ANAHEIM CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 29, 1914

NUMBER 18

HEAVIEST RAINS IN SCORE OF YEARS

NEARLY FIVE AND ONE-HALF INCH
PRECIPITATION IN THREE DAYS' STORM

GREATEST STORM THROUGHOUT THE STATE RECORDED FOR HALF A CENTURY

Five and forty-two hundredths inches of water was Anaheim's record, according to H. A. Dickel's gauge, for the storm which began Saturday morning and ended with the dawn Tuesday morning. The entire Southland was drenched as it seldom has been drenched before, the rivers and creeks were swollen to the overflowing point, bridges and culverts were swept away, railroad traffic interfered with, many trains being delayed for many hours and a toll of several lives lost was part of the record made by the storm.

Not since 1895 has anything approximating the fall to this date been experienced. In that year the precipitation to January 11 was 11.90 but no further rain fell in January. At 7 o'clock Tuesday morning 12.70 inches had been recorded for this season. The heaviest downpour occurred for half an hour Monday night. Almost an inch and a quarter was recorded by the gauge for the night's storm.

The storm was general throughout the state and it was declared by Weather Forecaster Wilson of San Francisco to be the heaviest experienced in California for half a century.

From all sections of the county and the Southland came reports of damage by overflowing streams, inundations of ranch lands and destruction of bridges. Seven persons are reported drowned in various sections. The only person in this section who lost his life was Frank Rios. He lived alone in a small shack near E. H. Adams' ranch at Villa Park. The shack was situated in the creek bed, though not in the main channel. Monday morning people at the Adams ranch saw smoke coming from the Mexican's cabin. Later, after the creek had risen rapidly, the shack was surrounded by water, and it went down. Nothing was seen of Rios at any time. W. W. Perkins made his way to the shack in the afternoon and discovered the body. Coroner Winbiger was called. Rios was about 60 years old.

Anaheim for a time Tuesday was cut off from communication with Los Angeles by way of the Santa Fe. The bridge at Riveria was washed out. The Southern Pacific also lost a bridge at Downey and on Monday ran some of its trains over the Santa Fe's tracks. At San Juan Capistrano a long stretch of track was washed out.

Much anxiety was caused along the streams by the destruction of a powder house on the banks of the Santa Ana river near Orange, which contained 16 kegs of dynamite. A warning was sent down the streams and, although some of the kegs were seen to bump into bridge piers there was no explosion reported and they were probably swept into the ocean without doing any damage.

It was reported Monday night that the Olive bridge was in danger of being washed away and a number of people were rejoicing, hoping the report might be true. The bridge across Santiago creek near Santa Ana was swept away and it was feared that other bridges in the county were in danger.

The Santa Ana river was patrolled by watchmen Monday as alarming reports were received.

The Newberry Protection District got out a number of men to patrol the banks of the river from West Orange downward, and so far all reports indicate that the inner channel is carrying the flood well, with the wider channel still untouched.

The Santiago creek sent a big volume of water into the river at the junction at the Maybury ranch, but in the afternoon that volume was greatly reduced. The creek went down fully five feet since 10:30 in the morning.

There was considerable danger that the partially built concrete road bridge on the Talbert road south of the P. E. bridge would be demolished. Forty men were at work keeping the structure clear of debris.

The county's rock crusher at McPherson was surrounded by water Monday. A section of sidewalk that ran from the S. P. to the crusher went out, and knocked down the piling under the S. P. bridge of the Tustin branch. It will be several days before the damage can be repaired. One car of oranges is at Tustin and two are at McPherson that cannot be sent out until the bridge is repaired.

The foothill country suffered heavily from flood, the water pouring down the mountain sides. At Claremont Thompson creek brought an immense volume of water from the mountains, and Garey avenue was washed out on both sides of the bridge north of the Foothill boulevard between that point and the concrete bridge on the Foothill boulevard. Thompson creek for 15 years has been curbed with heavy planking which has withstood every storm, but this planking was all washed away and floods appear on both sides into the adjacent orchard. Mr. Rosa losing over 110 orange trees and the adjacent orchard suffering almost as badly. The Live Oak Canyon stream overflowed its banks and cut a new channel through Fender's orchard, taking 20 orange trees with it in

BOARD OF TRADE CHOOSES NEW OFFICERS

J. W. DUCKWORTH IS ELECTED
PRESIDENT AND EARL ABBEY
SECRETARY

ASSOCIATED CHAMBERS MEETING
POSTPONED-UNTIL WEDNESDAY
EVENING, FEBRUARY 11

Many questions of moment were considered by the Board of Trade at its regular meeting Monday night, but before reverting to business the board received the report of the special committee appointed to select a president and secretary to serve for the ensuing year. C. F. Grim, who was elected president, and J. Frederick Ahlborn, re-elected secretary, both declined the honor, and the board, after several minutes' discussion, elected J. W. Duckworth as president and Earl Abbey as secretary. Both nominations were unanimously endorsed by the members.

There is little hope that the Orange County Preserving Company's plant, which was recently destroyed by fire, will be rebuilt here as the company is figuring on locating farther north, but an effort will be made by the board to induce the owners to rebuild. Mr. Eyagbrood suggested that as other localities in the citrus region, especially in Florida, were transforming the orange culture into profitable commercial products, the same could be accomplished here. His suggestion was approved and Chairman Mills appointed chairman of a committee with power to select two associates to present a proposition to Messrs. Taylor & Herman, owners of the burned plant, and endeavor to establish a cannery that would not only preserve vegetables and fruit but utilize the culls of oranges and manufacture marmalades and other delicacies from them.

Chairman Mills reported that owing to the inclemency of the weather and the prospect that it would continue to be inclement, the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce and the accompanying banquet would be postponed two weeks and would be held on Wednesday, February 11. Messrs. Abbey, Todd and Inskeep were appointed a committee to sell meal tickets for the banquet.

S. W. Todd, of the entertainment committee, reported that the recent annual banquet was a losing proposition inasmuch as the expenses of the affair were $17.75 greater than the receipts. On motion the board directed the treasurer to pay the deficit from the funds in the treasury.

Mr. Mills made an explanation relative to the recent proposition of Los Angeles people to establish an ice plant in Anaheim which shed new light on the subject. The bonding company which is promulgating the scheme, he said, proposes to put $10,000 into the plant provided Anaheim stockholders will raise $15,000. The bonding company represents the Federal Ice and Cold Storage Company of Los Angeles, which is endeavoring to build plants in various cities of the Southland. The company's proposition is to have three of its members on the board of directors. Each plant established will have two members on the board and the interests of all the factories will be pooled. No action was taken further than to continue the committee having the matter in charge.

A communication from the National Orange Show at San Bernardino was received requesting an exhibit of Anaheim products at that display. It was voted that Charles Eyagbrood, who was chairman of the Orange county committee having charge of this county's display at the recent Pasadena show, communicate with Messrs. Finley and S. A. and Robertson of Fullerton, the other members of the committee and endeavor to have the mammoth orange which attracted so much attention at Pasadena transported to San Bernardino to form the nucleus of an Orange county display. The Anaheim Fruit Association and the Anaheim Orange Growers' Association will also be requested to make an exhibit at this show.

The address of G. W. Sandilands at the annual banquet of the Board of Trade recently on the subject of the "Frostless Belt," contained so much valuable information on this subject that the board voted to request him to prepare the copy for a pamphlet on that subject which will be printed and circulated where it will do the most good.

F. C. Krause made a recommendation that the trustees be requested to purchase an automobile for the use of the police department, especially the marshal who frequently was delayed in getting to some point where he was needed because he could not find a vehicle to convey him there. The proposition met with the approval of the board and a committee consisting of Krause, Adams and Swope was appointed to present the matter to the trustees.

Cleanliness and sanitation were subjects discussed at considerable length by the members of the board and it was voted to request the trustees to purchase an incinerator for taking care of the garbage, also to pass an ordinance condemning and eliminating from the main business streets all livery stables. Our present system of disposing of garbage is a menace to health, especially in warm weather and it was decided to present the matter to the health officer and through him attack the trustees. Messrs. Abbey, Ahlborn and Quanton were appointed on the committee to submit the question to them.

Miss Cecile Edwards of Seal Beach, has been spending a week with Mr. C. H. Fisher.

FLAMES WRECK COFFMAN'S POOL HALL

EXPLOSION OF GASOLINE GENER-
ATOR CAUSES FIRE WHICH EN-TIRELY DESTROYS PLACE

RALPH DONNELLY IS INJURED
BY LEAPING FROM WINDOW OF UPPER STORY

Ralph Donnelly is in the Sanitarium suffering from many contusions and a serious shock caused by jumping from the window of Mrs. Morgan's apartment house in the upper story of the Casson building on center street, between Los Angeles and Lemon, Sunday morning to escape death from flames or asphyxiation by smoke. His injuries are not considered serious although it is not yet determined whether or not he received any internal hurts.

The fire originated in the pool room of R. E. Coffman, who occupies one of the rooms on the ground floor of the Casson building. This is an adobe building, one of the oldest business blocks in town, and is occupied by the pool room, the Favorite cafe and Wilson's bakery. In the upper story City Attorney Ames has his offices in addition to the rooming apartments of Mrs. Morgan. The blaze was caused by the explosion of a gasoline generator used for the purpose of furnishing light for the room. There was in the neighborhood of five gallons of gasoline in the tank Sunday morning when suddenly, without warning, it exploded and in an instant the rear of the room was a mass of flames. Several people were in the place at the time and they barely had time to escape before the entire room was enveloped. The cash register and the cigar case was snatched up and carried out and this was all that was saved.

The fire department was on the ground before the fire ceased toellow. One hose was passed through the Wilson bakery and played on the rear while the other poured a stream into the front. The fire was conquered before getting beyond that section of the building but the room was a complete wreck. Everything in it was entirely destroyed. The four pool tables were wrecked and the furniture burned to ashes, the walls, floor and ceiling being charred.

Mr. Coffman has owned the pool room only a month, having purchased it from Pat Gregg. He estimates his loss at between $2,500 and $3,000, with an insurance of only $1,000.

The Favorite cafe recently purchased by E. Huenebeyer, who had not yet opened it for business, was damaged to a small extent, and the Wilson bakery sustained slight damage. The loss on the buildings is considerable as the roof is completely destroyed and the walls and floor charred.

The passage way in the upper story of the building circles around three sides of the offices and apartments of the rooming house before reaching the street. It is on a level with the roof of the pool hall and two young men who had not yet left their rooms groped their way through the dense smoke and heat and reached the stairway without damage except such as was caused by the falling of the Stanley awake and attempted to make the passage the flames had broken through the roof of the pool hall and cut off retreat by way of the stairway. Finding he could not make the passage for himself he called for help. He appeared to be panic-stricken and instead of raising the lower sash of the window and dropping down the few feet from the coping he lowered the upper sash, climbed over and jumped backward to the sidewalk, a distance of 15 feet, landing on his back. He was picked up in a helpless condition, placed in an automobile and hurried to the hospital. It was thought that his back was broken but a thorough examination revealed that his injuries were not of a serious nature unless it develops that he received internal damage that is not yet apparent.

Stanley is a stranger, having arrived in Anaheim only the previous evening. He secured a room at Mrs. Morgan's, and Sunday was his first day in this city.

As Donnelly was without money and could give no friends to guarantee expenses the Sanitarium phoned to the county health officer and asked for an O. K. as to the fees which naturally would accumulate in such a case. The health officer in response thereto sent an automobile over and removed him to the county hospital where he now is as a ward of the county. His injuries which were at first supposed to be serious, including a fractured spine, proved to be of minor importance and his stay in the hospital will not be of long duration.

His jump from the window was unnecessary as the upper story of the building was not damaged by the fire, but he became panic-stricken and leaped out backward.

The damage to the building will probably exceed a thousand dollars, but it is covered by insurance.

SOUTH LEMON ST. CONTRACT IS LET

L. A. PAVING COMPANY LANDS
THE JOB AT 14.75
PER FOOT

IS ONE AND ONE-FOURTH CENTS

As a result of the second competition on Lemon street paving, property owners on that thoroughfare will have the work done at approximately $3,000 below the previous contract. On November 13th the contract for paving the entire length of the street was let to the L. A. Paving Company at 16 cents per square foot. Before beginning the work Mr. Werdlin's attorneys discovered a flaw in the records of the official grade, the block on North Lemon between Alberta and Sycamore not having been embodied in the ordinance establishing the grade. The block had been graded and the curbing laid but by an oversight the description had been omitted from the ordinance. As this constituted a fatal flaw and gave the opponents an opportunity to have the contract declared invalid, it was cancelled and bids re-advertised for.

Only the South Lemon street contract was let Thursday night. The total frontage in lineal feet covered by the bid is 8,297. The pavement will be 31½ feet wide which makes an aggregate of 132,252 square feet to be paved. At one and one-fourth cents below the previous contract this means a saving to the property owners of $1,658. The error in the former proceedings and abrogation of the contract, was a profitable one to the persons who pay for the work.

Four bids were submitted for the work as follows:

L. A. Paving Company.....	14.75
Max L. Huberman.....	15.70
Fairchild-Gilmore-Witt Co., Inc.....	16.00
O. & C. Construction Co., Inc.....	17.30

The bid of E. R. Werdlin of the L. A. Paving Company was then accepted and the contract awarded to him by resolution. Mr. Werdlin's bid was in the neighborhood of $1,300 below that of Max Huberman, the next lowest, and $3,800 lower than the O. & C. Construction Company.

City Engineer Steward's map and specifications relative to paving the block on Claudia street between Broadway and Santa Ana were presented and a resolution of intention introduced. It was about to be adopted and bids for contract called for but Trustee Hamler put a spoke in the wheel by suggesting that all the streets under consideration for paving be taken up at the next meeting and all contracts let at the same time. He argued that by letting all the jobs at once a much cheaper figure could be secured. North Lemon, Claudia, Broadway, Lincoln avenue and Philadelphia are on the list. As it appeared doubtful that Mr. Steward and City Attorney Ames could prepare the necessary maps and documents for completing the preparations for Broadway and Lincoln avenue action on those thoroughfares was deferred, but at the next meeting bids for paving North Lemon, Claudia and Philadelphia will be called for. It will be necessary to make a separate contract for each street but it is probable that fewer bids can be secured by bunching them and letting all the contracts at once. Broadway and Lincoln avenue will be taken up later.

Only one bid was received for lowering a well pit at the power house. This was presented by Klein, Archer & Alexander, and the price asked was $37 per foot. The board considered the figure exorbitant and rejected it.

The question of ornamental street lights was presented to the board by petition signed by 29 property owners on Center and Los Angeles streets. The petition asked that the trustees purchase the posts, the property owners agreeing to pay for the installation. The post selected costs $45 and it will require sixty to cover the streets it is proposed to light. Eight blocks are in the designated territory reaching from Philadelphia to Clementine on Center and from Cypress to Broadway on Los Angeles. The petition requested that all poles be taken down and telephone and electric light wires be placed underground. As this means the abrogation of a franchise the question was turned over to the committee on public improvements which will make an effort to get the consent of the telephone company to remove its poles. The lights will cost $1.00 per front foot, the city's part of it being 45 cents and the property owners standing 55 per cent. Eight blocks will be included in this territory.

In presenting the petition of the property owners Secretary Ahlborn of the Board of Trade, submitted the sentiments of the petitioners in the following letter:

January 22, 1914.
The Honorable Board of Trustees,
City of Anaheim, Cal.

Gentlemen: I take pleasure in presenting to you for your consideration a petition asking your honorable body to install certain ornamental lighting posts. This matter is already known to you, only I wish to explain in addition to the petition, that the territory described in the petition is insufficient in scope.

As you can readily see by the frontage signed up for these posts, it extends now from west line of Philadelphia street to the east line of Clementine street on Center street. On Los Angeles street from the south line of Cypress street to the north line of Broadway street.

This covers a territory of eight blocks on Center and Los Angeles street instead of four blocks as originally proposed. In view of this, I would respectfully request your honorable body to extend the territory to eight blocks as petitioned by those owning frontage in the above described eight blocks.

Very respectfully submitted,
J. FREDERICK AHLBORN,
Secretary ad interim.

The committee on public improvements consists of Trustees Stark, Hamler and Gates.

Building permits were granted to the following persons:

To Mrs. R. Macari, frame building on South Palm street; cost $150.

To E. M. Schlotter, frame dwelling on Sycamore street; cost $500.

To R. Figueroa, frame addition on East Cypress; cost $90.

To James Watter, frame building on Bush street; cost $200.

A contract was entered into between the trustees and J. S. Rockwell relative to his proposed lease of the sewer farm. Mr. Rockwell found several paragraphs in the lease which, he thought, gave him the worst end of the bargain, or at least gave the board the right to demand impossible things of him. One was the section requiring him to keep the five-acre orange grove thoroughly irrigated. He wanted to know if he was expected to pay for water provided the sewage proved inadequate. On being informed that there was no danger from that source as the flow would never be less than the present and would constantly increase, he dropped that point. Several other items in the contract were questioned by him but they were all satisfactorily explained he signed the contract.

Mr. Rockwell gets the use of the sewer farm and all surplus water from the tank in exchange for his services in irrigating and maintaining and keeping up the five acres of orange trees which the city purposes to maintain on the farm.

The bond of Edgar J. Hartung for $25,000 as treasurer of the City of Anaheim, filed with John Hartung and Frank Shanley as sureties. It was accepted and the retiring treasurer, John Hartung, filed a statement showing a balance of $27,790.70 turned over to his successor.

E. R. Werdlin notified the board that if given permission to do so he would dig a pit on the city's dump ground east of town and use the gravel in his Lemon street paving job. He was granted the permission with alacrity and told to dig it as deep and as large as he pleased. It will be used as a catch-all for the refuse of Anaheim. Marshal Kellenberger was also authorized to plant two rows of eucalyptus trees around the dump, the trees to be planted close together, in order to prevent persons from unloading their debris in the street.

YORBA LINDANS SEEK TO CANCEL BONDS

Suit Brought in Los Angeles Court Affirming Legality of Securities

Yorba Linda water users have brought an action in the Los Angeles superior court against Jacob Stern, Herman W. Frank, M. N. Newman, Peter Janss, the Janss Investment Company, the Stern Realty Company and the Yorba Linda Water Company to cancel $175,000 bonds and to recover $15,000, alleged to represent interest paid on bonds.

The Yorba Linda Water Company issued the bonds in 1911 to the Janss Investment Company to reimburse it for the water system which irrigates the Yorba Linda tract. It is contended, however, that the buyers of the bonds in the tract had already paid the Janss company at the rate of $50 an acre, and suit is brought on that ground.

This is a companion suit to the one brought in Orange county. The action here involves water rights and remedial measures necessary under the contracts of the property owners with the promoters. The action to annul the bonds was brought in Los Angeles county because the principal place of business of the Yorba Linda Water Company is in that city.

In the action it is alleged that the bonds were issued without any compensation whatever being received by the water company.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE PASSED UP BY BOARD

Orange County Supervisors Look Unfavorably Upon New Measure

The Board of Supervisors on Wednesday last listened to a letter which District Attorney West received from the Superintendent of the State Insurance Commission, which referred to the rates charged the county for insurance of the people employed by the county in any capacity whatever.

Some of these rates seemed to be very high, and according to Chairman Talbert it would be cheaper for the county to stand the payment of a few losses than to pay the rates. The general impression of the board as a whole seemed to be that the county could not afford to pay for the insurance on its employees such rates as the ones called for by the state.

The figures were from $12.50 per one hundred dollars of pay roll, on men working under ground, and not using high explosives, down to 11 cents per hundred dollars for employees doing clerical work.

That means that if two men draw $50 each on the pay roll, it would cost the county $12.50 per annum to insure them, if the men worked at the rough labor described. But if they labored in an office, an received the same amount of compensation, the cost to the county would be but 11 cents per annum.

It is said that it will cost Los Angeles county more than one hundred thousand dollars to insure its employees. Some of the supervisors made a rough estimate and came to the conclusion that it would cost Orange county at least $50,000 to insure its employees at this time when so many men are employed on the roads.

Be it further

"Resolved, That those in charge of the general and county headquarters shall in no way conflict with the work of either the state or county central committees, but will co-operate and work in harmony with them whenever and wherever possible."

GOVERNMENT AID TO ROAD CONSTRUCTION

A supplemental report on the bill to appropriate $25,000,000 a year for Federal aid to road construction in the various states was filed in the house by Representative Shackelford, chairman of the House Rules Committee. A special rule, making this bill in order as an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill now before the house, probably will be acted upon today by the Rules Committee.

The bill proposes to divide the appropriation among the states in proportion to the rural delivery routes and post roads in each state. Tables setting forth the mileage of these roads in each state were included in the report filed yesterday.

Another table shows the maximum amount of Federal aid each state might receive under the provision of the bill. A table has been prepared, and this table would allow to California a maximum of $503,750. Illinois would receive $1,501,250.

BUSINESS AT FULLERTON

The business at the Fullerton depot for the year 1913 shows a big increase over the year 1912, notwithstanding there was about 15 per cent shortage in orange shipments. The increase is largely in passenger traffic.

For the year 1912, the local ticket sales footed up $25,110 and for coupon, or overland tickets, $15,084.

For the year 1913, the local ticket sales were $38,843 and the coupon ticket sales $20,370, making an increase in local sales of $3,533 and the increase on coupon sales $5,285, which is considered a good showing for the local depot. There was also an increase in freight tonnage handled.

During the year 921 carloads of products were shipped from the Fullerton station and 1,684 carloads of merchandise, etc., were received.

Manager E. C. Miles of the Fullerton Mutual Orange Growers' Association reports that his company received $123 net on fancy Christmas fruit and $103 net on choice Christmas fruit. He reports that the growers are well satisfied with the results.

Felix Yriarte is in San Diego county and will make many improvements on the property purchased there some time ago.

The Union Oil Company is building new rigs and will at once commence three new wells, 16, 17 and 19, on the Graham and Loftus leases. The company is now setting the boilers. No. 14 on this company's lease is down about 2,500 feet and will be completed in three weeks. It is believed the new well will produce between 300 and 400 barrels daily.

The Amalgamated Oil Company has just made a report to the water company showing that 71,713 barrels of oil were shipped during December and that 8,797 barrels of royalty oil were delivered to the oil company, leaving on hand 16,593 barrels.

UNCLE SAM STILL OWNS SOME LAND

More Than Twenty Thousand Acres For Settlement in Orange County

Nearly 8,000,000 acres of government land in the Los Angeles Land Office district, comprising nine counties of Southern California, remain open to entry under the federal land laws, according to the annual report of the commissioner of the general land office, which was received in Los Angeles recently. Of this great area more than one-third lies in San Bernardino county, with a large proportion in Riverside county.

The report shows that the unappropriated and unreserved territory measures 7,891,790 acres, of which 5,670,356 acres have been surveyed and are now ready for occupancy. The following table shows by counties the amount of public land still open to entry:

County	Acres
Imperial	75,212
Kern	76,503
Los Angeles	584,791
Orange	20,218
Riverside	1,192,408
San Bernardino	2,827,233
San Diego	888,546
Santa Barbara	35,599
Santa Clara	42,820
Ventura	54,610
Total	5,670,356

Great activity among land claimants during the last fiscal year is shown in the statistical record of the homestead and desert entries in the district. More claims were instituted and more territory was appropriated than in any previous year. Applications and entries were made to the extent of 3,272, and 54,709,224 acres were taken possession of through legal entry.

Final proof was made on 68,344.43 acres, and 56,422.06 acres were patented. The year's business proved lucrative. Fees to the amount of $22,023.27 were collected, which, with purchase money aggregating $134,434.20, brought the total revenues of the local land office up to $156,457.47, exclusive of moneys paid in the acquisition of Indian lands. These amounted to $2,299.87, making the aggregate receipts $158,157.60.

Costs of operation totaled $13,997.70, including the salaries of Register Buren and Receiver Robinson.

OIL REPLACES COAL

On the Pacific Coast coal is now used practically for household purposes only, and the consumption of coal in 1913 was about the same as in 1912. In the San Francisco market the use of fuel oil for generating steam has displaced that of coal. The only coal used for steam is that taken by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and the Japanese Steamship Company for their vessels to the Orient, while fuel oil is used almost to the entire exclusion of coal on Puget Sound and on the railroads of Oregon and Washington.

The coal trade of San Francisco has been largely supplied by British Columbia, but on May 1, 1913, a strike was begun at the British Columbia mines and all shipments to the San Francisco market ceased. On account of this strike rail shipments of coal from Utah, Wyoming and New Mexico were considerably increased, and some shipments were made by water from Puget Sound, Australia and Japan.

The production of petroleum in California in 1913 is estimated at 96,000,000 gallons, or 2,000,000 barrels. Part of the output finds its way to households where gas manufactured from oil is used for cooking. At the close of 1913 the price of oil to consumers and steam plants at San Francisco was 60 to 70 cents a barrel, which is equal to the price, per ton ($25 to $25.50) for Pocahontas or Cardiff coal.

A walnut put an end to an elopement at Santa Ana Thursday just as the elopers reached the court house. An automobile drove up to the curb, and the girl stepped out upon a stray walnut. The walnut rolled, and the girl fell. Her ankle was badly sprained. The young man picked her up, and put her in the seat of the machine. She insisted on going straight home. "I know it is a judgment sent on me for running away to get married," wept the girl. At attempt was made by a bystander to get the names of the couple, but he failed.

REPUBLICANS LEADING IN THE STATE

HEAVY GAINS IN REGISTRATION THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE COMMONWEALTH

PROGRESSIVES LOSING GROUND IN EVERY COUNTY, ACCORDING TO RETURNS.

Reports from registration offices of 17 of the larger cities of the state indicate that before the first month of registration has passed, Republican registration in the large centers of population will exceed the combined registration of Democrats and Progressives.

The middle of this month found the total figures in the cities as follows: Republican, 25,844; Progressive, 17,068; Democratic, 11,840. At that time the Republican registration was but 2,864 short of equalling the combined Progressive and Democratic registration and reports were generally to the effect that the Republican gain was steady, even in Alameda county, the stronghold of the Bull Moose.

The Los Angeles figures for the first half month of registration upset all political calculations. At that time the Republican registration was already in excess of the combined Progressive and Democratic registration. The figures were: Republican 8,962; Progressive, 4,673; Democratic, 4,080.

The Democrats were leading the Progressives in San Diego county, with Republicans in advance by thousands. Thirty-two hundred fifty-four Republicans had registered, against 699 Progressives and 1,314 Democrats.

The figures in San Jose were: Republican, 1,168; Progressive, 543; Democratic, 404. Stockton showed Republican registration far in the lead with 803 registrations against 191 Progressive and 568 Democratic registration. Only 50 voters had registered as Progressives at Hanford, while 181 registered as Republican, and 70 as Democratic.

That Republican sentiment is overwhelmingly progressive is plainly shown by the volume and tone of the letters being received daily at the Republican progressive reorganization headquarters here.

McDONALD-KEY NUPTIALS

A quiet wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. B. Key, of Placentia, Wednesday, January 21st, when their daughter, Miss Sarah Elizabeth Key, became the bride of J. C. McDonald, the Rev. W. E. Sloan, officiating.

The home was very artistically decorated. The library, where the ceremony was performed being turned into a veritable garden of pale yellow acacia blooms, ferns and palms. The dining room, where light refreshments were served, was decorated with orange blossoms, violets and foliage.

At 4 o'clock the soft strains of the wedding march were heard, and soon the bride party entered. The dainty little flower girls, bearing the Virginia May Wright, led the way, followed by the bride's sister, Mrs. John Sprague. Then came the bride, looking very lovely in her beautiful white satin gown and filmy veil.

All through the ceremony and during the reception music was rendered by Miss Morgan, violinist, and her accompanist.

Only immediate relatives were present. After a short honeymoon the young couple will be home to their numerous friends at their new bungalow in Placentia.

RADIUM SURE CURE

Radium was described to the House Committee on Mines at Washington as the only cure the medical world has discovered for cancer—the disease for which no cause has been found and which the experts believe is the most insidious of all diseases, one that attacks the body without warning and that governs human tissues. The witnesses were Dr. Howard Kelly of Baltimore, Dr. Robert Abbe of New York, Director Gaylord of the New York State Institution for the Study of Malignant Diseases and Dr. C. P. Burnham of Johns Hopkins University.

All the doctors agreed that the crying need in their work was more radium, of which there is less than two grams in reduced form now in the United States. Discussing the case of Representative Brenner of New Jersey, who is undergoing radium treatment in Baltimore, Dr. Kelly declared he felt certain a cure could be effected if more radium were available, and as it was the patient showed encouraging symptoms and he was not hopeless. He said no arrangement for concentrating the radium supply for such an emergency could be made in justice to thousands of other patients.

Dr. Kelly added that his associates were at work to discover a process for the reduction of radium from the ores of Colorado. But one concern now furnished radium to the medical profession, he said, and its formula for reduction is held secret. The committee will meet again Wednesday.

BANTAM SHOW

The first bantam and aviary show ever held in California was given under the management of the Orange County Bantam and Aviary Club at Santa Ana last week. About 400 bantams, canaries, parrots, pigeons, finches and other birds were put on exhibition. Birds were received from various parts of the state. Sixty-four bantams were sent by a fancier of Cincinnati, O., and four bantams by a New Jersey fancier.

The plumage of the birds is in perfect condition, and the judges found the birds scoring high. The show is to continue until Saturday night. The club in giving this unusual exhibition had subscriptions from the city trustees, and the board of supervisors.

CALIFORNIA OIL FOR FOREIGN PORTS

Line of Steamers Running Between San Pedro and European Cities

An epoch in the exportation of oil from Southern California, which undoubtedly will grow to great proportions, was marked by the arrival of the new British tank steamer De Sabla on her maiden voyage from Newcastle-on-Tyne. The De Sabla is the first of a fleet of four great tank steamers to arrive on the Pacific coast and which will make San Pedro harbor their home port.

The four tankers will carry California oil to the four corners of the earth for the General Petroleum Company. All are named after directors of the company. The Barneson has just been completed and the Sloss and Colgate are now being built. All the tankers are designed on the same lines. The De Sabla is 460 feet in length and has a capacity of 60,000 barrels of oil. She will discharge a surplus of bunker coal here and load oil, either here or at Port Said, for European ports.

About four days will first be required to install oil burners under her boilers.

While the General Petroleum Company has shipped a few cargoes of oil off shore in vessels chartered from the Union Oil Company, and done considerable coastwise business, the service of its own tankers and the advent of the company as a factor in the world's distribution of oil will be marked by the arrival of the De Sabla.

Andrew Weir, the London shipowner, and R. Tilden Smith, who represent the English group of capitalists who are financing the General Petroleum Company, are expected in San Pedro soon to inspect the new steamer. They will return to Los Angeles from San Francisco, where the General Petroleum Company was reorganized.

While Weir and Smith were unsuccessful in negotiating a new option upon the control of the Union Oil Company, after several weeks of negotiations, several deals were negotiated that have an important bearing upon the production of oil in Southern California. One is a contract with the Union for 500,000 to 600,000 barrels of oil to be delivered through the pipeline to San Pedro.

It is believed that this oil is for the use of some foreign navy. Another deal of importance was the closing of a contract with the Union Tool Company for the manufacture of Diesel oil engines at its Torrance plant. Weir and Smith are scheduled to leave for London Wednesday.

MONTANA RESIDENTS HEADED THIS WAY

A Large Delegation Arrives From Northwest, Warmly Welcomed by Old Residents

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Simpson left on Monday for San Diego, where they will spend a few days' visit with former friends from Montana who have recently arrived in Southern California in large numbers. Mr. Simpson was in Los Angeles on Friday afternoon to meet the in-coming Montanans, of whom there were 255, traveling in a special train over the Salt Lake road.

The welcoming delegation of former Montanans now resident in Southern California numbered 300, and Mr. Simpson met scores of his old-time friends and associates. He also met many former residents of that state who have been living in Southern California for a number of years and who he believed were still at the old home in the Northwest. He states that many of the new arrivals will undoubtedly locate in Southern California, and hopes to land a bunch of them in this vicinity.

FRADU IS CHARGED

Charging that her son-in-law has taken advantage of her infirmities to get her signature to two notes and a deed and to get possession of $550, Mrs. E. A. Richardson, of Santa Ana, aged 80 years, has brought suit against her daughter, Alma C. Glover, and her husband, C. A. Glover, of Rosamond, Kern county.

If the story told in the complaints filed here are true, Glover kept the aged woman under her roof until he had defrauded her of all she had, then cast her forth to live with other relatives.

Mrs. Richardson owned eight lots at Huntington Beach. It is alleged that Mrs. Richardson thought she was signing authorizations to collect rents. It is now asserted that she signed a Huntington Beach. She does not know the amount of the note. Another note of $500 to Thomas Yates is at issue. The same manner. The court is asked to rescind a deed to four lots given to Glover. It is declared that Glover secured possession of $500 from a Huntington Beach bank. Mrs. Richardson is now with her daughter, Nancy J. Stewart.

Joe Espinoza, a Mexican who served part of a term in the county jail, has been taken back, and has another term to serve. He got away from the rock pile yard, and for that he was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

MANY COUNTIES BUY STATE BONDS

ALMOST SIX MILLION DOLLARS OF HIGHWAY ISSUE SOLD TO DATE

ORANGE COUNTY HAS INVESTED IN $200,000 WORTH OF ITS ASSESSMENT

A five-million and a half dollar guarantee of faith in the value of the state highway system has been furnished the state by 29 counties that have subscribed bonds in excess of that amount to insure the construction work progressing to meet the demands of the Panama-Pacific international exposition.

The highway bonds, bearing interest at 4 per cent, and which, under the law, must be sold at par and accrued interest, were suffering from lack of a market when the highway commission appealed to the supervisors of the counties. The response was quick, and in addition to $5,719,500 in sales, the commission now has a million dollars more in sight from similar sources, it is stated.

In return for this co-operation, the commission has agreed to expend the money within the counties financing the bonds. As the state maintains the highway, the saving to the counties in maintenance is practically every instance will be as great in the first year as it is claimed, as the depreciation losses which the counties must stand to make the bonds salable. The depreciation has averaged less than 5 per cent.

In a statement given out recently, the state highway commission shows the following subscriptions of bonds by counties to date:

Los Angeles	$895,000
San Diego	557,000
Alameda	500,000
Solano	300,000
Contra Costa	290,000
Colusa	250,000
San Luis Obispo	250,000
San Clara	228,000
Glenn	218,500
Kern	200,000
Orange	200,000
Imperial	200,000
Fresno	150,000
Marin	150,000
Sacramento	150,000
Santa Barbara	141,000
Tuolumne	125,000
El Dorado	150,000
San Bernardino	105,000
Riverside	100,000
Humboldt	100,000
Stanislaus	75,000
Santa Cruz	50,000
Siskiyou	50,000
Monterey	45,000
Mendocino	45,000
San Benito	25,000
Shasta	25,000

Many Visitors

The Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce has issued an annual report showing that the organization accomplished more for the good of Santa Ana during 1913 than during any other year in its history. Secretary J. C. Metzgar stated that 40,000 people visited the Santa Ana exhibit during the year, most of them coming with the Officers elected for 1914 are: W. A. Zimmermann, president; Fred Raftery and G. B. Shattuck, vice-presidents; H. T. Rutherford, treasurer; J. C. Metzgar, secretary, and H. A. Gardner, representative on the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county.

Lease on McComber Ranch

By acquiring a lease on over 300 acres on the MacComber ranch, the California Petroleum Corporation has made its first appearance as a prospective oil operator. The lease is located about a mile from the center of the Standard Oil Company's operations on the Emery ranch, and is regarded as very good prospect territory. Operations will be started in the immediate future on this tract. A portion of the territory leased was that secured recently from the MacComber people by L. E. H. de Salier, friend W. Cole, and associates, who are interested in the Southern California Oil Company. That concern is a holding company and still remains in existence.

Will Raise More Chills

There seems to be a movement toward putting in a much larger acreage to chili peppers this season. It has been estimated that the acreage would be doubled. This may be too large an estimate but it is quite evident that there will be a large increase. Last season there was within the Graden Grove territory about 700 acres of peppers. This season there will probably be from 1,000 to 1,200. With the coming of the new dryer to Graden Grove where the time for drying the green product is cut down about one-half, there is a new interest in this crop. Many Japs are going into the chili more extensively than ever. It seems to be probable that before long there will be a cannery factory in that section for the handling of home grown produce. The chili pepper industry alone would seem to almost justify the erection of a plant.

Just Objects to Report

Supervisor Leck has a small crowd to pick with the late grand jury. The grand jury reported that the roads of the county are in good shape except the Trabuco canyon road, which the grand jury says is taken care of by a mining company. "To begin with," said Leck, "the grand jury failed to recognize the fact that the portion of the Trabuco canyon road above the Trabuco school house is not a county road. The law prohibits the county from spending money on a road that is not a county road. As to the rest of the Trabuco road, that under the county's jurisdiction, 20 miles of it from Culver's corner to the Trabuco school house, there is not a better road in Orange county. I think it is only fair to my road overseer to call attention to the error on the part of the grand jury."

Unanimous Vote

A modern, progressive, up-to-date, fire-proof school is to be built at Seal Beach, which has broken all the records for records, so far school bonds are concerned, in California. There was not one single vote cast against the school bonds at the election last Saturday. This means that Seal Beach will have a $120,000 school building of concrete or brick with the roof occupying the site of a little over an acre in the center of the most thickly populated part of the district. The school will be two blocks back from the ocean on the upper side of the railroad tracks, approximately midway between Anaheim Bay and Alamitos Bay, and

Articles Filed

Articles of incorporation have been filed by a second bank seeking to establish a banking business at La Habra. The new articles are by the Golden State Bank of La Habra. It has about 25 stockholders, $27,500 being subscribed, of which over $17,000 is by J. H. Cox of Whittier. The directors are Frank Milhous, O. L. Baldwin and Cox of Whittier, W. L. York, F. E. Proud and Clarence Glazier of La Habra and John Lehm of Corona.

Negro Hobo Gets Three Years

Willie Jackson denied in Justice Cox's court Friday that he broke open a Santa Fe car and stole 27 pairs of shoes. He went before Judge West on Saturday and pleaded guilty to the charge. He told the officers where the missing shoes were hidden. The prisoner, aged 21, is colored, born and raised in Salina, Kan. He said that for some time he had been living the life of a hobo. Judge West sentenced him to three years in San Quentin.

Stanton School Problem

During the past year the people living in and near the city of Stanton have been agitating the formation of a new school district. At first the proposition seemed difficult, owing to the fact that those interested were living within the extreme boundaries of three school districts, the Savanna, Magnolia and Alamitos. A solution of the problem seems imminent now, coming through a suggestion that a small portion of territory from the Magnolia and Alamitos districts be annexed to the Savanna district.

Wedding Present

The new house built by Mr. De Vaul, of Garden Grove, for his daughter, Viva, who is soon to be married to Frank Winters, is completed and is now being furnished. It is located near the De Vaul home on a scenic piece of property which with the house and is a gift from the parents of Miss De Vaul. The young people will be married by Rev. Ashleigh in Redlands on Wednesday. About 25 of their friends will attend the wedding. The couple will go on a trip and will return about January 31.

Landed in Jail

Yesterday there was landed in the Orange county jail a man by the name of John C. Morris, wanted at Boulder, Colo., for embezzling $2,400 from an Elks lodge. The arrest was the summation of a search that lasted for months. C. B. Smith, a deputy sheriff from Boulder, who arrested Morris, said that $2,300 had been spent in hunting for Morris. Smith took up the work after two private detective agencies had failed, and by clever work he located his man. Smith came to Santa Ana about a month ago because he knew that friends of Morris were living here. He could not locate them. He wrote a letter from San Diego to one of them, offering a good job in a hotel. He secured an answer, and in that way located the friends. He secured a room in the same house with them, and through them and without their knowledge as to what his business was he located Morris, who was cooking in a restaurant in Los Angeles. Smith brought the man here, and he has now started with him without extradition papers.

NO NECESSITY FOR THIRD PARTY

Governor Johnson, in opening his campaign at Oakland is reported to have said: "The campaign issues are performances by the progressives on the one hand, versus promises by our adversaries."

It seems unfair of Governor Johnson not to acknowledge that he was able to do his part solely because of the loyal support he got from Republican progressives who, indeed, elected him. He did say according to his published address: "We could have won the progressive principles through the Republican party in California, but not in other states." An examination of the presidential vote does not indicate that Governor Johnson is correct in assuming that what was accomplished in California through the Republican party, could not have been accomplished in other states.

The Progressive party voters in November, 1912, were undoubtedly drawn principally from the Republican party ranks, and these voters, together with the very large number of Republican progressive voters who voted for President Wilson, if properly organized and led, could easily capture the Republican organizations everywhere.

Men and women of California should register as Republicans for that party has demonstrated that it is capable of advancing and safe-guarding the people's best interests. Do not divide progressive strength by registering in a new party, the formation of which can but serve to renew the hope of the reactionary forces. If any considerable number of our citizens blindly follow the lead of the impulsive men whose judgment has unfortunately become clouded because of their prominence in a new national movement, which, if they realized it, has already demonstrated that it cannot succeed, or become really useful, we will needlessly invite possible defeat for progressive principles in this state.

What was accomplished through the loyalty of the Republican progressive voters of California, can be accomplished in other states through the Republican party. There was no excuse for the division of Republican progressive strength nationally by the creation of the Progressive party. There is far less excuse or reason for such a movement in California.

Mark well the published words of Governor Johnson in his speech at the opening of the Progressive party campaign: "They can beat us at the polls, my friends, but they cannot take away what we've done for the State of California."

While much of what has been accomplished is most gratifying, it is nevertheless disappointing for progressive citizens to now contemplate the possible disruption of the Republican progressive movement after its splendid service to the people.

Governor Johnson's words, above quoted, cannot be very reassuring to those Progressive party members who followed him in his previous campaign, when, as a Republican progressive candidate, he felt and expressed such full confidence in victory for the people. We would be less than just if we failed to give Governor Johnson full credit for doing many fine things for the general good, but proper public appreciation can be shown him without now endangering progressive principles by registering in a new party, the creation of which can but bring anxiety and doubt regarding future success. Whereas, under the Republican progressive movement we are assured of certain victory.

I again urge every progressive citizen to register as Republican and help to make certain the future progressive control of that party at the primary election next September. If that is done those progressives who have strayed away for the present can later come back to the Republican party without sacrificing their principles.

WANTS TO BE SHERIFF

W. C. Mason, who has just finished a term of 30 days on the rock pile at Santa Ana last Saturday, had evidently lost his eyes open while in jail, for no sooner had his sentence been served than he proceeded to boast himself as a candidate for the office of sheriff. Fortified by two bottles of alcohol he went about the streets, buttonholing people, promising deputyships with lavish hand, soliciting votes, offering a pull at one of his bottles, panhandling men for money to carry on his campaign, and otherwise disporting himself, until he ran up against Officer John Ryan, who took him into custody for drunkenness.

Mason claimed to be a soldier, having passed through a severe campaign in Mexico. He offered his hat in evidence. The headgear showed signs of having seen rough usage, and there were several holes in it which he claimed were bullet holes. When asked how it was possible to have so many holes in his hat, and his head uninjured, he replied that when the holes were made he was on the run, and his hat was in his hand and thus caught all the bullets.

He was before Judge Cox and in default of ten dollars to pay the fine imposed, he was remanded to jail for ten days. He will have more opportunity to learn the inner workings of the sheriff's office.

He said that his arrest was a piece of spite work on the part of the rest of the candidates, who feared him in the race for sheriff.

IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

At a dinner party given at St. Michael's rectory Monday night, a scheme to establish a men's club was hatched and William Falkenstein, H. M. Adams, A. C. Pearson and Rev. David Todd Gillmore were appointed a committee to organize the club and get it into working action. Its object will be to enhance the business interests of the members and the town.

Although Newport and Balboa beach have not suffered from the high tides and heavy seas, the southeast storm Monday proved too much for the bulkheads toward the point of the peninsula, and every available man was called out early in the morning to protect the houses fronting the ocean that threatened to be washed into the sea.

Nine inches of water was the record caught by Mr. Dickel's gauge during the month of January and there are still two days to hear from. This is the heaviest precipitation for the month ever recorded. Its value to Anaheim and the surrounding country cannot be estimated, and very little damage is reported from inundations in this immediate region.

On Tuesday morning Mr. Simpson and several other gentlemen walked to San Juan for provisions, and on their return to Serra found that their train had returned to Oceanside. The track was repaired on Tuesday afternoon and they returned to their home without further mishap.

WHERE WAS DR. CHAPMAN?

The American people drank 70,000,000 gallons of whisky, smoked 4,090,300,000 cigars and puffed 8,711,000,000 cigarettes during the six months ending December 31, according to figures announced by Commissioner Osborn of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The revenue collected from distilled spirits amounted to $85,862,712, the whisky tax being $16,142,854; tobacco, $41,296,593; corporation tax, $3,110,720; cigarettes, $10,890,000, and cigars, $12,270,000.

The total collection of taxes for the six months totaled $167,647,905, an increase of $4,175,630 over the corresponding period of 1912. The income tax paid under the new law aggregated $1,509. This tax did not have to be paid until March 1.

OLD-TIME COSTUMES DISPLAYED AT PARTY

Mrs. Burgess Entertains a Unique Party in the Style of Long Ago

Last Thursday evening, the third of the series of parties, planned for the celebration of the grammar school teachers, was held at the home of Mrs. J. T. Burgess, on North Philadelphia street.

The hostesses of the evening were Miss Moritz, Mrs. Burgess and Miss Kellenberger. In response to the following invitation:

"You are herewith invited
Our party to attend,
Dressed as a sweet Colonial maid,
Much charm to it ye'll lend."

Every one came dressed as courtly dame or winsome maid. A number of the gowns worn were heirlooms.

The dining room was attractively decorated with pink Cochet roses and feathery ferns. The soft light of many candles replacing the electric lights, gave an added charm to the whole scene and carried those present back to the courtly days of long ago. Every one seemed filled with the spirit of the past and danced the Minuet and Virginia reel, the principal amusements of the evening, with old-time stateliness and grace.

BROWNE'S BILL ALLOWED BY BOARD

Supervisors Upheld the District Attorney and Pay the Detective

Samuel Browne, who presented a bill to the supervisors for $447.75 for retreating out registration frauds in Anaheim during the recent wet and dry campaign, has received his money. The board on Tuesday allowed the bill after it had been held up by Auditor Lester, and Browne is happy and prosperous.

Supervisors Schumacher and Leck opposed the bill, but Talbert, Struck and Smith voted to sustain District Attorney West in his contention that he was privileged by the law to hire detectives to ferret out crime. R. Y. Williams represented Browne and after a long argument on both sides of the question the board decided by a vote of three to two to allow the bill.

Browne's bill was for services rendered during the Anaheim wet and dry campaign. He charged $6 a day and expenses, part of the bill being for automobile hire at $10 per day. Browne, after several weeks' effort, succeeded in having three persons into court on charges of false registration and all were discharged. He was a costly luxury.

INSULTED HIS COLONEL.

An Offense For Which a French Soldier Had to Die.

By deliberately insulting a superior officer at a court martial a French soldier at Lille incurred the death penalty. The incident is a deplorable one. The fact that the officers had to condemn the man is likewise painful, but the military regulations were plain and left no alternative.

A dragoon in one of the regiments at Lille was being tried before a court martial. Another dragoon of the same regiment, who was undergoing arrest for some other fault, was summoned as a witness. When the court martial entered the room of the court martial he was asked by the presiding colonel to take off his cap. The man took this in bad part and flung his cap at the colonel, following it up with a storm of abusive language.

When he had finished, the colonel, out of sheer good nature, asked him to reflect and express regret for his action, which he was willing to look upon as a momentary outburst of temper. The dragoon merely repeated his insults. The court martial immediately deliberated and at the end of a quarter of an hour gave judgment condemning the dragoon to death.—Boston Transcript.

Book Without Errata.

A London publisher once determined to publish at least one book which should be faultless in the matter of errata. He had the proofs corrected by his own proofreaders with the greatest care until they had exhausted their skill and patience and assured him that there were no longer any errors to be eliminated. Taking duplicate proofs of the last revise, he sent them to the universities and other large publishing houses, offering large money prizes for each error discovered. A few errors only were found, and after every one had a chance to detect any additional errors the plates were made, the book printed, expensively bound and sold as an absolutely perfect book and unique in all literature. For a long time this was conceded, but six or eight months after its publication a letter called the publisher's attention to an error in a certain line and page. Later a second was announced, and before the first year had elapsed some four or five errors had been reported.—Charles Winslow Hall, in National Magazine.

Natural Turkish Baths.

Preston, Ont., about seventy miles from Toronto, enjoys natural Turkish baths. Near the town is a lake the waters of which are impregnated with sulphur and other chemical properties. The lake is government property, and the cost to those availing themselves of its virtues is merely nominal, about sixpence being sufficient to remunerate the services of the halfbreeds preparing the bath.

This is taken in what is locally called a "sweet lodge." The lodge is made by digging a hole four feet deep, lining it with small boulders and covering it with an air proof tent. A fire is then built in the hole and kept burning until the stones are thoroughly heated. Water from the lake is sprinkled on the hot stones, and a steam arises which is laden with medicinal properties.—London Graphic.

Nature.

"We say that nature is blind," says John Burroughs in the Atlantic, "but she has no need of eyes, she tries all courses. She has infinite time, infinite power, infinite space, and so far as our feeble minds can see her delight is to play this game of blind man's buff over and over to all eternity. Her creatures get life and the joy and pain that life brings. But what is augmented or depleted or concluded or satisfied or fulfilled who knows?"

A Thorough Test.

"Inspector, that woman I said was always listening on my party line must have quit."

What makes you think so?

"Why, my wife has been listening for three weeks and hasn't caught her yet."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Pessimist.

Tommy Cod—What is it they call a pessimist, pa? Pa Cod—A pessimist, my son, is a fish who thinks there is a hook in every worm!—Puck.

One of the Attractions at an Old Time Virginia Celebration.

Here is a program observed in the celebration of St. Andrew's day in an old Virginia town in 1737:

That a fiddle be played for by twenty fiddlers, every person to bring his own addle. After the prize is won they are all to play together and each one a different tune and then be treated by the company.

That twelve boys of twelve years of age do run for 112 yards for a hat at the cost of 12 shillings.

That a flag be flying on said day thirty feet high.

That after dinner the royal health, his honor the governor's, is to be drunk.

That a pair of silver buckles be wrestled for by a number of brisk young men.

That a pair of handsome shoes be danced for.

That a pair of handsome silk stockings of one pistol value be given to the handsomest young maid that appears in the field.

It is probable, says the Ohio State Journal, our tastes are too much changed to enjoy such a list of attractions, but one may imagine what fun they must have caused.

Ocean Cannibals.

Such fierce carnivorous fishes as exist in the depths of the ocean are unknown at the surface. There is a "black swallower" which devours other fish creatures ten times as big as itself, literally climbing over its victim, first with one jaw and then with the other. Another species is nearly all mouth and having no power of locomotion, it lies buried in the soft ooze at the bottom, its head alone protruding, ready to engulf any prey that may wander into its cavernous jaws. There is a ferocious kind of shark resembling a huge eel. All of these monsters are black as ink. Some of them are perfectly blind, while others have enormous glowing eyes. No ray of sunlight ever penetrates the dark, unfathomable caves in which they dwell. Each species is guided by the species next larger, for there is no vegetable life to feed on.—Spate Moments.

As Others See It.

Every two or three weeks I approach my house from the unusual side and make a note of the effect of porch, windows and the curtains. Then I try to go into the house as a stranger. Pictures which have become so familiar that they were a part of the wall I see the need of changing, and so I see something about the house. I think more than anything else I find the rooms overcrowded and fussy and I can't always do these things at the time, but I make a note of them. This has worked so well with my house that I am trying it for myself. When dressed for the street or house I step to the glass and say, "Let me present you to Mrs. —" and try to look at myself as a stranger, and I see many things to improve. It is a good thing to "see ourselves as others see us."—Harper's Bazar.

The Lobster's Color.

The shell of the lobster is imbued with a black or bluish pigment secreted by the true skin, which also gives out the calcareous matter after each molt, so that time and pigment are blended together. This pigment becomes red, pale and intense in water at a temperature of 212 degrees Fahrenheit, and the same effect is produced by the action of alcohol, ether and various acids.

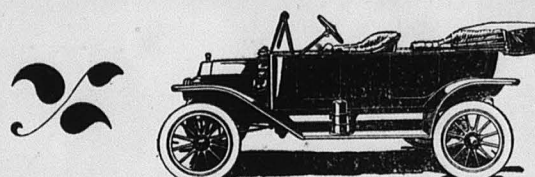

A Sad Discovery.

"How does Brown like the high position he was recently promoted to?"
"Not very well."
"But I thought it was paying him $10,000 a year?"
"So it is. But he's discovered that his employers expect him to earn it."—Detroit Free Press.

Orange county supporters of the anti-prize fight initiative petition completed their work on the supplemental petition, and County Clerk Williams, on Monday, sent by registered mail a statement showing 1,469 names added to the petition through the campaign conducted here during the last 10 days. It was found by the Secretary of State that 2,500 additional names would be needed, and all over the state wherever a county had not already filed a supplemental petition, the work of gathering the needed signatures was undertaken. Orange county supplied a large proportion of the names. It is estimated in Los Angeles that several hundred more signatures have been secured than were actually needed.

J. H. Heath, secretary of the Escondido Chamber of Commerce, and correspondent for several Los Angeles and San Diego papers, accompanied by C. A. Craig, of the Oceanside Investment Company, were in town Tuesday and Tuesday night having been marooned by a washout near Capistrano. They considered Anaheim the best town along the coast line in which to spend an idle hour and expressed themselves as not sorry that they were compelled to stop. They had been attending the annual meeting of the secretaries of the commerce chambers at Oakland and were on their road home.

TROUT SUPPLY SHORT IN LOCAL STREAMS

HOW SOUTHERN COUNTIES GET THE HOOK FROM UP-STATE ANGLERS

PAY HALF EXPENSE OF HATCHERIES, RECEIVE LESS THAN 4 PER CENT OF FISH

Fred W. Thatcher, secretary and treasurer of the Southern California Trout Association, was in Orange county this week, giving our some satisfaction that he declares are sufficient foundation in themselves to warrant the existence of his association.

"Last year," said he, "there were 14,000,000 trout fry sent out from the state hatcheries, and of that number only 500,000 were distributed in Southern California streams. Yet Southern California paid half of the money that is used to keep up the hatcheries. We paid half of the expense and got one-twenty-eighth of the trout.

"Our association is formed largely to force legislation to get a hatchery established in this end of the state. We can have our streams stocked without difficulty."

Thatcher came for the purpose of bringing literature and boosting for membership in the association. T. M. Hill, of Santa Ana, is a director of the association. Mayor Rose, of Los Angeles is president of the association.

The association is sending out the following circular letter to local sportmen:

To the Trout Fishermen of Southern California:

There is a universal opinion among the fishermen of Southern California that trout fishing with the co-operation of the anglers could be brought to a more perfect condition and to this end the above association was organized.

Its objects are as follows:

To co-operate with the State Fish and Game Association.

To further the propagation and protection of the trout.

To consider the possibility of establishing a hatchery in Southern California.

To gather data and promote legislation favorable to the sport.

To offer prizes, trophies, etc., to its members with the object of stimulating and encouraging more sportmen in one of the most pleasant recreations of Southern California.

The association welcomes every one who is in sympathy with its purposes. It needs you.

Would you like to see trout fishing in Southern California second to none in the world? We have the streams and ideal conditions and with the help of yourself and brother anglers, it will make this possible.

Get in and boost.

Send in your application and spread enthusiasm among your trout fishing friends. The officers of the association realize that without the full support of the trout fishermen of Southern California is cannot accomplish the results that are anticipated.

The dues are 50 cents per year and none of the funds collected will be used for anything but actual expenses of the association, such as printing, stationery, postage, etc. The association plans to issue a booklet showing names and addresses of members shortly after the first of the year (1914) so it is necessary for you to send in your name without delay, also your brother anglers whom you know to be in accord with the spirit of the organization. The members so far as possible are requested to co-operate with the director or officer living nearest to their home and to report to him concerning anything that will be beneficial to the cause.

MISS IONE PORTER A HAPPY BRIDE

Weds Alvin Johnston at Home of Parents in Placentia Last Wednesday

Miss Ione Marie Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Porter, of Placentia, became the bride of Alvin Banks Johnston, at a wedding solemnized at her parents' residence in Placentia last Wednesday evening. Two hundred guests were present, and the nuptials proved to be one of the social events of the season.

The ceremony was impressively performed by the Rev. Frank M. Dowling of the Fullerton Christian church.

Before the ceremony Miss Laura Porter sang sweetly "Since Love Led Me to You" by Ole Speaks. The bridal party marched in through an aisle made by ropes of flowers and greenery to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Helen Porter.

The bridal procession consisted of the minister, Rev. Dowling, followed by the groom, Mr. Johnston and his best man, Mr. Leo Porter, the bride's maid, Mildred Porter, Lila Faus, Beezie Schumacher, Hazel Thompson, and Della Kraemer; the maid of honor, Grace Parrett; the ring bearer, Master Harold Taylor; the flower girl, Nellie Edwards and Helen Buckingham; the bride on her father's arm, and the train-bearer, Master Harold Buckingham.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white crepe d'eton and lace on train, and carried a shower bouquet of roses and carnations. The maid of honor wore a dress of Nile green satin and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bride's maids were gowned in pink and carried immense bouquets of pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston were the recipients of very many beautiful and valuable presents. After the ceremony the entire company repaired to the Placentia Round Table Club house for a bountiful repast and a delightful social hour.

ARIZONA METAL PRODUCTION IN 1913

TOTAL VALUE OF ALL MINERALS, DURING YEAR EXCEEDS $71,000,000

INCREASE IN THE OUTPUT OF GOLD, SILVER, LEAD, AND ZINC

In 1913 there was a record mine production of gold, silver, copper, lead, and zinc in Arizona. The total value of the mine output was about $71,000,000, an increase of nearly 6 per cent over the value of 1912, which was $67,050,784. The copper output was valued at nearly $44,000,000; the gold at about $3,248,000; the silver at more than $2,263,000; the lead at $612,000; and the zinc at $510,000.

The mine yield of gold in Arizona in 1913 was more than 191,000 ounces, an increase of 5 per cent over the output of 1912, which was 181,996.1 fine ounces. Of this total, over 42 per cent was taken from siliceous ore and most of the remainder came from copper ores, which were undoubtedly the source of the increased gold output in 1913. The three largest producing gold mines were the Tom Reed, Gold Roads, and Vulture. The Tom Reed output was about the same as in 1912, the Gold Roads had a slight increase, and the Vulture a substantial increase. In Yuma county operations were resumed at the La Fortuna mine.

The mine production of silver increased about 8 per cent, amounting to more than 3,773,000 ounces, against 3,490,387 ounces in 1912. Most of the silver was derived from copper ore, but in 1913 the increase is due largely to shipments of lead ore and concentrates from Cochise and Mohave counties. Much silver also comes from siliceous ore. About 500 tons of ore per month was shipped from the Tombstone property and a large tonnage of old tailings was taken from the Commonwealth dump. A 350-ton cyanide mill at this property was completed during the year.

With a mine production of about 414,532,000 pounds of copper in 1913, Arizona led all other copper-producing states. The output in 1913 shows an increase of more than 49,000,000 pounds, or about 12 per cent over that of 1912, which was 365,538,446 pounds. As the price of copper was slightly lower in 1913, the value of the metal increased only about $2,500,000. There were 11 active copper smelting plants in the state, and ore and concentrates were also sent to 6 copper and lead plants in other states. Of the former, the greatest increase in output were made at the Hayden, Calumet & Arizona, Copper Queen, Old Dominion, Consolidated Arizona, and Swansea plants. At the United Verde and De Luz plants there was little change from the figures of 1912. Those making less copper were the Shannon, Arizona Copper, and Pioneer plants. New plants were completed by the Arizona Copper and Calumet & Arizona companies, and another was in course of construction for United Verde ores. The disseminated copper mines in Gila, Pinal, and Greenlee counties yielded approximately 145,500,000 pounds of copper. Increased output of copper produced are the outputs of the Miami, Ray, Arizona Copper, and Detroit mines. The Miami product did not greatly exceed that of 1912. The 3,000-ton concentration plant was active and the product went mostly to Canada, Mexico. The International Smelting & Refining Co. will build a copper plant at Miami to treat this ore and that from the Inspiration mine. Test plants using the flotation process were operated at the Miami and Inspiration mines, the saving by concentration alone is not sufficient. The Ray Consolidated Copper Co. greatly increased its output, from nearly 26,000,000 pounds of copper in 1912 to about 52,000,000 pounds in 1913, treating 6,000 tons of ore per day. Production from Yuma and Pima counties was not what it could have been, since the Swansea and Pioneer plants were operated only a few months. At Globe greatly increased shipments were made from the Superior & Boston, Iron Cap, and Black Warrior mines, and in Pinal county from the Magna mine.

With an increase of more than 104 per cent, the mine production of lead was larger than in any other year. The total output was nearly 14,000,000 pounds, valued at about $612,000, against 6,806,443 pounds, valued at $306,220 in 1912. The mines at Bisbee produced much lead ore, and in 1913 there was a large increase. The Shattuck mine became a regular producer of silver-lead ore as well as copper ore. In Mohave county an increased tonnage was shipped regularly from the Tennessee mine to the concentration plant at Needles, California.

The mine production of recoverable tellurium was about 9,100,000 pounds, valued at $310,000, which was an increase of about 340,000 pounds, or nearly 4 per cent, over the production of 1912. On account of the lower price paid for the metal, the total value decreased more than $90,000. The Colorado mine, in Mohave county, formerly the largest producer, was making shipments of zinc ore and concentrates only part of the year, and therefore had a greatly decreased output. Much ore was, however, shipped from the San Xavier mine in Pima county and much concentrate was made from Mohave county ores milled at Needles.

It's This Way Now—Loce Ang-e-less; Board's Final Edict

Pronunciation's Anglicization Turned Down by Body of Education

The tumultuous course of the pronunciation of the word Los Angeles has at last reached a safe harbor in Loce Ang-e-less. This was decided by the board of education recently. The report of a committee of modern language teachers that the pronunciation should be an Anglicized Loce Ang-e-less was flatly rejected by the board.

"Any one who is in favor of such a barbaric way of speaking the city's name is in need of mental exercise," said Joseph Scott. "If we are going to teach the children of this city to pronounce Los Angeles correctly, it should certainly be as the Chamber of Commerce recommended, Loce Ang-e-less."

Upon a motion made by J. M. Guina, the portion of the report dealing with the pronunciation of the city's name was stricken out. Mr. Guina regretted that "Los Angeles," the original way of spelling the name, had passed into disuse.

ORANGE COUNTY'S REALTY MEN CONVEENE

Hold Interesting and Profitable Session at Santa Ana

The Panama canal and the 1915 expositions are going to bring countless thousands to this coast. Just what Orange county will get out of these great events will depend in a large measure on what Orange county "does after."

These were some of the leading thoughts brought out at the first annual banquet of the Orange County Real Estate Association, held Wednesday night at Santa Ana. Various matters of importance to those interested in the development of the county were discussed, and some rather surprising figures were brought out.

Nearly fifty real estate dealers from all parts of the county, including a number of ladies, gathered around the prettily appointed tables at 7:30. The tables had been decorated in a most appropriate scheme miniature farms, orchards and even a perfect representation of a sugar factory being the center pieces. After the guests had been seated, President J. R. Schooley of the association requested that each guest write his name and address on the card found in front of his plate. These were then collected and rolled called, each responding by rising. Following this, Rev. W. T. Van Cleave gave the invocation.

A splendid menu was served under the direction of Manager Young, and after full justice had been done to it, the business session was taken up. Vice-presidents of the association were elected as follows: Anaheim, P. H. Tobin; Fullerton, Geo. Rudbeck; Huntington Beach, E. C. Wright; Orange, S. M. Craddock; Placentia, C. E. Vogel; Santa Ana, F. D. Drake.

President Schooley announced that the program for the evening included two subjects: first, Panama canal immigration, and second, the proposed Torrens land law. He first called on S. M. Craddock of Orange, whose subject was "What Orange County Has for the Immigrants."

"The first problem which occurred to me in the consideration of this subject," said Mr. Craddock, "is as to how much room we have for these looking for homes and for a living for themselves and families. On investigation I find that Orange county now has only 43 inhabitants to the square mile. The great state of Ohio has 102; and it is only reasonable to suppose that we can take care of several times as many as Ohio, because we are growing things here the year round, instead of only a few months in the summer. Going further, I find that in England and Wales there are 553 inhabitants to the square mile. China and Japan probably have a much higher proportion, but we will not consider them."

"Again, I find that there are now 3,165 farms in Orange county, and the average size is what would you guess? I guessed 20 acres. What would you say, Mr. Peters?" addressing the county recorder.

"Mr. Peters guessed 50 acres. 'The average is 117 acres. It might as well be 10, or even less, for the man who handles 10 acres properly in Orange county can make more than a good living."

"We have been so used to talking oranges and lemons that many people get the idea that Orange county raises nothing else. We must talk a greater variety of products. In looking up statistics I find that the 16 counties which we call Southern California, in 1912 had a citrus output of $34,000,000, while the cows and hens of those counties produced $51,000,000. In Orange county last year were vegetable output, including sugar beets, was worth three times as much as the citrus crop."

Mr. Craddock suggested that local and district immigration boards, designed to look out for opportunities and present them to the immigrants, could accomplish a great work. T. B. Talbert, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, had for his subject the Orange county coast line. He said that our particular ocean front is the choice of the southern coast, and gave several reasons, among them being that artesian water can be found right up to the beach line, something no other part of the coast enjoys, that the coast line is a smooth one, making all parts of it available for development. That fuel oil from the Orange county fields may be had on any part of the coast by gravity flow. Mr. Talbert said that all parts of our water front are peculiarly adaptable for manufactures, and that this was a source of wealth to which we had not given the attention it deserved. He foresaw a great industrial future for the Orange county coast line.

S. R. Coakley of Fullerton had for his topic, "Orange County and the Expositions." He said that Orange county was going to benefit from these affairs just in the measure that he prepared to benefit. He urged organization to grasp the opportunities offered.

L. A. Evans of Anaheim had for his subject the Torrens Land Law, but his prelude covering a history of the science of government from prehistoric days exhausted his time, and the chairman expressed the hope that a further talk on the subject might be had at the next meeting.

Short talks were made by a number of members, the burden being as to the benefits already apparent from the formation of the county organization and an expression of enthusiasm for the future.

FUTURE LIES WITH REPUBLICAN PARTY

MAYOR MOTT OF OAKLAND, IN STRONG STATEMENT AGAINST THIRD PARTY

SUPPORTED JOHNSON FOR GOVERNOR IN LAST CAMPAIGN, IS STILL OLD PARTY MAN

How woefully Governor Johnson misjudged the temper of California Republicans when he attempted to lead them into a new party is becoming more and more evident as time passes and the situation crystallizes. The latest disaster that has befallen the governor's infant organization is the declaration of Mayor Mott of Oakland, one of the organizers of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League and an earnest supporter of the governor in the last campaign, that his future lies with the Republican party, the one party of sane and sane legislation.

One of the fundamental errors made by the governor was in confusing his own power with the power and prestige of the Republican party—taking it for granted that he was a party man and that without his party could be nothing. He had hoped, as Roosevelt hoped, that by moving to a new base he would carry all the strength of the old organization and, by the daring of the move, stand as the unopposed dictator of the new organization. Roosevelt, despite an unexampled personal popularity, failed, and Governor Johnson's move in imitation from the first and which he certainly recognizes at the present time.

Mayor Mott has registered as a Republican and gives his reasons succinctly as follows: "I have registered as a Republican for the prime reason that all my life I have been a Republican and there is not sufficient cause, in my judgment, for me to change my party affiliations at this time. No political party or organization which has done so much for the human race, for personal liberty, for the advancement of civil government as the Republican party has accomplished, can be obliterated."

"I am not ready to believe that the Republican party has not a great future. I am not ready to concede that the millions of Republicans in the United States are ready to abandon it. I do believe that the Republican party is not only able to perpetuate itself, but can take care of its internal disturbances within itself, and I do believe that there is the place for the party to do constructive work."

"To the Republican party today in California belongs the entire credit for the things accomplished by the present state administration, and to no other party. I emphasize this statement because I have been a supporter of Governor Johnson in his campaigns. Governor Johnson made his campaign for nomination at a state primary of the Republican party. He was nominated and elected as a Republican, and that is clear title to the work that has been accomplished under Governor Johnson's regime."

"Therefore, I find in our state record no reason why I should not continue to serve under the Republican party's banner. On the contrary, there is every reason in good conscience why I should maintain my own allegiance to that party and help, insofar as I may be able, to assist in upbuilding and sustaining the achievements of my party here and in our national life."

FOREST NOTES

A rancher has applied for the rental of 320 acres on the Pike national forest, Colorado, to be used in connection with other private land, for raising elk as a commercial venture. The government has just sold 43,000 cords of cedar wood for shingles from the Washington national forest. The shingles manufactured from this wood, laid six inches to the weather, would cover 2 1/2 square miles of roof.

The navy department has asked the forest service to investigate guljo, a Philippine wood, for possible use in decking boats and ships. Longleaf pine, sugar maple, and beech are the domestic woods most used for decks.

The state university lands in Arizona are to be lumbered under a co-operative agreement between the government and the state land commission. Arizona is the first state in the southwest and one of few in the country to cut its timbered lands on forestry principles.

The annual meeting of the American Forestry Association was held in Washington on January 14. A president, 21 vice-presidents, a treasurer, an auditor and five directors were elected and plans made for an active campaign for forest conservation during 1914. The association has 8,000 members.

There are 36,500,000 young trees in the government's forest nurseries. Two tons of cascara bark have just been sold from the Siuslaw national forest, Oregon, at one cent a pound.

The northernmost national forest is the Chugach in Alaska; the southernmost is the Luquillo in Porto Rico. For shingles alone, 750 million feet of timber is cut in that part of the State of Washington which lies west of the Cascades.

California last year in timber sold from national forests, though Montana had the largest number of sale transactions. The American forestry association has just elected Henry S. Drinker, president of Lehigh University, and P. S. Hildesdale, its president and secretary, respectively.

The biological survey and the forest service have been co-operating in the extermination of ground squirrels on national forests in California. The annual loss of range feed and grain crops from ground squirrels is enormous.

ERROR IN CONSTRUCTION

The furnace at the Branagan glass plant, on the north bank of the Santa Ana river, at the edge of town, collapsed at midnight Thursday, entailing a loss of $5,000. The melting pots had been set in the furnace only last week and two of them were full of melted glass ready to begin work. J. R. Branagan, president of the company, had a narrow escape from death as he noticed something going wrong with the arched furnace roof and climbed on top of it to investigate. He noticed that it was sagging in the center and had no more than landed below when the entire roof caved in.

The furnace was heated to 2,400 degrees Fahrenheit at the time. It is thought the furnace will be cool enough tomorrow to remove the wreckage, after which work will be started at once rebuilding it. Two extra melting pots are now being heated in the pot arch and the plant will be run on part capacity until new melting pots can be obtained from the East. The accident was due to the fact that not sufficient arch was allowed in the roof of the furnace. All of the eight melting pots contained in the furnace were ruined.

HOSPITAL ATTENDANT

The California State Civil Service Commission announces examinations for state hospital attendants, as follows:

In the Southern California State Hospital at Patton, Cal., on February 1, 1914, and in the Mendocino State Hospital at Talmage, Cal., on February 5, 1914.

The salaries range from $40 to $55 per month, in addition to board, room, light, heat and laundry. Applicants will be examined in a brief exercise in report writing, in training and experience, personality and fitness, and physical qualifications.

Application blanks and further information may be obtained from the Civil Service Commission at Sacramento.

All applications for Southern California State Hospital must be filed by February 6th, and for Mendocino State Hospital by January 31, 1914.

FIFTY MILLIONS FOR ROADS

If the proverb is true that "roads are the measure of a people's civilization," California will rank high among civilized communities. The state authorized the issuance of $18,000,000 in bonds for good roads. Individual counties

Elections in Fresno, San Bernardino and Santa Cruz counties will probably add $5,750,000 to that sum, making in all $38,340,000 for investment in highways. It is probable that during this year additional county appropriations will swell the fund to fifty millions of dollars, not counting a possible appropriation by Congress to be divided among the states.

... GAS IN TIN PAILS ...

If it were practicable for a housewife to come to our gas manufacturing works and buy a pail of gas, we would need no city franchise to deliver our product.

We would not have to make a large investment in street mains, service pipes and meters, franchises and state taxes, nor would we have to employ a force to inspect and read the meters.

Under these conditions we could sell GAS at a much lower price than we now sell GAS SERVICE.

Were it possible to handle gas in this way that groceries and coal are handled, we could install several automobile expressors larger than the largest trucks in your city for a ridiculous fraction of the cost of our distributing system.

But forced to accept certain "things as they are," we have to invest more money in our gas DISTRIBUTING equipment than for our MANUFACTURING apparatus.

THE HEAD OF THE SOMETIMES
TURBULENT STREAM

One million dollars is being expended by the Southern California Edison Company in harnessing the headwaters of the Santa Ana river and turning the energy into power for the manufacture of electricity. The company is expending $1,000,000 in the construction of a road in San Bernardino county. This road is to connect the present generating plants of the company on Mill creek, twenty-five miles back of San Bernardino, with the proposed sites for two additional generating plants from which 5,000 additional horsepower of electrical energy will be made available for distribution in Southern California within two years.

"It is a small job—this of grabbing additional energy from the headwaters of the Santa Ana," said Vice-President and General Manager Brackenridge of the Edison company. "By small I mean that the money expenditure is not going to be large. But the coming in of this additional power will mean much to us, as the advancing use of electricity throughout Southern California is making us hustle to keep the supply on an equality with the demand."

Along the rough mountain walls of the elongated bowl-like valley in which Mill creek originates in the deep snow of 10,000-foot peaks, great steam shovels are eating their way slowly upward from the present generating plants to where the new plants will be located, 2,000 feet perpendicularly and twelve miles horizontally above them.

Mule teams follow with scrapers that spread the debris and make it ready for the rollers which settle it into a "velvet" surface over which automobile trucks will shortly wend their way carrying material for the buildings, sluiceways and tunnels that will constitute necessary parts of the two new generating plants.

This preliminary work in road-making was started last week with a small force and will blossom into full activity this week, when more men and teams will be put on. By early summer the road will be completed and the main work started.

The plan, according to Brackenridge, is to put in two generating plants of two units, each of which will develop 5,000 horse power of energy. The power there generated will be thrown into the general distribution system. The present power is derived from the two old Mill creek generating plants, the mammoth Kern river plant, and the steam plants in Long Beach and Redondo.

Both power plants will be of concrete, 50x60 feet in ground dimensions, and will house related water wheels and generators. This portion of the construction work, however, is the smallest part of the whole enterprise, even including the steel towered 12-mile transmission line that will be constructed down the valley.

The hard and expensive work will be the construction of eight miles of concrete lined flumes and tunnels by which the motive producing waters will be diverted from Mill creek near its source and sent spinning through the interlinked spillway of flumes and tunnels on a sheer drop of hundreds of feet upon the water wheel that will put electric life into the generators.

It is the driving of these tunnels, some of which will plunge straight through rocky cones, others through conglomerate slopes, and the locating and constructing of the flumes that will require the maximum of time and money.

CHARLTON TELLS
OF FIRE FIGHTINGSupervisors of Government Forests
Makes Report on Service

"So far as the fire season just closed is concerned I think we have been remarkably fortunate when one considers that on the entire forest there was a total of 131 fires; 56 of these occurred in the San Bernardino range, burning over a total of 1,487 acres. Most of this acreage was burned over in two fires which occurred in Whitewater Canyon and because of their inaccessibility it was very difficult to get men into."

"During the summer there were 17 men patrolling the San Bernardino Mountains. Temporarily during the deer season we increased this number because of the increased danger. This is the first year that we have ever been able to do this."

"On May 27 the president eliminated from the forest approximately one and one-half townships, constituting a part of the San Bernardino range. These lands lie on the north side of the mountains and were of no value for forest or watershed purposes."

"During the past year approximately 100,000 acres of the San Bernardino Mountains were examined by representatives of the forest service and bureau of soils with a view to restoring to entry such portions as were more valuable for agriculture than forestry. No definite action has been taken as a result of this examination, so I cannot state how much land has been segregated. This work will probably continue until the entire forest has been examined."

"During the past fiscal year we have sold approximately 300 M feet, board measure, of timber. One-third of this was used locally on the ground. We are not selling any which is shipped into the general market."

"During the past fiscal year there were grazed under permit in the San Bernardino Mountains approximately 2,500 head of cattle and horses."

"Our improvement work we are only just starting since all of the rangers take their vacation during December. We have now added to our telephone system until every permanent ranger is connected by telephone and if funds permit we propose installing along existing lines on lookout points, look boxes containing portable phones, so that a ranger even when away from his headquarters will not have to go far before being able to reach a phone. This, needless to say, is a very important point in our fire protection plans."

Two new lines have been constructed, the one from Seven Oaks to Bear Valley, the other from Fredalba to Green Valley."

"We co-operated financially in the construction of a wagon road extending from Fillmore Flat to Seven Oaks, because in case of fire we could save considerable time and distance. We have constructed a new trail up the middle fork of Lytle Creek, making the entire canyon accessible. Another trail has been constructed from Fawnskin Valley to Cienega Larga. With the improvement of Big Bear Valley reservoir it became apparent that we had to have some means to getting from one side of the lake to the other without going the entire way around it and we have completed a trail below the dam which makes this possible. We started a trail from Green Valley into Holcomb Creek and worked upon it until the snow drove us out. We are just completing a trail from Houston Flats to what is known as Tunnel Two. Several years ago we constructed in the vicinity of Clark's ranch in Santa Ana Canyon, some very wide fire breaks, but at that time did not have sufficient money to grub the brush. This a crew of men are working on now and while it is expensive work, yet I consider those breaks among the most important we have. The fire danger in Santa Ana Canyon in the last two years has been trebled because of the increased traffic. I am reserving some of the funds made available by the state for the clearing of the chain of fire breaks extending along the foothills immediately back of San Bernardino Valley. This work we shall do in the spring."

"It might interest you to know that this year two rangers from the northern part of the state have been assigned here to help us with our winter work, and while two men cannot accomplish much, yet this is an excellent move and another year we are going to see if I cannot get 10 or 12 more and I believe I will succeed because there are undoubtedly many places in the north where the rangers can accomplish little during the winter."

SPREADING WATER
ON DEBRIS CONE

Francis Cuttle Tells of Work at Conservation Meeting at Riverside

At the last meeting of the tri-counties reforestation committee at Riverside, the president, Francis Cuttle, in his annual report made the following interesting reference to the work of spreading water on the debris cone of the Santa Ana river.

"During 1913 there was spread by the Water Conservation Association an average of 680 inches for 100 days. At the present time there is about 500 inches of water being spread daily. Some men are employed building reservoirs in the different dry creek beds which will raise the water about four feet at the dam, backing it up in some instances 250 to 300 feet, making lakes of one-half to one acre in extent. From experiments so far carried on it has been found that more water can be sunk in these lakes by the building of dams, than by the building of shafts or pits, one of which was completed by the association, 630 feet square, some 40 feet deep. A record was kept of the amount of water going into this pit and it was found that it would only absorb about 30 inches perpetual flow."

At the last meeting of this committee W. E. Pedley very kindly suggested a plan of constructing a dam by placing boulders inside of a wire bag. So far it has not been possible for Mr. Pedley and the officers of the conservation association to get together to make an examination of the location of the proposed dam. A record was kept of the amount of water going into this pit and it was found that it would only absorb about 30 inches perpetual flow."

On April 8, 1912, the Interstate Commerce Commission held that the shippers had the right to the precooling privilege and ruled that $7.50 was a reasonable charge for the services rendered by the carriers. The railroad companies attacked in the Commerce Court the original order of the commission of January 14, 1911, fixing $7.50 as a reasonable rate on precooled shipments and also the commission's order of April 8, 1912, requiring the carriers to permit precooled shipments at that sum. The contention of the railroads was that the shippers had no right to ice the bunkers of their fruit cars. The Commerce Court upheld the commission and dismissed the petition of the carriers, whereupon an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The rate demanded by the railroads for precooling and icing was $62.50. The shippers found that they could do this for $30 on a car and at the same time load more fruit in a car by reason of loading less ice. The court allowed the $7.50 for hauling the ice, but the railroads claimed that the precooling and icing was properly and legally a part of the transportation, and that it was not only their right, but their duty to perform this service.

In delivering the opinion, Justice Lamar said: "What is a proper rate on freight in precooling shipment or a fair charge for hauling necessary ice or rendering other transportation services are all rate-making matters committed to the commission. It may determine what shall be the difference in rates between carload and less than carload lots. It may decide whether the difference in revenue, due to a difference in the method of loading, warrants the difference in the rate on carload shipments of the same article. It may prescribe the form in which schedules shall be prepared and arranged and may approve tariffs stating that the single rate includes both the line haul and accessory services absorbed in the rate. Conversely it may prescribe a tariff fixing a through rate which includes not only the haul of the fruit but the haul of the ice necessary to keep the fruit in condition. All these are matters committed to the decision of the administrative body, which in each instance is required to fix reasonable rates and establish reasonable practices. SUPREME COURT
DECIDES FOR
PRECOOLINGSAYS GROWERS AND SHIPPERS
HAVE THE RIGHT IN SHIPPING
FRUITRAILROADS WANTED THE JOB OF ICEING THE PRODUCT AND CLAIMED MONOPOLY

Interesting from a legal standpoint almost as much as it is to the citrus fruit growers from a financial standpoint, the judgment of the highest court in the land recently means many hundreds of thousands of dollars annually to the California growers and shippers of lemons and oranges.

The Supreme Court of the United States held that the California fruit growers have a right to precool shipments of fruit if they wish to do so, and that the rate of $7.50 prescribed by the Interstate Commerce Commission is not unreasonable or confiscatory.

The case came up on appeal from the Commerce Court, which upheld the finding of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Both the lower courts were upheld by the Supreme Court. The railroads involved are the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe, the Southern Pacific and the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake railroads.

On April 8, 1912, the Interstate Commerce Commission held that the shippers had the right to the precooling privilege and ruled that $7.50 was a reasonable charge for the services rendered by the carriers. The railroad companies attacked in the Commerce Court the original order of the commission of January 14, 1911, fixing $7.50 as a reasonable rate on precooled shipments and also the commission's order of April 8, 1912, requiring the carriers to permit precooled shipments at that sum. The contention of the railroads was that the shippers had no right to ice the bunkers of their fruit cars. The Commerce Court upheld the commission and dismissed the petition of the carriers, whereupon an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The rate demanded by the railroads for precooling and icing was $62.50. The shippers found that they could do this for $30 on a car and at the same time load more fruit in a car by reason of loading less ice. The court allowed the $7.50 for hauling the ice, but the railroads claimed that the precooling and icing was properly and legally a part of the transportation, and that it was not only their right, but their duty to perform this service.

In delivering the opinion, Justice Lamar said: "What is a proper rate on freight in precooling shipment or a fair charge for hauling necessary ice or rendering other transportation services are all rate-making matters committed to the commission. It may determine what shall be the difference in rates between carload and less than carload lots. It may decide whether the difference in revenue, due to a difference in the method of loading, warrants the difference in the rate on carload shipments of the same article. It may prescribe the form in which schedules shall be prepared and arranged and may approve tariffs stating that the single rate includes both the line haul and accessory services absorbed in the rate. All these are matters committed to the decision of the administrative body, which in each instance is required to fix reasonable rates and establish reasonable practices. The courts have not been invested with any such power. They cannot make rates. They cannot interfere with rates fixed or practices established by the commission unless it is made plainly to appear that those ordered are void. No such showing is made in this case. The decree must therefore be affirmed."

BUMPER CROPS OF FRUIT THIS YEARRailroad Man Says It Is the Heaviest in History

Pacific Coast citrus fruit growers this year have produced a bumper crop, according to a statement made recently by E. O. McCormick, vice-president of the Southern Pacific railroad. "This year's crop of oranges alone," according to Mr. McCormick, "will be sufficient to provide at least 15 oranges for every person in the United States."

Estimates at present placed the California shipments at 40,000 cars, more than double that of a year ago and more than has been sent East in any year in the life of the industry. The 40,000 cars would average 400 boxes each, and every box would contain between 90 and 100 oranges, making approximately a billion and a half of oranges shipped.

"For three years there has been a shortage of rain and snow in California," said Mr. McCormick. "This year the rains came early and regularly. The mountains are filled with snow and a big crop is assured."

DIED ON THE JOB

"Old Charlie," for 20 years a familiar figure along the southwestern section of the Southern Pacific, was known to Southern Pacific trainmen everywhere, is dead, much to the grief of those who knew him. He was known by no other name, and his real identity will probably always be shrouded in mystery.

"Old Charlie" was mentally deficient in many ways, but he had a keen eye for track trouble, and while not employed by the Southern Pacific, performed voluntarily and diligently the work of track walker on a continuous journey that usually found him somewhere between El Paso and Yuma. He was known to members of every train crew, station agents, and practically all of the section crews in the Southwest, and every one did his best to lighten the burdens of his life. For 20 years, he took the railroad under his care, and scores of times he inspected block signals and roadbed, all the time sending in painstaking and what to his mind were essential reports on conditions as he saw them. The management received them in the spirit in which he sent them, and good-humoredly thanked him for his efforts.

Whenever "Old Charlie" chose to enter a railroad restaurant, he got a good meal, and trainmen were lenient when he wanted a lift in his weary trip across the country. Recently his health began to fail, and, although many wanted to look out for him in some substantial way, he refused all help and indignantly insisted that he must keep on with his work of inspection.

A few days ago a dead body was found near the right of way four miles east of Benson. It had been mutilated by coyotes. A closer inspection showed it to be that of "Old Charlie."

WANT MONEY

A letter signed by H. B. Curley, of the Exposition Board of Los Angeles, has forwarded a set of resolutions to the Board of Supervisors.

The resolution asks that the sum of $2,404.44 be voted by the Board, to retain 20,000 square feet of floor space for the county in the San Francisco exposition.

Mr. Curley explains in his letter that he has already sent a check large enough to hold the space until the board passes upon the resolution.

He states that all that will be necessary is for the board to do is to "affix their signatures to the resolution."
