Engineering Feats.

Perhaps I may now be permitted to recapitulate the list of a dozen English poets, whom I ventured to quote as the manliest immortals of British poets, says Edmund Gosse of Oxford in the Forum for April. They are Chaucer, Spenser, Shakespeare, Milton, Dryden, Pope, Gray, Burns, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Byron, Shelley, Keats. It will be noticed that there are thirteen names here, and my reviewers have not failed to remind me that it is notoriously difficult to count the stars. The fact is that Gray, the real thirteenth, was an afterthought, and I will admit that, although Gray is the author of what is, perhaps, the most imposing single short poem in the language, and although he has charm, skill and distinction to a marvelous degree, his originality, his force of production was so rigidly limited that he may scarcely be admitted to the first rank. No doubt the explosive force which eggs a very great writer on to constant expression was lacking in the case of Gray, and I yield him—a tender babe, and the only one of my interesting family which I will consent to throw to the wolves. The rest are inviolable and I will defend them to the last.

LOST IN THE STORM.

One of our local editors clipped from a leading magazine extracts from a vivid description of a western blizzard which we have taken the liberty to publish and at the same time suggest to H. H. Warner & Co., the proprietors of the celebrated Warner's Safe Cure, the feasibility of taking therefrom an extract for the introduction of one of their telling advertisements. The following is the description:

"At the close of a dark day in January a solitary horseman wends his way across the open prairie in one of our western territories. He passes at long intervals the lone cabin of the hardy frontiersman. Two or three old settlers, of whom he has inquired the way, have warned him that a storm is approaching, and one of them, with true western hospitality, urges him to find shelter in his cabin for the night. But he declines the proffered kindness and urges his tired horse forward. * * * The sky grows suddenly dark, and * * * He decides to seek shelter. * * * The storm increases in its fury. * * * The first gropings of warm blood stir his benumbed limbs. * * * Can scarcely breathe. Blindness comes on. Drowsiness steals over him. The end is near. * * * He is lost in the blizzard."

There is no doubt that the terror which seizes the bewildered traveler is similar to that which overcomes one when he learns that he is suffering from an advanced Kidney Disease, and is informed that he is in the last stages of Bright's disease. At first he is informed that he has a slight kidney affection. Later he begins to feel tired. Slight headache. Fickle appetite. Failure of the eyesight. Cramp in the calf of the legs. Wakefulness. Distressing nervousness. Rheumatic and neuralgic pains. Occasionally pain in the side, back and loins, colored fluids, with scalding sensation. Gradual failure of strength.

Any of the above symptoms signify Kidney Affection, but he is told that he is all right. His physician treats him for symptoms and calls it a disease, when in reality it is but a symptom of Kidney trouble. He may be treated for Rheumatic or Neuralgic pains, heart affection, or any other disease which he is most susceptible to. Finally the patient begins puffing under the eyes, slight blotting of the ankles and legs. His physician may inform him that he has but the accumulation of blood in his ankles for want of proper exercise.

The bloat continues and reaches his body.

Then he is informed he has dropsical troubles, and is tapped once or twice. He notices it is difficult to breathe owing to irregular action of the heart, and finally is informed that he has a slight attack of Bright's Disease. Soon his friends are notified that his is an advanced case of Bright's Disease, and that he can live but a short time. His honorable and dignified physician asks for counsel. It is too late. Still he sticks to the old family physician, and the physician knows and has known from the beginning that the patient has been sticking with death for months, for he knows full well that the profession acknowledge they have no remedies for the cure of Kidney Disease.

At last the patient suffocates—is smothered—and dies from dropsical troubles. Or perhaps the sickness may take the form of a dropsical memory, and the patient dies from apoplexy, paralysis, insanity or heart trouble. Or it may take the form of Uræmic poisoning and each form the end is the same. And yet he and his friends were warned by the previous symptoms. Warner's Safe Cure, of the lurking dangers of a slight Kidney affection.

The symptoms of Bright's Disease are the same as those of Kidney Affection, but the former is the more dangerous stage of the latter. Warner's Safe Cure will cure any case of Kidney Affection, will prevent it from developing into Bright's Disease, and will cure it when it has developed into that fatal form. THE NEW COUNTY IS DEAD! LONG LIVE THE OLD!

Those of the citizens in that part of this county which some people desire to segregate into the county of Orange, who have laid the flattering unction to their souls that by political preferment or otherwise they would reap a benefit by the change, had better put their vaulting ambition behind them, return to the solitude of their various ways and be content. When half a dozen of the ablest lawyers in the State argue that the bill of division is clearly unconstitutional and cannot stand the test of inspection by the courts, it would seem that the beginning of the end had been reached at last. That Mr. Edwards' bill is defective in various vital parts has been held to be true by many of our citizens from the start; that it is singularly at fault in delegating the power of the Legislature to a portion of a county sought to be divided, is patent to the merest tyro. Now that a suit has been begun to oust the County Commissioners and declare their acts invalid it is easy to see that the Supreme Court of this State will be the tribunal of last resort. Moreover, the character of the attorneys who have asked a consultation with those in charge of the case, together with the legal acumen of the latter, is sufficient to demonstrate to an average mind that Orange county—that was to have been—is dead as the traditional mackerel.

Besides there is evidence at hand that the election of June 4th will result disastrously to the divisionists. From reliable sources comes the information that at Santa Ana over two hundred voters are stolidly opposed to division. In similar proportion are voters flocking to our standard from the whole section south of Coyote creek. Westminster will give a good account of herself, and poll a rousing majority against division. Garden Grove has its eyes open to the fact that increased taxation will come as sure as the crack of doom in the event of division. San Juan and Yorba are solid against it. In Anaheim, Fullerton and Fairview there will not be ten votes for the new county. Orange cannot expect the vote of this township to be polled in its favor for the county seat. Many voters there disfavor the new county, and others will also when they learn that they never can be the county capital.

These facts, coming as they do on this pleasant morning in May, are reassuring. We shall still live in the Imperial county, and have a low rate of taxation. When finally the county shall be divided, the dividing line will be placed in proper territory, and the fiat will not go forth that Anaheim and its outcrops will be cast aside and into the river of Lethe. We have rights as well as others, and until those rights have at least a measurable chance of recognition we shall be unalterably opposed to county division.

The new county is dead! Long live the old!

SOME of the members of the Board of Orange County Commissioners are picturesquely idiotic when it comes to the question of advertising. Some people are always "retrenching" when they have business with the newspapers. The Orange county commissioners are no exception to the rule. When they came to give out their advertisement calling for an election on county division it was deemed advisable to patronize the papers which would not charge for advertising space in the event of the defeat of the county—a by no means improbable result. The bill provides that the call for an election shall be published in two newspapers, but in order to satisfy the demands of the publishers who would charge nothing should the county go by the boards, it was found necessary to advertise in four newspapers, two at Santa Ana and two at Orange. These sheets are to alternate the advertisement, one printing it one week and the other the next. Of course this journal refused to enter the combine. The four priceless journals will probably insert the election notice in every issue. If the new county be formed the item of expense for advertising will thus necessarily be multiplied by two. It does not appear, moreover, what their charges will be if they are given the chance to rend the infant treasury. We suspect our esteemed contemporaries on the other side of the river will all become rich in the new order of things. But Anaheim is systematically "left" on the proposition—as it undoubtedly will be on every other when it comes down to the scratch in the new county.

Deputy Sheriff Gray was in town on Monday on business connected with "serving papers" upon the Board of Orange County Commissioners in the suit to test the legality of the county division bill. It is proposed to argue the case before the six Superior Judges of the county at an early date. The lawyers to appear for plaintiffs are Graves & Hendrick, Gottschalk & Luckel, Chapman & O'Melveny, and others, comprising the ablest jurists in the city of Los Angeles. The most eminent counsel in that city have requested a consultation with the attorneys named, and there seems to be no doubt in their minds as to the final outcome. It is not yet known who the opposing counsel will be. A meeting was held at Santa Ana yesterday afternoon to take necessary steps in the matter, but the outcome of the meeting's deliberations has not yet come to hand. Regarding the expenses of the case, it is whispered that $15,000 can be raised here at the drop of the hat, and as much more in Los Angeles quite as quickly, to enlist the services of the very best counsel. The defendants have ten days in which to file their demurrer, at which time it will be possible to form an opinion as to their stand on the unconstitutionality of the bill in question. The case may be called up a week from next Monday.

By the Treasurer's statement issued last week the interesting bearing debt of the United States is now $699,000,000. July 1, 1869, the same amounted to the sum of $1,015,145,000. The balance of new State...

COUNTY OF ORANGE.

Reasons Against Its Formation.

Detailed Statements of the Santa Ana Case. After Careful Investigation by Learned Counsel—Opinion Rendered—High Taxation Not a Justifiable Result—Read and Reflect.

The following report, [illegible] shows of the [illegible] of a thorough investigation of the matter by a committee of our citizens. It is to be hoped a careful reading will be given the [illegible] and that each voter will study the matter for himself:

To these times when money is tight and the farmer and mechanic and the wage earner generally receive but meagre returns for reward for their skill and enterprise, there are many who are not able even to obtain employment though ever so anxious to do, in order to supply those dependent upon them with the bare necessaries of life, the question of county division carries with the solution of the tax problem, and it becomes a matter of the primest importance to every one having not only the interest of the people, but his own interests as well, at heart, to weigh carefully the arguments and reasons adduced in favor of division and against, and not too hastily decide a question which will entail upon the community a burden retarding every development and progress.

It is a fact demonstrated by political economy and the experience of men everywhere, that the times are good and money is plenty, work and labor remunerative, in the proportion that the farmer receives good prices for his products, and the mechanic and laborer has steady employment at good wages. It is then that the business man sees good times and prosperity reigns supreme. And it is noteworthy that the prosperity of the business man depends entirely upon the wage earner and the farmer, and in proportion as he must eke out his existence he will charge upon the farmer and artisan the burdens of that existence. In other words, increased taxation will ultimately fall upon the farmer and not the business man, because the latter will enhance the price of his goods in proportion to the increased expenses of his business and subsistence. On the other hand, no one knows better than the farmer himself, that he must take what he can get for his products, not what he can urge for them.

We deny that it is a fact, or that the past few years, or even ten years, have so proven that the county's administration of affairs has not economical or honest, but on the contrary, we say that if the administration is honest, please to point to the items. Is a serious reflection upon the entire officials of the county to call them thieves in a body, without specifying the parties and the times and the occasions. Let us have facts and if upon examination any one is proven a thief we will see what can be done, but until then we must most emphatically deny such wild assertions.

As to the charge of the uneconomical administration of the affairs, we submit the following:

That as shown by the reports of the State Board of Equalization on page 43 of the year 1887, giving the rates of taxation of the counties for the years since 1870, we find that during the last ten years the rate of county, exclusive of State rate, has decreased, with one or two exceptions, constantly from year to year, with a rate in the county in 1879 of — cents on the $100; in 1888 it was 60 cents on the $100. It is also shown that from the same list, taking the year 1886, being the latest accessible to us, there were but two counties that had a less rate of taxation than the county of Los Angeles had last year. Now what is the reason this teaches us? It is that if the county is not divided taxes will be less each year for the county; that the affairs are not only honestly but economically administered; and there can not be any other reason why, which, by the way, there is no proof, and without evidence no sane man can believe such a charge, but on the other hand the books and the prosperous conditions of the county's business show strict economy and an uncommon degree of integrity.

It is unnecessary with these positiveness that the taxable wealth of the proposed county in 11,212,733, exclusive of personal property. The following will show the true facts:

Office of U. C. Mason, County Assessor of Los Angeles county, Cal.

"Los Angeles, Cal., May 10, 1889.

"I certify herewith that the valuation made from the books of this office, showing the taxable value of the proposed county of Orange and amounting to $11,212,733, includes all personal property therein and not deducting the 10 per cent discount made by the State Board of Equalization.

"(Signed) W. J. A. Smith."

This ten per cent reduced the assessments to about the sum of $9,502,000, or a fraction over this sum, making the total value not one-ninth but one-twelfth, and a half of the total value of the entire county for last year. Since then conditions of affairs have changed very materially in this respect, and with the increased values of real estate, not only of farm property but of town property as well. There has been a large amount of city property within the proposed county turned into acreage and this year it is assessed as such and in almost all town lots which were assessed at one hundred dollars per lot are now assessed at $25, a decrease of $75 per lot. For example in Fullerton and the Santa Fe tract in Anaheim. The towns of Carlton and Richfield have gone to ruin, are in memory and desolation, and their assessments, even as acreage, will be very small. So with other places.

There is another circumstance in the difference between last year and this, in the taxable value, and a highly important one to be taken into consideration by all taxpayers as well as others having their own interests at stake. That is the fact that last year vineyards by the thousands of acres were assessed as property of this year they are not assessed, because they have all died.

In view of all these things is there any one who can think in intelligent contradiction show that the taxable wealth for this year will be more than $8,000,000? It is the opinion of Mr. Mason, our assessor, that it will not be over this sum in the proposed county this year, and it is certain that he is far more qualified to give such an opinion intelligently than any other man in Los Angeles county.

In the city of Los Angeles the taxable wealth last year was $38,000,000. This year is will be between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000, an increase of at least $12,000,000, the increase alone more than the wealth of Orange county, while its wealth has decreased. So is it evident that if the county remains intact the district forming the proposed county has about one-twelfth of the wealth of the county, and consequently will bear not even two-thirds of the county's expense of what it paid last year. The proposed county's proportion of the business done in the offices of the County Clerk and Sheriff is about [illegible] This is the opinion of a gentleman who is well qualified to give such opinions; more so than any other person. The far greater part of this business in the courts comes from Los Angeles city and from Pasadena and the country about. The net receipts of the County Clerk amounted to $25,196 80 for the year 1888. The net receipts of the Sheriff were for the same period $32,778 85. The Recorder's net income [illegible] $3,468 95.

Total.....$21,310 98, being the amount apportioned to Orange county. The money still there December 31, 1888, will be spent before the close of the fiscal year, the first Monday in July, or on the other hand this money being apportioned will remain there to the credit of the respective funds in the districts above until it is used.

The figures thus show a difference of $5,745 98 from the figures given in the pamphlet entitled "Reasons in favor of county division," and there were $2,205 52 more spent than stated therein, and of the credit given not a word is said. In fact this proposed county got more in cash and credit than was due her.

In the item of Justices and Constables which sets forth that the people of Orange county paid more than was received on this fund, it is only necessary to say one word. That is the governing this matter is now changed so that no Constable or Justice receives more than $1,000 per annum for all services performed in criminal cases and cases in which the people of this State are parties, or interested. The pro divisionists attempt to create and make prejudice against Los Angeles city in stating that the city of Los Angeles collects so much more than she pays, and it is thus seen that the argument has now no application because the law under which these officers were allowed to do this has been repealed and fairness might have induced the divisionists to make this statement. See the acts of of 1887 on page 187, sec. 13 and 14 in relation to the fees of 5th class county officers, of which rank Los Angeles county is one.

It is stated that two responsible abstract firms have agreed to copy the records for $25,000, and have offered a bond for $20,000 for the faithful performance of the work. This is very much exaggeration of the facts. Nothing is said in regard to the books, maps and the fees of the Recorder, who by the Orange county act gets 25 cents for each instrument certified by him as correct. Besides there are the books, maps and the fees of the Recorder.

Now we must remember that the bill provides only for the transcription of the records of the office of the Recorder. There is no provision made for transcribing the records of the Clerk's office, and nothing is said on this point. Future legislation is needed to do this, and as it stands there is only a half of a job to be done.

The estimate of Frank Gibson, the forner Recorder of Los Angeles county, made at the instance of the Santa Anaites, for the transcription of the records of the Recorder's office and exclusive of any other office, but inclusive of the maps and books and the fees for certifying to their correctness was $50,000 at the very least calculation. Why did the authors of the pamphlet in question not state the result of their application to Mr. Gibson? His estimate did not suit their purpose, but instead they say that two responsible abstract firms have agreed to the transcribing for $25,000, but they are silent as to the cost of books and maps.

It is very silly to say that it is not necessary to copy the records of this county, but that it can be done to suit the finances and convenience of Orange county. If they are to be transcribed it is better to do it at once and not later because the people of Orange county get the benefit of it by so doing, which is a great deal in the course of a few years. The travel to Los Angeles is considerable and if the transcribing is to be paid for it had be better at once.

Besides the records of the Recorder's office the Clerk's records must be also transcribed at a cost of not less than $30,000, which is also the opinion of Mr. Gibson, making a total of $100,000 for transcribing the records of the two offices, soe as needless, as at the other. What San Benito county did is not to the purpose; the question what shall Orange county do is more to the purpose, and then what is the probable cost of doing so?

The two items of Great Register and printing are put at $1,500 and $2,000 respectively. These are denied by the pamphlet for division; we submit that they are as near and more likely correct than the other figures.

It is stated that the rent will be $2,000. When it is considered that until the county buildings are put up, there are offices to be provided for about fourteen different offices, including the courtroom, and also for the jail and hospital, the figures $3,000 would be reasonable, 14 offices at an average of $10 per month would make $1,680 for the year. In this the courtroom is put at $10. Then there are the offices of the County Clerk and Sheriff which are also put down at the same figures and which must be quite large rooms, or suite of rooms. So that the average of $210 per month is low. Then there is the jail and hospital rent items and these we estimate at say $1,320 per year. Making at the lowest $3,000 for rent alone instead of $2,000, and the result will show that the rent will be over rather than under this figure. The language on page two paragraph fourth would seem to indicate that the rent of the courtroom alone will cost $2,000. See the pamphlet on county division.

The next item on the same page states that it is not true that consolidating the new county will be $10,000 as the only argument used in this are the two items mentioned. But then there is another circumstance contained in the general law of the State, and being a general law in Los Angeles county, to wit, section 26 by amendment thereto, and it is section 3275 of the Political Code, which reads as follows:

"When a county is divided or the lines thereof are altered, all taxes levied before the division or alteration, and uncollected at the time thereof, may be collected by the officers of said county to which the territory or property delinquent is attached, in the same manner as if such division or alteration had not been made; and all property which has been assessed in any county, but which, by reason of such division or alteration, is not within the limits of such county, shall be assessed and taxed in the county within the limits of which it may be situated at the time of assessment."

Now it is evident that the county will not be divided until the first Monday in July, or on the other hand this money being apportioned will remain there to the credit of the respective funds in the districts above until it is used.

The figures thus show a difference of $5,745 98 from the figures given in the pamphlet entitled "Reasons in favor of county division," and there were $2,205 52 more spent than stated therein, and of the credit given not a word is said. In fact this proposed county got more in cash and credit than was due her.

In the item of Justices and Constables which sets forth that the people of Orange county paid more than was received on this fund, it is only necessary to say one word. That is the governing this matter is now changed so that no Constable or Justice receives more than $1,000 per annum for all services performed in criminal cases and cases in which the people of this State are parties, or interested. The pro divisionists attempt to create and make prejudice against Los Angeles city in stating that the city of Los Angeles collects so much more than she pays, and it is thus seen that the argument has now no application because the law under which these officers were allowed to do this has been repealed and fairness might have induced the divisionists to make this statement. —Uncle David Evey of Pasadena was in town on Monday renewing old acquaintances, of whom he has a great multitude here. He attended the meeting of the Masonic Lodge, of which he has remained a member since his departure from Anaheim several years ago. He reports affairs quiet at Pasadena.

—Claus Wilkins died at his residence on West street on Tuesday morning. He had been irrigating at night and contracted a cold, which rapidly developed into malignant fever, resulting in death as stated. Deceased had lived here for over sixteen years and was well known throughout this section. He leaves a widow to mourn his loss.

—A negro bootblack lately employed at Frantz's barbershop amused himself on Sunday by inverting the bootblack sign that hangs outside the tonsorial parlor. Franz turned the sign back into its proper place, and when the called gemmen turned it inside down again, Frantz executed a rapid movement with his fists and turned the negro upside down. No damage. Each was fined $5 for breach of the peace.

—The praise services at the Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening were very interesting. The singing of the choir was highly appreciated, as was also the solos of Miss Harvey of Santa Ana. These services will be held once a month and it is desired that the people attend them freely. The sermons of Rev. Mr. Elliott each Sabbath are scholarly discourses, at times eloquent, and are always well received by the congregation.

—We acknowledge the receipt of a complimentary invitation to attend an Olde Folks's Concerte at the Congregational Church, at Westminster, to-morrow evening. An excellent programme of singing and exercises will be rendered. The following announcement is made: "If any bodie wishes to speak to ye maone and women syngers, they can do so now, and ye young maone who de greatly desire to walk home with ye maidens may now speake to them about it." Pat us down on the list.

—Sergeant Ernest Browning of Company G, while driving near the armory on Sunday, met with a serious mishap, and one which may result in keeping him to his bed for many weeks. In attempting to make a short turn with his bookboard, one of the wheels caught in the street-car track, upsetting the vehicle and throwing Mr. Browning to the ground. One of the small bones of the left ankle was found to be broken. He was conveyed to his residence, after medical assistance had been rendered, and is resting as easily as may be expected.

—An election was held at Azusa last Saturday on the question of organizing a water district under the Wright Irrigation Act. The vote resulted 191 for and 113 against, so that the proposition was not carried. This is the second election that has been held to create an irrigation district in Azusa, and each time the both measures failed for want of the legal two-thirds in favor. The parties in favor of creating a district say that they will keep on trying until they get the required vote.

—The Savings, Loan and Building Association of Anaheim held their regular meeting on last Saturday evening and transacted the following business: John P. Zayo was elected President, Vine F. Ely, Secretary, T. A. Korn was elected a Director. Wm. Harder was elected Treasurer. Abner Ball was appointed Attorney. The association is composed of our most influential citizens, is organized on a solid basis, and will be a great help to many a mechanical old to the [illegible]

—R. J. Pritchard and Jack Lowell are preparing for the publication of a monthly paper to be called "The Mining Hub" [illegible]

—Wilson Downing is building a residence on Orangethorpe avenue. Report says that he will shortly join the ranks of the Benedicts.

—When the census of 1890 is taken, it is said that every man, woman and child of Texas will be the possessor of a pistol.

—The military band, on returning from the camp division meeting at Garden Grove on Tuesday evening, tendered a serenade to H. Hart.

—Colonel Mansfield's eloquence in favor of division has its fountain-head, so it is said, in the sight of a Superior Judgeship down the dim vista of the future.

—Roadmaster Porter made a bet of a suit of clothes with Roadmaster Wabson of Garden Grove that taxes in 1891 would be higher in Orange county, in the event of its formation, than Los Angeles.

—The change in the time table of the California Central, will be found in another column. Mail from the north now arrives at 9.28a. m., and from the south at 11.53 a. m.

—It is said Rev. Elliott will debate a portion of his discourse on next Sabbath evening to the dissection of our esteemed contemporary on Lemon street. A ghastly subject, but give him fits.

—C. W. Hatch, who was on Tuesday acquitted of the charge of murdering his uncle at Burlington, Col., was recently in Anaheim, looking for investments. He is a man of considerable means and his arrest caused much surprise to his friends here.

—A house belonging to Amerige Bros., located on Orangethorpe avenue, Fullerton, and lately occupied by Mr. Howell, was burned to the ground early Monday morning. A quantity of furniture was destroyed. The fire is said to have been the work of an incendiary.

—The Board of Supervisors on Monday canvassed the returns of the election held in the irrigation district here and declared P. S. Yorba, J. P. Greely, J. Hauser, T. A. Darling and J. P. Zayo elected Directors, M. Nebelung Assessor, H. D. Polhemus Collector and F. H. Keith Treasurer.

O YE SWEET HEAVENS!

O ye sweet heavens! your silence is to me
More than all music. Why what full delight
I some down to my dwelling by the sea
And look out from the lattice on the night!
There's the same glories burn serene and bright
As in my boyhood; and if I am old
Are they less glorious? Thus my spirit is told
To think perhaps we are coeval. Who
Can tell when first my faculty began
Of thought? Who knows but I was there with you
When first your Maker's mind, celestial spheres,
Contrived your motion ere I was a man?
Else, wherefore do mine eyes thus fill with tears
As I, O Pleiades! your beauty scan?

The Russian and the Asiatic.

The fact is that in dealing with Asiatic affairs the semi-Asiatic Russian must necessarily have at every stage a decided advantage over the thoroughly European English man. John Bull, when compelled by circumstances to do anything discreditable or, what is the same to him, "un-English", always considers himself by doing it as badly as possible. If he has to employ bribery he invariably bribes the wrong man. If forced to tell a lie he tells it so clumsily that no one but a child or a fool could possibly be deceived by it. If he attempts to play off one savage tribe against another he usually succeeds in uniting both against himself. The Russian, on the other hand, throws his whole heart and soul into the congenial task of deceiving his neighbor, and is never disturbed by anything so absurd as a conscientious scruple in the exercise of the great art wherein he excels all the children of men, viz., that of saying one thing and meaning another.—David Kerr in New York Times.

The Descent is Rapid.

Then there is another class that are not so fastidious about the method in which charity is bestowed. These are the people (usually men) who go about all day asking a dime from any passer by who they think would be likely to let them have it and then immediately blowing it in for beer. When night comes and it is too cold to sleep out of doors, they are forced to seek the station house or the Wayfarers' lodge. There are a few deserving men in this class who are really out of work and who would work if they could find any to do, but the major portion of them are moving on continually because they are afraid if they remain too long in one place they would be given something to do—and this they dread. And from a life of this kind the transition to that of a tramp is but a few steps, and if the conditions are ripe the descent is rapid.—Boston Globe.

Workers on a Big Daily.

To show the complete satisfaction of most editors with their present corps of workers, it is necessary only to quote the remark of an editor of one of the leading New York dailies. To a young man whose writing he greatly admired, and was always willing to use, he recently said:

"We never discharge our people. They either resign or die."

The editor of another equally prominent journal said:

"We would seem to have an entirely certain staff. Moreover, fully twenty of our writers could be dispensed with at this moment, and when the paper comes out tomorrow its readers would not detect any change. It would be as complete as before."—The Writer.

New Jersey's Submerged Forests.

Geology can assign no date to the submergence of noble cedar forests that once covered southern New Jersey, and whose buried monarchs are of more value than all the other trees of that land of the musquito. All that is known is that great logs in countless numbers lie under the mud and sand, that they are as sound as when first buried, and that it "pays" to dig them up and convert them into shingles, buckets, etc. The amber that delights the hearts of thousands, the cowry gum of New Zealand that supplies the world with material for varnish, and the cedar mines of New Jersey, go to show that forests dead and gone may be of greater value than trees of today.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

To Clip Without Scissors.

The best way I have ever discovered for the easy dispatch of newspaper clippings is to take a pin and scratch heavily around the item. It can then be torn out as if the paper had been perforated, or the pin can be pushed through at the end of the "scratch" and run around it, tearing it at once. This is, by all odds, the quickest process I have ever heard of, and requires no outfit but a large shawl pin, one of which I keep near me always.—The Writer.

In the Ballroom.

"I beg y'r pard'n, shir, but'r you th' floor managh'er?"

"I have that honor. What may I do for you, sir?"

"Well, I wish you'd (hic) manage th' floor a litt' bit better. Itsh runnin' roun' an' roun' like at-(hic)-tic-hicup, an' th' corner over there jush minute ago I flared-hic-up 'n hit me in th' back-hic-er th' head."—New York Evening Sun.

Didn't Have to Pay.

Tommy—My father is a church member.

Johnny—So's mine.

Tommy—But my father says your papa ain't, 'cos he don't never come to church, nor put nothin' in the collection box.

Johnny (bravely)—Well, my papa is an honorary member, and honorary members don't chip in.—Lowell Citizen.

Power of Trade Symbols.

Dealer—I say, Jake, put out a sign: "Our great G. X. P. Q. sale begins today."

Jake—G. X. P. Q. sale! Why, sir, nobody knows what that is!

Dealer—Of course they don't, neither do I, but it'll draw like a mustard plaster. Don't forget to make the letters large and plain.—Detroit Free Press.

Bridges of Short Spans.

Brick or stone is fast taking the place of iron for bridges of short spans on the rail ways. Iron bridges cannot stand the strain to which they are now subjected. From an esthetic standpoint the stone arch is a great improvement over the naked iron truss bridge.—Boston True Flag.

Stamps Without Mucilage.

When using stamps which have lost their mucilage, a convenient method is to rub them on the moistened flap of the envelope to be stamped. Usually, enough gum will be found on the flap both to seal the letter and attach the stamp.—The Writer.

Geese in Cold Weather.

It has been found that a goose can stand the weather until the thermometer goes to 64 below zero. Then her feathers won't save her. Wild ducks can go twelve degrees lower and come out on top.—Chicago Herald.

Professor Proctor on Weather Prospects.

The late Richard A. Proctor, it appears, had no faith in the modern system of weather guessing, based on the so called science of "planetary meteorology," or the appearance of the sun spots. Some years ago, while storm bound at Davenport, Ia., the professor was interviewed by the editor of The Democrat, and reference being made to that subject, he said: "Oh, that is all humbug; you might as well try to tell where the largest wave or the greatest white cap will rise during a storm in mid ocean, as to localize storms by observing the position of the planets or the size of sun spots. It cannot be done. Look at it a minute. You single out a very small portion of the earth, which is a very small portion of our universe, and say the movements of the heavenly bodies will produce such and such conditions of weather in certain neighborhood, regionstate, continental. The earth isn't concerned more than any other planet. The vast extent of untold millions of miles is narrowed down, localized, to an atom, as it were. No astronomical research justifies any such thing. I have no patience with it."—Cincinnati Enquirer.
