Say Brownell Knew Of Deal by Talbott

By HERBERT FOSTER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Senate investigators were told today that Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. knew that Air Secretary Harold E. Talbott's private firm sought a business deal with a defense contractor.

Air Force General Council John A. Johnson testified at a public hearing of the Senate Investigating Subcommittee that Brownell "expressed no disagreement" with the idea that Talbott was acting legally in pursuing the deal. But he said Brownell suggested delaying action on the deal.

Meanwhile, Talbott's attorney said the Air Force secretary wants to return for more testimony before the subcommittee, which is conducting an inquiry into his activities on behalf of Paul B. Mulligan & Co., a management engineering firm in which he is a partner.

Official Stationery

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) said the group would meet later today to consider which witnesses to call in its investigation.

The subcommittee is investigating the propriety of Talbott's continued association with the Mulligan firm, which has been employed by a number of big defense contractors as well as other large corporations. Previous testimony showed that Talbott has received $132,032 in profits from the firm since he became Air Force secretary. The subcommittee also has obtained copies of letters which Talbott wrote from his Pentagon office on Air Force stationery seeking to drum up business for the firm.

Johnson was called to the witness stand today for questioning about Talbott's efforts to land a contract for the Mulligan firm with Radio Corporation of America, a major defense contractor. The senators specifically wanted to know if Johnson, as government salaried official lawyer for the Air Force, had acted as Talbott's private attorney in talks with RCA officials who questioned the propriety of a defense contractor doing business with Talbott's firm.

Johnson told the subcommittee he did not act as Talbott's private attorney in the RCA contracts last January. He said he simply prepared a memorandum for Talbott stating that Talbott's membership in the Mulligan firm did not violate the conflict of interest laws.

Johnson said that Loftus E. Becker, a Washington attorney for RCA, informed him last Jan. 5 that RCA would not be satisfied with this, but wanted approval from the attorney general.

Johnson said Talbott asked him to discuss the question with Brownell.

Midwest Sizzles As Mercury Soars

By UNITED PRESS

A sizzling heat wave returned to the Midwest today with 100-plus temperatures and wilting humidity.

Summer weather belted other parts of the country with drenching rainfalls and flash floods.

At Columbus, Ga., three cloudbursts in less than 24 hours piled more than four inches of rain. Flood waters poured through streets and dozens of homes, 1000 telephones were knocked out, and radio and television stations went off the air.

Across the country in Arizona, the heaviest rainfall in 44 years doused the state's central lowland area. Flood waters three and a half feet deep washed through Florence, Ariz., causing extensive damage, and several main highways were closed yesterday.

In the Midwest, the weather bureau predicted "sizzling hot weather" from a new heat wave moving out of the Great Plains. Chicago's all-time July 26 record of 95.1 degrees was expected to fall and the city braced for its 14th day of 90-plus temperatures this month.

Temperatures zoomed into the 100's in South Dakota and Kansas late yesterday, including 102 at Pierre, S. D. and 101 at Hill City, Kan.

The heat wave was followed up early today with a thunderstorm and winds up to 75 miles per hour at Bismarck, N.D.

The Midwest, which cooled off from a long heat spell only this weekend, was expected to keep on baking until a cool front arrives out of Canada.

Some relief was promised by tonight in northern sections and extreme Northern Illinois and Southern Lower Michigan were expected to feel the cool breezes by tomorrow night.

Midwesterners could find some consolation in the thought that the Chinese were even worse off. A record heat wave was searing Red China with temperatures of more than 110 degrees.

RUNAWAY ELOPEMENT?—Police and family of Helen Lorraine Linville remain baffled by the sudden, mysterious disappearance of the 15-year-old Concord, Calif., from Anaheim City Park last Saturday. A possible elopement theory seems to be dissolving into nothing since the Linville family report having definitely located Lorraine's supposed boy friend, Pete Zaranoza, Pittsburg, Calif. (above), who disclaimed any knowledge of Lorraine's whereabouts. Picture (above) was made recently in the girl's home in Concord.

Missing Girl Mystery Puzzles Anaheim Police

A pall of mystery today still surrounded the sudden, unexplained disappearance of Helen Lorraine Linville, the 15-year-old Concord, Calif., girl who turned up missing Saturday evening following a barbecue with friends she had reportedly met in Anaheim City Park during the day.

Anaheim Captain Detective T. V. Taylor said today that although no new clues have presented themselves, several reports of the girl having been seen in Concord were received by Concord police, although none have checked out.

Local police also could shed no light on the elopement theory, based on the report that Lorraine and a Pete Zaranoza, Pittsburg, Calif., were supposedly in love. Taylor said that police had not yet been successful in locating Zaranoza, although Mrs. Katherine Linville, Lorraine's sister-in-law, said today that the family had personally and easily contacted by phone Zaranoza and he had stated, Mrs. Linville said, that he had not seen Lorraine since July 6, had received only one letter from her and one phone call.

Adding to the hodgepodge of inconsistancies and false leads was the report received by the Linville family last night that Lorraine was in custody in Concord. The information, Mrs. Linville stated, was relayed to them from local police, with detailed information to the extent that Lorraine would be placed in the "juvenile hall," against which Lorraine's mother, now here from Concord, objected. The family was advised, they claim, to send someone after Lorraine, about 400 miles north of here and southeast of Berkeley.

Lorraine's brother, Robert, left early last night, on a bus for Concord but a short time later police called his home to inform the family the girl was not in custody, but it was too late to save Linville from a futile round-trip to Concord.

Lorraine is described as looking older than her 15 years by about four years. She is 5 feet 5 inches, 125 pounds, dark brown hair and hazel eyes. When last seen, in City Park she was wearing blue shorts and a white middle-blouse.

Witness to Fatal Beating of Youth Sought by Police

SANTA ANA, (OCNS) — Charges against two men who reportedly beat to death a Claremont College Student were not filed by the District Attorney's office yesterday as OCNS learned exclusively that a witness was being hunted by police. Also exclusively revealed last night, by Newport Police Captain Walter Dyson was the fact that one of the two women, the 21-year-old student was said to be ogling through an open window was clad in a bikini bathing suit.

The student, Irving Richard Perrett of Los Angeles, was left unconscious on the sidewalk at Newport Beach after he assertedly peeped at the men's wives through their apartment windows.

Booked on unfiled charges were plastering contractor Robert H. La Verne and Costa Mesa salesman William D. Smith. The two assertedly found the youth staring through the window of an apartment at their wives and gave chase. La Verne is said to have slugged the youth into semi-consciousness with a club and left him on the street.

They were arrested after the youth died as the result of injuries received.

La Verne was released on $5,000 bail while Smith is being held as a material witness.

La Verne reportedly told arresting officers "I didn't mean to kill him, I only wanted to clobber him."

Buena Park Market Named in Damage Suit

SANTA ANA, (OCNS) — Bob's Super Market in Buena Park was the defendant in a $10,000 personal injury damage complaint filed in superior court here today by Anita Tobar.

The plaintiff charges the defendant allowed slippery floors to exist and that she fell and received serious injuries July 26, 1954.

Garden Grove Woman Latest Polio Victim

SANTA ANA (OCNS)—A 33-year-old Garden Grove woman today became Orange County's 25th polio victim for the year.

Undergoing treatment in County Hospital is Avis Final, 9861 Russell St., according to County Health Officer Dr. E. L. Russell. She was admitted to the hospital last Thursday. Her condition was termed "mild non-paralytic" by Dr. Russell.

Her husband's name is Clayton E. Final. They have a son, 6. The county's polio scoreboard for 1955 now stands nearly 50 per cent under last year's at the same time. Dr. Russell said 47 cases had been recorded as of this date last year.

Lashes Out at Lawmaker for Charge Organization Bribed Congressmen

SANTA ANA, (OCNS) — The president of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks today lashed out at Orange County Congressmen James B. Utt for what he termed "An unfair, unjustified, and vicious attack," on members of congress and postal employes.

The head of the huge union, Leo E. George, took issue with a column published in The Bulletin and other county newspapers and authored by Utt which charged that some congressmen had accepted bribes from the Postal Union.

George charged the congressman had a right to speak his mind, but, "I do not concede," he said, "Your right to engage in slanderous terms in referring to representatives of the organizations of postal employes or others whose views differ from yours."

Utt Charged

The charges were contained in a letter mailed by the postal union to all news media in the 28th Congressional District. They stemmed from Utt's charges that postal unions in promoting recent raises for government employes "were more interested in demonstrating their political power than they were in obtaining increased dollars for the members."

Utt had gone on to say the unions "engaged in highly un-American practices which included threats of defeat to congressmen who refused to accept their line of thinking, paid some bribes and offered other bribes."

George termed the charges "an unfair, unjustified and vicious attack upon the characters of all representatives of postal employe organizations, as well as upon members of congress (unnamed) whom you accuse of having accepted bribes."

In a letter to Utt calling for a public retraction and apology, George demanded that the charge of bribery "indicts the honesty and characters of the members of congress who received bribes and calls for a full explanation."

Armored Truck Spills Money in Fullerton

FULLERTON (OCNS) — The rear door of an armored transport truck flew open as it pulled away from the intersection of Amerige Ave. and Spadra Rd. yesterday afternoon, spilling between $300 and $400 in small change into the street.

Witnesses reported two bags of currency tumbled out and before the two guards could alight to retrieve them, a car rolled over one bag splitting it open. Pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters were scattered in the street.

As people rushed out of stores to see the embarrassed guards scurrying to scoop up the money, Dick Skeen, a local postman, and a few other residents offered their assistance. The money reportedly was from Disneyland.

The money was back in the truck in a few minutes and few passing motorists were aware of the occurrence. Local police were not called out and did not learn of the incident until this morning. It was reported earlier that more than $100,000 had fallen from the truck but this was refuted by officials.

Man Goes on Trial for Shooting Placentian

SANTA ANA, (OCNS) — Accused of shooting another man in the leg with a .25 Caliber pistol, Antonio Gonzales, 30, of Los Angeles was on trial in Superior Court here today.

Gonzales assertedly shot Andrew Acevedo, 110 West Center St., Placentia, during an argument in the 301 Cafe West Santa Fe, Placentia, May 8.

But even if the representative should call and your sales slip totalled less than $5 you would still qualify for half the Silver Bonus. But for details, see page 8 of today's Bulletin.

Last Rites Held For Cordell Hull

WASHINGTON (UP)— National leaders and diplomats from every part of the world paid final tribute to former Secretary of State Cordell Hull today at funeral services in Washington Cathedral.

Rites for the 83-year-old statesman were conducted by the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of the cathedral, at the main altar of the high vaulted Gothic church on Mount St. Albans.

The simple, austere service followed the traditional Protestant Episcopal service for the dead from the ancient Book of Common Prayer. There was no eulogy.

Hull was buried following the service in the crypt of the cathedral, by the side of his wife, Rose, and near the tomb of former President Woodrow Wilson.

About 2000 persons, including top ranking diplomats of 50 countries and many present and past government officials, attended the services.

The only close relative at the funeral was Hull's niece, Mrs. Katherine Ethridge of San Antonio, Tex., who had taken care of the ailing statesman since Mrs. Hull's death March 27, 1954.

Confusion Leaves Fate Of Turncoats in Doubt

WASHINGTON (UP)— Apparent confusion within the Pentagon today left still in doubt the future of three turncoat ex-GI's who defected to Red China and then decided to return home.

An army spokesman said last night the three would be arrested for court martial as soon as their ship docks in San Francisco Friday.

But a Defense Department spokesman said today the matter still is being investigated by the Defense and Justice Departments and that no decision has been reached on what action to take.

The spokesman said the Army source did not consult the Defense Department before his unofficial discussion with the press about the turncoats' future.

The ex-prisoners — William A. Cowart, 22, Dalton, Ga.; Lewis W. Griggs, 22, Jacksonville, Tex., and Otho G. Bell, 24, Olympia, Wash. — are on the last leg of their ocean voyage home from Red China.

Weather

Night and morning low clouds with sunny afternoons today and Wednesday. Not much change in temperature today with high of 80 and 73 at beaches.

NEWS OF THE WORLD IN BRIEF

PROPOSE BILL TO BRING RUSSIANS TO U. S.

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Rep. S. J. Carnahan (D-Mo.) introduced a bill yesterday to provide up to $2000 each to bring 300 Russians to this country for two-month visits in a demonstration of America's peaceful intents.

EAST GERMANS CALL FOR UNIFICATION TALKS

BERLIN (U.P.)—The East German Communists called today for immediate talks on German reunification between the East and West German governments.

286 AGED AND INFIRM ESCAPE FIRE

TOPEKA, Kan. (U.P.)—Weeping aged and infirm residents of a Methodist old folks home were carried to safety today shortly before the roof of an older wing collapsed in flames.

All 286 residents of the home were led or carried to safety as flames enveloped the roof of the four-story brick building.

RUSSIANS DECLINE CHANCE TO SQUARE DANCE

LAURENS, Iowa (U.P.)—Visiting Russian farm experts passed up a whirl at square dancing to keep their legs limber for today's tramps across Iowa farmlands. Instead, some of them stood around the American Legion Hall floor and clapped their hands in time to the country rhythms of the Humboldt Hot Shots band.

Claims Geneva Summit Meet Had Good Results

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Secretary of State Foster Dulles said today the danger of war has receded as a result of the Geneva summit conference.

Dulles told a news conference that the Geneva conference produced good results.

At the head of the list of accomplishments he said the meeting transformed American and Soviet relations so that they became less brittle, thus making it possible to conduct diplomatic negotiations without fear of igniting a war.

He said this means the danger of an East-West war has receded.

Report To Nation

Dulles' assessment of the Geneva accomplishments followed President Eisenhower's report to the nation last night.

The President said both the United States and Russia must do "some giving" at next October's foreign ministers' meeting if the "generalities" of Geneva are to be moulded into peaceful settlements. Mr. Eisenhower said that conference will provide the "acid test."

Dulles also disclosed at his news conference that the United States, in talks with Red China at Geneva starting next Monday, hopes to find out if the Reds will accept the principle of a cease fire in the Formosa Straits.

Washington and Peiping announced yesterday that the talks on prisoners and other practical matters between the two countries would be held at the ambassador level.

Dulles Conciliatory

Dulles recalled that on April 26 he had said the first thing in any talks with Red China was to find out whether there was a possibility of a cease fire in the Formosa Straits.

He also recalled his previous remarks that it was important first to find out whether the United States must prepare for war or peace in the Far East. And he repeated that the United States does not negotiate with a pistol aimed at its head.

Today, however, Dulles spoke in more conciliatory tones about Red China and events since April 26.

Dulles said the United States on July 11 proposed direct talks with the Red Chinese since they had released some American prisoners, stopped some of their warlike activities, and eased off in their anti-American propaganda.

Less Chance Of War

Turning to the Geneva conference, Dulles said under questioning that there had been a danger of war before the Big Four meeting, although it was perhaps not

Beach Pinball Expose Brings Council Action

NEWPORT BEACH (OCNS) —Enterprise of Newport Harbor News-Press and OCNS in exclusively exposing pinball machine pay-offs here last Friday resulted in City Council last night demanding that reporters who made the survey sign complaints against offending local machine operators.

Failing this, the council apparently will call the pair, Dick Arbenz, Orange County News Service reporter and his pinball colleague Bob Wilkinson, Orange, a student, to give sworn testimony before the council. This, apparently, will be used to implement legal action by the city attorney against the five local places which the News-Press pinball survey experts reported as paying off.

Fullerton Man Wins Half First Award of Mystery Merchants

First Mystery Merchants awards were collected last night when Anaheim stores remained open until 9 p.m. for greater shopping convenience.

Robert Reinhardt, 200 S. Ventura Place, Fullerton, received $19.50, half the jackpot, because he had a sales slip for less than $5 from a Mystery Merchant store.

Consolation prizes of $1 were awarded to Rev. J. C. Olsen, 2413 W. Almond, Orange and Mrs. I. R. Strain, 842 N. Pine.

Next week's Mystery Merchants' jackpot will be $80.50, divided into three cash prizes of $56.50, $16 and $8.

Be sure to shop for the special Monday evening savings offered each Monday, and only in the evening, by the various Anaheim Mystery Merchants. It's your chance to not only save money on purchases, but qualify for a cash prize! Mystery Merchant representatives appear on the street between 6 and 9 p.m. each Monday evening.

Hope Talks With Red China Will Lead to Meeting

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga) said today that next week's diplomatic talks with Communist China may help "clear the air" to set up a two-nation foreign ministers conference on the Far East.

He told reporters he believes any such conference of foreign ministers should start as bilateral discussions between the United States and Red China.

Communist China proposed in an editorial broadcast by Peiping Radio, that Geneva-like negotiations be held on Formosa, Indochina, and Peipings admission to the United Nations.

"No one can deny that the tension in Asia and the Far East, particularly the Formosan situation and the obstacles in the way of the implementation of the Geneva agreements on Indochina, has aroused serious concern and unrest among the people," the editorial said.

The broadcast, which praised the Geneva conference, refrained from the usual bitter attacks on the United States.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland insisted that there should be no discussions involving the "sovereignty" of Nationalist China without the Nationalists present.

GANGRENE THREATENS

Laborer With Broken Leg Believes Faith Will Heal Compound Fracture

HOBART, Okla. (UP)— A 28-year-old laborer, facing the risk of getting gangrene in a broken leg, said today he believes faith will heal his wounds without the aid of a doctor.

Relatives took William Carl Holman home yesterday from a hospital room where he was being treated for a compound fracture of his leg. Holman was hit by an automobile Sunday night while he was on a farm tractor.

Dr. Richard Shriner said Holman's leg and his life are both in danger" and warned him that "if gangrene sets in, that will be the end."

But Holman, who with his relatives belongs to the Church of the First Born, told a reporter, "I'll be back to work in a few days."

"He'll be cured by faith. We believe in miracles," added his mother, Mrs. Lucias Holman, who refused to let the reorter take his picture.

The leg was placed in a cast before Holman's family took him from Hobart General Hospital yesterday, but no surgery had been performed where the broken bone extended through the skin.

"There is a slim chance the leg will heal, anyway, but it is slim." Dr. Shriner said.

Holman was taken to the family's small, nearly kept home at nearby Rocky, Okla. A small electric fan stood by his bed in the near 100-degree heat, and his sister frequently gave him ice water to drink.

Mrs. Holman said her son, himself, had requested he be taken from the hospital.

Four Face Indictment For Murder

LOS ANGELES (UP) — District Attorney S. Ernest Roll said he would ask the county Grand Jury today to indict the teenage son of a millionaire and three others in the "doorbell" slaying of Frederick Winter Heinz, 19.

Roll said he would ask for indictments against Eric Newton Bass, 16, son of Newton T. Bass, wealthy Apple Valley, Calif., real estate operator; Harvey (Rocky) Bimstein, 23; John Hurney, 18; and Neal Cook, 25.

Heinz, son of a bakery firm executive, was shot fatally with a .380 automatic before the eyes of the doorbell at the family home in nearby Pacific Palisades last Saturday night.

After shooting down Heinz, the two men forced their way into the house and stole watches and wallets from Heinz' father and brother-in-law.

Bass and Bimstein were arrested last Sunday by Reno, Nev., authorities who said Bimstein admitted firing the shot that killed Heinz.

Hurney and Cook, transients held in county jail here, told Roll they met Bass and Bimstein in a downtown Los Angeles hotel and waited outside the Heinz home while the other two entered.

Hurney and Cook were arrested near the Heinz home. They claimed they were on their way back to the scene of the shooting when arrested "to see if we could help the guy who was hurt. ..we didn't want any part of a murder."

ROUGHER THAN POLITICS

SIOUX FALLS, S. D. (UP) — Francis Dun, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the House of Representatives in the 1st congressional district, traveled 12,000 miles in the last six weeks of the campaign, and didn't receive a scratch. But he was roughhousing with his four-year-old daughter, Carol, after the election and cracked a rib when he fell over a davenport.

Twentynine Palms Bank Closes; Official Held

TWENTYNINE PALMS, Calif. (UP) — The President of a bank which was forced to close because of a missing $678,000 said today it broke his heart to hear his highly regarded vice president had been arrester for embezzlement.

J. P. Wasserburger, president of the Joshua Monument National Bank of Twentynine Palms, sobbed as he heard banker-race horse owner Roscoe D. Coon, 50, had been picked up by federal authorities at a race track.

"This is a terrible blow to us," Wasserburger said. "It just broke my heart. I just can't believe that Coon would do anything wrong. We have had no reason at all to doubt his honesty."

Coon, vice president and cashier of the desert community's only bank, was arrested at Del Mar Racetrack Monday while awaiting the Wednesday opening of the summer meeting to race his stable of thoroughbreds. Del Mar is about 100 miles southwest of here.

"I am amazed," declared Coon indignantly. "I don't have any idea of what this is all about."

The bank was forced to close its doors Monday and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. was appointed its receiver. Treasury Department bank examiners still are checking the closed bank's books.

FBI agents said Coon was charged with embezzling bank funds by ordering funds from the Los Angeles branch of the Federal Reserve Bank and intercepting the money at the Twentynine Palms post office before it could reach the bank.

FBI AGENT John F. Malone of Los Angeles said Coon had ordered the money in $50 and $100 bills.

Malone said Coon owned and operated the B-and-R Stables. He said the stable included Royal Melody, for whom Coon paid $53,000 at the Keeneland, Ky., yearling sales last summer.

Royal Melody was injured and did not race at the Hollywood Park meeting, but one of Coon's other horses, Fabricate, won at Hollywood Park. Also in the stable were Yutta, Cotton Crop and Right Down.

Hatch said Coon lived on a "modest" scale here with his wife, Elizabeth.

"He came here five years ago from a Pasadena bank with a solid background in the best banking circles," Hatch said. "He had the highest of recommendations. This sure is going to surprise people here."

Woman Relates Details of Beating That Led to Death of L.A. Student

NEWPORT BEACH (OCNS)— "If we only hadn't come down here for the weekend," is the way Mrs. W. D. Smith, Costa Mesa, looks back at the tragic events of Friday night during which Irving R. Perrett, Los Angeles student, was killed.

The Smiths own the apartments at 1008 W. Balboa Blvd. and usually live at 963 Arbor St., Costa Mesa, but when there is a vacancy over the weekend they use their property here for beach life.

Friday night, according to Mrs. Smith, she and Mrs. Robert H. La Verne and a third woman decided to go swimming. La Verne, San Gabriel is held with Smith on manslaughter charges in connection with Perrett's death.

The women were in the rear apartment about 60 feet from the boulevard and protected by a board fence from the next building. They were putting on their bathing suits when they noticed a man standing in front of the window exposing himself.

"He left hurriedly and just then our husbands came. We told them and La Verne took after the man who was running. My husband said he did not believe they could catch the man and then he started after La Verne and the man.

"We women went to the street and started to walk in that direction and saw Bill (Smith) catch up with the others and grab La Verne by the arms to stop him beating the man.

"Bill told me afterward he asked the man if he was all right and that the man told him 'yes.' Bill was going to report the Peeping Tom incident to the police but we decided the beating was enough. Now I wish he had reported it."

District Attorney to Ask Indictment Of Abbott for Murder of Young Girl

BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)— District Attorney J. Frank Coakley will ask the grand jury to indict Burton W. Abbott for the murder of Stephanie Bryan tomorrow at 9:30 a.m.

Coakley said yesterday he will call at least five witnesses to the grand jury session, which may take as much as two days.

Stephanie, 14, disappeared April 28 while returning home from school. Her body, beaten and strangled, was found last week near a Trinity County cabin owned by Abbott's brother-in-law. Abbott admitted he was at the cabin on that day, but denied killing the girl.

Coakley said the witnesses will be:

Mary Ann Stewart, a classmate of Stephanie and the last person to see her before she disappeared near the Claremont Hotel.

Mrs. Charls S. Bryan, Stephanie's mother, who will identify the clothing Stephanie wore and who will testify to the careful upbringing Stephanie had.

Dr. George Loquvam, Alameda County pathologist who discovered that Stephanie had been beaten and strangled.

Dr. Reginald Hansen, Stephanie's dentist, who positively identified her decomposed body from her teeth.

Police Inspector Charles O'Meara, who has been trying to weave a net of circumstantial evidence around Abbott.

Coakley said he will not subpena Abbott, but he may "invite" him to tell his story if he wishes.

Meanwhile, officials wondered if a rusty iron bar found on the Bear Creek Road north of Orinda could have been the murder weapon. The bar was found by Contra Costa County Sheriff's Constable Ray Willett.

Although Willett doubted the find was significant, he planned to turn it over today to Berkeley police.

Teamsters Buy Union President $163,215 Home

SEATTLE (UP) — Teamsters' Union President Dave Beck said today the "transaction was as regular as you please" when the union purchased his home for $163,215 and gave it to him as a rent free place to live.

"I didn't think the transaction was news," he explained. He added he didn't expect any complaints from the union's rank and file members.

"I wouldn't care," said Beck. "Since I've been president, I've made more money for the union than the salary they'll pay me for the next 10 years. I've increased the international's assets by 12 million dollars."

The union president said the union's decision to buy his house for him came three or four months ago and he "had nothing to do with it."

"They wanted to build me a house in Miami," he said, "but my wife's health requires me to stay in Seattle. If I had to move somewhere else, I'd resign."

Beck said his home was "more than just a house."

"It's my West Coast headquarters," he said.

Local Rotarians Host District Governor

The Anaheim Rotary Club honored Stuart A. Coulter, Governor of Rotary District No. 162, on his official visit to the Anaheim club at their noon meeting at the Elks Club July 25.

Governor Coulter, known to his many friends as "Stu," has been a member of the Covina Rotary Club since 1937 and served as their president during the years of 1945-1946. The Governor told the club about his visit to the meeting of District Governors of Rotary Club held at Lake Placid, New York, where some 92 countries throughout the world were represented.

The meeting was presided over by Ben Stakemiller, president-elect of the Anaheim Rotary Club for 1955-1956.

Dulles Says Danger Of War Has Receded

a great one. He said that danger is less now.

Dulles described Mr. Eisenhower's mutual military inspection proposal as the most sober and serious proposal that history records in the disarmament field. He said it was not discussed with the Joint Chiefs of Staff or congressional leaders prior to Geneva.

Dulles salso said the United States will cooperate with Russia or any others sincerely wishing to ease tensions. This principle, he said, will govern the forthcoming talks with Red China.

Dulles did not warm up to a proposal by Chairman Walter F. George of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for a conference between Forign ministers of the United States and Red China. He said he did not wish to exclude higher level talks, but that he believes the ambassadors' meeting covers the situation adequately now. He did not think higher level talks were a likely possibility for the foreseeable future.

Henry Wins Cup at Toastmasters' Meet

Elwood Henry, speaking on "Women and Electricity", won the cup for the best speech at the meeting of the Kwikset Toastmasters Club this week. Henry pointed out that "Edison went to a lot of trouble" to invent the electric bulb, but the present-day housewife continues to light the dining room with candles—thus impeding eating and progress.

Best table topics talk was given by Ted Stachowicz who said powdered metal filters are "practical in automobiles," but, since they are permanent, they deprive a person of the pleasure of throwing away "the soggy, gooey paper filter elements."

Others involved in the program were Les Sim, Johan Maters, John Taylor, Bill Grey, Don Wood, Ted Fichtel, Cas Hahn, Bob Parrett, Bill Young, Jim Wright, Ralph Caldwell, Bob Messett and Tommy Tomson.

Rita Gets Credit for Haymes' Court Victory

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Crooner Dick Haymes said today he never could have won his long fight against the government's attempt to deport him to his native Argentina without his wife, actress Rita Hayworth.

"She gave me encouragement all the way," the singer said. "If it hadn't been for her, I would neveg have made it. After all, I'm human."

Haymes said he felt a "tremendous relief" after being notified yesterday the government decided not to appeal a District Court ruling that he was not deportable.

"I am eternally grateful to the government for taking this attitude," Haymes said. "I'm not mad at anybody."

FOUR O'CLOCK RITES—Saturday afternoon nuptials were performed for Miss Shirley Louise Stedman and Eugene A. Laroff with the bride wearing a beautifully fashioned Cahill wedding gown of Chantilly lace and taffeta. (Jarrett-Snider Photo)

Stedman-Laroff Rites Read in Fullerton Lutheran Church

Delicate hand-pleated tulle outlining the shoulder and neckline of a snugly fitted bodice of chantilly lace and taffeta, the lace extending low over the graceful pannier skirt, which ended in a chapel train, fashioned the exquisite Cahill bridal gown worn by Miss Shirley Louise Stedman as she repeated her marriage vows with Eugene Andrew Laroff of La Habra Saturday at four o'clock. The Rev. Herman Meyer was the officiant for te double ring afternoon ceremony, performed before the flower-banked altar of the First Lutheran church in Fullerton.

The bride's gown had a regal appearance as she walked with her father, William G. Stedman, down the church aisle. The aisle was parked by clusters of white Marconi asters and ivy, caught to the pew ends by white satin bows. The soft light from the sanctuary windows, combined with the glow of the many candles arranged in candelabra, enhanced the beauty of Miss Stedman's gown and accented the pearled crown which held her full illusion nylon veil to her dark hair. She wore elbow length gloves with her ensemble and carried a huge white orchid surrounded with lily-of-the-valley and ropes of pearls.

White stock and yellow gladioli were arranged with the candelabra with Hawaiian Ti leaves used at the altar step approach.

Bridal Songs

"Intrigue Me Not to Leave Thee," and "Hear Our Prayer" were the nuptial songs chosen by the bride. Soloist was Miss Margie Weber with Jerry Gaines, the organist.

Miss Willa Stedman, sister of the bride, lovely in her gown of blue cotton lace, designed with tight sleeveless bodice and ballerina length taffeta skirt worn with a cummerbund, served as honor maid. Her headpiece was of matching dotted net, and in her bouquet were yellow Polly roses arranged with garlands of roses and ivy.

Mrs. Charles Anderson and Mrs. Robert Estel, sorority sisters of the bride, their gowns identical in fashion and color to the maid of honor's, were the bridesmaids. They, too, carried the yellow Polly roses and garlands in their bouquets.

Name Flower Girl

Little Miss Linda Coring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Coring of Whittier, was the flower girl. She wore a petite frock of yellow organdy, its detail, lace inserts. A miniature crown of yellow Sweetheart roses was in her hair and she carried yellow rose petals and blue rosettes in her white basket.

Steve Akosevich, brother of the bridegroom from La Habra, was the best man. Ushering was in charge of Donald Dinger of Los Angeles, John Kudenov of Los Angeles, and Tom McConnell of Whittier.

Mrs. Stedman, mother of the bride, wore a street-length crushed faille dress in blue for the wedding. It was accented with sheer chiffon inserts with accessories in matching shade. Stephanotis formed her bouquet.

A dusty rose street-length lace dress over taffeta, with matching accessories, was the costume worn by the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. John Laroff of 520 North Lemon St., La Habra.

Home Reception

The home of the bride's parents at 1124 Glen View Dr., Fullerton, was the attractive setting for the reception with more than 250 guests signing the guest book at the invitation of Miss Virginia Stearns, Miss Eleanor Butchko, sorority sister of the bride, presided at the punch bowl with cousins of the bride, Mrs. Roland Hansen and Mrs. Howard Trotter, serving the three-tiered cake. It was topped with the wedding bell scene. Aunt of the bride, Mrs. Henry Heber, presided at the coffee urn for the buffet reception.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Otto Steeve, uncle and aunt of the bride from Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stuewe from Minnesota and Mr. and Mrs. Reinold Harms, Iowa, cousins of the bride.

Honeymoon trip to Lake Tahoe was the plan of the newlyweds as they left later in the afternoon. Mrs. Laroff was wearing a charcoal-toned Handmacher suit, her hat a yellow straw, black patent shoes and white gloves, for traveling. Her orchid from her bridal flowers was pinned to her jacket lapel.

Legend of Couple

She is a graduate of Fullerton schools and Woodbury college, and is presently employed with the Standard Oil Company. Her bridegroom, the son of Mrs. Laroff and the late John Laroff of La Habra, graduated from Hungtington Park High school. Ater his discharge from military service, in which he served with the 11th Airborne Division, he enrolled at Fullerton Junior college, where he is now a student. He is combining his studies with employment at the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company.

Many pre-nuptial courtesies were given the young couple. Mrs. David Lewis, Mrs. Charle Anderson, Mrs. Robert Estel, Mrs. Charles Colton, Mrs. Steve Akosevich, and aunts of the bride, Mrs. Otto Gardner and Mrs. Ernest Garner, were hostesses at parties. The bridegroom was honored by his friends at a bachelor dinner in his home in La Habra.

A buffet supper party was hostessed by the bride's parents at the church preceding the wedding rehearsal.

The young couple have established their first address at 520 North Lemon St., La Habra.

Announcement

More than 400 persons from the southwest areas plan to attend the fourth annual picnic of former "Calexicans," the last Sunday in July at Balboa Park, San Diego, Palm and Sixth Avenue.

Artists Told Of Exhibit at Los Angeles

One-hundred paintings and drawings by talented northeast area artists between five and 20 years of age are currently being displayed by the Municipal Arts department in the Tower gallery on the 25th floor of the Los Angeles City hall.

The exhibition is the first official recognition of the creative work being done in arts and crafts by members of the Los Angeles Times Boys club, and will be on view Mondays through Fridays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. through July 29. There is no admission charge to the City Hall's Tower gallery.

In addition to oils, watercolors and drawings, the exhibit has examples of original techniques developed under Dionicio Morales, arts and crafts director of the club. One of the most unusual of these consists in painting certain areas on glass and mounting the glass on a background of tinfoil which lends both brilliance and texture to the composition.

Hoag Memorial Hospital Unit Sets Fund Fair Plans

Plans are underway by the Auxiliary of Hoag Memorial hospital for a fabulous fund fair to be held Oct. 1 in the Rendezvous ballroom, Balboa.

Mrs. Donald Colegrove, vice president and ways and means chairman, Mrs. Preininger, social benefits chairman, are in charge of this benefit event for the hospital. A buffet luncheon was held at Mrs. Preininger's Lido Isle home for the chairmen in charge of booths and other key workers at which time overall plans for this event were discussed.

Hours of the fund fair will be from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., followed by a dance, a name band to play.

EDUCATIONAL PROJECTS DISCUSSED

Child Welfare Demands Attention of State PTA; Report Teacher-Graduation Increase

Exploring new areas in the field of child welfare, as well as continuing long-term studies already under way, and stressing a stronger leadership in their own organization, members of the board of managers of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers concluded a busy week of committee meetings and general sessions at their annual July board meeting at the Hotel Statler in Los Angeles.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. A. Kenneth Spencer, the meetings were conducted by the first vice president, Mrs. Russell Scott of Salinas.

Mrs. J. Frank Snowden of Alhambra, legislation chairman, reported that of the 48 bills in which the organization was concerned during the recent meetings of the state legislature, 33 were passed although a few were not signed by the Governor.

Mrs. M. D. MacMillan of Sacramento, CCPT teacher education chairman, reported that colleges in California had graduated 21 per cent more teachers this year, attributed in large part to the recruitment clinics which the PTA co-sponsored this last year. In view of this obvious success the CCPT agreed to again cooperate in conducting the clinics in 1956 in ten different areas of the state. Co-sponsors will be the State Department of Education, the California Teachers Association, California School Boards Association, Council on Teacher Education, and a number of lay organizations.

Migration Program

Mrs. Harvey S. Dye, chairman of the committee on problems of migratory workers, announced the recipients of the six $450 scholarships awarded for the training of teachers of migrant children.

The PTA will make a study of special education relating to such things as philosophy, attitudes, practices, services and personnel throughout the state. Since there is wide divergence of opinion among educators as to the proper place in the education picture of the handicapped, the gifted, and the emotionally disturbed child, it is felt that such a survey will help to point up current trends. It is expected to involve the new state-wide Parent Council for the Exceptional Child which includes major parent groups such as those for the blind, deaf, cerebral palsied, and others.

Another survey to be undertaken by the CCPT will be a Dental Health Survey which it is hoped will stimulate interest in the need for dental care and education. In the light of California statistics showing that 74 per cent of children entering kindergarten have dental caries and that the percentage increases as the age group rises, this appears to be a serious problem for parents to consider.

TEN DAY SESSIONS

Open Reading Workshop at Whittier

Dr. Helen Blair Sullivan, professor of education and co-director of the Educational Clinic, Boston University, will conduct a 10-day workshop in the teaching of reading during the second term of the Whittier College summer session.

The workshop, one of a number of special features offered during the Whittier summer session, will meet from August 2-12 from 9:30 a.m., to 12:30 p.m., in the Lautrup room of Hoover hall.

Development and remedial reading procedures for teacher at each level of the elementary school will b presented by Dr. Sullivan. She who is president of the Remedial Teachers association and received her B.S. and M.A. from Boston University, Ed.D. degree from Harvard University.

She has presented summer workshops in numerous colleges and universities including the University of Delaware, Queens University, Belfast, North Ireland; Trinity College, Dublin Ireland; Cambridge University, England; Rutgers University, Stanford University, the University of Minnesota and the University of Oklahoma. She presented a similar reading workshop at Whittier during the summer of 1952.

Persons interested in receiving further information about the course should direct their inquires to the Director of the summer session, Whittier college, Whittier.

Class Group Shares Miniature Golf, Hamburger Fry

A miniature golf game and hamburger fry was enjoyed on a typical summer evening when members of the Crusaders class of the Bethel Baptist church met for their monthly social.

After a game in Anaheim's new golf course, the group gathered in the patio of the Jack Motley home, 814 South Helena St., for hamburgers.

Awards were presented to Mrs. Dale Chase and Vernon Thompson for piling up the top golf scores. Low awards went to Mrs. Ben Schultz and Menno Thiesen. As no program was planned, everyone relaxed around the fire with visiting and toasting marshmallows, concluding the party.

Social chairman, Mrs. Norman Cool, announced that the August meeting would be a swim-party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Audrey Ausburn, 837 North West St.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gene Nevins of 810 East Alberta St. on July 21 at St. Joseph hospital.

OCTOBER BRIDE—Miss Edna Mae Roberts and Robert Bruce, both of Anaheim have made fall wedding plans.

Betrothal of Edna Mae Roberts, Robert D. Bruce Told at Party

A surprise birthday party for her roommate from UCLA campus days afforded the opportunity for Miss Edna Mae Roberts, daughter of Mrs. Nathaniel Roberts of 410 West Vermont St. to tell the news of her engagement to Robert D. Bruce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Bruce of 307 North Janss St. The party honored Miss Martha Dickman of Westwood.

The news of the betrothal was revealed by names on coasters and napkins with the engagement cake cut at the same time the beautifully frosted birthday cake for Miss Dickman was served. A champagne toast was given to the good fortune of the bridal couple-elect.

Sometime in October was the tentative date set by the young couple for their wedding.

Miss Roberts is a graduate of St. Boniface grade school, Anaheim High school and UCLA and is a member of the Savanna School faculty.

Bruce, a graduate of St. Boniface parochial school, Loyola High school, completed his educational work at University of California at Berkeley and University of Southern California. He is presently employed in the engineering department at Douglas Aircraft.

Beach College Registration Dates Set

Long Beach State College officials, expecting a record-breaking enrollment for the fall semester, are urging new students to apply for admission as early as possible before the proposed date of registration, Friday, Sept. 16.

C. R. Bergland, admissions officer, said today that the college issues permits to register to qualified applicants in the order of receipt of complete records, in order to assure the processing of records before the date of registration, application and all official transcripts must be filed in the admissions office at least 30 days prior to registration. "Application forms may be secured by mail or in person from the admissions office," he said.

In addition to the regular admission procedures, all entering freshman students are required to take a college aptitude test and an English proficiency test. All students who plan to enter the teacher training program on the kindergarten-primary or elementary levels must take the Stanford achievement and speech tests.

Dramatic Climax Held at Convention

ORANGE (OCNS)—An estimated 3000 persons of all denominations participated Sunday night in a dramatic communion service under the stars on the Chapman College campus, vividly climaxing the convention here of the Christian Churches of Southern California.

With the classic facade of the Chapman administration building as the backdrop, the communion consisted in a living enactment of Leonardo Da Vinci's Painting, "The Last Supper."

Directed by the Rev. John O. Hedwell, members of the Eastmont Christian church, East Los Angeles, took the roles of Jesus Christ and the Disciples, colorfully garbed in Biblical costumes. Action followed the description in the four gospels, narrated in an offstage reading.

Prior to the communion service, Mrs. Mae Ward, an executive secretary of the United Christian Missionary society, Indianapolis, spoke on the topic, "New Directions In Missions."

Other highlights of the Sunday program were hymns by the 70-voice choir and installation of officers for next year's convention.

Officers for 1956, installed by R. W. Blackburn, Outgoing president, were: Owen Kellison, Los Angeles, president; Mrs. L. P. Coates, Reseda, and the Rev. Henry L. Searles, vice presidents; J. C. Mason, North Hollywood, treasurer, and Mrs. H. G. Wilkes, North Hollywood, recorder. Dr. Clifford A. Cole of Glendale is general secretary.

Santa Barbara 1955 Music Festival Plans Released

The Pacific Coast Music Festival at Santa Barbara, will feature four concerts in which Leopold Stokowski will conduct America's newest symphony orchestra, on the weekends of Sept. 10-11 and Sept. 17-18," in addition to the Stokowski concerts, a full week of musical and artistic events is planned.

Arrangements have been made for two evenings of outstanding chamber music by the famous Paganini Quartet and for two performances of the Musart Quartet. For the second year, the Roger Wagner Chorale will present a concert.

County Philharmonic Plays In Irvine Bowl August 27

Outdoor music under the stars at the Irvine Bowl is the first event being scheduled by the Orange County Philharmonic Society for its 1955-56 season, according to Karen Margreta Bruning, executive director.

This first concert of the groups' new series will be held in Laguna Beach on Aug. 27, at 8:30 p.m. as one of the final events of the summer at Orange County's own outdoor bowl, after the close of Laguna's nationally-known Festival of the Arts. Admission will again be free.

The Society's orchestra will again be under the leadership of its permanent conductor, Frieda Belinfante. Miss Belinfante has recently been in Holland, where she has had conducting engagements and where she has visited her family. She returns to the Southland this week, however, in order to get rehearsals underway for the forthcoming performance.

Last year's concert at the Irvine Bowl was an outstanding success, and the bowl at that time was filled almost to capacity. It is anticipated that its fine acoustics and delightful setting will once again draw a large crowd of both natives and summer visitors.

RECALLS CAPTURE—Marine Sergeant Ernest G. Schoening, stationed at El Toro Marine Air Station, points to the place in Czechoslovakia where he was captured by American Forces when he was in the German infantry during World War II. The sergeant came to the United States in 1931, joined the Marine Corps in July 1952 and received his citizenship papers in December, 1953.

Former Hitler Youth Now a U.S. Marine Sergeant; Dream of 11 Years Realized

EL TORO MARINE AIR STATION — A dream conceived in 1940, at the age of 14, finally came true in 1953 for Marine Sergeant Ernest G. Schoening, stationed here. However, only after serving as a Hitler Youth, seeing duty as a Midshipman aboard a German submarine in the Baltic Sea and being captured eight days before the end of World War II, on the Czechoslovakian Frontier was the dream made possible.

Schoening, born October 31, 1926, in Pommerania, Germany, was one of the true Hitler Youths, but it was not of his own choosing. His father at the time was a German government official and had to make his son join one of the Hitler Youth movements in order to hold his job. Schoening was only ten years old at the time.

It was only by a quirk of fate that he wasn't born in the United States. In 1922 his grandfather's brother, who was already in this country, sent two tickets to his grandfather for passage to this country. One of the tickets was meant for Schoening's father, but his grandfather chose to send two of his other sons in the hope that someday Schoening's father could follow them, but the opportunity never arose and so Schoening was born a German.

When questioned regarding the Youth movement, he compared it to the Boy Scouts of America only with more of a military background. He also stated, "it would have been good training if it had not been backed by war mongers."

Assigned to Submarine

After his primary training in the Youth movement, he went to the Naval Academy at Muervik, Germany, which is near the Danish border. He was later assigned to a submarine as a navigation midshipman and spent six months in the Baltic Sea. While there, his sub was attacked by British planes and also by a Russian ship. He said that he believes his sub damaged the ship.

Before his midshipman days were over and in 1945 when Germany was getting desperate, Schoening was among 3000 men that were taken from the academy to serve with the infantry in Czechoslovakia. Because of their lack of infantry training all but 30 were killed in action and the remaining 30 were captured by American forces just eight days before the end of the war.

Here the blond youth smiled and said, "I believe the men who captured us were Texans. At least they sure had that Texas drawl."

When he was released he rejoined his mother and sister in the British Sector of Germany and later went to work for the British Government as an interpreter.

Father Still Missing

He hasn't seen his father since the early part of the war. His father was called into the army and was declared missing in action at Mohilew, which is south of Smolensk, Russia. He said, "My father is still listed as missing in action because Russia is believed to be still holding some Germans as prisoners."

In 1951 his dream of 11 years came partially true. His great uncle, Louis Schoening of Roseglen, N.D., sponsored his coming to this country and the dream was completed when he received his citizenship papers in December, 1953. He had enlisted in the Marine Corps in July, 1952, while awaiting his naturalization papers.

Since coming into the Marines, he has attended navigation school at Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N.C., and is now a first navigator in Marine Transport Squadron 352, Marine Air Group 25, at the Marine Corps Air Station here.

He compares the Marine Corps with Germany's elite SS Troops. He says however, that the Marine Corps will always succeed where the SS Troops failed, because they serve a democratic government.

Three Ambitions

The Sergeant, a Korean War veteran, has three ambitions. He wants to bring his mother and sister to this country from Germany. Second, he wants to attend either UCLA or the University of Minnesota when his tour of duty is over, and third, he wants to continue his service with the Marines by joining a reserve organization and the hopes someday to receive a Marine commission.

Supreme Court Overthrows County Superior Court Ruling on Cahan Case

By JACK BOETTNER

SANTA ANA, (OCNS) — For the first time Orange County's Superior Courts have come up against the highly controversial State Supreme Court ruling in the Charles H. Cahan case.

The top tribunal overthrew a bookmaking conviction against Cahan when it deemed recorded evidence against Cahan was obtained unlawfully.

Microphones had been installed in the defendant's place without his knowledge by Los Angeles police. Conversations traveled over wires to a nearby garage where they were recorded.

This method of rounding up evidence was adverse to the fourth constitutional amendment, the high court held. The amendment concludes that "the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated. No warrants shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation. They must particularly describe the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized."

Finding Poses Problems

Superior Court Judge Robert Gardner ran head on into the Cahan finding this week. He was confronted by a marijuana possession suspect Victor George Zogaib of Los Angeles, who based his defense on the claim he had been the victim of unlawful search and seizure.

And Judge Gardner went along with a portion of his claims. The judge ruled a bottle containing particles of marijuana found in Zogaib's car was reasonably obtained evidence.

San Clemente police in investigating a traffic accident found Zogaib injured and his car damaged. They saw that Zogaib was ambulanced to the hospital and then proceeded to remove Zogaib's vehicle from the highway. In the process of securing Zogaib's auto they tumbled onto the narcotic-containing bottle.

On his arrest, Zogaib handed over several items from his pockets. The judge held that was all right, too, since it was a felony arrest.

Took Dim View

But Judge Gardner took a dim view of the officers' going to the garage where Zogaib's car was impounded and using a vacuum cleaner to scour the cushions, picking up marijuana seeds.

Judge Gardner cautioned the prosecution this kind of procedure should carry a search warrent. He pointed out the courts were available for the issuance of the proper warrent.

At the jail Zogaib freely turned over his clothing to the jailers. Later portions of the narcotics were found in the pockets. These had a strong bearing on his conviction, according to the judge.

Judge Gardner observed Zogaib didn't have to give the officers his clothing unless they produced a warrant. His rights would have been violated had he been refused permission to give the clothing to his attorney.

Legality Argued

Prosecutor Dewitte Chatterton had a comeback on the impounded car. He contended the vehicle was impounded and thus it was lawful to go ahead and search it.

The judge, however, argued that this would only be a way to sidestep the law.

Gardner admitted in an off-the-cuff chat the interpretation by the Supreme Court in the Cahan case is going to make it touch on Sheriff's Narcotic Chief Clint Wright and others in the same end of the law enforcement game.

"Our country is based on the principal that the individual has certain rights and dignity," he asserted. "There may be times when the guilty will go free, but it is far better that we all are protected by the Fourth Amendment.

"There's no doubt that commercial crime, such as prostitution and narcotics peddling are going to be greatly assisted."

The judge emphasized law enforcement brigades aren't as hard hit by the Cahan ruling as some would have you believe. He explained that the federal courts and the FBI have been operating in the Cahan interpretation for years and getting plenty of convictions.

Civil Court Appeal

Prior to the Cahan decision the state functioned under the theory that any evidence legally obtained could be brought into the courts without the benefit of a search warrant. The state held the defendant had recourse in the civil court if there was an unlawful entry or seizure.

"But," Gardner asks, "What good was that after a felony conviction?"

And he added: "The Cahan case didn't change the basic rule pointed up in the constitution and Bill of Rights. The Feds took it seriously, in fact, several famous cases were set aside because of the rule.

"It would do police officers well to study this case (Cahan) and understand it. They are bound by the law like others. It always has been in the law. There's nothing new. I was a magistrate for many years and never was called on to issue a search warrant."

Yes, the job of Clint Wright and his contemporaries is going to be rougher in the days ahead as a result of the Cahan decision, but the right of privacy for the individual must be protected at all costs. Even if it does mean a few hop heads are going to beat the rap.

Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

NORTHVILLE, Mich. (UP)—It's the turtle and the hare for the PGA golf championship at Meadowbrook Country Club today.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the slowest player on this or any other course, goes against Doug Ford, the swiftest shooter since Pittsburgh Phil. It's a fairway fable right out of Aesop between two oddly contrasted personalities.

Ford is a burly, fullback type out of New York City who moves with the speed of a halfback. His forte is to head for the ball at a dead lope, scan it as he applies the brakes and then blast it and be off before the gallery has time to settle down. As Shelley Mayfield, his 4 and 3 victim in Monday's semi-finals, put it:

"Playing against Ford is like playing a onesome. He's always so far in front of you that you get downright lonesome."

Bit Of Planned Strategy

Cary attributes his slowness to the fact that he is "awfully, awfully tired." Afflicted with an allergy, he finds it particularly difficult to breathe properly in hot weather. His answer is a "slowdown" in his play, but there are those among his opponents who contend it is a bit of planned strategy to upset rivals who prefer to play swiftly. To illustrate, Ford required five hours and 10 minutes for his 33 hole win Monday. Middlecoff needed seven hours and five minutes for the same distance.

Certainly it has paid off, because the molar - mender turned divot-digger has made his pretty wife, Edie, very happy this year by capturing such as the Masters and the Western Open to become the game's leading money winner with a fat $22,643. He's sure of $3,000 for a second place finish here—and $5,000 if he wins.

Ford, whose name originally was Fortunato, is the son of a golf pro and he learned his shots on New York's Van Cortlan Park, a public course. He and his wife and three children travel the entire tournament circuit in one of those super trailers and they can use either the three grand or the five, because Doug is only 15th among the money winners this year with $8,893.

He credits much of his success in the PGA to a new putter he fashioned himself. The shaft is an old hickory stick he found in a bin at Vancouver. Doug was "off" last winter but he's playing the game now as if he invented it, being 33 under par for 161 holes. The good doctor was 24 under for 171 holes after his 4 and 3 win over Tommy Bolt Monday.

Middlecoff is the longer hitter of the two. As example, each of them has fired eagle threes on the 507-yard 17th hole. But where Ford needed a three wood to gem, Doc did it with a three iron.

Late Bulletin

NORTHVILLE, Mich. (UP) — Cary Middlecoff, shooting a four under par 67, gained a 1 up lead over Doug Ford today at the halfway mark of their 36-hole match for the PGA championship.

MONEY LITTLE, PRESTIGE GREAT

Middlecoff Takes Aim At Prized PGA Title

By LEO H. PETERSON
United Press Sports Writer

NORTHVILLE, Mich. UP—Cary Middlecoff took aim today on the only major U.S. golf title he never has won and, Doug Ford, his opponent in the 36-hole PGA championship match, was shooting for the title in his first try.

They gained the final round Monday by identical scores of 4 and 3. Middlecoff turned back Tommy Bolt of Chanooga, Tenn. and Ford brushed aside blond Shelley Mayfield of Westbury, N.Y.

So today these two par-shattering golfers, who both play out of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., met in the match which means more to the pros than any other championship, although the first place money is only $5,000. But the cash value of it goes far beyond that in endorsements, sporting goods manufacturers' affiliations and exhibitions, more than triple that golfing jackpot.

Both of them found the key to their victories on the par five 507-yard 17th hole of the Meadowbrook Country Club course. Both of them eagled the hole to go 1 up. From that point in, it was easy.

Middlecoff, dead-tired from the gruelling 1 up 40-hole triumph he had scored over Jack Burke in the quarter-finals on Sunday, knocked his No. 3 iron second 20 feet from the cup and sank the putt. Ford, shooting the best golf of any player in the tournament, put his No. 4 wood second 10 feet from the flag and also sank the eagle putt.

Middlecoff as Favored

Middlecoff was favored, although he trailed Ford in the par-shattering which has featured his 37th annual PGA tourney. Ford was 33 under par for 161 holes going into today's final, while Middlecoff was 24 under for 171 holes.

Although the heat has bothered his hay fever and he feels "all worn out," Middlecoff promised to give it "a first class try today."

Noted for his slow, deliberate playing, whereas Ford is one of the fastest players, Middlecoff hoped that his cautious playing would not upset Ford.

"Ford is one of the fastest, if not the fastest, players I know and I hope my game doesn't hold him up," the golfing dentist said. "I don't try to be slow intentionally, just cautious.

"I can't make any predictions, because a golf ball takes a lot of funny bounces just like a football, and you never can tell. If Doug has a good day, he'll win and if I have a good day, I'll take it."

This isn't the first time these two pros have clashed head-on. They tied with Dave Douglas for the Kansas City Open championship in 1951 and Middlecoff won it in a playoff.

"I was lucky to beat him that time," Cary said.

Ford, who will be 33 in two weeks, has been a pro six years, but because he filed his entry application to the wrong address last year was not eligible to commete in the PGA. A golfer must be a professional five years to become eligible.

Del Mar Racetrack To Open 16th Meet

DEL MAR (UP)— Del Mar racetrack's 16th summer meeting begins tomorrow with a crowd of more than 10,000 expected to attend the opening of the improved seaside track.

More than one million dollars has been spent since last September to expand the grandstand, turf club and club house and to pave a 15-acre parking lot area.

A 10-horse field is expected to go postward in the opening day feature race—the $5,000 Inaugural Handicap for fillies and mares. Those nominated for the event are Alibhai Lynn, Satin Queen, Vicki Blue, Jet Girl, Fair Molly, On The Move, Frosty Dawn, Royal Grace, Tessa and Mab's Choice.

Anaheim Bloomers Again Victorious

Behind the hitting and pitching of Frances Reid, the Anaheim Bloomers were again victorious as they over-ran the Buena Park Kittens last night, 11-0, on the losers field.

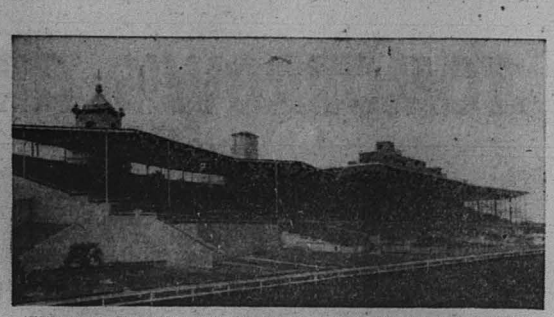

One run was scored in the first innnig by Judy Reese, but the Bloomers were unable to score again until the fifth which proved to be their big inning. On two hits, four walks, and one error, the girls from Anaheim came across with seven runs.

Two double plays were made. In the second inning a grounder was hit to shortstop J l l l Formola who threw to second baseman Joyce Wilson for one out, and who then tossed to first base Judy Resse for the second out. In the fourth, Joyce Wilson caught a line drive and threw to first to trap the runner there.

Captains Elected For Shriners' Game

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Co-captains were to be elected today for the South high school All-Star team that plays the North All-Stars in the annual Shrine football game here tomorrow night.

Halfback Dick Bass, Vallejo, and tackle Arnold Metcalf, Grant, were elected yesterday as co-captains of the Northside squad.

"NEW LOOK" AT DEL MAR—With more than one million dollars in improvements expended, Del Mar Turf Club presents a sweeping panorama, above, as the seaside course gets ready for the opening Wednesday (July 27) of its sixteenth summer season. Additions have been made to the grandstand and the turf club-house.

ALL-CITY TRACK MEET

Juvenile Final Running Events Set

Tomorrow night at La Palma Park, the 4th All City Track Meet will be held, starting at 6:30 p.m. while the field events and the running events will start at 7:00 p.m. with the "B" League 50 yard dashes. This meet will include final running events for all Juvenile Leagues and an Open Division for boys 18 and under not participating on any of the teams.

The feature event again this year will be the Marathon, which is 3½ miles in length and will cover Los Angeles St., Center St., and Lemon St. Runners will start and end at La Palma Park. Starting time for this event is 7:30 p.m. Watch for the Marathoners.

Races included the "C" League 50 yard dash and 50 yard walk, "B" League 50 yard dash and 75 yard dash, "A" League 50 yard dash and 75 yard dash, "AA" 50 yard dash and 100 yard dash, "AAA" 50 yard dash and 100 yard dash, and Open 50 yard dash and 100 yard dash and the Marathon. There will be 80 teams participating in the All City Meet.

STARS' BOWMAN WILL HURL TONIGHT

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The Hollywood Stars send Roger Bowman (3-6) to the mound tonight at Gilmore Field to try for two in a row over the visiting San Francisco Seals.

Gene Bearden (3-5) will hurl for San Francisco. The Stars edged the Seals 4-3 Monday night in an 11-inning game before a slim crowd of 1,278.

Bill Hall lofted a sacrifice fly with the bases loaded and none out to send Jack Lohrke across the plate for the winning run.

The Los Angeles Angels were idle Monday night. Tonight they send George Pikturis (7-10) against Oakland's Chris Van Cuyk (3-5) in the first game of a doubleheader at Oakland. Bob Zick (1-6) is slated to go for the Angels in the second game against the Oaks' Fred Besana (1-5).

TRABERT AGAIN

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (UP)—Tony Traberg, the Wimbledon and U.S. clay course champion, downed Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, 6-2, yesterday in a single set exhibition match at the Grossinger Country Club. Trabert, of Cincinnati, Ohio, defeated Nielsen in straight sets in the Wimbledon finals.

If It's News You'll See It In The Anaheim Bulletin

Los Angeles Rams Open Season Saturday

REDLANDS —The Los Angeles Rams play their opening game of the 1955 pro season in Long Beach Veteran's Memorial Stadium Saturday night against the perenially strong service team, the Fort Ord Warriors.

Coach Sid Gillman, the new Ram mentor, has been drilling his rookies here since July 7 and the veterans have been in camp for the past two weeks.

Spearheading the Fort Ord attack will be Rudy Bukich, 1953 Ram quarterback, Paul Cameron, UCLA All-American, and Sam Baker, All-Coast fullback from Oregon State.

SUMMER BASKETBALL

Tustin Lakers Clinch Anaheim Loop 2nd Plac

The Lakers of Tustin cinched second place by swamping La Habra Kiwanis, 60-23, last night in the final game of the Anaheim summer basketball league. Robert Rivas again led the scoring for the Lakers with 24 points.

The Lancers of Orange upset Brea Rec. by pounding them, 49-41. Tom Figueroa and Kenny Purcell paced the upset over the league leaders with 16 and 15 points, respectively.

The Jr. Power Glides captured third place by downing Corona Rec. 49-25. Jeff Gleed was high scorer with 14 points.

The annual tournament playoffs will begin tonight with the Fullerton Eastsiders meeting Allison's Market for third place in the 'A' league. This game will settle the only disputed position in the league.

At 9 p.m., Carat's of the 'A' league will meet the Lancers of the 'B' league.

A full schedule is set for tomorrow night. At 7 p.m., the La Habra Kiwanis 'B' leaguers will meet the losers of tonight's Allison-Eastside contest.

The Celtics of the 'A' loop will match the Jr. Power Glides of 'B'.

Huntington Beach Rec. of the 'A' league will match Corona Rec. of the 'B' group.

HARMATZ SUSPENDED

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UP) — Jockey William Harmatz begins a five - day suspension beginning Thursday for five racing days, The Hollywood Park board of stewards set Harmatz down for causing interference while aboard Twin Star in the eighth race Saturday.

'A' American League Win Tight Contest

Coming from a nine-poin deficit, the "A" American League rallied to take a tight 10 to 9 ball game from the "A" National League in the feature game of the Parks and Recreation Department's "All-Star" doubleheader last night, played under the lights at City Park.

Trailing 9-8 going into the final inning, a walk and two doubles provided the tying and winning runs.

In the preliminary game the "B" National League ran away from the "B" American League, 13-3.

ROD AND GUN

Sharks, Seals Giving Albacore Rough Time

By WALLY TAFT

As albacore head for 14-mile bank, the sharks and seals have been giving the local anglers a fit when it comes to landing these prize catches. Many of the skippers have been using guns to drive off the seals but the sharks have been so plentiful that there isn't much they can do but gaff the blue sharks when they come alongside the boats. The fisherman say they have never seen the sharks so tame as they are this year.

The albacore that were landed Monday were of the large variety going up to 30 pounds and were being caught around the kelp in very deep water. A lot of the anglers that hooked up with the longfins were having trouble landing the fish as they were snapping the lines and getting all tangled up in the kelp.

Bluefin tuna, which have been observed working Catalina waters for several weeks, broke loose over the weekend with several good catches boated.

Veteran observers state the catches may be the forerunner of an all out fishing spree on the trim gamesters in the next few days. The fish taken were tipping the scales up to 20 pounds. Top boat over the weekend docked 17 Sunday.

Virtually all sport fishing boats in these waters managed to deck a few tuna Sunday, with skippers and anglers alike reporting large schools starting to show — though the fish were described as "spooky".

The summary of all surf reports over the weekend seemed to hedge between the fair side and the slow side of the fair.

The northern areas of the Southland surf beaches were still giving up fair catches of barred perch, interspersed with an occasional bass, corbina, halibut and opaleye.

Bass catches at the north end of Coral Beach were going pretty good with fish averaging about two pounds apiece.

A run of corbina and croaker was reportedly on from San Clemente to Oceanside. Some anglers felt high tide produced the best takes; others held out for the low tide, but generally the early morning and late evening hours proved best.

The grunion are due again starting on August 4 from 9:30 p.m. till 10:30 p.m.; August 5, 10:15 p.m. till 11:15 p.m.; August 6, 11 p.m. till midnight; August 7, 11:30 p.m. till 12:30 a.m. The second run in August will start on August 17 and will continue until the 20th of the month.

Look! we've never made it easier for you to say "yes"

Our high allowances for trades are based on higher volume (Mercury sales are breaking all records). Our terms have never been easier (tailored to fit any budget). And remember—Mercury prices start below 13 models in the low-price field.* So why settle for a smaller, less powerful car when it's so easy to own this big 188-horsepower Mercury? Stop in and hear our offer today.

*Based on comparison of manufacturers' suggested list or factory retail prices, using a Mercury Custom 2-door Sedan.

SEE WHAT YOU GET WHEN YOU MOVE UP TO MERCURY

- Exclusive styling. Mercury's beauty is fresh, distinctive—shared by no other car.
- A bigger car all over. For bigger than "low-price" cars—in length, width and wheelbase.
- Super power and torque. The lowest cost Mercury (the 188-horsepower Custom shown above) is the most powerful car at its price. And you get 198 horsepower in the Montclair series. This is usable power (torque)—and it's up as much as 30% in all speed ranges for brilliant new pickup and passing power.
- Extra luxury. Instead of ordinary upholsteries, you get special fabrics, patterns and color combinations.
- Extra-value features at no extra cost. Dual exhausts on 8 out of 11 models, 4 barrel carburetors, new anti-fouling spark plugs, ball-joint front suspension—and many others.
- High future trade-in value. Mercury consistently leads its field for resale value.

Counselors Help Job-Seeking Vets

Veterans looking for jobs: Do you know that several people are available to help you? This question was asked today by Ben Liebermann, Orange County Veterans Service Officer, who pointed out that both the state and federal governments recognize the special needs of former service men and women.

In every State Employment office there is a counselor known as the Veterans Employment representative, who gives particular attention to the veteran job seeker — whether disabled or not. You should ask for him. It is his job to make referrals and placements of veterans in gainful employment. He works closely with the federal Veterans ployment Service. If you have special problems, he may be able to arrange for testing and counseling.

If you are just out of uniform apply within 90 days to return to the job you held before you entered service, so that the Bureau of Veterans' Reemployment Rights may assist you.

Perhaps a local Veterans Employment committee may be able to place you.

Young men especially, should bear in mind that in today's mechanized age employers are looking for special skill or knowledge. To become a specialist, every veteran must think carefully about the education or training he wants. There is little room for ditch diggers today unless they can operate a ditch digging machine.

Once you have a good position do your best. Let your employer know by actions — not words — that you deserve the job and, eventually, a raise or a promotion.

County Gets Share Of State Gasoline Tax

Robert C. Kirkwood, State Controller, announced the apportionment of $22,586,084 in Highway Users Taxes to counties, cities, and State Highway Fund for highways for the month ended May 31, 1955. The apportionment to counties was $5,282,383.

Of the $5,282,383 apportioned to California's 58 counties, Or- 627,13 and a warran in that ange County received $120,- amount has been forwarded by Controller Kirkwood to the County Treasurer.

The $22,586,084 May apportionment is $3,751,611 above that of the preceding month, and $2,597,656 over the same period last year. The counties received $5,282,383; the State Highway Fund for Cities, $2,- 049,807; and the State Highway Fund for Highways, $15,253,- 894.

The apportionment was derived from net gasoline taxes of $19,709,979; use (diesel) fuel taxes of $1,176,981, collected in May; plus a transfer of $1,- 698,916 from the motor vehicle transportation tax fund.

Announce Registering Date for OCC Classes

"Students may pre-register for fall classes at Orange Coast College starting Aug. 1," Dr. James W. Thornton, Jr., vice-president, stated today.

More than 700 students were pre-registered for 1955 - 56 classes prior to the end of the last school year, Dr. Thornton said. These students will not be required to see a counselor during the summer unless some change is to be made in their program.

All students who have not pre-registered should see a counselor some time during August if possible, Dr. Thornton stated. The counseling offices, located in the Administration Building will be open daily from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, during August.

Prospective students who have not taken pre-registration examinations may do so on Aug. 5, 26 or Sept. 2. These tests will start at 9 a.m.

News From Cypress Way

CHRISTINE DAVIS JACKSON 7-2810

Outstanding players from the four baseball teams composed of youngsters in Cypress who hope to form a Little League next year, will meet the Lloyd Mason team from Santa Ana Wednesday at 6 p.m. at the Cypress school diamond.

The team will be called the "All-Stars," and players will be the boys who have shown the most promise during the past six weeks of practice games among themselves, according to coach Forrest Bodkins.

Bodkins urges all parents and other adults interested to come to the game as the boys need the moral support. There are about 90 players registered now, he said, and added that anyone wanting to donate money to the program is welcome to do so, as the equipment problem is still acute.

Helping Sharon Jordan to celebrate her fourth birthday recently were several of her friends who live near her and gathered at her home for an afternoon of fun and gaiety.

Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Jordan who live on Nelson street in Cypress.

The traditional birthday cake, decorated with blue frosting and pink candles, was served with ice cream bars to Brenda Leal, Bobby, Beadle, and Patty Sandovzl, Frances Davis, Mary Ann and Frankie Wirth, Joan Collins, Gary Collins, Craig and Bradley Leah, Susie, Cynthia, Dean Jr., and Sharon Jordan.

Claude Dixon of West Cypress received the recommendation of approval of the Orange County Planning Commission last week for his service station plans after guaranteeing to move his equipment back if the highway is widened.

As recommended for approval to the County Board of Supervisors, the station is planned for the south side of Lincoln avenue, about 1400 feet west of Moody avenue.

A fire of undetermined origin called the Cypress Volunteer firemen to the Lyon's Hog Ranch at 7541 Miller last Monday afternoon to douse a blaze that destroyed a lean-to shed beside a garage on the property.

The Junior Cyprettes, under the direction of George Dykstra, are starting out in the winning path of their senior sisters.

In their first game of the season, in the league, they downed the Anaheim Junior Bloomers. They now have a 1-0 record.

Miss Patricia Lou Hale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hale of South San Gabriel, and Gene Noe, popular young Cypress man, were wed Saturday, July 16, in Las Vegas, Nev., at the New Frontier Wedding Chapel. Noe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Noe of Cypress.

Accompanying the bridal pair and attending them at the ceremony were two of their close friends, Larry Zabel and Miss Pat Winderkehr.

After a brief honeymoon in Las Vegas, the newlyweds returned to Cypress and their new home at 5221 Lincoln avenue. Noe is associated with his father in the Cypress Hardware.

Both of the newlyweds attended Fullerton Junior College.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurley G. Strob of Vonnie Lane have announced the arrival of their daughter, born on July 13, weighing 7 pounds, 7½ ounces.

Delco-Remy, in an Anaheim Industrial softball loop, scored a surprise victory in league play last week when they whipped Cal Research 9-2.

Observers credit the victory to the pitching of a Cypress man, Bobby Ray McNeil. He not only held Cal Research to four hits but scored a run off a hit of his own.

Mrs. Don Caul was honored recently by a surprise birthday party which was given to her by Mrs. Elmer Ryals on Vonnie Lane.

Twelve guests enjoyed the fete, with many nice gifts being presented to the honoree.

The afternoon was spent in the back yard of the Ryals' home with a barbecue to climax the activities.

Two Cypress baseball teams got "clobbered" last Tuesday evening in Anaheim "B" league action at the Cypress park.

12 Russian Farmers To Visit State Farms

The much-publicized group of 12 farmers from Russia, who are on tour of the United States and visiting farms, will spend the night and part of a day on the farm of George H. Wilson, Clarksburg. Wilson is president of the California Farm Bureau Federation and the first announcement of the expected visit by the Russian delegation was made at the recent staff conference of Wilson's organization at Asilomar. In attendance from Orange County were C. J. Marks, executive secretary of the County Farm Bureau, and Russel H. Hepler Orange, and Charles Fallert, Fullerton, both regional field secretaries for the State Federation.

George Wilson is to be the speaker at the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County at the County Fairgrounds on the evening of July 26, according to Kenneth Casper, Yorba Linda, who is a member of the Board of Directors of the Associated Chambers and also a member of the Board of the California Farm Bureau Federation.

PICTURE NEWS
AROUND THE SPORTS WORLD

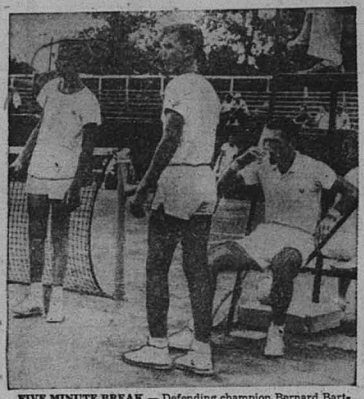

THE RIGHT WAY — Free swimming classes for youngsters are being conducted weekly at Palisades Park, N. J., by Bunty Hill, noted trainer of English Channel swimmers, right. The pool is the largest salt water natatorium in the world and Hill is shown using young Joan Margiotta, of Cliffside, to demonstrate swimming technique to other willing children.

LARGE DOINGS — Instructors at a judo institute in Tokyo are testing the girth of A/1c Clarence O. Fliney, Jr., of Campbell, Mo. He's a 6-foot-7-inch, 360 pound air policeman stationed at Kisarazu Air Base over there. Fliney is one of 31 Far East Air Force personnel taking combat defense training at the school and expects to lose 40 to 50 pounds during the four week course. The 22-year-old airman plans to continue judo training after completion of this course.

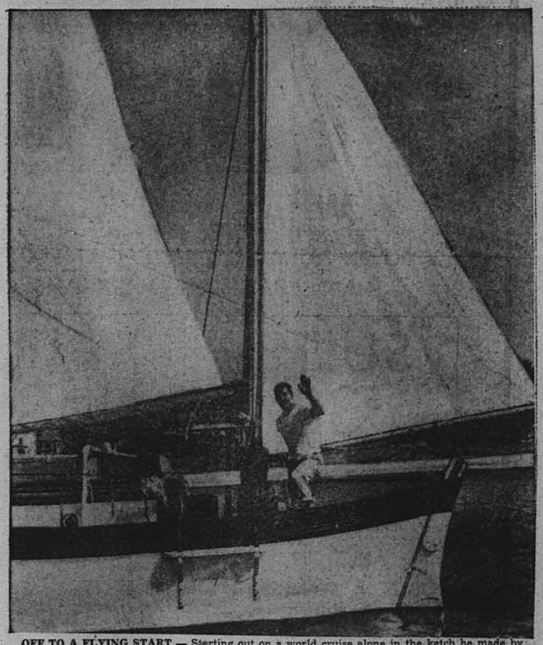

MONEY HITTERS— Fred Hutchinson, right, manager of the Seattle Rainiers, watches his stalwarts train their sights on a left field fence at Sick's Stadium, their home field. Pacific Coast League players have been going batty trying to drive a ball through a tiny knothole in the sign. To make batters more homer-conscious, a Seattle TV station offered $100,000 to any player who drives one through the hole during a regular game. No one has collected — yet.

FIVE MINUTE BREAK — Defending champion Bernard Bartzen, right, sits on the frame of the linesman's stand and slakes his thirst between sets of the National Clay Courts Tennis Tournament matches in Atlanta, Ga. The other lads in the photo are ball boys looking on at the match in progress.

FORCED SEPARATION — Lloyd Merriman, of the Chicago Cubs and shortstop Al Dark of the Giants avoid each other as Dark throws to Gail Harris at first base for a double play at the Polo Grounds. Merriman was forced out on the play, on a grounder by Gene Baker to Harris, who threw to Dark to start the double play.

OFF TO A FLYING START — Starting out on a world cruise alone in the ketch he made by himself, 33-year-old George Boston, of Swampscott, Mass., waves as he set sail from Fisherman's Beach. The 30-foot boat, named "Fiddlers' Green," is carrying the rugged adventurer on what must be a lonely — if successful—voyage.

ANGLING MERMAID — She's Lyn Elliott, who'd make a mighty good catch herself. Her mermaid outfit is the one in which she'll reign as queen over the Miami Beach Summer Fishing Tournament. Meanwhile, she's trying it out from a piling as she tests her fishing luck, too.

ANOTHER QUEEN — This time it's lovely young starlet Marjorie Hellen, chosen Queen of the National AAU Swimming and Diving Championships in Los Angeles. She's receiving a token crown from two-time Olympian Wally Wolf. Marjorie will present medals to the winners at the L. A. Stadium.

NOT BAD — Especially for a nine-year-old angler. Young Gary Goller, of New Providence, N. J., is holding a 14-pound fluke he caught at Oak Beach, N. Y. The record catch there with rod and reel of a summer flounder was a 20-pounder caught in 1948, so Gary may have another record.

ON THE BALL — Curvesome Shirley Rhodes, left, and Jane May find a soft beach ball as comfortable to rest on as anything after a long walk on the sand at Laguna Beach, Calif. The girls were adding to their suntan in the Western sunshine, and also adding to the pleasant view along the shore.

HERE'S HOW! — Agnes, a female alligator, is shown in Pontiac, Mich., with her master, Tuffy Truesdell, a Canadian professional alligator wrestler. Agnes was being unleashed on the shore of Long Lake, where residents have ceased swimming because of reports of another alligator seen in the lake. She's being used as a decoy to capture the Long Lake 'gator.

OVER THE WAVES — The folks up north who love to go tobogganing down snow-covered hills must wait until winter, but it's always toboggan time in Florida. Four lovely lasses in Cypress Gardens are demonstrating that all that's needed is water and a fast motor boat.

Road Responsibility

A traffic expert says that the finest roads and the finest cars that can be built will not correct our traffic problems as long as motorists refuse to face up to their responsibilities on the road.

Paul H. Blaisdell, traffic safety director of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, points out that America is trying to dispose of the traffic problem through technology. "It is not surprising," he declares, "that we, as a people, are certain that technology can solve all of our problems. We have built a way of life on our mechanized ability and the labor-saving efficiency of the machine. It's easy to expect the same application of science to rid us of the menace of highway traffic, because it relieves us of all personal responsibility. Our most popular answer to the problem is that if we build enough good roads and enough good vehicles for those roads our traffic woes would be over."

The trouble with this thinking, he states, is that the human being has not improved along with the better roads and better cars. "We have built a superman complex into the modern driver," says Blaisdell, "while God has yet to turn out a new model with a turbo-jet brain, torneatical powered eyesight or a supergashiating nervous system."

Mr. Blaisdell concludes his comment with this observation, which we all might well take to heart: "When the moment arrives that individuals accept the responsibility for their own performance as highway users, safety on the roads will be a reality instead of an objective."

Workers in Copyright Office Usually Know What's on Public's Mind by Checking Songs

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Folks who work at the U.S. Copyright Office generally can tell what's on the public's mind without looking at the papers or listening to the radio.

Last year, it was the Army-McCarthy hearings which inspired amateur song writers to go to work. The pros, too. One ditty called "Point Of Order" finally broke out on wax and made somebody a bundle.

Hurricane Hazel made her influence felt, too. The big wind came in for copyright consideration dressed in such titles as "She Blew And She Blew" and "Whither Now, Hazel"

Now Davy Crockett has captured the nation's fancy. Kids mostly. There are Davy Crockett coonskin toppers, which no six-year-old boy would be without even in the sweiter of summer. Also Daisy Crockett bonnets, also with tails, albeit white ones, grace the heads of little girls.

Davy On Box Tops

Some of the titles are rather interesting. Some will be copyrighted by Uncle Sam; some won't. Paul Lasky and Jack Liebmann came up with a song titled "Davy Crockett And The Liberty Bell," which probably will be accompanied by the ringing of mallet on brass.

Others have broken through the bonds of song. It was inevitable that Davy, musket and all, should invade the somewhat crowded field of cereals. Most youngsters won't eat their oats unless they can put the box on the kitchen table and look at a cow poke.

The Old Virginia Packing Co., Inc., has registered copyright claims on labels with these exciting titles:

"Davy Crockett in a Jam With Congress."

"Davy Crockett in a Jam at the Alamo."

"Davy Crockett in a Jam With a Bear."

"Davy Crockett in a Jam With an Indian."

The box tops, doubtless will be returnable, along with two bits or so, for some frilly memento of "The King of The Wild Frontier." A man can get rid of a lot of oats and puffed rice that way.

Echoes Around World

The now famous original "Ballad of Davy Crockett" was copyrighted by Wonderland Music. Lives there a soul with a gramophone, radio or TV set who hasn't by now heard it

The Crockett craze has even reached Zippy, the chimpanzee of the Howdy Doody show. He used to dress like a civilized ape, in the modern manner. But now the rubber replicas of Zippy, which are on sale in toy stores come in buckskin britches and a coonskin hat, wardrobe copyrighted by the Rushton Co.

But what stopped me was a copyright application by the Robert H. Clark Co. This outfit dabbles in smelly stuff for the bath.

It would dearly love to copyright a new suds in the bubble tub department and would like to call the concoction "The Aroma of The Old Frontier."

BACKSTAIRS AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Eisenhower Returns From Europe But Still Hasn't Seen Imitation of Self by Grandchild

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

WASHINGTON (UP) — Backstairs at the White House:

President Eisenhower naturally was happy to get home from Europe with a load of toys for his grandchildren. But is doubtful that he has had an opportunity to observe one of the latest accomplishments of his 7-year-old grandson, David.

David, according to friends who knew the John Eisenhower family well at Ft. Benning, Ga., and more recently at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., has become quite adept at imitating his grandfather.

Other kids sometimes stage mock "press conferences" with David and question him on the pressing events of their day, just as they see Mr. Eisenhower interrogated on television. His youthful brows furrow gravely and he struts around the sidewalk conference attending with mock concern to such vital items as "What do you think of your new teacher" or "Give us your opinion of the Long Ranger."

Much was made, particularly in the European press last week, of protection afforded Mr. Eisenhower as contrasted with the security arrangements for his Russian counterparts.

A number of Europeans, and Americans, too, were critical because the President was given much heavier and more obvious protection than Premier Bulganin. It was pointed out repeatedly that the Russians stole the propaganda ball from the United States by having their principals travel about Geneva in open cars, while Mr. Eisenhower moved in a closed car.

This interpretation was far from true. Bulganin and the Communist Party boss, Nikta Khrushchev, rarely moved without at least six carloads of Russian and Swiss security agents around them. There usually were three or four carloads of American Secret Service agents and Swiss detectives around Mr. Eisenhower.

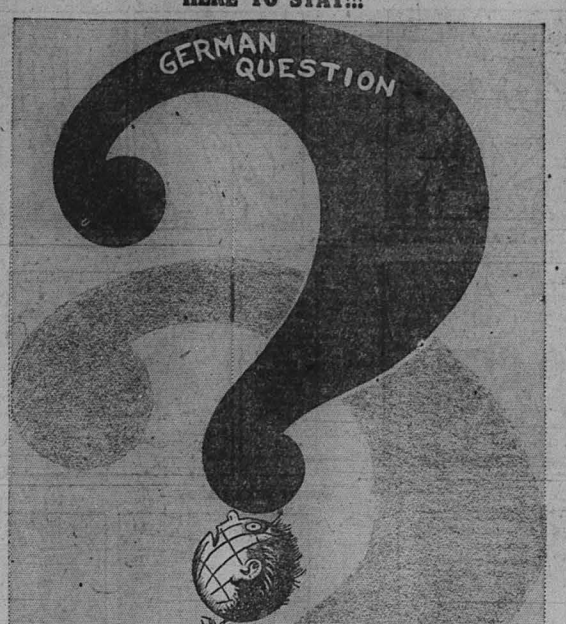

It was a fact that the Russians moved in open cars long enough to get their pictures distributed all over the world, but then they went back to the bullet-proof closed cabs from Moscow with heavy curtains across the rear windows.

There also was a widely printed report that the gate to the President's villa was guarded around the clock by three or more SS agents. Actually, there was rarely more than one American on the gate, plus a Swiss soldier and a Swiss detective. The Swiss government maintained similar and sometimes heavier protective details at the villas of other principals.

The American security men around the Eisenhower villa felt genuinely sympathetic for the Swiss troops on guard duty. Most of these troops carried 500 rounds of rifle ammunition around their necks, packed in two heavy boxes.

The buffet sessions arranged for the Big Four adjoing their council chamber after each days' meeting turned out to be generally brief affairs. They rarely lasted as much as 30 minutes, and sometimes only five or six as far as the principals were concerned.

Carol Channing Stars in Classic Drama on TV

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — When silent star Clara Kimball Young starred in "Trilby and Svengali" in 1915, she stripped for a scene in the nude—but the 1955 Trilby, Carol Channing, lamented today she can't do that for television.

Husky-voiced Carol will be at least the fifth Trilby when she tackles the role in a musical comedy version of the classic drama on NBC-TV July 30.

Carol's romp, with Basil Rathbone as Svengali, has the jazzed-up title of "Svengali and the Blonde."

As research, NBC suggested Carol take lessons from Miss Young, who created the role for the silent screen, and in the interests of research I went along for the meeting.

The 1915 movie version cost $10,000, compared to $100,000 for a one-night stand on today's television.

Bohemian Paris

But Miss Young outdid Carol by acting in her birthday suit.

"Trilby is a model in bohemian Paris, so I appeared in the altogether," the veteran actress announced.

"The cameraman and director were the only persons allowed on the set, and it was screened off. I sat on a cushion and they shot from a three-quarter view."

At this news Miss Channing put on her "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" stare. She could only stammer that "NBC won't let me do that—we can't even show a photograph of Trilby's nude calendar. But I would have done anything for Trilby."

"I don't know why people want to be so prudish," sniffed Miss Young now o plump 65 but still with beautiful eyes and hair.

"It could be played artistically. There was nothing vulgar about my scene."

Carol's clothed appearance, however, will be similar to Miss Young's—the traditional Trilby get up of striped petticoat, olly soldier's jacket and long blonde pageboy hair-do with bangs.

No Singing

"Did you sing 'The Last Rose of Summer' in the movies?" Carol asked Miss Young.

"My dear," said the blue-whiteheaired actress, "it was a silent!"

"We added two musical numbers," said Carol. "But we're not kidding the story. And we gave it a happy ending."

"I died at the end, as in the play and the book," Miss Young said firmly. "Trilby is a tragedy. I was struggling to get out of a net, symbolic of Svengali—"

"We have a net, too," squealed Carol.

Miss Young retired from pictures in 1940 after doing character roles in Hopalong Cassidy films. She lives alone in a Hollywood apartment, bare of any mementoes of her 40-year career.

"I threw out all those scrapbooks and photos," she said. "If I weren't with you now I wouldn't be talking about the past."

"I'm living today!" she said and raised her highball glass to toast Carol. "I'm in this rocket ship era! To hell with the past."

Four Birthday Forecast

By STELLA

TUESDAY, JULY 26 — Born today, you have a brilliantly, agile and original mind. You are an innovator in both ideas and action and will only do your best work when left alone without interference from the outside. If you find yourself in restricting circumstances in so far as your career is concerned, make all possible efforts to extricate yourself at once, for you will only feel frustrated and unhappy. You have a keen sense of humor which often borders on the satirical. You observe the foibles of mankind and can throw them into a humorous light, sometimes not being as kindly as your true nature indicates you should be!

Although you appear to be a little too naïve when it comes to routine business, this is quite the opposite of the truth. Actually, you are really quite shrewd and often make a very close bargain. You have the ability to do a lot of work, yet you never appear to be rushed or overworked. It is this nonchalant attitude perhaps, which misleads your opponents and makes them think you are a little "slow" at first! Soon enough, anyone who tries to fool you learns better.

You have a magnetic personality which attracts people to you. On the other hand, you give your confidences to very few. It might be well for you to wed early, for if you do not, there is a good chance that you might never get around to it, later on in life! You are very self-sufficient, emotionally, but would be happier in the long-range view, if you had your own home to which you could return after your wandering days are over.

Among those born on this date are: Carl Jung, psychologist; George Bernard Shaw, playwright; William R. Harper, educator; Robert Graves, poet ;George Barr McCutcheon, artist; Gracie Allen, actress; Emil Jannings, actor; and Aldous Huxley, novelist.

To find what the stars have in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Wednesday, July 27

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — If you are fully cooperative you will find that business is rather better than you had anticipated.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) —There are some adverse aspects but if you have a constructive, optimistic attitude, you will prosper.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) —If you are careless, you might suffer a serious loss. Postpone new ventures until later on.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Best not to be overambitious today. Take all opportunities offered, just now, with a grain of salt!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Learn to be content with what you have, for being envious of others is a very poor idea!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Be conservative, especially in matters of business and finance. This is not the time to be adventuresome.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — If not contented with things as they are, instigate progressive change and watch things take a turn for the better.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20) — If you have taken on added responsibilities which are a burden, make an attempt, soon, to change the situation.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20) — This is not the time to overanticipate. You make progress although it may not be too spectacular.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21) — The unexpected could happen today and it might not be something you really want. Being forewarned, is forearmed against trouble.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Be careful on the job. . . . A mistake could upset things at the office for you, so be on guard.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Prudent action will pay the best dividends in the long run. Don't attempt to be too adventuresome now.

Janet Leigh Gets Roses, 'Crazy' Note From Husband While Working on Pete Kelly's Blues'

Janet Leigh told me that when she went to work on her singing dramatic stint in "Pete Kelly's Blues," down Warner way, she received a bouquet of roses with this note from husband Tony Curtis:

"To Canary Jane: Have a ball and wail like a crazy slippo, and play it cool. From the wack wailin' Tone."

Janet said she wasn't sure what Tony meant by the jive talk. I couldn't help her.

Benny Goodman has a dragnet out for a clarinet he formerly owned. The missing squealing stick is a Selmer, Serial No. 1.3682. Benny will give the owner a new 5500 Selmer Omega for three weeks loan of the older instrument. Seems he needs to use it to match the tonal recordings of some of his old records for his screen bio.

John Agar and Colleen Miller will have the fun of emoting in "Law Man," out at U-I. The yarn has a western locale in the 1880s and takes place in a single day. A young sheriff is determined to hang a convicted gunman on schedule, despite the interference of a group of ranchers who want to free him and a group of farmers who want to lynch him.

The pretty myth that Nature calls King's Cross, or sanctuary, for her thirsty creatures around the wilderness water hole is reluctantly deflated by Pat Dickney's famous team of photonaturalists, Alfred and Elma Milotte.

After a 32-month camera safari in the wilds of Africa, they tell me that the sentimental legend, like the millenial hope of the lion lying down in peace with the lamb, just isn't so. If a hungry lion spots a hapless gazello off-guard at their common drinking place, he'll kill as swiftly as at any other place. Nature recognizes no blood truce.

Spencer Tracy heads for Switzerland come Sept. 1, for "The Mountain." — John Whitcomb will sketch Susan Hayward for a Cosmopolitan Mag cover — Steward Granger's gift to his wife, Jean Simmons, upon his return from Europe, was a tiny gold wrist watch with a face no bigger than the end of a pencil — Ava Gardner, after seeing "Tosca" at Covent Garden, is trying to woo Producer Lee Berman into developing it into a screen play for her — Twenty-one of Dan Dailey's foxhounds were used in a scene in "Diane." — Instead of autographs, James Mason sketched portraits of the fans who crowded around the Assembly location on "Forever, Darling." — Sir Cedric Hardwicks is reading a nightclub act for Vegas.

Elizabeth Montgomery, Robert's daughter, who is the femme fatale in "The Court-Martial of Billy Mitchell," works in Glamourtown by day and sleeps in Las Vegas by night, where she's establishing residence for the customary purpose.

Terry Moore says: "Be nice to your friends — after all, if it weren't for them, you'd be a total stranger."

OTHMAN'S VIEWS

Transit Strike In Washington At a Standstill

WASHINGTON — Now we've got specks of rust on our street-car tracks. The grass growing on the loading platforms along Connecticut Avenue is beginning to go to seed.

The big green and silver buses, which have been parked in the lots for 22 days now, are splashed with mud, caused by a few brief showers hitting the accumulations of dust. Some of the tires on these behemoths are going flat. Getting their engines started, when as and if the Capital Transit Co. strike is settled, is likely to be one of those problems.

What this strike is doing to the capital of the United States is horrid. How can a G-girl do her best by her typewriter if she's hiked 20 blocks in 95-degree heat both ways, between her job and her home? How can she eat, if she's spent all her money on taxis?

Either way she can't do her work properly and when you multiply that by the thousand and entwine her with the usual red tape, there's no wonder that the work-a-day operations of the government are suffering.

That brings us to the ludicrous part. The motormen and bus drivers say they've got to have more money. Louis Wolfson, the boy wonder of high finance who controls the company, agrees they deserve the raise. But he refuses to give 'em what they want until and unless he gets a fare increase.

So we've got the Public Utility Commission investigating the situation. Along about September, maybe it will decide whether the present charge per ride is enough. The question is, what ride? Or how can you raise fares for trolleys that remain in the car barns?

That brings us to the three District Commissioners (who ride in government limousines) who'd like to seize the company, lift its franchise, and, while seeking a customer for the firm, let the District government spend a year running it.

The commissioners can't do this without approval of Congress; our town, after all, has for mayor 96 Senators and 435 Representatives.) Those gentlemen have our interests at heart constantly, but they never can seem to agree on what our interests are.

The Senate District Committee seems to like the idea of passing a law taking the franchise away from Wolfson and Co. All but Sen. Wayne Morse (D., Ore.,) that is. He says kick out Wolfson by way of taking away the franchise and then let the commissioners set up their own bus system, with jitney cars plying Pennsylvania Avenue.

So the committee's holding hearings on these ideas, with sweaty citizens (damp from their long bikes) talking heatedly. The trouble is that the House committee doesn't like either scheme. It favors a kind of injunction to get those streetcars back on the tracks.

The more the gentlemen wrangle, the further away seems settlement of the strike. The downtown stores are growing increasingly empty of customers and then there's my old friend, Bayard Evans, the restaurant owner.

Most of his waiters, dishwashers and cooks have given up the fight of getting to work. Evans, fortunately, is a first-class cook himself, and his wife is an attractive waitress. And that brings us to the only good solution I've heard yet: Bring in Fanny (Col. Jewell) Avery, who beat out financier Wolfson for control of Montgomery Ward, and let him show how a transit company should be run.

Real Disappointment of Big Four Meeting Said To Be That Dramatic Talks Had to Come to End

WASHINGTON — There's one real disappointment about the Big Four meeting at Geneva — that the dramatic talks had to come to an end. The world would have been glad to see them go on. The pressure for peace is so intense that any amount of inconvenience to the statesmen involved—any delay in other official business — would seem to have been justified if there was a chance for worth-while agreements.

But the sad truth is that the Soviet rulers, unlike their Western colleagues, represented only themselves. They could not make agreements on substantive questions without confessing publicly to their peoples a certain responsibility for some of the evils they have wrought in the last ten years especially among the satellite states where they have imposed a system of slavery.

So far as the Western governments were concerned, their representatives achieved a moral triumph. It was not a triumph merely because they helped to create an atmosphere or spirit of peaceful purpose. The Geneva conference may be termed a success from the Western viewpoint only because it concentrated the attention of the entire world for a full week on the issues that separate the East and the West.

This is no ordinary achievement. Not in ten years has the Iron Curtain been penetrated so as to enable American and British and French viewpoints to be printed at length in Soviet newspapers. Whatever the Soviet people have been told about the "warmongers" of the West, must now seem untruthful to the readers of the newspapers and the listeners to radio broadcasts behind the iron curtain.

There were to be sure risks involved. What a mischievous use the Soviet propagandists can make now, for example, of those snapshots showing Ike and Bulganin and Krushechev hobnobbing and smiling and fraternizing. They can display those photos all through the satellite countries as if to say to the oppressed peoples—"don't depend on the United States and the West to help you out—they are playing ball with us now. Better accept your fate."

There were, on the other hand to offset such an impression plenty of significant statements made by President Eisenhower in his addresses at Geneva to indicate clearly that the United States has not lost interest in what is happening to the peoples of the satellite states.

Analyzing the Geneva conference—what Russia got out of it and wat the West derived—the diplomatic scoreboard looks something like this:

What the Russians Got:

1. A new prestige inside Soviet Russia for her rulers—equality with the heads of the Western states. A certain respectability was bestowed on the Kremlin group by President Eisenhower's conspicuous gestures of personal and official friendship. This is important to enhance the domestic position of the Kremlin as against the restless elements of the people who believe Western charges that communist imperialism has brought the world to the brink of a nuclear war.

2. A spectacular chance to restate the Soviet position for unification of Germany, whenever the Kremlin chooses, and on its own terms and conditions. This is important in future maneuvers inside both East and West Germany in attaining the main Soviet objective—detaching Germany completely from the North Atlantic treaty organization.

3. A widely publicized endorsement by Russia of the demand for admission of Red China to the United Nations. This together with defiant comments about Formosa assures the Peiping government that Moscow is still intent on challenging the position of the United States in the Far East.

4. A strategy of confusion to assist the Soviet propaganda machine in eastern Europe after putting forth the proposal for a 50-year all-European collective security treaty, the Russians meet head-on the argument that they want only to break down NATO and to leave the satellite states as well as Germany unprotected against future aggressor.

5. The raising of Soviet hopes that the U.S. arms effort will be slowed down so that Russia can catch up.

What the Western Allies Got:

A. Worldwide publicity for the viewpoint of the West with a reiteration of basic principles originally proclaimed in the Atlantic charter. This is important inside the satellite states where unrest admittedly can be the biggest headache for Soviet Russia and eventually be the means of breaking down the present regime in the Kremlin.

B. A dramatic rebuttal of the Soviet propaganda of the last ten years that America is a "warmonger" and aggressor engaged in building alliance which encircle Russia with air bases just for the purpose of attack. Even the Russian spokesmen at Geneva had to say publicly many kind words about the peaceful purposes expressed by President Eisenhower. This alone was worth to America the entire trouble of a presidential trip to Geneva. For the worldwide propaganda battle is more important than most American realize.

C. An effective manifestation of the moral force of the free world with a spectacular display of Allied unity. This is of incalculable value in building a demand for peace that must inevitably overflow the borders of the iron curtain countries and seep through to the peoples beyond.

D. The decision to put the same issues as were discussed last week before another four power conference of foreign ministers at Geneva in October. This means that the pressure for peace continues with intensity.

E. Relaxation of war tension for the time being. This is an advantage but it also has its dangers. For if the West gives the impression that it will accept the Russian concept of "peaceful coexistence" it could be interpreted by the liberty loving elements behind the iron curtain as a acceptance by the West of the "status quo," a freezing of the existing condition of slavery in Eastern Europe, and a removal of all hope of liberation as the West may follow a trade in strategic goods to build up the power of the Kremlin over the people.

American statesmen, however, can be expected to exercise care in the next few months to eliminate any such misunderstanding.

Based on what has been revealed thus far and assuming that there have been no promises made in private by the U.S. delegation, Geneva's conference—on balance — appears to have been more of a plus than a minus for the West.

Dear Sir:

In reply to the writer who was so disappointed with his excursion to Disneyland as an invited guest: To begin with, neighbor . . . What did you expect? . . . Didn't you go a little bit overboard in your anticipation? What did you think $17,000,000 would look like . . . as compared to a four bit hamsandwich?

There isn't another man, or person in the wide world today . . . we don't believe . . . who would let you approach within shouting range of his $17,000,000 if he had that much.

Over at Disneyland you can see it . . . touch it . . . walk on it and use it, at your own pleasure.

Of course there were Hollywood celebrities there . . . they are Disney's friends . . . And thousands of people go farther to see them in person . . . And didn't you know what that first day was for? . . . We did . . . We read it from the same newspaper that your letter appeared in.

In These United States, nothing succeeds without advertising . . . And as you say . . . and you are right . . . you were used as a background for TV cameras and as material for magazines and newspaper pictures . . . But if you are a news reporter . . . and we judge that you are . . . what did you expect?

You say there were disgruntled people there . . . Did you ever attend anything even half that proportion where there were no disgruntled people?

"False reality"? . . . The whole thing is false reality, if we put it that way . . . But we don't know there is no such thing as false reality . . .

Just one more small item . . . If the kids wait for their parents to drive half way across the United States to see the Painted Desert . . . Yellowstone Park and the Mississippi River . . . where there are no more old river boats . . . a lot of these same kids will be decidedly lacking in their education . . . Unless we take them to Disneyland . . . in spite of its false realities . . . We'll see you over one of these days, friend.

Avalanche of Mail From Announcement for Bed

HOLLYWOOD (Via N'York)— The recent announcement by Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy that they are seeking the original bed featured in their stage play, "The Fourposter," so they can use it in their TVersion of the show, on July 25th, via NBC, has brought such a landslide of mail and wires from all over the country that the Cronyns are beginning to wonder how many "originals" there really are.

To date they have received 112 responses, with more coming in all the time. According to reports, the "original" four-poster is now in a museum in San Francisco; in an antique collector's attic in Augusta, Maine; in a basement apartment in Cleveland; in a hotel in Toronto, Canada; in a furniture shop in Brooklyn; aboard a pleasure yacht in the Pacific; and in dozens of other places.

The acting couple is patiently sifting through all the letters and wires, but as yet nobody has offered one legitimate piece of evidence that his report is authentic.

"Regardless of what happens," says Cronyn, who is also producing the show, "the TV play will go on. Even if we have to drag one of those convertible couches onto the set and have a little girl open it."

DANSON ON AIR . . . Rex Koury, recently written about in this column, has just completed a recording session of four sides for Chesterfield Records featuring a "brand new sound." Included are "Shopping in Paris," backed with "Mid-day in Bombay," and a couple of standards titled, "Blue Raindrops," and "Seruban." We are anxious to hear these new discs, and the new sound in music, for we're friendly with both Koury, and the lovely Virginia Richman, owner of Chesterfield, and only the best to them both! . . . Just a few days after inducting our blonde lovely, Ilona Massey — and without a hint as to what was to happen in the future, except for a rough summer theater schedule — the gal canceled all schedules and got married. Lucky man was Donald Dawson, a Washington, D.C. attorney, who was assistant to Harry S. Truman during his period in office as President. Ilona plans to retire from show biz permanently and live in the nation's capital, canceling all of her bookings for the remainder of the year, which includes a new television series scheduled for TViewing in the early fall. . . . My little dark-eyed brunette gal friend, vocalovely on radio and television, Roberta Linn, has been named "Queen of the Mobile Home Week." Here's a few facts that are amazing, regarding mobile homes, or as we better know them, trailers: There are more than two-and-a-half million people living in trailers in the nation, and of that figure, 250,000 are right here in Southern California. Sometimes I think these people are lucky. If the smoke gets too thick, they just have to pull stakes and move on to clearer and greener pastures — something a homeowner can't do. I think of doing! . . . Lillian Randolph, Negro femcee on the NBC radio station KOWL here, starts her second term as a director of the national board of AFTRA (radio-TV artists union). Miss Randolph, re-elected last June, becomes the first member of her race to be so chosen. . . . Maybe this'll cool you off: Producer Peter Arnell, of the "Name's the Same" show received latters from the following prospective guests: I. Freeze, S. Kimo, I. Sickle, Polar Beare and Hale Storm!

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY . . . It takes two to make a marriage — a single girl and an anxious mother!

U.S., British Renew Hassle Over Aspirin

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—A years-long aspirin argument between British and American medical scientists has been renewed with fresh British evidence that the ordinary aspirin tablet is an irritant in any stomach and is very bad for a man or a woman with an ulcer.

This is distressing news to this nation, which consumes 15 tons of aspirin daily, an outstanding world's record, and also is considered to have the highest incidence of ulcers. But the British scientists, Dr. A. Muir and I. A. Cossar, were emphatic.

Their main evidence was this: Two hours before surgically removing the stomachs of 20 ulcer patients, they gave each patient two ordinary aspirin tablets. When they had the 20 stomachs out, they saw fragments of the aspirins with their naked eyes and also saw that in 12 of the 20, the fragments had produced erosions which are hallmarks of an irritant.

Embedded In Stomach Lining

In one stomach, half an aspirin was so deeply embedded in the mucous - producing lining that they couldn't get it out without damaging their specimen. When they did get it out, "a lesion showing the features of an acute peptic ulcer rather than a simple erosion was visible."

Under the misscroscope, the stomachs showed erosions not visible to the naked eye. Their similar experiments with 40 others surgically - removed ulcerated stomachs supported their argument, their in opinion. They granted that "erosive gastritis" sometimes goes with ulceration, but the erosions they were talking about "were obviously the result of the local irritant action of aspirin."

They also said that 15 other patients who suffered continually from indigestion and who were "habitual aspirin takers . . . were cured of their dyspepsia by its withdrawal." As for ulcer patients, they found that 110 out of 318 "were well aware that aspirin could be taken only at the risk of a bout of dyspepsia."

Care Is Needed

The British Medical Journal published their report and commented editorially that "the earlier work (of British scientists) has been confirmed, and care is evidently needed in the administration of aspirin."

Since 1938, British medical scientists have been indicting aspirin as a stomach irritant.

The journal acknowledged a "discrepancy" between British and American studies of what aspirin does to the stomach — the American view is that it does nothing. The journal said this discrepancy was "more apparent than real" because the American scientists had looked at the wrong places in the stomach.

THE BOSS of BROKEN SPUR

By—Nick Sumner

Copyright, 1954, by Nick Sumner. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

CHRISTIE looked at him levelly. They'd both been drinking. The second man leered, "Comie t' have a look at y'r sweetheart through the bars, huh? Don't look so good that way, does he?"

Christie battled down her urge to slap the insolent red face. The other man spat again.

"Looks awright to me. Only way I can think of ne'd look better is dangin' at the end of a rope. He'd look real good that way, the dirty murderin'—!"

"Could be," his friend hiccoughed. "Could be!"

Christie whirled past them. Her boot-heels struck a savage rhythm from the planks of the sidewalk as she strode toward the livery stable. Here she mounted her waiting horse, and rode furiously toward Broken Spur.

Lacey Farrell had been spending an uncomfortable half-hour with Rob. All afternoon Rob had been pacing the living room like a caged lion, with 'he furies fastening on his soul. He had to recognize the hopelessness of trying to drive his battered and depleted crew into action against the nesters again without a breathing spell, but the galling necessity of doing nothing, the feeling of having his hands tied, had built up a temper that was formidable, even for him—and the unfortunate sheriff had received the full brunt of it. After thirty minutes at the mercy of Rob's tongue, he felt as if he'd been beaten over the head with a quirt, and he welcomed the whirlwind entrance of Christie into the room.

"Here, girl!" Rob crossed the room in long, swift strides and put a supporting arm about the spent girl. "Sit down. I'll get you something to drink!"

She shook him off. "Never mind me, I'm all right. Can you come back to town with me?"

"What's happened? Is Kerry all right?"

"The nesters—" Visibly she pulled herself together. "They're in an ugly temper. They've been doing a lot of drinking, I guess. Anyway, I heard a couple of them in front of the jail, making lynch talk. I guess it's just talk, but with nobody but Jim Farrell at the jail—"

Rob whirled on Lacey. "You never told me that crowd was back in town!"

"You never give me a chance to tell you anything! Anyway, I thought they'd just blow off steam. I never—"

"You thought!" Rob fairly spat it at him. "I could have had the crew together and been half way to town by now."

"Rob!" As Rob started for the door, Lacey pulled himself to his feet, his sagging figure straightened up into something resembling dignity. "Where you goin' ?"

"To the bunkhouse," Rob rasped, "to tell the crew to hit the saddle —where else?"

"Looka here, Rob—this is my job—"

"And Kerry's my boy!" Rob's eyes were wide open, and there was sheer murder in their black depths. "Don't you try gettin' legal on me now, Lacey—"

"It ain't the law I'm thinkin' about, Rob," the sheriff declared heavily. "But there's not more than half that nester crowd in town. The ones that are left here —no tellin' what they might try if you pull your whole crew away from Broken Spur—"

"Never mind Broken Spur! I'm taking care of my boy!"

The street noises had been buzzing in Kerry's ears and he didn't notice that they'd grown louder until he heard Rusty's low voice from the next cell, 'Kerry! You hear all that ruction outside?"

"Sure I hear it," Kerry growled. "Nesters celebrating — why wouldn't they?"

"Kid," there was a sober note in Rusty's drawl that penetrated Kerry's indifference as the nesters' shouting had failed to do, "maybe nesters make a different kind o' noise when they're happy. But I've heard cowboys bayin' the moon all the way from Dodge to Cheyenne —an' that don't sound like a celebration to me!"

Kerry dragged himself up to the side of his bed. "What do you think, Rusty?"

"The nesters—" Visibly she pulled herself together. "They're in an ugly temper. They've been doing a lot of drinking, I guess. Anyway, I heard a couple of them in front of the jail, making lynch talk. I guess it's just talk, but with nobody but Jim Farrell at the jail—"

Rob whirled on Lacey. "You angry men making that noise—men with a deadly purpose behind their anger. A sense of their helplessness descended on Kerry like a crushing weight.

"Rusty!" he groaned. "I got you into this!"

"Hush up, Kerry boy. This ain't no time to waste time talkin' foolishness. Might as well say I got you into it—y' might better. When I team up with a lightnin' rod, y're liable to have the lightin' hit too close around you for comfort. An' this looks like bein' about the biggest bolt I ever at-tracted!"

"Rusty, what do we do?"

"I'd say the first move was to get hold o' that critter that goes under the name o' deputy sheriff." Rusty commenced a vigorous banging on the bars.

The noise along the street was getting louder and closer. Eventually Jim Farrell came shuffling up to cell-door. The lamp he carried was shaking so that the light played queer tricks with his face, but Kerry could make out that he looked more than ordinarily like a scared rabbit, with his pale eyes all but starting out of his head.

"Jim!" Rusty drawled, "sounds t' me mighty like that mob's headin' this way."

"Don't you worry," Farrell's slack-jawed imitation of Lacey Farran's best official manner was so ludicrous that all the danger of their situation couldn't keep Kerry from grinning in the darkness. "I know my duty. I'll defend my prisoners."

"Reckon you'd die defendin' 'em," Rusty agreed placidly. "Mighty white o' you, Sherrit, but it wouldn't be much comfort t' Kerry an' me when we was dangl'in' from the end of a limb. I figure it'd be more to the point if you had some help. Got a couple guns around?"

"Why—yeah—"

"Then now 'bout breakin' 'em out an' unlockin' these doors?"

Farrell hesitated, his loose jaw waggling in indecision. "Armin' prisoners an' turnin' 'em loose—No, 'fraid that wouldn't be reg'lar."

"For God's sake, Jim!" Kerry burst out in an agony of impatience. "Having a lynch mob break into your jail isn't regular, either. You can't stand them off all by yourself!"

Teenage Girl Hurt In Anaheim Accident

A 15-year-old girl was slightly injured at 5:05 p.m. Sunday when the car in which she was riding collided broadside with another at the intersection of Manchester and Center streets.

The girl, Diann Rae Gordon, Glendale, was riding with James Thomas Roundtree, 16, also Glendale, going north on Manchester.

Officers said the accident occurred when the car driven by Benjamin Franklin Mattox, 18, 915 North Zeyn, going east on Center, moved into the path of Roundtree's auto.

The injured girl was taken to Orange County Hospital.

New Anaheim Maps Available at Chamber

Anaheim Chamber of Commerce revealed today that new maps of Greater Anaheim are now available.

The colorful maps are bordered with pictures of typical houses in tracts located in and around Anaheim with colored and numbered spots on the map to indicate where the various houses can be found.

Showing the growth of the city are shaded areas on parts of the map to show property recently annexed to Anaheim, and in addition, the new map shows some streets that were not even on a planning board six months ago.

Chamber announced today that the new maps of Anaheim are free and may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce, 136 N. Los Angeles street.

Board of Realtors Slates Panel Here

The Anaheim Board of Realtors will meet tomorrow at 7:30 a.m. at 211 E. Center street for a panel discussion by a group of four Marine officers.

The program is planned to allow the first 20 minutes for panel discussion and the last 10 minutes for questions from the floor.

Members of the panel include, moderator, Major L. Fry as an all-weather fighter expert, Major H. Berge as a day fighter expert, Captain C. Hiett as a ground attack expert and Captain D. Mabry, helicopter expert.

Panel members have served in combat operations in Korea and World War II. Three members have served tours of duty as exchange pilots in RAF fighter squadrons. One member recently completed a tourn of duty as a member of the Navy's famous "Blue Angels" stunt team.

Claim Search for 'Fertility Control' Will Soon Bring Aspirin-Type Answer

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor

NEW YORK (UP) — Scientists striving to give the human race a simple and sure way of controlling its prodigious and alarming fertility—for example, something as easy as taking an aspirin—believe they are on the verge of success.

They're talking very reluctantly, when they talk at all, since no scientist wants to rouse false expectations. But this writer has been given good reason for believing that several easy "aspirin tablet" ways which act on the fertility of animals, now are being tested — very quietly and privately — in human beings.

Since fertility in whatever "biological system," whether animal or vegetable, results from chemical processes, these scientists are working with chemicals which "antagonize" those processes. So far as experimental animals are concerned, a potent antagonizing chemical (or chemicals) is contained in a weed which grows in the Rocky Mountains.

Weed Called "Lithosperm"

That this weed has anti-fertility properties is well known; indeed, it has come to be called "lithosperm" — "litho" being a combining word form, meaning "stone." What is new — and exciting to investigating scientists — is that science is very close to separating its anti-fertility chemical or chemicals from the rest of the plant's many substances.

When scientists can work with the pure, unadulterated antagonist, it will be a simple matter to find out much of it is needed, and how often, to assuresa positive result.

The scientists then can learn to make it, to assure a cheap, unlimited supply. They are experimenting now with extracts which are heavily saturated with the antifertility "factor"- most probably in human beings as well as in experimental animals.

Another far-advanced quest for "fertility control" is through the chemical maze which is the body's system of internally secreting glands. The pituitary glands secrete hormone-like substances, gonadotrophins, which circulate with the blood and regulate stages in the fertility processes which end with reproduction.

Here the idea is to introduce substances from the outside which would "antagonize" the gonadotrophins. Chemical substances such as those contained in lithosperm antagonize spermatozoa or ovagthe male and female germ cells, after they've been made. The hormonal method would antagonize the making of them.

A Terrifying Urgency

The hormonal method is about to be tested in human beings, if indeed it isn't already being tested. It requires injections in its present stage of development: the lithosperm method is by pills.

Some scientists and groups place a terrifying urgency upon the finding of some easy, safe way of "controlling fertility" — a method which would be accessible and acceptable to the masses in such countries as India, Japan, Egypt, and Puerto Rico — and even in the United States, but with less urgency here.

The Planned Parenthood Federation, which has spent $300,000 on the scientific search for such a way since 1948, put it this way: "The global need is to bring about often, to assures a positive result, a better balance between the fertility of the soil and the fertility of man.

Maharaja of Cooch Behar Tells Tale Of Lassoing Elephants by Elephants

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON (UP) — "My cousin," said the Maharajah of Cooch Behar, "has trained a couple of elephants to go out into the jungle and lasso wild elephants for him."

"Lasso! You mean like cowboys"

"Exactly," said India's handsomest prince. "He has trained these elephants to put a noose around a wild elephant and tie it up. Then along he comes with his men and they prod the wild elephant to his keddah, or training stockade."

"Sounds like a fascinating fellow."

"He is indeed," murmured the tall, sleek ruler of the most picturesque of the princely states. "He is the Raj Kumar of Gwalipar. He is about 45 and he is simply marvelous with animals. He helps me with my tiger shooting business."

"Tiger shooting business?"

"Yes. I've been organizing tiger shoots in my jungles. I'm hoping to get some more American and British sportsmen who want a crack at a giant Bengal tiger. believe me, it's the world's supreme hunting thrill."

Somehow, I can't think of a maharajah in business. I thought they were all fabulously wealthy"

Full Name

"Not since the takeover," said Jaggaddipendra Narayan Bhup Bahadur (to use his full name).

"I really do it to maintain our elephants. We used to have 35 when we were an independent state. Now we have only 18."

"Must you keep elephants"

"But we've always had them," exclaimed the maharajah. "Not keep elephants? Why it wouldn't be Cooch Behar without them. Besides they are necessary for hunting in our jungles, so thick you can scarcely see five inches in front of you.

"We take hunting parties into the jungle for 14-day shoots. It is very exciting as the elephants beat out the tigers while the hunters aim from the shooting howdahs on other elephants. The lion is not king of beasts, not compared with our giant tigers. Oh, it is a thrilling time for everyone —truly one of the few big thrills left in this world."

"When is your season"

Short Season

"January to April — it is beautiful then, warm and sunny days, clear and cool by night. Quite a few American sportsmen have approached me. John Huston, the film director, killed one of the biggest tigers last year with a brilliant shot from 60 yards.

"Generally a tiger is shot at much closer distances. He charges, you see, and the elephants turn their hind quarters to him — their least vulnerable spot. He may leap on one before the bullets bring him down."

"Will your ingenious cousin be there"

"Naturally. And this time I must go to the jungle and watch these lasso elephants capture a wild one. He showed me how it works in the stockade. The trained elephants each carry the end of a rope with a noose in the middle. They slip alongside the wild elephant, who suspects nothing, one on each side. Before he has a chance to figure out what is happening the rope is slipped around his head."

And with renewed assurances that this is not a shaggy elephant story, he went off on a date. Tip to Western beauties — he is unmarried, 40, six feet one, owns a lovely red brick palace, likes to dance and prefers blondes.

Get the BEST out of your car this summer

DRIVE IN FOR TOP-OCTANE

New RICHFIELD ETHYL

ONLY GASOLINE GUARANTEED BEST

First in the West with "MOTOR PLUS"

Summer is tough on your car. Heat, dust, grueling weekend and vacation trips—all demand that your car function at its very best.

Insure your car's engine against a let-down this summer—change to New Richfield Ethyl. This finest of motor fuels is first with Motor Plus—new anti-knock additive developed by the Ethyl Corporation. Tops in octane, New Richfield Ethyl with Motor Plus keeps your car's engine cleaner and smoother running... delivers maximum performance under all conditions.

This summer give your car the extra power of New Richfield Ethyl. You can't buy a finer motor fuel at any price! Remember: it's the only gasoline guaranteed best.

WHEN YOU VISIT TOMORROWLAND IN Disneyland

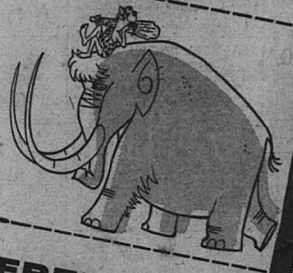

TAKE A RIDE ON THE FABULOUS RICHFIELD AUTOPIA

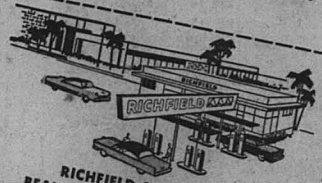

The Richfield Autopia in Tomorrowland is a model freeway. Here children and adults, too, drive small automobiles powered with New Richfield Ethyl. It's a real thrill.

SEE THE RICHFIELD SHOW "THE WORLD BENEATH US"

It's all free! You'll see the earth's hidden wonders... upheaval of continents... rule of giant dinosaurs... the coming of man. Told in Technicolor by an exciting Walt Disney Studios film. Plus the world's most unusual diorama.

RICHFIELD SERVICE AT BEAUTIFUL DISNEYLAND HOTEL

Stop at Richfield's brand new service station on the grounds of the distinctive, modern Disneyland Hotel, just west of Disneyland.

FREE!
