NEGROES PLEAD NOT GUILTY TO ASSAULT

FULLERTON WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE FROM VICTIM OF SHELL SHOCK

Weaver Says Injury In Battle Has Made Him Irresponsible — Woman Asks Money for Support.

Appearing in court this morning in answer to an order to show cause why he should not support his wife, Ruby Anna Weaver, who is suing him for divorce, Merlin Charles Weaver of Fullerton was ordered to return $175 which was alleged to have been given him by his wife for the purpose of buying stock for a cigar stand.

Weaver, who is a veteran of the war and who is said to be entitled to government aid as a disabled soldier, endeavored to show that he was not entirely responsible for his actions at all times. He is said to be a victim of shell shock, to have been gassed twice and to have been shot through the left arm.

The defendant was at one time secretary of the Fullerton chamber. He is said to be physically unfit for manual labor and is entitled to governmental vocational training.

The plaintiff endeavored to show that the money in question had been used in other ways than for the purchase of stock as had been agreed. It was charged that the defendant gambled and drank and that a large part of the money was lost in this way.

When Judge Cox informed him that he had frequently given jail sentences for similar offences, Tidball decided to pay the fine at once.

ORANGE MAN DEMANDS $30,000 DAMAGES FROM DOCTOR

Alleging malpractice on the part of Dr. E. H. Thompson of Burbank, H. Rayburn Vaughan of Orange, has brought suit for $30,000 damages. Vaughan declares that his left arm has been permanently disabled by reason of the failure of Dr. Thompson to set properly a broken bone.

The complaint in the damage action was filed in Los Angeles county by Attorneys W. A. Alderson and W. M. Brown. Since Rayburn Vaughan is a minor, being 19 years of age, he is represented in the action by his father, Ed. H. Vaughan, of Orange, for many years regarded as one of the best known shotgun and rifle shots in the country.

January 2, 1921, young Vaughan was riding a motorcycle at Burbank when he collided with an automobile that had turned suddenly in the middle of the block. He was taken unconscious to Dr. Thompson's hospital.

The complaint charges that Vaughan's left forearm was broken in the accident.

According to E. H. Vaughan, when the arm was examined by the young Vaughan had been in the hospital five weeks, it was found that the ends of the broken bone overlapped and had grown together. An operation by another surgeon was resorted to, and even that failed to correct the damage that the complaint declares was done in the Burbank hospital by reason of the alleged carelessness of Dr. Thompson.

The complaint states that the young man's left arm is left distorted and helpless.

DAWN OF NEW ROMANCE BARED BY WOMAN IN LAW PLEA

That romance has re-entered the life of Geneva Wilson, former Olive school teacher recently divorced from Ray Wilson, was made known late yesterday amid the unromantic atmosphere of court.

There, Mrs. Wilson is seeking to untangle the broken threads of her first romance and start afresh, providing a home for her little daughter who was separated from her in the crash of the first marriage.

The court proceedings, scheduled for this afternoon before Superior Judge R. Y. Williams, consist of an order to Ray Wilson to show cause, if any exist, why the child, Ella May, who is now in the custody of its grandmother, Mrs. H. P. Hosier, should not be restored to the custody of its mother.

In support of her appeal for custody, Mrs. Wilson states in an affidavit that she plans to marry again and re-establish a home for the little girl.

Although no details were given, it is understood that, early in January, she will wed an Oakland contractor and that the couple will make their home in Santa Ana. She has been teaching in Oakland.

COUNTY OFFICERS HUNT DARING THIEVES WHO RANSACKED CAFE

Assistance from the sheriff's office in Santa Ana was sought today in an effort to locate the daring thieves that removed a large amount of valuable furniture from the Tower Cafe at Seal Beach Wednesday night.

The furniture taken was mostly in the form of tables and chairs, but other articles were also included in the loot secured. That the thieves must have been equipped with a big truck is thought probable due to the great bulk of the furniture taken.

The Tower Cafe has been closed for the larger part of two years and has not been opened at all during the last year. It was finally closed by county officers about a year ago.

Rain Forcast for Tonight; Work at River Continues

With conditions rapidly returning to normal after nearly two weeks of rain, the forecast is that showers may prevail during late today and tonight. The weather bureau reports that conditions are decidedly unsettled.

High waters had subsided everywhere in the county yesterday, according to reports from outlying districts. Repairs on roads and bridges were progressing speedily, and public service systems were getting back into shape.

The gap through which the Santa Ana river poured its flood waters into the streets of Anaheim was closed yesterday evening and the 110 men furnished by the Santa Fe railway company to assist in the work returned to Los Angeles last night.

There is yet much work to be done at the river, of a temporary nature, it is said, and fifty men, ten teams and three automobile trucks have been busy all day strengthening the banks of the stream. Sand bags and cypress trees are being used effectively. It was discovered this morning, however, that the water had begun to cut out the bank where the bank had been repaired yesterday and it is believed that it will require a number of days to make the banks safe even temporarily.

John Cook in Charge

John Cook has charge of the work of placing the cypress trees. LeRoy Berger and A. Bayliss have also been active in the work. Much credit is due these men as well as all of the men who have volunteered their services.

Mr. Eyzabroad's plan calls for a double row of piling on the west bank of the river from the Olive boulevard bridge to the Santa Fe railroad bridge, a distance of a mile and a half. The rows of piling would be placed eight feet apart with the piles eight feet apart in the row. This piling would

STATE NOW DEMANDS IMMEDIATE RETRIAL OF ARBUCKLE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—Roscoe Fatty Arbuckle will be tried a second time for manslaughter growing out of the death of Virginia Rappe unless something entirely unforseen happens within the next few days to alter this determination.

Not only did they agree that the trial would proceed but both were making preparations highly elaborate for it.

"We insist that Arbuckle be retried without delay and will oppose any attempt to postpone the case," McNab, speaking for the defense, declared.

"We will be ready and anxious to go ahead January 9," was the statement from the district attorney.

Much attention was being centered by the defense on the fingerprint testimony which figured heavily in the first trial.

Attorneys for both sides agreed that there were good prospects of shortening the second trial considerably.

A jury panel of sixty, including more than one-third women, has been drawn to report for the Arbuckle case January 9.

It Was a Long Lane, but This Looks Like the Turn. —By Herbert Johnson.

CARPENTIER HAS GONE BACK, SAYS THIS SPORT WRITER

By JACK McAULIFFE,
(Retired Undefeated Lightweight Champion).

(Written for the United Press)

LONDON, Dec. 30.—Georges Carpentier has gone back—way back.

I've seen him working out for his bout with George Cook, Australian champion, to be held here January 12, and he doesn't look good.

The ones who saw the haughty, magnificent Carpentier strutting around Manhasset last summer would never recognize the meek and humbled Georges.

He looks underweight. His complexion is sallow and pale and his boxing is listless, at times, bored. It may be that he thinks Cook is a soft one. But any boxer who had such a lesson in the danger of over-confidence that he had with Dempsey should never fall into the same trap again.

Because of this and for the reason that Carpentier and Descamps both have brains, I ascribe his present mood as a marked physical decline.

Descamps told me that Georges had suffered from a three weeks' attack of grippe but that he was in good condition again. He denied the stories about his bad heart and other internal injuries.

However, the most apparent difference in the Frenchman is in his morale. He is quiet and almost broody with moods.

I think Dempsey did hurt him and hurt him badly. I can best give my opinion by using a shop phrase that all boxers and trainers will understand—he's gone inside.

ELOPERS HELD; GROOM CHARGED WITH CAR THEFT

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 30.—Locked in the detention home here is 18-year-old Leona Cottle. A few blocks away a cell in the county jail holds C. D. Carson, her youthful bridegroom of two weeks. He is charged with theft of an automobile in Los Angeles.

Carson, son of a wealthy San Luis Obispo rancher, eloped with the girl two weeks ago. They tried to get a marriage license in Los Angeles, but failed. They went to Santa Ana and succeeded. Carson confessed, say police, that he stole an automobile to take his bride home and seek forgiveness.

While the couple were being taken into custody here today, members of both families were meeting in Los Angeles to discuss steps to annual the marriage.

Wife's Fighting Ability Leads Man To Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—Height, weight, reach, and fighting ability figured in the divorce action yesterday of Wolf Rabinowitz who charged his wife, Rose Rabinowitz, with controlling the upper hand of the household. The husband was granted a divorce by Judge Summerfield.

"She weighs 180 pounds, while I only weigh about 140," testified the husband. "She is taller than I and has fighting ability."

"Could she lick you?" asked the court.

"She sure could and did," replied Rabinowitz.

The husband charged his wife with cruelty.

The train stopped longer than usual on the big curve coming into the Irish wayside station. A passenger looked out, saw the guard descend from his van and listened to the following conversation with the driver:

Guard—"What are yo shtopin' for?"

Driver—"Sure and can't ye see the signal is agin me?"

Guard — "It's mighty particular you're gettin' all of a sudden."

G. E. KITCHEN TO ADD SECOND LINK TO CHAIN STORES

G. E. Kitchen will add the second link to the Kitchen chain of grocery stores when he opens his new store in the Isenmheimer building on West Center street, January 15. The store at its present location, 161 West Center street, will be operated also.

Mr. Kitchen's business has grown so rapidly in the past few months that he has found it necessary to secure more room, he said this morning.

One morning, when Billy woke up, he sat on the floor for some time gazing at his toes.

"Hurry up, Billy, you'll be late for breakfast," said his mother. "Why are you looking at your feet?"

"Well," said the boy, "isn't it funny that one of my toes is so much larger than the others; I had them all at the same time, didn't I?"

Millions Underfed In U. S., Says Farm Chief

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—"The curtailment of the acreage devoted to staple farm products, suggested by the secretary of agriculture, would be evidence that our civilization has gone to smash," Benjamin C. Marsh, managing director of the Farmers' National Council, declared in a statement today. "Millions of people are starving in the world, and millions are underfed in the United States," he said. "We must immediately have the government guarantee the wheat grower the cost of production, and control wheat products through city bakers."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The El Paso & Southwestern Company has been authorized by the interstate commerce commission to purchase all outstanding stock and bonds of the Arizona & New Mexico railway and to consolidate its 104-mile line from Hachita, N. M., to Clifton, Ariz., with the present system of the Southwestern. The purchase price is given as $4,500,000, of which $1,000,000 is to be paid in cash and the balance in two-year 6 per cent notes of the purchasing corporation.

Miss Alice Robertson, the only woman member of congress, as the records put it, was in conversation with a group of male members. Something made Miss Alice peevish at the way part of the House was acting. "I'm not the only old woman in this House," she said as she looked around the group defiantly. Now the question that is agitating those present is exactly who Miss Alice looked at at the moment. There are as many different versions as there were members present.

THIEVES TAKE JEWELRY WHILE WOMAN GETS DIVORCE IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—While Mrs. Grace Davis Denman, 2205 South Hobart Boulevard, was procuring a divorce yesterday afternoon in Judge Summerfield's court, burglars looted her residence of jewelry valued at $1,110.

Mrs. Denman's action was not contested by her husband, Abram C. Denman, Jr., president and general manager of the Southern California Iron and Steel Company and former Fire Commissioner. He is said to be residing at the California club.

The divorce action was based by Mrs. Denman on the ground of mental suffering and the assertion that Mr. Denman began to lose interest in their home and neglect her early in 1919. Since then he has been absent from home one-fourth of the time at nights, she declared.

The divorce was granted. The court approved a property settlement made out of court, providing that alimony of $200 a month be paid Mrs. Denman and that she shall have the family home at 2205 South Hobart Boulevard. The Denmans were married in 1896. They separated last August.

The theft at her home was committed while she was in court. The thieves found a key under the doormat at the entrance to the house and ransacked the place.

W. AND J. TEAM ARRIVES IN PASADENA FOR GAME MONDAY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—Washington and Jefferson, the alleged "setup" football team, held the center of the stage here today.

The eastern eleven was due to arrive at Pasadena at 2 o'clock this afternoon, preparatory to the crucial New Year's game against the California Bears.

Reception committees were busily dusting silk hats and trying on stand-up collars. Orators were duly notified that any outbreaks on their part would result in drastic punishment.

Coach Andy Smith of the Bears stated he would not attend the reception party. He had made arrangements, he said, to give the Bears the hottest kind of a welcome Monday afternoon.

Representatives of the graduate manager's office were to be on hand to do the honors for the University of California.

Meanwhile the football dopesters were discussing the latest bulletins offered by the "intelligence service"—the small army of railbirds, who, as unbidden guests, have been peeping in on California's secret practice.

"Brick" Muller won't play the whole game" was the latest from the front. "Andy" Smith had Berkey running signals with the team for at least half the workout.

"Muller replaced Berkey only when the style of play was opened for California's famous passing game."

UNEXPLODED SHELLS ARE PERIL IN FRANCE

An odd problem, which is being encountered all through the territory in which fighting occurred during the war, is that of guarding against the exploding of shells which buried themselves in the ground without having exploded. In the section of France along the Marne, where the fighting was particularly fierce, the peasant farmers have found this danger to be very real. A plowman may at any moment strike a shell that will explode with sufficient force to kill him and his team.

Various solutions have been suggested, but the most promising is one worked out by a French scientist and considered by the Academy of Science. The plan is to go all over the farms with an electrical instrument that will give warning when a mass of metal is near. Such an instrument is an old American invention frequently used in laboratory work. Some modifications of it were adopted by the French scientist to fit it for field use, and his apparatus requires the services of two men.

In practical tests on the old battle fields it has been found possible for two men to explore an acre thoroughly in about one hour, and to locate every buried shell near enough to the surface to do any harm.

MURPHY IS DENIED WRIT FOR RELEASE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—The District Court of appeal late yesterday denied Edmond (Spud) Murphy, pugilist and criminal gangster, a writ of habeas corpus to release him from the fifty-year prison term imposed, following his conviction on a charge of attacking Miss Jessie Montgomery. Murphy has contended that the sentence fixed, which was the maximum penalty of the indeterminate sentence imposed by the trial judge, was unusual and unnecessary punishment.

SCIENTISTS WILL SEEK LAIR OF PRIMITIVE MAN IN WILDS

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Bayard Colgate of Orange, N. J., is giving up a life of luxury to search for the "missing link."

Mr. Colgate, whose father is a millionaire, and a member of Colgate & Co., soap manufacturers will be a member of the third Asiatic expedition which will sail in February. They will spend more than six months in the interior of Mongolia, searching for records of primitive man.

Roy Chapman Andrews of the Museum of Natural History is to head the expedition. Mr. Andrews is now in Peking making arrangements for the journey. There will be seven in the party, all of them scientists except Mr. Colgate. He later will be placed in charge of the motor transportation. To obtain a working knowledge of the trucks and automobiles which he has forwarded to Peking for the use of the party, he recently spent some time working as a factory hand in one of the western automobile plants.

The party will leave modern civilization after departing from Urga, in Mongolia. It is Mr. Andrews' theory that primitive man had his being in that part of the world, working outward in quest of game. Mr. Colgate will travel in advance of the party, planning routes and arranging for the transportation of supplies.

A small boy, looking rather bewildered, approached a policeman and said:

"Please, sir, have you seen anything of a lady around here?"

"Why, yes," answere dthe officer. "I've seen several."

"Well, have you seen any without a little boy?" persisted the youngster.

"Yes."

"Well," said the little chap, as a relieved look crossed his face, "I'm the little boy. Where's the lady?"

HIGH DENVER FARE HELD TO BE LEGAL

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 30.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals confirmed late yesterday the order of District Judge Lewis of Denver granting the Denver Tramway Company an injunction against the city and county of Denver, and permitting the company to establish an 8-cent maximum fare instead of a 6-cent fare.

The company is in the hands of a receiver. The court held that a city franchise ordinance, which provides for a maximum 6-cent fare, was not in the form of a contract, and if there were a contract, it would be void because of lack of mutuality.

An absent-minded fisherman who tumbled into the river went down twice before he remembered that he was able to swim.

MISS McPHEE ENTERTAINS FOR SISTER-TO-BE

Miss Claire McPhee of Santa Ana, sister of Douglass McPhee, gave a pretty affair recently for her sister-to-be, Miss Frieda Heineman of Anaheim, with the members of the Alpha Theta Phi sorority as the guests. The honoree is a pledge to that sorority.

It was an informal affair with the active members and pledges gathering at the home of Miss Edith Hill of the faculty, patroness of the sorority.

The announcement was in the form of a tiny letter with each place-card, bearing the names of the betrothed. Miss Heineman wore a jeweled sister pin of Pi Chi fraternity, of which Mr. McPhee is a member.

Refreshments were served, augmented later in the evening by the arrival of a handsome box of candy, the contribution to the evening's festivities by the man in the case. A dainty bouquet of roses arrived, also, from the same source, bearing the name of the honoree and, caught in the ribbons of blue and gold, the sorority colors, was a beautiful solitaire diamond set in platinum and gold.

Miss Heineman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Heineman of this city, and Mr. McPhee is the son of Mr. and Mrs Horace McPhee of Santa Paula, who lived in Santa Ana for many years, when the elder Mr. McPhee was owner and editor of the Santa Ana Blade.

FEDERAL WILL ABANDON 2120-FOOT HOLE IN BREA FIELD

The Federal Drilling Company found it impossible after 3 weeks' fishing to recover all the lost drill pipe and will abandon 2120 feet of hole and move the rig to a new location.

The Columbia Oil Producing Company's deep test well in the heart of the old Puente field is experiencing a lot of slow and hard drilling. At 1382 the formation is a tough blue shale and drills very slowly. Columbia No. 34 at Olinda is down 4250 feet, in sandy shale and not showing any oil. Utco No. 2 stands cemented at 3472 and Pico No. 3 is drilling in the sandy shale at 3100. Pico No. 4 is at 2345 in sandy shale.

The Fullerton Oil Company has two wells drilling at Brea, No. 14 at 2300 shows hard sand and some gas. No. 17 drilling at 985 in shale and hard sand, No. 18 is a grade for a new well.

LOTTIE PICKFORD WILL MARRY FORREST SAYS RUMOR

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—Lottie Pickford, sister of "Little Mary" and herself a former motion picture favorite, is to marry Allen Forrest, actor, on January 7, according to a rumor current in Hollywood.

Forrest would not deny the report. Miss Pickford, however, expressed surprise that "such an odd rumor" was in circulation.

Lottie Pickford was divorced a year ago from Albert G. Rupp, New York broker, whom she married in 1912. She charged Rupp with desertion.

The screen colony was congratulating two more newlyweds here today, following the marriage of Jack Mulhall and Evelyn X. Winans, famed San Francisco beauty.

Mulhall's former wife, who was Miss Laura Bunton before her marriage, committed suicide here a few months ago.

His first wife, formerly Miss Bertha Vuillot, beautiful Parisienne, said to have been the original Gibson girl, also died.

REBUTTAL WITNESSES WILL TESTIFY TODAY THAT BURCH IS SANE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30.—Ten jail attaches.

Five newspapermen.

Five special investigators attached to the district attorney's office.

Two residents of Harlowtown, Mont.

Two county jail prisoners.

Two alienists.

This is the array of rebuttal witnesses which the state prepared today to place on the stand against Arthur C. Burch.

They will all testify that the minister's son, accused of the cold-blooded slaying of John Belton Kennedy, broker, talked and acted like a sane person.

The alienists were scheduled to open the rebuttal testimony. Dr. Louis Webber was the first psychiatric on the witness list.

He was to tell of his observations of Burch at the jail and of his visit to the prisoner at the county jail.

On this latter occasion he attempted to apply the test of suggestion to "Li'l Artha," as Burch is familiarly known in the circuit court rooms, with disastrous results to the dignity of the alienist.

Slowly and painfully the aged horse drew the cart heavily laden with apples to the top of the hill.

Then a tragedy happened. The tailboard of the cart dropped out, and with merry leaps and bounds the apples rolled about the road.

The driver was well known in the neighborhood for the strength and picturesqueness of his language, and a crowd gathered quickly.

The worried man gazed at the empty cart, at the apple-strewn roadway and then at the expectant audience.

"Gentlemen," he said, with a sad shake of the head, "I regret to confess I am unequal to the occasion."

LETTERS PROVE WATSON CHARGES THAT MEN WERE HANGED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Charges that soldiers were illegally hanged, shot by officers and brutally treated during the war continued to pile up today before the senate committee investigating Senator Tom Watson's sensational charges.

Every mail brings Watson letters and telegrams from war veterans in all parts of the country, who declare they have evidence to prove his charges. He is turning them over to the committee and asking that the men be summoned.

George D. Glazebrook, an enlisted man in the navy, aboard the U. S. S. Marrine at San Diego, California, wrote Watson today that he witnessed the illegal hanging of two negro soldiers at Bazooches, France, in the spring of 1919 and asked a chance "to bring the guilty ones to justice."

"I can say with a true heart and clear conscience that these two negroes were hanged without trial and with the uniform of the United States army on," said Blazebrook. "I talked to both of them and they told me that they were going to be hanged the next morning. Up to the time I talked to them I knew they were not guilty."

Glazebrook said he could not remember the exact date of the hangings but gave the names of "Lieutenant Lazelle of Montana and Dr. Perkins, a captain in the medical corps" as two officers who were present.

Charges against Major H. L. Opie of Staunton, Va., who has been accused of shooting men of his command, continued to come in.

Levi P. Bell of Purcellville, Va., a former private in Company I, 16th infantry, wrote that Henry L. Scott, Akron, Ohio, who made the original charges against Opie "absolutely told the truth."

"I, with several others, saw the same thing he did but were not in position to say anything for we would have gotten the same thing he did," said Bell.

L. C. Mason of Davenport, Iowa, wired Watson that he saw two negro soldiers hanged in camp at Saint Nazaire, France, without "a fair trial if they had any trial at all." Saint Nazaire is not one of the places at which the war department records show that any of the eleven soldiers legally executed during the war were hanged, Watson said.

"The rain has put a thousand dollars in my pocket," said the farmer to his rector in a moment of confidence. The clergyman brightened up.

"Ah, then," he said, "you'll be able to give me a little lift on the church budget, Mr. Giles."

The farmer shook his head. "No-o, sir, I'm not so flush as that. Why, you see, the drought we had took a thousand dollars out of my pocket. So you see, sir, I'm only about even."

One quail on toast is worth two in the other fellow's game bag.

Chickens that come home to roost have more sense than some men.

If you are wise today you can risk being otherwise tomorrow.

Proof of the political pudding lies in the size of the plums.

Today's World News In Brief

By United Press

STEAMSHIP PRESIDENT IMPROVES

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 30.—H. F. Alexander, president of the Pacific Steamship Company, who was taken to Seattle general hospital yesterday afternoon following a severe attack of stomach trouble, was reported greatly improved today. It was stated at the hospital that Alexander probably would leave within a day or two.

GANG LEADER WAS PREACHER

BROWNSVILLE, Ore., Dec. 30.—Herbert Wilson held in Los Angeles as the alleged ringleader of a gang of international crooks, came to Brownsville from Canada in 1914 to fill a vacancy in the Baptist church pulpit, it was recalled here today.

He served in that capacity until 1915 when he disappeared and was alleged to have left some $200 in unpaid bills which members of his congregation paid.

Wilson held the Baptist pastorate from June 26, 1914 to January 25, 1915. He was ordained here and before taking the local pastorate was engaged in evangelical work throughout Oregon. He resigned here because of professed dissatisfaction with the work.

Rev. and Mrs. Wilson came from London, Canada, and on leaving said they would return to Canada, then go to Los Angeles.

A short time later W. P. Elmore of Brownsville received a letter from a California detective agency asking for references for Wilson, who was trying to obtain employment as a detective.

ROBBERS GET STORE SAFE

DENVER, Colo., Rec. 30.—For the second time in four weeks robbers carried away the safe of the Piggly Wiggly store here last night.

OIL WELLS BREAK LOOSE.

ORANGE, Tex., Dec. 30.—The new Orange oil fields became an area of roaring, screeching turmoil with the oil and gas spouting skyward today when Humble Company "Cresson No. 3" broke loose again and spattered the country in a half mile radius with crude petroleum.

Simultaneously, wells in the field that had been "dry" for some time came to life again and spouted.

FARM CONFERENCE PLANNED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—An agricultural conference to help that industry out of its financial slump is under consideration by the administration, it was learned today. The tentative plan calls for a conference of representatives of farmers, railroads, financial institutions and agriculturl implement makers.

The subject was discussed at today's session of President Harding and his cabinet, it was understood.

Fashions for Americans

BLOUSE styles, especially as regards length have a way of jumping from one extreme to the other. The very long overblouse will have a lease of life and be featured in all the shop windows, and as soon as this style shows indications of having been pushed a little too vigorously the woman who wants to be "different" will cast her vote for the waist length model. This condition has been especially evident during the present season. The season started off with the hip length blouse in first place and the very long costume blouse regarded as somewhat a thing of the past. Then the long model came into its own again, and these overblouses were shown in such lengths that they looked exactly like one-piece dresses. They were that, really, except that they were made by blouse manufacturers and displayed in blouse departments in the shops.

Now there is again a considerable leaning to the short models, both of the suit and dressy type.

The sketch shows a waist length over-the-skirt blouse, combining plain and flowered chiffon with a trimming of ribbon, narrow braid, plain silk, or plain color self fabric.

This blouse opens a trifle in the back so it may be easily slipped on over the head, and is finished at the waist with a girdle of plain material that times at the back.

Some of the very long overblouses are cut in irregular form at the lower edge, one side longer than the other, short in back and long in front, etc., so that when worn over a foundation or slip of another color the tunic effect is distinctly pronounced and smart. Sometimes a blouse that is even in length will be furnished with a long sash, the ends of which hang well below the edge of the slip or underslip shows.

Plain and Flowered Chiffons Fashion This Little Blouse.

Green and White is the Color Scheme Featured in This Frock.

THE bouffant silhouette is increasingly popular for dainty dance frocks, especially with the younger women, and the style lends itself to many fabrics and fabric combinations. The sketch shows such a frock made of green and silver tinted brocade over a silver lace petticoat, the lace also being used for the short sleeved under-bodice. Knots of flowers help to trim the frock, one bouquet marking the fastening of the girdle, while other and smaller ones are caught to the bit of black velvet ribbon cascaded down the front.

Green and white, either in combination or singly, are very much to the fore in the season's evening apparel, and not for a long time have so many all white evening gowns been seen.

A very dainty and smart evening frock of the bouffant type recently seen showed the full skirt trimmed with little double ruffles of silver lace, the mid-Victorian neck, short sleeves and peplums that extended from the waist line over the hips being similarly finished. The material used was pale green taffeta.

Another of the green frocks noted was a bouffant model of cedar green velvet trimmed with touches of black tulle and black ostrich tips. Another dainty frock featured a tight fitted bodice with skirt formed of petals edged with gold embroidery or braid. The fabric in this gown being green taffeta.

A smart frock of white satin, made with draped but fitted waist and full gathered skirt, had as its only touch of color a water lily caught at the waist line on one side, with a streamer of yellow tulle extending from this to the edge of the skirt.

NEWS FROM THE OIL FIELDS

WELL AT RICHFIELD BACK ON PUMP AND DOING 200 BARRELS

The Amalgamated Oil Company's Thompson No. 1, drilled to 3057, is back on the pump and is doing about 200 barrels. Breen No. 2 is drilling in the oil sand at 3200 and looks good. Kammerer No. 1 is ready to drill out the cement at 2755 and go ahead. A record was made on the Page well. 3096 feet of hole was made in 50 days' actual drilling time as against four and six months often taken to drill wells at Richfield.

The Clark Oil Company's Wetzel No. 1 is now at 4340, just ten feet deeper than the offset producer drilled by the Standard Oil Company. At 4346 the Clark well is in sandy shale, and not looking anything extra.

The Merchants Petroleum Company is drilling out the cement in No. 2 at 3062 feet and making a water test. No. 3 is going a little slow at 1345 in the conglomerate.

Fullerton Will Make Test

The Fullerton Oil Company will make a final test of the A. U. W. Co. No. 1 before abandonment. The intention now is to plug up to 4040 and perforate the 6 inch and try for production from showings noted at this depth in drilling.

As stated last week, an announcement concerning the Placentia Pacific would be made this week. The Amalgamated Oil Company has taken over the unfinished well and the holdings of the Placentia Pacific Oil Company. Work on the uncompleted well will be resumed at 3685 and carried to completion. The terms of the lease will be announced in a few days. The Wonder Company, Ltd., bid for the property also.

The last cementing job done by the Placentia Oil Company at 3005 feet failed to shut off the water. The well is standing idle at present.

Sets Pipe at 4100 Feet

Bradford No. 2 of the Chansler-Canfield Midway stopped drilling at 4100 feet and set a string of 6 1-4. Bradford No. 4 is at 3400 in brown shale. Bradford No. 6 a t1400 is drilling in hard sand. Richfield No. 3 at 2670 is in hard sand.

The Petroleum Midway's Richfield-Yorba No. 1 is being prepared to set a string of 4 3-4 carrying 208 feet of screen pipe at 4600 feet. The cementing will be done through the perforations. This deep test well was drilled to 4905 feet and carries considerable interest as its success means a substantial increase to the Richfield district lands.

Krug No. 6 shows 2000 feet in hard sand, and No. 7 is close to 2700 feet. Richfield Consolidated No. 5 set the 10 inch at 2885, and No. 6 is building rig.

Giant Will Go Down

For ten days there has been no activity at the Richfield-Giant. A definite decision to drill deeper has been reached by the directorate. Rigging up starts immediately. The bottom of the hole was originally at 4214, but was plugged back to almost 4000 feet. By going ahead deeper it is the consensus of opinion that the Richfield-Giant will be awarded with a nice producer, a big well.

Little by little the Richfield-Yorba Oil Company is getting its No. 1 in shape to produce. Drilled down to 3447 the well is being swabed and cleaned out preparatory to going on production. Should the well hesitate about flowing it will be put on the pump.

At 4536 the Ridge Oil Company's No. 1 is now drilling in hard shell and not showing any oil. It is hoped that there will be something found under the hard shell or cap rock.

Well Increases Output

The Standard Oil Company's Kraemer 2-16, a last week completion at 4250, came in at 525 barrels. The production of this new well automatically increased to 600 barrels. Kraemer 2-17 lost 3940 feet of hole, moved the rig and is now rigging up. Kellogg No. 2 is now drilling in the sandy shale at 4055 and is showing a little encouragement.

Good time is being made on Wentz Syndicate No. 2. This week the log showed 2855 feet and the drilling going nicely in sandy shale.

The Wonder Company, Ltd.'s, No. 2 has been on the pump three weeks and to date has made water only. Wonder No. 4 is 1900 in hard sand.

Chapman Lays Off Again

The Union Oil Company is having some difficulty in keeping the famous Chapman No. 1 on production. The well persists in sanding up, and the cable tools are now being run to give a good cleaning out. Chapman No. 5 at 4196 is held up with a fishing job. No. 11 is rigging up the rotary to proceed into the oil sand at 3450. No. 14 at 4116 is showing some oil sand and the core barrel is being run to determine more about the sand. No. 18, 4184 feet deep, is fishing for drill pipe. No. 20 at 3387 is waiting for a water test and looks dry.

On the Thompson-Goodwin No. 3 is in shell at 3000. No. 5 is in shell at 2300 and No. 6 at 1600 is in hard sand. All three wells are drilling with the rotary. Yorba No. 1, the deep well down 3855 feet, set 3711 feet of 6 1-4 and stands cemented. Yorba Linda Group 3 at 2575 is showing an unusual amount of gas.

ARCADIA WILD CAT DRILLING AT 3100

The Arcadia Oil Company wildcat well at Montebello is drilling at close to 3100 in hard sand with oil showings enough to make continuance of drilling interesting. A report was circulated a few days ago to the effect that the Arcadia was ready to quit. This report, however, could not be verified.

The Comanche Oil Company's Manly No. 1 is now drilling in the oil sand at 3145 ann showings are very encouraging.

Prosuction on the Keeler Oil Company's No. 2 declined some, and the well cleaned out came back at 275 barrels of 24 gravity oil.

The Pan-American Petroleum Company drilling at Pasadena No. 2 got down to 3442 and set 3431 of six inch and cemented.

Prugh No. 1 completed at 3552 sprung a surprise by increasing its production frol 450 to 700 barrels. Germain I-B redrilling at 3700 is practically ready to start drilling new hole. Mullholland No. 4 is 2100 feet in shale and boulders.

The operations of the St. Helens Petroleum includes four wells. Monterey No. 4 at 2649 has a fishing job. Monterey No. 7 at 2900 feet is drilling in blue sandy shale. P. & B. No. 1 is drilling by drill pipe at 3400 feet. Eggleston No. 1 averaged 800 barrels net daily for the week.

Drilling on the Standard's Howard-Smith No. 1 is at 3065 with the digging in shale with streaks of hard sand. Baldwin No. 59 is at 3300 in hard sand and No. 60 is rigged up and ready to spud in.

The Western Pacific set 3240 feet of 4 1-4. The oil sand looked good at 3270 and the next step will be a production test.

GENERAL PETROLEUM HAS BIG PLANS FOR SANTA FE SPRINGS

The Santa Fe Springs operations of the Amalgamated Oil Company includes two wells, Deluge No. 1 at 2000 feet in blue shale and Butterworth No. 2 at 2375 in blue shale. Butterworth No. 1 is holding steadily at 360 barrels, gravity 35.

The Ceitral Oil Company has spudded in and is drilling. Los Nietos No. 1 of the Ceitral shows 435 feet.

At Bermudez No. 1 the Fullerton Oil Company shows a 1000 foot of hole and the drilling going very smoothly and nicely.

The General Petroleum Corporation has extensive plans for Santa Fe Springs. Springs No. 1 is rigging up the rotary. Santa Fe No. 1 spudded in and made 675 feet of hole. Santa Fe No. 2 and 3 are building rig and the lumber is on the ground for No. 4.

Nevada-Ventura at 2165

The Nevada-Ventura Oil Company is making hole in the blue shale at 2165. Drilling is going exceptionally good with electric motor.

Drilling at Bell Community No. 1, the Petroleum Midway's No. 1 shows 800 feet in the blue shale.

Blue shale is also the Scientific's formation at 2100 feet.

The Standard Oil Company set 10 inch and cemented the Brownrig-Kellar at 3145. L. A. T. & S. No. 1 is drilling at 3050. Hepler at 2300, Pacific Clay Products at 3055, Sanchez at 2200, South Whittier Community No. 1 at 2100 and No. 2 is a rig. Walfskill No. 1 is at 2800 feet.

The Shell Company's Golay No. 1 at which the largest shaft drive rotary ever built is running shows 1000 feet in the hard sandy shale. The efficiency of the extra heavy rotary is yet to be determined.

Ready to Cement

The Wilshire Oil Company spent the past week bailing down and locating the point of entrance of the water in the deep Mayer well and preparations to cement are under way and will be carried out as soon as the weather will permit. The hole will be cemented up to the top of the 6 inch.

The Union Oil Company's big well on the Bell continues to flow steadily at 4000 barrels. The pressure is climbing and is now at 700 pounds. Meyer No. 3 cleaned out is back on production and does 75 barrels daily. Bell No. 2 started off with 20 inch and set 33 feet of it, the drilling is now at 1000 feet. Bell No. 3 is 2100 in sand and boulders. Bell No. 4 is rigging up and No. 5 is building rig. Flood No. 1 shows 1400 feet, Alexander No. 1 down 2600 feet is putting 12 1-2 to cement. Sanchez No. 1 set 2000 feet of 12 1-2. Farwell No. 1 is rigging up the rotary and Howard No. 1 is also rigging up. Meyer No. 5 drilled to 4977 set 4155 feet of 8 inch. Meyer 4 is drilling in grey sand at 4345.

GARDEN GROVE WELL DRY AT 5000 FEET

The Standard Oil Company's Garden Grove wildcat is now drilling at 5000 feet. The formation is sandy shale, but it carries no oil. The outlook for a well is getting rather slim.

BANDINI PETROLEUM SHUTS OFF WATER

Cemented at 3600, the Bandini Petroleum No. 1 was bailed down and tested out a few days ago. The bailing down resulted in the water staying down and it begins to look as though a shut-off has been accomplished. With the water shut off this wildcat is almost a certain producer.

The Central Oil Company quit drilling on No. 67 at 1955 and is making preparations to bring in the new well. No. 66 shows 2200 in the sandy shale and No. 68 is 2600 in the same formation.

Drilling on the Southern California Oil Company's Sanderson No. 1 is now at 3100, the brown sandy shale carries considerable gas and color.

The test at Whitley No. 6 scheduled last week was not completed. This work has been resumed and the sand from 3405 to 3525 will be tested by putting in 6 inch perforated. Whitley No. 5 is redrilling at 2475. The eleventh monthly dividend of 1 per cept was paid by the Whitley Company last Friday. $2500 was distributed to 600 stockholders.

The Standard Oil Company is about to test out Murphy-Coyote No. 79 drilled to and completed at 4500 feet.

Drilling on the La Habra Midway's No. 1 is now at 2000 feet in blue shale streaked now and then with brown shale.

Bixby Ranch Syndicate Recements at 4300 Feet

The Bixby Ranch Syndicate shot off the 4 1-2 at 4300 feet and recemented. This well was drilled originally to 4675 feet and failed to get oil. A showing at 4300 is the last hope.

The National Security Oil Company put in 3145 feet of 6 inch and is now ready to resume drilling.

The Olinda test well of the National Exploration Company has passed the 4200 mark without getting any very favorable showings. The formation at 4202 is a hard blue shale. Chino No. 1 at 1955 is in brown shale.

ANAHEIM WILL BUILD $40,000 LEVEE SOON

be wired from the top to five or six feet below the surface. On the outside of the piling a levee thirty feet wide at the bottom and eight feet wide at the top. The top and the side next to the river would be oiled and the top used as a roadway. Mr. Eygabroad estimated that this work would cost $25,000 a mile.

Will Solicit Funds

He proposes to raise the funds by volunteer subscription, assessing the benefits to the orange groves that will be protected at so much an acre after it has been decided how much of the expense is to be borne by the citizens of Anaheim.

This plan was favored over the establishment of flood protection district for the reason that the plan adopted can be put into effect immediately, while it would require six months or a year to organize a protection district under the law and to secure the funds with which to begin the work. And after the money is raised there would be no further tax against the lands benefitted for flood protection purposes.

Resolution Adopted

After the meeting had adopted Mr. Eygabroad's plan, a resolution offered by Attorney Leonard Evans was adopted as follows:

Whereas, the recent heavy rains have caused flood conditions and overflow of the Santa Ana River, between the Santa Fe railroad bridge, north of Olive, and the county bridge across the said river, leading from Anaheim into Olive, on the west side of the said Santa Ana river, and

Whereas, this overflow covers a large area of the most valuable acreage in California, and has also inundated certain residential sections outlying the city of Anaheim, and caused flood waters to threaten the residential districts within the city limits, and

Land Values Decrease

Whereas, it is a well-known fact that this overflow, although perhaps not actually harmful to a certain portion of the land covered by the waters, is naturally causing harm by the depreciation of property values in general, and the exaggerated publicity in all the papers of Southern California will tend to the same result.

Now, therefore be it resolved, that a temporary organization be formed, designated to immediately effect such plans as may permanently prevent the flooding of land in the said district, and

Two Committees Provided

Be it further resolved, that two committees for this purpose be selected as follows:

A committee to be known as the right-of-way committee, the duties of which will be to set out the boundaries of a temporary district; to procure the easement for the placing of necessary protection; to submit recommendations and estimates of the work.

A finance committee to procure funds by voluntary subscription along an equitable assessment plan, to such an amount as may be found necessary for the performance of the work, between the Santa Fe railroad bridge, north of Olive along the westerly bank of the Santa Ana river, running westerly and southerly to and connecting with the protection work of the Garden Grove protection district.

STEALING BRIDE STILL CUSTOM IN WARRING RUSSIA, REPORT

War cannot change true love, nor revolutions suddenly overturn the established courting and marriage customs of a people. Today, in Russia, most of the old-time habits of weddings are observed just as they always have been. Indeed, it may be that one of the marriage customs is even more widely observed than in the old days. This is the marriage by abduction. The reason is economy, for it still takes money to be married in Russia, and the old "trimmin's" come high.

When the man and the girl come to an understanding he begs a kerchief or a bit of ribbon as an emblem of good faith. Then they arrange the day, the hour and the place where he is to snatch her up and carry her away.

Often the home of the bride is made the scene of the abduction. When she is away the young man and perhaps two of his men friends post themselves near the house, and the young man "steals" her from her very threshold when she is about to enter the house. Away they dash in a sleigh or an automobile and are often pursued by the angry father and brothers, who may have had a far richer marriage in mind for her.

But if the abduction is successful, the bride and groom are compelled by custom to return to her house and beg pardon of her parents. They kneel in the snow before the door until the parents relent and invite them to enter the house. Sometimes they bring a priest with them, so their prayers may sooner be answered by her parents.

Deeds speak louder than words in a real estate transaction.

Usually the louder a man talks the less it amounts to.

BREAK WORLD RECORD FOR NON-STOP PLANE FLIGHT IN N. Y.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Dec. 30.—The world's record for non-stop flight was broken today by Edward Stinson and Lloyd Bertaud in a limousine SJL-6, all metal monoplane.

At 8:29 a. m. the machine was still flying and the previous record of 24 hours, 19 minutes, 7 seconds, was smashed. This mark was established in Etampes, France, in 1920 by Lieutenants Boseoutrot and Bernard.

The aviators went up at 8:59 a.m. Yesterday.

The machine, bucking bitter gales, kept going, the evident intention of the aviators being to establish a record of their own.

The two men in the machine, which was flying at an altitude of about 800 feet were believed to be in good condition.

They were in an enclosed cabin, heated by the motor exhaust and were well supplied with coffee and provisions.

Aviators were watching the flight from Mineola believed the fuel might be running low, as the machine had been flying against severe winds which at times seemed almost to stop it dead.

The announcement that the record had been broken was made by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce which had experts on the scene watching the flight.

Throughout the night the machine had zoomed around and around in a twenty-mile circle over the towns of Hempstead and Mineola. Great searchlights illuminated the flying fields at night so that a forced landing could be made if necessary and the aviators would have no trouble in keeping their bearings.

Stinson and Bertaud, working under the plans agreed on before they started, were taking turns at the wheel.

The machine which broke the record is owned by John Larsen. It carried at the start 350 gallons of gasoline and 28 gallons of oil.

A meeting was held to discuss the erection of a monument in memory of a certain regiment. Somebody suggested that the memorial should also bear the names of the battles the regiment had engaged in.

But an Irishman objected.

"You're not going to put Bull Run on the monument, are you?"

"Yes, Why not?" replied the chairman.

"'Cos I won't 'ave it," said the Irishman.

"Were you at Bull Run?" asked the other.

"Yes," said Pat. "Yes, I was thar, an' I did run, and all them that didn't are thar now."

An airman had been taking up passengers for short trips, and by the time his last trip came he was absolutely fed up by being asked silly questions. He told his passengers, two ladies, that on no account were they to speak to him; that he could not talk and give his attention to his machine, and that they must keep silent. Up they went and the airman quite enjoyed himself. He looped the loop and practiced all sorts of stunts to his own satisfaction with no interruption from his passengers until he felt a touch on his arm.

"What is it?" he said impatiently.

"I'm so sorry to trouble you," said a voice behind, "and I know I ought'n to speak. I do apologize sincerely, but I can't help it. I thought perhaps you ought to know Annie's gone."

It is a lucky thing for somebody when a moonshine still blows up. A little later the explosive might have been wronging a human stomach.

NOT DUE FOR ANOTHER.

Motel Clerk—Would you like a room with a bath?
Farmer Finn—No, just give me a room. I took a good wash before I left home last week.

AT THE MILLINER'S.

He—Do you believe man is made of dust?
She—Well, not all men. Dust always settles, but some men don't.

$5,000,000 Gift Made To Sears and Roebuck

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Sears, Roebuck & Company last night reported the sale to Julius Rosenwald, president of the company, of certain of its Chicago real estate for $16,0000,000 and the gift of 50,000 shares of its stock of a par value of $5,000,000 from Mr. Rosenwald, thus permitting the company "to go through this period of readjustment with its capital unimpaired and with a small surplus." Mr. Rosenwald already has made the first payment of 25 per cent, or $4,000,000, on the real estate in cash and Liberty bonds.

Los Angeles Bank Teller Nabbed in East

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Walter Johnson, friend of young Willie Dalton, who walked out of the Northern Trust Company, where he was employed, with nearly $5,000,000 several months ago, was arrested last night at his parents' home, 4617 North Ashland avenue. He is charged with forging a check for $300 on the Continental National Bank or Los Angeles, which employed him as a teller. He denied Dalton's attempted theft inspired his action, saying: "My feet got restless, I simply wanted to travel."

Charley White Will Meet Rocky Kansas and Tendler

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Charley White, Chicago lightweight contender, will box Rocky Kansas and Lew Tendler in Madison Square Garden shortly, it was announced by his manager today.

Arrangements with the exception of fixing the exact dates, were completed between the local boy, who wants another chance at Champion Leonard and Leo Flynn, matchmaker for Tex Rickard.

If you wish to hear a hard-luck story just ask a man for the money he owes you.

The woman question never strikes a man more forcibly than when he starts out in quest of a female servant.

If heaven were to be won only by achievements it would be a frightfully lonesome place.

Women who cheapen themselves soon learn that men do not care for bargains.

LATE SYMPATHY.

Jane—Oh, Susie, I'm so sorry to hear your engagement to Harry is ended. Don't be broken hearted, dear.
Susie—Thank you, Jane, I'm not! I became engaged to Tom last night.

WHITE TEMPLE CHURCH MEMBERS VISIT HOMES HERE

The members of the White Temple church started a new movement Thursday in launching what will be an annual holiday visitation of all the homes of Anaheim.

The city was divided into districts and committees were assigned to the districts under a leader. Every home was called upon and a card, bearing the picture of the church, was left. The purpose was not to make a religious canvas but to wish every one a Happy New Year and to invite those not attending any other church to visit the White Temple, according to the pastor of the church.

The rains somewhat interferred with the perfecting of the details of the plan but every district was covered. The committee in charge was Mrs. George M. Tedrick, chairman; Mrs. W. A. Brown and Mrs. Edward Biglow.

It is one of the purposes of the White Temple congregation each year to list the poor families at Christmas time and supply them with some Christmas cheer and then to call on every home between Christmas and New Year's day. The Christmas offerings this year reached a number of institutions besides many homes in Anaheim. Besides the gifts of garments and supplies, money was raised for the Near East and Russia.

Noted Singer Coming

Ellis Rhodes, noted tenor and choir leader, will be in the services as choir director, at the White Temple Sunday. Mr. Rhodes has a remarkable voice and has had wire experience as a director. His time is now taken up with his studio work in Redlands university, Santa Ana and Anaheim.

He has studied abroad and for five years was at the head of the music department of Morningside College, Iowa. His work at the University of Redlands is similar to that in Morningside.

Remarking that parents have abandoned the habit of giving their infants strings of Christian names, the author of "Recollections and Reflections" writes:

"A parson in Somersetshire was christening a child in his village. He could not gather whether the child's name was to be Anna or Hannah, so, stooping down, he asked the mother, 'How do you spell it?'

"In an embarrassed and confidential whisper she replied: 'Well, I ain't no schollard neither, sir.'"

The man became very ill in the night and talked a lot of nonsense in his fever.

When the doctor returned in the morning he said to the nurse: "Tell me exactly what happened after I left."

"You were hardly out of the room," she began, "when he said, 'When did that old fool say he was coming back again?' Those were the last sensible words the patient spoke."

Foley's Friendly Fancies

ALL I CAN SAY

JAMES W. FOLEY

Old Fellow, I'm sorry—that's all I can say.
The Lord only knows why it happens this way.
I'm not much on claiming the eternal plan
Is clearly unfolded; I'm only a man
Who's wondered and pondered and stumbled and groped,
And struggled and suffered and finally hoped
That out of it all would come sometime the way.
Old Fellow, I'm sorry—that's all I can say.

If sympathy comforts, I offer my hand
And all that clasp means; I know you understand.
If friendliness cheers you, I'll come with a will
And sit with you sometime, just quiet and still.
If there's any service at all I can do
I wish I might know and could do it for you.
If longing could soothe it, 'twould not last the day.
But, well, I'm just sorry—that's all I can say.

I've had griefs, Old Fellow, had griefs of my own,
And, what friends may say, we must bear them alone.
But maybe there's comfort, when hope seems at end,
Not in hearing or seeing—just having a friend.
I can't say the plan of it all will unfold,
I know it is bitter and lonely and cold
In your heart, but Time heals grief somehow and someway,
And now, I'm just sorry—that's all I can say.

Living vs. Existing

YOU can exist if you have food and water and sleep and clothes to wear, but if you are actually to LIVE you need a HOME—a really comfortable, cheerful home, with an atmosphere that creates a love of the beautiful, the real; the good, with a vision of ideals held firm and realized—of beauty utilized—of comfort, taste and personality expressed! All that means you must have a furnished home of your own. If you have anything else it is just a "boarding house."

Debs Will Tour U. S. For Socialist Party

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Eugene V. Debs will make a national tour under auspices of the Socialist party, it was announced here late yesterday at national Socialist headquarters.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The granting of a pardon to Eugene V. Debs, whose sentence for obstructing the draft was commuted Christmas day by President Harding, will depend largely on the socialist leader's future conduct, it was learned in official quarters today. It was learned that no consideration has been yet given by Attorney General Daugerty to a pardon.

TURN FLOODS TO USE.

The cry for water conservation is becoming general throughout southern California. It is being heard from city and country alike. Nearly everyone, if not all, realize the folly of allowing water to run riot over fertile fields and running waste, without effort at conservation.

The following editorial in the Long Beach Press was submitted by D. Eyman Huff of Orange, former president of the associated chambers of commerce of Orange county.

"Water, controlled and directed, is a highly useful servant of man. But permitted to run riot in flood, it becomes a cruel merciless master. Hundreds of lives have been lost and property damage has run into the hundreds of millions—if not into the billions—of dollars from floods in the United States within the last quarter of a century. These losses will continue and become more appalling as the regions near great rivers become more thickly settled, unless scientific control of floods is instituted.

Intelligence and common sense of the people are being focused upon this big problem. Does it pay, thoughtful persons are reasoning—does it pay to submit supinely to these frequent recurring floods? "It does not," Common Sense answers. It would be the most judicious economy and the wisest of investments to outlay millions here in California, for example to control floods. For the benefits would be immediate and manifold. There would be no more loss of life from floods, if control systems were installed; there would not be sickening loss of property; there would not be economic loss from industrial activities paralyzed for days at a time; there would not be waste of water—the run-off which is vitally needed to augment the state's reserve supply of water.

But there would be water stored for irrigation on an immense scale. There would be power development of huge proportions. There would be impetus to agriculture, horticulture, manufacturing, and mining. Flood-control would be worth literally millions upon millions of dollars to California annually.

THE AVERAGE MOB

At Key West, Fla., recently a mob of masked men set upon and beat the proprietor of a coffee house. The nature of his offense was not stated. Possibly he had been serving his patrons poor coffee.

Acting upon the natural impulses stirred by such an experience, the man resisted. He shot and killed one of his assailants. Later he was taken from jail, hanged, and his "body riddled by bullets." This was the average mob.

As a matter of fact a person attacked by a masked mob must be regarded as fully justifiable in killing as many of them as possible. Men whose activities are of such character as to necessitate masks are not engaged in a respectable business at the moment. They are not good citizens. They are lawbreakers. They are doing nothing in promotion of justice, but they are breaking down statutory rules for the conduct of society.

Only a few days ago there was an effort to put through congress a bill for suppression of lynching. That is, the reign of the mob was to be hedged about with restrictions and prospective penalties as greatly to discourage mob rule. The measure was opposed and delayed. Its opponents are in hope that it has been killed.

It happened that the opponents were from the south. Perhaps some of them came from the region adjacent to Key West.

MISDIRECTED LETTERS

Every city postoffice handles during the year thousands of letters illegibly addressed. This is apart from the number misdirected. The writing is so bad that often it cannot be deciphered.

This is an interesting circumstance when considered in connection with a current phase of education. An instructor of youth recently told an assemblage of teachers that there no longer was necessity for accuracy in handwriting. His idea seemed to be that anything worth writing nowadays would be written on a typewriter. This paper took exception to his view at the time. With thousands of letters in every city postoffice attesting how very wrong the view was, it takes occasion to emphasize its former exception.

All handwriting should be distinct. When it fails to be so, the indication is of carelessness or lack of culture. One has no more right to thrust an unkempt and illegible letter under the eyes of another than to be guilty of any other rude and needless trick.

Ability to write a fairly decent hand is essential to education. It also is a mark of good breeding.

Between Ourselves

By Della M. Stewart

Of course there's no law against being cross and forbidding. Neither can any one compel us to be otherwise. We can all do so if we desire. We can scowl and frown and bark and snap and find fault continually. We may even get a certain strange self-satisfaction for the minute out of so doing.

But what does it really bring us? A sort of unwilling consideration, not because of love, but because of desire to escape more unpleasantness. This we may get from others. But grouchiness never begets love, or admiration, or respect. It was never known to. It doesn't even bring happiness to ourselves. Nor does it tend to continued self-respect, if we're more than surface rivers. If we're not, there's not much hope for us.

There's no law against our being selfish and grasping either. There's no law against always thinking of our own comfort first. Not a snitch of it one. We can be just as self-bound as we please. And some of us are.

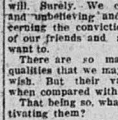
There's no statute against conceit, either. We may believe that all knowledge begins and ends with our own convictions and opinions if we will. Surely. We can wax sarcastic and unbelieving and intolerant concerning the convictions and opinions of our friends and associates if we want to.

There are so many questionable qualities that we may cultivate—if we wish. But their value isn't much when compared with their cost. Is it?

That being so, what's the use of cultivating them?

Have a Smile

"Oh, Richard, how fine you look today," cried Mrs. Dove before she gave her husband a smacking kiss on his left cheek. I do believe I have the best looking husband in Mudtown!"



And she gave him a resounding kiss on the other cheek.

Richard Dove looked steadily into his wife's eyes. What he saw was admiration and love—love and admiration, nothing else.

"And I have the smartest husband, too," went on Mrs. Dove proudly, stealing another glance at him.

Mr. Dove started to speak, but stopped.

"And the lovingest and kindest, also," finished Mrs. Dove. There was nothing more she could add.

Sadly Richard Dove looked at his wife.

"What is it, Nazimova?"

"I need a new dress, Dickie," she cooed. "I just saw that lovelist one in Swindel's yesterday for—"

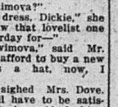
"I'm sorry, Navimova," said Mr. Dove, "but I can't afford to buy a new dress. If it was a hat, now, I might—"

"Oh, dear!" sighed Mrs. Dove. "Well, then, I will have to be satisfied with a hat!" she said, looking down to hide the light of satisfaction in her eyes.

As she went upstairs that evening to put little Willie to bed she laughed softly to herself.

"That was a great idea," she thought. "I only wanted a hat, anyway. I'll have to tell Mrs. Love to use it on her Horatio."

Secretary Hoover said at a banquet. "One difference between Europe and America is that over there they like to keep you in your place — stationary,you know, while here we like to see a man rise.



"The European idea is pretty well illustrated by the remarks of Muggins. Muggins on his return from the pub one Saturday night said to his wife:

"I believe in manly pride and reasonable ambition, but when Sergeant Todd with his cork leg takes to carryin' a cane besides, it looks to me as if he was tryin' to climb out of the station what Divine Providence put him into'."

A crowded tube compartment in London. For two minutes a burly man had been swaying backward and forward on his strap, treading first on one and then on the other foot of a mild little man who was sitting down.

"My friend," observed the mild man at last, "you are not too light on the feet."

"Ain't I?" retorted the straphanger. "Well, I don't look exactly like a Pavlowa, do I?"

Little Stories for Bedtime

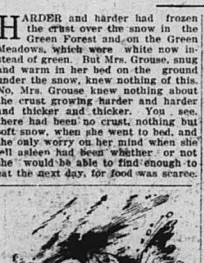
MRS. GROUSE WAKES UP

HARDER and harder had frozen the crust over the snow in the Green Forest and on the Green Meadows, which were white now instead of green. But Mrs. Grouse, snug and warm in her bed on the ground under the snow, knew nothing of this. No, Mrs. Grouse knew nothing about the crust growing harder and harder and thicker and thicker. You see, there had been no crust, nothing but soft snow, when she went to bed, and the only worry on her mind when she fell asleep had been whether or not she would be able to find enough to eat the next day, for food was scarce.



The Very Thought Frightened Her Still More, and She Beat Her Stout Wings Harder Than Ever.

Even this did not worry her a great deal, for, though she often had gone hungry, she always had managed to find enough to keep her alive until better times, and she had lived long enough to learn that good times are bound to follow bad times.

When jolly, round, red Mr. Sun climbed out of bed the next morning and began to climb up in the blue, blue sky he looked down on a very beautiful world. He couldn't remember ever having seen it more beautiful. No, sir, he couldn't. You see, when he went to bed the night before it had been snowing. Then the snow had turned to rain, and after that along had come Jack Frost and frozen it as fast as it fell. Then in the night the clouds had disappeared and now Mr. Sun looked down on such a beautiful, beautiful world. Every teeniest, weeniest twig of every tree and bush was covered with ice, until it looked as if it were made of glass. Yes, sir, the trees of the Green Forest and the Old Orchard and all the other trees looked as if they were glass trees. They winked and twinkled and sparkled and flashed and shone whenever Mr. Sun's beams touched them, and showed the most beautiful colors. And the snow on the ground was covered with an icy crust that glistened and flashed almost as much as did the trees, and that was so hard and strong that Farmer Brown's boy could slide on it without breaking through.

Now, when Mrs. Grouse waked that beautiful morning the first thing she thought of was how thankful she was that no harm had come to her in the night and that she hadn't been obliged to fly for her life, as sometimes had happened when Granny or Reddy Fox had come along. And the next thing Mrs. Grouse thought of was something to eat.

"I expect I shall have to go up to the Old Orchard for some apple buds, because other food is so scarce, and the sooner I go the better, for the less likely is Farmer Brown's boy to see me," said she to herself.

So, just as she was in the habit of doing every morning after spending a night under the snow, she sprang upward, spreading her stout wings and expecting to make the snow fly in a cloud. But she didn't. No, sir, she didn't make the snow fly at all. Instead, she bumped her head. That's what she did—bumped her head. It surprised her so that for a minute or two she just lay still and gasped. Then a great fear settled in her heart. What if she couldn't get out? The very thought frightened her still more, and she beat her stout wings harder than ever. But it was of no use, no use at all. She couldn't break through that hard, thick crust, and she only tired herself out and bruised herself for nothing. Mrs. Grouse was held a prisoner by the very snow that had so often protected her and kept her safe from all harm.

THE ONCE OVER

Congressmen Dumm and Dummer Look Into the Ford Energy Plan.

"Well," said Senator Dumm, "what do you think of this plan of Henry Ford and Thomas Edison to substitute energy for gold?"

"I don't believe in substituting energy for anything whatsoever," replied Representative Dummer. "We are getting along with our energy right where it is and I think we should leave it lay."

"Do you quite comprehend the idea, anyhow?" asked Senator Dumm. .

"No, Do you?"

"Certainly. Now let me see if I can make it clear to you. Have you a dollar?"

"Just about."

"Have you any energy?"

"I have enough energy to keep you from getting the dollar, if that is your idea," shot back Representative Dummer.

"Just let me explain," continued Senator Dumm, "The money standard in the United States of Amerisahara today is gold. Now, there are various units of value. A unit is a medium of measurement or something of the sort. For instance, a cent is a unit of a dime, a dime is a unit of a dollar, and so forth. Now, the Ford idea is to make all these things a unit of energy. Do you get the idea?"

"You mean that a man instead of being paid off at the end of the working week with gold would be paid of with units of energy?"

"Figuratively speaking."

"Well, where is Ford to get all this energy that he intends to have take the place of gold " asked Representative Dummer.

"Mussel Shoals," replied Senator Dumm, "You have heard of the Mussel Shoals, haven't you?"

"The body of Zbyszko the wrestler is covered with them," returned Representative Dummer.

"Don't be so stupid. The mussle I am referring to is a sort of fish. The Mussel Shoals are situated off the southern coast of the United States, and great herds of mussels live there. Ford wants to get control of them."

"The mussels or the shoals " asked Representative Dummer.

"Both," replied Senator Dumm.

"As the world's greatest tin magnate, I suppose he is going into the mussel canning business," suggested Rep. Dummer.

"Not at all," replied Senator Dumm. "Do you mean to tell me you don't know what Ford want Mussel Shoals for?"

"Well, maybe he is going to open a shore dinner resort or sumpin of the kind."

"I've a good mind to flatten you were you stand and plead justifiable murder to your constituents," said Senator Dumm, showing some indignation. "As I have been trying to explain for the last hour, a nitrate is an atom of power. Each nitrate is so small we cannot see it with the naked eye. Yet the air is full of 'em. The plan is to harness them.

"Naked eyes!" asked Representative Dummer.

"No, nitrates" returned Dumm. "The plan is to harness these nitrates."

"How can you harness a nitrate if you can't even see it?" demanded Representative Dummer.

"Ah," replied Senator Dumm, "That's where the ENERGY comes in."

"Well, if you are energetic enough to harness a nitrate what do you do with it after you have thrown the harness over its neck?" asked Representative Dummer.

"You lead it up to Henry Ford by the bridle and turn it over to him."

"And what does Henry do with it?"

"He takes each nitrate, dips it into a vat of black enamel, puts four wheels and a set of fenders on it, and sells it for $350."

"I see," confessed Representative Dummer. "That gives Ford the mussels, the shoals, the nitrates, the latest thing in roadsters, and most of the world's supply of gold. You and I get the energy if we are lucky."

A man passed through a country village rushing a wheelbarrow full of sand. This sand he was selling at a nickel a bag, telling people that it was sure fly killer.

Purchasing a bag, a stout old dame asked him how it should be used.

"First catch a fly," exclaimed the vendor, "then tickle it under its chin with a straw, and when it opens its mouth throw a handful of this famous fly poison down its throat and the result will be that the fly instantly chokes and dies."

"What," exclaimed the old lady, "while I was doing that I could have squashed it under my foot six times over."

"Yes," replied the sand man unconcernedly; "that is a good method as well."

It is told of a learned professor who was better at Greek than golf that after a round on the links, in which he had fooled most of his shots, he turned to his caddie for advice as to improving his play. The reply of the ruthless caddy was:

"Ye see, sir, it's easy to teach the laddies Latin and Greek, but it needs a head for gowff."
