed before it can function effectively.

Holifield said this was made obvious in testimony of commission members Friday before the joint House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee, of which he is a member.

Commission Chairman Lewis L. Strauss asked the committee to give him more authority. He said a big agency like AEC can't be operated efficiently by a commission.

Two of the other four commission members opposed the move, urging retention of five-man rule. The two, Commissioners Henry D. Smyth and Thomas E. Murray, indicated they think Strauss already exercises a little too much authority.

The remaining two commissioners, Eugene M. Zuckert and Joseph Campbell, were called by the committee to present their views on the issue. Zuckert sides with Smyth and Murray; Campbell sides with Strauss.

Holifield termed the dispute "serious."

"It must be resolved," he told reporters. "I am frank to say I don't know how to resolve it. I believe it will take joint action by the commission and the joint committee."

Weather

Mostly clear today, tonight and Sunday. Little change in temperature today with the high near 72. Slightly warmer Sunday.

Senate Rejects Plan To Cut Income Taxes

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Walter F. George said today he plans to push his fight for a boost in personal income tax exemptions despite the Senate Finance Committee's rejection of a milder tax relief plan.

The veteran Georgia Democrat's proposal to cut everybody's income taxes through higher exemptions may come to a vote in the committee Monday. The Eisenhower administration is fighting George's plan.

The committee late Friday voted down, 10 to 4, a surprise tax-cutting proposal offered by George as a substitute for the administration-backed provision to cut taxes on income from corporation stock dividends.

American Planes Bolster French In Indo-China

By LOUIS GUILBERT
United Press Staff Correspondent

HANOI, Indochina (UP)— New American delivery of Privateers, bombers and fighter planes has brought French air strength in Indochina to five times what it was before the siege of Dien Bien Phu, military sources said today.

The French high command announced officially it had received 10 more four-engined Privateer bombers from the United States, the second group sent to the Indochinese war fronts.

In addition to the Privateers, other American deliveries of B26 medium bombers and Corsair and Bearcat fighters have beefed up French air strength.

Gen. Paul Ely's appointment as Supreme military and civilian chief for the conduct of the war reflected a get-tougher French stand against the Communists' growing offensive.

Ely, who will leave Paris for Hanoi Monday to replace Gen. Henri-Eugene Navarre as supreme military commander, recently visited Washington.

Hanoi was tense and uneasy, though, because of the loss of Cho Noi, an important post in the south Red River Delta. Residents feared the big Communist push would start this month.

French planes bombed and strafed Communist troops creeping northward into the delta from Cho Noi, which the French had abandoned after a seven-day siege.

The capture of Cho Noi also gave the Communists access to a road that leads to the highway and rail lines connecting Hanoi with its major receiving point for American supplies, the port of Haiphong.

Man Murders Wife, Throws Body in Pond

SAN DIEGO (UP) — Samuel Kahn, 75, will be arraigned Monday on charges he murdered his wife, Elizabeth, 71.

Kahn told sheriff's deputies he tried to kill himself four times without success after strangling his wife yesterday.

The suspect operated a San Diego pie bakery with his wife until their retirement two years ago. He told officers he had been contemplating suicide for several months and decided also to kill his wife.

He apparently choked his wife and then threw her body in the fish pool of their Borrego home, deputies said. Kahn said he then attempted unsuccessfully to take his life by drowning, slashing his wrists and hanging himself. When all these failed, he got into his new sedan and drove toward San Diego intending to drive over a cliff. However, Kahn lost consciusness on the highway and his auto overturned on an embankment.

A passerby pulled him from beneath the wrecked car and administered first aid.

Kahn said he was despondent over illness and financial reverses.

Solon Claims Transcripts Would Prove Him Right

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen Joseph R. McCarthy said today monitored telephone calls between Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens and Sen. Stuart Symington D. Mo "explode the whole Army case" against him.

The Wisconsin Republican told reporters transcripts of the Stevens - Symington conversations, particularly one last March 8, knock Army charges against him "completely out the window." The conversations were read into the record of the Army - McCarthy hearings Friday.

A transcript of the March 8 call disclosed that Symington asked Stevens to let him see an Army report of alleged efforts to secure special treatment for Pvt. G. Schine, a drafted former McCarthy aide. Stevens replied that rumors of the report were "very much exaggerated...I don't think there is too much there."

Report Sent March 10

The 34-page report, basis for the Army charges against McCarthy, was sent to senators on March 10. It accused McCarthy and his subcommittee counsel, Roy M. Cohn, of using threats and pressure to seek favors for Schine.

"Here we have the secretary saying there is nothing to the charges," McCarthy said. "Yet two days later, without any new activity by the committee, he issues the charges. The monitored calls knock these charges completely out the window."

Reading of the telephone conversations, which were monitored in shorthand by the Army, sparked one of the most explosive sessions of the 27-day old hearings.

McCarthy late Friday demanded that Symington disqualify himself as a member of the Senate Investigating subcommittee airing the row because, McCarthy said, the monitored calls showed Symington told Stevens he would work closely with him.

Says Clifford Called In

McCarthy aslo said the calls showed that Symington recommended "the top legal adviser to former President Truman," Clark L. Clifford, to advise Stevens.

Symington told a news conference later he had "not the slightest" intention of stepping off the subcommittee. And he challenged McCarthy and Acting Subcommittee Chairman Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) to take the issue to the Senate floor.

The Missouri Democrat said his conversations with Stevens were not concerned with the Schine case but with McCarthy's treatment of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker in another of McCarthy's disputes with the Army.

Workman Breaks Wrist In Fall From Building

Losing his balance when a wrench he was using slipped, Joe Edgar Allen Sr., 57 of Glendale, is in Anaheim Community hospital today suffering a broken right wrist and face lacerations when he fell approximately 30 feet to the ground while on a construction job.

Police reported today that Allen, an employe of a Los Angeles construction company erecting the U. S. Electrical Motors plant at Magnolia and Manchester, fell from the top of the building. He was taken to the hospital by Crane ambulance.

Task Force Fires Fake 'A-Bomb' Off San Diego

ABOARD FLAGSHIP ELDORADO WITH TASK FORCE 11 — (OCNS) The familiar orange mushroom of an atomic explosion rose high into the sky over the ships of this task force today.

The device set off was not an atomic bomb but men aboard the wheeling ships beneath the flame-colored plume were as tense and and taught as hundreds of Southern Californians who lined the shores.

Newspapers had warned residents "not to be alarmed" if huge plumes of smoke drifted out of the sea off San Diego. However, many residents lined the beaches to stare in awe at the first "atomic missile" to be exploded off the coast of California. Even the men of the task force who knew the "bomb" was not an atomic device, but a carefully simulated training weapon were hypnotized by the charging mushrooms of smoke. It was reported the first used off California. It had all color and spectacle of the real bombs time a device of this type has been that blasted atout Eniwetok and Hangmans Flat and it had almost the same reaction on the officers and men who participated in today's exercise. "We've often wondered how we would react," said Commander E. F. Porter of Pittsburg, Kan., "and now we know."

The tactical planning officer said that even though it was just "practice", the explosion "brought home to the men the stark reality of atomic war". The huge training manuever is now in its fourth day of operation. More than 50 Orange County men are participating in the activity.

Young Bandit Holds Up Santa Ana Motel

SANTA ANA — A would-be customer at a motel refused to sign the register this morning producing a weapon and taking $23 cash from manager L. C. Mullins.

Police said that Mullins was awakened about 1:15 a.m. by a knock at his door and the man there asked for quarters. Mullins admitted him to the office and asked him to sign with the pen on the desk, but the man pointed a .32 - caliber pistol at Mullins, forced him into his bedroom, locked both Mullins and his wife in a bathroom, looted the place of its cash and fled.

The bandit appeared to be from 22 to 26 years of age and about 5 feet, 8 inches tall, Mullins explained in describing him to police.

Plan for Increased Protection for Rural County Areas Now Under Study

SANTA ANA — Increased protection for the unincorporated areas of Orange County through a police patrol service is seen as a possibility today as the Orange County Board of Supervisors are studying such a proposal.

The increased protection would not overburden the general taxpayer, however, but would be financed through a special district set up in the rural areas which would pay for the patrol services, according to Willis H. Warner, chairman of the supervisors.

The plan was revealed as the county board commenced studying Sheriff James A. Musick's fiscal year budget. The $600,655 budget was tentatively approved with more sheriff's patrol cars augmenting the sheriff's patrol staff. Last year's budget was $442,415.

The sheriff's office is operated from the county's general tax fund with the tax rate against owners of property in both the city and county areas. Bulk of the additional money asked for in the budget will go for added personnel, including 15 deputies, three investigators, two senior stenographer-clerks and one telephone operator.

Musick disclosed that he proposes to double the number of day patrol cars in the county and to increase the number in the early-morning hours.

The district patrol plans probably won't be activated until July, 1955, supervisors indicated.

Cypress VFW Post Dedicates Plaque

CYPRESS—An impressive Memorial Day service was held at the Cypress Recreation park at 2 p.m. last Sunday which was sponsored by the C. R. Rogers Memorial Post No. 9847 and Auxiliary.

The services were opened with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the choir of the Church of the Nazarene, followed by the flag salute, followed by the honoring of Gold Star Mothers Mrs. Bea Hahn, Roy Booher, Horace Browning, Nake Larson, J. E. Booher and others whose names were not known.

Local dignitaries recognized at the service included Leon Sewell, Betty Knauss, Donald Caul, Jake Van Dyke, A. E. Arnold Haskell Kelley and Mrs. Zedith Hathcock.

The Rev. William D. Howard of the Church of the Nazarene gave the invocation, which was followed by the unveiling of the Memorial Plaque that had been presented by Post No. 9847 and Auxiliary to the Cypress Recreation park. As the plaque was unveiled, M-Sgt Paul Parry, USMC, assisted by the choir, sang "Soldier Boy." Dedication of the plaque was then made by Byron Gentry, Judge Advocate, Department of California Veterans of Foreign Wars. Jake Van Dyke accepted the plaque on behalf of the Park Board.

The choir then sang "Battle Hymn of the Republic" followed by the address of the valedictorian, W. B. McCabe, 11th Naval District Chaplain. The benediction was given by the Rev. William D. Howard.

The VFW Post and Auxiliary held their post services in which they paid tribute and respects to their departed comrades and sisters. Three volley were fired by the firing squad in honor of all departed comrades and sisters. The services were concluded with Taps played by Lowell Gamble, Anaheim VFW Post No. 3173.

The firing squad consisted of VFW members from Anaheim and Fullerton posts. Comrades Charles Knauss, Lawrence Plumer, Henry Schinofen, H. J. G. Kreisler, Leon Sewell and Mrs. Charles Knauss, Auxiliary President participated in the post services.

Meetings Set to Pick Lima Bean Boards

SACRAMENTO (UP)—The state Department of Agriculture announced today that nomination meetings will be held about the middle of June for members and alternates of the Advisory Board for Standard Lima Beans.

Producer and handler members will be nominated at the sessions.

The meeting schedule:

District 3, all of state but Orange and Ventura counties: Goleta, June 14; Oceanside, June 15; and Crows Landing, June 18.

District 2, Ventura county: Oxnard, June 14.

District 1, Orange county: Santa Ana, June 16.

Planners Approve Five Businesses

SANTA ANA — Handling a short agenda at its weekly session, the Orange County Planning Commission approved five new business enterprises and set June 23, 2 p.m. as the date for a public hearing on another.

Proposal of walter C. Yoder to excavate 10 acres at the junction of Talbert Ave. and Golden West Ave., north of Huntington Beach, was the project set for hearing.

Yoder's application stated that the excavating was merely to level the ground to conform to the surrounding landscape, by cutting away a portion of a hill. But the commission staff reported that such was not the case; that there would be a permanent excavation, also a truck traffic hazard at the street corner.

The commission recommended favorably on the following applications:

D. J. Pourtales, nursery south side of Garden Grove Blvd., east of Pal St., Garden Grove.

William M. Power, retail garden and patio supplies, north side of Garden Grove blvd. east of West St.

Evelyn Kennedy, beauty shop in front of existing building, south side of Dorothy Ave., west of Taft St., limited to one chair and one operator.

R. M. Tillis, plastering business, south side of Garedn Grove Blvd., east of Hansen Ave., office building, 20 by 40 feet in dimensions, to be erected.

Shell Oil Co., service station, southwest corner of Whittier Blvd. and La Mirada Ave., La Habra.

Shot Makes Sales Talk More Convincing

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP) — Paul B. McCracken was listening to a sales talk from a life insurance salesman last night.

"Anything can happen at any time," said salesman Howard C. Martin, "and you should be prepared for it."

Just then, a bullet shattered the window in the McCracken apartment, struck a radio, ricocheted to the wall and fell to the floor at McCracken's feet.

Police said the bullet came from the gun of Hollis L. Berg, 25, who was trying to take his life two houses away after failing to reconcile with his wife, Madeline.

Standing in the kitchen of his home, Berg placed the gun at his left side and pulled the trigger. The gun sprayed shots in all directions as Berg spun around, unable to let go.

One bullet inflicted a minor wound on Berg as it sailed into the McCracken apartment.

As the bullet dropped to the floor, salesman Martin handed Mc. Cracken a policy and a pen.

McCracken signed.

Controversial Bids of Roosevelt, Condon Spice Tuesday's Primaries

By JAMES C. ANDERSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — The controversial congressional bids of Democrats James Roosevelt and Robert L. Condon lent excitement today to next Tuesday's California primary election.

Roosevelt, beset by his wife's charges that he was unfaithful with a dozen women, faced challenges from nine other candidates in his attempt to win the nomination from Los Angeles' 26th district.

Condon, barred by the Atomic Energy Commission from witnessing the Nevada A-bomb tests for security reasons, was embroiled in a nip-and-tuck contest for a second term in Congress against an opponent who almost beat him in the 1952 election.

Both Roosevelt and Condon were denied financial aid in their campaigns by the Democratic National Committee.

Representatives Race

Nominations for 30 seats in the House of Representatives are at stake in the primary, as well as bids for the state's constitutional offices, 100 berths in the Legislature and a two-year term in the U. S. Senate, a post now held by Republican Thomas H. Kuchel.

Roosevelt's wife, Romelle, declared an armistice until after the election in her torrid divorce battle with Roosevelt.

Roosevelt's marital troubles have vied with his liberal Democratic political philosophy as a paramount issue in his campaign. Earlier this week, Republican Richard Westbrook withdrew and threw his support to Democrat Ned Redding in order to prevent the "national calamity" of a Roosevelt victory.

Close Election

Republican Theodore Owings, one of Roosevelt's nine opponents, said "the voters want a moral family man."

Condon's main opponent is John F. Baldwin, Jr., a Martinez, Calif., attorney. Republican Baldwin lost to Condon two years ago by only 2012 votes out of a total of 173,000 cast in the 6th district.

Condon's loyalty has been the prime issue in Baldwin's campaign as well as that of Al L. Day, another Democrat in the race. Day said the district needed a Congressman who "is not under suspicion and whose loyalty is unquestioned."

Condon denies he is or ever has been a Communist. He has been telling the voters he is the victim of a "smear campaign."

Kuchel, appointed to the Senate by former Gov. Earl Warren, faced a challenge from Congressman Sam. W. Yorty, Los Angeles Democrat. With Republicans and Democrats currently balanced at 47 seats apiece in the Senate, the Kuchel-Yorty race was watched with great interest by both parties.

Executive Race

The other major contest on the lengthy ballot matched Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, a flamboyant campaigner of the old school, against Democrat Richard P. Graves, for 20 years the head of the politically influential League of California Cities.

Two factors—one old, one new muddled the election picture.

One was California's confusing system of cross-filing in which a candidate may seek both major party nominations in the primary. If he wins both, he does not have to face a November runoff.

All major candidates in Tuesday's voting test have cross-filed. However, this year, for the first time, each candidate's political party will be listed after his name on the ballot.

Addition of the party label on the ballot was expected to make it more difficult for candidates to win both major party nominations.

An extremely light vote was forecast. Although registration totaled 5,664,688, with Democrats outnumbering Republicans by 763,592, the Secretary of State's Office predicted only about 50 per cent of the voters would cast ballots.

Redd Harper to Be in Garden Grove

Redd Harper, versatile Western singing star of the silver screen and noted for his characterizations in Billy Graham's "Mr. Texas" and "Oil Town, U.S.A." will be the guest speaker for Garden Grove Baptist Brotherhood Tuesday, June 8, at 6:30 p.m. in Violette Hall. The occasion is the annual Father and Son banquet when the men of the Brotherhood entertain the members of the Christian Boy's club as well as their school friends.

Harper has just returned from London where he participated in the great meetings being conducted by Evangelist Billy Graham. An additional feature of the evening will be the screening of a recent film taken of the London Crusade showing scenes of the great meetings and outstanding leaders of Britain and America. Harper will also sing a number of both Western and Christian numbers accompanying himself in his own inimitable style on his guitar.

The dinner-program is open to any father who would like to attend and bring his son, or borrow one for the occasion. Men may call the church office, Leigh 9-1923, and a boy will be supplied.

Library Chats

by Martha Mettler

Anaheim can be justly proud of the local artist and illustrator, Ruth Ives (Mrs. Stanley Kaufman). Three books have recently come from the press illustrated by her. The "First Book of Prayers," by May Juergans, "Catherine," retold by Evelyn Andrews, and "The Story of Clara Barton," by Olive Price. The last named book is illustrated in pen and ink sketches.

The Junior Library will have on display for a short time some of the illustrations done for these books. Miss Haskett, our Junior Librarian, says that her work reveals fine craftsmanship, careful study for detail, exquisite coloring and her children almost walk from the pages they are so lifelike.

New Books

"The Indomitable Mrs. Trollope," by Eileen Bigland, is zestful, sparkling biography of a phenomenal woman and writer. She is known to Americans mainly as the author of that caustic 1832 best-seller "Domestic Manners of the Americans," and as the mother of the famous Anthony Trollope Rising every morning at five to turn out more than fifty books of fiction and travel, she became a legend in her own time.

"Seduction of the Innocents," by Frederic Wetham, is the completely detailed report of the findings of a famed psychiatrist on the pernicious influence of comic books on the youth of today. No parent can afford to ignore this book. It is a most shocking book, and should be most influential.

"This Is India," by Santha Rama Rau, is an extremely timely report on her country, a country of fascinating contradictions.

Learn About Golf

"My Partner, Ben Hogan," by Jimmy Demaret, is all about the game of golf and one of its greatest players by his best friend and fellow golfer.

"Living Dangerously," by F. Spender Chapman, tells the exciting personal adventures of a man of action and jungle guerilla fighter.

"Esquire Etiquette," is a guide to business, sports and social conduct

The Junior choir will sing, "O God of Might" by Bortniansky. At 8 and 11 a.m. Holy Communion with the Senior choir singing "The Mystery Telling" will be followed by the rector, the Rev. J. K. Saville, speaking on "The Holy Spirit."

The regular Communion and prayer group will meet Tuesday at 9:30, the vestry that evening at 7:30 p.m. June 13, the summer schedule of services will begin with the summer church school family service and colored slide talk at 9:15 and the late morning service at 10:30 a.m.

Here and There

Sunday, June 13, the West Virginia State picnic will be held at Sycamore Grove Park.

Adding the $6000 in the building fund at White Temple Methodist church to the contributed $118,000 the fund has now swelled to $124,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morris of 130 West North St., are among the new parents this week. Their son was born to them at the Santa Ana Community hospital Monday.

Grace Lutherans Plan Confirmation Service

Having been instructed in the essentials of Christian faith, the members of the 1954 confirmation class of Grace Lutheran church are to be confirmed in the Christian faith through the rite of confirmation. The memorable day will be Sunday.

The eight young people of the class this year are: John Claussen, August Fluegge, William Frazier, Paul Goebel, Carole Holritz, Rodney Thuneen, Carol Weber and Kay Witts.

On the previous Sunday, May 30, the girls and boys were given their public examination at the early morning worship service.

Sunday, June 13, the confirmants will participate in their first Holy Communion.

"The class has attended classes every Saturday morning for the past two years in preparation for their confirmation.

PATRIOTIC SITTING

MERIDEN, Conn. (AP) — To aid the city's civil defense program, 35 high school girls offered to act as baby-sitters without charge for parents who otherwise could not participate in the activities.

Omnipotence of God Declared

"God the Only Cause and Creator" titles the sermon at the Sunday services of all Christian Science churches. That an understanding of God as all-in-all heals, comforts, and saves, will be stressed.

In the Gospel of Luke is recorded the healing by Christ Jesus of the man with the withered hand. Jesus said unto the man "Rise up, and stand forth in the midst." Then he questioned the Pharisees, saying "Is it lawful on the sabbath days to do good, or to do evil? to save life, or to destroy it? And . . . he said unto the man, Stretch forth thy hand. And he did so: and his hand was restored whole as the other."

"Mind produces all action," declares Mary Baker Eddy in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." And she counsels, "Tell the sick that they can meet disease fearlessly, if they only realize that divine Love gives them all power over every physical action and condition."

The Golden Text is from Revelation: "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created."

Pentecost Festival Zion Lutheran Topic For Sunday Morning

The Pentecost, the festival of the outpouring of the Holy Spirit 50 days after Easter, will be observed at next Sunday morning's service at Zion Lutheran Church. Rev. P. H. Pflug will speak on "Our Hearts the Temples of God" on the basis of John 14:22-27. Holy Communion will be celebrated both at the 7:45 a.m. and the 11 a.m. service.

The Zion Lutheran Men's club is in charge of the annual church picnic which will be held at La Palma Park, beginning with a "potluck" shortly after the close of the morning services. Special games and treats have been provided for the Sunday School children under the direction of the teachers, reports Paul Lohr, Sunday School superintendent. The arrangements for tables and the like are supervised by Dick Henning, appointed by the Men's club.

Parsonage Bought

Wesley Methodist church of Anaheim has acquired a new parsonage. It is the former Paul J. Czapla home at 818 South Palm St. The house is approximately three and one half years old and has two bedrooms, with the large yard landscaped.

As the June conference for California and Arizona Methodist churches convenes soon at Redlands University, the Rev. McKinley Walker, pastor of the Wesley Methodist church, does not plan to move into the parsonage unless he is returned to the Anaheim church as its pastor. Appointments of pastorates are made at the final sessions of the conference.

More Than 160 Voices to Sing at Presbyterian Choir Recognition Hour

Sunday evening at seven o'clock, the combined choirs of the First Presbyterian church will present an all-musical program at the annual Choir Recognition service.

The theme for the evening's program will be "The Lord's Prayer." Anthems and special numgers will portray in music the various phases of the Lord's prayer.

The Triple Trio and Presbyatires will sing "Let Thy Holy Presence" by Techesnokoff. The Chapel and Chancel choirs will sing three anthems, "Alleluia, Lord God" by Palestrina; a Scriptural Antiphon, "Bless the Lord O My Soul" and "Almighty God of Our Fathers" by Will James.

The Crusader and Chorister choirs will sing, "Jesus, Whom Thy Children Love" and a Bach number, "When Thou Art Near." The combined choirs of over 160 voices will sing an arrangement of "Brother James' Air" and conclude the service with Malotte's setting of "The Lord's Prayer."

The Triple Trio will sing "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings" from the "Requiem" by Brahms. This is the number that brought TV recognition to this group.

Following the service of recognition, at which time choir pins and awards will be presented for faithful attendance at rehearsals and services, the music committee of the church is preparing a social hour for the choir members, as well as members and friends of the congregation.

The public is invited to attend.

White Temple Slates Series on Beatitudes

A new summer sermon series on each of the eight Beatitudes begins at the White Temple Methodist church Sunday morning at both the nine and eleven o'clock services. The Rev. Frank E. Butterworth announces that this series will endeavor to illustrate the inherent joy in the Christian way of life, despite outer frustrations and difficulties. The opening message will be on the theme, "Unspoiling God's Children."

"The eight Beatitudes in Matthew are actually a summary of the major chronological events in the life of Jesus and of His reaction to them," states the minister. "As such, they are for us the supreme guide for our own attitudes to life. That's why they may well be called the "be-attitudes."

A special feature at the nine o'clock service will be the final appearance for this school year of the children's Chapel choir, directed by Mrs. Bessie Gray.

Garden Grove Plans County-Wide Jamboree for Graduation So Youths 'Can Blow Off Steam'

With a thought to giving the Youth of Orange County an opportunity to "blow off a little steam" on graduation night a great "Hi-Jamboree" program is being planned in the Garden Grove Violette Hall. Under the leadership of many of the churches and their pastors the "Jamboree" will begin at 8 p.m., following graduation exercises, and run until 2 a.m. Adequate sponsorship will be provided throughout the evening.

In throwing the hall open for the unusual occasion the Rev. Harold Alexander, pastor of the First Baptist church, which will be host to the throng of visitors, addressed letters to 100 pastors in the County. "The response has been good and large groups of youth are planning to attend from Costa Mesa, Downey, Buena Park, Santa Ana, Fullerton, Yorba Linda, Brea, La Habra and Anaheim. Others are yet to be heard from. It is important to note that the youth are coming from many different denominational groups. The program is merely an effort to give the youth a good time with proper supervision," said the pastor.

Following an initial get-acquainted period the evening will begin with the showing of the outstanding film starring Coleen Townsend Evans, entitled "The Great Discovery." The film has been widely acclaimed wherever shown. Miss Townsend forsook her life as a Hollywood actress and has given her time entirely to the making of religious films. A year ago she married the son of Dr. Louis Evans, formerly of the Hollywood First Presbyterian church. She and her husband are currently in theological training.

Following the film an hour of high class variety numbers will be interspersed with an activity period to "loosen up the crowd." Musicians and performers are coming from a number of churches to add to the entertainment. At this period the Rev. Eugene Coffin, of the local Friends church; the Rev. Jack Lockhart, First Baptist, Fullerton; the Rev. Troy Castrow, First Baptist, Downey; and Vern Thompson, First Baptist, Anaheim, will take a leading part.

Refreshments will be supplied by each church sending a group. The ladies will be asked to prepare sandwiches enough to care for their own group and the First Baptist church will supply a soft drink. Following "eats" and for the rest of the evening those wishing more to eat may purchase bottled soft drinks and hot sandwiches from a staff in the kitchen.

One of the newest film releases, "Sunday over the Range" will be shown. It is in sound and color and stars such famous personages as Tim Spencer, George Lee, Ralph Carmichael and his "singing Strings" and a group of vocalists, among whom are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Allen, former residents of the Garden Grove point out leaders

In order to offset the expense of the decoration, talent, films and incidentals a contribution of 75 cents will be asked of each youth and leader attending. In preparation for the marathon program the park will be flood-lighted for safety of those in attendance.

Memorial Wreaths and Flag Gifts Mark WRC May Program Work

Sixteen membes of the A. B. Paul WRC attended the church memorial service last Sunday with the organization placing a large wreath on the grave of the Unknown Soldier in the ceremonies Monday at the Anaheim cemetery.

Other details of events this past week were also told at the meeting Tuesday of the Corps, with a letter read from the George Washington Boy Scouts and school regarding the presentation of three flags to the boys. June 9 the members are to attend the Flag Day services which are sponsored annually by the Anaheim Elks club members.

In reports of welfare 22 bouquets were presented, 19 sick calls made, child welfare, $21 and relief other than cash, $31, with $1 in cash relief. Next meeting was slated for June 15.

Picnic Planned for Cubs in Pack 102 At Irvine Park

Cub Scout Pack 102 will have its June meeting in the form of a pot luck picnic at Irvine Park on June 13, starting at 1 p.m.

Program will include court of awards with the new Cubmaster, Bob Cornelius officiating. Games and entertainment will also be featured.

Cubs of Pack 102 and their families are invited to attend.

Omnipotence of God Declared

"God the Only Cause and Creator" titles the sermon at the Sunday services of all Christian Science churches. That an understanding of God as all-in-all heals, comforts, and saves, will be stressed.

In the Gospel of Luke is recorded the healing by Christ Jesus of the man with the withered hand. Jesus said unto the man "Rise up, and stand forth in the midst." Then he questioned the Pharisees, saying "Is it lawful on the sabbath days to do good, or to do evil? to save life, or to destroy it? And . . . he said unto the man, Stretch forth thy hand. And he did so: and his hand was restored whole as the other."

"Mind produces all action," declares Mary Baker Eddy in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." And she counsels, "Tell the sick that they can meet disease fearlessly, if they only realize that divine Love gives them all power over every physical action and condition."

The Golden Text is from Revelation: "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created."

Ten Years After

The time was early June 1944.

There was a worldwide atmosphere of tense and intense anticipation of a tremendous event to come. In England the final feverish preparations were being made. On the continent the French underground waited impatiently. The Germans worked and watched anxiously. All eyes were on the English Channel.

When would the blow come? Not what month, but what day, for the great invasion was surely very near.

Early on the morning of June 6, came the answer. The official communique said simply that strong Allied forces had struck the French Coast and were "moving inland". Then the fortifications which Hitler had boasted as impregnable were not performing as promised. But they did take a great toll.

"We shall accept nothing less than total victory," said General Eisenhower in his invasion message. He got it 11 months later almost to the day when an unconditional surrender was made by the Nazis at Rheims.

In those 11 month from the beaches of Normandy to the banks of the Rhine and beyond, many tens of thousands gave their lives in the mighty drive.

In looking back we cannot help wishing that their sacrifices had produced the better world for which they fought. But in looking ahead we must renew our determination to continue that fight until the real victory is won.

Knight Is Right for Both Parties

There have long been differences of opinion among students of popular government as to whether the merits of California's cross-filing system outweigh whatever demerits the system may have. However, all schools of thought seem in agreement that cross-filing has one indisputable value for the electorate: It permits final settlement of any political contest at the Primary Election when a majority of all voters, irrespective of party registration, feel that one candidate stands out above all others for a particular office.

The candidacy of Goodwin J. Knight for Governor appears proof positive of that indisputable merit of cross-filing. There has never been a more popular public servant in our tate's history. In the contest for Lieutenant Governor, in 1950, Knight was so overwhelmingly the choice of California voters that he won the nomination on both Democratic and Republican tickets at the Primary Election. He was accorded an amazing total of 1,519,675 primary election votes — nearly a million more than his nearest opponent and a quarter of a million more votes than all four of his opponents combined!

Since then, as Governor, he has achieved even greater stature and esteem in the eyes of his fellow citizens of all political persuasions — and seems almost certainly destined to an even more impressive double nomination at this year's Primary Election.

His achievements in the few months since he took office have won him the enthusiastic endorsement of outstanding civic and other organizations over the entire State — labor, women's groups, farmers, educators, the professions — representing millions of his fellow citizens.

Goodwin Knight has ably earned and richly deserves the honor of a full four-year term as our Governor. We are confident that he will receive that honor from Californians of both parties when they cast their ballots next Tuesday.

SONGS OF A SONNETEER

By R. LOUIS SCOTT

"NON-COMBATANT!"

I reach up thru super-conscious being—
Toward beauty, intelligence, and light:
I attempt to see—and, thru my seeing—
To dissipate the darkness of my night!
I pray for guidance that I do no hurt
To those about me: I would seek no might—
Nor would I try by words to contravert
Another's thinking—nor by deeds to spell
Contradiction of what others assert!

Each has his own aspirations to quell
Or cater to: each must make his own prayer.
To his own God—each must his life-time dwell
Among his fellows—and each one is heir
To all that has been given all—to share!

JUST A MEMORY?

Your Birthday Forecast

By STELLA

SATURDAY, JUNE 5—Born today, you are fond of activity and excitement. You like something interesting going on all the time. Unless you curb this tendency, you are apt to be in hot water most of the time. You do have the facility for getting out safely—and landing on both feet—but you would save a lot of effort and trouble if you kept out of it all in the first place! Put a curb on your impulsiveness and you will find life becomes a little simpler. Significant occurrences which may change the entire trend of your life can occur in your eighteenth, twenty-fifth and thirty-second years.

Since you are, by nature, a good organizer, you could be chosen to be put in charge of important projects. You have excellent executive powers and know how to make others cooperate with you. Since you are a good judge of character and can size up a person accurately at first sight, you would make a good director of personnel. You are reliable and can be counted on to finish any job which you have begun. You expend nervous energy so lavishly that you are the type to build up tensions rather easily. Learn to relax.

Among those who were born on this date are: Igor Stravinsky, composer; Valasquez, artist; George T. Angell, founder of the Humane Society; Roger Batchelor, author, and Columbus Delano, statesman.

To find what the stars have in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Sunday, June 6

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)—Do not neglect the spiritual side of life too much. The mind needs refreshing too. Going to church?

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Change of mental activity can do a great deal for you. Renew your energies and your ambitions.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Your family circle should offer you pleasures which will bring lasting happiness just now.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)— The signs are definitely in your favor. You can do almost anything you wish today and be successful.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—If driving home today, make it a point to get an early start and avoid the last-minute rush.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Don't mar the day with a single worry. What can't be helped, should be forgotten.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — If it is a fine day, spend every hour of it outdoors. Fresh air and sunshine can do wonders for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Pay some mind to your health these days. You may be expending too much nervous energy.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)— This is the time for restful relaxation, appropriate to the day. Avoid doing anything you have to do!

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)— Take the entire family for a drive. If you get an early start, you can get into the back-country.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 20)— Be sensible in your outdoor recreations, if you are a city dweller. Don't overdo it.

SUNDAY, JUNE 6—Born today, originality of thought—as it is with so many of those born under your sign—is an outstanding characteristic. And, with you, there is a capability of instrumentation so that you know how to develop all talent that lies within you. You might be highly successful in the field of invention, although you have artistic and literary gifts, as well.

Since your sense of justice is keen, your powers of analysis marked, and your ability to gather facts and present them in a highly entertaining manner, you might become a crusading writer whose pen belongs to that group which can be mightier than the sword in influencing your own times.

Your emotional nature is strong and it is likely that you will fall in love deeply at some time in your life. It could be love at first sight, too. Be sure that you do not mistake infatuation for love.

Among those who were born on this date are: Thomas Mann, author; Nathan Hale, patriot; Will James, author-artist; Bruno Klein, pianist; John Trumbull, artist; Samuel P. Neyman and Daniel Beach, educators.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, June 7

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)—Make concessions if you get into an argument. You might win out in the long run, if you do.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Even if you have a rugged day ahead of you, that restful week end just past will give you strength.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—You may find that you need to pay a little more strict attention to detail work. Be careful.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Better not to make any sudden change just now. Stick to the familiar routine for the best possible progress.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Be ready to start the new week with energy and enthusiasm. There is a lot to be done.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—If you are determined to make progress, you can do just that. It's a very good day.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) There are rewards aplenty waiting for you. Just discover where they are and go out after them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — If you find yourself becoming too narrow in your outlook, read widely to expand your mental horizons.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—If you aren't feeling up to scratch today don't blame the stars. Blame yourself. The day is yours.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)—Be optimistic and friendly, for that is one way to advance yourself on the road to success.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)—Better for you to take things carefully and slowly than to be in too much of a rush.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 20)— This could be the start of a very good week for you. Be alert!

Othman's Views on Washington Scenes

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

McLEAN, Va. — This whole day I spent in the Senate Cacus Room, listening to McCarthy, Cohn and Co. vs. the Army, but somehow the yak seemed especially yackety, and if you don't mind I'd like to do a little essay about rural hydraulics and allied subjects.

Five long, sore - muscled years ago, you may remember, I bought a red tractor with headlights fore and aft (for plowing backward at night) to keep my beaten - up acres in Fairfax County from returning to wilderness.

This noisy behemoth came equipped with a long iron handle, which the salesman assured me would be useful for lifting the sickle bar over rocks, old bottles and other debris in the grass. It was,too . Either heave on the handle and raise the mower, which weighed maybe 150 pounds, or smash a blade on the piece of brick down below.

Connected to the handle is a heavy steel spring, making it as much effort to lower the sickle as to raise it. After a couple or three hours of this Old Farmer Othman, with the sore back, got lazy. He'd take a chance on maybe the blade skimming over the rock without ruining itself. Sometimes this actually happened.

Other times it meant removing the busted blade and going to work with a cold chisel, iron rivets, and a sledge hammer. This was one portion of the rural life the real estate man did not mention when he made a farmer out of me. It was what you might call brutal.

So one evening, after a session with the handle and the sledge both, I was thumbing through a farm paper, and there was an ad for power steering for tractors. I had no trouble with steering, but it gave me an idea.

I got in touch with the tractor man in Herndon, Va., and I asked him why in tarnation his experts hadn't produced power lifting for tractor tools. He laughed, soothingly. He said they were ahead of me by about 10 years.

He said he'd tried to sell me a hydraulic lift for my tractor when I first bought it, but I was such a know-it-all city slicker then that I'd turn it down. So I said, please, would he sell me one now? He said, for $98 he'd be delighted.

My new hydraulic lift turned out to be a red iron box, with pipes, wires, shafts and other gangla. bristling from all sides. I have no idea exactly what they're for. But I do know that when gently I touch a small lever on the steering column, the goo inside the box goes whoosh and my mower rides up and down like a balloon on the end of a string.

This is downright miraculous. It has made mowing a pleasure and I feel stupid for being without it all these years.

The other major improvements around my place are the three new overhead doors to my combination garage-and-implement shed. The old doors never would shut tight and many a neighbor borrowed a tool he somehow never remembered to return. He didn't ask; he just walked in and took.

A high wind ripped off a couple of these doors one night and I ordered new ones that slide up to the ceiling. These are beauties. They work at a touch, they lock tight, and they'll never blow away. The only problem was caused by the man who installed them. He said if I'd paint 'em, myself, he'd knock off $50.

I am now half through with this job and have come to the conclusion that $50 for two coats of paint on both sides of three big doors is a great bargain. That is not all. The rest of the garage now looks so sad, compared to its glistening doors, that I'll have to paint the whole business. This will be less fun, even, than listening to the gentlemen in the Caucus Room.

Today, the Texas Navy is mentioned—if at all—with a laugh, but there was a time when the words were no joke, especially to the Mexicans who were trying to quench the flames of freedom with blood at Goliad and the Alamo.

Star in the Rigging, by Garland Roark (Doubleday) is a story of the four armed schooners that flew the Lone Star flag in 1835 and 1836, the tiny force of wooden ships and iron men that defied the second best navy in the New World and closed the sea lanes to Santa Anna's invading army. It is specifically the story of Jermiah H. Brown, the tough Texas captain who would not swerve from his course even when he was proclaimed a pirate both in Mexico and the United States.

Roark, author of other sea stories drew heavily on historic records in writing this novel, and most of his principal characters are real people. Among his imaginary characters are Carmela, the beautiful blonde spy; and Polly, the waitress who became a polished lady.

The story dramatizes an almost-forgotten bit of history, with due credit to men who played a leading part in the fight to make Texas free....

The Magicians, by J. B. Priestley (Harper) is the lively story of Sir Charles Ravenstreet, a middle-agedindustrialist who finds life is just beginning for him when he is eased out of the electrical supply firm he has headed for many years. He has no family, few friends and life apparently is over.

But he finds himself involved with a super-business executive and three strange men he calls "magicians" for lack of a better word.

The big business man hopes to increase his power by marketing a drug that will end the worries of the masses.

The three magicians intervene in Ravenstreet's life when their inn is destroyed by a falling jet plane. He is startled to find they expected it. Through them Ravenstreet finds happiness, averts the destruction awaiting him and finds to his pleased surprise he has a family after all.

The story is a diverting one with humor and serious concern at some of the troubles of the world in nice balance....

The World In The Evening, by Christopher Isherwood (Random House) is a skillful portrayal of a man searching his own conscience for the first time and belatedly recognizing the weaknesses which ruined his two marriages and his own development.

Stephen Monk at 36, wealthy and apparently able to have things just as he wants them, is driven to flight to his boyhood home when he fraps his wife in adultery. An accident which confines him to a hospital bed for 10 weeks forces upon him a re-examination of his life. In reading the letters of his deceased first wife, Monk begins to understand himself and recognize his own misdeeds.

The narrative is vivid in drawing the characters of Stephen, Jane and Elizabeth and the abnormal but plausible life they shared....

A Chinese Christian leader, who escaped from China after the Communists took over, estimates that the Red regime has killed 43,400,000 Chinese and holds another 7,000,000 in slavery. Bishop Quentin K. Y. Huang, of the Holy Catholic Church in China, a branch of the Anglican Communion, makes the estimate in his book Now I Can Tell (Morehouse-Gorham). He does not disclose his sources of information.

Huang, now in the United States, divides his book into two parts. In the first, he tells of his imprisonment in Kunming by the Reds, his release after two and one - half months, his refusal to become a Communist figurehead in the church, and his escape into Burma.

The second part is a study of Communist "land reform" in China, through indoctrination lectures and talks with Red reformers.

He describes the gruesome process by which the Communists eliminate private ownership of land —murder of landlords and rich farmers, condemnation to slow death of so-called well-to-do farmers, distribution of small and heavily-taxed land parcels from which a farmer finds it impossible to make a living, and forcing as many peasants as possible to join the army in order to survive.

Dear Sir:

The approach of Flag Day reminds all of us of the sacrifices which have been made in behalf of our flag, and the country for which it stands.

The history of the flag, as you know, is a thrilling one — because it is the story of the founding and growth of the United States.

We of the Marine Corps Reserve have a particular affinity for Flag Day, because the founding of the Marine Corps and the adoption of the Stars and Stripes both came during those early turbulent days of the Revolution.

Therefore, all of us — members of more than 250 Marine Reserve units throughout the country — have joined together this year to remind all our fellow-citizens of Flag Day, and our opportunity to show our love and respect for the flag by displaying it on Flag Day.

We earnestly seek your cooperation in reminding all within your organization of this opportunity to show our national unity on Flag Day.

Sincerely,
Theodore Tunis,
Major, USMCR

Kaltenborn Edits the News

BY H. V. KALTENBORN
and
ROLF KALTENBORN

Week after week I have been hoping to escape from McCarthyism as the dominating feature of the news but without success.

The interest of the American people continues to center on the Washington hearings and the comments they provoke. This week both the President and the Attorney General gave them particular attention. At the same time an increasing number of Senators and Representatives, chiefly Republican, are going on record against the methods and morals of the junior Wisconsin senator.

Joe McCarthy is used to ducking brickbats and throwing them back. But during the past week he has been kept busier than usual in trying to handle all those thrown at him from within and without the Senate hearing room.

THIS WEEK'S barrage was opened by the President himself in his Monday address at Columbia University's bicentennial celebration. There he expressed his firm belief "that knowledge and understanding will drive from the temple of freedom all who seek to establish over us thought control — whether they be agents of a foreign state or demagogues thirsty for personal power."

The President denied Senator McCarthy's apparent belief that every individual who takes issue with our own convictions is necessarily wicked or treasonous.

The most vigorous criticism throughout the week centered on Senator McCarthy's invitation to two million government employees in uniform or out to bring him their complaints about suspected treasonable acts or utterances on the part of their superiors.

Attorney General Brownell, after consulting with the President, put it this way. "The executive branch of the government has the sole and fundamental responsibility, under the Constitution, for the enforcement of our laws and presidential orders. They include those to protect the security of our nation which were carefully drawn for this purpose.

"That responsibility cannot be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override the orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

In the hearing room, Democratic Senator McClellan addressed himself directly to Senator McCarthy with this comment — "I do not believe you can receive information that is obtained by criminal means and hold it in your possession without the probability of you too being guilty of crime."

SENATOR McCARTHY used this statement to deny access to certain documents to the Democratic committee members thus precipitating a wrangle that lasted for days.

The Democrats are naturally gleeful over the split in the Republican party which McCarthyism has created. Adlai Stevenson, who is now all out for the Democratic Presidential nomination of 1956, (and who sees a potential rival in Democratic Senator Symington) regards "the Congressional invasion of the President's domain as an action that has unbalanced the system, imperiled the nation, splintered our basic unity and sapped our energy."

Senator McCarthy has relied for his power on the Congressional Reorganization Act of 1946. But Senator Mike Monroney of Oklahoma co - author of that act, denies that it justifies McCarthy's appeal ot government workers to defy President Eisenhower's order and to disclose secret information to a Senate investigator. He says the Wisconsin Senator has consistently usurped the rightful jurisdiction of other committees.

Senator Lehman of New York called the McCarthy usupation of executive authority "an anarchist thesis." Republican Senate leader Knowland and Senator Smith of New Jersey also warned that Mc Carthy has gone too far.

SENATOR HOMER FERGUSON of Michigan, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, declared flatly that Senator Mc Carthy is wrong. Republican Senator Duff of Pennsylvania called Senator McCarthy's action "an invitation to anarchy." He wants the entire Senate to censure McCarthy.

But the most scathing attack against the Wisconsin investigator so far delivered on the floor of the Senate came from the veteran Senator Flanders of Vermont. He looks with suspicion on the morals of the Cohn-Schine-McCarthy trio.

He declares that Senator McCarthy has "achieved the incredible success of trapping Republican Senators in the detailed and relentless search for some significant evidence of subversion in the Republican administration — and this in an election year, too."

THE CHIEF PURPOSE of congressional investigations is to lead to remedial legislation. It looks now as though Senator McCarthy will bring about legislation to remedy his own abuse of the rights of Congressional Committees.

A bipartisan move is now under way in the Senate to curb the powers and reshift the procedures of such investigating groups. It is too late to do it in the present session, but there is every prospect that it will be done next year by bipartisan agreement.

Thus we have the happy assurance that the worst aspects of McCarthyism are behind us. Even if the Republicans retain control of Senate Committees, the Wisconsin Senator and his staff will be controlled far more effectively than in the past. There will be no more one-man Monmouth investigations. McCarthy has done infinitely more harm than good. As was pointed out on the Senate floor, Hitler was also opposed to communism.

The bad news from Indo-China has tended to obscure good news from Europe. The endorsement of the European Defense Community by the French Socialist party shows progress for the European army idea.

Hitherto the Socialists have led the opposition to joining with the Germans to defend Europe. This Socialist decision is now binding upon their 104 delegates in the French parliament.

The overwhelming electorial victory of a pro - European government in Luxemburg further strengthens support for a European Army.

If It's News You'll See It In The Bulletin

Handy Outdoor Room

If you enjoy sitting on a park bench and watching clouds — eating in an open air cafe — relaxing in the sunshine, you can have all this in your own back yard.

With ingenuity you can add an outdoor room to any house, says the June SUNSET. Ten pages of photos show how Westerners plan, build, furnish, and use an outdoor room for dining, children's play, entertaining, and daily living.

The secret in designing the outdoor room is to close it in as much as necessary for comfort and privacy, but as little as possible to keep from losing the outdoor feeling. The June SUNSET has scores of ideas for getting the most out of living in the West.

FATHER' PAYS A VISIT—"Father" visits an Award Home kitchen in Chapman Gardens, Garden Grove, to see what features are drawing hundreds of Orange County home-seekers to the Award Home development each week. The development is located on Harbor Blvd., at Lampson avenue. Full price of the three-bedroom Award Homes is $7495. Non-vets, and vets, too, can move in for $299. Shown above are TV stars Leon Ames and Lurene Ames, co-stars of "Life With Father."

Orangewood Estates Model Homes Near Completion for Grand Opening

Construction of five model homes is in the final stage at Orangewood Estates in preparation for showing at the grand opening slated for next weekend (June 12-13) on West Orangethorpe avenue, near South Nicholas avenue, just west of South Spadra Road in Fullerton.

This progress report, issued yesterday by the developers, included the information that foundations have been poured for 125 of the three and four-bedroom, two-bath homes, and another 60 have been framed, so that visitors will be able to view dwellings in all stages of building.

Priced from $11,050 to $12,750, the homes are being sold to veterans on terms of nothing down, but impounds and monthly payments from $57 for principal and interest. The sales office is being kept open daily until 9 p.m., including Sunday, it was noted.

FHA terms are available to non-veterans, it was announced by the Pioneer Land Co., sales agents, who reported the homes reflect a wide variety of stylings, floor plans and color combinations in the new $4,400,000 development. The homes were designed by AIA Architect William M. Bray.

Sponsors cited widespread approval, undersored by sale of an additional 125 homes last weekend, has been shown by viewers of the wealth of luxury features which are being included in the new homes.

These include 60,000 and 70,000 BTU thermostat - controlled heating, colored bathroom fixtures, No. 1 hardwood floors, Horizon sliding doors, paved terraces, two - car garages, stall showers with five feet Coralite, ceramic tile floor and base, 40 - gallon water heaters, Formica drainboards and worktops, electric bathroom heaters, mahogany slab doors, TV jacks and outlets, plaster walls and ceilings, brush - coated exteriors, Waste-King garbage pulverators, sewers, sidewalks and curbs.

Visitors may take the Santa Ana Freeway to Orangethorpe avenue, and continue east two and a half miles on Orangethorpe avenue to the property.

Increased Sales at Chapman Gardens Noted as School Vacation Approaches

Increased sales last week of 3-bedroom Award Homes in Chapman Gardens, Garden Grove were attributed to the end of the school year by a spoke man for the developers, a Volk-McLain Co.

Sales for the week totaled 28 homes with most buyers seeking immediate occupancy before June 21. The week's activities brought total sales to more than $900,000 since the opening of the 217-home Award Homes development in April.

Convenience of travel from Los Anseles over the Santa Ana Freeway and the low move-in price of $299 were reasons given by the developers for the heavy activity at Chapman Gardens.

Full price of the new Award Homes is $7495 with monthly payments set at $59 plus impounds for non-vets as well as vets.

Chapman Gardens lots are all 60 feet wide or wider and the Award Homes are the biggest in their price class, according to the developers. Buyers are given a choice of six different exteriors and floor plans, the smallest of which contains approximately 1000 square feet of living space.

Floor plans are functional and rooms are exceptionally large. Architect is Edward H. Fickett while color consultant is William Manker.

Property improvements include paved streets and concrete curbs and sewers and all utilities are in and paid for.

Tips on Touring

Are you angling to join the male members of the "angling" set? Then pack your fishing rod, tackle and other gear into the family bus and take off — because the "fishing's fine." And you'll find plenty of company because the number of feminine fishermen is increasing yearly.

Finding the right spot to fish isn't too hard, particularly in June, one of the best months for casting your bait or fly. Fish bite best when the temperature of the water is relatively cool as it is now, in early summer.

In fact, at this time of the year, fishing is good in practically all sections of the country. In the mid-west, trout, muskellunge and walleye are plentiful. Later on, bass and pike will provide excellent fishing. In the southern states, bass, bream, crappie and catfish abound. Game fish are also rising in eastern lakes and rivers and in far -western mountain streams, following spring's melting of the ice.

So this is HOUSEKEEPING

BY BRADLEY STREET

Sometimes you can go just so far in being subtle and clever . . . and then you outsmart yourself!

For days I carefully planned a buildup designed to bring Jeff around to my way of thinking about acquiring a new washing machine. Since I had the 1954 revolutionary Whirlpool wringer-type washer in mind, I figured the best approach was to emphasize the new look for changing times. Casually and gradually I pointed out the new appearance of everything from trains to toasters, women's fashions to automobiles, water pitchers to bed sheets. When Jeff began tossing in a few ideas of his own I was sure I was on pretty safe ground and started to hit home with my basic purpose.

"Say, Jeff. You know all the conversations we've had about the new appearance of everything? I saw something today that really stopped me! I guess everyone's always taken for granted that wringer-type washing machines had to be as squatty and bulky and unattractive as our old wreck. But you should see the new Surgomatic washer! It's completely streamlined with a beautiful rotunda cabinet from top to bottom. Really a handsome piece of machinery. And it won't take a back seat to any washer, in or out of the budget class."

Jeff obliged with some interested comments so I was sure I had scored and began pitching more convincing details. Happily I described push-button controls on the front panel which regulate washing action and water drainage while an exclusive timer dial automatically clicks off any washing time desired for various fabrics. At the end of a wash period the machine shuts off and the timer rings a bell to let you know the job is done!

That night I went to sleep peacefully, convinced that my clever groundwork would net me my prize. The following morning Jeff emerged from his routine shower and shave session and beamingly announced:

"Your propaganda worked. Here's the new look you wanted!"

He had shaved off his moustache!

Easy-To-Build Birdhouse a Quaint Touch for Gable

from SMALL HOMES GUIDE

A plain gable can be given a quaint decorative touch with a small birdhouse, such as the one at right, from Small Homes Guide. A few pieces of lumber, plywood and hand tools will do the trick.

The drawings below give dimensions and construction details of the birdhouse. The drawings give adequate directions for the home craftsman. Use exterior plywood for the face and, if desired, close the holes with thin plywood or boards painted black. Use the same kind of trim as on the gable.

Ten Years After

The time was early June 1944.

There was a worldwide atmosphere of tense and intense anticipation of a tremendous event to come. In England the final feverish preparations were being made. On the continent the French underground waited impatiently. The Germans worked and watched anxiously. All eyes were on the English Channel.

When would the blow come? Not what month, but what day, for the great invasion was surely very near.

Early on the morning of June 6, came the answer. The official communique said simply that strong Allied forces had struck the French Coast and were "moving inland". Then the fortifications which Hitler had boasted as impregnable were not performing as promised. But they did take a great toll.

"We shall accept nothing less than total victory," said General Eisenhower in his invasion message. He got it 11 months later almost to the day when an unconditional surrender was made by the Nazis at Rheims.

In those 11 month from the beaches of Normandy to the banks of the Rhine and beyond, many tens of thousands gave their lives in the mighty drive.

In looking back we cannot help wishing that their sacrifices had produced the better world for which they fought. But in looking ahead we must renew our determination to continue that fight until the real victory is won.

Knight Is Right for Both Parties

There have long been differences of opinion among students of popular government as to whether the merits of California's cross-filing system outweigh whatever demerits the system may have. However, all schools of thought seem in agreement that cross-filing has one indisputabe value for the electorate: It permits final settlement of any political contest at the Primary Election when a majority of all voters, irrespective of party registration, feel that one candidate stands out above all others for a particular office.

The candidacy of Goodwin J. Knight for Governor appears proof positive of that indisputable merit of cross-filing. There has never been a more popular public servant in our tate's history. In the contest for Lieutenant Governor, in 1950, Knight was so overwhelmingly the choice of California voters that he won the nomination on both Democratic and Republican tickets at the Primary Election. He was accorded an amazing total of 1,519,675 primary election votes — nearly a million more than his nearest opponent and a quarter of a million more votes than all four of his opponents combined!

Since then, as Governor, he has achieved even greater stature and esteem in the eyes of his fellow citizens of all political persuasions — and seems almost certainly destined to an even more impressive double nomination at this year's Primary Election.

His achievements in the few months since he took office have won him the enthusiastic endorsement of outstanding civic and other organizations over the entire State — labor, women's groups, farmers, educators, the professions — representing millions of his fellow citizens.

Goodwin Knight has ably earned and richly deserves the honor of a full four-year term as our Governor. We are confident that he will receive that honor from Californians of both parties when they cast their ballots next Tuesday.

SONGS OF A SONNETEER

By R. LOUIS SCOTT

"NON-COMBATANT!"

I reach up thru super-conscious being—
Toward beauty, intelligence, and light:
I attempt to see—and, thru my seeing—
To dissipate the darkness of my night!
I pray for guidance that I do no hurt
To those about me: I would seek no might—
Nor would I try by words to contravert
Another's thinking—nor by deeds to spell
Contradiction of what others assert!

Each has his own aspirations to quell
Or cater to: each must make his own prayer,
To his own God—each must his life-time dwell
Among his fellows—and each one is heir
To all that has been given all—to share!

JUST A MEMORY?

Your Birthday Forecast

By STELLA

SATURDAY, JUNE 5—Born today, you are fond of activity and excitement. You like something interesting going on all the time. Unless you curb this tendency, you are apt to be in hot water most of the time. You do have the facility for getting out safely—and landing on both feet—but you would save a lot of effort and trouble if you kept out of it all in the first place! Put a curb on your impulsiveness and you will find life becomes a little simpler. Significant occurrences which may change the entire trend of your life can occur in your eighteenth, twenty-fifth and thirty-second years.

Since you are, by nature, a good organizer, you could be chosen to be put in charge of important projects. You have excellent executive powers and know how to make others cooperate with you. Since you are a good judge of character and can size up a person accurately at first sight, you would make a good director of personnel. You are reliable and can be counted on to finish any job which you have begun. You expend nervous energy so lavishly that you are the type to build up tensions rather easily. Learn to relax.

Among those who were born on this date are: Igor Stravinsky, composer; Valasquez, artist; George T. Angell, founder of the Humane Society; Roger Batchelor, author, and Columbus Delano, statesman.

To find what the stars have in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Sunday, June 6

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)—Do not neglect the spiritual side of life too much. The mind needs refreshing too. Going to church?

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Change of mental activity can do a great deal for you. Renew your energies and your ambitions.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Your family circle should offer you pleasures which will bring lasting happiness just now.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)— The signs are definitely in your favor. You can do almost anything you wish today and be successful.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—If driving home today, make it a point to get an early start and avoid the last-minute rush.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Don't mar the day with a single worry. What can't be helped, should be forgotten.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — If it is a fine day, spend every hour of it outdoors. Fresh air and sunshine can do wonders for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Pay some mind to your health these days. You may be spending too much nervous energy.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)— This is the time for restful relaxation, appropriate to the day. Avoid doing anything you have to do!

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)— Take the entire family for a drive. If you get an early start, you can get into the back-country.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 20)— Be sensible in your outdoor recreations, if you are a city dweller. Don't overdo it.

(Distributed by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

SUNDAY, JUNE 6—Born today, originality of thought—as it is with so many of those born under your sign—is an outstanding characteristic. And, with you, there is a capability of instrumentation so that you know how to develop all talent that lies within you. You might be highly successful in the field of invention although you have artistic and literary gifts, as well.

Since your sense of justice is keen, your powers of analysis marked, and your ability to gather facts and present them in a highly entertaining manner, you might become a crusading writer whose pen belongs to that group which can be mightier than the sword in influencing your own times.

Your emotional nature is strong and it is likely that you will fall in love deeply at some time in your life. It could be love at first sight, too. Be sure that you do not mistake infatuation for love.

Among those who were born on this date are: Thomas Mann, author; Nathan Hale, patriot; Will James, author-artist; Bruno Klein, pianist; John Trumbull, artist; Samuel P. Neyman and Daniel Beach, educators.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Monday, June 7

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)—Make concessions if you get into an argument. You might win out in the long run, if you do.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—Even if you have a rugged day ahead of you, that restful week end just past will give you strength.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—You may find that you need to pay a little more strict attention to detail work. Be careful.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Better not to make any sudden change just now. Stick to the familiar routine for the best possible progress.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Be ready to start the new week with energy and enthusiasm. There is a lot to be done.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—If you are determined to make progress, you can do just that. It's a very good day.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) There are rewards aplenty waiting for you. Just discover where they are and go out after them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — If you find yourself becoming too narrow in your outlook, read widely to expand your mental horizons.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—If you aren't feeling up to scratch today don't blame the stars. Blame yourself. The day is good.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)—Be optimistic and friendly, for that is one way to advance yourself on the road to success.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)—Better for you to take things carefully and slowly than to be in too much of a rush.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 20)— This could be the start of a very good week for you. Be alert!

Othman's Views on Washington Scenes

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

McLEAN, Va. — This whole day I spent in the Senate Cacus Room, listening to McCarthy, Cohn and Co. vs. the Army, but somehow the yak seemed especially yackety, and if you don't mind I'd like to do a little essay about rural hydraulics and allied subjects.

Five long, sore - muscled years ago, you may remember, I bought a red tractor with headlights fore and aft (for plowing backward at night) to keep my beaten - up acres in Fairfax County from returning to wilderness.

This noisy behemoth came equipped with a long iron handle, which the salesman assured me would be useful for lifting the sickle bar over rocks, old bottles and other debris in the grass. It was'no . Either heave on the handle and raise the mower, which weighed maybe 150 pounds, or smash a blade on the piece of brick down below.

Connected to the handle is a heavy steel spring, making it as much effort to lower the sickle as to raise it. After a couple or three hours of this Old Farmer Othman, with the sore back, got lazy. He'd take a chance on maybe the blade skimming over the rock without ruining itself. Sometimes this actually happened.

Other times it meant removing the busted blade and going to work with a cold chisel, iron rivets, and a sledge hammer. This was one portion of the rural life the real estate man did not mention when he made a farmer out of me. It was what you might call brutal.

So one evening, after a session with the handle and the sledge both, I was thumbing through a farm paper, and there was an ad for power steering for tractors. I had no trouble with steering, but it gave me an idea.

I got in touch with the tractor man in Herndon, Va., and I asked him why in tarnation his experts hadn't produced power lifting for tractor tools. He laughed, soothingly. He said they were ahead of me by about 10 years.

He said he'd tried to sell me a hydraulic lift for my tractor when I first bought it, but I was such a know-it-all city slicker then that I'd turn it down. So I said, please, would he sell me one now? He said, for $98 he'd be delighted.

My new hydraulic lift turned out to be a red iron box, with pipes, wires, shafts and other gangla bristling from all sides. I have no idea exactly what they're for. But I do know that when gently I touch a small lever on the steering column, the goo inside the box goes whoosh and my mower rides up and down like a balloon on the end of a string.

This is downright miraculous. It has made mowing a pleasure and I feel stupid for being without it all these years.

The other major improvements around my place are the three new overhead doors to my combination garage-and-implement shed. The old doors never would shut tight and many a neighbor borrowed a tool he somehow never remembered to return. He didn't ask; he just walked in and took.

A high wind ripped off a couple of these doors one night and I ordered new ones that slide up to the ceiling. These are beauties. They work at a touch, they lock tight, and they'll never blow away. The only problem was caused by the man who installed them. He said if I'd paint 'em, myself, he'd knock off $50.

I am now half through with this job and have come to the conclusion that $50 for two coats of paint on both sides of three big doors is a great bargain. That is not all. The rest of the garage now looks so sad, compared to its glistening doors, that I'll have to paint the whole business. This will be less fun, even, than listening to the gentlemen in the Caucus Room.

Today, the Texas Navy is mentioned—if at all—with a laugh, but there was a time when the words were no joke, especially to the Mexicans who were trying to quench the flames of freedom with blood at Goliad and the Alamo.

Star in the Rigging, by Garland Roark (Doubleday) is a story of the four armed schooners that flew the Lone Star flag in 1835 and 1836, the tiny force of wooden ships and iron men that defied the second best navy in the New World and closed the sea lanes to Santa Anna's invading army. It is specifically the story of Jermiah H. Brown, the tough Texas captain who would not swerve from his course even when he was proclaimed a pirate both in Mexico and the United States.

Roark, author of other sea stories drew heavily on historic records in writing this novel, and most of his principal characters are real people. Among his imaginary characters are Carmela, the beautiful blonde spy; and Polly, the waitress who became a polished lady.

The story dramatizes an almost-forgotten bit of history, with due credit to men who played a leading part in the fight to make Texas free ....

The Magicians, by J. B. Priestley (Harper) is the lively story of Sir Charles Ravenstreet, a middle-agedindustrialist who finds life is just beginning for him when he is eased out of the electrical supply firm he has headed for many years. He has no family, few friends and life apparently is over.

But he finds himself involved with a super-business executive and three strange men he calls "magicians" for lack of a better word.

The big business man hopes to increase his power by marketing a drug that will end the worries of the mages.

The three magicians intervene in Ravenstreet's life when their inn is destroyed by a falling jet plane. He is startled to find they expected it. Through them Ravenstreet finds happiness, averts the destruction awaiting him and finds to his pleased surprise he has a family after all.

The story is a diverting one with humor and serious concern at some of the troubles of the world in nice balance ....

The World In The Evening, by Christopher Isherwood (Random House) is a skillful portrayal of a man searching his own conscience for the first time and belatedly recognizing the weaknesses which ruined his two marriages and his own development.

Stephen Monk at 36, wealthy and apparently able to have things just as he wants them, is driven to flight to his boyhood home when he fraps his wife in adultery. An accident which confines him to a hospital bed for 10 weeks forces upon him a re-examination of his life. In reading the letters of his deceased first wife, Monk begins to understand himself and recognize his own misdeeds.

The narrative is vivid in drawing the characters of Stephen, Jane and Elizabeth and the abnormal but plausible life they shared ....

A Chinese Christian leader, who escaped from China after the Communists took over, estimates that the Red regime has killed 43,400,000 Chinese and holds another 7,000,000 in slavery. Bishop Quentin K. Y. Huang, of the Holy Catholic Church in China, a branch of the Anglican Communion, makes the estimate in his book Now I Can Tell (Morehouse-Gorham). He does not disclose his sources of information.

Huang, now in the United States, divides his book into two parts. In the first, he tells of his imprisonment by the Reds, his release after two and one - half months, his refusal to become a Communist figurehead in the church, and his escape into Burma.

The second part is a study of Communist "land reform" in China. He gathered information while in prison, through indoctrination lectures and talks with Red reformers.

He describes the gruesome process by which the Communists eliminate private ownership of land —murder of landlords and rich farmers, condemnation to slow death of so-called well-to-do farmers, distribution of small and heavily-taxed land parcels from which a farmer finds it impossible to make a living, and forcing as many peasants as possible to join the army in order to survive.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

The approach of Flag Day reminds all of us of the sacrifices which have been made in behalf of our flag, and the country for which it stands.

The history of the flag, as you know, is a thrilling one — because it is the story of the founding and growth of the United States.

We of the Marine Corps Reserve have a particular affinity for Flag Day, because the founding of the Marine Corps and the adoption of the Stars and Stripes both came during those early turbulent days of the Revolution.

Therefore, all of us — members of more than 250 Marine Reserve units throughout the country — have joined together this year to remind all our fellow-citizens of Flag Day, and our opportunity to show our love and respect for the flag by displaying it on Flag Day.

We earnestly seek your cooperation in reminding all within your organization of this opportunity to show our national unity on Flag Day.

Sincerely,
Theodore Tunis,
Major, USMCR

Kaltenborn Edits the News

BY H. V. KALTENBORN
and
ROLF KALTENBORN

Week after week I have been hoping to escape from McCarthyism as the dominating feature of the news but without success. The interest of the American people continues to center on the Washington hearings and the comments they provoke. This week both the President and the Attorney General gave them particular attention. At the same time an increasing number of Senators and Representatives, chiefly Republican, are going on record against the methods and morals of the junior Wisconsin senator.

Joe McCarthy is used to ducking brickbats and throwing them back. But during the past week he has been kept busier than usual in trying to handle all those thrown at him from within and without the Senate hearing room.

THIS WEEK'S hearings was opened by the President himself in his Monday address at Columbia University's bicentennial celebration. There he expressed his firm belief "that knowledge and understanding will drive from the temple of freedom all who seek to establish over us thought control — whether they be agents of a foreign state or demagogues thirsty for personal power."

The President denied Senator McCarthy's apparent belief that every individual who takes issue with our own convictions is necessarily wicked or treasonous.

The most vigorous criticism throughout the week centered on Senator McCarthy's invitation to two million government employees in uniform or out to bring him their complaints about suspected treasonable acts or utterances on the part of their superiors.

Attorney General Brownell, after consulting with the President, put it this way. "The executive branch of the government has the sole and fundamental responsibility, under the Constitution, for the enforcement of our laws and presidential orders. They include those to protect the security of our nation which were carefully drawn for this purpose.

"That responsibility cannot be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land or to override the orders of the President of the United States to federal employees of the executive branch of the government."

In the hearing room, Democratic Senator McClellan addressed himself directly to Senator McCarthy with this comment — "I do not believe you can receive information that is obtained by criminal means and hold it in your possession without the probability of you too being guilty of crime."

SENATOR McCARTHY used this statement to deny access to certain documents to the Democratic committee members thus precipitating a wrangle that lasted for days.

The Democrats are naturally gleeful over the split in the Republican party which McCarthyism has created. Adlai Stevenson, who is now all out for the Democratic Presidential nomination of 1956, (and who sees a potential rival in Democratic Senator Symington) regards "the Congressional invasion of the President's domain as an action that has unbalanced the system, imperiled the nation, splintered our basic unity and sapped our energy."

IN FULLERTON—Nothing down terms for vets distinguish Orangewood Estates, typified by above exterior, one of many three and four-bedroom, two-bath homes rising on Orangethorpe Ave nue near South Nicholas Avenue, west of South Spadra Road.

Orangewood Estates Model Homes Near Completion for Grand Opening

Construction of five model homes is in the final stage at Orangewood Estates in preparation for showing at the grand opening slated for next weekend (June 12-13) on West Orangethorpe avenue, near Souoth Nicholas avenue, just west of South Spadra Road in Fullerton.

This progress report, issued yesterday by the developers, included the information that foundations have been poured for 125 of the three and four-bedroom, two - bath homes, and another 60 have been framed, so that visitors will be able to view dwellings in all stages of building.

Priced from $11,050 to $12,750, the homes are being sold to veterans on terms of nothing down but impounds and monthly payments from $57 for principal and interest. The sales office is being kept open daily until 9 p.m., including Sunday, it was noted.

FHA terms are available to non-veterans, it was announced by the Pioneer Land Co., sales agents, who reported the homes reflect a wide variety of stylings, floor plans and color combinations in the new $4,400,000 development. The homes were designed by AIA Architect William M. Bray.

Sponsors cited widespread approval, underscored by sale of an additional 125 homes last weekend, has been shown by viewers of the wealth of luxury features which are being included in the new homes.

These include 60,000 and 70,000 BTU thermostat - controlled heating, colored bathroom fixtures, No. 1 hardwood floors, Horizon sliding doors, paved terraces, two - car garages, stall showers with five feet Coralite, ceramic tile floor and base, 40 - gallon water heaters, Formica drainboards and worktops, electric bathroom heaters, mahogany slab doors, TV jacks and outlets, plaster walls and ceilings, brush - coated exteriors, Waste-King garbage pulverators, sewers, sidewalks and curbs.

Visitors may take the Santa Ana Freeway to Orangethorpe avenue, and continue east two and a half miles on Orangethorpe avenue to the property.

Handy Outdoor Room

If you enjoy sitting on a park bench and watching clouds — eating in an open air cafe — relaxing in the sunshine, you can have all this in your own back yard.

With ingenuity you can add an outdoor room to any house, says the June SUNSET. Ten pages of photos show how Westerners plan, build, furnish, and use an outdoor room for dining, children's play, entertaining, and daily living.

The secret in designing the outdoor room is to close it in as much as necessary for comfort and privacy, but as little as possible to keep from losing the outdoor feeling. The June SUNSET has scores of ideas for getting the most out of living in the West.

'FATHER' PAYS A VISIT—"Father" visits an Award Home kitchen in Chapman Gardens, Garden Grove, to see what features are drawing hundreds of Orange County home-seekers to the Award Home development each week. The development is located on Harbor Blvd., at Lampson avenue. Full price of the three-bedroom Award Homes is $7495. Non-vets, and vets, too, can move in for $299. Shown above are TV stars Leon Ames and Lurene Ames, co-stars of "Life With Father."

Increased Sales at Chapman Gardens Noted as School Vacation Approaches

Increased sales last week of 3-bedroom Award Homes in Chapman Gardens, Garden Grove were attributed to the end of the school year by a spoke man for the developers, a Volk-McLain Co.

Sales for the week totaled 28 homes with most buyers seeking immediate occupancy before June 21. The week's activities brought total sales to more than $900,000 since the opening of the 217-home Award Homes development in April.

Convenience of travel from Los Angeles over the Santa Ana Freeway and the low move-in price of $299 were reasons given by the developers for the heavy activity at Chapman Gardens.

Full price of the new Award Homes is $7495 with monthly payments set at $59 plus impounds for non-vets as well as vets.

Chapman Gardens lots are all 60 feet, wide or wider and the Award Homes are the biggest in their price class, according to the developers. Buyers are given a choice of six different exteriors and floor plans, the smallest of which contains approximately 1000 square feet of living space.

Floor plans are functional and rooms are exceptionally large. Architect is Edward H. Pickett while color consultant is William Manker.

Property improvements include paved streets and concrete curbs and sewers and all utilities are in and paid for.

So this is HOUSEKEEPING

BY HARRIET ELLIOTT

Sometimes you can go just so far in being subtle and clever . . . and then you outsmart yourself!

For days I carefully planned a buildup designed to bring Jeff around to my way of thinking about acquiring a new washing machine. Since I had the 1954 revolutionary Whirlpool wringer-type washer in mind, I figured the best approach was to emphasize the new look for changing times. Casually and gradually I pointed out the new appearance of everything from trains to toasters, women's fashions to automobiles, water pitchers to bed sheets. When Jeff began tossing in a few ideas of his own I was sure I was on pretty safe ground and started to hit home with my basic purpose.

"Say, Jeff. You know all the conversations we've had about the new appearance of everything? I saw something today that really stopped me! I guess everyone's always taken for granted that wringer-type washing machines had to be as squatty and bulky and unattractive as our old wreck. But you should see the new Surgomatic washer! It's completely streamlined with a beautiful rotunda cabinet from top to bottom. Really a handsome piece of machinery. And it won't take a back seat to any washer, in or out of the budget class."

Jeff obliged with some interested comments so I was sure I had scored and began pitching more convincing details. Happily I described push-button controls on the front panel which regulate washing action and water drainage while an exclusive timer dial automatically clicks off any washing time desired for various fabrics. At the end of a wash period the machine shuts off and the timer rings a bell to let you know the job is done!

That night I went to sleep peacefully, convinced that my clever groundwork would net me my prize. The following morning Jeff emerged from his routine shower and shave session and beamingly announced:

"Your propaganda worked. Here's the new look you wanted!"

He had shaved off his moustache!

Tips on Touring

By Carol Lane

Women's Travel Authority

Are you angling to join the male members of the "angling" set? Then pack your fishing rod, tackle and othei gear into the family bus and take off — because the "fishing's fine." And you'll find plenty of company because the number of feminine fishermen is increasing yearly.

Finding the right spot to fish isn't too hard, particularly in June, one of the best months for casting your bait or fly. Fish bite best when the temperature of the water is relatively cool as it is now, in early summer.

In fact, at this time of the year, fishing is good in practically all sections of the country. In the midwest, trout, muskellunge and walleye are plentiful. Later on, bass and pike will provide excellent fishing. In the southern states, bass, bream, crappie and catfish abound. Game fish are also rising in eastern lakes and rivers and in far western mountain streams, following spring's melting of the ice.

A plain gable can be given a quaint decorative touch with a small birdhouse, such as the one at right, from Small Homes Guide. A few pieces of lumber, plywood and hand tools will do the trick.

The drawings below give dimensions and construction details of the birdhouse. The drawings give adequate directions for the home craftsman. Use exterior plywood for the face and, if desired, close the holes with thin plywood or boards painted black. Use the same kind of trim as on the gable.

Kidnapers Hint at Ransom Whereabouts

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Kidnapers Carl Austin Hall and Bonnie Brown Heady hinted the day before they died that they knew what became of the missing $300,000 Greenlease ransom money, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat said today.

The Globe-Democrat said Hall and Heady threw out hints in a death row interview last Dec. 17 with Roy S. Pruett, agent in charge of the federal Food and Drugs administration here.

The next day Hall, a drug addict-wastrel, and Mrs. Heady, his alcoholic accomplice, died in the gas chamber for the kidnap-murder of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease.

Hall and Heady had obtained $600,000 ransom from Bobby's wealthy Kansas City, Mo., father. About $300,000 of the money was never recovered. The two St. Louis policemen who arrested Hall, Lt. Louis and Patrolman Elmer Dolan have been sentenced to prison on charges of lying about what happened to the money.

Pruett would neither confirm or deny the Globe-Democrat story.

"Safe and Sane Fireworks" are defined to mean any fireworks not designated herein as dangerous fireworks.

"Established Business" is defined for the purposes of this Part to mean a person holding an unrevoked business license issued by the City, for not less than ninety (90) days immediately prior to the application for any license under this code and who shall have been engaged in business under such license during all of said ninety day period.

"Fraternal Organization" is defined for the purposes of this Part to be any fraternal, benevolent, patriotic, charitable or religious organization not organized for profit, which shall have had a definite meeting place in the City for at least ninety (90) days immediately prior to the application for any license under this part.

Section 6270. DANGEROUS FIREWORKS PROHIBITED
No person shall manufacture, possess, sell, offer for sale, store, display, dispose of give away, keep stock, discharge, explode, fire or set off any dangerous fireworks within the City.

Section 6270.2. LICENSE REQUIRED, SAFE FIREWORKS TIME.
Licenses for the sale of Safe and Sane fireworks shall be issued only to established places of business and fraternal organizations as herein defined. All applications for such licenses shall be filed with the Chief of the Fire Department on or before the first day of June of each year containing a notated statement of each and every kind of fireworks proposed to be sold under said license. Upon receipt of said application the Chief of the Fire Department shall make an investigation and submit a report on the findings and recommendations for or against the issuance of the permit, together with his reasons therefor, to the City Council who shall have the power in its discretion to grant or deny the application subject to such reasonable conditions as it shall prescribe. Upon granting of the permit and issuance of the license, the applicant shall pay, to the Chief of the Fire Department, a license fee of Five Dollars ($5.00) per place of business (1) year from the date thereof. No person shall sell any type of fireworks at any time except from June 25 to July 5, inclusive.

SECTION 3.
That Article VI, Chapter 3 of the Anaheim Municipal Code be amended by adding thereto a new section that shall read as follows:

Section 6283.1% SAME: PERMIT AND LICENSE FEE.
No person shall install any underground storage tanks as set forth in Section 6283.21 of this code without first having obtained a license to do so. Applications must be made to the Chief of the Fire Department of the City who shall make an investigation and, in his own discretion, grant or deny the application subject to the requirements of this part and such reasonable conditions as he shall prescribe. Upon granting of the permit and issuance of the license, the applicant shall pay, to the Chief of the Fire Department, a license fee in the manner and amount as follows:

(a) The minimum fee, regardless of the size or capacity of the tank, shall be Five Dollars ($5.00) per tank.
(b) The fee for tanks with a storage capacity of over five hundred (500) gallons shall be seven (7) dollars per tank.

SECTION 4.
Any person violating any provisions of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished according to the provisions as set forth in ARTICLE I, CHAPTER 2, SECTIONS 1200 and 1201.

SECTION 5.
All Ordinances or parts of Ordinances in conflict with the provisions of this Ordinance are hereby repealed.

SECTION 6.
The City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this Ordinance and shall cause the same to be printed once within fifteen (15) days after the adoption in the Anaheim Bulletin, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in said City, and thirty (30) days from and after its final passage it shall take effect and be in full force.

THE FOREGOING ORDINANCE is approved and signed by me this 25th day of May, 1954.

ORDINANCE NO. 901

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF ANAHEIM AMENDING ARTICLE IX, CHAPTER 1 OF THE ANAHEIM MUNICIPAL CODE BY ADDING NEW SECTIONS THERETO NOW NUMBERED 9100.10 TO 9100.12 INCLUSIVE, THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF ANAHEIM DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1.

That Article IX, Chapter 1 of the Anaheim Municipal Code be, and the same is hereby, amended by adding thereto new sections to be numbered 9100.10, 9100.11 and 9100.12.

Section 9100.10

WHEREAS, the City Council does find and determine that by reason of the rapid growth and expansion of the City of Anaheim and the intensive development of residential areas, there is a need for additional park facilities to provide safe places for children to play; that the greatly increased traffic upon the highways and streets has increased the hazard to children and that public safety and welfare require that said children be kept off the streets and highways and be provided with playground facilities and areas for recreational purposes; and

WHEREAS, the City Council finds that many new subdivisions are being added to the City of Anaheim and rapidly developed, and homes erected thereon without adequate or any provisions for parks, playgrounds or recreational facilities, or that this lack of parks, playgrounds or recreational facilities causes children to play in the streets and exposes them to the danger of injury from traffic, and creates a condition that is highly detrimental to the public safety and welfare; and

WHEREAS, the City Council finds and determines that subdividers should be required to make reasonable provision for parks, playgrounds and recreational facilities, but that the location, size and character of such parks, playgrounds and recreational facilities should be subject to the control and under the supervision of the City of Anaheim; and

WHEREAS, the City Council finds that a reasonable charge per lot to be assessed against each lot in subdivisions and paid to the City and held by the City for the establishment of such parks, playgrounds and recreational facilities in such areas of the City as would best accomplish such purposes would be the best means of promoting the public health and safety; and

WHEREAS, the City Council does find and determine that the sum of $125.00 per lot is a reasonable charge to be levied and assessed against each lot in subdivisions within and adjacent to the City of Anaheim for the purposes aforesaid.

Section 9100.11

A charge of $125.00 per lot is hereby levied and assessed against each lot in each subdivision within the City or hereafter annexed to the City for which a final map has not been approved by the City Council on or before March 15, 1954, and that said sum per lot shall be paid by each owner, or his agent or the property subdivided, upon final approval of the map of said subdivision.

Section 9100.12

The funds so levied, assessed and collected by the City shall be deposited in a special fund to be known as designated as the special fund for the acquisition of parks, playgrounds and recreational facilities, and that said funds are levied and collected shall be used for such purposes as such funds and in such manner as shall be approved, used and directed by the City Council.

SECTION 2.

The City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this Ordinance and shall cause the same to be printed once within fifteen (15) days after its adoption in the Anaheim Bulletin, a newspaper of general circulation, printed, published and circulated in said City, and thirty (30) days from and after its final passage it shall take effect and be in full force.

THE FOREGOING ORDINANCE is approved and signed by me this 25th day of May, 1954.

Third Battalion Slates Final Infantry Review

The Third Battalion, 224th Infantry (NGUS) will hold its last review as an infantry outfit Monday in the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl, national guard officers announced today.

The third Battalion is slated to become an armored outfit under the new National Guard setup.

Composed of Headquarters and Headquarters Co., Company I of Orange, Company K of Anaheim, Company L of Santa Ana and Company M of Fullerton, the Third Battalion will be reviewed by Lt. Col. Charles S. Dever Jr., Third Batallion Commander. Presentation will be by Col. Emmett A. Rink, regimental commander. Santa Ana Drum and Bugle Corps will furnish music. Squad drill competition will be included.

The review is slated from 8 to 10 p.m. with the public invited to attend, officers said.

Fire-Eater's Lot Not an Easy One

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — When the man in the cigar store ground out a cigaret on William (Samadu) Jackson's arm, he only wanted to see if it would hurt.

"It did," Samadu said today. Thereupon he confessed that the lot of a fire-eater is not always a happy one.

"As long as I can concentrate, everything is all right," he said. "It's when people try to experiment on me that I suffer."

On the stage of the Palace Theater the African-born Samadu currently is swallowing burning taper, massaging his body with torches and popping glowing coals into his mouth like so many sugarplums.

This is all in a day's work, but real peril comes when he leaves the theater. Small boys chase him with burning matches. Girls poke him with cigarets. Hot rivets are tossed in his face.

Concentration

"They always say they want to see if it hurts. If I am not concentrating like my uncle taught me in Africa, it does," he explained.

Fire-eating runs in the family, Samadu said in a backstage interview. His uncle started him in training when he was 14 back in Lagos, Nigeria.

"I had to pass certain tests in order to be initiated into the secret rites," he said. These included living on a diet of fish and fruit for several months, learning to concentrate on beautiful things and being abandoned in the jungle for several hours to prove his courage.

Started Young

By the time he was 15 he was able to vary the fish and fruit diet with some hot dishes, such as a smouldering torch. He eventually learned to walk barefoot on hot coals, to thrust an arm into a roaring fire and to inhale and exhale flame.

Samadu went to England to study printing as a youth, and made a big hit at parties with his incendiary tricks. He soon abandoned his publishing ambitions and became a full-time entertainer.

Now in his mid-30's, Samadu has eaten fire throughout Europe, the Middle East and North Africa. His current engagement at the Palace is his American debut.

He finds it necessary to keep in top physical shape to preserve his asbestos-like qualities. He gets to bed early, doesn't drink, eats a high protein diet, and concentrates whenever possible on beauty.

One other thing. He doesn't smoke.

No good fire-eater," he pointed out, "ever touches cigarets.

News From Cypress Way

CHRISTINE DAVIS
Phone JAckson 7-2810

The meeting of the Garnet Howard Chapter of the N.F.M.S. will be held in the home of Mrs. Mildred Killen, 5592 Bishop St., tonight (June 7), at 7:30. All members and friends are urged to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Dorothy Denney will serve as co-hostess during the social hour following the business meeting.

Since several of the members of the Women's Community Club serve on the Election Boards, the meeting of the club has been postponed until next week. The place of meeting has not been selected at present.

All presidents of representatives of Cypress organizations, who wish to participate in the White Gold Day activities, are asked to meet with the board of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening at 7:45 at the fire hall in order that plans may be discussed for the approaching White Gold Day.

A special meeting was held last Wednesday evening to draw up an outline for the organizational meeting. It was under the direction of President Don Caul and General Chairman, Jake Van Dyke.

A misunderstanding as to who pays for the lights in the new Cypress Recreation park has been cirulated recently, and the Park Board has asked that an explanation of the situation be made.

Some people think that the lights cost $12.50 an hour to burn, and that the Cypress taxpayers are paying for the softball leagues' activity on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Actually, the cost of the lights to operate is only $2.50 an hour, and any group other than a Cypress organization, must pay for using them.

The league which is now using the park, pays its own way for each night's activity.

A permit to operate a cleaning shop at the corner of Vonnie Lane and Walker street, was approved last week by the Orange County Planning Commission. Owner of the establishment, which is located in the garage at the rear of the property, is Perron Minor.

Both kindergarter groups of the Cypress school will make a trip to Dutton's jungle at the corner of Orangethorpe and Raymond in Anaheim Friday, and in the meantime, and awards assembly will be held at the school to honor the school's athletes.

All of the boys and girls on the teams will be presented their letters along with the symbols representing the sport in which they participated.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Dyke recently purchased the home of Marshal H. A. Kelley at 8774 Watson St. in Cypress.

Marshal and Mrs. Kelley are moving to 400 North Pine St. in Anaheim.

Van Dyke will move into his new home with his wife when they return from San Luis Obispo, after the school term is completed and graduation is over.

Mr. and Mrs. Ladd Votanek, aunt and uncle of Mrs. W. W. Montgomery, 6362 Lincoln Ave., stopped in for a visit last week while passing through this area. They are on a six week tour of the West Coast, having begun the trip from their home in Berwyn, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Corby, of Karen St., are vacationing among relatives and old friends in Kansas.

Speakers Named For FUHS Graduation

Two seniors who will be honored speakers at graduation exercises Thursday, June 17, in addition to Valedictorian George Barnes, were named yesterday as Ann Richelieu and Phil Schuyler, members of speech classes under supervision of Duane Johnson.

The two additional student speakers will take the place of an adult this year, it was announced. They were selected from a group of candidates by judges consisting of senior class officers, led by President Don Rilea.

High school Baccalaureate services are to be held Sunday, June 13, beginning at 8 p.m. in the auditorium. Commencement program, in the stadium as is customary, will begin at 5 p.m. on Thursday, June 17.

First of the series of senior class activities, preliminary to graduation, will be senior breakfast on Monday, June 7, in the Methodist church. The same evening is the time for presentation of the senior talent show, directed by Richard Rossomme.

ROMP ON THE ROOF—It must be the heady air of London that makes Meribeth Old leap heels-over-head as she is shown doing. Meribeth had recently arrived from Paris and was just limbering up on the roof of a theater where she is playing. No one can say she wasn't in perfect form.
