TO A WAVE.

BY COL. E. D. BAKER.

Dost thou seek a star with thy swelling crest,
O wave that lavest thy mother's breast?
Dost thou leap from the prison's depths below
In scorn of their calm and constant flow?
Or art thou seeking some distant land,
To die in murmurs upon the strand?

Hast thou tales to tell of the pearl-lit deep,
Where the wave-cheated mariner rocks in sleep?
Canst thou speak of navies that sunk in pride,
Ere the roll of their thunder in echo died?
What trophies, what treasures are floating free;
In the shadowy depths of that silent sea?

It were vain to ask, as thou rollest afar,
Of banner or mariner, ship or star;
It were vain to seek in thy stormy face
Some tale of the sorrowful past to trace;
Thou art swelling high: times art dashing free;
How vain are the questions we ask of thee.

I too am a wave on the stormy sea;
I too am a wanderer, driven like thee;
I too am seeking a distant land,
To be lost and gone ere I reach the strand;
For the arid lands are a weary shore,
And they who enter reach it all wan, wander no more.

DROWNED.

BY DANIEL O'CONNELL.

On the bosom of the river
Dainty moonbeams gleam and quiver;
Trembling forms shrink and shiver,
Gazing on its silver vein.
There is peace and calm forever;
Breaks of sin nor sighs nor fever
In a journey with the river,
Through its willow banks of green.

* * * * * * * * * *

Pallid faces are uplifting
To the moon beams faint and shifting;
Stiffened limbs are drowned and drifting
Onward with the bathing trees.
For with all the world are sleeping,
Sought the river ready evening
Toward the moan of distant seas.

Never more the pain of losing,
Never more the chill of cold;
Never more the deadly closing
Of the eyes and heart of gold.
Past the days and nights of hoping,
Past the reason of wrong and mocking,
Comes the restful sleep of hoping
To the erring ones that weep.

Here and There.

MR. EDITOR:—In coming into the city this morning, my thoughts involuntarily wandered away back to my native land (New York) where my experience in farming, in my youth, commenced. Well do I recollect the hurry and bustle to get in the load of hay "before the shower came up;" also the grain to be shocked and capped to prevent a general soaking. My thoughts suddenly turned to our favored clime in harvest time. I could, from the same spot, see barley in the gavel—ripe in the field—and also green and growing, with no prospect of rain to annoy the farmer, or compel him to use double diligence to secure it against the coming shower; but he can go on cutting his crop, stack when he gets ready, and no rain to molest or make afraid. When I first came to this state I thought the "dry season" would be unbearable, but I find it quite to the contrary. Our cool and refreshing nights renew the man and he arises fresh and vigorous, ready for the duties of the day. What a contrast between the California night and the sultry, suffocating nights of the East in midsummer! They cannot be appreciated without trying them.

In another respect how different here from there! We take off a crop of barley or small grain raised thro' the Winter, turn right around and irrigate the land and put in another crop of barley or plant corn, which is ready to harvest before the rainy season sets in. Thus we are enabled to raise two crops a year, without any fear of a "wet spell" to destroy our hard-earned reward I saw, as I came into the city, (what can't be seen East) a variety of labor going on. Some were reaping barley, some mowing hay, some plowing and planting corn where the first crop was off, some clearing off weeds and preparing to plow for corn, some plowing corn—in fact corn was in different stages of forwardness, from planting and just coming up to four feet high. [This climate is such that the largest varieties of corn will mature, planted as late as the 4th of July] Crops are generally very good and the only drawback with the farmers will be price, as certainly they have an abundance.

Our soil has shown its adaptability to the climate this season; all who have put in crops early and plowed deep are well rewarded. I cannot close this without inviting those who have resolved to change their homes to come to the land of oranges, lemons, figs, pomegranates; the land of grapes and wine, and above all the land of HEALTH, where the soft balmy breeze of the great Pacific is Nature's restorer—the great physician for eastern invalids.

CITIZEN.

The Woman of the Future.

EDITOR CALIFORNIAN.—Judging from the speaking last week, at Mr Guinn's school, we shall by and by have a class of mothers and sisters, aunties and maidens, that any man will be proud to own and honor. She has always been equal in study in the primary department with her male competitors, but, after that, custom puts a veto to ambition, and woe is she, if, by death or accident, she find it necessary to venture out of the prescribed limits of her sphere. The girls will want all the benefit of the education they are striving for. "What I Love" was the subject of one young lady's composition; very good indeed but, let me add, all children need bravery with modesty, strength with docility, high self devotion with meekness. To cause mankind to appreciate the benefits of equality and justice, let each girl and boy strive to excel in every department of science, cultivate all the noble faculties of their natures, and become, what they are destined to be, free and equal

CITIZENS.

Duty on Guano.

The Chicago Post gives the following specimen of the vetoes when Horace Greeley becomes President:

An Act to raise Revenue by imposing a Duty of ten cents a ton on Guano.

COMMENTS BY THE PRESIDENT.

I return this obnoxious measure without my approval. The man who introduced it is an ass, the men who voted for it are scheming British agents, and the men who say this is not so are liars and horse-thieves. I judge that, on an average, every man, woman and child in America uses a ton of guano a year, in some shape or other; whether the farmer in New York, Louisiana, Colorado, Podunk, etc., in agricultural, or, as Chas. A. Dana, for editorial articles. We thus consume, in round figures, 40,000,000 of tons of guano annually. The arbitrary revolutionary act which I veto to-day would thus impose a tax of $4,000,000 a year on our people. With what effect? It would not stimulate the production of American guano. American birds could not compete with the pauper labor of birds in debauched and priest-ridden Central America. I am not sure as to what I mean or why it is not so, or what is which, but the man who speaks to the contrary is a hell-bound and bribed by British gold. H G.

Mechanism of an Egg.

Every living creature is the product of an egg. Some are hatched within the maternal body, and develop into their predestined proportions after birth, which is the beginning of existence with the mammalia generally. Eggs of fishes are ordinarily incubated by solar heat. Birds furnish the warmth necessary to quicken the germ into life from their own bodies, with a few exceptions. Whether a rhinoceros, a hippopotamus, a giraffe, an elephant or a flea, their beginning is an egg. The germ of the future being is fed on the fluids by which it is surrounded. Out of the albumen or the white of a common pullet's egg, for example, are built up a skeleton; a nervous system, a heart, lungs, brain, blood vessels, every muscle, and the elements of each individual feather, while the yolk is a magazine of food on which the chick is to be nourished a short time after it leaves the shell. To do that it is taken into the body of the bird in the course of incubation. Its investing membrane is elongated into a tube communicating with the stomach, through which the nutriment is conducted to where it can be used. When that supply is exhausted, then the mother commences a regular system of nourishing and feeding till grown and matured for providing for itself.

The planet Venus will pass between the earth and the sun in the coming Autumn. All the civilized governments are preparing to observe it with the nicest care.

The Barometer.

Near the middle of the 17th century, the Duke of Tuscany caused a deep well to be dug near Florence. The pump was applied, but it would not serve its purpose in bringing the water to the top of the well. The water would rise a little over thirty feet from the bottom, and there stop. All the changes which their ingenuity could devise could not coax the water above the point at which it so obstinately stood. At last they applied to Galileo, who was then, in his old age living not far from Florence, and acknowledged as the wisest philosopher of the day; but he could not solve the riddle. Application was next made to his pupil, Torricelli, who very soon saw that some mechanical force must raise the water to just that height and hold it there. Supposing the true cause, the pressure of the atmosphere, he reasoned that, if it were truly this, it would raise a heavier liquid, only to a proportionately less height; and since mercury was thirteen and a half times heavier than water, a simple calculation told him that this should rise only from twenty eight to thirty inches instead of thirty to thirty three feet. Taking, therefore, a glass tube closed at one end, and a vessel of mercury, he exhausted the air from the tube, applied his finger so as to close the other end, while he dipped it beneath the surface of the mercury. Upon removing his finger he was delighted to see the mercury rise to just the point he had anticipated; and then, after vibrating a moment about it, settle there. To his own mind the question was solved; and not only this, but he had here the means of weighing the whole atmosphere, for a column of this of equal base with the bottom of his tube must weigh just the same as the mercury which it balanced. With this as data it was an easy step to compute the weight of the whole atmosphere which surrounds the earth. He began to publish his discovery to the world; but, as might have been expected, very few believed in his theory.

Torricelli did not live to see his views become the prevailing opinion, but they began gradually to make their way, and after his death a philosopher as keen as himself took them up and at length convinced the world of their truth. This philosopher, Pascal, began to see that if it was really the atmosphere which sustained he mercury, the higher he should ascend from the earth, the less being the weight of the air above, the less consequently would be the height of the column of mercury which it would balance. Living in Paris, he took his tube to the top of the highest steeple in the city, and was delighted to find that the mercury fell, though slightly. Not satisfied with this, he wrote to his brother-in-law living near a high mountain in the province of Auvergne, to try it there. This he did and found a difference of about three inches in the measure of his mercury between the bottom and the top of the mountain, while at the various points in the ascent the elevation was accurately marked by the difference in the elevation of his sensitive instrument. And so the theory of the pressure of the atmosphere was proved beyond a doubt to all but the most obstinate; and not only so, but the most convenient, as well as an accurate way of measuring elevations was established.

WEBSTER—The most touching eulogy, and the most comprehensive, probably, was at the grave of Daniel Webster, at the close of the funeral rite. A plain man, probably one of the neighbors of the deceased, came forward, stood at the grave, and said with quivering lips: "Daniel Webster, the world will be lonesome without you." The quality which won for Daniel Webster this touching eulogy was not his great and brilliant, but his neighborly kindness.

The despairing editor of a Petersburg, Virginia, paper makes the following wail: "A man from Maine has our postoffice, a Vermont man represents us in Congress, a fellow from Pennsylvania is our Street Commissioner, our Commissioner of Revenue is a Massachusetts man, a fellow from Philadelphia is jailor, the Chief of Police is a Pennsylvanian, two negroes represent us in the Legislature, a Maine man represents us in the Senate.

The euphemistic way of putting it now, when a fellow gets kicked, is to say that somebody's bootjoe casually walked over the basement of your pantaloons

Prolifics Speculations.

And so many people of this day get up into the tree of curiosity, of speculation to see Christ. They ask a thousand questions about His divinity, about God's sovereignty, and the eternal decrees. They speculate and criticise, and hang on to the outside limbs of a great eye-sore. But they must come down from that if they want to be saved. We cannot be saved as philosophers but as little children. You cannot go to heaven by way of Athens, but by way of Bethlehem. What matters it who are elected to be saved, when we know that unless we repent and believe, we shall all be damned? Why be perplexed about the way sin came into the world, when the great question is how shall we get sin driven out of our hearts? How many spend their time in criticism and religious speculation! The path to heaven is so plain that a fool need not make any mistake about it, and yet men stop and cavil. Suppose that going toward the Pacific slope I had resolved that I would stop until I could kill all the grizzly bears and panthers on either side of the way. I would never have got to the Pacific coast. When I went out to hunt the grizzly bear, the grizzly bear would have come out to hunt me. Here is a plain road to heaven. Men say they will not take a step on it until they can make game of all the theories that bark and growl at them from the thicket. They forget the fact that as they go out to hunt the theory the theory comes out to hunt them; so they perish. We must receive the kingdom of heaven in simplicity. William Pennington was one of the wisest men of this country, Governor of his own State and afterward Speaker of the House of Representatives. God called him to be a Christian. He went in and sat down among some children who were applying for church membership, and said to his pastor: "Talk to me just as you do to these children, for I know nothing about it. There is no need bothering ourselves about mysteries when there are so many things that are plain.—Rev. T. D. Talmage.

Anecdote of Henry Clay.

One of the most notable members of the twenty-seventh Congress was Thomas F. Marshall, of Kentucky. He came to Washington with a high reputation as an eloquent advocate and a rising lawyer. He was a fine scholar of elegant culture, lively imagination and good logical powers. He spoke with fluency and animation and always commanded the attention of the House. His habits were erratic, and he was absent from the capitol nearly half the time. There was an old family feud between Mr. Clay and the Marshalls, and the representative from Louisville partook of the animosity of his relatives who had met Mr. Clay in single combat. Marshall was decidedly opposed to the Bank Bill, which the President had vetoed and in a conversation on the avenue attacked it in a strain of argument and ridicule of the most effective character.

"Bravo, Tom!" said a bystander. 'I never heard anything better in my life. Why don't you make that speech in the House? There's not a man there who can answer it."

"Why don't I, sure enough? Do you know what the people of Kentucky sent me to Congress for? Not to act upon my own judgment, not to carry out their wishes, but to vote at the dictation of Henry Clay. There's a collar around my neck bearing the inscription 'Henry Clay, his dog.'"—Galaxy.

HOW TO TELL.—An exchange puts forth the following bit of information: "To discover spurious green backs or National bank notes, divide the last two figures of the number of the bill by four, and if one remains the letter on the genuine will be A; if two remains it will be B; if three, C; and should there be no remainder the letter will be D. For example, a note is registered 2,461; divide sixty-one by four and there will be one remaining. According to the rule the letter on the note will be A. In case the rule fails be certain the note is counterfeit.

A drunken fellow, with a box of matches in his pocket laid down in the street in Muscatine, the other day to enjoy a quiet snooze. While rolling over in his sleep, the matches took fire. Awakening, he snuffed the air suspiciously, smelt the burning brimstone and ejaculated: "Just as I expected, in h—ll, (hic) by hokey."

CHAS. A. GARDNER...Ed'r & Prop'r

MEETING OF COUNTY CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

The Democratic County Central Committee met at Los Angeles last Saturday, and, after admitting Mr. McFadden, of Anaheim, as a member to succeed John W. Clark, Esq., resigned, and electing J. W. Hellman, of Los Angeles, to succeed John King, deceased; proceeded to the question of Delegates to the State Convention. Our representative, Mr. McFadden, very properly urged that these delegates should be elected by the people, who would thus be enabled to send just such men as they wanted to represent them in the Convention. Mr. Hewitt, however, favored the opposite plan, of giving the County Committee the power of electing such delegates, without any reference to the people, and his motion prevailed, whereupon the Committee proceeded to elect the following delegates (we copy the Star's list):

From the County at large—J. DeBarth Shorb.

FIRST DISTRICT—Consisting of Los Angeles and La Ballona—John G. Downey Wallace Woodworth Ygnacio Sepulveda, and Antonio Coronel.

SECOND DISTRICT—Wilmington and Los Nietos—E. J. C. Kewen and Judge Hollaway.

THIRD DISTRICT—El Monte, San Gabriel and San Jose—F. Palomares and E. C. Parrish.

FOURTH DISTRICT—Anaheim and San Juan—Don Prudencia Yorba and J. R. McConnell.

We do not like this method of electing delegates, considering it un-Democratic and an unwarranted assumption of power on the part of the County Committee

Another thing which is exceedingly unjust to us, is the appointment of a stranger to represent Anaheim. There are plenty of good men in the Southern part of the county who are eminently qualified to represent their own neighbors and their own interests, and we think the Committee have done an unwise thing in ignoring our rights to a representation by one of our own men.

RICHLAND.

This fine settlement seems to be thriving equal to the most sanguine expectations of its enterprising projectors New comers are buying land almost every day. Crops are excellent. Capt Glassell has just shown us a stalk of Norway oats, from a field growing there, which is over eight feet high, and is not yet in full head. He is looking for a two-story header now, to harvest these oats with. Hear what he says:

"HOW IS THIS FOR HIGH?

In Richland, Norway oats not yet in full head, but growing, are over eight feet high. Strawberries from plants set out in January, measure four inches in circumference, and the third crop is being gathered.

New settlers are coming in rapidly and buying land at one fourth its value. But they complain that all the land here is so good it is hard to make a selection. Sorry we have no sand beds nor alkali swamps to show them. Five hundred acres will be put in vineyards next year, and everybody is happy.

AN APT COMPARISON.

The editor of the Santa Barbara Times notes the inconveniences of the citizens of New York, who live in the suburbs and do business in the city, and adds: "Those who have tried the thing in the suburbs of Santa Barbara will appreciate its salient points." This is about as good a joke as the Salinas City editor perpetrated, who upon the occasion of the great Chicago fire condoled with "our sister city" in its great affliction.

Verily, we apples swim. Selah!

SHALL WE CELEBRATE?

We find our exchanges all making this inquiry, and it strikes us as rather pertinent to Anaheim as well as other large cities, as it is getting pretty near the eleventh hour for making calculations. The Fire Company propose to do something, and perhaps it would be well for a Committee of Citizens to confer with that body and see if we cannot all join together in some pleasant and appropriate manner of spending the great holiday of the Nation.

NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY.

We are indebted to Messrs Geo. P. Rowell & Co., the great advertising agents, of New York, for an early copy of their "American Newspaper Directory" for 1872. It is a large volume of 680 pages, and is peculiarly valuable and interesting as containing an accurate showing of the progress and status of the business of journalism throughout the United States, Canada and the British Dominions. It has also short descriptions of all the towns and cities where papers are published within that region. From it we glean the following facts and figures of interest to the general reader:

The aggregate number of periodicals published in the United States is 6,432; of which 507 are daily, 105 tri-weekly, 110 semi-weekly, 4,750 weekly, 21 bi-weekly, 91 semi-monthly, 685 monthly, 4 bi-monthly, and 55 quarterly.

The Territories have only 87, all told, of which 18 are daily.

In the Dominion of Canada and the British Colonies are 403 periodicals, of all classes.

The number of papers has increased 449 during the last year The number of dailies decreased 74. Florida is the only state which has no daily. Weekly newspapers are the favorite advertising mediums. California has 191 periodicals, of which 36 are daily and 124 weekly. New York has 951, the largest number of any one state; next come Pennsylvania with 614, Illinois 518, Ohio 439, Iowa 308, Missouri 300, Massachusetts 292, Indiana 290, Michigan 236, Wisconsin 208 until we reach California, eleventh on the list, with 191.

GRANT NOMINATED.

As was generally expected, President Grant was, on Thursday last, nominated at Philadelphia for reelection to the Presidency. Wilson of Massachusetts was nominated for the Vice Presidency. Following, concerning the proceedings of the Convention, is from the Express:

The Convention was called to order by ex-Gov. Claflin, of Massachusetts, and Morton McMichaels, of Philadelphia, selected as temporary chairman. The convention was addressed by Senator Logan, Gerritt Smith, Nye, Morton and others, who eulogized Grant, and predicted his election Ex-Governor Orr, of South Carolina, and W. H Gray, an Arkansas negro, also spoke.

The Committee on Resolutions was composed of Gov. Hawley of Conn., J H Withington of Cal, Herman Roson of Ill., James Speed of Kentucky, W. A Howard, of Michigan, L. H. Head, of Nevada. Gov. Hayes, of Ohio, R. Kingaid, of Oregon, G. W. Schofield and I. B. Ellege. (colored) of S. C., J. B Schafer of Colorado and John T Corey of Idaho. General Albright, chairman of the committee on organization, reported the name of Thomas Settles, of North Carolina, for permanent president, and he was elected. Gov. Pierpont, of West Virginia, seceded from the delegation of that State, and in a speech declared his preference for Greeley.

DEATH OF JAMES GORDON BENNETT.

On Saturday last, June 1st, died one of the most famous men in the history of American journalism. James Gordon Bennett, second only to Horace Greeley as an editor and successful newspaper man, died at New York city on that day, in the 72d year of his age. Mr. Bennett was born in Scotland and emigrated in 1819 to the New World. In 1835 he issued the first number of the New York Herald, which has attained a world-wide reputation as the most enterprising, and one of the most successful journals of the age.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. Mr. Rice preaches at Enterprise Hall, to-morrow at 10:30 A. M. Sunday School at 9:30. A Bible class is to be organized, either to-morrow or the following Sunday, under the able tuition of Mr. Strong. This will be an interesting feature for our young men and women and they will find it much to their advantage to attend.

EUCALYPTUS.—Looks well for a newspaper word, don't it? Well, Mr. Con. Howe has left with us one of the cones of this giant tree (Australian Gum) which anyone curious in the works of Nature, can inspect at this office, free, gratis, for nothing, without paying a cent.

New hay is plenty and cheap.

....The Democratic State Convention meets at San Francisco June 19th to elect twelve delegates to the Baltimore Convention, to nominate six Presidential Electors with six alternates, and elect a new State Central Committee. The recommendation is made that, at the same time, the delegates from the various Congressional Districts, organize themselves into distinct conventions to nominate candidates for Congress.

A GOOD MACHINE.—One of the indispensables of this age is a good sewing machine. Of these, the celebrated Grover & Baker stands far ahead of all competitors for popularity, quality of work, and rapid sales. Buy a sewing machine, and buy a good one. Write to R. G. Brown, agent, San Francisco, who will send price lists and descriptive circulars.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.—The Anaheim Fire Company hold a special meeting next Monday evening to make arrangements for a proper observance of the Fourth of July.

MOWER FOR SALE.—A rare chance of procuring a good mowing machine, very cheap, is now offered, also a second hand wagon gear. Enquire at this office.

The Road Law.

The Civil Code provides that all roads existing to have public or private rights laid out and opened for travel, must file a notice or complaint in the District Court, instead of petitioning the Board of Supervisors, as has heretofore been the custom. Acts

Whether or not this provision takes effect now, we are not advised.

"ANOTHER STORE."—The store room in the lower story of the Planters Hotel is being fitted up for occupancy, and is to be used soon by Mr. F Hartung, as a general merchandise store.

SAN FRANCISCO LAGER.—Mr John Fischer has just received a supply of San Francisco lager beer for the use of his friends at the Planters' Hotel.

RETIRED.—The News announces that Dr. Welden has retired from the editorial staff of the Star.

A great deal of freighting is being done between here and Los Angeles.

The Jackson Wagon received the First Premium, 1871, at the State Fair, Michigan, over the Studebaker and all others.

Important improvements have been made in our Wagons now arriving. Our large two-horse and four-horse wagons have heavier tire, bolster and hound fellies, and extra iron braces, making them the best and most complete Farm and Team Wagons ever sold on the Pacific Coast. We sell the grazing gear, or fitted with California racks and brakes, spring seats, etc., or with Eastern double side bodies. Persons ordering will get wagons as above or as if here, warranted perfect and complete in every respect. Buying str city for cash, and in large quantities, (twelve car loads on the way) we are enabled to sell wholesale and retail, at very low prices.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

THE BATH HOUSE.—For a leading item this week, we have been taking a look at Mr. Dean's new barber shop and bath house, which is to be opened for business to-day. The building itself is very neatly constructed and is an ornament to the street and neighborhood. The front room is fitted up for the barbering department, and the walls and ceiling are pleasantly grained and colored. In the rear of this are two fine bath rooms, supplied with hot and cold water, where the long-needed luxury of a good bath can at last be enjoyed. In the yard in the rear of the building is the heating apparatus, water tanks, etc., whence the supply of "washing fluid" is kept up. The public are invited to call and inspect the arrangements which have been made for their comfort.

THE SAVANNAH WELL.—We regret to learn that the boring of this well has been abandoned in consequence of striking a stratum of quicksand at a depth of 288 feet, which it was impossible to penetrate the quicksand rising 24 feet in the pipe, and filling in faster than it could be pumped out. It is an excellent surface well as it stands, an inexhaustible supply of water rising to a point 13 feet from the surface. At a depth of 280 feet they passed through a bed of sea shells.

LOSS OF THE "W. H. MEYER."—This schooner, well known to Anaheim people as the vessel which for a long time has been freighting lumber to Langenberger, Blochman & Co., Anaheim Landing, went ashore May 23, in the Straits of San Juan de Fuca, 3 miles below Port Angeles, W. T. It is reported that the vessel is a total loss and that Capt. Martin and all the crew, nine in number, were drowned.

NEW DIRECTORS.—The following is the new Board of Directors of the Los Angeles and San Pedro R. R. Co.: B. D. Wilson, P. Banning, Hugh Forsman, Wm. Ferguson, D. W. Alexander, I. W. Hellman, Mathew Keller, S. H. Mott and W. Woodworth. The new officers are: B. D. Wilson, President; P. Banning, Vice-President; I. W. Hellman, Treasurer, and James H. Lander, Secretary.

HOME INDUSTRY.—We understand that Heimann & George manufacture here much of the clothing sold in their store, such as overalls, shirts, drawers, etc. Those buying therefore, will be sure of getting a well made article, and likewise encourage home industry and spend their money where it will be put in circulation again here in Anaheim.

FRESH CRACKERS.—Our merchants can get a much better and fresher article of crackers at the American Bakery, Los Angeles, than from San Francisco, and besides have the advantage of patronizing a local industry.—Try it.

FOR SAN FRANCISCO.—Schooner Sarah is announced to leave Anaheim Landing for San Francisco about June 15th. For freight, apply to Langenberger & Co. here, or Lauzenberger, Blochman & Co. at the Landing.

BIG SAFE.—M. Calisher & Co., have just brought out the largest safe in Anaheim. It is of the Wells & Salamandor brand, is 42 inches high and will hold more coin than you can shake a stick at.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CENTRAL COM.—At the meeting of this body at Los Angeles, on Saturday last, I. W. Hellman, Esq., of Los Angeles, was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late John King, a member of said Committee.

WRITING ABOUT US.—The Alameda County Gazette, of May 30th, contains quite a lengthy and accurate description of Anaheim and vicinity, from the pen of Judge Nye who visited us a few weeks ago.

BLACKSMITHING.—Messrs. Crook & Sullivan are good workmen and prompt and reliable in fulfilling their promises for work. Call and see them at their shop on Center Street.

The School Examination.

The closing examination of the Public Schools of this city, on Thursday and Friday of this week, was a grand success, and a most gratifying evidence of the completeness and efficiency of the school departments.

VISITORS.

A large number of visitors graced the occasion with their presence, among whom were Don Aug Langenberger, and the Misses Carlotta, Regina and Adelaide Langenberger; Miss Annie Bremermann, Mrs. C. Schmidt, Mrs Flora Eldredge, Miss Mary Kuchel, Mrs. M Calisher, Wm. Biggins (Trustee), Theodore Rimpau (Trustee), and lady; H. D. Polhemus and lady, Mr. Mossman and lady, Mrs. H. E. Boldt, J. J. Dyer and lady, Mrs. D. Strodthoff, Mrs. F. A. Koro, the Misses Woerder, J. P. Zeyn (Trustee), and Robt. N. White.

THE SCHOLARS

Acquitted themselves creditably in their exercises. Declamations were made by Misses Lydia Parker, Matilda Woerder, Matilda Rimpau, Clemie Schmidt, Emma Woerder, Fannie Higgins, Annie Fischer and Nellie Kuchel, and Masters Eddie Schmidt, Addison Dyer, J. R. Marcovich Jno. Langenberger and Oscar Luedke. The declamations of Eddie Schmidt, "I Can and Will;" Addison Dyer, "Eulogy of Washington;" and J. R Marcovich, "Flynn of Virginia," were particularly good.

COMPOSITIONS

Were read by Misses Flora Luedke, subject 'The five Senses,' very good; Rosina Allen, on 'The Parrott,' Minnie Hanna, on 'Truth Telling,' Henry Kuchel, 'The Fire Company,' Ettie Bremermann, 'Obedience to Parents' and J. R. Marcovich, 'Books.' All were good and deserving of great credit. The classes in history, algebra, arithmetic, geography and grammar were remarkably proficient. In the PRIMARY DEPARTMENT.

Presided over by Miss D. C. Marquis, the little ones also did well. In reading and geography they evinced careful training, while in declamation several very creditable little speeches were made.

Altogether, the examination was a most happy affair—a successful, victorious termination of the labors of the term. It shows how well the scholars have studied, how faithfully the teachers have performed their work.

CHAS. WOLFF, Agent.

LECTURE THIS EVENING.—Mr. J. F. Manning, of Worcester, Mass., and a correspondent of the Spy of that place, proposes to entertain us this evening, at Enterprise Hall, with an account of his experiences in California travel. This lecture, entitled "To and Through California," has proved very popular at the East, and we doubt not will be exceedingly instructive and interesting. Mr. Manning is a brother of Mr. M. S. Manning, who was formerly agent of the Anaheim Lighter Company, at the Landing. He visited Anaheim on a former trip two years ago and has sent excellent descriptions of our town and country to Eastern publications, thereby adding us considerably in becoming known to the world. We hope he will be greeted with a good audience. The lecture commences at 8 o'clock, and the price of admission is fixed at the low rate of 50 cents.

WELL-BORING COMPANY.—We learn that a number of the residents of Westminster are organizing a company for the purpose of boring artesian wells for the members thereof. This is a cheap and easy method of doing this usually expensive work, as it furnishes the use of the machinery and labor on the co-operative plan at a trifling outlay of money to each individual. A well is now being bored on the farm of Mr. Goldsworthy, adjoining that of Mr. McPherson, where water was last struck. The flow of water in Mr. Davis' well is, by an accident temporarily stopped, but it is expected that the obstruction will be removed soon.

Personals.

We are glad to learn that our old friend L. G. Cabanis of San Gabriel, has been appointed a Notary Public.

Ex-Gov Downey, of Los Angeles paid us a visit on Sunday last. The Governor is looking well and hopeful of the railroad. He was accompanied by Mr. Wolfson, also of Los Angeles, a prominent wool buyer.

We have had the pleasure of a call from Mr. J. F. Manning, a nephew of the late Don Abel Stearns, and correspondent of the Worcester (Mass.) Spy, who, with his wife and mother, (sister of the late Don Abel) are visiting Southern California. Mr. Manning lectures here this evening on the subject "To and Through California.

Mr. M. J. Reilly, of Los Angeles, passed through on Thursday, going to Capistrano for a little country recreation. He was accompanied by Rev. J Mut, of Capistrano.

Among the list of passengers to arrive to-day, we notice the name of Mrs. S. Olden, the amiable and accomplished wife of W. R. Olden, Esq.

Mr Bremermann, the popular host of the Anaheim Hotel, left us yesterday, accompanied by his son Henry, for Warner's Springs, for his health. We hope that the climate and water may soon restore him to his old-time vigor, and send him back with all the youthful freshness and rejuvenation of the fabled Fountain of Youth in the story of Ponce de Leon.

NEW EXCHANGE.—The Alameda Encinal reaches our exchange table for the first time, this week. It is well made up and filled with interesting reading matter. Come on. Glad to see you.

REMOVAL.—Mrs Eldredge has removed her millinery establishment to Mrs Metz's new building on Center street, just east of this office.

NEWSPAPER INTEREST FOR SALE.—Mr. A. Waite, half owner of the Los Angeles News, offers his interest for sale.

If you want a sign painted—Well, you've got to go to Payne Bros., there's no place else.

SATURDAY.....JUNE 8, 1872

Influence of the Sunday School.

"I organized the first Sunday school in this county and ran it myself," said a shrewd but dissipated Wisconsin lawyer. A few of us Americans came here early. We wanted to get in decent, industrious settlers, and keep the rowdies out. So I said 'A sunday school will draw the folks we want. It will be the best and cheapest way to blow for the settlement.' They all agreed to it. There wasn't a soul of us that pretended to have a grain of piety. So they pitched upon me to carry on the plan. I did it, sending to Mr Rice of the American Sunday-School Union for a library, and ran the school all summer. It did the blowing for us splendidly. Several Christian families came in, and as they had a better stock of piety, I handed the Sunday-school over to them. It was a grand thing for us. We secured a good moral settlement. In fact, sir, it got to be so pious that I couldn't live there myself."

PSYCHE. — Psyche, according to ancient mythology, was a princess of wonderous beauty. Altars were consecrated to her that properly belonged to Venus, which kindled the anger of that goddess against her. Venus in her rage commanded her son, Cupid, to inspire Psyche with a passion for some frightful monster, but "the rosy boy with a cherub wing," fell in love with her himself and bore her away to a delightful place, where she was visited every night by the young god, who left her at dawn. Psyche was persuaded by her sisters that her lover, who visited her only in darkness, was some loathsome and repulsive creature, and endeavored to incite her to destroy him while he slept, but when, by the light of a lamp, she beheld his marvelous beauty, her joy at this discovery rendered her incapable of motion, while a drop of hot oil falling from her lamp awoke him and he fled from presence. She then in despair endeavored to destroy herself but in nature nothing would injure her. At length Venus caused her to fall into a deep sleep from which she was finally aroused by Cupid, who touched her with the point of one of his arrows. She arose "purified through suffering" and was united to her beloved by Jove himself.—Our Fireside Friend.

CALIFORNIA WINE GROWERS.—Speaking of the visit of Secretary Delano to California, the Vallejo Independent says: "It is stated that this gentleman, during his recent visit to this State spent much of his time among the wine growers and wine-makers to inform himself of the operations of the laws which affect these interests. It is understood that he will recommend, among other measures for the benefit of California, an important reduction on spirits distilled from fruit—a most important subject to this State. There are several other matters to which Delano's attention was called, which he has promised to look after. The Secretary's visit will result in more advantages to the industrial and productive interests of the State than many people would suppose, who form their opinion from the unostentatious manner of the Secretary."

DEAF AND DUMB DEAD-HEAD.—Not long ago two boys between eleven and twelve, were loafing around one of the traveling minstrel halls in Quincy, Ill., trying to get in. At last one of them went up to the doorkeeper, and by signs made him believe he was deaf and dumb, so that the door-keeper let him in. The other seeing the success of his partner, went up and made the same signs. "What!" says the doorkeeper, "are you deaf and dumb too?" "Yes," said the forgetful boy. Then, as he received a taste of sole leather, he remembered his part.

Extracts from the papers of rejected schoolma'ms in Ohio: "The food is first masticated and then passes through the phalanx." "Respiration is the sweating of the body." "The chest is formed of two bones, the sternum and spinal cord." "Emphasis is placing more distress on some words."

Charles Francis Adams said one day to his son, John Quincy Adams (John was a boy then)—so the story goes—"My son, do you think you know enough to be Governor of Massachusetts?" To which the young gentleman replied "Well, I probably shall by the time I am elected."

There is no action of man in this life which is not the begining of so long a chain of consequences as that no human providence is high enough to give us a prospect to the end.—Thomas of Malmesbury.

It is curious to note the old sea margins of human thought; each subsiding century reveals some new mystery; we build where monsters used to hide themselves.—Longfellow.
