Lacking in Interest

A meeting of the executive committee of the semi-centennial celebration was held at the city hall on Tuesday evening. Only a few were present, and it seemed to be the consensus of opinion that a notable lack of interest seemed to be felt, on the part of citizens generally, toward the celebration. The sentiment of the committee was that unless a greater degree of interest is shown, the celebration had best be called off. A number of citizens appointed as chairmen of committees have resigned, giving as a reason that their efforts to enthrone interest in the celebration had met with little or no success.

It was finally resolved on the part of the few remaining supporters of the celebration to hold one more meeting, on Tuesday evening next, at the city hall, and if greater interest be not shown, to drop the affair.

The chamber of commerce, so it was reported, are unable to appropriate money to assist in the celebration, inasmuch as it requires all available funds for other purposes.

It is thought the merchants and manufacturers' association will request its banquet fund, amounting to $75, call off the banquet and donate the money to the celebration. A meeting of the association will be held on Monday evening, when the question of banquet or celebration will be decided.

Soliciting committees reported that about $1000 had been pledged to the celebration. This amount with other moneys in sight will probably be sufficient to carry out the celebration in good style; but the fact remains that many business men are not subscribing as they should, while others are not giving at all.

Next Tuesday evening will tell the story whether the celebration is to be had or not.

C. C. Chapman of Fullerton is in Seattle on a business and pleasure trip. He will be absent a fortnight.

Sylvain Cahen, formerly of this city, now of Los Angeles, will be married on Wednesday, July 3d, at Ontario, to Miss Grace Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Smith of that place. Invitations to the wedding have been received by friends here. The groom-to-be has many old-time friends here about who wish for him and his fair young bride all sorts of happiness and prosperity in their married life.

A. Pierotti, the well-known orange grower of Placentia, was in town on Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. Pierotti and their little daughter, Phyllis Evelyn.

Miss Ena Thurn, who for several months past has been a guest in the family of W. P. Quarton, will today leave for her home in Minnesota.

LOCAL EVENTS

Joseph Helmsen was a business visitor to Los Angeles yesterday.

Eugene Johnson was in town from Orange on Tuesday.

L. Nemetz is repainting a large delivery wagon for the Standard oil company.

Theo. Ford, the Southside nurseryman, was in town on business on Monday afternoon.

Allan Melrose was down from Los Angeles on Sunday visiting the old folks at home.

Miss Christiansen of Garden Grove visited with friends in town this week. She will spend her summer vacation with friends in Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Hart returned on Tuesday from San Diego after an absence of five weeks. Mrs. Hart's health is greatly improved by the trip. Miss Deldrich of San Diego accompanies her and will remain for a brief stay.

At a special meeting of the chamber of commerce held Tuesday afternoon E. L. Olmstead was elected president, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. F. Ahiborn. J. S. Howard was elected as a director. R. Melrose and E. L. Olmstead were appointed as a committee to interview the Pacific Electric company in reference to a trolley line into this city.

The question of the Fullerton postmastership will probably be settled at a meeting of the county central committee to be held at Santa Ana today. Congressman Smith will be present and take a hand in straightening out the wrangle. Two candidates are after the place, L. C. Edwards and Capt. Hilton. The former some weeks ago secured the endorsement of the executive committee of the push, but friends of Hilton were strong enough to defer the endorsement of the congressman. Invitations have been sent out to the entire committee to attend today's meeting, and the subject will be thrashed out to a finish. It is said a dark horse may yet canter off with the prize.

East Enders Win

GARDEN GROVE, June 24.—A mass meeting at which over 100 people were present was held here on Saturday evening and after a discussion of several hours it was decided finally to accept a site for the public school at a point a quarter of a mile east of the store. This ends a factional quarrel between East and Westenders which has waged with considerable asperity for fifteen years. The East Enders wanted the new schoolhouse to be erected in their part of the settlement, while the West Enders favored a site further west.

The meeting seemed to have locked horns as usual upon the site question, and much acrimony was manifest, when an offer of the site subsequently selected was made. After a brief discussion the meeting decided to accept it. Not a dissenting vote was cast against the site. Thus the East Enders win the fight which has waged so long.

The meeting decided to sell the old schoolhouse lot and to erect a new eight-room schoolhouse, with hall for meetings upstairs. The cost will be $15,000.

After the site question had been settled Prof. Walker of the Anaheim highschool addressed the meeting upon the desirability of joining the Garden Grove school district with the Anaheim highschool district. The hour was late, and the matter was taken under advisement.

Death of W. H. Henderson

W. H. Henderson died in Los Angeles on Monday of apoplexy. The remains were interred yesterday under auspices of the Masonic lodge, of which deceased had been for many years a member. Mr. Henderson was principal of the Anaheim schools in the 70's, but for a number of years had resided in other portions of the state. He was taken ill on June 10, while living alone at Willowbrook, and was at once taken to the hospital by friends. He was a native of Scotland, and has no living relatives in America, and only a niece and a cousin across the Atlantic. He was 76 years of age, and was a member of Anaheim Masonic Lodge, chapter and council.

Semi-Annual Dividend

The statement of the financial condition of the German-American bank, which will be found published in another column of this issue, makes interesting reading. The bank's total resources amount to $141,497.14, and total deposits $106,686.27. Business has shown a steady increase since its establishment, a year and a half ago, until it is now regarded as one of the solidest and most conservatively managed banks in Southern California. Its books show a constantly increasing number of customers and depositors, while its resources are those of a financial Gibraltar. The directors on Saturday declared a dividend of 4 per cent from the surplus fund, payable July 1st, and after this payment there will still remain $3500 in the surplus fund. This will be retained by the bank, and will doubtless make the nucleus of another dividend about the time of the holidays. The German-American bank has certainly achieved phenomenal success, and it is adding not only to its own business but to that of the community in which it prospers. Its directors embrace some of the best men in the community. Its president, Adolph Thomas, and cashier, Chas. A. Boege, are entitled to congratulations for the excellent showing they make of the bank's condition. The bank's directors are Erwin Barr, A. Nagel, A. Thomas, J. L. Beebe, M. D.; Wm. McLaughlin, Jos. Helmsen, Tim Carroll, W. A. Bonyng, Chas. A. Boege.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Yungbluth & Kroeger which appears upon another page of this issue. Special price inducements are offered in mid-summer specials in men's suits and furnishings. Give the firm a call.

Savings Bank Cuts a Melon

A semi-annual dividend of 6 per cent was declared by the directors of the American Savings bank on Saturday. The bank is enjoying a floodtide of prosperity, deposits showing a larger volume than ever.

The directors of the bank are Frank Shanley, Dr. Johnston, Dr. Houck, Frank Baum, A. Nagel, Wm. McLaughlin and John Hartung. These gentlemen, with Cashier Phelps, are entitled to great credit for the showing the Savings bank has made. The bank furnishes a safe depository for funds, and enjoys a constantly increasing patronage.

Business Change

Peter Weisel has purchased the bicycle business and machine shop formerly conducted by E. W. McCollum, and the premises are now occupied by the firm of Weisel & Sandilands. The firm will continue to occupy its rooms to the west of the bicycle store, and a line of automobiles kept on display therein. The bicycle store and machine works will be continued.

Mr. McCollum has been in poor health for several months past, and his physicians have recommended that he retire for a time from the arduous duties which have engaged him for years. He will devote his time to acting as agent for the Anaheim laundry, and will thus be able to be more in the open air, which his physicians declare is essential to the maintenance of his health. He retains his interest in the building and realty holdings.

Weisel & Sandilands will add to their business in enlarged quarters, and will have one of the largest garages in Southern California.

BANQUET GIVEN J. F. AHLBORN

Representative Citizens Bestow Encomiums of Praise Upon the Departing Guest

The chamber of commerce and the merchants and manufacturers association tendered J. F. Ahlborn a banquet at Odd Fellows' hall on Thursday evening, the occasion being in honor of that gentleman's departure with his family for Montreal Canada. About fifty guests assembled and the sumptuous repast prepared was done full justice to.

Richard Melrose acted as toastmaster and in his inimitable manner presided over the festive board with much grace and witicism. He spoke highly of the honored guest as an upright and worthy citizen, one whom to know was to honor and admire.

Prof. J. F. Walker was called upon and in his remarks referred to the good work performed in the chamber of commerce by the retiring president, and Judge J. S. Howard, a former fellow director, spoke in warm words of praise of our fellow-townsmen.

Toastmaster Melrose said while we were losing one good citizen to Canada we had gained one from there and introduced P. H. Krick, who told all about the good winter times and beautiful things in Canada, including its palace of ice. In closing he said that Mr. Ahlborn on his return might bring Canada with him and annex it to the United States.

Henry M. Adams, of the semi-centennial anniversary committee, made a patriotic appeal to the citizens to lend a helping hand in getting up the celebration. The speaker referred to the hearty support given the project by Mr. Ahlborn, and said his policy would be a good one for others to follow. The contemplated anniversary received hearty approval by all present and will no doubt be carried to a successful termination.

Isadore Asher, in behalf of the merchants, paid a hearty tribute of worth to his good friend, while Prof. Mills in responding to the toast, "Good Roads," which subject he handled in his usual forceful and clear-sighted way, deplored the contemplated leave-taking of our popular fellow-townsmen.

At this juncture the toastmaster observed that having heard so much said about him, Mr. Ahlborn be given a chance to "defend" himself. He responded in a speech well-wordsed and cleverly delivered. With much force he thoroughly convinced his auditors of his unbounded appreciation of the honor shown him. Indeed Mr. Ahlborn's remarks were delivered with a degree of feeling and once in closing his voice faltered, the words of love he expressed for his esteemed friends seemingly striking a tender cord. And Bro. Wickert opportunely started, "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," with all hands joining in the refrain.

Capt. Herman Stern with reference to ex-Capt. Ahlborn's former connection with Co. E could offer nothing but praise for the efficiency attained by the guardsmen under his command. The captain interspersed his remarks with a few stories that brought down the house, and earned for him a place in the front rank of after-dinner speakers.

John Resh, classed as one of the newcomers, spoke in happy vein of his residence here. The speaker said he felt as much at home here after his one year's stay in our midst as he ever did in his eastern home, where he lived for 18 years, and had many dear friends there besides. He failed to see why anyone would care to leave here. Mr. Resh approved of given hearty support to all public enterprises, for by those means are prosperous cities builded.

Wm. Newberry, in behalf of the western contiguous country, spoke encouragingly of the city's future welfare, the foundation of which is being laid by the actions of men like Mr. Ahlborn, and by united effort and harmony much can be accomplished. The construction of the electric trolley through this city and on to the west will mean much to this city and it behooves the citizens to secure a free right of way for the electric company. In reference to the county bonding scheme for good roads, Mr. Newberry allowed he and his neighbors are from Missouri on that score and will have to be shown where the roads are to be before voting bonds. Without that knowledge 90 per cent of the people in this district are opposed to the issue.

Wm. Schwenckert, Mr. Ahlborn's successor's as manager of the telephone company, made a few happy references to his predecessor, and hoped the public would deal leniently with him until he more fully mastered the calling.

Wm. McLaughlin was called upon to respond to the toast, "The Water Company," and referred to the utmost importance of a bountiful water supply for the development of the country. The completion of the Yorba reservoir will be one of the grandest undertakings ever accomplished for this section and will be a prominent factor in the future upbuilding of the community.

The banqueters at the conclusion of festivities wished the departing guest and his family all manner of happiness and prosperity in their new home, and "Auld Lang Syne" was sung with a vim by the united assemblage.

Chamber of Commerce

The board of directors of the chamber of commerce met in regular session on Thursday evening, with all members present.

A communication was received from Secretary H. M. May of Riverside containing a copy of a letter mailed to the Marysville chamber of commerce asking for co-operation in the eradication of the dread white fly which has made its appearance in the Marysville orchards. From all accounts the people of that city are finding it hard to realize how seriously our citrus fruit handlers would suffer by the coming of this fly. Districts infested by this pest can be freed from it only by fire; spraying, fumigation and parasitic attacks being likewise unavailing when applied to the dreaded white fly. Orchards so infected yield almost nothing, even the fruit which matures being dry and valueless. No effort should be spared to check the spread of this scourge.

The local horticultural commissions are on the alert and have established a strict quarantine against the invasion of the pest.

The Native Sons Grizzly Bear publishers wrote for a descriptive article and views of this city for a forthcoming edition of their publication. Referred to Secretary Walker with power to act.

The resignation of President J. F. Ahlborn, on account of his removal from the city, was received and accepted. Mr. Ahlborn addressed his colleagues, saying it was with regret that he was taking his departure. He thanked the board heartily for past honors conferred upon him, and his parting wish was that the Anaheim chamber of commerce would always be an energetic and enterprising organization, as matters of local import await its guiding hand. Director Walker responded and in moving the acceptance of the resignation, paid the retiring member a high compliment for his indefatigable labors in behalf of the chamber of commerce looking to the betterment of the city. Vice-President Williams put the motion and it was duly adopted and carried. Mr. Ahlborn's successor and the appointment of a new director will be named at a meeting to be held in the near future.

Friday evening a mass meeting of the chamber of commerce, the merchants and manufacturers association and citizens generally will be held in the city hall to discuss the question of whether to take up street paving or sewers, or both. The meeting promises to be a rousing one, as public interest in these improvements is growing and everybody seems willing to push the good work along.

Communications were read, bills were ordered paid and the board adjourned.

Forest Service

The Forest Service has entered into co-operation with the county commissioners of Plumas county, California, in the construction and repair of several important bridges over Feather river in the Plumas national forest. These bridges were washed out or badly weakened during high water in the river resulting from severe storms during the month of March. The settlers on both sides of the river were left almost without means of communication as a result, and the county commissioners took steps for their relief and for the repair of the bridges.

The forest service has contributed the sum of $550 together with the free use of timber from the national forests and the assistance and direction of the work of the construction and repair of the bridges by the forest officers under Supervisor L. A. Barrett.

The cable bridge across Feather river at Kingsbury's ferry has now been completed and is again in use. The bridge across the north fork of Feather river is also under construction.

Seedless Tomato

One of the agents of the department of agriculture working on his New Jersey farm, has produced a new vegetable novelty in the shape of a seedless tomato. The variety has become pretty well established and has been called the Giant, because of the very large size that the plant attains.

Six years of experimentation was necessary to produce the seedless tomato. As is well known, each fruit of the ordinary tomato contains hundreds of seeds, while the form now developed seldom contains more than fifty seeds, and frequently there are not more than five and six, and often none.

Before attaining success in his experiments the government scientists produced large crops of freak tomatoes. Some plants included clusters no larger than peas. In one instance the fruit had the flavor of a strawberry.

Another agent of the agricultural department has produced a seedless tomato plant by the use of excessive amounts of fertilizers, the New Jersey tomato being produced by a system of cross-grafting.

Reforestation Committee

The next meeting of the Tri-counties reforestation committee will be held at Santa Ana on Monday next, July 1. Delegates will be present from Riverside and San Bernardino counties, and a full delegation is expected from this county.

An Oregon man has just been jailed for stealing a whole railroad train. It seems a pity to bottle up such a promising amateur. He might have gone further and settled in Wall Street where he would have learned how to steal a whole railroad and not get pinched for it either.

MILLS FAVORS GOOD ROADS

Points out Unfortunate Manner in which Committee of Education is Handling Subject—Excellent Ideas Tersely Told.

No man in Orange county is more familiar with the subject of good roads than Prof. A. A. Mills of this city, and he has already set forth at length in a communication to this journal, his ideas upon this important subject. Prof. Mills has attended all the good-roads meetings in this end of the county, and has participated freely in the discussions. In last week's Fullerton Tribune, he sets forth his views upon the situation, and after saying that he favors the proposed bond issue providing the improved roads are placed with care and discernment as regards the wishes of the bulk of the tax-payers; proceeds:

"At the first meeting in the north end of the county, which was held at Anaheim, the editor of the Anaheim Gazette asked that a certain eighty-eight miles of road which had been laid out by Col. Finley be made public. At all subsequent meetings in this end of the county this request was renewed, but at each one it was denied. Not only was the request not granted, but all discussions of the location of the proposed paved roads was discouraged and deemed premature. An attempt to proceed with such a discussion at the Buena Park meeting met with a motion to adjourn by Mr. Walker of that place, though he by direct request laid out about fifteen miles the "Park" would want paved in order to get a two-thirds vote for the bonds there. Right here, Mr. Editor, I would like to say to the people of Buena Park that the object of proceeding with a discussion of the location of these paved roads was that the "Park's" interest—in common with the north end of the county—might be protected, as the "committee of education" hadn't the slightest idea that one foot of the paved highway would be put in the "Park" district. The same might be said of the Fullerton meeting. When Mr. Chapman was talking about roads being paved in Placentia the committee hadn't the slightest idea that there would ever be a foot of road paved there.

"After the Anaheim meeting Rev. Wotton, one of the "committee of education," wrote the Anaheim Gazette of May 9th in regard to the eighty-eight miles of roads laid out by Col. Finley, and says: "His map suggests the road from Fullerton to San Juan, as the trunk line through the county, and also roads west from Santa Ana and Anaheim as far as the money will allow." This would leave Buena Park, La Habra, Olinda, Yorba, Olive, and all the country north and east of Orange without a foot of the proposed highway. Fullerton would get one and one-half miles to connect with Anaheim, while Anaheim came in on the "as far as the money will allow." This in connection with the strenuous objection to the discussion of location at the meetings put about 90 per cent of the voters in this end of the county against the bonds. Since the Buena Park meeting our supervisor, Mr. Linebarger, informed the writer that he would be opposed to naming the commission even were a proper petition presented to the supervisors, and hoped none would want to force the matter until there was a better prospect of carrying the bonds.

"In the face of all this I firmly believe if the paved roads are properly distributed the bonds could be carried. The one thing most needed now is for meetings to be held in the several towns to discuss the location of these roads and get the ideas of the voters on what they desire. Then to harmonize the roads between the towns, as for instance, the Buena Park people would like Orangethorpe avenue paved, while possibly Fullerton would want Commonwealth avenue paved to make connection with the "Park."

"By reference to a map of the county it will be seen that the following roads would make up about 120 miles. From the county line at Buena Park south via West Anaheim, Garden Grove, and Westminster to Huntington Beach; from the county line at West La Habra, via La Habra, Fullerton, Anaheim and Santa Ana to Newport Beach; from the Riverside county line in Santa Ana canyon, via Olive, Orange, Tustin, and El Toro to San Juan; with cross roads from Olinda and Yorba, via Placentia and Fullerton to Buena Park; from Placentia and Olive via East Anaheim through Anaheim to Buena Park and to Los Alamitos and on to the county line to connect with the Long Beach road; from El Modena, via McPherson, to Orange; from Tustin through Santa Ana and Westminster to Bay City, with branches to connect with Garden Grove and the Los Alamitos road for Long Beach. At the maximum estimate of $6000 per mile this 120 miles would cost $720,000. Add to this $30,000 for expenses and other items and it brings the amount up to three quarters of a million dollars, a sum safely within our bonding limit, which is about $850,000. This would give a system of paved roads well distributed over the county and I believe would satisfy all sections. The cost to the taxpayer would be only nominal. Assuming that the average holding in the county is assessed at $2000, which is about true, the average per year for the forty years the bonds would run would be less than $4, increased taxation for those assessed at this amount. Let us vote the bonds. A. A. MILLS."

Anaheim, June 15.

Prof. Mills continues the discussion in the Orange Post as follows:

"That our people are opposed to the bonds is due mostly, I think, to the unfortunate way that the "committee of education," so called, has been presenting the matter. This committee, whose exponents are Bishop on the law, Finley on the make-up of the roads, and Rev. Wotton on the durability of the roads, with others, have made strenuous objections to having discussed at the meetings in this end of the county the location of these proposed roads. The editor of the Anaheim Gazette requested at the first meeting that a certain 88 miles of road which had been laid out by Col. Finley be made public. This the committee refused to do, and at each meeting this request was renewed but each time refused, and attempts made to suppress all discussion along this line.

"However, under pressure of the Anaheim Gazette, Rev. Wotton sent a letter, which was published in the Gazette on May 9, in which he says—"His map suggests the road from Fullerton to San Juan, as the trunk road through the county, and also roads west from Santa Ana and Anaheim as far as the money will allow. Later, Col. Finley wrote the Gazette and said that this "trunk road" was to be connected with Orange by one-half mile extra.

"This left Yorba, Olive, Olinda, Placentia, La Habra, Buena Park and all the territory north and east

The Longer Lasting Washer

You will keep your youth longer, LAST LONGER, if you turn your washday troubles over to this light-running HORTON Washer. It will straighten the bent back and drooping shoulders, rest tired arms and limbs, smooth out the WORRIES of washday that are going to make you old before your time if you stick to old-fashioned machines or methods.

This HORTON Galvanized Rotary Washer is a new kind of washer. It is geared up to run at double speed while you TURN slowly. It will do a heavy washing quickly, with easy work at the wheel, and wash ALL the dirt out of the clothes, for the hot suds are forced through the fabric at high pressure. It is light and easy to handle, to get in or out doors, up and down cellar stairs. The galvanized metal tub is light in weight but stronger than any wooden tub. It cannot leak or "fall down," and always keeps sweet, because it can not absorb water.

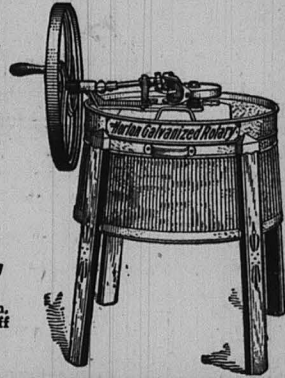

For your own sake, you should at least have a look at this machine and see what modern science has done to lighten your household labor. Just drop into a good store and ask them to show you the of Orange without a foot of the proposed roads, and gave to Fullerton but one and a half miles, this being between there and Anaheim. Anaheim came in on the "as far as the money will allow." This showing, with the attempted suppression of the discussion of the topic at the meetings, put about 90 per cent of the people in the north end of the county against the proposition. An attempt to proceed with a discussion of the location of the proposed roads, at the Buena Park meeting met with a motion to adjourn by Mr. Walker of that place, though he, in response to a direct request laid out about 15 miles of road the "Park" would want paved in order to get a two-thirds vote for the bonds there. Since the Buena Park meeting our supervisor, Mr. Linebarger, in conversation informed the writer that with the present feeling in regard to the proposed bonds he would be opposed to naming a commission, even were a proper petition filed with the board of supervisors, and that he hoped no one would want to force the matter until there were better prospects of the bonds carrying. However, I firmly believe if the roads are properly distributed, the bonds would carry."

The Post, referring to the attitude of Supervisor Linebarger, states the case as follows:

"The attitude of Supervisor Linebarger toward appointing a commission is right and proper and what the people would naturally expect from a supervisor who was studying their welfare. Why should money be wasted on election expenses to find out what is already apparent to every impartial observer?"

Has Another Guess Coming

Huntington Beach News
The Anaheim Gazette protests against the county roads proposition because of the fear that F. P. Nicky will be appointed a member of the highway commission. Although there should be no grounds for that fear, this is the first valid objection our esteemed contemporary has yet offered.

The Kelso Mines

EDITOR GAZETTE.—Just a few lines to let you know that I am alive and still in the land of the rattlesnake and cactus. But I am glad to inform you that beneath the ground there is abundance of wealth. I believe that this part of San Bernardino county is coming to the front. It is in its infancy yet, but soon will develop into a great producer of mineral, containing gold, silver, lead and copper. The Kelso mine is looking well. All that is needed, is time, money and perseverance. We will have one of the greatest mines in the west. It is a great prospect, and will be a mine before long and a good one at that. It will be like San Bernardino county—bigger than all the rest around. Pass the good word to your best friends. I am not ashamed of this property, although it will take time and money to develop it into a paying mine. I will come down before long to see the old friends, and to celebrate our glorious day of independence with my family. So goodbye until then. I am, your friend,

CHARLES E. JONES,
Supt. Kelso Mine.

EXPENSES OF THE COMMISSION

If it shall consume five years to construct 100 miles of roadway proposed by the paved roadsters at the county seat, the expense of the highway commission, for salaries for its members, its secretary, for overseers of construction, for preparation of surveys and estimates, and other incidentals, will not fall short of $50,000. Col. Finley stated at the Buena Park meeting that in his opinion it would require from two to three years to do the actual work of paving this mileage. Inasmuch as the highway commission will be in office probably a year before work upon the roads is actually begun, in event of the success of the bond election, and as the commission will probably retain office for a time after the roadways are completed, we think that a five-years term of service is not too long for purposes of present calculations upon the subject. There are also the expenses of the election, which will cost from $3000 to $5000. The expense of surveys and preparation of the estimates will in our opinion be considerable, for assuredly the supervisors will submit no proposition to vote a bonded indebtedness of $600,000 without first having the plans passed upon by competent authority. Months will be required in preparation of these estimates and plans, and thereafter, we opine, the figures will be submitted to an expert engineer for approval. It will be recalled that Fred Eaton charged the water company $1500 for taking a flashlight whisper of the Yorba reservoir. These expert birds come high. The expense of that structure, which is now nearing completion, is insignificant alongside this colossal bond issue.

Probably $50,000 will be required for these essentials before these roads are all complete. True, this expense is a necessary adjunct to the good-roads propaganda. But let us see how we are going to fare in this district, where the roads are bad.

Do the people in this district wish to disburse $400,000 of this bonded indebtedness in the Second and Fifth supervisor districts, as we have already shown must inevitably result if the voters approve the issue, and take a chance at having roads in this district paved with what the commission may expend upon them with the remainder. Let no one doubt for a moment that the roads (1) from Santa Ana to San Juan, (2) from Santa Ana to Huntington Beach, and (3) from Santa Ana to Garden Grove, Westminster and Bay City will be constructed, in event bonds carry. Bear in mind, we offer no objection to the improvement of these roads. They are main thoroughfares, and citizens of their districts will undoubtedly appear before the commission offering their strongest arguments in support of them. We only ask, are we to be similarly treated in the northern portion of the county? We have a larger population in the Third supervisor district than these southern sections combined. Are we to be similarly treated? If so, where is the money to come from?

Four hundred thousand dollars for these highways in the southern and southwestern sections of the county; $100,000 for roads east and northeast of Santa Ana, to Orange, El Modena and Olive; $50,000 for expenses of the commission, and how much for the Third supervisor district, which includes Anaheim, West Anaheim, Buena Park, Orangehorpe, Fullerton, La Habra, Placentia and Olinda. How much for this district, which polls a third of the vote of the county? We refer the subject to Prof. Mills. He knows how to split hairs.

TWO ALARMS, BOTH FALSE

Another Thoroughly Educated Woggle-Bug has popped loose about war between the United States and Japan. Some days ago it was Mr. Hobson (who seems somehow of late to have fallen from his lofty perch) who said an imminent clash between the two nations was probable; now it is Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, chancellor of the university of Nebraska, who in an address at the commencement exercises of an Illinois polytechnic institute the other day solemnly averred himself to be of the following conviction:

"Japan is working day and night preparing to control the Pacific Ocean. I do not wish to seem an alarmist, but the east does not appreciate the dangers on the Pacific coast. If we should elect a president without sufficient tact, war would be a probability instead of a possibility."

We venture the assertion that the child is not now alive who will live to see war between the United States and Japan—nor, so far as that is concerned, between the United States and any other nation of the earth. The giant stature of the American republic, its colossal wealth no less than its titanic strength, its patriotic national spirit—these are some of the things which bear us out in our assertion.

We are content to pass over as unworthy of notice the threats of a peppery Jingo element in Japan, which seems to be athirst for gore; and the ravings of its local prototype may also be looked upon as too volatile and evanescent for a moment's reflection. But when Dr. Andrews gives voice to this folly, it seems time for us to stop and inquire whether we as a nation are entitled to rank intellectually very far above the Jingoos of the Far East. We fear Dr. Andrews is whatever you call a false alarm. If he be correctly quoted, he had better hike back to his classroom and request the regents to shorten his vacation.

That there exists in Japan an element which, though not openly clamoring for war, insists upon such condescension to their countrymen in this country as might tend to invite it, is undoubted; but its utterances are prompted more for home consumption, in the approaching parliamentary elections, than in consequence of any very harsh treatment of Japanese residents here. Even this policy, as we read by the day's dispatches, is now silenced in the declaration that Minister Aoki is not to be recalled, and in the further information that Japanese business interests have begun to feel a very strong pressure from abroad conveying a clear warning that a quarrel with America would leave Japan friendless, and would certainly discourage the investment of foreign capital in Japanese enterprises.

War between the two countries is not to be thought of. The United States, admittedly among the most powerful nations of the earth, with thousands of millions of dollars to carry on the struggle, would be opposed in the conflict by a nation of half its population, which has recently passed through a harrowing and most expensive war, and with burdens upon it resultant therefrom such as to make it impossible for it to raise a dollar abroad to prosecute a conflict. Our navy is probably twice the size and effectiveness of that of Japan, and with the opening of the Panama canal the invulnerability of the United States will be seen at a glance. The public debt of Japan is probably five times that of the United States, its population one-half. It requires more than a Jingo spirit to prosecute victorious warfare. It takes money, as well as ships, men and fighting material. The balance of trade grows annually more and more in our favor, our navy is having constantly added to it the best fighting ships in the world, and we are coming in every respect to be cocks of the celestial highway. Japan has hardly recovered from her wounds in her life-and-death struggle with the Cossack. A question of war between these two nations is preposterous. The friendliest relations subsist between them. There is nothing to fight for, absolutely nothing. Dr. Andrews is blowing off a superabundance of Nebraska steam, but he will probably settle down, like Mr. Bryan, after a while and forget all about the alarms of war.

E. W. McCollum retires from the activities of business in this city on account of ill health which was brought on by too close application to the details of his various interests. Mr. McCollum has resided twelve years in this city and during that time has had only three days off. That is too strenuous a business career for anyone, and he feels it incumbent upon him to retire. A number of years ago he suffered with an attack of sunstroke, back in Pennsylvania, and at times recently has felt quite indisposed. He will spend a season at the beaches and mountain resorts and will later devote his time to operating his delivery wagon in connection with the Anaheim laundry.

The Southern Pacific push has captured the Los Angeles highway commission, and things are not lacking to indicate that the same machine will corral the Orange county commission when the time comes to name them. That this will prove the ultimate undoing of the good-roads movement, now about "all in" in this county, goes without saying. The railroad machine considers this good-roads movement as its meat. There will be millions of dollars to be paid for freighting rock from distant quarries to the highways sought to be improved. No push for Orange county.

Injunction Upheld

A remittitur sent down from the supreme court brings an order for the reversal of an order entered in the superior court of this county against the Bolsa Chico gun club. Sixty ranchers in November, 1905, invaded the club's property, armed with shotguns. They destroyed fences and blinds, asserting that they had a right to traverse the tidelands. A second invasion was planned for Thanksgiving day, but a temporary injunction interfered with the plan. This temporary injunction was later dissolved by Superior Judge Z. B. West. The gun club appealed.

The supreme court decision is written by Justice Henshaw. He says that the gun club purchased all the property surrounding whatever navigable waters may be on the property and that the public has no right of way to those waters, if any there be there. In declaring that the public has no right of way the decision touches upon the main point of contention, namely, the navigability of Freeman river, a drainage ditch that flows through the lands and to the channel claimed to be navigable. Justice Henshaw says that "the contention that such ditch constitutes a part of the navigable waters of the state or nation is a sham as shallow as the ditch itself."

The justice characterizes the idea that a stream in which ocean fish are found, or in which a boat can be poled, necessarily makes the stream a navigable stream as a "popular fallacy." He says that the state can sell tide lands or lands at all times under water and that the property stream on the gun club property is now in private ownership.

The remittitur orders that the temporary injunction be restored, pending the trial of the case.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Brooks returned on Sunday evening from Redlands, and returned thither on Monday evening. They leave shortly for their home in Eureka. Mrs. Wilde, mother of the bride, will accompany them and take up her residence with them.

WHITE FLY IN THE N. C. B.

Conclusion of Bulletin Recently Issued from Berkeley—Present Problem Before Coast Growers

[BY C. W. WOODWORTH.]

Like the scale insects, the young white fly wanders over the twigs and leaves for a few hours, finally attaching itself by inserting its mouth-parts into the leaf. After thus locating itself the young insect soon secretes a wax in sufficient quantities to fill the space between the body and the leaf. Because of the small size and transparency of the body and this cementing of the body to the leaf the insect is almost invisible. This makes it rather difficult to secure a good photograph of the insect.

In structure and habits the nymph is so like scale insects that if seen at all they could easily pass as young scales. It is not safe indeed to depend upon the use of a hand magnifier for the identification of a young or partly grown nymph until one is thoroughly familiar with them, and even then the use of a compound microscope should be resorted to.

Within the body of the nymph during the last stage wings are developed in both sexes and the whole internal structure reorganized so that when the skin is finally cast off a slender bodied, delicate fly emerges. This is in striking contrast to the life history of scale insects where the male alone obtains wings. This makes the problem of the control of this insect entirely different and much more difficult than that of scale insects, as will be shown in the discussion of this subject below.

The full grown nymphs have a very much thicker skin than the younger stages and this remains attached to the leaf after the molt. This dried skin is very much more conspicuous than the living insect.

The Adult Insect—The name white fly was given to the insects of this class on account of the appearance of the adult insect. Its snowy white color makes the insect very conspicuous notwithstanding its extremely small size. In the spring they appear in great numbers for two or three weeks and then suddenly disappear after laying their eggs, only a very few belated individuals coming out after the others remaining in the trees. In mid-summer a second brood begins to appear. There is no distinct swarm as in the spring, but during the whole latter half of the year the adult white fly can be seen on the trees in greater or less abundance. After the colder weather of winter begins the adults almost entirely disappear and are not seen again until the spring emergence. The life of an individual fly is very brief, averaging, according to Gossard, between four days and a week. During this time the eggs are laid, and as many as seventy-five have been deposited by a single female.

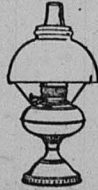

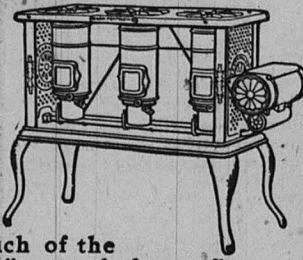

PRESENT PROBLEM IN CALIFORNIA.

As far as is known the white fly is still confined to the city limits of Marysville. There are no citrus orchards in the immediate neighborhood. Possibly therefore it may not have reached any other section. If left alone it certainly will reach every other part of the state. The trees in the immediate neighborhood of the railroad tracks are now infested. The electric cars pass between infested trees going to the orange orchards of Butte county. Now, if ever, is the time to make an effort to destroy the pest. There is no possibility of throwing a quarantine around the infested district that a flying insect will respect. To delay all effort towards eradication till next winter, as seems now to be the program, may be a fatal error. Every day during the latter part of the summer thousands if not hundreds of thousands of these minute creatures will be in the air capable of living long enough to be carried in a car the length of the state. A single one of these reaching a citrus district might make the eradication of the insect an impossibility. It may be that already the insect has gotten beyond control, but the chance of eradication is certainly worth the effort.

If eradication is to be attempted no half-way measures like spraying or fumigation are to be thought of. There is too much opportunity to miss some and no ready means of discovering the fact. A campaign of eradication should include: first, the immediate destruction of every leaf on all citrus trees in Marysville and of every other plant known to furnish sustenance to this insect; second, a thorough inspection of the new foliage as it comes out on the defoliated plants; third, an exhaustive search for other possible food plants of the white fly; fourth, redefoliation and persistent reinspection of any spots where the fly may not have been annihilated; fifth, careful inspection of every supposed case of white fly in the state; and finally, competent scientific supervision of the work.

There will be very few adult flies produced during this month and the early part of July. After that the problem will be much greater and the chances of success correspondingly lessened. Will those most vitally interested see that the work is undertaken?

Saved by Pre-Cooling

Santa Fe officials have announced that the pre-cooling plant put in operation in San Bernardino last week, when four cars of oranges were placed in it for cooling, is only the first of a number of such plants if the first one proves the success that is expected. The second plant is to be placed in Redlands and the third in Riverside, and work is to begin on them in a few weeks in order to have them ready for use by the first of next season. Other orange centers of importance will get individual plants, but the one at San Bernardino will be one of the largest on the road and will be used for fruit from a number of small districts, such as Cucamongo, Rialto and Colton. The company is convinced that the experiments of G. Harold Powell, the government expert, are proof positive that the pre-cooling process is best, and they have no doubt but that it will be a success. The oranges were to be cooled to a temperature of 34 degrees and the ice placed in the cars while they are in the plant. A second icing will not be necessary until Missouri river points are reached, and $30 per car will be saved in ice for that distance only.

Reservoir Bonded for $6,500,000

Certification of the issuance of additional bonds increasing the total outstanding amount to $6,500,000 for the Arrowhead Reservoir and Power company as well as the certificate of the proceedings of the absorption of the Arrowhead Reservoir company by the Arrowhead Reservoir and Power company, have been filed with the county clerk. The meeting of the majority of the directors to take the necessary steps was held in Cincinnati and the bonds have been disposed of to the Central Trust and Safe Deposit company of Cincinnati. A trust deed has been given to secure the bonds, covering all the property of the company in San Bernardino county. The Arrowhead company has been engaged for ten years in building the immense Arrowhead reservoir in Little Bear valley, which, when completed, will drain the valley and desert watersheds of the San Bernardino mountains and store enough water to irrigate the entire valley.

Hunters Must Have License

County Clerk W. B. Williams has received a letter from the California fish commission asking his estimate for the number of hunter's licenses that will be needed in this county. After consultation with John Carlyle, secretary of the game association of this county, the county clerk decided that 800 of the $1 licenses would be used by hunters in this county, and fifty each of the $10 and $25 licenses.

The law will go into effect on July 1. After that date hunters will be liable to arrest unless they carry the license. All American citizens who are residents of the state must pay $1 a year for the license; all American citizens not residents of the state must pay $10 and all persons not citizens must pay $25. The letter to the county clerk says that blanks will shortly be sent him. The commission asks for the good will and co-operation of the clerk's office, and the letter says that "we confidently believe the hunters in every section will promptly acquiesce and respond to this new requirement."

Special application blanks will be sent to the clerk which may be had by persons who do not care to travel to the county seat for the license, and this application may be had by writing a letter to the county clerk. When returned filled out and with the fee the license will be issued and forwarded.

All fees will go to the state controller and the reports are to be made to the State fish commission.

National Irrigation Congress

In all sections of the west a lively interest is being aroused in the coming inter-state exposition of irrigated land products and forestry products, to be held in Sacramento in September in connection with the fifteenth session of the national irrigation congress. All those eligible to enter the numerous competitive displays for costly and handsome trophies, hung up by the management of the exposition, are arranging for an adequate exhibit of fruits, cereals, vegetables and other products of irrigated land and forestry products in the several departments of the exposition. Inquiries are pouring in at headquarters from many states for information and particulars concerning conditions and terms of the contest. That the display will exceed in magnitude and importance all previous attempts in that direction, is a foregone conclusion. The keen inter-

Among the first to apply for space and facilities for a state display in the interstate exposition is Utah. The legislature last winter appropriated $4000 to cover the expense of having Utah properly represented in the exposition, and no stone is being left unturned to have the wishes of that body carried out to the letter.

Messrs. Thomas Judd and J. Edward Taylor, president and secretary of the Utah state board of horticulture, were in Sacramento last week to arrange matters in this connection. They looked over the ground thoroughly, and completed preliminary work for the state display before returning to Salt Lake.

Mr. Judd, speaking of their visit, said: "Mr. Taylor and myself are here to make some arrangements for the Utah exhibit to be held in connection with the fifteenth national irrigation congress. We are certainly well pleased with the energetic manner in which the details for the exposition and the congress are being arranged, and the splendid facilities Sacramento affords for such an undertaking. It is a well recognized fact that California is one of the best advertised states in the Union as far as agriculture and horticulture are concerned. She has established a reputation for having done a great deal along these lines, and the leading horticulturists and agriculturists of the country will look forward with much pleasure and interest to a visit to your state.

"We are especially well pleased with the very kind reception given us by the chairman of the executive committee and other members of the local management, who have the work in charge. These men are to be congratulated upon the very liberal policy they have adopted in inviting other states to exhibit and in offering many valuable trophies for competition. The fact that California is going to take no active part in the prize competition is especially commendable and assures all other states impartial treatment. The coming session is attracting considerable attention in Utah, and everything indicates that there will be a strong delegation from our section of the country."

WASHINGTON LETTER

[CORRESPONDENCE OF THE GAZETTE]

Washington, D. C., June 22, 1907.

Unless the newspaper agitation in this country and Japan ultimately succeeds in creating a state of ill feeling that must lead to misunderstanding and distrust, the administration is convinced that the relations between the United States and Japan will remain cordial. The greatest danger to the maintenance of the friendliness that has existed so long between the two governments and the people of Japan and America, is in "yellow journalism," according to the opinion expressed in official circles in town.

While this government is powerless in its aim to prevent incendiary editorials and news dispatches, it is believed that by making its wishes known, the press of the country will do much, by silence or at least a moderation in utterances, to prevent an entirely uncalled for state of feeling that is fraught with danger. It is not thought advisable to make a formal appeal to the press to observe moderation, for then it would appear that the relations between Japan and the United States are not satisfactory and such a request might lead to a misunderstanding in Japan as well as in this country. It is asserted in the highest official circles, and there is hardly any reason to doubt the honesty of the assertion, that the relations between Japan and the United States are cordial and there is no desire by either country to disturb them. It can not be denied, however, that the officials of the state, war and navy departments are discussing every phase of the matter, and it is a topic of general conversation everywhere. Diplomatic correspondence is frequent between the Japanese embassy and the state department, while war and navy officials are interested in discussing the actions that would be necessary by each bureau should the present cordial relations between the two countries be broken off in the future.

A CALL FOR $10,000 BILLS.

The treasury department has decided to call in all currency notes of $10,000. This action has been decided upon owing to the fact that fourteen of the present day issue of $10,000 bills were among those which vanished in Chicago when the sub-treasury was robbed of $173,000. In addition to the fourteen $10,000 bills which disappeared, there were also six $5,000 bills in the stolen package but the larger denominations are the only ones that are to be called into account. This action is taken to protect Uncle Sam, and as soon as the treasury department makes this move it will probably authorize another issue to take the place of those withdrawn. It is believed that treasury department officials know something of the whereabouts of the stolen money, the disappearance of which has been baffling the secret service men for months.

It has also come to light that the treasury department recently made a lot of $10,000 bills, and just because a word was misspelled they were all destroyed, and all without Uncle Sam even as much as winking an eye.

This was several weeks ago, but the public was never let into the secret, as the government officials are averse to making known the inside workings of their departments, especially when a mistake has been made.

The bills were printed at the bureau of engraving and printing, and as is the usual custom, transferred to the treasury department to be numbered and signed. This was accomplished, and quite a number of these bills, which the ordinary man never sees in an ordinary lifetime, were put on the market. Then the typographical error was discovered and within a few days most of the little keepsakes were returned to the treasury and entered the big machine where nothing comes out whole.

PAINTING THE DOME.

The painting of the big white dome on the capitol building is about completed after the continuous work of thirty-five men for a period of two months, and now the dome shines and glitters in a way that it has not done before in six or seven years. It has taken nine tons of paint to do the trick and every one of the thirty-five men have been in danger of losing their lives a hundred times a day. In addition to the narrow footing to hold them and the great height at which they work their lives have been in jeopardy from sudden electrical storms which have caused the lightning to play around the dome with such force that the men could not move their hands from the iron, and had they done so, the wind was so strong that they would have been blown to the ground 235 feet below.

Freaky lightning and high wind were not the only things the "human flies" found on the dome. In the big gutter just below the top bulge, they discovered four men's derby hats, a lady's toque bonnet, nine ordinary straw hats, 12 cents in pennies, a nursing bottle, and a nest containing thirty-eight English sparrow eggs. All articles of wearing apparel, the nursing bottle and the money were probably lost by visitors to the capitol who climbed to the top of the dome, where the strong wind played havoc. The total cost of cleaning and painting the dome is placed at $200,000.

BLOWING UP POWDER TRUST.

If a war should suddenly be precipitated upon the United States, this country would be placed at the mercy of the powder trust. This is the opinion held by the officials of the department of justice who will within a few days begin suit for the dissolution of the combine that controls the making of all powder used by Uncle Sam.

The petition, which has been practically completed, presents an array of facts and charges that will prove startling even to those who have kept in close touch with the development of industrial combinations. It will show that the powder trust is holding Uncle Sam by the throat; that it has for years been demanding its tributes, and that its grasp upon the government is now so strong that it would have to be reckoned with in the event of large quantities of ammunition being required in an emergency. Once the combine is "blown up" the government will be able to save thousands of dollars yearly, while individuals and concerns using both small and large amounts of powder, will be benefitted as well.

Forest Rangers

Examinations for the position of forest ranger will be held at the supervisor's headquarters of every national forest on July 23 and 24. Forest supervisors will conduct the examinations. The civil service commission at Washington, D. C., is sending specific information on the examination to all who write in and request it.

Experience, a thorough knowledge of forest conditions, and a sound body, rather than book education, are the qualities sought in examining applicants who desire to become forest rangers. The man must have the ability, however, to make simple maps and write intelligent reports upon forest business connected with the position.

A ranger must be sound of body and able to take care of himself and his horses in regions remote from settlement and supplies. Necessary qualifications of applicants include knowledge of trail building, construction of cabins, and the ability to ride, pack, and deal tactfully with all classes of people. He must know something of land, surveying, estimating and scaling timber, logging land laws, mining and the live-stock business. The applicant should be thoroughly familiar with the region of the country in which he seeks employment. In Arizona and New Mexico, the ranger must know enough Spanish to conduct forest business with Mexican users of the national forests. Personal equipment and horses for use in connection with duty of a ranger are furnished by the rangers themselves and not by the forest service.

Working under the direction of the forest supervisor, the ranger's duties include patrol to prevent fire and trespass, estimating, surveying, and marking timber, supervision of cutting, and similar work, all of which a man thoroughly familiar with forested regions and possessing a fair education, is able to fulfill. It is the policy of the forest service to fill vacancies in higher positions by the promotion of rangers rather than by the appointment of men without experience on the national forests, although otherwise well fitted.

BALANCE OF TRADE

Annual report of chamber of commerce of New York, advance sheets of which have recently been issued, shows that the last calendar year was most prosperous. The total value of the foreign commerce of that metropolis for the calendar year ended December 31 last, was $1,567,729,735, as compared with $1,374,417,122 for the preceding year. It shows that the balance of trade in favor of the United States for the fiscal year was $517,302,054, an increase of $112,253,458 over the preceding year. The enormous business activity during last year is shown by the total of clearings reported by the clearing house, which amounted to $104,675,000,000, as compared with $93,822,000,000 in the year preceding. The total foreign commerce of the United States, according to the report in 1907, was valued at $3,426,330,663, as compared with $2,996,655,982 in the year preceding. The report says that during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1906, there were imported into the United States gold and silver coin and gold and silver bullion to the amount of $140,664,270, of which $42,967,030 was gold coin; $63,254,700 gold bullion, $15,811,712 silver coin and $31,630,828 silver bullion. The exports and re-exports for the same period amounted to $104,442,644, of which $31,299,389 was gold coin, $7,274,202 gold bullion, $3,985,608 silver coin and $56,882,455 silver bullion.

A Hump in the Line

There is a ripple of not altogether innocent merriment among the younger officers in the army. It is over the President's recent "Equitation Order," as it is generally known. This order recited the fact that all army officers should be proficient equestrians, and it directed that all officers on the active list should put in a certain number of hours a week horseback riding and that a report of their performance should be made. Of course, some fun was made of the order by the paragraphers, but there was really more than fun behind it, and the President did not issue it out of pure admiration for athletics and manly exercise. There have been many retirements for age in the army recently, but still there is a "hump" in the line near the top, and there are a number of perfectly able and competent desk officers who in the ordinary course of events would serve long before being retired by the age limit. Both the President and the General Staff want to see promotion a little more rapid, and the seemingly harmless Equitation Order is likely to do deadly work. There are a number of stout, mild-mannered, bald-headed old Generals who can hold down a desk in the war department or an arm chair in the Metropolitan Club, but who would be free shows on horseback. If they are actually compelled to take to the saddle, there will be money for the Washington druggist who will corner the court plaster market. Many of them would sooner retire volun-

Irrigation Congress

Special efforts are being put forward by the executive officers of the National Irrigation Congress to secure a thorough representation in the coming session of that body in Sacramento of the reclamation and forestry work and interests of the United States insular possessions in both continents. The Philippine Islands are certain to be ably represented in this respect and it is expected that both Hawaii and Porto Rico will be heard from in the same direction within a few days.

In a letter received by Secretary Beard on Friday from George P. Ahern of Manila, director of forestry in the Philippines, that gentleman writes enthusiastically of the congress and expresses the hope that he may be able to so arrange his affairs as to be present in person at the coming session of that body in Sacramento next September.

Mr. Ahern was a delegate from Montana to the irrigation congress 10 years ago and fathered a resolution then passed, recommending to the President of the United States that all public forests in the United States be set aside as forest reserves. This was practically the initiation of that movement by the irrigation congress.

Mr. Ahern has been for some years in the Philippines and has made an extended study of forestry conditions and problems and kindred matters in the Archipelago. On this particular subject he is probably the best informed official in the national forestry service. He manifests the keenest interest in the aims and work of the irrigation congress, and is in a position to contribute views and facts of peculiar interest in the general discussion of forestry and related questions. The presence of Mr. Ahern, among other representatives of distant lands in the National Irrigation Congress, serves to accentuate the exceptionally broad scope and truly international character which the coming session of that body in Sacramento has taken on.

IN THE TWILIGHT

The fire upon the hearth is low,
And there is stillness everywhere,
And, like winged spirits, here and there,
The freight shadows fluttering o'er,
And as the shadows round one creep,
A child's trouble breaks the gloom,
And softly from a further room
Comes: "Now I lay me down to sleep."
And somehow, with that little prayer,
And that sweet treble in my ears,
My thought goes back to distant years
And lingers with a dear one there;
And as I hear my child's Amen,
My mother's faith comes back to me,
Crouched at her side I seem to be,
And mother holds my hands again.
Oh, for an hour in that dear place:
Oh, for the peace of that dear time:
Oh, for that childish trust sublime;
Oh, for a glimpse of mother's face!
Yet, as the shadows round me creep,
I do not seem to be alone—
Sweet magic of that treble tone:
And "Now I lay me down to sleep."

year Strain undertook to handle the cabbage crops of F. E. Prodd, H. G. Meiser, J. H. Smith, J. L. Uplike, Lee Meyers, J. P. desGranges and Gumpsey & Woodward on a commission basis. Later in the season this basis was changed to a straight purchase basis, the commission contracts being thus abandoned. Strain in the settlement with the growers maintained that the commission contracts were never abandoned. The difference between the growers and Strain was the difference between the price as per the commission contract and the straight purchase basis. The jury decided in favor of the straight purchase and it gave judgment accordingly. The jury was out two hours. Strain will take an appeal.

Ladies of Round Table Entertain

The ladies of the Round Table club of Placentia gave the play "Breezy Point" at the schoolhouse on Thursday evening for the amusement of about 100 invited guests. Those who came expecting to be entertained with a short sketch or a one-act farce were surprised and agreeably disappointed for "Breezy Point" is a three-act comedy drama, taking up the entire evening for its presentation. The ladies covered themselves with glory but the part of Ashrael Grant, a workhouse wail, was exceptionally well acted by Mrs. Pierotti, who managed to bring in a number of local hits that provoked much laughter.

Mrs. Carrie Ford as Mrs. Hardscratch, and Mrs. R. H. Gilman and Mrs. L. D. Timmons as the Hardscratch Twins had genuinely funny parts that were well acted. Mrs. J. Nenno as Mehitable Doolittle was very good. Mrs. A. S. Bradford as Ellnor received many compliments on her natural interpretation of the part. A touch of tragedy was given the piece in the difficult part of Old Clem, the gypsy, which was ably taken by Mrs. Frank Morse. Mrs. Morse's makeup was perfect and her acting had almost the polish of the professional artist. There were thirteen characters in the play. Following is the cast:

Aunt Debby Dexter, Mistress of Breezy Point.....Mrs. Devonshire
Ellnor Pearl, of unknown parentage.....Mrs. A. S. Bradford
Ashrael Grant, a workhouse wail.....Mrs. A. Pierotti
Mrs. Hardscratch, with business propensities.....Mrs. Carrie Ford
The Hardscratch Twins, who "never tell nothing".....Mrs. L. D. Timmons and Mrs. R. H. Gilman
Mehitable Doolittle, manufacturer of Caturday Snuff and Bitters.....Mrs. J. Nenno
Aunt Debby's summer boarders fresh from boarding school:
Bernice Vernon.....Margaret Strain
Laura Leigh.....Mrs. Taylor
Edith Norton.....Mrs. Clarence McFadden
Clarice Fenshish.....Mrs. O. Lillie
Fantine, Miss Vernon's French maid.....Mrs. P. Gardner
Old Clem, the gypsy.....Mrs. N. F. Morse
Music was furnished by the Gilman orchestra. After the play ice cream and cake were served the guests.

WICKERSHEIM IMPLEMENT CO., Fullerton, It

Mrs. A. S. Bradford gave a party on Saturday evening for her son Warren, to which about twenty-four of the young people were invited. It was a geographical party and the guests were dressed to represent some city or country. Miss Mary Key was dressed entirely in green, representing Greenland. Misses Agnes Gilman and Kathleen Peelor represented the twin cities. There was also a cute representation of a Chinaman. Miss Mary Key won the first prize for guessing the most geographical representations and Walter Mortimer the second prize. Beatrice Nenno and Prof. Harvey carried off the prizes in another guessing contest. Supper was served in the dining-room which was handsomely decorated with Japanese lanterns, candles and red roses. After supper the Virginia Reel was danced, and this completed an evening of enjoyment for all.

Potatoes on Tomato Vines

Redding, June 23.—If he who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before is more blessed than a whole generation of politicians, how much more so must be he who causes two complete and different vegetables to grow on the same stalk, one under ground and the other above ground.

Such a feat has been accomplished by Dr. A. J. Wilder, a wealthy recluse who conducts many experiments in plant breeding on his farm near here. His latest achievement he calls a "pomato." It is a single plant with a tomato vine which produces full-sized fruit on the upper stem, and on the roots Irish potatoes as large as the average.

Dr. Wilder says he produced the strange freak after many experiments in mixing pollen and in the cross-grafting of plants.

Church Notes

Rev. A. B. Markle was at Huntington Beach on Sunday, filling the pulpit of Rev. J. R. Jolly, who was conducting revival services here.

The Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church will meet this (Thursday) afternoon at the home of Mrs. Beebe, sr. All members and ladies of the congregation are invited to attend.

Special revival meetings will continue during the week at the Christian church. The meetings are being largely attended and great interest taken. Rev. Jolly of Huntington Beach is conducting the meetings.

The service at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning will be of an unusual character. There will be no sermon, but instead a program is to be carried out. In the evening there will be no service because of the union "Stainless Flag" service at the Christian church. Miss Beam of San Bernardino will sing.

Arrangements have been made for a picnic excursion to Newport Beach on July 18. The train will leave the S. P. depot at 8 o'clock in the morning and return at 6 in the evening. Everybody is invited to go, and it is especially urged that the children of the various Sunday schools take advantage of this opportunity for a day at the beach. The rates are the same as last year, 55 cents for the round trip for adults, and 30 cents for children.

The Best Course for All Classes

There's no line of work today that costs so little, can be learned in so short a time, opens so many avenues to success, or offers so sure a stepping stone to promotion, as a good business and shorthand training for young people. It enables them to secure their first position and start at double the salary of those without such training. They rise faster from the very start. The nature of their work teaches them more about the business in a week than others can learn in a year.

This course prepares one to take care of his own business, is worth ten times its cost, even on a ranch, can be used to pay one's way through college or university, and is useful in noting lectures while there; can be used always and everywhere; and the beauty of it is, one doesn't have to spend a fortune or die of old age getting such a course in an up-to-date commercial school.

The S. B. C. is the only school in California making a specialty of training for the U. S. Civil Service. Students who enter this school now can be ready for the fall Civil Service examinations, or accept a good position when the busy season opens. Information about the work, Civil Service employment, etc., can be had by writing San Bernardino Business College, San Bernardino, California.

A delegation of Eagles were over from San Pedro on Tuesday in the interest of the big picnic and barbecue to be held there on Sunday. Among the party were Bert E. Mackley, Louis White, Clarence W. Feetham and Chas. N. Johnson.

That James J. Hill has not abandoned his plans for extending the rails of his gigantic railway system to the California waterline is again being evidenced in the movements of several parties of
