

MORE votes were polled at the election for School Trustees on Friday than at any similar contest in the history of the town. From early morning to sundown carriages were out conveying voters to the polls, and at closing time 224 votes had been cast—not a large vote when we consider that there are upwards of 500 voters in the school district, but certainly a large one for a school election, where the average is hardly 10 per cent. that number. Mr. Rea, the caucus candidate, was defeated by Arthur Lewis, who ran independently, the vote being: Lewis 156, Rea 78. Mr. Rea was not a seeker after the office on the contrary, he was nominated against his expressed wish in the premises. Never was there a plainer case of the office seeking the man. But while this theorem of politics (the office seeking the man) is beautiful in theory, it doesn't usually pan out votes in practice, especially with an active and personally popular opponent against one, having the support of a number of warm friends working for him at the polls. Against nothing can be said—both are too well known to need extended reference here; and the election was decided, not on the respective merits of the candidates, but on other matters connected with the future management of the school. That there has been reports, more or less evil, concerning the school, is undeniable. We have been frequently asked to refer to them publicly, but have declined; preferring to leave the matter in the hands of the men elected to give their attention to the subject. These matters we have in doubt the new board will right out in a single instance, but in each and every word that the successful candidate will make a good school trustee, admits of no doubt. We believe him to be possessed of sufficient mental force to see to it that the schools are served with competent teachers—that nepotism in the schools shall be wiped out—and that all complaints shall be thoroughly investigated, and an earnest effort made to right them.

It appears to the eagle eye of the esteemed Independent that the editor of the GAZETTE is "worried" about the manner of its "management," and our usual white about our making "false statements" concerning it. Worry is not the word, neighbor; and we have such horror for false statements that we never have use for them—absolutely never. But any one witless enough to coin such a monstrosity as "submerged," and who revels in the meaningless editorial gibberish, is Independent hurts at the heads of its readers weekly, has not the quality of exciting "worry"—and he is not worth lying about. "Provoking amusement" would be nearer the mark.

NEWS was received at Fullerton on Friday that the High School was accredited at Berkeley. Fullerton takes great pride in this fact as this present year's graduates compose only their second graduating class. Last year the doors of Stanford were opened for their first class. The accrediting at Berkeley means also full accreditation in the University of Southern California.

PROF. WILLIAM LIBBY of Princeton University will shortly head an interesting expedition to Albuquerque, N. M., with a party of scientific explorers, the plan being to attempt to scale a rearing escarpment of table land with perpendicular sides 700 feet high. Outcroppings of red sandstone project from the face of the walls, making it almost inaccessible. There are indications of occupancy by a prehistoric race in the fragments of pottery at the base of the formation. Prof. Libby has arranged to throw a line over this table-land, which is several acres in extent on top, by means of tangle-kites, with which experiments were conducted at Bayonne, N. J., by William A. Eddy, who sent up three large kites which were maintained for some time in the air, although the wind was too light for a satisfactory result. Prof. Libby has arranged to use a life-line packed ready for shipment, and a line which will be made to fire a line over the table-land in case the wind is too high for the kites. Larger lines will be dragged over, and the ascent made in a boatwain's chair. The table land can be approached on a plain, but, so far as known, it has never been scaled.

SPECIAL COMMISSIONER W. J. CALHOUN, who was sent to Cuba as a special agent of the administration to look into the causes for the Cuban struggle, has returned. Mr. Calhoun reports that he had formed an impression before leaving for Cuba that negroes and possibly bandits were the chief agents in the insurrection. He had not been there three days before he was convinced that the whole strength of the Cuban people is backing the insurrection. He became satisfied that it was in reality the struggle of Cuba for the Cubans and that they would fight desperately for independence. Everything he subsequently saw and heard strengthened this belief. Calhoun had heard the reports of pacification by General Weyler and had credited them in some degree. His stay in Cuba destroyed this notion. He could not find the pacification which was reported. Instead, he found signs of everywhere, even at the gates of Havana. The Spanish troops held certain parts of the island as an army of occupation, while the insurgents were making constant and often successful raids. Mr. Calhoun was so impressed with these evidences of actual warfare that he gave out a blunt statement that he could see no end of the war as it was being conducted. Mr. Calhoun could not discover that any approach to civilized methods of warfare was being made on either side. He was overwhelmed with evidence to show the atrocities committed by the soldiers under Weyler particularly the guerillas who form a part of the regular army. Such cases as he was able to investigate personally generally proved to be correctly stated. He also learned it

Melick's Portland Mishap.

The Pasadena Assemblyman Separated From His Bride on Their Honeymoon. TACOMA, Wash., June 7.—The excursion party of California editors to Victoria, B. C., minus one of its most prominent members to-night, for Assemblyman Walter S. Melick, editor of the Pasadena News, missed the train at Portland and cannot get here until tomorrow afternoon.

It happened thusly: The editors arrived in Portland at 9:30 o'clock and at 11 o'clock were to leave for Tacoma over the Northern Pacific. After an excellent dinner and breakfast the editors sauntered down to the depot while Assemblyman Melick went out to get a haircut. The barber was slow and the result was that the bridegroom reached Portland's Union depot after the excursion train was well started toward Tacoma.

Residents of Santa Ana are considerably aroused over what they believe to be a flagrant case of child abandonment. A child was born several days ago at the home of Mrs. Melick, who is at Tacoma, and an investigation will probably be made into the case.

Four or five physicians were talking up town the other evening at the home of one of them, and the conversation turned to the subject of the child. One of them had recently moved to Tacoma, and in order to see such callers as came during the night he had a night bell and a speaking tube connecting the front door of the office with his bedroom. You see, I did not want a patient to escape under any circumstances.

"Well, everything went nicely enough for three years or so, when one night a ring came to my bell. It was then about 3 o'clock in the morning, and the ring was a hot one. I asked who it was, and the answer came from a friend of mine to the effect that he was a mighty sick man and wanted to see me at once. I told him to come around to the house and I would meet him at the door and take care of him. Then I got up, and, putting on my dressing gown and slippers, I proceeded to the front door. There was no one there and no one in sight on the way between the gate and the house.

"That was odd, and I went back and called through the tube to know what was wrong. I received no answer, and, being quite unable to account for it, I took my lamp and started to go out and investigate. Just as I was about to step off the porch I lowered my lamp to get a better light on the step, and there at the foot of the porch lay a body. I turned it over once, and as the light fell on the face I saw it was my friend who had only a minute before spoken to me. He was quite dead. And when an examination was made, it was discovered that he had died of heart disease, and so near to me that I could almost have touched him. Possibly I could not have been of any service to him if I had seen him when he first rang the bell, but the possibility that I might so affect me from that day that I have had to exchange as near my bed as I could get it."

DREW HIS BURIED BROTHER'S PENSION. SEATTLE, Wash., June 7.—The Federal authorities appear to have unearthed a genuine pension fraud when they arrested Horace L. Howard, who was dragged out of the Soldiers' Home at Orling on a charge of perjury. For over six years the accused had been personating his dead brother, Harry S. Howard, drawing all this time a pension of $12 a month. Harry was a member of Company E, Sixth Michigan Heavy Infantry, and is reported to have been a brave soldier. He was honorably discharged in 1868 after four years' hard service. He was a single man.

In July of that year Harry died. Time wore on, and in 1890 his brother, Horace, who never served a day in the army, applied for a pension in the name of Harry S. Howard. The following year he was awarded one at the rate of $12 a month, which amount he drew regularly and religiously.

Uncle Sam has gone to the expense of importing the witnesses to the State all the way from Calhoun county, Mich., where the Howards lived before and after the war. One of these is Anson Hickey, who served in the same regiment with Harry S. Howard. The other two are W. W. and George H. Pease, consins of the accused as well as of the deceased soldier.

It was when the fact became known that these men would bear testimony against him that Horace broke down, saying he would kill himself rather than that the story of his perjury should be told to the world.

It transpires that he is a bigamist also. He deserted his wife, whom he married many years ago in New York State, and the Messrs. Pease and Hickey say that he will himself divorce her and marry an Albion (Mich.) widow, whose maiden name was Jennie Cowan. She knew nothing of his first marriage, and her witnesses were recently before a Justice of the Peace, Michigan agent stationed at Jackson, Michigan, in which pension district that fraud was unearthed.

The First Botanic Gardens. After the discovery of the medicinal properties of plants it must have followed, in course of time, that representatives of the species to which medicinal properties were attributed should be collected and cultivated in some place convenient, easy and readily accessible, as need demanded. The last step did not immediately follow, however, since, among the conditions which were earlier supposed to influence the growth of medicinal plants, the local soil in which grown and the mysteries attending their collection were of the greatest importance.

A Missing Petition, and How it was Found.

Mr. Botsford's List of Shareholders Which Disappeared and Thus Impaired the Legality of the Recent Extension of the Water Limits, is Found by Mr. Benchley, and Matters are Again Proceeding Along the Statute...

The water board at its meeting on Saturday instructed the Board of Audit to revise the lists of shareholders recently submitted whereon the affirmative vote on the enlargement of the boundaries was based.

Originally ten petitions were presented to the board, bearing the signatures of a sufficient number of shares to justify the enlargement. When a committee of the "reform league" subsequently revised the lists, they found a description of stock somewhat insufficient to justify enlargement, and the committee made many charges against the genuineness of a number of the signatures attached to the petitions.

When it was later discovered that one of the petitions had mysteriously disappeared, the lists should have been checked, instead of ten, and that the absence of the missing petition might operate disastrously to the enlargement.

When the minutes were read Mr. Amery made the point against them that the Secretary had read "eleven petitions" instead of "ten" (in the matter of the enlargement of the district); but withdrew the point, as the Secretary stated the minutes read "ten petitions," and that he had so read it.

Mr. Crowther of the committee on uniform rights of way for the Foothills reported progress, and was granted further time.

Mr. Amery reported that he had secured deeds for right-of-way to the Southside ditch from all property owners along the line. The deeds from McGraw and Neff for the division gate in the corner of Lemon and Broadway to be in bad condition and recommended that it be replaced by a cement arch.

Supt. Sheppard reported the expense account for the month to be $692.20; construction account, $12,875. Of the $12,875 had been for the division gate in the river, which cost $170.00, and for the Santa Ana company had paid $99.70 in its half share.

Mr. Amery made a weak argument against the work, because the location of the fill was a few feet north of the present dike, and this would naturally take in a small strip of land into the district, the northern boundary line being the line of the canal.

Mr. Key asked for information, and on being informed by the attorney of the company that the boundary line was where it had been originally located, and could not be changed at every change of the dike, he expressed himself as being satisfied with the work, and voted in favor of it, saying he deemed it to be necessary.

Director Browning reported that the dike was substantially completed, but he wished, before reporting the acceptance of the dike, that Mr. Benchley guarantee the fill for a year from the time of its construction.

After discussion E. K. Benchley agreed to guarantee the fills until Nov. 1, and the new dike was accepted and a resolution was passed abolishing the line of the old dike which the new canal replaces for a distance of half a mile.

The attorney reported that the Superintendent had advised him that the Superintendent of the Santa Ana company had reconstructed the dam across the river at the time the objection was set up in the river bed last year, below the company's dam, and was diverting from 100 to 200 cubic feet of water through the dam into the other company's ditches.

On the point of the legality of the election of the Board of Audit, the chair ruled that the meeting was competent to take up the matter. The Board of Audit had been elected by a vote of the annual stockholders' meeting, without opposition, and there was any irregularity in the manner of the election, it was for the

When Recorder Pierce had made out the complaint, which was charged with, and informed him he had a jury trial, if he wished it, McEachran said, good-naturedly:

"I haven't got any time to fool around with this business—how much will it cost to get out of this? The judge informed the prisoner that the least fine he could impose was $10, that being the minimum amount, according to the ordinance. The Judge observed that he thought the minimum amount should have been placed at $5, but the ordinance made it $10, and he could not vary the law."
