Consignments solicited, and prompt returns made. Los Angeles, Feb. 9, 1871. tf17

Shall I forget thee in the after years,
When age has laid its wrinkles on my brow,
And time has given my locks a coat of snow,
Or dulled these eyes that now are filled with tears;

When all the future, which to us seemed bright
And hopeful, has by me alone been tried,
Without thy smile, or presence by my side,
To cheer my courage and my path to light?

Can time the memory of the past efface,
Or change the nature of a heart like mine?
Another form might take thy wonted place,
Still should my spirit sigh to meet with thine;

Age may confirm, but ne'er disprove my truth,
And time but mellow the deep grief of youth.

From S. F. News Letter of Nov. 5th, 1870.

Anecdote of Peter Donahue.

The name of Peter Donahue is intimately associated with prominent enterprises and acts of benevolence on this coast. He has done as much, perhaps, toward building up the great commercial mart of the Pacific coast as any man residing in San Francisco, while the records of the various benevolent institutions will bear evidence of his generous contributions. He is now considered one of the most enterprising residents of the Bay city, and his interests are varied and diversified, ranging from blocks of massive buildings, railroads and steamboats, mining, insurance and bank stock, tracts of the finest land, together with cattle upon a thousand hills. The present happy condition of Mr. Donahue may be attributed to his energy, honor and industry, aided by firmness and good morals. Some years ago, long before the discovery of the precious metal in California and consequently prior to the breaking out of the gold fever, we knew Peter Donahue, then a young man, full of energy, employed as a farm hand on the bank of the Hudson River, New York, in full view of West Point. Young Donahue always gave evidence of sterling integrity as well as industry, which proved very satisfactory to his employer. The Fourth of July approached, and the roar of artillery from West Point had a tendency to arouse patriotic emotions in the breast of the young farm laborer. While pondering on the situation, he was approached by his employer who said: "Well, Peter, I suppose you wish to celebrate the Fourth?" "Yes, sir," meekly replied Peter, as he thrust his hands deep into two empty pockets. "Well," continued his employer, "you shall do so," and at this juncture he took nine copper cents from his pocket and placed in the hands of the grateful Peter, who appropriated the same to the celebration of the national anniversary. We wonder now, as Mr. Donahue looks over his lists of bank deposits, glances over the maps of his real estate, and answers to the many calls of dividends that are falling into his overflowing treasury, if he ever thinks of the bright Fourth of July morning in the Hudson Highlands, where he squandered the nine copper cents in his recklessness; when his patriotism overcame his sense of economy. Verily, a mighty change has come over the subject of our discourse, which goes to show that some things can be done as well as others, and California is the place to do it.

Only a Shadow

A story is told of a well-known gentleman who sometimes imbibes too freely of the ardent, going home late at night recently; and mistaking his shadow outlined on the door for a man, he paused a little in surprise; and lifting his hand very gracefully, bade him good evening.

"A very pleasant evening," said the gentleman.

No reply.

"This is my house, I believe," waving his hand.

The hand of the shadow went through the same graceful curve.

"I should like to get in, sir, if you'll stand aside;" but the shadow made no movement to let him pass.

The gentleman was evidently surprised. He repeated his desire to pass in, but the shadow remained still.

His wife, hearing her husband's voice, looked through the window blind, and seeing no one but himself asked why he didn't come in.

"So I would, my dear, but this gentleman"--pointing to the shadow—"insists on blocking up the door."

His wife quietly opened the door, remarking, "that was your shadow."

"Indeed," said the puzzled citizen, "well now, I thought he was a mighty fine-looking fellow to be so impolite," and, reasoning

Whenever he shows a disposition to remain out late at night, his wife has only to remind him of the shadow on the door step to insure a speedy return.

California Wines.

A gentleman who has visited and examined most of the noted vineyards of Europe, expresses the opinion that the chief requisite for the highest merit in wine is neither the management of fermentation nor the variety of the grape, but the soil; and he states facts that will leave no doubt in the minds of those not previously convinced, that good soil and exposure are indispensable to the production of the best quality of wine. The main idea is not new; it is universally conceded that most of our vineyards are planted on soil too rich, and on situations too low and flat to yield the best quality of wine. But "M." gives new illustrations, and his remarks will tend to impress upon our readers the superiority of the hills for vineyards.

He pays a high compliment to the ordinary California wine, made from the Mission grape, and says it is superior to any made in Italy, and also superior to the wines grown on the plains of Languedoc, imported here from Bordeaux and sold as Medoc or Claret. Some of the Cucamonga, in his opinion, rivals the best Sherry and Madeira. He dislikes our port, because it is made in imitation of the sweet Port, mixed with distilled spirits for English use, whereas the dry Port made in the ordinary method for consumption in Portugal is a much lighter, more palatable and more wholesome article. We regard our California Port as an excellent article of its kind, and valuable as a beverage for those who, not having a taste for dry wines, want either a strong wine or distilled liquor.

In the large consumption of Port, we have imitated the English, who, actuated partly by hatred of the French, made a treaty about one hundred and fifty years ago, under which Portugese wine was to be admitted into Great Britain at a low duty, and the English men considered it a matter of patriotism to use Port in preference to the lighter wines of their hereditary enemy, France. A cold climate and a gloomy sky contributed to their preference for a strong drink, such as the Port prepared for their use. Of late years, however, the French wines have been admitted at the same rate as the Portugese, and the hostility to France having given away to more liberal sentiments, and large numbers of the British people having become accustomed to dry wines in traveling on the continent, sweet Port and Sherry have lost their pre-eminence in the English market and made way for Claret and Hock.

Our correspondent thinks that with "care, attention and honesty," which mean proper cultivation and good management, there is a glorious future for our wine interest; and we fully agree with him. With experience, a reduction in wages and time, California will be able to produce profitably at least 200,000,000 gallons of wine annually, instead of 4,000,000 or 5,000,000, which, according to our estimate, is about the quantity now made.—S. F. Alta.

FINE PROSPECT.—From the San Juan Echo of 21st ult., we clip the following:

We have reliable intelligence of a rich discovery at or near Shaw's Flat, Tuolumne county. The lead pans out from 50 cents to $7 to the panfull, and it is expected that three men will be able to take out $1,000 a day. This discovery has a local interest, in the fact that several of our citizens—Dr. Wiggins, Major McMichael, George Tate, S. W. Smith, Ed. Burch, Thomas Mylar Sr., W. G. Hubbard — are the principal owners.

Mr. Hubbard above referred to, is of the firm of Hubbard & Hunter, Anaheim.

Wanted—Population.

The State gain in population, by sea and railroad, in 1870 was only some 15,000 persons; which increase, compared with our wants, is about as satisfying as the "peanut a month ago" was to the wants of the hungry stage negro. We rely altogether on our fine climate, our vast area, the productiveness of our soil and the wealth of our people, for getting that they have also a good climate and cheap and rich lands in the Atlantic West, which can be reached at one-third the cost of a trans continental journey away out here. Princely offers of land were made for the location of the Odd Fellows' Home and the State Normal School, but we make no offer to farmer immigrants. One of the best land speculations ever made in the United States was carried out by ex-Governor Seymour of New York. He owned many thousands of acres of land in Wisconsin before it was settled. The land was of no use to him, and could be made of none until he decided to give away more than half of it to settlers, whom he also aided with loaned money. The enterprise was a grand success for both parties. It made hundreds of industrious immigrants rich, and made a millionaire of Governor Seymour. We are all waiting, waiting for prosperity. "When will times change?" "when will this dullness pass away?" are the questions in everybody's mouth, and are questions which nobody seems to feel competent to answer. We, however, have to say that times will not change until we increase our population, and that cannot be done until proper inducements are held out. Abel Stearns, Governor Downey, Judge Pratt, John Bidwell, S. R. Throckmorton and a host of other persons in the State count their acres by the thousands—some of them, indeed, by tens of thousands. If they would put a portion of their immense ranchos down to a nominal price to parties of settlers, they would immediately attract the proper kind of immigrants. Casting bread upon the waters in this way would be the best possible mode of bringing it back buttered before many days. Cheap landed inducements in the country, and cheap money for manufacturing in the city will alone attract population, and we may as well understand at once that we can do little better than hold on until we increase the number of people in the State.—News Letter.

Cost of Living in California

The difference between the cost of living in San Francisco and the Atlantic cities is stated by the Commercial Herald of the former city, based on a comparison of bills of fare of well-known restaurants in Boston, New York, and San Francisco. The following table is given:

	Boston	San Francisco.
Lamb chop, with peas	$1 00	$0 25
Broiled ham and eggs	65	20
Rump steak	60	15
Tenderloin steak	1 00	20
Large porterhouse steak	1 50	25
Fillet of beef, with truffles	1 40	50
Fillet of beef, with olives	1 15	37½
Pork steak	60	15
Mallard duck	1 50	50
Venison steak	75	25
Roast beef	50	15
Boiled tongue	50	15
Boiled ham	40	15
Roast turkey	75	25
Pressed beef	40	15

In San Francisco restauarants, an admirable cooked and well served meal, consisting of tenderloin or porterhouse steak, with two kinds of potatoes, pickles, green tomatoes, green corn, string beans or peas, and all the bread and butter one requires, can be had for the moderate charge of from 25 to 37½ cents.

CHINESE METHOD OF PRESERVING GRAPES.—Travelers inform us that the Chinese have a method of preserving grapes, so as to have them at their command during the entire year, and a recent author gives us the following account of the method adopted. It consists in cutting a circular piece out of a ripe pumpkin or gourd, making an aperature large enough to admit the hand. The interior is then completely cleaned out, the ripe grapes are placed inside, and the cover replaced and placed in firmly. The pumpkins are then kept in a cool place, and the grapes will be found to retain their freshness for a very long time. We are told that a very careful selection must be made of the pumpkin, the common field pumpkin, however, being well adapted for the purpose in question.—W. & F. Reporter.

LIGHTNING CURED WINE.—At Digne, in Germany, several butts of wine were lately shattered by lightning, and their contents passed along the floor into a cistern beneath. It was found, instead of having suffered by the accident, the wine was improved so as to sell at sixty instead of ten cents per litre. Subsequent experiments tend to show that a current caused by the immersion of two platina electrodes, in connection with a galvanic battery, has a similar effect on wine.

San Diego and Los Angeles Railroad.

In the Union of the 2d, we have the annual report of John Forster, Esq., President of the above named Company, in which he speaks favorably of the prospects of the company, and hopes that during the present year they will make a commencement on the road. From this report, we make the following extract:

By reference to the report of the Treasurer—on file—it will be seen that the amount of capital stock, actually subscribed in this County, upon which ten per cent. has been paid into the treasury of the Company, amounts to $189,000; amount of cash received by the Treasurer, $18,900; amount of disbursements during the year, $,868 50; leaving a balance in treasury, $17,041 50.

A large amount of stock has been subscribed, or guaranteed, by citizens of Los Angeles county, which has not, as yet, been entered upon our stock books, but will be available when required for the construction of the road.

In taking leave, in my official capacity, of the Stockholders of the Company it may not be improper for me to make a suggestion concerning the kind of road it may be desirable, under the circumstances, for the Company to build. It is known to many of you that, in many places in England, what are known as "narrow gauge" roads have been built and operated with great success, saving to the builders more than one-half in the cost of construction, and also one-half of the expense of operating. A railroad with a gauge of thirty inches can be built and equipped upon our route, for about ten thousand dollars per mile. Such a road, properly equipped and managed, would be capable of doing more business than is now being done by any railroad in the State, and do it at about half the cost of an ordinary wide gauge road. Such a road would be able to do all the business required for many years, and double or treble the profits to be derived from our investment, and subserve the interests of the country quite as well as a more expensive road. Is it not, then, for the best interest of all concerned, that the narrow gauge be adopted, and these most desirable results obtained.

Election of officers.—at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the S. D. & L. A. R. R. Co., held on the 23d instant the following named gentlemen were elected Directors for the ensuing year; John Forster, C. J. Conts, A. E. Horton, E. W. Morse, J. Nash, A. Pauly, Levi Chase, J. W. Gale, D. W. Briant, J. S. Mannasse, M. Sherman, W. H. Cleveland, J. M. Pierce. Immediately after the adjournment of the Stockholders meeting the newly elected Board of Directors organized and elected their officers, as follows: President, John Forster; Vice President, A. Pauly; Treasurer, E. W. Morse; Secretary, J. Nash.—Bulletin.

No man is a man till he is tried; till he has passed through the ordeal; through deep water and scorching fires. A man surrounded with comforts, friends and relations, food and raiment; whose barns are filled with plenty, and whose presses gush out with new wines; who eats his fill; sits and reads, doles about, taking his ease and pleasure; smoking his pipe and chewing his cud, is he a man? Far from it. A man is not a man until he is proved—has passed the ordeal—drank the bitter cup; risen above life's conflicts; mounted the billows of the wave.

Following is a list of the newly elected United States Senators: F. P. Blair, Jr., for Missouri; John A. Logan, for Illinois; William Windom and O. P. Stearn, for Minnesota; Gov. A label, of which the following is a verbatim copy, accompanied a chest of a new brand of tea recently received by Mr. Nabb. Route of the Railroad.

Conjecture is rife upon the subject of the route to be taken by the California Southern Railroad, through this part of the State. And although nothing positive can be known until the corporators thereof indicate to the public their intentions, yet we venture to give our views, based upon the bill as it passed, and the topography of the country.

According to the bill, the California branch is "allowed to connect with the main trunk at or near Fort Yuma, and to go to a point in the mountain range in the 35th parallel, at or near Tehatchapee Pass, where the California Southern Pacific (Gilroy) Railroad is now being constructed."

The connection may be made above Ft. Yuma on the Colorado, and no doubt will be made as far up that river as possible, as the Gilroy Company have a land grant from the Tulare Valley to Fort Mojave. The indication is, then, that the line of the new railroad will pass east of Death Valley, strike through the San Gorgonio Pass to San Bernardino, and from thence down to Los Angeles via El Monte and San Gabriel. It would undoubtedly be better for the coast, and if freight and passengers are a consideration, better for the company to swing their line west of Death Valley and come in by Warner's Ranch, San Luis Rey, and up through Anaheim to Los Angeles But the advantage of their old land grant to Mojave, together with the new Congressional land subsidy and right of way, upon similar terms with the Texas Pacific main trunk, will probably take the line through the desert. However, there is a little clause in the bill, thus: "The right to purchase or accept State or individual grants of land for legitimate purposes, is conceded;" and with this weapon the Company may come after us for a subsidy—which they won't get—in consideration of running up the Coast.

From Los Angeles, the route will probably lie through San Fernando Pass and Tejon Pass to Gordon's Ferry, (which is in the 35th parallel, comparatively near Tehatchapee Pass, and where the old junction of the Gilroy road was fixed) over a line once projected to Los Angeles by the Gilroy Company, as will be seen on Bancroft's lately published map of the Coast.

Following is a rough map, showing the general direction of the supposed route from Fort Yuma past Los Angeles to Gordon's Ferry:

Undoubtedly, this entire Railroad system will be of far greater value to Los Angeles and this County, than to San Diego. The curve from the Colorado to Los Angeles will hurt San Diego—that is, it will not be so beneficial to that city as if a road went direct to it, and from thence up the coast. But it makes Los Angeles—and must be commenced at once, and the whole system completed in ten years.

If this road crosses the desert according to our conjecture, it will compel the building of a coast road from Los Angeles to San Diego, and, indeed, it is understood that arrangements have already been perfected, by which work will be commenced on the latter road simultaneously with the first operations on the main trunk across the continent.

It is undoubtedly due to the exertions of B. D. Wilson and (always give the Devil his due) P. Banning, that the Los Angeles clause has been inserted in the bill. They may have been personally interested, but their interests were atoms compared to the interests of the County and lower coast at large; and, moreover, we have no right to charge with selfish motives, men who have accomplished such a magnificent public benefit.

With this system in prospect—with this system in course of construction—with this system completed, the lower coast is prosperous, rich, and a paradise of wealth and refinement.

All praise to the persistent, enterprising men, who have successfully fought this battle of years. All praise to Congress. All praise to God Almighty, who has, after years of frowning, smiled upon our land with an exceedingly gracious smile.

Dear Sir:—The article in your journal of the 11th inst, has greatly interested me. I send you by the mail a couple of circulars giving full accounts of my Thompson patent Road Steamers, and you might be able to work out an article which would interest your readers.

I believe the day is not far distant when these engines will be running over many parts of the Pacific States, and it might be a matter of some little pride to think that you were among the first to publish a description of them.

SATURDAY, MARCH 11, 1871.

The City Government.

Now, that but four weeks remain until the caucus for city nominations, it becomes our tax-paying residents to give a few thoughts to the subject and consider who are the proper men to put in nomination, and upon what platform. No good citizen can hesitate a moment as to his duty in this election. It is for his interest to have

Strict economy in our young city government.

To oppose direct city taxes, and heavy license taxes.

To oppose all paid officers.

To oppose any police establishment until we have increased population.

The original vineyardists should take the lead in making these nominations, and should be willing to accept and hold any of the offices tendered them. They are the most economical. It is a startling fact that while these owners of the city repose at night in quietude at their vineyards, scenes of rowdyism, knavery, blackguardism and immorality, hold high revel at the business center. It does not become a city of such citizens to continue this state of affairs. Insist upon it that your city be a quiet, orderly, honest and well-governed place.

The following notice, concerning certain stray animals, is posted in Anaheim:

Road to the Landing.

There is a project on foot to have the Board of Supervisors establish a county road to Anaheim Landing. We respectfully suggest that the route of said road out of Anaheim be laid along the line between Sections 9 and 16 to the Greely tract, and from thence along the highest ground, either on the north or east lines of Section 17; and thence on the most available route to the Landing. This route would pass the thickest part of the environs, and, while it would benefit a large settlement of inhabitants, would every way be as near and practicable as any other. We hope the settlers along that line will keep their eyes open for a petition going before the Supervisors for any other route, and enter a protest against it.

City Improvements.

It is almost impossible, to keep track of the various buildings being erected or proposed to be erected in and around Anaheim, in consequence of one scheme following another in such rapid succession. Among the buildings lately erected, are the magnificent building of P. Richards and the hardware house of J. Bennerschneidt, and several others the objects of which or owners of which, we are unable to obtain information concerning. There are also, in process of construction, a new Livery Stable connecting with the Planter's Hotel, a long and fine front on the Downey buildings, a house north of the city, on the premises of Mr Dyer; and to the southeast, a house on the premises of Mr. Boyle. We understand that several other fine buildings are in contemplation: Mr. Kroeger, proposes to construct a two story brick near the Brewery; Mr. Hill, proposes to erect a residence on Los Angeles Street; Ashcroft & Pryor, propose to construct a meat market near the Livery Stable of Mitchell & Gibson; Mr. Werder, contemplates building several tenement houses, and John Nipe proposes to erect a palatial habitation in the suburbs. These plans being carried out will germinate and generate others, and the increase will increase until we enjoy the fulness of the greatness in store for our young city.

BUSINESS CHANGES.—H. D. Polhemus and Ed. Polhemus have dissolved partnership in the hardware business. The business will hereafter be conducted by H. D. Polhamus.

Arnold & Baldwin have purchased the entire wagon making business of A. Crum, and are now prepared to do wagon and buggy work of all kinds and at short notice.

There are six new houses on the Bolsa, near Westminster.

Anaheim Poetry.

The following lines were lately received by a young lady of Anaheim, accompanied by a bouquet:

Accept this bokay from a feller,
Who oft has heard the kanoon holler:
Has listened to the fife a tootin,
And helped to do a heap of shootin;
Has seen the war-clouds dark arise,
Like fifty buzzards when they flies;
Who is much bigger than his ded,
And wants to marry—mighty bad.

We commend him to Los Nietos.

ELEGANT FIXTURES.—Mr. P. Richards has received from San Francisco, for his new establishment, a plate glass mirror, four by seven feet, and elegantly framed in massive black walnut; also, eight mammoth sized engravings, twelve dozen arm-chairs, and a new improved billiard table. Bully for Pete.

Many new faces are appearing on our streets.

JOB PRINTING.—The GAZETTE Printing Office is prepared to print cards, posters, blanks or bill-heads, at short notice, and in a first-class manner.

Freight List.

OUTWARD:

To San Francisco—42 pipes wine, 3 punch wine, 2 bbl wine, 1 kg wine, 1 ½ bbl eggs, 22 dry hides, 2 bdls skins.

To San Diego—15 sks beans, 1 pile-driving hammer.

(AN Awful Communication)

For the Anaheim "Gazette."

There was once an awful young lady, who had an awful way of saying awful to everything. She lived in an awful house, in an awful street, in an awful village, which was an awful distance from every other awful place. She went to an awful school, where she had an awful teacher, who gave her awful lessons out of awful books. Every day she was so awful hungry that she ate an awful amount of food, so that she looked awful healthy. Her hat was awful small, and her feet were awful large She went to an awful church, and her minister was at awful preacher. When she took an awful walk, she climbed awful hills, and when she got awful tired she sat down under an awful tree to rest herself. In summer she found the weather awful hot, and in winter awful cold. When it didn't rain there was an awful drought. and when the awful drought was over, there was an awful rain, so that this awful young lady was all the time in an awful state; and if she don't get over saying awful, about everything, I am afraid she will by-and-by come to an awful end * *

MISSING.—The familiar face of "Jeff Davis," once so common, is seen no more upon our streets. In days of yore, he was the leading feature of Anaheim He was the Character of the place; and persons returning, after an absence abroad, complain that, without him, its identity is imperfect. The anxiety as to his strange disappearance is heightened by the near approach of the city election, as a large constituency desire, to run him for a councilman—and possibly Mayor. Where is "Jeff."?

ORDER.—An order has been made in the District Court, concerning the estate of Conrad Kuchel of Anaheim, deceased, whereby an allowance is set apart for the maintenance of the family All persons familiar with the circumstances connected with this estate, will see the supreme justice of this order, and rejoice thereat

Mr. John P. Zeyn is about to take a trip to San Francisco.

SATURDAY, MARCH 11, 1871.

The First producer of Champagne.

From an article in the American Brewers' Gazette we extract the following:

It was old Father Perignon, of the royal monastery of St. Peter's, Hautvilliers, Champagne, who originated sparkling champagne. He was chosen procureur of the celebrated abbey for the purity of his tastes and the soundness of his judgment of wine. His chief duty was to take charge of the vineyards (of which the monastery possessed the broadest and richest in the country) to receive from neighboring vineyards the tithes of the wines they made, to press the grapes from the monastic vineyards and blend this wine with those that had come to them as tithes. "In the decline of life, Father Perignon," says an old chronicler, "being blind, ordered the grapes of different vineyards to be brought before him, recognized each kind by the taste, and said, 'you must marry (mix) the wine of this with that of another.'" In the course of his wine mixings and blending of one quality with another, Dom Perignon, who had already by his skill raised the wine of the holy fathers of the monastery to the greatest perfection, discovered the process of making the wine effervescent, and, as it was utterly impossible to keep in this condition by the old process of a bit of wool steeped in oil, which was the only stopper then in use, he further added to his celebrity by the employment of the cork, which he secured with a string. What a contrast is presented, and the complex and delicate manipulations to which we owe the Tokays, Hocks, Burgundies and Clarets of to day, and what care is necessary to evolve and preserve the nice specific quality of each, distinct from every other.—W. & F. Reporter.

"I remember," says the celebrated Wesley, "hearing my father say to my mother, "How could you have the patience to tell that blockhead the same thing twenty times over?" "Why," said she, "if I had told him but nineteen times I should have lost all my labor."

JUDGE NOT!—It was discovered after the death of a man who was not reputed to possess a generous disposition, that he had secretly provided for the sick poor, and especially for a poor widow, who had refused his addresses when she was a gay and lovely girl.

HOW TO SECURE PLEASANT DREAMS.—A French writer has said that to dream gloriously, you must act gloriously when awake; and to bring angels down to hold converse with you in your sleep, you must labor in the cause of virtue during the day.

The Great Medical Discovery!

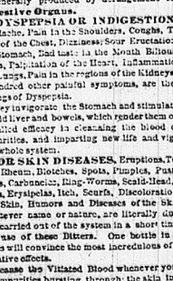

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout; Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

Patent Medicines.

TO PHYSICIANS.

New York, August 15th, 1868.

Allow me to call your attention to my Preparation of Compound Extract Buchu. The component parts are, Buchu, Long Leaf, Cubebs Juniper Berries.

Mode of Preparation—Buchu in vacuo. Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchu as prepared by Druggists is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection it will be found not to be a Tincture, as make in Pharmacopoea, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflamation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation

With a feeling of profound confidence,

I am, very respectfully,

H. T. HELMBOLD,

Chemist and Druggist of 19 years' Experience.

(From the largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.)

November 4, 1856.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. Helmbold; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

HELMBOLD'S

FLUID EXTRACT

Buchu

For weakness arising from indiscretion. The exhausted powers of nature which are accompanied by so many alarming symptoms, among which will be found, indisposition to exertion, loss of memory, wakefulness, horror of disease, or forebodings of evil; in fact, universal lassitude, prostration, and inability to enter into the enjoyments of society.

THE CONSTITUTION

Once affected with organic weakness, requires the aid of medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which Helmbold's Extract Buchu invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues

Helmbold's Fluid Extract of BUCHU

In affections peculiar to females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in chlorosis, or retention painfulness, or suppression of customary evacuations, ulcerated or schirrus state of the Uterus, and all complaints incidental to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu AND Improved Rose Wash will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

USE

Helmbold's Fluid Extract Buchu

In all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

Those suffering from broken down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight, may be the attack, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a diuretic. Helmbold's Extract Buchu is the great diuretic.
