OFFICIALS REVEAL DISNEYLAND DETAILS

Huge Manhunt Launched For Phoenix Kidnaper

PHOENIX (AP)—A valise presumed to be the one in which $75,000 in ransom money was transmitted to the kidnaper of Mrs Evelyn Ann Smith, 23, wealthy young Phoenix woman, was found today on the desert near Florence Junction, the Maricopa County sheriff's office disclosed.

The sheriff's office also said a thermos jug and some food had been found with the valise.

Mounted deputies, using 50 bloodhounds, immediately took off across the desert in search of the kidnaper of Mrs. Smith. The sheriff's office spokesman said footprints had been spotted and were being traced, although it was uncertain who had made them.

Florence Junction is about 50 miles east of here.

Footprints about four miles off Highwy 60-70 between Florence and Apache Junction also were being followed in one of the most intense manhunts in Arizona history. Special FBI agents, mounted possee members, the Arizona Highway Patrol and radio-equipped squad cars stationed in the search area took part.

Husband Risked Life

Mrs. Smith, somewhat bruised and emotionally upset but otherwise in good health, was released yesterday after her husband risked his life to follow a fantastic trail of kidnap notes and made a pay-off to a masked man in the foothills of the Superstition Mountains, some 40 miles east of here.

McCarthy Tells Of 'Disagreement' With Cohn

WASHINGTON (UP)— Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy said today he and Roy M. Cohn "disagreed" on trying to get Pvt. G. David Schine away from his Army duties and "I thought Cohn was wrong."

McCarthy said, however, that he did not actually feel Cohn was "unreasonable," although he used that word to describe Cohn's attitude in a telephone talk with Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens.

The cross-examination of McCarthy was interruped dramatically by Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (RVt) who handed McCarthy a message informing him he intended to make another Senate speech today attacking McCarthy. Flanders, in a Senate speech two weeks ago, compared McCarthy to Adolf Hiter. McCarthy again challenged Flanders to testify under oath at the Army McCarthy hearings.

Contradicts Adams

In the 32nd day of the hearings, McCarthy testified:

1. Army counselor John G. Adams did not complain to him about "abuse" from Cohn in Schine's behalf. This contradicted Adams' sworn testimony about a Dec. 9 conversation with McCarthy.

2. Schine was not indispensable to the subcommittee, but his group dropped two proposed investigations, of the movie and press sections of the U.S. Information Service, because of his departure for Army duty.

3. Stevens never asked him to call off the subcommittee's Fort Monmouth, N.J., hearings. Reminded that Stevens had testified that he did make such a request, McCarthy said "the secretary has proven he has a very, very bad memory."

First Work To Begin Next Week

A Mississippi sternwheeler steam boat will soon be making regular trips up a river in the city of Anaheim and children will be able to clamber aboard a rocket ship here to experience all the thrills of a trip to the moon.

These and other startling revelations were told Anaheim city officials, civic and business leaders and county officials last night as top Disneyland executives discussed the fabulous project soon to be built in south Anaheim. The occasion was the regular monthly meeting of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce Board of directors at the Anaheim Elks club.

C. V. Wood, vice - president and general manager of Disneyland, told awed guests of the gigantic land of "yesterday, tomorrow and fantasy" that Walt Disney, famed cartoon creator, plans to build in Anaheim.

As a member of the group that made the original search for the "best location money can buy" for the project, Wood told guests how the search which alone cost Disney $15,000, gradually narrowed down to a five mile radius around Anaheim, and how the present site—west of Harbor boulevard, east of West St. and straddling Cerritos—was picked and purchased with the cooperation of 15 property owners in the area.

Work to Start

Wood said first work on the project was slated to get under way by June 17 — next Thursday — when some of the trees on the site would be removed. Completion of the wonderland is scheduled for July 1955.

Idea for the project was first evidenced by Disney, Wood said, in 1939, when he purchased land in Los Angeles county for his studio and set aside 10 acres of the property for an idea he called "Disneyland." Since that time Disney has been planning the project although the first active work toward the development was not started until about 10 years ago when his plans began to take shape.

Now plans for the amazing development call for a river containing seven million gallons of water to be constructed to float a Mississippi sternwheeler steam boat that will make regular trips with passengers up and down the river.

Along the river will be constructed replicas of such historical spots as Mt. Vernon, and others. A large rocket ship will offer children a "trip to the moon" with all the thrills of space flight simulated for the young space travelers. In a 25,000 square foot covered area will be the land of tomorrow where top industries of the nation —such as Du Pont, Santa Fe, General Electirc and many others — will install and maintain exhibits on what wonders the world can expect from the industries of the future.

Huge Parking Lot

Other features of the project include parking for 10,000 cars, facilities for feeding approximately 5000 persons per hour, employment for about 700 persons and eventual-

Southeast Anaheim Residents Watch Strange Antics of 'Flying Saucer'

Astronomers all over the world are preparing for the "visit" of the planet Mars on July 2 when it will swing to within 45,000,000 miles of the earth, the closest it has approached since 1941, and apparently the Martians are taking as much interest in the planet Earth as we are in Mars, because a "visitor from outer space" or something paid a visit to Anaheim last night at about 10:30 and fascinated several Anaheimers for nearly an hour with its strange behavior.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Underwood, 907 South Claudina St., first saw the strange object and called it to the attention of their neighbor, Bob Mobarry, 201 Narda St., who stated this morning that at first he thought Underwood was playing a joke until he went out and saw the "thing" himself. Also verifying the fact is Mrs. Walter W. Vatcher, 200 East Vermont St., who joined the others in the heavenly spectacle. Soon, residents of the whole neighborhood were craning their necks skyward.

Everyone who saw the "flying saucer" described it as being very bright, circular and having prongs protruding from the edges. Mobarry stated that he and several other looked at it through a pair of binoculars and could see the prongs quite clearly. He further described it as being very awing and in the scheme of the stars, quite amazing. He said that it appeared to change side which appeared to be swinging on its axis and had a large column or shaft extending from the right ing. The object was like a round ball with another section at about the one o'clock position, in relation with the earth, and then a long shaft extending up and to the right which appeared to come and go. Around the left side there appeared a bright red corona and the prongs elongated periodically. In the binoculars, it appeared to be a reflection of the sun with the prongs shooting out of the edges. However, he said he couldn't explain what or how the sun would be reflected, if it was the sun's reflection.

Mrs. Vatcher said that it had a bright red light which was as bright as the tail lights on a car. She called the Anaheim police and reported it and also the tower at

Reds Seal Off French On Delta

HANOI, Indochina (UP)—Communist forces virtually have sealed off the French-held Red River day.

The sources said first of the Communist columns marching southeast from Dien Bien Phu have reached Than Hoa 75 mile due south of Hanoi.

The bulk of Red units totalling several battalions from various regiments were reported only two or three days march behind.

Than Hoa is one of the oldest Minh bases in North Indochina, and strongest Communist Vietsituated near the coast and straddling the coastal road and railroad.

The effect of the move to Than Hoa is to form a horseshoe around the Red River Valley, with the open ends anchored on the sea.

Meanwhile, far to the west, French pilots in Americansupplied planes blasted some of the 100,000 Communist regular troops and guerrillas in that portion of the Red River Delta.

A French High Command spokesman said the bombers rocked rebel bases in the northeast section of Indochina's great rice bowl, hitting hardest at stockpiles in Nghai Phu and Co Noi.

St. Jude Hospital Drive Ends as Fund Goal Reached

The public subscription of $750,000 for the construction of St Jude hospital, in Sunny Hills, has been reached and construction on the $2,000,000 100-bed hospital will commence in October, it was announced today by Harvey E. Stonehouse, general chairman of the fund campaign drive.

The goal was reached when Adolf Schoepe, Anaheim, gave the hospital building fund a check for $2500 in order to bring the campaign to a swift and successful conclusion.

The hospital will be operated by the Sisters of St. Joseph, who also operate the highly successful St. Joseph hospital in Orange and other hospitals in California. The facilities of St. Jude will be available to all who need them.

The Sisters of St. Joseph also are contributing $750,000 to the construction and equipping of St. Jude. An additional $500,000 is expected from a Hill-Burton federal hospital grant sometime in August. The need for the hospital has been established with Hill-Burton administrators, and the St. Jude priority is high on the Hill-Burton list.

The successful completion of the drive has been under the leadership of Stonehouse, who has neglected his other interests in order to devote full time to the drive.

Stonehouse stated that the campaign goal has been accomplished through the cooperative efforts of the petroleum industry, manufacturing, the medical profession, service and church organizations, and individual public subscriptions which include large-scale fund drives in Fullerton, Placentia, La Habra, Anaheim, Buena Park, Yorba Linda and Brea.

Among those sending congratulations to Stonehouse was Oscar Schultz, president of the Mother Colony Hospital Association of Anaheim. That group has withheld its campaign to raise funds to construct a hospital in Anaheim awaiting the successful completion of the St. Jude drive.

Anaheim Boy Injured When Car Hits Bike

Minor injuries were sustained yesterday afternoon by Robert Leonard Johnson Jr., 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Johnson Sr., of 231 Everszeen St., when he was struck by an automobile while riding his bicycle.

Police reported that the car was driven by Howard William Stanton, 43, 1498 East Birch St., a U. S. Navy sailor. Stanton reportedly told investigating officers that he was going south on Birch street at about 20 miles per hour and that young Johnson rode out of an alley into the front of his car and he struck the bike throwing the boy to the ground. Stanton was able to bring his automobile to almost an immediate stop.

The boy was taken to Dr. McAllister for treatment of a scratch aemination, however, the police said along his right ribs and an extha the boy didn't complain of any other hurts.

Stanton was not cited and the boy was released to his parents.

AUHS Plans Brochure To Tell Tax Need

Last night the Anaheim High School Board of Trustees launched the first plans for a brochure explaining in detail the reason why the proposed 50 cent increase in taxation for the junior high schools operation is necessary. Brochures will be available next week.

Denial of costs for attendance of the Faculty Club president at the National Education Association convention at New York City this month was recorded as was the attendance costs of delegates of non - certificated employes at the convention at Sacramento. Approval was given, however, for leave of absence from their jobs if the delegates wished to foot their own expenses, this to include the leave for the Faculty Club head.

Two teachers were hired. They are Lawrence P. Decker, science department and Ray Earl Draper, math and science, both teachers are for Fremont Junior High school.

More Than 160 Doctors Celebrate 65th Year of County Medical Group

BUENA PARK (OCNS)—Celebrating its 65th anniversary, the Orange County Medical Association held an informal banquet amid the early-day setting of Knott's Berry Farm last night attended by more than 160 doctors, guests, and their wives.

New officers of the OCA Auxiliary were installed in an impressive ceremony which included the transfer of golden keys of office to income officers, followed by a short speech outlining the history of the group by Mrs. Joseph G. Tirico, Santa Ana, outgoing president.

Installing officer was Mrs. Samuel Gendel, Fullerton, who was president in 1952-53. Officers installed were: Mrs. Ardath H. Wightman, Laguna Beach, president; Mrs. Legrand D. Spencer, Brea, president-elect; Mrs G. Emmett Raitt; Santa Ana, first vice-president; Mrs. Arthur B. Wade, Santa Ana, second vice-president; Mrs. A. Norton Donaldson, Santa Ana, recording secretary; Mrs. Thomas E. Hanigan, Santa Ana, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edgar E. Struve, Fullerton, treasurer; and Ms. Tirico, the outgoing president.

Honored guests were Orange County's senior physicians who were admitted to membership in the association prior to 1915.

The first was Dr. Herbert A. Johnston, Fullerton, the first member of the society. The other doctors honored were Dr. Charles C. Violett, Garden Grove, 91, who is still practicing; Dr. William H. Wickett Sr. Fullerton; Dr. John McAuley, admitted to the OCMA in 1915 and still actively practicing; and Dr. Harry E. Zaiser, OCMA president in 1918.

Marine Lieutenant Said Victim of Suicide

SAN CLEMENTE, (OCNS) — A 23-year-old Los Angeles Marine Lieutenant reportedly committed suicide this morning in the beach community of San Clemente. The Orange County Coroner's office identified the young officer as Lieutenant Vern Muschett of Los Angeles.

Deputy Coroner Roger Burnham says the coroner's office has decided that no foul play was involved in the Marine's death. Burnham says Muschett died of carbon monoxide posioning early today. Earlier, San Clemente police, the Coroners office and Marine Corps officials at Camp Pendleton, where the Lieutenant was stationed had refused to give any details in the case, claiming they were investigating possible murder leads.

The officer lived in a rented home with three other marines at 144 La Esperanza Drive., San Clemente.

New Research Lab Nears Completion At Robertshaw Factory in Anaheim

A new laboratory nearing completion here by Robertshaw-Fulton Controls Company will be devoted solely to the research and development of "advanced, intricate and complex devices required by modern warfare," it was announced today by John A. Robertshaw president.

Robertshaw said this was the company's way of backing the country's policy of strong national defense, now and for the future, as it did during World War II and the Korean conflict, when all Robertshaw-Fulton divisions were engaged in quantity production of war materials for the armed forces. "We are not waiting for an emergency to intensify our efforts to keep America well ahead of its defense requirements," he said.

The new laboratory forms part of the company's Anaheim Division, which for the past several years has devoted its entire production to components for guided missiles, aircraft asemblie, electronic device for remote direction of anti - aircraft weapons, and other instruments for the armed forces.

The installation will contain modern and fully equipped electronics and dynamics laboratories.It will contain the plant cafeteria capable of seating 240 persons.

Robertshaw - Fulton also maintains a research and development laboratory for home appliance controls at the Grayson Division, located in Lynwood, Cal. In addition, the company has extensive new research facilities under construction in other parts of the country, as part of a $4,000,000 national expansion program.

Roosevelts Settle All Differences In Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES (UP) — James Roosevelt and his estranged wife have "completely settled all differences" and indicated they will seek an uncontested separation or divorce.

The apparent armistice meant Mrs. Roosevelt's charge that he was unfaithful with an even dozen women would be removed from the court calendar.

It also meant that Roosevelt, lanky son of the late President, would be able to campaign for Congress without the cloud of adultery charges hanging over him.

Roosevelt scored a landslide Democratic primary victory Tuesday, despite the widely publicized charges and the Democratic National Committee's consequent refusal to back him.

Differences Settled

His wife, Romelle, had previously agreed to delay action until after the primary race. But a complete settlement appeared on its way after attorneys for both sides announced yesterday that the couple had "completely settled all differences."

All lawsuits now on file will go off the court calendar, the attorneys said. In addition, the lawyers started the ball rolling with an agreement to remove from the calendar Roosevelt's scheduled filing of an answer to his wife's separate maintenance suit.

Roosevelt's attorney, Samuel B. Picone said "a private agreement acceptable to both parties has been concluded... which completely settles their differences."

An almost identical statement was released by Mrs. Roosevelt's attorneys.

Asked $3500 Monthly

In her original action, Mrs. Roosevelt asked $3500 a month support for herself and their three children.

The suit named three women as co-respondents and nine others were named in a photostatic copy of a "kiss and tell" letter from her husband admitting alleged intimacies.

Roosevelt said he wrote her the "kiss and tell" letter because she threatened to "blackmail" him during his father's term as President.

He denied the romances and said he had believed his wife destroyed the letter when they made a fresh start upon his return from World War II service as a Marine officer.

Tri-City Annex Row to Continue Without Jury

SANTA ANA, (OCNS) — Arguments on the hot three-city Coyote Hills annexation hassle will be resumed at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Orange County Superior Court, Department 5, Judge John Shea presiding. Shea ruled Wednesday a jury will not be called in the torrid hassle. He maintained it was a matter of "code and something for a judge to settle."

The judge indicated to the OCNS that the struggle will be concluded in much less than the two weeks earlier announced.

Shea also determined yesterday there were unsufficient protests to halt the annexation issue. He said a total of 66 official protests were necessary and only 64 have been lodged.

Fullerton is out to annex 1766 acres north of the city, bounded by city limits, Imperial Highway, Puente St. and Los Angeles County Line. La Habra and Brea seek to annex ground in the same area. Former is after 85 acres south of Imperial and west of Highway 101. Brea's proposed annex is a 200-foot strip along Imperial.

Arguments were suspended Tuesday and continued Wednesday.

Fullerton City Attorney Walter Chaffee, who was slated to fly to Washington D.C. today on business, and Richard Drukker are representing Fullerton. William S. Scully is handling the protests of Fullerton resident Elvin Wilson, who is opposing the annexation. Arguing the Brea and La Habra side of the question are Fred Forgy and Harold McCabe.

Pair File Suit To Possess Store Here

A suit for possession of an Anaheim store building and for damages has been filed by Stephen A. and Agne L. Rimpau in Superior Court against Alpha Beta Food Markets, Inc.

The Rimpaus asserted the building at 406 East Center St. was leased by the market firm July 31, 1951, at $600 monthly minimum rental plus 1½ per cent of the gross in excess of $40,000 per month.

They also alleged in their suit that the chain had moved its merchandise and fixtures from the address April 1 1954, ceasing to conduct business there and kept it vacant to persuade customers to go to a new store location.

Asserting that the action is in violation of terms of the agreement and that they had expended $100 to obtain a new lease for the property with another firm at a minimum of $800 a month plus 1 per cent of the gross over $70,000, the Rimpaus alleged the firm refused to relinquish the building.

Restitution of the premises, plus $2450 damages plus $1000 expenses were asked by the Rimpaus.

FORD 3 Lower down payment...lower monthly payments! Ford's initial purchase price is less. Your Ford Dealer's trade-in allowance is higher. As a result, you pay less down...take longer to pay...in smaller monthly payments that won't strain your budget. Talk it over with your friendly Ford Dealer today. See how easy it is to own a new '54 Ford.

FORD 4 The most popular car in the West today! For the past nine months Ford has outsold every other make of car in Southern California. It leads nationally, too! Ford leads because Ford is far ahead of its field in style, performance, power and economy.

FORD 5 Only Ford offers a choice of V-8 or Six! Two great tested engines—take your choice. I-Block 115 H.P. Mileage Maker Six or Y-Block 130 H.P. V-8—the most modern low-friction high-compression engines in the industry. And your choice, too, of 14 different Ford body styles and 134 different exterior-interior color and upholstery combinations.

FORD 6 Higher re-sale value! Nationally recognized used car guide books substantiate the fact that Ford is the most wanted car among used car buyers. This means Ford is easiest to sell...the car that commands the highest price. No wonder Ford is worth more when you buy...worth more when you sell!

Stocks Register Vigorous Advance

NEW YORK (UP)—Stocks registered a vigorous advance with a few sensational movers enlivening the weekend session.

Mid-Continent Petroleum oared more than eight points to a new high. Big investment trusts were reportedly bidding against each other for the stock.

Union Pacific got into action and ran up more than seven points. That railroad is said to have enough oil income to cover its fixed charges and preferred dividends with some left over for common stock. Also it recently made a big titanium and iron discovery in Wyoming.

Steels were given a whirl under the lead of U. S. Steel which along with Arco and Bethlehem gained more than a point. Motors gained fractions some of the television issues were bid up. Aircrafts ruled steady to firm.

Scientists Put More Pop in Popcorn Now

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UP) — It may be too dark in the movie for you to notice it, but they're putting more pop in your popcorn.

The bigger pop is the triumph of Purdue University geneticists who have been trying for 14 years to coax more cups of popped corn from one cup of unpopped corn.

Their current record is 36 cups. A few years back 30 was considered tops.

Purdue's popcorn project, headed by associate geneticist O. E. Nelson, is credited with helping make Indiana the biggest popcorn state in the nation. The Hoosier crop in 1953 was worth $2,827,000.

Last year U. S. farmers planted 191,000 acres in popcorn, more than enough to keep movie fans from starving to death during double features.

In their laboratory echoing with muffled staccato explosions, Nelson and his aides have come up with a yellow-grained corn known as "202." The researchers say its "expansion ratio" and "burst measurement" are terrific.

Theater owners think it's terrific, too. The bigger the pieces of popcorn, the fewer it takes to fill a 10-cent bag. Nelson says the consumer should be happy as well, because "the more a kernel expands the crisper, flakier and more tender it is."

DIABETIC DOG

LYNN, Mass (UP)—For more than five years, Scoter, a 15-year-old cocker spaniel afflicted with diabetes, has been given daily injections of insulin. The owner, Rocco Matrona, says that without the injections the dog would die.

Launch Huge Manhunt For Phoenix Kidnaper

and mother of two children was kidnaped Wednesday as she left a beauty parlor here. Her abductor apparently had not harmed or molsted her.

The young housewife told FBI agents she believed her abductor was suffering from cancer.

"He told me that he had cancer and expects to die soon," she said she told her. "He said the kidnaping was to provide him a last fling."

"He gave the impression he was from Chicago," she added.

The area, hundreds of square miles in size, was guarded and searched by FBI agents, sheriff's deputies and other lawmen. Roadblocks were established. Bloodhounds from the Florence State Prison followed a trail picked up from beside Mrs. Smith's abandoned car at the foot of the mountains.

At least five airplanes, including four in the sheriff's air patrol, cruised low over the area with airmen in jeeps and on horseback below. Many of the lawmen were disguised as prospectors, tourists and desert wastrels.

The search is under the closemouthed auspices of the federal men—a crew from Washington, D.C. which specialized in kidnap cases. The crew was flown here early yesterday, some hours before the dramatic release of Mrs. Smith late in the afternoon. The area hunted is so vast and treacherous, however, that a 50-year-old search for the fabulous Lost Dutchman gold mine has resulted in the fruitless deaths of more than 20 persons. It is arid, rocky and filled with shafts of forgotten diggins.

A parallel hunt is being conducted in metropolitan Phoenix where a possible second kidnaper may be hiding. Mrs. Smith spoke of hearing two men talking while she was locked for five hours in the trunk of her own Oldsmobile coupe. All together, she was held nearly 30 hours in the back of the car. The ransom note also spoke of "we", and one of the instruction notes—sent to the Smith home in a bouquet of red roses—hardly could have been dispatched by her captor while they were hidden in the desert.

Mrs. Smith disappeared from her socialite background when she left Reidell's beauty shop at about 1 p.m. Wednesday. In mid-afternoon, her husband received an anonymous call at his office.

"You can pick up your golf clubs at Ed's place a quarter of a mile from Apache Junction," a man's voice said, adding, "You'll find a note."

Pick up Notes

Smith thought it was a prank, but when he returned home at 7:10 p.m. to find his wife missing, he notified police. He also recalled that his golf clubs were in his wife's car.

Sam Smith, Herbert's father, and Deputy Sheriff Paul Mullenix picked up the golf clubs and the ransom note. It asked for $75,000 for the return alive of Mrs. Smith.

"Knowing the penalty for kidnaping we are gambling our lives," the note said. "If you want to gamble the life of your wife and children call in the police or mark the money."

A long series of such notes followed, hidden under stones, at cattle crossings and at old mine claim monuments. The trail ended seven miles deep in the Superstition Mountain area. Smith was instructed by the last note to get out of the car and walk in a certain direction. He did.

Sitting on Ledge

Finally he came upon his wife's parked car and heard her cry to him.

She was sitting on a mountain ledge above him.

On a higher ledge stood the masked kidnaper. He had a rifle in one hand, a revolver in the other, and wore binoculars around his neck. He fired a warning shot.

Smith dropped the valise containing the ransom money and all of the typewritten notes, as per instructions. He was then permitted to climb up and help his wife down the mountainside.

The kidnaper picked up the ransom money and, according to authorities, said he was going to walk the nearly 26 miles to civilization. Smith drove the pay-off car home and abandoned his wife's auto where it was parked.

ly a complete studio from which original Disneyland productions will emanate.

Wood said that, as of now, no admission charge to the grounds is planned . . . . If it should become necessary to charge admission, though, he pointed out, "it should not exceed 25 cents per person". . . He added that the grounds would probably remain open from 10 to 10 daily through the summer, and from 11 to 7 in the winter months. He said the project expects to handle more than four million visitors a year with about one and one-half million of these to come from out - of - state.

With Wood at last night's meeting were Nat Winecoff, vice president of WED enterprises, a Disney corporation, and Joe Fowler, Adm. USN Ret., who is administrator of construction and design for the project.

Disney Quoted

Winecoff, in a brief message to the audience, quoted Disney on the project:

"Disneyland will be a place to find happiness . . . a place where parents and children can get to know each other better . . . it is based upon and dedicated to the dreams and realities of America."

An invitation to the Disneyland studio, July 8, when all present could view colored drawings of the proposed wonderland, was extended to the audience and accepted. In addition to a Disneyland briefing, the Disney executives promised a sneak preview of parts of three upcoming Disney films.

City and chamber officials last night hailed the coming of Disneyland as the greatest thing that has ever happened to Anaheim and assured Wood and his aides that the city would extend its fullest cooperation to the project and work hand in hand to assure the realization of Disney's fabulous "land of yesterday, tomorrow and fantasy."

Residents Watch Antics Of 'Flying Saucer'

El Toro Marine Corps Air Facility to see if they had received any reports on it.

Some observers thought the object was really Mars, but this explanation was discarded because the thing was in the wrong place in the sky to be Mars. In any case, what ever it was didn't quite fit in with the constellations and stars in the sky at that hour they all said. The persons watched it for nearly an hour then got weary and retired. This morning, the neighborhood is checking with others to see if anyone else might have seen "Underwood's Folly" as the flying saucer is being called this morning.

DONATES PARK SITE—In order to provide a memorial park to her parents, Samuel Kraemer and Mrs. Angeline Yorba Kraemer, who founded the city of Placentia, Mrs. Angeline Kraemer Backs, 6301 South Kramer Ave., Placentia, recently donated another six-acre parcel adjoining a six-acre parcel she donated to the city last year, making a total of 12 acres for a park in the center of Placentia. The park, to be known as the Kraemer Memorial Park, will contain, among other things, Boy and Girl Scout houses, a municipal water works, a reservoir, fire department building, public library and other park facilities. Mrs. Backs is shown entering the City Clerk's office to have the deeds transferred to the city. (OCNS photo)

Kraemer Memorial Park in Placentia Assured with Donation of Property

By RAY RHOADS

PLACENTIA—(OCNS) — Through the extreme generosity of a member of the county's oldest family, Placentia will have a city park in one of the most beautiful natural locations in the area.

To be located in the center of town, the more than 12-acre parcel of land is not only ideally located, but is of perfect park typography with hills and valleys for almost any kind of park development desired by the city's new park board.

The land is being given by Mrs. Angeline Kraemer Backs in honor of her parents, Samuel Kraemer and Mrs. Angeline Yorba Kraemer. The park will be known as "Kraemer Memorial Park," in honor of the two founders of Placentia.

Included in the deeds that were accepted by the City Council here last week are provisions for Boy and Girl Scout houses, a municipal water works a reservoir, and elevated water tank, a fire department building, a public library and other park facilities as the city desires.

Provide Landscaping

With the land, Mrs. Backs and her husband, Edward Backs, gave the city the services of a landscape architect, Arthur Barton of Glendale. They provided that the city can use his services as they see fit.

In 1953 the Backs gave the first parcel of more than six acres to the city along with the services of his architect who drew up an entire park plan. Since that time the city appointed a park board headed by Douglas Martine, who was later elected to the City Council. The board decided after considering all circumstances, that an additional six acres adjacent to the first parcel should be included in the park. After further negotiations with the Backs, the second parcel was given to the city last week making a total of more than 12 acres of land.

Located in the center of town, between the city administrative office and the schools, the park will be in an ideal spot for maximum use and development. Its exact location includes all the area on the northwest side of Placentia and Chapman avenues, east of the Legion hall, with the exception of the occupied properties on the Northwest corner.

Water Company Stock

Also provided by the historic family were five shares of Anaheim Union Water Company stock which will provide ample water for Kraemer Memorial Park. There is a pipeline for the water already installed on the north side of the area. Edward Backs is a director of the Anaheim Union Water Company and realized the importance of providing ample water for the large area.

A unique situation has developed out of the water stock present. Legally, a provision had to be made in the deed that the stock cannot be encumbered for a length of time so that the water will always be available for park use. In drawing up the document, Attorney Robert Charles Mize of Santa Ana entered the following provision: "That the stock shall not be encumbered until 25 years in the life of Robert Charles Mize III, who is now 22 months old."

The lad fairly beamed during the presentation just as if he realized the importance of his new position.

Natural Name

City officials here explained that the name "Kraemer Memorial Park," is the natural one for such a development and would have undoubtedly borne the name even though Mrs. Backs had not requested it.

City Administrator Bill Cunningham said, "After all, the Kraemers founded Placentia, and Daniel Kraemer was one of the first settlers of Orange County. No one could have chosen a more appropriate name for a development of this kind."

Samuel Kraemer came to Orange County with his parents in 1865 from Illinois when he was only eight years old. His father, Daniel Kraemer was born in Bavaria and came to the United States when he was 26 years old. When Samuel's father arrived here, he bought the smallest parcel of land available which was 3900 acres. The land was part of the El Cajon Rancho and he bought it from the Ontravarious family for $4.00 per acre. The ranch included all of the Placentia area.

Pitched First Tent

Samuel Kraemer helped his father put much of the ranch into cultivation and helped pitch the first tent in the Placentia area without realizing that he was founding a new city.

In 1886 Kraemer was married to Angelina Yorba, a native of California, daughter of Prudencio Yorba and granddaughter of the famous Don Bernardo Yorba, who established one of California's first families.

Before that time the Yorbas and Kraemers were good friends and worked together in the development of the new country. A third family in the area at that time, and a good friend of the Yorbas, other families and Kraemers was Dr. John August Heyermann, the first registered doctor in Orange County. The doctor is the grandfather of Edward Backs, so Backs is a member of all three of the oldest families here.

Developed First Irrigation

Kraemer is well-known in this area for his development of irrigation as well as the Castilian Berry which he developed. He is credited with the first irrigation in the state and Kraemer is noted for his work here in the development of the Anaheim Union Water Company.

Kraemer was director of the First National Bank of Anaheim, the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Fullerton, of which he was president for one and one-half years, and a member of the board at the Placentia National Bank. All three of these banks are now a part of the Bank of America.

He was a member of the advisory board of the Placentia Mutual Orange Distributors Association and was responsible for the construction of an orange packing house here and was president of the Anaheim Union Water Company.

In the development of Placentia, he teamed with such men as William Crowther, A. B. Bradford, H. H. Hale and C. C. Chapman. He donated 19 acres for the Santa Fe station and side tracks after convincing the company to put their tracks through the new city.

Promoted Schools

He is also credited with the promotion of schools here even though he did not have the opportunity for a lot of formal education as a youth himself. He is instrumental in the formation of the Cajon School district and donated land for the construction of the first school house here. The district was later renamed the Placentia School District.

All in all, residents here feel that it is fitting that the park, which will be a great aid to the advancement of the city, should be built as a memento to the city's founders and developers, Samuel and Mrs. Angeline Yorba Kraemer.

Other members of the Kraemer family who will appreciate this memento to their mother and father are Mrs. Walter Muckenthaler of Fullerton; Mrs. Jack M. Roth of Duarte; Samuel P., Arnold R., Gilbert U., Lawrence P., and Louis T., all of Placentia.

State Gasoline Tax Apportionments To Orange County Cities Announced

SACRAMENTO — A new record total of $23,454,814.65 of state gasoline tax revenues, surpassing last year's total by more than one million dollars, has been apportioned to 314 cities in California for street work during the current fiscal year, State Director of Public Works Frank B. Durkee announced today.

The apportionment, equivalent to five-eights of a cent per gallon out of the gasoline taxes paid by highway users, is made by the State Division of Highways in accordance with law on a population basis.

The amounts range from $6,062,-424.97 for the City of Los Angeles to $447.86 for the City of Amador in Amador County.

The total apportionment of Orange County for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954, was $541,-797.10.

The apportionments to Orange County cities were: Anaheim, $98,838.17; Brea, $11,691.59; Buena Park, $30,314.51; Costa Mesa, $40,-009.16; Fullerton, $62,250.49; Huntington Beach, $17,412.82; Laguna Beach $19,755.88; La Habra, $24,567.69; Newport Beach, $44,-147.13; Orange, $35,200.92; Placentia, $5,750.59; San Clemente, $13,-253.79; Santa Ana, $155,279.92; Seal Beach, $10,537.86; and Tustin, $3,894.02.

Durkee pointed out that this money is distinct from the funds expended on state highways within cities and included in the State Highway Budget by the California Highway Commission. The five-eighths cent apportionment is for expenditure on city-administered streets off the State Highway System. However under certain conditions a city may, with the approval of the State Department of Public Works, expend portions of such funds upon a county or state highway.

State law requires the cities to expend at least 60 per cent of this gas tax apportionment for construction on streets included in the major street system as designated by the city council and approved by the State Department of Public Works. Up to 40 per cent of it may be spent for maintenance of any city streets.

City street projects financed with these gas tax funds require State approval in practice. Durkee said, officials of the Division of Highways and of the various cities cooperate closely in an effort to obtain the maximum benefit from the available funds in terms of service to traffic.

DIG THIS MONEY

ATLANTA (P—Claude Ridley of Chatsworth, Ga., protested a $106,-674 federal income tax lien for the 1942-51 period although he did not deny a government claim that he bought $98,500 worth of government savings bonds during that time, yet filed no tax returns. Ridley testified at his civil trial that he had buried his earnings in fruit jars from 1935 to 1941 and dug up the money to buy bonds when World War II broke out.

SYNOPSIS

After a long and ardent courtship, Joan Foster and Todd Hunter had set a date for their wedding. It will be easy to live practically on Todd's meager school-teacher salary, for Joan's father, the minister, and his rich father, the financier, and his own business, have promised to help. In this simple beginning will mean living from hand to mouth for a while, but they want most of all, Joan and her mother discover suprisingly, is time with each other. Joan's mother is already happily married and the mother of a lovely little girl.

CHAPTER EIGHT

BETTY smiled at Joan's comment about her wedding in the college chapel. "It certainly solved a lot of difficulties. All my friends were right there, for one thing. And most of Mike's could get there easily from his college. As for the home-town folks and relatives — we simply told them when they could come and how to take place and that there would be no overnight accommodations unless they scrounged their own. If they could—fine. If not, it was just too bad. Yes, it worked the easy way. The economical way, too," she added.

"That's another thing," Joan said. "I was Mother to let me help with the expenses. I could, my royalties and that month from the sale of my first book. Betts, and while I didn't exactly make a fortune, still I could pay for a part of the wedding. I could buy my own dress, at least. And I could take care of the invitations. Or the photographs. But Mother won't hear of it. She says if Dad were living, he would be doing it and so should Beth her two thirds in her mouth. Do you think she's asleep? Or hungry? Or what?"

"Both, probably." Betty rose and went over to the make-shift lay pen. "Hi, Baby," she leaned down and lifted up her small daughter. "Getting sleepy-time for you? Let's go have our lunch and then you can take a nap on Auntie Jo's aweet. Will she be nice?"

Lunch — with Beth's big eyes dimming over with drowsiness as she ate. Somehow Betty fed her and managed her own meal, too. Annie was already out into skies so it'll be easy to serve. Servin' Joan clapped one hand to her forehead. "Goodness, that's something we never thought of, mums! Who's going to do the serving for us? There'll have to be one person to handle the ice cream and another for the cake and possibly someone at the punch bowl, won't there? How about asking two or three of your closest friends to do that?"

Mrs. Foster looked inquiringly at Betty. "Perhaps your mother would help?"

"Oh, she'd love to, I'm sure!"

"I'll write her a note and you can take it back with you. That's one. Let me see now. Perhaps Diane's mother, Joan. Yes, I think I'll ask Diane's mother. And—I believe the two Miss Bannocks would be very pleased to help us at that time. They'll be right here, and they're very nice girls who can relieve Betty's mother and Mrs. Marbury."

Joan nodded. "What about your baby that day, Betts? Will you bring her along?"

Betty laughed. "Indeed, no! Not if I'm to be of any help to you. I'll leave her with Editha. She's a high school girl, very reliable and very fond of babies. Both Beth adores her, so it's always a fine arrangement when I need anyone."

"Good." Joan congnited her page of notes again. "Now let's see. What else did I want to talk about today?"

"What about photographs? Are you going to have candids?"

"Yes, I've already seen a local man. He'll make them up into an album for me, and I've had wonderful record. He'll be here an hour before the wedding and will go to the church with us and then come back here for the reception afterward. I'm also having a florist by us right up to the end. Wait, see my flowers. Yes, flowers for the table here at the reception. Flowers for the church. And flowers for all of us in the bridal party. Mother's! Her voice held sudden dismay. "That's going to be terrific! Do we have to pay for all the flowers too? After all, this is Todd's wedding, and I don't think it comes the bride has to foot the bill for every darn thing? No fair!"

Her mother laughed and lapsed into the vernacular of the younger generation. "It is to me," she said. "Todd pays for the flowers—for the bridal party, at least."

"He does? Are you sure?"

"Perfectly sure. It's up to you to organize the affair as simply or as elegantly as you wish. And, of course, you provide flowers for the reception. And—I forgot to mention this yesterday when we were talking, but you pay for the white carpet down the aisle, too."

"Ow. One more thing."

"Yes, and here's another. The ribbons used to mark off the family pews. And the awning outside—"

But Joan had clapped her hands to her ears. Now she broke in firmly. "Say no more. There'll be no awning. I'll just take a chance on the weather. We've got to draw the line somewhere, mums! And about the white carpeting. Do you think that's really necessary?"

"I think we'd better have it. You'll have a train, you know. And after all, it's a minor item. Only about ten dollars, I think."

"Who provides it?"

"The florist. That—and the pew ribbons. Speaking of flowers reminded me of these things."

Impressive Ceremonies Mark Job's Daughters Installation of Honored Queen and Officers

BUENA PARK — Miss Marjorie Hart was installed as Honored Queen of the Buena Park Job's Daughters, Bethel 219, last Saturday evening in impressive and colorful ceremonies.

"Faith In Our Guiding Light," the theme chosen by the new queen was carried out in the installation with all girls carrying stars of white plastic foam from which ribbons and flowers of blue and yellow trailed. Miss Hart carried a large star decorated with gladiolus sprinkled with silver dust.

Elaine Godding, most recent queen of the Bethel acted as installing queen.

Present Officers

Mary Ann Childers, past honored queen of the Bethel and Elva Lynn Glenn, past honored queen of Bethel 5, Anaheim, acted as guide and marshal who presented each officer at the altar for installation ceremonies.

Also participating as installing officers were Mrs. Nancy Proud, past honored queen of Bethel 219; Georgian Ehrle, honored queen of Bthel 5; Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, past honored queen of Bethel 219; Marilyn Mitchell, past honored queen of Bethel 219; and Darlys Godding.

Guardian Council for the next term of office will be Mrs. Lilo Calder, Guardian; Eugene Bowman, Associate Guardian; Mrs Ruby Crowell, Guardian treasurer; Mrs. Kathleen Shearer, Guardian secretary; Mrs. Ethlyn Popejoy, director of music; Mrs. Christine Causley, promoter of hospitality; Mrs. Pearl St. Pierre, promoter of sociability; Mrs. Elsie Mellon, custodian of paraphernalia; Mrs. Lena Daughtery, promoter of finance; Mrs. H. Looney, director of Epochs; and Marvin Daughtery, promoter of fraternal relations.

Officers Named

Jean Foster and Doris Simmons of Bethel 5, Anaheim, conducted the candle lighting ceremonies.

Harold Duff, Past Master Mason, acted as master of ceremonies. Miss Mitchel, chaplain, escorted the Bible and Miss Glenn presented the flag.

"Lord's Prayer" and "The Queen Song" were the two solos sung by Miss Patricia Woods.

Officers installed with Miss Hart were Anita Perry, Senior Princess; Phyllis Travis, Junior Princess; Anna Love, Guide; Sally Calder, Marshal; Diane Montgomery, senior custodian, Phyllis Taylor, junior custodian; Judith Crowell, outer guard; Marlene Hart, inner guard; Frances Stone, librarian; Sherry Waldron, recorder; Majorie Daughtery, treasurer; Betsy Wingert, chaplain; Marian Shearer, musician; Jo Ann St. Pierre, first messenger; Christine Causley, second messenger; Barbara Wingert, third messenger; Lois Leisch, fourth messenger; Cynthia Howard, fifth messenger; and Marguerite Shearer, assistant recorder.

Choir Installation

Girls installed into the Bethel Choir were Patty Mellon, Alice Leisch, Sharon Johnson, Jean Fancher, Joyce Grammar, Charlene Leisch, Betty Jo Mittman, Donna Wooley, Nancy Speakman, Nancy Lopp, Barbara Looney, Sharon Hayes, Connie Waldron, Clada Pletz, Lynn Ann Pletz, Beverly Stodart Audrey Thornton, Mary Thornton, and Marjorie Severtson.

Miss Marjorie Hart
. . . Honored Queen

Following the installation, Miss Godding introduced her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hart.

Mrs. Pearl St. Pierre presented Miss Hart with a beautiful jewelry box. Miss Godding was given a white Job's Daughter Bible as a gift from the Bethel.

Inscribed Gavel

Mr. Hart gave his daughter the gavel with the inscription, "To Marjorie—Honored Queen — from Mom and Dad."

Marvin Hart, brother of the new queen, and Jerry Holland acted as ushers. Connie Glenn was in charge of the guest book for the evening.

White cupcakes decorated with yellow flowers and blue lettering spelling out Bethel 219, were served with punch and coffee.

The table was covered with a lace tablecloth. Mrs. Marvin Daugherty served punch from the large glass punch bowl and Mrs. Hart poured coffee.

WRONG IS WRONG

WEWOKA, Okla. (AP)—Two teenage boys found here it isn't right to right a wrong with a wrong. The boys got in trouble when they burglarized the same store in Seminole, Okla., twice. Officers said they passed two bogus checks to repay the store for what they had stolen.

Flowers the Year Around Possible at Low Expense

For a few cents you can fill your garden with flowers that will bloom practically from January through December. These free-flowering varieties are known as intermittent bloomers, many of them showing color for months at a time, while requiring little care.

In many parts of the Pacific Coast there is no closed season on gardening. You can sow seed at any time you wish, although in some colder sections indoor sowing may be required for some subjects. Transplanting seedlings can be carried on for the greater part of the year.

One of the most persistent bloomers is begonia semperflorens, which thrives in either full sun or partial shade. The plants have a low, compact habit and are grown chiefly in beds. They perform beautifully for edging between walks and lawn areas. Original cost and cost of maintenance are negligible.

Named varieties are available as follows: Alba, white flowers and green foliage; Luminosa, dark scarlet and Carmen, carmine pink. Begonias prefer a fairly moist soil. Plants already in flower are usually obtainable during the spring season.

The petunia, in many sections, grows as aggressively as a weed. Perhaps the most inexpensive garden would be one filled with petunias. Nor would you ever tire of it. The gay and bright-toned flowers never become monotonous. Petunias demand full sun.

Ageratum is often termed a summer bloom. Yet the plants flower frequently throughout the year. It is used mainly as a low growing border plant, and for edging purposes.

For a plant that really hugs the ground choose the sweet alyssum. Several named varieties are available in white, lilac and violet. They grow no taller than ten or eleven inches.

Dwarf Petunias.

Violet Queen Alyssum.

The nasturtium is another that never seems to know when to stop producing. The plants are vigorous and produce a tremendous amount of foliage as well as flowers. You will have to guard against aphids on nasturtium, the bugs showing a strong liking for this plant. Fragrant, double varieties have the greatest appeal, being a tremendous improvement over the older, single forms.

Other varieties that cost little, yet produce a prodigious crop include: salvia splendens, verbena, Chinese forget-me-not, calendula, cereopsis, gaillardia and vinca.

Mother Groom, North Zeyn St. Neighbors, Grows Huge Beet in Small Backyard Garden Plot

North Zeyn Street families have one friend whom they will never forget.

Mrs. Elizabeth Groom, 82-year-old, smiling, happy and reluctant to load her troubles on the shoulders of others, is a real neighbor, one who knows her way to the back or front doors of those who live within the area of her home at 614 North Zeyn St. Because of experience in simple, friendly living, and gardening, she is able to tell the enthusiastic gardener what is wrong with her rose, how to get rid of the bugs, when a little fertilizer will do some good, and when the time of the moon is right for planting certain vegetables and other plants. She, too, knows excellent remedies for aches and pains, and sometimes a near-broken heart.

MRS. ELIZABETH GROOM . . . Zeyn Street 'Mother'

'Has Green Thumb'

"Green thumb" of Mother Groom, as she is called, really paid off. Excitedly she rushed down the street the other day exhibiting a huge red beet, one which the neighbors say pushes nearly 20 inches in circumference. She proudly showed it to her friends, among them Dr. Charles and Dorothea Schutz and the R. J. Harveys.

Photos of Mrs. Groom, with her prize beet, were in order, but being modest she said "no" until her neighbor posed her with choice flowers in her garden. Her beet was grown on a very small garden plot in the backyard of her home. Modestly, Mrs. Groom replied to the question — How did you get such a large beet — "I don't know. Just did what any person would do to have a good garden."

She must have been right, for her vegetables, when prepared the Groom way, are as tasty a dish as any that graces the "Royal Table" and her flowers are prize winners.

Mrs. Groom, who has been a resident of Anaheim for many years, coming here from Belleville, Ill., never "lets a friend down" when she is needed, claim the long-time residents of North Zeyn Street. She has been seen many a time hurrying down the street with some choice cookies or some other food, under a spotless napkin, headed for a friend's home, bent on bringing cheer to the family in this manner.

Her daughter, Mrs. Frank (Olivia) Smith of Los Angeles, is the "apple of her eye." Sharing that spot, however, are her grand child and great grandchild. Olivia and her family have a grand time when they come down down ti grandma's for a visit.

Mother Groom has been a member of the Zion Lutheran church for many years and has been very active in the Ladies Aid of that church. She says, "I'm too old to do all that hard work in the Aid now," but ask her "what is doing in the Aid" and she can tell you.

Mrs. Groom at 82 years definitely has a wonderful time living.

Editor's Note — This story was written by Carrie Lou Sutherland, a former neighbor, who knew Mother Groom.

Library Chats

by MARTHA METTLER

One of the nice things we look forward to in the Anaheim Library is the weekly visit of Miss Yetta Alden. Every week without fail she makes a careful selection of books to take to the shut-ins and the ill. Such volunteer service is in the finest tradition of giving a helping hand to our neighbors.

New Books

"The Techniques of Creative Thinking", by R. P. Crawford, is a book that will show you how to put your imagination to work and how to use your ideas to achieve success.

"Lucrezia Borgia", by Joan Haslip, is a new study of this famous woman who was born in 1480. In this book the author combines readability with superb scholorship. Any book about Lucrezia must also be about her brother and father—a fascinating record of a brilliant and ruthless family.

"The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker", by Liam O'Brien, is, as one critic says, a warm-hearted, old-fashioned comedy compounded of ingenius though crack-brained arguments, bruised feelings, broken hearts, ultimatums and hysterical crises.

"Lives of Destiny", by Donald Culross Peattie, portrays the distinctive qualities of greatness illumined in the lives of twenty-four men. Mr. Peattie is a well known author and naturalist. This collection of brief biographies shows the author to be an expert portraitist as well.

New England Story

"The Chip on Grandma's Shoulder", by R. K. Leavitt, is the sparkling, pungent, sprats-eye memories of a New England town.

"The Technique of Handling People", by Donald and Eleanor Laird, is a book to help the average person achieve better human relations with others in business and everyday life.

"Traveler's Cheque", by Jerome Weidman, is a collection of nineteen intimate and entertaining visits with great authors and their works. The author has selected provocative passages from the explorers and conquerors.

"These Men My Friends", by George Stewart, is a narrative of men and events in the British Army and the R. A. F. during ten extended tours of service in the United Kingdom, Africa, and on the Continent.

Tab Financing Book

"Instalment Sales Financing: Its Service to the Dealer", by C. W. Phelps, depicts the important function of the sales finance company, and as one of the series in 'Studies in Consumer Credit'.

"Treasury of the World's Coins" by Fred Reinfeld, is a comprehensive, photographic reference guide to the most interesting coins. This book also tells how to collect coins for pleasure and investment.

"Plywood Projects for the Home Craftsman", by Robert Scharff, is a book of plans and instruction for home and shop projects including furniture of all kinds, closets, cabinets, and complete rooms.

H. D. Akermans are Home from 5500 Mile Vacation Trip

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Akerman of West Lincoln Road have returned from a month of vacationing in the mid-west their trip involving 5500 miles of travel.

They visited on the Kansas farm of Mrs. Akerman's family, shared fun with friends in Wichita, and saw relatives in Hutchinson and had a grand visit with the Akerman "tribe" in Iowa.

One interesting sidelight of their travels was their visit to Amanas, a German settlement where they saw the people at work on furniture, refrigerators, blankets and other articles for which this village is noted, including the wonderful smoked meats.

Golden Wedding Bells Ring for Joe Wagners; Open House Held at Family Home in Placentia

When Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wagner of 110 Midway Manor celebrated their golden anniversary at the Wagner family home, 16121 Yorba Linda Rd., where they lived from 1920 to 1944, the day was complete because their family was together and hosts of friends shared the open house affair with them.

Present for this very important party were the two brothers of Joe Wagner, one his twin brother, Johnny, of Placentia and the older brother in the family, Charles and his wife, also of Placentia. Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Wagner, previous to last Sunday, had celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. The three brothers are among the first pioneers of Placentia.

The anniversary reception, hostessed by the daughter of the honored couple, Mrs. Maynard (Ione) Beard, assisted by her husband and Elmo Wagner, a son of the Wagners home on leave from duty aboard the SS Lurline, held many sentimental aspects, one the attendance of Clara Fisher (Mrs. Vic) Lamont of Anaheim and Mrs. Pauline Johnson of Placentia, bridesmaids at the wedding of the "Joe and Emily" 50 years ago in Placentia.

Background of Couple

Mrs. Wagner will be remembered by early residents of Anaheim as Emily Heinzman. She came to Anaheim at the age of five. She is affiliated with the Chispa chapter, O. E. S., Anaheim Ebell, Red Cross and very active in the Red Cross canteen.

Joe Wagner a member of one of Northern Orange County's oldest families, has been in the real estate game for more than 42 years. He is a member of the Anaheim Masonic order and active in the Eastern Star.

The large family home was built by Joe Wagner for his family on a portion of the old Wagner ranch. It is now the home of his daughter, Mrs. Beard and her husband and their three children. The Wagners moved from the home to 1932 East Center St., Anaheim, in 1944 and more recently to their Midway Manor address.

What 'Bride' Wore

For the anniversary party Mrs. Wagner chose a cinnamon-toned dress, a gold necklace and pin, a gift from her son, and matching earrings, a gift from her daughter and husband, its jewelled accent. Her corsage of orchids, flown in from Hawaii was also a gift from her son.

More than 200 relatives and friends shared the anniversary affair with decorations carried out in the gold theme. Many of the flowers, were gifts from organizations to which the Wagners belong. Mrs. Joan Beard, granddaughter of the couple, attended the guest book.

The anniversary cake had a top piece decorated with golden bells.

Following the reception a family buffet supper was served for Mr. and Mrs. Wagner, Mrs. Josephine Berkenstock, Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shroeder of Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schmidt of Fallbrook; Mr. and Mrs. William Van Kermitt of Newhall; Mrs. Pauline Johnson, Mrs. Frances McIntire and Mrs. Ellen Decker of Anaheim; Mrs. Bertha Ortega and Miss Jo Ann Plegel of Fullerton.

AUHS Student Receives Coveted Scholarship To Stanford-U

John Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Brooks of 9342 Hillview Rd., West Anaheim, has been awarded a coveted Sloan Scholarship to Stanford Univerasity.

The Sloan Scholarships are presented by the Alfred J. Sloan Foundation, Inc., New York City and were formerly used for technological institutions. The Foundation recently approved the branching out into liberal arts field with Stanford and Dartmouth named for this program.

The scholarships are awarded on the basis of excellent scholastic record and other general qualifications. It is mainly an honorary recognition instead of a financial grant and incurs a $200 aid on a four - year attendance plan.

Brooks graduates from Anaheim High School this June and has attended AUHS for his entire four years of secondary education. He was named as the valedictorian of his class, his address to be given at the commencement next Thursday at the city park Greek theater. His service record at AUHS has included lead roles in junior and senior plays, president of his junior class, bearer of Scholarship Gold Seal, and the medal as highest point man in service at AUHS for male student, awarded Wednesday night at the Service Point banquet.

At Magnolia elementary school, young Brooks was class president and a straight "A" student, outstanding in scholarship and citizenship, according to Mattie Lou Maxwell principal.

His future curriculum plans are in the field of law.

Varsity Eleven Rolls to 13-0 Win Over Seniors

Coach Claire Van Hoorebeke's Varsity gridders struck for a touchdown on the first play and went on to defeat the Seniors, 13-0, in the third annual flag ball game at Anaheim High School yesterday.

A snafu in the Senior backfield resulted in the first Varsity six-pointer. Taking over on their own 35, the ball flew high in the air on the first play from scrimmage.

After a mad scramble, End Joe Villasenor of the Varsity picked up the ball on the 20 and romped to the goal line. Paul Grover added the extra point for a 7-0 lead.

The Varsitymen registered their second touchdown with 1½ minutes to play on a trick pass play of 73 yards from Roy Weaver to Paul Grover, who caught the ball in the lear and out - distanced the secondary. The pass carried approximately 45 yards in the air.

The Seniors threatened several times, but most of their scoring forays were frustrated by intercepted passes.

Joe Avitia halted a second-quarter Senior march when he intercepted a pass on his own 10. The Seniors had started the drive on their own 32. It featured a 21-yard dash by Fullback Hiro Shinoda.

The Seniors opened the second half by penetrating to the 13 before being held for downs. The drive included a 17-yard pass from Don Leigh to End Gabe Vasquez and runs of 10 yards by Leigh and Vince Deveney.

Deveney also reeled off a 35-yard run following the Varsity's second touchdown and Dean Philpott romped 30 yards following their first.

Oaks, Rainiers Improve Positions as Angels Improve Dispositions in PCL

By DON THACKREY
United Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Oakland and Seattle improved their positions, Sacramento improved Marino Pieretti's record and the Los Angeles Angels improved their disposition in Pacific Coast League baseball games last night.

The Oaks moved into second place by beating San Francisco 1-0 while the Rainiers were moving into fourth with an 8-7 decision over Portland.

Sacramento downed San Diego 5-4 to give Pieretti his ninth victory of the year and the Angels made themselves feel much better by beating league-leading Hollywood 4-2, and drawing 15,350 fans for their best crowd of the year.

Don Ferrarese pushed the Seals down into third place almost single-handedly as he drove in the only run of the night and capped Seal bats with a three-hitter.

Ferrarese doubled in the seventh inning to drive in an unearned run after the Seals had had chances to make four outs already in the frame.

Two Errors

Chuck Stevens gummed up a grounder to let Pete Milne aboard and then Jim Moran threw wild on the downhill side of an easy attempted double play.

In addition Ferrarese added 11 San Francisco scalps to his league leading strikeout total. He was in trouble only through the seven walks he issued as the Oaks bopped the Seals for the third straight night.

Seattle got a secure hold on fourth place the hard way. The Rainiers spotted Portland a 6-0 lead and then came back with home runs by Ray Orteig, Tommy Byrne and George Schmees.

Byrne and Schmees hit their homers in the eighth inning to account for three runs that gave the Suds the lead for the first time in the ball game. It was all the lead they needed.

Portland used three pitchers and Seattle four with Van Fletcher getting the win and Dick Waibel the loss.

Stars Lose

Hollywood dropped its first game of the week to Los Angeles and finished the contest with manager Bob Bragan and starting pitcher Bob Hall taking umpire-ordered showers.

The game was played under protest and had a couple of near-fist fights before the Angels finally got the win.

Jack Phillips homered for Hollywood's two runs in the fourth and Gene Mauch hit one for Los Angeles in the seventh.

Pieretti, the rubber-armed veteran, notched win nine to balance against three losses. He also scored the winning run in the eighth with the score tied at 4-4 when he got aboard on a fielder's choice, advanced to third on Bob Dillinger's single and came home on an infield out.

Tommy Glaviano hit a pinch home run for the Solons in the fifth inning.

Legion Faces Garden Grove

Anaheim's Junior Legion baseball squad will take on Garden Grove Southern Division of the Orange County League in a practice series this weekend.

The two clubs tangle at Garden Grove tomorrow at 2 p.m. and at La Palma Park Sunday at the same time.

Anaheim was originally slated to meet Brea in a Northern Division series this weekend, but the Breans have withdrawn from the circuit, leaving it with only three teams.

Fullerton, which is tied fro first place with Anaheim by virtue of their split series last weekend, plays Buena Park in a two-game series tomorrow and Sunday. Anaheim faces Buena Park next weekend.

Should both Fullerton and Anaheim defeat Buena Park twice as expected, a playoff game will be necessary to decide the division title.

Coach Dave Hernandez is expected to give all of his pitchers a turn on the mound against the Garden Grove squad. His four-man staff includes Southpaws Paul Grover, Bob Scholz and Rudy Peralta and Righthander Paul Morris.

The rest of the starting combine will probably include Frank Doretti behind the plate, Dick Blankmeyer at first, either Morris or Al Moody at second, Joe Avitia at shortstop, Al Story at third and Bill French, Vern Weaver and Mickey Flynn in the outfield.

Swim Show to Benefit Crippled Children

A swimming show under the auspices of the Orange County Society for Crippled Children, will be presented at the Seahorse Swim School tomorrow night at 7:30.

One of the highlights of the program will be a solo exhibition by Miss Esther Evers of Santa Ana, who formerly toured the East with the New York Aqua Show.

The Long Beach YWCA Dolphinettes, directed by Liz Phillips, will present their "Sea Shell" routine, youngsters of the Seahorse Swim school will entertain with specialty swimming and novelty relay races. Al Musil of the Santa Ana YMCA will present a trampoline group of five and Dick Wartena, director of safety for the Southern Orange County YMCA will give some specialty acts.

Elks Capture League Lead

The Anaheim Elks took undisputed possession of first place in the Major Softball League by trimming Hall's Drive-In, 8-0, behind the one-hit flinging of Ralph Sutliff at La Palma Park last night while P & L Transmission was upsetting the Teamsters, 4-2, at City Park.

Frank Zuniga elbowed a six-hitter as the Ballman's TVers nipped the Magnolia Cobras, 1-0, in the other game at City Park.

Lynx Face Nitehawks At Buena Park Tonight

The Buena Park Lynx meet the Hollywood Nitehawks in an exhibition game at Buena Park tonight at 8:30.

Buena Park blanked the Hollywood nine, which is an associate member of the Pacific Coast Girls League, 3-0, last Saturday night.

In a PCGL game last night, the Orange Lionettes nipped the barnstorming Salt Lake City Shamrocks, 3-2, in a 10-inning fracas.

Salt Lake tallied two unearned runs in the first, but Orange tied the score in the last of the seventh and won out in the ninth.

SPORTVIEWS . . . . . by Bill Burns

The Culver City Stadium and KCOP (13) made a last-minute switch and ran the Mighty Midgets last night. As the story goes, this type of racing is expensive so KCOP made arrangements for a special ARB "rating" of this telecast to see whether or not the size of the TV audience would justify stretching the pocketbook to make it a regular Thursday night TV fare.

It would appear the midget fans had two strikes on them to start with. Strike one: With only two days advance publicity, most Southland baby-racer fans didn't know the game had even started. Strike two: It's bad enough for any sport show to buck the home-this show— the one they chose to town baseball team on TV, but for "rats"—they put it opposite BOTH hometown teams.

Oh well, "it only takes one!" so if you are a midget fan who missed the race but want to see them continued, we suggest you take pen in hand and let your wishes be known—KCOP, 1000 No. Cahuenga, Hollywood.

FRIDAY, JUNE 11

7:00 (4)—fightTVlews: Joey Giardello (29W, 5L, 17KO's) swaps swats with Oakland's Bobby Jones (37W, 19L, 5D, 5KO's) in a Madison Square Garden middleweight go. The fiery Philadelphian, who recently dropped an upset duke to Langford, will be vengence-bound against the sturdy Californian who twice this year upset Gil Turner and only last week KO'd an attempted "fix" on this very bout.

7:30 (2)—Greetings: On Person to Person, Ed Murrow will visit the training camps of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and challenger Ezzard Charles who will meet for the title this Thursday in Yankee Stadium. (The bout will not be TV'd to the home, but you can dust off that old radio and tune KABC 790 at 7:00 p.m.)

8:15 (9)—Baseball: Bill Brundige and Lyle Bond continue their excellent coverage of this thrilling series between the Los Angeles Angels and the Hollywood stars. Me? I'll be at the ball park!

SATURDAY, JUNE 12

10:45 (7)—Baseball: American League action in Connie Mack Stadium as the Philadelphia "A's" host the Detroit Tigers.

1:30 (2)—Horse Race: From Belmont Park CUE-TV brings us the third of turfdom's triple - crown classics, The Belmont Stakes — 3-year-olds at a mile and one-half for $100,000 added.

1:30 (9) — Baseball: Angels vs Stars.

6:00 (7)—fightTVlews: Cisco Andrade (12W, 1D, 11KO's) vs. Carlos Chaves (70W, 25L, 9D, 20 KO's) in a lightweight ten from the Boston Arena. The Compton Comet, who set local arenas afire before becoming a national favorite, won a split nod over Chaves, here earlier this year.

8:30 (7) — fightTVlews: Hank Weaver at Legion champion aide in Irish Johnny McCray (32W, 1L, 14KO's) matches his assaulting power with the Redondo Beach bombs of Andy Demarco (15W, 1L, 12KO's) in an over - the - limit lightweight ten rounder.

SUNDAY, JUNE 13

1:30 (9) — Baseball: Angels vs Stars (double-header).

2:30 (11)—Jalopy Derby

5:30 (13)—Forum: Freeman Lusk asks: "Is L.A. ready for major league baseball?" on Freedom Forum.

MONDAY, JUNE 14

7:00 (4)—Jamboree: Frank DeVol is our fan - of - the - week, needling Angel skipper Sweeney and Star pilot Bragan.

8:15 (9)—fightTVlews: Reid Kilpatrick will be our neutral corner neighbor as the sensational local lightweight Buddy Kratt (15W, 8KO's) meets the 19-year-old Phoenix flash, Johnny Hart (19W, 8L, 1D, 12KO's) in an Olympic ten.

8:30 (5) — Roller Derby: L. A. Braves vs. N.Y. Chiefs.

8:30 (11) — matTVlew: Davis vs Snyder, and Rice vs Szabo.

10:30 (9)—fightTVlews: Films of Gene Tunney's last pro fight when, in July 1926, he met Tom Heeney for the title.

TUESDAY, JUNE 15

8:15 (9) — Baseball: Hollywood moves back to Gilmore Field where Tom Harmon and Lyle Bond will be on mike for a seven-game series with the San Francisco Seals.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16

7:00 (2)—fightTVlews: PBR takes us ringside at the Detroit Olympic as the Michigan State champ Allie Gronik (52W, 11L, 6D, 26KO's) makes his nationwide TV debut in a welterweight ten with Del Flanigan (67W, 8L, 2D, 24KO's), the world's No. 2 contender.

8:15 (9)—Baseball: Stars vs Seals

9:00 (5)—matTVlews: Dick Lane at the mike for the Olympic wrestling card.

THURSDAY, JUNE 17

7:30 (9)—Fishing Tips

8:15 (9)—Baseball: Stars vs Seals

8:30 (13)—Fishing Flashes: A film on Tuna fishing, down Panama way, will highlight McClintock's show tonight.

9:00 (13)—sporTVlews: Auto race midgets, or nard tops?

9:30 (5) — Fishing Fun: Andy Kelly.

Santee, Barthel Set for Epic Mile Battle in Coliseum

LOS ANGELES (AP) — American mile champion Wes Santee and Olympic 1500-meter king Josy Barthel of Luxembourg clash tonight for the first time and barring chilly weather the lanky Kansan believes she can break the "Bannister Barrier."

It was just one week ago tonight that Santee set his American record of 4:00.6 in the Compton Relays. He was out that cool night to break Roger Bannister's world mark of 3:59.4 but visibly tightened during the last 200 yards.

Santee figures his duel with the personable Luxembourg "fireball" in this "Meet of Champions" may push him to a new mark. The weather—it won't be too warm—and the track, rated a fraction slower than Compton, may be big factors in the outcome.

"If I know Barthel is right behind me on the last lap," Santee said, "I feel I'll get down to four minutes — or better." He smiled and added, "that's providing we don't go haywire on our pace during the first three quarters."

Barthel professed he was ready to run the distance in 4:02 or 4:03 which means he won't be holding still for the Kansas U boy.

"I never say anything I'm not ready to do," Barthel said. "I would not have come here if I didn't think I could make a good showing."

Running along with the two will be Sture Landqvist and Bjorn Bogerud, two more Europeans who are now attending Oklahoma A and M.

Let's You and Him Fight!

It's the nature of Americans to enjoy a good hard fight, with no punches pulled—which is why citizens such as Dempsey, Tunney and Louis made millions with their fists.

A dilly is under way now, by all accounts. It's a real main event for freight business between the railroads and the truckers. The punching has been heavy since World War II, with the railroads badly outpointed in the early rounds. But of late the railroads have effected some rate cuts in competitive traffic — resulting, to quote the Wall Street Journal, in "what might be the first reversal of the road-haulers' post-war grab of business from the railroads."

Major trucking concerns, according to the Journal's review of the situation, are complaining that lowered rail rates are dealing them severe punishment in the region of the cash register.

Interested spectators of this "grab the business" battle include the entire American public. The quality of freight transportation, and the rates, directly affect the cost of doing business in every community and the cost of living for every family. The lower the cost of carrying products from here to there — by whatever means of transport — the lower the price of a basket of groceries.

This leaves the man in the street neutral in the fight — indiscriminately applauding whichever contestant is, at a given time, ahead in offering the best service for the least cost to the consumer.

The rails, if the late ringside reports are accurate, must be hitting sharply and with skill, for they have the constant handicap of maintaining their own roadbeds while their rivals use the public highways. Maybe next round the trucks will take the lead in cheaper service. And whichever way the tide of battle turns in this phase of our free economy competition, it will forever turn in favor of the ultimate American consumer.

TVA's Red Face

Public power enthusiasts have long maintained — with straight faces—that their program of eternal expansion of TVA and allied projects is in no wise to be construed as implacable hostility to the privat power industry. The purpose they avow is simply to spend billions of the taxpayers' dollars in the public interest by filling in a "power vacuum" private industry hasn't or cannot fill. However, a new situation has arisen in the South that has something of the amusement-providing qualities of high farce.

TVA official have been saying more power must be developed, mentioning in particular the vital needs of the atomic energy plant at Paducah, Kentucky. Quite in line with past performance, these bureaucrats suggest a new outpouring of public funds for additional dams and steam plants. But now four established and adequately-equipped private power companies have offered to supply all the additional power needed, thereby saving the taxpayers a great deal of money — and ask only a fair return on their investment.

For some time, Congress has evinced increasing unwillingness to vote funds for new TVA power plants. As if that weren't enough, up comes this private industry offer to obviate the need for new TVA spending. There is deep gloom at TVA headquarters these days — and probably some red faces.

SONGS OF A SONNETEER

By R. LOUIS SCOTT

"MYTHICAL GODS!"

Man dares not damn gods he thinks fashioned him
In their own image: yet the charts they limn
For him to follow each prove feeble guide
When passion wracks him—body, mind, and limb!

Man's faint perceptions raised and deified
All gods that are! Tho now they walk in pride,
There once were times when each was but a thought
In a waking dream—which was as yet, untried!

But Mind, by its own imagery was caught
In a web of teachings and dogmas fraught
With consequences dire for such as dared
Probe into the schisms his gods had wrought!

By man-made gods, Man's thinking is impaired—
For they now rule souls, which at first—they shared!

HOW LONG WILL IT TAKE TO BUILD THESE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL BUILDINGS?

ANS: It takes about 18 months to have plans and specifications drawn, the designs approved by the State officials, and the buildings constructed. Thus it is imperative, if the District is to avoid double-sessioning, that the Board of Education have authority and funds to proceed with the building program at this time.

WILL ALL THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL BUILDINGS PROPOSED BE BUILT DURING THE SAME YEAR?

ANS: The Board of Education proposes that two 10-room schools be constructed for the school year beginning September 1955, plus a bus garage and certain storage facilities needed. The balance of the proposed construction will be done as new pupils come to Anaheim. This means that the school facilities will be made available as needed.

This will keep the cost as low as possible. It should be pointed out that if we have a spurt in home building the next two years the District could still provide for the influx of elementary pupils without affecting the education of our present students.

ARE WE BUILDING ANY "FRILLS" IN THIS ELEMENTARY BUILDING PROGRAM?

ANS: This program has been planned to build the same facilities that the people of Anaheim have provided for their children for the past 25 years. The Board of Education feels that it will be thoroughly adequate for an educational program, but there will be no "frills".

The Board of Education will take advantage of any construction or design savings that can be effected during the planning and building of these new schools.

Othman's Views on Washington Scenes

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

WASHINGTON.—On Friday (unless the military issues him a special dispensation) Roy Cohn, chief counsel for the McCarthy committee, squeezes into his khaki uniform for two weeks of training with the National Guard in New York. Maybe he'll be through testifying here about the McCarthy-Army fracas by then; maybe the management will give him week ends off to attend to his duties with the Senate.

That's ironic enough, but the topper is the fact that Cohn's commanding officer will be Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker.

The General, you may remember, is the man who charged McCarthy, Cohn and Co. with browbeating him. They retorted that, when they called him as a witness in a Communist inquiry, Gen. Zwicker was insolent.

What Gen. Z. has to say to Lieut. C. when they meet in front of the pup tents, I hate to think. Even so, I trust they'll be politer than a couple of Senators and, or, gentlemen named Joe McCarthy and Stuart Symington.

For the third time, by my count, Republican McCarthy of Wisconsin called Democrat Symington of Missouri "sanctimonious Stu." Sen. Symington flushed, said he resented that, and suggested that Sen. McCarthy had better visit a psychiatrist.

And I've got to agree with Chairman Karl E. Mundt (R., S.D.) that, on the 29th day, the proceedings in the mighty Senate Caucus Room seemed to be getting nowhere rapidly. Everybody made speeches most of the day — except witness Cohn, who seldom got a chance to answer a question.

Sen. McCarthy wanted Sen. Symington to testify under oath about what he, a Democrat, had to do with influencing the actions of Secretary of the Army Bob Stevens of the opposite political faith. Sen. Symington wanted Sen. McCarthy to testify about numerous other things. So they kept on snarling at each other, though I must report that Sen. Symington was the more graceful about it.

"One of these days these hearings will have to come to an end," suggested Sen. Charles Potter (R., Mich.). "But ladies and gentlemen, the end still is not in sight."

He said if all the witnesses who have been suggested actually were called in to testify, he and the committee would be on the job under the hot lights until snow flies. Sen. Potter read a list of such possible witnesses.

It included President Eisenhower, Private G. David Schine's girl friends, Vice President Richard Nixon, Sen. McCarthy's beautiful bride, an assortment of alleged Communists, several Army officers, the mother and father of G. David, a taxi driver in New York, Cohn's father, and others too numerous to mention. Only possible witness that Sen. Potter missed was the waiter at a Washington restaurant who served Private Schine some butterscotch ice cream.

The Senator meant that this list was ludicrous, and would all the gentlemen please make up their minds about which witnesses they intended to call? Chairman Mundt ordered them to do exactly that — and in writing, so they couldn't change their minds.

Sen. Symington said he couldn't understand how the Republicans could be so fickle. Only the day before, he said, Sen. McCarthy had demanded that Clark Clifford, who used to work for President Harry Truman, be forced to testify under oath. So a Democrat had moved that Clifford be called — and the Republicans voted that down.

Then came the cracks about "sanctimonious Stu" and the need of Sen. McCarthy for a psychiatrist. At this juncture, I left to soak my poor aching head. You TV viewers, I'm sure, will understand.

Your Birthday Forecast

By STELLA

FRIDAY, JUNE 11—Born today, you have an active, busy and inquiring mnd. You want to know all there is to know about everything! You may find it important to learn the lesson of specialization early in life or you may scatter your energies too widely. You enjoy social life, are a good talker, and are popular with members of the opposite sex. You may need to be warned against a habit of playing too much—and of procrastination when it comes to fulfilling your duty or an appointed task. Learn to finsh one thing before you begin another and the results will be more rewarding.

You are impulsive and are apt to jump to conclusions without giving even serious matters a second, serious thought. You seem to have better "hindsight" than foresight.

Since your emotional nature is quite strong, it might be wise for you to be careful in marriage. Look before you leap.

Among those who were born on this date are: Hazel Scott, musician; James Ballantine, artist and poet; Jeanette Rankin, pioneer Congress-woman; Eli Thayer, inventor, and Seymour Millais Stone, painter.

To find what the stars have in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Saturday, June 12

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)—Better for you not to get entangled in legal matters just now. Postpone them until next week, at least.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—You might like to invite friends to your home or attend a gathering of congenial companions elsewhere.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Do your best to get out into the country, if you can. Plan to build your health these pleasant week ends.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) —Free your mind of all worries. Leave business behind at the office and enjoy a two-day holiday.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — Pleasurable activities are in prospect. Plan a social gathering, perhaps at your home.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Free yourself of tension-making worries and see how much good a carefree day will do you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—You might enjoy inviting friends to your home for the evening. Entertain inexpensively.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — You may need to make a sudden change in your plans for the day. Adapt yourself.

AUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—The emphasis today is probably upon friends, new and old. Expand your social horizon.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20) — If there are tasks to be done at home, get an early start on them so they are finished in good time.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)—Change your point of view by a little pleasure and self-indulgence. You have earned it!

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 20)—A mid-June week end can prove just what the doctor ordered! Get out into the fresh air and sunshine.

Science

(By DELOS SMITH)

NEW YORK — (AP) — Imprisoning the patient for months in a bed may no longer be necessary in treating tuberculosis. But a combination of bed rest, aspirin and some exercise seems to do more lasting good for reheumatoid arthritis patients than the "miracle drugs."

These bombshells have just been dropped into the world of medical science. The dropper of one was the National Jewish ,tuberculosis Hospital of Denver. The dropper of the other was the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

Dr. Sidney H. Dressler, medical director of the hospital, told the annual meeting of the National Tuberculosis Association that he and his staff had "ambulated" 44 "moderately advanced" tuberculars and 52 "far advanced" ones. Not only was it safe, he said; it helped.

It helped, he continued, because Isoniazid seemed to be more active against the TB bacteria in patients who were moving around than in patients who were undergoing what is called "prolonged and strict bed rest." This latter is the generally used method of treating TB.

For the past 18 months, he revealed, new patients without complications have been kept in bed only three to eight weeks. In that time the antibacterial drugs (usually Isoniazid alone but sometimes streptomycin and PAS in combination with Isoniazid) stopped the active TB bacteria from multiplying.

Then the patients were gotten out of bed and given more and more activities—and more drugs, too. Dr. Dressler said this permitted dormant TB bacteria to "break out" so they co bdisakelubyredto out" so they could be attacked by the drug while the patients were in the hospital and could be checked and watched. He acknowleged that there had been an "intentional abandonment of the hallowed policy of long-term physical rest."

Of his 44 "moderately" and 52 "far" advanced patients, all had shown decided improvement although some continuted to harbor TB bacteria which the drugs couldn't touch. In more than six months, there have been no relapses — "no clear-cut spread of disease to previously uninvolved areas of the body."

Arthritis Results

The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation published the results of a long-term study of 282 victims were in hospitals; 183 were completely or partially crippled. Treatment—that is bed rest, aspirin and exercise. Two and a half years after onset, 200 of 282 were much improved and 113 were able to work and be sociable.

Drugs may produce immediate and seemingly miraculous improvements, but these improvements disappear when the drugs no longer are given — and they can't be given indefinitely because of side effects. Nor can drugs change the natural course of the disease or prevent crippling.

"Conservative" treatment won't change the natural course, either, but it will prevent cripping and deformities in many cases, the association said.

The David Lawrence Dispatch

By DAVID LAWRENCE

En route to Washington, June 11. —How near are we to a general war in the world?

Anyone who travels in Europe nowadays and talks with persons inside and outside of government in the various countries hears that question discussed just as often as it was in the years immediately preceding the outbread of World War I and World War II, respectively.

There can be no doubt that the danger of World War II is universally recognized, but the wishful thinkers again are in the majority —those who, because they don't want to see a war happen, are trying to persuade themselves that it will not happen.

This writer is convinced that there are only two safe assumptions for policy-makers in the governments of the free world to adopt. One is that World War II is probable, and the other is that it will not necessarily be an atomic war.

The assumption that World War II is probable stems from the presence today of exactly the same explosive factors existing prior to the outbreak of the last two World Wars which led to miscalculations by the aggressor. Vacillation in diplomacy and lack of clarity in defining what will happen to a potential aggressor are again creating the same dangers that developed before the last two world wars.

The assumption that the next war will not necessarily be an atomic war is based on the logical strategy which Communist Russia already is adopting and must continue to apply in both her military and diplomatic preparations. Just as the Korean war surprised the military men, presenting the forces of the free world with a kind of war they did not anticipate or prepare for, so it may be assumed once more that the military planning now going done by the free world does not envisage the kind of war the Communists will fight the next time.

The basic premise on which this line of reasoning is founded is that the United States and the other free governments will not authorize the dropping of an atomic bomb unless the Soviets drop one first. It can be taken for granted that a nation which is weaker than its enemy in atomic strength will never strike a blow which would invite massive retaliation, which, of course, this could happen, a strategy that ignores the possible tactics to be pursued by the enemy could be fatal for the free world.

Knowing that public opinion in Democratic countries would not sanction the use of atomic bomb unless it is struck first against us, the Soviet Regime can effectually neutralize the use of the bomb in the same way that poison gas was neutralized in the second world war —by self-restraint on both sides, rather than by formal agreement.

It is to the interest of the Soviets not to drop an atomic bomb anywhere, and it is also to their interest to announce well in advance of the outbreak of a general war that if, after the conflict has begun, the United States drops a bomb behind the iron curtain, the Soviets will drop atomic bombs on both London and Paris. Nothing would build up "Neutralist" sentiment in France and Great Britain faster than such a warning, and it is reasonable to assume that public opinion in America would not wish to see Britain and France destroyed. Hence, the strongest influences would be brought to bear to outlaw the use of the atomic bomb, particularly on cities and areas that do not contain military installations or concentrations.

Some inkling of the trend of Soviet thinking on this subject may be derived from a study of the latest propaganda moves by Moscow, which is engaging in a world-wide campaign to outlaw the use of A Bombs and H-Bombs. Any nation which itself intended to use them would not be so eager to arouse world opinion against the use of such weapons.

If, therefore, the atom bombs are not used to destroy each other's cities, what kind of war will be fought? In all probability, the kind we did not expect in 1939 and 1940 and the kind we didn't expect in Korea in 1950—the strategy that the enemy deems best for its own purposes. This means a close approximation of what is known as "Conventional" war, fought with large bodies of ground troops. Soviet Russia is plainly at an advantage in this respect, because the ground troops of the free governments are scattered throughout the world, from Indo-China and Korea to the Middle East and North Africa and Central Europe. Russia has succeeded already in forcing the dispersal of the forces of the free nations through "Local Wars" and through "cold war" threats.

But will not America use every weapon in her arsenal, anyway? Our own military chiefs and those of the NATO countries are absolutely sure we will do so, but with them the wish is father to the thought. They see the military advantages, but they do not take into account the changing currents of public opinion, which has already manifested an indescribable fear of the H-Bomb. This is an indication that any mutual self-restraint would probably be welcomed, even if it means another conventional war with great danger to the free orld. The terror aspects have been widely publicized, and any student of public opinion cannot ignore the paralysis of thought already achieved by the H-Bomb publicity.

The so-called "New Look," which is a phrase used to describe our present military plans, assumes an atomic war. It is correct as far as it goes, but absolute security will not be prevented unless the free world is adequately prepared for both kinds of war—the conventional as well as atomic. For the only real deterrent to a third world war is to be prepared for it on a military scale, which may be very costly but which is absolutely necessary for survival. And to prepare for all contingencies is the only safe way to prevent the third world war from ever breaking out. To fail to prepare militarily can make world war II inevitable.

FIRST LADY RATES AS CONSCIENTIOUS, CLEAN HOUSEKEEPER

(Editor's note: Running the nation's No. 1 residence has many of the same headaches and problems which beset the average homemaker. How does Mamie Eisenhower rate as a housekeeper? In the following dispatch, Helen Thomas, veteran United Press Staff Correspondent, gives the answer.)

(By HELEN THOMAS)

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP)— The White House is a smooth-running household but Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower is no push-button housekeeper.

As the 37th mistress of the executive mansion Mamie Eisenhower already has proven she can make a house a home—even when it is public property.

As a soldier's wife, Mrs. Eisenhower had to learn to adapt to different environments. She has moved about 25 times in her 36 years of married life—from army post to army post, to Washington apartments, to a Paris villa, and now the residence known officially as Reservation No. 1, National Capitol Parks.

The First Lady once confided to a friend, "I've lived in every type of place, except an igloo."

Now Has 136 Rooms

She now presides over a household which boasts three floors, 136 rooms—including numerous baths on each floor, and 18 acres of grounds.

And Mrs. Eisenhower runs it as most any other housewife would. Her close friends say she is naturally fastidious, and dislikes disorder and dirty ash trays. The White House has glamor, but Mrs. Eisenhower sees that is also has warmth. And even though it is a "glass house", she and the President manage some privacy and home life.

The mansion's first floor has a historic untouchability. It would take an act of Congress to change the 18th century Georgian furniture in the Red and Blue rooms, or to change the appearance of the East room or other salons on the ground floor. These belong to the public.

But the two upper floors belong to the Eisenhowers. The President and his wife actually live in about five rooms—her pink and green bedroom and dressing room, the President's bedroom and his oval study, and the west corridor sitting room which is gaily decorated with pink furniture, a wall-to-wall beige rug, and a combination radio and television set.

"House Mine, Office Yours"

Mrs. Eisenhower always has stuck to a rule which she adopted when she was first married—"I'll run the house, you run the office."

She also follows the advice her mother gave her on her wedding day . . . "always live within your husband's income."

The family income has fattened up considerably, but Mrs. Eisenhower still holds the purse strings. The President receives an annual salary of $100,000 and a yearly expense allowance of $50,000. The White House has a current budget of some $354,000 for the year.

The Eisenhowers pay their own food bill and for the food of private guests. But the Department of State picks up the tab when the White House throws a big official reception.

Mrs. Eisenhower directs the food buying, decides on the menus, and does about everything around the house except cook and clean.

70 Servants Available

To help, she has some 70 servants, four doormen, six cooks, a maitre, d'hotel, three upstairs maids, three downstairs maids, eight gardeners, five electricians, a head housekeeper, Mrs. Mabel Walker, and the chief usher, Howell Crim.

Many of the staff are veterans. Doorman John Mays has been on the job 45 years.

Mrs. Eisenhower's closest personal contact is with her social secretary, Mrs. Mary Jane McCaffree, her personal maid, Rose Wood, and the housekeeper.

Running the White House is a time-consuming job, a far cry from the days when Dolly Madison clearstarched the finer linens herself or when Mrs. Benjamin Harrison found time to paint a whole set of White House china.

Gambling Device Bill To Close Loopholes

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) has introduced a bill to make things tougher for slot machine manufacturers.

The measure is designed to close loopholes in the present law dealing with gambling devices. Keating said the law was drafted so loosely that it failed to put the damper on the slot machine business.

Present law covers slot machines containing "a drum or reel with insignia thereon" and other gambling devices which "operate by means of insertion of a coin, token, or similar object."

Keating's bill would reach out to cover machines that get around this provision.

Negro Dancer Finds Segregation Small Problem

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Clifton Gray looked at me across the interview table and said:

"You know, man, I don't think this segregation problem is much of a problem at all. At least where I travel."

Clif Gray is a big, muscular dancer who plays "Abner" in the road show of "South Pacific." He is the only Negro in the cast of the big hit musical.

"I've been all over the South and other places," he told me, "and I seem to be accepted. In our own team, and elsewhere. Jeanne Bal and Webb Tilton (leads in the play) call me by my first name and insist that I call them by their first names."

Bit Actor

That seems a little unusual when you read the "South Pacific" program. For Clif isn't one of the lead actors. He is what you might call a "bit" player. He doesn't have much to say, but when he kicks up a heel in his tennis shoes, he really brings down the house. At least he did the night I saw him in Washington.

Clif was born in the north and was educated in the public schools in New Jersey. Later he attended for a short time Roosevelt College in the middle west and after that he was a student at the Duval-Ballet Theater School in New York.

"When I left school," he confided, "I set out to study to be a psychiatrist, and went onto the stage only as a hobby. The hobby has come back to haunt me, because I have done better than I ever thought I would. The training in the business of the psychiatrist, however, was not hurt."

Clif said that when the musical was showing in the south he used his psychiatrist training to figure out how the public would react to a lone Negro in a cast. It reacted fine.

Popular Actor

"I didn't follow the rules," he said. "I just acted myself. Even in the south, I got more requests for pictures and autographs from white folks than I did from my own race. That made me feel good, for sure."

The colored actor, a clean living fellow who doesn't smoke and sips a beer only when it is embarrassing not to, said he has been accepted around the country. Most of the time he has been allowed to stay in "white" hotels and only once was he challenged for appearing on the stage with white actors. That argument was settled quickly when the manager of the show threatened to move on to the next town.

"Had a little trouble in one town," he said with a laugh, "that had nothing to do with color. Another actor and I were supposed to pass behind a screen between the acts. We were in our makeup and me in my service uniform, which I wear in the show. A service man challenged me and the other fellow and threatened to pitch us into the brig because he didn't think we had on regulation uniforms, which we didn't. The matter was settled quickly."

Clif Gray hopes to grow up to be a great dancer. He should not miss.

1952 FORD V-8 FORDOR SEDAN

Lic. No. 1T47251—This car is finished in the beautiful Highland Green. It has matching seat covers. The car is equipped with the big eight tube push button radio and fresh air heater, crub feelers, deep tread tires, back up lights, beauty rims and turn indicator. The price on this beautiful car is only $1295.00, and also remember that this car qualifies for our car life guarantee of 10,000 miles or one year guarantee.

1952 CHEVROLET BEL-AIR SEDAN

The queen of the Chevrolet line and in excellent condition. It is equipped with a big push button radio, clock. The color is light grey over dark Sheridan blue paint. The leather and interior is in very clean condition. You must really see this one to fully appreciate it. Only $1398.00 will make you it's proud owner.

1951 HUDSON PACEMAKER 4 DOOR SEDAN

This is our transportation special for the month. It has the supermatic overdrive transmission, beautiful tailored seat covers, rear view mirror and is finished in a beautiful green metallic paint. The price is only $845.00.

1950 FORD 2 DOOR CUSTOM SEDAN

Lic. No. 4T5675. It's very attractive Hawaiian original bronze paint job is beautifully contrasted by it's gleaming deep tread white side wall tires. The most attractive feature of this car is it's original body interior and general condition. The car is equipped with tailored seat covers harmonizing with the bronze interior, garnish molding and door panels. The car has a heater, gas saver, overdrive transmission, clock, beauty rims, rear view mirror and even curb feelers. The price is only $895.00 and qualifies for our one year or 10,000 mile guarantee.

1949 FORD CUSTOM STATION WAGON

Lic. No. 9S6073. The wagon shows extreme care in it's body work. The wood throughout is in very fine shape and glistens under a like-new coat of varnish. It's blue paint job compliments the wood work and is actually the cleanest we have seen in a long time. The brown leather interior is unscratched and is like new. It is equipped with a factory installed radio and fresh air heater. The price is only $795.00. This car qualifies for our one year or 10,000 mile guarantee.

Is your home divorced from the garage and would you like to get them together? Then install a simple screening wall to close the breezeway gap. You get unity and low sweeping lines by merely extending the western red cedar siding of the home. The wall is attractive, breaks the wind and provides casual storage space.

ARRANGING DAHLIAS . . .

Here's an interesting hobby that will give you plenty of pleasure and reap plenty of compliments.

An unusual and attractive floating arrangement can be made with dahlias. Although they are sometimes difficult to fix effectively in tall vases, dahlias lend themselves to this type of arrangement beautifully.

A dozen flowers are sufficient. Just take a shallow bowl, two to three inches deep, and get a small spikeholder or frog—and then you're all set.

Remove the stems from half of the flowers and cut the other six so you have short stems of graduating lengths. Place the spikeholder at one end of the bowl. Next, take the dahlias with the graduating stems and place the tallest in the middle, graduating them down so that the ones on the sides are almost level with the top of the bowl.

For the next step, take the remaining six and float them in the bowl. And to complete the arrangement, use large leaves from your garden, such as magnolia leaves, and put them in the bowl underneath the floating flowers.

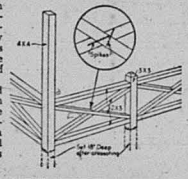

Incidentally, now is the time to plan your care of the dahlias you've recently planted. One of the prized cut flowers on the Pacific Coast, dahlias should receive plenty of water when the buds start appearing. Small amounts of a liquid plant food such as Folium will also help your dahlias. . .

Improve a Home's Looks With Front-Yard Patio

from SMALL HOMES GUIDE

The patio pictured below, from Small Homes Guide, is a charming extra that will add immeasurably to the appearance of any home. The drawing at right gives adequate directions for the home craftsman. The lamp post should be about seven feet high.

Fence posts should be creosoted below grade as a protection against moisture and should be set about 18 inches deep. A pavement of used bricks, laid in a basket-weave pattern on tamped sand or cinders, is ideal for this front-of-the-house patio area.

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS for Farm and Home

Wedge Used to Fasten Hammer Head Securely

AN ORDINARY wood screw may be used to make a wedge which will keep a hammer or hatchet head firmly on its handle. Before it is driven into place, the screw is flattened so that it has a triangular shape, as illustrated in Popular Mechanics. The wedge will be held firmly in place by the teeth which are formed by the flattened screw threads.

FLY BAIT

LADYSMITH, Wis. (AP) — Victor Gourdoux, a farmer at nearby Holcombe, is wondering how one of his new calves will manage to shoo flies. The calf, half Black Angus and half Holstein, is the victim of a rare affliction—it was born without a tail. Otherwise, it is normal.
