VOL. XXVI—NO. 182 | Anaheim, California, Tuesday, March 20, 1923 | TWENTY-SIXTH YEAR

COUNTY CUTS FEE IN ORDINANCE ON DAIRY INSPECTION

The chamber of the Board of Supervisors today was crowded with prominent dairymen from many parts of the county, including D. Eyman Huff of El Modena, H. H. Covell of Cypress, etc., who voiced protests at the tax of 50 cents per cow per month imposed for the maintenance of a county dairy Inspector.

Huff appeared to think there was a possibility of a cow being inspected as often as if changed ownership and a tax imposed. Dr. W. Leland Mitchell, County Health officer said the tax was collected once a year.

The ordinance affecting inspection late today was changed, the fee to be on the basis of $1 per month per cow for a herd of 10 cows, $2 for 30 $3 for 60 $4 for 100 and $5 for for more than 100.

Bids were opened to pave Westminster boulevard for three miles with concrete. Bids for a culvert also were opened.

A barn at Placentia was voted sold to Joe Tufree for $1,000.

The matter of the formation of a sanitary district at San Juan Capistrano was referred to the County Clerk. This is the first of the new district projects to be taken up by the board.

The Placentia Mutual Orange Association was accepted as the buyer at $2,000 of two lots of the county, at Placentia.

Road District No. 19 from the end of North street to Richfield was approved and the procedure toward paving now will be started.

MERCHANTS ASS'N. MAY CHANGE NAME AT NEXT MEETING

The Merchants' Protective Ass'n will vote at its next meeting on the proposal to change the name to the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Ass'n. The change is desired because many of the members are manufacturers and to put the organization in line with similar ones in other cities.

This was decided at a live dinner meeting last night in the Elks' clubhouse. A committee was appointed to visit other cities and get ideas regarding methods to bring new industries to the city. This committee consists of Gus Theodore, chairman; President R. B. Young, Secretary David Todd Gillespie, Henry Adams, W. D. Grafton, Sidney Prince and H. N. White.

The matter of a parking ordinance was discussed at length. Instances were cited in which persons coming to the city to trade had to park two blocks or more from the main business section. Certain merchants voiced the view that stores at the limits of the business section had an advantage over other stores, because there was more vacant parking space available. Merchants themselves, and business and professional men of all kinds, were declared to be hurting themselves by parking in front of their places of business or occupation, thereby blocking out trade. Real estate dealers, it was declared, were not the only ones who did this.

Two hours is the time often permitted, it is said, in other cities, including Santa Ana. A committee will be named to take up the matter of a proper ordinance of this sort.

The matter of having available a tract where lots selling under $1,000 would be available for workingmen's homes came up. It was declared during the discussion that home building was being retarded by high priced lots.

A resolution was passed backing the Orange Show, and a committee was appointed to co-operate consisting of W. D. Grafton, chairman; Arthur R. Cohen, Mrs. Ida Pritchard, Albert E. Clark and L. P. Donnat.

WOULD SELL FARM FOR SEWERS

City Manager Urges Realty Men Help Market 73 Acres at Stanton

In response to the complaint of realtors and builders that development of new subdivisions had been retarded somewhat by the city council's inability to furnish sewer service for new tracts as rapidly as some might desire, City Manager O. E. Steward came back with the proposition today that real estate men push the sale of the 73-acre farm at Stanton.

The council would devote the proceeds from it largely to extension of sewers, promised the city manager.

The city is asking $750 per acre and will pay commission to realty men.

"It is a mighty fine proposition for somebody," said Steward today. "Practically every acre of it would make the finest kind of orange land. The only reason it wasn't mapped up long ago was because of its large acreage. It may be that the city will have to cut it up and sell in smaller tracts.

"It would be a big thing for everybody if realty men would devote attention to this proposition."

The farm was purchased several years ago by the city for a sewer farm but was never used for that purpose.

It is in the vicinity of the new oil development excitement between Cypress and Hansen station.

CONTINUE CONTEST OVER ROYER WILL

Contest brought by the widow, Mrs. Louise Royer and son and her daughter, Max Royer and Marie-Louise Amstuts against the will of the late General Julian O. Royer, formerly of Anaheim, involving an estate valued at close to $225,000, was continued today when it came before Superior Judge R. Y. Williams until May to permit the appointment of a guardian ad litem for the grandchildren.

General Royer, who died in Los Angeles on or about Oct. 7, 1922, leaving 1939 shares of stock in the Anaheim Investment Company valued at $100 each and $5,000 in personal effects. The income was at the rate of $5,000 annually, which adds something to the total.

Marie Feraud, housekeeper for the general, applied as executrix for the admission to probate of a will leaving her 975 shares of stock in the company and the rest of the estate to the widow. The will was signed among others by the two physicians who attended the general in his last illness, following a stroke of apoplexy. The will provided that the widow should be cut off if she claimed her legal shares in the property.

The widow in her suit alleged that the General was not fit or competent in body and mind to make a will at the time it was alleged to have been made, that the will was not his, that if made by him it was made under the undue influence of Marie Feraud, etc.

The latter in her answer denied that the General had been paralyzed in mind, but only partly physically and was competent when he made the will.

WATER SPREADING IN UPPER VALLEY HELPS WELLS HERE

Have the spreading operations near the headwaters of the Santa Ana river already affected the water level of wells in Anaheim? The water level of wells about Redlands is said to have been raised 20 to 40 feet by preventing flood waters from running to waste, and experts predicted that ultimately this valley would benefit.

March 1, with a total rainfall of 6.58 inches compared with 15.25 on the same date last year, the level in the city's older well was 60 feet two inches below the surface of the gorund, compared with 68 feet 10½ inches last year.

A further very encouraging sign is that there is much packed snow in the mountains at this time in previous years at this date, says Manager G. W. Sandilands of the Anaheim Orange & Lemon Ass'n. This means a plentiful flow of water throughout the summer. There haven't been many more storms in the mountains, but storms have been heavier. Sandilands regards the snow supply as far more important than rainfalls, most of which, except for what actually is needed to replace irrigation, runs to waste.

At the same time Sandilands warns growers not to delay irrigating in the hope that enough rain will fall again to take the place of it.

BURGLAR SMASHES THRU WINDOW, SCOOPS JEWELS

Jewelry valued by the owner at approximately $2,000 was stolen just after midnight this morning from James' jewelry store on West Fourth street, Santa Ana.

The burglar broke thru the west window of the store about four feet above the sidewalk with a five-foot section of iron pipe entered and scooped up all the articles within reach.

James, who happened to be passing, heard a noise as if a vase had fallen and then saw a man reaching thru the window.

The owner reached into his pocket for his keys and just then the man came out and ran across the street, dropping jewelry as he went along.

James, as soon as he had seen the hand, pounded on the front door and set up a yell.

His description of the robber is as 20 to 30 years old, wark complexioned, heavy and wore dark clothes.

GREAT DIFFICULTIES IN OUTFALL SEWER

City Engineers O. E. Steward of Anaheim, Wm. Record of Fullerton and W. G. Hunt of Santa Ana yesterday met deWard & Cobham, contractors on the ocean end of the outfall sewer, at the newly established camp and outlined plans for starting of construction.

It was the first time in many moons that the city engineers had put their knees under a rough pine grub shack table and at their victuals from tin plates.

While awaiting delivery of cast iron pipe which will be immersed in the ocean, construction will be confined to the segmental block approach to the water. It will be necessary in several places to carry this pipe on piling over marshy ground.

The planting of the pipe for 800 feet out into the ocean may present some difficulties. Divers working from scows will be used as the water of the terrific, 200 feet beyond the breakwaters, is 20 feet deep at high tide. The pipe must be buried in the sand and caulked. A wharf or coffer dam may be necessary.

Sheet piling will be used on either side of the pipe which will be suspended from it by stirrups. It may be possible to pump the sand from under the piling and let it sink to the desired depth in that manner, the stirrups holding it in position.

FRASER COMPARES TWO GREAT CITIES TO KIWANIS CLUB

An interesting talk on Neighborliness was given to Kiwanians today by Secretary Malcom Fraser of the C. of C., in the course of which the speaker compared San Francisco and Los Angeles.

President A. B. McCord called attention to the fact that the San Diego club would receive its charter at a ceremony in the Fullerton meeting Saturday night and said he hoped Anaheimers would try to attend.

J. D. Matthews of a Santa Ana musical institution gave two delightful cornet solos. W. J. Sebastian introduced him.

A collection of 60 cents a member was taken for Dr. Sutton, who recently became the father of a fine boy.

Fraser, in his talk, said that the history of California had centered about Los Angeles and San Francisco. He referred to Charles A. Dana, former editor and owner of The Sun, in New York, as the man who had discovered California.

Up to 1849, said Fraser, the history of the State had not been worth considering. The Gold Rush had "made" San Francisco which, up to the great fire in 1906, had been the center of California civilization.

Fraser traced the difference between the two cities. San Francisco, he said, was more settled, but at the same time more friendly with outsiders. Its Civic Center, he declared, represented a big advantage. So did its library, which was one of the finest west of Chicago. So with its art galleries, its hotels and its street traffic. Los Angeles excelled in the booster spirit.

Kiwanis, he declared, fostered Neighborliness, as did Orange-ism. Orange-co differed from most sections of the country in that what it sold was environment.

Fraser made two announcements, one that 140 spaces were open for the industrial show and 70 for the automotive; the other regarding the coming visit tomorrow night of 21 Congressmen and wives. Congressmen will be tendered a dinner at St. Ana's Inn, Santa Ana.

ARMY PLANS PLANE DASH AROUND GLOBE

WASHINGTON, March 20.—An around-the-world airplane flight is now under consideration by the army air service, it was learned officially today. Studies of possible routes already have been made and, though still inconplete, these plans have progressed far enough to convince officials the proposed flight is entirely feasible. The army air service also has at least one "ship" which veteran pilots believe is capable of making the flight.

The main route for the flight already has been determined upon and for certain laps of the prospective trip, alternative routes have been selected.

EACH HONOREE THINKS PARTY IS FOR OTHER ONE

PRECEDING but one day the official advent of Spring, not many years ago, Mrs. William Knott and Mrs. J. A. Ramage first saw the light of day about the same time. In honor of the occasion, their friends gave them a birthday surprise party last evening at the home of Mrs. Knott.

With pink and white for the color combination, the rooms presented a real spring appearance. The centerpiece was a basket of spring blossoms in pink and white and their fragrance radiated the entire house. Bridal wreath and white Cherokee roses were other spring flowers used.

Two huge birthday cakes, one containing a ring for matrimony, a dime for wealth and a thimble for single bliss. Mrs. Ramage established a comfortable future for herself by getting the dime, Master Buddy Knott the ring and Master Billie Knott the thimble, all of whom were entirely happy over their "finds." The cakes were decorated and iced alike, with seven starred candles each.

Games and music were other entertainment features. Mrs. Knott was presented with a string of pearls and Mrs. Ramage with half dozen hand painted plates.

An amusing feature of the party was that each honoree thought the party was to surprise the other and when it became apparent that the compliment was a double affair both were greatly surprised. As the party broke up a "joy ride" to Orange was proposed and, loaded into the Knott Ford delivery car, the merrymakers took the spin.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Knott and children, Bud and Billie; Mrs. J. A. Ramage, Mrs. Ralph Sierks, Mrs. Lizzie Huntington, Mrs. Joe Crose, of Orange, Mrs. Fannie Weaver, Miss Pauline Vetter, Miss Eva Merritt, Miss Beth Lynch and Miss Charlotte Crose.

Practice Popular Game

A jolly half dozen dropped in on Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ruick last evening to brush up on "five hundred". The popular game was enjoyed for several rounds.

In the crowd were Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Durkee, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Fergus and Misses Evelyn and Lillian Dergue.

Domestic Science Meets

The Domestic Science section, meeting at the home of Mrs. F. G. Peck yesterday, was an interesting one. The hostesses of the afternoon, Mrs. Peck, Mrs. A. Nagle, Mrs. P. W. James and Mrs. John Johnson were hostesses.

Roll call was answered with household hints and with recipes which were all helpful. The attendance was good although somewhat less than usual. The meeting was thoroughly profitable one.

NEW LODGE WILL BE FORMED HERE

A new lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen is to be instituted in Anaheim about April 10th. District Manager H. C. McMasters of Whittier has opened office at 212 W. Center st., and will be here until the lodge is instituted.

The North Dakota Jurisdiction now operates in the states of No. Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming, Nevada and California, headquarters for California being Los Angeles.

A new lodge was recently instituted at Ontario with some of the leading business men and women as charter members.

"Within the last two years lodges have been instituted at Los Angeles, Glendale, El Monte, Long Beach, Whittier, San Diego and Ontario and on March 20th we expect to institute a live one at San Bernardino," says Mr. McMasters. In fact, we have several new lodges in progress of organization now. The insurance plans of the order are modern. Rates are adequate and the full legal reserve is maintained. In addition to whole life, the order writes policies paid up to 10, 15 and twenty years, sick and accident insurance, with old age, total and permanent disability.

HUNTINGTON BEACH BABY ASPHYXIATED

Coach Elliott's diamond men tangled with Huntington Beach in a practice baseball game on Anaheim field this afternoon. The locals second team went to Garden Grove.

Anaheim is getting in trim for the first league battle Friday when they play fast clan of players from Capistrano.

Whittier goes to Fullerton; Tustin to Garden Grove; Santa Ana at Huntington Beach and Orange draws a bye.

Impersonating Bandit Lands "Hoot" in Jail

That the western range of America, so long the favorite scene of thrilling photoplays, is not the only place infested by desperate bandits, is shown in "The Gentleman from America," the Universal feature, which will present Edward (Hoot) Gibson at the Fairfield theatre beginning tomorrow.

Bandits of a particularly wild and bold type still infest the mountainous regions of many parts of Europe and particularly Spain. Hiding deep in the mountains, these Spanish marauders sweep down upon the populace of small villages at intervals and their names instill fear.

The experience of an American doughboy who impersonated such a bandit and not only got the law but the real bandit chasing him, surely should offer fascinating possibilities for thrilling situations. That is exactly what happens in "The Gentleman from America," which was written especially for the star by Raymond L. Schrock, scenario editor at Universal City.

Opposite the star will be seen Louise Lorraine, while Carmen Phillips, Frank Leigh, Tom O'Brien, Burton Law and others play important roles.

WILLIAM GOODRUM--Buick Agent

(BY THE MYSTERIOUS COWBOY)

IT IS ALWAYS A PLEASURE TO WRITE OF THE BUICK AUTOMOBILE AND OF THOSE MEN CONNECTED WITH THE BUICK. THE INCENTIVE IS THERE AND ONE'S FANCY QUITE NATURALLY TURNS TO THE ATTRACTION OF THE THING. THE BUICK IS ASSUREDLY THE OLD STAND-BY IN THE AUTOMOTIVE WORLD—AT LEAST WHEN IT COMES TO POPULAR PRICED AUTOMOBILES. IT HAS HELD ITS OWN FOR BEAUTY AND USEFULNESS DURING ALL OF ITS GLORIOUS YEARS AND THE BUICK GOES ON—ONE OF THE MOST POPULAR AND ENDURABLE OF CARS.

But to get around to the personnel of the Buick family, the writer had the pleasure of a visit with Wm. Goodrum, the president of the Anaheim Automobile Co., and the distributor of the Buicks in Northern Orange County. Besides his place of business at 128 South Los Angeles street, this city, he has a branch office at Fullerton.

Mr. Goodrum hails from the great state of Mississippi, but has been on the Pacific Coast for quite a number of years. For a time he was with the Buick people in the Coss Bay country in Oregon. He has been associated with the Buick automobile for the past ten years, and has been selling this popular car in Anaheim, since 1918. It will be seen, then, that Mr. Goodrum is a full-fledged Buick man.

The home of the Buick in Anaheim is undoubtedly the most handsome auto show place in town. It is an appropriate surrounding for the beautiful car that displays itself in these fine quarters. Here will be found all of the latest models of this famous automobile, and here, too, the autoist can depend upon a Buick service that is nowhere excelled. This concern carries a complete stock of Buick parts, and thus it will be seen that all Buick owners in this district have a high class service at their disposal. Buick mechanics are there to complete the general scheme of Buick perfection.

I am quite sure that Mr. Goodrum would rather have me talk about the Buick automobile than about himself. The car needs no introduction from me—it is nationally renowned and the popularity is growing so rapidly that it is difficult to stay in touch with Buick advancement. I must say, however, that the Buick people have the best type of representative in Mr. Goodrum—he knows the Buick automobile and he understands the big future of this great car. He plays golf and he boosts for Anaheim. He is here to stay and Anaheim will be the gainer for his citizenship. This cowboy says more power to live wires to this kind.

DAILY GREETINGS TO OUR READERS

Yes, there may be something of God in our daily life; something of might in this frail inner man; something of immorality in this momentary and transient being.—Orville Dewey.

Uncle Sam wisely keeps out of petty squabbling by nations.

Some urge governmental retrenchment with their lips, but do not mean it, in their hearts.

The farmer has greater facilities not for borrowing money. But the ability to borrow is sometimes anything but a blessing.

The American Legion is a useful, inspiring, patriotism-fostering, whole some organization, the existence of which is a boon to the country.

The American people should practice Roosevelitan strenuosity in their play, as well as in their work. The complexities of modern life are killing, unless duly offset by frequent periods of rest and recreation.

The United States, in its relations with other nations and in its attitude toward world problems, should avoid the extreme of aloofness, just as it should avoid the extreme of becoming entangled in the political affairs of other countries.

The homely old adage ran, "Stick to your flannels till they stick to you." Many make the grevious mistake of putting off winter long before the chill of winter is past. To this may be attributed many colds, and many serious cases of pneumonia.

Mexico is beginning to irrigate extensively. Agricultural development coupled with permanent peace, will make the Mexicans a wealthy and contented people. President Obregon is doing well in encouraging reclamation work on a vast scale.

Strenuous stretching forth of the governing hand at Washington is not urgently needed now. The people are busy gathering up the loose ends of the economic thread, and prefer to be left alone to work out their problems without harassment from the government.

The patriotic citizen is disposed to pay taxes without grumbling when he knows that tax moneys are expended wisely and without extravagance or waste. But paying burdensome taxes when wastefulness is known to be rampant at the seat of government is never a palatable proceeding.

Building, throughout the United States, is of phenomenal proportions. No such volume of construction ever all. If it is to be kept so the United States, let it be so set down. It Cuba is to have sovereignty over it, then let that sovereignty be fixed and recognized. The thousands of American resident upon that tropic isle should know definitely to which government they must adhere.

CRIME SHOULD HAVE NO MERCY HERE

The movement while originated in Los Angeles to strengthen the forces arrayed against crime in this state, by means of a comprehensive remedial legislative program, has had the good effect of beatirring the people, en masse, into a realization of the menace which criminality presents and the urgent need of co-operation on the part of all, singly and collectively, to make the way of the criminal rough and forbidding, in this state.

The people have awakened from their lethargy. Heretofore there has been too much of a tendency on the part of the public to sit back and criticise those charged with enforcement of the laws, and at the same time lend no friendly word and no active help. Too many have treated the great function of law enforcement as being the concern only of the police and constabulary and the courts; but the great awakening is impressing the people that law enforcement is their own business; that laws are made for their protection; that enforcement of law is for their direct and very real benefit; and that, therefore, they should concern themselves directly in all that appertains to better enforcement of law and should aid actively and sympathetically, instead of standing back in cavping, critical mood, leaving the enforcement of law wholly to those who are not principals, but only the agents of the people.

DESERT ROBBED OF MUCH OF ITS TERROR

The deserts of the Southwest, once the ghastly lures of death, with their hot sands, their lack of water, their mirages and their trackelessness, have lost their terrors. Seldom is there a desert tragedy of the old time type. These are exceptional, rather than the rule.

There comes from South Central Nevada a tale of tragedy, wherein a Los Angeles jeweler, driving by automobile through that barren region, became lost and in his frenzy pushed his companion from the car and drove frantically into the sandy wasts, where he perished. His bones have been found, after months of search.

But the building of roads, and especially the placing of signs at frequent intervals, all along desert highways, and the sinking of wells and other safety precautions, have divested the desert of its horrors. Automobiles without number traverse the desert areas in safety and comfort. In truth, this constant travel is an element in safety in itself, for should any one traveler become involved in difficulty, there is sure to be some one along soon to give a helping hand.

Right of possession to the Isle of Pines, as between the United States and Cuba, should be settled once for all. If it is to belong to the United States, let it be so set down. If Cuba is to have sovereignty over it, then let that sovereignty be fixed and recognized. The thousands of American resident upon that tropic isle should know definitely to which government they must adhere.

Abe Martin

We think prohibition is makin' wonderful progress when we consider that public officials won't monkey with unpop'lar laws. All th' high school kids are jealous o' Wilbur Mott 'cause his mother understands how t' work algebra problems.

New York Letter

NEW YORK, March 20.—The first polo game played by women in a public tournament in this country, or probably anywhere else, was held here the other evening at Squadron A Armory. There have been private matches of women polo players before but they have never competed in a public exhibition. It was only a few years ago that public opinion was aghast at the thought of women even attempting this strenuous and dangerous sport.

Brock Pemberton is one of our most versatile producers. Having delighted New York audiences with the cleverest play of the season, "Six Characters in Search of an Author," he has now turned his fancy to the presentation of a French farce. "The Love Habit" is clever, too, and unusually well done, with all of its continental flavor preserved in spite of being carried out in a truly New York manner. Ernest Cossart, as the erring husband; Fania Marinoff, as the dancer who infatuates him; Florence Eldridge, as the injured wife; and James Rennie, as her young admirer, are all excellent.

It takes considerable enthusiasm to chop meat in a hotel kitchen when you could live luxuriously in one of the best suites of that same hotel if you were—so Lee is doing. is what Maurice Barrie is doing. His father is one of the richest hotel men in France, and that means a great deal. But he wants to learn the hotel business as thoroughly as his father knows it, and believing that America has more to teach along that line even than France, he has come here to learn it. Intent upon knowing every detail of the business and his work, this tall, slender young Frenchman started in the linen room of the Commodore hotel, and is working on through all departments. Meat chopping is his present occupation, and he declares that he is enjoying it immensely.

If you ride on the New York subways you get an idea that the country is a flourishing hot-bed of literary intensity. Whether they all read them or whether it is a new form of adornment, I don't know, but nine out of every ten girls on the subway cars carry books. Sometimes the book is open and pages are occasionally turned if the girls lucky enough to have a seat; usually they are just carried, maybe to be read in the quiet of an office. Never have I seen so many books in such limited space. I'll say this for them, they are less obnoxious to the other passengers comfort than are the spread out newspapers in the hands of every man.

"Terrified thunder" is the latest one of nature's expressions to be on view for New Yorkers. Technically these thunderbolts are known as fulgurites but no one seemed to feel intimate with them by that title. A fulgurite is a glass which is often produced when lightning strikes a mass of rock or bed of dry sand and melts the material. In other words, it is glass made by nature in the same way men make glass in foundaries. The fulgurites here in the Natural History Museum come from all sorts of places—Mount Ararat, the Desert of Sahara, Michigan, Illinois and Mehemanehiva.

Those of us who chuckled with joy at "The Tavern" are rejoicing in the presentation of another Cohanesque farce of the same delightful absurd kind. "Barnum Was Right," which opened the other night at the Frazee is an excellent farce, with the same satire on melodrama which we loved in "The Tavern," and with a more than usually good cast, which does that thing so important in the farce—plays with apparently complete sincerity and seriousness. Marion Coakley, Donald Brian, Nell Mar. tin, Dennan Maley, Enid Markey and Will Deming are all so good that it is impossible to particularize. It is more difficult, I am sure, to play farce as capably as they do than to give an acceptable performance of almost any other type of drama.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS

QUALITY IN IMMIGRATION

(Omaha Bee)

The movement to lift the drawgates and admit a new flood of immigration to America is not in accord with public opinion. The nation as a whole, including both those of foreign and native birth, is pretty well satisfied with present restrictions. These provide that the number of aliens who may be admitted under the immigration laws of the United States in any fiscal year be limited to 3 per centum of the number of foreign born persons of such nationality resident in the United States, as determined by the United States census of 1910." The law expires June 30 of this year, and there is beginning to be determined drive to have its provisions modified. Such complaint as exists arises from the fact that great numbers of foreigners from the south and east of Europe are kept from entry by the quota set for their country. The races of the north of Europe, who formerly constituted the backbone of new Americans, have not filled up their quota. Under the present law many more of these could find admission.

Shortage of labor in some industries is alleged by these who seek to bring in aliens by the million under new legislation. Some of these interests would even have the literacy test eliminated and let in anyone with a strong back.

The problem of Americanization would be intensified many fold by such a policy. The organizations seeking a new supply of cheap labor fail to realize the seriousness of this. Lowered cost of production is indeed a desirable thing, but not at the price of American standards. To pass a tariff to protect American workingmen against cheap foreign labor and then to admit that labor to compete on our own soil is not statesmanship. President Harding rightly withstood the pressure to urge easier immigration laws.

Involved in this question is the maintenance of the American standard of living. These races from abroad have simpler wants and can work for lower wages without any sense of sacrifice than can native Americans. It is well to consider the full implication of this. A lowered standard of living means less buying and selling. The market for meat, for clothing and all sorts of commodities would slacken under this influence.

It has not been proved that there is any shortage of labor in America when wages sufficient to maintain a decent standard of living are offered. A year ago there was no employment at any wage for millions of men and business suffered for lack of popular purchasing power. Conditions now are better stabilized and nothing should be done to disturb the balance.

To select and limit our immigration is not in violation of the historic function of America as a haven of the oppressed of every land. The decline of autocracy and the freeing of the subject nationalities has placed the peoples of Europe in a position where they should be able to work out their own salvation at home. America stands ready to welcome as many from abroad as it can absorb into its life, but does not wish its institutions swamped by unassimilable quantities of alien blood. We want quality not quantity, public sentiment will not endorse surrender of this policy.

PETE HAX MANAGER OF ANAHEIM ELKS; PLAY IRVINE SUN.

Having completed the Double A league schedule the champion Anaheim Merchants baseball team will appear next Sunday under their old name of Anaheim Elks with Pete Hax, veteran baseball director of Fullerton, at the helm.

The Elks state baseball league opens a month earlier this year, the first league game being played the last of May. This gives Manager Hax only two months in which to plug up two and possibly three very important holes in the local lineup.

McDowell, crack third baseman of Anaheim and leading batter of the Winter league, left yesterday to rejoin Wichita of the Western league.

Vic Ruedy, star outfielder will be in the lineup for a week or two before leaving for his berth with Danville, Ill. in the Three-Eye league.

It is not yet certain whether Doty Bush will be available for second, depending upon his disposition by the Los Angeles club. If he is retained or farmed out by the Angels he will, of course, leave a serious difficulty for Manager Hax. If he is given an outright release by the Seraphs he may be expected back at his old stamping grounds.

Hax will probably bring Ray Bush in from the field to McDowells place at third.

The first practice game for the Elks will be played next Sunday with Irvine, champions of the Orange county Harbor league. Two weeks ago Irvine held the Los Angeles rookie team to a 5 to 4 score.

The game will be played at Irvine.

Billy Knott, who lead the Anaheimers to a championship in the Elks State League last summer and again to first honors in the Double A, desired a vacation. He will probably return to the game next fall for another fast Winter League season.

Anaheim Elks at their last meeting named Hax, Captain Buster Callan and Knott as the temporary baseball committee.

DEMPSEY SPARRING PARTNER SEEN HERE

The ol' fight shanty on the sugar factory grounds should be packed tonight for Athletic Manager Billy Darnley never lined up a more promising program. From curtain raiser to the main go which brings together, Young Leo, Long Beach boy, and Jack Williams of Los Angeles, every member looks good.

Just how long the big boys will travel is not certain for it is apt to end with one punch as in the main go of last week when Leo, rocked Otto to sleep in the first round. A large crowd of Long Beach admirers of Leo is coming.

Williams on the other hand, has Champion Dempsey's O. K. as a hard and game mixer and Jack ought to know for Williams, has been one of his sparring partners the past few weeks.

Little Kid Louie, the pride of Placentia, has underdrawn a big contract when he tackles the tough beauty from Oklahoma, Paul Wilkins in the semi-windup.

Jimmy Douglas, Phoenix lightweight, will once again endeavor to show the fans from around these parts that he is better man than Battling Doty who hails from Wilsterburg. Mayor Sims, the big gun of that village, is Doty's chief backer.

Young Sheller, scrappy welter of over Berdoo way, hooks up with another scrappy one in 'Onlie' Brownie of Orange. Eddie Benson of El Modena tangles with Pete Brown of local fame at 130 pounds while Pete West and Young Kid McCoy raise the curtain at 105 pounds.

ELKS PIN LEAGUE OPENS APRIL 6TH

Roehm-Sylvesters found the scratch rough at Redondo Beach last night and lost all three games to the Duffy-Har-It team of that town. Theodore was high man of the Anaheim team with 546 While Elker was the only man to shoot a 200 score.

The So. Calif. Elks League will start April 6 with 12 teams all in one division. Anaheim Lodge has a place in the league. H. J. Elker will probably captain the locals. The "Little Giant" is going good and will select a strong team to represent Anaheim.

Shooting 607 last week, Bill Gordon gained a point in the individual averages of the City League and is in first place with 185 average for 30 games. His closest competitor, Hansen, is two points behind.

In Class B, Larrison has everything his own way and with 183 average is 10 points ahead of M. Varner who is second. Eden is the real leader in Class C, with 173 for 30 games although Figueroa and Gamboa have 178 and 174, having shot only three games.

Larrison's 267 and 660 are high scores for classes A and B while Tanner with 246 and 642 has both Class C records.

MARTY KRUG TO MANAGE ANGELS

Marty Krug, candidate for the second-base position on the Los Angeles club, arrived at Washington park this morning to find that he was manager of the Angels.

Krug, who had no inkling of the honor to be thrust upon him, says he is out to give the fans of this city a pennant winner.

ANAHEIM ROTARY FEELING CHESTY; ISSUES CHALLENGES

Fullerton Rotary will be challenged to a golf match with Anaheim Rotary at the Hacienda Country club, the local organization decided at its meeting yesterday afternoon at the Elks clubhouse. The local Kiwanis club will be challenged to an athletic meet at the Elks' Clubhouse next Saturday in connection with Community Night of Community Service.

It was the 25th consecutive 100 per cent meeting, and the club Secretary, Rev. Thomas H. Walker, will communicate with international headquarters to see how the club stands in this and other countries in point of attendance. It is believed Anaheim holds the record in the second district.

The club hopes to turn out 100 per cent strong, for at least one session of the district convention, to be held at the Hotel Maryland, Pasadena, April 5-6-7.

Huntington Beach is trying to form a club President Harry D. Riley said. Riley spoke there on last Friday.

Rev. Walter Thornton, pastor of the First Christian church of Fullerton, gave an inspiring talk on economics and service. He said Rotary was the first club to put the Golden Rule into action, and emphasized the force which Rotary and clubs with similar principles could exert toward more unselfishness in business life. Europe wondered at Americans coming over in such numbers, he said, to the international convention in Edinburgh, Scotland, purely for unselfish ends. It would be wonderful if nations could do likewise, he remarked. When President Wilson declared at the beginning of the war that America had come in not for money or territory but for humanity's sake he gave an extraordinary statement of Rotarism said the pastor.

The business methods' committee at the next meeting will help put on the program.

Ten directors will be nominated, of whom five will be elected at the last meeting in April.

STEAL FROM TOMB

MADRID—Thieves entered the cathedral of Granada and stole a forged iron screen surrounding the tomb of Queen Isabella, friend of Columbus, and her consort, King Fordinand. They sold the grating as old iron.

UNIFORM CLOSING OF STORES URGED

That Orange county merchants observe a uniform closing hour was the move launched at the meeting of the Brea chamber of commerce last evening. A committee composed of Harry Ray, M. G. Piscuss and G. W. Heafner was appointed to interview the business men of the county on the proposition which sets the hour at six p. m. each day except Saturday, which could be conveniently be one hour later, as closing time for all business houses.

The chamber of commerce considers this plan for the patron ideal, the merchant and his assistants, and would leave the evening for recreation or other beneficial use.

Election of officers of the Brea chamber was postponed one month on account of several new matters which came up at the meeting. A graded fee for business licenses to the advantage of the smaller dealer, was proposed.

A report by the ornamental street lighting system committee was presented. For $15,000 ornamental lights may be installed along eight principal blocks of Brea. The matter will be placed before the city.

A proposition to increase the number of directors of the chamber from five to 11 was accepted. It was decided to omit the regular monthly dinners but decided to serve at longer intervals.

Leatrice Joy Wears Superb Chinese Gems

Leatrice Joy, who plays the role of a high caste Chinese woman in Geo. Melford's Paramount production of "Java Head," now showing at the California Theatre, had a goodly share of responsibility imposed upon her during the screening of the picture.

There are no fewer than 29 distinct articles of jewelry and costume accessories of which Miss Joy must keep accurate account and make correct use. Among them are included large and small peacocks, jade grape pins, mottled stone ornaments, ivory hairpins, ivory and silver dope ompe, small brass nail-heads, jade and pearl earrings, double strand of green glass beads, moonstone ornaments and various other pretties.

Being an American girl Leatrice Joy naturally contrasts this varied collection of gems with the usual meagre assortment which is owned by American women of the same station as Thon Yen, the Chinese character which she portrays.

"After naming such pieces as a rope of pearls, several rings, a diamond-studded wrist watch, a pair of jade earrings and perhaps a bar pin and gold cigarette case, the average American woman is wont to consider her jewel care well stocked," says Plain Dealer Want Ads Get Results

Miss Joy, "whereas a Chinese woman of similar social position would regard such a collection as merely a slim start toward the necessary number of ornaments."
