EVENTS OF THE WEEK

Inspection of Olive Bridge

There are excellent reasons for believing that a railroad running from Anaheim to Orange and northward to the ocean will soon be an accomplished fact. A sugar refinery will shortly be in course of erection at Orange, Richard Ford having already prepared arrangements with Spreckels to that end. Tests made of sugar beets raised in the vicinity have been uniformly good, the... The best tests are published elsewhere...

THE OLIVE BRIDGE

Inspection of the Structure and Dinner on the Camp. An invitation to inspect the new bridge at Olive and partake of good old-fashioned camp dinner was accepted by some friends of our tract on Saturday last. Leaving here a little after 11 o'clock a rapid drive brought the party to the bridge shortly before noon. Proceeding to the camp the party... Mr. Ledbetter is in charge of construction... The contractor's design appears to have been to make the bridge a solid affair...

NATURE AND TRAMPS.
WHERE THE HIGH AND THE POOR ARE ON A COMMON PLANE.

The Wanderers Amid the Glories of Hill and Valley Who Love Nature and Know It Not—The American Tramp and the English "Cobby".

One of the greatest pleasures of Nature is that she never distinguishes between the high and the low, the rich and the poor, the noble and the ignominious, the worldly-wise and the wandering tramp, the well-to-do and the wretched beggar, the man of letters and the man of letters. No Nature is so generous as to give to all alike the same view of the world, the same beauty of the scenery, the same grandeur of the mountains, the same majesty of the ocean, the same glory of the sun, the same splendor of the stars.

There is something about the tramp that is not to be seen in the English "Cobby".
The tramp is a wanderer, a wanderer in the true sense of the word. He is not a tramp because he is poor, but because he is a wanderer. He is a wanderer because he is a tramp, and a tramp because he is a wanderer.
