YOUTHFUL AUTO THIEVES CAUGHT BY MARSHAL AT DUNSMUIR, WORD

Two West Orange Lads Will Face Charges Of Grand Larceny When Returned To Santa Ana.

Harry Young and Felix Sullivan are held at Dunsmuir with the Ford sedan they are alleged to have stolen last Tuesday from D. E. Cozad of West Orange, guardian of Young, according to a telegram from S. H. Fiske, Dunsmuir city marshal, received yesterday by Sheriff C. E. Jackson.

Dunsmuir has once more proved the downfall of Orange County lads heading for points farther north with a car acquired in a questionable manner. Three lads charged with the theft of a Buick touring car from H. L. Cupson of Santa Ana in October were caught there.

A complaint charging the boys with grand larceny in connection with the taking of the car was filed this morning by D. E. Cozard, the owner. Deputies from the sheriff's office were expected to leave for the northern city tonight to bring the boys back to Santa Ana.

Rotarians Have Wireless Music With Luncheon

Members of the Anaheim Rotary Club today enjoyed the treat of listening to music played on the Hamburger roof in Los Angeles. All this took place while the club members dined at the Cherry Blossom here in Anaheim. The explanation is the wireless telephone. Chairman Ernest Beard secured the co-operation of A. Bevillard, who brought with him Samuel Scott of the Manual Arts Radio Shop, Los Angeles. They placed an aerial apparatus on top of the building and arranged a megaphone in connection with the receiving set in the room. The music could be as distinctly heard as though it were in the next room.

C. F. Grim was voted a member of the Rotary Club at the business session.

GUSHER OPENS AT LONG BEACH FIELD

Booth No. 1 of the San Martinez Oil Company came in at 2:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon as a gusher and opened up a new pool in Long Beach. Estimated as a flow of between 3000 and 4000 barrels, th well is situated on Little Signal Hill, known also as Reservoir Hill, several blocks east of the discovery well of the Shell company, in Long Beach.

Booth No. 1 is believed by oil experts to be potentially one of the biggest wells in Southern California, as the drill had penetrated but fourteen feet of oil sand when, at a depth of 3592 feet, the well came in.

Operators were bailing before it started to gush and immediately afterward it was brought under control and the flow sent into a sunk hole, which will be full by this morning. The oil will be hauled in huge trucks by the Vernon Oil Refining Company of Los Angeles, the parent organization, of which J. A. Brown is president. GIRL'S DEATHBED STATEMEMT IS TOLD IN TRIAL OF ARBUCKLE

Film Comedian Steels Self For Trying Ordeal As Witnesses Tell of Miss Rappe's Last Words.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—The voice of Virginia Rappe, alleged victim of Roscoe Arbuckle, came from her grave today to accuse her alleged slayer.

Her deathbed statement, in which she declared the fat film comedian to be responsible for her fatal injuries, was to be presented by the prosecution.

Arbuckle steeled himself for the most trying ordeal he has undergone since his trial opened on a charge of manslaughter.

Crowds stormed the courtroom long before the doors opened, eager to see Arbuckle as central figure in a real life tragedy.

Defense lawyers had their heads together before the session opened, planning a strong fight to twist the testimony concerning Miss Rappe, around so it would help Arbuckle.

The defense, in cross-examination, intended to make the witnesses swear Miss Rappe told them she was suffering from an ailment which caused her death, and that Arbuckle was not responsible for it.

If the prosecution should place Dr. William Rumwell on the stand, the defense will try to show through cross-examination that his failure to diagnose Miss Rappe's illness and administer proper treatment really caused her to die.

M. E. SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS TO STUDY INSTRUCTION METHOD

The White Temple Sunday school launched an important movement yesterday when the board that has the management of the school in hand recommended that every teacher and officer take the three year graded course of teacher training so as to make the school efficient to the highest degree possible.

To help in this plan, Dr. T. A. Geissinger has agreed to conduct a teacher training class. It will meet on Wednesday night. There will be supper served by the women of the church at 6:30 to which an invitation will be extended to all members of the church. Plates will be reserved each week by cards circulated in the congregations.

After supper the meeting will adjourn to the Sunday school auditorium and join with the prayer meeting audience. At 7:30, Dr. Geissinger will give an address based upon the study book. The first book taken up will be Dr. Betts' "How to Teach Religion." Forty-one persons subscribed for this book yesterday.

The first supper will be served one week from Wednesday night, November 30. The book will be covered in ten weeks.

The public is invited to attend the meetings whether or not they are reading the book as Dr. Geissinger will do more than discuss the teachings of the book. He will speak upon religion in the home, in the school, and study the nature of the child. A keen interest is already manifest in this plan. It will afford an opportunity for committee meetings to be held after supper and before the lecture hour. At each meeting an opportunity will be given for questions and an open conference.

Details of plans will be perfected at the meeting Wednesday night at which time the annual Thanksgiving service will be held.

The average height of a full-grown human being, regardless of race, is 65 inches. The term "giant" is sometimes technically limited to individuals above 79 inches (200 centimeters).

AUTO SPEEDING IS DANGEROUS AND CAUSES MANY DEATHS

Automobile speeding is not only dangerous—if is criminal—and is the cause of thousands of deaths.

Why?

Because persons crossing the street do not get sufficient warning and are caught before they can escape.

Because speeding often causes the car to skid and overturn, particularly on slippery pavements.

Because there is liability of collision with other cars.

Because the driver of a speeding car cannot control his machine.

Always keep your car under control within the established speed limits—thus preventing even the possibility of an accident.

Application blanks and other information concerning this sale of seat leases can be had of the secretary. A statement will be mailed to all members this week, containing full data.

Only fifteen days are allowed in which to make the sales here. There are only 10,000 seats for sale, and up to last Saturday nearly twenty-five per cent of this allotment has been disposed of.

BODY OF "DAREDEVIL" ACTOR RECOVERED FROM DAM

YUMA, Arizona, Nov. 21.—The body of Lyle Ferguson, "daredevil" actor who met his death here late yesterday while doing a "thriller" for a motion picture company from the Thomas H. Ince studios, was recovered early today from Laguna dam.

Ferguson met his death in an attempt to ride through one of the dam syphons on the outpouring torrent.

His car struck a bridge lateral, crushing it instantly. The entire "death scene" was said to have been photographed by cameramen, who did not realize until later that the actor had been killed.

Ferguson had successfully performed the "thriller" before. Several weeks ago he did it for the Robertson-Cole Pictures Corporation.

Over 200 people saw the young man meet his spectacular death.

The entire Ince company of actors, directors and technical men, with three doctors, worked over Ferguson for hours to no avail.

Director Wray had a pulmotor rushed from Yuma to the Laguna dam, but it proved impossible to revive the young man.

Ferguson was a local boy, who had made his way into the picture business by death-defying stunts such as the one that resulted in his death.

Thieves Ransack Home in Anaheim and Get Jewelry

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mickle of 1233 West Center street returned home shorty after 7 o'clock yesterday evening just in time to prevent what might have been a serious loss of household valuables. They had been riding with friends and when they returned home the others waited while Mr. Mickle went from the side of the house to the front to open the door. He found the key in its usual place but the front door was open and further search showed the side and back doors to be open. A drawer in which the silver is kept was partly open but the thieves had apparently been frightened away before taking anything. It was reported, however, that some jewelry had been taken from the room of Miss Blanche Mickle.

An inspection this morning of the back yard and the orchard behind the house revealed the foot prints of two men presumably made while running.

COUNTY FARM BUREAU OUTLINES EXTENSIVE PROGRAM OF WORK

The Orange County Farm Bureau is making plans for an extensive program of work to be carried out by members in this county and possibly in the seven southern counties of the state if the plan is generally approved.

The decision to go ahead with plans for the program was definitely made at the meeting of the county bureau directors Friday afternoon. E. E. Campbell and R. D. Flaherty, who were appointed to outline the program, are hard at work.

Three definite projects have been outlined for the Southern California farmers' organization. These are: First, public utilities work, investigating electric lights and power, telephone service and transportation; second, investigation of taxation and assessment methods with the possible suggestion of a new property tax and methods of equalizing city and country property taxes; third, rural credits, including an effort to secure long time farm loans and better finance ethods for farmers.

It is the plan of the directors to have this program in shape to present generally to the seven southern counties of the state within the next few weeks. Suggestions and amendments as to possible improvements in the scheme will be welcomed after which the plan is to be presented to the president and secretary of the California Farm Bureau Federation for their approval. The president and secretary are to be invited to a meeting of Southern California Farm Bureau representatives planned to be held in Santa Ana. At this meeting final details of the program of work are expected to be completed and mapped out for action.

The program is expected to be ready for operation by January 15, 1922, according to the present plans of local farm bureau workers.

NEW EPWORTH LEAGUE TO BE ORGANIZED AT M. E. CHURCH

Nothing could indicate better the rapid and substantial growth of the White Temple congregation than the demand that a new Epworth League be organized, according to J. A. Geissinger. This was done yesterday.

The present Epworth League is made up wholly of high school students and is a live institution and well managed by the high school group, Dr. Geissinger said. But as there are in the actual membership of the White Temple more than 150 young people beyond the high school age who have no devotional meetings at the present time, a demand has been made for another league to be known as the Senior Epworth League. Last night this league was organized and a committee representing several of the young people's classes was appointed to nominate officers and report next Sunday night.

The committe consists of Miss Mabel Wright, president, representing the Philathea class; Al Saunders, young men's class; Miss Finley, Sunshine Philathea class; Mrs. Warren Mathis, the Fidelis class; W. A. Miner, the men's class.

Mrs. F. T. Edmiston will be the leader next Sunday night, with Mrs. J. R. Abernathy at the piano and Mrs. C. A. McCullah as the song leader.

It was said last evening that there are as many young married people in the church's constituency as in the actual membership and there are invited along with the general public to attend these meetings each Sunday night.

Rupert Hughes Wrote Story For Movie At California

HELENE CHADWICK and ROLAND BELSHION in "THE OLD NEST" By RUPERT HUGHES. A GOLDWYN PICTURE directed by REGINALD BARKER

Rarely in the history of any art that requires the co-operation of several distinctive elements do we find a combination of forces needed to create a notable work. When such a combination occurs, it is often a matter of chance. The absence of such perfect co-operation in the creation of motion pictures is, doubtless, responsible for the comparatively few masterly pictures that are presented to the public.

The forces that coalesce in a finished film are the author, the director, the cast, and the producer. At last, here in America, such a combination has achieved what film audiences have long wished and hoped for. A genuine photoplay achievement has come to pass. To the uninitiated, it will be known by its title, "The Old Nest." But to those who care for particulars, let it be said that Rupert Hughes has written a story with universal appeal, that he has found in Reginald Barker a director with the sympathy necessary to catch the pathos and humor of the story, as well as the ability to give it concrete form. Moreover, the author has found a producer in Goldwyn, with all the facilities to make a complete, unstinted production, and a cast of such excellent merit that every scene is played as though it were the only one in the entire picture. And in this cast, the leading character, an old mother who sees her six children leave the old nest one by one, is played by Mary Alden, an actress of long experience and of such versatility that she plays equally well the young wife, the middle-aged matron and the old grandmother equally well.

In the case of a photoplay in which all the forces concerned in its production meet for perfect results, it is difficult to analyze the work of each. Rupert Hughes did not give the preparation of his scenario to another but did the work himself. He is unusual among photoplaywrights, in that he knows how to attain technical effects, and is capable of directing a picture himself.

Furhtremore, the director, Reginald Barker, found in Mr. Hughes' story the material he has always been eager to present on the screen. Author and director together worked out effects and scenes until the final photoplay became the visualization of their hopes. Finally, the work of Mary Alden in the role of the mother, developed into a revelation to everyone concerned with the making of "The Old Nest." Miss Alden has had long experience as a character actress, but never before has she had a chance to show how marvelously she could portray the emotions of a woman at various periods of her life from youth to old age. Not only are the emotional moments poignant and true, but Miss Alden presents the gradually debilitated woman as life leads her, step by step, down the ladder of time.

A great motion picture has at last been made. And it bears the label, "Made in America." It will be shown at the California theater for two days beginning at tomorrow's matinee.

News Notes of the Oil Fields

REDONDO

On the Dominguez property adjoining the Del Amo the site on the Chansler-Canfield Midway's first well No. 1 spudded in and is drilling. Progress is being made on the deeping of Del Amo No. 1. The sidetracking work is almost down to bottom and new hole will be in the making in a few days.

Sommers No. 1 at Gardena is close to 4460 feet. A sand heaved at 4365 and showed considerable gas and delayed drilling a few days.

LOS ANGELES FIELD

Drilling in gray shale and sand at 3900 feet the Eddystone Oil Corporation's Burkhart well at Palms is beginning to look a little doubtful. Drilling, however, is to continue for a deep test well.

With a string of 6 inch casing down to 2587 the Beatty Oil Company is ready to resume operations at Eagle Rok. The gray shale that characterized the formation almost from the start disappeared at 2500 and blue shale and sandy shale have been running alternately since.

The Loma Verdi Oil Company recently taken over by the Eddystone Oil Corporation is now drilling at 2254 in brown shale. Loma Verdi is a Castaic wild cat and will prove up a new field.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY

It will be a few days yet before the outcome of the second cementing of the Riverside Oil Company's Beaumont well will be known. A good showing of oil was struck at 1834 feet. The strike looked good for production and pipe was set at this point. On drilling out it was found that the water was not shut off. It is claimed that with the water taken care of the Riverside County Oil Company will have an oil well.

AMERICAN LEGION

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 15.—Novel methods of collecting membership dues have been adopted by local posts of the American Legion.

Out in Kansas a post gave its finance committee carte blanche in its collection campaign and a few days later the Legionnaries were being routed out of bed at 4 a. m., by members of the committee, who refused to let the ex-service man resume his slumbers until he had paid up.

Another post caused a grand rush to pay 1922 dues when it was announced that the last man to pay would suffer the derision of spending an evening in an improvised guard house.

The various departments of the Legion have entered into a contest for the honor of being the first to send in the dues of its membership.

A chicken that came into the world "shimmying" and grew to full size in spite of its affliction, was one of the attractions at the "Joy Day" celebration of the Hedrick, Iowa, post of the American Legion. It was billed as "the world's only shimmying chicken."

A five-mile walking race will be held Thanksgiving day by the Charles A. Learned Post of Detroit, Mich. Both men and women have entered the contest. Only Legionnaries are eligible. Prizes valued at more than $1,000 will be offered.

Joseph Semtich, a World War veteran who lost a leg in the Argonne, walked seven miles at the head of the Shelbian, Mo., post of the American Legion in the Legion parade at Kansas City. Semitch gets around with the aid of a crutch.

SANTA FE, New Mexico, Nov. 15.—Lookie! Watch it! There it goes! These exclamations will soon be heard all over the United States, with the distribution of thousands of genuine Mexican jumping beans.

The jumping beans have been trained to leap through hoops and stand unhitched by the 5,000 disabled war veterans recuperating in this state. They are to be sent to girls throughout the country who agree to correspond with one of the war veterans.

"Who wants one of these novelties?" asks Herman G. Baca of Santa Fe, adjutant of the New Mexico department of the American Legion. He will see that one is forwarded to every girl who writes to him and expresses a willingness to correspond with a convalescent veteran.

The jumping beans are dark brown, somewhat larger than the ordinary bean. The animation of the bean is caused by a tiny worm that crawls into it and eats the edible portion. The worm dies but the bean keeps on jumping.

Not such a bad come-back at that

WE WERE all sitting,
IN THE smoking car.
AND HARRY, who admits,
HE'S A born comedian.
TURNED TO me and said,
"I'D BEEN reading about,
SPIRIT MESSAGES, and guess,
WHAT HAPPENED to me.
I DREAMED my watch was gone,
AND WOKE and looked."
OF COURSE I had to bite,
AND ASK, "Was it gone?"
AND HE said, "No—
BUT IT was going."
SO THEY kidded me till,
I THOUGHT I'd get hunk,
SO I said, "Well,
I DREAMED one day,
WHILE RIDING with Harry,
THAT THE barn was burning,
BUT WOKE up and gosh,
IT WAS Harry's cigarette."
AND HARRY said,
"NOT TODAY, old dear,
I'M SMOKING your kind now."
AND PULLED a pack,
OF "SATISFY'S."
AND THE only come-back,
I COULD scare up was,
"ISN'T THAT glassine wrapper,
GREAT FOR keeping,
CIGARETTES FROM drying,
EVEN IN hot air?"

EXTRA! The Chesterfield moisture-proof wrapper. Increases our cost, not yours—but it's good business, for it adds to your enjoyment. It preserves the delicate flavor of these wonderful Turkish and Domestic tobaccos, and keeps the cigarettes firm, fresh and good-tasting whatever the weather.

"THE CHURCH TODAY" IS SUBJECT OF SERMON BY REV. WALKER

The sermon yesterday morning at the Presbyterian church was on "The Church Today." The pastor, the Rev. Thomas H. Walker, spoke in brief as follows:

"In his first Epistle to the Corinthians, Paul deals with the common faults of the church in that wicked city. They were glaring faults and weakened her testimony to the gospel of Christ. In the third chapter he speaks of character building and the day of testing, surely coming to try every man's work of what sort it is, saying, 'The day shall declare it, (that is the sort of material used in the building) because it shall be revealed by fire.

"Would the church of today stand the test? Let Jesus answer, 'Upon this foundation will I build my church and the gates of heil shall not prevail against it.' 'Heaven and earth may pass away, but My words shall not pass away.' There is a true church of Jesus Christ formed of all true believers of whatever denominational name, which shall carry on irresistible warfare for truth and righteousness and the gospel to the very gates of hell and battle down these defenses of the evil one. Such a church is characterized by great spiritual power, not so much saying of prayers, but more praying in the Holy Spirit; not such careful attitude to forms of worship but more or worship in spirit and in truth. More personal communion with God in such a church and less of the mechanical and superficial and non-essential sham of warship and service.

"The account of the spirit's outpouring on the little company of believers at Pentecost asserts that a multitude came together to see the cause of the noise that was made. It not was flippant curiosity nor an unfriendly revolt but a solmen awe and a keen desire that brought them.

"The stagnant pool had become an overflowing spring and the masses were no longer apathetic. Given a similar spiritual baptism and the church today would equally draw the multitude.

"We are the lineal descendants of the little church in the upper room. But are we as were they altogether, anticipating eagerly the blessing of our risen Lord and are we waiting the baptism of the Holy Spirit?

"Not for a spasmodic revival but or a steady growth in grace and the consequent fruit bearing will the people come to the church with deep interest and inquiry.

"The new birth must be followed by the new life. The lives of those early church members became a permanent miracle. There wings to their feet as they ran on the business of their Lord; their faces were radiant with the inner joy and glory of their spiritual redemption as they mingled with men and boldness of utterance characterized their every word as they went everywhere testifying to the power of the cross of Christ.

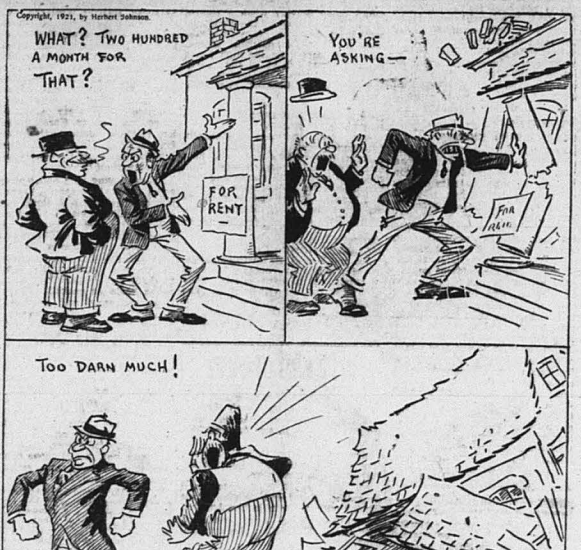

"Watch those people coming together—reverence, awe, anticipation, solemnity clothed them about — they were prepared by what they had experienced to move amid amazing revelation sof God's love and holiness and glory and God did not disappoint them: Of what should we be thinking as we come to the house of God? Of Calvary and the resurrection and the coming triumph of Jesus the Christ.

The popular Jesus is not great in sacrificing power, not great in His love for a lost world, not great in the glory of self-denial. To make Him popular today, as we thought, we have robbed Him of His charm and saving grace in the eyes of a world that knows its sin and wretchedness.

"When we devitalize His grave we render anaemic our faith and the damning sin loses both its shame and sting in our eyes.

"If the multitude does not gather today, it is not because they are sick of Jesus, but because there is so little of the real Jesus spirit in His feeble and bloodless representatives."

GERMAN MARK IS GOOD INVESTMENT, SAYS THIS WRITER

(By S. JACOBSSOHN)

The recent decline of German exchange in the New York market has raised in many minds the question whether the German mark has any value at all, or whether it may not completely disappear. The continued recession of the exchanges of the central powers, following their collapse in October, 1918, has induced investors and speculators to put their money into these foreign standards, and the interest in the mark quotations in New York is by no means a platonic one for the American investor.

During the last days the mark, which is nominally quoted $23.80 per 100 marks, has fallen to little more than 50 cents for the same amount, and foreign exchange men are daily beseiged by anxious investors asking for advice.

The first question raised is usually whether the mark may be wiped out entirely, and while this question can not be answered in the negative absolutely, the possibility of the German circulation becoming valueless is so small that it can hardly be considered seriously. The only way in which is can be wiped out is through the coming to power of a communistic government, which will abolish money as such.

In Germany the working man today is relatively well-paid, and the farmer may be considered rich. It is the professionals, the public employes, and the class which before the war lived on a small income from holdings that are the worst off. Now these latter classes are constitutionally incapable of becoming bolsheviks, and for the workers and the farmers the economic incentive is missing to turn communistic. The danger which might come from these parts to the German currency is therefore very slight.

The next question is: What is the future of the German mark? The German currency is issued by the Reichsbank (Bank of the German Republic), which, according to the former law, was forced to have its circulation covered by at least one-third metal, essentially gold, and further two-thirds by commercial drafts, which must not run longer than three months from the day of purchase. The Reichsbank was also obliged to pay all its notes in gold when presented. The dollar value of the mark circulation can therefore easily be determined by taking into account the amount of metal collateral, which forms the underlying drafts, which are held by the Reichsbank.

At the time of the last monthly report of the Reichsbank (end of September of this year) the note circulation was 86,384,000,000 marks, from which there is to be deducted 3,129,000,000 marks, which were held in the treasury of the Reichsbank. Against this the Reichsbank holds commercial drafts amounting to 99,564,000,000 marks, or an equity of 13,180,000,000 over and above the total circulation. The value of this amount figured in dollars, naturally changes with the price at which the mark is quoted in New York exchange market, but so does the amount of the circulation. At any rate the dollar value of circulation is fully covered by the value of the commercial drafts which the Reichsbank holds.

To make Him popular today, as we thought, we have robbed Him of His charm and saving grace in the eyes of a world that knows its sin and wretchedness.

Over and above these, the Reichsbank held, at the send of September, a metal cover of 1,040,000,000 gold marks, representing at the normal rate of 23.8 cents per gold mark, an aggregate of $247,500,000 American standard. The total value of the circulation, figured at the low of the mark quotation in New York this week, i. e., 52 1-2 cents, amounts to $441,250,000, so that the gold cover alone represents another margin of a little over 56 per cent of the total circulation.

Therefore, it seems logical to conclude that if the internal conditions of Germany do not show any marked deterioration, the exchange rate on Berlin in our markets will find itself on a higher level soon, and one that will more nearly express the actual ratio of the value of the mark, as exchangable against goods.

Every traveler in Germany can easily confirm this as he learns from daily observation that the buying value of the mark in Germany, i. e., the ration of marks to merchandise, is a far higher one than the ratio of the New York dollar quotation for German exchange versus merchandise in New York.

LA HABRA NEWS

La Habra had a spasm of realty deals Saturday that was phenomenal. every available piece of property in the business district on Central avenue changing hands. One of the largest deals was the Glazier Bros. general merchandise store on the corner of Hiatt and Central, with a frontage of 90 feet, of which C. O. Cook, one of the pioneer ranchers of this district, and Ray Frants became the owners. The consideration, it is said, is about $20,000.

P. W. Gedney of Los Angeles purchased four 50-foot lots on East Central of the Redfern estate for $4200.

E. H. Sanborn purchased from J. G. Launer a bakery location on the north side of Central.

S. Woodworth, who recently sold his home place to L. Lindaur, bought the adjoining lot for the consideration of $1500.

A. J. Wilson, who is building a store on West Central, bought of George Beck an East Central avenue lot for building purposes.

The La Habra Star was left without a home by the sale of the Glazier property and has bought the Detroit garage and will move the plant at once.

A new unit to the bungalow court of Miss Anna Prossel, in the Beck addition, is being completed and will be ready by December 1.

Other realty deals recently completed are two lots sold by Mrs. Nettie Wilfley for the heirs of Mrs. C. Shank on Hiatt and Erna streets, and a building lot purchased by Charles Farren in the same locality.

"HOOKS" 3,000-MILE RIDE TO JOIN CLUB

J. K. Christian, Chicago real estate dealer, "hooked" a ride on a stranger's motor car at midnight a few nights ago and when last seen was heading south, standing precariously on the running board of the car.

This was only the first of many expected "lifts." Within a month Christian expects to be 3,000 miles from Chicago. Unaided by the lures which are used by road "vamps" of the other sex, the one adventurer will endeavor to cover 100 miles a day. He has no "stop" signals in the form of short skirts or mascaro eyelashes. He must depend on the humanity which may or may not abide in the hearts of motorists along the road which he travels.

With such handicaps, even the Adventurers' club of Chicago considers his trip an adventure. He carries no money and must live and sleep as best he can.

If Christian succeeds in covering the 3,000 miles in the allotted time he expects to be made a member of the club, which is composed only of men who have had some exciting adventure outside the environs of Chicago. His trip is the result of a wager.

PASTOR TELLS OF WORK OF MISSIONARIES IN SERMON

Dr. James A. Geissinger spoke last evening at the White Temple upon "Quitters." He took three texts: "I am the light of the world," John 9:5; "Ye are the light of the world," Mt. 5:4; and Rev. 2:2: "I know thy works." He said in part:

"There was a remarkable group of pictures in the Epworth Herald a few weeks ago. That paper published the pictures of 178 young men and women going out to theforeign field from the Methodist church alone. They were graduates of training schools and seminaries and colleges. There were representatives from Northwestern, Oregon Agricultural, Johns Hopking, Syracuse, Central Wesleyan, Wisconsin, Cornell, Dickinson, Cincinnati, Iowa State, Wesleyan, Ohio Wesleyan, Chicago, Boston, Columbia, Allegheny, Kansas Wesleyan, De Pauw, University of Washington, Yale, Purdue, University of California, Morningside, Ohio State, University of Pittsburgh, and many other schools of good standing. They were going out to China, India, Japan, Korea, Java, Mexica, Panama, South Africa, Malaysia, Bolivia, Chile, Peru, Congo, Rhodesia, Liberia, Sumatra, Burma, and the four corners of the earth.

"These young men and women are going out to be teachers, preachers, farmers, carpenters, doctors, dentists, nurses, business men, laying the foundations of a new civilization. At the present time the non-Christian peoples cover two-thirds of the earth's area and yet they are dependent politically and commercially upon the good-will and cooperation of the so-called Christian nations. That means that commercial and political ambitions of the Christian nations have outrun their ambitions for the kingdom of God. And yet the Christian adherents outnumber far those of any other faith. They total 565,000,000 against 301,000,000 Taoists and Confucianists combined, or 222,000,000 Mohammedans or 211,000,000 Buddhists. These young men and women are poining the forces on the foreign field that are changing the balance of the world and making the scales regiser wholly for Christ. These young men and women and those like them are doing the really constructive work of the world today.

"They have gone forth at the call of youth. Youth loves adventure. The human heart also desires to be useful and helpful. They have had the claims of the kingdom placed before them and above all they have heard the call of Christ.

"When you think of what Christ means for the individual life and for the social life you surely are not surprised that such choice young people turn their eyes towards the horizon. Christ gives the highest ideals. He has a passion for goodness, a power to overcome, love for fellowman and hope that reaches beyond the ultimate disaster of death. If we have experienced the redeeming power of Christ why should we not share it?

"But these pictures suggested to me another picture. The picture of those who have lost this bouancy and courage of youth. A picture of those who no longer have the zeal and enthusiasm with which they started out. You cannot think of the church as whole without seeing these defeated faces peering out from the Christian group. These are the quitters. These are those who have petered out, only let us keep in mind that Peter did not peter out. He stumbled at the start of the race and lost his stride for a little distance but quickly recovered himself and was stretching every nerve at the end of the race. There are some people who are excellent starters but poor at the finish. They drop out at the quarter mile or the half or come in at last utterly demeated.

"What is the matter with many a man and woman who still keeps up a nominal connection with the Christian community? They have suffered an eclipse of faith. Somehow their vision has faded. Their grip is uncertain, their drive without any power, because they have lost something out of their hearts.

"Until the recent efforts for an increase of giving on the part of the church, or rather for a speeding up of the Christianization of the world, the members of the Methodist church were giving a cent and a half a week for the work abroad and they were doing about as well as the other Christian groups. A cent and a half a week! Now that is a money index of the little vision and the little enthusiasm and the little consecration of the church. That is a most pathetic showing.

"I lay along side of that the texts of the evening: 'I am the Light of the world!' We believe that but slightly when we are willing to give but a cent and a half a week to carry His light to the gloom and darkness of the orld. 'Ye are the light of the world.' How far shall we carry the lamps, the torch of Christ at that rate? It looks as if we should surely scon sputter out. 'I know thy works,'

"I am not here to judge any one of you. I have not the knowledge that would justify me in making any individual application of my theme to your life. But I am here to ask you this question: Are you think of the service you are rendering Christ and His kingdom, as you think of your works, your life, the things you are and the things you are doing, are you satisfied? Would you be willing tonight to stop on the job and lay down what you have done at the feet of your Lord and say: 'Lord there are my works!'"

For the Thanksgiving Feast

As Thanksgiving draws near, the busy housewife's thoughts turn to the menu for the turkey day feast. Naturally the family expects a treat, and it becomes Mrs. Housewife's duty to make the holiday meal wholesome and nourishing as well as delicious.

If the dinner is to be formal, it may begin with a fruit cocktail served in hollowed out oranges and made up of chopped apples, bananas, pineapple and topped with a maraschino cherry. The soup following may be either a clear bullion or cream of celery, made with Excelsior Milk and liquor from the boiled celery used in stuffing the turkey.

The Main Dish

The main dish is, of course, the kingly turkey. Every housekeeper has her favorite way of preparing turkey, and there are a variety of delicious dressings which may be used in the stuffing. Oyster dressing, with a dash of sage to flavor, or chestnut dressing with curry finds favor. An unusual touch may be given by boiling celery stalks till tender, chopping into inch lengths and adding to the previously prepared dressing just before putting it into the turkey.

Butter—the Vitamine Food

Vitamines are the food discovery of the age. Scientists have found them the one element without which the body cannot remain in health.

There are three types of vitamines, present in large numbers in dairy products of all kinds, and especially in butter. Pure butter is one of the best energy producing foods known and for this reason should find a prominent place on the winter diet list.

Children need vitamine foods to enable them to grow and to carry their studies in school successfully. The sandwiches in the school lunch should be spread thickly with pure butter, and cakes and pastries should be made with butter rather than prepared with shortening or butter substitute.

Butter should also find its place in the cooking done at home. Soups are enriched by adding butter, while vegetables served with drawn butter are deliciously different as well as nourishing. Try brushing the tops of biscuits with butter just before placing them in the oven. They will bake a rich golden brown. Steamed rice is appetizing when served with hard-sauce made by creaming together brown sugar and butter and adding a dash of cinnamon. This is also a good dressing for rice pudding.

In making desserts, especially pastries and puddings, butter adds flavor as well as nourishment. Pie crust is more flaky, puddings and cakes are richer, when prepared with pure butter.

Be sure the butter you use is from the EXCELSIOR CREAMERY and you will know you are getting the best.

The range of vegetables to be served at the Thanksgiving dinner is legion. Potatoes, instead of the usual mashed variety are delicious creamed, with chopped parsley sprinkled over them. Carrots and peas make a good combination, while parsnips fried to a golden brown are always welcomed. Olives, pickles and the immortal cranberry sauce find their place also. Chow chow and chutney sauces may be served by way of variety.

An unusual salad is made by grinding together raw carrots, peanuts and cabbage (the cabbage may be chopped) and mixing with a cream or mayonnaise dressing. This may be garnished with green pepper or strips of pimiento.

Dessert, of course, take the form of pumpkin or mince pie. When mixing the filling for the pumpkin pie, try using cream instead of milk. It will add greatly to the richness and flavor. And in making the pastry for the crust, use butter instead of prepared shortening. If you would add an individual touch to your pie serve it with a mound of whipped cream over which has been sprinkled browned grated cocoanut.

In following these hints, be sure to use EXCELSIOR milk, cream and butter. You can rely on their purity and your meal will be assured of success.

Little Girl's Thanksgiving

Little Girl was lonesome and blue. Wasn't it Thanksgiving, and what on earth did she have to be thankful for? She was hungry and cold and Moo Cow had run away so there wasn't any milk to drink.

So Little Girl put her head down on the table and cried because she didn't have anything to be thankful for.

But up in fairyland one of the good fairies heard her sobbing, and she called a council of the fairy folk. "This will never do," they said, and they sent Good Fairy to help Little Girl.

When Little Girl saw the good fairy come flying right in the window she was so surprised she forgot to cry. And when Good Fairy asked her what she wanted most in the world, she said "Oh I want Moo Cow back so I can have milk to drink and something to be thankful for."

So Good Fairy waved her wand, and lo and behold, right beside her there in the window, Moo Cow put her head in and mooed for Little Girl to come and milk her.

So Little Girl had plenty of milk to drink on Thanksgiving day and something to be thankful for after all.

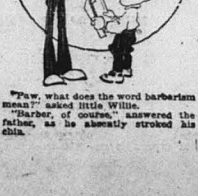

'Round the Fireside

On cool winter evenings when the wind is nipping outside, there nothing else so cheerful as a roaring blaze, and the family gathered around it.

Stories and jokes make the evening merry, with perhaps a pan of pop corn and some of Mother's cookies, rich and delicious because they're made with pure butter. Apples and nuts find welcome, furnishing food for the body as the stories furnish food for thought.

And for the "night cap" just before the group breaks up, bring in the bowl of hot Grape Punch. This is made by adding to three cups hot milk six tablespoons grape juice, six teaspoons sugar and three well beaten eggs. Beat the whole mixture with a Dover egg beater and serve with nutmeg. This will serve six people, and you'll find it makes a big hit. Be sure the milk used is EXCELSIOR for purity and flavor.

BARBERISM.

"Paw, what does the word barberism mean?" asked little Willie.

"Barber, of course," answered the father, as he absently stroked his chin.

OBSERVATIONS

—By—
CHARLES KUCHEL

—Table grapes bring all the way from $30 to $90 per ton in the eastern markets. A ton of grapes will make about 55 gallons of port wine, which, as per curbstone schedule, brings $10 per gallon, thus raising the price of the grapes to $550 per ton.

Somebody must be profiteering.

—In a sheltered spot nestling in the foothills at Vista, in San Diego county, there is a tract of land of considerable acreage that is said to be absolutely frostless. This land is leased by a colony of Japanese. It is ideally adapted to vegetable growing, and the Japs raise a variety of choice garden truck the year round. Many kinds of vegetables are grown in "season" the entire year. The Japs are reaping a harvest by marketing these products to exclusive customers when other sections have ceased to produce these edibles. Just as soon as other growers begin to bring in their crops the wiley Japs destroy their crops which are thus competed with. They at once devote their energies to raising such other plants, in their favored frostless area, as cannot be propogated successfully elsewhere. By these means the Japs get large returns for their products which find a ready market. Whatever would have become of the American farmer if these thrifty Orientals had not been checked in their wholesale land grabbing in this state? Locking the door before the horse is stolen.

—Officers captured a sightless porker here a few evenings ago, but as it was of a species not uncommon in these parts, it did not attract much attention in biological circles. The porcine quadruped had been feasting upon a liquid content of high voltage prescribed for the alleviation of pain in the abdominal regions of human beings, and had grown sleek and fat. The astigmatism was of such character that the special was easily detected and captured without much difficulty. A specimen of the genus, known as the stick-up biped, has also been seen here upon several occasions of late, especially at night, but as yet none of its kind has been taken, owing perhaps to its elusiveness and cunning instincts, derived principally by having no eye defects and being thus able to see the other fellow first.

Zoological pursuits.

—A young lady of buxum proportions appeared upon the rialto the other afternoon, wearing 'em as high, if not a little bit higher, than any seen around here for some time, so the boys declare, who are admirers of the latest scenic effects—over. They say that while some of the displays are very attractive, they had hoped the peak had been reached, but its hard to guess when things will stop going up. The war is over and the boys on the boulevard can't figure out why everything should not get down to normal conditions again. An eye-opener.

—A county officer fared forth many leagues to fetch back a crook from another state, but in transit the bird escaped through that popular avenue of egress—the car window. A clever crook will match his wits against those of a clever captor and nine times out of ten he will win out. There is only one way to handle hardened criminals and that is to put your foot on their necks and keep it there. Getting a water haul.

—Several of the barbers in town are trying to figure out a problem. One of the tonsorial fraternity has amassed sufficient funds to buy an orange grove, and still he is not satisfied. He has gone into the second-hand business, and his pals believe he will also hang out the three little ball sign and take a flyer at the pawn brokerage game. He recently sold a watch that he carried for a number of years and at once bought another from a friend, who guaranteed it to run every day in the week, Sundays included. The time-piece runs without winding for three days, and the boys around the shop are wondering what it would do if it was wound between times. The watch at times is a good signal to start to work on, but sometimes if a fellow quit by the same process he would put in a whole lot of overtime. Otherwise the watch is all right. The boys in the shaving parlor can't figure out why their pal continues to heave the hook with a feathery touch, and still be in the possession of the orange grove and the watch, unless it is to give his customers a good shave and all the latest news of theday without charging any war tax. If their companion of the shears or razor brigade should go in for raising goats on the side they allow he would have to annex a whole lot of pep to keep things from cluttering up his various business affairs. Anyhow the young man is ambitious and his friends would not be surprised to hear of him locating an oil well and going into the high finance whirlpool along with Johndee and some of the other boys. Things are turkey.

—That arch jail breaker who has a penchant for taking things off a mail car that do not belong to him, has again been captured and now some of his friends are trying to work the insanity stunt to ease up things for him. If this bird is "dippy" there are a whole lot of others running loose who should be put under lock and key. After extracting the sentiment out of his case he should be put in pickle with the brine extra strong to hold him for a while at least. Some faint hearts say he ought to get probation, but this would never do, because he might want to run for office. A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush.

AL SPARKS

His Match With "Bull" Montana Opens New Arena

(By Billy Darnley)

The stage is all set for the big doings tomorrow evening when the Anaheim Athletic Club throws open the doors of its new arena on North Los Angeles street and State Highway. Several improvements, which will undoubtedly prove to be to the liking of sport patrons, have been installed. One thing in particular that will meet with the approval of everyone is the roof that is being put over the place. It should be a decided improvement especially at this time of the year. Another advantage that the arena has over the majority of arenas is the fact that a clear view may be obtained from any seat in the house. There is not a post or other obstruction that will prevent a clear view of the contestants while in the ring and that is something that few clubs can boast of at present.

The reserved sections have been divided in two classes. The first two will be classed as ringside and will sell at $2. The next three will also be reserved but a lower price is to be charged, while the bleachers will sell at $1. The tax is to be added to these prices. This price list is intended only for the wrestling match tomorrow night and a new scale of prices will be formed for the opening of the boxing shows starting next Friday night.

For the club's opener, the athletic manager has arranged a wrestling match between the famous Bull Montana and Al Sparkes of local fame. The match is to be to a finish, the best two out of three falls, catch-as-catch can. Both men have been in training for the last two weeks in anticipation of a grueling mat struggle and tomorrow night the lovers of this sport are sure to witness a contest, a hair-raising fracas from start to finish. Sparkes is confident that he will beat the Bull and so sure is he, that he was willing to put up any amount that he could throw the "Handsome One" any old day in the week. The "Booi" was equally as confident. Consequently both men have agreed that the winner shall be given the $500. All holds will be allowed with the exception of the strangle hold which is barred by all clubs and wrestlers who desire clean sport.

Quite a large delegation of Montana's friends and admirers have signified their intention of coming down from Los Angeles and vicinity for the evening's fun and to root for their "Booi." Also, several movie stars will be on deck as they are all for Bull, first, last, and all the time.

The doors will open at 7:30 o'clock and the fun will start at 8:30 with a snappy preliminary.

Death Dance in Church Is Weird Medevial Ceremony

A visitor to the recent exhibition at Lubeck describes a revival of the ancient custom of performing the "Death Dance" in the village church—in this case the church of St. Egidius in the city of Lubeck.

The writer, himself a witness of the vividly dramatic spectacle, which is closely akin to the miracle plays, says:

"On entering the church in the dim twilight he noted mysterious lights flashing from the gallery while soft music was played. The curtains which had hidden the gallery were then drawn aside and the old building, rich in carvings dating from the Renaissance, was lit up by a cold, blue light. The music ceased, and then a tall undefined ghostly figure, playing a flute, was seen.

"Up the darkened nave a procession now appeared, the players clad in medival dresses. Heading the procession were the emperor and empress, the cardinal, the aristocrat, the doctor, the usurer, the nun, the peasant, and the mother with her child. The procession mounted to the gallery and then disappeared in the dark.

"The death flute ceased its weird music, and Death ordered the emperor and then the remainder of the procession before the tribune condemned them all irrespective of position. Death then danced with them, the dancers showing their terror or relief by realistic movements. The shrill accompaniment of a violin alone broke the silence.

"Finally Death convulsively gripped the child, the music became more wierd, till at last the organ broke into a crash of chords, the players disappeared, and the church was once more flooded with light."

MODERN DAY MIRACLES

How Twentieth Century Scientists Have Rubbed the Magi's Lamp and Made the Age-old Dream of Alchemy Come True

(Told in Eight Sketches)
By JOHN RAYMOND

No. I

THE AGE OF CHEMISTRY

Within the last few years the world has been electrified by the vast strides made in the field of science by the creative chemist. Indeed, within a generation the influence exerted upon the entire fabric of our civilization from within the laboratory has been so enormous that we are prepared at last to accept the oft-repeated statement that we have passed beyond the age of machinery and have entered into the more mysterious age of chemistry.

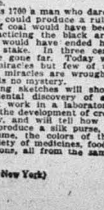

What this new era is to bring forth in the way of scientific discovery rests upon conjecture, but certainly, the miracles performed in the last half century have been sufficient to warrant almost any expectancy.

America has heard that Germany's chemists saved her from an early dire defeat, both in the field and in the matter of obtaining supplies. Without the tremendous expansion of her plants for the production of nitrates and ammonia from the air by processes developed by her great chemists the war, without question, would have ended years before it did, as a result of the exhaustion of Germany's explosives, if not from the exhaustion of her food supplies because of the lack of fertilizer for her fields. So great, in fact, have been the accomplishments in the last few years that scientists now declare that a nation without applied chemistry will be "defenseless in war and laggards in peace."

Previously unheard of scientific feats have been reported from the laboratory but because of necessity, they were performed so quietly they were robbed of their glamour and their trappings of romance while lesser achievements on the field of battle and in the council chambers of diplomats have been hailed by throngs.

Those of us who have left the class room and the study hall far behind find it difficult, lacking technical knowledge, to comprehend this swift transition from one era to another, an amazing period when the nations of the world are making serious plans to scrap their worthless armies and navies, depending for protection entirely upon the subtle but deadly agencies developed secretly in chemical laboratories.

We who are not chemists hear strange tales in these days, no less strange because they are true, of rubies and amber, ornament of ivory, shimmering silks and satins of every hue, and exotic perfumes — even the precious cargo of desert caravans is produced from a substance as ordinary as coal tar.

Truly, chemistry has descended into the depths of the earth and extracted the secret formula of nature. The modern researcher, by constant diligence and untiring effort, has performed the mysteries which kept the alchemists of other centuries groping in the dark and branded him as one allied with the devil himself. The researcher, in finding in coal tar, not only things of beauty, but remedies for most human ills, has outdreamed the alchemist by transforming a base substance into something far more precious than gold.

Out of this black, sticky mass he adorns M'lady with colors rivaling nature itself in their barbaric splendor. He distils perfumes that equal the jasmine of the Indies and the roses that one day will make war unthinkable. Thousands of articles upon which we depend, from TNT to paving blocks, from attar of roses to fertilizer, and from illumination gas to royal purple, are derived from the same substance.

As recently as 1700 a man who dared to say that he could produce a ruby from a lump of coal would have been accused of practicing the black arts and doubtless would have ended his career at the stake. In three centuries we have gone far. Today we accept these miracles but few of us know how the miracles are wrought. And yet there is no mystery.

The succeeding sketches will show how the accidental discovery of an English boy at work in a laboratory in 1856 started the development of creative chemistry, and will tell how it is possible to produce a silk purse, a bottle of perfume, the colors of the rainbow, a variety of medicines, foodstuffs and poisons, all from the same material.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is a sign you have been eating too much meat, which forms uric acid.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

AGENTS TELL AUTOISTS HOW TO CARE FOR PARTS OF CAR

How about tracing out trouble in the electrical circuits on your car; or correcting the timing of the motor; or grinding the valves? Could you do these things if either were necessary in an emergency?

Most garage men, and they are in a position to know, believe that you are to be congratulated on your knowledge if you are one of the old fashioned few who can do any of these things.

The long and short of it seems to be that the substantial construction of the car and its parts, and the frequency of service stations makes all this "do it yourself" knowledge superfluous. The up-to-date driver, instead of loading up his memory with a mass of details, remembers only a few items of routine care—things that he must do to keep the car running smoothly and continuously. It is this sort of information that the industry has made popular.

Hardly a day goes by in any garage or service station without their noting the effect of the educational work that has been done by the accessory manufacturers and car builders during the past few years. The storage battery in particular has received an unusual amount of attention. The Willard Storge Battery Company has found that the greatest part of their sales and service work is really educational in nature, they must teach the battery user how to take care of his battery.

There can be little doubt that the car owner owes a good deal to his satisfaction to the efforts of the manufacturer and his representatives who have taught him what to do to keep each part of his car in prime condition.

As a result of the grain demonstration plots in Los Angeles county, laid out in the fall of 1920, the barley and wheat yields were increased from 10 to 35 per cent. Bunyip and White Federated wheats yielded 12 and 15 sacks per acre, against 7 and 9 sacks of Early Baart and Sonora.

BOY, PAGE WEBSTER

We all make mistakes but goodness forbid that we stumble and then draw ridiculous conclusions as did the "Little Fellow Up The Street" in Saturday's issue. Here's what he said:

"He is light-complected and speaks good English."

Why don't you sign up for lessons?

PHILIPPINES AND DISARMAMENT

Manuel Quezon, who heads the Filipino party that clamors for immediate independence, seized the opportunity afforded by the conference, to present the cause anew. Doubtless he conceives himself to have chosen the psychological moment.

The outcome of the conference must have a bearing on the future status of the islands. This is not a matter to be considered for the present. The attempt to drag it into conference now would confuse the issues that face the gathering.

This country has given assurance that independence shall be granted the Philippines the instant the people are fit for the responsibilities such change would involve. Every effort is being made to render them fit. The project has been set back by politicians of the Quezon type, and by the stupidity that marked the regime of Harrison as governor-general. He devoted his time and effort to a process best described as "swelling the heads" of the natives.

Says Quezon: "Philippine independence at this time would be the best evidence to the world that America does not want the domination of the Pacific."

On the contrary, it would be positive evidence that America desires to surrender all rights in the Pacific, which is not the case. The object in view is the retention by all the peoples of their legitimate rights there. The thought in mind is not that the United States retire in favor of Japan or any other power, nor that Japan retire in favor of the United States.

The Philippines, turned loose before the agreements to grow out of the conference have been perfected; and when there is no definite assurance of agreement, would have the same chance of freedom that Korea now has.

ROY GARDNER, A TYPE

Roy Gardner, mail robber, has been captured. Probably the clerk who made the capture would have been less cool had he known himself to be in the presence of so noted an outlaw. It is not likely that the situation greatly perturbs Gardner. His staying qualities as a prisoner seem to be inconsiderable.

Gardner is a type of the natural criminal who has turned criminal from inclination and to whom reform is impossible. No man can be reformed save when his personal desire suggests such change. There are lacking in him, and his kind, those emotions that in operation receive the name of conscience. These are a part of the moral equipment. They are not within the experience of the individual devoid of morals.

While Gardner was free, after his latest escape, he is believed to have written a letter stating his intention of reforming. He made his proclaimed purpose the basis of a plea for clemency. There was no surety as to the genuineness of the letter, and, admitting the author to have been Gardner, there still could have been no assurance that he was sincere. The fact that he went back to the trade of robbery so soon shows that he could not have meant a word of his promise to be good.

This state has an habitual criminal law. By its terms the criminal who through his acts has placed himself in this class, goes to prison for life. The law was meant to fit the cases of which Gardner is an example, the utterly irreclaimable.

Influence is being brought to suppress the practice of making public show of weddings. This does not refer to the amount that may be expended with the caterer, the jeweler or the modiste. It has reference to the wedding in the dance hall, or aboard an airplane, or attended by other feature tending to make it into a vulgar show.

About the most satisfactory lie is saying you had to serve on a jury when it was a baseball game.

Some have a hard time picking out a car to heaven because the lower berths all seem to be taken.

Between Ourselves

By Della M. Stewart

In Atlanta, Ga., lives a judge who has a fine sense of consistency. In the habit of fining other members of his court for tardiness, he imposed a fine upon himself one morning recently when circumstances had made him late in attendance.

It's pretty hard to judge ourselves by the same standards that we would impose on others. So hard is it that we're muddling along even now, trying in public life and economic circles to make the other fellow do what we think is perfectly fair to us. We forget that the other fellow has a viewpoint, also. Maybe he's just waiting to see us begin to do the thing that is perfectly fair to him—who knows?

It's just another case of that "vicious circle" that we have heard so much about. Everybody waiting for some one else. So few to stand out boldly and declare that perfect fairness shall be the slogan of life and relationships, so few to carry out such a life motto. Somehow it's so easy to think that we are favored individuals—a little removed from the common rabble, a little less amenable to common law and common justice. For us the rules of the game must be laid aside. For us, privilege instead of stern duty.

A father has been found who required his minor children to give notes covering the cost of their keep. Otherwise the man seems reasonably human.

Correspondents are having lots of fun entertaining the delusion that they ran the conference.

When Roy Gardner mailed his protestations of reform it seems that he merely was spoofing.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS OF SANTA ANA MAY BRING COMEDY HERE

It is possible that Anaheim will have the pleasure of seeing the Santa Ana Community Players production of "Potash and Perlmutter" with the same cast as made such a wonderful success of the play in the Santa Ana production.

"Potash and Perlmutter" is the first play given by the Community Players association this season and played to packed houses during its Santa Ana run. So great was the demand that many people have requested an extra performance of the play that they might be able to see it.

If the board of governors of the player's association gives its consent, the play will be produced in Anaheim some time in the near future, and very likely in Fullerton as well, giving the citizens of these centers an opportunity of viewing the fininshed production of the association.

The cast is exceptionally well selected and balanced, being made up of the best talent in the county. So well was the play received in Santa Ana and so well interpreted by the cast, that the Jewish people of that city gave the actors a real Jewish dinner in token of their appreciation.

Ernest Crozier Phillips, director of the association, is well known throughout the county for his brilliant work in producing plays.

Flying a kite "to keep the wolf away from the door" is the occupation of a World War veteran who during the war flew an airplane in France. The veteran was jobless and the only work the American Legion employment bureau at Minneapolis, Minn., could find ofr him was flying a advertising kite for a film company.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

WAS W FOLEY

A POPPY FROM FLANDERS

A poppy from Flanders—it lay in my hand,
A delicate thing.. if so withered and dried;
A poppy from Flanders—brought here from the land
Once red with the blood of the brave men who died.
A poppy from Flanders—its color grown pale,
Its leaf crisped and sere, on its petal the rust
And the mould of decay—just a blossom so frail
That the touch of my finger might crumble to dust.

A poppy from Flanders—so tiny a thing,
And quivering there in the palm of my hand,
Ethereal, light as a butterfly's wing,
A thousand leagues far from its own field and land.

So still there it lay, and so tiny and pale—
Then quick it flamed hot with the color of blood,
And there in my palm was a crimsoning trail
And trickle, through poppies all trampled in mud.

Then came the sharp clashing of steel upon steel,
The rumble and roar of the unlimbered guns,
That shrieked and that thundered, the creaking of wheel—
See now how the crimson stream gathers and runs!
And men sprang from firesides whose spirits leaped high,
And shells tore the earth as the heavens were spanned
With great arcs of fire till blood-red was the sky—
And the poppy from Flanders that lay in my hand

A poppy from Flanders that flamed and that burned
Like the souls of its sons, come to hallow a trust,
Then rain fell like tears on white faces upturned,
In the night and the dark and the blood and the lust.
And the pale petal quivered as though it were stirred
By that same dauntless spirit that blood-drenched its land
For honor's own sake, and the eyes of me blurred
Till I scarce saw the poppy that lay in my hand.

A poppy from Flanders that lay in my hand,
That grew in some blood-bought and glorious spot,
That told me the tale of its own field and land.
When the petal of it flamed forth blood-red and hot.
And a Voice sounded forth o'er the guns and the lust,
Of the fight, vast and deep as the primal Command:
"Who fears but to die if he shall keep his trust?"—
A poppy from Flanders lies here in my hand!

Tablets in Ancient Grave Prove Ownership of Land

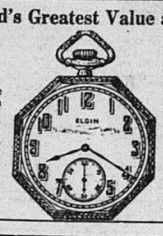

As a means of adjusting a difference between Chinese litigants who appeared in the mixed court in Shanghai recently the courtd irected that a grave mound 200 years old should be opened.

The dispute concerned the ownership of a small tract of ground. In the action Sung Chui-dong alleged that Yih Woo-zoong invaded the premises under controversy and erected a bamboo fence around certain graves thereon, asserting that the place was his ancestral burying ground. The plaintiff cliamed the property as his own by the ancestral grant.

When the grave mounds were opened there were brought to light the tablets of a Chinese and his wife who had lived and died under reign of Emperor Kiang Hsi. When the tablets were brought to court it was found that the characters on them were of peculiar form and the writing read from left to right instead of from top to bottom, but the inking was clear and the placques were well preserved.

After the reading of the tablets the court announced the graves as those of the defendant's family and Sung's petition was dismissed.

From a recent surrey made by the state labor commissioner, it appears that 280.000 persons are employed in California manufacturing industries. In September there were 138,000 engaged in the building trades, an increase of 18.000 over September, 1920. The total unemployed in the state is estimated at 83.000, including 30.000 ordinarily unemployed.

Travel teaches shrewdness, no doubt; but a man who can make money enough to travel is shrewd enough.
