THREE PER CENT.

Washington dispatches report that the Senate Finance Committee are unanimously in favor of Sherman's bill for the issue of 3-per-cent bonds, to be redeemable after five years, but with amendments reducing the amount of such bonds from $300,000,000 to $200,000,000. The original bill reads as follows:

That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to receive at the Treasury, and at the office of any Assistant Treasurer of the United States, legal money of the United States to the amount of $50, or any multiple of that sum, and issue in exchange therefor an equal amount of bonds of the United States of the denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and $10,000, of such form as he may prescribe, bearing interest at the rate of 3 per cent. per annum, payable quarterly or semi-annually at the Treasury of the United States.

Such bonds shall be exempt from all taxation by or under State authority.

They shall be payable at the pleasure of the United States after January 1, 1887, the order of their payment to be determined by law, or, in the absence of such legislation, by the rules and regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The money deposited by this Act shall be promptly applied solely to the redemption of bonds of the United States bearing 3½ per cent. interest, and the aggregate amount of deposits under this Act shall not exceed $300,000,000.

The amendments of the committee are: (1) That the amount shall not exceed $200,000,000, and (2) that the amount of deposits to be received shall not at any one time exceed $25,000,000. Of course the bonds must bring par in gold or legal money of the United States. It will test the question whether or not money is so abundant in the United States or anywhere, that capital can be induced to invest in a 3-per-cent bond for so short a time as five years at par. British 3-per-cents are perpetual, and though they are now quoted at a quarter to five-eighths per cent. above par it is the first time in many years that they have gone that high. The usual quotations are from 95 to 98. The exemption of these bonds from State and municipal taxation makes them equal to a saving of 2 per cent., which is about the average rate of State and municipal taxes on money, and therefore equal to a private bond bearing 5 per cent. interest. As fast as they can be sold the cash received for them will be used to call in the 3½ per cents, which were issued by the Government redeemable at call. The saving in interest on the $200,000,000 would be the one-half of 1 per cent., or an aggregate of $1,000,000 a year. Should this limit be rapidly exhausted it will establish the fact that a 3-per-cent bond can be floated at par; and the limit may be extended by another Act to an amount sufficient for the refunding of all the 3½ per cents outstanding, which would result in a saving of about $3,000,000 a year in interest. Should the new bonds fail to be taken at par no harm will be done. The fact will have been demonstrated that the 3½ per-cent bonds are the best we can do. There is not, probably, much capital in the United States willing to invest in a 3-per-cent bond for so short a time as five years, but in some parts of Europe, where 3 per cent., or even 2½ is satisfactory, there may be, considering the high standard of American credit. The bill, or one having its chief features, will probably become a law.—S. F. Chronicle.

Everybody knows what an umbrella is, and can tell of what it is constructed; but few are aware how large an industry is represented in the stick of this useful and generally missing property. An official estimate, made in September last, in Kingston, Jamaica, showed that there were a little over 500,000 sticks awaiting export to England and the United States to be made into umbrella handles. These sticks were almost without exception pimento, and it is not surprising to be informed that owners and lessees of pimento walks are becoming alarmed at the growth of a trade which threatens to uproot, in a few years, all their young trees. The export returns for the past five years show that an average of 2,000 bundles of sticks has been sent out of the island annually in the ordinary course of trade, and the returns for the first three-quarters of 1881 show an export of over 4,500 bundles valued at $15,000. When it is remembered that each bundle contains from 500 to 800 sticks, each of which represents a young bearing pimento tree, the extent of the destruction may be realized.

VIENNA, December 17.—The official report of the Ring Theater disaster says that the Chief Engineer asked two policemen at the main entrance of the theater whether there was anybody within, and received the reply that the whole audience left safely. This statement was apparently confirmed by the fact that no persons were seen at the entrances of the building. Men of the Fire Brigade subsequently made their way to the galleries, but the air was suffocating, and it was impossible to penetrate the passages, as the torches went out for want of oxygen, and the firemen were unable to breathe. The report expresses the conviction that the audience died speedily from suffocation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14th.—A debate on Woman's Rights sprung up in the Senate this afternoon from the opposition of Vest (Dem.) of Missouri to the creation of a special committee on that subject. Vest said that he regarded it as a step toward Woman Suffrage, to which he was opposed. Hoar (Rep.) of Massachusetts replied in an animated strain, reciting the oppressive laws of the past regarding women, the advance in public sentiment on the subject, and the propriety of the Senate's taking a special supervision of the matter.

GUITEAU'S STATEMENT.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—The Star prints the following written statement from Guiteau:

To the National Associated Press: I have been requested to review my trial and give my opinion of the men who are doing it. In general I am well pleased with the trial, especially with the Court and jury. Judge Cox I consider just the man for the case. He is able, conscientious and careful, and is disposed to give wide latitude to all parties. I think he believes in my idea of inspiration, and he is a high-toned churchman, and, therefore, is disposed to do absolute justice to the Deity and myself. Without the Deity's pressure the President never would have been removed. The pressure destroyed my free agency. The Deity compelled me to do the act, just as a highwayman compels a man to give him money, after placing a pistol at his victim's head. The victim may know it is absolutely wrong for him to give the money that his wife and children need, but how can he keep it, with a pistol at his head? This irresistible pressure to remove the President was upon me for thirty days, and it never left me when awake. It haunted me day and night. At last an opportunity came, and I shot him in the Baltimore and Potomac depot. I would not do it again for a million dollars. Only a miracle saved me from being shot or hanged then and there.

It was the most insane, foolhardy act possible, and no one in his right mind could have done it, but the pressure on me was so enormous that I would have done it if I had died the next moment. I had no power to prevent it. The President was surrounded by his Cabinet and personal friends, and 200 or 300 people were in the depot. No one but a madman would think of assaulting him under such circumstances. If I had not been instantly hurried away by the police, I would have been shot or hanged in five minutes. The Lord protected me then, as he has on three other occasions since July 2nd, when I have been assaulted. The gradual way the Deity removed the President is a confirmation of my original inspiration. I am well satisfied with the Deity's conduct of this case thus far, and I have no doubt but He will continue to father the act to the end, and that the public will sooner or later see the special providence in the act.

I have an unusually bright jury and I wish them to pass on my case. I judge they are honest, conscientious and careful. They listen with the greatest interest to the testimony and addresses, and no doubt they will give this case their most solemn attention and dispose of it according to the facts and the law, and I presume that the high-toned, conscientious press of the nation will acquiesce in their verdict. Mr. Corkhill has introduced certain witnesses who are guilty of rank perjury. Some of them I have known nothing of for years, and care nothing about. Their perjury has been so manifest and wicked that it has excited my wrath and I have denounced them in plain language. I shall also show their iniquity in rebuttal by my testimony and that of others. I have denounced the District Attorney for the mean, deceptive way he has conducted the prosecution. My opinion of him is well known, and I decline to notice him here. Mr. Davidge is supposed to be a high-toned lawyer and a fine gentleman and I am well pleased with his connection with the case. Judge Porter I knew years ago, when I practiced law in New York. I do not admire his style. He is too venomous in examination. He is supposed to be a good lawyer.

The defense has been unfortunate in having insufficient counsel. Mr. Scoville has done well, considering his inexperience in criminal matters. He and I differ as to the conduct of the case. He lays too much stress on hereditary insanity. It is not the shape of one's head or hang of the tongue, but the spirit that takes possession of one that makes them sane or insane. The science of spiritology is more important in this case than craniology, although craniology may have an important bearing on it. Mr. Scoville nurses his fool theory as tenderly as a mother would her infant. I expected two or three first-class lawyers on the case, but we have been forced to go on without them.

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—A Washington special says: Would-be assassins of Guiteau continue to appear. The photograph of a man named Utteby, who is said to have left Nebraska a few days ago to come here and assassinate the assassin, has been received by the authorities. Notice has also been received that the Molly Maguires of Pennsylvania have been detailed to rid the jury of their responsibility. The attempt is to be made on the 21st. A package addressed to Guiteau, opened yesterday, was found to contain a piece of rope.

The statement comes from Washington that the President has determined to appoint no more women to office. This determination is qualified by the statement that it is not intended to apply to positions in the Departments, but only to the Postoffices and Pension offices. The reason given for this intended change is not very lucid. It is said "that the Postoffice Department has had a great deal of trouble as the result of appointing women to office, and that such appointments have caused a good deal of dissatisfaction in the party."

DETROIT, Dec. 17.—August Alberts, of Harbor Springs, and wife, while temporarily absent from their house, left two young children, who set fire to some shavings and were burned up together with the house.

THE EXODUS FROM EUROPE.

During the year which ended with last June 669,431 immigrants arrived in the United States. The number of foreigners who sought homes in the republic during those twelve months was, therefore, greater by from twenty thousand to forty-five thousand than the whole population of Maine or of Connecticut.

The arrivals for the year far exceeded even those for 1873, when the largest immigration of the past occurred. The total then was 459,803. For the last year it was more than two hundred thousand greater.

Yet even this unparalleled immigration is pretty certain to be cast into the shade by that of the fiscal year in which we now are. Since the beginning of July the arrivals of each month have much exceeded those for the corresponding months of 1881, and the indications are that when we reach the most active months for immigration next spring we shall find them still increasing.

That is, it is probable that the number of new settlers from abroad landed here between July 1, 1880, and July 1, 1882, will be hard on one million and a half. A few more years of immigration at a rate so unexampled will rapidly swell the population of the far Western States and Territories, to which the foreigners chiefly tend, so that by 1890 the number of people living beyond the Mississippi is likely to be double what it was in 1880.

Of the immigrants arriving, the greatest number, or nearly a third of the total, continue to come from Germany. Between one-fourth and one-fifth are from Great Britain and Ireland, and about one-ninth from Scandinavia.—New York Paper.

Midnight in Prison.

(Blackwood's Magazine.)

There is something very solemn in a large convict prison at midnight. A faint sound of healthy slumber comes from the cells where the convicts sleep. Perhaps there are a thousand, perhaps only five hundred undergoing punishment; but whatever may be the number, one is conscious that nowhere else save in a convict prison could so many human beings sleep with so little to interupt the sense of calm repose. In the same number of people taken from the ordinary world, there would be slight sounds arising from nightmare following on indigestion—perhaps from some reminiscence troubling the conscience on the question whether the strong steps taken for payment of that bill were not in the circumstances slightly harsh, or some other disturbing recollection; there might also be uneasy thoughts and dreams creative of restlessness. None of these troubles disturb the sleep of the habitual criminal. This is not because his conscience lies easy on him, but because he does not possess the article known to the rest of the world as a conscience. Hence he neither enjoys the satisfaction of its healthy and genial condition nor the troubles attending on its inflictions, and it is with him essentially that the "Prayer for indifference," by Greville, as it may be found in the old "Elegant Extracts," is granted.

In speaking of the phylloxera the Baltimore American traces it to a degeneracy of the vine and further on says: Our budded peach trees simply propagate on even increasing senility and decrepitude. The grape, grown from cuttings from the same stock, with no renewal from the seed from generation to generation, is dying out like our old sorts of potatoes. The remedy is rest—rest from fruit-bearing; rest to the vine by renewals from the seed, until old varieties propagate themselves in new and vigorous young forms. The grape is pruned too severely. It is never given any rest. It is never allowed to grow its growth and ripen its wood at will, like the Italian vines and like the Scuppernong grapes in North Carolina, or like some of our own fox grapes and chicken grapes, which have climbed undisturbed and unstimulated for generations to the tops of tall trees.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—The resolution of Representative Robinson, which he sought to introduce yesterday, recites that the salute to the English flag at Yorktown was without the authority of Congress, and was done at a time when England was suspending habeas corpus, suppressing public meetings and crowding her jails with honorable gentlemen unaccused of crime, some of them American citizens and others chosen and honored representatives in Parliament of their own people; therefore be it resolved, that we extend our sympathies to those patriots and members of Parliament suffering imprisonment under unheard-of despotism. The salute of the British flag is declared to be insulting to the memory of the brave men who a hundred years ago pulled it down and hoped it would never be raised again on American soil, etc.

Among the alleged aspirants to the Republican nomination for Governor are I. S. Taber, Horace Davis, Irving M. Scott, W. W. Morrow, C. N. Felton, J. Mc M. Shafter and George S. Evans, and William Johnston of Sacramento. Among the Democrats the following have been mentioned: Robert Watt, W. B. C. Brown and George Hearst. Irwin does not aspire.

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 15th.—Julius Rector and wife (colored) were shown out of the Grand Opera House parquette last night, and their money refunded. Rector, who is the principal of a school, will institute proceedings against the proprietor.

EVERYTHING.

John Jacob Astor pays in New York the heaviest aggregate bill of taxes, the amount being not less than $400,000.

The heaviest taxed dwelling in the city of New York is the palace occupied by Mrs. A. T. Stewart, which pays $12,500.

Some Memphis people—"first families"—are using cotton-seed oil for cooking instead of lard, and find it both cheaper and better.

No work is now given to Italian laborers at Marseilles, except on condition that they become naturalized French citizens.

A lady in Greenville, Plumas county, has tamed a snake, which she takes delight in handling and caressing.

At the village of Morita, in Echizen, Japan, a field of 900 yards square was swallowed up during an earthquake and turned into a deep lake.

There are ten properly matriculated lady physicians in New York. One of them, a descendant of old Israel Putman, has a partner in her husband.

Western Union wires are 352,171 miles long, and Dr. Green, President of the Company, says the net earnings will be more than six per cent on $100,000,000.

The wages of a laborer in Russia are eight cents for a day's work of fifteen hours, and he "finds" himself. It is not stated where he finds himself at the end of the month, though.

The Salvation Army in England proposes to build a Salvation Temple in the city of London that shall seat 6,000 or 7,000 people, and hold services, carried on by relays of friends, unceasingly day and night.

"Honeymoon" is of Teutonic origin, and derived from a luxurious drink prepared by the ancients. It was a custom to use it for thirty days, or a moon's age, after a wedding.

Of two hundred and fifty-four samples of victuals analyzed by the Berlin authorities, forty-four proved adulterated. Green tea was dyed and mixed with flowers of hay, cocoa with potato and corn flour. There will be more rigorous penalties.

The Central Pacific Railroad ferry-boat Solano, which plies between Benicia and Port Costa, carries forty-five freight cars, one caboose, one switch engine, and with this load she sinks only eight inches, which means she could carry a great deal more.

The symptoms of Prince Bismarck's decaying health are said to be the same that preceded Lord Beaconfield's last illness. It has been remarked that the German Chancellor counterfeits youth and combats diseases with the same iron will that characterized the Prime Minister.

Germany is declared to be the first nation of the world in the number of her special asylums for the relief and cure of the afflicted. For deaf mutes she has 31 asylums for the blind, 31; for lunatics, 39; and for epileptics, 11. Her total is 176. France ranks next after her with 70, and England next with 65. Russia has only 18.

A eucalyptus planted near Mentone in 1869 had a hight of fifty feet and a diameter of forty inches at three feet from the ground in 1874. It is strange that a tree which has such marvelous absorptive powers should be the special product of the driest of countries, its chief original home being, it seems, Australia.

Few persons ever thought of Michigan as a semi-tropical State. But there is a strip of Michigan along the lake shore where figs grow and thrive out-of-doors, and where peaches, plums and grapes come to maturity in good season. It is stated by a Michigan paper that last year the shipments of these fruits from this portion of Michigan amounted to 2,500,000 bushels.

Judah P. Benjamin, the Queen's counsel, is said to be the wealthiest practitioner in England. His law office is a shabby back room, furnished with two chairs, a table, a few musty law-books, and an army of ink-bottles. His clerk's room adjoining, though plain, is furnished with princely splendor in comparison with the den of the great barrister. He gives away great sums in charity, while his personal expenses are almost nothing.

A man was found roaming around at Hope District, Santa Barbara county, with his throat cut. He was brought to town and taken to the County Jail, where an examination showed he had cut his throat with a pair of scissors. His name is George H. Cureon, and in his day has filled high Government positions. He is a cousin of the Rev. Dr. Tyng of New York, and his been in the employ of Colonel Hollister for many years. He has been addicted to the use of opium and morphine, and is insane, caused by general neglect of himself.

In conversation with one of Stockton's most celebrated physicians yesterday, it was learned that diphtheria, which has been prevalent at Farmington, was gradually abating. Said the medical man: "I have practiced medicine for thirty years, and I have never lost a case of diphtheria yet, when called in proper time. Give the patient plenty of lime or lemon juice. Give it any way that is palatable. Squeeze out the juice, sweeten it with white sugar, or give it as lemonade, or give it clear; but give plenty of lime or lemon juice all the time. It will not interfere with any other mode of treatment, and will, if followed, effect a cure, and the public ought to know it."—Stockton Independent.

An examination of the Delta of the Mississippi shows that, for a distance of about three hundred miles of this deposit, there are buried forests of large trees, one over the other, with interspaces of sand. Ten distinct forest growths of this nature have been observed, which must have succeeded one another. These trees are the bald cypress of the Southern States. Some have been observed over twenty-five feet in diameter, and one contained 5,700 annual rings. In some instances, too, these huge trees have grown over the stumps of others equally large. From these facts geologists have assumed the antiquity of each forest growth at ten thousand years, or one hundred thousand for the whole. This estimate, however, would not include the interval of time—which doubtless was very considerable—that elapsed between the ending of one of these vast and wonderful forests and the beginning of another.

The proposition that delegates from Alaska should be admitted has caused some inquiries touching the population there. Professor Elliott, of the Smithsonian Institute, puts the population at 30,000, of which 400 are whites, 1,700 Russian half-breeds, and the remainder Indians. Prospecting for minerals has not indicated any great value. The timber will be very valuable in time, also the fisheries, when developed. The fur trade is the sole means of livelihood for the people. The Government revenues from the fur trade was $317,000 last year.

WEEKLY GAZETTE.

County Official Paper.

SATURDAY.....DECEMBER 24, 1881

A BILL has been introduced into Congress having for its object the better protection of the person of the President of the United States. It provides that an assault upon the President, with intent to kill, shall be punishable by death; provided, that if the assailant is proven insane, he shall be confined in an asylum for life.

NEWS has just been received of the burial of the Eastern Empress of China, whose death took place several months ago. No more important matter comes before the Imperial Board of Astrologers than the fixing of the time and place of burial of a member of the imperial family, for if an unfortunate selection is made, a stream of ill luck flows down the family. Rather than take any risk in such an important matter, the body of a Chinaman of high rank will remain unburied for years even.

INSPIRED doubtless by the rumored large ransom paid to the robbers for the return of A. T. Stewart's cadaver, some scoundrels in England have stolen the body of Earl Crawford, with the expectation of being handsomely paid for its return. In Lady Crawford, however, they have met their match. Her high spirit and detestation of the revolting crime have conquered her desire to treat with the robbers, and she has announced her determination to offer no reward, believing that to do so would be to encourage a repetition of such offenses.

THE ups and downs of California life receives a vivid illustration in the career of Daniel H. Haskell. In the spring of '50 he was manager of the banking house and express firm of Adams & Co., the predecessors of Wells, Fargo & Co., and had an income of $70,000 a year. When Adams & Co. failed Haskell beggared himself by giving all that he had to the creditors. But his spirit was broken, he took to drink, became a vagabond and an outcast and died in the Almshouse at San Francisco on last Saturday.

AMONG the bills introduced in Congress during the week is one providing for an income tax. It provides for the assessment and collection of a 3 per cent. tax upon all net incomes above $3,000 per annum, and is made to apply to all corporations as well as individuals. If we mistake not, this bill, or one somewhat similar, has been introduced in Congress a great many times without ever having reached the point of being discussed. That this will be its fate at this session is evident from the fact that enough bills have already been introduced to occupy the attention of Congress for a year, (supposing it to remain in session that long), and it is not likely they will advance a bill on the file which has so many bitter opponents as the one in question.

IT is strange that in a country like Scotland, where Presbyterianism of the strictest kind maintains, and where the people are so sternly enthusiastic in their religious belief, the festival of Christmas is to a great extent entirely ignored. More especially is this true of the poorer classes. The only interest they have in Christmas is that it denotes the approach of "Nerday" or New Year's Day, which is the day above all others dear to the Scottish heart. It is on that day that presents are made, and all the festivities incident to Christmas in this country are indulged in. On the other side of the Tweed, however, in Merrie England, the 25th of December is the holiday of the year, while New Year's Day is observed in much the same manner as in this country.

The following is the full text of the bill introduced in the Senate December 8th, by Mr. Garland to provide for the performance of the duties of the presidential office in case of removal, death, resignation or inability of the President.

"Be it enacted, &c., that Section 146, title III, of the revised statutes is hereby repealed. Section 2. In case of the removal, death, resignation or inability of both the President and Vice President of the United States, the Secretary of State, for the time being, or if there be no Secretary of State, then the Secretary of the Treasury, then the Secretary of War, for the time being, shall act as President until the disability be removed or a President elected in the manner and at the time provided in the Constitution and laws, or in case there be no occasion under the law for an election until the existing term of office of the President so removed, resigned, dead or disabled shall have expired."

RICHMOND, Dec. 20th.—H. H. Riddleberger was elected to the United States Senate to-day by the Legislature to succeed John W. Johnson. A strict party vote was given for each candidate.

VIENNA, Dec. 20.—A correct list of victims of the Ring Theatre fire has been issued by the police. It gives the total number of victims at 794, of whom 144 have been legally identified.

MOUNT UNION (Pa.), Dec. 19th.—John A. Ingram, a miner, placed a can of dynamite in a stove to dry to-day. The package exploded, tearing the building to pieces, killing Ingram, his wife and four children.

CAIRO, Dec. 20th.—A false prophet in Soudan, with his followers, massacred the Egyptian guard of 350 men, and killed the Governor.

ALGIERS, Dec. 20.—It is reported that four hundred people were drowned by the bursting of a reservoir.

CHRISTMAS.

To that part of the Christian world that follows the Christian year the past few weeks have been full of solemn thoughts and of serious preparation. The last Sunday in November was the First Sunday in Advent, and the intervening time the Advent season. The first Sunday in Advent was to them the beginning of a new year.

As the chief festival of the year—Easter, is preceded by a season of special preparation, viz., Lent, so is the next festival of importance—Christmas, preceded by a similar though shorter season, viz., Advent. But whereas in the Lenten season the preparation is chiefly directed to an examination of personal sins, the Advent season is set apart to consider afresh one's personal preparation for the Judgment Day. For Advent means to them the summons to once again make ready for the second coming of Christ, and carries with it a warning to be ready for the day when the Lord shall come in His glory to judge both the quick and the dead.

In social life the ecclesiastical year is chiefly considered on its festive side, and the Advent season means chiefly the preparation for Christmas. During these weeks there are few households so poor but that something is being done to make the day of our Lord's nativity a happy, joyous day for the little ones. During this time the shops are filled with toys round which the little folk gather with bated breath, and wonder if Santa Claus can hear them as they tell each other, or to themselves, which of all the wonderful things they see they had rather have the most, and sometimes they go away quite undecided. Everything looks so nice that they cannot determine which is best.

And while the little ones are so employed many a child of larger growth is making his or her preparation for a hasty visit to the old home, for Christmas is pre-eminently a social festival, and families that have grown up and whose members have scattered and perhaps reared other families of their own, try upon this day to meet under the old roof-tree and there amid dear and familiar scenes to renew their youth in recalling old times and watching the pleasures of their own children in the home where their childhood was spent.

This is the social Advent. It is the advance note of joy over the first Advent which the social world celebrates on Christmas Day no less than the strictly religious world.

Not so many years ago, the celebration of Christmas was strictly forbidden in some parts of the world by law; now, there is hardly a country where this day is not more or less observed. The interest in this day seems to be constantly increasing. Its celebration is year by year more and more universal, and it is quite worth while to consider what, in an ecclesiastical sense, gives so much meaning to the birth of Christ.

All the ages preceding that event was one long season of waiting for the coming of Messiah, and all the ages since His departure from the world are ages of waiting for His second coming. This is the religious, not the social meaning of Christmas; and yet, year by year, this meaning is being more and more forcibly brought before the social world, for as the years pass on and men dwell more upon the humanity of the Savior, His wonderful compassion, charity and love; as they remember His forbearance and study His life, religion grows more tolerant and the Christian more humble. The great truths of religion are held as firmly as ever, and still it is true that "Straight is the gate, and narrow is the way which leadeth unto life." But men have learned at last that the true followers of Christ need not hold themselves aloof from the world, and walk among their fellowmen with austere faces and an expression that says, "I thank Thee that I am not as other men are," but that even as their Master went about the world doing good, joined in the wedding feast at Cana, and sat at meat with publicans and sinners, so they also may be in the world, and yet not of the world; but by their lives can attract rather than repel others to the right.

The world is not growing worse, but better. Christianity is not losing ground, but steadily advancing. Men are learning to appreciate more fully the perfection of the doctrines taught by Christ and the full beauty of His human life. The social world is learning new reasons every year why Christians strive to lead Christian lives. Every year sees it join more readily and heartily in honoring the days of Christ's birth and resurrection. Each Christmas sees the associations of olden times which have identified the human life of Christ with the life of the world growing stronger and stronger, as men of all creeds and nationalities become more and more united in their faith in Him at whose birth nearly nineteen hundred years ago the angels sang: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." J. A. E.

CHRISTMAS SONG.

O'er the hills night shadows steal;
Scarce a light breeze stirs;
See the Virgin mild
Clasps her new-born Child!
Round the manger shepherds kneel—
Humble worshippers.
Hark! angels sing
Round their heavenly King!
'Tis for man, and not for them,
Sleeps the Babe in Bethlehem.

Thou whose head to earth is lowly
Bowed in woe and shame,
When no help seems nigh
To thy piteous cry,
Think! it was not for the holy
The Redeemer came.
Hark! angels sing
Round their heavenly King!
For earth's sinful and defiled
Comes to-night the Saviour Child.

He who to the cradle brings
One pure, generous thought,
To the infant there
Brings a gift more rare
Than the gold and myrrh the kings
Of the Orient brought.
Hark! angels sing
Round their heavenly King!
'Tis for man, and not for them,
Sleeps the Babe in Bethlehem.

GARDEN GROVE ITEMS.

Your Westminster correspondent seems to imply that there is somewhat of a boom in the land market in that locality. I heartily wish there was a lively transfer in real estate, but the selling of a few places at prices that have prevailed for the past two years or more, is not much of a boom; nor is what Westminster township deserves. When land is sold at two or three times the prices asked for it a year ago, I would call it a "boom." There is no reason why we should not have as good prices for our best land as are obtained in the vicinity of Santa Ana, Orange or Riverside. Our land will produce all kinds of fruits just as abundantly, and of just as good quality as anywhere. This may not prove true of oranges and lemons, but as to grapes and apricots, and all kinds of Northern fruits it has already been demonstrated. Dealers in fruits in Arizona seem to prefer our apples at a higher price than apples that can be obtained in Los Angeles city. The wine-makers of Anaheim pay as much for grapes from Westminster, as they do for grapes produced in Anaheim.

Garden Grove raisins sold in Los Angeles on the 15th instant at $1 50 per half box of ten pounds, which is the highest price that has been paid this season. These raisins were grown on our ordinary sandy land without irrigation. Hundreds, yea, thousands of acres of such land is lying vacant in Westminster township and can be obtained at prices varying from thirty to fifty dollars per acre. It may be asked, why is not this land improved? The answer is easy to give: Our own people give their homes a bad name; our neighbors in Anaheim and Santa Ana do not fail to give our land the worst possible character, saying it is nothing but an alkali swamp, while at the same time they come here for hay, potatoes, blackberries, raspberries, apples, etc., etc. One man will insist that our sandy soil is worthless because we have no adequate means of irrigation, while his neighbor will insist that our fruits will be worthless and our trees and vines die because there is so much water in the soil near the surface. We have no ditches for bringing water from the river. We do not need any, we can obtain all the pure artesian water we want by boring a well a hundred feet deep. If the water does not flow we can raise it by wind or steam power at a less price than it costs to irrigate the same number of acres from a ditch or canal, and the owner of the soil has the advantage in always having the water at his command.

There are thousands of acres here well adapted to alfalfa and a large area is being sowed.

One or two cheese factories are talked of, and there is hardly any more paying business than making cheese or selling milk.

ORANGE ITEMS.

The natives all look happy.

The orange growers begin to hold their heads as high as the raisin makers.

We need a station master at the Orange depot, very bad.

The Presbyterian Sunday School will have a Christmas tree in the church, on Christmas Eve. Also the M. E. Sunday School will have one in their church. Outsiders should patronize both.

Mr. A. B. Clark is shipping 100 boxes of oranges per day.

We are glad to learn that Mr. W. M. Scott is convalescing.

The Orange boys are showing considerable interest in "Our Boys" party for the 30th.

Our ex-mail carrier is beginning to swear off for 1882. Won't work, for a nickel.

Some of the Rifle Club say they will have turkeys for sale cheap, after the match.

Mr. R. L. Crowder will soon be ready for his impatient would-be customers.

Mr. Henry Young seems to thrive on his new job, and his numerous friends hope he may thrive continually.

Mr. Sibley returned from a protracted trip through the East, last week.

Mr. Jesse Travis, who has been some time in Los Angeles, is spending the holidays at home.

ORANGE.

WESTMINSTER ITEMS.

At the Presbyterian social next week they are going to have an interesting programme, then supper and afterward the usual social time.

Rev. Mr. Webb's lecture on Sunday evening was well attended as was the one on Monday evening, and all hope his visit may be repeated.

We notice a choice collection of candies in Miss M. A. McCoy's store as well as many other things useful and ornamental.

The tree at the Presbyterian Church tonight will be something novel, so they say.

It's lots of fun getting ready for Christmas, so we judge from the parties of young folks we find around popping corn, mixing and filling candy bags, fixing trees, etc.

Messrs. McCoy, Alwards, Bently, Hensler and many others here who are going to put in grain on the Centinela are only waiting for rain to commence work,

THE JEANNETTE.

News from the Herald's Arctic Exploration—The Vessel Lost, but a Part of the Crew Saved.

LONDON, December 20th.—The finding of the Arctic exploring steamer Jeannette was reported to the meeting of the Royal Geographical Society to-day. The news comes from St. Petersburg, and was brought there by Lieutenant-General Avoutchmi, the Governor-General of Eastern Siberia. Full reports of the interview with the crew will shortly be given.

WASHINGTON, December 20.—Secretary of State Frelinghuysen received to-day the following telegram from the Charge d'Affaires of the United States at St. Petersburg:

Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.: The Jeannette was crushed in the ice on June 11th, in latitude 77, longitude 157. The crew embarked in three boats, but were separated by wind and fog. Boat No. 3, with eleven men, Engineer Melville commanding, reached the mouth of the Lena on September 19th. Subsequently No. 1, with Captain De Long, Doctor Ambler and twelve men, reached the Lena in a pitiful condition. Prompt assistance was sent. Boat No. 2 is not heard from.

BOUTMAN, St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, December 20.—A special supplement to the Official Gazette, issued this evening, announces that all the telegrams from Engineer Melville of the lost Arctic exploring steamer Jeannette will be forwarded to their destinations as promptly as possible, and that the most energetic measures will be taken for discovering the remainder of the crew of the Jeannette and those left on the ice at the mouth of the Lena river.

The news reached the Governor at Jakutsk, in Eastern Siberia, that on September 14th three natives of Ouloney, near Cape Barhap, 140 versts north of Cape Bikoff, discovered a boat containing eleven men, who stated that they belonged to the Jeannette and had undergone terrible suffering. On hearing the news the District Deputy Governor, with a doctor and medicines, was immediately dispatched to help the shipwrecked sailors, and was also instructed to bring them to Jakutsk. The Governor was also instructed to do everything in his power to recover the remainder of the crew, 500 roubles being given him to defray expenses.

Engineer Melville has telegraphed to the American Legation at St. Petersburg that the Jeannette was surrounded and crushed by ice on the 23d of June in latitude 77 deg. north, longitude 157 deg. east, and the crew left the vessel in their boats about fifty miles from the mouth of the Lena. They were separated by violent winds and thick fogs. Boat No. 3, commanded by Engineer Melville, arrived on September 19th at the eastern mouth of the river Lena, where it was stopped by blocks of ice near the village of Bolenenga, inhabited by idolaters. Boat No. 1 reached the same spot. The occupants of these boats state that Lieutenant De Long, with twelve others, landed at the northern mouth of the Lena, and that they are in a fearful condition, suffering from frost-bitten limbs. A party of the inhabitants of Bolenenga started immediately for their assistance. Nothing is known of boat No. 2.

Engineer Melville forwarded by natives a long dispatch to Mr. Bennett of the New York Herald. For want of funds the dispatch has been forwarded by post, addressed to General Ignatieff. On October 29th, Nindeman and Noras, seamen, who were in boat No. 1, joined their comrades, and stated that Lieutenant De Long, Dr. Ambler and twelve others had reached the northern mouth of the Lena, and were starving. An expedition was at once sent out to rescue them. The survivors lost everything. Engineer Melville says money is urgently needed and should be sent by telegraph to Jakutsk. He has urgently requested 16,000 roubles to be transmitted immediately to the Governor at Jakutsk for the return and care of the shipwrecked men.

WHO GOT THE MONEY?

PHILADELPHIA, December 19.—The Press has a column interview between a staff correspondent and General Joe Johnston, in the course of which he charged Jeff Davis with stealing a large amount of money. He desired that it be distributed among the soldiers, as they had received no pay for months, and so wrote Mr. Davis after he fled from Richmond to Charlotte, but Mr. Davis paid no attention to his suggestion. In answer to a question as to what he knew about the final use to which the money was put, General Johnston is quoted as saying: "It followed or preceded the head of the civil government of the Confederacy to the South about the time Davis went in that direction."

"Have you any idea of the amount of specie Davis carried South?"

"Colonel Paul, an eminent artillery officer of the Confederacy, and, now a prominent lawyer of Richmond, a man of high character, told me he inspected the specie before its removal from Richmond, and after it had been loaded ready for transportation. He said there was a car-load of it. As he only saw it boxed ready for shipment, he could of course give no information as to the amount in dollars and cents. General Beauregard, however, was in immediate command at Greensboro while President Davis was there, and doubtless had an opportunity of knowing more accurately the amount of money with the President than most any one except his immediate political friends. He told me he was convinced that the President had $2,500,000 in specie at Greensboro. I have no doubt General Beauregard's estimate was within bounds. After Davis left Charlotte and moved south, a Confederate officer told me that while he was standing near the bridge crossing a small creek a man rode up and inspected it. He said he was in charge of the President's money, and wanted to see whether the bridge was safe or not. The man in charge told the officer that he had twenty wagon-loads of specie in his train. This would be in perfect harmony with Colonel Paul's statement—that there was a car-load when it left Richmond, and with General Beauregard's—that there was $2,500,000 at Greensboro."

"What became of the money left?"

"That I am unable to say. Davis has never given any satisfactory account of it, to my knowledge, and what is a stranger thing to me, is that the Northern people have never called upon him to account for it."

NEW YORK, Dec. 23d.—The World's Washington special says: With reference to the statement of Gen. Johnston about Confederate money, removed by order of Davis, Reagan, of Texas, now in the House, who was the last Secretary of Treasury of the Confederate Government, said to-night that the funds consisted, in round numbers, of $86,000 in gold coin, $35,000 in silver coin and $26,000 in bullion. Over $100,000 of this was paid out to soldiers. The bullion was stored in a warehouse at Washington, Georgia, and was there captured by the Federal troops. About $15,000, all that remained in coin, was entrusted to two Confederate naval officers to take to Nassau, but it was captured on the way. This explanation of the disappearance of the last of the Confederate treasure is as near official as can be obtained at this day.

Kleinigkeiten.

—To one and all A MERRY CHRISTMAS.

—Mr. H. J. McDermott writes from Socorro, New Mexico, asking that the GAZETTE be sent to him at that point.

—Orpheus Lodge, No. 237 I. O. O. F. has transferred its place of meeting to Odd Fellows' Hall. Four lodges now hold their meetings in this hall.

—The Anaheim Base Ball club will play a match game with the Tustin club to-day at 1 o'clock, on the grounds near the school house.

—A blacksmith at old Los Nietos, named Charles Wiedemner, committed suicide by hanging himself in a room adjoining his shop on Monday. Dissipation is the supposed cause.

—Peter Eschelbach of Santa Ana had a trial before the U. S. Commissioner in Los Angeles last week, on a charge of violation of the revenue laws in using unstamped casks for brandy. He was acquitted.

—On Monday, Mrs. Chas. S. Eaton, of Los Angeles, was severely burned, through her dress catching fire while she was standing near the grate. She died on Tuesday from the effects of her injuries.

—A certificate of the increase of the capital stock of the Santiago Gold and Silver Mining Company, increasing it from 7,000 to 10,000 shares, has been filed in the office of the Secretary of State.

—The officers and members of Anaheim Lodge, 207, F. and A. M., are hereby notified to attend a special meeting on Tuesday evening, December 27, for installation of officers. All Master Masons in good standing are cordially invited to attend.

—It is said that land is selling at Riverside for $300 per acre. Land, better for general purposes, and equally as good for the production of citrus fruit as that at Riverside, can be had in the vicinity of Anaheim from $40 to $75 per acre.

—By a vote of 8 to 7, the Common Council of Los Angeles elected Henry King (Democrat) Chief of Police over George Gard (Republican). Honors are now easy. The previous 8 to 7 vote was in favor of the Republicans.

—The lot on the corner of Center and Los Angeles Streets has been sold to Geo. S. Patton of Los Angeles for $2000. Rumor credits the purchaser with an intention to erect one or more fine brick buildings upon the lot.

—The dwelling house of Dr. Burr of El Monte was destroyed by fire last week, together with all the furniture. There was no insurance, so the Doctor's neighbors made up a purse of $300 and tendered it to him, but he declined it, saying that he was young and strong enough to stand the loss.

—The Anaheim Fire Department has prepared a petition to the San Francisco Board of Underwriters, asking their aid to purchase a hose cart. The petition is endorsed by the several insurance agents, and it is to be hoped that the Underwriters will see the wisdom of granting the petition.

—The Southern Pacific Railroad Company, whose taxes on their property in this county amounts to $32,000, tendered Tax Collector Cullen $20,000 and demanded a receipt in full. Cullen refused to receive the money. It is the old story of the fight between the Railroad Company and the State Board of Equalization.

—The following real estate transactions occurred during the week:

Frank L Floyd and Nannie, his wife, to Wm Frombeim—E 110 acres of SE¼ Sec 35, T 3 S, R 10 W; $4000.

Mary S Hagerty to Henry Wehmeyer—Half acre in SW corner of vineyard lot G-7, Anaheim; $220.

Arthur H Cullen to Theo Reiser—All interest in Town lot 33, and necessary interest in 2 shares Anaheim Water Co stock; $40.

Mary Ward Lee and G K Lee to Searle M Wren—Parts of lots 5 and 6, Anaheim Extension, lying N of Anaheim Water Ditch, 16.19 acres; $900.

Theo. Reiser to Geo. S. Patton—Town lot No. 33, Anaheim; $2,000.

John Fischer to Mary Ward Lee—Part of lot 5, Anaheim Extension; $1.

Wm. R. Olden and Sarah L, his wife, to W. T. Danner, trustee—Sec 5, less E 100 acres of SE¼, and 2 acres near NW corner T 4 S, R 10 W; $500.

—Is the experience of Hoboken to be repeated in Anaheim? Is the fire fiend to be allowed to prither with his lurid breath the stately edifices of the Eden of the Pacific without effort to stay his destructive march? Are the brave hearts and brawny arms before which even the demon of fire quails and disappears going to remain idle while the enemy revels in his destructive work? The answers to these momentous questions are awaited with interest. The matter at issue between the town authorities and the firemen is whether, in consideration of the payment by the Trustees of certain bills incurred by the fire department, the firemen will convey to the said Trustees all their right to the truck, hose and other paraphernalia. The firemen have so far refused to make the transfer, but it is to be hoped that the breach will be speedily healed.

Coal.

The Black Star Coal Company is now prepared to furnish first-class coal in any quantities to suit. All orders left at the office of P. Davis & Bro. will be promptly attended to. WM. A. WITTE, Agent.

—The Town Trustees met in special session on Wednesday. They decided to defer action in regard to awarding the position of Town Engineer until next regular meeting. The following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That the Marshal and night Watchman be, and they are hereby instructed to file complaints under the advice and instructions of the Town Attorney against all persons keeping disorderly houses or houses of ill fame, or committing any breaches of the peace; and for the purpose of carrying this resolution into effect they shall investigate all complaints made to them and report the facts to the Town Attorney and also report all facts in relation to disturbances of any character, coming under their own notice, to said Town Attorney; and in all cases where the said Town Attorney shall deem advisable the said Marshal and night Watchman shall file complaints in the proper court for the prosecution of the offenders.

—The Christmas tree of the Presbyterian Sunday School will be held in the church (instead of Masonic Hall) this evening at 7 o'clock. Gifts for children may be sent in at any time after two o'clock.

The German Sunday School will assemble as usual in the Presbyterian Church, at 2 o'clock P. M., on Christmas day. Children's services will be held, after which the distribution of presents will take place. Preaching in the German language at 3 o'clock. All are invited.

Special services for children will be held in the Episcopal Church this afternoon at 4 o'clock, afterwards dinner at the parsonage, and Christmas tree.

—Mr. C. Balch of Orange sustained a serious accident on Thursday evening while assisting in the decoration of the Episcopal Church. He was cutting some evergreens with a pocket knife, when it slipped and came in contact with his right wrist, severing the arteries and inflicting a wound from which the blood flowed in great quantity. Although he received surgical aid immediately he was yesterday much enfeebled from the loss of blood, and it will be a couple of months before the wound is healed. He is stopping at the house of Rev. Mr. Emery.

—By one of those annoying typographical errors which sometimes happens in even such a well-regulated establishment as the Mirror office, a batch of Riverside news in the last issue of that paper was put under the head of "Anaheim items." Among the paragraphs was one in regard to the alarming prevalence of scarlet fever, which is so bad in Riverside that there is some talk of closing the schools there. As Anaheim is singularly free from that disease, we take the liberty of drawing the Mirror's attention to the error, and asking the editors to make the amende.

—The following extract from the record of the Superior Court on Monday has reference to a tract of land immediately west of town: A Robinson, Trustee, vs W H Gleeson—Complaint confessed against defendant by default. Decree ordered in favor of plaintiff, unless defendant, within five days from date, pays into Court the sum of $3,500 principal, and interest due under the contract, and all costs in this action.

—"Our Boys" are sparing no pains or expense to make their ball successful on next Friday evening. They expect a large attendance from adjacent towns, and will make all arrangements to have their guests pass the last night of the year in a joyful manner. And, by the way, the programme of dances, printed at the GAZETTE office, will be found as unique and pretty a piece of typographical skill as one could wish.

—Elder J. W. Webb spoke on the subject of Temperance in the Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening. Mr. Webb, unlike the majority of speakers on that subject, is temperate in his remarks, and seeks to impress his views upon the audience by the use of logical argument instead of intemperate abuse. He is, withal, a pleasant, social gentleman, and we hope his visit to the GAZETTE office will be oft repeated.

—The Washington Meat Market is wreathed and decorated with evergreens, and in accordance with his annual custom Mr. Leonard has some royal beef for his patrons. It gives one an appetite to visit the market and look upon the tempting array of meats so tastefully displayed. Leave your orders early for a Christmas roast.

—Although Monday is a holiday, the Tax Collectors of the various counties have been instructed that they must receive taxes on that day. All taxes not paid by Monday evening will be delinquent and subject to 5 per cent penalty.

DON'T GET THE BLUES.

The Consolation Offered by the San Diego "Sun."

The rainfall up to the present time in this county has not been very great, nor even up to the average in a good year. This fact to many would seem to be the forerunner of that much-to-be-dreaded event, a dry season. The most hopeful heart cannot fail to be oppressed by some grave apprehension, and though we are not given to painting the picture in too gaudy colors, yet we firmly believe that there are no grounds for thinking that the coming season will not be one of great prosperity for our people and community. California is a State of wonderful weather. One of the peculiarities of the latter is to go the opposite of all expectancy. The general state of public opinion here just now is that for some time to come nothing but blue skies will meet the gaze of him who looks daily into the heavens. But in the past people have often found that too much reliance cannot be placed in appearances. The most coquettish thing that we have to deal with is the weather. One day it will promise one thing and the next quite another. The best way is to let Dame Nature arrange matters as she pleases, but in this connection we feel an irresistible desire of impressing upon our readers the old word of cheer, so often resorted to in times of despondency, "Don't get the blues." The best seasons ever experienced by California have been when rain has fallen during the holidays. That of the other day has shown us that there is water in the skies, and it would be a cruel warden indeed who would not unlock the heavenly gates.

We suppose that every good citizen will visit Los Angeles before the holidays to pay Taxes, serve on some Jury, take out Marriage Licenses, or some such thing. Whatever his business in our town do not let him fail to call at the

AMERICAN CASH STORE,

48 & 50 Spring St., Los Angeles, Cal.,

(Near the Postoffice Building.)

to examine our stock of Goods.

We are daily receiving large additions to our assortment of the finest and best FAMILY GROCERIES, and the selection we have to offer for the Holiday trade has never been equalled in our city.

Our large stock of what is known as "Fancy" Groceries is admirably adapted for Christmas Gifts.

If you are undecided about the nature of a present you would like to make for Christmas or New Year remember that some delicacy for the table (and it need not be an extravagance) will always be considered welcome by old or young of either sex.

Our list of specialties in CANNED GOODS of every description, comprising all the choicest fruits, meats, fish, vegetables, etc., cheese of almost every known kind, pickles, sauces, sugar-cured hams and beef, smoked fish, etc., etc., is too long to be here enumerated. Therefore give us a call and see for yourself.

We have added to our stock this year a large assortment of Common and Fine CANDIES, which will be sold

As Reasonably as any other line of Goods.

I invite the attention of Churches, Sunday Schools and Societies of any kind intending to give festivals or socials to my offer to furnish them with candies in quantities at WHOLESALE PRICES.

I have also greatly enlarged my assortment of

CROCKERY AND GLASSWARE,

Lamps, Clocks, Plain and Fancy Baskets, Toilet Soaps and general House Utensils, among which will be found very desirable articles for presents.

Our reputation for cheapness is so well established that it seems superfluous to add assurances to that effect.

We prize this reputation too highly to trifle it away.

Therefore, once again! Call at the American Cash Store, buy your supplies there, and be happy!

RAILWAY MANIA OF 1845.

History of a Fearful Collapse.

Never had there occurred in the history of joint-stock enterprises such another day as the 30th of November, 1845. It was the day on which a madness for speculation arrived at its height, to be followed by a collapse terrible to many thousands of families. Railways had been gradually becoming successful, and the old companies had in many cases bought off, on very high terms, rival lines which threatened to interfere with their profits. Both of these circumstances tended to encourage the concoction of new schemes.

There is always floating capital in England waiting for profitable employment; there are always professional men looking out for employment in great engineering works, and there are always scheming moneyless men ready to trade on the folly of others. Thus the bankers and capitalists were willing to supply the capital, the engineers, surveyors, architects, contractors, builders, solicitors, barristers and Parliamentary agents were willing to supply the brains and fingers, while too often cunning schemers pulled the strings. This was especially the case in 1845, when plans for new railways were brought forward literally by hundreds and with a recklessness perfectly marvelous.

By an enactment in force at that time, it was necessary for the prosecution of any railway scheme in Parliament, that a mass of documents should be deposited with the Board of Trade on or before November 30, in the preceding year. The multitude of these schemes in 1845 was so great that there could not be found surveyors enough to prepare the plans and sections in time. Advertisements were inserted in the newspapers, offering enormous pay for even a smattering of this kind of skill. Surveyors and architects from abroad were attracted to England; young men at home were tempted to break the articles into which they had entered with their masters, and others were seduced from various professions into that of railway engineers.

There were desperate fights in various parts of England between property-owners who were determined that their land should not be entered upon for the purpose of railway surveying, and surveyors who knew that the schemes of their companies would be frustrated unless the surveys were made and the plans deposited by November 30th. To attain this end, fraud, force and bribery were freely made use of. November 30th, 1845, fell on Sunday; but it was no Sunday near the office of the Board of Trade. Vehicles were driving up during the whole of the day, with agents and clerks bringing plans and sections. In country districts as that day approached, and on the morning of the day, coaches-and-four were in greater request than even at race time, galloping at full speed to the nearest railway station. On the Great Western Railway an express train was hired by the agents of one new scheme; the engine broke down, the train came to a standstill and was run into by another express hired by the agents of a rival project; the opposing parties barely escaped with their lives, but contrived to reach London at the last moment. On this eventful Sunday there were no fewer than ten of these express trains on the Great Western Railway, and eighteen on the eastern counties. One railway company was unable to deposit its papers, because another company surreptitiously bought, for a high sum, twenty of the necessary sheets from the lithographic printer and horses were killed in madly running about in search of the missing documents before the fraud was discovered. In some cases the lithographic stones were stolen and printers were bribed by large sums not to finish in proper time the plans for a rival line. One eminent house brought over 400 lithographic printers from Belgium, and even then all the work ordered could not be executed. Some of the plans were only two-thirds lithographed, the rest being filled up by hand. However executed, the problem was to get these documents to Whitehall before midnight of November 30th. Two guineas a mile were in some instances paid for post-horses. One express steamed up to London, 118 miles, in an hour and a half! An established company having refused an express train to the promoters of a rival scheme, the latter employed persons to get up a mock funeral cortege and engaged an express to carry it to London, and plans and sections came in the hearse, and solicitors and surveyors as mourners! Copies of many of the documents had to be deposited with the Clerks of the Peace of the counties to which the schemes severally related, as well as with the Board of Trade; and at some of the offices of these clerks strange scenes occurred on Sunday. At some places the doors of the offices were not opened, as the officials considered the orders which had been issued to keep open on that particular Sunday, to apply only to the Board of Trade; but a crowd of law agents and surveyors assembled, broke the windows, and threw their plans and sections into the office. At the Board of Trade extra clerks were employed on that day, and all went smoothly till nine o'clock in the evening.

A rule was laid down for receiving the plans and sections, hearing a few words of explanation from the agents, and making certain entries in books. But at length the work accumulated more rapidly than the clerks could attend to it, and the agents arrived in greater numbers than the entrance hall could hold. The anxiety was somewhat allayed by the announcement that whoever was inside the building before the clock struck twelve, should be deemed in good time. One agent arrived while the clock was striking twelve and was admitted. Soon after a carriage with reeking horses drove up; three agents rushed out, and finding the doors closed, rang furiously at the bell; no sooner did a policeman open the door to say that the time was past than the agents threw their bundles of plans and sections through the half-opened door, and the policeman threw the documents out into the street. The baffled agents were nearly maddened with vexation, for they had arrived in London in good time but had been driven about hither and thither by a post-boy who did not, or would not, know the way to the office of the Board of Trade.

The London Times soon after devoted three whole pages to an elaborate analysis of the various railway schemes brought forward in 1845. They were no less than 620 in number, involving an (hypothetical) expenditure of £560,000,000, besides 643 other schemes which had not gone further than issuing prospectuses. More than five hundred of the schemes went through all the stages necessary for being brought before Parliament, and 272 of those became acts of Parliament in 1846 — to the ruin of thousands who had afterwards to find the money to fulfill the engagements into which they had so rashly entered.

What Eminent St. Louis Physicians Say.

PREVENTIVE OF MALARIA.—COLDEN'S LIEBIG'S LIQUID EXTRACT OF BEEF AND TONIC INVIGORATOR is a very agreeable article of diet, and particularly useful when tonics are required, being tolerated when other forms of animal food are rejected. In Diphtheria, Ague, Malaria, Typhoid Fevers and every depressing disease, its use will be attended with great advantage. We have prescribed it with excellent success. J. H. Leslie, M. D.; G. P. LAND FOR SALE IN LOTS TO SUIT. SUITABLE FOR THE CULTURE OF ORANGES, LEMONS, LIMES figs, almonds, walnuts, apples, peaches, pears, alfalfa, corn, rye, barley, flax, ramie, cotton, etc. Also many thousand acres of NATURAL EVERGREEN PASTURES, suitable for dairying. Good water is abundant at an average depth of six feet from the surface. On almost every acre of this land flowing artesian wells can be obtained, and the more elevated portions can be irrigated by the water of the Santa Ana river. Most of these lands are naturally moist, requiring only good cultivation to produce crops.

TERMS:—One-fourth cash; balance in one, two or three years, with ten per cent. interest. I take pleasure in showing these lands to parties seeking land, who are invited to come and see this extensive tract before purchasing elsewhere.

1882. Harper's Young People.

An Illustrated Weekly—16 Pages.

Suited to boys and girls of from six to sixteen years of age. Vol. III commences November 1, 1881.

Now is the time to subscribe.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE has been from the first successful beyond anticipation.—[N. Y. Evening Post.

It has a distinct purpose to which it steadily adheres—that, namely, of supplanting the vicious papers for the young with a paper more attractive, as well as more wholesome.—[Boston Journal.

For neatness, elegance of engraving, and contents generally, it is unsurpassed by any publication of the kind yet brought to our notice.—[Pittsburgh Gazette.

Its weekly visits are eagerly looked for, not only by the children, but also by parents who are anxious to provide pure literature for their girls and boys.—[Christian Advocate, Buffalo, N. Y.

A weekly paper for children which parents need not fear to let their children read at the family fireside.—[Hartford Daily Times.

Just the paper to take the eye and secure the attention of the boys and girls.—[Springfield Union.

King of the Blood

Is not a "cure-all;" it is a blood-purifier and tonic. Impurity of blood poisons the system, deranges the circulation, and thus induces many disorders, known by different names to distinguish them according to effects, but being really branches or phases of that great generic disorder, Impurity of Blood. Such are Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Nervous Disorders, Headache, Backache, General Weakness, Heart Disease, Dropsy, Kidney Diseases, Piles, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Disorders, Pimples, Ulcers, Swellings, &c., &c. King of the Blood prevents and cures these by attacking the cause, Impurity of the Blood. Chemists and physicians agree in calling it "the most genuine and efficient preparation for the purpose." Sold by Druggists. $1 per bottle. See testimonials, directions, &c., in pamphlet. ("Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," wrapped around each bottle.)
