DAMAGE BY THE STORM.

Cement Work Broken, and Canals filled with Deposit.

The Rain Caused 10,000 Inches of Water to Flow in the Cajon Ditch West of Fill 12, but Caused Comparatively Little Damage—The Aperture at the Fill is Too Small, and Fears are entertained that Another Heavy Rain May Seriously Injure the Fill—Various Ditches Ordered Cemented.

The Directors of the water company met in regular session on Saturday afternoon; present Messrs. Fay, McFadden, Pierotti and Carpenter.

Secretary Blennerhassett read the following communication from residents on Broadway, asking that the ditch on that thoroughfare be cemented:

ANAHEIM, Jan. 18, 1899.

To the Board of Directors of the Anaheim Union Water Co.

Gentlemen:—We the undersigned, property holders on the south side of Broadway street in the city of Anaheim, respectfully petition your honorable body, to have the water company's ditch, running on the south side of Broadway street, from the corner of Olive street to the corner of Palm street, cemented at once, as the present earthen ditch is detrimental to the property interests on said part of Broadway street, and causing great inconvenience to said property holders and the public in general. Respectfully submitted, Wm. Boyd, L. E. Miller, N. F. Steadman, R. Spoerl, Parker, et. al., Mrs. Grimshaw, R. C. Mills, O. E. Luedke, Mrs. G. Davis, Mrs. C. Langenberger, B. Mouliot.

The Secretary—They don't say what they will do in the way of assisting the company in the matter of hauling gravel or other work.

Mr. Fay—They feel like the ditch has been a detriment to their property, and a number of them have talked of bringing claims against the company for damages to their property.

Mr. Pierotti—Once they thought the ditch was a great benefit to them.

After further discussion it was moved by Mr. McFadden, seconded by Mr. Carpenter, that the matter lay over for the incoming board to act upon.

The Secretary read the following communication from Supt. Sheppard:

ANAHEIM, Jan. 21, 1899.

To the Board of Directors of Anaheim Union Water Co.—Gentlemen: Below I present a brief report of the effect of the recent storm upon our ditches. While I have seen the water in the river much higher, the storm in the canyons was the most disastrous that I have known during my supervision of the ditch. Beginning at the head of Cajon ditch the dam was washed out. Where the cement ditch, constructed by Mr. Groat, joins the headgate, a part of the bottom, about ten feet long and six feet wide, washed out.

Overchute No. 2 was broken down and the cement ditch for about three hundred yards filled with gravel and bowlders.

Judging from the condition of Overchute No. 3, I think it stood until the storm was almost spent. The deposit immediately under the chute was about 2½ feet deep; thence for about half a mile it sloped gradually.

Overchute No. 4 stood, but was perforated by stones varying in size from small rocks to bowlders weighing about a thousand pounds. The southeast wing of the cement overchute at Bixby Fill was broken off for a distance of about fourteen feet and several holes knocked in the bottom, overflowing the sides and leaving a deposit five inches deep in the bottom of the ditch.

At the fill in Horseshoe Bend, with the 30-inch brea pipe underchute, the water flowed over the north banks of the ditch, leaving a small deposit. The overchute in Horseshoe Bend, below the double gate, also went down, leaving a deposit about four feet deep.

Overchute No. 2 in Fill 2 went down, leaving a deposit of three feet for a short distance. The remainder of Cajon ditch, from Fill 2 to Fill 12, with the exception of an occasional small deposit, is all right. The cement chute under Fill 12, being too small to carry off the water, the canyon north of the fill filled up, running over the north banks into Cajon ditch and raising it 1½ feet higher than I ever saw it; then pouring over the south banks and cutting away about 2½ feet of the south side. This immense volume of water, having insufficient outlet, broke the west bank of Soquel canyon about half a mile north of the fill, and about 10,000 inches of water flowed into Cajon ditch west of the fill, but causing comparatively little damage. The velocity of the water carried the major part of the mud and debris down the ditch into the reservoir.

By careful watching we saved the cement ditch and flume on Miller's and Benchley's places on the North branch ditch.

The Anaheim main ditch escaped with very little damage. A few holes were broken into the overchute over the Anaheim ditch east of Flume 4; also in the old flume coming through the Yorba settlement, requiring

J. C. SHEPPARD, Supt.

The communication was filed. Supt. Sheppard was reported to be at work with a gang of men cleaning ditches.

The report of the Ditch Committee read at the preceding meeting and laid upon the table was taken up, and it was ordered, on motion of Mr. McFadden, seconded by Mr. Pierotti, that the proposition of Fritz Ruhmann to contribute one-half of the expense of cementing the ditch along Cypress street running in front of his property for a distance of 150 feet, be accepted, and the work was ordered done.

The offer of Fred Backs, to pay half the cost of cementing the ditch running in front of his property, was also accepted; but the work was deferred until Mr. Ackerman, who owns the lot between Ruhman and Backs, can be communicated with and an effort made to cement the whole strip running from Los Angeles street north to Backs' north line.

The ditch running alongside of the schoolhouse should also be cemented. This is the time for the School Trustees to bestir themselves to that end.

The half-mile of ditch from Hale's northeast corner to Carpenter's northwest corner, in Placentia, was also ordered cemented, the property-owners along the line of the ditch agreeing to haul the gravel for the cementing. The executive officers of the company were authorized to proceed with the work as early as possible.

Chairman Fay reported that he had seen Mr. Alexander, manager of the Spreckels interests in Los Angeles, and had been informed that they were unloading a ship of cement at San Diego, which would be the last to arrive in six months. Mr. Alexander stated that if the company desired to purchase cement now, it would save storage charges. Mr. Fay thereupon ordered two carloads, at $3.45 per barrel. The action of the President was approved.

Frank Porter appeared before the board in reference to the necessity for the cementing of the ditch running along his north line. In April last the board received a communication from Mr. Porter directing its attention to the matter, and at the following meeting the board ordered that a pipe line be put in and the ditch cemented for a distance of 300 feet. The work had never been done, and Mr. Porter appeared before the board to ascertain the reason of it. He said that the water would run from the present earthen ditch through the gopher holes upon his walnut trees; at one time his trees were standing in water for two weeks. Last year he thrashed off his walnuts, and the next day, while the nuts lay upon the ground, the water came down the ditch, and his walnuts lay in the water for eight days. He asked the board that the Superintendent be instructed to carry out the previous instructions of the board, and cement 300 feet of the ditch at the point indicated.

After further discussion, on motion of McFadden, seconded by Carpenter, it was ordered that 300 feet of the ditch be cemented, on Mr. Porter's north line, near his northwest corner, bids to be called for for the first meeting in February. Adjourned.

SAN CLEMENTE.

About fifty miles off the coast of California, nearly opposite San Diego, lies the barren, lonely, and half unknown island of San Clemente. The trip is usually a rough one. But in summer-time, at least, Wilson's Cove offers a comparatively safe harbor, and if one knows the locality well it is not hard to land on the steep, boulder-strewn beach. From the shore the bare hills rise abruptly on all sides, broken only by a little terracing. The first impression given by the island and confirmed by a study of its structure as a whole is that of a great block of the earth's crust, tipped up on the side toward Catalina, and very little altered by erosion.

San Clemente forms a pasture for thousands of sheep and a smaller number of cattle, and Wilson's Cove is the headquarters of the sheep herders when they are on the island. That is chiefly in the spring and summer, for during the rainy season not only do the sheep need less care but the island is often unapproachable on account of rough weather. At such seasons one old man, who has lived there for thirty years, used to have the island to himself, and might see no human face for three months at a time. His cabin stands just above the shore at Wilson's Cove, and near it are the few rough buildings used by the sheep men. The place is usually known as Gallagher's.

The only water supply here is rain caught during the winter season in tanks. The joys of living in this favored spot are further enhanced in summer-time by strong winds which blow through a gap in the hills, bringing from the naked slopes clouds of dust.

The more level regions of the island remind one constantly of the desert. There are no trees except a very few in some of the larger canons. In the spring there are flowers, but they soon wither, and the summer aspect of the island seems its normal one. In some places there is grass, in others only cactus, or a little underbrush, and two species of mesembryanthemum, which are called "salt grass" by the herders.

Not only camp sites, but stone implements and human bones remain in considerable numbers to testify to the former occupation of this island by Indians.

The desert-like character of the island, says Land of Sunshine, is intensified by the almost absolute stillness. Birds of all sorts are much fewer than on Catalina. Except for a few crows—seldom heard—there seem to be none but the smaller birds, such a linnets and sparrows, which live principally in the canyons. There are no squirrels on the island. Snakes and frogs are unknown here, but in their place are multitudes of silent, sun-loving lizards. In the canyons one may catch occasional glimpses of fish down by the water, but generally large animals seen are the herds of wild goats, and the sheep and cattle, scarcely less wild, which are pastured here.

The most striking features of the island's topography, next to the terraces mentioned, are the canyons which cut across them. There are no gradual descents from ridge to canyon, but a chasm yawns without warning across the level plain of the terrace, its walls dropping almost vertically into depths which can only be guessed. To scale these walls is in most cases an utter impossibility. Even at the most favorable points the path which winds down to the bed of the canyon and up again on the opposite side is so steep and rough that only a mountain-bred animal could follow it. The hard-riding Mexican herders will not trust themselves to their sure-footed horses in crossing the canyons, and anyone acquainted with the climate of environment would be will make a Mexican dismount must be bad indeed.

In the dry season not a stream is flowing anywhere on the San Clemente. Only the great depth of the canyons cut in the solid rock and the immense boulders which are scattered over their beds can give an idea of the force of the torrents which foam and roar through the gorges in winter. Neither words nor pictures can do justice to the wilderness and immensity of San Clemente's topography in general. The depth of the canyons, the broad expanse of the terraces, the hight of their cliffs and the roughness of the coast are all belittled in any general view, and figures are powerless to measure grandeur.

We sailed out of the cove in the sunset, and this was our last view of San Clemente; the waters around us silver blue, the rugged cliffs rising above them, black against the saffron sky, and nestled in the shadow of those beetling hills, the little cabin, pathetic in its loneliness, with the sturdy old man sitting on the porch, his dogs and fowls around him, watching the vessel out of sight.

THE MOJAVE DESERT.

A Region of Arid Plains and Barren Mountains.

Not Wholly Destitute of Life, Inhospitable Though it be—Many Species of Birds Choose the Desert for a Home—Spring Showers Coax a Profusion of Wild Flowers Into Being—Development of the Mining Industry.

Southern California is by no means one continuous garden of fruits and flowers. Extending diagonally across the land from northwest to southeast lies the San Bernardino mountain range, and in proportion as its coast-wise slope is an earthly paradise, the land which it hems in from the sea is a vast and dreary desert. In vain the moisture-laden clouds of the Pacific attempt to glide over the snowy summits of San Antonio and San Bernardino; or, if perchance they do reach the enchanted realm of the desert, they are generally dissipated into imperceptible vapor by the heat of the sun.

The desert is a region of arid plains and barren mountains. The soil is of sand incrusted with alkali, and the mountains are bold, rocky and inhospitable, frequently in the shape of abrupt, sharply pointed cones with miles of disintegrated rock, known as talus, sloping away from their bases. Again, great boulders are piled in chaotic heaps, wrenched and racked by the elements, worn by the action of waves upon this prehistoric ocean shore, and now standing as silent witnesses of the vast work of ages. Indeed, there is always something cosmic and elemental about the desert. We seem to be transported into some earlier geologic time, when the heart of nature lay bare to the action of the elements, and the bleak barren world knew not the songs of birds nor the glory of flowers. And herein lies the wonder of it! There is a fascination in its very sterility—in its boundless expanse and its haughty disdain of all that is tender and lovely. It is terrible and grand. We may stand upon an eminence and gaze for unmeasured miles through the pellucid air at a diversified landscape where not a human being dwells, where not a single spring or rillet can be found to quench the thirst of man or beast, where blue, snow-topped mountains lie off on the horizon, and lesser crests of red and purple and gray rise all about us, while overhead the pitiless sun beats down out of a cloudless sky, and underfoot the glowing sand and rock reflect its heat.

The desert is by no means wholly destitute of life, inhospitable though it be. The grease-wood, a bush with minute leaves of a dull olive-green color, grows in considerable abundance, and a number of pallid grayish or greenish shrubs spring mysteriously out of the sand and rock. By far the most characteristic plants of the desert are the yuccas and cacti, which seem to be imbued with the spirit of the place, being invariably armed with spines, thorns, or tiny barbs which make them wicked neighbors. The most conspicuous form of plant life on the Mojave desert is a yucca known as the Joshua tree, a weird, fantastic form growing to a height of about twenty feet, with long stiff bristling green daggers all over its trunk and limbs in lieu of leaves, and with its branches bent and twisted into strange shapes. In patches on the desert this plant grows in sufficient profusion to form one of those paradoxes in which the region abounds—a desert forest, and a dreary, unearthly forest it is; but as a rule the yuccas dot the landscape here and there, interpersed with thorny shrubs, sandy wastes, cacti and piles of rock. There are countless species of cacti found here, which to the usual observer have but one constant feature—their spines as sharp and as rigid as needles, which are a perpetual menace to the unwary.

Many species of birds choose this waterless region for their home, among the most striking of which are the famed road-runner, the cactus wren, the mountain mocking bird, and several thrashers. There are mammals, too, that have learned to live without water—the little spermophile or chipmunk with the white underside of his tail which shows so conspicuously as he scurries away to his burrow; and the pallid desert rat, fawn-colored above and snowy white beneath, with large eyes, long hind legs and conspicuous cheek pouches. Nearly all the habitants of the desert have been bleached to a very pale hue by the action of the intense sunlight and aridity.

Corresponding with the yuccas and cacti in plant life are the snakes and lizards among the animals—abundant in number and variety, strange and uncanny in form and color. They are peculiarly fitting dwellers in this strange land. One must not be unmindful of the warning of the rattlesnake when treading these heated sands and avoiding the bristling spines of the cactus.

It would seem that a land armed with so many devices for impelling the intruder and with so little to temper the sternness of environment would be shunned by man as a place accursed; but what perils and privations will not be endured for gold? It is the glitter of this talisman which has lured many an unhappy prospector to his death on this waterless wilderness. Today the road to the Rose mine leads around Dead Man's point where, years ago, the body of a man was found who had perished of thirst within two miles of the Mojave river.

The mining prospector is a product of this sterile land. His whole horizon is bounded by mineral. The golden sands are ever just beyond his grasp, and after a life of toil, privation and disappointment, he is still sanguine and contented with his lot which is just on the verge of realizing the fondest dreams of his fancy. Doubtless he was rocking the sands of the Sacramento in '49, and digging for silver in some dark tunnel in Colorado twenty years later. Many a time during the fifty years of his toil he has had a vein of gold which was to make his fortune, until, alas, it tapered off into the thickness on a sheet of paper a few feet below; but now, unshaken by past lessons, he is more sanguine than ever. He has a claim which is certain to prove a bonanza. The ore has not yet been assayed, but he will tell you of it with as firm conviction as if the gold were already stored away in the capacious pockets of his coat, instead of in those mysterious pockets of mother nature, which are so jealously hidden away.

Such is the type of man who goes about the country opening up new gold fields, or following in the wake of excitement. With his pick upon his shoulder he wanders over the sterile wastes looking for outcroppings of mineral ledges. He knows a smattering of geology and minerology gleaned from years of intercourse with mother earth and her followers, and he can talk learnedly of faults, ledges, veins and all that appertains to his craft. Having located a vein which seems promising, he takes up a claim and goes to work, with a partner, sinking a prospecting shaft. As soon as the hole becomes deep enough to warrant it, a windlass is rigged up over it, and while one man digs and fills up the bucket the other hoists it and wheels off the rock in his iron barrow. Thus they toil, blasting and picking, raising and lowering their bucket from morning till night. A rough forge is one of the first necessary requisites, for the rocks soon wear off the point of the pick and it must be frequently sharpened. If the ore looks promising enough to make it seem worth while continuing at the shaft, or if there is enough faith, money and perseverance back of the enterprise, the windlass turned by hand gives place in time to a derrick with horse power to raise the bucket of ore.

Should the miners have success in their work, and after months of arduous toil make a "strike," a flag is triumphantly nailed to the pole surmounting the derrick whereas forlorn white rag has been fluttering. The number of men has by this time been doubled or trebled, and more outside capital has been invested in the enterprise. The boys of the camp have a great jollification over the good news, and when work is resumed, the task of digging out the ore and hauling it to the nearest stamp mill is commenced. The prospecting hole has become a mine, and, if successful, calls into being a host of others about it.

The stamp mill is built on a steep bank and the ore is dumped at the highest point in the rear of the mill, working down through the various stages by the force of gravity. It is first crushed by the great steel shod stamps which rise and fall with a deafening noise, pounding up the ore and mixing it with a stream of water into a liquid pulp. It then passes over the steel plates coated with quicksilver, and finally over the rubber bands of the condensers, particles of gold being extracted at each stage of the process.

There are gold mines and rumors of mines scattered all along the Mojave desert, from the Needles to Victor, including Oro Grande and the now famous camp at Randsburg, but they do not by any means exhaust the mineral resources of these wonderful mountains and plains. The most extensive borax mines in the world are located here, and salt is taken out of the mountains in crystallized blocks. Here, too, are quarries of marble, granite and lime, with innumerable other mineral treasures to be developed by the intelligent application of brains and capital.

The mines, situated as they are from five to fifty miles from the nearest railroad station, demand another industry which is characteristic of the desert—teaming. Water and provisions for men and horses, mining appliances and the numberless necessities of a mining camp are transported by freight teams across the long reaches of desert, and for this purpose very large, heavily loaded wagons are employed, drawn by from four to ten or twelve horses or mules. Two wagons are frequently fastened together, and the horses driven in one team. Pack mules are also used for transporting supplies to and from the mines, and a train of these patient little burros with their great packs strapped securely to their backs but wobbling with every motion of the beast, is an exceedingly picturesque spectacle.

Nor do the resources of the desert end with its minerals. Unaccountable as it seems, this barren, sandy soil only needs water to make it bear abundant crops. By the proper direction and application of the waters of the Mojave river certain portions of the region can be converted into a garden of wonderful fertility. Nature has demonstrated this by the grove of beautiful cottonwoods and willows which line its shores, and which in summer form an oasis of refreshing shade upon leaving the heat of the sandy wastes. This river is not like the steady reliable streams of more favored lands. Rising in the San Bernardino mountains, it flows off over the desert for some distance, a goodly stream of cold mountain water, and presently disappears wholly from view. After flowing for some distance as an invisible "sink" it emerges again as a rather broad but shallow stream. Finally it is once more dissipated in the desert sand and gives up the unequal contest for supremacy, vanishing forever, partly drunken up by the thirsty sand and partly evaporated into the arid sky.

Stockraising is successfully carried on in places along the Mojave river where the bunch grass grows. Cattle seem to thrive on the scanty fare of the desert when it might well be supposed that they would starve to death.

The men of the desert are bronzed, hardy and rugged, sickness being almost unknown among them even during the hottest summer weather. The extreme aridity, together with the tonic effects of a moderate altitude, make the climate most wholesome and invigorating. Nor is there quite the monotony of weather which one might be led to assume. During the winter months the nights are cold and frosty, and there is an occasional flurry of snow, although the days are usually mild and even hot at noon time. The few spring showers coax a great profusion of flowers into being out of the warm sand, and for a few weeks the desert blooms like a garden. The strong winds of March and April at other times sweep over the country with clouds of sand, and during the summer months cloudbursts often occur, sending great torrents of water down the gullies, washing deep cuts and deluging everything within their track.

I have not touched upon a tithe of the wonders that entrance and awe the observer in this strange land. Here are sunrises of weird grandeur, when the sharp peaks in shades of blue and plumbago jut into a sky of transparant green and gold, and sunsets of crimson fire above the blue, snow-crowned San Bernardino range, with fantastic yuccas sprawling their silhouette against the light, and blackbirds clanging in a throng at their roosting place among the cottonwoods. Then the darkness falls and the stars flash and scintillate in dazzling splendor in the transparent atmosphere. Truly the desert has its charms for him who is not blind to the ever-present wonders of nature!

Charles A. Keeler, in "Southern California."

La Grippe Successfully Treated.
"I have just recovered from the second attack of la grippe this year," says Mr. Jas. A. Sanders, publisher of the Leader, Mexia, Texas. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I think with considerable success, only being in bed a little over two days against ten days for the former attack. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being 'struck' with it, while in the first case I was able to attend to business about two days before getting 'down.'" Capt. Wrede has received a letter from his young friend Albert Hahn of Los Angeles, who is in Dawson, and has kindly permitted us to make the following interesting extracts therefrom:

DEAR CAPTAIN.—Your most welcome letter of June 18th, I just received. The river was freezing and I was glad to hear from you. It was the first letter that I got from you since I left Skaguay, I think. I was also glad to hear that you are well, and that your walnuts are doing so nicely. Your letter says that you wrote one on the 5th, but I did not get that one. I think I will get it, when all of the old mail that is in the postoffice is separated, for they have over a hundred sacks of mail that had not been opened until yesterday. But speaking of the mail service, it will be much better from now on, as a contract has been let by both governments to the Arctic Express company to take out the mail by their four steamers—the Ora, Dora, Nora and Cora. Dog teams will be used in winter once or twice a month. The contract price is $80,000 a year. The Arctic Express company have built log cabins every 30 miles between Skaguay and Dawson and Dawson and St. Michaels, with food at each cabin. They also have to take out people that are without food, and feed them on the way out. So you see if we get starved out it won't cost us anything to get out.

Dawson is a pretty good sized city of 15,000 or 20,000 people. We have some fine three-story buildings, lots of saloons, gambling houses and muddy streets. The city is right in the middle of a great big swamp. There has been lots of sickness here this summer, but it is all right now—Nov. 6.

There is a good fire department here with a big three-ton engine, a hose cart, park hose and a hook and ladder. There is a fire here almost every day. About two weeks ago the postoffice burned down and also about two blocks of the business portion of the town.

The river has been running ice for the last ten days and has now frozen, so it won't be long before mail goes out. There are two daily newspapers here and one weekly; price, 25 cents per copy. There are lots of provisions here, but they all belong to two big companies—the Alaska Commercial company and the North American Trading and Transportation company. They will hold prices up this winter, as they have bought up everything that they could.

I will give you a few prices up to date: Flour, per 100, $16; bacon per pound, 50 cents; condensed milk per can, 50c. and $1; butter, $2 50 per pound, $5 per roll; fresh meat, 50c. and $1 per pound; 5-cent sack salt, $1 75; sugar per pound, 50c.; beans, rice and rolled oats, per pound, 50c.

We have plenty of everything to last us through the winter and will have some to sell, as we have some canned goods—condensed milk and other articles that will bring big prices.

Wages are $8, $9 and $10 per day; some pay $15; but there are too many people.

Brownfield has gone down to Seventy-mile river. Riley and I have just finished our cabin, and we have a good one on good high, dry land, opposite the city called East Dawson. We have our wood all cut and it can get cold now for all we care. So far it has not been very cold; 40 deg. below zero is the coldest, and we are still going around dressed the same as we were at 10 deg. above. The days are getting very short. Day breaks at about 7:30 a.m. and it gets dark at 4 p.m.

Well, I suppose you have heard of the rich strikes that have been made on French Hill, where big nuggets were found on the top of the ground. This discovery was made by a Frenchman who was pulling logs down the hillside to build a cabin and every time he brought a log down he would find the nuggets on the ground where he dragged the logs along. He staked his claim and in a few more days the whole hill was staked. Now there are some of the richest claims in the district.

Rich strikes have also been reported on Dominion, Hunker, Chief and other little streams that head up to a big high hill or mountain called the Dome.

Well, Captain, I cannot think of any more news to write, only that I will try to write a letter often and have a letter go out by the dog teams every time they go. It does not cost me anything to get mail, so write as often as you can. Hoping that this letter will find you as I am, OK, I will close for this time. I remain as ever, your friend, ALBERT.

Nov. 9, '98. Bill of fare: Breakfast—Fried potatoes and onions, bacon and onions, fried carrots, toasted bread and coffee. Dinner—Boiled pork and beans, bread and lard, stewed fruit, cocoa or coffee. Supper—Bean soup, fried bacon, boiled carrots, stewed apples, rice, apple pie and tea.

P. S.—Mail leaves here Friday morning, Nov. 19. I got your letter of June 5, yesterday. I wish you a Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year, as I do not think my next letter will reach you in time.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.
You are perhaps aware that pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of la grippe. During the epidemic of la grippe a few years ago when so many cases resulted in pneumonia, it was observed that the attack was never followed by that disease when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was used. It counteracts any tendency of a cold or la grippe to result in that dangerous disease. It is the best remedy in the world for a bad cold and la grippe. Every bottle warranted. For sale by P. A. THURSDAY.....JANUARY 26, 1899

THE effort on the part of a number of our citizens and those at Fullerton and Placentia to consolidate the telephone circuits in the two places into one enlarged circuit should meet with the cordial approval of all subscribers to the service; as well as the telephone company itself, for the increased business which would inevitably follow such a consolidation would be sufficient to repay the company handsomely for the elimination of the local telephone tariff existing between the two sections. The purpose is to include the wires running from Anaheim to Fullerton, Placentia, Brookshurst and the oil wells into one circuit, and make a monthly charge for the rental of the phones. At present a tariff that is almost prohibitory exists for telephone service between these places; a charge of 25 cents is made for each message, the same rate as applies to Los Angeles. It is the purpose to eliminate this charge, and the inducement to be made the company for this loss (and it must be almost inappreciable) is the largely increased business to follow the inauguration of the enlarged enterprise.

At Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda, for instance (towns more widely separated than those referred to) one circuit supplies all subscribers to the telephone system. From San Francisco to Sacramento, a distance of some 90 miles, a charge of 25 cents per message is imposed, and a similar low rate exists to San Joaquin valley points. The rate from Anaheim to Fullerton is so excessive that we doubt if any great volume of business is transacted, whereas if the two places were included in one circuit the scores of new telephone subscribers should make the plan one to meet with favor with the telephone company. The circuit could be extended to dozens of country houses who have frequent business calls with people in the city, who at present have no thought of a telephone for their residences. How convenient it would be to call up one at Placentia, or at Fullerton, or Brookshurst, or at Yorba or Olive, if the circuit be extended to embrace these sections, when one has a business communication to deliver! Let our citizens interest themselves in this plan of enlarging the telephone service, and we feel assured it will be carried to a successful issue.

NEXT Saturday occurs the annual meeting of the stockholders in the water company, at which time a new Board of seven Directors will be chosen to serve during the ensuing year. Judging by the evident lack of interest that has prevailed regarding the meeting, it will probably be one of the quietest in the history of the company. We hear no more of the necessity of "reform leagues" and other organizations having for their purpose the placing of this man or that upon the board. There are no fiery articles written to the newspapers attacking the credit of the company. On all sides things are as pleasant and serene as a day in the rosy month of June. There has been less canvassing for proxies than probably at any previous annual election—in a word, the affairs of the company have been in such capable hands during the year past that on all sides one hears that if the same board were re-elected it would be a good thing for the stockholders. Until recently, it was doubtful if Mr. Fay, President of the company, would stand for re-election, his objection being that the office has taken up too much of his time, and that inasmuch as he came to Anaheim more for the recuperation of his health than for engaging in active business enterprises, he would prefer to have some other one assume his place. But his many friends among the stockholders absolutely refused to countenance any thoughts of his withdrawing, and have within the week succeeded in prevailing upon him to continue in office. With Mr. Fay will probably be Mr. Rea and Mr. Nebelung to stand for Directors from this city and the Katella district, Mr. Rea representing the southern district of the company upon the board. At Placentia and Fullerton the names of A. Pierotti, L. B. Benchley, W. M. McFadden, C. C. Chapman and Wm. Crowther are mentioned. Mr. Carpenter, who has served with efficiency upon the board during the past year, declines, we believe, to stand for re-election, his many private business interests interfering. Mr. Carpenter has been a distinct acquisition to the personnel of the board, and his declination to stand again will be regretted. Mr. Pierotti has made a good Director and will probably be re-elected to office by a flattering vote. Mr. Chapman, owner of the Santa Isabel orange grove, who is spoken of as a candidate for a seat upon the board, is a gentleman whose business training and wide experience in public affairs will be of value to the company, and he will probably make an able representative upon the directorate. The names of Messrs. Crowther Benchley and McFadden, all well-known and representative citizens, are also mentioned in connection with the office, and from the names mentioned, the stockholders ought to be able to pick an excellent Board of Directors.

The name of A. H. Cargill has also been mentioned in connection with the Directorate. Mr. Cargill would be a valuable man on the board, and if he should permit the use of his name would undoubtedly receive a very flattering vote.

A RIDICULOUS report was started in town on Tuesday evening, and it prevailed yesterday, to the effect that a case of smallpox had broken out in Chinatown. Dr. Bickford, the Health Officer, was prompt to make an investigation, and he informed us yesterday afternoon that the report was absolutely unfounded; that so far from there being a case of the disease in Chinatown, there is not a sick Chinaman in the Chinese quarter; nor, so far as the Chinese bosses know, he informs us, at any of the vegetable gardens in this portion of the county.

Our readers are perhaps aware that a number of smallpox cases have prevailed in Los Angeles for some weeks past; but we are assured that reports of the extent of the disease have been greatly exaggerated. The report that a case has appeared here may probably be traced to the story that a number of Chinese came to Orange county from Los Angeles, to escape the contagion, and that some of them came to Anaheim. Man Wo, the local Chinese Mandarin, informs us that the movement of Chinese has been no greater than usual, and he scouts the idea that any of his countrymen have come to Anaheim with that end in view. At any rate, Dr. Bickford has satisfied himself that the report of the existence of a smallpox case in Chinatown is unfounded, and there the matter ought to be permitted to rest.

THE impression prevails at Sacramento that U. S. Grant is practically out of the Senatorial race. Grant testified before the investigation committee that he had spent between $20,000 and $30,000 in his campaign in "preliminaries expenses," leaving to the imagination what he has expended since "preliminaries" were over. Few if any believe that Grant was criminally cognizant of what has been done; but, according to Sacramento advices, he has undoubtedly played the fool in politics, and the result has been more disastrous than if he had been the rascal that he would have been if he had known what was being done for him.

Two Pointed Questions Answered.

What is the use of making a better article than your competitor if you cannot get a better price for it?

Ans.—As there is no difference in the price the public will buy only the best, so that while our profits may be smaller on a single sale they will be much larger in the aggregate.

How can you get the public to know your make is the best?

If both articles are brought prominently before the public both are certain to be tried and the public will very quickly pass judgment on them and use only the better one.

This explains the large sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The people have been using it for years and have found that it can always be depended upon. ## An Effort to Be Made to Extend the Telephone Circuit.

Citizens of this City Advocate the Combining of the Local Circuit in Town With That at Fullerton and Placentia, and Make One Circuit Embrace all the Phones in this Portion of the County—W. T. Brown Appears Before the City Trustees Advocating the Project, and the City Clerk will Communicate With the Sunset Company With That End in View—Program for the Turner Concert Saturday Evening —Mr. Weisel Buys the Cannery—Jack Hill, an Old-Time Favorite, Returns to Town for a Brief Visit—Work on the County Roads—Asphaltum on the Olive Bridge—Brevities.

The Board of City Trustees met in regular session on Tuesday evening; present, Trustees Dickel, Schwenckert, Helmsen and Schneider. In the absence of Chairman Rust, Trustee Helmsen was elected to act as Chairman pro tem.

Clerk Nebelung read the minutes of the last regular meeting of Dec. 27 and the special meeting of Dec. 28 which were approved as read.

Marshal Steadman reported the following collections: For water, $168 10; license, $168 25; light, $265 55.

Treasurer Cahen submitted his report, showing a balance in the treasury on Jan. 9th of $1361 18.

Clerk Nebelung submitted his monthly financial report, which corresponded with that of the treasurer.

The reports were received and ordered filed.

Trustee Dickel of the Finance Committee reported the auditing of the various demands against the city, for which warrants were ordered drawn. The committee reported examining the reports of the officers and found the same correct.

Trustee Schwenckert of the Committee on Public Improvements reported that Center street had been graded from Palm street to the S. P. depot; a ton of rolled barley and hay had been purchased; Frank Gates had been employed as driver of the city team, and that the man who had been hired to paint the tanks had failed to show up. Should the party not attend to the painting at once some one else will be employed.

Trustee Dickel of the Ordinance Committee submitted Ordinance No. 125, establishing a Board of Health for the city of Anaheim. The ordinance was passed and is printed upon the second page this morning. The appointment of the members of the health board was deferred until the next regular meeting.

Trustee Dickel of the special committee on fire extinguishers reported having written to the Goodyear Rubber Co. for prices. The company quote the 3-gallon Champion extinguisher at $15. The Babcock of same size is of the same price. Further time was granted the committee to ascertain prices on other patterns.

Engineer Byers reported that owing to his recent indisposition he had been unable to attend to the repair of the cranes on the water hydrants. Further time was granted.

The repair of the two engines has not as yet been performed and more time was given the engineer.

The painting of the smokestacks at the water works was left to the Committee on Public Improvements. It will require about four gallons of paint for the job.

The bottom of the wagon used for hauling rock was found to be in need of repair. It was moved and seconded by Schneider and Schwenckert that a new set of boards be purchased. So ordered.

Trustee Dickel reported that Engineer Byers requested that the city buy a small forge to be used at the water works, and he recommended that one be bought. The engineer could do the work necessary on small jobs, which are often needed, and thereby save the city a great deal of expense. It was moved by Schneider and seconded by Dickel that a forge be purchased. Carried.

W. T. Brown appeared before the board in regard to the extension of the telephone system. It is the intention to combine Fullerton and Placentia with the system in this city. Should the combine be made the telephone service would be conducted for the three places the same as the system is now conducted in this city. There would be no expense aside from the regular monthly rate. The company's gain would be in the increase of its service should the new project be adopted. Mr. Brown desired that the city council take the initiative in the matter. The members of the board signified their willingness to promote the contemplated enterprise. It was ordered that the City Clerk be instructed to write the Sunset company and ascertain its views regarding the matter.

Mr. Brown asked the board to decide in the matter of either putting in a meter or giving him a flat rate for light in his new residence on Thalia street. It was decided to put in the meter.

Trustee Dickel moved and it was seconded by Trustee Schneider that on nights of heavy windstorms the electric light works be shut down at 10 o'clock instead of 12 as at present. This action is deemed advisable as a precautionary measure, to prevent the burning out of the works, should the wires be blown down and become crossed. So ordered.

H. Newmark of Los Angeles wrote asking for the closing of Cherry street in the Neipp addition. Communication received and filed, to await the return of the city attorney.

The Mann & Wilson company of San Francisco, boiler inspectors, wrote stating that the boilers at the water works had been inspected by their expert and found to be in good order.

Michael Neipp asked, through Clerk Nebelung, for a saloon license for the Commercial Hotel. Moved by Trustee Schneider and seconded by Trustee Dickel that the license be granted. Carried.

MR. WEISEL BUYS.

Certificates of Stock May Be Cashed in at the Bank on Saturday.

Mr. Weisel on Tuesday decided finally to purchase the stock of the Orange County Preserving company, and shareholders who are agreeable to the sale of their stock to him may have their money at the bank on Saturday.

The Directors of the enterprise held a meeting on Monday, at which it was shown that upwards of 500 shares had been signed to the agreement disposing of their stock to Mr. Weisel.

As yet there are some fifty shares of stock outstanding, and these the committee hopes will be in the bank by today or tomorrow.

Mr. Weisel will immediately begin the work of enlarging the cannery. The works will be continued at their present location at the Santa Fe depot.

The cannery was eminently successful during the first season of its operations, and gave employment to hundreds of hands in town during the season last summer. It also provided a market for the deciduous fruit crop, which previous to last year had in great part gone to waste in the orchards or been sold disadvantageously.

Mr. Weisel will in a few days be ready to make contracts for fruits and vegetables for the coming canning season. He will send east for an approved variety of tomato seed, and desires at the proper time to make contracts for tomatoes.

Upwards of $4500 will be disbursed as the bank on Saturday for stock in the cannery. The stockholders, while they know they are letting go of a good thing, are glad to dispose of the business into such capable hands as those of Mr. Weisel, who has abundant means to enlarge the works and carry on the business successfully.

ARMSTRONG LEVANTS.

Departs for Pastures New, Leaving Quite a Number of Unpaid Bills Behind Him.

Mons. Armstrong has departed from his usual haunts, and the places that knew him once will know him no more forever; unless Deputy Constable Llewellyn, who has had a warrant for his arrest for a week, is successful in fetching him back, which is improbable.

Armstrong came up from Alamitos last summer, and it was said of him at that time that he was run out of that place. He was a loquacious and rattle-headed fellow, who at times seemed to be a promising candidate for a lunatic asylum. He claimed to be a jeweler; and when he skipped, some days ago, took with him two gold watches belonging to a well-known resident of Anaheim and his wife. These he took to regulate, but he failed to return them previous to his hitting the road for pastures new.

Armstrong left owing Mrs. Warner $73 50, borrowed money and for lodging. Of this amount $50 was borrowed money, and $23 50 for lodging. He also borrowed $20 from Billy Warner. Armstrong ingratiated himself into the good graces of the family by making some of the young lady members of the family presents of diamond ornaments. These he gave them, but the day before his departure he asked that they be given him to be polished up. He levanted, and the diamonds were never seen again.

Armstrong some weeks ago started a raffle of some articles of jewelry at Jos. Hatfield's Olympic billiard hall. The articles included a marine telescope, an eight-day clock, silver table sets, and other articles. He made himself solid with Hatfield by giving him a gold watch as a Christmas present. The day before his skipping out he noticed that the watch needed "regulating." The watch was given him to be "regulated." It was "regulated." Hatfield not only never saw it again, but laments the loss of quite a bill for oysters and cigars which Armstrong ran at his establishment.

Armstrong owes Bisby, Turk & Co. $8 for hay and barley for his horse, and L. F. Lewis $12 for stable hire. He is also said to owe a resident of Olive $75 for chiles, wood and hay.

Billy Warner swore out a warrant for Armstrong's arrest, placing it in the hands of Deputy Constable Llewellyn, but as yet there is no sign of his apprehension. Armstrong is said to have been seen in Los Angeles and Bedlands since his levanting.

Baseball.

The Anaheim and Norwalk baseball clubs played three innings of a game in a windstorm that swept the diamond in clouds of dust on Sunday afternoon, at the grounds on the Deutsch tract, but had to suspend operations, with the score standing 5 to 2 in favor of the locals. The Anaheimers were reinforced by four Mallets' boys, including Fred Mallett, who was billed to pitch, but his catcher, Joe Mefford, failed to arrive from the Peat, and he played third. Joe Backs pitched, and Joe Wagner operated at the receiving end of the battery. The Norwalks had Robbins, the south paw, in the box, and he showed up in fine form, striking out five batsmen in the three innings.

The dust was so bothersome that at first the boys were undecided whether to postpone the game or proceed, but after playing three innings the game had to be given up. Another game will be played a week from next Sunday afternoon, when a good game may be looked for. The score:

The Anaheim high school boys defeated the Santa Ana high school boys at baseball on the same grounds on Saturday afternoon by a score of 27 to 13. "Them fellers ain't got no size at all!" said one of the Anaheim boys, as he sized up the Santa Ana kids, who rolled in on a bevy of bicycles, and noting their inferiority as to size, when compared to the local stalwarts. But the Santa Ana kids put quite a dampener upon the Anaheimers in the second inning, when they trotted around the bases for six runs. However the locals retaliated in the third by amassing seven runs, and whitewashing the Santa Ana boys in their turn at bat. From that on the game was never in doubt. The score:

Kleinigkeiten.

—Weather sharps predict rain by the first of February.

—A stone gutter is being laid in front of the Ruhmann building on Los Angeles street.

—McCollum has had the front windows of his bicycle establishment decorated with neat signs.

—A marriage license was granted on Saturday by County Clerk Beckett to Hugh Lerue of Orange and Ethelyn Melvin of Buena Park.

—The San Francisco Chronicle has our thanks for a copy of its almanac for 1899, a particularly valuable publication.

—As we go to press, on Wednesday evening, the members of the Board of Audit (Messrs. Holcomb, Wright and Hunter) are wrestling with their report, which is as yet incomplete.

—Chauncey Huggans has given a chattel mortgage to the Fruit Growers' bank of Fullerton in the amount of $330, (60 days, at 10 per cent), covering the furniture and fixtures in the Hotel Reception at that place.

—The weather was too zephyry on Sunday afternoon to admit of the band concert. Manager Whann informs us the concert will be given on Sunday afternoon next, at 3 o'clock, when the same program will be given.

—The regular meeting of the Farmers' Club will be held at the City Hall on Monday afternoon next at 2 o'clock. A full attendance of members is urged to be present, as business of importance will come before the meeting.

—A special train was run from Los Alamitos to this city on Tuesday evening to give a merry party of some thirty music lovers an opportunity to attend the minstrels. The party returned to the sugar factory town after the show.

—The bill introduced into the Legislature by Assemblyman Chynoweth providing a penalty for the building up of a monopoly on staple goods, has been referred back to the house by the Labor and Capital Committee, with the recommendation that it be referred to the Judiciary Committee.

—Sunday night's wind blew down a telephone pole at the corner of Citron and Broadway, interrupting communication with West End points. On Tuesday a lineman came down from Los Angeles, replaced the pole and restored communication.

—Dense clouds of dust, so dark that they appeared to be in part composed of smoke, toward the east on Tuesday indicated the prevalence of a windstorm of particular severity. The wind is said to have been unusually severe at Capistrano. No wind blew here during the day, and only light gusts blew after midnight and yesterday morning.

—Minnie Zander of Olive was some days ago adjudged to be of unsound mind by the board of medical examiners, and was re-comitted to the Highland Insane Asylum by Judge Ballard of the Superior Court. She was released from the asylum two years ago, and was thought to be cured, but recently became hopelessly insane again.

—Peach blossoms in January are rather an unusual sight in Southern California, but Mr. Shoemaker, who lives at Olive, on Tuesday brought in to our office two clusters of these blossoms which are beauties. The warm weather of the last few days has brought out the buds and blossoms, and the orchard looks as if decked out in its springtime garb of loveliness.

—The passenger department of the California Southern railroad has issued an interesting little volume entitled "Southern California," filled with well-prepared data concerning the southern counties of the state, through which the railroad runs. The article on the Mojave desert, printed upon the first page this morning, is from its pages, and will well repay perusal. The author of the book is C. A. Keeler, who has a very happy faculty at descriptive writing.

—W. E. Craig and Frank Dyer have opened the Little Gem barber shop, one door east of McCollum's, and have repapered and refitted the premises in a manner to make it one of the neatest tonsorial establishments in the county. The name is well chosen, the place being in fact a little gem of a barber-shop. Both gentlemen are expert barbers, and will give their customers the best of shaves, haircuts and shampoos.

—Considerable interest has manifested itself at Fullerton and Placentia looking to the placing of the telephone systems here and at those places upon one circuit. Thus people in this city could ring up people at Fullerton and Placentia without the necessity of subscribing to the usual toll of 25 cents for each message—the same rate that obtains from here to Los Angeles. The system would thereby be incomparably improved as to its utility, the scope of the circuit being greatly enlarged. It is said that if the telephone subscribers of this city will join in the movement, the desired change may be brought about.

—Mahara's minstrels played to a good-sized audience at the Opera-house on Tuesday evening. The performance was above the average, the singing being especially meritorious. The first part, which lasted an hour, was probably the best ever seen in this city, many novelties in the way of dress and other new features being introduced. It was a very enjoyable show.

Scott & Nemetz, the lessees of the Opera-house, expect to have the celebrated Hi Henry minstrel combination appear here within the next two or three weeks. This company is one of the best minstrel combinations on the road, carrying fifty people, and a band of thirty pieces.

—Ed Morgan was on Tuesday granted a license by the City Trustees to conduct a saloon in the Commercial hotel building. Ed is a caterer of the old school, and his popularity will no doubt bring him many a thirsty customer who feels the necessity for wetting his whistle. He will renovate the premises and open it up in first-class style. His "opening day" will be probably a week from next Saturday, although the establishment may be opened as early as next Wednesday evening. On Saturday evening of next week Ed will serve a free lunch of roast pig, roast turkey and other seasonable delicacies.

—Postmaster Littlefield has succeeded in making arrangements with the Postoffice Department whereby mail for Fullerton may leave Anaheim upon the 10:15 train, thus making close connections with the mail which leaves Fullerton for Placentia at 10:50. Hitherto mail for Fullerton left Anaheim at 11:14, too late to catch the Placentia mail, and laid over 24 hours, or until the next day. Mr. Littlefield has also made arrangements whereby mail for Santa Ana may leave here at 6:02 p. m. by the Southern Pacific train. Heretofore we have had but two mails to Santa Ana, one at 9:46 a. m. and the other at 2:50 p. m. After the latter hour mail placed in the postoffice here had to lay over until the next morning at 9:46 before being taken over. The new arrangement will meet with the cordial approval of the patrons of the office, and Mr. Littlefield is to be commended for his enterprise.

—Hugo Wetzel advertises his Placentia store for sale, including the stock, fixtures and building. The Placentia postoffice is located in the building, and the location is one of the best in Southern California. Mr. Wetzel's reasons for selling is the continued sickness in his family, a number of his family having been seriously ill for a long time past. Parties seeking a bargain should not fail to see Mr. Wetzel regarding his offer.

—Petitions have been circulated at Santa Ana, Orange and this city, addressed to Senator Jones and Assemblyman Chynoweth, requesting them to support Senator Bulla of Los Angeles for United States Senator, instead of U. S. Grant of San Diego, whom they have been voting for. Private information from Sacramento is to the effect that Grant's forces are about to leave him, the scandal attaching to the infusion of money into the campaign in aid of his candidacy being such that he can scarcely survive the report of the Committee of Investigation. The fight seems to be between Burns and Bulla, with excellent prospects for the success of the latter.

—Gray Roberts returned to his home in this city on Monday after a season with Frank Purdy's railroad section gang over near San Bernardino. Gray is full of railroad rumors, and says the Vanderbilts have opened a railroad office in Los Angeles, and that the Pennsylvania railroad has purchased land for a depot site southeast of the Terminal railroad depot, and that two additional transcontinental roads will be running into Los Angeles before many years are over. He thinks the Santa Ana & Newport line will be built up through Westminster and possibly on to Los Angeles to connect with one of these lines, and that the Southern Pacific will build down into the celery fields and also complete their line from Alamitos to Long Beach. He also thinks chances good for the construction of the electric railway line from Whittier to this city, and says the railroad air is plumb full of rumors. Gray thinks that if we have rain there will be all kinds of work for those who want to labor this year.

—The worst Santa Ana wind in the memory of the oldest inhabitant sprang up on Sunday afternoon and blew a gale during the night. Windmills were blown down, trees toppled over, fences blown over, and in one case (that of the residence of Mr. Carver on Olive street) the roof of the kitchen was blown off and precipitated upon the ground. The windmill at John Eyman's place on Sycamore street was blown down and demolished, and the fans of the windmill in the Dreyfus yard on Center street were blown off, leaving the bare spokes of the mill. Many trees were blown down and serious damage was done by blowing off oranges and blowing out grain. While it lasted it was the most boisterous wind storm probably ever experienced since the settlement of the town. The wind subsided in violence at daybreak, but blew until noon, when the storm abated.

—The Masonic lodge on Monday evening installed the following newly elected officers, who will serve during the ensuing term: W. M. McFadden, W. M.; A. S. Bradford, S. W.; J. F. Davis, J. W.; W. M. Higgins, Treasurer; Jos. Helmsen, Secretary; W. T. Brown, S. D.; H. A. Stough, J. D.; Geo. C. Clark, Marshal; J. S. Gardiner, Steward: H. Wrede, Steward; A. Pendergast, Tyler. From Santa Ana there were present J. P. Greeley, Frank Vegeley and Dr. Menges, and from Orange Charles Edelman, who delivered a fine address during the evening.

After the exercises those present sat down to a banquet prepared by the lodge, to which full justice was done, and it was late before the meeting adjourned.

L. W. Kirby was in from Peralta on Saturday. Mr. Kirby is opposed to the passage of the bill introduced into the Legislature to prohibit the exportation of fruit from this State that might be infested with scale pests or come from sections said to be invested with scale. From this it does not necessarily follow that he is opposed to laws providing for the extermination of scale pests and for clean orchards, but he holds the opinion that the bill will work harmful results to the orchardists. The California orange grower was troubled with red scale long before he knew exactly the nature of the pest, or best means of its eradication. So with the other pests, all of which are being treated according to approved scientific methods looking to their extermination. Mr. Kirby fears that fruit from such sections as may be by inspectors outside parties said to be infested with scale may be altogether prohibited from being shipped out of the State, if the bill becomes a law. He considers that the bill, to employ a legislative expletive, has a large-sized "bug" in it which the horticulturists of the State, he thinks, should best observe with scrutiny.

—Judge Shanley tried his first case on Tuesday morning, when he sent a hobo named Frank Miller over to the county bastile for thirty days. Miller showed up at Conrad's brewery on Monday afternoon, claiming to be a brewer and asking employment and something to eat. He was told that at 6 o'clock he would be given his supper, and Conrad, who had just returned from Los Angeles, treated him to a couple of glasses of beer. He afterwards learned that the boys had treated Miller four or five times. When Miller was invited in to supper, the table contained a plenty of wholesome food, meat, vegetables and so forth. After supper Miller, who had been put to sawing wood for a time previous to the supper hour, declared he had not been given sufficient to eat, and later on became violent and threatened to blow up the brewery and burn it down. Louie Bolz and Fritz Gruenemay escorted him up town and turned him over to Marshal Steadman, who placed him in jail. Miller was turned over to Deputy Constable Llewellyn on Tuesday morning, and he was brought into court by that officer, decked out with a big policeman's star. Conrad gave evidence against Miller, and the Judge thought thirty days in the county jail would be about right for the disciple of Herr Most.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Otto Rust went to Los Angeles on Tuesday, returning yesterday morning.

A. H. Cargill of Brookshurst returned on Monday from New York after an absence of a month.

Engineer Byers of the power house has recovered his health sufficiently to resume his position as city engineer, and Fred Lewis, who filled his place last week, has returned to Los Angeles.

Miss Annie Everhardy will entertain the young folks' social club at her home on the evening of Thursday, February 9th.

Mrs. Alex Wright and two of her children have been seriously ill with la grippe for some days past, but yesterday showed signs of improvement.

Richard Krebs came down from Santa Anita on Monday evening to attend the Masonic installation. Richard reports a prosperous season at Santa Anita the past year, and good prospects ahead for the coming year.

Mike Reagan came up from Los Alamitos on Tuesday evening's special to see the show. Mike was accompanied by his bride, and with her was the observed of all observers.

George Whitaker was in from Buena Park on Tuesday in attendance in Judge Shanley's court in a civil case, wherein he brought suit against a Park resident of the name of Crawford to recover moneys owing him. George won his suit and returned home rejoicing.

Joe Oman who superintended the semaphore at the crossing of the tracks south of town is now tower-man at Arcadia, Los Angeles county, the railway companies having taken down the tower south of town. Joe has moved his house away, and is now a permanent fixture at Arcadia.

Oscar Luedke contemplates making a fishing expedition down to the Landing on Sunday, and all his friends who want fish should make it a point to see him before he goes and tell him how many fish to bring them when he gets back; because fish are biting fine, and Oscar intends to break the record.

George Key has been seriously ill at his home at Placentia. He was taken ill one day last week and went to Fullerton to consult a physician. Finding them temporarily absent, he came to Anaheim to consult with Dr. Wilson, who ministered to his ailment. Mr. Key was quite overcome and suffered excrutiating pain with an internal disorder, but at last accounts was convalescing.

Louis Hache of the agricultural department of the Chino Valley Beet Sugar company states that his company will contract for 10,000 acres of beets this year, 4500 of which will be raised on the Chino ranch, and the balance from the vicinity of Florence and Anaheim. The company will contract for a large crop for their new factory at Oxnard. He considers the conditions excellent for a large of crop of beets this season.

—David Bertch, an old and highly respected resident of this community, living east of town, breathed his last on Friday afternoon, aged 77 years and three months. Deceased had been ill for upwards of a year, and recently his life had been despaired of. He leaves a wife and a family of grown-up children, one of whom is Mrs. W. W. Weaver of this city. The remains were interred on Sunday. Rev. Beazley preached the funeral sermon. The remains were followed to their last resting place by a large concourse of sorrowing friends.

Roadmaster Norman of this district has had a force of six men engaged at the Olive bridge in placing asphaltum upon the cracked places in the surface of the structure. The asphaltum is shipped in from Los Angeles and is melted at the scene of operations and placed smoothly upon the surface of the bridge. Norman completed the job yesterday and will today move his forces upon the road between this city and Santa Ana, which needs repair.

Principal Little of the public schools is lending his assistance to the commendable project of having the coming Orange County Teachers' Institute held in this city. He informs us that he has met with encouraging prospects of success, and if he can secure accommodations for the teachers who will be in attendance at the meeting feels certain that the same will be scheduled for this city. Some 115 teachers will be in attendance, and the institute will probably continue for three days. Prof. Little will no doubt meet with the cordial approbation of the people of this city in his efforts to bring the institution to Anaheim. The institute will be held the last week in March.

—O. Jensen and C. B. Huggans made a motion in Justice Johnson's court at Fullerton on Saturday asking that the judgments recently lodged against them for selling liquor without license, be set aside on the grounds that the judgments were taken against them "through mistake, inadvertence, surprise and excusable neglect, and because said defendants had no notice of time set for trial of said actions." The hearing came on regularly, Attorney Head appearing for petitioners and District Attorney Williams for the county. The court denied the motion to vacate judgment.

—Ed Kraemer informs us that he has completed a levee and roadway across the wash at Crowther's corner, on Placentia avenue, and that the thoroughfare is now in good and passable condition, the same having been washed out by the recent rains. Ed saw at once the necessity for the repair of the road, the amount of travel over it being constantly on the increase. Being a man of public spirit, he came into town and collected $5 in subscriptions, and set to work to repair the washed-out road. The roadway is 64 feet in length, based upon a four and four-and-a-half foot levee, all filled with brush and tamped down hard. The job is said by travelers to be a good one, and Ed has been warmly commended for his enterprise in making the repairs.

While Ed was at work upon the levee on Sunday, Father Bannon drove by in his buggy. Seeing Ed at work upon the Sabbath day, the good Father inquired:

"Why are you at work upon the Sabbath?"

This was a hard one for Ed, but his native wit failed him not at this crucial juncture, and he quickly replied:

"I'm making this road so that the people may drive to church."

Father Bannon drove on with a smile, and Ed continued work upon the levee, which as we say, is appreciated by all travelers who have occasion to pass that way.

Mr. Thiele came down from Los Angeles on Monday to attend to the repair of the tin roof of the Opera-house, which was partly blown off during the wind of Sunday night.

Joe C. Burke, representing the Salisbury firm of orange buyers, was down from Los Angeles on Saturday on a brief business mission. Mr. Burke has made quite a number of purchases of oranges from orchardists hereabout.

George M. Stanley, living on East Center street, was in town on Monday afternoon and made this office a pleasant call. Mr. Stanley owns twenty acres in a high state of cultivation, his ranch being one of the best kept in the community. He has some twenty odd acres in hay from which he expects to realize a fine crop.

J. N. Bill was in town from Garden Grove on Monday afternoon to attend the meeting of cannery Directors. Mr. Bill reports the wind did some damage down his way in blowing out the grain and blowing down trees. He has had an attack of the grip, or influenza, but has recovered, and now his wife is quite seriously ill with the complaint.

Andrew Fulton and his sister, Miss Jean Fulton, of St. Paul, accompanied by Donald Beno of Council Bluffs, arrived on Sunday morning on a visit to Judge and Mrs. Shanley. They returned to Los Angeles on Monday morning, and will remain at the Van Nuys hotel during this week. They will return to this city in a day or two and will spend the winter here as the guests of Judge Shanley and wife.

Judge Ballard on Friday sustained the demurrer in the suit against E. S. Merritt, whom the Grand Jury indicted for libelling Otto Rust in an anonymous circular headed "Offspring of the Plain Dealer." The Judge held that the complaint against Merritt did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action, but ruled that he would hold Merritt to answer before the next Grand Jury for his connection with the circular. Habeas corpus proceedings will be instituted, and Merritt will probably be released.

I. N. Everett was unsuccessful in his effort to secure the release of Merritt by habeas corpus, as Judge Ballard denied the petition in court on Tuesday. The defendant's bail was reduced to $500, pending the securing of which he was remanded back to jail.

Frank Porter was in town from his ranch on Orangethorpe avenue on Saturday to meet with the Directors of the water company in reference to the necessity for cementing a strip of ditch running along his north line, as detailed in the report of the water board on the first page. Mr. Porter said after the meeting was over that he looked for rain, because whenever we have rain and the mountains to the north of us are covered with snow, it has been his experience that the melting of the snow is followed by more rain. The heavy snowfall after the rain of a fortnight ago has melted from the hilltops, and he thinks we ought to have a further rainfall within a few days.

J. J. Hill, during the early days a well-known and highly respected citizen of this city, now a resident of Tucson, arrived in town on a brief visit on Friday, he having been called to San Francisco on account of the serious illness of his father, and stopped off at this place on his way back to the Territory. Mr. Hill came to Anaheim in 1868, and lived here some 13 years. He was for a time manager of the Planters' Hotel, and occupied other responsible positions in town during the many years of his residence here. He met with many old-time friends during his short stay, all of whom were highly gratified to meet with him again. Mr. Hill is Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of Arizona Territory. He informs us his only daughter, who was born in this city, was recently married in Arizona. He spent some days as the guest of his cousins, the Hill boys, and on Tuesday evening visited the local Odd Fellow lodge—the lodge in which he was initiated into the order. He leaves for his home today.

J. W. Duckworth of Garden Grove has been appointed road overseer for that district by Supervisor Larter, and was in town on Monday collecting tools for the beginning of work upon the mile and a half stretch of the main road between this city and Santa Ana situated in his district, beginning 1½ miles south of Miraflores and continuing for that distance to the county bridge. This stretch of road is probably the worst in the county, and its presence is denoted immediately one drives over the line of Supervisor Potter's district, where the road is in good condition, onto the piece of roadway which has been neglected for a long time. Mr. Duckworth informs us he will grade the road and gravel it, and will put in a pumping plant at Ford's for the purpose of keeping it sprinkled. Then we shall have an excellent thoroughfare from the city limits to the county bridge. The condition of the public roads shows a vast improvement in recent years, and Mr. Duckworth's appointment as road boss in the Garden Grove district ought to result in making them still better. He is the kind of man to have at work upon the roads.

S. B. Snedaker, father of Mrs. Chas. Otto Rust, died at the family home on Friday morning last, aged 86 years, 3 months and 4 days. The deceased had been in feeble health for some time past, and passed away while in slumber on the morning of his death. Mr. Snedaker came to San Francisco in the early 50's by way of Panama after a perilous voyage. The steamer sprung a leak upon the Atlantic side and passengers and crew had to use pumps and buckets night and day for three days, until Aspinwall was reached. After crossing the Isthmus of Panama and embarking in another vessel they had still worse luck. Yellow fever developed the second day from port, causing an unprecedented death rate, as the vessel was crowded to its utmost capacity with passengers and freight. He left New York City with three companions, all of whom succumbed to the yellow fever and were buried at sea. Upon arrival at San Francisco he went to the mines, and acquired several claims, which he worked profitably for a number of years, and then returned to his home in Ohio. From there he moved to the state of Iowa, and in 1863 decided to again come to California, and this time came across the plains with his family, joining an emigrant party consisting of 7 wagons. As the party was small, they had no trouble to find feed and water for their stock, and fortunately were not molested by the Indians, so that the entire trip was a very pleasant one. He has lived in the State ever since, and lived the last 15 years in Anaheim.

The funeral occurred on Saturday afternoon, when the remains were borne to their last resting place in the cemetery.

Healthy, Happy Girls

often. From no apparent cause, become languid and despondent in the early days of their womanhood. They drag along always tired, never hungry, breathless and with a palpitating heart after slight exercise so that merely to walk up stairs is exhausting. Sometimes a short, dry cough leads to the fear that they are going into consumption.

They are anæmic, doctors tell them, which means that they have too little blood. Are you like that? Have you too little blood?

More anæmic people have been made strong, hungry, energetic men and women by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People than by any other means. They are the best tonic in the world.

Miss Lulu Stevens, of Gasport, Niagara Co., N. Y., had been a very healthy girl until about a year ago, when she grew weak and pale. She lost her appetite, was so tired in the morning as on retiring, and lost flesh until she became so emaciated that her friends hardly knew her. The doctors declared the disease anæmia, and gave her up to die. A physician who was visiting in Gasport prevailed upon her to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. She did so, and was benefited at once. She is now well and strong—the very picture of health.—Buffalo (N. Y.) Courier.

FOR REDUCED FREIGHTS.

Petitions Praying the Railroad Companies to Lower their Schedule of Rates on Citrus Fruits.

The following petition, adopted some days ago by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, asking the Southern Pacific and California Southern railroad companies to reduce their freight rates on citrus fruits, is being circulated throughout Orange county and numerously signed. The petition is addressed to the directors, officers and managers of both railroad companies, and reads as follows:

Gentlemen:—We the undersigned, for periods varying from five to twenty years past, have been engaged in the business of orange and lemon growing in some of the counties of Southern California. We have paid you freight on every article of luxury and necessity that we are using, including every class of household furniture and ornament, the clothing on our backs, and the agricultural implements that we use in our farming operations. We have invested, in purchasing lands, developing water, and putting water upon our cultivated lands, as much money as any one of the trans-continental railroads of America has cost. We pay you freight upon every box in which we ship our oranges, in shook form, before packing our oranges. We pay you freight upon every nail used in the manufacture of our boxes, and upon every piece of paper in which our oranges are wrapped. After picking, packing and boxing our fruit, we again pay you freight upon the box, the nails and the paper, as they all go to make up the weight of the package that comprises a packed box of oranges.

For every box of oranges or lemons we ship to the Eastern States you collect from us ninety cents (90c). We have harvested and shipped, during the past season, fifteen thousand (15,000) carloads of fruit, or 5,040,000 boxes, the freight upon which, at 90c a box, which you and your Eastern connections have received, prior to distribution in the East, is $4,536,000. The growers have received for this same fruit, after picking and packing their fruit, not to exceed fifty cents (50c) per box, or $2,520,000. In other words, the transportation companies for the first direct transportation, have received $2,016,000 more than the growers have received for that which you have transported. And, mind you, out of this the grower is expected to pay interest on his investment, to support and educate his family, and keep up his orchard.

In the foregoing statement we have omitted to say that we have also paid you large amounts of money for the transportation of fertilizers for use on our trees, and for the transportation of chemicals for fumigating the same.

In fixing your freight tariff you have made no distinction whatever as to the quality of the fruit. You undoubtedly are aware of the fact that our navel oranges and some other budded varieties bring more money than the seedling orange, which used to be our standard crop. The present selling price of the seedling orange is not because of its inferiority, but because of the immense quantity of better fruit that we have succeeded in raising. As a matter of fact, our seedling orange is far superior to most of the imported oranges brought to America from the Mediterranean. In our judgment, some distinction ought to be made between seedlings and navels; otherwise, it is a question of time when the grower will no longer be able to ship seedlings.

To more fully illustrate, we will quote you returns on seedlings shipped by one of our members, and assure you that the same is better than the average return for seedlings shipped during the year 1898:

|---|---|
| 237 Boxes Seedlings shipped April 29, 1897, per car No. 12,667, over S. P. R. R. sold in Chicago as follows: | |
| 237 Boxes Seedling Oranges at $1.69 | $427 20 |
| Charges—Freight ..... $280 30 | |
| Cartage ..... 8 01 | |
| Commission, 8 per cent ..... 34 18 | 322 49 |
| Net proceeds to credit of owner | $144 71 |

But in addition to the above charges, the grower paid, even if he did all his labor, 25c per box for picking and packing his fruit and putting it on the cars, or a sum total of $55 44. Leaving him net for his 237 boxes of oranges the sum of $89 27.

| | |
|---|---|
| 336 Seedling Oranges shipped May 18, 1898, in No. 14,071, over S. P. R. R. sold as follows in Chicago:— | |
| 336 Boxes ..... | $553 50 |
| Charges—Freight ..... $302 40 | |
| Drayage ..... 10 08 | |
| Refrigeration charges ..... 75 60 | |
| Commission at 8 per cent ..... 44 28 | 432 36 |
| Leaving a net balance of | $121 14 |

Out of which the grower was compelled to pay for picking, packing and boxing 32c. or $107 52, leaving him the sum of $13 62.

For his 336 boxes on the trees, out of which to pay interest on his investment, the care of his orchard and to contribute to the expense of supporting himself and family.

The grower furnishing us the preceding figures shipped during the season of 1897-8 five thousand six hundred and eleven (5,611) boxes of first-class oranges, that were not touched with frost, of mixed varieties: Seedlings, Navels, Mediterranean Sweets and Valencias.

| | |
|---|---|
| The 5,611 boxes sold in the East for | $8,397 18 |
| The total expenses of marketing the crop, including picking, packing, boxing, commissions and freight, of which freight was $5,049 90, amounted to ..... | 6,198 91 |
| Leaving net to the grower, on the trees, for 5,611 boxes of oranges, the sum of ..... | $2,200 17 |

Or, a little over thirty-nine cents per box. You got ninety cents (90c) and the grower thirty-nine.

You, gentlemen, are business men, and we think that these illustrations will prove to you that in these instances you are charging more than the traffic will bear. No matter what the fate of the shipper, ninety cents (90c) a box is assured to you on every box of oranges shipped, and you have a bond from the shipper for your freight before you receive his goods.

It is simply a question of monetary endurance how long you will get any shipments; first, of our seedling oranges, and second, of our improved varieties. Human nature is full of hope, and the orange-grower loaded with debt, each year thinks that his growing crop will do better than the last one did. Many of the orange groves of Southern California are mortgaged for all they will stand. The grower will pour money into the ground to take care of that to which he has devoted the best years of his life, just as long as his banker or some tenderfoot will advance it; but, with such returns as we have quoted to you above, the power of the grower to borrow money must some day cease. Our experience is that when an orange grove passes from the hands of the man who planted and brought it to maturity, on a foreclosure proceeding, that the mortgagee will not take the interest in it, nor will he put the money into it that the orignal owner did, and the result will be that thousands of orchards, after changing hands on foreclosure, will be allowed to retrograde.

The citrus fruit growers of Southern California can give you, in ten years, if you will leave them some little profit by a reduction in freight, thirty thousand (30,000) carloads per year; yes, even fifty thousand (50,000), instead of fifteen thousand (15,000) which you have just hauled. We want to state the case in all fairness to you, and ask you if this industry is one which you can afford to destroy. We want a reduction of our freight rates. We think we are entitled to it. Give us a chance to live. You are charging us to-day for oranges and lemons the same rate that you did ten years ago, when we were getting more than three times as much for our fruit as we are now getting. Your rate was high enough, considering the value of the article, then. If so, it is too high now. The orange and lemon grower cannot pay you!

First—Freight on everything that he imports, including household furniture, articles of ornamentation and clothing, tinware, graniteware, etc.

Third—Freight on the nails used to make up the boxes.

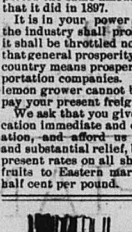

Fourth—Freight on the paper used in which to wrap his oranges.

Fifth—Freight on his oranges and lemons in boxes, including a second tariff on his box, paper and nails—out of the returns, such as we received during the year 1898.

And we call your attention to the further fact that but for the high tariff imposed by the Dingley Act, the growers would not have received even anything like the money that they did receive for the crop of 1898. If the price they did get was a starvation price, you can easily see what would have remained to them if the country had imported the same amount of foreign fruit that it did in 1897.

It is in your power to say whether the industry shall prosper, or whether it shall be throttled now. We believe that general prosperity throughout this country means prosperity for the transportation companies. The orange and lemon grower cannot be prosperous and pay your present freight charges.

We ask that you give this communication immediate and earnest consideration, and afford us some permanent and substantial relief, by reducing your present rates on all shipments of citrus fruits to Eastern markets at least one-half cent per pound.

Of all the bereavements which are possible to a home, the loss of a child is perhaps the most disappointing, and the hardest to bear. During the heated spell in the summer in New York City as many as a thousand babies have died in a week. Of course, in a crowded city, with its unsanitary districts, many of these deaths would have occurred any way. The fact remains that this tremendous mortality was to a great extent due to the lack of inherent resisting power in the victims. These babies when born had in their bodies the seeds of disease. The deadly heated term only shortened the period of their sufferings.

If a woman wishes her babies to be healthy and strong and able to resist the usual ailments of childhood, she must take proper care of herself in a womanly way during the period of gestation. A woman who suffers from weakness and disease of the organs distinctly feminine is unfitted for wifehood and motherhood. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a wonderful medicine for ailing women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned. It makes them well and strong. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain, stops unpleasant drains and gives rest and tone to the tortured nerves. Thousands of women have testified to its almost miraculous merits. Many of them have permitted their names, addresses, experiences and photographs to be reproduced in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This great book used to sell for $1.50, now it is absolutely free. It tells all about the home-treatment of ordinary diseases. It contains 1008 pages, and over 300 illustrations. Several chapters are devoted to the diseases of women. For a paper-covered copy send 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, to Dr. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.; Cloth binding, 10 cents extra. "Favorite Prescription" can be obtained in any good medicine store.

VOICE OF THE PRESS.

SENATOR JONES' PROHIBITION BILL.

From the San Francisco Call.

Senator Jones, from the prohibition counties of Orange and Riverside, presented a measure providing for the submission to a vote of the people of the proposition to either license or prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors in cities of the fifth and sixth class. By its provisions the bill of Senator Jones declares that when a petition signed by not less than one-third of the electors of a city of the fifth or sixth class is presented to the Board of Trustees of such cities thirty days prior to a general municipal election, praying for the submission of the license or anti-license proposition, it shall be submitted to a vote of the people at the forthcoming city election. Of course, by the term anti-license is meant prohibition.

TIME FOR GRANT TO RETIRE.

San Francisco Bulletin.

The latest Senatorial scandal which has developed in Sacramento, in which Grant is strongly suspected of having used money to bring about his election, surprises no one who has watched the fight of the San Diegan and his managers. Grant is practically a stranger in the State, had no political connections here prior to a year ago, and has no public record, good or bad, in California or elsewhere. He has had no legislative experience, nor has he ever been identified with any of the industrial or commercial resources of the State, by which his fitness for a Washington career can be judged.

Therefore the stories that he has used money to secure his election do not cause the shock they would if he had anything back of him but a check book. Early in the contest Assemblyman Clough told General Barnes that he had been offered from $300 to $500 by Grant to cover his election expenses. But Dan T. Cole came gallantly to the front and assumed all responsibility for this offer of money, by declaring that it was his (Cole's) money that he was offering, and that Grant knew nothing about it. If no further stories of a damaging character had come to light, this rather flimsy tale might in time have become a matter of belief with some. But here is Speaker Wright confessing that he borrowed $750 from Milton Green, Grant's manager, and here is Grant admitting that he did lend $750 to Wright, who hoped to be renominated and re-elected. Wright, of course, says it had nothing to do with his election, and Grant and Green, of course, corroborate and declare that it was done out of kindness of heart, and was in no way connected with the Senatorial fight. Grant may be a philanthropist, but he would hardly open his check book to Alameda Assemblymen unless he hoped for some future favor. Then this morning appears a story to the effect that after McDonald of Tuolumne had been elected to the Assembly Grant straightway appointed him superintendent of the Republican mine, of which he owns a large part. McDonald admits that he was thus employed for twenty-two days, but says it had absolutely nothing to do with his voting for Grant. So there are too many stories of this character to leave any doubt in the public mind that Grant has used a great deal of money in various ways throughout his campaign, and there are hints of more scandal which will be brought to the surface by the Legislative Investigating Committee which was appointed yesterday.

It is even said upon good authority that Grant, in his fear that some of his votes would soon leave him, sanctioned the telling by Green of the $750 incident in order to properly terrorize the weak ones in his camp, and give them to understand in a way a hint of what might happen to them if they should take it into their heads to change their votes.

Enough has been revealed already to convince the public that it is high time for Grant to retire from the contest before he further disgraces the honorable name of his father.

Gage Finds a Bug.

Senate Bill, 199, which repeals the Belshaw act, limiting the number of employes in Senate and Assembly, came up on reconsideration in the Legislature the other day. A "bug" had been dug out of it by Gov. Gage. It is reported that the governor stated that he would not sign the measure unless the "bug" was taken out. The objectionable "bug" read thus: "The Assembly shall have power to remove any of its officers and employes, except the Speaker and the Speaker pro tem."

According to this, the Assembly would have been powerless to remove Howard E. Wright, no matter what the report of the special committee may be. The bill was amended and sent back to the printer.

COSPER IN A PICKLE.

Sensational Turn in the Legislative Investigation.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—The committee investigating the scandals resulting from the senatorial situation is meeting with surprising results. The last man to be dragged into the circle of suspicion is chairman Cosper of the committee itself. L. L. Levings of the San Francisco Call took the stand last night and swore that a person, to witness unknown, had told him that Milton J. Green, Grant's manager, had said that Cosper had been to Green with the statement that Burns had offered him (Cosper) $6000 for his vote. Cosper, according to the story, had told Green that he would like to vote for Grant, but thought that Green should pay him as much as Burns had offered.

Chairman Cosper followed Levings to the stand, and denied that anyone had offered him $6000, or any amount, for his vote, or that he had peddled it. The incident was considered closed until the last witness had been heard for the afternoon, when Walter Bacon, Grant's attorney before the committee, took the floor and stated that he had been told that a member of the assembly had said to a friend that Burns had offered $6000 for the member's vote, the friend was described as Grant's man, and the Assemblyman had said to him: "If I vote for Grant, you people should do as well by me as Burns has offered to do."

The witness demanded that the man to whom Cosper had, as alleged, made the statement, be brought before the committee, and named C. G. Lamberson of Visalia. When pressed as to whom the Assemblyman was, he said: "Mr. Cosper."

Then came Attorney Bacon's sensational statement regarding the story that Cosper had told a friend that he had been offered $6000 to vote for Burns and considered it no more than right for Grant to give him that amount for his vote. "You stated a few moments ago," said Bacon, "that you wanted to know who that friend is. I understand that it is C. G. Lamberson of Visalia. I wish this man sent for to prove or disprove the statement that Mr. Cosper told him what was charged." Mr. Bacon stated further that he understood that Lamberson had been telephoned and admitted the truth of the statement. The subpœna was issued as requested.

Subpœnas have been issued for M. H. De Young, proprietor of the Chronicle; W. H. Herrin of the Southern Pacific law department, and John D. Spreckels, proprietor of the San Francisco Call.

The Date Line.

A mapmaker asks the New York Sun if the date line, or the imaginary line drawn to mark the change in the calendar day required of circumnavigators of the globe, follows the 180th meridian. He adds that he has been unable to find the date line on any map.

That paper says: The date line does not follow the 180th or any other meridian for its entire course, but takes a somewhat devious route through the Pacific. It is strange that it is shown on so very few maps of the world. The reasons why a crooked course was given to it and why it was placed in the Pacific are interesting and easily understood.

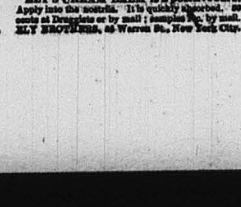

Suppose the date line had been run through our country on the meridian of Chicago. In that case, when it was Monday in New York, Cleveland and Indianapolis, it would be Tuesday all the way from Chicago to San Francisco and out on the Pacific. Of course that would be a serious business inconvenience. It is evident that the date line should not pass through any continents. It was practically a necessity that such a line had to be fixed somewhere, but it obviously had to run through an ocean.

It should not pass through the Atlantic ocean, because, in that case, when it was Monday in London, Paris and Hamburg, it would be Tuesday in the United States; and this would be inconvenient in regions that have such enormous interests in common and are so closely united by telegraph and cables. The best place for the date line was in the Pacific ocean. If we follow the line through the Pacific we shall observe that the ideas above expressed have had due weight in marking its course.

Passing through the middle of Bering strait, the line suddenly turns to the southwest till it reaches 170 degrees east longitude. In this way, all of Siberia and the entire Aleution chain, all a part of North America, are kept on the American side of the line. When it is Monday in New York it is also Monday in Attu, our most western American possession.

Then the line sweeps eastward again and follows the 180th meridian far south till it reaches the neighborhood of the Fiji islands. As this group and other islands round about belong to Great Britain, and are closely united in business relations with New Zealand and Australia, the line takes a wide sweep to the east so as to give them all the same calendar day. It then returns to the 180th meridian, which it follows to the Antarctic.

The annexation of the Philippines, which lie 60 degrees beyond the 180th meridian going west, makes it incumbent on all Americans to know everything about the date line.
