

PUT THEM OUT.

On the first page of to-day's paper will be found the widely-differing comments of two papers on the report of the Railroad Commissioners. Personally, we heartily despise the Commission and all its work—if it can be said to have done any work. Beerstecher and Cone, the two Commissioners who made the report, having fully confessed their inability to cope with the problems presented to them, should in justice to the tax-payers resign the offices which they hold and for which they receive an exorbitant salary. Stoneman, the third member of the Commission, who treats the matter so contemptuously as to assent himself from the State at the very time when his presence is wanted, if ever, should be forced to resign. The Constitution gives the Legislature power to remove any one or more of the Commissioners from office for incompetency, and the most chuckle-headed lawmaker now in Sacramento cannot but know that the present Commission is wholly incompetent, even disregarding the fact that a majority of the Board has made public confession to that end. But we do not believe, with some of our contemporaries, in abolishing the Commission. Because one set of officials have proved recreant or incompetent is no reason why the office should be abolished. We believe the Governor, who has the appointing power, can find three men in the State intelligent enough, honest enough and fearless enough to enforce the law in regard to transportation companies, and give the people relief from the exactions of the railroad monopoly.

TOO SHORT A SESSION.

Not the least of the blunders made by the framers of the Constitution was in restricting the Legislative session to sixty days. The time is altogether too short in which to legislate intelligently for a State of such widely diversified interests as California. It would be too short even if we were working under the old Constitution, but now that we are governed by an organic act which nobody understands—or, more properly speaking, which everybody understands differently from everybody else—the necessity for a longer session of our lawmakers is plainly apparent to every person who is candid enough to admit that there is any blemish in the Constitution. A full and fair discussion of the subject of irrigation—alone—would consume thirty days of the designated sixty, but it is probable that the present session will end without material advance being made in the solution of this problem. There is no economy in any such proceedings. A wise law on the subject of water rights and irrigation would be worth more to this part of the State than a dozen sessions of the Legislature would cost. In considering this question, it is just as well to concede the fact that the greater part of every legislative session will be taken up in the consideration of two or three subjects of overshadowing importance (to the lobby) to the exclusion of a hundred really meritorious and useful measures. The Debris Bill is an instance in point. There are measures of a great deal more importance to the State at large which are so low down on the file that they will never be reached, and all because of the struggle going on between the advocates and opponents of this Debris Act. And he is indeed unsophisticated who believes that the struggle is prolonged by the opponents of repeal from disinterested and patriotic motives.

The Rugby Colony, which settled in Tennessee some time ago with a great flourish, have already become dissatisfied with their location, and have arranged to move in a body to Minnesota, that State having granted them a tract of land free. It appears that the originator of the colony, Tom Hughes—a good novelist and poet but a bad judge of land—was taken in and done for by some shrewd land speculators, and that the land upon which the colonists planted themselves is of the poorest description. It is greatly to be feared that they make a second mistake in moving to Minnesota. California is the place for colonists composed of such material as this one is, and had they settled here their prosperity would have been beyond question.

A BILL has been introduced in the Assembly to prohibit the killing of or selling of meat on Sunday.

IRRIGATION MATTERS.

In the Senate on Monday Mr. Johnson's bill to divide the State into irrigation and drainage districts was finally passed. We published the bill a few weeks ago. The main object of the bill is to abolish riparian rights in irrigable lands and permit water to be used for beneficial purposes where riparian owners refuse to appropriate it to that use. The bill received the support of the Senators from the southern counties: The Assembly Committee on Irrigation have had under consideration a bill introduced by Mr. Bost to provide a system of irrigation for the southern part of the State. The bill is a fac simile of the Debris Act, providing that the Governor shall appoint a Board of Irrigation Commissioners in each district organized under the Act, but leaving out the State aid feature of that law. Bost's bill merely levies a tax upon the property benefited by the provisions of the bill. Surveyor-General Shanklin appeared before the Committee and explained its provisions, saying it was the design to board the water falling during the Winter in reservoirs in the hills, and use it in the dry season. He said all the money that could be raised under the Act would not more than commence the work, but that it was desirable to have it begun, even under such adverse circumstances. Mr. Murphy, of San Luis Obispo, said that there was not enough rain a year, on the western side of the valley running through the southern part of the State, to irrigate one-half of the country, and that all the streams running down the eastern hills were taken up. He thought the bill would be useless and work a great hardship to the people of Southern California. It would cost more than the land on the west side of the valley was worth to irrigate it. Griffith, of Fresno, said the bill was not what his people wanted. They now irrigate 80,000 acres of land of their own accord. Many people who do not irrigate would not like to be taxed to help irrigate somebody else's land. The bill also interfered with some vested rights, and was therefore in conflict with the Constitution. The probabilities are that the bill will not pass.

GOVERNOR PERKINS has very wisely decided not to call an extra session of the Legislature. The law says that sixty days is long enough to do all the required work. We believe the law is wrong, but it should be obeyed. As long as the impression prevailed that the Governor would order an extra session both houses were dilatory. It is probable that the remaining days of the session will be put to good use and that all the important bills (including the one creating the county of Orange) will receive the attention of the Legislature.

THE amount of work done by the Legislature up to and including Saturday, Feb. 12th, is given in the following summary: Bills introduced in Senate, 354; bills introduced in Assembly, 489; total introduced, 843; bills passed Senate, 91; bills passed Assembly, 51; Assembly bills killed in Senate, 94; Assembly bills killed in Senate, 0; Senate bills killed in Assembly, 3; Assembly bills passed by Senate, 1; Senate bills passed by Assembly, 4; bills approved by Governor, 3.

The Executive Committee on State Division met on Tuesday and appointed a committee of twelve lawyers to give an opinion upon the following questions:

- 1st. Is the legislative act of 1859, as voted upon by the people and forwarded to Congress with the certificate of the Governor of California, still in force?
- 2d. If that act is still in force, what legal steps are necessary to complete the division and establish the State of Southern California?
- 3d. If that act is no longer in force, what other course becomes necessary to effect a division?

A numerous committee on Finance was also appointed, of which B. F. Seibert of Anaheim, C. W. Humphreys of Santa Ana and Richard Egan of San Juan Capistrano are members.

The principal matters decided by the recent session of the Grand Lodge of the A. O. U. W. are: That the annual session shall commence on the first Tuesday in April, instead of February; that habitual drinkers of intoxicating liquors must not be admitted to or retained in membership; that only five rituals are to be allowed each Lodge, and that rituals are not to be owned by individual members; that individuals having such rituals are to return them to their M. W. to be sent to the G. R.; that societies on bonds shall justify the same as county officers; that in trials, both sides shall be entitled to counsel; and that officers must be perfect before they can be installed.

Garden Grove News.

From appearance, I think the Bachelor Club intend to carry out the resolutions contained in my last letter, in good faith. Mrs. A. E. James, of Oakland, who has been visiting here for the past two weeks, is having five acres of Muscat grapes set out on her place south of the store, and intends to have an orchard planted this spring. Tuesday, on the evening preceding her return home, the friends of Mrs. James met at Mr. Chaffee's and spent a very pleasant evening with her, socially and musically. Daniel Head is putting out five acres of raisin grapes for Mr. L. H. Long of Oakland. Mr. Long, who is at present engaged in putting up a mill for a mining company on the Mohave river, intends coming here in April. Wm. G. Badger of San Francisco, has enlarged his orchard by an addition of about two hundred apricot, apple, and peach trees. Mr. B. F. Stahl, who had gone to Arizona to live, was lately brought to Los Angeles prostrated by paralysis. Mr. S. L. King returned this week from Wilmington where he has been putting in 640 acres of wheat. San Francisco Money Market.

The Bank Commissioners report a decrease of over $5,000,000 in money in the San Francisco banks during the six months ending December 1, 1890, as follows:

Decreased money in commercial banks.	$1,406,623
Decreased money in savings banks.	1,051,380
Total decrease in money.	$2,458,003

This money has gone into United States bonds. The permanent purchase of these bonds by the banks of the city in the last six months of 1890 were as follows:

By the commercial banks.	$2,570,306
By the savings banks.	2,093,403
Increase in bonds owned.	$4,663,709

The banks have thus put nearly $5,000,000 of this money where the County Assessor will have no jurisdiction over it. At 4 per cent it is probably a better investment than some others that have been made. It is certainly better to have it earning that amount than to have it idle and subject to a tax of 24 per cent.

Attention has been called to a three-year loan of $105,000 on city real estate at 3 1/2 per cent, the lender paying the taxes. At the way things have been going of late, and the way they are likely to go for the next two or three years, we do not consider that this loan will net the lenders over 1 1/2 per cent. The savings banks are free lenders at 8 per cent on city property, where the margin is perfectly satisfactory, and they pay the taxes. Regular 60-day paper is discounted at 8 1/2 per cent, and the supply of first-class is limited. There is a good demand for exchange on New York. It is said that considerable money has been transferred this month to that city. Some of it will probably come back after the Assessor has made his annual rounds. Money on call is offered at 6 1/2 per cent.—S. F. Bulletin.

Queer Happenings.

At Reddie, recently, a Mexican played his wife off at a game of poker, and the cheerfully went with the winner. A white beaver was recently captured by an old hunter named Adams on the Skok kumchuck River, Washington Territory. The fall from a tree by an inmate of the Oregon Insane Asylum restored his speech. For twenty years no word had passed his lips. Joel Sharpless of Kinnitt, Chester County, Pa., lost his life by poison from inhaling the dust from some old sleigh bells he was cleaning. Under the wing of a chicken found frozen to death in a hen-house in Richmond Va., a rat had nestled for warmth, but was also dead. It is said that all the banana trees in Jacksonville Fla., are killed by the cold, and that three-quarters of an inch thick covered the face of the St. John's River recently. James E. Brown of Kittanning, Pa., who died Dec. 5, bequeathed $25 to every widow in the town, $25 to every wife who shall become a widow, and the same amount to all the girls now living who shall become wives. A Grand Rapids, Mich., woman took strychnine, and her pet poodle dog was so alarmed at her convulsive movements that he jumped into her lap, and licked enough poison from her lips to kill him, while she recovered. Just as D. Iveson of Connellsville, Pa., entered a court in Scotland, to claim an estate, witness for the Government was giving positive testimony that Iveson was dead. He got $100,000, and saw the perjurer sentenced to prison. A hen belonging to a gentleman of Raleigh, N. C., was mangled many days ago, and when she made her reappearance it was with twelve little terrapins. It was found that a terrapin had laid the eggs, deserted them, and the hen converted them to her own use and sat on them. A warm flat iron was ordered for Mrs. August Leffler's chest, as she was suffering from pneumonia. Her husband was too drunk to appreciate the situation, and, using a ten-pound iron, he burned his way into the cavity of the chest, causing death. They lived at Fond Du Lac, Wis. The harbor of Port Washington, Wis., was frozen solid recently, and when men began to cut the ice thousands of minnows crowded to the open space for air and were scooped out. They had come into the harbor for comfortable winter quarters, and were victims of misplaced confidence. An island thirty miles away was beautifully brought to view to the people of Accomack County, Virginia, recently as a mirage. The sun rose behind a thick fog bank which soon grew thinner, and suddenly Chincoteague Island appeared with its tall, white tower, its dwellings, its trees and shrubbery. A little boy was seen driving a flock of sheep along the shore, and even a little girl in the door of the lighthouse keeper's home fondling a doll. It lasted but a moment.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—The Times gives the following extracts from Jefferson Davis' "Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government," which will be issued early this Spring. He dedicates the work to the widows and orphans of the Confederate dead, saying that he conceives it to be his duty to profess this history. He acquits the South of the responsibility for slavery, which he treats as only an incident of the economic movement. The paramount question was equality in territories, and to the inability of the South to secure the slave code he traces the conflict which burst into open war. He opposed the Missouri Compromise as a surrender of the rights of the South, but says its repeal forced it to take a decided stand. He says the election of Lincoln put the Federal Government in the hands of a party under which the Southern States could not live. Several chapters are devoted to vindicating the right of secession. He denounces as a gross breach of faith the attempt of the Government to supply Forts Sumter and Pickens with provisions and ammunition, and justifies their seizure by the Confederates, and lays on the North the responsibility for all bloodshed. Mr. Davis fixes upon himself the responsibility of prolonging the struggle after he was convinced that success was impossible. The concluding chapters, it is expected, will defend his policy.

TROSON (A. T.), February 14.—Cowboys continue to annoy settlers in the southeastern portion of this Territory, and many believe they are accessory to the numerous raids which have been made on stock ranches in that region of country. Stock is disappearing on every hand. Cowboys who receive $40 per month wages are in the habit of spending four times that amount of money monthly, and ranchmen have very naturally come to the conclusion that something is wrong. They congregate in bands and go from house to house and force the inhabitants to entertain them and take part in their drunken orgies. In some instances their action is most inhuman and disgraceful. The settlers in several localities are overawed by them, and fail to prosecute for fear of further incurring the displeasure of the outlaws, who seem to have everything their own way. Most of these ruffians are from Texas, where they had graduated in all the crimes known in that State, and have come to Arizona in search of new fields of adventure. The people of Arizona are generally peaceful and law abiding, and are utterly opposed to such outlaws.

DEVER, February 15.—It will be remembered that, some time ago, John W. Young, son of Brigham, married a Philadelphia lady of high social position under a pledge of never practicing polygamy. Nearly three years ago Young violated his promise, and married Luella Cobb, a very handsome young girl of Salt Lake, scarcely 16. The first wife immediately separated from Young, and has been living alone since. She says that, previous to her marriage, she secured a dower. Lately Young has been engaged in extensive contracts in Arizona, and from there went to St. Louis, where he telegraphed Luella to meet him in Denver on his way home. Luella arrived in this city on Saturday evening and took quarters at the Windsor Hotel, and Young arrived last night. He was immediately arrested by Charles H. Hawley, Deputy United States Marshal, on telegraphic instructions from the United States Marshal at Salt Lake, where he has been indicted for bigamy. It is supposed at the instance of his first wife. Young was before the United States Commissioner this afternoon and gave bonds in $2,000.

ST. LOUIS, February 15th.—In response to inquiries sent to railroad agents throughout the winter wheat-growing belt tributary to St. Louis, the Post-Dispatch to-day publishes a very full report of the prospect for a good winter wheat crop. Reports given show that so far the damage by the late sudden and severe changes of the weather has been very slight. Only in a few localities is the acreage much larger than last year. The present condition is favorable and the prospects are fair to good. Reports from Illinois are particularly encouraging, and indicate a large yield and of excellent quality.

DANIELSONVILLE, CONN., February 18th.—Three children have been fatally burned by pouring kerosene on the fire. Their mother was seriously injured in trying to save their lives.

Representative Pacheco is preparing a bill to establish a new custom collection district at Los Angeles.

Fernando Wood, member of Congress from New York, died at the Hot Springs, Arkansas, on Sunday.

The track of the Ruby Hill Railroad, Ereka, is covered with ore that has fallen from the cars while en route for the furnaces. Charles Mette, a lad of 14, has been collecting it. He will make no less than $10 per day.

Clarence Gray has been tried for the murder of Theodore Glancey, editor of the Santa Barbara Press, and the result is a disgracement of the jury. On the first ballot they stood 5 for acquittal, 5 for manslaughter and 20 for murder. On the last ballot they stood 10 for conviction and two for acquittal.

At Watsonville on Saturday, a man by the name of Lyman S. Hutchinson assaulted with a pistol, breaking his arm and otherwise injuring him. He then, the son asserts, set the dogs on him. There is strong talk of tar and feathers.

Kleinigkeiten.

—All persons indebted to Mr. H. J. McDermott will find a notification of considerable interest in our advertising columns.

—In the Senate on Tuesday Mr. West introduced an act to create the county of Orange.

—Judge Bailey has removed his office to the room west of Mr. Langenberg's store, formerly occupied by Mr. Fischer.

—This is a good year for the creation of new counties. The Arizona Legislature has created the counties of Gila and Cochise.

—Sixty different kinds of ladies' children's and misses' stockings have been received by the American Cash Store.

—The project of converting Arcadia Block, Los Angeles, into a theatre, is now being considered.

—Mr. J. M. Quinn returned from Sacramento on Saturday evening and resumed his duties in the school on Monday.

—The ten-months' clip of wool from a three-year old merino buck owned by Canille Garner weighs 45 pounds.

—A Good Templar's Lodge was organized at Downey last week by Mrs. Stevens. The organization has a charter membership of thirty-six.

—Strawberries are selling in Anaheim for fifteen cents a pound. New York papers just to hand quote the rate in that city at 86 per quart at wholesale.

—A mild form of epizootic is afflicting the horses hereabouts. The symptoms are a cough, physical weakness and offensive discharge from the nostrils.

—The residence of the Bangle brothers, at Forest Grove Station, was entered by burglars on Monday night and $200 in gold taken.

—"Whatever is, is right," is the subject to be debated at the meeting of the A. O. U. W. Lodge on Monday night. Mr. J. M. Quinn will argue in the affirmative and Mr. Frank Eyer in the negative.

—George H. Peck, of El Monte, argues that by all the rules of induction and the Herchell theory, the coming spring will be a wet one. Rain should set in, according to the theory advanced, from the 20th to the 25th of this month, and March should be a wet month.

—It will be seen that Spear, Meade & Co., the well known commission merchants of San Francisco, have removed to 416 and 418 Front Street,—quarters much more commodious than those which they and their predecessors have occupied for so many years.

—There has been filed with the Secretary of State articles of incorporation of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Los Angeles. Trustees—C. H. Bradley, G. W. Wells, G. W. Morgan, J. P. Widney, J. H. Seymour, S. Strohm, S. C. Habbell.

—Mr. Tim Carroll has bought the fourteen large tanks which were used at the tannery and will utilize them for reservoirs for the storage of water for irrigating purposes. He intends to put up a windmill and fill the tanks from an excellent well which he has on his premises.

—The entertainment given by the children of the Episcopal Sunday School last week was a financial success, clearing $16.85. The forty wish to purchase will cost thirty dollars, and they have now on hand thirty dollars. It has been ordered from the city and will probably be in place about the first of May.

—There is a pretty well authenticated rumor abroad in Los Angeles that, very shortly, the headquarters of the Southern Pacific Railway Company are to be moved to this city. There would be a striking propriety in this action. Los Angeles is undoubtedly the center of the new transcontinental railway system.—Herald.

—A masquerade ball will be given at Santa Ana on the 23d instant. Mr. M. A. Mendelson, of the Merchant Tailoring Emporium, will furnish the costumes and have the management of the affair. Anaheim ballgoers should attend this party in recognition of the presence of so many of their neighbors at the ball on Monday night.

—Mrs. Laura Powers, wife of Edward Powers, committed suicide in Los Angeles on Monday by cutting her throat with a razor. It is supposed to be a case of dementia. The lady was 42 years of age and lived happily with her husband. They belong in Denver, Colorado, and came to this county some time ago in the hope of benefiting the deceased, she being subject to asthma.

The Last Week.

The San Francisco Gallery will only remain in town one week longer and it will be necessary for all who have not yet had their pictures taken to call at the Gallery without delay. Another opportunity to secure pictures as good and as cheap will not soon present itself, and they should embrace the chance offered before we "fold our tent like the Arabs and as silently steal away."

DAVIDSON & WALKER.

ABRILLIANT MASQUERADE

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL OF THE SERIES.

They had been at the Masquerade, where she recognized him at once. "Was it the loud beating of your heart, my darling, that told you I was masquerading?" "Oh, no! I recognized your crooked legs," she replied.

As far back as the close of the 18th century the holding of festive meetings, at which the participants assumed fictitious characters and disguised their identity by wearing masks, was in vogue, and during all the intervening years, up to the present, about all the change in the general characteristics of such assemblages is the greater decorum and propriety with which such affairs are now conducted.

In Europe, notably in the gay capitals of France and Italy, the annual Carnival, in which rich and poor, gentle and simple, alike participate, are even yet characterized by a freedom and license which is slowly but surely causing the festival to be viewed with disfavor, and which will eventually result in its abandonment.

But the converse is the case with private masquerade parties. They seem to be increasing in popularity on both sides of the Atlantic, and it has been found possible to so manage them that they have been stripped of all the features which made them objectionable. It is well that it is so; for no other form of amusement gives greater opportunity for both sexes to gratify their fancies, propensities, and for the enjoyment of a "real, good time," untrammelled by the conventional proprieties which fetter and hedge one about in the ordinary ball-room.

There have been several masquerade balls given in Anaheim of late years, each one given have been voted a success, but the one given on last Monday night eclipsed them all. Such is the verdict of both participants and spectators, and their decision is concurred in by the writer. If we have any criticism to make, it is that the advent of a professional costumer, while giving to the different costumes a glitter and tinsel which would have otherwise been wanting, did so at the expense of an originality which has been distinctive features of our masquerades. One is not apt to study anything strikingly original if he or she can, with an outlay of two or three dollars, secure the use of a costume in which velvet, spangles and gold lace predominate. Not that original characters were wanting on Monday night—there were some very amusing ones. The agile monkey, the garrulous peasant vendor, the footsore tramp and other absurd representations gave occasion for great merriment. The lady who did us the honor to represent the GAZETTE had a costume as striking and stylish as any worn in the hall. The skirt, basque and coquettish hat were made of copies of the GAZETTE, deftly fashioned and trimmed with a profusion of gold fringe and tassels. We are glad that the representation was in such competent hands, and make our profound bow in acknowledgement of the honor.

A stranger, wandering into the hall in the evening without previous knowledge of the character of the entertainment, would have been pardoned in supposing that an art loan exhibition was in progress. Chromos, engravings, oil paintings and mirrors covered the walls, and choice flowers and evergreens were wreathed around every nook of vantage in lavish profusion. The effect was pleasing in the extreme and those having charge of the decorations felt, while listening to the encomiums of the audience, that they were amply repaid for their labor.

The makers, who previous to midnight had control of the floor, were numerous enough for comfort, as the great number of spectators encroached somewhat upon the space usually allotted to dancers. In all, there could not have been less than three hundred persons present.

Previous to unmasking, Mr. Mendelson announced that after due deliberation the Committee had, contrary to previous arrangement, decided not to award any prizes for the best-attended characters, as the gross proceeds of the entertainment were to be given to the Ladies' Aid Society, and it was deemed best to put the profile to such use instead of spending it in the purchase of gewgaws. The announcement was greeted with applause, which showed that the committee had correctly gauged the sentiment of the audience.

The net profits of the ball were $29.20, which sum has been given to the Ladies' Aid Society. Following is a list of the ladies and gentlemen participating, and the characters represented:

There were a number of plain masks who participated in the dancing in addition to the ladies and gentlemen noted above.

The Committee who assumed the active management of this party are entitled to public recognition for the manner in which they performed the task allotted to them; and the praise is all the more due them because they literally outshined victory from defeat.

Their efforts up to within a few days of the affair met with rebuffs and discouragements enough to have caused less skillful and less determined men to have given the project up in disgust. But by dint of perseverance and personal solicitation they achieved a memorable success. The Committee of Arrangements was composed of M. A. Mendelson, Adolph Rimpson, C. E. Leonard, M. Neidling and Fred Hartung.

And in the matter of supper, Mr. Dunham accomplished a feat which has heretofore considered impossible—satisfied everybody. It was the most elegant collation ever spread in Anaheim and the most exacting epicures, of whom there are not a few here, could find nothing to criticize or disparage in the quality or arrangement of the feast.

The Anaheim Brass Band furnished the music, and in honor of the occasion nearly all the pieces were original airs compiled by Mr. Bancroft.

POSITIVE RESULTS.—There are numerous remedies that cure sometimes and become trusted as useful, but none have ever proved so effective—cured so many and such remarkable cases—as Dr. Ayer's medicines.

The Cherry Pectoral has restored great numbers of patients who were believed to be hopelessly affected with consumption. Ayer's Cure breaks up chills and fever quickly and surely. Ayer's Compound Extract of Sassaaparilla eradicates scrofula and impurities of the blood, cleanses the system and restores it to vigorous health. By its timely use many troublesome disorders that cause a decline of health are expelled or cured.

Ayer's Pills and their effect are too well known everywhere to require any commendation from us here.—Scranton (Pa.) Times.

Oh, What a Cough!

Will you heed the warning? The signal perhaps of the sure approach of that more terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourself if you can afford for the sake of saving 50 cts., to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your cough. It never fails. This explains why more than a million bottles were sold last year. It relieves Croup and Whooping Cough at once. Mothers, do not be without it. For Lame Back, Stiff, or Chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by Wm. M. Higgins, Anaheim, Cal. Wholesale by Crane & Brigham, San Francisco.

Dyspepsia & Liver Complaint.

Is it not worth the small price of 75 cents to free yourself of every symptom of these distressing complaints? If you think so call at once at our drug store and get a bottle of Shiloh's Nutralizer. Every bottle has a printed guarantee on it. Use accordingly, and if it does you no good it will cost you nothing. Sold by Wm. M. Higgins, Anaheim, Cal.

We have a speedy and positive cure for Catarrh, Diphtheria, Canker mouth and Head Ache in SHILOH'S CATARRH REMEDY. A nasal injector free with each bottle. Use it if you desire health and sweet breath. Sold by Wm. M. Higgins, Anaheim, Cal. Wholesale by Crane & Brigham, San Francisco.
