GOOD ROADS TAKE HOLD OF COMMON PEOPLE

A Club to be Formed Here With That End In View —Civic Improvements

Considerable interest attaches to the formation of a Good Roads Club, a meeting for organizing which will probably be held in a few days. Fullerton will organize a Good Roads club at a meeting to be held at the city hall in that city on Tuesday evening. Good Road enthusiasts in this city are preparing an excursion of every automobile in town to proceed to our neighboring town and participate in the meeting. O. M. Skinner is in charge of this end of the program, with Capt. Williams as his chief of staff. It is desired that every owner of an automobile in Anaheim and vicinity report to these gentlemen their desire to accompany the party. A start will be made about 8 o'clock. It is likely a party of Santa Ana people will also join the procession.

Good Roads clubs are being organized at many points in Southern California as preliminary steps to the construction of El Camino Real, which will in time come to be one of the greatest features of interest in this State to eastern travelers. That the state highway is to come through this city is cause for congratulation. Indeed it could not well be otherwise, for there is ground for the belief that Father Junipero Serra a century and a half ago trod the identical path afterwards used as a stage road and followed a century afterward from San Juan mission through this city to the mission at San Gabriel.

While it is true that El Camino Real will not be officially designated as to its route through this county for some weeks yet, nevertheless a selection having been made by the Supervisors, it will not be long before eastern travel upon it will begin, and it is up to the respective communities to set their houses in order, so to speak, to properly present themselves to the invasion. It will be the province of the Good Roads club not only to awaken interest in the main highway, but in preparing for the construction of connecting roads east and west. In this connection a committee will call upon property-owners to clean up their yards, remove unsightly heaps of rubbish and give the town a general cleaning up.

The date for holding the meeting for forming a Good Roads club here has not yet been announced, but it will probably be some time next week. It is desired that all interested in good roads be present, to the end that a good strong club may be organized. Good roads mean a good town, good business, and good people. As Anaheim possesses all these three qualifications, it is expected that a good strong club will be the result.

Millionaire in Disguise

Constable Llewellyn went to Los Angeles the first of the week to look up information concerning data which has recently arrived in relation to his grandfather's estate, left in England many years ago, and which is said to mount up in the millions. Llewellyn is a direct descendant of the founder of this fortune and is one of the heirs to the property, which, it seems, years ago reverted to the crown, drawing interest until such time as legal claimants might appear and lay claim to it.

In 1860, while a resident of West Virginia, Llewellyn employed an attorney to look after his interests in the estate. The war came on, and this man was appointed lieutenant-colonel of the first regiment raised in that state in defense of the union. He was killed two years after enlistment.

At the close of the war Llewellyn again took up his investigations, and learned that owing to missing papers in the estate the heirs could not properly substantiate their claim. These papers, he informs us, have been recently found, and a fortnight since a lengthy communication reached this country regarding the matter under consideration.

Llewellyn will endeavor to establish his rights to a portion of the estate, and if successful says he will go fishing twice a week.

THE Connecticut, the only first-class battleship ever built in a yard owned by the United States government, was put in commission this week at the Brooklyn navy yard, exactly two years after she was launched. Capt. Wm. Smith is in command. The Connecticut is the largest ship ever commissioned for the American navy. She displaces 16,000 tons.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS IN POSSESSION OF CITY

Four Hundred Men in Line Parade Streets on Sabbath Morning—Officers Elected

Four hundred members of the Knights of Columbus took peaceable possession of the city on Sunday morning, remaining until their special trains departed at 10 o'clock in the evening. From Los Angeles and Oxnard a delegation of 275 arrived over the Southern Pacific at 9:24. Headed by the city band and fifty members of the council to be organized in this city, the Knights marched to the Santa Fe depot, where 32 Knights and their ladies arrived from San Bernardino at 10 o'clock. From Pomona 18 came in trolley-buses, and from Santa Monica a number of others.

The procession marched to the Catholic church where special services were held in honor of the occasion. The church was crowded to the doors.

The following visiting clergymen were present at the services: Rev. M. H. Murtagh, Celebrant; Rev. A. Garriga, Deacon; Rev. T. O'Brien, Sub-deacon; Rev. J. S. Lanbacher, Preacher; Rev. F. J. Dubbel, Master of Ceremonies; Rev. J. Clifford of Los Angeles, Rev. J. O'Callaghan of Santa Monica, Rev. S. Cain of Riverside, Rev. J. Brady of San Bernardino, Rev. J. E. Lilley of Los Angeles.

At noon lunch was served in the opera-house. Four hundred guests were seated at table, and were waited upon by the ladies of the Catholic church.

At 1 o'clock the Knights marched to the Odd Fellows' hall, where the new council was installed. Fifty candidates of the local council were initiated, as well as a number from Pomona and other outlying towns. The ceremonies occupied the entire afternoon and lasted until 8:30 in the evening.

The initiation was under the personal supervision of Charles Donlan of Oxnard, state deputy of the order.

Grand Knight Frank Balfour of Pomona administered the first degree.

Grand Knight J. Miles of Santa Monica administered the second degree.

Joseph Scott of Los Angeles, past state deputy, administered the third degree.

The following officers of the new council were chosen:

C. F. Grim, Grand Knight; A. Rimpau, Deputy Grand Knight; Jos. M. Backs, Financial Secretary; S. Kistler, Treasurer; P. W. Hallicy, Chancellor; J. Stroka, Recorder; P. Warden, J. Baum, Inside Guard; L. Tapia, Outside Guard; J. T. Shea, Lecturer; W. L. Finney, J. A. Maag, J. J. Dillon, Trustees; Rev. F. J. Dubbel, Chaplain.

Council meets first and third Wednesdays in Odd Fellows' hall.

At 9 o'clock the Knights marched to the opera-house where an elaborate banquet was served.

LETTER FROM FATHER DUBBEL.

Anaheim, Cal., Oct. 2, 1906.

To the Editor of the Anaheim Gazette—Dear Sir: Permit me a little space in your paper to express in my name and in that of the Anaheim Council K. of C. our appreciation and thanks to all the citizens of Anaheim for the welcome extended to the visiting Brothers of the Order of Knights of Columbus on Sunday, Sept. 30th.

My especial thanks to the business men who decorated their buildings so artistically; my thanks to the Anaheim band boys; thanks to the City Fathers, who ordered our National flag to float over the municipal building; thanks to the Order of Odd Fellows, who welcomed us as a fraternal order; the highest appreciation and thanks to the ladies who worked untiringly; thanks to the choir, and in particular to Mr. Herman Dickel, and Miss Callaghan of Los Angeles.

We are proud of our fellow citizens. All was nobly and well done.

FATHER DUBBEL.

The officers of the newly installed council were guests of Father Dubbel in a visit to Los Angeles Tuesday evening, when the work of their city brethren was witnessed for the first time.

Four lots located west of the opera-house and extending to Hedwig street were this week sold to Clarence Amberg for $2000.

Realty Values Advancing

Spake & McCollum were on Friday offered $12,000 by a Pasadena capitalist for their property fronting 98 feet on Center street and running back 180 feet to the center of the block. A day or two before, this gentleman asked them to set a price upon their property. They refused, saying it was not for sale. He offered $10,000, which on being turned down was raised to $12,000. Nothing doing. Street rumors that $20,000 was offered are erroneous.

An offer of $15,000 was made yesterday for the property, which, Mr. McCollum informs us, was refused.

The property is part of a parcel of land purchased by Spake & McCollum from R. Melrose last February for $6500. They have since erected a stone-front building on the property, which is filled with tenants.

The Pasadena man offered Henry Huseman $8000 for his property on Center street, occupied by the Stag barber shop, providing Huseman agreed to lease the shop at $40 per month. The property cost Huseman and his associates $6000 less than a year ago. The offer was refused.

A close observer of realty values said in town this week that property has doubled in value here in the past 18 months. He added that he looked for a considerable raise in values all along the line before the year is out.

Ask Langdon to Withdraw

The San Francisco labor party, at a meeting held in the city on Saturday, endorsed Bell for governor, and adopted three resolutions as follows:

First, that the executive committee should telegraph Samuel Gompers to use his best endeavors with William R. Hearst to have William H. Langdon, the candidate of the Independence League, for governor, withdrawn; second, that the executive committee of the council call upon the democratic campaign committee and have the latter wire the state democratic committee of New York to use its influence with Hearst to have Langdon withdrawn; third, that the executive committee wire Hearst direct to have Langdon withdrawn.

The resolution endorsing Bell was adopted after two hours' debate in which some of the members of the council stood for Langdon and others for Austin Lewis, the socialist candidate for governor. The motion to make Bell's indorsement unanimous was lost through the opposition of the socialists.

Broke the Record

Johnny Rupin, a Santa Ana tailor, blew into town on Sunday in company of two other sports from the county seat, the three traveling in a light buggy drawn by a single cayuse. On arriving in town Mr. Rupin immediately began hunting trouble. Under the exhilarating effects of the beer which made Loara famous he ran up against the mighty arm of the law, and was run in the bastille. He was subsequently liberated on bail, on his promise to hike out of town, hitting nothing but the high places. In company with his pals and the cayuse he set out for the burning sands, but on reaching Miraflores lost sight of his promises to be good, and wheeling about he drove again to town to dip his beak into the foaming cup which cheers and also occasionally takes a fall out of you. Mr. Rupin was next seen behind an uplifted schooner, the icy draft gurgling down his parched throat like a young cataract. When he paused to wipe the foam from his whiskers, there was the heavy arm of the law again ordering him to hike.

Mr. Rupin's reply is lost to historical research, but it is said to have been particularly unpretty, the result being that he was locked up again.

In this Mr. Rupin broke the record as being the first and only man who was ever run into the Anaheim jail twice in one day.

Mr. Rupin was assessed ten circulating plunks of the realm.

C. A. Fischer has arrived from Seattle, accompanied by his wife, and has purchased property on Citron street, between Center and Broadway, 190x 211 feet. He contemplates erecting a modern residence. Mr. Fischer will open a merchant tailoring establishment in the building recently vacated by the Hill sisters, as well as the room adjoining it on the east. As soon as the premises can be renovated he will open with a well selected line of fall and winter suitings.

LOCAL INTEREST IN HIGHWAY OF THE KING

El Camino Real Will Pass Through Anaheim, Fullerton and La Habra Valley.

A party of Santa Ana citizens in touring cars arrived in town at 10 o'clock on Friday morning for the purpose of inspecting the route to be selected through the county for El Camino Real. The party was composed of Frank Ey, member of the state executive committee of the Camino Real association; D. A. McMullan, chairman of the board of supervisors; Supervisors H. E. Smith and U. C. Holderman, E. B. Smith, J. A. Hankey, F. P. Nickey, W. M. Scott, Robert McFadden, George Minter, Ed Utt, John McFadden, J. R. Smith, Ed Parker, Volney Tubbs.

In this city the party was joined by W. H. Spake and a representative of this journal. At Fullerton W. W. Kerr of the board of trade was taken aboard. Supervisor Linebarger was looked for, but was temporarily absent from town on business.

The party proceeded along the county road north through La Habra to the Los Angeles county line, where a halt was made.

Mr. Ey here explained that Los Angeles county had already tentatively selected the route of El Camino Real through that county, the same going by way of Whittier and reaching this county at probably the precise spot where the party then stood. There being a majority of the board of supervisors present, he suggested that an expression of opinion be taken as to whether the route traversed by the party had not best be adopted as the course to be followed by the state highway.

Supervisor Smith thought it might be well to defer any formal selection of the highway until the route going by way of Buena Park and Artesia had been inspected. Further, he doubted the wisdom of Los Angeles selecting a route to this county's border without first consulting this county relative to the most desirable route through this county.

The consensus of opinion among those present was that while the La Habra course was in all probability the route to be selected, yet no definite action thereupon should be taken until the other route had been gone over.

After one of the tribe of Smith had invaded a neighboring watermelon patch and abstracted the largest melon in sight, and upon dispatching the same, the party returned to Fullerton for lunch.

At 3 o'clock an informal meeting was held in the Fullerton city hall, at which a number of the citizens of the town assembled to meet the visitors.

Mr. Ey was elected chairman and briefly outlined the objects of the visit. El Camino Real was, he said, to be a highway traversing the state from end to end, following the course traversed by the padres a century and a half ago. In English, El Camino Real means The Highway of the King, it being so designated because the Franciscan fathers in the last century named the highway thus in their journeys from one mission to another. In Orange county the Mission San Juan Capistrano will be the objective point southward. Thence El Camino Real will extend to the Mission San Luis Rey, and thence to San Diego.

Coming northward, Mr. Ey said, the route will lead through Santa Ana and Anaheim, and will then follow as near as practical the old stage road between this city and Los Angeles. The movement was one presumably for good roads, and application would be made to the next legislature for an appropriation to place El Camino Real under state control. However, each county will be called upon to assist in first establishing the highway, and communities will be expected to pay for bells placed along the highway for guidance of travelers. These bells cost $21.

The purpose of the visit was first to ascertain whether the citizens of Fullerton will co-operate with the commission in maintaining the highway and also in contributing for the erection of the bells. Los Angeles had already placed seventeen of these bells along its highway.

While in the east last year, Mr. Ey continued, attending a good roads convention, he met representatives of the Goulds and Vanderbilts, who said that El Camino Real would probably advertise California more than any other thing next to its climate. "If you people will maintain this highway," they said, "we will spend many months of the year in California. Good roads are what you need. This King's highway will make your state."

A general discussion followed, participated in by Messrs. Nickey, McMullan, Hankey, Scott and others. Nickey said at Santa Ana they were organizing a Good Roads club, and already have a large membership. He advised Fullerton and Anaheim to form such clubs. El Camino Real would, he said, result in the construction of good roads connecting with it, and thus give the state excellent thoroughfares.

On behalf of Fullerton Mr. Kerr, W. T. Brown, Wm. Starbuck and Peter Schumacher spoke. They welcomed the visitors, pledged co-operation on the part of their city, and promising to take up the matter of forming a good roads club.

"Let's see which town can get the most members," said Mr. Nickey, enthusiastically.

At close of the meeting the party drove out on Commonwealth avenue to Buena Park, then south to Orange-thorpe avenue and west on that avenue to the county line north of this city. It may be said that whatever chance Buena Park ever had of getting El Camino Real extended through its limits was dispelled by the miserable condition of the county roads leading to it from the west.

The party returned to this city at 4 o'clock, and was met by numerous citizens, all of whom joined enthusiastically in extending a welcome to El Camino Real.

New Naturalization Law

The new naturalization law passed by the last congress and approved on June 29th, went into effect on Thursday and the foreigner who arrives in the United States after that date, or those who have neglected to acquire citizenship papers, will find things quite different. The foreigner for one thing must wait five years before he can begin to shake off his allegiance to whatever prince or potentate may be ruling over his native land. He must be able to speak English, write his own name and go through a long course of legal investigation.

But the most radical change of the new naturalization law is that it vests the power of citizen-making in the Federal government and takes it out of the hands of state authorities. In anticipation of the extra time and expense which the new law entails on those wishing to be naturalized, numerous foreigners have in recent weeks been applying to the Superior court departments of this county for citizenship papers. Those admitted within ninety days of the next election cannot vote then, but this has not stopped their insisting on casting off their alien robes. Their papers of citizenship cost nothing, but under the new law a $1 fee is to be collected by the Federal government.

And besides it is not going to be so easy to become a naturalized citizen. It is not enough that the applicant's papers are all the proper form and correct on their face. A United States inspector is sent out to look up his history and that of his witnesses and a close examination is made of his character. If the report of this inspector is not a favorable one, the Government has the right to appear against the applicant when he goes before the Superior court and there contest his right to become a citizen.

The Republican Nominee

This is what George A. Knight, the member from California on the National Republican committee, has to say of Hon. J. N. Gillett, candidate for governor:

"I have known Jim Gillett since he was a young man. He came to Humboldt county a struggling youngster without much of the world's goods and went to work. He had worked in Seattle at manual labor before he came to Humboldt. He had worked hard as a boy and with his work he studied law. He was admitted to the bar in Michigan. He had no friends on the coast when he arrived in Eureka, but he was a young man with lots of ambition, well born and not afraid of hard work.

"It wasn't long before he began to make friends and many of them in Humboldt. It wasn't long before he forged to the front and the people there began to sit up and take notice of him. They wanted him to run for the office of district attorney of the county, but he gave way to Tom Selvage, who had been on the ground long before him, and this magnanimous act endeared him to the hearts of the people. In 1896 he was elected to the state senate by a neat majority. While he was there he worked hard in the interests of his constituents and he worked hard in the interest of labor. He is responsible for and was the father of several labor bills, one of which the men in the leading industry in his section of the state will never forget. It was the act which gave to the lumbermen of California one hour for lunch, and its passage was hotly contested.

"When Mr. Gillett returned to Eureka after this session of the legislature he formed a partnership with Judge Fletcher Cutler, formerly on the bench of Del Norte, and nephew of one of the oldest practitioners of which this state has cause to be proud, Judge S. M. Buck. He was nominated for congress and served two terms, and he leaves behind him in Washington the record such as few men have made before him.

"James N. Gillett is a republican of the Roosevelt type. He is in full accord with all of the Roosevelt ideas, and is a strong advocate of the Inter-state Commerce act. In short, he is up-to-date in all legislation in the interests of the people and in all legislation that is honest.

"He could have been nominated and elected to congress this term hands down without any question. In one of my earliest interviews with him, when I asked him why he wanted to be governor instead of being returned to congress, he said life was too short and that he would rather be in California, for he begrudged the time that he was away from the state.

"As far as the position on the labor problems of the day are concerned the more they dig into his record, the more apparent it will be that he has ever been in sympathy with and worked actively for measures in the interests of the laboring man. He has never forgotten that he at one time labored with his hands himself.

"He is a man of ability and stands among the best in his profession. He has pride of character sufficient to brush aside any man who would attempt to be his Man Friday or to run his administration. He has the strength of character to say "no" and had rather do that than put a man off with an evasive answer.

"I know Gillett intimately but if he were governor of the state would no more presume to ask him to do anything that was in the scope of his official authority than I would ask the chief justice of the supreme court.

"The people of the State of California are an honest people, and I know that he will represent that honesty of purpose to its full extent."

University Notes

The department of botany of the university of California has been presented with the very valuable Brandegee collection of botanical specimens together with the Brandegee library of some three thousand volumes of botanical works and the furniture and fixtures for the care of the Herbarium. This gift is a most important one to the department for the reason that the Herbarium contains over 100,000 specimens of plants gathered principally in Southern California, Arizona and Mexico, a region which is but little covered in the original collection of the university. The university Herbarium is now one of the largest and most valuable west of Harvard.

The university library has been presented with the Wolsohn private library of some 340 volumes of standard historical works, the gift of Mrs. Henry Wolsohn in memory of her late husband.

Senior Hall, the new building on the campus of the university for the headquarters of the men of the senior class, has just been completed. It is a unique log structure where senior singing and other men's exercises may be held. It was dedicated recently and thrown open for the purpose for which it is intended.

City Trustees

The city trustees met on Thursday evening and transacted a volume of interesting business.

The street superintendent reported the construction of a number of oil and gravel crosswalks on Broadway and Center streets. Opinion seems to be divided whether this class of crosswalks are desirable or not.

Ordinance No. 188, fixing the tax rate of the city for the fiscal year; Ordinance No. 189, fixing the time and place for paying city licenses; Ordinance No. 190, relating to the payment of water and electric light, were passed. They will be found in another column.

A deed for the property on South Los Angeles street recently purchased by the city for $1200 was received and accepted.

John G. Wirsching, a peanut and popcorn vender, asked that his license be reduced. The application was denied.

The saloon license of Eubanks & Cottle was transferred to Stewart & Mason.

A petition was granted for constructing a sidewalk on both sides of Melrose street, between Center and Broadway.

The paving committee from the chamber of commerce presented a petition which was referred to the public improvement committee.

Report of the chamber of commerce fire committee, asking for organization of a fire company, was referred to the finance committee.

W. E. Shannon and B. Lensing, city employees, had their salaries raised $5 per month.

Communication from J. W. Duckworth, asking the city to contribute $5 to help pay for painting bandstand and for chairs for same. Referred to finance committee.

Turners were granted a liquor license for Oct. 7, their picnic day.

Committee from the chamber of commerce asked that colored street lights be installed for Sunday night, when an order of Knights of Columbus was instituted here. The request was denied for lack of time.

World's Industrial Notes

From last consular reports received by the California State Agricultural society from the world at large, and from reports of different agricultural colleges and experiment stations, we glean the following notes of general interest:

Consul-General Guenther of Frankfurt reports a poor grape crop in the Rhine country. A new and dangerous disease has appeared. If not checked before the harvest days the loss will be very great.

Valuable Liberian timber is available for the American markets, reports Consul-General Lyon of Monrovia. The woods comprise red and white mahogany, red and white whitemore, red and white oak, cedar, cherry, corkwood, brimstone and mulberry. Mr. Lyon gives the name of a business man [which is on file at Bureau of Manufactures] who desires to ship this timber direct to the United States.

C. G. Hopkins shows that as an average of 42 different tests by the Ohio station, extending over a period of seven years, "the average value of farm manure was found to be $1.99 per ton, measured in increased crop yields produced, but when 40 pounds of finely ground rock phosphate were added to the ton of manure, its average value was found to be $3.23 per ton, making an increased value, due to the addition of the phosphorus, of $1.24 per ton of manure." The 40 pounds of rock phosphate used cost about 16 cents.

According to Consul-General George E. Anderson, at Rio de Janeiro, the linen industry of the world may possibly be revolutionized by the discovery and development of a linen plant indigenous to Brazil and some of the great fertile plains of South America. The new plant is known as "Canhamo brasiliensis perini" or "Brazilian linen." It is named for its discoverer, Dr. Victorio Antonio de Perini, and its practical development is now being effected upon several experimental plantations, the most notable of which is at Boa Vista, in the State of Rio de Janeiro. The development was commenced with the assistance of the State government and has continued to a point where it may be stated without question that the fiber is a success and that its influence will be felt at once in the fabric world. The product of the plantations now established has been contracted for by British interests at a very profitable rate. One of the plantations established includes an area of 500,000 square meters of the growing plants at Rodeiro, and the one at Boa Vista will soon have over 2,000,000 square meters.

During the fiscal year 1906, 219,892,063 pounds of dried currants were exported from Greece. England, America, Holland and Germany were the principal consumers, England taking 120,142,043 pounds, America 29,576,542

Consul J. C. McNally furnishes from Liege the following statistics of the consumption of strong drink and tobacco in Belgium: The population in 1905 was 7,074,910, and the consumption of beer reached the enormous quantity of 428,018,990 gallons, of which 422,618,714 represented home manufacture, while 5,400,276 gallons came from abroad. The consumption of foreign alcohol was 325,447 gallons, while that of home manufacture was 12,963,986 gallons. The consumption of foreign tobacco was 25,547,427 pounds, and of home-raised 26,742,273 pounds. The yearly consumption of beer per head was about 60 gallons, of wine about 5 quarts, alcohol about 8 quarts, and tobacco about 7 pounds.

The Story of a Famous Phrase.

All the world knows the remark of the governor of North Carolina to the governor of South Carolina, "It's a long time between drinks." The true history of this famous anecdote was told by a South Carolinian. It appears that the phrase was first heard at a political dinner when the governors of both North and South Carolina were present. The first governor had delivered a fiery political speech. The situation was intense when the turn came for the governor of South Carolina to speak. It seemed that any word the governor might say would complicate the situation. Even should he keep silent his opinion would seem clear. It was at this critical moment that the governor of the other Carolina rose and, inspired by a stroke of genius, remarked, "It's a long time between drinks." The absolutely noncommittal remark saved the situation.

Where Marriage Pays.

"Married people have the best of it in ocean travelling," said a sea captain, "for they have a stateroom to themselves. People traveling alone, unless they are willing to pay a good deal extra, have to sleep in the same room with strangers, an unpleasant thing. "Some of these lone travelers, to secure privacy, pay extra fare. Others—many, many others—try to secure privacy by giving us lies instead of money."

"One man will tell the chief steward that he has an intolerable snore. Another will say he is subject to epileptic attacks, wherein in the small hours he becomes a shrieking and dangerous maniac. Another will say that in the throes of acute seasickness from the beginning of the voyage to the end he fills the cabin day and night with dismal noises."

"No matter. They all have to share their staterooms with strangers. The only way out of it is to plunk down the coin."—New York Press.

Origin of Bonfires.

Bonfires are a survival of the rites of Baal and Moloch. When Christianity ruled old ways and customs could be abolished, and so the heathen, still hankering after the ancient deities, but half controlled by pope or bishop, made their bonfires on the eve of St. Peter or St. John. One use of bonfires in the not so far distant past was as a means of disinfection. In his "History of the Plague" Defoe tells of bonfires in London streets. There is reason to suppose that in kindling such fires there was still a remnant of superstition left. It was in a measure a sacrifice to Baal. As to the excellence of the method of making fires to drive away a plague the benefit would be questionable. Anyhow it may be dwelt upon as the earliest effort made toward cremation, for it was of some slight use when an infected neighborhood caught fire and was reduced to ashes. But, then, the remedy might have been worse than the disease.

Funny Dunders.

A famous sculpture group recently exhibited in Glasgow represents Adam and Eve after they had left Eden. Eve, in despair, lies at Adam's feet. Through a mistake an intelligent attendant placarded it with this description: "Motherless." At the same exhibition was a sleeping nymph, by a well known sculptor, which by another mistake appeared in the catalogue as "Mrs. —," greatly to the horror of Glasgow. A Sunday school boy recently gave this account of the prophet Elijah: "Elijah, the prophet, was carried into heaven by a whirlwind, and the children stood up and cried: 'Go up, thou baldhead! Go up, thou baldhead!' And before he went up he divided the Red

AMONG local candidates whose personality appeals especially to citizens of this judicial township, Judge J. S. Howard takes a leading place. Judge Howard has filled the office of township justice for one term, and his administration has been clean and incorruptible throughout the four years during which he has graced the office. He has passed upon many an intricate point of law during these years, in cases coming before him of one order or another, and his decisions have ever had the endorsements of the best citizens and tax payers throughout the township. He is gifted with a keen sense of discrimination between right and wrong, and goes to the kernel of a subject placed before him with unerring judgment and quick perception. When it comes to evil-doers the judge deals out justice impartially to all, knowing neither friend nor foe. To those unfortunates who are entitled to mercy, he is ever lenient; to those deserving of punishment, he places upon them the hand of the law in no uncertain fashion. Judge Howard is a student and scholarly gentleman, at once entitled to support not only of his own party, but of all good people generally. Too often voters who cast their ballot for governor, congressman and other state and county officers imagine their party has been thereby sufficiently recognized, and when coming to township nominees lose sight of the importance of supporting them. In the person of Judge Howard voters will find him to be as worthy of republican support as the candidates for governor and congress, and that is saying a great deal. That he will run well ahead of his ticket and be triumphantly elected, we have no doubt. Neither is he averse to accepting a democratic vote now and then, as well, and many voters of that political faith have assured him of their support. Those offenders who the judge has severely punished for infraction of the law, are of course opposed to him. "No thief e'er felt the halter draw, with good opinion of the law." The opposition of these fry should make votes for the judge. Rally to his support.

CONSUL-GENERAL GEORGE W. ROOSEVELT reports from Brussels that during the past few years horse breeding has become one of the most lucrative resources of farmers in the Belgian province of Brabant. The year 1905 was especially noticeable for the great activity in the sale of breeding animals, especially animals four and five years old, which readily sold at exceptionally high prices. A good draft gelding brings from 1800 to 2500 francs [$347.40 to $482.50]. Full-grown animals are rare, and horse dealers find considerable difficulty in procuring horses four and five years old.

PORT LIMON, Costa Rico, says Consul Chester Donaldson, is the largest banana port in the world, the shipments being 10,000,000 bunches for the year ended June 30, 1906, and the value $4,000,000.

THE Madeira Islands produced 880,000 gallons of wine in 1905, of which 11,660 gallons were shipped to the United States.

M. H. LITTEN, republican candidate for township constable, is a man eminently entitled to his party's undivided support, if for no other reason than the fact that he is the only republican in the county in a three-cornered fight. Such contests are always difficult things to handle; the best way being to accord such candidate the undivided support of one's party. This should be done in the case of Mr. Litten in view of his especial fitness for the office. He has been an efficient peace officer for some time past, and has given a good account of himself. He has run down some notable criminals, and it was due to his efforts more than to any other one thing that the Carlos Corona gang of petty footpads were dispersed and sent to jail or run out of the county. Litten has detective instincts which make him a capable official, and his personal bravery has never been questioned. He is always on hand when wanted, and has never yet asked to play his hand out at pinochle before taking up the chase of a criminal, but is Johnny on the spot after his man every time. He is entitled to and should receive his party support undivided. Let republicans bear in mind that three-cornered contest, and throw their votes for their party nominee. From all reports Litten will run well and be easily elected.

THERE are no modern dairies in Panama, but in the canal zone, in the city of Panama, and throughout the interior, establishments may be found where cows are kept and milk, such as it is, is furnished to consumers. The management of these so-called dairies is carried on in a very primitive manner and furnishes a poor quality of milk and which, in quantity, is not sufficient to supply the demand. The milch cows are rarely given shelter, very little care is taken of them, they being compelled to forage for feed. Milk is sold at from 20 to 30 cents gold per quart, and is usually watered before it reaches the consumer, and, poor as it is, is hard to get. Hence, condensed milk and evaporated cream have taken its place almost completely in hotels and private families.

THE total value of the exports of American provisions and dairy products for the year ending June 30, 1906, was $210,990,065, against $169,998,873 in 1905. The exports include 64,523,359 pounds of canned beef, valued at $6,430,446; 268,054,227 pounds of fresh beef; 4,719,805 pounds of cured beef; 361,210,563 pounds of bacon; 194,267,949 pounds of hams, 155,265,158 pounds of pork; 741,516,886 pounds of lard; 221,452,249 pounds of oleo oil and oleomargarine; 7,928,786 pounds of sausage; 27,360,537 pounds of butter, and 16,562,451 pounds of cheese.

Consul W. Schumann of Mainz says the outlook for either a fine or fair vintage in Germany is fast disappearing. To the middle of July the condition of the vineyards was most satisfactory. About that time, however, several very cold and foggy nights set in, followed by intense heat. Soon after that very much feared disease of the vines, peronospora, made its appearance, and spread with most extraordinary rapidity to almost all vineyards—to those that had been sprayed with sulphate of copper solution to those that had not. The infection assails leaves and also the grapes. The leaves turn rusty and the fruit withers, causing the fruit to drop off. Strenuous efforts are being made to combat the disease, but at present there seems little prospect of saving much of the vintage in some of the wine-growing districts.

In response to inquiries from parties in California, Consul D. R. Birch of Malaga, furnishes the following information about the fruit crop in Spain: The outlook for the opening of the fruit season of southern Spain next month (September) is less hopeful than was anticipated in the early spring. Almonds will be fewer, the raisin crop is two weeks late, and olives are prematurely ripening and falling from the trees. "Jordans," that luscious almond wholly indigenous to the environs of Malaga, will be fewer to the extent of perhaps 60 per cent, if the recent reports from the growing districts are to be believed. The unusual cold of last winter is held responsible for the shortage.

THE coming Spanish olive crop is reported by Consul Bartleman at Seville, to be in excellent condition, with prospects for a good average harvest.

THE wheat crop of India this year is a large one. The area sown amounts to 26,226,200 acres, and the yield is estimated at 8,560,000 tons, as against 7,582,000 tons last year, the increase being 13 percent. The Indian Trade Journal, which makes this statement, says that the government is taking a deep interest in the complaint of the admixture of dirt in the wheat that is exported.

On Monday the government placed its ban on the shippers of unwholesome meats. Oct. 1st is the date when any person or corporation who slaughters and sells objectionable meats between states may be punished by a fine of $10,000 or imprisonment for two years, or both. Any sufferer from bad animal food need only notify the United States district attorney, on whom rests the responsibility of prosecuting. Meat inspection for country and interstate trade has been in progress at several points in this state for months and Monday's law applies only to interstate transportation. It has been complied with long ago, wholesale meat dealers say. The law relating to labels on meat products declares there shall be no sale under false or misleading names. A trade name may be used, but the real name of the meat sold must be contained in it.

CONSUL COVERT of Lyons, in a report on artificial silk, says: Several varieties of artificial silk are in the market in France, displayed in some of the stores and offered for sale at figures much below the genuine article. Next to Chardonnat the viscose is the most common. It is one of the valuable forms of dissolved cellulose, which may be precipitated and made to assume almost any form desired; that is to say, it may be precipitated into filaments of thread as fine as a spider's web or in masses that can be made as hard as rubber.

AMERICAN harvests for this year will be the largest on record, according to the following estimates based on data of the Department of Agriculture: Winter wheat, 493,434,000 bushels; spring wheat, 278,830,000 bushels, against 428,462,834 and 264,516,655 bushels, respectively, in 1905. The total corn crop for 1906 is estimated at 2,713,194,000, against 2,707,993,540 bushels last year.

A. C. BLACK of Santa Ana, independent league nominee for railroad commissioner in Southern California, has received the endorsement of democrats in Los Angeles county. Inasmuch as the nomination of R. F. Goings, democratic candidate for railroad commissioner, has not been forwarded to the secretary of state, the county central committee has swung its entire support to the independence league nominee.

Wm. Schwenckert advertised some days ago in a Los Angeles paper for walnut pickers. Following day he received a stack of letters half a foot high from applicants for the job. The next day letters kept pouring in, one from Avalon, and the deluge has continued until our fellow-townsmen has no fear he will have help enough to gather his crop. One applicant said he would camp on the ranch while gathering the crop, and asks: "Are there any stores in Anaheim?" Mr. Schwenckert pays by the sack, half of the wage being retained until the crop is all gathered. This obviates the possibility of pickers jumping the job when the nuts are thinned out later in the season and not

In the Placentia orchards fumigators were driven indoors by the downpour, which continued spiritedly for a time and promised a heavy downpour. Lightning continued during the fore part of the night, accompanied by rumblings of distant thunder. The following day was the warmest of the year, the thermometer rising to 106. This is believed to be the warmest day in twenty years.

Section 3 of the special acts relative to education, states that such children shall be in school at least two-thirds of the time during which there is school in the district where they reside. It makes it a misdemeanor, punishable with a fine, for the neglect of parents or guardians to comply with the provisions of the act, and makes it the duty of the clerk of the board of trustees to prosecute offenses.

Congressman Smith will open the campaign in this city at a grand rally to be held in the opera-house on Friday evening. Mr. Smith is an able speaker and will discuss national issues with an insight gathered by close observation of affairs at the national capital. He is well equipped to handle such subjects as reforestation and conserving flood waters, as well as other topics of absorbing interest to Southern California. In the minds of many these two subjects transcend the tariff and other so-called larger issues. They have the endorsement of the republican party, and are keenly appreciated by President Roosevelt. Mr. Smith has made these subjects a study and has been in frequent consultation at the white house concerning them. He will speak upon other issues as well, and we look for a speech at once thoughtful and instructive. Fred C. Spencer, Esq., will preside. The city band will discourse patriotic airs. Ladies are especially invited. Also, all good democrats are requested to come out and hear sound political gospel expounded by the gentleman who represents us in Congress.

The Misses Hill have opened their new millinery store in the Federman block and present to the purchasing public as neat a store and as well selected a stock of millinery goods as one can see in a day's travels. A fine line of pattern hats, children's school hats and other seasonable millinery will be found on display, and the same courteous treatment which has conspired to make these young ladies so popular here. Call and see them and do not fail to patronize them as well. Opening days, Saturday and Monday, Oct. 6-8.

County School Superintendent Nichols visited local schools on Tuesday and found them working in excellent order. He was especially pleased at the progress made by the tots in Miss Callaghan's room at the Broadway street primary, where the little chaps are reading and writing with only three weeks of school. Prof. Nichols speaks in high praise of the city's corps of teachers, saying it is probably the strongest ever employed by the district.

The directors of the chamber of commerce met in special session on Thursday evening and appointed a committee to wait upon the city trustees and arrange for the decoration of streets during the visit of the Knights of Columbus. A consignment of pamphlets was ordered sent to the Los Angeles chamber of commerce. The petition asking for street paving was ordered to be presented to the city trustees for consideration. Upward of 3500 feet on Center and Los Angeles streets has been signed in favor of paving.

Editor J. P. Baumgartner of the Santa Ana Register, accompanied by a party of friends, including J. A. Pryor, a well-known up-state newspaper man, was in town in his automobile on Tuesday. Mr. Baumgartner states he will probably move from Long Beach to Santa Ana, where he has been received with wide open arms, so to speak.

Wm. Champlin reports dry gum wood scarcer than ever. Long Beach and other adjacent towns draw upon this valley for their supply, which is becoming shorter and shorter. This week a stiff advance in price is noted, the price going from $9 to $10 per cord. Demands for gas continue on the increase.

Miss Belen Gaxiola, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gaxiola of this city, and J. R. Vlosca of Mexico were married at the home of the bride's parents. The happy young couple were the recipients of hearty congratulations from a host of friends.

J. D. Heitshusen on Monday received a telegram from Herr Huenemeyer from Kansas City, stating that he would return to this city at once and resume his restaurant business.

Theodore Rimpau celebrated his eightieth birthday at his residence on Palm street on Thursday. About this event cluster some interesting reminiscences of early California days. When a young man Mr. Rimpau came from his native Germany to Los Angeles, where he won the heart of Miss Francisca Arbila, the fair daughter of Francisco Arbila, of a well-known Spanish family, and was married to her at the Plaza church by Father Sanchez, December 24, 1850. The house in which he courted the fair damsel, the one-story adobe next to the electric building on Overa street, near the Plaza, still stands, and is owned by Rimpau heirs. Mr. Rimpau claims the distinction of being the first foreigner to marry a native daughter of California, and the two are believed to be the first couple married in California since that date to celebrate their golden wedding, an event that occurred at their home six years ago. To Mr. and Mrs. Rimpau there were born fifteen children, eleven sons and four daughters. Two daughters and seven sons survive, all residents of Los Angeles and Anaheim. All of these, with about fifteen grandchildren were present at the celebration. Mr. Rimpau came to Anaheim forty-one years ago, and has occupied his present home for thirty years. His wife died three years ago. He is still in good health, and has yet to see his first illness.

Miss Maude Field has returned to her home in the east after a pleasant visit here with her sister, Mrs. W. A. Wallace.

Next Sunday occurs the Turners' picnic at Columbia Gardens. Preparations have been made for an enjoyable time. The city band will furnish music during the day.

J. D. Heitshusen returned some days ago from Berkeley, where he placed his young son in an institution for the deaf and dumb. The lad will probably remain eight or nine years in the institution, and it is believed by his father that he will yet recover his power of speech, which was lost through illness when three years of age.

L. Nemetz has sold to O. Lagman a building lot on Olive street, near Center, for $500, and the latter will shortly begin the erection of a residence. Mr. Nemetz will build two residences on the same street. In all, there are fifteen new residences in course of construction and in immediate prospect. A number of business blocks are also in contemplation.

At Newport Beach on Saturday evening a two-story cottage owned by Col. Brunton of Los Angeles was struck by lightning. The bolt struck the roof near a small gable, breaking the window lights out and going on down through the building, following a sort of zig-zag course into the ground. It tore a hole through the floor in the second story and then jumped to the partition, following down between the two plastered walls onto the first floor and knocking off a part of the siding of the porch. The occupants of the house were badly frightened and Grace Hegar who was standing before a mirror curling her hair was knocked almost unconscious and deafened.

Trouble is brewing between the improvement association dredging Newport bay and the Southern Pacific octopus. Mr. Townsend, president of the company, who has just returned from Newport, stated that the Southern Pacific railroad officials had refused to permit the dredger to pass through their bridge across the Santa Ana river. If a compromise cannot be effected the matter will be taken into the courts, as it is the opinion of those interested that the railroad company can be compelled to move its bridge to let the dredger through. The stream is navigable at this point, and if the issue is taken into the courts it may result in the railroad being forced to maintain a permanent draw.

Theodore A. Bell, democratic candidate for governor, will be in Anaheim for a brief stay on Friday, Oct. 12th. Mr. Bell will speak at Santa Ana in the evening. He will come by way of Riverside, and will come to this city and Fullerton before proceeding to Santa Ana. He will be accompanied by Thos. O. Toland, candidate for lieutenant-governor, James D. Phelan of San Francisco and others, including state and county candidates. Arrangements for the meeting have not as yet been perfected.

Judge R. C. Marquez was in the city on Saturday. The judge is filling the unexpired term of his deceased brother as justice of the peace of Yorba township. The recent republican convention nominated Mr. Lemke for the place. Friends of Judge Marquez have requested him to become an independent candidate for the office, but he has not yet given his consent.

Shortly after the death of Toussau his will was offered for probate by his wife, Mrs. Constance Toussau, who was the sole heir to his estate, amounting to about $12,000. The woman's mother-in-law now comes forward and alleges that the will was made under duress, at a time when the testator was weak and ill, and that the witnesses were not present when the document was signed. It is further alleged that the widow has spent large sums belonging to the estate in extravagant living. The contestants reside in Fullerton, and the indications are that a bitter and sensational fight will be made before the affair is settled.

Constitutional Amendments

The regular session of the legislature held in 1905 proposed ten amendments to the constitution and the special, or "Emergency Session," of June, 1906, proposed four more and all will be submitted to the voters for their approval or rejection at the general state election which will be held November 6, 1906.

In our last issue we printed a number of these amendments and this week we publish another installment of them. These amendments are published in full, so that voters may arrive at an intelligent understanding concerning them. They are published without comment at this time. Voters should preserve these amendments, so that they may be thoroughly digested and a fitting sense of their importance arrived at.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 6.
This amendment proposes to amend the section of the constitution which limits the terms of all officers not otherwise therein provided for to four years by adding the following proviso:

"Provided, however, that in the case of any officer or employee of any municipality governed under a legally adopted charter, the provisions of such charter with reference to the tenure of office or the dismissal from office of any such officer or employee shall control."

The purpose of this amendment is to make effective the civil service provisions of city charters. This amendment was endorsed by the League of California Municipalities at its last annual convention.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 7.
Being Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 14.

This amendment proposes to add to the duties of lieutenant governor, in addition to his present duties as presiding officer of the senate; the amendment provides that: "He shall be ex-officio a member of all state boards, and when the senate is not in session shall visit the state institutions receiving aid from the state and make careful examinations of the manner in which the appropriations for the support of such institutions, and for permanent improvements, have been expended and make report of the results of such examinations to the governor," etc. The amendment fixes his annual salary at $4,000.

At present the supervision of state institutions is performed by the secretary of the state board of examiners, and no criticism has been made as to the efficiency of his supervision.

A constitutional amendment similar to the above was defeated in 1892.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 8.
Being Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 20.

The object of this amendment is to permit corporations whose charters are about to expire by limitation to extend their corporate existence not to exceed fifty years additional by filing a certificate of intention to do so. It is now fifty-six years since the state was admitted into the Union, and hundreds of business and financial corporations that were organized under the first incorporation act are near the end of their legal existence. Unless this amendment be adopted, they will have to wind up their business and dissolve through expensive, laborious and vexatious court proceedings, and provide for reorganization under a new name. The result would be not only damaging loss to the corporations and shareholders involved, but a serious set-back to their creditors and customers, and a grave interruption to the general business of the community. No injury to anyone could possibly result from the proposed amendment, which is the prevailing law in the Union generally, and much damaged would ensue if it be not passed. The reserve right still exists in the state to abolish corporations or alter corporate charters. No objection has yet been offered to this amendment.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 9.
Being Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 38.

This amendment proposes to add a new section to Article XI of the constitution to read as follows:

"Section 16. All moneys belong ing to the state, or to any county or municipality within this state, may be deposited in national bank or banks within this state, or in any bank or banks organized under the laws of this state, in such manner and under such conditions as may be provided by law; provided, that such bank or banks in which such moneys are deposited shall furnish as security for such deposits, bonds of the United States, or of this state or of any county, municipality or school district within this state, to be approved by the officer or officers designated by law, to an amount in value of at least 10 per cent in excess of the amount of such deposit; and provided, that such bank or banks shall pay a reasonable rate of interest, not less than two per cent per annum on the daily balances therein deposited, and provided, that no deposit shall at any one time exceed fifty per cent of the paid-up capital stock of such depository bank or banks, and provided further that no officer shall deposit at one time more than twenty percent of such public moneys available for deposit in any bank while there are other qualified banks requesting such deposits."

The necessity of this amendment arose a year or two ago when it was discovered that large amounts of public funds were being deposited in banks without authority of law, and the public was deriving no revenue from such deposits. In fact, many of the counties and cities and towns of the state, keep much of their funds in banks. It was shown that a considerable revenue could be produced from such deposits, providing a means could be found by which such deposits could be properly safe-guarded. It is estimated that at least $10,000,000 is continually locked up in public treasuries, idle, when it should be performing its functions as a circulating medium. Immediately following the time for paying taxes the public funds amount to twenty or thirty millions, and a financial stringency is sometimes acutely felt. It is for the purpose of relieving these conditions that this amendment is proposed.

It will be noted that all deposits authorized by this amendment are safe-guarded by requiring a deposit of public bonds with the treasurer of the state, county or municipality, ten per cent in excess of the moneys deposited. Interest at the rate of at least two per cent per annum must be paid on all deposits, and thus a considerable revenue may be secured. This amendment was considered by the last convention of the League of California Municipalities and given an unanimous endorsement.

The other amendments to be voted upon at next month's election will be printed in our next issue, when the list will be completed. Voters should preserve these amendments, for it may not be possible to present them again this campaign. The first publication appeared in our last issue.

Lively Meeting of Irrigators

The annual meeting of stockholders in the Santa Ana valley irrigation district was held at Orange on Tuesday and proved to be the warmest session ever held by that company. Speaking of the way in which the fur was going to fly a veracious chronicler the day before the battle observed:

At the regular annual meeting held a year ago a quorum of stock, which is two-thirds of something over 17,000 shares, was not present and the old board held over. The stockholders will vote to it that the necessary two-thirds is present at next Tuesday's meeting.

So far as reported there are six candidates in the field for the five places on the board of directors. They are Messrs. John Dunston of Tustin, M. Nison of Santa Ana, George Dierker of Olive and Samuel Armor of Orange, members of the present board, who are trying for re-election. Besides these are A. N. Saxton of Orange and A. C. Cox of the McPherson district. The principal fight seems to be between Messrs. Armor and Saxton of Orange.

The stockholders are taking more interest in the coming election than they have taken in any for some time. They are realizing the importance of the water question and many of them

Dated July 24th, 1906.

J. B. WEST,
Judge of said Superior Court.

Richard Melrose, attorney for administrator.

are in favor of raising a good-sized sum of money in some way and either putting in a submerged dam in the bed of the river at the Sculley Narrows, or of carrying out the plan of the present board, only on a larger scale, of putting in a number of putting plants at different places along the company's canals and running the water into the ditches.

The submerged dam enthusiasts held a mass meeting in Orange last Monday night and adopted a resolution to the effect that the incoming board be instructed to take the necessary steps toward putting in such a structure. They also adopted a resolution at the same meeting that a committee of five, one from each district, be elected at next Tuesday meeting as an advisory board to act with the board of directors. Whether that committee is elected or not depends altogether on what side has the most votes, or the most power at the meeting—the Dunston-Cox-Saxton faction or the faction represented by the holdover members of the board. Messrs. Dunston, Cox and Saxton are outspokenly in favor of the submerged dam proposition, and the other candidates take a more conservative view of the matter. They want to go at a slower gait, in other words, and feel their way as they proceed.

WASHINGTON CHAT

[CORRESPONDENCE OF THE GAZETTE]
Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.

The uprising in Cuba is giving the Washington government more concern and anxiety than most people know anything about. This is shown in the activity displayed in the State, War and Navy departments, particularly in the latter. Day and night the operators in the department telegraph offices are on duty sending lengthy dispatches to the president at Oyster Bay and to the commanders of the different navy yards along the coast. Every official is exceedingly anxious to have all under his command in absolute readiness to move at a moment's notice, in case Secretary Taft should fail in his mission to secure peace.

Little news as to the movement of war vessels is to be obtained at the navy department. Secret orders are constantly on the wires and according to the drift of talk heard in the corridors, every seaport in Cuba will be silently surrounded by U. S. ships in another week. Then if the revolutionists continue their disturbances, concerted action will be taken on every hand which will quickly show that the administration is not to be trifled with and that it does not intend to have a single American interest suffer in Cuba.

Much talk is also heard as to whether the present state of affairs in Cuba will interfere with President Roosevelt making his proposed tour of inspection of the Panama canal. He will not start until early in November, but if the rebellion is not at an end by that time, some say that he would take the matter in his own hands, have his cruiser stop at Havana and make plain the fact that he will carry out the provision of the Cuban treaty which gives him the power to intervene and have Uncle Sam again in charge of the island republic.

Only at rare intervals is the city of Washington visited by a man-of-war from a foreign nation. With her guns trained on the dome of the big capitol building, the Italian cruiser Fieramosca steamed slowly up the Potomac river, past the forts protecting the seat of government, and anchored directly opposite the capital city where she will remain during the next ten days or two weeks in order to give her officers and crew of 350 men an opportunity to view the sights of the city. This Italian boat is a formidable looking one and is equipped with twenty-eight powerful guns of various sizes, which could lay the government buildings and half the city in ruins before anyone could say "Jack Robinson." Her mission is a peaceable one, however, and her sailors are neat appearing gentlemen who apparently are delighted with their stay in the capital of the land they call "Beautiful America." From Washington the cruiser goes to Norfolk and New

Get SCOTT'S Emulsion

When you go to a drug store and ask for Scott's Emulsion you know what you want; the man knows you ought to have it. Don't be surprised, though, if you are offered something else. Wines, cordials, extracts, etc., of cod liver oil are plentiful but don't imagine you are getting cod liver oil when you take them. Every year for thirty years we've been increasing the sales of Scott's Emulsion. Why? Because it has always been better than any substitute for it.

York, where the officers will represent the King of Italy at the unveiling of a monument to the famous composer of music, Verdi.

There is much joy in the department of agriculture. This is quite unusual, because ever since the beef investigations, started some months ago, the big red building located on the Mall, has been a place of sadness and gloom, due to the shake-up among clerks and officials. But now all is changed and great joy is found in the discovery that a new use has been found for corn-cobs and corn-stalks, for it is the experts of the agricultural department who want the farmer to know that before long he will be able to either get a good price for cobs and stalks or convert them into alcohol at three cents a gallon. So successful have experiments along this line proven that capitalists are talking of forming a company to establish distilleries in various parts of the corn belt section to utilize the enormous quantity of cobs and stalks that have hitherto gone mostly to waste. It is probable that the department will soon issue literature on the subject, which can be secured free for the asking.

The White House is once again open to visitors and is about in readiness for the reception of the president and his family when they return from their summer home about October first. The outside of the mansion remains about the same only that the paint is a little whiter and more glaring than usual. It is in the interior where the wonderful changes and improvements have taken place, and one does not have to tarry long in various halls and rooms to note that the money appropriated by congress has been well and judiciously spent. When the Roosevelts return they will find every part of the executive mansion more modern and in better condition than it has ever been in all its wonderful history, included in which is the fact that it has had more changes made in it and more paint daubed on it than any other house in the land.

It is known that when the president returns he will be confronted with a delicate situation in the affairs of the government printing of-

Office. Serious complaints have been pouring in on the president which show that the big printery is in a state of disturbance that renders good work on the part of the employees almost an impossibility. Whether the president will give his personal attention to these troubles or whether he will turn the matter over to a committee to conduct an investigation, is not known. The public printer has been given a free hand in the running of the office and changes in the force have been made right and left. The employees desire to know if the president will back the public printer up in the numerous changes that have been made.

Disgusted With Rugby

Judging from the latest reports from Stanford and Berkeley, the northern football devotees are already inwardly regretting that the athletic committees of the two institutions decided in favor of Rugby football. "Stanford is heartily disgusted with the innovation," said a leading Cardinal student while visiting friends in Los Angeles recently, "and it would not be surprising in the least," he continued, "if, before the big intercollegiate game, the squad returned to the American style." This statement, coming in the face of recent reports of the alleged enthusiasm exhibited by the students of Stanford and Berkeley over the English game, is a startling assertion, yet the facts will bear it out.

It appears that early in the year when the northern universities were considering the much-mooted question of football, news came from the east to the effect that several colleges were contemplating playing Rugby, and this rumor, coupled with the known antagonism of Presidents Wheeler and Jordan to the old game, led the athletic authorities to decide in favor of the change. It later developed that these eastern colleges had retracted their decision to play the English game and thus the California institution were the sole supporters of the new fad. Stanford, being to proud to withdraw from her position, was determined at the beginning of the year to stick to the new game and California followed suit. However, the recent trial Rugby contests at Palo Alto have shown the folly of adopting the English game, and strong pressure is being brought to bear upon the powers that be, to play the American game of football hereafter.

MORAVIAN BARLEY

While it is five years since the Moravian or Hanna barley was first introduced into California through a five-pound sample sent by the U. S. Agricultural Department to Prof. E. W. Hilgard of the Agricultural College of the University of California, and while all the experiments seem to demonstrate its superiority over other barleys in practically all important points, yet we find that but few farmers in California are aware of its existence and still fewer of its properties.

The State Agricultural Society has made careful inquiry of a few farmers who have grown this barley more or less extensively, and if it possesses the qualities which those who have grown it agree that it has, the day ought to be hastened when it shall take the place of the common varieties of barley in all the grain fields of the State. If it is as much better than the common barley as we are led to believe it is from the reports made to us on the subject, then its general introduction throughout California one year earlier than might result through ordinary channels would be worth to the farmers of the state, in the increased yield alone, to say nothing about a better price by reason of its better quality, more than the cost of maintaining the State Agricultural society for a good many years. Without affirming or denying its properties, therefore, we state the points claimed for it in the hope that barley-growers may be induced to try it for themselves, and thus earlier reap the benefit if their trial should prove this new grain possesses the points in its favor that are claimed.

Mr. August Hagemann of Livermore was the first to plant it in California, and has been growing it for five years. He says: "The Hanna or Moravian barley has shown more resistance to drouth than the six-rowed common barley. In its normal state it weighs 56 pounds to the bushel; the standard weight of the six-rowed or common barley is 48 pounds to the bushel. The average yield under equal conditions is in favor of Moravian. It is an excellent feed barley as well as a brewing barley. Its malt shows by analysis to have a larger percentage of extract than chevalier barley. As an export barley for Australia and England it should have a good demand, as this type of barley is almost exclusively used in those countries for malting."

Mr. H. C. Compton of Chico is another grower of Moravian barley, and he says of it: "In 1905, which was an unfavorable year for crops, this barley (Moravian) made about two sacks more to the acre than the common barley on the same kind of land. When it is clean it weighs 140 pounds to the sack."

From personal inspection we can say the grain is large, plump and bright, and at a glance impresses one as being of superior quality. Samples from California were exhibited at St. Louis and at Portland, and at both expositions expert judges awarded it a gold medal.

As to the history of the barley, Mr. David Fairchild of Washington, D. C. says: "The barley in question was not secured by the American consul in Moravia, but by myself personally while abroad as explorer for the Bureau of Seed and Plant Introduction of the United States Department of Agriculture. I personally talked with the originator of this barley, E. Ritter Proskowetz, of Kwassitz. It is claimed to be one of the best brewing barleys in the world, and is noted for its qualities of early ripening, unusually heavy yields, and special mealiness, which latter, together with other qualities of kernel, renders it one of the great favorites among the German as well as the Austrian brewers."

Von Proskowetz claims for the variety a pedigree and says that it was selected as a single plant from some barley which he knew to be of very old Moravian origin. Through careful selections he has been able to bring its productivity up to 3,700 kilos per hectare (about 65 bushels to the acre) and shorten its period of growth by over a week. It is a light straw producer, suited especially to light and sandy loams. Owing to its early ripening quality, it is especially valuable in Hungary, where the hot season occurs in the latter part of July, but after the Hanna barley has so far matured as to be little influenced by it. Owing to its heavy yielding capacity, earliness and high grade as a brewing grain, this variety is driving out all other sorts in Austria, and every year large quantities of seed grain are imported into Hungary. Respectfully,

J. A. FILCHER,
Secretary State Agricultural Society.

COUNTY BREVITIES

Another beach resort for Orange county, located on the picturesque bluffs between Laguna Beach and Newport Bay, is in prospect. Recorder Peters, William Miles and Harry R. Callender of Los Angeles this week closed an agreement for the transfer to them of 148.6 acres of land northwest of the property now being developed by the Laguna Beach company. The price to be paid is $26,535.70, of which $8535.70 is cash, $6000 due in a year, $6000 due in two years and $6000 due in three years.

Slope Needs Workers

San Francisco, Sept. 29.—Charles S. Fee, passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific company, announced last night that the Southern Pacific company would make low rates, both next spring and next fall to California to induce workingmen and laborers to come to San Francisco, and colonists to come to the state generally.

These rates will be $25 from Kansas City, $33 from Chicago, and $50 from other points.

Stopovers of five days will be allowed at any point in California.

The Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe have decided to revise their circulars sent to all parts of the country dealing with the labor conditions in the city. In these circulars a schedule of the wages paid in San Francisco was printed, and since they have been issued the wages have gone up so that the officials feel it necessary to revise the figures. The revised list of wages which will be sent out is as follows:

Bricklayers, $7 to $9; cement workers, $6; plasterers, $7; lathers, $7; carpenters, $5 to $7; blacksmiths, $4.50; painters, $4.50; horse shoers, $5; tinners, $5.50; sign writers, $5.50; sheet metal workers, $5.50; boiler makers, $4; plumbers, $4; stationery engineers, $5; electricians, $5; cabinet makers and inside finishers, $5 to $6.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Brandegee, the well-known botanists of San Diego, have donated their entire botanical collections and library to the University of California. As a result of this munificent gift the facilities for research work at the State University are practically doubled and it now possesses the most complete representation extant of our Pacific Coast flora.

Mr. Brandegee is a Yale graduate and a civil engineer of no mean ability, Mrs. Brandegee is a native Californian entitled to write "M.D." after her name, but both have for many years

TEXAS is just on the verge of one of the hottest political battles ever witnessed in the state, and it will be sensational from start to finish. Former Atty.-Gen. M. M. Crane of Dallas has agreed to meet Senator Bailey in joint debate all over the state, and as the relations between the gentlemen are already strained, it is confidently expected that the political "fur" will fly. Crane is one of the ablest men in the state, and a born "scrapper." While attorney-general he once chartered a special train in order to meet a populist leader in joint debate, and is a great favorite with the democrats. His action in agreeing to meet Bailey is believed to foreshadow his candidacy before the state legislature for the United States senate in January, to succeed Bailey, if the legislature can be prevailed on to vote against Bailey.

A patch of government ground has been discovered by the promoters of the seaside resort planned to be constructed at the mouth of Alliso creek. The government land lies south of Alliso creek between the 153 acres deeded by Priestly Hall of Riverside to Horace J. Pullen of Los Angeles and the Moulton ranch. Mr. Hall and Mr. Pullen have covered the whole of the government strip with mining claims, all being named as the deposit. When Hall sold to Pullen neither had any doubt that the property joined on to the Moulton ranch. As the surveyors began outlining the division of the tract into lots for the building of homes for millionaires the discovery of the adjoining government land was made.
