

CONSERVATION OF WATERS IS SUBJECT

ANNUAL MEETING OF INLAND WATERWAYS ASSOCIATION TO BE HELD AT SAN FRANCISCO

DELEGATES REPRESENTING THE STATE, COUNTIES AND CITIES WILL DISCUSS IMPORTANT QUESTION

The three annual meeting of the Inland Waterways association of California and a special congress under its auspices, will be held in the Palace hotel, San Francisco, Monday and Tuesday, February 21-22, 1916. All sessions of the congress, which will open at 10 A. M., February 21st, will be public, and a cordial invitation to attend and participate in its discussions is extended to all who believe in a comprehensive plan for dealing with the waters of the state.

To add to the interest of the congress and make it a more effective, its discussions will center upon the one general topic: What Reorganization of state and Federal Agencies is Needed to Promote Economy and Efficiency in Work for the Conservation, Control and Utilization of the Waters of California? At the opening session there will be a graphic presentation of California water problems. In the afternoon a plan for a state and national department of public works will be presented, and there will be an open discussion to determine what consolidation and coordination of the work of present state boards and commissions is practicable. In the forenoon of February 22nd the reorganization of Federal agencies proposed by the Nevada-Bronson bill, will be considered, and the Congress will close with a study of some of the financial problems involved in dealing with the public with the waters of the state.

Only a few set addresses will be delivered, as it is desired to give ample time for general discussion, in order that the association may have the benefit of a representative expression of public opinion to guide it in its plans for future work.

All members of the association will be recognized as delegates to the congress and are urged to attend it and to plan to remain for the annual business session the afternoon of February 22nd. Organizations and political subdivisions are urged to send more than one membership are urged to send the full number of representatives to which they are entitled.

The appointment of delegates to the congress is also earnestly requested on the following basis:

By the governor of the state, 15 delegates.

By each federation of state wide scope interested in the work of the Inland Waterways Association, 15 delegates.

By each mayor, each board of supervisors, the governing body of each irrigation, water, reclamation, drainage or flood control district, and each other or public agency dealing with water, five delegates.

By each chamber of commerce, board of trade, improvement club, women's club, farmers' association or other organization interested in water problems, five delegates. The names and addresses of delegates appointed should be sent promptly to the association, 160 Pine street, San Francisco, in order that complete details regarding the congress may be sent them.

Special round trip rates on the certificate plan from all parts of California have been granted on all railroads on account of the Congress. These tickets will be on sale from February 19 to February 22nd inclusive, and return tickets will be honored leaving San Francisco any time after the certificates have been signed by the secretary of the congress until the first of February 24th. Full fare must be paid to San Francisco and a certificate must be secured when purchasing the ticket. This certificate, when signed by the Secretary of the congress, will entitle the holder to purchase a return ticket at one third the regular fare. All delegates are urged to secure these certificates, and not to make use of the Washington's birthday rates, which will be available for a more limited time.

The use of the certificates will enable delegates to leave home Saturday, February 19th, enjoy the week at the city and return to their home on Monday and Tuesday after, and begin at 9 a. m. February 21st, and it is desired that credentials be presented as early as possible. While the program has been planned for two days, an extension of the discussions may be desired by the delegates, so that all are urged to be prepared to remain at least until the 23rd.

It is hoped to make this meeting the most notable in the history of the association. Following the exposition, should come an era of broad, constructive work for the development of California. Of basic importance are the waters of the state, if they are properly controlled and used. The need for a unified state policy in regard to waters was officially recognized by the legislature in 1915, which authorized the appointment of six persons to cooperate with certain state officials in preparing recommendations for such a policy. The governor has made the appointments and the body is at work under the name of the State Water Problems conference. Its objects are in direct line with the efforts of the association. This organization is the only state wide association dealing with this subject. In a comprehensive way it solicits the support of all who are interested in up-building a great commonwealth.

MCPHEE HELD UP SHORT WEIGHT OLIVES

Declares Shippers and Dealers Must Obey the Law

George McPhee, county sealer of weights and measures, is here showing an unusual fondness for canned olives of late. He is ordinarily satisfied with olives that come out of a barrel and are lifted out with a silver spoon, if that is what that kind of an implement is called.

McPhee's present activity in relation to pickled olives, however, is not one of appetite but of weight. He is taking steps to see that consumers of olives in this county get as much as they pay for, according to law. The state law and the federal law say that olives shall be sold as "net weight fruit." That means that the brine shall not be included.

In the last day of two McPhee has opened cans of eighteen different brands, and he has found that nine brands were short weight. Some cans that were marked two pounds had only eighteen and a half ounces of olives in them.

Tuesday McPhee opened up cases shipped by the Curtis Olive company of Los Angeles. He found that cans that should have contained from 25 to 32 ounces of olives contained only 15 to 18 ounces. Thirteen cases of these olives were ordered held up from sale. In each case are 24 cans. McPhee is to continue his investigations.

"I am told," said McPhee, "that last year's olive crop was so large that the canners have been unable to handle right now to supply the coming year's demand, even if none of this year's olives are sold."

SWEET POTATO CROP TO BE SHORT

The Fullerton sweet potato production this year is estimated to be below that of last year. Shipments have been stopped for the present because of the rain. Last year, citrus growers had planted sweet potatoes between the rows. Many of the trees this year have been killed by frost.

Below that figure, according to growers' calculations. Possibly the largest single producer of sweet potatoes in the county is the Stern and Goodman ranch, where it is estimated that 900 sacks will be produced this year. Several smaller ranches are also producing. Information there will produce crops ranging from 150 to 200 sacks.

ANOTHER SUGAR FACTORY FOR THE SOUTH

H. S. HADSAHL SUCCEEDS IN PROMOTING A $750,000 PLANT AT SAN DIEGO

WILL HAVE A CAPACITY OF 600 TONS DAILY—BEET LAND IS PLENTIFUL

H. S. Hadsahl, the man who, five years ago, promoted the Anaheim Sugar factory, and later the Southern California company's plant at Santa Ana, has been at work for some months at San Diego on another big factory, and has again been successful. He is doing valuable work for Southern California. He is developing an industry which will eventually be one of the greatest in the Southland, as work comes from Washington that the protective duty is to be maintained.

The San Diego Union, speaking of the new plant, says: Preliminary steps for the establishment of a new sugar manufacturing enterprise in San Diego were taken yesterday in this city under the direction of H. S. Hadsahl of Los Angeles, who is the promoter and director of similar enterprises that have been in successful operation for some time in this state. The factories are at Anaheim and Santa Ana, the latter plant being operated by the Southern California Sugar company and the former by the Anaheim Sugar company.

The articles of incorporation of the company to do business in San Diego were filed yesterday in the county clerk's office under the name of the proposed plant, the San Diego Sugar company. The capital stock is $750,000, of which Hadsahl and his associates are the promoters and directors. Frank Salmons, E. J. Henning, F. Wagner, F. M. White and F. C. Jackson.

At a meeting of the board of directors to be held in a few days it is planned to elect John S. Akerman president of the company. A. C. Bradley of Chula Vista, a retired banker from Colorado, is interested in the enterprise and will take a position on the board of directors. The plant will cost about $600,000 and will be ready for the manufacture of sugar about July 1, 1917.

The site has not yet been decided upon, but it is at an advantageous point on the San Diego water front. It will take fully a year to erect the factory and equip it for operations. Beets will be contracted for this fall, the harvest to begin in July of 1917. The season for making sugar in this section begins in the latter part of July and the beets are all cut from November 1 to 15.

The mill will have a capacity for the handling of about 600 tons of beets daily. I have thoroughly investigated the beet culture within a 50-mile radius of the proposed plant and find there are about 20,000 acres of land available for beet culture within a 50-mile radius of the proposed plant. The best of this land is in the Tia Juana valley and along the line of the San Diego & Arizona railway. The land is reasonably and practical, as many beet sugar factories draw their supplies of raw material from a distance of one hundred miles.

"The San Diego plant will have a capacity of from twelve million to fifteen million pounds of sugar a year. The growers will be paid six dollars—and sometimes more—a ton, which is a very high price for sugar. The local banks to the producers of raw material for the operation of the plants of from $200,000 to $400,000 a year."

It was pointed out by the experienced promoter that a beet sugar factory unlike most other manufacturing enterprises on this coast, will secure its raw materials from the land surrounding it, and not send large sums for those materials to other sections of the country.

Hadsahl expressed himself as so pleased with San Diego and so confident in its future as a manufacturing and business center that he has decided to make this city his headquarters personally direct the big enterprise. Henning & McGee are attorneys for the San Diego Sugar company.

CITY OF MANY MEMORIES

The gathering of the hosts for the final Balkan struggle about Salonki is no novelty to that ancient city of many memories, for Salonki is the Thessalonica of New Testament times of the 70's, of the 50's, of the 40's, of the 30's, of the 20's, of the 10's, of the 0's. In 43 B. C. it was captured by the Athenians but Macedonian rule was soon restored, to be broken by the Romans after the battle of Pydna in 168 B. C. There Cleopatra spent her short exile in 58. Pompey's party made it headquarters for the 40's. The city became a free city in 39, as reward for services to Augustus in his struggle with Sextus Pompeius. The city flourished and in the time of Jesus Shoe Shop in Rear of Pedernan Shoe Store was the capital of all the region between the Adriatic and the Black Sea. Before the founding of Constantinople, Thessalonica was virtual capital of Macedonia.

It stood upon the Greek and Illyrian. It stood upon the Gothic and Slav, but was taken by the Saracens in 904 A. D., by the Normans of Sicily in 1185 and by the Turks in 1380. It was sold to the Venetians 23 years later and then captured by the Turks in 1430. For nearly 500 years it remained in the control of the Turks, who transformed its early Christian churches including that of St. George, reputed to have been built by Constantine, into mosques. The fanatical Mohammedans in 1876 stirred the world by slaying the German and French consuls. It was the seat of a Greek metropolitan and in the Balkan war Greece captured the city and its retention became the bone of contention with Bulgaria.

The city contains architecture of various periods. Roman and Hellenic walls, Venetian castles and Moslem mosques. It has always been a great mart. But not the least interesting thing about it is the fact that St. Paul, on his second missionary journey, accompanied by Silas and Timothy, preached at Thessalonica, and established a church there, composed largely of Gentiles. It became such a center of Christian activity that it was nicknamed "Orthodox City." Paul wrote one and perhaps two of his earliest epistles from epistles to this church. The apostle Corinth in the latter part of the city a greater and more enduring fame than that derived from its commercial importance.

SURVEY ROAD UP MT. SHASTA

An auto road up Mt. Shasta, as a part of the forest service plans for the reclamation and development of the Shasta National forest, is under discussion between the forest service and the Northern California counties association.

In response to a request made by this association, the forest service has set aside funds for a preliminary survey of the proposed route of this road and a examination of the region that will be tapped by it. Forest surveyors that this survey will be made by a competent engineer early in the spring, and that among the first things to be determined by the examination will be the area of the regions suitable for summer homes, permanent camps, and resort sites on Mt. Shasta which will be made accessible by the proposed road. This plan, Mr. Woodbury says, fits in well with the recent decision of the Forest service to push more energetically the recreational use of the national forests. For furthering this kind of use, certain areas in each forest are being subdivided into recreation sites to be leased by the government.

The Northern Counties association has been asked to cooperate with the forest service by furnishing information as to the number of people in the Sacramento valley tributary to the Shasta region, and the proportion of the public that might be expected to take advantage of the summer-home privileges on the Shasta national forest. Should it be found that a road up Mt. Shasta would place the recreational opportunities of this forest within the reach of a fair proportion of people, the forest service promises that most serious consideration will be given at once to the construction of the road.

LOWEST RECORD FOR TARIFF RATES

A low record for the Underwood law as a revenue producer was made up the week ended December 25th, 1915. The average duty rate for the week was 87, the worst showing thus far made by the Underwood tariff since its enactment in October, 1913. President Wilson and Senator Underwood ought to be proud of the Christmas present to Uncle Sam which their tariff fully protected. On imports valued at $30,799,642, entered at the 13 principal customs districts of the U. He is at his wit's end trying to make both ends meet. Everything going out and nothing coming in, so far as revenues are concerned.

On account of the lower prices received for oil during 1915, the income on our oil was reduced about $6000.00, although the total production was one-sixth more than last year. The price is now increasing and the prospects for next year are brighter. Our royalties on gasoline produced on the Amalgamated lease amount to about $2000.00 per month.

We believe the company is to be congratulated on the financial showing made the past year, when financial conditions in general have been so very hard. In spite of all this our company has been able, principally through the personal efforts of its President, to convert all its one-day notes to notes payable on or before three years, and this at a six per cent rate of interest, and without the payment of any commission or allowance of any discount. The company has a better working capital, and that we now have a balance of about $2000. due to consumers where we used to have as much as $15,000 outstanding. It has also saved the company considerable loss on bills which could not be collected.

We also wish to call attention to the reduction of about $40,000 in our indebtedness, and hope that we may continue to reduce it even more next year. We note that the system of paying for water in advance has given the company a better working capital, and that we now have a balance of about $2000. due to consumers where we used to have as much as $15,000 outstanding. It has also saved the company considerable loss on bills which could not be collected.

The undersigned, members of the Board of Audit, have carefully examined all books, papers and other records appertaining to the business of the Company for the year ending December 31, 1915, and find that the same have been kept in a correct, neat, clear and intelligent manner; and that the foregoing is a full, true and complete report taken from the books covering the above mentioned period.

Respectfully submitted,
ARTHUR STALEY,
MAX NEBELUNG,
Board of Audit.

ORANGE COUNTY'S ROADS

BEST IN THE COUNTRY
167 Miles of Paved Highway in County Outside Cities

The Orange county supervisors are endeavoring to secure another connection between their good roads system and that of Los Angeles county, and that of Los Angeles county, and are seeking the cooperation of Los Angeles county and abutting property owners who have the five or six-mile link to the Pomona boulevard built, says the Times.

Supervisors T. B. Talbot of Orange county's second district and William Schumacher of the third district have been in Los Angeles the past week to confer with local officials.

Both Mr. Talbot and Mr. Schumacher are enthusiastic over Orange county's road system, which is now nearly complete, and the commercial advantages it has brought. Practically every city and town in the entire county now has paved road connection. Outside of incorporated cities the county has 167 miles of good highways, said to be the greatest mileage in proportion to area of any county in the west.

The county has lately completed a road from Santa Ana, via Tustin, to Irvine ranch house. Two spurs to Wintersburg and Smelter on the Huntington Beach-Santa Ana line have also been built recently. A six-mile stretch from Yorba to Placentia is now in course of construction. A road between Los Alamitos and Artesia connecting with the Long Beach boulevard by way of Westminster and Santa Ana is nearly completed.

The coast road has been built to Los Potos and the east end of the county to Wintersburg. Of the uncompleted portion between Los Potos and Balboa it is proposed to do construction work as far as Huntington Beach soon and the remainder later. For the majority have been using Zerolene in preference to all other oils. They agree with the experts.

Zerolene is made from selected California petroleum— asphalt-base—under the supervision of the Standard Oil Company. Next time you empty the crank case, refill with Zerolene.

Many leading gas-engine experts have recently declared that Zerolene is the best oil for use in gas engines. Zerolene is made from selected California petroleum— asphalt-base—under the supervision of the Standard Oil Company. Next time you empty the crank case, refill with Zerolene.

RAILROAD COMMISSION ISSUES IMPORTANT ORDER

Telephone Companies Must Conform To New Set of Rules

The state railroad commission has issued an order which radically altered installation charges of telephone companies throughout California. The order having been issued to the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, which operates all over the state, but it is believed all other telephone companies will change their rules to conform to it. Changes made through the workings of the new ruling are as follows:

No further charge is to be made for the mere change of users of the same phones. At present $3.50 is collected from the new occupant of a room or house who retains a telephone instrument already in. The sum of $3.50 has been demanded for turning over the phone to the new tenant.

This charge is done away with entirely. The succeeding occupant of a house, room or office may continue to use the phone of the former occupant, without any charge other than the usual rental.

The discrimination between old and new patrons and old and new buildings is removed by the new ruling.

Occupants of a new house have not been charged for installation of a phone. By the new order, both old and new pay $3.50 for installation, but the money is returned after a year's continuous service.

When the rule as to installation was first filed with the railroad commission by the companies, a charge of $5.00 was made by them for installing. It was known as a cancellation charge and was returned to the customer after a year of patronage.

This was reduced to $3.50 and was not returned, but retained for payment for the work of installation, which the companies state is greater than that sum.

STATE'S REVENUES FROM CORPORATIONS

Thirteen and a Half Millions Collected During Past Fiscal Year

The total collection from the corporation franchise tax, the state's largest source of revenue, was $13,516,045.50, according to figures announced by the state controller.

In 1914, for the year June 30, 1913, to June 30, 1914, the total collected by the state reached $12,683,101. The collections for the period ending June 30, 1915, will be more than $14,000,000.

Railroads and street railways were the largest payers of taxes to the state, totaling $4,879,544.64. Payments made by other corporations were: Gas and electric corporations, $1,815,175.78; telephone and telegraph, $708,253.32; express, $107,755.74; car companies, $125,614.16; insurance companies, $135,492.78; national banks, $100,000.00; savings banks, $880,142.81; oil companies, $430,551.15; water companies, $22,400.00; miscellaneous, $107,287.50; building and loan, $14,011.11; mercantile and other concerns, $1,100,750.

CATCH YOUR DINNER WHILE THE COOK WAITS

Unique Restaurant Being Opened at Seal Beach

Work on one of the most unique cafes in the world, an eating establishment where you go in and instead of paying a tray a la carte, you are handed a net to catch your own fish or lobsters from a big pool containing the sea inhabitants, located in the middle of the room, will commence within two weeks, in Seal Beach, according to an announcement made by Frank Burt, proprietor.

Those who do not care for the flesh of the fishy tribe, a table providing the choicest uncooked steaks and chops will be provided. The fish and lobsters that will be offered for sale in the new cafe will be caught right off the Seal Beach pier and transferred to the tank, within the more convenient reach of its patrons. The fish will be cleaned and all cooking done in the public view.

Frank Burt, resort manager, has given notice to all the present tenants on his ocean front property to vacate immediately that alterations may be made on the dance hall, bowling alley, cafe and bath house. Work on the new projects will also be started within two weeks.

Two big deals that have actually been consummated thus far in the work of promoting the park are the letting of the contract for the erection of the routing center to the Ingersoll Contracting Company of New York, which Charles Page is the building superintendent, and the awarding of the contract for 370,000 feet of lumber for bulkhead work on Seal Beach. The lumber will be delivered this week.

The bath house, which will also be enlarged for the addition of several bathing dressing rooms. Another building will be erected to house the bowling alley, the space now taken up by the athletic equipment having been leased for a cafe.

A big space half a block long will be reserved for picnic parties. A special kitchen where hot coffee and sandwiches may be prepared will be erected for the use of the pleasure-seekers who desire to bring their lunch with them.

John Martin, a negro prisoner, who says he was with Dimmeck when he entered the stream, stated that Dimmeck attempted to persuade him to escape with him. Martin says no man could cross the stream or live after entering it. Dimmeck has not been seen since. He once before escaped from the camp and was rearrested on the desert. He was serving a sentence of one year.

Supervisors WIRE
PROTEST TO KETNER
Other Telegrams Sent Objecting to Turning Los Angeles County Water in Los Alamitos Bay

The board of supervisors of Orange county, in special session called by Chairman Talbot for this purpose on Thursday sent the following telegram to Congressman William Ketner, of this district protesting against the drainage plan now attempted to be carried out by Los Angeles county, such being mentioned, in connection with a resolution adopted by the Taxpayers' League.

"Santa Ana, Cal, Jan. 20, 1916. Hon. William Ketner, House Representative, Washington City, D. C.

Our county is opposed to the proposed diversion of Rio Hondo and Los Angeles rivers into Anaheim Bay and Alamitos Bay. All public bodies in our county are opposed to it and our board of supervisors passed resolutions protesting against the same. We are informed that such diversion is to be accomplished by the joint action of Los Angeles county and the government of the United States. We believe that such diversion will deposit silt in and around said bays to such an extent that it will destroy the low water channel of said bays and thereby destroy the drainage therein of a densely populated, intensely cultivated and very productive portion of Orange county. We request you to oppose said project.

T. B. Talbot, chairman of the board of Supervisors; Jasper Leach, E. H. Smith, William Schumacher, Fred Struck, Supervisors."

Our telegrams were sent to Congressman Ketner, also to Senators Works and Phelan, the authors of such measures being the Bolo Drainage District officials, the Celery Growers Association and the Taxpayers League.

NEED OF PROTECTION

The extraordinary floods of last week, in which the sections of country north and south of us suffered great damage, recalls the efforts of the citizens of Anaheim to organize a river protection district that would be adequate to protect people in the danger zone. Anaheim took the initiative in this move, realizing the need of such work, but its efforts have always been defeated by the people who suffered the most when the rains descended and the floods came. One of the singular circumstances of the situation is that Anaheim which has always advocated protection, and even subscribed a private fund toward it, was comparatively high and dry during the recent inundation, while raging torrents tore through the sections north and south of us and caused incalculable damage to the people who refused to be taken for protection.

The first attempt to form a protection district was made four years ago. The proposed assessment district was a large one, taking in a vast scope of country to the west and south. The proposition was to build adequate dikes along the right bank of the river, and protect this entire section of the county. Several million dollars worth of property was incorporated within the lines, and the assessment on each individual would have been insignificant, but when the proposition came up before the supervisors 1247 persons protested out.

The supervisors advised the Anaheim protectionists to form a smaller district leaving out the malcontents. This was attempted, and we recall a meeting at the board of trade rooms in this city at that time. Representatives from Fullerton and Garden Grove were present. The best orators from these two towns were on hand, and the sentiment among them was unanimous that their sections should be eliminated from the proposed district. The speakers denounced the proposition, and declared that if Anaheim people wanted protection they should build it without asking outside aid, and their communities would construct their own, provided the citizens considered it necessary.

Some of the Garden Grove delegates at that meeting ridiculed the idea of possible danger from the river's overflow, others, more conservative, stated they would form their own district and build their own protection. They suggested that Anaheim construct its section and Garden Grove would look after its own. But the people were evidently unimpressed. At least they did nothing to fulfill their promise, feeling smugly satisfied that they were immune, but the floods of last week opened their eyes. The break in the river sent a torrent of water through that town and on Tuesday it was submerged to a depth of four feet—four feet in the business houses on its principal streets. The damage resulting to the people in that section cannot be estimated at present, but it is safe to say the cost of river protection would have been small in comparison. Then there was added the discomfort of wading around in cold muddy water up to your armpits in your parlor, your dining room, your kitchen and your bedroom. This newspaper never jears at our neighbors' misfortunes, and it doesn't even like to remind them that "I told you so," but this appears to be an opportune time to remind the Garden Grove people that they were warned that time was when that country was under water and history might repeat itself; also that certain leading citizens scoffed at the idea of danger from overflow in that region, and that certain others promised that if Anaheim would protect its river front without asking outside aid, Garden Grove would look after its own interests.

But the inundation of Tuesday was not the real menace to Garden Grove. There was a break in the river bank a mile below the Olive bridge and the flood Wednesday and Thursday and Friday was cutting a new channel through, past the county hospital, directly into that town. Nothing but a dispensation of Providence prevented the utter destruction of the place. If the rains had continued Wednesday and Thursday, and brought down more water, and if the river had not pined a new channel through the sand dunes, at its mouth, thus draining the thousands of acres of inundated lowlands and releasing the flood above, the main channel of the Santa Ana would have been cut through Garden Grove practically wiping the town off the map.

To the north of us the situation was almost as bad. The river broke through at the bend just above the end of Anaheim's protection works, and raging torrents rolled down between North street and Fullerton, most of the country being under water. Immense damage was done among the orchards and to the property, but it is impossible to calculate the extent. Fullerton also protested out of the proposed district on the ground that it would construct its own section if it was necessary. A few of the ranchers between this city and Fullerton favored the protection as proposed by Anaheim, but they were overwhelmed by the opposition. As a result they have seen thousands of dollars washed away that could have been saved by the expenditure of a few dollars in protection. Trees have been uprooted, both to the north and south of us, the surface soil washed away, and deep gullies cut through valuable lands.

While Anaheim took the lead in endeavoring to secure protection, the flood demonstrated that this city was less in need of it than any section in this river of the county. The protection work was not completed when the flood came, and was an easy prey to the raging waters. The river broke through its banks above the dike, and with a current in front and behind it was washed away. It did not prevent a drop in the water level, yet Anaheim was comparatively dry, and no damage was done in the city. There was back water as far west as the Santa Fe railroad, and a current through the north sections of the city, coming from the break at the bend in the river, but the damage was slight.

Since the disastrous floods of last week Supervisor Schumacher declares the only possible solution of the matter is to form a protection district embodying every acre of ground in Orange county on the west bank from the Fifth street bridge to the Santa Ana canyon road.

FIGHTING FOR HOME INDUSTRY

It is gratifying to note that Orange county people, outside of this city, are becoming interested in the Anaheim Beef & Provision company's battle for existence against the wholesalers and packers of Los Angeles, and that there is a disposition to aid behind the local concern. The rapid growth of this institution, which was established only nine months ago, became alarming to the big establishments, and they saw the necessity of checking its growth. In its infancy, or rather, shortly after its birth, it was sustained. Only eight months after it opened up for business it was compelled to employ four times as many men as it did at the beginning, in order to supply the demands of its customers.

The Anaheim company found that it could sell meat at a reasonable profit. A new stage line, known as the Blue Line stages, has commenced operations in this county, with headquarters at Santa Ana. Ten drivers are associated in the enterprise. From the county seat cars will be run on a 30-minute schedule to Orange and Fullerton. At Anaheim they connect with the 16-passenger Buick cars of the P. E. stages that run to Los Angeles on an hourly schedule. Connections are also made with the cars that run four times a day to San Diego and Imperial Valley points, over the Mission line. Commutation tickets will be issued by the Blue Line for regular patrons.

Last year, says Samuel Armor in the Orange News, the citizens of Anaheim and vicinity saw the necessity for providing a defense against the flood waters of the Santa Ana river; but the counsels of the pacifists prevailed and now, like the darkey who had committed a capital crime, those people are learning a lesson. After sentencing the negro to be hung the judge asked him if he had anything to say. He replied: "I tell you, Boss, them hangings will be a lesson to me."

The telephone interchange hearing which was to have been conducted at Santa Ana Tuesday, Jan. 7, has been temporarily postponed by the calendar and indefinitely postponed by the order of the Railroad commission, according to word received by Secretary Metzger of the Chamber of Commerce. The hearing was begun over a year ago.

VOLUNTEERS WANTED

Men who are working to repair the break in the river bank below the Olive bridge are in need of teams and men. The work is being done Wednesday and Thursday night, and brought down more water, and if the river had not pined a new channel through the sand dunes, at its mouth, thus draining the thousands of acres of inundated lowlands and releasing the flood above, the main channel of the Santa Ana would have been cut through Garden Grove practically wiping the town off the map.

A. B. McCord and wife were visiting friends in Los Angeles Saturday and Sunday.

Local Notes

R. B. Miller of Olive, was fined $100 in superior court Saturday for keeping a slot machine in his pool room.

John Beatty, a pioneer merchant of Santa Ana, died Saturday. His death was due to a stroke. Mr. Beatty was engaged in the mercantile business with M. M. Crookshank until recently, and it is said the death of his former partner last week aggravated his illness.

F. R. Hazard one of Orange county's prominent citizens, died suddenly at his home at Buena Saturday morning of heart failure. Mr. Hazard the previous day attended a meeting of citizens at Garden Grove called for the purpose of considering river protection. He was taken sick during the night, and died before medical aid could reach him.

Anaheim high school forfeited to Orange high school Wednesday in the basketball game scheduled for the third round of the county league championship. The game was to have been played at Anaheim but the Anaheim team decided to forfeit. This leaves Fullerton as the only team blocking the path of Orange toward the county title. The Fullerton game is scheduled for next week.

The people out on Sycamore street experienced an inundation during the flood without knowing it. Max Nelson reports that when he retired for the night, there was no indication of an overflow, and in the morning there was no water in sight, but his place looked like it had been visited by a gang of Halloweeners. Implements, ladders and boxes were scattered about in the Sycamore street.

He discovered on investigation that he had been visited by an overflow during the night, but the water had receded before daylight. Marks on his barn indicated that the flood had been eight inches deep on the floor. The wash-out on the Santa Fe track probably caused the water to recede.

Fullerton has at last come into full and undisputed ownership of its water system, through the recent payment of $6000 to the Fullerton Electric Water company. Three years ago, the trustees purchased the system for $12,500, with a small initial payment. The payments were to cover a period of three years. Last year $4500 was paid by the city and with the payment of $6000 recently, the payments were completed. Much of the equipment which was included when the Domestic Water company came into the hands of the city has been sold, the proceeds used to apply on the purchase price.

F. K. Greenwell has been in Santa Ana this week conferring with the balance of the committee relative to Orange county's exhibit at the National Orange show in February. The exhibit will be constructed at Placentia, and Mr. Greenwell declares it will be something unique, showing Orange county's products to good advantage.

The sum of $162.85 was taken in at the Anaheim booth. The total sum realized at all booths was $4725.38, net.

Miss Rose Clabough was visiting in Los Angeles Monday.

Mrs. S. M. Foster left Tuesday on a visit to friends in Detroit, Michigan.

S. M. Brown, the Orange attorney was in Anaheim on business Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Field and their son leave this week for Coahuila where they will take up their residence.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wallop returned home Monday from a six weeks' tour. They visited Denver, Salt Lake and San Francisco, and spent some time with relatives in New Mexico.

Funeral services were held yesterday at 2:30 P. M. for Mrs. M. A. Andrews, who died at her home near this city Tuesday. She was buried at Long Beach.

A. C. Bowers was elected president of the Anaheim Electric company at a meeting of stockholders held at Santa Ana last week. M. M. Crookshank, whose death occurred two weeks ago, was the president of the company.

The regular monthly meeting of the Anaheim Parent Teachers Association of the Grammar school will be held on next Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at Fremont school. A large attendance is desired, and members are requested to come prepared to pay their dues. An address will be delivered by C. H. Prince of the high school and music will be rendered by the grammar school orchestra.

On Friday evening, February 4, Bishop Johnson of the Episcopal church, will be at St. Michael's to confer the right of confirmation on several candidates. The service will begin at 7:30 p. m. Special music and sermon by the Bishop. Immediately after this service there will be an informal reception to the Bishop, and the newly confirmed class in the parish house. A cordial invitation is extended to the people of Anaheim to attend this service and the reception.

T. Yngvues, a Mexican who persisted in talking love to a 14-year-old American girl, was sentenced to jail at Santa Ana for six months. T. B. Niles was the prosecuting agent. He said that Yngvues followed the girl, told her he wanted her to be his sweetheart, and even went to the girl's house and tried to give her a lot of picture postcards. The girl's mother picked up a revolver and aimed it at Yngvues's head and he departed on the run. He again persisted in talking to the girl and Niles took the matter up with the officers.

As a demonstration of the attractiveness of metropolitan street lighting systems, a Colton, concern has agreed to place one electrician any place in Fullerton that the trustees desire. The light which is ten feet in height, is to be placed in the Fullerton park, merely as an advertisement by the Colton concern. Mayor Gregory said Colton had been some discussion among various merchants as to the advisability of placing a number of similar lights on Spadara street. The electricians, which he said, cost about $55 each must be paid for by the property owners along the street. Electrician's consent will be furnished by the city free.

LYCEUM CONCERT JAN. 29

The third number of the Lyceum course of the Anaheim high school will be given Saturday evening, Jan. 29 at 8 p. m.

"Ye Old Town Quartette" as its name implies, sings many selections of the old time, reminiscent class, but the better grade of music is not overlooked. Each member of the company has been thoroughly trained and their voices possess exceptional blending quality and sufficient volume to make their ensemble numbers most effective. Their solo work is far above that of most male quartettes. They offer original character sketches and impersonations that give variety and humor to the program, that in no way detract from the dignity of the entertainment. It is a pleasure to commend the company unreservedly. Remember the date, January 29.

PROFIT IN BLOOD

A comparison of the year of peace from September, 1913 to September, 1914, which was the first year of the Underwood law, with the year of war from September, 1914 to September, 1915, which was the second year of the Underwood law—as shown by government data presented by Congressman Humphrey of Washington shows that:

During the year of peace we sold in breadstuffs to Europe $181,484,000, a gain of 15 per cent.

In the year of war we sold $567,407,000, a gain of 213 per cent.

In the year of peace we sold to Europe horses to the value of $3,177,000. In the year of war we sold them horses to the value of $26,276,000, a gain of 3490 per cent.

In the year of peace we sold to Europe hay to the value of $622,000. In the year of war we sold them mules to the value of $18,044,000, a gain of 2795 per cent.

During the year of peace we sold to Europe hay to the value of $780,000. During the year of war we sold them mules to the value of $138,736,000. During the year of war we sold them mules and dairy products to the value of $243,095,000, a gain of 16 per cent.

During the year of peace we sold to Europe sugar to the value of $4,341,000. During the year of war we sold to Europe sugar to the value of $36,816,000, a gain of 748 per cent.

Prosperity has come to the American farmer because he is feeding 100,000,000 men who are shooting at each other in the trenches and on the battlefields of Europe. Prosperity has come to the mine owner because while during the year of peace we sold to Europe $12,870,000 worth of goods manufactured from aluminum, brass, lead and zinc, in the year of war we sold of the same products to Europe to the value of $66,730,000, a gain of 419 per cent. Zinc is necessary in the manufacture of shells. In this one item alone our sales increased from $185,900 in the year of peace to $26,325,000 in the year of war, a gain of 3253 per cent.

In the year of peace the Underwood tariff law closed many of our woolen mills and we sold to Europe only $4,753,000 of woolen goods. The year of war reopened them and we sold $32,057,000 worth of goods to Europe, a gain of 574 per cent.

In the year of peace we sold to Europe steel bars and billets to the value of $7,500,000. In the year of war we sold to Europe of the same products to the value of $21,743,000, a gain of 186 per cent.

In the year of peace we sold to Europe barbed and other wire to the value of $7,473,000. In the year of war we sold to Europe barbed and other wire to the value of $18,882,000, a gain of 153 per cent.

In the year of peace we sold to Europe firearms to the value of $3,171,000. In the year of war we sold to Europe firearms to the value of $11,591,000, a gain of 268 per cent.

In the year of peace we sold to Europe explosives to the value of $6,244,000. In the year of war we sold to Europe explosives to the value of $71,800,000, a gain of 1036 per cent.

We even made a profit from the wounds inflicted by our guns and ammunition. In the year of peace we sold to Europe medical appliances to the value of $1,571,000. In the year of war we sold to Europe medical appliances to the value of $5,216,000, a gain of 231 per cent.

These statistics show that the present great prosperity in eastern countries is largely derived from the conflict that is now devastating the world. Our trade with Europe during the year from September, 1914 to September, 1915, in the year of war, was compared with the year immediately preceding—the year of peace—increased in war orders alone, over $1,010,000,000.

Commenting on these statistics Congressman Humphrey said: "Every prosperous mill and mine, field and factory, in western Europe, even today is directly connected by the sold threads of gain with the blood-red battlefields of Europe. Cut these connections and our prosperity would wither as does the blossoming harvest before the hot winds of the desert. When the last echo of the last cannon shot dies in Europe, then dies our prosperity." Where do the products of our present prosperity go today? Where are they used? said Mr. Humphrey.

RELIEF FOR OIL MEN SHOULD BE PERMANENT

Need of a new city jail was admitted by Mayor Gregory, of Fullerton, who turns the present jail decidedly unsatisfactory. There is to be no action by the city, however, aside from repairs which are to be made on the old building.

"The jail is not very good," the mayor said, "but I do not think any steps will be taken toward building a new one at this time. We have ordered repairs on the old building which was somewhat damaged by the loss of a number of boards on one side."

"The jail, together with city trustees, should be situated in the city hall, but it will probably be several years before that is undertaken. I think about $35,000 would erect a suitable city hall on the lots owned by the city on Spadara street.

"As it is, the city owns only a half interest in the present jail, which was built by the county before Fullerton became an incorporated city.

"Of course if necessity compelled we would have to obtain a more suitable jail, the site would probably be in the building where the city officers are now located. I do not think, however, that anything will be done by the present board. A decision will be left to the new members.

"The terms of two other members of the city board expire at the coming election, as does my term and I shall not be a candidate for re-election.

"I became a candidate for the purpose of bringing about improvements and that purpose has been achieved. Six years is long enough for any man to hold office."

CAPITAL WELCOME IN CALIFORNIA

Only by opening the doors wide to the entry of capital freely into every field of enterprise can better business conditions be obtained.

With its enormous undeveloped resources, California should be the most inviting field in the world for capital in every line of industry.

With more money per capita invested in college and schools and more spent for education, investments should be absolutely safe here.

Laws attacking capital, high taxes, and too much regulation, of course, can keep capital out and have done so.

But indications are that the people are tired of political experiments and are willing to allow large and small business to develop normally.

Infelider Don Rader of the Vernon Tigers has joined the Fullerton club and will be seen in action at short. A fast club is being lined up to trim Tobery's P. E. nine in the three-game series.

J. W. Kinkade, a physical wreck, was given a five year probationary term in superior court Friday afternoon. The man recently pleaded guilty to forging the name of J. B. Handy of Villa Park to a $25 check given by Kinkade to A. M. Lorenzen, a storekeeper of Olive. Kinkade was on a homestead in the Hemet section where he was arrested. He is nearly blind and is suffering from gall stones. His physical condition was urged by Attorney W. W. Davis, as a reason for probation. The court, however, said that he wanted to know what those who knew Kinkade at Villa Park and Olive where he formerly lived, thought of the idea of giving probation to Kinkade. Friday afternoon a petition from residents of the two sections named was presented. Probation was given.

Suffering from insanity Mrs. Julia Martinez, residing with her husband and four small children near Garden Grove, was taken to the county hospital Monday afternoon by Constable J. M. Clark and Mrs. Clark, who is a deputy. She will be brought before the insanity commission within the next few days if there is no improvement in her mental condition. Mrs. Clark says that the case of Mrs. Martinez is most pitiful, as four small children are deprived of a mother's care. The poor woman labors under delusion that her brother had been thrown from a horse and fatally injured. For two days and nights in a downpour of rain she searched the roadsides and fields for him, crying and moaning piteously.

Mr. Bevilard, local representative of the Willard Storage Battery company, explains why one always finds much stronger terminals and connections on a Willard battery. "There is no use in putting all possible care in manufacture into a high grade battery," he says, "if you make the terminals so small that you can't get full use of your battery's capacity. It would be like building a big reservoir and connecting it with pipes too small to deliver the water. Besides, that the resistance offered is in inverse proportion of the size of the wiring and connections, causing overheating and other troubles."

ANAHEIM LOSES IN SECOND DEBATE

LOS ANGELES HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATS OUR ORATORS BY ONLY SEVEN POINTS

QUARTON, ONE OF ANAHEIM SPEAKERS, MADE HIGH RECORD IN THE CONTEST

Occasional defeat serves to stimulate contestants to greater exertions, especially when the contest is close, as was the case in the debate with Los Angeles high school Friday night, being the second in the Southern California Debating League series. Anaheim lost, the score being 186 to 179. This indicates that the judges were compelled to figure close in making a decision. Furthermore, Quarton, one of Anaheim's debaters, was given the highest rating among the four speakers.

Friday night was a bad one for traveling. Railroads were out of commission, bridges reported washed away and highways uncertain, but Miss Veda Walker, the instructor in elocution, and more than twenty others, accompanied the Anaheim speakers to Los Angeles. The debate was held in the auditorium of the Los Angeles high school. The subject was, "Resolved, that a law should be enacted providing for the compulsory arbitration of disputes between capital and labor." Quarton and Morris Martensen represented Anaheim, and were given the negative side of the question. The affirmative was upheld by Miss Anna Brokehall and James Boyle. Both sides fought stubbornly, but when the judges' figures were tallied Anaheim was found to be seven points behind.

The Anaheim high school expects to reverse the history of last winter's debates. It will be remembered that in the preliminary contest Anaheim defeated Los Angeles by seven points, the identical score by which they lost last Friday night. Frank Schmidt, Fred Owen were the local champions in the championship contest, with the same boys upholding our side, Los Angeles high defeated them by two and one-half points. Los Angeles lost the preliminary and won the championship from us last year. Perhaps we can reverse the score this season. Anaheim won the first debate of the series from Whittier by a decisive score of 16 points. George Kemp and Arthur Coons were the local debaters in that contest. Los Angeles high is our most dangerous opponent, but the fact that they were won by seven points and that one of Anaheim's debaters made the high score, is encouraging.

In the Orange county contest for the Davis cup, Anaheim was woefully outclassed, losing every one of its four debates, but if the brilliant young orators of the high school win the championship of Southern California, the minor debates will be forgotten.

SPILLED CRUDE ON HOUSE OF COUNCILMAN

Some miscreant evidently has a grudge against Councilman Geo. McPhee, living at the corner of Van Ness and West Fifth street, Santa Ana.

Some weeks ago a beer bottle was thrown through a window of the house at midnight, shattering the window pane, but injuring no one. A short time later a stone was thrown at the house at night striking the front door. Recently even worse tactics were taken, black crude oil being sprayed on the side of the house as high as the eaves, on the flowers in the yard and on the lawn, causing much unsightliness and damage to the yard decorations. The culprit should be apprehended and boiled in oil.

DIGGING UP OLD RECORDS

An all day argument in the litigation involving the Yorba estate that has been brought into Judge Rives' probate court at Los Angeles, records which have gathered dust in the court house archives for half a century. The records were dug up because the suit covers the question whether or not the great Yorba estate was ordered distributed after Bernardo Yorba's death, in 1858. Judge Rives took the question under submission.

The Yorba case records bear No. 129. Since those early days more than 50,000 cases have been filed. Much interesting history was revived by the attorneys in their argument covering the claims of Mrs. Beatrice A. Yorba-Johnson and Roberto Yorba Bailey for a one-seventeenth interest in the many million dollar estate. The suit is contested by the heirs who contend that the order of distribution was regular and that the matter is closed. The other side claim it is not closed. It was shown by the contestants that no petition was filed for the distribution of the estate, which covered 162,000 acres; that no notice was published; that the court had no jurisdiction to order a distribution; that the court did not ascertain who the heirs were, and there is nothing to show how the estate was distributed or who the heirs were.

A decision in favor of the contestants would close the title to millions of dollars worth of property upon which has been built bustling cities, many of them in this county.

Bernardo Yorba was the father of 17 children by three wives. One of the claims made is that fifteen of the children distributed the estate among themselves to the exclusion of the other two children. Two judges have adjudicated the issue in times past. This is the third attempt, and is attracting wide interest, because the property has changed hands so many times and has grown exceedingly valuable.

RIVER PROTECTION DISTRICT IMPERATIVELY DEMANDED

Every Acre of Land Lying West of River should be Embraced Within Its Confines

Supervisor Wm. Schumacher was in town late Friday evening and in speaking of the flood situation said the need of immediate action to afford protection to the section lying west of the river was imperative. He believes a river protection district should be formed at once taking in every acre of land west of the river, from the Fifth street bridge to the Santa Ana canyon. People to the north and south of the city have been hard hit, while in the western section, especially in the Garden Grove district, the situation is serious. Immediate action must be taken if the people are to be given assurance that there will be no repetition of the flood such as the county has just passed through.

Emergency work in the way of dredging out the river channel should be resorted to as soon as the water in the river subsides. It is estimated that two hundred teams with scrapers within about ten days could accomplish this. By digging a new channel about twelve feet deep from a point up at Yorba and extending south of the Olive bridge it is believed flood waters in the future would confine themselves to that course. The weaker places in the west bank could be diked and the water thereby prevented further breaks in the bank. Supervisor Schumacher believes that it is essential that every farmer or any one in the district owning a team should respond to the call to help the emergency protection work. It is the best interests to do so, and at once. He has two teams of his own and is ready to help. The situation presents serious aspects and it is up to the people to protect themselves.

Later a move should be made to form a protection district taking in all land in the northern end of the county, lying west of the river. A substantial work then could be accomplished.

It requires fifty-one per cent of the inhabitants of a proposed protection district to favorably sign a petition calling for the formation of the same. There are doubtless many people who will readily look favorably upon the project, while it is perfectly natural to suppose that a number would disapprove of the venture. There are perhaps many in the flooded district who, after subsidence of the flood waters, would disclaim any wetting whatever. It is to the interest of the consumer to buy the ripe olives, for the reason that he receives far more nutriment for his money by purchasing the matured product.

In comparing the ripe olive with other foods, such as bread, rice, etc., Prof. Jaffe states that the olive will rank far ahead in total food value, the ripe olive, so far as food value is concerned, compares very favorably with many of the ordinary foods.

Pound for pound, ripe olives, so far as total value of heat unit is concerned, contain almost as much food value as bread, and in the case of very large olives, the value may be increased to approximately the same as that of bread.

A BEE EXPERIMENT STATION
At the midwinter meeting of the California State Beekeepers Association at Los Angeles on December 29, 29, 1915, the inspectors of the entomological department of the state university announced that the university had about completed arrangements with the government to establish an experiment station for the study of bee diseases on Yerba Buena island in San Francisco bay.

The inspectors of the various counties will keep the station supplied with material for experiment, in all forms of disease, a resolution being passed to that effect.

GRADUATE STUDENTS INCREASE ONE-FOURTH IN YEAR

The graduate students of the university of California have increased in number 23 per cent in the past year; they have nearly doubled and the total registration at Berkeley has grown 65 per cent in the past five years. So announces Recorder James Sutton after enrolling the 5151 students now at work in Berkeley. At least 200 more will register this term.

The remarkable growth of 23 per cent in a single year in the graduate division (devoted to higher training of college graduates) was made known through the announcement that by the fifth day of this term the graduate students numbered 712, or 132 more than a year ago. The undergraduates increased 209, to 4439, as compared with 4230 on a corresponding date in January, 1915. The total registration at Berkeley by the fifth day of this term was 5151, or 341 more than a year ago.

The graduate division, which has almost doubled in five years, enrolls only those with a Bachelor's degree. Its registration up to January 13 was 712, as compared with 580 on the fifth college day of January, 1915, 518 on the 10th, 496 on the 12th, and 481 on January, 1911. The undergraduates at the end of the fifth college day of the same six years numbered 4439, 4330, 3945, 3434, 3056, and in January, 1911, 2746.

The total Berkeley registration for the first five days of January of the past six years was 5151, 4810, 4456, 3930, 3440, and 3125. That is an increase of more than 65 per cent in five years.

None of these figures include University students at the farm at Davis. It is to the best interests to do so, and at once. He has two teams of his own and is ready to help. The situation presents serious aspects and it is up to the people to protect themselves.

Later a move should be made to form a protection district taking in all land in the northern end of the county, lying west of the river. A substantial work then could be accomplished.

CAN THAT NEW INDUSTRY SURVIVE?

It appears, according to the New York Evening Telegram, that "America has gained a new industry directly as a result of the war." The Telegram goes on to recite that practically all of our supply of quartz glass formerly came from Germany. It has been manufactured there by a secret process and has found a ready sale in the United States, despite a high tariff. The glass is made from a peculiar kind of sand which is found only in Nebraska.

Thousands of tons of this sand have heretofore been brought to New York and shipped to Germany to the quartz glass factories. The quartz glass is invaluable for making a variety of articles, such as crucibles, test tubes, retorts and other vessels used in laboratories and throughout the chemical industry, since it is absolutely acid proof and heat resisting and the only substitute for platinum. The quartz glass is also used in the manufacture of the fill of the Santa Fe railway company, near Olive, several years ago, is again the cause of vehement criticism on the part of a number of ranch owners near Olive. They maintain that instead of the storm water being carried off by the Santa Ana river (as it was before this land extension was made) it now inundates their orange and walnut ranches, washing away the soil and doing incalculable damage to the trees.

About 35 wells are still being pumped on the oil lease of the Puente Oil company, the first company to bring in paying wells in this district. Fifteen years ago a large number of men were employed on that lease and there were a number of families up there; also a public school. In the early days the wells were heavy producers, making the company hundreds of thousands of dollars. The production began to decrease and it is said the wells there now do not pump more than 12 or 15 barrels a day each. Nearly all of the leases north of Placentia are drilling new wells, the same as all parts of the local field, making it one of the busiest in California.

The home is passing out in New York city. Statistics just issued by the city government show that during 1915 only 25 private homes were built in the American metropolis and ten of these cost upwards of $35,000 each, while the remaining 15 cost over $6000 each. In the same time 128 apartment houses were built or begun at a total cost of $24,860,000. The same tendency in a more or less degree is noted throughout the country, and in time it can have its effect on domestic life. If this sort of thing continues the day is coming when the simple home life and the family reading circle will be known only in story books, and when that day comes every one of our sociological problems will be intensified.

Local Notes

Roy Lovering has returned to this city to reside after a residence in Tulare county for a number of years. He has taken a lease on the Lovering homestead on Orange thorpe avenue of which he has assumed charge.

The Anaheim Beef & Provision company was compelled to close only one day because of the high waters. Killing was resumed Wednesday and containers have been supplied as usual. H. L. Coons has been down with pneumonia the past week, but is now on the mend.

Roy Barnett, aged 16, arrested on a charge of murder, in connection with the death of Ben Aguilar, a Mexican, and later certified to the juvenile court, was ordered by the superior court Monday to be sent to the Preston school of industry at Los Angeles, until he is 21 years of age.

Naturalization papers were granted by the superior court last Monday to George J. Lautenbach of Anaheim, native of Germany; Allan A. Revell, Santa Ana, England; Carl Heinze, Anaheim, Canada; August F. Gutzmann, Anaheim, Canada; Olof J. Lindquist, Santa Ana, Sweden; John P. Gerken, Orange, Germany; Emil E. F. Helms, Anaheim, Canada; Andrew C. Nelson, Newport, Canada; Frank J. Sutors, Perris, Beach, Australia.

Joseph Helms attained his 55th birthday on Sunday, and a number of his friends dropped in to wish him many happy returns of the day. Mr. Helms has been confined to his bed for some weeks past, but maintains his cheerful disposition, and declares that when the weather clears he will be out again. He is one of the popular pioneer residents of the city, and his friends, whose name is legion, indulge the hope that he will speedily be able to be out among them again.

Pictures of the "Death Valley Dodge" car were shown at the Mason theatre Wednesday afternoon and evening, under the direction of the Dodge company and P. J. Weisel, the local agent. Twenty-five hundred people attended the performance. The automobile came in during the day with Teddy; it was the first of the wheel. It was covered with labels showing the towns and localities through which it had passed.

To some the storm brought loss, but to C. A. Goodwin, of Orangehorpe, it came by virtue of his 15-acre orchard, improvement, which, he says, is worth $3000 to him. Waste water backed into his orchard and remained until the impregnated soil had settled and then gradually withdrew, leaving a layer of rich fertilizer mixed with the oldest kind of silt, a foot in depth, all over the land.

The 1600-foot extension made to the fill of the Santa Fe railway company, near Olive, several years ago, is again the cause of vehement criticism on the part of a number of ranch owners near Olive. They maintain that instead of the storm water being carried off by the Santa Ana river (as it was before this land extension was made) it now inundates their orange and walnut ranches, washing away the soil and doing incalculable damage to the trees.

SUGAR DUTIES AND OTHERS

The administration's decision to retain the republican tariff on sugar is based upon an admission that it cannot afford to lose the revenue now derived from that source. It is unfortunate that President Wilson, his Cabinet and the democratic congress are not free, or willing, to rectify the other mistakes embodied in the Underwood tariff, and frankly adopt higher custom duties as a source of national revenue.

Such a move would, of course, amount to a repudiation by the democratic party of a life long policy. That is too much to expect of this administration, even at a time when a treasury deficit is in view, and when, by a liberal interpretation of the slogan "Tariff for revenue only," the party might justify its new course.

It will not be denied that new industries have grown up in the South which need tariff protection, and whose existence has considerably disturbed the harmony of free trade talk within the democratic party. The present deficiency of revenue, combined with plans for extraordinary expenditures in the army and navy, provide intelligent democratic leaders with a rare chance to evolve away from the party's unsound economic doctrine.

If small or even mediocre politics dominate the majority in congress this winter, an onerous and unnecessary system of direct taxation will be adopted. If higher statesmanship prevails, the duty on sugar will be the only republican item restored to the tariff.
