Flaming Crash on Freeway Claims Life of Fourth Man

By DAVE NELSON

Adolph B. Kinkelaar, of Norwalk, was arraigned this morning in Anaheim-Fullerton Municipal Court on three counts of felony manslaughter shortly after Eugene Robert Megill, 30, 12351 Bluebell, Anaheim, died from first, second, and third degree burns which covered his entire body after being involved in a collision with a gasoline tank truck on the Santa Ana Freeway near Loara St. Seven vehicles were involved in the wreck.

According to police, the tragic accident which claimed four lives in the resultant fiery inferno, came about as the result of Kinkelaar making an unsafe lane change in front of the tank truck, causing it to first strike Kinkelaar's car and then swerve out of control and crash through the chain link fence on the divider. A northbound Cadillac, carrying four men, smashed into the flaming truck, causing the immediate deaths of driver Franklin N. O. Carlson, 25, 11551 Spinnaker, Garden Grove, and passengers Walter B. Fulmer, 39, 14411 Ward St., Garden Grove, and Russell W. Fisher, 44, 210 Via Dijon, Newport Beach. Passenger Megill was thrown clear of the flaming wreckage, his body afire, and was aided by Sterling Ditchey, 36, 332 N. Batavia, Orange, and Robert F. Henderson, 45, 18916 Mesa Dr., Orange. All three men were subsequently hospitalized, and hospital reports indicate that the Orange men are "doing fine" after treatment for burns received in the heroic rescue attempts. Megill died at approximately 1:30 this morning.

Tank truck driver Donald Curell, 27, North Long Beach, told police he was traveling about 45 miles an hour with his rig containing 8,000 gallons of gasoline when a car cut in front of him. He said he jammed on his brakes, struck the car, and plowed through the chain link fence dividing the freeway strips. The cab and front trailer then rolled into the Carlson car and seconds later burst into flame.

Kinkelaar, who was arraigned at 9 this morning, has been committed to Orange County Jail in lieu of $2,000 bail and will appear for his preliminary hearing Monday, April 20, at 10:30 a.m. in court Division Three in the American Legion Hall.

FACES MANSLAUGHTER CHARGES — Adolph B. Kinkelaar, 41, of Norwalk is in Orange County Jail today in lieu of posting $2,000 bail. He is being held on three charges of felony manslaughter following yesterday's freeway accident. Kinkelaar was arraigned this morning in Anaheim-Fullerton Municipal Court on the charges and faces preliminary hearing Monday morning in the same court. (Bulletin Photo)

SILVER BONUS POT INCREASED TO $270

Because Mrs. Hilma Bouckout, 1834 W. Victoria, didn't shop in a Silver Bonus store yesterday, next week's Silver Bonus Jackpot will be $270.

When Silver Bonus representative R. W. Benno of the Drug Center called on Mrs. Bouckhout last night she could not show a Silver Bonus sales slip so was awarded the $5 consolation prize.

Be sure to shop in a Silver Bonus store next Wednesday to qualify for the $270 jackpot.

County Reliance On Defense Work Said Dangerous

By Orange County News Service

A dangerous reliance upon defense contracts to support Orange County industry has been noted by the Stanford Research Institute in its preliminary report of its study of this county.

The institute has found that about 35 per cent of the industrial production is based upon government spending. Forty per cent is considered the "breaking point." Above that figure, an economy fluctuates in almost direct proportion to the nation's defense activity, according to the institute's preliminary report.

A verbal report of the initial findings was given Wednesday to county supervisors by Bill Lund, project coordinator for the institute. The county has hired Stanford to make a study of the county's population and economic trends over the next 20-year period. The final report is to be submitted about June 1.

Lund told supervisors that the percentage of county industry relying upon defense contracts will probably decrease as Orange County manufacturers expand their production of paper products, non-defense electronic devices, and metal products.

Huge Population Seen

At present, the electronic-aircraft industry is the major employer, according to Lund's preliminary findings.

Lund said that Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce was too conservative in its recent forecast that Orange County's population will increase to about 1,900,000 in the year 1980.

The institute believes that the total in 1980 will be well over 2,000,000. The present population is about 700,000.

Lund further stated that the institute's estimates of existing population will probably show that there is a higher percentage of the county's population living within incorporated areas than county officials realize. The exact percentage will be known after the 1960 census by the federal government.

Recent inadequate retail outlets for apparel, furniture, and heavy durable goods such as stoves and refrigerators was noted by the institute.

Lund said until a few years ago, Orange County residents had to shop in Los Angeles or Long Beach to find a wide range of quality, style, and sizes in many lines of merchandise.

He pointed out that development of modern shopping centers, such as Fashion Square, has curtailed most of the "retail leakage" to points outside the county.

Anaheim Police Arrest Employe For Theft of Parts from Local Factory

Anaheim police, working since March 26, have made one arrest and are hoping to make another sometime in the near future in a possible theft ring among employes of Interstate Precision Products, 822 E. Vermont St.

Police were alerted to the thefts when Works Manager Everett Tibbits reported he had received an anonymous tip that parts and vacuum cleaners were disappearing from the plant.

The arrest of ex-convict Alex Felix, Norwalk, who was also arrested by Anaheim police in 1957 on a charge of petty theft for which he served 10 days, came about after police placed a continual stakeout in an orange grove adjoining the plant and which faced toward the trash disposal area.

Police were working on the theory that the thieves were removing parts from the plant at the close of the day shift hiding them in trash barrels, and returning at night to pick up the loot.

It was not until April 10 at 6 p.m. that the stakeout paid off, however. On that date the suspect was seen to drive up to the trash barrels, leave his car, and remove something from the barrels which he placed in his trunk. Due to the cas blocking their view, they could not observe just what was removed but they had knowledge from an earlier inspection of the barrel that it contained missing parts. After Felix left, the trash barrel was discovered completely empty.

Later that night police arrested Felix at his Norwalk home, discovering there a vacuum cleaner without serial number, indicating that it had not been sold by the company. Felix was subsequently booked. A second arrest on the same charge makes the offense a felony.

Felix served three years previous time in San Quentin on a narcotics charge.

Liz Taylor Undergoes Operation of Throat

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor, 27, was recuperating today at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital where she underwent a 90-minute throat operation.

The actress was reported resting comfortably but unable to speak after Wednesday's surgery for removal of tonsil nodes believed the source of a persistent throat infection. Doctors said she probably would be hospitalized for about three days.

NEWS OF THE WORLD IN BRIEF

CLAIM RUSS JETS 'HARASSED' U.S. PLANES

BERLIN (UPI)—Soviet jet fighters used "dangerous harassing tactics" against the turboprop C130 freighter which flew here at 25,000 feet Wednesday in defiance of Russian altitude limitations, American sources said today.

Contradicting earlier reports that two Red planes merely "shadowed" the C130 at a distance of about 600 feet, the sources said they "harassed it in flagrant violation of flight safety regulations."

ODDS FAVOR STEEL STRIKE THIS SUMMER

NEW YORK (UPI) — The odds favor a steel strike this summer, top industry sources said today.

The steel industry and the United Steelworkers of America have flatly rejected each other's major pre-negotiation proposals. The sources told United Press International that as of now both sides will enter contract talks next month "miles apart."

CASTRO LUNCHES WITH HERTER TODAY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, greeted by wildly cheering fans and picketing opponents, started a round of appearances today to win new friends for his regime.

The only scheduled appointment on the first day of his 11-day U.S. visit was lunch with Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

AIRLINER HIJACKED BY CUBA FUGITIVES

Still Hope to Recover Moon's Space Capsule

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI) — The United States held out a faint hope today of recovering Discoverer II's space capsule which may have fallen near Russian polar territory.

Siberia and several Russian Islands border the vast area where the 160-pound capsule was believed to have landed. For this reason the Air Force said it would refuse to release exact locations where the plunging capsule was reported sighted.

A report from Oslo that the capsule was seen dropping at the end of a parachute on Norway's Spitzbergen Islands was disregarded by an Air Force spokesman.

"It's too far off base," he said.

The capsule contained a wealth of pioneer space data collected during its one-day flight within the still-orbiting Discoverer II satellite. The capsule was equipped with a radio to send out signals to lead searchers to it.

So far the Air Force has refused to even comment on whether it has received any such signals, although officials said flatly that no search missions have been dispatched.

"Our own aircraft operating on other missions near the areas of possible return have been alerted to keep an eye open for the capsule," said one Air Force spokesman. "Friendly countries also have been asked to be on the alert."

The Advanced Research Projects Agency announced Wednesday that the capsule was automatically ejected Tuesday on the 17th orbit of Discoverer II around the earth's poles. The satellite was blasted into the heavens here on Monday and is expected to continue circling the globe for about 30 days.

REPLACES DULLES — The U. S. State Department in Washington, D.C., has announced that Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter will head the U.S. delegation to the forthcoming meeting of Western foreign ministers in Paris, France. He will serve in place of cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles, who has resigned from the State Department.

Four Force Pilot To Land in U.S.

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI) — Four Cuban men — three of them claiming to have escaped from rebel firing squads — hijacked a Cuban airliner at gunpoint today and forced the pilot to land in Miami.

The Aerovias Q-C46 with 19 passengers, four of them Americans, was en route from Havana to the Isle of Pines, about 50 miles south of the Cuban mainland.

None of the passengers was harmed.

The four Americans aboard were Peter Kissel and his wife, Phyllis, Far Hills, N. J., who said they were on a vacation-fishing trip; Sally Rowley, New York City and Rudy Appel, an exporter from New York City.

Dr. Domingo Acosta, a Havana lawyer and one of the passengers, said the four men jumped out of their seats and pulled pistols some 10 minutes after the twin-engine plane left the airport at Havana.

"Anyone who moves we will kill him," Acosta quoted the men as saying.

The armed men told the passengers to remain quiet in the seats and then two of them walked into the pilot's compartment.

Candelario Delgado 40, the pilot, and co-pilot Falso Valdes, said the men held pistols at their heads and jerked off their radio earphones.

The armed men ordered the pilot to fly to the Dominican Republic, but Delgado protested he did not have enough fuel for the trip. The hijackers then ordered the plane flown to Miami.

As soon as the airliner landed, police swarmed around it and refused to let anyone off. Later the passengers, including 15 Cuban nationals, were impounded in the abandoned customs headquarters of the airport.

A half dozen FBI and immigration agents questioned the pilot and the four hijackers.

The hijackers were identified as Lenadro Serrate, 53, a former corporal in SIMS, the Batista secret police, and three brothers, Sgt. Alfredo Mason y Sancher, 36, Rolando, 27, and Jesus, 25.

Rubber Industry Walkout Spreads

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Up to 32,000 employes walked off their jobs today at Goodrich and Firestone plants in nine states to join 27,000 United Rubber Workers members already on strike at U.S. Rubber Co. plants in 11 states.

The spreading walkout in the rubber industry over contract disputes brough to 59,000 the number of workers on strike in 14 states.

About 23,000 Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. workers, however, agreed to stay on the job at plants in 10 states when "progress" in negotiations was reported just before the Wednesday midnight strike deadline.

Talks between URW and Goodyear representatives were to resume at Canton, Ohio, today.

The URW had set the Wednesday midnight contract expiration as the deadline for Firestone, Goodrich and Goodyear to come to terms on pensions, insurance, severance pay and working conditions.

The strike against U.S. Rubber began April 15.

At Cleveland, where Firestone and Goodrich talks were held, a Firestone official said both sides reached a stalemate.

U.S. Rubber plants are a Los Angeles and Santa Ana, Calif.; Chicago; Detroit; Mishawaka, Indianapolis and Washington, Ind.; Eau Claire, Wis.; Passaic and North Bergen N.J.; Naugatuck, Conn., Chicopee Falls, Mass.; Philadelphia, and Woonsocket and Providence, R.I.

Goodrich has 14,000 employed at plants in Akron and Marion, Ohio; Los Angeles; Clarksville, Tenn.; Oaks, Pa.; Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Riverside, N.J.

Firestone has 18,000 at plants at Akron; Los Angeles; Noblesville and Newcastle, Ind.; Memphis, Tenn.; Fall River, Mass.; Des Moines, Iowa and Pottstown, Pa.

Citizen Group Calls for New City Police Building

Citizen's committee reports show that police and fire department facilities are inadequate for a city the size of Anaheim and that a new City Hall is also needed by Anaheim.

The various committee reports also indicate that all remodeling of the present City Hall should be of an interim nature only. Another report showed that Anaheim needed a convention center and a Civic Auditorium.

From the Citizen's Committee on Public Safety, the report on the police department indicates that after inspection of existing facilities, ". . . lengthy discussions with the Chief of Police, and visits to two neighboring cities and their police stations," that the " . . . present Police Station is hopelessly inadequate and sub-standard. The building would not be suitable for a backward community of one-half of Anaheim's population."

To back up their report the committee goes on to say that the Arcadia Police Station has 15,200 square feet in a new, modern building which serves a population of 36,000 people, while that of Alhambra has 18,000 square feet to serve a population of 56,400 and employs a complement of 92 people. In contrast, Anaheim's department carries 119 people, with 20 more personnel contemplated for July 1.

The committee therefore recommended that a ". . . a modern police building of at least 40,00 square feet be built. The building should be included in the Civic Center but should be a separate structure. This is to allow for sensible logical, utilitarian expansion in the future . . ."

The report claims that a review of the "Proposed Capital Improvement Program" reveals that the needs of the future have not been anticipated in the proportionate allocation of funds. "The needs of the police department are in excess of the $375,000 allotted."

For those reasons the committee recommended that the police building be given highest priority, ". . . and the necessary money be allocated to this project from the first bond sale."

Further work of the Public Safety Committee, in studying the Anaheim Fire Department, has resulted in the following recommendations: that two new substations (five and six - plans for station four have already been drawn and the building is expected to be completed around September or October) be constructed immediately, and property be acquired for sub-stations seven and eight as needed. It was also recommended that new administrative offices adequate for future expansion be built, and a new fire alarm system be acquired.

The City Hall Sub-Committee at its General Summary and Conclusion meeting of March 5 indicated that the city urgently needs a new city hall, and stated that any remodeling operations should be of an interim nature only. Their recommendation was for the possible acquisition of 10 acres available at the intersection of Broadway and Palm, which it was said would be suitable for an entirely new civic center containing the proposed city hall.

According to their report, the first city hall increment should provide for facilities capable of serving 150,00 people, and should be designed to expand and ultimately serve a population of 250,00.

Findings of the Auditorium Sub-Committee showed that population projections indicate Anaheim as

Ike to Name New Secretary Soon

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — President Eisenhower today formally accepted the resignation of John Foster Dulles as secretary of state and conferred by telephone with the public-stricken Cabinet officer on the selection of his successor.

The White House said a new secretary would be named "within a few days."

Eisenhower, in accepting Dulles' decision to quit with "deepest personal regret," simultaneously named the ailing secretary "as a consultant to me and the State Department in international affairs."

The chief executive conferred Wednesday night and again this morning by telephone with Dulles who is battling recurrent cancer at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President and the secretary discussed the selection of a successor and the manner in which Dulles, although grievously ill, will continue to serve Eisenhower as an elder statesman and consultant on foreign affairs.

The President, according to Hagerty, also conferred by telephone Wednesday with Acting Secretary Christian A. Herter, widely accepted in administration circles as the man most likely to succeed Dulles.

Hagerty said their conversation dealt with "State Department matters" and did not bear on the vacancy caused by Dulles' resignation.

The White House also reported today that public expression of regret over the illness of Dulles and his decision to leave was pouring into the President's offices in Washington and here in Augusta.

Hagerty called it "a very large flood of messages" running into the thousands.

The press secretary said he expected the President to remain here until next Monday. Tentatively, the President was expected back in Washington Monday afternoon.

'THOUSANDS' FIGHTING

Anti-Red Revolt In Tibet Spreads

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Nationalist Chinese intelligence sources reported today that the anti-Communist revolution in Tibet has spread to the border of Szechuan province in inland China.

The sources said in Taipei that fresh intelligence reports from mainland China disclosed that "thousands of people" in Szechuan have taken out hidden arms and joined in guerrilla warfare against the Communists along the Kingsha (Gold Sand) River.

Previous Nationalist Chinese reports said Tibetans residing in Sikang, Chinghai and Sinkiang on Tibet's border had joined the revolt. This was the first report that the fighting had spread inland.

Reports reaching New Delhi from the Indian border town of Kalimpong said the Chinese Communists had launched a heavy surprise attack against Tibetan positions 150 miles southwest of Lhasa in their first penetration of that anti-Communist stronghold.

The reports said the Tibetans were taken unawares but still held the fortress.

The Communists attacked with modern guns and weapons and casualties are heavy on both sides the reports said. A traveler reaching Kalimpong from the battle area estimated 500 dead and wounded on each side.

The Chinese also were using bombing planes against the rebellious patriots' lines of communications in southwest Tibet some 70 to 80 miles from the borders of Sikkim, Nepal and Bhutan, the reports said.

TV in Review

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bob Hope's fast half has lost much of its hop, but he remains a superb technician who still chucks a comfortable game.

Wednesday night, Hope, working in loose alliance with Jack Benny and Ginger Rogers, bunched together a collection of taped sequences for a one hour NBC-TV SPECIAL. The hour was freely charitable. It contained an opening Hope monolog, a sketch that dealt with Benny's niggardliness, a song by Miss Rogers that was stronger on visual values than musicianship, a dollop of Jerry Colonna-type vertigo.

There was even one Hope-Rogers spoof of beatniks that followed the pattern of a beatnik ski that Hope did with the wonderfully pan-tic Carol Haney on a recent special.

It was all very standard, some of it funny, some of it not quite so funny, none of it completely dutiful. I could say the hour lacked brilliance, vitality, buoyancy and that this was most evident in Hope's opening monolog which ranged over a wide catalog of current matters—Washington, rocketmen, the Japanese royal wedding—but which never really sunk a deep needle into anything. But somehow I doubt whether these lacks disturbed Hope's audience very much.

It is, after all, almost impossible to go wrong when you harness two pros like Hope and Benny together. And if they were content to settle for a leisurely trot rather than a giddy gallop, so let it be.

Note: I wish to thank all those readers, who during my recent illnes, sent me stay-sick cards.

Short Shots: Wednesday night's NBC-TV Wagon Train—a thing about a fumbling egghead who redeemed himself—was a conventional omelet, but Wally Cox's portrayal of the wispy, wooly, cloudland hero was a delicious piece of playing.

CBS - TV's Armstrong Circle Theatre turned in another tidy job Wednesday night with "Trail of Diamonds," a drama about a smuggling ring. Patrick O'Neal, George Wallace and Peter Von Zerneck contributed neat performances and Lauren Gilbert as the villain was properly swinish.

The Channel Swim: NBC-TV's new musical series, Oldsmobile Music Theatre, goes to the boneyard after June 25. . . . ABC-TV is planning a Saturday night series of sports events that will be launched in late spring or early summer—the series will be made up of live and taped baseball, football and basketball games from around the nation.

NBC - TV's Restless Gun and Buckskin won't be back next season. . . . Jimmie Dodds and six ABC-TV Mouseketeers take off May 4 for two weeks' work in Sydney and Melbourne, Australia . . . . NBC-TV's Bob Horton will star in "Guys and Dolls" at the Warren, Ohio, Playhouse this summer. Mildred Freed Alberg, executive producer of NBC - TV's Hallmark Hall of Fame, is pulling out of the drama series—Producer George Schaefer will take over the reins next fall for Hallmark's six 90-minute shows . . . . CBS-TV's Red Skelton will film a movie in Japan this August. . . . Snooky Lanson, who used to sing on the old Hit Parade Show, is booked in for the May 4 CBS-TV Jimmy Dean show.

Kaiser 'Domination' Challenged in Hawaii

HONOLULU (UPI)—A 12-million dollar Hawaiian cement corporation has been formed to challenge Henry J. Kaiser's domination of the cement business in Hawaii.

It will be Hawaii's first cement plant, and the first real competition to Kaiser since he instituted bulk shipment of cement by ships to Hawaii from his California operations.

American Cement Company, headed by chairman Garner A. Beckett of Los Angeles, will form the backbone of the new company, and Cyprus Mines Corporation, a firm with international interests, also will supply investment capital from the mainland.

In addition, local Hawaii capital and management will be provided by Walker F. Dillingham's Hawaiian Dredging and Construction Company, the old-time firm of Alexander and Baldwin, and Caspro Company.

The new plant will be built near Honolulu at the northern end of Oahu, where giant deposits of needed high-grade limestone have been discovered. Some of the deposits are on land owned by the Gaspro Company.

Robert D. Fisher, Hawaiian Cement President, said the new plant probably would be in operation by 1961.

Convict Woman Of Slaying Lover

By JACK V. FOX
United Press International

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — An all-husband jury today convicted Mrs. Connie Nicholas of voluntary manslaughter for killing business executive Forrest Teel, her married lover of 15 years. The verdict carried automatic punishment of two to 21 years in prison. The tiny divorcee will be eligible for a parole hearing in 21 months. Voluntary manslaughter is defined in Indiana as a slaying in passion, but without malice or premeditation.

Judge Thomas J. Faulconer planned to pass formal sentence this morning and the 45-year-old Mrs. Nicholas will be committed to the Indiana Women's Prison to begin serving her term.

Mrs. Nicholas was pale as she stood to face the judge after the jury brought in its verdict shortly after 2 a.m. after nine hours of deliberation.

She did not shed a tear as the judge read the verdict.

Teel, 54-year-old Eli Lilly & Co. vice president, was shot outside the apartment of his new girl, Laura Mowrer, last July 31 after breaking off his affair with Mrs. Nicholas.

The state had charged she deliberately lay in wait for Teel in his white Cadillac with a loaded pearl-handled revolver and shot him in the side after provoking an argument about his new romance.

The verdict was the lightest she could have got without acquittal.

"I have nothing to say."

Jury foreman Russell Cole, a public relations man, said there had been at least 10 ballots, but in each the majority voted for manslaughter. Some jurors voted for first degree murder, which the state demanded, but none called for death in the electric chair. There also were votes for acquittal.

Prosecutor Philip Bayt rose and thanked the jury for what he said was a "fair" decision.

'GIGI' SONGS BANNED BY IRISH

DUBLIN (UPI) — The songs in the Oscar - winning film "Gigi" are considered unsuitable for Irish audiences and will not be heard on radio Eireann.

An official of the radio station said today that no formal ban had been issued but producers were asked not to include them in their programs.

Mafia and Co. Slated For Special Probes

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—U.S. Attorney Laugiin E. Waters today announced formation of a new division to investigate crime organizations such as the so-called Mafia.

Waters said the division grew out of spade work by Lloyd F. Dunn, special assistant to Attorney General William P. Rogers. Dunn began investigating Southern operations of the Mafia a year ago.

The government attorney, who returned Monday from a conference with Rogers, said the Los Angeles office had the biggest load of four cities currently investigating syndicated crime.

Meanwhile, Simone Scozzari, identified as one of the "delegates" at a "crime convention" at Apalachin, N.Y., in November of 1957, testified Tuesday for a special federal panel investigating organized crime and racketeering.

Scozzari and George J. Capri, Las Vegas, Nev., were the only witnesses called as the grand jury resumed hearings.

EXULTANT WINNER — Ten-year-old Martha Brunner of Pittsburgh, Pa., shrieks with joy as she is declared the winner in the 1959 "Little Miss Muffin" contest in Washington, D.C. She won over 11 other finalists from different parts of the country, in the contest sponsored by the Associated Retail Bakers of America.

Ike to Increase His Diplomatic Activity

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — President Eisenhower will move increasingly into the field of personal diplomacy because of the resignation of ailing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

This was the forecast today from persons closely conversant with Eisenhower's mood and work patterns since Dulles suffered his second major flareup of cancer early last February.

Persons who knew first hand how the President took over many of Dulles' foreign policy chores in February expected him to shoulder an even more active role in this field now that Dulles is sidelined.

There were varied reasons why Eisenhower could be expected to inject himself increasingly into the formation and conduct of foreign policy. One was that regardless of Dulles' successor, the new secretary cannot expect to have the same degree of close friendship and understanding that existed between Eisenhower and Dulles.

Traditionally and historically, a President determines foreign policy and his state secretary executes it. It would be more accurate to say that Eisenhower and Dulles made foreign policy together. With a new secretary, Eisenhower was expected to be calling the shots to an increased degree.

Two Brown Tax Bills Up For Vote Today

By JERRY REYNOLDS
United Press International

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Two more major bills in the Brown administration tax program—to boost inheritance and horse racing levies—come up today for legislative votes.

Three more bills sponsored by Gov. Edmund G. Brown were scheduled for legislative debates today in the Senate Finance Committee:

—The second half of Brown's labor reform program, to promote democracy in the handling of union elections and to protect union funds, was high on the committee calendar. The bill was authored by Sen. Stephen Teale (D-West Point). The other half of the labor program, to settle jurisdictional disputes while avoiding strikes, was pending on the Assembly floor while amendments to exempt farm workers were being drafted.

Economic Development Agency

—Brown's proposal for setting up a state economic development agency to attract new business to California, authored by Sen. James A. Cobey, also was high on the Finance Committee calendar.

—A third bill in the committee hearing was a measure by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown (D-Alameda) to permit the use of electronic vote counting machines to speed the tabulating of election results.

The two tax bills are part of Brown's plan to boost taxes in eight different fields to raise 256 million dollars a year in new state revenue.

The horse racing tax boost was scheduled for hearing by the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee for the first debate on the measure. It would bring in $12,600,000 a year from horse race bettors and racetracks.

Inheritance Tax Measure

The inheritance tax measure was on file for hearing in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee where it was stalled earlier this week. That measure already has passed the revenue and Taxation Committee.

It would boost inheritance taxes on legacies to aunts, uncles, cousins, remote relatives and acquaintances of the deceased would bring in four million dollars more a year.

Brown, in his whirlwind tour of the state this week, hinted that the people could expect opposition to taxes from "special interest groups."

"I have proposed consumer taxes and higher income taxes," Brown said. "But equally important, I have proposed taxes on groups which have not been bearing their honest share of the cost of government."

British Question Thor's Ability

By BILL WILKS
United Press International

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI) —British newsmen today openly questioned the "operational" label the United States has placed on its Thor intermediate range missile.

The visiting journalists have been here all week waiting to see the first launching of the 1,500-mile weapon by a Royal Air Force crew, but so far they have waited in vain.

The Thor was slated to be blasted over the Pacific missile range both Tuesday and Wednesday but the firings were postponed, once because of bad weather and the second time for unspecified "technical" reasons.

Another launching attempt was set for today.

"That giving 'technical' reasons for the delay," said one British newsman, "means to the British public that the damn thing won't work."

"Washington tells us that the Thor is operational," said another, "but our government says it has not yet reached that capability."

The American-made Thor missile already lines British bases as a deterrent weapon against Russia. British troops have been brought here to be trained in its use and the present firing caps their graduation exercises.

The British newsmen appeared to be fair in their criticism, and noted the Thor's effectiveness as the first-stage rocket which blasted both Discoverer earth satellites into orbits from this base about a year.

FOX DINES WELL BY RAIDING ZOO

PAIGNTON, England (UPI) —A smart fox has picked a well-stocked source for his dinners — the Paignton Zoo bird cage.

Zoo officials said the fox made off with a goose Tuesday night.

Zoo keepers have laid special traps for the fox. But they don't plan to kill him.

Cuban Firing Squads Kill 16 'Criminals'

HAVANA (UPI)—The execution of 16 "war criminals" Wednesday—the largest number killed in a single day during the past month—increased the total toll of Cuba's revolutionary firing squads to 540 dead.

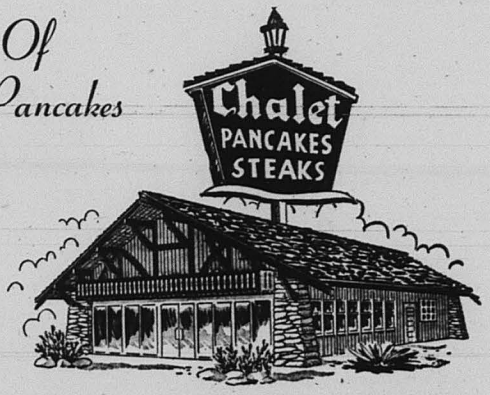

Nine men faced firing squads in Santa Clara, three each in Havana and Holguin and one in Jiguani.

News Notes from the Lighter Side

KEEPS THEM HAPPY

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who won a lot of women voters with his smile last November, gave them something more to love him for Monday.

He signed a bill permitting life insurance companies to lower rates for women, because of their greater life expectancy, by knocking three years off the age of every woman insured.

WRITERS DON'T READ

WESTPORT, Conn. (UPI)—This suburban New York community is reputed to house more authors per square foot than any other in the country. But the public library, which set up a railroad station operation Monday to celebrate National Library Week, found only seven customers among 1,000 morning commuters.

"We don't read books," said one grumpy traveler. "We write them."

TOO MANY CURVES

JOAO PESSAU, Brazil (UPI)—The local civil service commission issued Monday an order it said was designed to cut down on loiterers and sight-seers in government offices.

It directs girl employes not to come to work in low-cut blouses or skirts that are cut to "enhance the exuberance of curves."

SEE BETTER, TALK LESS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Irish writer Padraic Colum said Monday the electric light has dimmed the fine glow of Irish conversation.

"In the old days, a family and its friends would gather around the peat fire for both light and warmth and there wasn't anything to do but talk, so they became famed for their conversational ability," he said.

WRONG CHARGE

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Clarence Jones and Eugene Smith were cleared of charges—temporarily—Tuesday when each told Essex County Judge Walter Conklin:

PASS THE COFFEE

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Salvation Army reported receipt of an historic memento of France from a grateful World War I doughboy.

L. J. Smith, 69, of St. Petersburg, Fla., sent the stone-like souvenir with a note which explained it was a doughnut given him 41 years ago by a Salvation Army lassie. Now it's a doughnut that really needs to be dunked.

THEY FIND A WAY

YONKERS, N.Y. (UPI) — Peter Maynich reinforced the back door of his restaurant and bar against burglars who had broken it down six times in seven months.

Americans Finally Display New-Found Humility Virtue

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI)—For the first time in their national history, Americans are beginning to display humility.

This new-found virtue was painfully acquired through a series of shattering disappointments that destroyed "the illusion of American omnipotence." But it may become America's greatest asset in giving the world mature and responsible leadership.

That appraisal comes from Prof. Denis W. Brogan of Cambridge University, a distinguished British political scientist who has earned a reputation as "the foreigner who knows America best."

Brogan, a short, rotund man with a ruddy complexion and bristling white eyebrows, speaks with the cultured accents of Oxford University, where he was educated. But he also speaks in the idiom and often the slang of America, which he has visited more than 30 times and about which he has written a dozen sympathetic, penetrating books.

Wit And Wisdom

His high-proof blend of wit and wisdom is currently being bestowed upon the students and faculty of Rutgers University, in the form of a special lecture series endowed by the Johnson & Johnson surgical supply firm here.

To listen to Brogan, either when he is glaring over the lectern at a spellbound audience, or conversing informally over a warm glass of "almost British" beer, is to have the gift sought by the poet Robert Burns, "the power to see ourselves as others see us."

This dispatch and two subsequent ones will attempt to share with the reader the experience of seeing present-day America through the eyes of a friendly and extraordinarily well-informed foreigner.

Americans in the past were the world's greatest optimists. Their nation was "born in the age of progress, baptised in the religion of progress, created and peopled by men and women who believed in progress." Their belief was "our children will have it better than we."

Americans are convinced that, given time and a little help, the rest of the world would recognize the superiority of the American way of life, and would imitate the political and economic institutions that had provided both freedom and abundance here. Thus Americans marched off in World War I to "make the world safe for democracy." And thus, after World War II, they poured out aid with a generosity unmatched in all history, in an effort to secure political freedom and economic progress in other countries.

Goals Shattered

But these hopes have been shattered by the swift-moving events of recent years. The rise of Russia as a rival center of power and influence; the incredible tendency of many undeveloped nations to look to Soviet communism rather than American democracy as a model; the apparent ingratitude of many free nations which accepted American aid but resisted American leadership—all of these things contributed to the new mood of pessimism.

But the chief source of American disillusionment, in Brogan's view, was "the discovery that China had been saved from Japanese imperialism only to fall under Communist control."

America's interest in China had been "more missionary than economic," but it was "deep and genuine." To see it pass under Communist rule was an "embittering and blinding experience" that sent Americans on a frantic and hurtful search for treason in their own government as the only possible exception of such a catastrophe.

The Korean War—which Brogan calls "a humiliating American defeat"—and the shocking news that their nation, for all of its vast power, was not "omnipotent."

"Today the American is beginning to realize that he can not remake the world according to the American plan, and that he cannot contract out. He sees that the human story is not inevitably a success story, as he always believed, but that it may go wrong. He finds the American people inextricably involved in the common, dangerous and only intermittently hopeful destiny of the human race."

Although this grim awakening has produced more "real and alarmed pessimism" among Americans, it also had led to something else, which Brogan finds far more reassuring, That is humility.

A New Modesty

"Modesty has never been accounted an American virtue, but it may be the best American card today. In the unwonted sense of bewilderment and humility that has befallen the American people in the last year or two, there lies the best hope for a new and more effective kind of American leadership for the world."

The great challenge that faces Americans today, Brogan believes is learning to adapt their policies to the realities of an unpleasant world. . . to settle for limited but attainable goals rather than doing all or nothing for the millenium.

"Can the American people accept limitations on their power of action and power of leadership. Can they learn to settle for less, much less, than their own way?

"I don't know the answers. I only have a faith that the American people, with their prodigious energy and their deep if sometimes clouded sense of human responsibility, will adapt themselves to reality, and will learn to give the kind of leadership the world deeply wants—the leadership of a people that is willing to learn as well as to teach."

SA Postmaster Widow Seeks Title of Estate

By Orange County News Service

A request that the title of her late husband's estate be transferred to her name has been made in Superior Court by Mrs. Vivian Hardwood, widow of the man who served as Santa Ana's postmaster for many years.

Frank Hardwood died April 2 of this year from a sudden heart attack.

Although no inventory of the estate is made, checking and savings accounts totaled approximately $17,402. Also listed was a home at 1107 Sharon Road in Santa Ana, other property, two automobiles, plus approximately 1500 shares of stock in a variety of firms including U. S. Steel, Westinghouse, Lockheed Aircraft, Studebaker-Packard, and others.

Head Injuries Inflicted On Orange Motorist

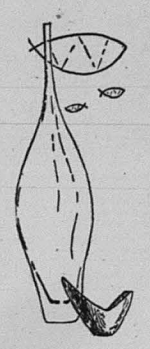

ORANGE (OCNS) — An Orange woman was treated for head injuries received in a 10:15 a.m. auto crash Wednesday at Tustin Ave. between 17th and Santa Clara.

The freak collision between her car and a pickup truck was indirectly caused by leaking hydraulic oil covering the highway for more than 100 feet.

Ruth Smith, 49, of 1404½ Cleveland St., was rushed to St. Joseph Hospital this morning with head injuries. Hospital officials said she was still in emergency clinic and was conscious at 11 a.m.

The Orange woman's car was northbound on Tustin when the pickup truck driven by Carl Morgan, 27, Pomona, hit the oil slick pavement and skidded into the oncoming car.

SPRING IS HERE — What better place for Orange Coast College to practice for the spring concert to be given in recognition of Public Schools Week than outside among the birds and bees. Keryn McNamara of Dana Point (right) plays the piedpiper and leads the group in practice. She will participate in the concert choir, women's glee club, concert band, symphonic dance band. Others (from left) are Carl Lindstrom of Garden Grove who will be in the concert choir and the swing-madrigal choir; Helena Bester of Costa Mesa in the concert choir and swing madrigal choir; Don Minson of Garden Grove in the men's glee club and concert choir, and Jim McMasters of Huntington Beach in the concert choir, men's glee, swing-madrigal choir and the symphonic dance band.

County Music Students To Perform in Concert With All-Southern California High School Band

The All-Southern California High School Symphonic Band will be heard in concert for the first time this year on Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Fullerton High School Auditorium. Organized annually by the Southern California School Band and Orchestra Association the band is comprised of some of the most outstanding high school musicians from the entire Southern California area.

Included in the band from Orange County were: Larry Gillette, clarinet, Santa Ana; Carlta Conrad, solo cornet, Garden Grove; Larry Larson, tuba, Karl Pazel, percussion, Dennis Littleworth, trumpet, David Schaefer, clarinet, Suzanne Spatzier and Janet Lunde, flutes, all of Fullerton.

Nelson Bonar of Fullerton High School is the director of the band this year; Mervin Corner, Santa Ana City School, manager.

The Fullerton Concert will be the first performance in Orange County by such a group, and will be followed by appearances in several other southland communities. According to Corner, the group will play for music educators and students at the Southern California Regional Music Festival April 24th at Los Angeles City College, then will give concerts on successive Sundays tentatively in Santa Monica and Riverside and end their season with a weekend tour on May 16th that will include Santa Paula and Lancaster.

Admission to the Fullerton concert is reasonable. Tickets may be obtained at the box office, which will open at 3 p.m., April 19. Further information call LAmbert 5-1601.

'Stars-on-Wheels' Perform In 'Roller Vanities'

Several Anaheim youths will be "stars on wheels" at the benefit skating revue "Roller Vanities," April 19 and 20 at the Merilark Roller Rink in Fullerton.

"Youth helps youth" as the cast of 80 young skaters from Anaheim, Fullerton, Brea, Placentia, La Habra and Garden Grove work together in giving these benefit performances for the United Fullerton Fund. The fund includes many youth serving agencies such as Boy and Girl Scouts, YM, YW, Boys Club and Junior Red Cross.

The revue, under the direction of Merilark's professional, George Bontemp, consists of a blues number with Black Magic and Rhapsody in Blue furnishing background for free style skating which breathtaking jumps, spins, and features many fantastic and twirls not only singly but in pairs, fours and axes.

Dance skating both in waltz and blues tempo will be performed along with a skating chorus of young skaters from the age of six on. Another feature of the show will be an "Out of this World" number with men from outer space — only they are on roller skates not on space ships.

Brookhurst Coed

From Anaheim

Karen Carter, an Anaheim High sophomore, waltzes to enchanting arrangement, with little Donna and Debbie Minney, ages five and seven, as partners. Judy Barnes, a high school senior, is skating a dance routine with James Malstead. Other Anaheim youngsters in the cast are Chuck Mihlbauer, Eddie Meeks, Tommy and Jessica Johnston.

Performances will be given twice daily at 5:30 and 8:00 p.m. on both Sunday and Monday, April 19 and 20. Tickets may be secured from the cast members or at the rink.

FJC Journalists Awards Detailed

Competing against the Southland's top junior college writers, two Fullerton Junior College journalists received Best-of-Year honors at the annual University of Southern California Journalism Day.

Kathy Reho of Fullerton received a first place award for an editorial and Glenn White of La Habra, a second in sports writing. Twelve junior colleges were in competition with other top awards going to El Camino, Valley, East Los Angeles and San Bernardino.

The announcement of awards was part of a day-long program offered at USC for 600 high school and junior college students from 63 high schools and 12 junior colleges. Program highlights included talks by KNT Sports Director Gil Stratton; Los Angeles Times Society Columnist Christy Fox; Herald-Express reporter Bob Krach; and retired Times Publisher L. D. Hotchkiss.

Miss Reho won the Best-of-Year Editorial award for an editorial entitled "Point of Pride" published in the college newspaper, the weekly Hornet, last fall. The editorial explained the junior college system of California. White won his award for his write-up of a Hornet football game. Since then, at the end of the semester, he left college to do active newspaper work.

'Art Mart' at Zion Lutheran Set for Sunday

An informal "Art Mart" will be held Sunday, April. 19 from 2 to 5 p.m., in Zion Lutheran parish hall, with a number of guest artists showing work along with the sponsoring Zion Lutheran Art Group. Admission is free.

Invited to participate are adult members of the art departments of Anaheim Union High School and Lutheran High School of Los Angeles, as well as Anaheim Presbyterian Art Assn.

Several door prizes have been donated for visitors to the non-juried show. The paintings that are to be sold will be marked reasonably in an effort by the group to encourage "live" art purchases.

All participating artists have agreed to donate 10 per cent of the proceeds to Good Shepherd Home of Terra Bella, which accepts children of all creeds.

Here and There

Because there are still several principle and minor roles that have not been cast, dancers, singers, actors and actresses are urged to audition for the Whittier Light Opera Association's coming production, "The Pajama Game," tonight at 8, Bailey Auditorium, 215 W. Hadley, Whittier. Singers will also try out Friday. Male dancers, in particular, are needed for the dancing ensemble, stated choreographer Raoul Appel.

The Associated Student Body of Occidental College will hold a public Campus Day Jazz Concert on Thursday, April 23, representing the Shelly Manne Jazz Quintet and the Firehouse Five Plus Two. The 8:15 p.m. program in Thorne Hall will be highlighted by the jazz technique of Shelly Manne, recognized as one of the nation's finest drummers in jazz.

The Forty Plus or Minus Club of Pomona will hold its regular third Saturday dance at the new Palomares Clubhouse at North Orange Grove and Cucamonga Avenue, Pomona from 8:30 to 12:00 p.m..

A rummage sale will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 126 S. Los Angeles St., Anaheim.

SAC Music Department Slates Musical Variety Show April 20

Melodies of Spring, a musical variety show, will be presented by the Santa Ana College music department Monday, April 20, in Phillips Hall, at 8 p.m.

James S. Vail, and Ted Nichols, vocal and instrumental music instructors, are supervising the program. All types of music, sacred, secular, classical and popular, is included in the spring music concert with a continuity that will move from the serious to the lighter type of music.

SAC music groups fill many community engagements during the school year, then bring together the large and small groups each spring as a benefit program for the music library.

The College Choir will open with "Alleluia" by Thompson; "How Lovely is Thy Dwelling Place," by Brahms; "Jesu, Tender Saviour" by Grieg and "O Worship The King" by Haydn. Dottie Nix will give an interlude at the piano, "Praise" and "Mexican Holiday" both by Ogle.

Musical tidbits will include a small group singing "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You" by Stickley and "Lida Rose" by Willson; six singers with "Mother Goose Suite" by Horton; three singing "Ifca's Castle," a Czech folk song, and "On the Street Where You Live" by Loewe, and a quartet singing "Summertime" by Gershwin and "Dry Bones," Negro characteristic.

The Don Dance Band will give "Let's Hit It, Men!", followed by Violet Craemer, accordionist. A bongo speciality number will precede the closing group by the Mellodons, "Polly Wolly Doodle" by Kubik, "Vanka'n Tanka" by Kibalchich and "Holiday Song" by Schumann.

EIGHTH SEASON

Tustin Playbox Opens June 16 For 11 Weeks

The Tustin Playbox, popular with playgoers of this area, announced today plans to open its eighth summer season on June 16, running through Aug. 29. They plan an 11-week season, featuring six top notch Broadway plays.

Due to the overwhelming reception of the shows by area residents, Producer Sherwood Price will move the theatre into new, larger quarters at Tustin High School this summer. The new theatre will be equipped with a proscenium stage, which marks a change from their former centrally staged productions.

Producer Price will again bring in professional actors and directors from the fields of stage, motion pictures and television, drawing from both the ranks of Hollywood and New York talent. The company will also be augmented by young student apprentices from schools and colleges throughout the United States, who will assist in all phases of performance and production work.

In addition to the nightly performances of the Broadway shows, there will also be weekly productions of children's plays for the youngsters of the area.

UNIVERSITY DAY SPEAKER — Dr. Joseph Kaplan, professor of physics and chairman of the United States Committee, International Geophysical Year, will be one of the featured speakers during the University Day luncheon program for California alumni and friends of the University of California at Disneyland Hotel April 26. Speaking on behalf of the statewide university will be Dr. Harry R. Wellman, vice president of UC. The program will begin with luncheon and a report on programs of the world's largest organized alumni association.

'BORN YESTERDAY' STARS — Georgia Ann Douglass as Billie Dawn, and John McCarty portraying the role of the flamboyant Brock, in the Anaheim Theatre Guild's rollicking Broadway comedy, "Born Yesterday," are checking up on scene in the play. It will be produced Saturday night at the Loara School auditorium, 213 S. Loara Rd., curtaintime set for 8:30 p.m. The play will run for three consecutive Saturdays starting April 18 with Jack Arnold, one of the founders of the Anaheim Guild, as director. Others in the cast are Ed Brown, Gil Silvius, Pat Harlacher, Bernie Kambic, Arch Sullard, Vern Douglass, Judy McCarty, Rollie Wishard, Daro Robertson, Steve Robertson and Fred Morrow. Tickets may be purchased from Pat Harlacher, telephone LE 9-0895, or at the box office the nights of production.

Singing Group To Present Harmony Show

The Fullerton Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America will present its second annual Barbershop Harmony Show Saturday at 8:15 p.m. at the Fullerton Union High School Auditorium, Chapman and Harvard.

The show, called "Harmony Town USA," will feature the Fullerton chorus composed of men from all over Orange County.

Championship quartets appearing include The Desert Knights from Phoenix, the 1958 district champions, the Chordials from Arcadia, and the Feenstras from Downey.

The president, Doug McCawley, has announced that the newly crowned Sweet Adeline Champions, The Nightingals from Fullerton, will sing the numbers that won them their honors.

In charge of show direction is Dev Leahy; Program Robert Gilchrist; Press, Don McRell; Hospitality, Dick Hines; Tickets, Randy Conner.

The Barbershoppers welcome all men who are interested in singing harmony. No training is required, only a love for singing and good fellowship.

The group meets every Monday night at 8 p.m. at the Wilshire School Band Room on Chapman, in Fullerton. Anyone interested in the show or the meetings should contact George Kabacy, LA 6-1289.

DRAMA TROPHIES — Admiring the trophies to be presented at the Footlight Festival of One-act Plays at Santa Ana College this week end are Ed Brown, representing the Anaheim Theatre Guild, and Miss Elinor Schmidt, tournament director from Santa Ana. The Anaheim play will be the third production on Wednesday night in Phillips Hall on the SAC campus at 17th and Bristol Sts. Anaheim Guild's entry will be Noel Coward's "Fumed Oak. (SAC Photo)

It is the first project of the Women's Fellowship of Anaheim Community Congregational Church.

Anakeim Readers Briefed on Books in Observance Of National Library Week's Theme 'Wake Up, Read'

Weekly book listings and library events presented by the Anaheim Public Library, 241 S. Los Angeles St. in Anaheim this week honors National Library Week which closes Saturday.

"Wake Up and Read!" This is the second annual celebration of library week, theme. Once again an effort is being made by public libraries and other interested individuals to remind the public that literally thousands of good books stand upon the shelves of your public library, ready to serve you.

The library is always ready to meet your reading needs, not only during National Library Week, but every week of the year. If your reading desires are confined to the subjects of family, business, entertainment, or any other interest, the library staff is always ready to assist you in seeking the book or books you might want. In these fast-moving days, it is necessary for all of us to keep well informed. Read good books. Patronize your public library "for a better read, better informed America."

Fiction

"Death Out of Focus," by William C. Gault. Random House. This is a mystery story with the setting in the West. The problem is the unexplained death of a movie star the person accused is the director of the film. A good mystery with plenty of suspense.

Non-Fiction

"Garden Ideas and Projects," by Richard D. Whitemore, Doubleday. A complete handbook on how to plan your garden. Contains a year-round calendar on what to plant, how to plant, when to plant, mistakes to avoid, & dictionary of common gardening words.

"Once There Was a War," by John Steinbeck, Viking press. A master story teller's collection of news stories about the last big world war, as the author saw it, and wrote about it on the spot. Colorful word pictures about the every day business of modern war and its effect on the people he knew and the places he saw.

"St. Louis Woman," by Helen Traubel, Duell. An independent personality of the current American entertainment world tells the story of her life in American music. This book contains a straight forward discussion of current American music.

"Story of Helen Keller," by Lorena A. Hickok, Grosset. This book is also about the selfless and devoted teacher who taught young Helen Keller how to live and grow up in the darkness of blindness. Good reading for young teenagers.

"Swamp Fox," by Robert D. Bass, Holt. The most complete biography of General Marion of Revolutionary fame; written in the familiar style with quotes which are often humorous. This book is for you if you like American History.

Children's Books

The Newbery and Caldecott Medal award winners for good literature will be reviewed in the near future. The following children's books were runners-up in the annual race for Newbery and Caldecott Medals. The Newbery award is given yearly for an outstanding contribution to children's reading; the Caldecott award is presented yearly to the artist whose picture book is judged the best for the year.

"Chucaro, Wild Pony of the Pampa," by Francis Kalnay, Harcourt. Newbery Award runner-up. A moving story of life on an Argentine rancho and of Chucaro, the pony, who had to chose between two boys as to which one would be his master. Suitable for grade school students.

"Along Came a Dog," by Meindert DeJong, Harpers. Newbery Award runner-up. The strange dog and she little red hen became fast friends, or so it seemed, until one day trouble came. The story has a surprise ending. Suitable for 4th & 5th graders.

"The Family Under the Bridge," by Natalie Savage Carlson. Harpers. Newbery Award runner-up. This story is a gem. An old Paris tramp befriends a family who are made homeless through the death of their father. They come to live under a bridge of the Seine River in Paris. They are all strangers to each other, but then, something happens to make them a family. Suitable for 4th, 5th & 6th graders.

"Umbrella," by Taro Yashima, Viking. Runner up for the Caldecott Award (for the best art). A little girl is given some presents by her parents. They are to be used during the rainy season. But these presents change her life. Suitable for first, second and third graders.

Everywhere, every hour, something new... something that interests and often affects you... is happening.

Our Constitution protects your right to know. Citizenship in a democracy means it's your job to know. As George Washington said, "... it is essential that public opinion should be enlightened."

Let reading make your own life more interesting to yourself and to others.

NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK
APRIL 12-18, 1959

Albert Cranston Voice Students To Present Chapel Recital Sunday

The voice students of Albert Cranston Voice Studio will give a public recital Sunday at 3 p.m. at Melrose Abbey Chapel.

Taking part will be: Wilma Williams, coloratura soprano and former soloist for the Honolulu Radio Station and others; Margaret Elliott, dramatic soprano and minister of music at Wesley Methodist Church; Gilbert Perea, tenor soloist recently on television; Maxine Trotter, lyric soprano and soloist at Tustin Presbyterian Church and Charlotte Crain of the acting profession.

Bernadine Byskoski, Barbara Rees, Milton Halvorsen, Dorothy Egbert and Hazel Mathews will also sing solos.

William Gould, a recent gold cup winner on television and a student at Chapman College, will be guest organist. Accompanists will be Sara Roberts, Linda Blake and Marjorie Cranston Fulton.

Haydn's 'Creation' To Be Presented at FJC Spring Concert

Haydn's spirited cantata "The Creation" will be presented for the annual spring concert of the Fullerton Evening Junior College Chorale on Sunday evening, April 26, at 8 p.m. in the college Student Center.

The evening chorale group, under direction of FJC music instructor Kenneth Helvey, will present the concert without charge.

Three outstanding soloists will take part, soprano Betty LeFebvre, baritone George Morrisey, and tenor James Rogow. Accompanist will be Mrs. Ruth Archipley.

"The Creation' is light and melodic," explains Helvey, "even humorous at times. The group has enjoyed singing it immensely, and we have every reason to believe the audience may enjoy it too."

IN SACRAMENTO

FJC Students Will Attend FBLA Confab

Eleven Fullerton Junior College students, all members of the campus Future Business Leader of America organization, will represent their college at the FBLA State Convention to be held in Sacramento on April 17 and 18.

The convention, culminating official "FBLA Week" in a large part of California, will include general assemblies, workshops, and contests for more than 500 delegates and their chapter advisors from the high schools and junior colleges of the state.

FJC students will play a major part in convention activity, with Dick Baker of La Habra presently serving as state treasurer; Marilyn Robinson of Anaheim as state college vice president; and Larry McDonald of Fullerton as Western Regional vice president. All will furnish convention reports or preside over workshop discussion groups.

Three FJC delegates will also be in the running for state offices for the coming year. McDonald will be a candidate for the office of state president; Miss Robinson for state corresponding secretary; and Dick Wagner of Fullerton, present FJC chapter president, will run for state college vice-president.

CC Artist-Lecture Series Finish Friday With Tenor-Guitarist

The current Chapman College Artist-Lecture Series will be concluded Friday evening when tenor and guitarist Richard Dyer-Bennet presents a concert of folk songs and ballads at 8:30 in the Chapman College Auditorium. Tickets will be available at the door.

Born in England, but raised and educated in California, Dyer-Bennet presents in his programs songs from the British Isles, Europe, and America.

In the case of songs written for voice and piano or harpsichord, Dyer-Bennet makes only such changes in the accompaniment as are required by the difference in instrumental techniques.

Dyer-Bennet, now on his twelfth tour for National Concert and Artists Corporation, was originally discovered by the noted Impresario S. Hurok.

Life With Music

By RICHARD D. SAUNDERS

The televised Academy Awards Presentations should serve to point several morals for all aspirants in the entertainment fields, whether musical, choreographic or histrionic, although I wonder how many paused to reflect on some of the glaring faults, aside from the more technical imperfections of atrocious lighting, poor camera work and total lack of production skill.

One of the most noticeable blemishes on the work of several prominent actors who should have known better, was that of putting the hand up to the face to pat, scratch or wipe. There is no use boggling words over such a point — it was frankly distressing and even embarrassing to watch what amounts to a lack of breeding. It is bad enough on the stage, where the entertainer is life-sized, but in a closeup, where the face is magnified many times, the vulgarity is just that much emphasized.

If it becomes necessary to touch the face in public, particularly for an actor or musician holding that public's attention, it may be done with the aid of a handkerchief, which is the main reason for carrying that article of attire. Yet this simple rule, one of good taste as well as basic dramatics, was broken by several prominent actors and emcees.

The actors and actresses knew how to walk on and off stage and mostly managed to do so acceptably, though just a little intelligent direction and rehearsal might have helped. But the amateurs — technicians and others — slouched, hung their heads, turned their backs on the camera and in general showed amazingly poor stage presence for persons connected with the stage in any capacity. Every potential Oscar winner should have had at least a rehearsal.

The musician who walks out to take his place on the piano bench, the singer who emerges from the wings to stand by the instrument, the group that comes forward before an audience — all should know in advance where they are going and where and how to turn and bow with grace and dignity. If they do not, they leave a poor impression in the minds of all who see them, whatever their ability or achievements otherwise.

'Lovelier Than Springtime' Is Theme for FJC Sports Dance

"Lovelier than Springtime" will be the theme of the Fullerton Junior College Spring Sports dance to be held in the college gymnasium on Friday, April 17.

A Queen of Spring Sports is to be elected at the dance with four nominees in contention for the title, each representing a different spring sport and "appropriately garbed." Candidates are Dolly Hathcock of Anaheim, Lorna Ross of Orange, Linda Hass of La Habra, Bette Simpson of Anaheim, and Caryll Egerer of Fullerton. The sports they are to represent are baseball, track, swimming, golf, and tennis.

Last week FJC students pulled a switch on customary queen contests electing a "king" when they held their annual Turnabout Dance. Dubbed "Mr. F.C.C.", ASE President Wayne Wedin was presented with a small trophy after beating three other rivals for the honor. Freshman Class President Bill Lives of Orange, Vets Club President Larry Lizotte of Fullerton and Sophomore Class President Bob Hathcock of Anaheim. Announcement of the title came at the intermission of the dance, an event calling for women students to invite the man of their choice.

Former Stewardesses To Meet for Luncheon

The newly-formed Orange County-Long Beach chapter of the Kiwi Club will meet at The Palms Restaurant Saturday for cocktails and luncheon.

Tom Stillson, American Airlines public relations man, will give a talk on the new jets and show colored movies of them.

Hostesses for the event are Mrs. Charles A. Neukom and Mrs. Edward E. Strickler.

The Kiwi Club is composed of former American Airline stewardesses and a spokesman for the group has announced that any former American Airlines stewardesses are invited to attend and may make reservations with Mrs. Strickler at KE 5-7040.

Anaheim Presbyterian Art Association Holds Second Annual Exhibit; Paintings Judged

The second annual Art exhibit of the Anaheim Presbyterian Art Association held at the church was judged by Carol Wood, Emily Schmeberger of Laguna and Carol Palmerston of Pasadena.

Hubert Mason won "Best of Show;" Helen Morris, "Best in Oils;" Hubert Mason, "Best in Water-color;" Irene Knutzen, "First in Seascape;" Hubert Mason, "First in Portrait;" Esther Zabel, "First in Landscape; Pearl Watters, second, and Vi Wheeler, honorable mention.

Esther Zabel took "First in Still Life;" Evelyn Hamilton Keith, Second; Myrtle Lornbard, honorable mention.

Pattie Brown of Fullerton, well known artist of Orange County for her illustrious seascapes is president of the Art Association, with Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Zabel serving as hostesses to more than 200 guests who came to view the paintings. Co-hostesses were Clara Troutman, Evelyn Keith, Marion Kite, C. Laubenfels, and Helen Bratt.

The exhibit committee in charge of hanging the pictures was under A. Steelman and co-workers were: Hubert Mason, Vi Wheeler, Irene Knutzen, Esther Zabel, Helen Bratt and Barbara Hobson.

Meetings of the association are held Wednesday at 10 a.m. and Monday from 7 to 10 p.m. of each week. Both beginners and advanced pupils are invited to attend with classes held in the social hall, 310 West Broadway, Anaheim. Anaheim Presbyterian.

LB Museum To Show Jean Cocteau's Film

"Blood of A Poet" the earliest of famed French author-playwright Jean Cocteau's experimental photography films, will be presented at 7:40 and 9 p.m. April 24, at the Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 East Ocean Blvd.

The surrealist film, which deals with a world of symbols and objects, is a realistic documentary composed of unreal happenings.

The film is offered free to the public. Tickets which are offered on a first-come, first-served basis, are available April 18.

Adult Classes Offer Office Skill Courses

Anaheim Evening High School is still accepting registration in several adult classes. Although it is too late to register for credit there is still time to make considerable progress in these skill subjects. Classes are available for either brush up or new students in Typing, Shorthand and office machine practice.

For information concerning meeting times and places, phone Evening School Office PR 20080. Office hours are 1-5 and 6:30-9:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8-4 on Fridays.

COMFORTS VICTIM — An ambulance attendant comforts Angelia Lopez who suffered a broken leg and cuts about the head and face when the car in which she was riding overturned after jumping a curb and striking a light pole in front of 600 N. Lemon St. The car is still upside down in the picture. According to police reports, the victim was riding with Lucy Lopez of 205 W. Camden Pl., when the accident happened. The driver suffered cuts and bruises on her face. A two-year-old child, Norma Garcia, also riding in the car, escaped injuries. The women were both admitted to Anaheim Memorial Hospital for treatment and the child was taken home.

U.S. Summary

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The morning nationwide weather summary as prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau:

The eastern half of the country continued to have mostly clear skies this morning. There were a few readings in the 20s in New England and some snow at Caribou, Maine, but temperatures in the 50s predominated from Southern Michigan into New York.

Cloudiness spread over the south, and there were some scattered showers in Florida.

The only noticeable moisture in the Pacific states came at Burbank where there was some early morning drizzle. High pressure pushed cloudines into the Pacific Northwest.

Low pressure over the northern Rockies and central plains brought warm, southerly breezes over the midsection of the country and showers to Texas. Cold northerly winds ranged from the upper Great Lakes across Western Kansas, and there was snow from Idaho into Montana and Wyoming.

Scattered thunderstorms occurred in Eastern Arizona. Southern California was generally clear except for morning coastal fog and cloudiness. Temperatures were mild.

Freeway Crash Takes Life of Fourth Man

Megill's body was taken to Peek Family Colonial Funeral Home in Midway City where funeral services are pending. His wife died last summer, and he is survived by three children and his mother Mrs. Ruth Burton.

The body of Walter Fulmer was taken to Hilgenfeld Mortuary, Anaheim, but the funeral will be held in Lancaster Pa. where his sister and parents reside. Fulmer, a native Pennsylvanian, has lived in California for the past five years, and a resident of Garden Grove for the last two months, is survived by his wife, Esther, 14411 Ward St., daughters Sharon and Susan, as well as his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fulmer, Bennett and his sister Mrs. Raymond Doman, of Lancaster, Pa. Fulmer was a member of St. Luke's Lutheran Church of Long Beach.

Carlson's body is at Hilgenfeld Mortuary, services pending, while the body of Fisher will be taken to Parkes-Bell Mortuary in Costa Mesa where services are also pending.

The four men killed were heading for their jobs with a tool company in Los Angeles and were members of a car pool.

Fight for Life Ends As Boy Dies of Burns

By Orange County News Service

Courageous Richard Bandick Jr. 10, formerly of Orange, has lost his battle for life against overwhelming odds.

The slender youngster died in an Indio Hospital early today, from burns inflicted when two hoodlums tossed a flaming vulcanizing substance on him at One Thousand Palms, March 15.

Sheriff's Deputies said the boy was severely burned over 45 per cent of his stomach, chest, back, and arms.

Attempts to graft skin failed. The Orange 20-30 Club contributed 10 pints of blood for numerous transfusions.

According to deputies, the suspects fired arrows at the Bandick boy first and they hurled the burning material on him as he rode his bike a block from home.

Funeral services are pending today for the deceased, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bandick and grandson of Mrs. Neva Bandick of Orange.

the center of the Orange County population distribution, and that Disneyland annually attracts great numbers of people to the area. Based on these findings they recommended the construction of (1) a Convention Center, and (2) a Civic Auditorium.

Their further recommendation was that an independent research company be hired to determine the size of site, location, type of facility and economic feasability. The Civic Auditorium, they said, should be constructed as an integral part of the Civic Center.

Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Strength in American Telephone & Telegraph featured an irregularly higher stock market today.

American Telephone moved up 2 points to 252, and then jumped to 255, a new high since 1930. Stockholders Wednesday approved the proposed 3-for-1 stock split. The new stock began trading on a when-issued basis and opened at 84¾. It later moved up to 85¾.

Elsewhere, profit taking lowered the rails and utilities and kept gains in the industrials mostly to fractions.

Oils firmed as the Arab oil conference got underway in Cairo. Superior Oil jumped 40 points to 2,000, and Texaco and Standard Oil of California added large fractions.

Motors and steels held generally steady.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

Spectacular Splurge of Picture Buying for Investments Reigns

By SYLVIA PORTER

We were wandering around the Hammer Galleries, studying the paintings of Vlaminck, one of today's popular French post-impressionists. Suddenly, a man's voice rose above the usual din at a New York exhibit. "I don't care whether the prices do seem high. I think he should be bought as a good investment and a hedge against inflation."

"Hah!" said my companion, Wilfred May. "Another person who has succumbed to the myth that art is an investment or inflation hedge. Few assets could qualify less for the classifications. Saying that a picture is an investment because it skyrockets in price is as ridiculous as saying a bet on a horse is an investment because the horse wins."

And then May—who as executive editor of the "Commercial & Financial Chronicle" and a collector of pictures for fun is at ease in both the investment and art worlds—proceeded for the rest of the evening to argue vehemently that buying paintings is pure speculation.

In all history there never has been so spectacular a splurge of picture buying as there is today.

This past October a single painting by Cezanne ("Boy in a Red Vest") sold in London for $616,000. This past November, a single painting by Picasso ("Mother and Child") sold in New York for $152,000. So ragingly popular are the Impressionists and post-impressionists—Picasso, Cezanne, Van Gogh, Renoir, Degas, Manet, Matisse, Gaugun, Utrillo, etc. — that $100,000 a painting is considered "cheap!" Arts sales running into the high seven figures now make headlines around the world.

And, emphasized Victor Hammer, director of the Galleries, when he came over to dispute with May, "The big-name artists such as you're mentioning are becoming rarer and rarer as they disappear into private collections and museums. The prices have been going up not only sensationally but also steadily decade after decade, and middle-income buyers are coming into the art world now in increasing numbers. We have sold little Renoirs and Utrillos to middle-income buyers on the instalment plan and by the time they finish paying off — in six months or a year — they already can realize a handsome profit."

What's so cockeyed then? If a buyer of a popular artist can quadruple his money in 10 years and simultaneously have the joy of owning an exquisite work — what's so wrong?

"What's wrong," says May, "is that the purchase of art can't be called an investment by the very definition of the word, for "an investment assumes that you're buying an asset to preserve your capital and get a satisfactory return, that you can evaluate your purchase according to precise rules, and that you have a ready market in which to buy or sell. By no stretch of imagination can a painting be said to fit this definition."

In the first place, he argues, the values of paintings are primarily determined by FASHION — and changes in fashions in paintings are utterly unpredictable. The more than three-quarter million dollars paid for Gainsborough's "Blue Boy" in 1928 "wouldn't bring a fraction of that price today. Gainsborough isn't in fashion." Such coveted etchers of earlier this century as Whistler "have gone through devastating price declines." Paintings go through fashion cycles without definable causes and "guessing a fashion cycle right is blind good luck."

In the second place, he insists, paintings have nothing even approaching a market in the sense that other investments — bonds, stocks, etc — have markets. "Sure, investments have "bugs," but even in a sharply breaking stock market you can sell at a definite, established price and you can get out. With paintings, you're at the mercy of an extremely limited set of buyers and they may simply disappear when the paintings start to go out of fashion. Then you're stuck."

And so I asked, as the evening ended, you would warn all of us against getting in on this world-wide art boom?

"Buy art," said May, "for pleasure, for enjoyment and expect your return will be in this form. If you make money selling a painting later, figure you're lucky and just getting a windfall!"

Iraq's Oil Fields Presents Pressing World Question

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Editor

As Communism tightens its grip on Iraq, one of the most pressing world questions is, what happens now to Iraq's oil?

It is an important question because Iraq sits in the middle of the great Middle Eastern oil pool and, by itself, is the world's sixth largest oil producing country.

This correspondent, on a recent visit to Baghdad, put that question directly to Dr. Hashim Jawad, Iraq's urbane and sophisticated foreign minister. His reply was:

"Iraq's ties are with the West. Most of our income comes from oil and our oil goes entirely to the West. Our pipelines are directed toward the West."

Big Freezeout

American news correspondents and American business alike are being frozen out of Iraq and Western prospects there now appear dim indeed.

But, so far as oil is concerned, there are three elements which today force Iraq to maintain its ties with the Western nations.

One is the oil pipelines. The pipelines handling Iraqi oil run from Iraq to Syria and thence to Mediterranean outlets in Syria and Lebanon. There is no connection with Russia or any of its satellites except via Basra and the Persian Gulf.

A second, and impelling one, is the fact that Russia at this moment has no particular use for the Iraqi oil. Russia is itself an oil exporting nation and has immense and still untapped oil reserves of its own.

And a third is that presently it would be almost impossible for Iraq to nationalize its oil and seek its own oil markets.

A sad example is Iraq's oil-rich neighbor, Iran.

In 1951, under then-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, Iran nationalized its oil and repudiated its contract with the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company of Britain. Iran soon found it had neither the technicians to draw out the oil nor the facilities to market it.

No Income Taxes

By 1954, and with U.S. aid, the dispute finally was settled. But by that time, Iran practically was bankrupt and the world had managed splendidly without the oil on which Iran's economy depended.

Under its 50-50 deal with British, American and other oil companies, Iran today takes in well over 200 million dollars annually in oil revenues. By law, 70 per cent of these revenues must be diverted to national development projects. As a result, income taxes in Iraq are almost non-existent.

The pipelines through Syria provide an interesting sidelight to the Iraq oil question.

So long as relations between Iraq and the United Arab Republic remain in their strained state, Iraq must always have the nagging worry that the Syrians might some day cut the lines. They did that during the Suez crisis and the cost to Iraq ran to about $700,000 per day.

Will Look To West

If this should happen again, it will be to the West and not to Russia that Iraq looks for aid. In fact, Jawad grimly told this correspondent:

"We should regard such an event as serious indeed. But, in this case, it would not be Iraq and the U.A.R. alone. The big powers would be involved."

There seems ample reason to believe that Iraq even now may be attempting to increase either its income or its oil output at the expense of the Western companies. But, for now, it seems certain Iraq oil will continue to flow to the West.

A possibility for the distant future is that some day it might be useful to Red China. In that case, the flow might be reversed.

Freeway Victim Lost For Hours at Night

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Charles K. Abboud, 58, a motorist from Omaha, Neb., was lost for seven hours in the labyrinth of the freeway system, he told police today.

Abboud showed up at police headquarters before dawn to ask for directions. He said he had been trailing the car of his son, Ray, 31, on the San Bernardino Freeway but lost it on a turnoff.

Then, said Abboud, a mailman on vacation, he drove back and forth on the freeways, going from one to another, finally finding his way to the police station.

Question of Kern County Oil Arises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Court of Claims opened a hearing Monday into the question of how former Interior Secretary Harold Ickes —or anyone else— could have known there was oil under a certain section of Kern County, back in 1903.

The question was the central issue in a 15 million dollar claim against the government for taking over 159 acres of land without compensating the owner shortly after World War I.

The case recalled the colorful days of California's oil boom. It was brought by the estate of Charles O. Fairbank, and its executor, Charles Fairbank, with the help of his brother, Robert Fairbank. Charles Fairbank now lives in Canada and Robert in Honolulu.

The claims court was ordered to hear the case by an act of Congress. The case has been in and out of the courts for 30 years.

Specifically, the claims court was called upon to decide whether land owned by the Fairbank family was "known mineral land" at the time title passed to the state of California Jan. 26, 1903.

The land was part of a section set aside for school use under the terms of California's Statehood Act. But under the law, if the acreage had known mineral wealth, title would remain with the federal government.

California put the land up for sale at $1.25 per acre but found few takers until the Fairbank family took possession in 1910.

Oil was discovered nearby in 1919, 16 years after the title passed to the state and nine years after several owners decided to buy up tracts.

In 1953, Ickes ruled that the land was known to have contained mineral resources and therefore belonged to the U. S. government. The administrative decision overruled an earlier finding by the commissioner of the General Land Office, following extensive hearings, which held that there was no indication the land contained mineral resources at the time California took title.

The government won a multi-million dollar settlement from the Standard Oil Company of California for use of the land. The Supreme Court also refused to review a lower court decision which held that Ickes had the final decision on the question.

Dear Abby...

Thar' She Blows!

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: For years (14 to be exact) I've been covering up for my husband for the sake of my children, and now I am beginning to wonder if I've been doing the right thing. He's always had other women (one at a time) and when he'd stay out all night I'd say, "Dad has gone on a business trip." Everyone thinks he is an honorable family man and he certainly doesn't deserve the good reputation he enjoys. I spoke to my minister about this three years ago and he said given time he'd straighten out. But nothing has changed. Should I continue to cover up for him or force a showdown? TIRED OF COVERING

DEAR TIRED: "Covering up" for a cheating husband is like buying a tweed coat to cure dandruff. Unless you insist on a better marriage and a full-time husband, he'll assume you don't miss it and he'll make no effort to change. Don't expose him to the children, but do see a marriage counselor.

DEAR ABBY: After going together for six years my boyfriend and I planned to be married at a simple ceremony at the City Hall during my lunch hour on Friday. I missed my bus and got there about 40 minutes late. He and his buddy were later than I was and when he showed up I noticed his eyes were blurry and he smelled like a brewery. I said, "I am not marrying any man in that condition!" And I didn't stay to get married either. Marriage to me is something sacred even if I can't afford a fancy Church wedding. I think the least he could have done was stayed sober. Was I wrong? NOT MARRIED

DEAR NOT: Not by a long shot!

DEAR ABBY: What would you do if you had a brother 14 years old and you were eleven and he kept kicking you in bed and you told your mother and she got up and said, "You quit kicking him!" and as soon as she went back to bed he started kicking you again and then you couldn't stand it any longer so you got your father out of bed and he came in and gave both of you a good licking right through all the covers and everything? MAD

DEAR MAD: I'd remember this experience if I were you. It's not the fairest way to settle differences between two quarreling children, but it's by far the most effective.

DEAR ABBY: I am a married lady. I was invited by a married couple to go to a show. How should we have been sitting in the show? Should the wife have sat between me and her husband or should the husband have sat between me and his wife? GUEST

DEAR GUEST: The husband should have sat between you and his wife. A "guest" should never come between a woman and her husband.

Is it safe to go steady? Get ABBY'S booklet, "What Every Teenager Wants To Know." Send 25 cents and a large self-addressed envelope to Abby, care of this newspaper.

UPI Introduces New Lightweight Picture Portable Transmitter

NEW YORK (UPI)—A new, lightweight picture transmitter, designed to operate as a portable under the most rugged field conditions as well as in fixed locations, has been introduced by United Press International, it was announced by Frank Tremaine, vice president and general news-pictures manager.

The new machine weighs less than 50 pounds in its fibreglass carrying case. Introduction of the transmitter to the UPI Telephoto-Unifax system is part of a long-range program of improvement of UPI facilities and picture quality.

First of the new units were used at Squaw Valley, Calif., during the recent North American ski championships. Still coming off the assembly line, the machines will be installed on the UPI Telephoto-Unifax network during the summer and fall.

The transmitter was designed under the direction of Chief Telephoto Engineer Jerry Callahan and consultant John S. Long, and manufactured by Acme Telectronix of Cleveland, Ohio. The simple operation of the machine requires only that the picture to be transmitted be mounted on a drum and a single switch turned through a sequence of four positions.

Prime features of the machines are compactness, reliability, light weight and simplicity of operation. Compactness and reliability were realized by incorporation of the latest in transistorized and printed circuitry. Single-package design makes it possible to utilize the machine for portable or fixed operation by mere removal or installation of a cover.

The new transmitter is a product of the continuous research and development program at UPI Newspictures. This began shortly after United Press took over Acme Newspictures in 1952 with production of a new Telephoto transceiver and the Unifax facsimile machine.

Following installation of the new transmitters, existing Telephoto and Unifax equipment will be modified to take advantage of characteristics of the new units. This will make possible improvement in half - tone fidelity and higher definition of received pictures.

ROYAL NAVY TAR FACES 'SWITCH'

LONDON (UPI) — Royal Navy efficiency experts reported today they had completed an investigation of naval operations. One of their discoveries:

A sailor in communications was forced to change from his working clothes into his best uniform before he could ask his captain for permission to switch on a radar set.

Orangefair to Greet Countians' Families

Welcoming the opportunity to greet northern Orange Countians, Rankin's Orangefair has scheduled a week-end opening to permit entire families to attend, date to be announced later.

Door prizes, by card registration, include famous name brand merchandise regularly carried by Rankin's. This serves to emphasize that Rankin's name brand policies will remain unchanged in the new location, according to Everett Houldsworth, manager of the Orangefair store.

Expanding customer conveniences to include the only S and H green stamp redemption center in northern Orange County, which will be opened a few weeks later than the store, Rankin's Orangefair offers an exclusive service to the entire area.

Fullerton to Annex North of Placentia

FULLERTON (OCNS) — A request by property owners to annex 101 acres north of Placentia to Fullerton was orally submitted Tuesday, city officials reported today.

The area is bounded on the south by a line approximately 650 feet north of Charles St., on the east by Sierra Vista St., for 1,320 feet, to a point approximately 650 feet south of Golden Ave., then west 1,358 feet and north to the present city limits.

City Administrator Herman Hiltscher reported all three owners of the property asked for the annex, to be known as Valencia Grove Annexation No. 7. The owners were listed as Helen Brown, Dan Smith and George Rawlings.

Hiltscher said maps will be prepared and sent to the county boundaries commission prior to circulation of a formal petition. With full owner - approval in the uninhabited land, the petition is only a formality, he said.

The territory does not conflict with Placentia's 59-1 annexation. The nearest points of the two annexations are more than 1,300 feet apart.

'FLYING' SAUCER FLIGHT SLATED

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States will test-fly its first "flying saucer" this summer, a defense expert said today.

The expert, who is connected with the program, said the public will be "absolutely amazed" at the new manned aircraft when Pentagon secrecy wraps finally are taken off, perhaps this year.

"I've never seen anything like it in all the years I've spent in aviation," he told United Press International, "and that's most of my life."

He said the saucer will be able to skim close to the ground, dart between trees, dip into small valleys and generally hug the earth's surface, thus confounding enemy radar. It also will be able to hover over a fixed spot and move sideways.

The saucer will provide the Army with a modern airborne "cavalry," he said. Troops and supplies could be rushed anywhere despite the terrain, whether it be mud, ice, water or mountains.

U. S. production of acetylsalicylic acid (better known as aspirin) reached an all-time high of 20 million pounds in 1958, according to the U. S. Department of Commerce. That's about 28 billion tablets.

Cancer Crusade Ready For County Kickoff

With most of the recruitment of volunteers already completed, Cancer Crusaders throughout Orange County are ready today to get the annual Crusade under way in earnest.

Most communities plan to kickoff the the neighbor-to-neighbor campaign tomorrow or Saturday, according to Miles Engle, county chairman of the Crusade.

Two-fold purpose of the annual effort is to distribute life-saving literature and to solicit financial support for the cancer society's local and national programs.

The society has a triple program of service, education and research. Service is the most local of the programs. It includes setup of lending libraries, visitation services and other programs administered by community units of the society.

The Orange County Branch of the Society joins its 23 units throughout the county in operating a continuous education program of film showings, literature distribution, etc.

Research is handled by the state division of ACS and by the national offices of the organization.

The Cancer Crusade each year is a highlight of the month of April — designated coast to coast as Cancer Control Month by presidential decree and by local proclamations issued by governors and mayors.

SENDS LETTERS

Anaheim Youngster Volunteers Spare Time to Aid Cancer Drive

One of the youngest volunteer Cancer Crusaders to enter the 1959 Cancer Crusade is Gary Morgan Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ellis, Anaheim.

His mother, the owner of Dora's Business Service, 900 S. Los Angeles St., Anaheim, was asked by the Orange County Branch of the American Cancer Society to multi-produce letters for its countywide Cancer Crusade. But when Mrs. Ellis advised the Branch that Robotyped letters brought better results than the regular duplicated letters the Cancer Society found that its funds were limited.

It was then that Gary, who was fourteen years old April 12, said that he would Robotype the letters over a week end.

The eighth grade student at Brookhurst Junior High School, who likes to spend his week ends roller skating or bowling, went to work Friday when he got home from school. His mother forced him to bed that night at 10:30 p.m. On Saturday he worked from 8:30 a.m. until 10:00 p.m. and began again early Sunday morning, continuing until 7 p.m.

The Robotype method of reproducing a letter is comparable to the old player piano method of playing a tune. The main of the letter is punched out on a cylinder, but the name and address of each addressee must be typed in first before the IBM typewriters are connected with the Robotyper to complete the individually prepared letters.

Gary was able to complete almost 500 of the 600 letters the Cancer Society needs. Because of his industry his mother, while he was in school Monday, finished them for him at no cost to the Cancer Society.

"We do not allow any erasures to go out of our business," Mrs. Ellis said. "So you must realize this is very good," she added proudly.

When asked why a youngster would be so serious about helping a cause that has always been considered a matter for adults, Mrs. Ellis said, "I believe it is because his grandmother was cured of cancer through X-ray and radium treatments five years ago, and because the woman who always baby sat with him, when he was small, died of cancer."

Other youngsters helping the Cancer Crusade are members of Girl Scout Troop No. 610, Santa Ana. Under the direction of troop leader Mrs. Edward Davis, the girls will stuff envelopes at their regular meeting April 23 as a part of their community service activities.

Those addressing envelopes are the Senior Citizens of Santa Ana and the Senior Citizens of Anaheim, two groups currently finishing up a combined total of 6,000 envelopes.

Mrs. Nathalie Panek, acting executive director of the Orange County Cancer Society, has asked for more help along these lines, either at home or in the branch office. Particularly needed is one person to dedicate his or her time to maintaining the Society's scrapbook.

Anaheim Beauty Queen To Get Las Vegas Trip

A round trip flight on the Hacienda Fiesta Tour to Las Vegas, is awaiting the winner of the Anaheim Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored Miss Anaheim Beauty Contest.

Project chairman, John Caran, reports that final arrangements have been made for the award which will go to the victor of the April 24 Pageant.

The trip will be on the deluxe campaign flight with over-night accommodations also a part of the award.

In announcing the prize, Caran urged all single local girls 18-years of age or older, to register for the beauty contest before the deadline of April 22.

Registrations may be made at the Chamber of Commerce office, 136 N. Los Angeles St.

Members of the local JayCees will also be on hand in the Broadway Shopping Center Mall from 7 through 9 p.m. tonight, to sign interested girls for the event.

Bill Will Allow for Deductions Of Money Put Into Retirement Fund

(Special to the Bulletin)

NEW YORK — Self-employed people in Orange County — shopkeepers, farmers, professional workers and others — are about to get some Federal tax relief, it appears.

They are to be allowed to make deductions, up to specified limits, for money they put away each year into their retirement or pension funds.

The relief measure, which has cleared the House Ways and Means Committee, is expected to be passed by a big margin when it reaches the floor of the House shortly. It is conceded a good chance of getting Senate approval as well.

The bill seeks to place self-employed workers on a par with the millions of other workers, who pay no taxes on funds placed in pension pools for them.

The number of self-employed in Orange County, who stand to benefit from the tax break, was set at 14,423 in the latest Census Bureau survey.

They amounted to 19.6 per cent of the total number of people with jobs, a high proportion compared with the 17.1 per cent in other United States areas and the 15.8 per cent in the Pacific States.

Locally, therefore, more of the working population is affected than is the case in other sections.

The bill provides that any self-employed person may deduct from his taxable income as much as 10 per cent of his self-employment earnings, up to a ceiling of $2,500, provided that the money is put into specified types of retirement plans.

This deduction could be taken for as many as 20 years, making possible a lifetime total of $50,000.

A special provision of the bill would enable those over age 50 to defer taxes on even more than $2,500 a year.

No tax would be paid on this income until the individual retires and starts drawing his money back. At that time, presumably, he would be in a tax-free position or, at least, in a low tax bracket.

According to figures released by the Treasury Department, the measure would give the self-employed a cut of $365 million a year, averaging $32 per person.

This average, if applied to Orange County, would yield a tax saving, locally, of $462,000 a year.

Los Alamitos Gets 362 New Homes in Tract

By Orange County News Service

Eight subdivisions, including one for 362 homes, have been approved by the County Board of Supervisors.

The large tract, with 362 lots on 114 acres, lies on the north side of Garden Grove Blvd., west of Los Alamitos Blvd., in the Los Alamitos area.

Three tracts have been authorized in Anaheim. A 24-home subdivision is planned for eight acres on both sides of Guinida Lane, in both directions from Iris St.

Another 15 houses are to be built on five acres situated on both sides of Ariel St., east of Knott Ave.

Twenty-four lots have been authorized on five acres lying on both sides of Monroe Ave., west of Wanda Rd., within the City of Orange.

At Brea, 27 lots have been created on 11 acres east of Puente Road, and south of the Los Angeles county line.

At Costa Mesa, 10 lots have been approved on two acres lying along both sides of Joanna St., east of Placentia Ave.

In Santa Ana, 90 houses are scheduled to be built on 23 acres, south of Fairview Ave., and east of Raitt St.

New Officers Elected For Anaheim JayCees

Lee Morris, 35, of 1808 Cerritos, was elected Anaheim Junior Chamber of Commerce President at a club meeting in the Home Savings and Loan Building, last night.

Morris will take over for Past President, Lou Francis, following the Installation Dinner set for April 25 in Harris' Restaurant.

Morris, an insurance man, has been in JayCee work for four years.

His wife Evelyn, is the newly elected President of the JayCettes.

Elected along with Morris were Ernest Atkinson, State Director. Atkinson is the Circulation manager of the Bulletin.

Elected to the Board of Directors were Bill Dean, Bob Andresen, Bernie Ginsburg, Durl Winteroth, Leonard Handel, Bulletin sports editor, Bob Shelton, executive secretary, Bob Averill, recording secretary and Bill Porter, treasurer.

Injury Suit Verdict Favors GG Motorist

By Orange County News Service

A superior jury has cast its decision in favor of a Garden Grove man in a $54,505 personal injury case.

The jury, hearing the case in the court of Superior Judge Karl Lynn Davis, decided in favor of Russell E. Holland 13351 Cypress.

The defendant, a Santa Ana cab driver at the time of the accident, William T. McKim, had alleged that Holland negligently crashed into the rear of his car as he drove down Main St. near 19th.

The defendant reportedly lost control of his vehicle and crashed into a retaining wall. He claimed he received brain, head, and other injuries.

Dixie Cup Plans Plant Expansion

An addition to its Anaheim plant that will cost upwards of $1,000,000 and increase space by almost 40 per cent was announced today by the Dixie Cup Division of American Can Company.

The addition will total 112,500 square feet of manufacturing space, 21 per cent more than the present 93,000 square feet devoted to manufacturing. It will bring total plant footage — for manufacturing, warehousing, offices and other purposes — to nearly 300,000 square feet.

C. L. Van Schaick, general manager of the Division, made the announcement in Easton, Pa., home of Dixie Cup's headquarters plant.

He also disclosed that the Anaheim plant, when the new addition is completed late this year, will produce a broader line of Dixie Cups.

The new addition will be attached to the east of the present building, which is at 901 E. South St. Present manufacturing space will be shifted over to warehousing.

The new structure will be of tilt-up concrete slab construction, a technique in which the walls are poured on the ground and lifted into place. It will have a gypsum roof and will be completely air-conditioned.

The general contractor, who already has begun work, is Myers Bros. Construction Company, Inc., Los Angeles. Air conditioning and plumbing will be installed under a joint contract by W. W. Price and Company, Glendale, and Scott Piping Company, Inc., North Hollywood. Arrow Electric, Anaheim will do the electrical work.

The Dixie Cup Anaheim plant has been in operation since 1952. The new addition will be the second. The first was in 1957, when 75,000 square feet of warehouse area was added.

Floating Life Jackets Discovered Off Avalon

AVALON (OCNS) — The Coast Guard told OCNS today that three life jackets were close together floating in the waters five miles off of Avalon.

A search of the area is under way.

Coast guardsmen said it is unusual to find three floating loose in one area. No reports of distressed boats has been received within the last 24 hours in the area. A search is being launched, however.

Depressed Oil Value Affects School Fund

By Orange County News Service

Decreased tax revenue for areas of the county dependent upon oil revenue was predicted today by Hugh Plumb, county assessor.

He said that the assessment upon mineral rights will show a drop during the coming year because of decreased production and lower prices for oil. The assessment on mineral rights, which is based upon a complex formula, totalled $107,000,000 last year. This figure represents about 10 per cent of the total assessed value of the county.

Hardest hit by the decrease in mineral right assessments will the cities and school districts in the Huntington Beach and Fullerton area.

In these two portions of the county, mineral rights represent a much larger portion of the assessed value than in other areas.

Income to cities and school districts is based upon the assessed value multiplied by the tax rate.

American Legion Post Protests Hanna Resolution

Harold Daoust, Adjutant of the Anaheim American Legion Post, has drawn up a resolution against the Assembly Constitutional Ammendment No. 8, submitted by Assemblyman Richard Hanna of the 75th Assembly District which seeks to alter the existent Levering Loyalty Oath.

According to the resolution, which was accepted by Anaheim Post 72 in session at a regular meeting, "The constitution of the State of California provides that all persons holding office or positions within the State Government and school systems, must subscribe to the American Principles," and "Such American Principles are adequately expressed in the Levering Loyalty Oath."

The Daoust resolution further states that Assembly Constitutional Ammendment No. 8 seeks to "eliminate all references to loyalty both to the United States Constitution and the Constitution of the State of California."

Copies of he resolution are being forwarded to the Department of California, the Governor, Speaker of the Legislature and the Board of Supervisors of Orange County.

The Levering Oath was originally voted into existence by a four to one majority, and it is felt that Hanna's ammendment is a betrayal of his constituent's wishes.

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International

Please, somebody, open up that starting gate so poor Pittsburgh and Detroit can get out.

Here the season is only a week old and the Pirates and Tigers already have hit rock bottom with identical 0-5 records. If they don't get a move on soon, you can put a big black asterisk in front of both entries denoting "left at the post."

Pittsburgh and Detroit can console themselves by recalling the 1951 Giants lost 11 in a row during April and still came on to win the pennant.

That isn't much consolation, though. Not when the Pirates remember they dropped their first eight games of the season in 1955 and finished last or when the Tigers think back to how they also wound up in the basement after losing their first eight games in 1952.

Cincinnati handed the Pirates their fifth straight loss, 10-5, Wednesday while unbeaten Cleveland stayed atop of the American League standings by dealing the Tigers their fifth consecutive setback, 2-1, in 10 innings.

Held's Homer Wins

The Yankees remained close at Cleveland's heels by beating Baltimore, 3-1, for their third straight triumph; the Athletics handed the White Sox their first loss of the campaign, 10-8, and the Red Sox beat the Senators, 7-2.

In the National League, the Dodgers licked the Cardinals, 5-0, and the Giants made it four out of five by defeating the Cubs, 7-1. The first-place Braves were idle, as were the Phillies.

Woodie Held's third homer in two days powered the Indians to their fourth straight victory in their 10-inning struggle with Detroit. Held, who blasted a pair of homers on Tuesday, stroked the game-winning smash Wednesday off Ray Narleski with two out in the 10th. Cal McLish, a 16-game winner last year, picked up his first victory of the current season by going the distance and scattering nine hits.

Little Bobby Richardson and southpaw Whitey Ford were the standouts in the Yankee triumph over the Orioles. Richardson lined a two-run double off loser Jack Harshman with two out in the ninth and Ford limited the Orioles to six hits in dealing them their third straight loss.

Rookie Pitcher Stars

Until the ninth, the Yanks managed only three hits off starter Hoyt Wilhelm and Harshman. Then with two out, Gil McDougald walked and moved to second on Andy Carey's bloop single. Both scored on Richardson's line smash to left field. The loss was Harshman's second of the season.

Bob Grim's grand-slam homer helped carry the A's to their first victory of the year after three losses in a row although the White Sox almost pulled the game out with a seven-run rally in the eighth. Grim, credited with the victory, belted his homer off loser Barry Latman and rookie Kent Hadley hit a two-run homer for the A's off Claude Raymond for what proved to be the winning margin in the fourth.

Shortstop Joe DeMaestri of KC was hit over the left ear by a Latman pitch in the third immediately after Grim's homer. X-rays showed no fracture although he was carried from the field on a stretcher.

Rookie pitcher Jerry Casale was pretty much the whole show in Boston's win over Washington. The Brooklyn-born right-hander doled out seven hits and clouted a 450-foot homer far over the left field screen with two on off loser Russ Kemmerer in the sixth.

Cepeda Homers Twice

The Reds had to battle from behind twice to down the Pirates. Cincinnati clinched the outcome with a five-run rally in the sixth inning during which Vada Pinson hit his second homer of the season with two on. Jerry Lynch and Ed Bailey also homered for the Reds while Don Hoak connected for a three-run homer for Pittsburgh. Joe Nuxhall, aided by Bob Mabe's scoreless three-inning relief stint, was the winner. Bob Friend gave up 11 of Cincinnati's 16 hits in 8 1-3 innings and was charged with his second loss in as many tries.

Don Drysdale of the Dodgers struck out seven and gave up eight hits in curbing the Cardinals. Loser Larry Jackson startled the crowd of 14,491 at Los Angeles Coliseum by striking out six of the first nine batters to face him, but the Dodgers put together four singles for two runs in the fourth. Don Demeter homered in the sixth and Jim Bazs in the seventh as the Cards suffered their fourth loss in five games.

Orlando Cepeda, "low-bridged" by Moe Drabowsky in the second inning, slammed a pair of homers off the Cub right-hander — one in the fourth and another in the fifth — to pace the Giants to their victory. Felipe Alou also homered for the Giants, raising his season total to three.

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli struck out six and yielded only five hits in gaining his second victory.

Records Fall Like Clay Pigeons During '59 Sportsmen's Show

Records fell apart like clay pigeons during the 11-day run of the Los Angeles Sportsmen's Vacation Show which ended its most successful run at Pan Pacific Auditorium.

Producer H. Werner Buck announced that more than 300,000 persons attended the huge recreational extravaganza, thereby topping all previous attendance marks of the 14-year old spectacle.

Buck declared that in the first two and one-half hours of the last day of the show (April 12) more people passed through the turnstiles than during the full 10 hours of the show on the same date the previous year.

Is Best Yet

Exhibitors enthusiastically proclaimed this year's as the best yet and reported record sales.

Besides the more than 600 exhibits which brought to the public thousands of sporting items and offered hundreds of services, the show this year was highlighted by the appearance of the fabulous Japanese Cormorants (wild birds trained to catch fish).

The appearance of the Cormorants in the "Parade of Outdoor Champions" was so over whelmingly accepted by the capacity crowds that daily witnessed the show that Buck immediately announced that all efforts would be made to bring to future sportsmen's shows outstanding international acts from different parts of the world.

Boomerangs, Yet

Buck said that already he had been in contact with the government of Australia in an effort to bring to the United States for the first time the famous Aborigines "and their spectacular boomerangs." He also indicated that efforts were underway to contract for appearances of the amazing spear throwers from the Philippine Islands, the fishermen net casters from Samoa and the world's champion Mexican pistol team from Mexico City.

Although the boating, trailer, camping and fishing tackle sections of the show were as big as ever before, Buck declared that already plans were afoot to provide larger exhibits in these catagories as well as the vacation portion which has taken on an international flavor with booths from as far north as Canada and Mexico.

The pattern of the show, which is designed to bring to the public the latest in outdoor equipment plus the best acts from the top sportsmen's shows in the country, Buck said, will continue the same. "We have always felt that this was a family type show where everyone from father to mother, big brother and sister, could come and enjoy several hours of relaxation and it is our aim to keep it this way," Buck said.

78 Eligible For Maturity Go

A total of 78 current three-year-olds have been kept eligible for next winter's 1960 running of the estimated $170,000 Santa Anita Maturity for four-year-olds.

Some fourteen of the Maturity eligibles have been nominated for all three "Triple Crown" events in 1959 — the Kentucky Derby, Preakness Stakes and Belmont Stakes. Moreover, 13 other eligibles for the Maturity have been nominated for at least one of the classic stakes for 3-year-olds.

Two outstanding Maturity nominees, which are also "Triple Crown" hopefuls, are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Turner, Jr.'s Tomy Lee and Brookfield Farm's Intentionally.

Tomy Lee won four stakes in 1958, including the Starlet Stakes at Hollywood and the Del Mar Futurity. Intentionally won three such events, including the Belmont Futurity and the Pimlico Futurity.

Other stakes-winners that are on the Maturity list are Charles Cohen's Crafty Skipper, Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Nelson's Linnold, the late Jacques Braunstein's Royal Orbit and W. M. Ingram's Scotland, as well as such place-winners in major events as King Ranch's Black Hills, Claiborne Farm's Dance, Helbush Farm's Friar Roach, and C. V. Whitney's Jungle Dancer.

Supplementary nominations at $10,000 each will be permitted for the 1960 running of the Maturity. Such payments are due five days before the running. Last Year's Maturity winner, Hillsdale, was a supplementary nominee.

At present the gross purse for the Maturity amounts to $127,490, based on original subscriptions plus two series of eligibility payments. The next eligibility payment of $200 is due on Jan. 2, 1960.

REAL RIDE — Nationally-famed cowboy star Harley May of Oakdale, Calif., gives bucking saddle bronc a real ride in kind of action to be seen at 33rd Annual Saugus-Newhall Rodeo April 25-26 at Saugus Stadium. More than 150 of nation's greatest cowhands will compete.

Teen Clouter In Olympic Go

In early wagering Urbina is listed as a 10-9 favorite over the former all-U.S. Army Airforce champion.

Although Hornsby lost his last two outings, he was in real tough, taking on two nationally ranked fighters — Paulie Armstead and Baby Vasquez.

Against Vasquez at the Olympic, Hornsby put the Mexico champ on the carpet, but couldn't keep him there. It was a blistering battle all the way.

Hornsby will be making his 13th pro start against Urbina, Mexico's No. 1 contender for Baby Vasquez' title. Urbina went to post 18 times, stopping 11 of his rivals, including Ezequiel (Chicles) Uribe.

Hornsby works at Lockheed in Burbank.

Popular prices prevail for both main events.

What are your chances of bowling a perfect (300) game? The American Bowling Congress, from 1906 to 1952 listed 4,340 scores of 300, 2367 games 299, and 1,745 games of 298. Now then, you figure out how many games of keglling were bowled in that period of time!

A 300 game is truly a distinguished feat. When you consider the astronomical number of lines bowled daily, it would seem to me that a 300 is far more rare than a no-hitter, a hole in one or even a four-minute mile.

To achieve this lofty score, it takes 12 consecutive strikes. What goes through a person's mind when they reach 10 . . . then 11? What happens to your legs . . . your complete co-ordination system?

I have seen amazing reactions. One bowler nearly collapsed after his twelfth strike, yet his composure was perfect until ten pins fell on his last try. I have seen bowlers get a five or six pin count to end up with a 295 or 296. To accomplish this in league play is a thrill I've never experienced, although we had a 300 in a match game. It is much tougher to roll a perfect game in league since you bowl at a slower pace.

Come by and see us at Anaheim's friendliest bowling center . . . LINBROOK BOWL, open 24 hours a day, completely air conditioned (additional air conditioning now being installed), with Coffee Shop, Dining Room and kiddie playroom and playground available, weekdays.

(Bulletin Sports Editor)

With the start of the major league baseball season chances are a real good that a certain breed of "fan" will once again make his presence known.

This is the "joker" who reports to all unfortunate enough to listen that he wants faster baseball.

Those close to the scene need no introduction to this person.

He is the one who appears in the columns of many sports-type writers but for some strange reason never appears at the park.

It would seem that the lad is nothing more nor less than a tool of the "experts" attempting to figure what is wrong with baseball.

Now, we will agree that the sport does leave something to be desired. Attendance figures have not been especially high in all cities, which has given many baseball men something to think about.

However, it does not seem logical that the fact that games take more than two hours has anything to do with this.

It would appear that if a feller were in a hurry he would not be going to a baseball game.

For some strange reason we have gained an opinion that a person attends a baseball game, not to set any speed records getting home.

It just might be that the people most interested in speeding up the game are those who would profit by it.

Make sense?

It figures that ball players and a few writers, too, would like to see the game stepped up so that it would shorten the work day.

Just ask yourself this question.

When YOU attend a ball game do you take any time to worry about how quick the game is progressing — or do you pay the most of your attention to what is transpiring on the field?

It might also be that one reason the lads are pointing the accusing finger at the wrong party.

As we have said before, there are a number of items hurting the game — but a time factor isn't one of them.

Baseball must realize that fans want topnotch performance — especially on the major league level and when they get this how long the contest takes means little or nothing.

True, some games make a fan believe he has been in the park since the year before the Crimean War.

But this is not what is being discussed.

We believe that the "old saw" which tells of fans wanting games stepped up in pace is little more than the wishes of those who play and some who write.

SPONSORS NEEDED

Lloyd Trapp, the heavy-hitting member of the Anaheim Park and Recreation Department is worried.

Lloyd reports that sponsors for the Park and Recreation Department-led summer program are rather hard to find.

For the small sum of 45 dollars, a club, service group or business firm can sponsor 15 lads.

This program is one of the best in Southern California and deserves the support of all.

Each summer this project affords large numbers of local youths the opportunity to compete in a program which shows them the best way to get started in the athletic whirl.

In addition to this the groups so sponsoring will be able to place their name in front of the public throughout the summer months.

Bomb-Throwing Sonny Liston Seeks Bout With Patterson

By ANDREW REESE JR.
United Press International

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Sonny Liston, a bomb - throwing heavyweight contender from Philadelphia by way of St. Louis, today was clamoring for a fight with anybody, including champion Floyd Patterson.

Liston, because of his impressive record, has had trouble finding suitable opponents in recent months. And his search figures to get tougher considering the easy manner in which he demolished rugged Cleveland Williams of Houston, Tex., Wednesday night in a nationally televised bout.

Warming up quickly after a slow start, Liston was awarded a technical knockout over Williams at 2:04 of the third round after flooring his taller rival twice earlier in the session.

It was the 24th victory in 25 pro fights for Liston, who is ranked fourth in the heavyweight division behind Ingemar Johansson, Zora Folley and Henry Cooper. Liston weighed 212¼ pounds to Williams' 210¼.

"We're ready for anybody now," said Liston's manager, Pep Barone, in the dressing room. "My guy will even fight Patterson if he's willing."

Lison, a 3-1 favorite, dropped Williams for an eight-count with a solid left hook in the third round. Williams went down again seconds later under a barrage of punches and struggled to his feet at the count of nine. That's when referee Jimmy Peerless halted the fight to save Williams from further punishment.

"I got the idea that I could slug him," said Wilhams, who suffered his first defeat in his last 12 starts and only the third of his 47-fight career. "That's where I made my mistake."

Win Clark Dies; Was Baseball Official

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Win Clark, secretary of the Association of Professional Ballplayers of America (APBA) for 20 years, died Wednesday night at Good Samaritan Hospital.

American League Hurlers Given Short Reprieve

BOSTON (UPI) — American League pitchers will have another two to three weeks to polish their form. Ted won't be back for at least that long.

Ted, of course, is Theodore Samuel Williams of the San Diego Williamses. And while a doctor's report Wednesday was dark news for Williams and the Boston Red Sox, it must have been met with relief by every opposing pitcher in the league.

Dr. Charles A. Fager announced after inspecting Ted's pinched neck nerve that the 40-year - old slugger won't be able to begin workouts for at least another 7 to 10 days. His return to the Boston lineup wasn't expected for another two to three weeks.

Dr. Fager said that while Williams was "doing very well" he would have to continue to wear a protective neck collar four to six hours a day for the next week to 10 days.

After that, "if all goes well," said the Boston neurosurgeon, Williams would be able to discard the collar and "start active training."

Williams, six - time American League batting king who owns a .349 lifetime average since coming into the league 20 years ago, has already missed three Boston games.

He entered the New England Baptist Hospital for treatment of the injury, suffered in spring training, two weeks ago. He was discharged last week wearing the protective collar.

New Wrestling Loop Seen in Orange County

SANTA ANA — Formation of an Orange County wrestling Conference for prep grapplers is a step nearer reality today following a meeting at Mater Dei High School last night.

Attending were representatives from Anaheim and Western High Schools, plus Fullerton, Mater Dei, Santa Ana, Valencia and Valley High (Santa Ana).

Representing Anaheim was John Tonti while Jerry Humrighouse represented Western.

A second meeting will be held Monday evening in the home of Mater Dei's Dick Coury at which time a rough draft of a League bylaws will be made.

RIDES FOUR WINNERS

Mater Dei Baseballers Tiff Mary Star Squad

By BOB LUSKEY

Out to protect their lead in the Parochial League pennant race, Mater Dei will take on strong Mary Star of the Sea tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 in a crucial loop encounter slated for Peck Park in San Pedro.

This will be the second meeting of the year between the two clubs although no decision was reached when they first met March 18, in Santa Ana.

On that date, the Monarchs and Stars fought to a disappointing 10 inning tie before calling it "quits." The make-up of that deadlocked game will take place on Thursday, April 30.

Mary Star was an early pick, along with defending champ Pomona Catholic, for the 1959 Parochial League horsehide crown. However, two dark horses, Mater Dei and St. Paul's, have come on strong to give the two favorites more than their share of trouble.

Lead League

At present Mater Dei and Pomona lead the league with five wins and one loss. Next in line is surprising St. Paul High of Santa Fe Springs with a 4 and 2 record. Mary Star has had considerable difficulty in getting its title fight off the ground, having run up an unimpressive three-win, three-loss record.

Mater Dei's wins are over Pomona 10 to 4; San Gabriel Mission 8 to 4; St. Francis 12 to 1; St. John Vianney 6 to 0 and 1 to 0. That latter 1 to 0 victory over Vianney was via the forfeit route. Actually, the Nobles and Monarchs tied 6-6, but an out of hand argument between the umpire and St. John coach caused the former to call the game a forfeiture in favor of Mater Dei. The Monarchs' only setback came at the hands of St. Paul's 4-2.

Major Share

Monarch head baseball coach, Pat Roberts places the major share of credit for the Orange Countians' fine showing so far this season on the sophomores on his squad.

Men such as ace pitcher John Huarte, catcher Bill Brennen, short stop Mike Adams and outfielder Mike Layton have been pacing the locals this year, both at the plate and on the pitching mound.

Layton, Adams, and Brennen have been the big noise in the Monarch hitting attack while Huarte, who hails from Anaheim, is 5-1 on the mound.

This sophomore talent combined with the old main stay Monarchs such as second baseman Paul Gentleman, center fielder Al Gonzales, and catcher Bob Webber, have molded the Monarchs into a formidable club.

Scheduled to pitch in tomorrow's Mary Star contest, is Jack Neal. However, any of the other two regular MD chuckers, Dennis Fraser or Huarte, are liable to last minute calls.

Power hitter Al Gonzales will be back with the Monarchs come tomorrow, after a week long stretch of ineligibility. Gonzales is presently leading the locals' homer output with three four masters. Huarte and Layton both have one round tripper apiece to follow Gonzales.

After tomorrow's away game, the Monarchs will return to Memorial Park in Santa Ana to tackle San Gabriel Mission next Tuesday afternoon.

Chapman Takes Jockey Lead At Alamitos

LOS ALAMITOS — Kenneth Chapman, a 29-year-old race rider from Charles City, Iowa, was back in an old and familiar spot today — atop the jockey standings at Los Alamitos Race Course.

Chapman, leading rider at Los Alamitos in 1957, and a perennial contender for the title, took over the top spot yesterday before 6,022 fans, with his third riding double of the meeting.

That riding double brought his total for the first five days to six winners and gave him a one-up lead on Efrain Garza, himself a two - time Los Alamitos riding champion.

Chapman, who started off the day with a winner aboard favored General Doug in the first race, took over the riding lead with a smashing nose triumph aboard Ricardo Loustaunau's Sire Now in the featured Rossmoor Purse.

Sure Now, the first horse ever to hang a defeat on famed Go Man Go, made his first start of the year a winning one at the expense of Easter Maiden and Dandy Bar, as heavily backed Vandy's Flash wound up fourth in the eight horse field.

Overlooked in the wagering, Sure Now paid $24.90, $15.80 and $6.70 across the board after racing the 350 yards in 18.2 over a dull track. Easter Maiden paid $8.60 and $4.10 and Dandy Bar $3.90.

General Doug was one of four winning favorites. The others were Bob Fish at $6.60 in the third, Soleona at $5.90 in the fifth, and Snooper Lee at $6.60 in the sixth.

Sharp Anaheim Tracksters Face Huntington Tomorrow

With an increasing number of impressing victories behind them, Coach Bob Hager's Anaheim Colonist track squad will meet a spirited Huntington Beach gasper crew on the local cinder path tomorrow. Meet time is slated for 3 p.m., with a good turnout expected.

Anaheim, which defeated Fullerton in their most recent Sunset League event, has been showing fine form during the past few weeks and it is believed that they will be ready to give the Oilers a rugged afternoon should each local athlete be in shape for the meet.

Paced by such good men as Denis Vollom, Bob McPhillips, Bill Smith, Mickey Castricone, Gary Shepard, George Bragg, Bill Crain and Gary Dow, the Colonists are expected to enter a slight favorite over a Huntington club which could pull the upset of the season should they drop Hager's squad.

Dash Ace

Smith, who is the dash specialist for Colonyville will have his work cut out for him come meet time.

Pacing the Oiler drive are a number of good men who have earned a big name for themselves during earlier Loop meets, and other track contests.

Another man who will be forced to exert a real effort is Bill Crain, mile ace, who will likewise have to display his best try if he is to come through with a decision.

They are rated as one of the better crews in the Orange County area, but those close to the local track scene have expressed the opinion that the visitors tomorrow could give Anaheim a tight fight right down to the final event.

Odd Things Happen; Dodgers Finally Win

By ALEX KAHN
United Press International

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Dodgers had that wonderful feeling as they prepared to close out their first series with the cardinals tonight after having shut them out 5-0, last night.

With joy reigning supreme, Mgr. Walt Alston named Sandy Koufax to start in the hope he could make it two in a row. Koufax is 0–0, although he started against the Cubs last Sunday.

Opposing him will be Ernie Broglio, the Oakland, Calif., rookie who dropped his first start to the Giants.

Alston revealed he probably would use slugger Duke Snider in right field tonight to rest rookie Ron Fairly, who went hitless Wednesday night.

Gaiety Prevails

In contrast to Tuesday night when the gloom was heavy in the Dodger clubhouse after they dropped the home opener to the Cards, gaiety prevailed there Wednesday night with Don Drysdale the center of attention for his shutout.

"I didn't feel very good when I was warming up," the lanky, Van Nuys youngster said after the game. "But when I started working I was on top of the batters almost all the way."

Although Alston was pleased with his star's performance, he insisted that Drysdale buy a round of soft drinks for the entire squad for failing to cover first base in the eighth inning on Gino Cimoli's infield grounder that went for a base hit.

The Dodgers won the game in the fourth when four singles pushed across two runs, but the big blows and only extra base hits of the game were lead-off homers in the sixth and seventh by Don Demeter and rookie third baseman Jim Baxes.

Musial Thrown Out At Plate

The Cardinals came closest to scoring in their half of the sixth when Stan Musial, Ken Boyer and Joe Cunningham all singled with two away. Musial raced for home on Cunningham's liner to centerfield but Demeter threw a strike to the plate and he was tagged out.

Rookie Cardinal Mgr. Solly Hemus protested so violently Musial was safe that umpire Dusty Boggess threw him out of the game.

Larry Jackson was charged with the loss although he struck out nine Dodgers including the side in the first inning, but weakened in the fourth and was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

Buffalo Bisons Snare Victory Over Hershey

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Two goals by Eddie Kachur sparked the Buffalo Bisons to a 4-1 victory over the Hershey Bears Wednesday night in the opening game of the final round of the American Hockey League's Calder Cup play-offs.

Billy Dea of Buffalo and Arnie Kullman of the Bears matched first-period scores, but after that the Bisons dominated the play.

Kachur clicked for his first goal of the game at 16:38 of the second period and that actually was all the Bisons needed. However, Bill Dineen tallied another goal at 5:48 of the third period and 19 seconds later Kachur hit again on a solo to wrap it up.

Babe Ruth Tryouts Set for Saturday

West naheim Babe Ruth officials announced today that tryouts for the 13-year-old baseball clubs will be held during the next two Saurdays at Western High School.

All boys in the Brookhurst, Trident, Servite, or Western High Schools areas who are 13-15 years of age are urged to attend.

This Saturday the 13-year old lads will receive their tryouts, while the older boys will receive their chance the following week.

A special one will be conducted May 2 for those who could not attend the first two.

Hours are from 9 a.m. through 3 p.m.

Loop President is Bill Odowick.

OUT OF RACE

PHILADELPHIA, (UPI)—Harry Litwack removed himself from the race for the vacant Philadelphia Warriors coaching post Wednesday when he said he would remain as basketball coach at Temple University.

Order Montreal To Win Quickly

TORONTO, Ont. (UPI) — The Montreal Canadiens were under orders today to make quick work of the Toronto Maple Leafs, a team which to a man believes their Coach Punch Imlach when he says, "You'll win the Stanley Cup."

Montreal Coach Toe Blake, still morose over the 3-2 overtime loss Tuesday night that cut the Canadiens lead to 2-1 in games in the final round, told his players to beat Toronto today and again in Montreal on Saturday.

Blake wasn't talking publicly himself, but several players said he wanted it finished off quickly.

Apparently Blake, who is trying for a record four straight championships, is worried about the comeback capabilities of the Leafs, who found themselves in an identical situation when they were behind, 2-0, in games to Boston and won the semi-final, 4-3. That time, too, they won the crucial third game, 3-2, in overtime.

Blake will have to finish the series without one of his superstars, injured center Jean Beliveau, and apparently won't be able to use the highest scorer of all time, Maurice Richard, except in emergencies.

Phillies' Move Doesn't Excite 'Fans' of Club

NEW YORK (UPI) — A statement by the mayor of Philadelphia that the Philadelphia Phillies are "discussing" moving to New York didn't appear to be generating much excitement here today.

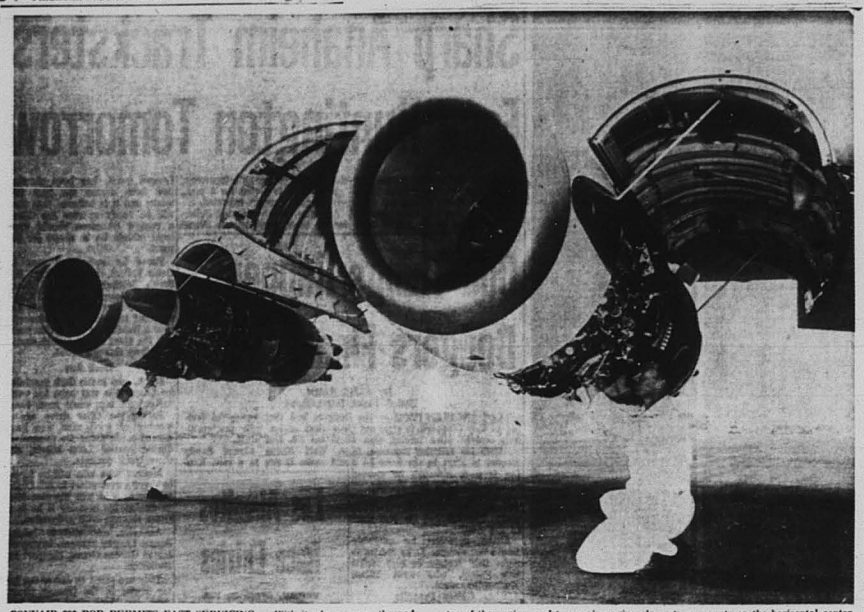

Mayor Richardson Dilworth said Wednesday in Philadelphia he had been told that Bob Carpenter, owner of the Phillies, had been meeting with Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York to talk over the possibility of a shift.

But Wagner and a spokesman for Carpenter both denied such meetings have been held.

Wagner did state that William Shea, chairman of the special committee which Wagner has appointed to bring another major league team to this city, has spoken to Carpenter "more than once." But there was no indication any of these talks were held recently.

Carpenter's spokesman said the Phils' owner told Shea some 18 months ago he "wasn't interested" in moving the Phils to New York.

And only last week Shea said that he thinks plans for a third major league were the "best possibility" of bringing another team here soon.

Law In the News

In "escrow" you deposit money, documents, or both, with a holder, who is really a "stake-holder".

In a real estate transaction, for example, the escrow holder gets money and paper from you, the buyer; and he gets papers from the seller, and he carries out instructions of both. As a rule, the escrow instructions come from both seller and buyer and tell the escrow holders what to do and when.

The seller may tell the escrow holder: To order a policy of title insurance; pro-rate real estate taxes, rents, insurance; record the deed; pay the real estate fee; and pay proceeds to the seller, etc.

Th buyer may tell the escrow holder: To pro-rate real estate taxes, rents, insurance; receive money from the buyer; pay the seller at close of escrow; receive and record the deed from the seller; etc.

An escrow helps greatly in buying and selling land and homes. Suppose a broker finds a buyer for your place who may not want to pay in full until you can give him clear title. So you agree on terms, and both of you use the escrow to put the deal through.

As a go-between, the escrow holder's chief value is to carry out instructions impartially. He cannot, for example, tell you whether your deal is a good one or advise you about the law.

For example, a man or wife may take title to their home in many ways, such as in joint tenancy, as community property, or as separate property. This often affects the taxes you pay, the way they own the property between them, how their estate will be handled upon death, and their property rights in case of divorce. The escrow man may see that the title is passed the way you ask, but he would go too far to advise you about how it will work out, a hard thing to do in these days of high taxes and changing values.

As a rule, work out most deals before you open the escrow. Look with great care at "preliminary arrangements," "deposit receipts" or escrow instructions. For such papers are often binding contracts and not mere formalities.

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — William Higgins and Sons, Inc., shelled out $1,075 for an auto license. It was for their 215,000-pound capacity flat bed trailer which had to be registered at $2.50 per 500 pounds.

TELL SUPERHIGHWAY TO HIT THE ROAD

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Almost every community in the state wants to be on "Interstate 64," a new east - west superhighway to be built in Virginia, but not Albemarle County.

Albermarle consists of lush, rolling countryside which its citizens fear would be marred by a busy, modern road.

The State Highway Commission recently received a petition signed by 1,592 residents of the county saying they don't want any part of the superhighway.

"I urge that the state flower not be changed from the dogwood to the concrete cloverleaf," said spokesman John Rogan. He warned that a highway through Albemarle would spoil the traditional fox hunts, horse shows and garden club activities.

TB Ward Prisoner Recaptured for County

SANTA ANA (OCNS) — Back in custody at the Orange County jail is 32 - year - old Toribio R. Gusman, 9272 Batavia, who escaped from the Orange County Hospital Tuberculosis Ward Monday morning.

He was apprehended in Visalia yesterday by authorities there and transferred to the jail.

Gusman was serving a non - support sentence and was moved to the hospital March 5.

Agencies all over the state had been alerted to his escape.

Sgt. Theodore L. Natividad, C Company, 161st Armored Infantry Battalion, has been chosen "Soldier of the Month" for the company.

Natividad, who resides at 218 S. Clementine, was chosen top man from the sixty plus men in Company C. His Platoon, the Mortar Platoon, is commanded by Lt. John Weir, 8501 Knott Ave., Buena Park.

"With a splendid record of attendance and performance during his 39 months of service with the California National Guard, Sgt. Natividad has been a fine example to his men," commented Lt. John Joye, 253 Foxdale Ave., La Habra, commanding officer of the unit.

Sgt. Natividad who is employed with Electra Motors, recently became the father of an eight pound 12 ounce boy.

STAFF SGT. LACY
. . . receives commendation

Acting Staff Sergeant John J. Lacy, USMC, was commended March 10 for his outstanding performance of duty as Administrative Chief with the Headquarters Group, a unit of the 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing at the Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N.C.

Lacy is the son of Mrs. Hattie M. Lacy of 8890 Brookhurst Ave., Anaheim, and husband of the former Miss Alice M. Brunk of Savannah, Mo.

Before enlisting in the Marine Corps in July 1955, Sgt. Lacy graduated from Guard Business University.

Midshipman Gus L. Keolanui, USN, visited the U.S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn., this weekend as one of ten Naval Academy men at New London to participate in the exchange weekend program among the four armed forces academies.

Midshipman Keolanui is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Bittenbender of this city. He is a graduate of Long Beach Poly High School in Long Beach.

The purpose of the exchange visits is to offer cadets of each service an orientation and appreciation of other service academies, to provide them an opportunity for establishing close personal relationships with members of those academies; and to promote a better understanding and cooperation between the future officers of the Armed forces.

Exchange visits between West Point and Annapolis are a well established custom. However, the New London and Colorado Springs academies are participating this year for the the first time. This expanded program is a result of the first conference of superintendents of the service academies which was held in New London last April.

Private Donald L. Peters, U.S. Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Peters, 6931, Savanna, completed the eight - week anti-aircraft artillery remote - control repair course April 3, at the Ordnance School, Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md.

Peters was trained to assist in the inspection testing, repair and maintenance of remote control equipment.

He entered the Army last September and received basic combat training at Fort Ord.

The 22-year-old soldier is a 1954 graduate of Anaheim Union High School and was employed by Dixie Cup Co., before entering the Army.

Private Harry G. Kentopian, U.S. Army, son of Mrs. Irene Kentopian, 1122 W. Broadway, is scheduled to complete the final phase of six months active military training April 23, under the Reserve Forces Act program at Fort Eustis, Va.

He is scheduled to spend the remainder of his military service with the 477th Transportation Company in Santa Ana.

Before going on active duty, Kentopian was employed by Hunt Foods Inc., Fullerton. He is a 1955 graduate of South Shore High School, Chicago.

AT SEA — Robert L. Saska, Machinist Mate third class, USN, who is serving aboard the USS Pollux, navy cargo vessel, checks a fuel oil pump in the engine room of the Pollux while the ship is under way from Japan to the Philippines. Saska is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard L. Saska, 857 S. Helena. The Pollux is a supply ship attached to the U.S. Seventh Fleet operating in the Pacific. She is one of two such vessels supplying dry stores to the fleet. A 1956 graduate of Anaheim Union High School, Saska entered the Navy in July of that year. He has been aboard the Pollux since March 1957. (Official U.S. Navy Photograph)

Bizarre Illnesses Often Show Resentments

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Since people often put their resentments into "the language of organs," such as "she gives me a pain in the neck" and "what a headache this job is," it is not surprising their hidden resentments get expressed in the same language — in bizarre illnesses.

So advised an authority in psychosomatic science in giving doctors who think of people as "machines" operated by their hands and chemistry. A close-up view of how very complicated people can be when they produce physical symptoms of illness which have symbolic meaning to their emotions.

The symptoms make no sense if you consider the body only a "physico-chemical machine," especially when examination and laboratory tests reveal no cause for the symptoms. Yet these people stand still for all sorts of tests and examinations, in fact demand them, and go so far as to want surgery.

Product Of Conflicts

These patients don't recognize it but their physical symptoms are caused by the difficulties they have had or are having with other people and their personal situations, he said. They get personal advantages in expressing these conflicts in terms of illness rather than by recognizing them for what they are.

For one thing, "the physically ill person is excused from responsibility, blame and failure and is treated, at least for a time, with sympathy and kindness." For another, he can pass all responsibility on to the doctor if he describes his difficulties "in terms of the physico-chemical machine."

The doctor "could talk directly about the patient's masked and hidden feelings and make the patient aware of their inappropriateness to the present situation," and to the degree he succeeds, "he will diminish the patient's anxiety and give him an opportunity to become more nearly adult."

But "the physician is a product of the same culture that produces the patient. He hesitates to listen to a patient's recital of intimate personal events and feelings."

Anyway "the power of suggestion is greatly over-rated. If patients with emotional problems could be cured of their difficulties by suggestion, so many would not continue to inhabit physicians' offices," Faucett continued in a lecture in the technical journal, "Minnesota Medicine."

What the physician should do is simply tell the patient his symptoms are not due to any organic illness and then explain they come from his unrecognized emotional problems which somehow he must solve. Some will see the point and these can be encouraged to talk about themselves "to a spouse, a friend, a minister, the physician, or a psychiatrist."

Your car and the law

From the Department of Motor Vehicles

For most California motorists, a silver - white reflectorized sticker with a bit of black type ("California — 1959") attached firmly to the rear plate of the car, means "Renewal" for the year's driving.

The majority of renewals are applied for on or before February 4 of each year, under a deadline established in law. The number of applications received to that date by DMV throughout the State in 1959 was 6,912,095. Of these, 3,718,480 were brought into DMV's 130 field offices. Temporary registration stations for punched - card renewals, set up in banks throughout the State, produced another 1,390,401. People who applied early (when they bought cars in December, 1958, or for other reasons) added 341,963 to these. Mail applications that came to Sacramento DMV headquarters number 519,560.

The fees collected through the end of February, 1959, amounted to $172,000,000. Half of this budgeted for highway purposes; State law enforcement activity and emergency safety services of the California Highway Patrol; and for the registration, licensing, driver testing, financial responsibility functions related to accident cases, and identification record-keeping services of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

The other half is divided between cities and counties for general public purposes. Local units are not permitted to put property taxes on motor vehicles. And your own daily driving experience tells you that State, city, and county alike have plenty of headache types of problems caused by the current and rising flood of motor vehicles. In California, in fact, there is a rising urgency market for all the services supported by vehicle fees. The key to this is the general demand for increasing the public safety on the highways — and for action against the negligent and unsafe driver or owner.

By the end of 1959, the grand total of vehicles registered for operation on California highways will be higher by a good million than the number "renewed" at the start of the year. The additions will be new vehicles, out - of - state vehicles, and seasonal operated cars and trucks. This means the funds, too, will ripe, to approach the quarter-of-a-billion mark by the end of '59.

Countians Seek UN For Summit Meeting

Warrants to the amount of $583,000 were approved by the City Council last night, with one exception, that being payment to the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce of $2,588.20 asked for services to the city in distribution of factual and statistical material. Councilman Bob Borden suggested Council hold up payment on two items on the Chamber list, questioning whether they came under the classification of service to the city by dissemination of factual and statistical data.

The items in question were $759.20 for Downtown Anaheim signs, and $160 for Anaheim Dollar Day street banners. Councilman Borden said he questioned this as being a service to the city rather than a service to the downtown merchants.

Orange Couple Sues For La Habra Accident

C. H. Robinson and his wife, Ada May, 544 N. Glassel, charge they were both seriously hurt in a two - car crash April 20 of last year on Hacienda and Valley Blvd. near La Habra.

Named as defendants in the case are Maraget Anderson, reportedly the owner of the second vehicle involved in the collision, and Jimmie Dale Hodges, who was driving the car.

Oregon to Enter California Jumping Frog Event

PENDLETON — Things will be jumping here — frogs at least — on May 1.

That's when the Oregon Centennial Jumping Frog contest will be held in Pendleton. The winner will be entered in the famous Jumping Frog Jubilee at Angels Camp, Calif.

The Oregon event is sponsored by the Pendleton Roundup Association and the Pendleton Chamber of Commerce. The contest will be held at 6 p.m. on Main Street. Plans for the contest were announced by Ford Robertson, Chamber of Commerce representative.

"May 1 will be a big day in Pendleton," he declared. "The jumping frog champion of Oregon will be selected and started on the way to Angels Camp where the national contest opens May 14."

"The world's jumping record is only 16 feet nine inches," Robertson added. "We've got frogs on the banks of the Umatilla river that can jump that far without half trying."

Robertson also explained that all Oregon frogs are eligible.

"We'll even provide frogs for persons desiring to enter the Centennial contest," he said. "Of course there will be a small fee."

According to Robertson it was decided to stage the Centennial event after the Pendleton Roundup association was challenged by Angels Camp Jumping Frog Jubilee officials to enter an Oregon frog in the California contest.

Conspicuous 'Tail'

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — A Buffalo motorist was happy when two policemen flagged him down for going the wrong way on a one-way street. He had witnessed a purse snatching and was trailing Flenory Jones, 25, who was quickly arrested by the officers.

Disneyland, Knotts Face Personal Injury Suits

By Orange County News Service

Anne Buchanan Bates is asking the court for damages of $10,228 for injuries received in a fall at Disneyland April 20, 1958. The woman claims she fell while attempting to board a boat at the Anaheim amusement center. She reportedly landed on her side, head, shoulders, and hip, it is explained.

Knott's Berry Farm in Buena Park is the defendant in a $15,000 suit filed by Helen K. Corrington. The plaintiff claims she stumbled and fell on a sidewalk outside of the basket shop.

CRITICS SKUNKED

Skunk-Fur Toupee Gives Him 'Class'

It all started when Bishop kidded co - worker Pearl Thompson about her new fur jacket. Bishop remarked that the jacket looked like skunk fur, and he needed a toupee of the same material to keep his bald head warm.

Miss Thompson spoke to a furrier, who agreed to make the headpiece. Then she measured Bishop's head. He, of course, thought she was joking.

But when she brought the new skunk - fur toupee to the office and put it on Bishop's head, the joke was on him.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — A man-in-the-street poll on the question of 'who will win the National League pennant in 1959?' found one man picking "New York."

Notes by the Eavesdropper

Paul and Lee Benson, who were residents of Stanton before moving to Thousand Palms several years ago, moved back to their Stanton property at Fern and Cerritos Street, Stanton, last week end. On Monday, Paul suffered a stroke of paralysis and was taken to Orange County Hospital where he was placed on the critical list.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Frazier, 8741 Western Ave., Buena Park, had as their dinner guest on Monday evening, Rhea Hewlitt, a boyhood friend of Frazier in Oklahoma. He and his wife and children have been living in Marysville but are moving to Southern California. Hewlitt is now working for his son, Dr. Zane Hewlitt, La Habra veterinarian.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sanders, 5802 Lincoln Ave., Cypress, plan to attend the square dance convention in Las Vegas this coming week end. They have made reservations at the Sahara.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Taylor, 10641 Flower St., Stanton, left on Wednesday of last week by plane for Bloomington, Ga., where they are visiting their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Taylor. They plan to be away for three months and will visit other relatives in Georgia and Arkansas including their daughter and family, the Ross Brewers in Arkadelphia, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoyt and sons Arnie and Bryan, 5411 DeLong St., Cypress, and Mrs. Hoyt's mother, Mrs. A. E. Arnold, also of Cypress, were among a group who spent the week end enjoying the skiing at Mammouth Lakes area.

Earl Travers, 7461 Crescent Ave., Buena Park, underwent surgery in Garden Park Hospital on Saturday. He is reported as convalescing satisfactorily.

Mrs. Kathryn (Mickey) Thomas former Cypress resident who now lives in Artesia, underwent surgery in St. Helen's Hospital in Bellflower last week. She is the noble grand of the Cypress Busy Bee Rebekah Lodge.

The Western High School PTA, which was scheduled to meet tonight, has postponed its meeting until April 30 when they will be serving their annual barbecued ham dinner, their one big fund raising project of the year. At that time the school will be holding Public Schools Week. Also on the program will be a drill by the Western Silhouettes.

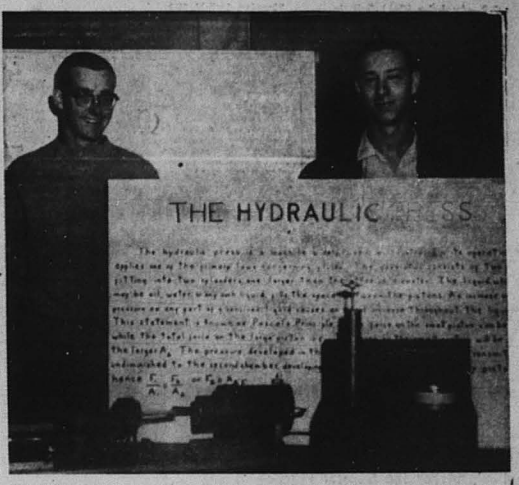

Elected as delegates to the Department Encampment to be held in San Jose June 14-18 are members of the Cypress VFW Auxiliary, Beatrice Hahn, Helene Oldfield and Arliss Rogers. Alternates will be Ruth Lockman, Julia Bouse and Katie Sanders.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gourlay and small son of Santa Rosa, spent a few days visiting Mrs. Gourlay's parents, the Elmer McWilliams, 5561 Bishop St., Cypress, before continuing on to the guided missile base at Ft. Bliss, Tex. where Gourlay has been transferred. Their daughter, Charlene will remain with friends in Santa Rosa until school is out.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shepherd, 2420 Flower St., Fuller Park, have as their guests for several days, their niece, Mrs. Rex Spraggins and children, Kathy, Mike and Edward, of Dallas, Tex. Her husband is in the service and recently reenlisted. Mrs. Spraggins will visit a number of relatives in the vicinity before returning home.

Word comes from Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Corby, Cypress residents for many years, that they are enjoying trailer park life in Mesa, Ariz. at the present time. They are seeking a climate beneficial to Mrs. Corby's health.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Dodge and children, 7611 11th St., Buena Park, spent last week end in their cabin in Trabuco Canyon. Next week end the Lee Crouches of Stanton will occupy the cabin.

EMBRYO SCIENTISTS—"I press my own clothes with my hydraulic press," says Mike Froman (right). "So what, I look into other people's houses with my X-ray machine," retorts Marshall Turner (left). Boys in discussions are seniors at Rancho Alamitos and the projects in question are entered in the Science Fair to be held in conjunction with Open House on April 28. Both projects really operate. Marshall Turner was sweepstakes winner last year. Winners will be announced at the Fair.

Richard Hanna Explains Bill To Clubwomen

CYPRESS — The Cypress Community Club met on Tuesday afternoon at 12:30 p.m. in the recreation room of the Cypress Park. A dessert was served prior to the meeting by the hostesses, Mmes. Arthur Collins, Donald DeWitt, C. E. Denney and Martin Olsthoorn.

A letter was read from Assemblyman Richard T. Hanna in reply to one written to him by the club protesting the closing of the county fairs in the state. He explained the bill more fully and while he was not in favor of the closing of the county fairs he felt that the funds allocated for them should be placed in the general fund and drawn upon as needed since once a fund is budgeted for [illegible] used for any other purpose and often the money could be put to better use elsewhere. Letters have also been received regarding the same bill from Assemblyman Bruce Sumner and State Senator John Murdy Jr.

Mrs. Robert Hoyt, chairman of the local drive for funds for crippled children, reported that the Cub Scouts had sold Easter Lilies for two hours and together with the money from coin collectors placed in business establishments in the community, $50 had been turned in.

A report on the recent meeting of the Cypress Park Board stated that plans are being made for a swimming pool which can be used the year round and that a summer playground program will be maintained with the Cypress School furnishing the director.

The mystery prize was won by Mrs. Dick Bakker and the hostess prize went to Mrs. Frank Noe. Mrs. Denney gave the Thought for the Day.

Hostesses for next month's meeting, Mrs. Eugene Kelley and Mrs. Murton Jones announced that it will be held at Arnold's Farm House at 1 p.m. on May 12.

29 NAMED IN SUIT FOR FLOOD CONTROL LAND

By Orange County News Service

Twenty defendants are named in an eminent domain action that has been filed in superior court by the Orange County Flood Control District.

Sought in the action is property for the Carbon Creek diversion channel from a point 800 feet south of the Riverside Freeway to La Palma approximately 400 feet east of Dowling.

Rancho Alamitos High Prepares Open House

GARDEN GROVE — In conjunction with Public Schools Week April 27-May 1, Rancho Alamitos High School will hold Open House Tuesday, April 28, from 8 to 10 p.m. A Science Fair exhibiting hundreds of student projects will be one of the featured attractions of the evening.

A short program preceding Open House will be held at 7:30 in the gymnasium with Mike Howard, student body president, presiding. Richard L. Bivin, principal, will be introduced and Richard Haster, Master of the Garden Grove Masonic Lodge, will give a welcome address.

Open House will be held in all classrooms after the program. Students' work will be on display and parents will have an opportunity to meet the faculty. A printed program will be given so that visitors will know the time and place of [illegible] presentations. Included will be a mock meeting of the United Nations Security Council, a debate on the Berlin crisis, spellidowns, a one-act play, a Spanish play, and a social studies track meet.

Science Fair entries will include charts, collections, static models, operating models, and controlled experiments in five categories of biological and physical science. Also, in connection with the science exhibits will be a mathematics section this year. Students will be on hand to demonstrate all working models and for the controlled experiments.

A sweepstakes ribbon will be awarded to the outstanding project in the fair, and first, second, and third place ribbons will be given in each section. Winning projects will be entered in the Orange County Science Fair at Santa Ana College May 13-16.

Faculty committee in charge includes: Mrs. Josephine Aten, chairman; Harry Andersen, Mrs. Isabel James, Sam Wellbaum, Miss Carol Ulvildem, Miss Susie Potts, and Bill Rasnham.

Yorba Lindans Tour Southern States

YORBA LINDA — After reading up on historical landmarks and other interesting sites to visit in the southern states, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Wagner found that the brochures and books were colorless compared to the fabulous old-world beauty and enchanting gardens they found when they arrived.

A 32-day trip took the Wagners to Natchez, Miss., where they joined 10 friends on a tour of the ante-bellum homes, attended the famous Pilgrimage play and a Negro church in the area where they heard several spirituals sung.

The couple stayed at the Hope Farm near Natchez and then continued on to New Orleans and then toured the famous Bellingrath Gardens and Home near Mobile.

After visiting Wagner's brother in Florida and viewing some of the historical spots in that state, they traveled on to Atlanta where they spent Easter Sunday. They also visited friends in Arkansas before arriving home last week.

Hearst Castle to Close For Paving of Lot, Road

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Division of Beaches and Parks said today that the Hearst San Simeon State Historial Monument would be closed April 29-30 to facilitate completion of a paved parking lot and entry road. The summer schedule at the monument will begin May 15.

ROSE CHOSEN

Garden Section Sponsors Planting Of Yorba Linda's Official Flower

YORBA LINDA — The official plantings of Yorba Linda's newly selected flower, the rose, will be held April 23 under the auspices of the Garden Section of the Yorba Linda Woman's Club.

Townspeople and representatives of all local civic organizations are invited to witness the ceremonies which will take the form of three official plantings in Yorba Linda, according to the chairman, Mrs. Barry Livingston.

Honoring Mrs. Hannah Nixon, mother of Vice President Richard Nixon, the first planting will take place at the vice-president's birthplace on the grounds of the Yorba Linda School at 2 p.m. The brief ceremony in which Mrs. Nixon, who will be accompanied by other members of her family, will turn the first shovel full of earth will feature the planting of the vice-president's favorite rose, the Talisman.

Immediately following, the second planting will be held in the town park where Honorary Mayor Hurless Barton, assisted by Leonard Dueker, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will officiate in the planting of a climbing rose, Peace.

The climbing rose, Golden Showers, will be the third and last rose in the official plantings. With Mrs. Lee D. Meyers, Jr., president of the Woman's Club presiding, it will be placed near the entrance of the club. Those present for the ceremonies will be invited into the clubhouse for refreshments following the planting.

Because of the ceremonies and since it is National Garden Week, April 19-24, Mrs. Livingston urges all local merchants to display arrangements of roses in their shops during the week. She also encourages all Yorba Lindans to honor the town's official flower by planting it in their gardens during that time.

The selection of a town flower was actually pioneered by the Federation of California Garden Clubs, Inc. which is a member of the National Garden Clubs, Inc. The California clubs agreed to individually sponsor the selection of a flower in their communities if one had not previously been chosen. The Yorba Linda Garden Section initiated a ballot which resulted in the townspeople's selection of the official flower.

Assisting Mrs. Livingston with the ceremonies will be Mrs. Nels Allison, Mrs. Hoyt Corbit and Mrs. Meyer.

Dance For Life Set for April 18

Plans are nearing completion for staging of the second annual "Dance for Life" to be presented by the Shiela Sporn Auxiliary of the City of Hope.

Dozens of volunteers from throughout northern and western Orange County are working on the event, according to the auxiliary president, Alex Fishman.

The auxiliary, one of hundreds throughout the United States, is comprised of residents of the county who put in volunteer hours several times each year to raise money for the non-sectarian City of Hope.

Special events provide funds for the medical center famed for its research programs and out-patient clinics as well as for its non-profit treatment of patients suffering from the "catastrophe" diseases.

The local auxiliary's next event, the "Dance for Life," has been set for April 18 at 8:30 p.m. at the Garden Grove Civic Club, Gilbert and Chapman avenues.

Two telephones will be available to take reservations phoned in between now and the night of the dance. The telephones are LEhigh 9-6257 and LAmbert 6-7917.

Little Spanish Town Y-Teen Dinner Theme

FULLERTON — "In a Little Spanish Town" will be the theme of the annual Y-Teen Spanish dinner tomorrow evening (April 16) from 5 to 9 p.m. in the Fullerton Union High School cafeteria.

Dinner will include such representative foods as tacos, enchiladas, Spanish rice, and Spanish beans with ice cream for dessert. Tickets may be purchased from any FUHS Y-Teen girl and are priced at $1.25 for adults and $.85 for students. Spanish entertainment will be provided for the diners.

New PR Firm Opens

Orange County's newest public relations firm opened Wednesday in Anaheim. Located in Suite 108, Anaheim Law Building, the business is owned and operated by John M. Hughes.

Designed to service political, financial, industrial and commercial accounts, Hughes' firm will afford clients a complete public relations program. Marketing, sales promotion, economic surveys, advertising, customer, employe and stockholder relations programs will be planned and executed by a group of affiliated specialists when required. Additionally, Hughes will provide all informational media services, including press, radio and television.

Hughes entered the business, in its infancy as a copy boy with the New York office of United Artists Corporation in 1937. He also edited the Roosevelt County Herald News, a Montana weekly, and was a radio announcer with KGVO, Missoula, Mont. During World War II he served as a military intelligence operator in German prison camps for 31 months after being shot down in October, 1942.

Following the war he was recalled to Army active duty during his junior year at Montana State University's Journalism School. He served as public information officer for Fort Ord, Camp Roberts and the California Military District, Presidio of San Francisco. He was medically separated because of WW II combat wounds in February, 1953.

Hughes participated in public relations activities for such Army notables as General Mark W. Clark and General Albert C. Wedemeyer. He also handled an Army Reserve public relations program in California which served as a pilot for a national program which was awarded the Public Relations Society of America's Silver Anvil award for excellence.

QUEEN CONTESTANTS INTRODUCED — Five aspirants for the title of Queen of the St. Pius V Fiesta were introduced recently by the prominent movie, radio and TV personality Art Baker when he appeared at Anaheim's WonderBowl. The Fiesta celebrating St. Pius V Church's 10th anniversary will run from May 30 until June 7 when the queen will be crowned. Shown with Baker are (from left) Irene Correira, of Cypress; Barbara Legari of Buena Park; Bernardine Brady of Anaheim; Marilyn Smith and Carol Zamora, all of Buena Park. The number of tickets sold in her favor will determine the winner in the competition. Mrs. Betty Castricone is in charge of the queen contest.

Art Baker Introduces St. Pius Queen Candidates

BUENA PARK — Genial Art Baker, well-known radio, TV and screen personality, gave a royal reception to the queen candidates for the coming St. Pius V Fiesta. The queens were found, not in a castle on the Thames, but in the "WonderBowl" in Anaheim where Baker introduced them on his live TV show for KTLA. Baker interviewed Mrs. Betty Castricone, queen chairman, and through her learned that the festivities are in celebration of the 10th anniversary of St. Pius V Church in Buena Park.

Baker commented upon the details of the Fiesta and announced that he was always delighted to have guests from the fast-growing city of Buena Park. He stated that Walter Knott, the backbone of the community, never ceased to amaze him, and that despite Knott's great success, he has remained the plain farmer who is loved and respected by all.

The camera was focused upon the five queen candidates who were gowned in formals, and he expressed the hope that he and the "WonderBowl" might, in their small way, have been able to assist them with their campaign. He thanked the queen candidates and Mrs. Castricone for extending him an invitation to the Fiesta and for the honor of presenting them on TV.

The five candidates vieing for the honor of reigning over the Fiesta are: Marilyn Smith, Barbara Legari, Carol Zamora, Irene Correia, and Bernadine Brady. Visits to many interesting spots are being planned for the girls in connection with their campaign. Their agenda tentatively includes Knott's Berry Farm, Disneyland and Marineland.

The Presentation Ball is to be held on May 30 at the Retail Clerk's Union Hall at the corner of Stanton and Crescent in Buena Park. At this time, all the queen candidates will be presented. June 5 through 7th will be the Fiesta Days, with the final crowning of the Queen to take place June 7.

The pastor of St. Pius V is Rev. Frederick J. Kass. Father John Feeney, assistant pastor, has been assigned the post as head director of the Fiesta.

ADULT EDUCATION

Hansen PTA will offer adult education on April 16 at 7:30 p.m. at Hansen School in room 10. There will be a film titled "Children's Emotions." Dr. May Rich of Anaheim Elementary School, child psychologist, will be on hand to answer all questions. There will also be a follow-up film shown at a later date, May 7. Two films will be shown at this time, one on The Preschool Child, "The Terrible Two and the Trusting Threes" and the other film will be for the four and the five year olds.

The Great Clock at Westminster Palace in London became known as "Big Ben" after Sir Benjamin Hall, who was Queen Victoria's Chief Commissioner of Works when the clock was installed in 1859.

Placentia Juniors Elect Officers

PLACENTIA — Husbands' night, a coming event for Placentia Junior Round Table, will be held this year on April 25 at the Crest Restaurant in Anaheim. Dinner and dancing will highlight the evening affair to be attended by all members and their husbands. Hostesses for the evening will be Mmes. John Gagnon and George Brand.

The nominating committee report on the officers for the new year, given at a recent Junior Round Table meeting, was unanimously accepted by the club. The new officers for the year '59-'60 include: Mmes. Glenn Cota, president; Marvin Erickson, first vice-president; Cecil Rospaw, second vice-president; John Press, recording secretary; Dick Sullivan, corresponding secretary; Ed Fischle, treasurer; Norbert Moulin, historian; Jim Ellison, parliamentarian.

The newly organized cooperative pre-school nursery, sponsored by Placentia Juniors, will begin in September in the new Placentia Presbyterian Church with Mrs. George Lesiker as teacher. Mrs. John Press, chairman of the board of directors of the nursery, announced registrations are now being taken for September.

Placentia Juniors, alert to the problem of safety for the school children going and coming from school, have just completed a "car and pedestrian count" at all streets and pedestrian crossings in the Bradford Avenue School area. This count is necessary before plans for a permanent school safety patrol can be put into effect. Mrs. Cecil Rospaw, project chairman, sparked the enthusiasm of each member toward this safety patrol goal and many hours have been given by all concerned.

Choral Festival Set For Friday at FUHS

FULLERTON — Some 1500 Southern California high school students will meet on the Fullerton Union High School campus from 2 to 7:30 p.m. tomorrow for the Annual Southern California Choral Festival, according to Festival Chairman George W. Burt, FUHS music instructor.

Afternoon activities of the Festival will include the presentation of eight girls' choruses and one boys' chorus. Mixed choruses will sing in the evening, Burt said. Fullerton Union High School groups which will participate in the festival are the concert choir, the girls' advanced chorus, the freshman girls' chorus, and the boys' chorus.

The 100 voice San Mateo High School concert choir will be the guest visiting group from Southern California. Also participating will be the La Habra High School A Cappella Choir, the Corona girls' chorus, and groups from El Segundo, Whittier, Rancho Alamitos High School in Garden Grove, Torrance High School, Marshall High School in Los Angeles, Valley Christian High School in Artesia, and Arcadia High School.

Whole-House Cooling-Heating Is All-Electric

What a wonderful new way to cool and heat your entire home! No water is required for cooling. And no flame—no fuels—for heating.

How then does the amazing new Weathertron All-Electric Heat Pump heat your home? During cold weather, the Weathertron automatically extracts heat from the outside air and pumps it into your house—circulating it through ducts to every corner of every room. How does the Weathertron cool your home? When warm weather comes around, the Weathertron automatically reverses itself and pumps heat out of your home. You enjoy the same comfortable indoor temperature throughout the year.

What do you do? Simply set your automatic thermostat to whatever temperature you prefer. The Weathertron All-Electric Heat Pump does the rest all year 'round. The cost of a Weathertron? About the same as the cost of a furnace plus a conventional cooling unit. And your investment is protected by General Electric's famous warranty.

ALL-AUTOMATIC ALL YEAR 'ROUND

Imagine! With your wonderful new General Electric Weathertron All-Electric Heat Pump you need only set your automatic thermostat once. Then forget it! The Weathertron itself does everything else automatically—meets your heating and cooling requirements as the outside temperature changes—from hour to hour, day to day, season to season. From that moment on the G-E Weathertron keeps your home at ideal temperature throughout the year regardless of the weather outside. Switching from heating to cooling (or vice versa) is all-automatic.

Increases value of your property

The Weathertron gives your property value a tremendous boost. You have the safest method of heating and cooling that science has devised. You eliminate need for fuel storage, cooling towers, buried pipes, exposed gas pipes and meters. Best of all a Weathertron can be installed almost anywhere.

Cleanliness such as you've never known

Think of the cleanliness of all-electric Weathertron heating and cooling. Even the cleanest fuels are less clean than no fuel—and a Weathertron burns no fuel. You will discover that the wonderful Weathertron means far less housework—substantial savings in cleaning bills.

Hanna Votes 'Yes'

Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 8, voted by Richard T. Hanna, Assemblyman representing this area in Sacramento, actually does away with a true loyalty oath for those serving the public in any type public office. Here for the information of the public is the Bill approved by Hanna:

"Resolved by the Assembly, the Senate concurring, that the Legislature of the State of California at its 1959, Regular Session commencing on the fifth day of January, 1959, two-thirds of all the members elected to each of the two houses of the Legislature voting therefore, hereby proposes to the people of the State be amended by amending Section 3 of Article XX, to read as follows:

Sec. 3. Members of the Legislature, and all officers, executive and judicial, except such inferior officers as may be by law exempted, shall, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation:

"I, . . . do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be,) that I will support the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of California; and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of . . . , according to the best of my ability.

And no other oath, declaration, or test, shall be required as a qualification for any office or public trust."

Deleted from the original oath, the following:

No longer required to take the loyalty oath are all "public" officers "and employes, legislative and employes. There is no longer a requirement that public office holders and employes must swear to "defend" the Constitutions of the United States and the State of California against all enemies, foreign and domestic nor does the oath require them to bear true faith and allegiance to the two Constitutions, nor are they any longer to swear that "I do not advocate nor am I a member of any party or organization, political or otherwise, that now advocates the overthrow of the Government of the United States or the State of California by force or violence or other unlawful means, that within five years immediately preceeding the taking of this oath (or affirmation) I have not been a member of any party or organization, political or otherwise, that advocated the overthrow of the Government of the United States or of the State of California by force or violence or other unlawful means."

They have no longer required to take the oath "Public officers" and employe includes every officer and employe of the State, including the University of California, every county, city, district and authority, including any department, division, bureau, board, commission, agency, or instrumentality of any of the foregoing."

In other words, the loyalty oath has been reduced to "nothing." Assemblyman Hanna voted for the "nothing" in the face of the proof that the State of California is the prime target for the Communists, organization wise, to infilter into every phase of life and government in the State, and against a public mandated vote in favor of the loyalty oath.

Stay Home, Monty!

British Field Marshal Montgomery is leaving for Moscow late this month to talk with Nikita Khrushchev. Few announcements have brought such a storm of protest from the British press. The newspapers of the "tight little isle" are not given to pulling their punches and they suggest bluntly that instead of going to Moscow Monty would do better to just "fade away." At 71, Monty may be on his metal, but nobody wants him on the meddle.

Your Birthday

by Stella

THURSDAY, APRIL 16 —Born today you are an individualist and are not the type to follow the lead of anyone else. You are seldom satisfied with things as they are, but want to correct them. Your methods may not appeal to everyone, but criticism seems merely a challenge for you to work harder toward your goal.

You have a restless, searching nature, are fond of travel, especially the sea, and will probably see a goodly portion of the earth during your lifetime. You have an exceptional memory and are able to store up facts which you can pull out and use, literally, years later. You have unerring good taste and enjoy all that is beautiful. You have a sharp wit and often use it with telling force in both conversation and in writing.

Since you have a magnetic personality, you attract people easily and should be careful in the selection of your close associates. You could be led astray by those who do not have your best interests at heart. Inclined to be jealous, you must curb this tendency or it can bring unhappiness into your romantic life.

Among those born on this date are: Anatole France, author; Herbert B. Adams, historian; Humphrey Lloyd and Frederick W. Putnam, scientists; Charles Chaplin, comedian.

To find what the stars have in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, April 17

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20) — This may be the time for you to break away from old, outmoded techniques in your job and thus progress.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21) — Be on your guard this morning so as not to err in judgment. After that, all goes well with you.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) —Take an active part in all that goes on today. Showing initiative at this time is important.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) —Wind up the week with a pleasant social engagement this evening; theater, concert, etc.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Your day to lead the success parade. Take the initiative; hold it and make excellent progress.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) —Your intuitions will serve you well today. Take time out to help someone who needs assistance.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — A busy day and one in which you must keep moving all the time to get where you want to go!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Good health can prove important to your plans, so make sure you are fit and ready for everything.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Follow your intuitive lead today and you will be halfway to success! Make an early start, too.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Be aggressive about a progressive idea. Initiate a new plan and see it work miracles.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Brainwork is what counts just now. Plan ahead carefully and then follow through efficiently.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20) —Don't let distractions keep you from doing the job that needs doing. Concentration is important now.

Assignment: Washington

by Ed Koterba

WASHINGTON — From sunup to sundown, he's at the job, and the tool in his hand deftly bites into the giant forms of white plaster.

Visitors rarely come. Just as well, because Carl Schmitz has important work to do. The product of his sculpturing skill will, in months to come, receive the attention of the world.

But right now, sculptor Schmitz remains obscure to the multitudes who swirl about him as he and his assistants dwell in the very center of Capitol Hill.

Schmitz' workshop stands where once was the front lawn, about 50 paces from the front door of the Capitol. It's a long wooden, temporary green-roofed building, bare inside except for an oil stove, a bench and those tall sculptured figures.

Jackhammers and pile drivers keep pounding away around him, and the earth shudders while workmen give the Capitol a new $10 million East Front. But Schmitz doesn't hear that.

The pleasant, round-faced, mustached 37-year-old artist, who commutes from his home at 80th and Broadway in New York week ends, was hand-picked for the job by Paul Manship, who is perhaps the dean of America's sculptors. The job: to restore the prized statuary of the Capitol's East Front.

I stepped out of the sunlight into Schmitz' subdued workshop. At one end towered a tympanum, the "Genius of America" sculpture of three women symbols, completed in 1828 by Luigi Persico.

It's Schmitz' task to duplicate the original. He's been working away at a plaster cast. About June, big blocks of white Georgia marble — about 50 tons in all — will be eased down through the skylight. Then, in eight months' time, a replica of Persico's tympanum, this time in marble, will be ready to be placed in its historic setting.

Schmitz looked — tenderly, I thought — at the figure in the center, America, a classic of Greek and Italian features.

"Notice the fullness of the face," he said, "and the small mouth, and how the lips are set up high."

"The figure on the right," he said, "that's Hope resting on an anchor. Notice how the belt line was moved under the breasts. Napoleon started the fashion of lifting the waist line — and Dior thought he had something new."

Schmitz stood there and almost sighed, I thought, at the three lofty, modish figures. "Do you see the treatment of the hands? So articulate, so graceful . . ."

Again he sighed. "I get the feel of the man who worked on it." It took Persico three years to complete the sculpture, one of the earliest patriotic groups carved in this country.

The artist picked up a rasp and set it into a rhythm, shaving at a ripple in the flowing gown.

George Stewart, Capitol architect, said, "If we waited 29 more years, we'd have had difficulty finding the right type of sculptor to do this work. They are a dying race."

As we left, I looked over my shoulder. Watching Carl Schmitz in that setting made me feel like maybe time had turned back a century.

Farmer McCabe

The Space Experts of this country have picked seven military men to ride space missiles into orbit round the earth. The first question to pop into everyone's mind is - how will they ever get the thing out of orbit and back to earth? A lot of folks probably assume that the space missiles will have some kind of controls which will guide them back safely and smoothly as a parachute . . . but confidentially I think they expect the occupants to climb out, shinny on top of the thing, and stomp it down to gravity -how else.

Capitol Dispatch

by David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Several members of the United States Senate are a little disturbed over the attempt the other day to gag them when they were questioning Justice Potter Stewart of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Mr. Stewart was given a "recess appointment" as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court on October 14, 1958. He has not been confirmed by the Senate, but he has participated in many decisions and has written nine opinions.

Some justices in the past have declined to take the oath of office until confirmed. The embarrassments that come to a justice who is already sitting on the court but who has to appear before a congressional committee to give information, presumably on his own qualifications, are obvious.

In the hearing of the Senate Judiciary Committee the other day, lasting two hours, a point of order was made that no question should be asked of Justice Stewart concerning Supreme Court decisions or his own attitude toward past decisions. But, in the discussion that followed, it was apparent that the point of order was not concurred in by other members of the committee from both the north and the south.

While the Constitution provides that the Senate may confirm or reject any presidential nomination submitted to it, sometimes, when Congress is not in session, "recess appointments" are made. The recipient of such an appointment can serve only through the subsequent session of Congress. If he is not confirmed during that session, he is no longer eligible to remain at his post.

Justice Stewart was, of course, not on the Supreme Court when the segregation decisions of 1954 were issued, but he has since had opportunities to concur in various rulings derived from the original case. On the surface, it would seem to be an impropriety to ask any Supreme Court Justice to discuss his reasoning with respect to decisions that he has already rendered on the High Court even though serving under a recess appointment. But the Senators on the Judiciary Committee did not ask about current decisions. They were interested in the reasoning of the Supreme Court in decisions prior to the time of Mr. Stewart's appointment. They wanted to know whether the new Justice agrees with the reasoning, and Senator McClellan of Arkansas, Democrat, asked him to explain what he thinks was the reasoning and logic applied in the school segregation cases.

Justice Stewart said that basically he agrees with the 1954 decision, but not with "all the grammar and the footnotes." Yet it was one of those footnotes citing "psychological authority" — including Gunnar Myrdal, a Swedish Socialist — that has occasioned widespread criticism. Certainly in the argument before the Supreme Court itself, there was no opportunity to offer a rebuttal to the Myrdal view, because the "footnote" had at the time not been mentioned by the court.

It might well be asked of what value it is to determine whether an appointee to the court agrees or disagrees with past decisions. On this point, Mr. Stewart said, "I've never read any opinion of any court that I thought was perfect."

But the real duty of the Senate, every time a judicial appointment is submitted, is to find out whether the prospective justice actually believes in a written constitution and the method prescribed therein for its amendment, or whether he believes that the Supreme Court can override the Constitution at will.

At one point, when the Senate Judiciary Committee was interrogating Justice Stewart, he was asked:

"Do you think the Supreme Court has the power to amend the constitution?" He answered: "Certainly not to amend it, no."

The questioning of Justice Stewart is to be resumed in a few days. This is not the first time the views of a judicial appointee have come under close scrutiny by members of the Senate Judiciary Committee. Back in 1930, when Charles Evans Hughes was nominated to be Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, he was sharply criticized for his views in various cases. Indeed, much of the opposition to his confirmation came from the radicals of those days, and on the final vote they voted against Mr. Hughes plainly because of his previous decisions. In the case of John J. Parker, a member of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals who was nominated by President Hoover for the Supreme Court of the United States, the labor - union opposition was such that is nomination was rejected by a vote of the Senate.

There is, therefore, ample precedent for the present members of the Judiciary Committee to examine the views of any appointee to the Supreme Court and, indeed, to vote against him if they are so inclined.

THE Family Scrapbook

Grown Up Too Soon?

European visitors observing American children often feel that our youngsters are too much ahead of their years. They question how desirable it is to expect children of five or six to make some of their own decisions. They wonder whether children aren't permitted to start "dating" far too early. For 14-year-olds to go to dances together seems to them to be pushing matters.

European children are usually dressed in what we would think are more youthful ways than is customary in the United States. But their parents feel strongly that dressing like grownups is just another premature kind of behavior.

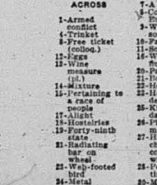

It is generally true that American children today do seem more grown up in their appearance, their interests and their activities than was true of most children in our country two or three generations ago.

But the "right" and "wrong" of the situation isn't clear. Surely, many youngsters are kept from acting their age because parents hate to see them grow up. On the other hand, it may well be that in some things they are pushed ahead of their years and age older youngsters in undesirable ways.

Sights 'n' Sounds

By GENE INGE

TWO NEW SHOWS make their bid for viewers tonight. The first is another dramatic series, The Lawless Years, based on the career of New York detective Barney Ruditsky who arrested more than 5,000 criminals back in the 1920's, 8 p.m., Channel 4. James Gregory stars as the now retired law officer, who is making his home in Los Angeles. Laugh Line, billed as a comedy show and scheduled for the next nine weeks, will probably find it rough going for even that long, in spite of the appearance of the popular team of Mike Nichols and Elaine May, comedienne Dorothy Loudon and pantomimist Dick Van Dyke, 9 p.m., Channel 4. They'll attempt to create comic captions for cartoons portrayed in tableau form by actors.

• • •

DRAMA DOINGS . . . The memorable trials of German war criminals after World War II form the background of tonight's Playhouse 90 drama, "Judgment at Nuremberg," starring Claude Rains, Paul Lukas and Melvyn Douglas, 8:30 p.m., Channel 7 . . . Dennis Hopper, Everett Sloane and Ben Cooper star in "The Sunrise Gun," story of a crippled gun-fighter who seeks vengeance against an old enemy through his own son, on Zane Grey Theater, 8 p.m., Channel 2.

• • •

• • •

MOVIES . . . "Big Stampede," 7 p.m., Channel 5 . . . "Duke Girl," Ann Sheridan, 8:30 p.m., Channel 5 . . . "Cain and Mabel," Clark Gable, 8:30 p.m., Channel 11 . . . "Caesar and Cleopatra," Claude Rains, 10:30 p.m., Channel 2 . . . "Song of Love," Katharine Hepburn, 10:45 p.m., Channel 11.

FRIDAY DAYTIME . . . All regularly scheduled TV and radio programs between 8:30 and 9 a.m. will be cancelled for a Civil Defense drill.

SAN FRANCISCO — Western business leaders will wrestle with problems in the fields of finance, insurance, manufacturing, personnel, and research and development at a series of small - group educational meetings to be conducted by the American Management Association at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel April 20 — May 1.

An estimated 500 business executives from the United States and Canada are expected to attend the management session. The association has scheduled 22 seminars and one course for the series here the last two weeks in April.

The one - week course is cost reduction is designed to equip management personnel to carry out a comprehensive, continuing cost reduction and cost control program. Emphasis is on ways of training supervisors in cost - cutting techniques.

The San Francisco meeting series also will include seminars of two different types. Seventeen will be workshop seminars — small, informal discussion sessions for exchange of information and experience. Five will be orientation seminars — slightly larger instructional meetings conducted in classroom style.

Ball Rd. Tract Units Looted of Appliances

Tract burglars entered two newly completed units which have not yet been sold and made off with several electrical appliances and kitchen equipment, police said.

Fred W. Beck, 39, 8521 Robinet Lane, Garden Grove, an employee of the Mayfair Development Co., 9562 Ball Road, reported to Anaheim investigators that two homes just completed in the Ball Road tract had been burglarized of two dishwashers, two garbage disposals and a copper range hood, officers reported.

Entry was made into the units by going through a garage door and then into the kitchens of the homes.

Italian Mad Daredevils Ready to Serve

MODENA, Italy (UPI) — It is easy to understand why a group of 12 men and a woman call themselves "The Mad Daredevils."

Sometimes, they can be seen landing on the rooftops of a nearby mountain village by parachutes, or dressed like men from Mars, in special asbestos suits, dashing through the fire and smoke of a blazing shack.

They have been seen scaling telegraph poles to join high tension power lines. They swim icy rivers, ski around boulders and trees, leap like hares across ditches.

The Mad Daredevils of Modena are officially known as the Vegliante del Soccorso, the flying emergency squad, a privately-organized group of unpaid volunteers trained to tackle any emergency at any time or place.

The leader is Ariodante Mazzacurati, a 34-year-old former paratrooper, who has given the group instructions in flying airplanes, helicopters, driving all kinds of vehicles, including bulldozers and tanks.

The woman member is able to handle these man-sized chores in addition to her duties as a nurse, cook and midwife. The daredevils are financed by a group of Modena businessmen.

"We don't do this for profit," said Mazzacurati. "Our organization is the first in Italy and the second in Europe. In England, there is a similar group which has saved many lives. We also wish to save lives and we are always ready to do so. Try us. The phone number is Modena 31178."

Pennsylvania Visitor Lodged in County Jail

By Orange County News Service

A man from Pennsylvania visiting Orange County is today learning that not all spots in California are pleasant, in particular the county jail.

Nathaniel S. Buharp, 49, will be a guest at the jail facility for the next 50 days. He was sentenced by Judge David French of the Santa Ana-Orange Municipal Court for a drunk driving offense in Santa Ana April 9.

An Orange man, Ralph E. Carnes, 39, of 645 Bedford Rd., paid a $158 fine for reckless driving in Orange Jan. 27.

Two men paid $263 fines and had their licenses suspended for 90 days, part of a get tough policy now underway by the court on second driving offenders. They were Marine James L. Pace, 30, Los Alamitos Air Station, and Taybe J. Frazier, 25, of 1613 Chestnut, Santa Ana. Frazier is with the U. S. Navy.

Soil Expert Warns Against Some Building

COLUMBUS (UPI) — Selecting a home site on a flood plain — the level area bordering a stream — is courting disaster, according to an Ohio soil expert.

T. R. Smith, soil technician with the Ohio Division of Lands and Soil, said flood plains are formed by sediments deposited by a stream that has overflowed. The presence of sediment indicates that the stream will flood in the future, he said.

"When considering building near a stream," Smith advised, "be sure that the site is high enough to be above the flood state of the stream. Usually the type of soil present is a key to whether flooding takes place.

"If in doubt about a site that may be endangered by floods, seek advice from those with a knowledge of soils."

Anaheim MD's Son Opens Dental Office

The son of a long-time Anaheim physician has opened his own office for the practice of dentistry.

Dr. Daniel D. Kersten has opened his office at 925 E. Center St.

Attending all local schools, the young Dr. Kersten graduated from Anaheim Union High School in 1945. He graduated from Stanford in 1949 and the USC School of Dentistry in 1956.

He was discharged last month from the Navy Dental Corps after serving two years at the Naval Training Center in San Diego.

He is the son of Dr. E. H. Kersten who has practiced in Anaheim for nearly 30 years.

12,211 Students Now In Elementary Schools

As of April 10 the Anaheim City School District had 12,211 students, about 11 more than what was estimated for the district by June at the beginning of the school year. Some 356 teachers are employed by the district.

Superintendent Bob Shanks said indications were that the student population would taper off from now until the end of the school year. Class size in grades one through six averages 31.71 pupils, he said. This excludes special classes in the district.

Radar Traps Vetoed By California Solons

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Senate committee Tuesday turned down the California Highway Patrol's request for permission to use radar speed traps.

The Transportation Committee buried—without so much as the formality of a vote—a measure by Sen. Donald Grunsky (R-Watsonville) which would have permitted the CHP to use radar in areas with a high rate of accidents or a high rate of traffic law violations.

Anaheim Lions See Cancer Film in Meet

A film on cancer was shown to the Anaheim Lion's Breakfast Club at its Tuesday morning meeting at the Gourmet Restaurant. Disneyland, by local Dr. Bennet Marcus.

Dr. Marcus, a Yale graduate, cancer expert, and practicing obstetrician and gynecologist showed the film under the auspices of the Cancer Society as part of its drive to educate the public concerning the second most fatal disease in the country.

'Hardware Disease' Hurt Bulls More Than Goats

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — The Vermont Extension Service said bulls apparently are more seriously afflicted with "hardware disease" than even goats are.

On slaughtering one bull, farmers found a set of gold bridgework, nine pennies, 24 bottlecaps, two hypodermic needles, two men's rubber heels, 16 nails, a rubber doll, an inner tube, five coffee can bands and a broken pop bottle in his stomach.

Silver marked "sterling" is guaranteed by law to contain 925 parts of solid silver to 75 parts of an alloy designed to give it added strength.

Around Hollywood

By Vernon Scott

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jim Arness, king of TV's Western heroes, is fearless as Dodge City's marshal, but off screen the lumbering actor is afraid to watch his own shows.

"You're darned right I'm scared to watch 'em," Big Jim admitted.

"I'm afraid I won't like my own performances. We've made 157 episodes of 'Gunsmoke' and I'll bet I've seen less than 57 of them. Very often when I do watch I don't like myself.

"Sometimes I'm elated at what I've done. Then maybe the next week I can't believe it's me on the screen acting that badly. I ask myself how I could perform so ignominiously."

Jim, whose vocabulary is limited to monosyllables on the show, waxes profound and philosophical in person.

Has Faced The Extremes

"I've been before the public four years," he mused. "In that time I've had the extremes of acclaim and criticism. There's a tremendous spread of opinion on 'Gunsmoke' and my performances.

"There are those who think I'm a big, dumb, no-talent slob, and others who think I'm some sort of saint. So it's difficult for me to draw conclusions. In my heart I know I'm neither one. I haven't let the praise fool me, but the harsh criticism hurts and depresses me.

"But if you can't take both sides of the enchalada you don't belong in this business. You'd better get out and run a gas station."

"I realize it's a fleeting thing," he said. "How long is it going to last? It has been the top show longer than any other in TV history. So what?

"I can't live for the rest of my life on that. There is the future to think about. The end of 'Gunsmoke' won't mean the end of me. But I don't know what I'll do afterwards. When the show folds it might take me two or three years to find something else. I'll have to sweat out Matt Dillon. The question is whether I can make the public believe I'm someone else."

The 6-foot 7-inch actor went on to say he would never refuse a role or series because of artistic principle.

"I used to. In fact I turned down 'Gunsmoke' for that reason once," he confided. "I'm not kidding myself that I'll go on to great dramatic triumphs and an Academy Award.

"Thanks to a realistic appraisal of myself I realize the advantages, and cash value, tha can accrue from continuing to perform as I have.

"Right now nobody draws as big an audience as I do. But next year or the year after I could be nowhere. 'Gunsmoke' won't last forever, particularly if I keep up the volume of exposure. Inside five years people will be so tired of seeing my face they are apt to be sick."

One person who'll never get sick of watching Arness at work is Jim himself — he doesn't own a television set.

Junior Puppeteers Competition Slated

Santa's Village, the storybook town near Lake Arrowhead in the San Bernardino mountains, is holding its annual competitions for boy and girl puppeteers, on Saturdays from April 18 to May 23.

Each Saturday morning at 11 youngsters who manipulate hand and string puppets at home or at school, compete in the Wee Puppet theater at Santa's Village. Each Saturday's winner is then eligible to compete in the finals there on May 23.

Don and Ivy Wilson, well -known professional puppeteers, who operate the Wee Puppet theater, said that prizes for the winners this year will include professional puppet stages and marionettes.

This year's competition is divided in two age groups, seven to 10 and 11 to 14, for both hand and string puppets.

The winners will appear on the Skipper Frank television show, KTLA, channel 5, on Monday, May 25.

Ask Creditors to Serve As Pall Bearers for Man

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Supreme court referee George T. Vandermulen told about a man whose will directed that his six largest creditors serve as pall bearers at his funeral.

The deceased explained: "They've carried me along so far, so they might as well carry me the rest of the way."

Committee Gets Dispute Over Water Financing

SACRAMENTO (UPI)— A battle with Gov. Edmund G. Brown over pay-as-you-go versus bond financing of water projects was tossed today to a committee with heavy administration leanings.

A Brown representative Tuesday opposed a bill by Assemblyman Bruce F. Allen (R-San Jose) which would lock an appropriation of 48 million dollars a year into the budget.

Despite the opposition, the committee approved the measure 11-6. Eleven votes were needed for passage by the 20-member committee.

Allen said he would amend the measure to take effect in the 1960-61 fiscal year so it would not affect the Brown administration budget now under consideration. He said he would postpone it in future years also if the state found itself short of funds.

"I just want to pick up the surplus if there is one and put it in the water fund," Allen said.

'Death Ray' Device Claimed by Italians

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — An Italian inventor who has been working on atomic energy inventions for 20 years claims to have invented a death ray machine.

Pier Luigi Ighina says he is about ready to publish the findings of his work with magnetic atoms and the details of his death ray, which he describes as "a transmitter of atomic vibrations capable of melting the hardest metals."

Ighina, who lacks high scientific degrees and training, is indifferent to the scorn of recognized scientists.

"The impossible does not exist anymore," he said. "The world must take note of what is boiling in the pot."

Shifty Defense Beats Contract

U. S. Masters Team Champion

When you are defending against a notrump contract, it is usually wise to return your partner's suit. On rare occasions you must shift from one suit to another.

Opening lead — ♦ 4

West opens the four of diamonds, and East wins with the ace. East must not blindly return a diamond.

East knows that the opening lead is from a four-card suit. West has led his fourth-best diamond, and cannot have a fifth-best since the three is in the dummy and the deuce is in East's own hand. South must have most of the missing high cards for his opening bid, and West has at most the queen of diamonds.

East can see what will happen if he returns a diamond at the second trick. South will take the king of diamonds and go after the spades. The defenders will get only three diamonds and a spade.

Shifts to Heart

Instead, East shifts to the king of hearts at the second trick. If South wins a nearly heart trick, East will regain the lead with the queen of spades in time to defeat the contract with a diamond, a spade and three hearts.

South refuses the first heart trick, seeing the danger, and East continues with the queen of hearts. South refuses this trick also.

Now East cannot afford to lead a third heart. South will capture the ten of hearts with the ace and would return a heart to develop a second heart trick for himself. This would assure nine tricks: two spades, two hearts, one diamond and four clubs.

After taking two heart tricks, East must shift back to diamonds. Now the defenders get two hearts, two diamonds and the queen of spades.

This defense was occasionally put up in the annual Intercollegiate Bridge Championships, held a few weeks ago in 176 colleges throughout the United States. In many cases, however South passed originally, and East bid two hearts after North's opening bid of one spade. What happened to East after that was cruel and unusual punishment.

Daily Question ♠

As dealer, you hold: Spade 6, Heart A 7 5 3 2, Diamond K 7 5, Club A J 10 3. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one heart. You have 12 points in high cards, a singleton and a five-card major suit. If the five-card suit were a minor, you should pass. This is a borderline opening bid, however, and anybody who passes needn't feel ashamed of himself.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

On Thursday, April 30, 1959, at the hour of 11:00 o'clock A.M. BANKERS MORTGAGE COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA, a corporation, as substituted Trustee under and pursuant to that certain Deed of Trust dated September 7, 1957, executed by CLARENCE AUSTIN BARTLEY and JOANN BARTLEY, husband and wife, and recorded September 12, 1957, in Book 4035, Page 307, of Official Records in the Office of the Recorder of Orange County, California, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash (payable at time of sale in lawful money of the United States) at the South (front) entrance to the county court house in the City of Santa Ana, County of Orange, State of California, all right, title and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust in and to that certain real property situated in the said County and State described as:

Lot 33 of Tract No. 2876, in the city of Anaheim, county of Orange, state of California, as per map recorded in book 87 pages 46 and 47 of Miscellaneous Maps, in the office of the county recorder of said county.

Said sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining unpaid principal sum of the note secured by said Deed of Trust, to-wit: $15,200.00, with interest from June 1, 1958, as in said note provided, to-gether with any sums of money paid by the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust. The present beneficiary under said Deed of Trust, by reason of a breach or default in the obligations secured thereby, heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale together with written notice of default and election to cause the undersigned to sell said property to satisfy said obligations, and thereafter, on December 17, 1958, the undersigned caused said notice of default and of election to be recorded in Book 4518, Page 54, of said Official Records.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO CIRCULATE PETITION RELATING TO THE ISSUANCE AND WITH INCORPORATION OF THE CITY OF STANTON, A MUNICIPAL CORPORATION

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT the undersigned proponents intend to circulate a petition relating to the disincorporation of the City of Stanton, a municipal corporation of the State of California, and situated in the County of Orange.

Said petition shall contain a request that the question to be submitted to the electors in the City of Stanton at a special election, shall be, whether said City of Stanton shall or shall not be disincorporated.

The reasons for the proposed petition are:

The Citizens Committee for Disincorporation of Stanton have taken this legal step only after great thought. The original proponents of incorporation of Stanton promised many things to almost all of which have proven to be impractical.

Some of our special levies have variously been the subject of serious indebtedness nor have the property owners been as yet forced to pledge their property for future levies. This is the ideal time to disincorporate and allow property owners the opportunity to review and decide for themselves their future destiny in this area.

DATED: April 15, 1959

REALTOR'S PLEDGE

Perhaps the best summary of the high ideals which the Realtor embraces is contained in his Realtor's Pledge:

I AM A REALTOR
I Pledge Myself:

To protect the individual right of real estate ownership and to widen the opportunity to enjoy it;

To be honorable and honest in all dealings;

To seek better to represent my clients by building my knowledge and competence;

To act fairly towards all in the spirit of the Golden Rule;

To observe the Realtor's Code of Ethics and conform my conduct to its lofty ideals.

Nickname Fitting for 'Happy' Kentucky Governor

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. Albert Benjamin Chandler of Kentucky is a chunky, smiling extrovert whose stable name is Happy. For the information of the non-horsey set, a stable name is a familiar form of address. It usually denotes affection and esteem. It is common to the horsemen of the Kentucky tracks and elsewhere.

The great race horse, Man o' War, for example, was familiarly addressed by his handlers as Red or Big Red. Red was the color of his coat. Man of War's stable name, therefore, was fitting. No more so, however, than is Happy for Kentucky's governor.

The governor read in this space on April 1 a piece about the financial troubles of the State of Michigan where payless paydays and like calamities are just around the corner. This situation is reaping much bad publicity for Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams whose stable name is Soapy.

Political Future In Jeopardy

Michigan's story is so unhappy that it darkly clouds Soapy Williams' political future. Williams is serving a sixth term as governor. With that record and Walter P. Reuther's big auto union behind him, it was reasonable and inevitable that he would be thinking in terms of the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination. Michigan's financial troubles are giving Williams something else about which to think.

These troubles set Happy Chandler to thinking, too. In the mail today from Happy was a letter:

"I was very much interested in reading your article with respect to Michigan's financial difficulties. I wonder if you would be interested in a state that has a balanced budget is living within its income and was the only state in the United States to have a general tax cut last year.

"As you know, I have been governor of this commonwealth for one-third of the time during the last 25 years. During all of that time we have lived within our income and each of the eight years we have underspent our general budget. During both of my administrations we have had general tax cuts.

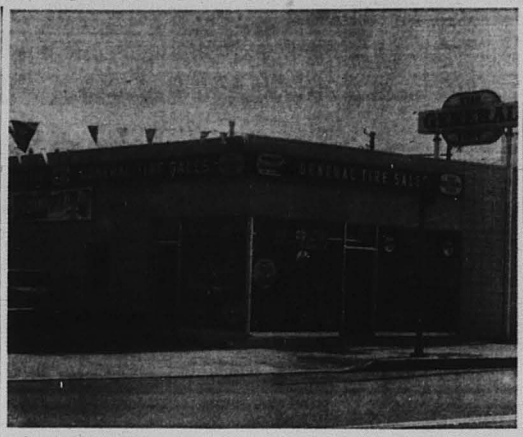

"It just occurred to me that if you have some extra space to devote to governments in debt, you might have some space to devote to a government going along fairly well, living within its income and enjoying tax reductions. This may be subversive."

Happy's letter need not be read upside down to persuade the reader to suspect that the governor of Kentucky hopes its record will arouse among Democrats an invincible determination to nominate him next year for president of the United States. He was a candidate for the nomination in 1956.

If the governor's letter does not warrant belief that Happy is a candidate again, then consider the material which accompanied his letter. There was a slick paper, magazine-size brochure of 42 pages designated as a special progress report on the state government.

A slighter slick —only 14 pages —is devoted to "Kentucky on the move." There is space, however, for personal references to the governor, none of them calculated to demean him in the public estimation. For example from page one: "He (Happy) is an Episcopalian and a Mason, of exceptional intelligence, sober and responsible, and destined early to make his imprint on public affairs as a great statesman."

On page 14 it is related that: "The story of Albert B. Chandler is one of unfolding genius. . . His was the heritage of Jefferson and Jackson."

GOOD SERVICE — Anaheim residents needing the aid of a well-established tire sales and service store can now look forward to assistance from General Tire Sales, 1008 N. Los Angeles St. Manager Bob Huff reports that he has some eight years experience behind him. Store hours are scheduled from 8 a.m. through 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday. They will remain open until 9 p.m. Fridays and will close at 6 p.m. Saturdays. They will specialize in tire sales and service for both autos and trucks and will also have a brake and front end service available. Grand opening is scheduled for this week end. (Bulletin Photo)

New Drug May Help Fight Heart Disease

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI) —A new drug which its discoverers say may have 150 times as much effect on heart and arterial diseases as the Salk vaccine had on polio was reported Monday night to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Dr. Thomas R. Blohm of the William S. Merrel Co., Cincinnati, told the federation's 43rd annual meeting that the compound "MER-29", which still is in the experimental stage, is used to control cholesterol,' the principal ingredient of a substance which lines the human arteries as persons grow older.

Cholesterol impedes blood circulation and is believed to be a contributing factor to heart attacks, blood clots and burst blood vessels.

ARE YOU PAYING MORE THAN YOU NEED TO FOR GASOLINE?
(2,700,065 Western motorists have been)

If you are one of the millions of drivers in the West now paying for premium gasoline, you may be able to save up to 4 cents a gallon and still get premium gasoline performance.

Union Oil's New 7600 Gasoline is here.

New 7600 has the highest octane of any regular in the West. Octane so high it now makes possible premium performance with important savings for 2,700,065 of the cars that had to use premium until now.

Wouldn't today be a good day to try New 7600? Start enjoying premium performance plus substantial savings. A whole tankful, preferably, so you can prove the power of this new kind of gasoline without a shadow of a doubt. New 7600—another first from Union Oil Company, The West's most experienced refiner of "clean burning" gasolines.

*(If your car is the 1 in 5 which needs an ultra-high octane premium gasoline, use Union's new Royal 76, the West's most powerful premium.)
