POSTOFFICE FIGHT

AND OTHER SCRAPS

Many Scheduled for Approaching Season of Political Festivities—Duckworth's Gorgeous Band Wagon

An energetic fight is promised between supporters of J. W. Duckworth, until recently postmaster of Loara, and those of Postmaster Littlefield of Anaheim, over appointment to the postmastership of this city, which the President will probably decide one way or another about the 15th of November. This is the first political scrap of the season, which promises to be warm ere the echoes of the approaching state and county campaign have faded away and become history. Next spring comes the city election, and several officials will probably be given a run for their money. Marshal Steadman, his friends say, seems trouble from afar, and has already thrown down the def by shaving off his beautiful blonde mustache. Four of the trustees will have to let go their jobs, but there will probably be found a sufficient number of patriots to fill the places before the election arrives.

The fight between Duckworth and Littlefield for the postoffice has been on under cover for some months past, the former having been diligently engaged in fixing his fences, until now his friends have it that he has a lead pipe clinch on the office. Duckworth was chairman of last year's county convention, and for a time whereof the memory of the oldest inhabitant runneth not to the contrary has been a delegate to the congressional convention each alternate year. When men now old were babes in arms Duckworth was in the business of attending congressional conventions, and so it continued until last year, when he was again selected from a bunch of patriots who thirsted for the honor. In politics Duckworth has always been a winner—as has Littlefield also.

Duckworth has for his backing the county committee, but Mr. Chapman took a fall out of it in the Fullerton postoffice fight without any very great trouble. Not that he will take a hand in the local mix-up, but friends of Littlefield say the county committee are not the whole thing after all. Yet Duckworth has lined them up and, it is said, they are all climbing into his band wagon. The local committeemen, H. A. Dickel and Frank Shagley, are for him—the latter being among the first to sign his petition. Justice Howard, who although a republican was nominated by the democratic county convention three years ago for justice of the peace against Shanley and defeated him, is also in the Duckworth wagon.

High upon the driver's seat may be seen Lawyer Melrose, the district's presidential elector, handling the ribbons and having a say as to where people may sit in the wagon. Phil Krick of the water office has a seat in the vehicle, as has also Deacon Valjean, the sweet singing seraph of the esteemed contemporary.

A report recently current is to the effect that Duckworth claims the support of Congressman Smith, as well as Senator Flint, with both of whom he is acquainted. If the report be true there is little left for his distinguished opponent, and it would therefore seem to be all over but the shouting.

Duckworth resigned the postmastership at Loara some weeks ago, and his son Guy has been appointed in his stead. It is the opinion about town that the Loara postoffice will be shortly discontinued. Many of its former patrons are now being served by rural delivery from the Anaheim postoffice. Duckworth will move into town, and contemplates the erection of a fine home.

Mr. Littlefield has held the office nearly eight years and has given good service during that time. He does not take kindly to the idea of being turned out without just cause, and proposes to make a fight for another term. He has been quietly at work for some time past, has had talks with his friends at home and written influential men of his acquaintance abroad. He will also rely upon a monster petition of patrons of the office asking his reappointment. Littlefield was postmaster during the establishment of rural delivery here, three routes having been laid out five years ago, and a fourth a few months ago. Rural delivery has been a conspicuous success from the start, and Littlefield is entitled to much of the credit therefor. Littlefield will be found fighting when the bell sounds for the close of the mill. Then the President will step forward and give us all a square deal.

Tom Scott, deputy postmaster, and the rural carriers do not know whether to get ready to look for new jobs or not. They are as good a lot of boys as ever opened a mail pouch, but if Duckworth lands the plum, some of them may have a chance to run for a county office next year.

As to county politics the stream appears to be as calm and placid as a mid-summer night's dream. Word comes from the courthouse that the boys want Harmony. Whenever the Santa Ana boys want anything for themselves, they cry "Harmony. Heavenly harmony!" Whenever the outside boys want anything the Santa Ana boys cut loose with: "What ho! ye imps without there! Another countryman wants office? Let loose the dogs of war. Beat him at the Crawford primaries. Yet if he lands trade him off election day."

The Santa Ana boys want harmony. They want the baked meats and incense from afar. But whether next year's convention will be characterized by Harmony or be a Kilkenny cat affair, not even the reddest-nosed politician in the county can tell. Some say Harmony. Some say Kilkenny cats.

Wreck at Horseshoe Bend

A collision occurred between a southbound freight train and a work train at Horseshoe Bend at about 6 o'clock on last Wednesday evening, resulting in the killing of six Mexican laborers and the injury of a number more. The work train was moving slowly southward, which served to minimize the effects of the collision. Blame is attached to the crew of the work train. The freight had the right of way and was running at a high rate of speed, when as it turned into the Bend it ran into the work train, which had some time before received orders to pull out to make way for the freight.

The dead and injured were picked up by the northbound passenger which arrived shortly after the collision. The victims of the wreck were taken to Santa Ana. Later the injured were transported to the sisters hospital in Los Angeles.

An attempt to derail passing trains was discovered some mornings previously by the southbound freight. The engineer on entering the Bend noticed a short distance ahead of him a quantity of rails laid across the tracks. The train was running slowly, else a bad smashup had resulted. The case was referred to the sheriff's office. It is thought the attempted derailment was the work of tramps.

LOS ALAMITOS

From within a radius of six miles the sugar factory is receiving beets by wagon at the rate of 600 tons per day, which are being converted into standard sugar for the market, and the demand is in excess of the supply.

Tests of the beets continue to run high, as follows:

Late beets are still growing rapidly showing an increased tonnage over the estimates.

Prosperity is spelled with a large "P" this year amongst the growers. As an instance of what may be done with two six horse teams and a hired man for three months, George Arthur Garner has a stand of 177 acres of beets from which he will harvest ten tons per acre. At the usual average of $5 per ton his proportion will bring him $6637 50. Against this, expenses are charged of $1896 23, which includes feed for horses, seed and labor, all but about $300 of which was supplied by the sugar company under the usual provisions of the contract, hence he has been doing business on the company's capital.

After deducting harvesting expenses, he estimates he will have a net return of about $3600. It is needless to say, he is well satisfied and will continue raising beets. He says, get a good, early start and the work can be handled easily.

Many farmers have already signed up for their next season's acreage and secured their contracts.

Judge Philbrick is celebrating the arrival of a brand new daughter, and Walter P. Scobie just telephones from Santa Ana a similar happy event in his family.

This is an age of improvement. All through the sugar factory, besides the use of electricity for tram cars in transporting the sugar beet pulp to the silo, motors are also installed for the use of power to save labor. Now the office has caught the infection. The beet-ledge is posted by electricity with corresponding despatch. By the same method, the correspondence of the office is now "jerked lightning." For further particulars, ask Prof. H. Bowles.

Mrs. George M. Green, of Colton, and her young son, are spending a few days with friends before their vacation trip to Catalina, where Professor Green will join them.

Miss Bertha E. Jones leaves next Monday for her Senior year at Stanford University.

Chamber of Commerce

The chamber of commerce met in regular session on Thursday evening, present Directors Ashburn, Wallop, Adams, Spake and Grim. In the absence of Secretary Michod, Director Wallop acted as clerk pro tem.

Director Spake on printing suggested that when the chamber issues new advertising matter, that the same be in pamphlet form, and embellished with half tons. Data for the book will be prepared shortly.

A letter was received from Senator S. C. Smith, acknowledging receipt of the resolutions forwarded him relating to our trade relations with Germany, wherein he states the same will be accorded due consideration.

The secretary was empowered to rent the rear storeroom.

A communication was received from Gov. Pardee relative to the pathological station. The governor states that the commissioners would decide on a location just as soon as they could advantageously do so, which will no doubt be in the near future.

The time has expired on the options secured for sites for the laboratory. Committees were appointed to have the same renewed.

Director Adams of the entertainment committee was instructed to arrange for a light drama by local talent for a date in the near future. It will be for the good of the chamber and a creditable performance may be confidently looked forward to.

The secretary was instructed to write the chambers of commerce at Santa Ana and Fullerton, asking those bodies to co-operate with this city, in the endeavor to acquire for this county the territory to the north that would secede from Los Angeles county in the event of the latter county forming a city and county government. Los Angeles is rapidly nearing the 200,000 mark, when in that event steps will doubtless be taken to bring about this new government. This matter is fraught with the greatest of interest to the people of this county. Let the citizens of wide awake ideas act accordingly.

Messrs. Berg, Nichols and Scott of the East Side appeared before the chamber in reference to forming a river protection district. The gentlemen evinced great interest in the contemplated district. A meeting of the eastsiders will be called at once and steps taken to form the district, after consulting the county surveyor to ascertain the best location of boundary lines. Our neighbors to the east are showing commendable spirit in this new river project and it is safe to say that the district will be formed. The notice of intention for forming the districts comes before the supervisors at a meeting to be held in the near future.

Arrested on Serious Charge

Edward Semrau, a Russian living on Center street north of the high school, was placed under arrest on Tuesday by Marshal Steadman, on a charge of battery. Semrau is accused by his neighbors with beating his wife, who died on Friday, and if half the stories told of him by his neighbors are true, the man ought to be in state prison. It is said Mrs. Semrau was confined to her bed with a miscarriage when her husband fogged her with a rope which he had previously soaked in water. The woman took typhoid fever as a result of her many abuses and inhuman treatment, and died. She was 26 years of age and is said to have been a beautiful woman.

District Attorney Head was called in consultation with Judge Howard the day after the woman died. It was decided to arrest Semrau for battery, it being deemed inadvisable to detain him upon a more serious charge.

Semrau appeared in court and was placed under $500 bonds to appear for trial on Monday morning at 10 o'clock. He secured bondsmen in Jos. Dausser and Fred Prissel and was released. The complaining witness is Rudolph Meger.

Semrau is aged 55, and has been married twice. He bears a bad reputation as a woman fighter, and is said to have fractured several ribs of his first wife, back in Russia, with a kick.

Meger and Semrau went to the residence of Justice Howard at noon and the former asked that the case against the wife-beater be dismissed. This the justice refused to do. It is believed Meger was intimidated by Semrau to ask for a dismissal, the latter being regarded as a "bad man" by the Russians.

Arrested for Dove Shooting

BLOOD-CURDLING TALE WHICH WAFTED ITSELF INTO REPORTER'S ROOM—BOYS WALK IN THEIR SLEEP

Louie Kroeger, Johnny Rupin and Wallace Scott were placed under arrest for shooting doves by Senor Fuentes of Peralta on Sunday afternoon at a point two miles up the main ditch. Kroeger had four doves, Rupin one and Scott three. The boys had been informed there existed a conflict between the state and county laws, and being informed other sports were out shooting birds, sallied forth themselves, to the end that the heavy hand of the law, impersonated by Don Fuentes, was laid upon them.

On Monday the friends of the accused, fearing it would mean a jail sentence, subscribed liberally to a petition soliciting funds for employing legal talent to defend them. A considerable amount was subscribed when it was discovered that Kroeger and Rupin, after killing an imaginary eagle at Curtis' grove, had been given to walking in their sleep and dreamed they were pulled by Fuentes. The money was returned to the tender-hearted subscribers, with assurances that it was all a josh, that they hadn't killed any eagle, hadn't slaughtered any doves, hadn't seen Fuentes, hadn't been arrested; but had just been out on a hunt fest and hadn't returned until daylight Monday morning.

THE TIMES' CALIFORNIA COOK-BOOK Original Prize Recipes by Southwestern Housewives

The widespread interest taken in the recent prize cooking recipe contest conducted by the Los Angeles Times brought out so many splendid and toothsome ways of "cooking things" that the management of that big newspaper has printed all the 1000 contributions in a single book; and the great number that they are putting out (two editions having already been exhausted) is evidence that good things to eat can be concocted from the valuable little volume. The 75 recipes for Spanish and Mexican dishes appear to be especially fine, and are apparently making the cook-book a popular seller. How to satisfy the inner man by different ways of preparing California products is its great feature, however. The price of 25 cents named by The Times can hardly cover the cost of producing such a creditable book.

Invitations are out for the forthcoming marriage of L. A. Stephenson, deputy postmaster at Fullerton, to Miss Peers of Orange, the wedding to take place on Sunday, September 3, at the First Christian church of Orange.

PROCEEDINGS OF COUNCIL

New sidewalks were ordered on Center, Olive and Los Angeles streets by the city trustees on Tuesday evening as follows: On West Center street, between Palm and Citron, a five-foot cement walk with curb.

On Los Angeles street, west side, an eight-foot walk from Chestnut to Broadway; on the east side, a five-foot walk from Broadway to Santa Ana, except in each case where cement sidewalks have already been laid.

On Olive street, east side, a five-foot walk from Adella to Broadway; on west side a walk of similar width from Broadway to Santa Ana street.

The board approved the minutes of recent sessions of the board of Equalization.

The superintendent of streets reported water connections made to a number of new houses building, a concrete platform had been constructed under the water crane at Cypress and Los Angeles streets and other minor matters attended to.

Trustee Fletcher of the finance committee reported bills audited against the city amounting to $909 50.

Ordinance 171, fixing a property tax for the fiscal year 1905-6 was adopted, as follows: General fund, 75 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation; improvement fund 1, 16; No. 2, 7; No. 3, 20; library, 7; total, $1 25. The total assessment roll foots up $649,384, an increase of $12,355 over last year.

Ordinance No. 140, relating to the licensing of business, was read a second time and adopted.

In reference to laying sidewalks on Broadway, Trustee Schwenckert reported he had interviewed W. S. Tipton, who stated property owners along that thoroughfare were some time ago desirous of having sidewalks constructed; he did not know how they viewed the subject now. He (Tipton) said he would deed ground for a sidewalk if the city would pay for the curb.

The committee was given further time in which to interview property owners further.

L. E. Miller and B. V. Beebe appeared before the board asking for information relative to the necessity for procuring a new franchise.

Trustee Fletcher suggested that when the new franchise was granted the gas company be permitted to furnish gas for illuminating purposes at such points in the city where electric wires have not reached.

Schwenckert opposed the idea, holding it would come into competition with the city's municipal lighting plant.

City Attorney Melrose pointed out council could not grant a franchise for illuminating gas so long as municipal lighting works were operating. He was further of opinion the gas company would have to apply for a new franchise, in that it is now operating upon streets not included in its initial franchise.

Miller & Beebe withdrew promising to attend to the matter in the near future.

A plot of resubdivision of the Del Campo tract was submitted by Smith & Dean and referred to Attorney Melrose.

Trustees Rust, Fletcher, Berdrow and Schwenckert were present; absent, Darling.

Miss Espie Deakins has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Hazard, and friends at Westminster for a week.

Mrs. Minnie Bentz purchased a lot at the corner of Philadelphia street and Broadway through the agency of Howard & Spake. She expects soon to begin a modern residence on the property. The consideration was $500.

Frank Borth, and employe of the Standard Oil Company, sustained a painful internal rupture while engaged in lifting a heavy can of oil to be emptied into a receptacle at Huntington Beach. He had mounted a stairway with the oilcan, and while lifting it clear of the tank into which it was to be emptied, sustained a rupture, although he continued in his work. Although suffering considerable internal pain he thought nothing of it until some days later when at Newport Beach he was seized with such pains that a physician had to be called. The rupture was discovered, and Borth will be confined to his bed for a week or two. He may have to undergo a surgical operation.

HUGE WYOMING DAM

A quarter of a century ago the home of the buffalo, and later a cattle and sheep pasture, with an occasional ranch house, the Big Horn Basin in Wyoming is now the scene of a great activity incident to the building of one of the largest of the government irrigation works. Some years ago Colonel Cody, better known as Buffalo Bill, made a survey of the Shoshone canyon and in connection with General Miles projected a company to construct a dam and irrigate some 60,000 acres. The necessary capital, however, was not forthcoming and when the national irrigation law was passed, the government took up the proposition and a large party of engineers has since been employed on the preliminaries of a great work of desert reclamation.

The Shoshone river dashes down a narrow canyon, with jagged and perpendicular walls, and at its narrowest point the government has begun the construction of the highest dam ever built. It will cement together the two canyon walls for 240 feet above the stream bed and its foundation will go below the water line 88 feet additional, down to the solid bed rock. The stream, where it passes between these granite canyon walls, is but 65 feet wide and the dam will form a great lake of 5,000 acres, with a watershed of 1,250 square miles, and storing enough water to irrigate 150,000 acres through seven miles of 14 foot tunnels bored in the solid rock.

NO CHANCE FOR LAND GRABBING

This will cost about $25 an acre to be paid back to the government by the settlers under the business-like provisions of the irrigation law. The land itself is free under the homestead act and has been reserved by Secretary Hitchcock from entry under the Desert and other land laws not requiring actual residence and home-building.

Few such picturesque and wildly beautiful scenes can be found as this Shoshone canyon. The river is a succession of foaming, rushing rapids, the water coursing along in a deep green flood and then boiling over great rocks and boulders in a white surge. Only for a few hours each day can the sun find its way to the bottom of this deeply cut gorge, the mountain sides towering into the clouds two and three thousand feet. From above the dam site as one looks down at the engineers working on the foundations, directly underneath, they appear like mimic men.

GREAT FORCES OF NATURE

This Shoshone canyon and its surrounding mountains are one of nature's great handiworks. All has been cut out by the silver stream rushing in its bed below. For countless ages it has eaten its way through granite and limestone, wearing, wearing, wearing away. For centuries and ages it has flowed, ceaselessly and likewise uselessly on its way to join the flood of the Missouri; now it is to be harnessed and made to produce for man. A thousand farmers will make prosperous homes for themselves and families and raise an annual product of a couple or three million dollars.

In the canyon proper the great forces of nature have wrought wonderfully. Enormous granite boulders have detached themselves from the mountains and rolled down thousands of feet, crashing their hundreds and thousands of tons into the rocky gorge. Here the river continually plays upon them, searching out the seams and splitting them up or wearing them away and polishing them smooth.

THE ROCK PILE OF THE WORLD

In the canyon's middle, below the dam site, the jungle of rocks in the narrow river bed appears as though a thousand blasts of giant powder had rent the mountain sides and tumbled every rugged projection into the depths below. The imperishable granite, gray, pink, and varicolored, oldest of the geological formations, made by the welding of various substances when the globe was a molten mass; the later limestones and black volcanic rocks, conglomerates also melted by great heat, the hard red sandstone and its white and brown contemporaries, formed from the grindings of other rocks subjected to enormous pressure, and lastly the geyserites and sulphur rocks, soft and honeycombed, the result of ceaseless spouting of steam and hot water from the earth's bowels—all are found in wonderful profusion.

Below the canyon where the river runs more peacefully, all these formations are represented in the huge beds of cobble stones and smaller boulders over which the water plays. The cobble stones were themselves once jagged rocks, detached by wind, water, frost and sun from their mountain bases and rolled and ground by river force until all their sharp corners have been worn and polished away.

A GIANT FIRE CRACKER

Watching the government engineers cutting a road along the side of the canyon for the transportation of supplies to build the dam—600,000 barrels of cement alone will be needed—I observed the explosion of a big charge of dynamite, which burst with a roar echoing up and down the canyon with deafening reverberations. Immediately an oblong granite rock of some 150 tons weight was torn from its base and hurled down into the river a hundred feet below. Shatters of rock flew in all directions and a great splash of water rose like a geyser out of the black depths of the canyon into the sunlight in a majestic white spray. Yet this huge block of granite was but a baby addition to the family of boulders which had been detached by the more giant forces of nature and thrown into the river bed. A few hours before I had crawled directly under this rock in my canyon "exploration." Returning I was fain to accept the assistance of one of the road builders in getting across this place, looking down the while into the river boiling below among the rocks.

"If you slip, you can get out a quarter of a mile down stream," remarked one of the dynamiters cheerfully, as I passed my camera over and was inching across this slippery six feet, clinging to the canyon side.

The engineering credit for this great project with its great dam, its enormous spillways, its mountain road building and its miles of canals and huge tunnels bored through the solid rock is due to Jeremiah Abern, a government district engineer who, almost cut off from the outside world, has taken up his residence for several years in this wild canyon, once a fastness of the Shoshone Indians.

work of the government throughout the west signify? Simply that the nation has wisely decided to use the money derived from the sale of western public lands to make its desert soil of value and furnish many home-building opportunities. It means that many men will find employment in the construction of dams and canals in every western community, and that finally as the works are completed, one by one, new farm homes will be established, adding to the nation's wealth and balancing our population now inclined city-ward.

For a thousand years longer this splendid dam site would likely stand idle before private capital would develop it to its magnificent full capacity, for the difficulties in the way of the engineers are many and unknown; but the government will meet all obstacles and overcome them and finally turn over to a thousand farmers a perfect job of engineering, comparable to the Peruvian Incas, the Egyptian Rameses or the British engineers of India—an enduring monument for all time to the wisdom of the present generations of Americans.

THE PACIFIC STATES

Co-operation Urged to Bring Region Forward in National Councils

SEATTLE, August 18.—At a meeting of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, held here to-night, Rufus P. Jennings, of the California Promotion Committee, urged a closer co-operation of all the Pacific States and advocated an alliance of commercial organizations of the entire regions west of the Rocky Mountains, to define public sentiment for progress, so that the Pacific States Congressional representatives at Washington will be assisted in their efforts to bring the Pacific States to the front in national affairs, Mr. Jennings said:

"The people of the world are turning their attention to the Pacific. Why? Because they see in this vast commercial arena greater opportunities and a larger field for operation than elsewhere. We of the Pacific States have realized all along that this interest must eventually be aroused, and now that it is aroused, it behooves us to prove with all the energy that is ours that this section by every right is the true gateway to the Orient, and that we are capable of holding our own in the great struggle that is taking place for commercial supremacy.

"We must, however, look conditions squarely in the face. It is not the through traffic in Eastern and foreign-made goods that will bring to us the substantial benefits that should be ours, but it is the developing of our own resources and the marketing of our own productions that will build up and make prosperous this section of the country; and not merely the marketing of these products to foreign countries and to the Eastern States, but the

The growth of Huntington Beach has been a veritable "eye-opener" to the southwestern real estate world. Land values have increased from 50 to 500 per cent in two years. Why not investigate this "go-ahead city" today?

Huntington Beach is entering a great era of progress and development. The town is literally teeming with opportunities for the man of enterprise. Dame Fortune seldom calls twice. Those who act TODAY reap tomorrow's reward, and those who buy at Huntington Beach NOW will find their investment a highly productive one. Burn into your mind the fact that not one single dollar has been lost through investments in Huntington Beach property, but many thousands have been made. It's Huntington Beach NOW. Are you going to respond to the call of OPPORTUNITY?

Dispel the idea (if you have it) that Huntington Beach is merely a beautiful resort. Go down today and learn the real situation. Powerful resources are within the grasp of this town—resources that make for commercial success.

The great real estate and building activity which has characterized this worthy town, has received added stimulus through the medium of the great Methodist Conference. Opportunities for profitable investment are better today than they were even a few weeks ago.

Never has the slightest suggestion of a boom been experienced—just calm, steady, forceful progress. With abundant capital behind it and a dazzling future in the foreground, Huntington Beach presents a study in investment to men of keen discernment.

Metropolitan Improvements

Huntington Beach abounds in substantial improvements—both public and private. Broad, smooth asphaltum-surfaced streets, cement walks and curbs; modern business blocks; good school facilities; $200,000 water system building—new streets being opened—in fact, progress is paramount here.

VENEZUELA has placed orders in Europe for torpedo boats with guns and ammunitions at a cost of about $2,500,000, a larger amount than that little South American republic has ever expended at one time for war materials. An American who has just returned from Venezuela is authority for the statement that President Castro recently declared that he was going "to fight the Yankees," which explains the unusually large orders for ships, arms and ammunition. It is reported that when the Venezuelan executive heard recently of the appointment by President Roosevelt of Judge William J. Calhoun as special commissioner to investigate certain affairs at Caracas his anger was great and his language immoderate. He announced that he would not permit an emissary of President Roosevelt to land in Venezuela.

REPORTS which come leaking out from St. Petersburg throw an interesting light upon the military system prevailing in Russia. Thus we read that when Alexief was on his way to the Liao Tang peninsula he traveled in a special train, as befitted his station, but disinclined to travel at night, he halted his train at sundown, refusing to give orders to go ahead until daylight. Moreover the old gentleman would not have his slumbers disturbed by trains passing on sidings, and so all traffic on the Trans-Siberian railway ceased for ten hours. Military trains bearing soldiers to the front were delayed a week by this Muscovite way of railroad. When Gen. Krippenberg was about to depart for Manchuria he found his special train had not been fitted up with electric lights and he refused to proceed until these were provided. A delay of two weeks was thus entailed. Trains bearing wounded soldiers back from the Yalu river were sidetracked to afford right of way to special trains having officers wives aboard. These incidents are mere outcroppings of a corrupt system whose inefficiency was abundantly proven whenever put to the test.

NEXT Saturday occurs the election in the Anaheim school district for voting upon the levy of a special tax of $3000 to provide additional school facilities for the district. New cement sidewalks are desired at the Central, primary and high school buildings, sanitary closets are needed at the Central school building, as well as repairs to the edifice. Polls will be open from 8 o'clock a. m. until sundown at the Central school building. Make a note of the election, and do your duty by the children. Go to the polls and vote in favor of the tax—it will amount to but a small increase in your taxes. Get your neighbors to do likewise. Do not permit the election to go by default, as sometimes happens in cases of this kind. Go to the polls and vote. And vote for the special tax.

NEVER despair the Last Straw. Many a poor wretched has grasped at it, just as the last ray of glimmering hope was about to expire, and saved his miserable neck thereby. Look at Colonel Langley.

THE question arises, How old is Dr. Head? And where is he at, and will he ever come back?

AND John Anderson? We hug him to our bosom and we love him as our first born.

Cannery Starts Up

The cannery began yesterday on the last of the early tomatoes. Fifty hands are employed. In a few days the bulk of the crop will be canned and the cannery will probably continue its operations until cold weather. The crop promises to be of large proportions and of excellent quality.

School children under the age of 14, desiring to work in the cannery, may obtain blank certificates permitting them so to do on application to J. H. Clabaugh. These certificates are required by the new law recently published in these columns, and the purpose is well understood by all.

An occasional word is heard politically. It is conceded by the knowing ones that the supervisor next year rightfully should be an Anaheim man. Buena Park had the honor once, Fullerton has the office now and in all fairness the supervisor ought to be selected from Anaheim next time.

Insurance Commissioner E. Myron Wolf has submitted to Governor Pardee his annual report of that department for the past year. It shows that the total number of companies which were authorized to transact business in the state during the year was 217. Of these 136 were fire and marine companies; 35 legal reserve life insurance companies; 3 assessment life, health and accident insurance companies; 35 miscellaneous insurance companies, and 10 county fire mutuals. The returns indicate that the companies had a very successful year. The only exceptions were in the cases of industrial life, marine and credit indemnity. The former of these shows a greater amount of insurance in force than at the close of the preceding year, so that it also can be said to be in a satisfactory condition. The total premiums received by all the companies during the year amounted to $24,127,539, and the losses paid by them were $8,542,103 15.

The fire companies have collected during the past twenty years $125,170,851 07, and have paid out in losses $55,968,550 63. The marine companies have collected during the past twenty years $30,950,438 61 and paid out in losses $17,916,700 70. The ordinary life insurance companies have collected $91,514,600 74 and paid out $40,170,006 55 in losses and endowments. These figures do not include the returns for industrial life and assessment companies.

Lott's Rapid Steam Washer

I am very well satisfied with my machine. It does the washing quicker and easier than any machine I have ever tried. It saves wear and tear of clothes to a great extent. I have another kind of washer but I seldom used it because I could wash as quickly and as cleanly, and with less labor, with a board. But since I got one of the Steam Washers I have thrown the board aside and use the machine, for it saves so much labor and time.

He may bid for the construction of the cement sidewalks now in contemplation here. He understands the business and that he will do a good job if he secures it goes without saying.

Cline is a son of Constable Cline, and is said to have been discharged for dishonesty. His discharge led to an assault upon the manager of the Hoegge company by Constable Cline, in which Judge Pierce of Los Angeles, formerly of this county, is said to have taken a hand. When the check was presented for payment it was returned as worthless. Levi swore to a complaint and Llewellyn went to Long Beach after Roy. He was not at that point. Llewellyn followed him to Los Angeles and located him running a gasoline engine. The young horse was thrown and in the entanglement its leg was broken.

A political argument arose between two employees of Bill Hill's threshing outfit on the Olinda ranch some evenings ago, one of them being a socialist and the other a black republican. The discussion waxed warm, and when the socialist delivered himself of a particularly rabid attack upon the country, the republican seized him and ducked him head first in a barrel of water standing near by. The socialist on being assisted out of the water became more abusive than ever. He was ducked again, this time for a longer period than before. He was finally liberated on promising to be good. The next morning he left camp.

Miss Ada Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Allen, was married on Sunday evening at the family residence on North street to John Newman, an engineer in the employ of the Southern Pacific, residing in Los Angeles. The bride was artistically attired in a gown of white tulle and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and ferns. Ella Allen, sister of the bride, attended as bridesmaid and W. Thompson of Los Angeles was best man. Judge Howard officiated, tying the knot which bound the two loving hearts. In his usual felicitous manner. The parlor was decorated for the solemn occasion in ferns and white carnations. Congratulations followed the ceremony and many appropriate gifts were presented to the newly married couple. Only members of the family and a few friends were present. An elaborate wedding collation was sat down to. The Anaheim band serenaded the happy couple, and the evening was most enjoyably spent by all. The newly wedded couple departed on Monday morning for the Portland fair and a visit will be paid the groom's parents in Nebraska. Points in New York, Kentucky, Missouri and other places will be visited. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Newman will be at home after Oct. 1st at 1862 Main St., Los Angeles.

Shriveled almost to a skeleton from a four weeks' diet of raw clams and roots of plants, Arthur Priestly was arrested a few days ago in his dugout at the head of Newport Bay on a charge of insanity. The complaint was issued at the instance of Tom Harlin, who, with other ranchmen of the district, has observed the man about the headwaters of the bay for several weeks. When the officers came upon him he was in a miserable half-cave under the edge of one of the cliffs, groveling on a bed of dry tules. Clam shells were scattered all about the place and on his own statement this has been his only article of diet for more than a month. His only possessions were a testament and a box of matches. Priestly states that he is 30 years old and until he came to Newport Bay lived with his father, John Priestly, a carpenter, in Los Angeles.

The man is evidently suffering with a religious mania. When arrested he had barely strength enough to support his emaciated frame. He will be sent to Patton.

Bobbie Rimpau and his best girl drove to Huntington Beach Sunday.

L. J. Christopher, the well-known Los Angeles caterer, was in town on Tuesday, a guest of Stephen Kistler.

The W. C. T. U. of Anaheim will give an entertainment at Backs' hall Tuesday evening, Aug. 29. There will be a short literary program, music and singing. An address will be given by Mrs. L. S. Blanchard of Los Angeles. She is a noted speaker. Come and hear what she has to say. Ice cream and cake will be served. The best of everything is promised.

Freeman E. Schimmerhorn of Rome, N. Y., brother of Mrs. James Enearl, and Mrs. McLane of Seymour, Wis., a sister of that gentleman, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Enearl.

In a family row at Santa Ana Sunday Jose R. Murillo shot his father-in-law Jose Molino in the breast with a 44-caliber revolver, inflicting what may prove a fatal wound. Murillo is locked up in the county jail, and Molino is in the hospital. The trouble is of long standing as Murillo's wife has not been living with him for some time, but stays with her father. The woman with her father and her children went out to Murillo's camp to let the father see the children. Angry words passed later between the two men, the elder is said to have struck Murillo, when the latter pulled his gun and fired. Murillo surrendered, claiming he fired in self-defense. He says Molino drew a knife.

K. Hirashiba, a Japanese laborer in the employ of J. H. Cole at the Bolsa Chica Gun Club, was killed Sunday night, shortly before 10 o'clock, by being thrown from a horse and dragged, with his foot caught in the stirrup. The Jap was 52 years of age, and on Sunday a boy from his old home town arrived at Smeltzer, bringing greetings and presents to Hirashiba from his wife and four children. Hirashiba rode ten miles from Bolsa Chica to Smeltzer on horseback, to see the new arrival, and late in the evening on the return trip to his home, the accident occurred. At the first leap of the horse the Jap was thrown from the saddle, his head striking the ground. His right foot caught in the stirrup, and while the horse galloped madly homeward, the body of the dying man was dragged along, the head striking the ground at every bound. The body was taken to Santa Ana and an inquest was held by Coroner Smith. Interment was made at the Santa Ana cemetery.

Capt. Richard Thomas Pawley and L. R. Carper of Mazatlan, Mex., were in the city on Tuesday, the guests of friends. Both gentlemen are acquaintances of Lloyd Bailey, who for several years past has practiced dentistry in Mazatlan. Capt. Pawley is an English sea captain, having sailed the seas during a period of forty years. He is interested in the formation of a steamship company which contemplates running a line of steamers from Southern California ports to points on the Mexican and South American coasts. Mr. Carper is in the cattle and mining business. He returned to San Francisco this week on his way to the southern city. Both gentlemen were entertained by friends during their stay and they declared on departing that while they had heard a lot about Anaheim, the half had not been told. Mr. Konig's twenty-seven-year-old port wine is thought to have had something to do with this conclusion on their part.

Death of Mrs. M. L. Rogers

C. G. McKinley yesterday received a telegram from M. L. Rogers conveying intelligence of Mrs. Rogers' death on Tuesday afternoon at 4:20 o'clock at her home in San Francisco. Mrs. Rogers had been in feeble health for several years, and had lately been ill with an attack of la grippe. While news of her death was not entirely unexpected, yet it comes as a shock to the many friends of the aged couple who formerly resided here for many years.

Mr. Rogers himself has been in poor health for some time past, but is again able to be about again.

Chas. S. Rogers, a son of the couple, was drowned last year in Bold Rock canyon, Butte county, while engaged with a railroad surveying party. His body was not recovered. He had descended into the depths of the precipitous canyon by means of a rope. At the bottom of the gorge ran a swift stream of water. Rogers is supposed to have slipped and fell and when his rescuers sought to pull him out of harm's way, the rope broke and his body was lost in the stream.

The family have many friends here who deeply regret the latest bereavement which has overtaken them.

Mrs. Rogers was a lady of many graces of manner and during her residence here endeared herself to a large number of friends. She suffered with cancer in the breast, yet not even her own family knew of her sad plight until her son Jack, noticing that she had difficulty in raising her arm enquired the reason therefor, and was told the secret. Medical aid was at once enlisted to supplement the efforts of the lady to heal herself, and she later recovered. Her untimely end is sincerely regretted by hosts of friends in this city.

An all-day meeting devoted to praying for the sick will be held on Thursday at the German Baptist church, corner of Lemon & Broadway. An invitation is extended to the afflicted to be present at these services.

Handsome new awnings are being placed in front of the First National Bank's new quarters. Mechanics are giving finishing touches to the edifice which will be ready for occupancy sometime during the latter part of September.

The boys of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Presbyterian Church will give a social at the home of Mr. Grimshaw on Friday evening, Aug. 25. All are cordially invited to attend and all are assured a good time. Refreshments will be served.

List of letters remaining unclaimed in the postoffice at Anaheim, Cal., for the week ending Aug. 23, 1905: J. A. Alexander, Mr. C. E. Basley, Miss Anna Borgman, Mrs. G. D. Bond, Luther Collins, R. E. We Prove Horseshoe Paint Absolutely Pure Lead, zinc and linseed oil, with the necessary color and drier.

And that's all there is in Horseshoe Brand Prepared Paint.

Not an atom of adulteration. We prove that to you—before you buy Horseshoe Paint.

Lead and zinc are the only standard paint pigments—the only pigments that have the necessary oil-carrying capacity (zinc 60 per cent greater than lead) and oil is the life of paint.

Abundance of oil because of absolute purity is what makes spread farther, wear longer, cost less and look better than ordinary ready-mixed paints.

Horseshoe Brand Prepared Paint

Because ordinary ready-mixed paints are "doped" (to cheapen cost of production) with such adulterants as silica, barytes, whiting, etc., which have no pigment value—comparatively no oil-carrying capacity.

Therefore ordinary ready-mixed paints lack life—spreading and wearing quality—because every particle of adulteration lessens their oil-carrying capacity—the substitutes simply add volume and subtract value.

Horseshoe Brand Prepared Paint is the one paint that you know is absolutely pure—absolutely the best, because it is the only paint with a Chemist's Certificate of Absolute Purity on every can.

The Certificate of Purity on each can is the result of analyses made by prominent chemists on different shades of Horseshoe Paint—not on the white alone.

Horseshoe Brand Prepared Paint is the only Certified Paint—the only paint with which you are sure of pure paint—the best quality and therefore the best results.

An Attempt to Defeat the Canal

Washington, August 20.—An attempt to defeat the construction of the Panama canal, or at least to delay the work is on foot and an organized fight will be made on the floor of congress next winter with this end in view. The fight is to be made for the purpose of convincing the country and congress that the Panama canal route is impossible; that a canal cannot be built there, and that difficulties experienced by the United States and those of the French have proved this.

The movement will be in the interest of the Nicaragua route, which such men as Senator Morgan still believe is the only practicable route, and former Senator Warner Miller of New York is named as the man who will direct the fight. He too still entertains the belief that the Nicaragua route is the only feasible one, and that a canal cannot be constructed across the Isthmus of Panama. He is familiar with both routes and will be able to furnish a vast amount of material with which to carry on the fight.

A TOUCHING STORY

is the saving from death the baby girl of Geo. A. Eyer, Cumberland, Md. He writes: "At the age of 11 months our little girl was in declining health with serious Throat Trouble, and two physicians gave her up. We were almost in despair when we resolved to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. The first bottle gave relief; after taking four bottles she was cured, and is now in perfect health." Never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. At W. B. Kerosene for the Hair

A woman recently asserted that the fine appearance of her hair was entirely due to a persistent and thorough treatment with the familiar kerosene of the corner grocery commerce. It was applied regularly once a fortnight in the following way: A little was poured into a saucer and rubbed with the fingers into the roots of the hair. The application was slow and thorough, the gentle massage of the roots with the finger tips being needed to open the pores for the absorption of the oil. The treatment was usually made at night, and the hair afterward tied up in a silk handkerchief.

The silk handkerchief is recommended by hair dressers as useful in retaining the natural electricity of the hair. By noon of the following day the odor of the kerosene had disappeared, and in another twelve hours the oiliness that followed its use had also disappeared. The effect of this treatment on the hair was promptly noticeable, the following out stopped and some new short hairs were found all over the head. As the kerosene application was continued the hair became thick and smooth. When, after several months, it was finally discontinued, abundant glossy locks replaced the dry and lustreless hair—the former condition still existing, though no kerosene had been used for several years.

Paul de Longpre on California

At a recent meeting of a number of eastern friends at his home in Hollywood, Paul de Longpre, being asked if he did not sometimes regret his move to California, the artist answered: "I am happy to say that I bless the day when the first idea of coming to California came to me. After five years living in this beautiful and unique country, I would say to the tourist seeking new and grand scenery; to the business man overworked seeking rest; to the capitalist seeking profitable investments, and to the invalid seeking health—come to this paradise of America—to Southern California. Come where summer and spring are ever commingling. Come where every breeze is laden with health-giving balm; where the frost-kiss is unknown; where gardens are always green and flowers forever bloom. When the storms and blizzards sweep the eastern states, here the fruits of the tropics glow in golden splendor in emerald setting of foliage and millions garland every nook and dell. Come and forget all the cares and worries of life; come where every day in the year, under blue skies, one can hear the multitude of birds singing their hymns of joy to the Creator."

A Safe Guess.

"A very healthy place, is it?" said the woman who was house hunting. "Have you any idea what the death rate is here?"

After careful reflection, says Punch, the caretaker replied, "Well, mum, I can't exactly say, but it's about one apiece all around."

Dodging the Digging.

"Plenty of gold in the land," says a philosopher, "but when it comes to digging for it many of us are content to jog along with poverty."—Atlanta Constitution.

Prayer for Two.

"If your husband were to die would you pray for him?"

"Of course, but at the same time I'd pray for another."—Town and Country.

Aye, people are generally calm at the misfortunes of others.—Goldsmith.

TO ADVANCE THE PACIFIC STATES

creating of markets nearer home for the products of the soil and the output of our factories.

"We need a larger population to consume as well as to produce. We need, to fill our vast fertile agricultural regions with an industrious people. We need men who will come in and join with us in developing the many opportunities that are here.

"Much is being accomplished in this direction now, and the development and prosperity of the Pacific States during the last few years, in particular, is marvelous; but we must see that these conditions continue and that they improve.

CO-OPERATION SUCCEEDS

"I am a firm believer in the old saying, 'In union there is strength.' You have shown it here in Seattle. You have pulled together, and out of what was a mere lumber camp twenty years ago has sprung up this wonderful city, which I see for the first time now, but whose growth I have watched with the greatest interest and admiration. What you have done here by co-operation they are also doing in Oregon. We are likewise doing in California. The people in these States are pulling together for the general good. They are firm in the belief that what is for the benefit of one is for the benefit of all. They have set aside boundary lines and are working together, in rivalry, yes—in jealous rivalry—no. California, I can say authoritatively, has advanced more in the last three years on these lines than in a decade before such sentiment prevailed.

"I am not telling you, men of Seattle, anything new, I am aware, because you are wise men, and have been working on these lines here. Now what is good for a community or for a commonwealth is good for a section of the country when the interests of that section are so closely identified as are the interests of the Pacific States. When I say the Pacific States I include Washington, Oregon, California, Idaho, Utah, Nevada and the Territory of Arizona, which, we hope, will soon be made a State. These Pacific States can do much by working together for one common end—the upbuilding of the Pacific Coast.

ATTRACT PEOPLE TO PACIFIC STATES
"When we stop and contemplate the enormous area covered by these States, and the fact that there were, according to the twelfth census, only three million people within their boundaries, we must realize how much room there is for an increased population, and we must realize, also, that while each location may not suit every one, there is on this coast a place for all. So I say, and I think you will agree with me, create an interest in the Pacific States, direct desirable people this way, and within the borders somewhere each will find a satisfactory abode.

"We have on this coast fewer sea ports than there are on the Atlantic Coast of the United States. There is need of all these sea ports, and more, for the commerce that will eventually develop. It would appear to be good business policy for us all to assist in the development of these ports that nature has endowed us with, by securing appropriations from the Federal Government for their improvement, because I assure you that every ton of freight that passes any one of these ports is of advantage to all the other ports on this coast. The business that comes to any part of the Pacific Coast benefits the entire coast, whether that business be at San Diego or at Seattle, at San Francisco or at Portland.

"There is such a variety of production in the Pacific States that they are a world in themselves, and with our resources developed and with our population increased with desirable, industrious men and women, we will have less occasion to seek markets afar, and we all know that the nearer the market to the producer, the greater is his prosperity. As an example: California is a customer of Washington for its lumber, coal, wheat, flour and beer, and many other things that I think I am safe in saying bring better returns than the same commodities do when shipped to more remote markets.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS
Of Anaheim Union Water Co.
Run No. 4 will begin Aug. 16. All orders for rented stock must be filed in office before that date. P. H. KRICK, Secretary.

"I am grateful for the opportunity of saying these things to you, not that you are not thoroughly aware of conditions, but oftentimes we are, all of us, inclined to lose sight of the fact that every State west of the Rocky Mountains is in a great measure dependent on all the others of the same region, and that the prosperity of the one enhances the prosperity of the others. So, this being the condition commercially, let us get together, exchange ideas, know one another, and let the world know that there is one great family out this way composed of men that mean business, and men, who, when occasion arises, will put their shoulders to the wheel and do things for the Pacific States as a whole.

HELP TO FEDERAL RECOGNITION

"I would like our representatives in Congress to be fortified in the good work they are doing by this expressed sentiment of the business men. I know it would help them at Washington if, when you want an appropriation at Bremerton, or Oregon wants assistance to improve the Columbia River, or California or any other Pacific State wants something for its benefit, we all should jump in and see that it is secured through our Senators and Congressmen.

"There is no doubt about the sentiment of the people being reflected on their representatives at Washington. The press, too, will stand by us, I am sure, and avoid all expressions of jealous rivalry. I am ready now to pledge the loyalty of California on these lines, and I am equally sure that Oregon, Washington and all the other Pacific States are ready to join in a movement that is bound to be successful.

UNITED PACIFIC STATES

"To cement this movement it is absolutely necessary that the people of every State cultivate harmonious relations among themselves, for, as a house divided against itself cannot stand, neither can a commonwealth divided against itself accomplish its own best good. We have found this out in California, and are profiting by the knowledge. The good results we have secured in California by putting this wisdom to practical use convinces us that such benefits may be made more far reaching and include all of the States west of the Rocky Mountain water shed.

"It is proposed to form an association in the near future that will include representatives from all the States mentioned. The objects of this association to be to promote the interests of these States and to define their position for progress so that others may see that they can stand undivided and watchful of their allied interests."

FIENDISH SUFFERING

Special Consular Reports on Fruit Conditions and Markets in Europe

SPANISH ALMOND CROP

The prospects and conditions of the almond crop this year are, on the whole, poor, owing to the drought experienced in the district of Alicante. In size the crop can be considered good, but the lack of rain has prevented the growth of the fruit, especially in the non-irrigated districts, where the kernels are particularly small.

The quality of the almonds, in general, as a consequence of the drought, will be poor as compared with other years, and the good selections will be difficult to make.

Although the size of the crop is considered fairly good, the want of rain has prevented the trees bearing all the fruit; but in spite of this, it must be borne in mind that the plantation of trees is yearly increasing, thus making the production greater. The coming crop can be calculated more or less the same as last year's, say some 1800 tons.

There are no preliminary prices quoted so far, same are not fixed until the second fortnight of August, when first fruit is brought into market.

The rate of freight for New York is 45s per ton of 20 hundred weight net via Genoa, and 50s ditto via Liverpool.

During the past season about 400 tons of almonds were shipped to the United States from the port of Alicante, viz.:

18,820 boxes, 1,161 barrels, making a total value of $162,244.71.

H. W. CAREY, Consular Agt. ALICANTE, July 13, 1905.

THE SPANISH ALMOND COMBINE

A syndicate, which will probably control the Malaga almond market, has just been formed by the seven principal Malaga exporters.

"Compania Almedrera," the corporate name of the "trust," is a limited liability company, and will operate under a Spanish deed just signed. The shares are 200 in number and are divided amongst the following mercantile houses: Bevan & Co., Garret & Co., Reim & Co., Cumming & Vandulken, Federico, Gross & Co., P. Casada, S. en C., and Fermin Alarcon.

The syndicate will have to do only with the purchase of the almonds from the growing districts, and will not intervene with respect to the ultimate sales to American and European buyers.

Each local exporting house will retain its identity, and business will be conducted along lines followed in past seasons. The purpose of the trust, its organizers frankly admit, is to reduce first-cost prices and to eradicate certain alleged abuses heretofore practiced by local speculators and brokers.

Roberto F. Bevan and Thomas R. Geary, composing the firm of Bevan & Co., are to be the salaried managers of the company. They will buy the almonds, either direct from the growers or through brokers, and store them in their warehouses. These will then be subject to the demands of the syndicate, to whom the almonds will be sold at a price "contingent upon the exigencies of the situation."

Prices of almonds, cost, and freight, New York, for the season beginning next month, will not be materially affected by the new arrangement, say the managers, though the selling price of the different local houses is likely to be more uniform than in other years.

The Spanish almonds of commerce are the "Jordan" and "Valencia" brands. The ordinary crop of the former is about 70,000 boxes, while the yearly yield of "Valencia" usually numbers more than double that figure. Malaga is the exporting center and, as no competitors are in sight, it is likely that "Compania Almedrera" will handle the entire business.

The agreement is for five years and the capital listed at one million pesetas ($140,000 U. S. gold). The only other officer beside the managers is the secretary, Fermin Alarcon.

D. R. BIRCH, Consul. MALAGA, Spain, July 17, 1905. LEMON AND ALMOND MARKET IN MESSINA

The crop of summer lemons in this district is about one-fourth larger than that of last year, and the quality better.

Prices c. i. f. New York range from 12s to 14s. The freight rate is 1s 3d net.

The almond crop promises to be of good quality, and it is estimated that the yield will reach 160,000 bags of 50 kilos each. This, it will be understood, represents the probable product of the island. To attempt to give an estimate of the yield of the district would be useless, for the reason that the exportation is not confined absolutely to production of a certain locality. Exporters buy from every part of Sicily, and a bag of almonds or filberts shipped from Messina contains the products of every district in Sicily.

The prices quoted by growers for delivery at the warehouses in Messina in October are lire 145 per 100 kilos (about $28 per 224 lbs).

Up to the present no quotations are available for shipments to America, but it is believed that the prices will not reach those of last season.

Freight rates to New York are 30s per ton, but it is probable that all freights will be lower, as it is understood outside lines will compete this season with the combination which now controls shipments from Messina. CHAS. M. CANINGLY, American Consul.

ITALIAN LEMONS

1. Owing to the exceptionally frosty and severe winter, the green fruit crops have been almost totally destroyed.

2. There is no comparison with the crop of last year. There remains only a small quantity fit for exportation during the summer months.

3. The size of the crop is estimated at under 10,000 boxes, and the price is expected to be about $3 f. o. b.

4. Rates of freight have ruled t. e. same as last year, viz.: 10d ($0.20) per box by the faster ones.

WALNUTS

The present outlook is for a larger crop than that of last year by about one-half the quantity.

Very cold weather during the winter has had a good effect on the walnut trees.

I am, sir, your obedient servant, C. S. CROWNSHIELD, American Com. Agent.

SPECIAL REPORT ON ITALIAN LEMONS

1. The present condition and prospects of the summer lemon crop in this consular district are good.

2. It is the same in quality as that of last year, and of the average.

3. The size of crop is one-third less than that of last year. The prices are rather high, viz.: 26 to 28 (about $5 to $5.40) lire per 1,080 good lemons, while "Verdelli" are sold at from 34 to 38 lire (about $6.56 to $7.33).

4. Freight rates to American ports are 1 shilling and 3 pence per box.

GIOVANNI PATERUTTI, American Vice Consul (in charge). American Consulate, Palermo, Italy. July 1, 1905.

RAISINS IN ALMERIA, SPAIN Raisins do not enter into the export trade of Almeria. I can find no figures on raisins in the Custom House returns for 1903 and 1904.

In a special report on "Raisins and Almonds," dated July 26, 1904, I stated that the "muscatel grape is not grown to any great extent in this section, presumably for the reason that almost exclusive attention is given to the production of the white grape."

The very few muscatel grapes grown are for local consumption.

HAY FEVER FOR 27 YEARS

Well Known New England Woman

Cured of Hay Fever—Cure Was

Lasting

The thousands of discouraged people who dread the approach of summer because they have hay fever and cannot find any relief from it, will read with interest and gratitude the following statement from Helen S. Williams of Mansfield, Mass.

"For 27 years, from the month of August until heavy frost, I have been afflicted with hay fever, growing worse and worse each year, until of late years I was unable to attend to my work during that period.

"Last summer I fortunately gave Hyomei a trial, and I am happy to say that it entirely cured me, and I have had no recurrence of the disease since."

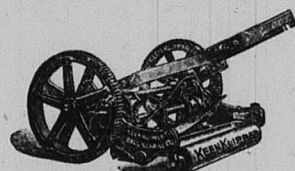

Breathe the germ-killing and healing balsams of Hyomei and get rid of your hay fever.

The complete outfit costs but $1, extra bottles 50 cents. W. B. Hutchinson agrees to refund the money to any hay fever sufferer who uses Hyomei without benefit.

The Sunset Telephone Company has announced that after the first of September the rates for telephones on the Fullerton suburban lines will be reduced to $1.50 per month. All houses are being wired for the express system so that the ringing of bells in calling for central will be eliminated. New instruments will be established within a few days for both the old and new subscribers.
