Swinging Around the Circle

Of the diseases to which it is adapted with the best results, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a family medicine, comprehensive in its scope, has never been thrust upon public attention in the guise of a universal panacea for bodily ills. This claim, daily arrogated in the columns of the daily press by the proprietors of medicines far inferior to it as specifics, has in a thousand instances disgusted the public in advance by its absurdity, and the prospects of other remedies of superior qualities have been handicapped by the pretentions of their worthless predecessors. But the American people know, because they have verified the fact by the most trying tests, that the Bitters possess the virtue of a real specific in cases of malarial and liver disorder, constipation, nervous, rheumatic, stomach and kidney trouble. What it does it does thoroughly, and mainly for this reason it is indorsed and recommended by hosts of respectable medical men.

WITTY AFTER-DINNER TALK.

After-dinner speeches have become the repository of much of the most enjoyable humor and graceful repartee that has found utterance. A wealth of wit has been uncorked with the champagne, to sparkle for the moment and vanish like the bead in the crystal goblet. It was in great part at the table, in club or inn, that Dr. Johnson gave out his readiest sallies, and humble indeed is the house whose walls have not echoed to after-dinner pleasantry. Embalmed in tradition, the reliquary of the unwritten, we find many curious instances of the ready wit of some of our great men.

At a dinner in Boston to William M. Evarts, then Secretary of State, the toastmaster introduced Mr. Evarts by calling attention to the fact that "When we sat down we contemplated a goose stuffed with sage; I beg to introduce to you a sage stuffed with goose."

At a banquet given for the great orator, Edward Everett, he was introduced by Judge Story, who took occasion to perpetrate this excellent pun: "Applause shall follow in the footsteps of fame wherever it goes." Everett's complimentary rejoinder was that aspirants for positions in the temple of fame would never ascend higher than one story.

Campbell, the English poet, created consternation and subsequent merriment at a dinner of literary friends by proposing the health of Napoleon Bonaparte. A murmur of surprise went round the table, and one patriotic Briton asked how he dared make so bold as to propose Napoleon's health to a company of Englishmen. "He once hanged a publisher," replied Campbell, and the glasses were drained cheerfully.

In all that goes to strengthen and build up the system weakened by disease and pain, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the superior medicine. It neutralizes the poisons left in the system after diphtheria and scarlet fever, and restores the debilitated patient to perfect health and vigor.

To rise in the morning with a bad taste in the mouth and no appetite, indicates that the stomach needs strengthening. For this purpose there is nothing better than an occasional dose of Ayer's Pills taken at bedtime.

Neglect of the hair often destroys its vitality and natural hue, and causes it to fall out. Before it is too late apply Hall's Hair Renewer, a sure remedy.

A dispatch from San Bernardino says that all the Chinamen of that city and surrounding country quit work Sunday morning, with the exception of a handful who registered under the Geary law. As far as can be learned, only three Chinamen were at work on Sunday. Scores of them have bought tickets and are departing on every train, either for Los Angeles or San Francisco. Not a Chinese vegetable wagon has been seen on the streets since Saturday. Leading Chinamen state that this sudden action and excitement was brought about by the story that the United States officer took $145 from the person of a Chinaman arrested for violation of the Geary act, and used it to buy tickets to China for half a dozen other Chinamen who had no money. Whether true or not, the story is circulated among the Chinamen, and those who have money are leaving. All Chinese wash-houses are closing, or are badly crippled for want of help. The Chinese talk about a possible massacre of Americans in China, and a like retaliation here later on, and say that the only safe place for them is in their own country. Hotels and restaurants have found it difficult to get cooks and dishwashers on so short a notice, and some of them failed to open their doors on Sunday. Deputy United States Marshal Faris passed through the city Sunday in charge of four Chinamen arrested at Redlands, which added to the excitement of the Celestials, as they are informed that a number of warrants of arrest have been made out against them.

THE PEAT LANDS.

Mr. S. J. Murdock of Westminster writes as follows about the peat lands: "We lay claim to the only large peat lands in California, which is from a few inches to thirty or more feet in depth, and can be purchased at $100 per acre and up, according to locality and improvements. There is also a large amount of cheap grazing lands, with a climate especially adapted for dairying. A successful co-operative creamery runs the whole year. The locality is noted for its fine fruit—apples and pears in particular. The Anaheim Co-operative Beet Sugar Factory, located near, will open up a new industry, giving both a labor market and an increased demand for our products.

"The average yield of potatoes around here is 100 sacks of 120 pounds each to the acre; the average price per cental for the last three years, 80 cents. The average yield of cabbage per acre, seven tons. This is of the Early Winningstadt, for shipping, grown on all kinds of lands without fertilizing. The average price is $9 per ton, delivered at station. The average for onions is about 300 centals per acre; average price, 90 cents per cental, delivered in sacks. I estimate the cost of production of an acre of onions about $100.

"There are other vegetables, such as cauliflower, celery, beets and carrots, which will give about the same returns, and cost about the same to produce as onions. These estimates are based from actual experience, and a novice should not expect to do so well, yet I consider these figures conservative, but it will require practical labor to accomplish the above results."

BABY RUTH'S SISTER.

Mrs. Grover Cleveland was safely delivered of a little daughter at the White House at Washington on Saturday. The baby was born at exactly high noon, just as the ball on the flagstaff of the State, War and Navy Building opposite the White House dropped from the top of the staff.

From time to time during the morning the President was quietly advised as to the condition of affairs in the sick room, and, at exactly 12 o'clock, Dr. Bryant summoned him from the reception room and made the important announcement. The smile on the Doctor's face, and the reassuring pressure of his hand, told the President that his wife was safe.

"Is it a boy or a girl?" asked the President. Something like a shadow of disappointment swept across Cleveland's face as the physician told him that the new-born babe was a girl.

The fact of the birth was not made public until 2 o'clock. The news was bulletined at the telegraph office of the Capitol, the Departments and the prominent hotels, and was almost the sole theme of conversation during the remainder of the afternoon. Everywhere disappointment was manifested that the baby was not a boy.

Before 4 o'clock a stream of messenger boys began carrying congratulatory telegrams to the White House. This is the first time in the history of the republic that the wail of a new-born infant of the President of the United States has been heard within the walls of the White House.

Though the press has intimated at times that Mrs. Cleveland would become a mother a second time, the birth of the baby was somewhat of a surprise, as Mrs. Cleveland was out driving Friday evening. She bowed frequently to passing acquaintances, and appeared in excellent health and spirits.

La Grippe.

During the prevalence of the Grippe the past seasons it was a noticeable fact that those who depended upon Dr. King's New Discovery, not only had a speedy recovery, but escaped all the troublesome after effects of the malady. This remedy seems to have a peculiar power in effecting rapid cures not only in cases of La Grippe, but in all diseases of throat, chest and lungs, and has cured cases of asthma and hay fever of long standing. Try it and be convinced. It won't disappoint. Free trial bottles at W. M. Higgins' Drug Store. 6

COUNTY DIVISION ECHOES.

Ontario Record.

We heard a rumor some time ago that if San Antonio county doesn't seem feasible in '95, Chino will try to be set off into Orange county. The Chino people hope for better railroad connection with Anaheim by that time, and the development of the beet sugar industry there makes a natural bond of sympathy between the two sections. This may be mere talk, but we know that the county division sentiment is so strong at Chino as to make this project even seem a plausible one. The possibility of such a thing isn't very pleasing for Ontario to contemplate. That would leave us on the ragged edge of things.

Strength and Health.

If you are not feeling strong and healthy, try Electric Bitters. If La Grippe has left you weak and weary, use Electric Bitters. This remedy acts directly on liver, stomach and kidneys, gently aiding those organs to perform their functions. If you are afflicted with sick headache, you will find speedy and permanent relief by taking Electric Bitters. One trial will convince you that this is the remedy you need. Large bottles only 50 cts. at W. M. Higgins' Drug Store. 6

THE GRANDEUR OF GETTYSBURG.

During the four years of relentless strife, the North fortunately furnished but one battlefield. It was a great battle, was Gettysburg; perhaps not the greatest, yet immense in heroism, in consequence, in slaughter. The flower of both armies met there. It was a battle unconceived, but born by accident. The first day an unpremeditated collision, which precipitated a general engagement; the second day, an incident which destroyed a Northern corps, and mortally wounded a Southern army; and a forlorn hope upon the third, which, being hurled back, ended an invasion. Upon the Southern side every musket was emptied at least once; some a hundred times. Upon the Northern side, all but a few brigades had the same chance. Napoleon, the great artillerist, would have wondered at the precision and incessant roar of the guns of Hunt and Alexander. Murat would rather have been Buford with his dismounted horsemen on Seminary Ridge than himself at Marengo and Austerlitz. What would Ney have given to have seen the flood tide of Longstreet, pushing before it the sullen retreat of Sickles' diamond patches, suddenly ebb away as it spent itself against the solid rocks of Hancock and the Pennsylvania Reserves! The Iron Duke himself could not have remained stolid and impassively a witness to the three quarters of a mile dress parade advance of Pickett's division towards the center of percussion, as it marched over Codori's farm to its fate, its colors floating and its yells resounding defiantly to its executioners; and Cardigan would have looked to his laurels had he seen the flash of Gregg's sabers as they galloped through and routed the veteran squadrons of Stuart.

STATE ELECTIONS IN THE AUTUMN.

There will be twelve State elections held during the autumn. At none of these will any members of Congress be elected to the Lower House. There will be three Senators elected from the several States of Iowa, Kentucky and Virginia after the State elections are over. Public interest centers in this "off year" in the elections in Ohio and Iowa. There is a prospect that the latter State will elect a Republican Senator. The canvass in both of these States is very heated. There is hardly a doubt about Ohio going largely Republican.

In Virginia a Legislature will be elected to choose a Senator to fill the vacancy made by the death of John A. Barbour. Senator Hutton, appointed by the Governor, only holds office until the Legislature, about to be elected, chooses his successor.

Massachusetts elects a Legislature, a Governor and an entire State ticket every year. In New York a Judge of the Court of Appeals is to be elected, and members of both branches of the Legislature. While local issues will be prominent in most of the States, in Ohio and Iowa the canvass will assume something of a national character.

Massachusetts for two or three years, although a stanch Republican State, has chosen a Democratic Governor on local issues, or rather because he was the most popular candidate.

There will be a number of contested elections for seats in the Lower House of Congress. The one of chief interest in this State will be that of Hilbron and English. The latter contests on alleged ground of fraud in the return from the Altamont district, in Alameda county. That return, when corrected, will not give English a plurality, but he makes a contest as to some other precincts. This case will probably not come up until the regular session. Hilbron is confident that his election cannot be successfully impeached. A Democratic House will decide the question.

Christopher A. Buckley, the blind ex-boss of San Francisco, who about two years ago was indicted by the California courts, and who skipped to Montreal before he was brought to bar, arrived in Boston on Sunday from Montreal. Buckley went to Europe with his wife and son, and has been almost out of sight of the parties interested in his whereabouts. The Cunard line steamer which arrived in Boston Saturday morning brought the family to that city. Buckley was interviewed as soon as he was located, and said that he had returned to America with a determination never again to enter politics. He assumed a defiant tone when speaking of the indictments against him, which he declared were illegally procured. He announced it was his purpose to remain in the East for a few weeks, and then proceed to San Francisco and fight his case to the end. He expressed himself as resolved to stand his ground and contest the legality of the indictments.

An event of world-wide historic interest—one without a previous counterpart in the history of the world—took place at Chicago on Monday. It was the assembling of the parliament of religions, a gathering of representatives of all the great religious beliefs of the earth, with the object of showing how important are the things on which all agree and how comparatively unimportant are the differences of creed. The result of the parliament is expected to be to emphasize what is fundamental, and throw into the background differences merely accidental and superficial.

Onions for Coughs and Colds.

There is no remedy that acts more promptly on the throat, lungs and chest than Onion Syrup. It loosens the phlegm enabling you to throw it off. It relieves that tightness and oppressive feeling in chest and all soreness of the lungs. As a tonic and restorative it has no equal. Dr. Gunn's Onion Syrup is medicated in a manner so as to be more effectual than the plain syrup and not have any taste or odor of the onions, making it very pleasant to take. Sold at 50 cts at Reid's drugstore. tosep1

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Riverside has taken the first prizes at the World's Fair for both oranges and lemons.

The First National Bank of Los Angeles has filed a suit against the Bear Valley Irrigation Company for $18,000.

The net earnings of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and the Atlantic and Pacific systems, for the first six months of 1893, show an increase of $313,902 over the same period of 1892.

A gas engine has been placed over one of the artesian wells at Chino. The factory calls for an increased supply of water this year—more, in fact, than Mr. Gird's contract obliges him to supply. By pumping, the artesian well can be made to supply very much more than the ordinary flow. The experiment shows that the artesian stream underlying the town of Chino is large and practically inexhaustible.

The county treasury of Fresno is exhausted on account of the expensive criminal trials of the past year, calling for $40,000 more than usual. The courts are figuring in every way possible to cut down expenses, but the matter seems hopeless. Never in the history of Fresno county has there been so many important criminal cases on the docket.

Word from Pollasky, twenty-five miles from Fresno, announces the tragic death of Mrs. Adam Bollinger, living near that place. About sunrise last Friday morning she went to the water-wheel at the river to adjust it for irrigating, and in some manner her clothes were caught in the gearing and her body was whirled around till she was fatally injured. Her son hearing her screams ran to her assistance, but he was too late. She lingered in an unconscious condition for several hours, when death relieved her sufferings. Her husband was absent on a prospecting tour at the time, and it was several days before he was informed of the accident.

Data obtainable from reliable sources on the prospective supplies of European beet sugar from the crop of 1893 considerably modify the estimates of the Agriculture Rationelle of Brussels. All estimates must be taken subject to deductions according to the weather from now till the crop is completed. The present prospect appears to justify the expectation of a deficiency in France of 75,000 tons and in Holland of 5,000 tons. The yield in Belgium will not differ from the yield of 1892. It is probable that there wil be an excess in Russia of 200,000 tons, in Austro-Hungary of 100,000 tons and in Germany of 125,000 tons, making a probable net excess over the yield of 1892 of 345,000 tons.

At no time since the war have the customs receipts been so low as now. The matter is causing Secretary Carlisle a good deal of worry. In the Treasury last week the cash balance was reduced to $105,000,000 inclusive of the gold reserve, and $10,000,000 abroad and uncurrent subsidiary coin. What is left of the depleted gold reserve continues to be only the cash balance in the Treasury with which to pay the current expenses. The receipts are now running about $170,000 per day behind the expenditures, and for the first time the import duties have fallen below the internal revenue receipts. For the fiscal year from July 1st to the present time the Government expenditures exceed the receipts by $19,000,000. At this rate the deficit at the end of the year will be very large.

Representative Geary has introduced several bills into the House touching the tariff. One, referring to the wine industry, looks to the retention of duties on wines, red, white and sparkling, in bulk and in bottles, and on brandies. Another, concerning fruits, aims to keep a tariff on green and dried fruits, oranges and lemons, olives, olive oil, raisins, preserved and candied fruits and nuts. The wine bill also contains provisions permitting the producer of sweet wines to use free spirits made by himself from grape juice in fortification during certain months, and establishing drawbacks on imported articles used in bottling, etc., which are afterwards exported. There are also a number of clauses relating to bonded warehouses and the terms on which brandies, etc., may be deposited therein. Still another of Geary's bills provides for the free entry of coal, coke, iron ore, pig iron, scrap iron and scrap steel. He has also introduced a bill suspending for five years the immigration of foreign laborers.

Sensational disclosures have been made with relation to the failure of the Consolidated National Bank at San Diego. It has been known ever since the doors were closed that grave mistakes of judgment, if not actual misappropriation of funds, had been committed, and that all these derelictions had been traced to Bryant Howard, the President of the institution. His conduct has been such as to lead to the belief that he might be made the subject of a criminal prosecution, but that facts have developed which show that he has for years been a confirmed victim of the opium habit. This has so warped his judgment that heavy losses are now ascribed to the influence of the drug. The wreck of the bank was but the sequel to the wreck of its President. Overdrafts running up to $40,000 were permitted by him, while money was loaned on the most flimsy security in lavish style. Large sums, ranging as high as $80,000, were loaned on the mere integrity of individuals, supported in some cases by some semblance of security, but which proved worthless on examination. Nevertheless it is expected that the stockholders will meet their assessments generally, and that with what is saved from the wreck, the depositors will be paid nearly in full. A 20 per cent dividend will probably be declared at an early day. Sixteen hundred depositors have in the aggregate on deposit with the bank $600,000. The capital stock was $250,000.

Governor Markham has issued a proclamation calling the attention of the people of the trans-Mississippi States and Territories to the International Irrigation Congress, which is called to convene at Los Angeles October 10, 1893. The citizens of the arid States are invited and urged to send full delegations to the Congress, which promises to be the most notable of its kind ever held in this country. The railroads have practically made a rate of one fare for the round trip from the Missouri river, and a rate of a fare and a third from points west of the Missouri river. The sessions of the Congress will be held in the Grand Opera-house, and headquarters for delegates will be at the Hotel Hollenbeck and Hotel Nadeau, also at the St. Elmo. Several foreign Governments will be represented by delegates, and the Interior Department will be represented by Mr. F. H. Newell, United States Topographer. Opportunity for investigating some of the finest irrigating systems in the world will be afforded delegates to this Congress. The Great American Desert, as the arid Southwest was formerly known, is being rapidly transformed into the richest portion of the American Republic by the judicious combination of brains, money and water. What has been so magnificently done in Southern California can be duplicated elsewhere under similar conditions.

THURSDAY..................SEPTEMBER 14, 1893

THE collapse of the Bank of Anaheim is probably the most severe blow ever sustained by the citizens of this community. With the recent resumption of business, after the temporary suspension encountered in common with the other suspensions throughout the country, it was hoped that the bank might be placed upon its feet again and that its financial standing might be adjusted to the satisfaction of the depositors and the community generally. Since the reopening, business men have gone on depositing as before, and when the announcement was made on Saturday that the bank had gone into voluntary liquidation, it was like a thunder-clap out of a clear sky. People were dumbfounded at the realization of their losses, and for a time considerable intemperate talk was indulged in, but for the good name of the community be it said, the depositors have deported themselves with becoming decorum, and are satisfied to await the results of the efforts of the bank officials to straighten out what appears, in the present unsettled condition of the money market, to be considerable of a local financial disaster. A statement of the bank's condition has not as yet been issued, but we are assured it will be given to the depositors in a day or two, when those interested will probably appoint a committee of their number to examine and verify the same, and report upon the best measures to adopt under the existing circumstances.

The cause of the bank's liquidation is set forth at length in the circular issued to depositors, and printed in our local columns this morning. In a word, it is due principally to the fact that the bank is overloaded with real estate, some of the negotiations dating back to the palmy days of the boom. The amount of real estate held by the bank is reckoned at $40,000, and much of this cannot be realized upon advantageously at present. There is money in the Kraemer ranch in Alameda county, and also in the Nevada ranch, and some in the mines in Sonora. That these may be realized upon and the bank in time be able to pay its depositors in full, we have no disposition to doubt, and we trust the management of bank's affairs will be such as to result in the greatest good to the greatest number. The amount of deposits is in the neighborhood of $80,000, and Mr. Mabury's personal liability on his subscription is over $40,000, and he is reckoned one of the wealthiest men in the southern part of the State. No definite conclusion can be arrived at as to where the depositors stand, of course, until the statement is issued, but there are reasonable grounds for believing that with patience on the part of those interested and the abstention from throwing the bank into the hands of a receiver, with all the attendant costs and fees and loss of time which that course entails, the depositors will come out all right in the end.

It is a very curious thing to speak of the Bank of Anaheim, which we have all come to regard as financially solid as a rock, in the light of a tottering institution forced into liquidation, with angry depositors on every hand. It has been a money making institution from the start, its net earnings during the past ten years being probably $40,000. But the end has come at last, and what with money tied up in real estate, and bad investments here and there, it is forced to go out of business and make an assignment for the benefit of its creditors.

Mr. Bartlett, who is now in charge of the bank, winding up its affairs, is recommended as an experienced banker, and will no doubt use his best endeavors to bring order out of the chaos which now surrounds this old-time and once highly respected institution.

That another bank will be established here admits of no doubt, but it is yet too early to speak authoritatively upon that point.

THE orange growers of the county are up in arms against our old friends Wall, Jones and Bishop, the Tustin twilight syndicate, who have a pet scheme to cinch the growers for fumigation to the extent of five, ten or twenty cents per tree, according as the victim is willing to pungle up. A meeting is called to assemble at Spurgeon's hall at Santa Ana Saturday next to take such action in the premises as may seem meet and proper under the circumstances. This patent twilight infamy has been dead for a couple of years, but lately the patentees have been moving about among the timid growers and cinching them to the extent of their occult power. They have begun suit against a Tustin grower who refuses to pay, and the growers of the county purpose standing by him and employing eminent counsel to fight the case. The circular calling the meeting reads:

> A convention of orange growers, opposing the payment of all claims under the Wall, Bishop & Jones starlight fumigation patent, is hereby called at Spurgeon's Hall in Santa Ana at 1 o'clock P. M., on Saturday, September 16, 1893, for the purpose of perfecting organization and making full preparation for asserting and maintaining our rights to fumigate with hydro-cyanic-acid gas whenever and wherever we please, without contributing one penny to the oppressors backed by letters patent, resting upon claims the most absurd and unjust. Let every orange grower ready for fight come out whether or not he has already signed the "Roll of Union" for the defense. Suit has been commenced in the United States Circuit Court against one of our number for $700 and we must stand by him. Now is the time to rally and show our strength and our colors.

Let every orange grower this side of the river attend the meeting and contribute by his presence and to the extent of his means to defeat this outrageous scheme to rob the people. If these patentees succeed in establishing their case, their royalty next year will be, not five or ten or twenty cents per tree, but perhaps one dollar per tree, and that will sound the knell of orange growing in Southern California. The orchardists can and must defeat this patent twilight arrangement, and next Saturday is the day selected as the time to set the ball rolling in the work of the emancipation of the growers and the confusion of the patentees. We hope to see every public-spirited orange grower on this side of the river present at this meeting.

AT the meeting of orange growers Monday afternoon there were so few present that it was decided to postpone the election of a Board of Directors and the meeting adjourned to next Monday afternoon, the 18th, at 4 o'clock, in the City Hall, when it is urged that all growers in this vicinity who signed the articles of incorporation, and all others who are in favor of forming the Orange Growers' Association, will be present to select a Board of Directors. This will be the last effort of the committee in the matter. For the good of the growers of this vicinity it is to be hoped that the meeting will be largely attended, and that the orchardists of this community will range themselves alongside of the progressive growers of Southern California.

SUPERVISOR BOARD.

THE MATTER OF STRAIGHTENING THE RIVER CONSIDERED—THE COURTHOUSE SITE ACCEPTED—TAX LEVY

The Board of Supervisors met on Monday and considered the matter of straightening the Santa Ana river and protecting the banks of the same. J. B. Raine appeared before the board and said that the proposed cut in the river at his place in the Swamp would damage his land by dividing it, and as he had already lost $40,000 by the encroachment of the river, he thought he should be compensated for any further damage that might result to him. The question of compensation was discussed by the board, but no action was taken, and County Surveyor Finley read the following report:

"To the Honorable Board of Supervisors—Gentlemen: In accordance with your instructions of Sept. 5th I herewith furnish an approximate estimate of the cost of work necessary to be done along the Santa Ana river in order to prevent destructive overflows.

"On the map of the surveyed section will be found sketches of the character of the work proposed to be done in accordance with ideas expressed by your board, and which, I believe, will result in securing the result desired.

"I find that the cost of such work for the section of the river of which a survey has been made, including the necessary plowing and cleaning of the channel, will be $1,250 per mile. The cost of such work for one-half mile north of the Fifth-street bridge, will probably be proportionately the same, and the absolutely necessary work from the end of the present survey to the Newport mesa, doubtless much less. Without a careful survey of the remainder of the route, I would estimate the cost of the work from a point one-half mile north of the Fifth-street bridge to the Newport mesa, a distance of four and one-half miles, at $4,800. To this add $1,200 for additional work to protect especially exposed places, and it gives a total of $6,000.

"The levy proposed by Mr. Hawkins will cost $1,900 per mile, one side, or $3,800 per mile for both sides.

"The section of the river west and northwest of Orange requires the expenditure of $2,000 to hold it in check for the coming season. Three thousand dollars could be advantageously spent at this point.

"In company with H. C. Kellogg, I visited the exposed point northwest of Olive, and after careful inspection we find it will be necessary to rebuild about 2,000 feet of the levee at present there, and increase the height of the remaining 2,000 feet. In addition to this it will be advisable to put in two heavy wings above the main levee, aggregating in length 1,800 feet, in order to throw the current of the water away from the present levee, and more nearly under the center of the bridge. This work will cost $3,640. It will be necessary to protect the bank on the east side opposite the levee, necessitating an additional expenditure to raise the total to $4,000.

"The aggregate cost of the above contemplated work is $12,000. In order to be prepared for additional work that may be found necessary along the whole course of the river, I am of the opinion that an expenditure of not less than $15,000 should be provided for."

The report was accepted and filed. The Surveyor was instructed to do the necessary surveying at the different points on the river where the improvements are contemplated, at a cost not to exceed $500.

The board appropriated $15,000 to straighten the river's bank and strengthen the same. The action will meet with the cordial support of the people.

Fifteen hundred dollars was transferred from the General Fund to the Hospital Fund, and $2,650 from the Current Expense Fund to the Courthouse and Jail Fund.

The time having arrived for completing the purchase of a county courthouse site, and the District Attorney appearing and stating that the abstract of title was good, and that the city of Santa Ana had vacated Seventh street, the following resolution was passed:

"Resolved, That in pursuance of the notice heretofore given this board now purchase of William H. Spurgeon, for a county courthouse site, block 21, city of Santa Ana, and block B, Spurgeon's addition to said city, and the portion of Seventh street between said blocks for the sum of $8,000, $4,000 cash and $4,000 on or before December 15, 1893, with interest at the rate of 8 per cent per annum, and that the deed executed by said Spurgeon and wife for said land to Orange county and now presented to this board be accepted, and that the Auditor of said county is hereby directed to issue to said Spurgeon two warrants for $4,000, each upon the courthouse and jail fund in the county treasury, in payment of the said land; also issue a warrant to said Spurgeon for $25 in payment of the difference in the interest agreed to be paid on said deferred payment provided by law to be paid on unpaid warrants."

The clerk was then instructed to have the deed recorded.

The petition of L. A. Mendelson for appointment of Justice of the Peace at San Juan was denied.

Chairman Yoch was given a leave of absence for sixty days.

Auditor Hall submitted the following informal statement for the State and county tax levy for the ensuing year:

State fund	57.6
Current expense	22.4
Courthouse	5
River	15
Hospital	4
Salary	20
School	26
Road	30
	$1.80

The board will fix the tax levy on the 5th instant. Adjourned.

SUGAR BEETS.

STILL GOING OUT AT THE RATE OF ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY TONS PER DAY.

Shipments of beets to the refinery at Chino continue at the rate of about 120 tons daily from this point and Buena Park. Over 3,000 tons have been shipped thus far this season, and the crop is about half shipped. Mr. Marks goes to Chino to-day to settle with the Oxnards for the first month's shipments of beets. The amount his receipts call for is in the neighborhood of $15,000. This amount will probably be deposited in Los Angeles, and the beet farmers will be given checks on that city in payment for their beets. This course is necessitated on account of the closing of the bank here.

September 6—Buena Park, 4 cars, 89,470 pounds.

September 7—Anaheim, 9 cars, 177,820 pounds; Buena Park, 3 cars, 61,555 pounds.

Wholesale and retail dealers in Smyrna figs in New York have forwarded a petition to Washington protesting against a communication by United States Consul Ernes of Smyrna to Surgeon General Wyman at Washington. The dealers declare it is absurd to prohibit the importation of figs from Smyrna, because it is a fact that there are large consignments on the way which have been contracted for by Western firms. These shipments were made prior to the cholera scare. It was said that a strong protest has been sent from California to the Treasury Department at Washington against the importation of all kinds of dried fruit from foreign countries, in order to prevent the introduction of cholera into the country.

A Baby's Foot In a Seashell.

G. W. Fox of Redwood City, Cal., has in his possession one of the most remarkable curiosities ever found on the Pacific coast—nothing more or less than an abalone shell in the interior of which, firmly incased in the pearly shell secretion, there is a baby's shoe and stocking. The shape is perfect in every particular, but the size indicates that the owner of these pedal coverings was a very young child. The sole of the shoe and the toe, badly worn and red from long continued water soaking, can be plainly seen when the secretion has not entirely enveloped it. The stocking is not visible, however. Threads of the wool can be drawn from the pearly incasement by using a crochet hook or even a bent pin.

The buttons are covered with abalone, looking like pendant pearls set in a row down the side of this odd shaped shell. The little tassel can still be plainly seen, as can also the hole where one of the buttons has been pulled out. There is but one tenable solution that can be given in explanation of this seashell mystery. The body of a drowned infant was being carried along by the tide when the foot passed into the open abalone shell, which of course instantly closed like a vice. Then the imprisoned foot was held until severed from the body by decay. In the meantime the shellfish was busily engaged in covering the shoe, stocking and foot with its pearly secretions.—Philadelphia Press.

What "Alcohol" Meant In 1300.

The reservation of the name of alcohol for the product of the distillation of wine is modern. Till the end of the eighteenth century the word, of Arabic origin, signified any principle attenuated by extreme pulverization or by sublimation. It was applied, for example, to the powder of sulphuret of antimony (koheul), which was used for blackening the eyes, and to various other substances, as well as to spirits of wine. No author has been found of the thirteenth century, or even of the fourteenth century and later, who applied the word alcohol to the product of the distillation of wine.—P. E. M. Berthelot in Popular Science Monthly.

Calf's Foot Jelly For the Sick.

We have witnessed many changes of opinion respecting some of the commonest articles of diet for the sick. The old view that calf's foot jelly was of exceeding nutritive value was at one time so controverted that the jelly ceased to be much used. It is now sanctioned as having a place in dietetics, and I believe it may be safely regarded as a temporary form of nourishment of no inconsiderable value.—Popular Science Monthly.

Ordinance No. 91.

An ordinance fixing and levying a property tax on all property within the corporate limits of the City of Anaheim for the fiscal year of 1893 and 1894.

The Board of Trustees of the city of Anaheim do ordain as follows:

Section 1.—That there be and hereby is fixed and levied a property tax for the fiscal year of 1893 and 1894 of fifty cents on each one hundred dollars of the assessed valuation of all real and personal property within the corporate limits of the City of Anaheim, for the ordinary annual expenditures of said city.

Section 2.—That there be and hereby is fixed and levied a property tax for the fiscal year of 1893 and 1894 of forty cents on each one hundred dollars of the assessed valuation of all real and personal property within the corporate limits of the City of Anaheim, for the purpose of paying the annual interest of the indebtedness of the City of Anaheim, together with one-twentieth of such indebtedness. The tax mentioned in this section shall be kept in the treasury as a separate fund to be used only for the payment of the principal and interest of such indebtedness.

Section 3.—The City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this ordinance and cause the same to be published once in the ANAHEIM GAZETTE, and thereupon and thereafter it shall take effect and be in full force.

WM. A. WITTE,

I hereby certify that the foregoing ordinance was introduced at a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the city of Anaheim held on the third Wednesday of August, 1893, to wit, the 16th day of August, 1893.

That it was duly passed and adopted at a regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the city of Anaheim held on the 12th day of September, 1893, by the following vote:

City Fathers Meet and Fix the Tax Levy.

Ninety Cents on the One Hundred Dollars the Rate—The Bank of Anaheim Goes Into Voluntary Liquidation—Mr. James Resigns, and Mr. Bartlett of Tustin Will Wind Up Its Affairs—Other Items—Social Notes.

The Board of Trustees met in regular session in the City Hall on Tuesday evening. Present, full board.

The Marshal reported the collection of $373 50 for water and licenses for the month of September.

The Clerk's monthly financial report was received and filed.

The Treasurer's report was not received.

The Recorder's monthly report was received, showing the collection of $17 for fines. The reports were submitted to the Finance Committee for examination.

Trustee Pellegrin reported on various matters attended to by him as a member of the Finance Committee. He put in a new hydrant opposite the City Hall, removed a street lamp on Lemon street and purchased 10 gallons of machine oil. Everything was all right except the price paid for the oil, which Trustee Conrad thought was too high. They will try to get cheaper oil in future.

Several leaks in the water mains were ordered repaired.

The Ordinance Committee was instructed to draft an ordinance compelling property owners to keep the streets clean in front of their premises.

The Committee on Public Improvements was given power to fix up Walnut street.

Ordinance No. 91, fixing a tax levy of 90 cents on the $100; Ordinance No. 83, fixing the monthly water rates, and Ordinance No. 89, defining tramps and providing for their punishment, were passed. They will be found in another column this morning.

Ordinance No. 88, concerning nuisances in this city, and Ordinance No. 90, regulating the conduct of minors, were also passed.

Richard Spoerl asked for permission to move a fire-proof building into the fire limits, on a lot near the new City Hall on Center street. Laid over to the next meeting. The property owners adjoining the lot will protest against the moving of the building.

The resignation of Plez James as Treasurer was received, and was laid over to the next regular meeting for action.

The board then adjourned to Saturday evening to finish the business now on hand.

THE BANK SUSPENDS.

IT GOES INTO LIQUIDATION—MR. JAMES RESIGNS—MR. BARTLETT WILL WIND UP ITS AFFAIRS.

The Bank of Anaheim failed to open its doors for business on Monday morning. It was known that a conference of the Directors of the bank had been held on Friday evening, and on Saturday morning, although the bank was closed, as the placard said on the door, on account of the legal holiday, it was rumored on the streets that it would not again open its doors for business. The time for the payment of the first installment to depositors, in accordance with the plan adopted a couple of months ago providing for the bank's resumption, was drawing near, and it was said there was no money in sight to meet the demands upon the institution. Several business men, however, had gone to the bank during Saturday for the transaction of business, one of them to deposit $500, only to find that the fact of its being Admission Day had escaped them, and that the bank was closed on account of the holiday. Soon the inquiry was heard on the streets, "What's the matter with the bank?" and speculation ran rife as to whether the institution would be able to meet its obligations.

During the forenoon the depositors and people generally were thunderstruck to read the following circular:

To depositors in the Bank of Anaheim:

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of said bank, held on September 8, 1893, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, The Bank of Anaheim did, on the 21st day of June, 1893, suspend payments to depositors because of inability to meet their unusual demands; and,

WHEREAS, The said bank did, on the 18th day of July, 1893, resume business under an agreement, signed by a majority of its depositors, which agreement provided, among other things, that deposits would be paid in three equal installments, in two, four and six months from the date of the resumption of business by said bank; and,

WHEREAS, The first payment of said deposits must be met on September 18, 1893, and this board has reason to believe that demand will be made for said installment by the majority of depositors; and,

WHEREAS, It is apparent, from the statement of the condition of the bank submitted to us by the ex-President, and from the impossibility of immediately realizing on its assets, that it will be impossible to meet the probable demand for coin by depositors; and,

WHEREAS, In view of these circumstances, it is the opinion of the board that it is for the best interests of the depositors that this corporation cease from and after this date to transact a general banking business, and that its assets be realized upon as speedily and economically as possible, to the end that depositors shall receive the respective amounts due them at an early date; therefore, be it

Resolved, That from and after this date this corporation cease to transact a general banking business; that the business of the bank be confined solely to the management and collection of, its assets and securities, and the payment from time to time to depositors of such percentage of their deposits as may be available.

Resolved, That the President, W. S. Bartlett, be and he is hereby instructed to proceed to liquidate the affairs of the bank as expeditiously as circumstances will permit, using all due diligence in collecting moneys due the bank and marketing its securities, and to report to the Board of Directors whenever he shall have received sufficient funds to enable the Directors to declare a dividend to the creditors of said bank.

Resolved, That the said W. S. Bartlett be required to give to this corporation a good and sufficient bond, to be approved by the Board of Directors, in the sum of one hundred thousand dollars; said bond to be delivered to the board within fifteen days from this date.

Mr. James says in the circular: I deem it due to depositors to supplement the information contained in the foregoing resolutions with a brief statement of the causes which compelled the Board of Directors to take the action therein indicated.

I take pleasure to impress upon the depositors the gratifying fact that I am thoroughly convinced every dollar of the bank's indebtedness will be paid. I have not the slightest hesitancy in making this emphatic declaration, because the resources are largely in excess of the liabilities, and in addition, I have conveyed to the bank, in trust, for the benefit of the bank's creditors, all the real estate owned by me, including my homestead, and the plan adopted for winding up the affairs of the bank insures that it will be done wisely, carefully and at very slight expense. What the result would be if the affairs of the bank were dragged into court, I leave the depositors to determine for themselves.

When the bank resumed business on the 18th day of July last, I had reasonable hope that enough of its securities could be realized upon to meet its obligations in coin as they became due. You all know that since that time the monetary condition of the country has been going from bad to worse; and I have found it impossible to make collections to any great amount, or to realize upon the bank's securities. It would not help us any to attempt to force collections by process of law, because such action would have entailed large expense to the bank, great loss to those proceeded against, and would have brought no coin into the bank's vaults. It would have increased the real estate holdings of the bank and decreased its cash assets by the amount paid for legal expenses; and it is needless to say that what the bank and its depositors want is money, not real estate. My successor intends to pursue the policy of extending every reasonable leniency to those who owe the bank, to the end that they may procure the money elsewhere with which to liquidate their indebtedness. This policy will be pursued as long as he deems it for the best interests of the depositors, and no longer. In the management of the bank's affairs, the interests of the depositors only will be considered, and from time to time such action will be taken as will enable them to get their money with the least possible delay and cost.

I trust the action of the Board will commend itself to the creditors of the bank, and that they will co-operate in the effort to attain the ends sought in the manner the board has adopted; as, after a thorough study of the situation, and consideration of divers ways and means, they have deliberately chosen the proposed method as being the most economical and advantageous to all concerned.

I have resigned my position as President of the bank for the reason that I am physically incapacitated from performing its duties. Mr. W. S. Bartlett, who was to-day chosen to succeed me, is a banker of experience and ability. His appointment is entirely satisfactory to Mr. Hiram Mabury, who is more largely interested in the successful issue of the bank's affairs than any other depositor, and I have personal knowledge of the fact that Mr. Bartlett, some years ago, wound up the affairs of a large banking institution in San Francisco to the entire satisfaction of every person concerned. I need hardly add that Mr. Bartlett's appointment meets with my hearty approval.

It will greatly facilitate the work of liquidation if depositors will at once present their bank passbooks, so that they can be balanced.

A full, complete and clear statement of the condition of the bank's affairs will be issued in a few days for the information of depositors.

The bank will be open during the usual hours until further notice. PLEZ JAMES.

Anaheim, September 9, 1893.

Mr. Hiram Mabury, with Mr. James, owns the bulk of the bank's stock, each owning 485 shares out of a thousand issued. Each share is of a par value of $100. Mr. James, as the circular states, has already transferred all of his property for the benefit of his creditors, and Mr. Mabury is personally responsible for $48,500 on his subscription, less the amount already paid in, which we understand is ten per cent. The amount of paid-up capital is $20,000, with a reserve fund of $10,000. Mr. Mabury is abundantly able to pay his part of the losses, and there is no reason why depositors will not in the end receive dollar for dollar.

Mr. W. S. Bartlett of Tustin has been engaged during the week in straightening out the affairs of the bank. As soon as it was decided to close the bank Mr. Bartlett was selected to take charge of affairs, and the State Bank Examiners were telegraphed to come and examine the bank and publish their report. No answer has as yet been received from them. Mr. Bartlett's statement will be issued in a few days, and we have no doubt it will be found to be to the entire satisfaction of the depositors.

There have been many idle rumors on the streets regarding the bank, but these have been found to be without foundation.

That the bank's affairs are being administered upon economically and as promptly as possible, there is no room to doubt. Mr. Bartlett is entirely disinterested in the premises, and has the good-will both of the depositors and the bank at heart. He is an experienced banker, has lived in the county twelve years, and organized and was for many years cashier of the Commercial Bank at Santa Ana. He also organized the Bank of Orange and Bank of Tustin, as well as other corporations in this county. He has furnished a bond of $100,000 for the faithful performance of his duties, and is getting things in shape as rapidly as possible. He is anxious to have all the depositors call at the bank, and informs us that it is his opinion that depositors will be paid dollar for dollar.

One pleasant feature of the liquidation is that the depositors are disposed to accept the inevitable, and are disposed to do everything in their power to bring about a speedy settlement of the bank's finances. There is no disposition to throw the bank into the hands of a receiver, and the work of straightening out the affairs is going on unhampered, and will without doubt bring about the best results for the depositors.

—Mr. W. J. Smith informs us that some miscreant has been getting away with his hogs lately, and as hogs are the equivalent of cash nowadays he would like to make the fellow's acquaintance. It would not be very healthy for him if Mr. Smith should catch him in his felonious act.

—The orange growers of the county will meet at Spurgeon's Hall at Santa Ana on Saturday next to take steps to combat the twilight patent and the efforts of the patentees to rob the orchardists. A cordial invitation is extended every orange grower in the county to be present, and every one should make it a point to be there.

—Prof. Frantz has put up a new furnace for his bath tub, and will have hot and cold baths to order after this. The old furnace was not a success, and the Professor employed Frank Gates to tear it down and put up a new one, which is a thing of beauty and a joy forever.

—An enthusiastic horseman from across the river assures us that Silkwood will win the pacing race over the Santa Ana track next month. He tells us Willet's nag can go in two-two if necessary, and he says the horse will do it just to show the outsiders what he can do. There's a tip for you. If it's right, put your money on Silkwood and start a bank after the race.

—M. H. Cheeseman gives notice in our advertising columns this morning that he has rented Darling's new building near the Southern Pacific depot and will open the same as a general merchandise store. He will close out his stock in his present premises at prices lower than ever, the goods being offered regardless of cost. Read the advertisement.

—The orange growers of Tustin and vicinity are soliciting signatures to a petition asking Congress to raise the tariff on citrus and deciduous fruits and nuts, and have passed the following resolution: "Resolved, that it is the sense of this meeting that in order to raise fruits and nuts profitably in California, it is necessary to raise the tariff on foreign importations."

—John Neipp, an old and highly respected resident of this city, died at his home on Thursday last, aged 64 years, 2 months and 6 days. Deceased had resided here for many years, having been among the first of the early settlers, and by his frugality and thrift had acquired quite a competency, which goes to his brother and his children. Deceased left no family. He was buried on Saturday, the remains being followed to the grave by a large concourse of sorrowing friends.

—The Turn-Vereins of Los Angeles, San Diego, San Bernardino and this city will have a grand excursion and picnic at San Juan-by-the-Sea next Sunday. Trains will pass this point at 8:20 and 9:07 A. M., and it is expected that a special car will be provided for the Anaheim Turners and their families and friends. The day will be spent in an old-fashioned picnic, and everything points to a very enjoyable time. Prizes will be offered for games, and the Turners will take a plenty to eat and drink along. They will return on the evening train.

—The observant critic of the Orange Post remarks: "We struck a paragraph in the ANAHEIM GAZETTE this week about the editor losing twenty-seven pounds in a tussle with bilious fever and instantly concluded that it was the introduction to a patent medicine ad. Following it a little further we found it was only the preface to a dun for delinquent subscribers to pay up. Now we don't know whether to congratulate Bro. Kuchel on his recovery or on the cuteness of his dun." Like the tenderfoot at the hotel, who was asked by the waiter whether he'd have his dinner a la carte or tabble dote, we'll have a little of both, and plenty gravy.

—A sensational report has been current for a few days past to the effect that Tom Morris, the peat land sprinter, had been arrested in Northern California on a charge of manslaughter. The crime is said to have been committed at Bloomfield, Ill., some weeks ago, just after Morris won the 100 yard race at Goshen, Ind., defeating all comers and breaking the record. Morris ran a 130-yard handicap, and agreed that he should let another footracer win, but, when the start was made, he ran it out on all his competitors, and therefore won a large sum of money in side bets. During the next night several parties who had lost heavily went to his room and broke in the door for the purpose of threshing him. Morris, realizing what was about to happen, sprang from his bed, and, as the first man stepped across the threshold, struck him a terrible blow, knocking him over against a nail in the wall, the nail entering through the skull into the brain. Morris then grabbed a six-shooter and sprang into a corner, defying his pursuers. The injured man has since died, and hence Morris' arrest. Morris returned to Santa Ana recently, but only remained a few days, when he left for the northern part of the State, where he was arrested on Tuesday.

—The Los Angeles Chinese are badly frightened over the Geary Act, and all vegetable peddlers have stopped their carts. It is reported that the Six Companies have issued a blood-curdling circular to the Mongolian truckmen and peddlers to the effect that if they dare to sell vegetables to white people they will be fined $100 for the first offense and will be killed outright for the second. It is said that this blood-thirsty missive has also been directed to the laundrymen. The Chinese truckmen are still peddling in Anaheim, and as yet none of the Chinese here have been molested. They are still with us and the price of vegetables remains the same.

—The following term trial jurors have been drawn for service in the Superior Court: William Mitchell, W. H. Jasper, Joseph H. Garrett, Tobias Billings, H. C. Waterman, George W. Freeman, C. P. Taylor, Isaac R. Williams, Thomas Walker, Orland H. Cone, Thomas Fraser, C. A. Westgate, Sr., Erwin Barr, A. T. Pendleton, H. C. Gade, S. Holman, Albert J. Chaffee, C. R. Smith. They will report into Court next Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

—The Directors of the Orange County Fair Association have adopted a very fine programme for their races next month, and it is probable that larger crowds will be present at the track than ever before. The race probably that attracts the most attention is the free for all pacing event, in which the following horses are entered: J. Willet's Silkwood, 2:8½; W. Murray's Diablo, 2:09¼; Keating's Our Dick, 2:09½; Oak Wood Park Stock Farm's W. Wood, 2:07; Los Cerritos Stock Farm's Lady H, 2:16½. This will be one of the most notable races ever paced in California, and is already attracting attention throughout the Coast. The purse is $1,000. There will also be a free-for-all trot, for a purse of $1,000, in which Richmond Jr., Edonia, Adelaide McGregor and Klamath are entered. The entire programme is one of the best ever arranged in the State, and the Fair Association should and doubtless will have its efforts rewarded by a large attendance of spectators during the Fair.

—A report from Santa Ana is to the effect that for some time past the tongues of the gossips have been wagging about two newly-married young people in that city, and, from recent developments, it would seem that, for once, at least, they knew something of what they were talking about. The fact that Fred Hewitt, who married Miss Jessie Beard only a few weeks ago, has now given notice that he will not be responsible for debts contracted by her, claiming that she has left his bed and board, gives rise to more and graver rumors, and, consequently, gives the gossips new material to work upon. Both these young people are residents of Santa Ana. The blame for it all is placed on young Hewitt, who they say was to be married to one of Santa Ana's fair daughters some time ago, but after the young lady had procured her trousseau, Hewitt backed out and would not marry her. The sensible young lady dropped him, and recently he married his present wife, and after a few weeks of wedded bliss, a separation is in prospect.

—At an early hour Sunday morning the new hotel at Laguna was totally destroyed by fire. The loss is $8,000, with insurance on the building and contents to the amount of $4,000. The fire was first discovered in the post-office, situated in a corner of the building, a few minutes past 2 o'clock, by Mrs. Brooks, the wife of the proprietor, who was awakened by the crackling flames. The people in the house were at once aroused, and the neighborhood turned out and fought the flames, but the property could not be saved. The building was frame and burned like a cinder. In less than two hours after the first alarm was given the building was in ruins. Several narrow escapes of parties in the building are reported, some of the inmates only escaping in their night robes. The cause of the fire is unknown, but it is thought to have caught in the postoffice in some unaccountable way. Several buildings in the neighborhood were saved after much effort, but were considerably charred by the fire.

—The tent meetings conducted by Elder H. Elliott Ward on Lemon street continue with unabated interest. Almost every evening the large tent, holding 350 or 400 people, is completely filled with a most attentive and respectful audience. Quite a number have already confessed their faith in Christ. On Sunday afternoon an organization was effected, and the roll now numbers thirty-one names. It is confidently expected that by the close of the meetings the number will reach fifty. Prof. Colyer of Artesia has been present several evenings and led the singing. On Monday evening Elder T. D. Garvin, pastor of the Christian Church at Pasadena, and Elder B. F. Coulter, pastor of the church in East Los Angeles, and head of the Coulter dry goods house of Los Angeles, were in attendance at the meeting. Baptism will be administered to those who are candidates for that ordinance at the Christian Church in Orange on Saturday afternoon of this week at 2 P. M. The following subjects are announced for the future: Thursday evening, "Personal Repentance;" Friday evening, "The Things That Save;" Saturday evening, "What Shall the Harvest Be?"

Bro. Fullerton of the Orange News, we read, has renounced his allegiance to Queen Victoria, and become a citizen of the United States. Bro. Fullerton gets out one of the best papers in the county, and it is meet and proper that he become a citizen of this great and glorious land of freedom. We doff our hat to the new Citizen.

Mr. L. W. Kirby was in from Peralta one day last week and informs us that the new $1,700 schoolhouse which the enterprising citizens of that progressive locality are putting up is almost completed. School is being held in the old schoolhouse, but the new building will be ready for occupancy soon, when the school will be transferred to that place.

Mr. A. D. Risdon of Los Angeles, representing the Herald of that city, was in town in the interests of that paper on Monday, and made a pleasant call at this office. Mr. Risdon is an old-time San Francisco newspaper man, a very pleasant gentleman, and cannot fail to materially increase the circulation of the Herald down this way.

'Squire Witte visited Los Angeles yesterday, and was waylaid on the streets by Miss Hoffman, who took occasion to send down her love to all old-time friends in town. Agent Hill of the Santa Fe, however, comes in for a portion of her displeasure for saying that she "did" the railroad company out of a round trip fare to Los Angeles, and she doesn't love the GAZETTE for printing the item, and threatens to come down and wipe up the earth with us. Ah, well, it will all be the same in a thousand years!

Mr. E. P. Fowler left yesterday for Washington, having been summoned by the House Ways and Means Committee to appear before them on the 19th instant and give testimony in regard to the advisability of retaining the sugar bounty. Voluminous documents have already gone on to Washington in support of the bounty system, and Mr. Fowler is expected to supplement them with facts and figures showing the absolute necessity of retaining the bounty in order to start co-operative refineries throughout the country.

Judge B. N. Smith of the Los Angeles Superior Court was run over and seriously injured by an electric car in Chicago on Monday. His left leg was fractured, five ribs were broken, and he was otherwise internally injured. He had been visiting the Fair several days with the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. The accident is rather a curious coincidence, inasmuch as it was by a friendly tussle between the Judge and ex-Mayor Hazard a week or ten days ago that the latter fell and broke his leg, thus preventing his going to the Fair with the Chamber of Commerce, as he had hoped to do. Judge Smith's injuries were at first reported to be fatal, but later accounts are to the effect that he will recover.

Mr. Hache is with us this week probably for the last time this season, his duties at Chino necessitating his uninterrupted presence at that point. He has made weekly trips here during the beet growing season, and the advice and information imparted by him to the farmers of this section has been simply invaluable. He has watched the growing crop with a kindly eye, and it is not too much to say that without his presence here during the season the crop would have been far from the success achieved this first year of our beet planting. Yesterday Mr. Hache went out, in company with Messrs. Everhartty and Morgan, on a quail and rabbit exterminating expedition, and we fear that when these mighty hunters return there will be very little game left for some few brief periods to come.

SHE SPOKE AT LAST.

A Schoolteacher Who Was Pestered by a "Masher" Turned on Him.

It was one of those frosty, nippy mornings when the pavements were icy and winds piercing. A small, plump damsel (by profession a schoolteacher), with rosy cheeks, might have been seen tripping along the slippery sidewalks of Kenwood. It was very early, not yet 8 o'clock, and the little schoolmarm hurried, followed by a middle aged man who had got off the car obviously to follow her.

"It's very slippery, isn't it?" he puffed as he overtook her.

The young woman's eyes flashed, but she only gave a little tug at her scrap of dotted face veil, thrust her hands determinedly into her muff and sped on.

A calling card, one of her own, was sticking out of her little jacket pocket, with only the first two words, "Miss Elizabeth," just visible and the last name obscured.

The stout man saw it.

"Your name's Elizabeth, isn't it?" he said cheerfully. "Do you know you remind me so much of Lena Morris? She was an old sweetheart of mine, and I was awfully fond of her."

No answer from the young woman except a quickening of her already Nancy Hanks gait.

"Don't go so fast," said her tormenter. "You might slip and fall. I really wonder that you are not afraid to venture out such a bad day."

Miss Blackeyes said nothing. She had about reached the drug store where she was to wait for her car.

As she went into the store with glowing cheeks, the dapper young clerk said, "Don't you want to come over by the stove and get warm?"

"I want to know why I am a target for every insolent man in town this morning," she snapped as she glanced through the door and saw the short, stout man patrolling the sidewalk and evidently still intent on pursuit. The drug clerk subsided, the car came, and on she got, with the man at her heels. He sat down beside her. When she arrived at her street corner, he arose and followed her out of the car. She had almost reached her school and was getting brave. Again he walked beside her and asked her if she wouldn't "say something to him."

Her voice had not a tremor, but was deliciously clear and steady as she spoke for the first time.

"Certainly," she said. "Do you know, I was just wondering if a man ever lived to be your age before—let me see, you must be 50 at least—who was capable of acting so perfectly idiotic. Now, for my part, I can tolerate a young, empty headed masher, but as for an old fool like you"— but the middle aged, short, stout man had fled.—Chicago News.

Letters to Dead People.

Enterprising tradesmen in this city, in the distribution of their circulars, are not backward in utilizing the lists of distinguished persons which are printed in the newspapers from time to time. Not infrequently do they get hold of the names of men who long since passed over to that "undiscovered country," and circulars and prospectuses are mailed to the dead as well as to the living. It would seem that a name once enrolled on a tradesman's mailing list is never erased. Circular letters addressed to "Samuel J. Tilden" are still occasionally left at the Gramercy park mansion, and mail matter addressed to W. H. Vanderbilt reaches the Grand Central station every now and then. Many clubmen have recently received from a shirtmaker what purports to be an autograph letter saying: "I am anxious to have you for a customer, and I want to make you a sample shirt free of charge. Of course I cannot do this for every one, but for you it will afford me great pleasure to do so."—New York Times.

Old Rules For Night Policemen.

Old Boston is vividly brought to mind by the following excerpt from the "Selectmen's Minutes," dated Nov. 1, 1769, containing instructions to watchmen:

"In going the Rounds Care must be taken that the Watchmen are not noisy, but behave themselves with strict decorum, that they frequently give the Time of the Night and what the Weather is with a distinct but moderate Voice, excepting at Times when it is necessary to pass in Silence in order to detect and secure persons that are out on unlawful Actions.

"You and your Division must endeavor to suppress all Routs, Riots and other Disorders that may be committed in the Night and secure such Persons as may be guilty; that proper steps may be taken next Morning for a prosecution as the Law directs. We absolutely forbid your taking private satisfaction or any bribe that may be offer'd you to let such go or to conceal their offense from the Selectmen."—Boston Transcript.

Beware of "Cheap" Canned Stuff.

There is one great danger connected with preserved goods, and that is that the insane mania for cheapness at all risks which some women have has induced dishonest people to put inferior goods upon the market, but if a housekeeper is careful to buy none but the best and sees that they are properly prepared by her cook she need have no fear but that her tinned vegetables are as harmless as the same substances in their raw and natural state, and she will have the advantage of procuring an infinite variety for her table at a very small outlay both of time and money.—New York Tribune.

Singing Songs In the Oil Well.

A well known member of the Petroleum Exchange is wondering why coal oil and religion do not mix well. He is the superintendent of an up town Sunday school, which fact is known to his brother bulls and bears. When he ventures to do business and make a good trade or sale, his associates form a line, block his way and sing in chorus, "Teacher, teacher, how I love my Sunday school." This, he says, he finds has a depressing effect on business.—Philadelphia Press.

Such a Thing as Too Much Dignity.

It is all very well for a traveling man to be on his dignity, but if he overdoes it he is apt to encounter the fall before which, we are told, pride goeth. When I first went on the road, I had a mortal objection to the word "drummer" and resented the term whenever applied to me. On my second journey I called upon an old fashioned merchant in a Texas town whose name was on our books and to whom my predecessor had always sold large bills. I introduced myself with a good deal of dignity and handed him my card.

"Oh, you're ——'s new drummer," remarked the old gentleman in a somewhat patronizing tone. I was nettled considerably, and correcting him said:

"No, I am their traveling man. I am not a 'drummer.'"

The merchant was quite as good at repartee as I was, and looking at me half in pity and half in contempt he said with a sneer, which he made no attempt to disguise:

"Oh, that's so, is it? Well, I was looking out for ——'s drummer, but if you ain't he I've nothing for you."

No amount of persuasion or apologizing had any effect on the old gentleman, to whom the representative of a rival house sold a first class bill the same afternoon. The lesson was not thrown away on me, and now a man can call me a Hottentot, provided he accompanies the salutation with a good order.—Cor. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Three Great Navigators.

To review the work of Columbus without referring to that of Vespucius and Magellan would leave the story of new sea and world discovery disconnected and incomplete. This will be patent when it is remembered that, though a believer in the rotundity of the earth, it was not Columbus but Magellan who first physically demonstrated that fact by circumnavigation. And Magellan might have failed but for the previous work of Vespucius. The latter had explored the Atlantic coast of South America farther south than any of his predecessors, and the south Atlantic ocean eastward to the islands of South Georgia, nearly to the parallel of Cape Horn.

By this journey Vespucius demonstrated with a considerable degree of certainty that the strait, which had for some years been looked for, leading to the elusive unknown sea that bounded the eastern coast of Asia, was not to be found through the new lands of the west north of 54 degrees south, at all events. The mouth of the Amazon, the bays of Rio Janeiro and of the La Plata had been explored and were found to contain fresh water, so that through none of these could an entrance to the unknown sea on the farther west be found.—Thomas Magee in Californian.

Hawk Noses a Very Old Feature.

It is a mistake to suppose that the hawk nose is confined to Hebrew owners, though the persistence of the qualities which it indicates makes it most frequent in the race which it principally adorns. A pictorial addition to the history of these noses was recently discovered in a graphic caricature drawn by the clerk of the court on the edge of a fifteenth century record of a plaintiff whose nationality the least expert "nasologists" would have at once detected, without the legend, "Aaron filius diaboli," which the artist had been at pains to inscribe beneath it. But the "hawk nose" is at least equally the possession of the Syrian and the Syrian Arab, as it was of the Phœnician of old—all shrewd, money getting races.

Vespasian possessed it in perfection, and though it is news to us that when young he "retrieved his ruined fortune by horse dealing, a science always notorious for its unscrupulous dealing and sharp, dishonest practice," he was descended from a thoroughly business parent and bequeathed his carefulness in money matters to his son Titus.—London Spectator.

The "Basin" of an Apple.

One end of the apple bears the name of "basin" and contains the remnants of the blossom—sometimes called the eye of the fruit. This part of the apple is deep in some varieties and shallow and open in others. This is the weakest point in the whole apple as concerns the question of the keeping quality of the fruit. If the basin is shallow and the canal to the core firmly closed, there is much less likelihood of the fruit decaying than when it is deep, and the evident opening connects the center of the fruit with the surface.—Professor B. D. Halsted in Popular Science Monthly.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Is superior to all other preparations claiming to be blood-purifiers. First of all, because the principal ingredient used in it is the extract of genuine Honduras sarsaparilla root, the variety richest in medicinal properties. Also, because the yellow dock, being raised expressly for the Company, is always fresh and of the very best kind. With equal discrimination and care, each of the other ingredients are selected and compounded. It is because it is always the same in appearance, flavor, and effect, and, being highly concentrated, only small doses are needed. It is, therefore, the most economical blood-purifier in existence. It makes food nourishing, work pleasant, sleep refreshing, and life enjoyable. It searches out all impurities in the system and expels them harmlessly by the natural channels.
