Ridgway Implies Fear of Red Gas and Germ Warfare in Congressional Speech

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway told Congress today that communist talk about germ and gas warfare should impress on all the deadly danger confronting the free world.

In an address to a joint meeting of the Senate and House, the four-star general stopped short of saying he fears the communists will use those weapons. But his plain implication was that he agrees with those who say the communist technique is to charge others with crimes they intend to commit.

For weeks, the red propaganda machine has hammered out charges that United Nations forces in Korea are using gas and germs.

Ridgway said the charges are false in their entirety but that the communist harping on them should serve as "a monumental warning . . . as menacing and urgent as a forest fire bearing down on a wooden village."

The former U.N. commander in the Far East received a rousing welcome from the lawmakers.

Senators and representatives were joined by cabinet officers and diplomats in several minutes of applause when Ridgway entered the House chamber. The crowded galleries joined in.

It started all over again when Speaker Sam Rayburn introduced the general. Ridgway acknowledged the tribute with a broad smile.

He was applauded several times during his 20-minute speech and, at the conclusion, the members rose and gave him an ovation.

Ridgway came to the capitol while the House was debating its $6,889,100,000 foreign aid bill. The amount is about one billion below what President Truman asked and critics of the bill are out to cut it still more.

Ridgway made no mention of the matter, however, although the amount is of vital importance to the European defense forces he is soon to command in succession of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Before his speech, Ridgway had a meeting behind closed doors with the Senate foreign relations committee. Chairman Connally (D-Tex) quoted Ridgway afterwards as saying he planned no major changes "in any policies that General Eisenhower has approved."

Connally said Ridgway did not discuss the foreign aid bill. He added:

"General Ridgway explained he was not sufficiently familiar with the European situation to discuss proposed reductions."

In his address, Ridgway made a general report on the Far East.

Kwikset Will Offer Shares To the Public

Kwikset Locks, Inc., has filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange commission covering the offering and sale of 125,000 shares of common stock, Adolf Schoepe, president, announced today.

After registration with the SEC, the stock will be offered to the public by a nationwide group of investment banking firms headed by Paul H. Davis & Co. of Chicago, and Lester, Ryons & Co. of Los Angeles, both members of the New York Stock Exchange.

The issue represents holdings in Kwikset Locks, Inc., and Kwikset Sales & Service Co., of Karl Reinhard, one of the principal stockholders in the corporation, together with new shares of company stock.

All offerings will be through a prospectus to be made available locally by Lester, Ryons & Co. under SEC registration.

The offering of the new stock to the public, Schoepe said, will provide Kwikset with additional working capital.

"We anticipate an increase in lockset sales in the near future," Schoepe said, "based on the increase in building activities. Kwikset also has a backlog of $4,000,000 in unfilled defense contracts."

"The decision had to be made to either make Kwikset stock available to the public, continue to grow and take on the additional responsibilities, or remain a closed corporation subject to its limitations," Schoepe stated in a bulletin to all Kwikset employees. "My decision was to follow the path that seemed to offer the best chance for progress and success for the whole team."

Reinhard decided in 1951 to dispose of his holdings and the concurrent sale of new stock together with the sale of Reinhard's shares resulted in the expected offering.

His mother, Marian, was visiting Richard's father, a paraplegic at a Los Angeles veterans hospital when the accident occurred yesterday.

Richard and his brother, Geary, 10, were playing along the Union Pacific right of way.

"The boxcar had been on the siding for a long time and we thought it was all right to play near it," Geary told police.

Officers said the boys had to climb two six-foot fences and cross the busy Harbor Freeway to reach the freight yards.

"We'd been playing and Ricky was tired and sat down an a coupler of the boxcar to rest," Geary said. "All of a sudden the train gave a bump and Ricky fell onto the tracks.

"Two wheels went over him. I reached for his hand and pulled him from under the train just before the third wheel was about to go over him. Ricky wasn't crying. He just said, 'go get Marian.' We always call mommie Marian," Geary sobbed.

Eisenhower Backers Asked to Throw Support to Warren in California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The word went out today to California supporters of General Eisenhower to vote for Gov. Earl Warren's Republican delegate salte at this state's June 3 presidential primary —in the hope Warren would throw his weight to Eisenhower at the Chicago GOP convention.

Eisenhower's name isn't entered in the California primary.

Warren as usual played it coy.

If he couldn't win at Chicago "my delegates shall be released to vote for any candidate of their choice," was his only comment. Last night he told a GOP rally:

"I shall go to Chicago in the hope of winning my party's nomination for president. But I have made no alliances with an candidate or with the sponsors of any candidate and shall make none for the purpose either of promoting or defeating any candidate."

Organizers calling themselves "Volunteers for Eisenhower" have been whooping it up for the general. But the chairmen of both the Southern and Northern California groups announced last night simultaneously that Eisenhower supporters should vote for Warren in the California primary.

"This committee," a statement said, "is of the opinion that at the proper time members of the Warren delegation will give more support to General Eisenhower for president than would the rival slate of delegates."

The rival slate is that of Republican Rep. Thomas H. Werdel. He repeatedly has attacked the candidacy of Warren as insincere and said the Werdel delegates would be released at Chicago to "the best man."

Meantime Sen. Estes Kefauver, Tennessee Democrat campaigning for California's 68 presidential votes, struck sharply at the slate that opposes him in the primary.

He told an audience of 1200 at Santa Barbara that the former Truman delegation, pledged nominally to state Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown, "apparently does not trust you but wants you to trust them."

"They are asking you to buy a pig in a poke," Kefauver said. "Why didn't their candidate enter the California primary as I have?"

Brown has said his slate would decide at Chicago upon "the best man" and vote for him.

Work to Begin Soon on City Housing Project

Relocation of the buildings in the veterans housing project of the city is expected to begin soon, according to Jerry Dolan, of Dolan Moved Buildings of Anaheim, Inc.

Dolan said his firm plans to raise the buildings, put in hardwood floors, paint them attractively and cut them into apartments. Then they will be sold at a low price.

Work on the buildings will begin at the project site, La Palma and Olive sts., and they will be moved off as they are sold. If all are not sold by the time the site must be cleared, the remaining units will be moved to the Dolan sales location.

Truman Reaffirms 'Inherent Powers'

Will Bow to Adverse Supreme Court Decision, However, President Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman said today (a) he is sure of his power to seize industries in an emergency, (b) he likes all the men who have come out for the Democratic nomination for president, and (c) he believes the government clean-up will take care of itself under his new attorney general.

Truman also said he doesn't know whether Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois might be persuaded to seek or accept the Democratic nomination.

Politics took second place in the news conference which was highlighted by the president's statement that he has power to seize industries in time of national emergency. Nobody—and he included both Congress and the Courts — can take that power away, he said.

But when pressed by questions on what he would do if the Supreme Court specifically denies his authority to seize and operate the steel industry, the president said he would turn the mills back to their managements.

He added, however, that he did not believe the court would do that.

The president smilingly parried questions from reporters who said they were trying to reconcile his reassertion of "inherent" presidential powers with his willingness to yield on the steel seizure. Truman reminded questioners that any act of Congress must be signed by the president — a plain reference to the president's power to veto legislation.

He remarked that he has been trying, ever since he entered the White House, to get an industrial relations law which would make possible real collective bargaining.

The law, he said, must provide some method of keeping the country running in cases of major threats to the nation's welfare.

The president said he did not know whether seizure authority was the only way of accomplishing this. There is some way, certainly, he said — and he intends to keep searching for it.

Truman ducked every question which sought to enlist him for or against any specific political candidate. He re-emphasized that he will support the Democratic candidate, whoever he is, to the utmost.

Quizzed on whether he had shown a lack of enthusiasm for Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the president said he likes every man who has come out for the Democratic nomination.

Nevada Judge Warns Press to Refrain From Commenting on McCarran Case

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Federal Judge Roger Foley today directed newspapermen and publishers to refrain from expressing opinion of the credibility of any witness during trial of the million dollar damage suit against U.S. Senator Pat McCarran, Nevada Democrat, and others by the Las Vegas Sun.

The Sun claims Senator McCarran arranged an advertising boycott against the newspaper because of critical comment it carried about the Senator.

The federal judge said that if there is any violation of his directive "I shall request the U.S. attorney to bring that person or company into court."

In making the unusual order Judge Foley referred to a column in today's edition of the Sun, published by H. M. Greenspun who filed the suit against McCarran.

• • •

JUDGE FOLEY said the column referred to testimony of casino employees, managers and operators in denying that pressure had been put on them to withdraw advertising from the Sun.

"If this had been a jury trial I should have immediately declared a mistrial," said Judge Foley. "As it is a court trial I shall not allow the comment to influence me in any way."

"Obviously there has been perjury committed in this case and when the court makes its decision it will be clearly shown who is lying."

Judge Foley called attention to a statement he had made at the beginning of the trial, May 16, that reporters should refrain from editorial comment on testimony.

Yesterday three representatives of downtown casinos, Fred Sóly, Pat Collins and Jim Young denied that any pressure had been brought to bear on them to withdraw advertising from the Sun.

Greenspun's suit is directed against 26 defendants, including 12 casinos and hotels. The suit charges that McCarran became angered over two columns in the sun which allegedly linked him with Mountain City Consolidation stock scandals. The newspaper quoted testimony given before the Kefauver Senate Crime Investigating committee.

Celery Pickers Overcome by Monoxide Gas

Overcome by carbon monoxide gas that filled a closed panel truck, six Mexican celery pickers were revived by an inhalator crew from Orange headquarters of the State Forestry division at 9 a.m. today.

The men were in a truck driven by Jack Sakiaka of Los Angeles. When the truck rolled to a stop at the celery field at Delhi rd. and Newport ave., the driver was at the point of being overcome and all of his passengers, all Los Angeles residents, were unconscious. The gas had leaked into the vehicle from the exhaust of the motor.

A hurried call for aid brought the forestry crew from Orange, also help from Red Hill Volunteer Fire department. After emergency treatment at the scene, the men were loaded into two ambulances and taken to the county hospital.

Large Group of 40th Men Due Here

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The state adjutant general's office announced today that 553 California National Guardsmen will return Sunday after duty with the 40th Infantry Division in Japan and Korea.

The 74 officers and 479 enlisted men are scheduled to arrive at Fort Mason, San Francisco, aboard the Navy transport General A. W. Brewster.

This contingent will bring to 1800 the former "Sunburst" Guardsmen—mostly from Southern California—who have come home from their overseas service.

Six Persons Hurt In Three Wrecks In Orange County

Six persons received minor injuries in three traffic accidents reported today by California Highway Patrol and Santa Ana police.

Jack A. Kimmons, 17, of the Brea hotel, Brea, and Marta R. Jauregui, 17, Olinda, were taken to Fullerton General hospital after their cars had collided at 6:20 p.m. yesterday at Imperial highway and Carolina ave. west of Brea. The injured girl later was transferred to Orange county hospital.

Raymale Helmberg, 8-year-old Santa Ana girl, received a probable brain concussion shortly after 6 p.m. yesterday when she ran against a red light and struck the side of a truck at First and Broadway, Santa Ana. She was taken to Santa Ana Community hospital.

Joe Nieblas, 47, of Santa Ana, driver of the truck, said he was unaware of the accident until he heard a scream from Mrs. Vianna M. Burns of Santa Ana, who was taking care of the little girl at the time.

Three El Monte residents were hurt yesterday when a car driven by James Walter, 21, collided with a pole on S. Main st. near Newport blvd., south of Santa Ana. Besides the driver, Jack Walter, 18, and Imogene Snook, 30, were injured.

Body of Drowned Santa Ana Man Found in Bay

Found floating near a boat rental pier close to the Coast highway bridge across Newport Bay, the body of Donald R. Komrosky, 41, of Santa Ana, who drowned last Sunday in the upper bay, was recovered from the water this morning.

Attendants at the boat pier discovered the body and it was removed from the bay by the Harbor Patrol.

Komrosky drowned last Sunday when a fishing boat capsized in the upper bay. His brother-in-law, Jack Thompson of Santa Ana, swam to shore, but Komrosky disappeared and efforts to locate the body failed.

Komrosky, who leaves a widow, Julia, was employed at an auto body shop in Santa Ana. Funeral services will be announced later by the H. R. Brown mortuary in Santa Ana.

Kefauver Thrives On Opposition, Backers Claim

By The Associated Press

The more opposition Sen. Estes Kefauver gets in his race for the Democratic presidential nomination, two sources said today, the faster he seems to run.

Two senate colleagues of the Tennessean, Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and James Murray of Montana, said any opposition from President Truman would enhance Kefauver's bid.

And Clarence Streit, a member of the Atlantic Union committee's board of governors, said the Nebraska and Florida primary votes were a rebuke on Kefauver's advocacy of a federation of free nations.

Humphrey and Murray were interviewed after President Truman was quoted yesterday as saying he hopes supporters of California Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown will win the state's JUne 3 primary. The Brown ticket is opposed by a slate favoring Kefauver.

Brown made the statement after a White House visit and said it was authorized by Truman. However, the White House said later Truman wished Brown's delegation good luck but intended no implications about Kefauver.

Humphrey and Murray said they doubt Truman is trying to stop Kefauver.

"It has become pretty obvious that Sates Kefauver thrives on the opposition of Democratic party leaders," Humphrey said. "The president is too smart a politician not to know that."

Marine Burglar Loses Out to Irate Housewife

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Teenage life around San Francisco started off on a violent turn last night when a peninsula housewife chased an 17-year-old Marine for two blocks with his own hunting knife.

The Marine was found hiding under a bed in his mother's home. He was in the Redwood city jail today.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Campbell identified him as Richard E. Hines, AWOL from Camp Pendleton. Campbell said the young Marine left San Diego by plane last night expressly for the purpose of robbing the strong box of his former employer, Joseph J. Belli Jr., of Broadmoor.

Campbel said Mrs. Belli surprised the boy just after he had broken open the strong box. She picked up the lad's hunting knife. He fled with Mrs. Belli chasing him for two blocks. Police later tracked Hines down.

The strong box contained 20 cents.

Two Rivers Flood 2000 Acres in San Joaquin

FRESNO (AP) — More than 2000 acres of San Joaquin valley farmland were under water today following breaks in the levees of both the Kings and San Joaquin rivers.

Seepage from the San Jotquin river also caused some flooding in the Firebaugh area. Reports from there said river water has surrounded several buildings and caused some families to move to higher ground as a precautionary measure.

The levee break near Dos Palos has inundated about 1000 acres, including some 350 acres planted to cotton. Authorities said livestock men were ready to evacuate cattle should the river rise suddenly or should the levee repairs take too long.

Nearly 100 men worked on the Kings river levee with bulldozers and sandbags during the night. A spokesman said 1000 acres were flooded, but he aded crews are hopeful they will have the situation under control by late today.

Altheide Whiffs 23 and Gudan Fans 13 as Bakers Beat Tamales

In last night's City League double header, Art Altheide's Orange Lutheran-Davies Bakery nine won out over Alex Tamale 3-0 in a nine inning thriller. In the other Stanton defeated the Cyclones 10-6.

Altheide topped Pete Guadan in the tightest pitcher's duel of the season. It wasn't until the top half of the ninth that the church-men broke loose to score two runs on Art Altheide's single. Bill Gelgle sacrificed him to second, where he scored on Art Michael's single to center field, then Michael came home on Don Hein's single to center.

Altheide continued his brilliant pitching with a record of one hit, 23 strikeouts and no no walks last night. Pete Guadan of Alex' allowed four hits, struckout 13 men.

In the Stanton-Cyclone game, Stanton scored two in the second. The fourth was the big inning as 10 men went to bat. Jess Velarde was safe on an error, Joe Aquirre safe on a fielder's choice, Joe Munoz singled to left scoring Velarde. Paul Lemus singled scoring J. Aquirre, Gabriel Aquirre walked, Leonard Rodriquez singled, driving in Lemus, Munoz and Gabriel Aquirre. The fifth inning saw Stanton add two more runs and one in the sixth.

The Cyclones garnered the same number of hits as Stanton, but at wrong times, as they produced only 6 six runs. Right fielder Sitgies seventh inning homer highlighted the Cyclone hitting. Eddie Duran collected two for three, including a double.

In tonight's City League games you will see Los Alamitos do battle with Magnolia Stars in the opener at 7:15 and Hunt's Food will tackle Church All-Stars in the late game. Both games will be played at City park.

Jack Salveson Guns for 200th

John Theodore (Jack) Salveson Jr., of Orange county, Long Beach, and the San Diego Padres will be gunning for his 200th pitching win tonight when he faces the Acorns of Oakland.

The big 38-year-old righthander, veteran of two decades in the pro wars, has had his heart set on the goal for a long time. If he continues performing as smoothly as he has in the Pacific Coast league this season, he should surpass it by a comfortable margin.

Salveson, with a 6-3 record, still has a good curve, a fair fast one, and a remarkable knowledge of batters' weaknesses.

His club is going to need all the help Salveson can provide. By defeating the league leading Padres 8-2 last night Oakland moved to within half a game of the top.

San Diego was in the game only in the second inning, when first sacker Jack Graham whacked his ninth homer. Guy Fletcher, who had downed the Oaks twice, was the losing pitcher.

Sacramento knocked Los Angeles out of the first division with a 6-1 win. San Francisco stepped into the Angels' spot by taking Portland 5-3. Seattle shut out Hollywood 3-0.

Bill Cook's Anaheim High School Tennis Team in High Gear; Eyes Fourth Crown

With an unbroken string of seven league victories behind them, Bill Cook's Anaheim tennis squad appears this week to be well on the way to another Sunset league championship, their fourth in as many years.

Tomorrow afternoon the Cookmen again tackle the netmen from Fullerton and hope to repeat over the Indians. It was a decisive first round victory over the Indians two weeks ago which put the Colonist in CIF playoffs where they were narrowly edged out in the first round by a strong San Bernardino team.

Next week closes league play for Colonials as they meet Newport on Tuesday; then face their stiffest test of the season as they again tackle the Orange Panthers in the curtain closer. The Orangemen, boasting the strongest team in years and defeated only by the Colonists this year, will be out to avenge the narrow 5-4 defeat they suffered in first round play. Cook admits, what's more, that this is the team to spoil the perfect 10-0 record the Colonists seek.

Traditional power-house in league net play, the Colonists again next year shape up as the league favorite since only four men of the regular varsity starting nine are graduating seniors. Lost for next season will be Captain Dieter Hessel, Paul Billow, Hart Hessel and John Haster. Returning next year are juniors Phil Wright, Ronnie Legg, Floyd Baker, Dick Hanson, and Dean Stokes. An undefeated league JV team will fill in replacements.

Champion JC Baseball Teams To Play Here

Anaheim's La Palma park will be the site of the California State Junior college baseball playoffs this Friday at 4 p.m. and Saturday at 1 p.m. Adult price for the game is $1.00 and 35c will be the charge for all high school and junior college students. Children under 10 admitted free.

Santa Ana college, Southern California champions, will meet Santa Rosa Junior college, Northern California champions, in a best two out of three series. If a third game is needed, there will be a double-header on Saturday, following a 20 minute intermission. The first two games are scheduled to go nine innings. If a third game is played, it will be a seven inning affair.

This marks the first time in history that Santa Ana has ever competed in a state baseball final.

Last week-end, Santa Ana defeated Bakersfield to capture the Southern California crown, in a best two out of three series. Likewise, Santa Rosa knocked off Monterey for the Northern State title.

Alert Lynx Use Breaks For Victory

The Buena Park Lynx took advantage of the breaks last night to defeat Monterey Park 3 to 0 at Buena Park. The BP gals failed to get a hit but were able to bunch walks and errors to score the winning runs.

Monterey Park, on the other hand, failed to convert seven hits into the payoff.

The Lynx scored a run in the fifth inning. Joan Alsup walked, Annabelle Lockaby was safe on an error which permitted Joan to reach third; and she tagged up and scored after Caroline Broady flied out to left field.

In the sixth inning, Ruby Moore of the Lynx walked but was forced at second when Bobby McDaniel reached first on the fielder's choice. Bev Meissen was safe on a two-base error which allowed Bobby to get to third. Patty Averett dropped a surprise swinging bunt down the third base line which got away from the third baseman and permitted both base runners to score.

Batteries for the Lynx were Tommy Slappey, pitcher, and Bobby McDaniel, catcher. Barbara Prather pitched the no-hitter for Monterey Park, with Vivian Barnes receiving.

Friday and Saturday nights the Lynx take on the strong Fresno club. Over the past week-end the BP girls lost a double-header to Fresno 2 to 0 and 3 to 0. The Lynx are all steamed up for revenge this week. The game Friday will be a highlight of the Buena Park Home Town celebration.

Gregg May See Major Leagues Before Too Long

The six-foot, four-inch, 200-pounder was down physically and mentally. He became an orange grower last year in Anaheim, where he was born and still lives. But Hal didn't do too well with the citrus, so tried a comeback this year.

Today, Gregg is the No. 1 pitcher of the Pacific Coast League and one of the big reasons second-place Oakland is only ½ game out of the lead. His eight wins and no losses include a seven-inning no-hit masterpiece against Portland May 4. His comeback is the talk of the loop.

Major league scouts already are buzzing on the trail of the 31-year-old moundsman who flopped out of the big show in 1949. He was sent to San Francisco that year, pitched in six games, winning one and losing four.

He transferred to Indianapolis for the 1950 season. It was the same story of futility with the American Association club. He worked in 18 contests and tacked up a weak 3-9 record.

Gregg was through. He told himself so. Oakland drafted him from New Orleans, to which he had been assigned, at the end of the 1950 season. He didn't report the next spring.

• • •

THE BIG FELLOW'S career in the majors was not particularly exciting except in a couple of spots. He won 18 and lost 13 for Brooklyn in 1945 and had a 6-4 record the next year. He hurled 12⅔ innings for the Dodgers in the 1947 World Series, appearing in three games for a 0-1 tally. His showing with Pittsburgh in 1948 and part of '49 was mediocre.

He started having trouble with the lower vertabrae of his back several years ago. The aggravation increased until, he says, he couldn't throw a curve ball in

Peace Restored in Grunt and Groanville As Lou Thesz Grabs Title in Three Acts

LOS ANGELES — Wonderful peace settled over the national wrestling scene today and Los Angeles reaffirmed its claim as a place of astonishing events.

Twenty-five thousand, two hundred (gulp) and fifty-six persons turned out to see a wrestling show last night and they paid $103,271.75 for the privilege. Wrestling people say the marks were the greatest ever.

And today the world heavyweight champion, according to the National Wrestling Alliance which presumably rules the sport, is the man most everyone thought all the time would reach the goal, Lou Thesz of St. Louis.

Thesz, who is 33 and weighed 223, won the title when he vanquished Baron Michele Leone of Italy. Supposedly this solidifies all the claims for the national title made around the country.

It took 55 minutes for the entire drama to unfold, and the cheering crowd apparently loved every grunt and groan. Thesz, installed as the hero of the plot in the first three minutes, proved that virtue triumphs. He won the first and third falls from 210-pound Leone, whose age is something over 35.

For two minutes it appeared that that the match might be an old fashioned wrestling duel. But the baron, his long, bobbed curls already in a state of sad disarray, began punching Lou in the stomach with his feet.

From then on the affair followed the familiar pattern. Lou often restrained himself from ugly counter-measures and the dashing Baron drew the hisses and evil names from most of the vast throng in Gilmore baseball park because of his ungentlemanly conduct.

TRAFFIC WAS snarled for hours before and after the event. But as Willie Ginsberg, well known in boxing and wrestling circles, declared, "I tell you, a lot of these people aren't morons. Some of them talk like real bankers and professors."

There is a story told by the late promoter, Joe Waterman, who handled a show in Portland, Ore., one night. It seemed that two rassiers got into a beef on the bus coming into town and announced to Joe that their match that night

Poets to be Feted at Tea

Two professional poets, Ethel Jacobson of Fullerton and Vesta Nickerson Lukei of Redlands, will be honored at an autograph party in the Santa Ana College faculty lounge Thursday evening, May 22 at 7 p.m. Both women have recently published books of verse.

The autograph party is being arranged by Miss Lota Blythe, instructor of creative writing at Santa Ana College, with the assistance of the Blythe Pensters, an adult poetry group, and the Tavern Tattlers, college literary society.

Invitations have been issued to members of poetry clubs of Santa Ana and Orange county. Other residents of Orange county interested in the poetry written by these two women, or in creative writing, are invited to attend the affair.

"Larks In My Hair" is the title of Mrs. Jacobson's book of poetry, and "Mild Silver and Furious Gold" is the title of Mrs. Lukei's book of verse.

Mrs. Lukei, a former Santa Ana High school teacher and wife of Philip B. Lukei of Redlands, began receiving recognition for her poetry while still a student. Since then she has sold poetry to the Saturday Evening Post, Ladies Home Journal, Christian Science Monitor and other publications.

Honors Mrs. Lukei has received include membership in the Poetry Society of America and an invitation to send a holograph poem for the permanent collection of the New York Public Library.

"How do I go about freezing strawberries?" writes the new owner of a home freezer.

This wonderful red fruit now at the peak of its season is easy to freeze because it and rhubarb are the two fruits that require no special treatment before freezing. Naturally, strawberries should be washed and picked over so that the fully mature, firm-textured, and highly colored berries can be selected. Then crush with sugar or slice, placing a few whole berries in each carton for garnish. They freeze best when dry sugar is used (rather than a syrup) in the proportion of one pound of sugar to four to six pounds of berries.

Since we have mentioned rhubarb, we may as well go on to say that it needs only to be washed and cut into desired lengths and frozen with or without sugar, as you wish.

CAMPERS — Two teen-agers are planning a camping trip and want to be ready to go the minute school is out. They want to know what food would be best to take along.

We can give only general suggestions, a specific list depending on opportunities to purchase food along the way, method of transportation, and storage facilities.

Experienced campers stock up on dehydrated foods since these take up little space and keep well. Among these are prunes and apricots, quick cooking cereal, milk powder, tea bags, dry beans, soup powder, lemon powder, dried beef.

Canned meat and fish are recommended and of course, bacon is the old standby. Salt pork is fine for flavoring beans.

Even when choosing only the light and non-bulky foods, it is still possible to enjoy a well balanced diet. A good selection of proteins, fats and carbohydrates will make the trip more enjoyable than it would be if the meals were long on a few favorites and short on nourishing qualities.

An active camper can get along nicely on about two pounds per day of the kind of food we are speaking of. Cheese, nuts, and chocolate bars are worth their weight as are a box of pancake mix and a few dried vegetables.

Johnny Dugan Gains Popularity After Just a Week's Telecasting

By TOM E. DANSON

HOLLYWOOD — "With a kisser like this, what can you expect?", the Irish Johnny Dugan quipped at NBC photographer Elmer Holloway who was using his best to get a good profile shot for a portrait photo. "You've got one of those Irish mugs too, Danson," Johnny added turning to this ancient onlooker. "You oughta appreciate my trouble when it comes to picture taking." (ED. NOTE: Sure do!)

What the affable 25-year-old Dugan neglected to mention was that his kisser actually is rugged, handsome, and as Irish as they come — a point that I can't claim, at, and a melodious voice inherited from his singing father, has helped place him to stardom on his own coast-to-coast program— "The Johnny Dugan Show," which made its debut this week as the summer replacement for Ralph Edwards.

Johnny's show — a fast-moving hour, using the very same crew of technicians and cameramen (along with producer-director Cal Howard) as the Edwards show — features comedinations of stunts, music, audience participation and comedy. It gets a big boost from the solo and duet singing of Johnny and his lovely songstress, 19-year-old Barbara Logan.

There was never any doubt about what career would be followed by young Johnny. From the age of four, when he charmed his mother's friends at a chanica party with an impromptu rendition of "Peggy O'Neil," Dugan was destined for show business. During the next few years, he gathered experience and training by singing at other women's clubs, and in church choirs in and around Boston.

An amateur contest launched Johnny in the radio field where he continued for several years, but at 18, the Broadway "bug" started to bite, and he went to New York with a letter of introduction to Sammy Rauscch, of the famed Roxy Theater. He walked in, met Sammy, sang three songs and started work the next day. He was going strong when the words "Pearl Harbor" hit every front page in the country, and for the next three-and-a-half years there was very little singing for Navy Gunner J. Dugan.

After release, he came right back, for you can't keep a good Irishman down!

Anaheim Gazetteer

by JOHN S. NEUBAUER

BYGONES — Sheriff's officers gave up hope of ever finding Patricia Jean Hull alive; but suspect Henry Ford McCracken steadfastly denied knowledge of the crime . . . Gen. Omar Bradley hinted a Korean peace move; Chinese hordes were driven back three miles as casualty list reached 85,000 . . . Jose Ferrer denied Hollywood red charges . . . Milo C. Sharp, 49, title officer, was booked as pervert; Police worked on the case two weeks after parents of youths "reported something funny going on." . . . M/Sgt. Joseph Carmelo, one of 1485 army combat wounded, was home on a 30-day leave . . . Lloyd Ross was elected president of the Orange county printers. Leonard Schwecofer was named veep . . . Stanley Loudon reported that his car was stolen from his garage . . . Mrs. Wilbert Stafford suffered a heart attack and was given emergency treatment by the fire department . . . Sportswise, Billie Feldner tried to promote girls softball in Long Beach by assuming the financial end of all games played by the Lynx in the convention city. Fresno was edged, 1-0 by the Lionnettes in an extra-inning game before 1231 fans . . . Beyrl Lorraine Boisseranc became Mrs. Harold Hargrove . . . Plez Pool, Jr., and Weldon Hays were singing the maternity ward blues . . . Bill Dauser lost his coaching berth at Matre Dei . . . That was the essence of the news mirrored in last year's newspapers. Remember?

* * *

LINES-O-TYPE — Art Schade, Fullerhi infielder, was beaned in the CIF playoff game in the last of the ninth at Fullerton yesterday. San Diego won from the Sunset League representatives . . . Terry Stephenson, former Anaheim newspaperman, now of Santa Ana, was unable to see Glenn L. Martin when the famed aviation pioneer visited Orange county to dedicate a Santa Ana school named after him. Martin and Stephenson's father were friends during the pioneer aircrafters Santa Ana days . . . Freddie King, one-time Anaheim milkman, was jolted when riding the firetrails on Saddleback. The tough part of it was he was dumped into a cluster of poison oak. Ouch! . . . Bert Duran, who was a member of the Kwikset team until he set up a watch repair business, used to be a box fighter. He fought until "Turkey" Thompson punched him into retirement . . . Leave it to those Buena Park Kroesens. They'll do anything to get an exclusive. Dale Kroesen ran down and tackled a 28-year-old holdup man. But he didn't get an exclusive. Y'see the radio commentator "aired" it first . . . Carl Swenson, former Fullerton newspaperman, is in line for a personnel job with John Northrop's Anaheim plant. Seems like Hal Chanslor is really surrounding himself with capable men.

BOATWORKS — Didcha know that there is a full-fledge boatworks in Brea? It's located back of the Loma Vista cemetery on the Puente rd. They build plastic ships in that shipyard.

* * *

PERSONALITIES—Jim Wright and Lloyd Trapp the lads who handle the Anaheim softball leagues activities, are energetic young men. They keep score, figure out the box scores and write the press releases and keep tab on over 500 athletes. Don Derr really got himself swell assistants when he signed Trapp and Wright. Right! . . . Clare Vaz Hoorebeke probably will field the best Anaheim Junior Legion ball club in history this summer . . . Jim Talcott, the personable Anaheimer who gave up an animated cartoon career for realestating, borrowed an advertising slogan from a college professor's wisecrack . . . Elton Sabr, the genial Anaheimer, may not be a petroleum engineer, but he knows the oil game from top to bottom. Incidentally, John P. Rockfellow and other oil company industrial relations experts are "rushing" engineering graduates for their respective concerns. A graduate with a petroleum engineering degree can write his own ticket. Engineers are that scarce! . . . Karl Gerhart, like a lot of other oilworkers, figures to get a slight payhike out of the present oil strike. Though the strike may have no material bearing on Anaheim oilworkers, they will get whatever is passed on to the rest of the industry.

NITECAPSULE — Kilroy was here. So was Kefauver.

CONGRESSIONAL BABY SITTER — Blanka Sylvia Schoenhammer, aged two, a German displaced person, arrives at a Los Angeles airport in the arms of Congressman Chet Holifield. Holifield who helped arrange her admittance into the United States accompanied Blanka from New York and is handing her over to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Craig who will adopt the little girl. The Craigs' sons Paul, 9, (left), and Frank, 7, look on with approval. (Ap Photo)

Per capita use of telephones has doubled in Italy since the beginning of World War II and one Italian in every 45 now has a phone.

If it were possible for one bee to gather all the material for a pound of honey, it is believed it would have to work every day for eight years.

Lets Go for A Drive

And for company's sake, how's about bringing along the little pigeon? We've got plenty of driving tips for her, too. Now before we go any further let's get this "one - armed - driving" squared away. We don't want to be a wet blanket, but that's strictly no go. It's better to risk breaking her heart than both your necks.

Anyway, the best way to make an impression on the girl friend is to convince her you're an expert driver, not a wild man, so that she'll want to drive with you. Too many young guys figure that to make a hit they have to be the Wizard of Awes. Too often they do make a hit—but the wrong kind!

And we didn't say to invite the whole neighborhood. Don't try to pack your pals in like sardines or think it's hot stuff to let 'em perch on a fender. This is kid stuff—OK for a snapshot, but no snap for the driver.

First off, don't get run over before you start. There is no future in this. So, whether there's traffic or not, get in your car from the curb side. It's a mighty good habit that may save you from plenty of grief some day.

Before pulling out into traffic always look back and then ahead for cars coming in both directions. Never start out when there is any chance of your getting in another car's way. Don't rely on your rear-view mirror; it only shows about three quarters of the road in back of you. Look back the last second before pulling out. And stick out your hand so's other drivers will spot you. They like to know what you are going to do before you do it.

Professional drivers (experts who make their living driving buses, trucks, taxis, etc.) say that the best way to keep out of trouble is to watch out for the tip-off" that warns you when and where an accident is brewing. To the "pros," certain situations spell D-A-N-G-E-R as clearly as a coiled snake.

For instance, you see a parked car with front wheels turned out, fumes coming from the exhaust—you can figure on that boy pulling out. Or a ball bounces out into the street—it's a cinch a kid'll pop out after it. Or the car ahead swings out to pass and then ducks back into line—you don't need a periscope to know another car is coming from the opposite direction. So, while we're out today—and every day—let's keep the orbs peeled for all the "tip-offs."

Shop Instructor Ends 29-Year Career in Industry, Education

WILLIAM P. CORBETT (Retired)

Ending 29 years of teaching, William P. Corbett will retire this year as machine shop instructor at Fullerton Union High school and junior college. Corbett came to Fullerton in 1923 after a successful career in industry and has since been engaged in numerous community and industrial activities in addition to teaching.

Students of Corbett have gone on to become successful engineers and workers in industry—oil and petroleum engineers, machinists, shop foremen, tool and die makers. According to Corbett's files, they are engaged in business and industry throughout California and in other states.

"Since I first became a machinist," Corbett says, "opportunities and working conditions in machine shop work have become steadily better. I recall working for wages of 7½ cents an hour, for example."

Apprenticing himself to a machinist at 18, he had signed an indenture to serve 12,000 hours, working a 10-hour day. During his first year, he received 7½ cents an hour; during the second, 10 cents; during the third, 12½ cents and during the fourth, 15 cents. The contrast with present conditions is vast, he points out.

* * *

CORBETT WAS graduated from Brockway high school, Brockway, Pa. There his father had a grocery and feed store and young Corbett first worked for him.

After becoming a journeyman, Corbett began an 18-year industrial career. During this time he built up a solid foundation of practical experience before beginning to teach.

He first worked for the Buffalo, Rochester, and Pittsburg Railroad and became foreman of the wheel department. After working for the Ridgway Dynamo and Engine company, Ridgway, Pa., he came west to Nevada.

In Reno, he was employed by the Nevada Engineering and Supply company for five years, becoming foreman during his last year. Later, he worked for the Nevada, California and Oregon Railroad, in charge of the toolroom. Then, for five years, he was with Union Tool Works (now the National Supply company) as a tool and die maker.

With a thorough grounding in industry, Corbett came to Fullerton Union High school and junior college. He has been actively responsible for bettering the machine shop in equipment and instruction through the years, says Robert C. McCormick, present head of the technical trades division. Corbett formerly served in that position. He is considered one of Southern California's finest machinists, says McCormick.

* * *

WHILE A TEACHER, Corbett has not confined his activities solely to teaching. He is in charge of Fullerton civil defense communications unit, having long worked with radio as a hobby. He has his own ham radio station. During the war Corbett worked summers for the Vultee Aircraft company. His help in repairing machine parts on campus has been of great service to school maintenance, according to McCormick.

Retirement does not mean ceasing his numerous activities, says Corbett. "In my spare time," he explains, "I've built a small milling machine for machine instrument parts. I may do sub-contract work in my own shop."

Corbett has received numerous offers from industry for supervisory work.

Like any teacher retiring after long service, Corbett is hard put to recall specific students from the long parade who have become successful in their fields.

Among his students, however, who are now successful, he recalls Ray Hancock, oil engineer recently with Burch Oil company, Brea; Leo Enfield, recently head inspector at Shaffer Tool Works, Brea; Charles Russell, shop superintendent at Chiksan Oil Tool Manufacturers and Lyman Race, of Race and Olmsted iDe Makers, Fullerton.

Avocado Exhibits Being Readied For County Fair

Avocado growers are being urged to plan for their exhibits in the coming 1952 Orange County Fair set for Aug. 13-17, inclusive, at the fairgrounds on the former Santa Ana Army Air Base.

According to George Kellogg of Yorba Linda, chairman of the avocado exhibits, top exhibit awards will go to those entered in the avocado feature displays with $200 for first, $150 for second and $100 for third place winner being offered in premiums.

These prizes will go to the best and most artistically arranged avocado feature display by a county, community, avocado-selling organization or association using not less than 400 square feet of space and containing at least 20 or not more than 50 commercial or standard display packages.

Premiums will also be offered for avocados exhibited in standard packages for Anaheim, Fuerte, Haas and all other varieties. The premiums being offered for exhibits of plate displays include a wide list of varieties.

A. H. Call of Anaheim, supervisor of the Orange County Fair's agriculture and horticulture exhibit departments, has already held several meetings with his various exhibit and departmental chairmen to make plans for what is expected to be the finest array of agricultural and horticultural displays that have ever been shown at any annual Orange County Fair.

Murdy Asks Lower Taxes, Economy In Government

"The tax burden now saddled on our people reduces the rich to poverty and the poor to serfdom," stated John A. Murdy, candidate for State Senate from the 35th Senatorial District comprising all of Orange county, in a talk given Tuesday afternoon at the Santa Ana Community club house before a large group of his county-wide campaign committee members.

"We must have strict economy in government, with efficiency," said Murdy.

Murdy, Huntington Beach farmer and well-known Orange county civic leader, is currently campaigning for the State Senate seat vacated by Clyde A. Watson of Orange who did not file for reelection.

A great privilege . . .

An official of a retailers' association recently had this to say about merchandising:

"Stores are as different from each other as people are. Each store has its own personality which reflects its method of doing business. All of them are united, however, in one principle. They consider themselves not as distributors for manufacturers or as manufacturers' agents. They are purchasing agents for the consumers. As such, they find out what their bosses, the customers, want to own. They locate this merchandise. They offer it for sale."

Here we have a situation which is typical of a free competitive economy. If manufacturers produce and stores stock something which people don't want, the goods tarnish on the shelves and must be sold at a loss or not at all. For, when the customer becomes dissatisfied, there's always a manufacturer who makes what he does want and a store which sells it. And that's where his business goes.

In a socialized or government-controlled economy the case is utterly different. The government decides what shall be produced, in what quantity and quality, and at what price it will be sold. If the consumer doesn't happen to like the article, it's his tough luck. He has to take it or go without—for no one is allowed to make or sell a competitive product. This totalitarian method of controlling consumption has reached its full flowering in Russia, where the people's living standards are incredibly low as compared with ours.

Yes, in this country the customer is boss. And our economic system is responsible for that fact.

Who knows what everybody wants . . . ?

Resolutions have been introduced in Congress calling for investigations of radio and television programs, books, magazines and comic books. The purpose of the investigations would be to eliminate "immoral, obscene or otherwise offensive matter" along with publications and programs that place "improper emphasis on crime, violence and corruption."

The purpose is desirable, but it won't be easy to achieve.

In certain extreme cases there would be little argument as to the unfitness of matter for publication or broadcasting in any form. But where to draw the line will be the problem. Some people would ban everything from the public which does not measure up to their own excessively rigid standards. Others would consider anything but out-and-out vulgarity as acceptable.

The real censorship must come from the public itself. It is the public alone which can effectively put an end to the "immoral, obscene or otherwise offensive matter," whether in printed form or on the airways.

Maybe the investigations will at least help to arouse the public to this fact—and the need for action.

We learn that the blackbirds are very destructive in Los Nietos and give farmers as much trouble as if they were grasshoppers. One man had to replant his corn patch, the blackbirds having totally destroyed that first planted.

There are myriads of swallows on the plains near town, more than have ever been seen before.

Mr. Tyomery Queen's circus will visit Los Angeles soon and will exhibit in Anaheim immediately thereafter.

Rabbits are numerous in the swamp and are making such havoc among the pumpkins.

An adjourned meeting of Trustees was held in the Town hall yesterday. Section 4 of ordinance IX was amended to read: Every circus company for each performance shall pay ten dollars and every acrobatic company for each performance shall pay $5.

The following was added to section 7 of Ordinance XIII: It shall be unlawful for a person to take picket or otherwise fasten any animal so that while so fastened it may cross or obstruct the driving way of any street or road. Every person so offending shall be fined not to exceed $20. Special instructions were given to the marshal respecting the issuance of liquor licenses.

It was moved and seconded that the Water company be allowed the use of the Town hall for their meetings.

A small cyclone which uprooted a row of trees, removed roofs from barns and other outbuildings and caused slight damage to the Hacienda Country Club, visited La Habra Heights section, just over the Orange county line in Los Angeles county early Monday afternoon. WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The steel cables which once roped off the sidewalk in front of Blair House are now removed, so also the little guardhouses once occupied by the White House police.

They were placed where immediately after two Puerto Rican fanatics ran down Pennsylvania ave., their guns blazing, mowing down two guards in an insane, abortive attempt on the life of the president.

Today people can walk along the sidewalk of Pennsylvania ave., without going out in the street to avoid the barriers. But the root reason for the attempt on the president's life has not been removed.

In fact, security measures to protect his life and that of the governor of Puerto Rico, Luis Munoz Marin, were tightened last week because the new constitution of Puerto Rico is now up for debate in Congress. Governor Munoz Marin, who was attacked in San Juan simultaneously with the attack on Truman, is now under special guard in Washington, and the name of the hotel where he is stopping is kept a secret.

The attempts on the lives of the governor and the president were made by Puerto Rican fanatics who demanded that Puerto Rico be completely independent of the United States. They bitterly opposed the new constitution which sets up a model, middle-of-the -road partnership with the USA, as merely continuing Yankee rule.

Simultaneously, from another group, the New Puerto Rican constitution has been under fire. This group, not fanatical in the physical sense, but almost fanatical in its desire to preserve the status quo, is in the House of Representatives.

After a bill was passed by both Houses of Congress permitting Puerto Rico to adopt a new constitution, and after the carefully drafted constitution was overwhelmingly adopted by a plebiscite of the Puerto Rican people, it was suddenly blocked in the House last week by GOP Congressman Charley Halleck of Indiana.

• • •

TWO CADILLAC CHARLEY—Halleck, frequently called, "Two Cadillac Charley," because he came to Washington a man of modest means and suddenly blossomed out with two Cadillacs, was rather vague about reasons for opposing the Puerto Rican constitution. He didn't like the fact that it prohibited child labor, though the United States does, too; and he also objected to Section 20 which sets forth the Puerto Rican goal of a job for every man.

Other Republicans, equally conservative, disagreed with Halleck. Congressman "Doc" Miller of Nebraska, a strong MacArthur booster and a student of the Puerto Rican constitution, pointed out that it would not have permitted seizure of the steel mills or taking over newspapers.

"Do you object to the fact that it would prevent the government from seizing the steel mills?" asked Congressman Miller. "Do you object to this ban against wiretapping?"

Halleck had no convincing answer.

His friend, Congressman Fred Crawford of Michigan, another conservative Republican, also championed the constitution, but the gentleman from Indiana continued to object, not only to the constitution, but even to permitting a vote on it. Halleck waned to bottle the bill up in the Rules committee, thus stifling free discussion. Several Dixiecrats supported him.

Thus, while the extreme radicals of Puerto Rico are ready to assassinate the president and Governor Munoz Marin if the constitution is adopted, the extreme reactionaries in Congress are ready to assassinate the constitution.

NEW YORK (AP)—The oddity almanac:

The Dagmar (1922-1927) was just one of 2,500 kinds of automobiles made in America since the turn of the century . . . only 21 survive today in this fiercely competitive industry . . . Studebaker, which started making covered wagons 100 years ago, claims to be the oldest firm still in existence . . . but dad or grandad will recall going courting in cars bearing such vanished trade names as Mercer, Rickenbacker, Oldfield, Maxwell, Velie and Stutz Bearcat.

• • •

SPEAKING of covered wagons, did you know that some 1,700,000 Americans now live in trailer coaches? . . . In 12 years the industry's annual sales rose from $10,000,000 to $248,000,000 . . . The length of the standard trailer has increased from 15 feet to 30, and you can buy 'em up to 45 feet . . . These have four rooms and stall showers . . . Until the government entered the market, 68 per cent of the trailers were bought by defense workrs, 25 per cent by servicemen. Suggested industry theme song: "Oh, the Sun Shines Bright . . . On My Old Kentucky Trailer."

• • •

GOVERNMENT ECONOMY note: Industrialist Fred A. Wirt says the federal debt of about 260 billion dollars means that "every infant born in the U.S. assumes, the second he or she draws breath, a debt of $1,700" . . . Maybe that explains why the first thing babies do in this world is to break out crying . . . Who wants a mortgage on his diaper at birth?

• • •

FACT-IS-STRANGER-than-fiction department: The Columbia Gazeteer says only 30 Russian towns are named after Stalin to 36 for Sergei Kirov, A Soviet bigwig assassinated in 1934. Many of the coach dogs you see in firehouses never hear the firebell . . . The Dalmation breed has a high percentage of deafness. Tulips, now commonplace, were worth more than their weight in gold after they were introduced into Holland from Turkey in 1565 . . . Such a mania for them swept Europe that a single tulip bulb once sold for a load of grain, four oxen, 12 sheep, five pigs, two tubs of butter, 1,000 pounds of cheese, four barrels of beer, two hogsheads of wine, a suit of clothes, and silver drinking cup.

After a drop in value like that you'd think a tulip would be ashamed to hold its head up today.

• • •

CHILDREN-AND-small-animals department: A report has just reached us from Australia of the arrest of a kangaroo for shoplifting . . . Its owner had trained it to steal items and hide them in its pouch . . . Detectives seized the kangaroo when an alarm clock it had secreted on its person unexpectedly began to ring . . . The surprised animal immediately made a full confession and blamed the whole thing on its owner.

Editor's Note: This newspaper is unable to vouch for all of the strange facts in Boyle's Almanac, and particularly this one.)

THE ALMANAC'S editorial: The Tax Foundation says that the average American today is paying 32 cents out of every dollar for direct or hidden taxes . . . This is true of everybody except hermits in the woods . . . Well, we say, why should hermits be a privileged class? . . . When is the government going to hunt down these life-dodgers, bring them to town and make them pay their fair share of the load for civilization, whether they want it or not? . . . It's about time, say we.

THE ALMANAC'S monthly sports forecasts: The New York Giants will soon go into a sharp slump, and when they emerge Manager Leo Durocher's hair will be thinner than ever . . . Today Manager Mel Ott, the old New York Giant star and skipper, is enthusiastic. "Gregg is doing a terrific job," he said. "His curve ball is working swell and he has plenty of speed. This year, for the first time, he is throwing a slider and he has learned to control it.

"Hal always had good stuff. The back ailment really got him down. It doesn't bother him now. He has the enthusiasm of a kid just breaking in. His competitive spirit is great. He is ambitious to get back to the big league. I think he will make it."

Gregg has appeared in 13 games, pitching 67 innings, allowing 31 bases on balls, and striking out 34.

He started in organized ball in 1941 with Brooklyn's Santa Barbara farm club in the California League.

The Kwikset plant is located at 516 E. Santa Ana st.

Strikes Named Cause of Increase In Unemployment

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — California's unemployment insurance claims followed an eccentric pattern for the week ending May 8, featured by a 43 per cent increase in new claims, the state department of employment reported here today.

The increase, it was believed, was occasioned by several strikes throughout the state.

Claimants filed 26,308 new claims for insurance during the week, and 136,932 claims of all types were filed. The department paid off $8,075 persons.

In the Santa Ana office, 702 new claims were filed; 1316 total claims, and 1114 claims were paid.

The new claims filed for the state compared to 18,404 the previous week; 132,056 total claims filed, and 102,673 paid, the department said.

Annual Search to Begin Soon For Queen of Orange County Fair

Plans are being announced this week on the county-wide contest for selection of a high school girl to reign as Queen of the 1952 Orange County fair scheduled for Aug. 13-17, inclusive, at the fairgrounds on the former Santa Ana Army Air Base.

Elimination contests in each of the twelve county high school districts are expected to get under way immediately and be completed before June 28, according to Bob Fullenwider, manager of the Orange County fair. A civic organization or similar group will again be invited to sponsor each district elimination contest.

Queen of last year's Orange County fair was Marlene Anderson, pretty 16-year-old brunette and a senior at Newport Harbor High. Her court of honor, composed of the other finalists, included: Sharon Labourdette of Anaheim High, Darlene Bergman of Brea-Olinda High, Donna Schurr of Garden Grove High, Wanda Coffman of Fullerton High, Pat Calloway of Huntington Beach High, Barbara Pletts of Laguna Beach High, Joanne Wells of Santa Ana High, Caryln Weimer of Orange High, Marcia Jensch of San Juan Capistrano High, Barbara Juvonen of Tustin High, and Barbara Dolbee of Valencia High.

THE CONTEST is open to girls who have been regularly enrolled in an Orange county high school during the 1951-52 term and who have been bonafide residents of the district for 30 days prior to the local judging. Entrants must be unmarried, must not have been divorced and must agree not to marry prior to Aug 18, 1952. Finalists chosen in preliminary district contests must also agree to be present at the fairgrounds each day of the 1952 Orange County Fair. Professional modeling experience will disqualify a candidate.

Orange County Fair officials state that contestant will not be required to solicit or buy any votes or coupons, nor will they be required to buy or sell any item. Judging will be based upon personality, poise, beauty and character with the same emphasis applied to each qualification.

The twelve winners in district elimination contests will be eligible to compete in the finals set for the opening day of the fair, Aug. 13. These finalists will be guests of the fair management during the five days of the event.

Olive Eighth Graders to Present Play

A one-act play, "Buddy Goes Literary" will be presented by the eighth grade of the Olive Elementary school on Friday evening, May 23, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Buddy, a studious boy who can't quite make the grade in mathematics but loves to write poetry is played by Jerry Roper. His father, played by Michael Thompson is quite disgusted with him, especially when Buddy makes a mistake in delivering some letters. The receiver of the letters, his father's client, played by Eleanor Laws, and his sister's boy friend, played by Ralph Williams become very disturbed and even Buddy's mother, played by Carol Ann Shell begins to lose faith in him. However, Mr. Masterson, played by Reginald Reyes, helps restore Buddy's confidence by bringing good news from the National poetry contest.

The school principal, payed by Annie Cruz, and Buddy's sisters, played by Mary Aguilar and Diane Biel will also assist in providing laughs in this rollicking comedy.

Admission prices for children is 10 cents and adults 25 cents. The money will be used for the eighth grade annual excursion to Catalina Island.

Olive Improvement Group Holds Meet

The Olive Improvement club met Tuesday evening with a potluck dinner served in the dining room of the Civic Center by Mesdames Oliver Burdg, Robert Lemke, Herman Lemke, Walter Otte, Walter Meier, and George Heimemann.

Visitors welcomed were Harry Niehouse, Mr. and Mrs. Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Richardson, Mrs. Barbara Garrison, Martell Thompson, and David Farrell. Door prizes were received by Mrs. Grover Lewellyn, Earl Rogers, Chester Caples, Mrs. Herbert Meierhoff, Herman Lemke, Mrs. C. M. Burbank, and Donald Quick.

Discussion was held on the question of the consolidation of the schools in the Orange high school district and a committee of Clyde Fairbairn, Walter Meier, and August Heinemann was appointed to study the matter.

A. W. Ames, program chairman, introduced Miss Judy Newman who presented members of her studio classes in song, dance, and musical numbers.

The elementary school board of Anaheim will meet Friday at 1 p.m. to canvass the vote of the recent school board election and to award bids for school furniture.
