LOCAL EVENTS

H. Kruger was a visitor in town from Los Alamitos on Saturday. He states beets and potatoes are looking exceedingly well, while other crops show effects of the scant rainfall. Mr. Kruger looks for low prices for potatoes this season, following the slump on cabbage last year. He says farmers have the remedy in their own hands. Thus, cabbage is bought up at $5 per ton, shipped east, converted into sour-kraut and reshipped to the west by the carload. This cabbage might just as well be prepared here. A kraut factory, using prime cabbage, and eschewing salt-peter and other minerals with which the eastern product is tainted, would be a winner. Cabbage raisers have a suggestion here which may prove to be of great value to them. An association should be formed, according to Mr. Kruger's ideas, the Dreyfus winery building rented for a number of years and the manufacture of kraut be taken up on a large scale.

F. E. Johnson of Olinda was in town on Tuesday. He is the father of Walter Johnson, the well-known baseball pitcher, who leaves shortly to join the Washington team at St. Louis. Five teams in the American association have offered $10,000 for his release, but the Washington club refuses to part with him. He recently underwent an operation for an affection behind the ear, and has recovered sufficiently to rejoin his club. His record last year was phenomenal, and his many friends hereabout look for him to continue his good account of himself the present season. Mr. Johnson, Sr., takes great pride in his son, who is a gentlemanly and well-behaved ballplayer. He has another son, four years old, who throws a ball like Walt, and may blaze his way into big league company one of these days.

Seven contraband Chinese were captured at Santa Ana one evening last week in a stranded auto with which they were being taken to Los Angeles. The auto left Los Angeles at 5 o'clock in response to a telephone message from Tustin, and on the road this side that town the coolies were found hiding under a hedge. They were bundled into the machine, which hurried on its way back to Los Angeles. While running through Santa Ana some time after dark the machine broke down, and the suspicious cargo was taken into custody. They were conveyed to the Los Angeles jail and will have a hearing before the United States commissioner. It is supposed they were landed on the Orange county shore and made their way to their hiding place at Tustin where the auto picked them up.

Fayette Lewis is home from Berkeley to spend the summer vacation with his parents. Lewis is a member of the Varsity baseball club, and in the deciding game with Stanford won the honors for his school by knocking the ball into the adjoining county. It was in the twelfth inning that he came to bat, with two men out and a man on second. The ball was never found, and that night he owned Berkeley. During the summer he will officiate with Yungbluth & Kroeger, and will show Fritz how to make the latest styles of suits as they wear them in the northern citrus belt.

The library board will have a conference this evening with Architect Austin, when minor alterations will be made in the specifications and bids for constructing the building immediately asked for. The amended specifications will be ready for examination by builders by the end of the week probably.

Judge Howard spent the past week with his brother in Santa Ana canyon, where the latter is installing a pumping plant for the water company. The judge's health has been poor of late, and as a result of his outing he is ready to deal out justice with strict impartiality to all offenders at the old stand.

Chispa Chapter No. 151, O. E. S., has furnished a room in the Southern California Masonic Home at East San Gabriel. To celebrate the event the Chapter will have a picnic there Saturday, May 23rd. All Stars and Masons are invited to come, bring their lunch, family and friends.

Mike Litten made a trip to Delano and other points north the past week. At Wasco his brother, Ira, formerly a well-known resident of West Anaheim, has just taken up eighty acres of government land.

La Habra Electric Line

Work will immediately begin upon the electric railway line from Los Nietos to Richfield, through La Habra valley. Surveys have been run and right of way secured, and it is said the line will be in operation in ninety days.

It is Mr. Huntington's purpose to continue the line up the river valley to Corona and Riverside, giving the upper valley direct communication with Los Angeles.

Mr. Huntington has stated he would build a cross-roads line from Richfield south, through this city, to the ocean. Whether this road will continue south-west of this city through Garden Grove and Bolsa to Huntington Beach, or whether he will run direct to Cypress, there to form a junction with the Santa Ana-Los Angeles line, is not definitely known.

Chief Engineer Pillsbury, who is understood to be interested in realty west of Cypress, favors the latter route; but the Huntington Beach people will co-operate with the Garden Grove and Bolsa people to bring about the construction of the former line.

The early beginning of work upon the La Habra line has given rise to electric-railway talk in this section, and the subject will probably be taken up for discussion at an early date.

A prominent Santa Fe official here some days ago said the cut-off between Fullerton and Richfield will probably be constructed in the near future. The line, so it is reported, will run between the Chapman and Crowther orchards, and a Fullerton citizen said this week that right of way had been nearly secured for the entire distance to be traversed by the new railway line.

The Berryfield water company and the Orange county development company, two corporations owned by the same stockholders, were denied a permanent injunction Tuesday morning by Judge Dinmore in the superior court, restraining B. F. Maxwell from depriving owners of possession of a pumping plant at Berryfield. Under a temporary injunction the water company has been in possession of the plant for eight days, and during this time has saved its crop by its use. Maxwell had a verbal lease on adjoining land, which included the use of the pumping plant. The water company revoked the lease, on the ground that Maxwell had not complied with the conditions in entering into a formal lease for three years.

The rural carriers from several of the towns in the county met at the home of F. L. Eastman on Wednesday evening, May 13, and organized a rural letter carriers' association. Officers were elected as follows: F. L. Eastman, president, Anaheim; S. H. Jackman, vice president, Buena Park; Daisy B. Jackman, secretary, Buena Park; Miss Alta Legourgue, treasurer, Anaheim. The state convention of rural carriers will be held at Modesto, May 29-30.

Wilfred M. Peck, formerly a Riverside politician of some local notoriety, is in jail at Santa Ana, charged with forging a check for $300. These Riverside politicians get their just deserts once in a great while, it seems.

Reports from many of the large walnut orchards of this section are to the effect that the crop will be the largest in the history of the industry. If favorable weather convinces the output from many of the groves will be especially large.

M. W. Sawdey was quite seriously injured at La Mirada on Saturday morning while making repairs on well boring machine. The engine started prematurely, throwing him against the pipe, shattering the knee cap.

Mrs. Konig spent several days last week in Ocean Park and Los Angeles. She returned home Sunday, being accompanied by Mrs. Walling and child of the latter place.

Mrs. Kaiser and Mrs. Kym of Los Angeles spent a few days in town this week, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Konig. Mrs. Kaiser leaves shortly for a visit to Germany.

Herman Stern left Tuesday afternoon for a business trip to San Francisco. He will return the latter part of the week.

The Altar society of the Catholic church entertained friends at an enjoyable card social at Odd Fellows hall last evening.

Jos. M. Backs was a visitor at Santa Ana yesterday.

To Amend Horticultural Laws

Hon. J. W. Jeffrey, state commissioner of horticulture, has appointed the following legislative committee authorized by resolution at the state fruit growers convention held at Marysville, California, requesting the state commissioner of horticulture to name a committee to assist in reforming the horticultural laws of the state and advocate before the legislature the enactment or amendment of such measures as may be necessary:

A. G. Kendall, secretary citrus protective league, room 829 H. W. Hellman building, Los Angeles, Cal.
James Mills, superintendent Arlington Heights ranch, Riverside, Cal.
D. G. Overall, fruit grower, Visalia.
Arthur Briggs, president board of trade, San Francisco.
Peter J. Shields, judge superior court, Sacramento.

Mr. Kendall has been authorized to act as temporary chairman of the committee and steps have been taken to secure a meeting of the committee early in June at Sacramento.

Brookhurst

The D. D. club spent an enjoyable evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller last Thursday evening.

Mrs. Geo. Hatfield went to Laguna Saturday to spend a few days.

Charles Allgeyer has given his new barn a coat of paint.

Mrs. Stillwell and daughter returned to their home in Los Angeles after a few days visit with her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. T. Smith.

Mr. O'Brien has purchased an auto. The D. D. club spent Sunday at Huntington Beach and all report a fine time.

Mrs. William Trapp died at the family residence on the Eastside Tuesday morning at 2 o'clock. Death was due to tuberculosis, of which she had been a sufferer for years. She leaves a husband and four little children. Funeral this afternoon at 2, from residence to Catholic church. Interment in Anaheim cemetery.

Gerald Sandilands and family returned some days ago from Murietta Springs, where they sojourned several weeks for rest and recuperation. Mr. Sandilands took the baths for an attack of rheumatism, and was greatly improved by the waters. He this week began shipping oranges for the Independent association.

The University of Southern California glee club, assisted by members of the college of oratory, will give a concert in the opera-house Friday evening, May 29th. This concert promises to be of unusual interest to our citizens, for in their number will be Mr. Whitaker, soloist; Mr. Haydock, (Happy) Mr. Henderson, and Mr. Colonius, cornet soloist, all of whom appeared here recently with the student band of Y. M. C. A. workers. Mr. Colonius has gained for himself the title of "Sousa" among the faculty of the university, on account of his musical ability. The glee club has been meeting with unusual success this year and is highly praised by the press wherever they have appeared, and we bespeak a liberal patronage in this city.

Mrs. Morse, mother of Frank Morse, of Placentia died at her home in Santa Ana Friday, aged 73 years. The funeral was held in that city on Monday, being largely attended.

John Baque gave a pleasant picnic in the Olinda hills Sunday in honor of a number of his friends.

William Berkinstock of Placentia has set ten acres to Valencia.

WHAT'S DOING IN POLITICS

Have Traitors Crept Into the Delegation to the Senatorial District Convention? Humor In Riverside County Relative To The Anti-Estudillo Instructions

Next to the persistent report that two traitors have crept into the delegation from Orange county to the senatorial convention, the most striking bit of local politics this week is the apparent humor with which the anti-Estudillo instructions have been received at Riverside. Not that they are a laughing matter to Estudillo; on the contrary, quite the reverse. But the Estudillo people are giving out the statement that the anti-Estudillo instructions passed by the Orange county republican convention were "prompted by the railroad," and that therefore Estudillo is an anti-railroad man. Those Riverside men are of infinite wit, most excellent fancy. Tell them that Estudillo dodged a vote on the Reciprocal Demurrage bill, and they solemnly aver he voted for the anti-prize fight bill; accuse him of treachery to the people's rights in voting for the capital removal bill, and they tell you he voted for anti-race track gambling; tell them he showed his subservience to the Southern Pacific in the Owens valley railroad franchise bill, and they throw up their hands in holy horror and proclaim that he voted for the pure-food law!

Now they are saying that the anti-Estudillo instructions were passed by the "railroad push" in Orange county. True, there were railroad snipe-shooters in the convention who did not open their mouths in objection to these anti-Estudillo instructions; but the reason for that was they had been given to understand they must take a back seat in politics hereafter, and moreover that anything they favored would be killed outright by the convention. Perhaps Estudillo considers he can "win out" by this finessing; but we fear he is going to "lose out" instead.

This talk about traitors in the delegation is quite another matter. We believe as we did last week that the statement is untrue; yet we have no doubt the Espee will do all in its power to seduce delegates away from the path of rectitude. It is difficult to understand how a delegate can so far forget himself as to sacrifice himself to the railroad for a few paltry dollars, knowing full well the stain upon his political honor will follow him to the grave and blight the honor of his children after he is dead. Nor is it all sentiment in this proposition; the traitors (if such there be) will be made to feel the lash of public contempt in more ways than one; let him have no fear about that. Yet we say again, we do not believe there exists such upon the delegation.

The Press of Riverside, discussing these matters, pertinently says:

The report in this morning's Enterprise of the Orange county republican convention, is misleading and unfair, as far as it relates to the anti-Estudillo resolution. The Enterprise seeks to convey the impression that the resolution was fathered by the "organization" people. The reverse is true. The resolution was presented by the committee on resolutions, on which there were no Lincoln-Roosevelt league delegates, and was turned down by the committee. It was then introduced on the floor of the convention by E. E. Keech, one of the leaders in the Lincoln-Roosevelt movement, and was accepted by the "organization" people because they recognized that the sentiment of the convention was so strong in favor of it that it would be unwise to fight it. Not a man rose to speak in opposition to it or in defense of Estudillo, and only a handful of votes was recorded against it.

There was talk in Santa Ana after the convention adjourned, that possibly two or three of the senatorial delegates might "break away" even from those iron clad resolutions and vote for Estudillo; and it is an interesting and significant fact that the men [two members of the Orange county delegation] suggested as open to suspicion on that score, are supporters of the railroad machine.

It is true, moreover, that railroad and anti-railroad lines were not so sharply drawn in the organization of the convention as might be inferred. It was rather a fight between the Lincoln-Roosevelt club people and the republicans who are not affiliated with that organization. A goodly number of anti-machine republicans in the county have not affiliated with that organization, and they objected to being classed with the railroad "push" simply because they had not accepted the leadership of the new league. The chairman of the convention, R. Y. Williams, claims to be an anti-railroad man; and it can be said to his credit in this connection, that he has always been a warm supporter of Congressman Smith.

There was also a fight between Santa Ana and the country in the convention. The Lincoln-Roosevelt people carried the city; and in large measure the country delegates were rallied against them by the cry that the city was trying to run the convention and dictate the politics of the county.

So far as Estudillo is concerned, the opposition to him was led by the Lincoln-Roosevelt anti-machine workers, but for various reasons there seems to be a tremendous opposition to him among all factions and elements of the party there, and it was therefore easy to secure instructions against him.

The defeat of Gen. H. G. Otis as delegate-at-large to the republican national convention, at the Sacramento convention on Thursday, comes as an act of retributive justice to a man who, once rising like a tall Sycamore above the baneful influence of the railroad, sold himself out to Herrin at last, body, soul and breeches. The Los Angeles Times, which has been accepted by republicans of the state as their political mentor for a score of years past, has gone over to the enemy and is no longer free from the taint of Herrinism. We have looked to it in vain for a year for some word of protest against the infamies of the Herrin machine, but it has stood silent, dumb. The clarion tones of the war eagle of the past, when the railroad fight was on against San Pedro harbor, have faded to the croaking gasps of the bird of carrion, perched atop the rotten promises of the railroad's assistance in his overweening ambition to strut on to Chicago as a delegate at large from California.

When Gen. Stone's state central committee promulgated its infamous unofficial primary, the Times was silent. It turned traitor to its record of the past, when it led the state press in its assaults upon the ring. So far from criticizing the infamies of the machine during the past year, the Times has actually shouted for joy at the acts of political larceny perpetrated by Herrin. Thus, the rape of the Third congressional district convention, was lauded as a "great victory for the regulars," or the "old guard," or something of the sort. It was nothing of the kind. The clean republicans of the Third district elected a majority of the delegates to that convention, but Herrin's appointment of 24 delegates, who voted with the elected railroad delegates, controlled the convention, and the honestly chosen delegates went down to defeat.

For the Times' campaign of subservience to the railroad, Gen. Otis was promised a place as one of the four delegates at large to the republican national convention. He was defeated. He has forfeited the respect of the republicans of the state, and they turned against him. Did the general "stand fast" in the recent assaults of the railroad against political freedom; did he "stand sure" in face of the many infamies of the machine during the past year?

In his rejection by the state convention, let him commune with his thoughts alone, comparing the Times of other days to the servile railroad tool of today.

Let republicans throughout California remember these figures: 275 to 351. That was the test vote in the state convention between the clean men of the party and the railroad for control of the convention. With all of Herrin's appointed delegates, the clean, unbought men of the party made such a showing that it amounts practically to the overthrow of Herrin.

The Riverside, San Bernardino and San Diego conventions were spiked, and delegates were not regularly chosen in either of these conventions. In San Diego no primaries were held in the county precincts, and San Bernardino's delegation to the state convention were appointed, not elected, by the convention. These delegates alone were nearly sufficient in number to give Herrin the convention; but similar practices were carried on in many other counties of the state. It was nothing short of highway robbery, and the fact that Herrin had to resort to such practices is evidence sure as proof of holy writ that the railroad boss was hard pushed by the unpurchased men of the party. Moreover, after appointing a sufficient number of delegates to give him control of the convention, the vote stood 275 clean, unbought republicans to 351 railroaders. Let the clean men of the party remember these figures; and let them buckle on their armor for the August primaries. Up, men, and at them again!

Doc McMullan of Orange has been appointed a member of the new state central committee. The Doc has been regarded as leaning to the railroad in the past, and will probably line up with the push when the people are not looking. But the party will do well to keep its eye on the doc. He has a lively sense of political favors to come, and is credited with having aspirations to be sheriff. Some weeks ago he appointed himself county school superintendent when Carpenter resigned, but he heard the roar and ducked. The doc will have to be good in the political snowstorm which is pelting about Herrin. He must either come out and be for the people, or he will be regarded, and justly so, as a railroad. He cannot serve two masters. Under which flag, Bezoniun?

275 to 351! Is there a God in Israel?

The Orange Post prints an interesting sketch of political affairs in the Thirty-ninth district since the organization of Orange county in 1889, and continues:

"If instructions ever were justifiable, they certainly were on the part of Orange county in this crisis, as may be seen from the following circumstances:

"Riverside county, which under ordinary conditions would be entitled to name the candidate for state senator this year, has become embroiled in a bitter fight over candidates. Proof has been shown that the candidate with the strongest support is not free from corporate influences, for testimony, like that of A. M. Drew of Fresno, and other associates of Estudillo in the assembly cannot be ignored. In order to carry their point Estudillo's supporters invoked the unit rule, which not only disfranchises the minority but counts the votes of such minority in favor of a candidate it would not otherwise support. In fact, these leaders seem to have resented the intimation that Orange county might have something to say against accepting an objectionable candidate. Later, when this county, wearied with their bickerings, virtually said, 'a plague o' both your houses,' we'll have neither candidate offered" they in effect retorted: 'Oh, but you'll have to!' And that, too, to a county which is equally interested in the candidate and has thirteen votes in the convention to protect its interests as against their ten! * * * Taking it for granted that the Riverside county delegates will carry out their instructions, there is no other course left for Orange county but to go ahead and make the nomination alone—from Riverside county, if they can find a suitable man, and, if not, then one from Orange county; but he must be a clean, capable man. The responsibility is great; but Orange county expects every one of her delegates to do his duty."

The naming of a Riverside by the Orange county delegates would, it seems to us, be rather an unheard-of proceeding, might set a bad precedent. The contest in the senatorial convention must, in the very nature of things, be short, sharp and decisive. If Riverside votes on first ballot for Estudillo, Orange county will probably present a candidate of its own. And it will nominate him, too.

The politics of the so called "unofficial primary," invented and conducted by the Herrin machine as a sort of sideshow, was in the beginning obscure, although people who considered the source may have suspected that some petty trick lay concealed in it. Developments since the primary prove that suspicion to have been well founded. The object was to secure an uninstructed delegation from California that could be handled and traded by Harriman in the national convention. An identical trick was played in Utah, where Harriman influence is dominant.

Few voters paid any attention to the "unofficial primary," conducted outside the law by members of the push, appointed by the state central committee under the orders of Herrin. This queer sideshow had no connection with the legal primary to elect delegates. It was held—where it was held at all—on the sidewalks, by men who were free to make any sort of return that pleased their employers. The nominal purpose of the so called primary was to express preferences for presidential candidates. As the party in California is virtually unanimous for Taft not one voter in a hundred took pains to cast a useless and superfluous ballot. In a majority of precincts no such primary was held, and no returns have been given out to show the vote anywhere. Of course, this being a purely extralegal primary conducted by a discredited clique, they can make the returns anything they please. It is learned indirectly, through the Chronicle and Oakland Tribune, both organs of the Herrin machine, that the result was to declare the preference of California republicans for Roosevelt as the candidate for president. The further purpose of the trick is thus explained by the Tribune:

The republican electors throughout the state having at the unofficial primary declared Theodore Roosevelt their choice for president during the next four years the California delegates to the national convention will probably be pledged by the state convention to vote for Roosevelt. The vote of the people at the direct primary is regarded as an unqualified instruction for Roosevelt with Taft for second choice. The outlook is for the fake reformers of the league being led a merry dance at Sacramento.

As Roosevelt is not a candidate the effect of such instructions would be to leave the delegates free to follow their own bent. If the "organization" succeeds in electing any part of the delegation it could be handled and traded by Harriman in the same fashion that he proposes to use the Nevada and Utah delegations.

The plan is not especially ingenious, but, in the opinion of the Call, it is characteristically dirty. It is a trick played on the republican voters of California with intent to rob them of any voice in the government of the party. It is entirely of a piece with the appointment of delegates by the machine in a majority of the counties, disfranchising republican voters by thousands.

It is small business, perhaps, but it serves to illustrate the "organization" methods. The Herrin machineists can hope to win only by chicanery. In every precinct, outside of the slums and stews, where they dared to challenge a vote they were beaten, and their sneak-thief tricks will not avail to save them now. The "unofficial primary" was an instrument on which Herrin could play any tune he wanted, but he cannot make the party dance to his music—not this year.

The Third Congressional district convention was manipulated by the railroad, by a vote of 44 to 31. But, mark you, the state central committee, which is controlled by the railroad, appointed 24 of the 44 delegates—they were not elected at primary elections. The 31 clean republicans in the convention were all elected at primaries held in the cities of Oakland, Berkeley and Vallejo, where the primary election law is mandatory. Had primaries been held in Solano, Contra Costa and the other counties, where the manhood of its citizens was outraged by the arbitrary appointment of delegates to the district and state convention, the clean men of the party would undoubtedly have controlled the convention. As it was, of the delegates regularly elected the Lincoln-Roosevelt league had 31, the railroad 20. Beaten out of its boots was the railroad at the primaries. But adding the 24 appointed delegates, the railroad won. If Herrin must resort to such shady practices as these to carry a convention he must be hard pressed indeed. Yet that is the way in which he controlled the republican state convention—by appointing more than 300 delegates. It sounds shameful, does it not? How long will the republicans of the state tamely submit to this sort of political rape on the part of Mr. Herrin?

Editor Clarke of the Riverside Press who has had much to say regarding the political situation in this senatorial district, sizes up the matter thus in a recent issue: "When the Orange county republican county convention adopted the resolution it did on the senatorial proposition, it said to the republicans of this county: 'You have had a bitter fight over the claims of two candidates; let us wipe them both off the slate. Give us a new man who can come to us without bitter opposition at home and we will stand with you and nominate him.' The answer of Riverside was to instruct its delegation for Estudillo, after Orange county had explicitly instructed its delegation to vote as a unit against him. That was virtually saying to the republicans of our neighboring county, who have an equal voice with us in the selection of senator and who will be represented by the man elected as much as Riverside will be: 'You are opposed to Estudillo but you will have to take him or take no other man from this county.' Was that good politics? We do not think so. A 'still hunt' will now be made for two delegates in Orange county who will break away from the clear and specific instructions of their convention and vote for Estudillo. It may be possible that two men who would do that will be found on the delegation. But if Estudillo should be nominated in that way, there will be a storm of indignation in Orange county that might imperil his election."

The president's invitation to former Governor Pardee, requesting his participation in the national conference on the conservation of the national resources, is quite significant. It is proof that President Roosevelt recognizes the fact that the delegates to this conference selected by Governor Gillett do not represent the people of California and are really named as advocates of special interests whose design is not to conserve but rather to exploit for profit those natural resources of the state which this movement is intended to defend and preserve.

As far as this conference is concerned with the conservation of water rights, the Call recognizes that some controversy exists between the state and the federal government as to the extent of the latter's powers. The position taken by the president in this controversy is thus defined:

The issue between the congress and the president as to whether the United States shall exact a royalty or compensation for water rights along navigable streams has been sharply drawn. Each branch of the government seems determined to stand by the position it has taken. The president has served formal notice that he will sign no more bills "which do not provide specifically for the right to fix and make a charge and for a definite limitation in time of the rights conferred." The view of congress—at least the view reflected by the committees to which water rights bills are referred—is that the government has no right to require compensation for the use of water in navigable streams for purposes other than navigation. In the last analysis the question is: "Is the use of water in a navigable stream a matter of state regulation and state control or of federal regulation and federal control?"

This phase of the controversy does not touch those water resources existing in the forest reserves where the federal government has not parted with its riparian rights, but does concern important rights on California streams tributary to navigable rivers. Doubtless the dispute will eventually be settled in the courts, but the great value of the movement initiated by the president lies in the awakening of public interest in these profitable resources and the realization that they are the common property of the whole people. The result must be that, whether title shall finally vest in the federal government or in the states, the claim of the commonwealth to compensation for the use of natural resources must be conceded.

It is not expected that the conference in Washington will be an altogether harmonious body, but its proceedings will be followed closely by the people with a full understanding of motives and purposes. It is a matter for regret that the delegates sent on behalf of California do not represent the people of the state or the conservation of popular rights.

WINS ITS SIXTH CASE

Government's Regulations Regulating Grazing on Forest Reserves Upheld by Federal Court

[CORRESPONDENCE OF THE GAZETTE]

Washington, D. C., May 16, '08.

The government has just won its sixth important case concerning the validity of the regulations made by the secretary of agriculture to control grazing in the national forests. In the United States court at Denver, Colo., Judge Robert E. Lewis has overruled the demurrer of Fred Light, a wealthy stockman of Pitkin county, Colorado, which contended that the grazing regulations in force on the national forests are unconstitutional.

The whole case revolved around the contention raised by some Colorado stockmen that the government is no more than a private land owner in the matter of state fence laws. A number of states have fence laws which make it impossible for a private person to collect fees or damages from owners of stock which stray upon his land unless the land is fenced. The national forests are not fenced and on this the stockmen based their refusal to pay grazing fees.

A friendly suit to test the regulations of the secretary of agriculture prohibiting the drifting of stock upon the forest. At the public lands convention held in Denver last June the forest officers and representatives of the Colorado cattle and horse growers association, of which Mr. Light is a member, agreed to a friendly suit. The case is practically the same as the famous Shannon case in Montana, in which the grazing regulations were also upheld.

The decision of Judge Hunt in this Montana case was affirmed by the United States circuit court of appeals at the ninth circuit sitting at San Francisco on February 3, this year. That decision states without qualification that the grazing regulations are reasonable and valid and that the state land laws do not apply to the national forests and that therefore, the drifting of stock upon the forests in violation of the regulations is trespassing, notwithstanding the state law.

The Light decision simply affirmed the same principle in another jurisdiction. The attorneys for Mr. Light, under the agreements made before the trial, are bound not to dispute the facts, but will probably appeal the legal question for decision by the circuit court of appeals at St. Louis. Eventually it will be carried up to the supreme court.

The other suits attacking the grazing regulations won by the government are the following cases: The United States versus Shannon, Montana; the United States versus Bale, South Dakota; the United States versus Deguirre, Northern California; the United States versus Domingo, Idaho; the United States versus Dent, Arizona.

NO FEES ON SIERRA ADDITION

The Forest Service has made a recommendation to the Secretary of Agriculture that all stock which have grazed regularly on the range on the new tracts of land added to the Sierra National Forest, in this state, during the past be allowed to graze free of charge and without permit during the season of 1908.

In the addition recently made to the Sierra Forest, it is reported that a large portion of the area is used for grazing and that the live stock industry is of importance to the welfare of the people. The number of cattle, horses, sheep and goats occupying the range is unknown and the season is now so far advanced that it is not possible to give proper notice to applicants for grazing privileges, and for this reason it has been recommended that there should be no grazing fees on the addition this year.

METHODS OF FORESTRY

To bring the forests to their full productiveness, however, they must be cut over. The axe is the forester's hoe as well as his scythe. Reaping and sowing are usually for him one and the same operation, and cultivation is accomplished by getting rid of what he does not want. There were cut from the National Forests during the last fiscal year the equivalent of a little over 280,000,000 board feet of timber. This involved cutting operations on slightly less than 300,000 acres of land, or about one four-hundredths of the total area of the Government's forests. In other words, hardly a beginning has been made in bringing the forests to their highest productiveness through use, and their reserve of mature timber has scarcely been touched by the operations under way.

Timber cutting on the National Forests has hitherto been done almost entirely by what foresters call the "selection method." This takes out only a part of the trees and leaves the rest to grow more rapidly as a result of the opening up of the forest, while permitting also the seeding up of the ground with new growth. Each tree to be cut is selected by a forest officer, and stamped at the base of the stump, and again at the breast height. If the cutters fell any trees which were not marked for them, the absence of the "U. S." stamp on the stump betrays the fact to the government inspector, and the persons responsible are brought to book. By this method of cutting the actual practice of forestry is being gradually introduced. This means not merely that the timber is protected nor merely that it is made use of as it matures, but also that it is cultivated like a crop in order to get as much as possible out of the land.

The total cut from the National Forests during the fiscal year, 280,000,000 board feet, was insignificant in comparison alike with the total stand of government timber, and the yearly productive capacity of all the forests when they have been brought under management. Balancing one thing against another, the government has undoubtedly not lessened its stock of timber in consequence of the cuttings made during the year, but on the contrary has much more now than it had a year ago. A great part of the increase, however, has been on timber which has not yet reached merchantable size. This suggests one of the two important reasons why it may not be safe to cut right along as much wood as grows, taking the forests as a whole. The first reason is that it will do the country no good some years hence to know that the forests are making a certain amount of wood per year, if it is all in sizes not big enough to cut to advantage. The second is that it is necessary to forecast the needs locally. The inhabitants of Arizona will find it small consolation to them in the future to be told that there is a large supply of timber remaining in Washington if their own forests have nothing for them. Such problems as these the Forest Service is preparing to meet. It is too much to hope that mistakes will not be made. Forestry requires so long a look ahead that the best calculations are likely to be disturbed through changes in conditions. The point is that with the best provision possible the public will be vastly better off than with no provision at all.

Beautiful Trees

Mrs. E. Aveline Green, the owner of the Miraflores ranch, in this town, has just planted on her ranch a large collection of rare and beautiful plants. There are among them ornamentals and fruits and nuts of new species in California. Among the ornamentals are the Leucadendron Argenteum, or the famous silver tree from the Cape of Good Hope. The leaves of the tree at maturity are densely covered with silvery white, silky hairs. Another is the Aristotelia Maqui, a beautiful evergreen bush or tree from Chili, the fruit of which, a red berry, is used for coloring the choicest brands of wine. Another is the Aleurites Cordata, from the Yantze valley, China. It is known as the "national tree of China." It is a stately tree when full grown, with green, smooth bark, large heart shaped leaves, and spreading branches. Another, the Beau Carnia Cedipus, from southern Mexico. This is a very remarkable plant, and is difficult to obtain. Another is Euphorbia, an ornamental tree from the Gold coast of Africa. Another is the Pinus Longifolia, an ornamental pine from the Himalayas, India.

Among the fruit trees are the following: The Passiflora Edulis, or the fruit which is known as granadilla. It is a perennial, native of Brazil, and produces a fruit that is delicious, about the size and shape of a goose egg. Another is the Macadamia Ternifolia, or Australian hazel nut. It is the largest and best of all the hazel nut family. Another is the Ceratonia siliqua, a handsome leguminous tree with evergreen, glossy, dark green leaves. It is popularly known as the Saint John's bread tree, from the fact that St. John, the Baptist, is said to have lived on its fruits when he was in the wilderness. Another is the Nephelium longanum, which is both an ornamental and the bearer of a most delicious fruit. In all, Mrs. Green has had set out about thirty of these various kinds of trees, and excepting one or two of them, the plants are doing finely.

LET THE CLEAN MEN OF THE PARTY ROUSE THEMSELVES!

Probably never in the history of the country was such raw politics enacted as characterized the recent state and congressional district conventions. Out of 626 delegates in the state convention, no less than 393 were arbitrarily appointed by the railroad machine. This of itself was sufficiently raw, but the segregation of these machine men in the several congressional district conventions in sufficient numbers to outvote the honestly elected delegates, thus defeating the wishes of the clean republicans of those districts, was so unheard of and so despicable that the state stands eternally disgraced thereby.

As if this were not base enough for clean republicans to endure, the railroad press from one end of the state to the other exulted in these several machine escapades as "great victories" for the "old guard" and "regulars," and characterizing the defeated men as insurgents, party busters and braggarts.

In many counties where these 393 delegates had been appointed, the clean republicans, revolting against the arbitrary action of the railroad, called primaries and elected delegates at an honest election held May 2d—the day on which primaries were generally held throughout the state. These honestly elected delegates appeared at Sacramento on Thursday and demanded seats in the convention. They filed contests against the appointed delegates, but the latter were seated, and the bulk of them voted with the machine. To the honor of a number, be it said, they cast their ballots with the clean party men in the convention.

In the Third congressional district, for instance, the clean republicans elected 31 delegates in the primaries, to 21 by the railroad. But the machine arbitrarily appointed 24 delegates, and these, operating with the 21 elected machine men, outvoted the others and elected machine delegates to the national republican convention. Honestly elected delegates, chosen by republicans in precincts where machine men had been arbitrarily appointed by the state machine, contested their seats, but were denied admittance to the convention.

Not alone in the Third district did these appointed delegates come to the rescue of the machine, but in all the other up-state districts except the Fourth (San Francisco), where the primary election law obtained, and where the railroad was swept off the boards.

The counties of San Diego, San Bernardino and Riverside disgraced themselves by appointing their delegates to the state convention. The single exception was the city of San Diego, where the provisions of the primary election law were mandatory. In a poll of 2000 votes the railroad defeated the clean republicans by less than 150 votes. These delegates, with those elected by the machine in the Eighth district, controlled the district convention.

Collis P. Huntington said twenty years ago he would see grass growing in the streets of San Diego, and yet each election the delegates of that county are turned over to the Southern Pacific railroad, like so many cattle. How long will the decent republicans of San Diego stand such jobbery.

How long will the clean men of the party tamely submit to these outrages? Do we hear clean republicans in Orange county say they are done with politics, because politics are so filthy, so unclean? Rouse to action, you men of decency, the state calls loudly for your aid. Let this call be not in vain. Attend the August primaries. Attend the convention which will follow to name presidential electors and to appoint the new state central committee.

Up, you clean republicans, and at them again!

CLOSE CALL FOR THE MACHINE

As the results of the recent primaries are analyzed the Lincoln-Roosevelt republican league finds every encouragement to gird up its loins for the August 11th primaries, when it seems certain to sweep the state for reform.

That the league had a large majority of the elected delegates in the state convention shows how the people of the state will vote when they have a chance. That a change of only forty votes—in a convention in which half the delegates were appointed instead of being elected at primaries—would have given the league a majority, shows how near the old machine with all its organization and money came to being defeated in the very first skirmish. It had a close call.

It shows, too, what a feeble grip the Southern Pacific has upon the rank and file of the party, and that a spirit of independent manhood is beginning to dominate the citizenship of the state; for at least seventy-five of the appointed delegates openly defied the machine and lined up with the Lincoln-Roosevelt league in favor of a free party.

Imagine delegates doing that in the republican state convention at Santa Cruz two years ago! Or at the Los Angeles county convention at Venice! Why, they couldn't say how they were going to vote in those conventions till they "got the word" from the bosses. It was not a case of what the people wanted, but what the Southern Pacific wanted.

But at last the republicans of the state can hold up their heads and say: "This is our party, and not the party of the Southern Pacific railroad."

HANDWRITING ON THE WALL

Did our forefathers win their first skirmish with the red-coats at Bunker Hill? No, but they gave Bourgoynes "regulars" to thoroughly understand that they were dead in earnest.

Neither did the Lincoln-Roosevelt leaguers win their first skirmish with the machine, but they have given the Southern Pacific "regulars" to thoroughly understand that they are dead in earnest in the campaign which they have entered upon to free the republican party from the yoke of the Southern Pacific railroad.

The machine understands, too, that the next engagement, which will be fought at the ballot box all along the line from Tia Juana to Shasta is almost certain to be its Waterloo. That was the handwriting on the wall at Sacramento.

Sim Walker caught on to the tail of the political kite at Sacramento, being chosen an alternate to the Chicago convention from the Eighth district. Mr. Walker was denied his dearest wish, by the Orange county republican convention, of attending the senatorial district or state convention as a delegate. It was different with the stuffed state convention, and the bosses had no difficulty in lining up the push for their puppets in the several congressional districts. In the Eighth district the counties of San Diego, San Bernardino and Riverside sent stuffed delegations, aggregating 47 delegates, and all of these supported the Stuffed Prophet of Buena Park.

THE SENATORIAL SITUATION

The Orange county republican convention instructed its thirteen delegates to the Thirty-ninth senatorial district convention, which meets at Riverside July 11th, not to vote for Estudillo for state senator.

The Riverside county republican convention instructed its ten delegates to the senatorial district convention to vote for Estudillo "first, last and all the time."

Now comes the rumor from Riverside that by corrupt means that county proposes to debauch two of this county's delegation into supporting Estudillo, thus giving him the nomination.

Is this the sort of politics Orange county is to expect from her sister county in the Thirty-ninth senatorial district? Can Riverside succeed in no other manner than by the use of corrupt means to secure the nomination of her candidate?

Orange county concedes to Riverside the right of naming the senatorial candidate this year, but it insists upon the time-honored practice of demanding that such candidate must be acceptable to republicans of this county. Let Riverside name such candidate, and Orange county stands ready to nominate him. But such talk as this which emanates from Riverside will serve to embitter republicans of this county. Let Riverside name a clean, unpurchasable candidate for the senatorship, or Orange county will do it for her. And such nominee will not be a Riverside-county man, either. We have many such men in Orange county, and if Riverside fails in her duty, Orange county will name the man to represent the district in the upper house of the legislature.

Let us have clean politics, and let us hear no more of this projected debauchery of our delegates. Let bribe-givers take heed that prison cells await them.

NOW FOR AUGUST PRIMARY

The state convention is a thing of the past, and Herrin stands a defeated and disgusted political boss in California. The clean republicans forced the withdrawal of Gov. Gillett as a candidate for delegate at large, and defeated H. G. Otis, electing Jacob H. Neff in his stead as one of the four delegates at large to the Chicago convention.

In the fourth congressional district the Lincoln-Roosevelt league elected the two district delegates to the national convention, and in three other districts its candidates ran those of the regular machine a very close race. In the up-state districts, especially in the Third, the election of machine delegates was encompassed by the appointment of delegates to the convention, instead of choosing them by primaries.

A new state central committee was appointed, in which the names of George Stone, Frank Hatton and Walter Parker, the three big railroad lieutenants under Herrin, do not appear.

That the jolt administered Herrin was a crushing one is admitted on all sides. The vote, for chairman of the convention stood 351 for Knight to 275 for Davis. Take away the upward of 200 appointed delegates who supported Knight, and replace them by delegates chosen at an honest primary, and the convention would without doubt have been overwhelmingly against the machine. The wound is not so deep as a well, nor so wide as a barndoor, but it is enough.

Now for the August primaries. Let clean republicans rally to the standard and let them wipe the last vestige of Herrinism from domination in California politics.

The convention instructed for Taft, and rightly so, for the machine long since discovered the people were for Taft, and while it did all in its power to hamper the state from endorsing him, and prevented the state central committee from taking such action in January, it realized all along defeat stared it in the face, and gracefully wheeled into line for the war secretary.

Now for the August primaries! Let us have done with railroad domination in this state, and let honest primaries be held in every county in the state.

From this time on the Lincoln-Roosevelt republican league will work with redoubled energy, conscious of its strength and irresistible power in the public sentiment that is behind it. The republican party in California is composed, in a large majority, of independent men, who rejoice at the opportunity to hold up their heads like sovereign American citizens and rule themselves; instead of being obliged to hang their heads in shame and submit to being governed by the Southern Pacific railroad. With its organization of the state completed, with the public thoroughly informed regarding the issues, and with the question of self-government brought right home to every voter in every assembly district, and in many supervisorial and other districts, there is little doubt what the result of the next primaries will be. But eternal vigilance and hard work from now till August 11th will be the price of liberty for the republican party. Every friend of a free party should lend a hand.

Of what use is the direct primary election law, which is mandatory only in the twelve larger cities of the state, when the railroad can appoint a majority of the delegates to a state convention from districts in which the primary law does not apply? Of the 626 delegates to last week's state convention 393 were appointed by Herrin. Of what value is this greatly vaunted primary election law? Let its provisions be made to apply to every county in the state, and we shall see what an honestly elected state convention looks like.

Caesar had his Brutus, Napoleon his Wellington, Charles the First his Cromwell, and Gen. Otis had his Red Fennessy. Sure he did!

Now what becomes of Gen. Stone, his informal primary and his assertion that California would instruct for Roosevelt? To the woods with Stone!

The democratic state convention, in session at Fresno this week, threw off the Southern Pacific yoke. Now let the republicans do the same at the August convention. The railroad machine is a power, but an aroused and outraged people is infinitely more powerful.

Riverside sent a stuffed delegation of ten men to the state convention and turned them over to Herrin. It has selected a stuffed delegation of ten men to the senatorial district convention, and instructed them to vote for Estudillo, the Herrin candidate, "first, last and all the time." Orange has a delegation of thirteen free men, nominated by a convention which wore no railroad collar, elected to attend the senatorial district convention, and they are instructed not to support Estudillo for state senator. Riverside retorts that, being in a minority in that convention, she will BUY TWO OF OUR DELEGATES. Was ever more dastardly infamy piled up and compounded?

What the democrats did at their state convention at Fresno, republicans must and will do at their August convention. The party must be freed of railroad domination, or California in 1910 will elect a democratic governor. The state gave Roosevelt a majority of 125,000 four years ago, and will give Taft 150,000 majority this year. Gillett crawled in with a scant 8000 plurality two years ago, with Langdon drawing 45,000 from Bell, the democratic candidate. Had the democratic party not been hopelessly split in two, Gillett would have been beaten by 37,000 votes. Here is a change in two short years of 162,000 votes. Does the railroad push read the handwriting on the wall?

Rev. Markle is an old-fashioned minister, and has set notions about introducing new-fangled ideas into the pulpit. He expresses the opinion that Dr. Ireland went about a mile and a half out of his way to introduce Estudillo to the congregation of the Presbyterian church the other evening. So do we—about two miles and a half.

Riverside county appointed its ten delegates to the state convention, and at Sacramento turned them over to the Herrin machine. These ten delegates are supporters of Estudillo. And yet Dr. Ireland has the nerve to tell us Estudillo is not a railroad man!

Perhaps Herrin will run Gen. Otis as one of the presidential electors. Huh!

Gen. Otis seems to have fallen out of the balloon. What?

Wm. Crowther while in town this week stated the projected barbecue at Yorba reservoir will be postponed probably until July, when it is expected 30 feet of water will be impounded by the dam. At present there are not to exceed ten feet of water in the reservoir, as water is being constantly used for irrigation in this vicinity. The reservoir is proving itself to be of great value. The canal supply is being run exclusively to the north side, and the new pumping plant at Mr. Crowther's southeast corner will soon raise 300 inches daily for the Orangethorpe ditch. More water is being used this season than ever before in the history of the company, and no shortage is apprehended. Mr. Crowther is returning moneys collected to defray expenses of the barbecue, which he has had in his possession ten weeks, and later in the season will again take up the task of preparing the greatest barbecue at the reservoir ever attempted in the county.

Forest Fires

The attention of all persons who inhabit or frequent the forest or brush covered areas of California is called to the following provisions of the State Forest Laws relating to forest fires:

Under Statutes 1907, Chapter 536, it is a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $500, or imprisonment not less than fifteen days nor more than six months, or both, to commit any of the following acts:

1. To set fire on the lands of another, except camp fires, which may be built on unenclosed lands if the owner has not forbidden it in any way, and provided the builder totally extinguishes the fire before leaving it.
2. To allow fires, lawfully set, to escape from the control of the person having charge thereof, or to spread to the lands of another.
3. To build a fire anywhere (except camp fires and fires set to facilitate redwood logging) without first securing written permission from a state fire warden.
4. To use any engine or boiler, burning fuel other than oil, unless the engine or boiler is equipped with adequate devices to prevent the escape of fire from any part.
5. To refuse to obey the summons of any state fire warden to fight fire. (For this fine is not less than $10.)

The light rainfall of last winter and the long spring drought makes the danger of fire this summer particularly great. On that account every precaution to guard against it should be taken. Your cooperation is sought to this end. If you have evidence that the state forest laws have been violated, place it in the hands of your district attorney, at once, and notify me. All violations will be prosecuted whenever sufficient evidence to secure a conviction can be gathered.

Gypsy Moths

Boston, May 18.—In asking the Massachusetts legislature for $300,000 to cover the expense of warfare against gypsy brown tail moths, Archie H. Kirkland, state superintendent for the suppression of insect pests, said that over 80,000 parasites of the moths have been let loose from the experiment station at Melrose Highlands the past weeks and that 20,000 more will be ready for liberation soon.

This action is regarded as a most important step in the campaign of the United States department of agriculture and the state authorities against the destructive moths. Scientists say there is every reason to believe that in time these parasites will suppress the gypsy moth here as they have in Europe.

Locking Up vs. Over-Cutting

A stock objection of critics of our national forest policy has been that governmental bureaucrats and land-lords were "locking up" valuable resources in the national forests. Now comes from Denver another criticism which hardly consists with this. It is that the government is over-cutting; that forests are actually being destroyed; that those forests which were scarcely ever touched prior to the establishment of the forest reserves—those high upon the mountains—are now being lumbered by wholesale; and that the practice of making contracts which permit large areas to be denuded of choice, healthy timber, should be discontinued.

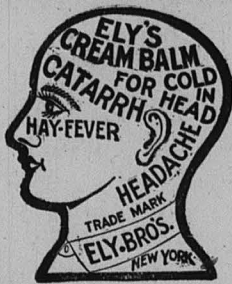

Just how the national forests can, at one and the same time, be locked up, and withheld from use, and destroyed, denuded of choice, healthy timber, and lumbered by wholesale, we are not informed.

The government in reply, states that the cutting is confined to mature and overmature trees; that immature trees are spared; that inferior trees are removed; that every effort is made to encourage the sale and use of dead timber that the green may be saved, and to find new uses for dead timber and inferior species; that, wherever timber sales are made, lumbermen who a few years ago cut stumps four or five feet high and utilized tops to 12-24 inches, now cut stumps to a maximum of 18 inches and utilize tops to 39 inches. Further, it is stated that the amount of timber which may be cut from any national forest in any one year is now definitely limited to an amount equal to that which the forest may be expected to produce within the same time. In a word, that the cut applies to the annual products only. If this representation is incorrect let the critics produce the facts of rebuttal.

CITY BOARD STANDS PAT

Fuhrberg's Liquor License Remains Revoked, and Marshal Saus Two Other Saloons will Get Their's, If they Don't Watch Out—Hahn Contests Election

The meeting of the city council on Thursday evening was one of the most interesting of the year. A large delegation of representative citizens, including the clergy, were present as spectators, but there was no speechifying. The people were doubtless attracted to the meeting by the fact that the new liquor and Sunday-closing ordinance was up for first reading, and wanted to hear its contents. The additional fact that Andy Fuhrberg was to apply for a reconsideration of the revocation of his saloon license was also another cause for bringing out the crowd.

Attorney Spencer, representing Fuhrberg, addressed the board in reference to the revoked license and asked that the action of the council revoking same be cancelled and that Mr. Fuhrberg be given another chance, for three months at most, as he intended anyway to sell out and quit the business. He characterized the action of the board in revoking the license, before giving the accused a hearing, as a sort of confiscation of his business. He maintained Mr. Fuhrberg was a law-abiding citizen, owning property here and was entitled to more time in disposing of his liquor interests.

Mr. Fuhrberg also addressed the board along similar lines, and further entered denial to the charges preferred against him by Marshal Steadman at the last board meeting.

Trustee Rust was in favor of giving Fuhrberg another chance.

Trustee Gates spoke upon the matter and wanted to grant Fuhrberg a thirty-day respite, in which to dispose of his business, but "not to try to peddle his license." Gates said emphatically any saloon keeper caught trying to barter his license for an excess value should have the same revoked forthwith.

Marshal Steadman arose to address the board and the spectators eagerly leaned forward to listen, for the meeting was growing in interest. Steadman spoke earnestly and said he stood ready to substantiate all he had said about Fuhrberg. He made damaging statements against Fuhrberg as a saloon keeper. He said he lost three saloon licenses in Los Angeles before coming here. Steadman averred Fuhrberg was not entitled "to 15 minutes more time" to close out his business than that already granted to him. Among other things, he accused Fuhrberg "of taking twenty dollars from Viet Bentz" when the latter was once in the saloon. He advised the board to take no action and leave the license stand revoked. Marshal Steadman averred in passing "that two other saloons will get their's, too, if they do not watch out."

Trustee Fiscus moved that no action be taken. He was backed up by Trustee Stock, and Fuhrberg will quit the saloon business here June first.

The Marshal reported the following collections: Water $638.60, license $563, light $669.90; total $1,871.50. Delinquents collected: Water $69.25, license $9, light $65.25; total $143.50. Delinquents reported: Water $76.80, license $8, light $71.75; total $156.55.

The Recorder reported two cases in his court during the month and fines collected amounting to $59.

The Treasurer reported a balance of $12,814.10 in the general fund on May 13th.

The Clerk's annual report from May 1, 1907, to May 1, 1908, was as follows:

Bond of Recorder Howard, with Messrs. Howard, Miller and Spake as sureties, in $500 each, was received and accepted.

Final report of Commissioners Schwenckert, Schneider and Nebelung, on opening of alley between Center and Chartres streets, from east line of Los Angeles street to Lemon street, was received and filed and the commissioners discharged.

Holidays Were Void

San Francisco, May 15.—According to a decision rendered by the supreme court today, the special holidays declared by Gov. Gillett last fall were not holidays at all, as the legislative act creating them was class legislation and consequently void.

The decision was rendered on the petition of M. H. Deppenbrook for a writ of prohibition to determine the validity of Section 135 of the Code of Civil Procedure, as amended November 27, 1907, when the special holiday legislation was enacted.

The original section declared the superior courts of the state should always be open (legal holidays and non-judicial holidays excepted), but injunctions and writs of prohibition could be issued and served on legal holidays and non-judicial holidays.

By the amendment to the original section, all court business except the enforcement of contracts involving the payment of money was permitted.

The supreme court holds that the exception is clearly class legislation, as all debtors were protected from suit at the will of the governor, and no situation could be extraordinary enough to justify such a course.

This decision of the supreme court makes all business of whatever nature carried on at that time perfectly legal, as the holidays had no existence in the eye of the law.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. ## DON'T TAKE ANY CHANCES

Go where living is a pleasure, labor is light and a good income assured. Beaumont offers the homeseeker the best opportunity he ever had to quickly acquire a competence. 4,200 acres in Beaumont, "The Garden Spot" of Riverside county, is now being rapidly taken by Homeseekers.

Here are a Quartet of Opportunities you will never equal

PLUM No. 1.—Beautiful Villa Ranch of 4.68 acres, corner Palm Ave. and 14th St., with a total street frontage of about 1000 feet, nearly 600 feet of which is on Palm Boulevard, 140 feet wide, lined with 20-year-old palm trees. Domestic and irrigation water under 80 pounds pressure at property line; unobstructed view of snow-capped mountains to north and south and buildings going up all around. Positively one of the finest homesites in Southern California, one that would cost a fortune in Pasadena or Los Angeles, whereas you can buy this now for $1170, one-fourth cash, balance two years. Don't let the sun go down on your intention to investigate this offer.

PLUM No. 2.—Here's another: 2.43 acres of rich grape land inside the townsite, a corner at the junction of two streets, with nearly 800 feet of frontage, equal to 12 full-sized lots. Price now only $218.70 and it takes but $35 to swing the deal, balance two years at 4 per cent. Buying this land gives you the same chance for profit as acreage buyers had in Riverside and Redlands 15 years ago.

PLUM No. 3.—Bee ranches, apple raisers or poultry men, take notice—This is your opportunity: 20 acres in foothills, sloping gently to the south, giving best exposure, most healthful environment and grand scenic view of mountains, soil deep, rich and productive, with spring on land; $50 an acre takes this land and the land will pay for itself after the initial payment of one-quarter cash.

PLUM No. 4.—$500 buys one of the best blocks of apple land in Beaumont, containing 7.36 acres, soil fertile, deep, mellow and productive, with water about 30 feet from the surface so the roots of the trees can go down to drink; minimizing the cost of irrigation and insuring thrifty trees. But best of all, this land is right in the townsite, less than half a mile from the depot and has streets on three sides, giving an aggregate frontage of 1182 feet, making the cost per front foot less than 50c for a depth of 200 to 300 feet. Quick action will get it, for others know about it. $145 cash, balance in two years, takes this plum. Above offers are subject to prior sale—first come first choice.

Establish Your Independence at Beaumont

Why work yourself to death trying to make a living? Go to Beaumont and get a ranch where the soil is fertile, water is king, the climate superb and the future assured. Remember, land is the basis of wealth. It is getting scarcer all the time and consequently prices are going up.

Be in mind that early buyers in Beaumont participated in all the advantages and profits that follow the building of a new city. Dollars invested there now will do the same duty and produce the same immense results as in Los Angeles ten years ago.

Our acreage in Beaumont is right on the Southern Pacific main line within fifteen minutes' walk of the business center, the schools and churches. This means that ranchers will come in for city property, just as in Riverside and Redlands, making their owners wealthy.

Now when you know that $200,000 worth of Beaumont property has been sold in eight months; that the population has increased 25 per cent in three months; that 800 actual homeseekers have purchased land; that 63 buildings have been erected in ninety days; that gas mains are being laid in the streets, a bank organized to open its doors very soon, and $86,000 of new business and residence structures going up, then you will realize how rapidly Beaumont is growing into a city and how important it is for you to investigate Beaumont first before wasting time in traveling to less favored localities.

Be you homeseeker, health-seeker, rancher, farmer, fruit raiser, poultryman, or if you want a business opening, a job or an investment, Beaumont is your Mecca.

Every claim made for Beaumont is substantiated and face to face proofs of its irresistible progress and wonderful building activity are furnished at our stereopticon lectures, held twice daily, at 2:30 and 8 p.m. in our own lecture hall, 544 South Broadway, Los Angeles. Come and see and hear the whole story—it will be an eye-opener to you.

Remember, we give away a complimentary round trip to Beaumont, including dinner, railroad fare and auto rides, on Tuesday and Friday nights of each week at the close of the lecture. Coupons entitling you to participate in the distribution of these free trips are given away at all lectures, so come sure.

Our homeseekers' excursions to Beaumont are run every Sunday and Thursday and include a 162-mile railroad ride, dinner at Edinburgh Hotel, a five-hour carriage ride over the lands and return in observation car—all done in a day, reaching home at 7 p.m. Over 7000 persons have made the trip. Go on our next excursion, tickets at lectures or by mail. Trains stop at Delgeville, Alhambra, Pomona, Ontario, Colton and Redlands Junction to take on excursionists.

Send this to some friend who wants a home in Southern California.

Cut out and mail this coupon.

Minutes of Water Board

Anaheim, Cal., May 16, '08.

The regular meeting of the board of directors was held with a full board present.

The minutes of the adjourned regular meeting of April 29 and the regular meeting of May 2 with the adjourned meeting on May 5 were read and approved.

The ditch committee reported that from a conversation with the representatives of the Santa Fe the said company is willing to pay one-half the expense of cementing the Cajon canal for a distance of a mile, more or less, at Horse Shoe Bend.

Moved by Director Hale seconded by McLauchlin that the engineer be instructed to make plans and an estimate of cost of cementing the Cajon canal at Horse Shoe Bend between our present cement ditch and the new work now being put in by the railway company. Carried.

Director McLauchlin reported that this company does not own a right of way through the Enearl property where a cement pipe has been requested.

Director Bradford reported that the north well of pumping plant No. 1 has been investigated and that it needs to be recut, and that it has been ordered done.

A communication from J. E. Walker et al asked that a pipe line of about 660 feet in length be put in between the Walker and the Gregory properties. The petitioners agreed to pay one-half the cost. The matter was referred to the ditch committee to report at next meeting.

A communication from J. A. Smith referred to 60 feet of pipe line on his ranch which is too high. Referred to Director Bradford.

Louis W. Bushard appeared before the board and called attention to the fact that the A. U. W. Co. by not beginning the erection of an office upon the lot donated by Anaheim has forfeited its claims upon the said lot. He offered to extend the period for beginning the said work until Jan. 1, 1909 and presented a new agreement covering the same, and also a form of guarantee to show that the A. U. W. Co. is acting in good faith in the matter.

On motion of Director McLauchlin, seconded by Director Bradford, the president and secretary were authorized to sign the guarantee on behalf of the company.

Moved by Director McLauchlin, seconded by Director Drake, that the president and secretary be and they are hereby instructed to sign the new contract with Bushard, on behalf of this company. Carried.

A communication from F. H. Bixby asked the privilege of taking his allotted 100 inches of water from the Cajon canal at a different point from that heretofore used.

The secretary was instructed to write Mr. Bixby that the board does not desire to deviate from the terms of the contract.

The matter of the purchasing of a belt for pumping plant No. 2 was referred to Director Sherwood with power.

The president and secretary were authorized to issue a warrant for $250 in favor of the Byron Jackson Machine Works upon the arrival of the pump and also a check for $1000 in favor of the Edison Electric Co. on June 1.

A petition from Chas. Gleese and W. J. Connor asking for a gate was referred to the ditch committee with power to act.

Transfers of stock were granted.

On motion the meeting adjourned. P. H. KRICK, Sec'y.

Jury Stood 6 to 6

Rafael Borrego had a 6-to-6 jury in the superior court last week, at his second trial on a charge of manslaughter, for killing Juan Oroscio at Los Alamitos August 26th last. The jury were out 12 hours, and were discharged at 2 o'clock on Saturday morning. District Attorney Davis says Borrego will be tried again. The cholo was tried and found guilty of manslaughter some months ago and sentenced to ten years in state prison. He was never taken north, as his attorney filed papers on appeal and the accused could not be taken north before service of the papers. In the trial last week witnesses testified to Oroscio's killing of four men, and that Borrego shot in self-defense. This evidence was not brought out at the first trial. The killing came as the result of the ejection of Borrego by Oroscio from a baile at Los Alamitos, at which Oroscio appeared to be master of ceremonies.
