New York Letter

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Suggestion has been made that in celebrating the New York police force in an effort to quell the present flood of hold-ups and burglaries, Commissioner Enright choose his new members from the "weaker" crowd. That half of society seems to be more of a success at the job, even a amateur, just now than do the masculine members of the force. One New York woman recently captured a burglar in her apartment with a silver spoon; just crept up behind him, and held it against the back of his neck. His revolver-trained imagination did the rest. And she got stripped the burglar and then sat on him until the police arrived. And Miss Edith Ward, the latest feminine thief catcher, surprised a burglar in her bedroom, promptly collared him and held him against the wall until a former army lieutenant came to the rescue. "Why, that was nothing at all," she said, simply. "Any girl would have done a smuch."
Gilda Varesi is said by her friends to be happier this season in "Enter, Macaroni" than she has ever been. No any part she has played before. There's a simple reason for it, but not one you would hardly expect from this woman who has done such remarkable work in tragedy parts in the past, such as her original girl in "The Jet," last year. It's clothes. "This is the first part Gilda has ever played in her life," one of her close friends said the other day, "where she could wear modish frocks. And she is as happy as a child about those lovely things that she could go into good shops and buy—but not have made out of rags and tags." As she is one of the authors of the play, she probably wrote it with the idea of giving herself one real treat before going back to impoverished-seeming tragic roles.
It became almost more than American customers could bear—the thought that their patrons must be one or two weeks behind Paris and the Riviera in the adoption of a new sleeve curve or another trick of the skirt. So now, there has been perfected, a card book, containing 2100 illustrations; pictures of cuffs, shoulder seams, collars, waists, every possible incident in a woman's costume. Every picture is numbered. Behold! A model from the smartest Parisian dressmaker appears on the Rue de la Paix, with every detail of her dress, hat, coat, parasol and powder box is cable to New York by number corresponding to the pictures in the code book. The next morning's papers can carry it all. And even before they are read, the window dresser, sitting on cables from the shops' Parisian representatives, will have all ready for you to gaze at.
Residents of Long Branch believed they were just about to be attacked in force by bandits one day this week. They saw two men wear dark, most suspiciously. They avoided sidewalks and moved swiftly along, in a stooping position, pushing their way through to another, sometimes venturing close to the police before their presence was discovered. The police were notified and took strenuous measures at once. A coroner was thrown about the whole neighborhood, and after watching for a short time, the signal was given and the police rushed the tow men, overpowered them and carried them off in the patrol wagon. There, when the prisoners had gained their breath, they explained that they were being the police to the forestry department hunting for coons of the gray moon.
The head of a settlement house in lower Manhattan never loses her interest in her boys and girls who have been club members there. The other day she met one of them on the street. "Have you still a chauffeur job?" she asked. "No, ma'am," he answered. "I'm in business in Jersey." "It's asked the social worker," "Business is better than working," he said. "I believe me, it's better than working."
Senator Medill McCordrick landed in New York the other day, after having spent nine weeks in Europe, where he had been in the company of nations, government, indeterminate, foreign exchange, and other fairly important world subjects with some pretty important people of various nations. He declared, and he was not mistaken, but the reports of his interviews over there had leaked out. So the New York reporters flocked to the pier. The senator from Illinois listened as cordially as could be to the current of questions, then he said: "My boys, Europe is a wonderful place. Has any one any tobacco?" And no other word was got from him.
A goose race down Madison-ave opened the poultry show at Madison Square Garden. The geese had two blocks kept from of traffic for them and a bunch of pretty show girls to drive them, and they squawked gaily in appreciation of both.
"Please, your honor, send me back to Sing Sing. I pleaded guilty, and, anyway, I'd like to go." Such was the plea of Benjamin Keane, arrested for burglary. "I was there for four years," he explained, "and I got used to it. I don't have to do any automatics up there and I see good movies at night." Magistrate Sweetser thought he could accommodate him. In fact, he did.
H. A. Markle, wife and baby, en route to California from St. Joseph, Mo., arrive in Anaheim Thursday for an extended visit at the home of Mr. Markle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Markle, 215 N. Olive-st. Mr. Markle is a commercial artist and will try to find a suitable location in Los Angeles. If he succeeds, the family will make this state their future home.
The bouquet of beautiful cariations sent to Margaret Billig by the St. O. G. class of the Methodist church, was found on the street and forwarded to her and recited with deep felt gratitude and thanks. Mr. Billig, her father, said today. Miss Billig is slowly recovering from injuries sustained in the S. P. wreck.

Last Night's Audience Mystified by Phonograph

Drawn from Actual Photograph

Hears Famous Entertainers Compare Performance With RE-CREATION BY Edison's New Phonograph—Could Not Tell the Two Apart

—MESSRS. COLLINS and HARLAN, America's popular entertainers, gave an extraordinary recital last night at the High School Auditorium.
—they walked on to the stage and stood beside a stately cabinet. They began to sing "Down in Jungle Land." The audience immediately yielded to the spell of their beautiful voices. Then suddenly there was a stir—a subdued murmur of surprise—and a perplexed rubbing of eyes. The voices continued to fill the auditorium with undiminished sweetness—your ears were proof of that—but their lips had become absolutely silent—your eyes told you that.
—What wizardry was this? It was the test of direct comparison with the living artist, which Thomas A. Edison has developed to demonstrate that the Official Laboratory Model of his new phonograph will sing any song exactly as it was sung by the artist, and that his Re-Creation of a singer's voice, as it comes from his wonderful new phonograph, positively cannot be distinguished from the singer's actual voice, when both are heard in direct comparison.
—Messrs. Collins and Harlan made repeated comparisons—both singly and together—always with the same result. It was truly wonderful. This master achievement of the great wizard, Edison, marks a new epoch in music.

LOU'S FURY OUT OF PLACE IN THIS LAND.
 Accused of the murder of a white man and his daughter, an Arkansas negro was tied to a stake and burned by a mob which took him from a jail in Mississippi. Here is one more ghastly incident of the mob spirit. Every time there is a lynching anywhere in the U. S., condemnation of such mob outbreaks should ring out, all up and down the land. This denunciation should not be made a sectional matter. If lynchings occur in California, condemn them just as strongly as they occurred in Arkansas or Mississippi. State or sectional boundaries have nothing to do with determining the quality of this mob menace. It is a menace and it is wholly without warrant, wherever the venting of deadly passion may occur.

But these furious killings, while wholly without justification, yet point to defects which should be remedied promptly in the administration of justice thru the courts of the land. The delay and the uncertainty in meting out punishment to those guilty of atrocious crimes give excuse to the mob to circumvent the orderly processes of law by indulging in lynchings. This weakness in the orderly dispensing of justice should be removed. This should be done, not to cater to the mob element, but as the proper evolution and betterment of the ways and means of administrative justice and of making the law whomever it favors by the criminal. While condemning such lynchings unreservedly, it would be well to rectify the conditions which afford the mob its shadow of excuse for its horrible work.

STUDY TAX BILLS WITH EX-TEMPLE CARE.
 The legislative session in this state is designed to be an opportunity to study and suggest the measures presented in the opening weeks of the legislative session.

By far the most important measure before the legislature and, in fact, before the people is that which has to do with reorganization of the state government and providing ways and means for raising taxes. The administrative measure, under sprit of the legislature, failed to pass. During the recess this measure is before the people. It is friends and enemies will canvass the state, pro and con. The people that will be enabled to hear the proposals discussed at all angles. The printed text of other proposals not in agreement with it, will be before the people. The masses have their chance to arrive at intelligent conviction. They should improve this chance and send the legislature back with their stand.

The Village Gossip

Something out of the ordinary in finger prints was discovered by Deputy Sheriff Charles Holbrook, finger print expert in the office of Sheriff C. E. Jackson, when he made impressions of the finger prints of Claude T. Waitman, who is serving a six months' sentence in the county jail.

Waitman was arrested and convicted in Los Angeles by federal authorities on charges of peddling drugs. He was sent to Santa Ana because the Los Angeles jails are filled to overflowing and room could not be found for him. Waitman claims to be a newspaper writer by profession, and the peculiar trait in his finger prints is that every ridge or groove, in other words the fine lines in the tips of the thumb and fingers, form a perfect arch, not only in one finger but in all of his eight fingers and two thumbs. This is exceptional, according to Holbrook, who has been engaged in identification bureaus for several years.

"Most finger prints," said Holbrook, "show a mixture of whirls and arches on the different fingers of one man, and sometimes a conglomerate of the 16 different types of patterns which we have classified. "It is extremely uncommon to find all the fingers of one man showing nothing but arches. Such a disclosure would make it an easy matter for authorities where to identify a fugitive. And hundreds of men are identified every year by their finger prints when photographs and other means prove futile."

Holbrook says that in all his experience he has never seen a man who can recall not one other case where the subject has anything but arches in his finger prints.

This man, according to Holbrook, is Isadore Hayward, a negro who was arrested at San Diego on a burglary charge more than a year ago. During a conviction of finger print experts at San Diego Holbrook had occasion to make finger print impressions of arches without a single whirled or other type of pattern. Holbrook says that in the course of a year he photographs and makes finger prints of about 400 prisoners in the county jail.

All prisoners are not photographed. Just these held in court, defendants, federal prisoners and a few others.

MANY PRIZES FOR SCOUT FIELD MEET

A number of prizes, offered by many interested in Boy Scout work for the big field day to be held at Anaheim Feb. 26 have been placed on exhibition in local store windows.

Plans for the meet, which is to include scouts from all parts of the county, are being completed by Elmer Heidt, county scout executive. The various athletic contests will be assigned to the different events as first and second prize. Troop events or group contests will be rewarded only for first places and with a cup of other object that may be used by the troop.

The meet will be held on the Anaheim high school grounds, and according to present indications, every troop in the county will be represented. The meet will start promptly at 1:30 p. m.

SAYS RANCHERS LET SLIP OPPORTUNITY

Due to "sleeping at the switches" and not gobbling up the attractive lease offered by H. W. Edens of Fullerton, representing a number of companies, the "golden opportunity" of an one-half royalty and $10 an acre rental has slipped from the people of the vicinity of Stanton, it was stated today at the office of the Franz Realty Co., responsible for Mr. Edens and his company becoming interested in the Stanton vicinity.

A geologist made a survey of the vicinity and reported unfavorably, saying that no oil strikes could be traced beyond the old bed of the Santa Ana river and that it is only a wildcat territory.

As a result no company will be likely to accept a lease with a royalty of more than one-eighth, Mr. Franz stated today. However, two reliable companies are interested in the community at a one-eighth royalty provided there can be obtained a lease of 1,000 acres or more and the office of the Franz Realty Co. will be open at all times to those who may wish to sign up for this proposition, Franz stated today. The lease will be directly with the oil company.

42 COMPLETE EXAMS FROM JUNIOR H. S.

OPPOSES CITY NEWS-PAPERS

The church bulletin of Santa Ana First Methodist church, has the following brief paragraph, worthy of wide consideration: "Is it wise or safe to take the average city daily newspaper with its colored news, and moral slush and pietification of crime, into our Christian homes? It is certainly not good reading for the growing boy and girl, and it is of extremely doubtful value to the sturdy adult. Are we not paying too high a price morally for the 'news'? Can you really afford it? Will it more effectively clean and local press, and the many clean digests of news—the city daily essential in the Christian home?"

VIOLATE PARKING LAW

T. Lotros, H. Parkers and Charles Trudinos were fined $5 each when brought before Judge Howard this morning by O. B. Baiter on the charge of parking their cars in the wrong place.

Much Interest In Legion Athletic Program

The athletic entertainment to be given under the auspices of the American Legion Thursday night beginning at 8:30 o'clock at the new Lamb building on West Center-street will be featured by a wrestling match between Dummy West, recently of Brooklyn who has been in Cal. about a month, and "Bull" Montana. The two met at Ontario two weeks ago. West got the first fall and Bull the second. Bull was disqualified by refusing to accept the Missouri kick. Much interest is being displayed in the bout because of the way the recent match turned out and the American Legion post officials think themselves lucky to have "landed" these two wrestlers for the entertainment here. Tickets are on sale at the United Cigar store and advance sales indicate a packed house. The Legion officials especially expect women to attend.

"Bull" Montana is so well known here as to need no introduction. West has wrestled with the best interested of his day including Lewis, Williams, Zolsko, Craddock and Stecher. It was in a wrestling match with teacher that he burst his ear-drums, causing deafness, and winning the title of "Dummy." According to his promoters, he is the only man who bears a reputation of being both a fighter and a wrestler.

The preliminaries will include interesting exhibitions of Jiu Jitsu by Japanese.

WRESTLING MATCH

—Did you ever think of building?
 —Then this is the way you feel:
 —I want a good building as reasonable as a GOOD building can be built for, and if building for investment, I want it as quickly as it can be delivered so my income will start as soon as possible.
 —I look all around. I see one building go up in 60 days; another of equal construction in 90 weeks.
 —Oh well, what is the use—I'll go see Wilson and Bever. I'll then get what I pay for and have it delivered complete.

Yes, We Launder Dress Shirts, Particularly for Men Who Care

—Yes, we launder dress shirts, pleated bosoms and plain, particularly for men who care.

—Pleated bosoms are very attractive for semi-formal occasions, but some men hesitate to wear them for fear they cannot be laundered properly.

—That's because they've never tried our modern laundry service—an agreeable surprise is in store for them.

—We admit that it's not an easy task; so few of the things really worth doing are, and we strive to do everything in a really worth while way.

—But it can be done—we're doing it every day—finishing shirts with that much-sought custom-tailored look you admired in them when they were new.

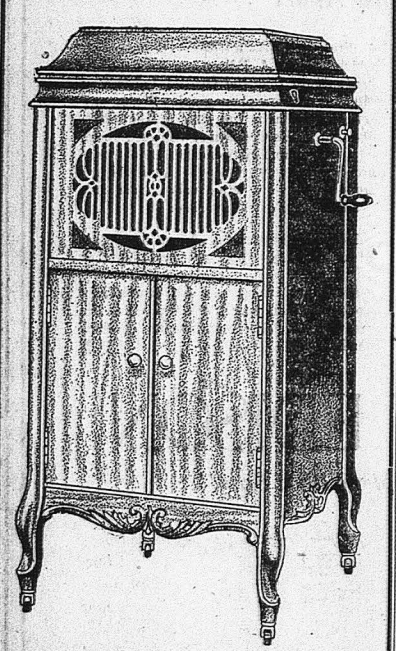

—Just include your dress shirts—we'll guarantee your satisfaction.
