Anaheim Justice Hears First Intoximeter Case

Orange county's first case involving the use of an intoximeter to determine the sobriety of an automobile driver was judged today by Anaheim Justice John Shea.

Taking the evidence of the intoximeter and corroborative testimony of arresting officers into account, Judge Shea fined Jack Barbee Antrobus, 9862 Orangethorpe ave., Fullerton, $150 for drunk driving.

The intoximeter, according to Judge Shea, establishes the presence of alcohol in the breath of a suspect by its action on potassium permanganate, which loses its purple color when exposed to alcoholic fumes. The time necessary for the permanganate to lose its color is a determining factor in placing the degree of intoxication.

Another function of the machine is that of determining the percentage concentration of alcohol in the blood through a volume analysis of a suspect's breath.

The intoximeter alone, according to the justice, is not evidence enough on which to convict a suspected drunk driver, but when its indications are corroborated by testimony of eye witnesses and other tests, it is allowable evi-

Man Arraigned For Buena Park Theft Attempt

Orazio Roger Mongillo, arrested for an attempted burglary of Evensen's market, 6185 Manchester blvd., Buena Park, was arraigned in Anaheim Justice court this morning and was held in $1000 bail for preliminary hearing Friday.

Mongillo is also being held on a count of assault with a deadly weapon—a knife, which he brandished against Dale Kroesen of Buena Park when the latter attempted to take him into custody.

Seeing the knife, Kroesen let Mongillo go, then loped after him as the suspected burglar attempted to make good his get-away.

After some 20 minutes af the chase, during which bystanders failed to get the idea that Kroesen was chasing a thief, Mongillo collapsed on the street and Kroesen collapsed on top of him.

At that time a Santa Ana police officer who was off duty drove up and arrested Mongillo.

Truman Signs Military Pay Boost Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman has signed the bill boosting pay and allowances in the military services by nearly half a billion dollars a year.

The White House announced the signing today. It came in time—Truman had until the end of this month—for the raises to become effective with this month's pay vouchers.

Intended to help offset higher living costs, they range from $3 monthly for privates and seamen to $65 for two-star generals and admirals.

They apply to approximately 3½ million active as well as retired personnel.

In the final version of the legislation, there was no provision, such as the Senate once voted, to give an extra $45 monthly to men who are fighting in or have fought in Korea. This may be taken up up later under a separate measure.

It would give the average low-ranking enlisted man a $3 monthly raise, or 4 per cent of the present $75 pay. Most of these men have no dependents and their food and lodging are furnished by the government, so the majority are not affected by the increase in allowances.

For enlisted personnel with dependents, the monthly increase in pay and allowances would range from $13 to $19.

County Telephone Workers Vote to Strike to Back Up New Contract Negotiations

Orange county local 9510, Communications Workers of America, CIO, last night voted to support its bargaining committee, even to the point of striking, in contract negotiations with the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. The strike vote indicated approval of 96 per cent of the members, the union says.

The union's president, M. L. Hoyal, said today his organization's main desire in negotiations on the contract, which comes up for renewal June 29, is to eliminate discrimination in wages which, he said, is practiced against Orange county workers in comparison with PT and T workers in communities of similar population, such as El Monte, Reseda and San Gabriel.

"We are asking no more than the maximum wage increase allowable under WSB regulations," Hoyal said.

Under the PT and T system, areas are classed as to population and workers' wages are based accordingly.

Fringe benefits sought by the union in the new contract include additional vacation allowances, participation in administration of the pension plan by the union, and increased "home board" pay.

In addition to asking a voice in administration of pension benefits, the union is asking that the base period of 10 years on which pension rates are computed be cut to a smaller number, two years, for instance.

"Home board" is the pay, $3.50 per day, workers receive in addition to wages while attending company-operated schools. The union contends that driving to and from the schools, located in Los Angeles, costs workers more than the allowance and that it does not pay the worker for the two additional hours daily spent driving to and from the schools.

"In effect," Hoyal explained, "that gives the company two hours per day of a man's time for which he ordinarily would get overtime pay.

"We don't anticipate a strike in connection with current negotiations," Hoyal said, "but we are putting the company on notice that we will strike if we have to, to back up our demands."

LA County Agrees To Lease Golf Course to Save It

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The county agreed today to lease the Lakewood Country club, near Long Beach, to forestall its being cut up for homesites.

Supervisors agreed to a 25-year lease at $125,000 a year after Supervisor Herbert C. Legg said it would be subdivided unless the county took it over. The agreement provides that the present owners build a $150,000 swimming pool and make other improvements before the county takes over July 1.

Legg said most of the lease cost will be returned to the county through green fees and concessions. He pointed out that the rapidly expanding Lakewood section would be without recreational facilities unless the county took over the course.

Short, Dangerous Fire Season Predicted Here

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southern California's forest fire season will be shorter than usual this year but the hazards will be greater.

Fire detection and supression crews are usually on the job by this time. But above average winter and spring rains have kept the hills moist and green, making it possible to delay the assignments. Fire danger won't become critical for a month or so.

Oddly, it is the abundance of rain that will increase the hazards this year. The moisture has caused lush growths of grass and weeds in areas that have formerly been bare—natural fire breaks.

State Forester Dewitt Nelson estimates five million acres of state-owned forest land which previously had no cover is now supporting growth.

'Talent Time' Puts on Sixth Show Tomorrow

Eight all new acts in addition to last week's winners, Judy Fink and Roxey Martin, Santa Ana vocalists, will be presented tomorrow night at the Fox Anaheim theater. The nine acts will make up the sixth presentation of "Talent Time" the weekly search for Orange county talent. The winner, selected each week by written ballots turned in by the audience, will appear on stage with Leo Carillo's Dude Ranch varieties, starring Leo Carillo in person.

Contestants wishing to try out for "Talent Time" may file entry blanks at the Fox Theater box office or at the offices of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce. Tryouts are scheduled for tomorrow afternoon. Acts will be selected by Gerry Dolin, musical director for Dude Ranch varieties and a committee of local merchants selected from the Retail Division of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce. Oscar Solter, Jack Ballard, John Williams, Walter Swanberger, O. G. Neale, E. C. West and Charlie McMCallum are on the committee.

Interest in "Talent Time" is growing each week according to John Williams, one of the most active sponsors of the show. "The quality of talent in Orange county is far above average," he said.

Santa Ana Winds Up Garbage Collection Deal

Santa Ana city council and Johnson Bros. Compton firm, wound up their business affairs last night when Johnson Bros. decided to accept the city's offer of $9,635.51 as the amount earned by the Johnsons during brief operation under a trash and garbage collection contract in 1950.

The contract, immediately attacked by a taxpayer's injunction suit, was finally sustained by the state Supreme court, and Johnson Bros. held a 60-day option to resume the contract or withdraw.

Shortly before the end of the 60-day period, Johnson Bros. proposed that the city pay $12,000 and Johnson Bros. would withdraw from the contract. In addition to the money earned under the contract, Johnson Bros. asked for coverage of their expenses in obtaining permits, bonds, etc.

The city's special counsel, Attorney R. M. Crookshank, who had defended the city against the injunction suit, advised that the additional amount asked by Johnson Bros. did not represent a legal charge. The council then rejected it.

Paul Johnson of the Compton firm, told the council last night the offer of $9,635.51 would be accepted and the option would not be renewed.

Observers said that the firm faced more litigation if it attempted to resume the contract, which was made by a former city council.

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The first signatures were filed today with Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan to place a school money initiative on the November ballot.

Anaheim VFW Proclaims Buddy Poppy Days

Friday and Saturday of this week have been designated as Buddy Poppy Days in Anaheim, it was announced today by Ralph Aldrich, commander of Anaheim Post 4173, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

In an open letter to Anaheim citizens, Aldrich said:

"On Friday and Saturday, May 23 and 24, the citizens of Anaheim will see the blooming of flowers in the form of VFW Buddy Poppies. These flowers symbolize the aid and assistance given to widows and children of our war dead by the citizens of each community in the United States.

"VFW Buddy Poppies are made by those who are still paying the price of war. The disabled vets in our hospitals realize the help and assistance the widows and orphans need and deserve. Each year many hours are spent by these disabled veterans in making VFW Buddy Poppies.

"The veterans of the Anaheim VFW Post and its Ladies' Auxiliary, aware of their responsibility to the widows and orphans, bring to the citizens of Anaheim an opportunity to show that they too have not forgotten. Buy a Buddy Poppy and wear your heart on your chest."

Gayle Herbel

Gayle Herbel Shows Class at Plate, Hopes to Give Pro Baseball a Whirl

Gayle Herbel, slugging Anaheim high school baseball player, went into his seventh league ball game this afternoon at Huntington Beach sporting a fabulous .578 batting average — unequalled in recent years of school history.

A "hot man with the hickory," the diminutive shortstop son of Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Herbel, 520 S. Illinois, has clouted out a total of 11 hits in six games and never failed to bang out at least one bingle per game for the season. His hottest day came just last week as he hit a perfect three for three times at bat.

No flash-in-the-pan, the Colonist junior warmed up to his sensational league batting average with a .350 in 58 trips to the batter's box in pre-season games this year. Naturally, he has consistently led his teammates in batting throughout the season.

Admitting he's got a long way to go to be a well rounded ball player, Herbel points out his fielding is "a little shakey." Coach John Wallin recently shifted him to third base from shortstop in the thought he may field better around the "hot corner."

HERBEL HAS played varsity ball at Anaheim since his freshman year and played first string for two years. Last summer he was a member of Coach Clare Van Hoorebeke's American Legion baseball team which was runner-up in Southern California. As soon as the high school season winds up, he'll keep his hand in by playing with the Evangelical church team in the summer softball league.

Just 18 years of age, Herbel does well at other sports, too. He played one year Cee football, and quarterbacked the Bees for two. He played Bee basketball on the league championship team and this year played regularly with the varsity.

And the future? Well, Herbel would "like pro ball if he got the chance" but realistically expects military service to intervene.

Sal Maglie Pours it On

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The seven National League rivals of the New York Giants were wondering today if Sal (The Barber) Maglie is ever going to be beaten. And you can't blame the Pittsburgh Pirates if they shake their heads in an emphatic negative manner.

The 35-year-old righthander from Niagara Falls, N.Y., hasn't been beaten this year in racking up seven victories to run his undefeated string over a two-year span to 10. He has met and whipped all teams except the Boston Braves and the Chicago Cubs.

In 62 innings he has allowed only seven earned runs for the enviable average of 1.02.

The Pirates have a special reason for wondering if Maglie is unbeatable. When he blanked them 4-0 on seven hits yesterday in one of the three games played in the majors, it marked the 13th straight time the curve-ball ace has turned back the cellar-dwelling Bucs.

Third baseman Bobby Thomson supplied the batting power for Maglie's second shutout of the season as the Giants moved back into a tie for first place with the Dodgers, who played a 1-1 tie with the Cubs in a game called by rain after one was out in the top half of the seventh. Maglie's other goose-egg came on April 20 at the expense of the Dodgers.

Pro Football Outfit Wins Court Victory

BALTIMORE (AP)—Directors of the defunct Baltimore Colts have won a court round against the National Football league and nine of its teams.

A circuit court ruling yesterday held that the defendants can be sued in Maryland. Except for the Washington Redskins, the league and teams argued that they were not subject to the legal action because they had never done business in Maryland.

Chief Judge W. Conwell Smith held otherwise. However, he ruled that service summons could not include the Los Angeles Rams, San Francisco 49ers and the now defunct New York Yankees, who were individually owned by Ted Collins.

The Colts are seeking damages and return of $50,000 paid for territorial rights. Their suit claims it was illegal for the league to take away the Baltimore franchise and dispose of Colt players. Also named a defendant is former Colt president Abe Watner.

The Colts got into professional football in 1947. In four seasons in both the NFL and the All-America loop they chalked up only 1 wins and one tie against 41 losses. The turnstiles didn't click fast enough and the organization went deeper into red ink.

At the start of the 1950 season a board of directors refused to sink any more money into the team and Watner took over.

After one season he turned the Colts in lock, stock and barrel, declaring he had personally lost $106,000. The directors claimed they were sold down the river by Watner.

This Looks Like the Banner Year For Anaheim's Big Soap Box Derby

Two more Anaheim boys have joined this city's Soap Box Derby entrants, Chairman Bob Kelsey reported today. The two new drivers bring the team to 23.

Latest entrants are Carl Roberts, 125 N. Janss, and Randall Schwacofer, 841 S. Pfiladelphia, both 11 and junior division competitors.

Co-sponsored locally by Cone Brothers Chevrolet, the Optimist club and the Anaheim Gazette, the Soap Box Derby, annually attracts dozens of boys to compete in the Los Angeles area finals to be held on the official speedway at Arroyo Seco parkway on July 23, 24 and 26.

ALL RACING cars, built to rigid specifications of speed and safety, are engineless coasters that roll competitively down a paved hillside slope. Cars, midget and streamlined models of big racing automobiles, are all designed and built by boys. A large variety of prizes worth hundreds of dollars, trophies and a trip to the finals in Akron, Ohio, for the grand champion are among awards.

Boys interested in constructing entries in the race, who must be between 11 and 15 years of age, can get full information on methods of construction of cars and application blanks at Cone Brothers Chevrolet. Cost of buying official Derby wheels and other equipment may be co-financed by a businessman sponsor. Either Mr. Kelsey, representing Cone Brothers, or Hursel Snyder, representing the Optimist club, can supply further information.

Anahi Golfers Edge Laguna

Anaheim high's golf team, coached by Director of Athletics Dick Glover, edged a Laguna Beach squad, 19-17, in a match held at Willowick yesterday.

Placing them in a tie for third place in the Orange County League, the match saw only the team's number six man, John Wimber, pick up a full six points. Other scores were: Claussen 5, Talbot 4, Miller 0, Nielsen 0, and Henrich 4.

The team meets Mater Dei on Thursday and Orange and Santa Ana next week. They recently wound up their CIF matches with a six lost four won record. Unrecognized as a major competitive sport in most schools, the team has played this year without any formal trophy in sight among the 14 Southern California schools who field teams.

Padres Are Hottest Team in PCL As Hollywood Expects More Talent

Purchase of Lou Stringer from the Hollywood Stars may help San Diego's Padres continue their reign as first place as they open a Pacific Coast league series tonight with hard-pressing Oakland.

Adding Stringer as regular third baseman gives San Diego a veteran slugger hitting .271 with five homers and 28 runs batted in. He replaces Lou Klein who, although batting .286 when he broke his leg, had only 13 RBIs and no home runs.

Stringer was sold, says a Hollywood spokesman, because the club is expecting infield help from Pittsburgh and Manager Fred Haney doesn't think it would be fair to Lou to bench him. Hollywood, the spokesman said, "is going to be strong for south."

Stringer is 35.

The Padres' amazing grasp of the top rung continues to rate them as the loop's hottest gate attraction. Their series with the Angels drew 43,243 fans, a record for the season. The Padres shared the previous mark of 40,145 at San Francisco.

MANAGER Lefty O'Doul named his rookie ace Willie Luna to handle tonight's mound chores at Oakland. The Acorns will respond with Lloyd Hittle for a battle of pitchers.

Oakland is 2½ games behind San Diego and only four percentage points in front of the third place Hollywood Stars who open tonight in Seattle. Fourth place Los Angeles hosts cellar dwelling Sacramento while San Francisco travels to Portland.

Joe Grace, the San Francisco flamethrower, leads batters who have appeared in 45 or more games. He's going at a .339 clip. Grace started the season as an outfielder, switched to first base, and during the weekend was at third.

Max West of Los Angeles continued to pace the home run department with 13 and also drew into a tie with San Francisco's Bice McCawley in the RBI department with 31. Gene Baker of the Angels has the most doubles—13—and Bob Dillinger of Sacramento leads in triples with four. Carlos Bernier of Hollywood has stolen 17 bases for that lead.

Hal Gregg, continuing his comeback after last year's sore arm trouble, has hung up the best pitching mark with eight wins against no losses.

Angels Expect New Lineup to Help Standing

It will be the Sacramento Solons against the Angels this week in a seven-game series at Wrigley Field as Stan Hack's hearties eye their fourth week of the season at home as a week in which they can improve their position in the red-hot 1952 Pacific Coast league pennant race.

Last week Hack's crew knocked off the league-leading San Diego Padres, four games to three, and but for a few tough breaks would have taken a five-to-two decision.

However, of main interest to Angel fans was the improved lineup that Hack, the smilin' tactician, was able to put on the field. Two of his power-hitting crippies, Chuck Connors and Ron Northey, got back into action and made their presence felt.

And big Max West came up with one of his best weeks as he belted four home runs.

A NEW arrival was outfielder Bob Usher, who saw action Sunday and impressed onlookers with his speed and throwing arm.

Now that Hack has a lineup that he figures to use, the Angels are in a position to move up the ladder again. Not only is the starting array better, but Hack now has reserve strength, a vital factor that he did not have last year when he led the Angels to third place.

Major's Hitters Show Erratic Week at Bat

NEW YORK (AP)—Dale Mitchell of the Cleveland Indians gained 20 points the past week and moved into the American League batting lead.

Mitchell, tied for fourth last week, collected nine hits in 22 at bats to boost his average to .360.

Last week's leader, Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees, lost nine points and fell to third place, behind Boston's Dom DiMaggio, with .343. Rizzuto is hitting .342.

Figures include yesterday's games.

Jackie Robinson, last week's leader in the National, also went into a tailspin, but, unlike Rizzuto, the Brooklyn second baseman didn't lose his lead. In 24 at bats he connected safely only six times and his average skidded 43 points to .350.

Outfielder Bob Nieman of the St. Louis Browns went 11 for 21 to soar from .295 to .341. This put him in fourth place in the American League. Eddie Robinson of the Chicago White Sox is fifth with .336.

Al Rosen of Cleveland and George Kell of Detroit are tied for sixth at .333. Rosen, currently sidelined with a pulled leg muscle, tops the league in homers, eight, and runs batted in, 21.

DEL ENNIS of the Philadelphia Phils and Joe Adcock of the Cincinnati Reds pulled themselves into the thick of the National league battle and are challenging Robinson's supremacy.

Frankie Baumholtz of the Chicago Cubs is fourth at .330 and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cards, last year's batting champ, has barged to a fifth-place .327. Musial increased his average 33 points by going nine for 119.

Girl Scout News

Brownie troops of Horace Mann and Thomas Jefferson tell of recent craft and camping experiences.

Troop 41 of Horace Mann spent its first over-nite last week with Fullerton Scout house as the location. Each girl rolled her own bedroll and cooked her own meals over a buddy burner. The Brownies were formed into three patrols; grocery, firebuilding, and camp caretakers patrols so that each girl had a hand in the camping duties. This was the first night away from home for these girls, say troop leaders Mrs. O. M. O'Brien and Mrs. H. C. Smith.

Mother's Day gifts were made by the girls on their outing. These were small sewing boxes topped by a pin cushion.

THOMAS JEFFERSON

Brownie troop 38 of Thomas Jefferson honored their mothers with a party. The refreshments, corsages, and gifts were made and presented by the girls to their honored guests.

Leaders, Mrs. Don Menzie, Mrs. J. M. Davis, and Mrs. J. A Miller assisted their troop in preparation of the tasks they performed at the last Thomas Jefferson P-TA meeting

Brownies taking part were: Cherly Barnes, Linda Brown, Sandra Bird, Barbara Capps, Sharon Davis, Lynn Dunton, Marcella Henderson, Becky Jacksteit, Marguerite Kirker, Teryal Marquez, Peggy Menzie, Alison Miller, Betty Showalter, Marcella Whitehead, Kathryn Davis, Karen Heinrich, Marline Slobodian, Judy Hamic, Carmelita Sandoval, and Winkie Lund.

Camping by the day for Brownie Scouts and Girl Scouts at Hillcrest Park in Fullerton will start in June, according to Mrs. Clyde Dawson, Day Camp chairman for the Anaheim Council. Scouts will agai nday camp with North Orange county under the direction of Mrs. Jo Aaron, executive director of the latter council. Mrs. Aaron has directed the day camp program at Hillcrest Park since 1949, advising and coordinating the work of various groups of volunteers who yearly staff the day camp sessions.

The 1952 Day Camp swung into high gear last week when staff-training commenced. Over 40 interested adults from both councils began learning the necessary mechanics contributing to a smooth running camp. Each of the following training sessions is planned to explore program possibilities in the field of nature and the learning of skills in the out-of-doors.

Brownie Day Camp staff will meet again today and on May 27 at the Scout House, 1207 North Harvard, Fullerton, at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Ralph Potter, Mrs. D. M. Knight and Mrs. Bob Cochran will assist in the training program for Brownie Scout staff as well as for the training of adult staff who have volunteered for the Intermediate Day Camp—Camp Hillcrest. Mrs. Chips Kinietz, field director for the North Orange County Girl Scout Council and coordinator of all program for day camp announced that Camp Hillcrest staff will attend training on May 21 and 28.

Camp Hillcrest for current 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th gradeGirl Scouts will start at 9:30 a.m. June 17. Camp will be opened June 18, 19, 23, 24 and 26. Registrations will close May 29.

Mrs. Elmer Peter, Day Camp Registrar, urges that Girl Scouts register promptly in order that camping units may be formed and program plans finished. The fee is $4.00 per session which includes daily transportation from the Anaheim Scout House, 201 S. Citron St. to Hallcrest Park and return. Milk is furnished daily, also.

Camp Pine Knoll for 2nd and 3rd grade Brownie Scouts begins July 8 and is in session July 9, 10, 15, 16 and 17. The second period will extend further into July—22, 23, 24, 29, 30 and 31. Fees for Camp Pine Knoll coincide with those of Camp Hillcrest. Registration deadline for Brownie Day Camp is June 13.

A record pack of tuna fish has jumped that staple into the U.S. Department of Agriculture "Plentiful Foods" list, along with citrus fruits, spring vegetables and eggs and frying chickens.

The government "plentiful" listing usually means lower retail prices, something every housewife likes to keep in mind. In Anaheim you will find the above items and many more at bargain prices at Safeway, Alpha Beta Markets, and at the new food store Ray's Market at 721 S. Los Angeles st., owned and operated by Ray Allen. Although locally owned, Ray's Market compares favorably with the chain operations for its owner is affiliated with the largest food cooperative in the United States.

MONEY SAVER — The more often these plentuful foods are worked into the family meals, the lower the food bill. When combined with local produce now in season, still further savings are made. Here is an unusual recipe for tuna fish and asparagus. The addition of a dash of Angostura bitters, a blend of tropical spices, gives this casserole dish a rare taste tang.

EPICURE'S DELIGHT —
2 cups (about 4 oz.) noodles
2 tablespoons margarine
1½ tablespoons flour
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 3-oz. can mushrooms
¾ cup cooked asparagus
¾ cup flaked tuna fish
2 tablespoons minced green pepper
dash paprika
⅔ cup grated American cheese
1 taspoon Angostura bitters

Cook the noodles in boilng salted water. When tender, drain through a colander. Make a cream sauce of margarine, flour, salt and milk. When thickened, add noodles, asparagus, tuna fish, green pepper, paprika and mushrooms. Add bitters last and mix well. Pour into a greased casserole dish and sprinkle with the grated cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for forty minutes. Serve hot, with a garnish of parsley. Serves six.

COOKING WEAKNESS — The principal weakness in American cooking, lies in the over cooking of vegetables and the use of too much water in their preparation. Even home-makers who take care to see that salad vegetables are fresh and crisp when they reach the table, fall down on the job of storing and otherwise caring for vegetables to be cooked.

Perishable spring vegetables should be eaten as soon as possible after being harvested. This at the very least indicates making purchases where produce is delivered fresh daily. At home, they should be chilled immediately since over half the vitamin C content can be lost in a few hours of room temperature.

The next step is to prepare and cook them as near meal time as possible since soakikng and exposure to air destroys still more nutrients. It is wise to avoid peeling if possible and to avoid cutting the vegetables in small pieces for ths same reason.

Cook quickly in soft water, if possible, using only enough water to prevent scorching, and save the juices for soups, stews, gravy and the likek. Avoid re-heating vegetables by cooking only enough for one meal.

Even the lowly potato commands respect, vitamin-wise. One medium size potato supplies as much vitamin C as a glass of tomato juice and the same amount of iron as an egg—if cooked correctly. Buy sparingly of the new potato to to enable you to keep your purchase in the refrigerator. If you wish to preserve vitamins, scrub but do not peel, be sparing with cooking water, do not overcook, and serve immediately.

People are interested . . .

People definitely are interested in communism. Obviously, they don't want it to happen here. (If you want to get an eye opening tale of horror in communist dominated countries see Leland Stokes story in the current Readers' Digest.)

This morning a lady was standing at our door wanting to talk about the articles we have written on communism.

She is a former school teacher, now a mother and homemaker.

Principally she wanted to know how to get people to stop "talking" about the so-called subversive schoolbooks and get some "action" to set everybody' minds at rest. She wanted to know what our thoughts would be to get everybody levelled off on the subject.

Well, we can only repeat what we said before:

IF THE SCHOOL boards don't want to screen the books under question themselves, they might consider setting up a committee of typical Anaheim mothers and fathers to read the disputed books and make a recommendation on whether they are actually subversive.

This committee also could monitor the classes where the books are used and determine the teachers approach to the subject.

If the "typical" mothers and fathers don't like the book, the school officials should consider looking around for another one —there are plenty.

Incidentally, the committee probably should include some individuals who have a specialized knowledge of the fields being considered in order that it may be determined if a book is thoroughly and often enough revised to keep it reasonably up to date.

That's all there is to it. We feel it would take school book discussions off the half-fact, emotional stage, and get at the truth.

Bickering only drives a wedge between the schools and community — something we must resolutely resist.

Maybe a robot . . .

State highway engineers are never satisfied.

"We are always working on better intersections, more freeways, wider curves, better visability, broader road shoulders and everything else engineers can do to reduce accidents," said J. C. (Jake) Young, chief planning engineer for the Division of Highways in Sacramento.

"The only thing we can't do is wall the highways like padded cells to protect nutty drivers from themselves."

He cost only $2000 to eliminate what—two years ago—was California's most dangerous curve.

That was on the east end of the Altamont Pass near Tracy. In 22 months six people were killed and many others injured because cars came off the pass too fast to make the curve.

"We spent a few bucks for a white guard railing," said Young, "and in the 22 months since we did, not one injury accident has happened there."

It was pretty much the same story along 15 other bad curves in the state, he said. When guard rails were put up, accidents dropped by 67 per cent.

YOUNG RATES busy intersections as the greatest engineering problem now.

"We know that grade separations—over and underpasses—are the ideal cure. But where we don't have the money, we find that using slightly raised concrete mounds to channelize traffic are best."

"These channels are especially good for capturing left turn traffic," he explained. "They get the 'sitting ducks' off the through lanes and prevent one of the most common types of smashups—the back end ram."

Young said the three lane highways—the biggest invitation to sideswipe accidents—is on the out.

"No more of them are being built and where we can eliminate existing ones we do."

As speedier cars are being made, Young said, the state constantly revises its standards for sight distance—the distance at which a motorist can see another car up the road.

This is done by using two test cars. One goes ahead with a target on its rear. The other follows, recording when it can—and when it cannot—see the target vehicle.

If visibility is substandard, the road is realigned, trees cut down or other improvements made.

Now—all we have to do is find a mechanical control for nutty and discourteous drivers.

IN THE DAYS OF LONG AGO

Miss Estelle Lewis and Byron Fitch were married on Saturday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Lewis, in Los Angeles. The ceremony was solemnized by Dr. Hugh . Walker of Immanuel Presbyterian church. There were no attendants. Mrs. A. M. Smith played the wedding march. The bride wore a dress of silk mull, cut en train over white taffeta with an over-dress of lace, her veil was caught in place with orange blossoms. After the ceremony light refreshments were served to the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Fitch left immediately for Magdalena, N.M., where they will reside.

Mountain lions have recently been causing destruction to dogs and young stock in Trabuco Canyon. Mr. doplin lost eight large hogs by depredations of these beasts. Some of the hogs weighed 200 pounds and were full grown. None of the lions has been killed. It is planned to organize a hunting party and scour the neighborhood for them. Later reports are that a large mountain lion was trapped and killed at the Joplin ranch a few days ago.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON. — The personal and political expenses of Democratic National Chairman Frank McKinney are causing a lot of backstage comment in top Democratic circles this week. They've also caused the resignation of the Democratic budget officer, William S. Bradley.

Bradley resigned with a caustic confidential letter calling attention to McKinney's personal expenses, which include $750 to the Marian Service Co. of Miami, reportedly for handling his yacht; a total of $16,000 for his suite at the Mayflower Hotel plus other personal expenses between January 1 and April 7; and $2,175 paid to a photographer, P. H. Ho of Indianapolis, McKinney's home town, for "pictures of chairman."

The most amazing of McKinney's political expenses is $40,000 which was dumped into Cook County, Ill., to try to cut down the vote for Sen. Estes Kefauver during the recent Illinois primary. Use of National committee funds against any Democratic candidate in a primary election is strictly against all political rules, and, as a result, non-partisan members of the Democratic National committee are boiling mad.

All this came to the surface when Democratic Budget Officer Bradley submitted his resignation with a stinging private letter blasting the manner in which McKinney was conducting Democratic finances.

ITEMIZED EXPENSE ACCOUNT. — Bradley also sent a letter to two top Democrats, Jonathan Daniels of Raleigh, N. C., and Molly O'Riordan of Boston, itemizing the chairman's extravagances. These included personal expense checks paid to McKinney for $3,000 each on Jan. 1, Feb. 2, and Mar. 24, plus $1,720.76 on Mar. 25, the latter credited as "Expense acct., Florida." This was in addition to the $750 to the Marian Service Co. of Miami, reportedly for handling the McKinney yacht.

McKinney's total for expenses up to March 25 was listed as $16,578.93. This, however, did not include his bills at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, which added another $15,501.65 and brought the total up to $36,000 for three months only. However, this also covers the expense of Judge Joseph Howard, assistant to McKinney, who shares the same apartment.

In fairness to McKinney, it should be noted that he has not received a salary from the committee. However, the $35,000 salary of his predecessor, Bill Boyle, cost the Democrats less than the $100,000 annual scale of living to which the new chairman so far has been accustomed.

Bradley, who has been budget and controls officer under three previous Democratic chairman, also had some critical things to say about Jackson-Jefferson Day dinners. This column has been able to obtain a copy of his confidential letter, dated May 13, to Chairman McKinney. Salient portions follow:

BRADLEY'S LETTER — "Since January 1, and as of April 30, 1952, your office has exceeded its budget by the amount of $18,912.90. This has been occasioned by your employment of more assistants to the chairman than were provided for in the budget, and at a higher scale of salaries, and the extraordinary liberality of the expense allowances granted them," Bradley told McKinney.

"I do not know the source of the information on which you based your public statement that 'the 1952 dinner was the most successful ever held', the budget officer continued, "but it was completely erroneous. The records of the comptroller's office could have provided the correct figures, had they been consulted. The 1950 dinner, held in the Armory, under comparable cost conditions, produced the following results: Total receipts, $581,543.00. Total costs, $128,872.08. Net receipts, $480,-670.34.

"A notable example of the need for the establishment of controls is the recently held Washington Jefferson-Jackson dinner. In spite of the fact that the total receipts for the dinner ($422,046.00 — including pledges) were far below expectation, the committee could have saved approximately $50,000 by the application of reasonable controls over spending and waste.

"For example, we paid for 5300 dinners, yet we received contributions, including pledges, covering only 4200 dinners — in other words, we fed 1170 free-loaders, at committee expense. Perhaps 200 of these tickets were given to the staff and official guests—but what happened to the other 970? I do not think your records will disclose the names of the persons who received these free tickets — and yet, each ticket had a potential value of $100. The proper control of such an operation is exceedingly simple — immensely important. Some two months before the dinner, I made this suggestion to Judge Howard, again during your absence. I quote his reply: 'Since Wash Williams is dinner chairman, suppose we let him run it.'

Bradley also made some pointed references to committee money used against Kefauver in Chicago.

"Since January 1, 1952, contributions to other committees, made on your authority, have exceeded the budget by $50,000," he said. "This includes a contribution of $40,000 to the Cook County (Illinois) Central committee, which was not contemplated in the budget—and $4,000 to the Congressional committee, which was not in their regular budget, and was, apparently, for some special purpose.

"Deservedly or not," Bradley concluded, "I have established a good reputation, which I value, as a budget officer, both with the government, and with the Democratic National committee, under its three preceding chairmen — and I would like to keep the record straight on this subject."

HOW MUCH CAN IT TAKE?

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — The art of bawling out the hired hands is becoming a lost art in the American business world.

In the old days when a boss saw something he didn't like, he'd let out a yelp and dress the culprit down on the spot—in burning language more memorable than grammatical.

But today most bosses seem to have lost the gift of tongue-lashing. They have found it cheaper, by and large, to hire a psychiatrist to find out what is the matter with a derelict employe than it is to bawl the fellow out themselves and end up explaining it all to the U.S. Supreme Court.

So many employes know their rights now that an employer is hesitant before pointing out their wrongs.

Therefore, it came as something of a surprise to me to get the following letter:

"Dear Sir:

"I have a problem. My boss bawled me out last week, and I have a feeling he's going to bawl me out again this week.

"I would quit and get me another job except it's such a nice place to work. The management even puts gin in the office water cooler. What can I do? It makes me nervous when the boss bawls me out.

(Signed)

"A Terrified Young Man."

"Well, Dear Terrified, your problem was so unusual that I took it up with all the oldtimers I know who can still remember being bawled out by their boss (there are only a few of them left.) Here is the summary of their advice:

Build up the drama of the situation. When the summons comes to go see the boss, walk into his office with a look of utter happiness.

Get it? You make him think you have no idea of what is going to happen. He feels like a cat playing with a near-sighted mouse.

As he tees off on your misdemeanors, don't make the mistake of listening to him. You already know more about what is wrong with your work than he does. Concentrate on your acting. Let the smile fade from your face. Replace it with a look of amazement, then horror, then abject hopelessness.

DON'T MAKE the mistake of arguing with him about your rights. He wouldn't bawl you out in the first place if he hadn't already consulted a couple of attorneys and the National Labor Relations Board.

And don't interrupt him. Egg him on. If he gets tired of denouncing the faults you have he knows about, tell him a few he hasn't discovered.

As he launches out into a fresh tirade, lift your hanging head and let him see the tears in your eyes. Let the tears fall on his desk . . . plop . . . plop . . . plop.

The main thing is to keep him attacking you as long as possible. Just remember that bosses are like wives — after they wear out their temper they feel ashamed of themselves.

When he finally runs down his vocal chords, reach up with one hand and brush away your tears. Reach out the other hand and grab his hand and say:

"Thanks, Chief, thanks. I know I'll be a better man for this."

Then, as you go out the door, turn and look at the family photo he has on his desk and say:

"Gee, Chief, you've got a fine-looking family. Why do you make me cry?"

This will bring out the father in him. After all, isn't the office just one big happy family, too? He will feel so guilty that next week he will probably quietly give you a raise.

In any case he won't bawl you out again. He will be too hoarse.

The Sacramento Scene

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR
Capitol News Service

The political scene grows sharper as the June 3 primary approaches. Governor Earl Warren was scheduled to return from "operation Oregon," where he campaigned for the web-foot delegation to enter the battle of California, where his supremacy is challenged by the "uninstructed" Werdel delegation.

Werdel, Bakersfield, congressman for the upper San Joaquin valley, supported by independent oil interests, has put on a campaign heightened by charges that Warren has made a "deal" with the Republican forces for a federal job if he is not nominated for the presidency or vice-presidency.

Although the San Joaquin congressman's delegation claims it is uninstructed, the word has gotten around that it would favor Senator Robert Taft if sent to the convention.

To the charges, Warren has made little if any comment. He sticks by his story that he is campaigning for the top job, and that he is offering the voters of the nation his services on the basis of the record. He says he is not interested in the vice-presidential nomination, but made no definite statement that he would decline the same if pushed into it at the convention.

Meanwhile, things popped a little louder in the Democratic field. A similar situation exists insofar as delegations are concerned, one pledged to Senator Estes Kefauver, and the other, headed by Attorney Edmund G. "Pat" Brown, pledged for the uninstructed fight at the convention.

The national administration apparently seeks to help the Brown delegation, as Oscar I. Ewing, Federal Security administrator, and termed by one paper as the "hatchet man," made a trip to California to boost the stock of the Brown group.

Ewing said he felt that President Truman would make his choice of a candidate known before the convention.

The situation leaves both Democrats and Republicans split wide open for the primary election, and although no predictions with any force and effect have been made as to the outcome of the Democratic fight, it is better than even money that Governor Warren will come out away ahead of the Werdel group.

While campaigning for the presidency, Werdel also has his troubles in running for the Congress. He is challenged by Harlan Hagen, Democratic state assemblyman. Hagen, however, has been unable to do much campaigning, as he is reported in the hospital from an automobile accident which occurred shortly after he filed for the national spot.

WATER: The water scene was quiet, with the menace of high waters from snow runoff in the sierra Nevada diminishing rapidly as the warmer weather depleted the pack. Shasta Dam, for the first time in history, was spilling over the top, and had backed 4,500,000 acre feet in the lake. The dam will remain full probably until the end of the month, when greater releases for power and irrigation will be made, and the intake will diminish. The federal Bureau of reclamation, which has applications on file for Sacramento river water, the applications being opposed on one basis that such diversion will foster salinity, issued a report stating that "scientists have found irrigation water with higher salt contents than now proposed for the Delta-Mendota canal has been beneficial to soils similar to those in the canal service area."

EQUALIZATION RULING: A somewhat peculiar ruling by the state liquor administrator which permits a sound truck to carry an advertising billboard for liquor advertising, but refuses the truck permission to halt in front of the premises where the particular brand of liquor is sold, was brought to light this last week.

OBLONG VIEWS

FROM AN EGG-SHAPED HEAD

By WALDO HUNTER

SENATOR ESTES KEFAUVER, the TV discovery, will make a ripple in the usually placid Orange county Republican pool when he delivers a major address at the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Santa Ana tonight.

Incidentally, you don't pronounce "Kefauver." You sneeze it. Try it some time. Fact is, rumors have it that Kefauver backers are attempting to get underway a campaign for everyone to say "Kee-FAU-ver" every time they sneeze.

These rumors even go so far as to say that a sort of political germ-warfare afoot. I have heard that germs of the common cold are being sprayed surreptitiously around so that people will be better able to aneeze.

It is with interest thato I anticipate attending this gathering of the Democratic faithful, but it is with uneasy foreboding that I contemplate the menu.

I never leaned too heavily toward boiled raccoon.

This will be the second time I have personally heard a presidential aspirant trying to sell his bill of goods. The other one was a guy by the name of (let's see now) . . . Alf Landon at Des Moines, Iowa, back in 1936. What a miserable flop as a speechmaker! He sounded about as effective as an eighth grade boy with two missing incisors floundering through a badly-memorized rendition of the Gettysburg Address at a Fourth of July picnic in a high wind.

I JUST HOPE they don't have ham and scalloped potatoes. That's the main dish at these political banquets. The ham is leathery, curled at the edges, and imparts all the gustatory delight of an old bicycle seat. And the potatoes are cold, mushy underneath and fused into the consistency of quartz on top. And, by gad, they'll have parsley thrown over the whole mess. Never saw it to fail.

But, on the other hand, boiled raccoon . . .

It will be interesting to see and hear in person this tall, gangling, school-masterish politician who came down out of the hills of Tennessee to parlay a TV gangster hunt into a strong bid for the Big Job.

He is said to be a man of immense humility. But then, so was Harry Truman at one time. Some people have likened Kefauver to Abraham Lincoln. Don't know whether old Abe would have likened that or not.

But off-hand, I would say that Kefauver's homespun personality would be vastly overpowered by the dynamic Eisenhower, cloaked in glamor as the general is, and being hero-worshippers as we Yankees are.

Oh well, it should be an interesting evening. They say Mrs. Kefauver is a regular stunner.

U.S. Movie Company Reports that Entertainment Flourishes in Japan

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A U. S. movie company, just back from filming in Japan, reports that entertainment is flourishing there, from American movies to native strip teases.

TOM EWELL, who is a serious student of the theatrical arts despite his wacky film roles, has returned with a survey of entertainment in Japan. Along with a U-I film troupe, he traveled to the re-established island nation for location scenes of "Willie and Joe Back at the Front." (As Red Skelton would say, that title has got to go.)

"I found the Japanese enthusiastic about all forms of entertainment, from the classic theater down to burlesque," reported Ewell. "Many of the entertainments are amusing, and even startling adaptation of American styles.

"For instance, their burlesque shows are very much the same as ours. Even though you can't comprehend the language, you can understand the same kind of outrageous comedy from the comics.

"But they don't seem to have caught the technique of the strip tease. The girls come out with only one garment on. They walk around for a few minutes and end up by taking the garment off. This is accompanied by any kind of music. I saw one girl stripping to the tune of 'Home on the Range.'"

Advancing up the theatrical ladder, Ewell remarked that the Japanese musicals appeared to be patterned after Hollywood films. The dances, costumes and plots are the same, but the shows use old music instead of writing new tunes. Japanese lyrics are set to anything from "Parlez Moi d'Amour" to "Come On a My House."

"The theater gives two performances—at 11 in the morning and 4:30 in the afternoon. The stage is enormous and the place holds 4,500 people. Shows last four and a half to five hours and include a three-act, two-act and one-act play, plus four or five dances. There are intermissions for lunch and dinner, and everyone eats in restaurants in the theater.

So effective is the theater that the Kubuchi is being brought to New York next season, Ewell reported.

DIRECTOR George Sherman visited movie studios in Japan and reported to me on film conditions.

"They are doing wonderful things," he said. "Their equipment is poor — it's the equivalent of what we had in Hollywood 15 years ago—but they make up for that with imagination.

"When they watched us doing scenes, they were amazed at how many takes I would shoot. They couldn't believe that we had film in the camera. The reason is that their film is so scarce and expensive. They rehearse scenes over and over until they are perfect. Then they shoot, and it's one take or else."

Sherman said that the Japanese were not believers in the star system for Hollywood films. "They like pictures for the story, not the players," he said. "They like heavy dramas and have a great love for revenge plots. I was surprised to learn they were crazy over 'Comanche Territory,' a picture I didn't want to direct but did. And I still think it was lousy."

The film company was in Toyko during the May Day riots, but managed to escape injury.

"I was standing in front of the Imperial hotel, wondering what all the fuss was about," reported Ewell. "Then I noticed a fellow next to me pick up some rocks and throw them at the police. I figured that was a good place to be away from."

Fullerton Grandmother, 80, Still Swims Newport Harbor—Both Ways

At the age of 80, she still swims Balboa Bay with her young grand daughter. Both ways.

She plays croquet with the family. She does anything else that will provide a lot of action.

A broken foot in a cast couldn't immobilze her.

That's Mrs. Verna L. Collins of Fullerton.

No rocking chair for her. No quiet knitting by the fireplace. She's right in the middle of whatever lively event may be going on.

The mother of Assembly Speaker Sam L. Collins is widely regarded as the grittiest grandma in the grandma business.

She goes to the beach with her grand daughter, Jodeane Collins, and is first in the water and first across the bay, although Jodeane is a strong swimmer.

Grandma Collins always carries a nickel in her bathing suit on these transbay swims. It's for ferry fare, in case she decides to ride back. She never has spent that nickel.

She was sitting in the rear seat of her son's car, working a crossword puzzle last Nov. 4, when Sam Collins and his wife were injured in a traffic crash. Grandma Collins came out of it with a broken foot.

At Thanksgiving she had the foot in a big cast and was on crutches. Family dinner plans called for Grandma to rest easy in the rocker. But did she? Not on your life! Grandma Collins baked the Thanksgiving pies and cakes. Nobody else could do it, naturally.

Born in Fortville, Ind., April 30, 1872, she has lived in California 50 years, nearly half of that time in Fullerton.

"We won't do it.

"We won't buy an armistice by trafficking in human slavery."

"We shall remain ready to reach honorable settlements by peaceful means."

Are Your Parents Normal?

Normal parents are a puzzle. They do want you to drive—and they don't want you to drive. Trouble is, while you're having all the fun, they're having all the worry. So, that night when your folks refuse to turn over the keys to the family car, don't blow a fuse. Mebby your driving is the real reason for their "old-fashioned attitude.

"Nuts!" you say. "I drive as well as Mom or Dad." Perhaps you do—but the chances are you DON'T. Now wait. The facts are that drivers in your age group (16 to 20) have a RECORD FIVE TIMES WORSE THAN DRIVERS 45 to 50 YEARS OF AGE. (That's figured on a mileage basis.)

Yet, you and your pals could be the world's best drivers. You're young, you're strong, you have keen, active minds. By actual test, you eye-hand coordination as a group rates first.

But, unfortunately, being young means other things, too. It means that you're just naturally over-confident, cocksure, and don't care a hang about danger. It means that you just naturally take chances and sped into tight spots from which even your better-than-average ability cannot always save you.

Driving a car is a great national game that challenges your very best in traffic tactics. To be a winner you must out-guess your opponents and be ready for every traffic set-up.

Mastery of the automobile is a challenge to you, and one of the important steps to be taken in growing up. Learning to drive the right way is easy—if you latch onto the fundamentals, and make habits through practice.

The purpose of this contest is to make you a better driver than your old man—to make you so good that your folks won't have any qualms about handing over the car keys when you ask for them.

Jaycee Teen-Age Driver Safety Campaign Is Planning for Future

Death reaped a toll of 37,500 lives on the nation's highways last year—one of the four blackest years in traffic history. Public support organizations everywhere are asking "What else can we do to solve this critical problem?"

The United States Junior Chamber of Commerce Safety committee has an answer: Through competition encourage teen-agers to become expert drivers today and thus produce safe drivers of tomorrow—"Our Biggest Hope is in Tomorrow's drivers."

Working on this premise, the USJCC has developed a program designed to serve a two-fold purpose: 1. to make expert drivers out of the beginning teen-age motorists; 2. give credit to the teen-agers who already have become skillful drivers. The ultimate goal is to make all teen-age drivers take more pride in driving safely.

The program is a National Teen-Age Road-e-o that will give youngsters an opportunity to test their driving ability in a driving contest. It will be sponsored by the USJCC and the Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. The first annual Road-e-o will be held Aug. 21 and 22 of this year in Washington, D.C.

The Jaycees will direct the contest on the local, state and national levels. Each teen-age entrant will be given a written quiz and competitive driving test. Actual road checks will be given at the state and national levels. The contestants will also be checked for courteous driving habits.

All state winners will receive an all-expense-paid trip to the national contest. Five national winners will be selected with the first-place winner receiving a $1000 scholarship, second a $500 scholarship, thir da $250 scholarship, and fourth and fifth place winners receiving $100 scholarships.

The contest is open to all teen-agers who have not reached their 20th birthday on or before the final day of the national contest. A driver's license or a learner's permit will be required. The entrant will be ineligible if he has been guilty of a moving traffic violation during the six-month period prior to the local contest.

Schedule for the Anaheim contest follows: Written exam, approximately May 28; driving exam, June 6 and 7; location, Anaheim high school. Application forms may be obtained at the Anaheim Gazette office, 259 E. Center st.

CARE Offices Give Travel Service

European travelers may check at any local CARE office for information regarding food conditions in the areas in which they will be travelling, said Tommy Thomason of the Y.M.C.A., CARE committee chairman.

Weekly reports coming from CARE missions all over the world give an up to date picture of conditions in each mission area.

CARE offices are located in many places throughout Europe, and travelers may arrange for packages to be ordered here for shipment to them in Europe or they may order direct from CARE offices in Europe.

it's easy to be a good telephone neighbor, too

If yours is a party-line, it's easy to be a neighborly telephone user. Just keep these simple points in mind when you make telephone calls: When you have a series of calls to make, allow a few minutes between them • Make sure the line is clear before you call • Replace the receiver properly in its cradle after calling. These suggestions will mean still better party-line service for you, too. For if you make them a habit, you'll find that they give people a better chance to call you.

emergency calls may arise while you are using your party-line. If a telephone neighbor breaks in and explains the emergency, it's always thoughtful to hang up and complete your call later.

Electrical Pliers Offered to 4-Hers Completing Project

All 4-H club members in California who successfully complete their electricity projects this year will receive a pair of electrician's pliers with a special insulated handle. Farm Advisor Wes Humphrey announced today that the pliers have been received from the Pacific Coast Electrical association and have been distributed to Orange county 4-H club leaders.

The 4-H club electricity project in California is conducted by the University of California Agricultural Extension service and sponsored by the Pacific Coast Electrical association. The purpose of the project work is to acquaint rural boys and girls with what electricity can do for them on the farm.

During the first year of the project, club members learn safety, wiring, lighting, heat and power. From there they go on during succeeding years to more specialized tasks such as building switches, lamps, thermostats, and transformers.

Other incentives available to 4-H club members in this project are 30 regional awards of electrical appliances or tools, and cash awards to the electricity clubs whose members complete 85 per cent of the projects started.

LAS VEGAS (AP)—An experimental atomic shot at the Yucca Flat proving ground failed to detonate just before dawn when the sequence timer failed to function, the Atomic Energy commission announced today.

Supt. Wayne L. Butterbaugh announces that kindergarten registration will be held in the fall, Sept. 12. Because of the new law that eligibility for entrance to school depends on whether the child was born on or before the first day of December, 1947, the school load will not be increased too much, he said.

Several Hours of Work May be Spent Creating One-Minute TV Commercial

By TOM E. DANSON

HOLLYWOOD — Last week I had the opportunity of talking with Frank P. Bibas, head of the motion picture department of the McCann Erickson agency, whose department turns out between three and four hundred commercials on film each year. As the conversation progressed, some amazing facts and figures came to light regarding the production of these short one minute selling messages.

Frank estimates that he spent more than a half million dollars on these last year, and indicated that this year, his expenditure would be even more. He went on to say that after a script for a commercial is written, researchers then analyze every word. There must be, he added, a definite reason for every move the actors make, for there are 1440 individual still pictures in a one-minute film spot, and each is precious.

The art department designs the sets and backgrounds, and many conferences are held to decide the proper merchandising display, musical background etc. Preparation for a short film of this kind frequently starts six months before the actual shooting.

Let's take just one of these commercials — a wave preparation using lovely Barbara Britton as the model — as an example. The hair styling worn by Miss Brton must not be too complicated, thus, seven different hair styles were designed and Barbara posed for each in advance of the shooting.

When the final choice was made, a full sized production crew was on hand at the, Hal Roach studio, with Roland Reed Productions in charge of the actual shooting. There were grips, carpenters, electricians, sound men, a make-up woman, and naturally, a hair dresser. There was a producer, a director, assistant directors, prop men and a trained nurse. Because of careful and intensive preparation, everything moved likke clockwork.

About this time, Barbara walked in and joined us in conversation. "We worked faster than when we are shooting a full-sized movie," she said. "If movies were produced with similar speed and precision, I'm sure they would save money and achieve greater action," she added.

The one-minute commercial, plus two 20-second spots were shot in eight hours. For this, Barbara pocketed a nice check for $1000.

A YEAR AGO—Fear was felt for the life of Patricia Jean Hull, 10-year-old Buena Park schoolgirl . . . That was a year ago when the big Red "human sea" offensive went in reverse; the Chinese hordes fled in face of powerful Yank onslaught . . . General Omar Bradley hits back at the MacArthur Asia policy . . . Joseph Brickerstaff, 72, was killed when the car in which he was riding collided with a sheriff's car assigned to the Buena Park kidnap case . . . Harry Webb, 21-year-old sailor, died of injuries sustained in a Laguna auto crash . . . Clarence Vetterli, 41-year-old former Anahi instructor, was free on $10,000 bail. He faced trial for perjury growing out of spy-ring investigation . . . Paul Schlund made the Cal Poly honor roll . . . Sportswise, Buena Park Lynx beat Fresno, 5-4 . . . Robert Fowler and Felix Savala were among the proud papas. The Stork left sons at Fullerton hospitals for them. That was the news that made the headlines last year. Remember?

FORGOTTEN—A year ago Anaheim and all of Southern California buzzed with excitement. A pretty, 10-year-old child had been lured away from a Saturday matinee, May 19, 1951, by a man and had completely vanished.

More than 500 men joined the posse that combed every inch of the territory in and around Buena Park, Pianos and horsemen searched the hills, dales and gullies.

Henry Ford McCracken, 34-year-old convicted sex offender, was taken into custody.

From the beginning he was a hot suspect. Smudged fingerprints on the car be borrowed, strands of blonde hair and blood splotches added to the damning evidence investigators had against their suspect.

The accused man had been released from the county jail two weeks before—on May 6—after serving a six-month sentence for failing to register as sex-offender.

After going over the Buena Park area with a fine tooth comb, the search for the body of the child switched to the vicinity of Orange. Planes, helicopters and a ground crew of nearly 800 civilians and Marines concentrated on this search.

All the while the search was going on, McCracken denied any knowledge of the child or her well being.

Sheriff James Musick returned from Oregon in the third day of the intensive search to direct the volunteers.

On May 24, 1951, the search suddenly ended. The remains of the sex-maniac's victim was found in an isolated, shallow grave in Live Oak Canyon near El Toro.

The following day, McCracken was arraigned before the County Grand jury. Horrified witnesses colapsed at the initial hearing at which Joe Scherman, ranger, told of discovering the grave while following a lead furnished by Charles Martinez.

McCracken was indicted for murder. A lengthy trial followed.

The crime was, indeed, a blotch on the history of Orange county and the failure of the first trial jury to do its duty is another nightmare that will take years to live down.

McCracken is in San Quentin, convicted of one of Orange county's most heinous crimes.

Those of us who sympathized with the little girl's family at the time and those of us who resolved that such a thing should nor happen again, should hang our heads in shame. Nothing has been done during the year that has come and gone to prevent the reoccurence of such a tragedy.

Have any of the candidates seeking county, state or federal office on the June 3 election said anything about proper legislation to deal with the mentally deranged who commit such crimes?

Your representatives are the ones who should be made responsible to see that sex offenders are properly dealt with and the innocent protected.

EVANSTON, Ill. — YOO HOO, YOUR SLIP IS SHOWING—Co-eds at Northwestern University wave underclothes and other garments from dormitory windows at Sargent Hall here last night as men students gathered outside in an attempt to raid the girls' living quarters in accordance with the current campus fad. The demonstration started when a group of men's houses were serenaded by the women students. (AP Wirephoto)

Lingerie Looting College Males Carry Craze from Vt. to Colo.

By The Associated Press

The college boy craze to invade women's dormitories for panties flared anew on campuses from Vermont to Colorado last night. Harassed police were caught between raiders and the beleaguered girls in the dormitories.

Similar collegiate outbreaks have occurred at other schools in the nation. Apparently, some persons believe, the spring revolts represent the students' way of letting off steam before final examinations.

Here are last night's developments in silken sorties.

At Evanston, Ill., some 200 Northwestern university women serenaded in front of the men's dormitories. The boys applauded the girls, and then some 1000 of them paid a "return visit" to the women's houses.

Singing and cheering, the male students snatched lingerie in five dormitories. But 30 women at a sixth house repulsed the invasion with buckets of water. Police seized nine students but released them after a lecture.

AT COLUMBIA, Mo., 3000 University of Missouri men students assaulted sororities on their own campus and dormitories at Stephens college and Christian college, both women's schools.

Acting Police Chief J. L. Parks said damage might run into thousands of dollars at the three schools. He said he obtained permision to call out the National Guard but that the youths retired after he alerted the Columbia unit. The forays lasted four hours. No serious injuries were reported.

At Minneapolis, some 500 University of Minensota men students raided three women's dormitories but the raid netted only four bras, four pairs of panties, and a silk slip.

Some 3000 University of Connecticut students at Storrs, Conn., milled around the sorority quadrangle in another pantie raid. Girls retaliated by dousing the boys with buckets of water.

The feminine filmsy fad also sent some 600 students roaming the University of Vermont campus at Burlington and brought out a full complement of the city police and fire department plus men from the state police and Chittendon county sheriff's office.

At least two students were injured in hand-to-hand scuffling with police. The air was filled with rocks and tear gas, plus torrents of water from fire department hoses. Loads of collegians, transported by paddy-wagons, were locked up.

Close to 1500 Colorado university students at Boulder erupted from fraternity houses and dormitories in sorties upon sorority houses and girls' rooming houses.

One student suffered a broken hip and an undetermined number of others were hurt. Four male students were arrested. They were released after midnight under terms of an agreement made by President Robert L. Stearns and the student leaders that the disturbances would end. It did, about three hours after it had begun.

$2500 Nursery Equipment Fund Given to Hospital

A donation of $2500 for the purchase of equipment for a nursery in the new Hoag Memorial Presbyterian hospital being built on the Mesa bluff overlooking Newport Beach was announced this week by William Lord, president of the Costa Mesa Lions club.

The donation will be made from proceeds of the Seventh Annual Fish Fry and Carnival being staged in Costa Mesa June 7 and 8 during which more than 5000 fish dinners will be served to more than 20,000 visitors.

The club operates the two day affair each year for the benefit of youth and children of the Newport Harbor area, sponsoring recreational activities and assistance to the blind. During the last seven years, the Fish Fry has grown to one of the outstanding events of the Southland.

Pledges are being made throughout the nation during this week toward a fund of $250,000 for equipping the hospital. The hospital group is allotting two years for the accumulation of the fund.

AUHS Musicians To End Year With Music Festival

A mixture of vocal and instrumental music ranging from popular to classic will highlight the Spring Music Festival program to be given by the music departments of Anaheim Union High school this Friday night at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Under the co-direction of orchestra director William Cook and vocal instructor Sheldon Disrud, the program annually culminates the year's activities for high school music groups. Five groups will participate, the orchestra, the Girl's Glee clubs, the Boy's Glee club, the A Capella choir and the Mozart choir.

The program will open with three numbers by the Girl's Glee: "Lift Up Thine Eyes," "O' Rest in the Lord," and "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes." The orchestra will follow with "The Pipes of Hamlin," Mowis," and "Concerto for Clarinet," with John Wimber soloing.

The Boys Glee club will present "Sound Off," "Cool Water," and "Song of the Jolly Roger," followed by a second Girl's Glee group singing, "Top of the Morning," "Clare d'Lune," and "Oh, It Didn't Rain." A capella will then present "Halleluja," "Yea, Though I Wander," and "Ah Will Be Done."

The Mozart choir will follow with "Alleluja," "In Thee Delightful," and "Pleasant Groves," A capella will return to singing "I Dream of Jeanie," "It's Wonderful," and "Coming Through the Rye."

The finale will see all musical groups joining in "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Anaheim Student At SAC Loses Close Election

The Associated Students of Santa Ana College this week elected Bob Elsner, a Santa Ana resident, as their president for the fall semester of '52-'53. Elsner received 101 votes out of a total of 106 votes cast in the primary election. He was unopposed in his campaign for election.

Only office to go into the final election Thursday was the race between Bob Rechtwig and Shirley Hutchinson. Both students are residents of Santa Ana. Rechtwig was elected in the final.

John Dowden of Orange defeated La Vonne Florence of Orange for AS vice-president, and Jeannine Oakes of Santa Ana was elected unopposed in the AS secretary race.

Closest contest in the SAC student body elections was the one between Bob Silver of Laguna and Rel Schmitt of Anaheim for the newly created office of Associated Men's Students president. Silver won 32 to 30. Other AMS offices will be filled in the fall.

Nancy Robinson of Santa Ana defeated Marlene Veech of Tustin and Eleanor Perris of Santa Ana in the Associated Womens Students presidency election. Other AWS offices will be filled by Carol Baker of Santa Ana as vice-president and secretary-treasurer respectively.

Voting was conducted in the student union of the college.

Richmond stated Governor Warren will deliver one of the most important speeches in his Southern California campaign before the luncheon gathering.

Republican leaders from eight Southern California counties, he continued, have been invited to the luncheon and also to a reception honoring Warren which will be held immediately thereafter. The luncheon, said Arch R. Tuthill, chairman of arrangements, will begin at 12 noon.

State Employment Up 135,000 from Last Year's Level

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — New evidence of California's growth in population were seen today when the State Department of Employment announced the labor force for April had increased 135,000 over the same month a year ago.

James G. Bryant, director, said the total work force in the state during the month accounted to 4,682,000 people.

He also stated civilian employment showed an upward trend in April for the first time in three months, with 4,464,000 persons employed, and increase of 18,000 over March.

Unemployment during the same period, he said, declined by 31,000 to an estimated 218,000.

"Labor disputes," said Bryant, "were probably the most significant factor in the April employment picture. Persons not working because they were directly involved in work stoppages are excluded from the estimates of employment and unemployment, since they are neither employed, nor actively seeking work. This explains why unemployment declined so much more than employment increased.

There was also seasonal expansion in farm industry employment, Bryant said.

A single type of plant can be subject to 20 or more diseases.

INTELLIGENCE REPORT—Navy Lt. LeRoy E. Lyon, an intelligence officer, gets intelligence report from Mrs. Jean Morris and Brent Wahlberg, his Anaheim co-chairmen, who disclosed addition of more sponsors for Lyon candidacy for election as 75th district's Assemblyman.

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda headlined today that the American military is "preparing new murders of war prisoners on Koje Island." The Soviet paper, organ of the communist party, said the Americans have directed artilery at the prisoner of war camp and predicted new bloodshed there.

New Workers Named for Lyon Election Drive

Appointment of more committeemen for the election of LeRoy E. Lyon, Jr., a Navy lieutenant, as Assemblyman from the north county's 75th District was announced today by Brent Wahlberg and Mrs. Jean Morris, his Anaheim co-chairman.

Lt. Lyon currently is on leave from the Navy and is meeting his friends in the various cities and communities of the district.

Added to the Anaheim sponsor's list were: R. B. Christensen, Jerry Shipkey, Mrs. Kathie McCullah, Mrs. Faye Kern Schulz, Mrs. Hildred Ferrell, Mrs. Eva Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Heinz, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Powell, Robert Quast, Paul Demaree, Jim Baker and Clinton Flynn.

The formerly-announced committee included E. J. (Brick) Power, Claude Slack, Jean Sutherland Wahlberg, Dr. George A. Paige, Dr. J. Niels Boege, Dr. John Boege, A. J. Schutte and Coulson Morris.

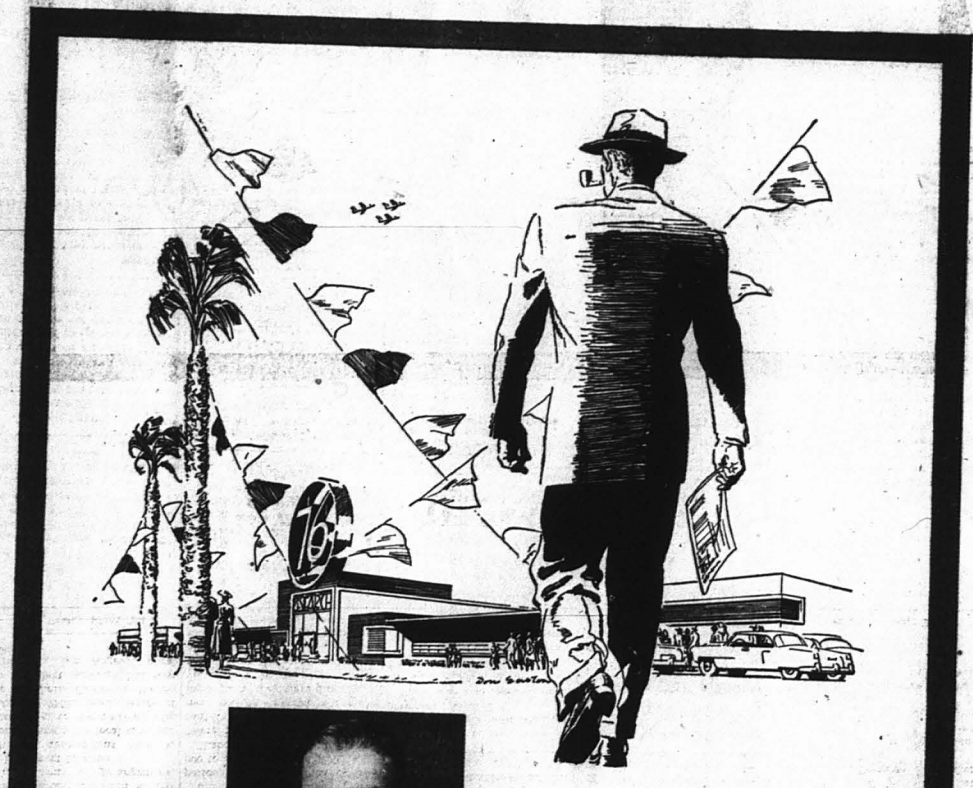
TAYLOR LUMBER CO.

Thanks, Professor Dodson, but we can't take the credit!



C. R. Dodson, Head of the Petroleum Engineering Dept., University of Southern California

"I recently attended the opening of your new $8 million research center. As an engineer I was tremendously impressed with both the plant and the facilities. My congratulations for the creation of this outstanding center for petroleum research."

Charles R. Dodson

This letter from Professor Dodson, along with several others we received on the same subject a few weeks back, started us thinking. In the final analysis, why did we build our new research center? After a good deal of soul-searching, we came to the conclusion that under anything but our American profit and loss system we probably wouldn't have built it. For, believe us, it took a lot of planning and time and effort and money.

But because our American system provides both competition and the opportunity to make a profit, we have the incentive and the pressure to keep everlastingly at this business of pioneering. So do our competitors.

As a result of this constant, never-ending research by U.S. oil companies, we Americans have the finest petroleum products at the lowest prices in the world.

Without a doubt, our free competitive economy deserves the lion's share of the credit for these accomplishments.
