

NIGHT IRRIGATION

TO BE THING OF PAST

Water Stockholders Resolve to Provide Reservoir for Anaheim District—To Irrigate in Daytime Hereafter

There was no quorum at the meeting of stockholders in the Anaheim Union Water company on Saturday, and the proposition to bond the company in $300,000 went by default. However an important meeting of stockholders resulted, and a resolution was unanimously adopted favoring the construction of a reservoir to do away with the necessity for night irrigation in the Anaheim district. It was also the consensus of opinion on the part of the large number of stockholders present that another election be called to bond the company in $300,000 or upward in order to carry into effect plans already outlined and for the construction of a reservoir.

While there was a large gathering of stockholders present, and nothing was said publicly against the propriety of a bond issue for necessary improvements, yet an under-current of objection to the item providing for pumping plants was undoubtedly the reason for the lack of a quorum. The bonds would have been defeated had they come to a vote, and by common consent they were permitted to go by default.

Chairman Crowther called the meeting to order shortly after 10, and a call of the roll showed only 2600 shares represented, out of a total of 8000.

The chairman announced that an informal meeting would be held, for discussion of matters pertinent to the issue before the irrigators.

Max Nebelung took the floor and said that one of the stumbling blocks against bonds was that irrigators in the southern end of the district felt they had not been treated fairly in the matter of night irrigation. Northside irrigators have for years been required to do no night irrigation, having a reservoir to draw from during the daytime. He pictured the inconveniences of night irrigation, adding that he would infinitely prefer to pay double rates for day water than to have the cheaper supply at night. The company some years ago purchased a reservoir site at Yorba. He wanted to know why this reservoir had not been constructed. Before southside irrigators would agree to vote for bonds they would have to be placed on equal footing with northsiders on night irrigation.

Mrs. Langenberger was positive in her assertions that Anaheim irrigators did not want pump water for irrigation. They had been using river water for fifty years, and they were satisfied to keep on with that supply. She also criticized the plan of floating stock about, and said that while she owned 60 acres and had 101 shares of water stock upon it, other irrigators on the north side had their lands insufficiently stocked, thus escaping burdens of assessments, and getting all the water they want by renting stock from their neighbors. This was one of the crying shames of the company, and would have to be remedied before she would consent to vote for bonds for further improvements.

B. F. Porter said he wished to offer a resolution instructing the directors to expend a sufficient amount from the bonds to supply a reservoir for Anaheim irrigators. In view of the fact that the directors had already apportioned the amount to be derived, he asked that the opinion of the company's attorney be asked relative to the legality of his resolution.

Attorney Melrose was telephoned for and gave it as his opinion that the meeting was competent to pass any resolution, as expressing the sense of stockholders there assembled. The directors were in honor bound, he said, to disburse the moneys received from the bond sale in accordance with their letter to stockholders, but the latter had it in their power to direct such changes as they saw fit.

Mr. Porter thereupon offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That it is the sense of the stockholders present that the Board of Directors be requested to use a sufficient amount of money realized from the sale of bonds, necessary for the purpose of enlarging the present reservoir or constructing a new one for the furnishing of water to that part of the district south of the sandwash, the object being to do away with the necessity of night water.

The resolution was seconded by Frank Shanly.

Mr. Porter supported his resolution by saying Anaheim irrigators should be provided with a reservoir, so that night irrigation might be done away with. He believed the company should either enlarge the Tuffree reservoir to a capacity sufficient to supply Anaheim irrigators or that a reservoir at another site should be constructed.

F. R. Holcomb said the company had some time ago purchased a reservoir site at Yorba, and asked what was being done with it. He doubted if the Tuffree reservoir could be enlarged sufficiently to supply Anaheim irrigators, for he noticed the stream gets pretty low sometimes when he is using water for irrigation.

H. H. Hale favored enlarging the Tuffree reservoir, but said it would take money to do it. Personally he opposed the Yorba reservoir, because it would cost a lot of money to make it hold water. He referred to the necessity for making the draw good and strong so as not to menace life and property.

The resolution was after a further discussion adopted without dissent.

C. C. Chapman spoke at some length upon the situation, favoring the construction of a reservoir, either enlarging the Tuffree or constructing the Yorba reservoir, in order to do away with night water in Anaheim. However, he asked, where would this money be taken from? The directors had already appropriated the money for various purposes, and he considered such action wise. He offered the following amendment:

Resolved, That it is the sense of the assembled stockholders that the Board of Directors be requested to so increase the amount of the proposed bond issue as to raise an additional sum sufficient to provide a means of giving to Anaheim day water only.

The amendment was seconded by C. O. Rust.

Mr. Porter said the amendment was perfectly satisfactory to himself.

After further discussion the amendment was unanimously carried.

Sidney Holman objected to the item of $10,000 for pumping plants. He was opposed to the pumping plant idea.

Mr. Hale said other companies were using pumping plants, and he did not see why this company could not do the same successfully. The demand for water is so great that something must be done to increase the supply. He thought Horseshoe Bend furnished a most available site for a large pumping plant.

The meeting adjourned without a definite expression of opinion upon pumping plants.

Mr. Crowther said after the meeting that another bond election would be called in the fall, and that probably an amount large enough to construct the Yorba reservoir would be submitted to stockholders.

International Riparian Rights

President Roosevelt has appointed a special commission to deal with three important questions which have arisen relative to the diversion and interference with the course of international rivers. This commission consists of Judge Penfield, solicitor for the state department; Special Assistant Attorney General M. C. Burch and Professor F. H. Newell of the Geological Survey, and has just had its first meeting.

All the questions before the commission have formed the subject of extensive correspondence between the state department and Mexico on the south and the Dominion of Canada, as represented by Great Britain on the north. On the south there is that long-standing controversy growing out of the damming of the Rio Grande and the use of the waters of the upper river for irrigation purposes in American territory to the injury of the Mexican farmers on the right bank of the river. The Mexicans claim that the Rio Grande is navigable and consequently that this diversion of the water is in violation of the international law.

To the westward the commission is to deal with the Colorado river, where the upper waters in American territory also are about to be diverted, to the loss of the Mexican ranchers in Lower California.

On the north the Milk river projects in Montana have alarmed the Canadians. Arising in the United States, this river flows into Canada and back again into Montana. The Canadians have been making large use of the waters on their side, which has led to a project by the people of Montana to cut out the entire bend in the river on the Canadian side by a canal, the effect of which would be to completely deprive the Canadians of water. The commission will have to deal with some entirely new questions of international law relative to riparian rights.

As the result of the conference with Secretary Taft it was decided, as projects such as the international dam across the Rio Grande river and the reclamation dam on the Colorado river had been authorized by congress, there was nothing to do but to proceed with the work, leaving the broader question of international riparian rights to be treated diplomatically.

Chamber of Commerce Convenes

At the chamber of commerce meeting on Thursday evening the membership committee handed in the names of Ben Dausser, A. Litten, C. I. Hoople and Steve Cottle as new members.

There is $14 73 in the treasury.

Committeeman Wallop reported verbally in reference to the existence of a "chintown" in this city. The committee visited the place and found the condition there not of the cleanliness by a long shot. The health officer would compel the chinese to clean up but to oust the chinks is another matter. A new law governs just such cases as this and until that phase of the matter can be looked into the case will remain in statu quo. In conversation with one of the directors the owner of the premises hoped the chamber would not be too severe. The property represents in part an outlay, he says, of $11,000. He receives the munificent rental of eleven dollars. "There are eleven tenants," he said, "and each pays a dollar apiece—no, ten pay a dollar each and the other sweeps the sidewalk." [Laughter.]

A discussion of the pathological situation was indulged in. Options on four sites have been secured and a neat sum has been subscribed. A committee consisting of Messrs. Rust, Michod, Dickel, Hutchinson and Adams was appointed to solicit subscriptions. A representative citizen will be sent to Sacramento to espouse our claims for the station. At latest accounts the outlook for this city securing the laboratory was very bright.

Dr. Beebe was in attendance upon the meeting and addressed the director upon the inauguration of a night telephone service. It would be a benefit to the medico-legal fraternity, and in fact to many other lines of business, to have night service with the contiguous country. In order to secure the service about 100 more subscribers would have to be secured. A committee consisting of Drs. Beebe and Adams, H. A. Dickel, Wm. Falkenstein and John Hartung was appointed to solicit subscribers. It also will be the aim of the committee to have the day service improved. "I am heartily in favor of the night service," said a director, "but would like very much to have day service first." Others were of the same opinion.

The chamber voted to expend $15 for advertising literature concerning this city furnished by a Mr. Boyer. Several communications making inquiries concerning this section were received.

There were present Directors Ahlborn, Michod, Adams, Wallop, Miller and Dr. Adams.

Pathological Station

Subscription lists have been out continuously during the week and yesterday President Ahlborn of the chamber of commerce said the full amount of $1000 would probably be raised by the end of the week.

The departure of Messrs. Walker and Neff for Sacramento, to present Anaheim's claims before the governor, has been delayed for a few days pending the securing of the amount necessary to purchase the site.

They will probably leave for the north in the course of a week or so.

BUENA PARK

Easter services were observed in the Congregational church in more elaborate manner than ever before. Rev. Corbin preached a masterful sermon. The congregation listened with great pleasure to selections from Elijah divinely sung by Mrs. John Perry, the gifted contralto. Mrs. Perry is the possessor of a voice of unusual sweetness and power, and endeared herself to the large assemblage. The church choir, composed of Harry Whitaker, Edw. Angell, Miss Sloane and Miss Marjorie Speidel, sang sweet anthems. Mrs. Corbin and Mrs. Lovett played the piano accompaniments. The church was tastefully decorated with beautiful flowers and the services will long be remembered with befitting reverence.

An entertainment and concert will be given in the near future in the school hall to raise funds for the payment of the organ recently installed in the Congregational church.

Harry Whitaker and two sons leave Saturday for the west forks on the San Gabriel river, north of Wilson peak, for a few days trout fishing. The season opens May 1st and Harry never misses a yearly trip to the stream which is classed as one of the best for trout fishing.

A despatcher from the division superintendent's office of S. P. has been over the line this week interviewing agents and their assistants and stopped off to call upon Agent Kennedy. The semi-annual visits of the despatcher is a new venture and he comes to enlighten attaches in the multiplicity of duties, of which new ones are constantly cropping out.

The construction crew of the electric railway are at present at work this side of Artesia on their way to Santa Ana. The work is being pushed rapidly and the electric gong will soon be heard in the land.

Fletcher Thompson, one of the best known residents of this section, died at his home in the Cypress district at 2 o'clock on Tuesday morning. Death was caused by stomach trouble and a complication of disorders, of which he had suffered for years. Mr. Thompson had lived in this section and on his ranch at Laguna in this county for thirty years, and had a wide circle of acquaintances throughout the county. The funeral occurred at Santa Ana on Wednesday.

N. I. McKaughan, an authority on horses, is raising some of the finest colts to be seen here, and will have a string of them to go on the track in the near future.

Jim Millikin's cozy cottage is nearing completion.

Dr. James R. Walker of Pine Ridge, South Dakota, brother of S. O. Walker of the Park, is visiting that gentleman.

Chas. L. Damron was a visitor to the county seat on Tuesday.

Harry Sloane has returned from Michigan where he has been attending medical college and will locate in this county.

Mexican Colonists

A number of gentlemen interested in a Mexican colony scheme, which Rex Cayce has been promoting for some months past, met in Judge Howard's office on Saturday evening and selected J. N. Long and Bob Sparks to go to Mexico and inspect the lands offered the colonists.

About 100 colonists in this county and elsewhere in Southern California have paid $25 each for the purchase of these lands, which are situated in Chiapas. Long and Sparks contemplate leaving for Mexico within a few days.

First Cherries

Sacramento, April 22.—The first full carload of cherries was shipped for New York today by the California fruit distributors. This is the earliest shipment of a carload of cherries in the history of the state by about two weeks. Now that warm weather has come again cherries will go forward in large quantities.

The first carload of "new crop" strawberries was shipped from Florin, Sacramento county, today. Strawberries in smaller consignments have been going forward for three weeks.

The nineteen carloads of asparagus from Antioch passed Sacramento for Chicago and New York today, the demand there being very great at fancy prices.

Meeting of City Trustees

The Board of Trustees met in regular session on Tuesday evening. Present, Messrs. Rust, Schwenckert and Berdrow.

Street Supt. Steadman reported the laying of 180 feet of 2-inch water pipe to residences of Prof. Fruh and Misses Aubert on Los Angeles street. Hauling dirt for filling in purposes on highways. Approved.

Recommended by street superintendent that cement sidewalks built by C. Schindler on Center and Hermine streets be accepted. So ordered.

Public Improvement committee reported the barn at power house put in order and teams now will be better housed.

Committee on hitching racks reported objection by residents to placing rack on Lemon street lot. Sites in rear of city hall and on the Deutch property were suggested. Berdrow said one on each end of town would be good thing. More time to committee.

In regard to gas company laying pipes on streets not now in their franchise. Opinion of City Attorney Melrose, company must secure new franchise, and to make arrangement necessary for expenses in such cases.

Deed from J. Nemetz to city for sidewalk received and approved by attorney. Accepted. To be recorded.

Marshal Steadman investigated McFarland's horse hotel. He found no sick horses. Once a poor horse had driven from Long Beach had been taken in and it subsequently died. "He expected sick horse there and perhaps some would die," so quote the marshal. No action.

J. D. Heitschman addressed a letter to the council asking for a retail liquor license. He stated further he would build a nice brick building for his business and would bring his family here to live. Would build residence. It would appear that Mr. Heitschman is a man of means and no doubt would be desirable acquisition to our society. But just recently the trustees put a limit upon saloons. We have seven. Messrs. Schwenckert and Rust looked upon the request with disfavor. Berdrow rather inclined to favor it. The ordinance could be repealed, the new man would pay the expense. The council wavered and diplomatically passed it up until such time when a full board would be present.

Petition presented by Rev. John Berg asking for an arc lamp at intersection of Lemon and Broadway. The same request had been made before. The cost for arcs is quite high, and several are in the neighborhood. It was decided to install a thirtytwo. That will help some.

Jos. Hatfield wrote asking to change location of his fruit emporium from its present stand to a point on Center place just opposite Nagle's. Granted.

F. J. Decker of Los Angeles wrote asking permission to erect a wooden structure on Lemon street, to be used as an implement store. To the next meeting.

Clerk Merritt reported collection of $30 from the Eagles for privilege of holding picnic April 30. The marshal wants some deputies. Now, don't all you fellows speak at once!

It was ordered that W. E. Shannon and Ben Lensing be appointed drivers of city teams during pleasure of the board.

Mr. Beals of the gas house builders asked for the loan of city oil wagon. In addition will buy load of oil; price $1 per barrel. Granted.

This is the time of year when people should clean up their premises. The clerk was instructed to so notify the citizens. Everybody get busy!

Street superintendent to look up hours of street sprinkler.

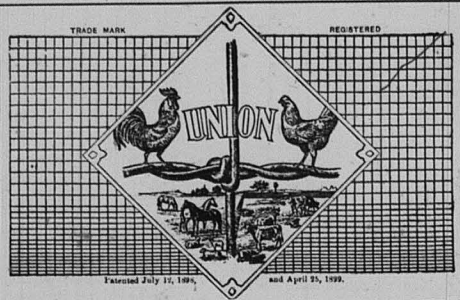

N. Hart desires to put in cesspool in rear of his building next city hall. Would like city to stand half lot and half expense. Further time.

It was reported Lemon street near powerhouse was in bad shape, the street being higher than sidewalk. Will have to wait until treasury gets financially better.

Public improvement committee is to look over the sidewalk field with a view of making additions.

Bills to amount of $105 20 were ordered paid. Adjourned.

Gus and Hugo Strodthoff, Dr. Houck, F. Yungbluth, and the Misses Adelle Strodthoff, Olga Zeus, Marie Egge and Hettie Weisel of this city and Miss Jepsen of Los Angeles spent Sunday at the county park and at Modjeska ranch.

Death of Mrs. Sherman

Mrs. R. K. Sherman died at her home on the Garden Grove road on Friday morning from the effects of a dose of morphine taken with suicidal intent. Mrs. Sherman was discovered in the loft of the barn at her home on Thursday evening after a search for her lasting all that day and previous night. A doctor was summoned at once, but of no avail. She wandered away on Wednesday afternoon while suffering from mental aberration and was not found until next day. She had been subject to melancholia since the death of her husband a year ago. Not long ago she attempted to take her life by poisoning. On Wednesday last she came to town accompanied by her daughter. While the latter was in a store she drove off. Later the horse and buggy were found north of this city. There was no trace however of the unfortunate woman. Diligent search was kept up for her through the night, without avail. As stated, at noon next day she was found in the barn loft. Without doubt she had only been there a short time and had evidently spent the entire night out. Deceased was 55 years of age and left a family of children. The funeral occurred on Saturday afternoon.

When Will the Land Frauds Be Stopped?

The biggest of the land frauds, involving the highest public officials in some of the western states, and untold acreages of land would form after all but a passing nine days' wonder with the busy populace were it not for the fact that their ramifications are so extensive that as fast as one set of men is indicted the investigations of the government bring forth another brood of frauds.

The government land frauds of the west is a question, however, of far deeper significance than the mere matter of the illegal acquirement during the past few years of some public lands or timber, by private individuals, corporations or government officials. The question is, will the present prosecutions affect the system. Not one iota. The cases being pushed are those in which the government sleuths think there is a possibility of obtaining conviction. The great mass and majority of equally great frauds will never be heard from outside of their immediate localities. The reason for this is that such frauds have been legal—frauds committed entirely within the law.

But how can a land fraud be legal? An instance: The legislature of Georgia granted some three million acres of land to certain syndicates. The grant became a law. Subsequently it was discovered that all the members of the legislature who voted for the grant were members of the various syndicates which secured the land; but the title nevertheless was declared good. This was legalized fraud. So in the west. The timber and stone law, the desert land law and the commutation clause of the homestead law, are in themselves and the regulations under which they are administered, fraud laws and while their letter may be observed their spirit can be violated and the men who receive government patents under them, in the great majority of cases, have no right in equity to the land. The laws themselves must be revised if honesty is to be expected in land matters.

CLEANING OUT THE AUGEAN STABLES.

The present activities of the secretary of the interior in cleaning out the Oregon land frauds recalls a little incident which occurred some twenty years ago when Mayor Henry of Oakland, Cal., was inducted into office. There had been much rottenness in the municipal administration and a spasm of disgust sweeping over the town, Henry was elected on a ticket pledged to reform. The memory of the mayor-elect on questions of mythology and early history was a bit rusty and Bryant's stately tread in Thanatopsis—"I lose myself in the continuous woods where rolls the Oregon and hear no sound save his own dashings" evidently became confused in his mind with one of the great labors of Hercules, for in his inaugural address, after roasting the outgoing administration to a turn, he promised a new order of things and told the boys, that he proposed, in a word, to clean out the Oregon stables.

HARDSHIP ON IRRIGATORS

Interior Department Anxious to Reduce Cost of Dam Construction

[CORRESPONDENCE OF THE GAZETTE]

Washington, D. C., April 23.—The sensation searchers have endeavored to put a venal phase on the action of the secretary of the interior and the director of the geological survey in securing special railroad rates for the material used in the construction of government irrigation works in the west.

Comptroller Tracewell of the treasury department holds that the transaction is in opposition to the interstate commerce act, in that it violates the rebate clause. Secretary Hitchcock and Director Walcott of the geological survey have been acting in this matter entirely in the interests of the irrigation farmers and they maintain with that they are entirely within the law while the reduced rates arranged with the railroads enables contractors to do the work cheaper than otherwise. In fact the government specifications particularly call attention to the reduced transportation rates in order that the government may get the benefit of the lowest bids. The matter is to be referred to the attorney-general.

It is to be hoped that the special railroad rates can be allowed as desired by the interior department, which now has under project works which will cost some 30 million dollars and the irrigation service states that by securing these lower rates, which the railroads are willing to grant, there will be a saving in construction cost of a million dollars within the next seven years.

The press dispatches have omitted the significant fact that it is not a question of the government saving this money. They have stated in fact that it is a government saving and Comptroller Tracewell discusses the subject with the idea in view that the government is trying to save for itself a little money. If this million dollars can be saved through railroad concessions, it will be a direct saving of that amount to the farmers and settlers who are to make homes or have already established homes on the irrigated lands, and who under the irrigation law must pay back to the government the cost of the construction of the irrigation works. The appropriation for the government irrigation works is in the nature of a loan to the farmers to be paid back at the end of ten years, the government at the same time improving its property and making it habitable and productive. For this reason and because there is no question of competitive rates which injure anyone, it is to be hoped that a way will be found out of the difficulty discovered by Comptroller Tracewell.

Timber Land Scrippers Foiled

The absolute repeal of the forest reserve lieu selection law in the closing days of the last session of congress dropped like a bomb into the camp of the speculators in western timber lands, leaving them, by a stroke of the pen, practically out of a job.

The repeal completely kills what is known as the "scrip" business and leaves out in the cold a large number of speculators with these forest reserve selection rights, or as it is commonly termed, scrip, worthless upon their hands. Many others who have been buying up cheap and worthless lands in what they believed would soon be included in forest reserves, with the purpose of exchanging these lands for valuable government timber lands, have found themselves badly scooped.

The somewhat amusing feature of the situation lay in the fact that one-half of the scrippers did not know what had happened. The law was repealed by an act entitled "an act to prohibit the selection of timber lands in lieu of lands in forest reserves."

This bill passed the house last year and coming over to the senate was amended in committee by Senator Hansbrough and variously chopped to pieces and added to until finally an amendment offered by Senator Nelson was adopted simply cutting off the dog's tail immediately behind the ears, and wiping the entire law off the statute book—a far different action than that originally intended or than indicated in the title of the bill.

The repeal of this law is believed to be one of the best moves in land reform and will prevent the recurrence of such crimes as the Benson frauds. G. E. M.

Extinct California Plants

Prof. Willis L. Jepson of the Botanical department of the university of California, who has been granted a year's leave of absence by the board of regents, will spend the whole of the time in travel abroad in Europe and the tropics gathering material for the botanical museum at Berkeley. The most interesting feature of his visit in the British Isles will be the gathering of California plants, which are now extinct here. In the early days of European occupation of this continent, explorers collected rare specimens of plants now out of existence here. These are now to be found in the museums of London and Dublin and at the Kew gardens, where specimens will be secured by Prof. Jepson.

A new experiment in the industrial management of convicts is to be tried in Massachusetts. Instead of employing them in manufacturing goods it is proposed to set the convicts to reclaiming waste land.

THE PRODUCTION OF MAPLE SUGAR

Bureau of Forestry Seeks to Develop and Extend the Industry

The Bureau of Forestry has been studying the maple sugar industry with the view of securing a larger use of the maple forests. Since 1850 the area of maple sugar farming has greatly changed and shrunk. In early days maple sugar was commonly made, even in many parts of the south, because cane sugar was virtually unobtainable. No longer is there even a limited production in South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas. This is because cane sugar can now be bought everywhere at a low price, and is preferred to maple sugar for sweetening. In Indiana, Michigan and Illinois the maple trees have been extensively cut for lumber, thus reducing the opportunity for tree tapping. In those states also the markets are glutted with imitations, which removes the incentive to extending the industry. In other states as in western Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio, New York and in New England the maple sugar industry has held its own or been increased.

The best sap flow is secured in the color northern states, yet good results can be expected in most of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, in western Maryland, all of Indiana and Kentucky, eastern Tennessee and Western North Carolina. At present the largest producers of sugar maple products are Ohio, Vermont and New York. The sugar and black maples yield the most and the best sap, although some other species of maple may be worked to advantage when neither of these is available.

The maple is a hardy and vigorous tree and readily reproduces itself, so there need be no fear of failure of sap supply. For sap production the all important consideration is for the tree to have a full and heavy crown. Yet it should also grow under forest conditions which maintain a ground cover of litter and humus.

As a result of the study recently made, definite directions for the management and improvement of existing groves and for the establishment of new ones in suitable localities and under different conditions, have been prepared and will soon be published. Many valuable data regarding the profit in making maple sugar were also collected. From these it appears that a farmer can easily clear about $3 an acre from a sugar grove. The expenses in this estimate are placed at a maximum; all the labor and hauling are charged in at market rates, though as a matter of fact the sugar season falls at a time when the farmer has little other employment for himself or his horses. In actual practice for the farmer who can do most of his own work the profit should be considerably larger. And the land thus utilized will yield little or nothing under any other use.

The old method of collecting the sap by making a diagonal cut in the tree was abandoned long ago because it injured the tree so that it could be worked for but a few years. The approved practice now is to bore a hole one inch deep and three-eighths of an inch in diameter into the sunny side of trees over 12 inches in diameter, and to make but one hole in each tree, except possibly where the trees are especially large and productive. Vast improvements have also been made in appliances for handling the sap and boiling it down to sugar and sirup.

Maple trees now furnish but a small per cent of the commercial maple sirup and sugar. While the demand for both these commodities has constantly increased the output from maple trees has decreased during the last twenty years. The trade has been supplied only by radically adulterating the pure goods, or by manufacturing a product entirely from foreign materials. It is conservatively estimated that seven-eighths of what is sold as maple sirup and sugar is a spurious article. Most of the fabrications are entirely harmless, but they are not the real thing. Those fortunate enough to have eaten the genuine article will always demand it, and conditions should be such that they may get it, if they are willing to pay the price.

How Farmers Built Railroad

In a recent number of World's Work appeared an interesting article giving an account of how the farmers of Ramsey county, North Dakota, built a railroad without the aid of outside or borrowed capital. These farmers hauled their grain—often a distance of twenty-five miles—to Devil's Lake, the county seat, through which the Great Northern railway passed. It kept the farmers hauling grain all winter. They asked James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway, to build a branch line from Devil's Lake up through their section. Mr. Hill said he could not build. Six of the largest farmers met at a school house. One of them was Joseph Kelley, who owned 900 acres of land, and who hauled his wheat fifteen miles to Devil's Lake. Mr. Kelley said, "If the Great Northern won't build, we will build." And the farmers built a railroad twenty-five miles long.

They asked every farmer who hauled grain to Devil's Lake to subscribe. Some subscribed $25, others $500. They raised $50,000. They sent a farmer to Duluth to buy ties, another to St. Paul to buy old rails. A land promoter was building a small branch line out of Devil's Lake to the south and they got him to survey the road. They hired section hands to lay the track. But they needed more money. They bought land along the line and laid out three towns, sold the lots and used the money to buy an old en-

BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION CURED BY THE DORF'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

Because the liver is neglected people suffer with constipation, biliousness, headaches and fevers. Colds attack the lungs and contagious diseases take hold of the system. It is safe to say that if the liver were always kept in proper working order, illness would be almost unknown.

The Dorf's Black-Draught is so successful in curing such sickness because it is without a rival as a liver regulator. This great family medicine is not a strong and drastic drug, but a mild and healthful laxative that cures constipation and may be taken by a mere child without possible harm.

The healthful action on the liver cures biliousness. It has an invigorating effect on the kidneys. Because the liver and kidneys do not work regularly, the poisonous acids along with the waste from the bowels get back into the blood and virulent contagion results.

Timely treatment with The Dorf's Black-Draught removes the dangers which lurk in constipation, liver and kidney troubles, and will positively forestall the inroads of Bright's disease, for which disease in advanced stages there is no cure. Ask your dealer for a 25c. package of The Dorf's Black-Draught.

gine, a day coach, and four boxcars from the Great Northern.

Then the road was started. It will stop for any farmer at any place. Last year the road made its expenses; it hauled 60,000 bushels of wheat. This year with the railroad at hand the farmers planted more wheat and the road will haul 2,000,000 bushels.

Mistakes of the Farmer

The farmer makes irretrievable mistakes through want of knowledge of his trade. Were the city tradesman to know as little of his vocation as the farmer does of his he could command no salary above that of the laborer. As a matter of fact the farmer has a large allowance to his credit by the immense profit in his business. Indeed, should the country or city merchant conduct his business in the slip shod manner that the farmer does he would not be doing business long.

The average farmer is cultivating 160 acres. In the west he will put his land into wheat. He does not figure the cost of keeping horses, of buying and paying for machinery, or the seed, the plowing, and the harvesting. He does not see that while he is getting perhaps ten bushels per acre, which at 70 cents per bushel will bring him $7 per acre, that the entire product has cost him in labor, machinery, seed, horses, etc., in the neighborhood of $6 per acre.

He scarcely ever stops to think that his land is his capital stock and that it should be made to bring the best results. He does not understand that onions yielding 700 to 1000 bushels per acre and selling for $1 50 per bushel can be given consideration, yet one acre of such crops will yield him more than his whole crop of grain. He does not understand why spring chickens and ducks hatched by incubators on an investment of $100 will bring him $1000 in a single season. In fact the understanding of the average farmer is past finding out. But when the western farmer does wake up to his possibilities he will become wealthy in a short time and a financial power in the community. This can come only when he exercises business methods.

To encourage working people to establish a home of their own, far away Norway has founded a bank for workmen. It lends money at 3 and 4 per cent and gives the borrower forty-two years in which to pay the loan. The total cost of this house must not exceed $800 and the area of land must not be more than five acres.

Shortage in Prune Crop

A. D. Porter of J. K. Armsby & Co., A. Rosenberg of Rosenberg & Co. and Mr. Blum, the packer of Vacaville, say that the prune crop of California this year, in all the principal districts, will range only one-quarter to one-half of the California seasonal output.

Various theories are given to supply an explanation for the phenomenon. One is that rains kept the flowers back and prevented perfect pollination, and the fruit therefore fell prematurely. Another theory is that insects have caused the damage. Small fruit that represented millions of pounds of mature prunes has fallen in a week. The loss cannot yet well be estimated.

One night recently a bullet from a 22 calibre rifle crashed through a large window in the parlor of County Assessor Vegeley's home at Santa Ana. Fortunately there was no one in the room at the time and the only damage done by the bullet was the breaking of the glass. Can it be possible that the terrorists are after Frank?

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 50 Warren St., N.Y. The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

THE WATER SUPPLY

Night irrigation and pumping plants sealed the doom of the water bonds on Saturday. A large assemblage of stockholders was present, and while not a sufficient number of shares were represented to constitute a quorum, a slight effort upon the part of those present to procure a quorum would undoubtedly have resulted in bringing about that condition of affairs. Why was this not done? Because of the apparent antipathy of irrigators on this side of the district, first, to pumping plants, and, second, to night irrigation. Northside irrigators have for years been provided with reservoir facilities, and thus do their irrigating in day time, avoiding the worries and inconveniences of night irrigation. Southside irrigators have not had this convenience in handling water, but have to respond to the zanjero's call at any hour of the day or night. This works a hardship upon them, and is entirely unjust and unfair. They resolved against a large bond issue until this matter was righted. The meeting resolved to provide a reservoir for the southside irrigators, and thus equalize the systems of irrigation on both sides of the district.

While irrigators on the southside opposed pumping plants, they will probably forego much of their objection to them in the event of the construction of a reservoir suitable for their purposes. Advocates of pumping plants urge their construction on the ground that more water is absolutely demanded, and yet thousands of inches have been permitted to run to waste in the river this year, when if a reservoir had been built this vast flow would have been impounded and used by the irrigator.

How can water be more easily "developed" than by the construction of the Yorba reservoir? Is not this plan of conserving flood waters cheaper than lifting water by means of pumps? How is Redlands developing water? By reservoirs. How is San Diego providing water for irrigation? By reservoirs. How is the United States government going about to provide water for reclaiming the arid west? By constructing reservoirs.

The Anaheim Union Water company has data on file proving the availability of the Yorba reservoir site for water-impounding purposes. Judging by the temper of local irrigators there will be no issue of bonds for other improvements, until this reservoir is built, or another one provided which will answer all practical purposes.

Again, with the construction of this reservoir, 1100 acres of new land could be irrigated, and data on file at the water office shows this area could be very largely increased. But with even 1000 acres added to the company's domain, having a share of stock per acre, an amount exceeding $50,000 could be realized by the sale of new stock; enough to pay for the reservoir. Why does not the company go ahead on these lines? Let another election be called, and let provision be made for doing away with night water in this end of the district, and bonds for improvements will carry with a whoop.

ANAHEIM has 2600 shares of stock in the water company, out of a total of 8000. This should entitle us to at least two members of the board of directors. At present the stockholders have one. Let us at the next election stand for two directors who shall pledge themselves to see that no bonded indebtedness be fastened upon the company until the abomination of night irrigation be made a thing of the past.

If it be the purpose of the directors of the water company to develop more water, how can that be brought about more easily than by constructing a reservoir and impounding the water which is now permitted to run to waste in the river bed?

American Consul General Parsons has commenced an investigation of the alleged colonial schemes of the Pan American land company, in Chiapas. Numerous complaints have been filed with the consul-general. Induced by advertisements of the company, farmers of Western Texas, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Washington came to Chiapas at their own expense to investigate. It is alleged that the Pan-American land company bought 10,000 acres from the state government for $5000 and by advertising sold town lots for over $375,000 gold. The advertisements pictured comfortable homes being erected and extensive railroad shops and cultivated lands.

The investigators found the few railroad buildings were being removed to better towns, Geronimo and Tola, and claim the so-called cultivated lands were a sandy waste, a creek a few inches deep instead of a navigable river and the only available harbor some distance out in the Pacific ocean. The consul-general has summoned the officers of the company at Kansas City to appear at Mexico city to show cause why they should not be barred from further use of the United States mail, as well as why they should not stop all further operations.

Orange Market Brisk

New York, April 21.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Probably no one ever saw a better market for California oranges than has ruled during the past week. There have been some slight fluctuations, but they haven't made any particular difference with the exact situation. Sales have been almost uniformly active and relatively high prices have prevailed. And at the close of the week the conditions governing the market are far more satisfactory than has been the case for many weeks. Looking forward, there is every indication of a continuance of the present satisfactory state of the market. Auctions at the close showed a sharp upward tendency, particularly upon the better qualities, while buyers were ready to take almost everything offered without questioning price too closely.

The orange market in this city is dependent upon the weather to a great extent. The past week has been sunny and some of the time as warm as summer. At noon the vast office buildings poured out their throngs who long for a breath of air after the long confinement of the winter, and they have swarmed up and down Broadway between 12 o'clock and 2. That always means liberal sales of fruit. Generally the pushcart men are lined up in cross streets waiting for just this throng of people, and the result is that retail sales are always liberal at good prices.

A sudden demand sprung up for small navels within the past ten days, and particularly during the past week. With many consumers it is more a case of quantity than actual quality, and if they get three oranges for 5 cents they are quite as well satisfied, better, probably, than they are to buy one exceptionally good one for the same money.

Banker Wolvine of Los Angeles was in town a day or two looking over the banking situation.

Mrs. Henry Kuchel and young son departed yesterday for a visit with relatives at Phoenix.

Miss Rosa Blanchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cassou, returned on Saturday from San Francisco after a three months' visit with relatives.

The Ladies' Guild of St. Michaels, Anaheim, will meet with Mrs. des Granges, Placentia, Thursday, May 4. S. M. Dearing, Secretary.

Tomy Diedrichs and wife were agreeably surprised on Monday afternoon by their friends and neighbors. The occasion was their "tin" anniversary.

C. C. Chapman of Fullerton attended the banquet tendered by citizens of Riverside to Prof. Powell in that city on Monday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Max B. Fitch (formerly Miss Estelle Lewis) of Socorro, New Mex., is visiting with relatives in Los Angeles and will remain for a month or two.

The Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fay. All members and ladies of the congregation are invited to attend.

A. Nagle has received a shipment of varnish which he has placed on display at his establishment. The new goods look o. k. and Willie Kogler is just aching to tell you all about it.

Mrs. O. Egge and daughter, Miss Marie Egge, who have been guests of the Zeus family for several months, will leave today for their home at Grand Island, Neb.

A force of mechanics is engaged in remodeling the new First National bank building. A new vault and safety boxes will be installed. The bank will not move into its new quarters before July.

J. Barnes Newell of Pittsburg was a guest this week of Frank Shanley. Mr. Newell is at the head of a safe manufacturing concern, and is in Southern California for the purpose of establishing an agency in Los Angeles.

T. A. Darling was set upon by a bevy of bees on Tuesday near the Southern Pacific depot and severely stung about the neck and hands. He suffered great pain during the night and yesterday, and will invoke the law in order to effect their removal outside city limits.

The Longfellow entertainment was given in the operahouse Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Presbyterian C. E. Society. The program was good and was listened to by an appreciative audience. There were songs and tableaux and scenes from Evangeline and Hiawatha. The courtship of Miles Standish was interesting. Credit is due the Misses Aubert for the training they gave the young people and in making the entertainment a success.

H. F. Kielbier is building a 50-horse power pumping plant on his place near the railroad crossing on West Broadway; W. W. Mickle is installing a 35-horse power plant on his ranch at the south line of the city and expects to lift 100 inches of water; and two deep wells are being drilled on the old Wagner place at the east end of Center street for a large pumping plant. There are at the present time upward of 200 pumping plants in successful operation here.

Peter Rotheamel died April 14th at his home, corner Sycamore and Los Angeles streets, of diabetes, aged 52 years. Mr. Rotheamel came here from Ontario several months ago, having traded hotel property there for an orange orchard at this point. A fortnight since he complained of an affection of the foot. Dr. Smith of Los Angeles was telegraphed for, and meantime, the patient becoming worse, Dr. Johnston was called. He found the patient to be suffering with gangrene, and gave it as his opinion that amputation was necessary. The operation was performed the next day by Dr. Smith. The patient died the following day. The remains were interred at Ontario, where the family resided before moving here.

Deceased leaves a wife and a grown-up son and daughter to mourn his loss.

Charles Federman made a flying trip to the angelic burg yesterday.

Mrs. Nagle entertained the Miercoles club at her home yesterday afternoon.

O. W. Strudthoff returned some days ago from a business trip to San Francisco.

Mrs. Johnson of the Needles is here visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Marlon of West Anaheim.

M. L. Reynolds arrived this week from Nebraska with an intention of locating. He is a son-in-law of T. W. Dean.

Pat Seale has been on a parade to Los Angeles for some days past, attending the grand opera, riding on the street cars and having a way-up time.

The Anaheim band gave an open-air concert Saturday evening in front of Dickel's, a large crowd being in attendance. The band is rapidly becoming one of the best in the country.

The Spanish club will give a social dance on May 6th. The function is in charge of the following committee: Ed Bustamante, Paschal Daniels, S. Portillo, Antonio Gaxiola, M. A. Andra-tha, floor manager.

E. R. Reynolds was in town Saturday from the Chapman ranch, where he is engaged in the assorting department. Mr. Reynolds recently came from the east where he was engaged in issuing a newspaper.

Mr. Jorry is shipping some fine strawberries to the San Diego market. The crop, owing to cloudy weather, is backward, but Mr. Jorry believes with the return of sunshine a large yield of berries will result.

The Misses Barnes of Pittsburg who have been guests of Mrs. Shanley for some weeks past left yesterday for San Francisco for a short stay. They were accompanied by their nephew, J. Barnes Newell. Mrs. Shanley accompanied them as far as Los Angeles.

Chas. Federman has purchased from his brother, Sam Federman, the lot at the southwest corner of Center and Claudina streets. He will in the near future erect a large two-story business block, part of which he will occupy himself and the other part rent for stores and offices.

E. W. McCollum has placed on exhibition in his show window a curiosity in the shape of a high wheel which he avers was brought over in the ark. Alongside of it is one of Mac's new wheels, the design being to show the difference in makes of wheels at present in use and those in use before the flood.

Some miscreant has been engaged in the spiteful work of tearing down Stook & Schwenker's quarter-sheets, which the firm has been tacking up about the city. This is underhanded practice and should the guilty party be caught he will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Mrs. Mitchell was in town Friday and made final arrangements for the erection of a brick building on her lot adjoining her present block on Center street. Mrs. Mitchell will leave next month on the Cook's excursion for a pleasure trip to Europe and the scenes of her childhood, to be absent several months.

Jake Stern on Saturday traded 80 acres of land situate eleven miles from San Diego for Al. Bittner's fourteen acre place on West Center street. He also assumed a mortgage amounting to $2500 held by Henry Oelkers. Final papers were signed on that day, and Mr. Oelkers was paid the amount of his loan. Bittner goes to San Diego this week to look at his new property.

Hiram W. Smith, purchaser of the Adams place on east Center street, has arrived from Los Angeles, accompanied by his wife, son and daughter. Mr. Smith has devoted attention to the real estate business. He is a divine healer and states he has made many instantaneous cures of long standing and aggravated ailments.

Jas. J. Gee, an old time Los Angeles newspaper man, one time foreman of the Times composing room, and at present soliciting for the Examiner, was in town this week on a brief business mission. Mr. Gee is one of the best known newspaper men in Southern California, and has been connected with the press of the south for a quarter of a century.

The Young Americas defeated the Orange nine on Sunday afternoon, the score standing 15 to 3. Teddy Dickel and Billy Fischer formed the battery for the Americas and Morrison was in the box for the lads across the river. The boys were not in trim and did not put up the game they usually do. Jack Burnett umpired and not a kick was coming.

Census Marshal Hatfield is nearing the end of his labors in this school district. He reports a considerable increase in census children.

George Hatfield writes his parents from San Francisco that he arrived safely, and will shortly leave for an extensive cruise to Asiatic waters.

Orphans to the number of one hundred and twenty from St. Catherine's Academy enjoyed an outing at Athletic park on Tuesday morning, flying kites and having a good time.

J. Hahn took a trip over to Norwalk on Monday to look at "First Past," owned by Atwood Sproul, and a winner of many races. The horse is reputed to be one of the best bred in the state.

F. Maude of Chicago, general eastern agent of the Southern California fruit exchange, was in town on Tuesday in consultation with fruit shippers. Mr. Maude is making a tour of Southern California fruit growing centers and was very favorably impressed with this section of the southland.

Chester Holcomb departed on Saturday for Thermal, expecting to return in two weeks. Subscription lists for the new Commercial Bank and Trust company, of which he will probably be cashier, are in circulation and sufficient stock has been subscribed to insure the establishment of the institution.

The case of Henry M. Adams, trustee, against E. M. Kraemer, is now on trial in the Superior Court. Suit is brought to set aside a deed made by Kraemer to M. Neipp and recorded a month before Kraemer entered into bankruptcy. Kraemer owes creditors $1500. Melrose and Spencer represent Adams, H. W. Chynoweth represents Neipp, and Tipton & Callor appear for Kraemer.

Mrs. Berringer writes from Las Vegas, the new mining town of Nevada, to her daughter, Mrs. E. Bentz, that, contrary to her expectation, she found on arrival that the town had no houses and she was compelled to purchase a tent. This she fitted up as a boarding house, and the day after her arrival she was offered an advance of $50 over her purchase price for the place. She refused to sell, and is making plans for erecting a frame building to be used for hotel purposes.

C. W. Spooner has sold his lemon ranch west of town to Wm. McLaughlin of Riverside, who has arrived with his family and taken up his residence. The consideration is not made public, but is in excess of reports placing it at $18,000. Mr. Spooner will go to Los Angeles, where he intends resuming the practice of law. His sister, Mrs. Smith, goes to Riverside to reside. Their leave-taking will cause regret among their many friends here.

Mr. McLaughlin is an experienced orange grower of Riverside who has made a success of the industry in that section. He contemplates many improvements, and will become a desirable acquisition to the population of the neighborhood.

George Bauer ceased laboring in his vineyard long enough the other day to come to town for a load of hay. Besides caring for his twenty acres of grapes, George usually raises his own hay but this year he finds himself a little short on horse fodder. George's vineyard is looking fine now since the elusive rabbit has been compelled to give way to the march of civilization east of town, thereby precluding the necessity for the early morning round to plug up holes in the fences, and George avers he and his father have a picnic in consequence. Occasionally a hunter hoves in sight with the interrogation, What's the matter, there are no more rabbits out this way? to which George laconically replies, Very sorry, my friend, but I'm glad of it. George used to be a typo but since turning vineyardist, he is piling up the long green in great shape.

Alex Henry will within a few days move into his new $7000 residence west of town, upon which a force of mechanics have been engaged for several months. The building has been built after Mr. Henry's own ideas of what constitutes a comfortable home, and has already attracted visitors from far and near. The residence will be lighted by electricity and gas, which latter is manufactured on the place, and will be connected with the West End telephone system. Mr. Henry is marketing his orange crop at topnotch figures and seems entirely satisfied with conditions of the market. Mr. Henry has in view a project for housing one of his orange trees and submitting it to electric illumination at night from the time the fruit set until Christmas holidays. He believes the experiment will prove that by means of artificial light, in addition to the sun's rays, fruit will color more quickly and be ready for fancy prices ruling for holiday fruit.

Tempest In a Teapot

News leaked out this week of a bit of a tempest in a teapot among directors of the water company, and which the press censor withheld from the public. It seems that at a recent meeting Supt. Porter was instructed to replace the cement ditch in front of Mr. Chapman's residence with a vitrified pipe. Chapman offered to stand a generous share of the expense. At a subsequent meeting this action was rescinded, but before the superintendent could be advised of this action he gathered a gang of men and began tearing out the ditch.

At this moment Sherwood appeared upon the scene, demanding of Porter by what right he was destroying the company's property.

Porter replied he had instructions in his inside pocket for the work he was carrying on.

Sherwood ordered him to stop. Porter refused to recognize Sherwood as the whole thing, and proceeded with the work.

Sherwood went before the Fullerton justice of the peace and averred he wished to swear out a warrant for Porter's arrest. However when the justice demanded fees to the amount of $150, Sherwood, so the story goes, weakened, and Porter proceeded with his work.

Hale and Sherwood are said to have had quite a heated argument over the matter at a subsequent board meeting.

"Blind Pig" Men Warned

An ultimatum was delivered to keepers of "blind pigs" in Santa Ana on Saturday, when George A. Edgar, chairman of the City Trustees, and John Cubbon, a member of the newly elected board, accompanied by Marshal Maxwell, both elected at the recent election, visited restaurants, drug stores and other places where liquor is popularly known to be sold in violation of the prohibitory ordinance and warned the proprietors that henceforth the law would be enforced to the letter and that there will be no further temporizing. At a few of the places where the proprietors were absent another visit will be paid Monday.

The committee wet with good-natured reception at all of the places visited and in every instance the promise was given to conform with the law.

Chairman Edgar of the board of Trustees, has made the following statement of the case: "Our visit today was in the nature of a warning to places which are known to have been disposing of liquors illegally. The new board is determined to enforce the law and we will make the town as dry as the ordinance contemplates. Next Monday evening an amendment to the present ordinance will be introduced requiring physicians to make affidavits with every prescription for liquor, stating that the patient needs the liquor for medicinal purposes.

This will be done to protect the physicians, who are now called upon to give prescriptions without discrimination. The drug stores will also be required to keep the prescriptions on file subject to examination by any authorized official. We anticipate a hearty compliance with the new rule. No opposition was met with today and in one case where several barrels of beer had been received from Los Angeles yesterday the promise was made to send it back tomorrow."

Grow All The Year Round

Vegetable growing offers opportunities in California as an all-the-year-round pursuit, says an article issued by the California Promotion Committee. While there are best planting and best harvesting months for the various vegetables, yet in the valley and foothill regions of the state many of the well liked vegetables can be either planted or harvested any month in the year. Indeed it is not too much to say that no one who lives outside the larger cities and in the valley and foothill regions of California should ever buy vegetables for his table. He can get his cabbages, his radishes, his turnips, his onions, his peas and his lettuce furnished from his own garden any time of the year. He will have to irrigate and use care in the selection of the soil for his garden, but as a general proposition the possibility of an all-the-year-round vegetable garden has been proved from San Diego on the south almost to the base of Mount Shasta on the north.

Many other vegetables than those mentioned, the industrious man can get from his own soil in the months when they are impossible or sold at prohibitory prices in other states. For the man who cultivates the soil in California the vegetable garden is of great help in supplying the family table, and besides this a small area well tilled, and planted with due regard to getting these vegetables on the market at a time when there is the greatest demand will add appreciably to his bank account and return a more immediate income than almost any branch of agricultural occupation in which he could engage.

Because of its unusual opportunities for continuous agriculture over a vast extent of country California will some day become a contributor in vegetables for the whole west.

Those who contemplate raising vegetables the year round must bear in mind that they must give the same attention to their vegetables that they would in another country in the growing season and due regard must be given to irrigation, destruction of insect pests, etc. when the vegetables require attention.

The work of several hundred growers condensed into tables and covering a period of 20 years, shows that lettuce radishes and spinach were planted every month in the year with success in California, and among others with the exception of one or two months were onions, peas, turnips, beans, etc. It would take too much space to tell the difference in time these were grown, but as a general proposition it may be stated that no country in the world affords such opportunities for vegetable growing all the year round as California.

American Trust and Savings Bank

Articles of incorporation of the American Trust and Savings bank were this week filed for record in the Recorder's office at Santa Ana, and it is rumored the new bank will be ready for business within a few weeks. The bank's charter has already been issued by the Secretary of State, and the license is looked for daily from the bank commissioners.

The following have been chosen directors of the new institution: John Hartung, C. O. Rust, F. H. Houck, Frank Baum, Chas. Federman, Frank Shanley, Dr. H. A. Johnston, A. Nagle, Ben Dausser, W. L. Hale of Fullerton, Geo. B. Miller of Buena Park.

A president and vice president will be selected from this number. The cashier has not yet been selected, but will be some man who has had banking experience.

The new savings bank starts out with every prospect of success and gives every promise of becoming an upbuilder of the community.

Commercial Bank and Trust Co.

Yesterday it was rumored that the organization of the new Commercial Bank and Trust company had been delayed a few days, owing to the desire of J. W. Hillmer to become associated with the enterprise. Mr. Hillmer is now in San Francisco, but is expected in Los Angeles in a few days, and will then have a conference with local capitalists regarding his taking the presidency of the new bank.

A site has not yet been secured, but three places have been offered, viz., the Odd Fellows' new block, Federman's corner and the corner next to the postoffice, owned by Mr. Dickel. Mr. Dickel offers to erect a new building for the bank. If the bank goes into Federman's, a new front will be put in, and Mr. Federman will build on his newly purchased lot near the city hall.

Herman Stern made a business trip to Los Angeles on Monday.

A. W. Danforth reports a rise of 25 inches of water in his well during the past six weeks.

J. Niederer of Los Angeles was in town Tuesday taking measurements for furniture and fixtures of the premises being fitted up for the First National bank.

The dramatic editor is in receipt of advance notes of Barnum & Bailey's Greatest Show on Earth, which, the letter says, will exhibit in California this year. This is the first time the show has decided to exhibit upon the Pacific Coast. It is now in New York.

Gas pipe is being placed along the streets and workmen are engaged in laying it and making connections in residence district. A tank holding 10,000 cubic feet of gas has been erected and machinery installed at the works on Cypress street. Gas will be made for the first time on Monday.

A very time is anticipated at the Eagles' picnic at Columbia grove on Sunday. One of the features will be a repast of barbecued meats prepared by F. W. Fleischman. Andy Furberg will have charge of the lemonade stand, and between these two experts in the art of providing for the inner man, the large crowd that promises to be in attendance will be well taken care of. Athletic contests will occur during the afternoon, as well as dancing for young folks in the pavilion. The Eagles promise all who attend a day of unalloyed enjoyment.

THE FIRST PRINTING.

Some of the Earliest Examples of the Art Preservative.

The following are the earliest known examples of printing—two indulgences, printed usually on one side only of a single piece of vellum. One is a magnificent Bible. Of these one is known to be the first complete book that ever was printed by the wonderful new invention, which, as the early printers so often proudly state in their colophons, produced "letters without the aid of any sort of pen, whether of quill, of reed or of metal."

The first piece of printing which is actually dated is the famous indulgence of Nicholas V. to such as should contribute money to aid the king of Cyprus against the Turks. This indulgence has the printed year date 1454, and a copy in The Hague museum has the date "Nov. 15" filled in with a pen. Mr. Duff tells us that "in the years 1454 and 1455 there was a large demand for these indulgences, and seven editions were issued. These may be divided into two sets, the one containing thirty-one lines, the other thirty lines, the first dated example belonging to the former."

This thirty line edition is shown to have been printed by Peter Schoeffer de Gernshelm by the fact that some of the initial letters which occur in it appear in another later indulgence of 1489, which is known to have come from his press.—Saturday Review.

TREATING A SPRAIN.

Perfect Rest and Hot Fomentations the First Requisites.

The question of how to treat a sprain is often raised. Everybody understands the nature of a sprain; that wrenching of a joint whereby some of the ligaments (those very useful bands which unite the bones forming the joint) are violently stretched or perhaps even ruptured. This kind of injury is rarely, except through unusual complications, dangerous in its nature, but it is certainly very painful and when of a serious nature may result in the permanent impairment of the joint. Such an injury, if at all severe, is immediately followed by marked swelling of the parts, and prompt attention should be given anticipating the surgeon's coming. The very first item in the treatment of a sprain is perfect rest of the limb until a doctor can be summoned. Reduce the swelling by applications of hot fomentations as hot as can be endured, changing about once in every three hours. If a piece of oilskin be not at hand use common newspaper. Wind it carefully outside the hot cloth. This will prevent the escape of the steam and prevent the cloth from cooling. A good way to save the hands from being scalded is to place the hot, dripping flannel in a towel, then, taking hold of each end of the towel, to wring it until the flannel is dry enough to apply.

THE QUEST OF BEAUTY.

What One Woman Suffered For the Sake of Her Appearance.

You must suffer to be beautiful, according to a French saying. There seems to be some truth in the statement, if a lady's maid is to be believed. She has revealed the secrets of her mistress' boudoir, or, rather, torture chamber. The lady herself is now beautiful, but one wonders that she is still alive. For months she lay flat on her back on the floor, motionless, with her arms close to her sides, during several hours every day. This was, it appears, to improve her figure. During the rest of the day, for the same period of time, she sat on a high stool, giving and rocking the upper part of her body backward and forward from side to side unceasingly. By this process she is said to have acquired a statuesque throat and a sylph's waist. The lady's nose, having a soaring nature, was corrected and made Grecian by the constant application day and night for months of a spring bandage. One nostril was originally larger than the other, so she wore a small sponge in it for a year. Her cheeks have been filled out and rounded by injections of paraffin. Her ears for months were compressed against the sides of her head by springs, while heavy weights were attached to the lobes to produce the required elongated shape, which has been successfully achieved. Having suffered this complicated martyrdom for a year, the lady, as already stated, is now beautiful.—Paris Letter.

A Candid Critic.

Author—Is it true that you say my latest is the worst book I ever wrote? Critic—Acquaintance—Nonsense, my dear fellow. What I said was that it was the worst book anybody ever wrote; not you in particular.

A Narcotic.

Teacher—Give me a familiar instance of a narcotic. (Pupil hesitates.) Teacher—What does you father smoke in his pipe? Pupil—Mother says it smells like hayseed, but I guess it's leather.

CATARHAL TROUBLES PREVALENT

Spring Months Cause Catarrh Breathe Hyomei, and Be Cured

Catarrhal troubles are more common at this season than at any other time of the year. The sudden changes that come during the spring months are productive of many cases of catarrh that without proper treatment will become chronic.

The pleasantest, most convenient, and only scientific method for the treatment and cure of catarrh, is Hyomei. Simply put twenty drops in the little pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, and then breathe it for three minutes four times a day.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but one dollar, and as the inhaler will last a lifetime and there is sufficient Hyomei for several weeks' treatment, it is the most economical catarrhal remedy known. Extra bottles can be procured for fifty cents. Ask W. B. Hutchinson to show you the strong guarantee under which he sells Hyomei.

A PRAIRIE DINNER.

Looking Utensils May Be Dispensed With in Preparing It.

Suppose you start on a trip across the mountains. You have plenty of "grub," but you accidentally left your cooking utensils behind—not a dutch oven, not a frying pan, not a tin plate, even a tomato can. Do you suppose for a moment I would sit down on that sack of flour and starve? Not quite.

Build a big fire and when it gets low shove a lot of good old spuds under the coals. If you have fresh meat the way is clear for broiling. If not, slice your bacon, impale it on a stout switch, and when your spuds are done break them open and allow the good old bacon grease to drop on them as it broils on the end of that stick. You want coffee. Rip the jacket off that canteen, bring the water to a boil, funnel your coffee in, and your coffee is ready. But how about the bread? No pan to mix the dough in, no article in which to bake the bread. You don't like ash cakes? All right. Just mix your baking powder carefully in the top of the sack, form the flour into a funnel shape, pour in very little water at a time—don't be afraid of getting your fingers balled up—mix that dough right there, and when it is the desired consistency roll it out like a snake. Cut a cane from any old thing, wrap this snake shaped piece of dough around it in a long coil, turn it before the fire until it is good and brown, and you will have finer bread than grandma ever made.

If the average Arizona prospector can't take care of himself when he has plenty of raw grub it is strange.—Mescal in Tombstone Epitaph.

CHEATED DEATH.

Kidney trouble often ends fatally, but by choosing the right medicine, E. H. Wolfe of Bear Grove, Ia. cheated death. He says: "Two years ago I had kidney trouble which caused me great pain, suffering and anxiety, but I took Electric Bitters which effected a complete cure. I have also found them of great benefit in general debility and nerve trouble and keep them constantly on hand since, as I find they have no equal. W. B. Hutchinson, druggist, guarantees them at 50c."

The passing of the home is the saddest phenomenon of modern city life. The tenement house, which we seek to disguise under the name of "flat," is a most wretched substitute for the humblest of homes. That our people endure them is an indication of degeneracy, as it will unquestionably be the cause of a more rapid descent. It is morally certain that the vigor of the race can be maintained only by personal contact with the mother earth from which we sprang, which nourishes us to her bosom when we die. Why this, perhaps no one knows, but it is within the knowledge of all that the vigor of the city is constantly recruited from country life. To deprive children of daily contact with the soil is a sin. There can perhaps be no home associations worthy of the name which are not connected with a piece of open ground in the sole possession of the family. It would seem that in the larger cities this privilege can no longer be enjoyed except by the rich. Moral: Seek residence in the country and live right.

LAST HOPE VANISHED.

When leading physicians said that W. M. Smithart of Pekin, Ia. had incurable consumption his last hope vanished; but Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds kept him out of his grave. He says: "This great specific completely cured me and saved my life. Since then I have used it for over 10 years and consider it a marvelous throat and lung cure." Strictly scientific cure for coughs, sore throats or colds; sure preventive of pneumonia. Guaranteed 50c and $1 bottles at Hutchinson's drug store. Trial bottle free.

Anaheim, April 11th, 1905. The following boys have been admitted into St. Catherine's Orph. since the last publication:

Whole Orphans—Emmanuel Reed aged 9 years, Manuel Gallon aged 3 years.
Half Orphans—Harry Horan aged 8 years, Joseph Horan aged 8 years, Alexander Secundor aged 7 yrs, Carlos Velaz aged 8 yrs, Leopoldo Velaz aged 6 yrs, Alfonso Velaz aged 9 yrs, Ignacio Ortega aged 8 yrs, Willie Krusko aged 5 yrs. ap13-4t

The time necessary to convert living trees into newspapers was recently tested in Elsenthal, Australia. At 7:35 in the morning three spruce trees were sawed down; at 9:34 the wood, having been stripped of bark, cut up and converted into pulp, became paper, and passed from the factory to the press, whence the first printed and folded copy was issued at 10 o'clock. So that in 145 minutes the trees had become newspapers.

The idea that farmers can regulate the marketing of their own crops will never do them any good if they do not work out the idea in practical every day business.

The wool output from the northern sections of the county this season will be heavy and the ranchers are finishing up the clip which will be about as follows: D. J. Bastanchury 10,000 pounds, Toussau Bros. 50,000 pounds, I. Eisever 15,000 pounds, Bernard Arroues 15,000 pounds. Last year the output sold at 7 cents, but the producers say this season it will sell close up to 15 cents.

Admitted the Lie.

Concerning King William IV. of England the following story was told, the Countess of Strafford being responsible for it: "The king was at dinner. Next to him was a titled woman whom he was entertaining with some extraordinary anecdotes, which the lady found it impossible to believe were true. She therefore answered, 'Oh, sir, I beg your pardon, but I really do not think that can be true.' To her surprise he instantly replied, 'You are quite right, marm, there is not a word of truth in it. It is a lie, marm, a lie. In fact, marm, we all lie; we can't help it. We had it from our mother!' This," concludes the Countess of Strafford, "was the biggest lie of all, for Queen Charlotte was a very truthful person, never given to lying."

Stories of the Gravediggers.

Grimly humorous is the tale of the gravedigger who complained that he did not get constant work.

"But, George," said the minister, "if you were to be constantly employed in the duties of the office you would soon bury the whole parish."

"That might be, sir, but how am I to keep a wife and family unless I get regular work? 'Deed, sir, I havena buried a leevin' soul for the last six weeks."

Harder still was the case of another gravedigger who was asked to reduce his fee for digging a grave because, "mind ye, James, she was an auld woman and was sair spent."—Chicago Tribune.

There ain't never but one king gander at a time, same's a country never has but one king at a time, but a king gander's a real king, that's what he is.

It ain't jest because he's the biggest gander of any or the knowin'est. It's somethin' more. He's kind of a sacred gander, he is, and there ain't a wild goose that flies but knows it. He's captain of 'em all, an' it's only the pick of the geese that flies with him.

Ner that ain't all neither. What do you s'pose became of that big king gander Bill shot? Ever hear of a dead gander bein' carried off by his flock restin' on their backs an' them a-honk in' out a reg'lar buryin' dirge? Well I've said enough. Fact is I've said all I dare say.

But I tell you this: If ever you have a chanst to shoot a king gander don't you do it. 'Tain't good luck. If you don't believe it look at my brother Bill. He killed one—leastways he shot him—and then what happened? Only the Lord and Bill Huckins knows. An' Bill 'll never tell. Why not? 'Cause he's been as crazy as a coot ever since—yes, sir, crazy as a coot!—Outing.

FOOD AND WEATHER.

Why People Eat More in Winter Than They Do in Summer.

It has been shown that the consumption of food increases in direct proportion to the decrease in temperature. We eat more in winter than in summer, and the inhabitants of the temperate regions require more food than those of the tropic zone.

This is due to several causes. In the first place air is denser in colder climates and more oxygen is taken in with each breath, so that a greater supply of carbon—derived from food—is necessary in order that the two gases may combine in their proper proportions for the maintenance of bodily heat. Again, the inhabitant of a cold climate usually has to work harder than the more fortunate southerner, whose wants decrease as nature becomes more generous. The harder the daily labor the greater the amount of food required.

Climate not only affects the quantity but also the quality of the food consumed. The Eskimo could not live upon the dainties of nature which load the tables of the poorest in the tropics, for the conditions of his existence require the consumption of an enormous amount of fatty matter, so that blubber is to him a chief necessary of life.

OBSCURE PASSAGES.

Lines Whose Meaning Was Not Clear to Their Authors.

A writer in London Truth recalls that Browning, when asked the meaning of a passage in "Sordello," replied, "Well, I know the poem had a meaning to me when I wrote it, but what it was I cannot now say." The writer goes on to quote parallel answers of Coleridge and of Goethe, which comforted him long ago, when he first transcribed them. Coleridge wrote the greater part of book 2 of Southey's "Joan of Arc" and annotated the long passage beginning, "Maid beloved of heaven," thus: "These are very fine lines, though I say it that should not, but hang me if I know, or ever did know, the meaning of them, though my own composition." Lord Francis Egerton, when translating "Faust," wrote to ask Goethe's explanation of a passage which puzzled him and received the reply that the poet himself was at a loss for its meaning. "Surely," runs his answer to Lord Francis, "you at twenty-four should know better than I at seventy-four the meaning of a passage I wrote at your age."

Understanding Poker.

The women believe that every man knows all about poker, but only a few men do. It is true, however, that nearly every man pretends to understand the game thoroughly. When there is a poker joke at a theater all the men smile and look at their women folks with a sort of pity, but the fellows who smile know very little about the game and are afraid to play it, for in almost every little social affair connected with chips and pairs there is a tin horn gambler industriously engaged in working chumps. The few men who really understand poker have a habit of winning the money of the men who pretend to understand it, so the large majority of men know nothing about the game further than that a good hand is hard to get.—Athens Globe.

And She Believed It.

"Henry," said his wife, "what do you need to take so many bottles along for when you're only going fishing?" "So we can have something to cork up messages in and throw overboard, dear," he replied, "if anything should happen to the boat."

"Oh, I see. Well, do be careful, Henry. I shall be awfully uneasy."—Chicago Tribune.

No Business Depression.

"Is your business good?" asked the burglar of the counterfeiter. "Good!" repeated the counterfeiter. "Well, I should say it was. I have been just coining money."

A Woman's No.

"Of course two negatives make an affirmative." "But when there is a woman in the case one is sufficient."—New York Press.

There is no knowledge that is not power.—Emerson.

To Ambitious Young People

If you are of an independent and money-earning turn of mind you will be interested in the following: One year's training in the Woodbury Business College costs $100; six months, $55. The education thus acquired will enable you to earn from $50 to $100 a month. Taking an average of $60 a month, or $720 a year, in three years you will be $2,160 ahead of your companion who has spent his four years in high school. The Woodbury gives two main courses of study:

1 Bookkeeping and Business Course. 2 Shorthand and Typewriting Course

Either course will fit you for a good position. The two will fit you for a better one. It takes about six months to complete one course from nine months to a year to complete both. This school has unequalled prestige and success in placing graduates. We shall be pleased to have you call at the college to see us. It is our business to help young people to be successful. Illustrated catalogue on request.

Gen. Robert Wankowski has been notified officially that the Sixth Infantry, N. G. C., with headquarters in Stockton, has been attached to his brigade, and hereafter will report to Los Angeles. The change is due to the act of the last legislature reorganizing the National Guard.

In the new alignment General Wankowski's military force, over which he will have command, is increased by a total of nine companies, not less than 500 men. The strength of the Seventh regiment is twelve companies, about 700 men, making a total of more than 1500 men.

THREE RECIPES.

The Way to Either Can, Jam or Preserve a Husband.

For this purpose select a nice, kind, amiable, industrious, generous man. The American variety is far better than the foreign kind. Prepare him by having him go through a long engagement, which effectually renders him easy to handle. Gently detach him from all of his old friends and acquaintances and remove any habits he may have. He is then ready to can, preserve or make jam, as you choose.

To can, merely deprive him of his latchkey and throw a handful of mother-in-law in the house. Men corked up like this have been known to keep for years without spoiling, though when they are opened up, if kept too long, they are apt to be sour. To make jam, prepare as before, but shred all of his finer feelings by nagging and pound them into a pulp by complaints. To preserve a husband, put as much love into the heart as it will hold, add an ocean of sympathy, a world of tenderness, a pound of forbearance, a dram of patience and drop him into it until he is thoroughly coated over with sugar. Husbands should always be crystallized one at a time, never in pairs; neither should they ever be stood in hot water. This is where many women make mistakes.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

PANAMA HATS.

They Are Made From the Undeveloped Leaves of the Bombonaje.

The panama is a leaf hat made in Colombia, Ecuador and Peru from the undeveloped leaf of the "bombonaje," which is a screw pine rather than a palm. The trunk of the plant is only a yard in height, but the leaf stalks are two yards long.

The leaf before it has opened is prepared for the manufacture of hats. It then consists of a bundle of plaits about two feet long and an inch in diameter called a "cogollo." The green outside is stripped off, and by means of a forked instrument it is cut into narrow strips of uniform size.

The cogollo is next boiled to toughen the fiber and hung in the sun to dry and bleach, when the strips shrivel into cordlike strands ready for use. It takes sixteen cogollos for an ordinary hat and twenty-four for the finest, and a single hat is plaited in from four days to as many months, according to its texture and quality.—Mexican Herald.
