

VOTER DEMANDS THAT PEOPLE KEEP FAITH

ASKS SOME PERTINENT QUESTIONS OF E. H. METCALF RELATIVE TO INTERVIEW

Says Supervisor Schumacher Has Kept Faith with People of the Third District, and It Is Their Duty To Keep Faith With Him—A Square and Able Official Who Has Earned the United Support of His Constituents for Re-election.

Under date of August 19, Thomas Crawford writes "Yet another Open Letter" to Mayor E. H. Metcalf relative to his recent statement in support of certain candidates whose names appear on the primary ballot next Tuesday. Following is the letter.

"The people of Anaheim were pained and distressed recently to discover that you, the head of the 'present city administration,' had urged Mr. S. C. Hartnuff to become a candidate for member of the State Assembly and had signed his petition as a candidate for that office, and had then, in an interview in the Anaheim Plain Dealer, stated that you were supporting another candidate for the same office.

Such things, fortunately, do not happen very often in politics. Those who presume to lead do not generally consider this 'double cross' method as being according to the rules of the game. I know that men engaged in political activities sometimes step across the line and do things which are not quite reputable; but seldom do they go so far astray as in the case under consideration.

But evidently yours is a system. Evidently your attitude towards the candidacy of Mr. Hartnuff is not the exception, but your usual and ordinary method of procedure.

Yesterday I had occasion to visit the county court house at Santa Ana and called upon Joe Backus, who, upon request, showed me the petition for plaintiff, the name of Wm. Schumacher on the ballots for the primary election as a candidate for re-election to the office of supervisor for this district.

Glancing over the names of those who had signed this petition for Mr. Schumacher's candidacy for supervisor, I found your signature among the others. No, there isn't any doubt of it. Sure enough, it was there. If you, or any other person has any doubt, just call Joe Backus and see for yourself.

Thus I recalled that in my interview given to the Anaheim Plain Dealer about a week ago, you supported the candidacy of Perry Woodward for supervisor for this district.

Right about face! So it appears to be a system—sign the petition of a candidate and then give your support to his opponent. Some system! Playing both ends against the middle, as one might say. This is something new in politics in these parts. Heretofore it simply has not been done. We are not used to that method of 'doing politics'.

And what do Messrs. Allen and Woodward think about this performance? Surely they are not so greedy for one vote that by such devious methods they would rob opposing candidates of your lone, solitary vote. They can hardly believe that any one will be influenced by your interview, so no doubt they know that your only own, solitary vote is at stake.

When you signed the petition for the nomination of Wm. Schumacher for supervisor, no doubt you had in mind the very efficient service which that gentleman has given to this district. No doubt you had in mind that we had an excellent system of good roads, largely due to the efforts of Mr. Schumacher. No doubt you had in mind the fact that Mr. Schumacher has dealt fairly with all parts of this district—perhaps the most important district in the county. No doubt you also had in mind that Mr. Schumacher, because of his fairness in dealing with all county problems, has earned the goodwill of his associates on the county board, and is thus in a position to continue to render efficient service to the people of this district.

most charitable construction which can be placed on your actions.

But if you are subject to such lapses of memory, you are not a very safe leader for the voters generally to follow—not even for 'the supporters of the present city administration,' to whom you made an especial appeal.

Your gratuitous insult to the voters who are supporting Messrs. Hartnuff and Schumacher, whom you invoked the ghost of the old Anaheim wet machine to scare the voters into voting according to your system, is something for which you have as yet offered no explanation.

Neither have you offered an explanation to become a candidate for member of the State Assembly, then signed his petition as a candidate and afterwards gave the Plain Dealer an interview in which you supported an opposing candidate for member of the State Assembly.

Now will the voters expect any explanation of why you signed the petition of Wm. Schumacher as a candidate for supervisor and then came out in support of his opponent. Your record in these matters is an open book.

And yet, in the face of this record, you have the audacity to ask the voters to 'keep faith' with the Riverside county by voting for Chester Kline for state senator. 'Keep faith,' indeed! Yes, Mr. Metcalf, the voters will 'keep faith'—but not according to your political system. They will 'keep faith' with Messrs. Hartnuff and Schumacher, both of whom have 'kept faith' with the people.

They will 'keep faith' with Mr. Hartnuff because they know him to be an honorable man well fitted by training and experience to represent them in the State Assembly. They will 'keep faith' with him in the face of the unseemly attempt to make it appear that he is 'wet' and that his supporters are the 'old Anaheim wet machine,' as you have unjustly attempted to label them. There are hundreds of voters—yes, thousands of voters—on both sides of the divide who will know that in every campaign when the liquor question was an issue Mr. Hartnuff was a tower of strength to the dry cause. Practically every voter who lived in Orange county when this county was afflicted with saloons remembers the service which Mr. Hartnuff rendered to the dry cause by Mr. Hartnuff. These are the wet side as well as those on the dry side, can equally testify to the fact that Mr. Hartnuff never could be thought of as being 'wet' despite your unfair insinuation.

They will 'keep faith' with Bill Schumacher because he has 'kept faith' with the people of this supervisorial district and with the people of the entire county; because not only has he well and truly represented this district, but he has been a thoroughly efficient public servant for the people of all of Orange County.

Your attempt to dictate all nominations from congressmen to constables shows how well you follow the admonition to 'keep faith.' But the voters are not used to your system of keeping faith. So they will follow their own inclinations and 'keep faith' with those who know the real meaning of such words.

Yours very truly
THOMAS CRAWFORD.

ORANGE COUNTY'S CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATOR

A record of fifteen years as Orange County Supervisor.
A successful business experience;

He is entitled to promotion.

THAT AGREEMENT

Talbert Makes Statement As to the Truth About His Candidacy for State Senator

There seems to be a great deal of misinformation and false political propaganda being spread about the district, particularly in Orange county in regard to keeping faith and in the political honor roll with Riverside county. The facts of the situation are as follows:

Mr. Evans and Mr. Kline were considered and talked of as candidates from Riverside county. Mr. Evans had announced his candidacy but had not yet taken out his nomination papers when some of his constituents both from Riverside and Orange county began advocating his candidacy. As a matter of fact my candidacy has been advocated from various quarters since more than a year ago when the Orange county realtors association wanted to endorse me at one of their annual meetings at Orange County Park. However, I asked them to hold their action. As the atmosphere in politics was warmer, pressure was continued. It was, as is being charged, the eleventh hour and no one had yet filed their nomination papers. I finally concluded to consider running but only under one condition and that was that I have a talk with Mr. Evans of Riverside and have everything on a satisfactory basis before I would go into the race, as I have known Mr. Evans for a long time and have always considered him an A-1, first class business man, as well as an able representative. After having had two or three interviews with Mr. Evans, he decided to withdraw and not become a candidate and leave the field open to me. I then felt free to become a candidate inasmuch as neither faction in Riverside county felt favorable to Mr. Kline's candidacy and the leading political spirit over Orange County felt likewise. About this time Mr. Kline took out his nomination papers.

So far as keeping 'the honor roll' and 'breaking faith' with Riverside county are concerned, I think Mr. Kline and his constituents are worrying more about that for lack of votes, than are the people of Riverside county, as will be proved when the returns of the Primary election are complete. As for taking undue advantage or hogging anything in any political situation, I have no desire to do anything of the sort.

Analyzing the situation a little further, this agreement that is talked of, which after all I do not consider much of an agreement, was made back in the old Southern Pacific Convention

SCHUMACHER BUILDS PAVED ROADS

MORE THAN FORTY MILES OF MAGNIFICENT HIGHWAYS CONSTRUCTED

Twenty Miles More Ready to Be Taken Up and Built — Millions of Dollars Expended, Not One Dollar Gone Wrong — Schumacher Is the Man for the Job — We Go to the Polls on Tuesday and Vote for Schumacher

Tuesday next the people of Northern Orange County will go to the polls to select the men who will represent them in various public offices all of which require men of unflinching character, sterling integrity and devotion to principle.

Among the many candidates who are before the people for their recommendation is one who has faithfully fulfilled all the obligations that could possibly be expected of a public servant. That is William Schumacher. For twelve years Bill as he is known to his many friends, has represented the third supervisorial district on the Board of Supervisors and during that time not a single disloyal act ever or can ever be charged against him. He has 'kept faith' with the people. Millions of dollars are handled by the county board of supervisors during each year. It is a huge powerful corporation owned by the people and controlled by them through the ballot. What is more logical than to hire the best men that are available for the job of transmuting your business? If you as an individual were to hire a man what would you expect of him? Would honesty, ability, courage and courtesy satisfy you? If you engaged a man and found after twelve years of service he possessed all of these qualifications would you engage him for a longer period of service or would you try another man, untried and unknown? Many a man who can pass muster in civilian life can not measure up to the strenuous test required by public opinion, when that man is put in a position of public trust. Bill Schumacher has been tried and has stood above the ordinary standard of public servants and when election day comes, go to the polls, do your duty as a citizen of the greatest country of the world, cast your ballot for the man who has made good and you will be able to say you fulfilled another duty of citizenship and furthermore you will have saved yourself dollars and cents.

Taking office immediately after a bond election had raised over a million dollars, Schumacher immediately familiarized himself with road building in his term of office has built up the county and has made it where they stand today, the pride of the state and with a vast saving in dollars and cents to the taxpayers of the county.

Over fifty miles of roads have been built during Schumacher's regime, 36 miles of which were built with money saved from the road district monies. During his term of office the third district has built a road building plant which has saved the taxpayers thousands of dollars and has added an extensive industry to the district.

Schumacher has been the Supervisorial representative in charge of the Orange County Hospital, of which such a glowing report was recently made to the public. With service unexcelled in any other institution of like character in the state, the taxpayers have received the advantage of capable supervision which has made the rate the lowest in the state.

By the individual efforts of Bill Schumacher, the third district has maintained its size, wealth and integrity, in the face of the most concentrated opposition. He has succeeded in holding the district together by keeping in harmony with his associates and gaining their respect and confidence.

These are but few of the accomplishments of Supervisor William Schumacher, there are many others which space alone prevents our enumerating at this time. We can safely say that the prosperity and growth of our own district has been in a large measure due to the energy of Schumacher in safeguarding its interests as a member of the Board of Supervisors.

Citizens need supervision when you go to the polls to act as you would act in a private capacity, vote for William Schumacher and you will never regret placing your business in his hands.

Bill Schumacher is a man of action and of few words, he is not given to losing his own horn and it was with difficulty he was induced to enlighten our readers on his policy of road improvements.

In the coming months there will be approximately twenty miles of new roads built and these roads represent a big investment of public money. In the expenditure of the vast amount called for in the road plans of the present Supervisor of this district it is necessary that the public be represented by a man who knows how it should be expended and who is in close touch with every phase of the work planned.

Here is the road problem as mapped out by William Schumacher for the next two years. Ball Road, from State Highway to Stanton; Lemon Street between Anaheim and Fullerton; Highland Avenue from Fullerton to Orange; Walker street, at Cypress to Orange; Orange to Los Angeles county line; Hansen Road, Lincoln avenue to Lane Station; Central avenue, La Habra to county line; Hacienda County Club road to the county line; Placentia Club house to Richfield; Yorba Linda, south Richfield Road; Cedar street in Brea.

GET STIFF SENTENCE

G. E. Brookins and Mrs. Addie Wiley, the Anaheim couple, again convicted of a statutory offense, were sentenced to five years in the penitentiary Friday by Judge Drumm. Application for probation was immediately filed.

The conviction of Brookins and Mrs. Wiley, based upon charges that both separated from their respective mates and lived together as man and wife in a cottage at Newport Beach, where they were arrested last January, was the culmination of three trials held before Judge F. C. Drumm and a jury in the superior court.

The first trial, having resulted in a jury disagreement, a second trial was held the defendants being found guilty. A third trial was granted, however, being held last week. The case went to the jury at 4:15 p. m. Tuesday and an hour later the jury returned a verdict of guilty, announced by Foreman Anderson.

An expression of disappointment appeared momentarily on the faces of the defendants. Then they resumed the emotionless countenances that had marked their demeanor throughout the three trials.

Attorney Charles D. Swann, counsel for the defense, announced that there would be no attempt to set aside the result of the third trial. He stated that formal application for probation would be made to Judge Drumm when his clients came into court Friday to hear judgment pronounced.

HARTNUFF FOR ASSEMBLY

S. C. Hartnuff, candidate for the Republican nomination for the assembly, has no interest in differences between his opponents and Governor Richardson, he declared today in a statement commending on the controversy between the governor and one of the other Orange county assembly candidates.

"Inasmuch as my name has been mentioned in newspaper statements dealing with Governor Richardson's criticism of one of the other candidates I feel that I should make my position in the matter clear," he said. "I seek to represent Orange county in the legislature solely on the basis that I may be able to accomplish something of a constructive nature for the county. I shall seek, among other things, to secure state co-operation in our county problem of conserving the water resources of the Santa Ana river basin. I shall seek to aid in the advancement of our highway projects in this county. I shall, if elected, throw my efforts toward the strict enforcement of our prohibition laws. I shall favor a rigid scrutiny of the expenditures of the state to the end that the taxpayers are always in the final analysis paid by the people, are made as light as possible.

"These are things for which I stand," and which I regard as constructive policies. I have no personal grievances against any person and I feel that I shall be able to deal with the officials of the state administration in a manner which will be beneficial to the interest of Orange County. If I

BOARD DECIDES TO CALL BOND ELECTION

$240,000 WANTED FOR CONSTRUCTION OF MUNICIPAL POWER PLANT

Co-operation With Fullerton Side-tracked for the Present, But May Be Taken Up Later — Date of Election Not Yet Fixed — City Attorney Webb Will Overhaul Old Ordinances — Defense Day Committee Appointed by the Mayor.

The plan to co-operate with the city of Fullerton in the construction of a joint power plant has been side-tracked for the present, but the idea has not been abandoned, altogether. It may be taken up later if the people want it, but at the present Anaheim has decided to play a lone hand and build its own plant, provided the voters agree. After hearing reports from City Manager Price and City Engineer Haggood last Thursday evening the trustees decided to call an election and ask the voters to authorize the issuance of $240,000 in bonds for the purpose of constructing such a plant.

"That sum will be ample for the construction of a 200 kilowatt plant which will make this city independent of corporations and will guard against any future annoyance by reason of a shortage of the necessary supply.

"Aside from the fact that we feel certain a municipal plant will prove an economy over our present rate with the Edison company," says Mayor Metcalf, "there are two other very important reasons for the plant:— Anaheim's source of supply will be in its own hands, avoiding power and light famines, as that being experienced at present.

"We have learned from experience that as long as the law gives the railroad commission such powers as it enjoys now, the city cannot make a contract with the Edison company that cannot be changed in its rate provisions. We are now paying far more than the contract calls for, and the railroad commission has just authorized another sharp increase.

"I realize that the success of any municipal project of this kind rests very largely with the executives directly in charge. I feel that we are very fortunate in having men who are very capable and who are very cooperative with the city power department who are entirely competent to proceed with such an undertaking.

Codifying all the ordinances of the city adopted since Anaheim became a self governing municipality was decided upon and City Attorney Webb was employed to do the job. Webb agreed to undertake the work for $500 which the trustees considered a reasonable figure.

A committee was appointed by Mayor Metcalf to assist in the arrangements for Defense Day. Ray Smith, Arnold Russell, John H. D. D. McFarland, G. W. Sloan, C. C. Lamb and V. W. LaMont comprise the committee.

Owing to the interest taken in the two bond elections it was decided to continue them throughout the season. A letter from L. W. McCullum, sanitary engineer for La Habra and Buena Park was referred to the joint outfall committee. La Habra with a population of 3,000 and Buena Park with 800 are seeking to buy a 1-4 pct of the outfall. The petition has already been accepted informally.

I am elected, I shall be under no obligations to any person or group or to any political influence for I know that my friends in Orange county who are supporting my candidacy are doing so with the sole view of serving the interests of Orange county alone. I have made no pledge to anyone and I shall make none. If I am sent to Sacramento I shall go with the single aim of being of service to the county. The people of Orange County who know me know that I am not given to insincere statements.

"I am making this statement because I feel that the voters of Orange county are entitled to know my position. If they desire to have me represent them in the legislature, I shall go to Sacramento with entire freedom of action, directed only by the expressed desires of the people of this county and such moral and business understanding as I possess."

SOCIALISM AND COMMUNISM

Arthur Brisbane writes that the endorsement of La Follette for the Presidency by the socialists is probably unfortunate for La Follette, because many people ignorantly confuse socialism with communism, atheism, free love and the like, with which socialism Mr. Brisbane declares, "has nothing to do."

Such a statement indicates that Mr. Brisbane has read little of the history or literature of socialism. The difference between socialism and communism are of degree and not of a kind. Socialism is the common ownership of land and capital and political management of all industry. Communism is the common ownership of property. There are 17 varieties of socialists and communists and their theories shade into one another until it is difficult to tell where one begins and the other ends.

The new deity of communist Russia is Karl Marx, the vellest prophet of modern socialism. "The new socialist is woven into the names of some of the federated 'republics' of the bolshevik system. Most socialists have been and are atheists or agnostics. That tendency runs all the way from Marx to Debs. Robert Owen, the father of English socialism himself a man of unquestionable morals, inveighed against marriage, the church and private property as the three great evils of society. Most socialists have held both marriage and religion to be bulwarks of individualism and therefore obstacles to be removed.

The pretension of most socialist propagandists is that people who do not believe in socialism are either too wicked to accept it or too stupid to understand it. The people of this country are not so ignorant of what socialism means as Mr. Brisbane affects to believe. They know what socialist theorists are and they know from the constant Russian anarchy what socialist practices are. Even socialists who happen to belong to a different breed than the kind in power are killed, banished, jailed or silenced.

What the socialist sees in socialism is not a means of serving, but of dominating people; the socialist is an inborn autocrat, who usually having no other natural means of availing others, wants despotic political power for that purpose.

Probably Mr. La Follette will not be hampered by socialist support. Socialists are at one with him in hating every kind of power and influence but that which is exercised through politics. They are with him in the idea of tearing the existing order down, but have one on him in possessing a plan for putting something in its place. The plan is to make every citizen a slave of the state but however poor the plan may be, it is at least a plan.

Silence may be golden, but what could a jazz orchestra do with it.

100,000 Prospective New Homes Swept Away

Secretary Mellon of the United States Treasury estimates that the people of the United States invested $500,000,000 in worthless stocks and securities in 1923.

It came from everywhere. That money was swindled out of people in every state, every county, every town and city. It didn't come from any particular region.

It was taken from the folks who needed HOMES, from farmers who needed BARNs, from unfortunates here, there and everywhere who were actually in need of many, many things in the line of shelter.

At $5000 each that money would have built 100,000 beautiful home would have provided shelter of an attractive character for half a million people.

Make up your mind that the best investment you can make for yourself and your family is in a HOME.

If you already have a Home you can help others get one by placing your surplus funds with the Building and Loan Association, at six per cent and you get your interest check regularly without having to think of the details. They do the rest and HOMES. Beautiful Homes for worthy people are the result.

TALBERT'S PLATFORM

Stands for Water Conservation, Highway Building and a Just Representation by the Southland in the State Legislature.

Orange county, in this year, presenting the name of Thomas B. Talbert of Huntington Beach for the senatorship and it believes there is no man better qualified than he in the entire district to meet the issues confronting us at this time. As to the great question of water development and conservation, which he has studied assiduously for many years past, he is by odds the best informed man in the district.

Tom Talbert has for many years been chairman of the board of supervisors of Orange county, consequently no man in the county is more conversant with the affairs, public and private, not only of this, but of adjoining counties. He is a level-headed conservative man, a man of excellent judgment and when occasion requires can express himself in vigorous and convincing manner. He is also president of the State Association of County Supervisors. He is in accord with Governor Richardson in all public matters and is well posted on all state affairs.

Orange county is at present associated with two other counties in the senatorial district, but the new apportionment bill, introduced at the last session of the legislature, divided the district constituting Orange one district and Riverside and Imperial another. This bill failed of passage, but will probably become a law at next winter's session. The senator elected this fall will represent the three counties during his term, at the expiration of which Orange county will comprise a district of its own.

In a statement announcing his candidacy Talbert says:

"Southern California has for years been deprived of proper representation in the legislature, the present apportionment being long ago antiquated by the rapid growth of this end of the state. Reapportionment is overdue and I shall certainly align myself with the movement to secure it. Orange county should have a senatorial district to itself.

"While favoring reapportionment, I would at the same time favor a restriction upon the representation apportioned the cities of Los Angeles and San Francisco. There should be, in my opinion a curb upon the large cities in order to maintain a balance of power.

"The Mecca-Blythe and the Yuma highways should be completed at the earliest possible time in order to provide a missing link in transcontinental thoroughfares of tremendous importance to Southern California. I consider these among the very important tasks ahead.

"The proposed farm school should be located in an agricultural community, not among skyscrapers. That should, it seems to me, be obvious, though a serious effort seems to be afoot to locate the school among the skyscrapers.

"Orange county has from the first supported Riverside county's campaign to bring the farm school here, and if elected, I will carry that support to the senate.

"Development and conservation of water are vital matters, I realize and should be promoted whenever and wherever the opportunity arises. I believe my record as a supervisor demonstrates my position on this issue as clearly as it could possibly be presented. The tri-counties conservation project is an example.

VOTE FOR

THOMAS B. TALBERT

Of Huntington Beach

CANDIDATE FOR

STATE SENATOR

39th Senatorial District

Thomas B. Talbert has been Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Orange County for the past 16 years, during which time the splendid system of highways of the county has been constructed. He has always taken an active part in all enterprises proposed for the advancement of Orange County and all of Southern California. He is conversant with the needs of the district, and will prove a loyal and able representative of his constituents at the Capital of the State.

Standing on the

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

With Coolidge and Dawes

TALBERT IS A WINNER

Orange County Will Give Him Overwhelming Majority, with Heavy Support in Riverside and Imperial Counties Assured.

Reports from Riverside and Imperial counties indicate that T. B. Talbert Orange county's candidate for the Republican nomination for State Senator, has a surprisingly large following there. Although a Riverside man has entered the race against him the first suggestion that Mr. Talbert be a candidate came from leaders of the party in that county. Knowing his fitness for the office, knowing him to be well posted on the needs of the district, knowing him to be in full accord with President Coolidge as well as with the administration at Sacramento, and knowing him to be competent, conscientious and loyal to his home community, these men felt that he was the best man in the three counties to represent the 39th district in the state senate. In Imperial county which has no candidate, sentiment for the Huntington Beach man is said to be overwhelming.

Friends of the Riverside man claim that county should name the candidate for senator this year because of an agreement entered into many years ago, giving to Orange and Riverside counties the senator alternately. Orange county will be constituted a senatorial district by itself when the reapportionment bill, passes during the next session of the legislature, consequently this agreement is null and void. Many prominent Riverside Republicans have repudiated the agreement, else they would not have launched the campaign for Mr. Talbert.

This old time gentlemen's agreement was never much in favor in this county, for it felt that when a man goes to the senate for a single term he comes to be regarded as a lightweight among the solons at Sacramento. He receives no important committee assignments and in other matters of importance is cast aside and is of very little use to his district or the state. He goes to the senate for a single term and then returns to the obscurity of private life. This agreement grew out originally from the animosities existing between San Bernardino and Riverside following the creation of the latter county, which cut away from the former. Neither would stand for a senator from the other for more than a single term and so the agreement was passed on to us, over the objections of many electors down this way. It is now happily at an end and with the erection of Orange county into a senate district we shall aim to elect a good man to the place and keep him there. That is the way to have a man of influence in the senate at Sacramento.

In Mr. Talbert, we have a splendid Coolidge Republican and a splendid gentleman in every way. He is by odds the best qualified man in the district to cope with many important matters which will engage his attention at the state capital.

AN OPEN LETTER TO MR. METCALF

Anaheim, California,
August 14, 1924.

Mr. E. H. Metcalf,
Anaheim, Calif.,
Dear Sir:

My attention has been called to an interview given by you to the Orange County Plain Dealer and published in that newspaper in its issue dated August 12. In that interview you referred to several candidates for nomination at the primaries to be held on August 26th.

My first impression after reading your interview in the Plain Dealer was that you had not been correctly quoted; but since the issue of the Plain Dealer of the 13th contains no reproduction of the interview by you, I have reached the conclusion that you were correctly quoted and that the interview as printed and published was with your full approval and consent. Therefore I feel perfectly free to say to you that many persons in this community, who have heretofore held you in esteem, who have been instrumental to a great degree in placing you a considerable degree in placing you in your present position in the public life of this community, who strongly resent the insinuations contained in that interview.

You refer to the contest for the Republican nomination for the State assembly and you express the opinion that the successful contestant is very likely to be selected from the northern portion of the county. You then proceed to state your reasons for giving your support to William B. Allen, saying that he is a pronounced "dry." This is true, but not the whole truth; and a half a truth may be more contemptible than a falsehood.

You could very well have said that both Mr. Allen and Mr. Hartranft, the two candidates resident in the northern part of Orange county, are both pronounced "drys." No one will question the statement that Mr. Allen has always voted with the dry element, but fairness and truth compel the further statement that Mr. Hartranft has always been a consistent worker against the liquor traffic in this county. However, his efforts in that cause were a great deal more extensive and effective than those of Mr. Allen, for the reason that the leaders in that cause constantly called on him to address meetings, knowing that what he had to say to the voters would carry great weight because of his ability and because of his high standing with the people through out the county.

Your half truth therefore appears to be wholly untrue, and it permitted to stand uncontradicted might mislead some voters as to the facts. That kind of campaigning can best be designated as dirty politics—mean and contemptible. You could have said, Mr. W. B. Allen, could have given you the facts had you desired them.

Your interview concludes with the following paragraph:

"Watch what the old Anaheim wet machine is doing and supporters of the present city administration will know how to cast their votes."

The insinuation contained in this concluding paragraph of your interview is that voters who give their support to the candidacy of Mr. Hartranft belong to the "Anaheim wet machine." That insinuation is a wholly unwarranted insult to hundreds of voters who have heretofore supported you at elections and who are not at all likely to be hereafter counted as "supporters of the present city administration." Had they known last spring, before the city election, what they were being "let in for," they would have followed an entirely different course. They had no idea whatever that they were assisting in the inauguration of a political machine in this city that would attempt to mislead the voters in the manner shown by your interview in the Plain Dealer.

You can rest assured, Mr. Metcalf that hundreds of voters in this city who were working devotedly to put the saloons out of business before they ever heard of you, and who are now supporting the candidacy of Mr. Hartranft, will not soon forget your gratuitous insult.

A sense of fairness on the part of any voter should cause him to vote for Mr. Hartranft as a rebuke to the methods which you have used to mislead the voters.

Moreover, these two candidates, Mr. Allen and Mr. Hartranft, are both fairly well known in this part of Orange County. The voters know that both men are good citizens and respected by their neighbors, but they also know that in the public affairs of this part of Orange County Mr. Hartranft has been constantly drafted because of his well known ability, while Mr. Allen has remained an unknown factor. This statement needs no proof to those who are conversant with the

VOTE FOR S. C. Hartranft FOR ASSEMBLYMAN 76TH DISTRICT

Determined to place before the voters of Orange County the real issues of the assembly campaign, S. C. Hartranft, Republican for Assemblyman from the 76th district, is making a speaking tour this week. On Tuesday he spoke at LaHabra, Brea, Yorba Linda, Placentia and Santa Ana. Yesterday he addressed meetings at Costa Mesa, Newport, Balboa and Huntington Beach. The balance of the week he speaks as follows:

Thursday, August 21st		Friday, August 22d		Saturday, August 23d
Seal Beach	1:30 p.m.	Laguna Beach	1:30 p.m.	Buena Park	1:30 p.m.
Westminster	2:30 p.m.	Capistrano	3:00 p.m.	Cypress	2:30 p.m.
Bolsa	3:30 p.m.	Tustin	4:30 p.m.	Olive	4:30 p.m.
Garden Grove	4:30 p.m.	Fullerton	8:00 p.m.	Anaheim	7:30 p.m.
Orange	7:30 p.m.

He will address the people of Anaheim Saturday Evening. Hear him discuss the important issues of the campaign.

public and semi-public affairs of the northern part of Orange county.

I cannot believe that you are thus publicly giving your support to Mr. Allen because that gentleman is "dry." In the first place Mr. Allen is no more "dry" than Mr. Hartranft. In the second place, the liquor question is not an issue before the voters of this state. In the third place, if any question relating to the enforcement of prohibition should come before the next session of the State Assembly, we all know that Mr. Hartranft could be depended on to favor the enforcement of the prohibitory statutes and the passage of any additional legislation needed for that purpose. Moreover, and I say this with all respect due to Mr. Allen, we all know that Mr. Hartranft would be, because of his fitness, a much more effective worker for any cause.

Since it cannot be accepted that you are giving your support to Mr. Allen because of the dry question, and because you have gone out of your way to publicly misrepresent the true situation regarding these two candidates the question may well be raised as to what is your real motive. Perhaps you can explain. At least you can offer an apology to Mr. Hartranft for publishing such an interview, and try to put yourself right with the voters when your interview was calculated to mislead.

Yours Very truly,
THOMAS CRAWFORD

MAKING ROADS SAFER FOR PEDESTRIANS

Efforts to Prohibit Incompetent Persons from Driving Cars

Believing that motor vehicles may be made safer for pedestrian and driver alike by prohibiting incompetent persons from handling cars, the Automobile Club of Southern California is investigating systems of examinations for drivers in other states, with the view of determining the best method of reducing casualties.

In one eastern state the fatal and enormous increase in the number of vehicles in use during that period. It was found that from 20 to 30 per cent of those applying for the privilege of operating a motor vehicle on the highways were unable to demonstrate their fitness to be allowed this privilege. This withholding of licenses to drive from incompetents is held as one of the chief causes for the marked reduction in this eastern state in deaths attributable to automobile crashes.

The situation in California today, it is pointed out, is that any person, irrespective of mental and physical qualifications may obtain a license to operate a car. As far as the law is concerned, the applicant may be an inmate of a home for the feeble minded, but if he can fill in the little card furnished by the Motor Vehicle Department, on which the color of the hair, eyes and a few inconsequential details are listed, a license is granted.

It has been demonstrated that the chief cause of motor vehicle fatalities throughout the United States is incompetent handling of cars, so that it would appear that if incompetent drivers can be weeded out, an appreciable reduction in the number of motor vehicle accidents will result.

As a further argument for the examination of motorists, it is shown that there are many foreigners and illiterates, unable to read or understand English. This makes it impossible for them to interpret the warning signs which have been so generously distributed by the Automobile Club of Southern California to call attention to dangerous spots on the highways, or for them to read even the most simple provisions of the state law covering the operation of the motor vehicle on the highway. This condition alone, in a profile cause of many violations of the traffic regulations.

Other organizations are expected to join the automobile club in finding ways and means of remedying the costly situation created by incompetent drivers.

Nobody cares anything about your ancestors so long as you keep them in the family album.

More Newport Races

On August 24th, after the return of the yachtsmen from the San Diego regatta, more races will be held on the Newport Bay and on the ocean fronting Newport and Balboa. The City of Newport Beach is offering a splendid trophy cup for performance handicapped races for schooners, ketches, yawls, sloops and has asked a number of well known yachtsmen to act as judges:— W. C. Warrington, J. M. Webster, Thos. Stimson, H. M. Worcester, E. G. Gardner, George Vibert.

In addition to this race for the larger boats, the city of Newport Beach is offering another trophy for small sail boats, to be run on Newport Bay. This race will also be run on August 24th.

The third race, one of the popular "Bang and go back" races is scheduled for the same day.

The last race for the fastest sail boat on Newport Bay was won by the "Rasberry" sailed by Captain C. K. Sherman. In the series of races put up for the city prizes the winners will be eliminated from subsequent events. The race which the "Rasberry" led was an open race without handicap and entered by boats of all descriptions.

The fishing boat race which was scheduled for August 10th was postponed on account of the fishermen being away from Newport Beach at that time. This race will probably be run August 31st if that date is convenient to the fishermen. The race will be for commercial fishing boats only and will be run between the Newport pier and the Balboa pier and return.

TO PLANT BURBANK ELMS

Luther Burbank, Santa Rosa plant wizard, has notified the American Legion officials of his willingness to furnish elm trees for planting along the victory highway, the coast to coast roadway commemorating the services of the men and women who participated in the World War.

The Burbank elm is of a new species which the California wizard has originated and is especially fitted by its hardiness and method of growth for the office of bordering the roads. American Legion posts throughout the country are co-operating with the plan under their own initiative. Kansas posts of the Legion having recently planted trees along the Victory Highway in that state.

ANOTHER LETTER TO MR. METCALF

Mr. E. H. Metcalf,
Anaheim, California.

Dear Sir:

A few days ago I wrote an open letter to you in reply to an interview which you had published in the Orange County Plain Dealer last Tuesday. My letter to you was given to all the new papers of this city for publication on Thursday morning of last week. The publishers of the Plain Dealer promised to publish my letter to you, but so far have not done so. The Anaheim Bulletin promptly gave space to my letter. I sent a copy of my letter to you by mail, but so far have received no reply.

Since writing that letter to you, I have made some inquiries regarding some phases of the local political situation and I am now addressing you again, to present some matters to which my attention has been called.

I am informed by Mr. S. C. Hartranft, one of the candidates for the assembly, that you were one of the many voters who solicited him to become a candidate for the assembly this year. This happened less than two months ago. Moreover, an examination of the petition for the nomination of Mr. Hartranft now on file at the court house in Santa Ana discloses the fact that you were one of the signers of that petition.

I know that it will be difficult for many people to believe that you solicited Mr. Hartranft to become a candidate, signed his petition, and then in an interview in the Plain Dealer stated that you were supporting another candidate for the same position, and went out of your way to insinuate unfairly that Mr. Hartranft was not "dry" when in fact everybody knows that he has worked consistently and earnestly and effectively against the liquor traffic; but if your friends, or any others, care to dispute the statement herein made, it will be an easy matter to prove their truth.

This revelation is simply amazing. It is the most crude attempt at the "double cross" that ever has been exposed to the contempt of the voters of this community. If you have any possible excuse or explanation, no doubt the people of Anaheim would like to have an opportunity to examine it and see what it is made of.

Your interview in the Plain Dealer last Tuesday, in which you advised the supporters of the present city administration how to vote on each and every candidate at the primaries on August 26, includes an argument in favor of Chester Kline for the senate on the basis of a "gentlemen's agreement," made between the politicians of Orange and Riverside counties about twenty-eight years ago to the effect that the voters of each senator should be held alternately by the two counties. You demand that Orange county voters "KEEP FAITH" with Riverside county by voting for Mr. Kline, on account of a political agreement made twenty-eight years ago, to which you are not a party.

The question arises whether if you feel that the voters of Orange county are bound to the candidacy of Mr. Kline by a "gentlemen's agreement" made by politicians twenty-eight years ago to which the voters were not a party, are you bound to the candidacy of Mr. Hartranft by the fact that you solicited him to become a candidate and signed his petition less than two months ago? If not why not?

You have made no reply to my previous letter addressed to you, and perhaps no answer to this letter need be expected. Perhaps no answer can be made by you. In that case, the voters will be warranted in disregarding any suggestion which you have made as to how they should vote at the primaries and also in disregarding the "me too" echoes of the voters' members of the "present city administration" who have recently submitted to interviews for publication in the Plain Dealer. The similarity to the interviews to yourself and your "me too" echoes would indicate that there is an interview factory at work somewhere.

You find, however, that most of the voters believe that politicians and would be political dictators should "KEEP FAITH" and if it is discovered, as in the case under discussion, that the whole policy of the gang is to mislead and fool the voters, then the state submitted by the political bosses will be completely smashed. If there is any one thing that the voters who assume the position of political leaders, it is that their course be straight. Certainly they also have a right to denounce the "double cross."

That kind of thing does not mix well with one hundred per cent Americanism.

Yours Very truly,
THOMAS CRAWFORD.

How The Santa Fe dollar was spent in 1923

Taxes more than dividends. Rate reductions more than taxes

The measure of success in railroad business is the relation of costs to returns. If the dollar earned does not cover the cost of earning it, the business fails. If it covers the cost with a margin over, the business succeeds.

THE SANTA FE DOLLAR IN 1923 WENT AS FOLLOWS:
Maintenance of track, buildings, etc.	13.37 cents
Maintenance of locomotives, freight and passenger cars	19.58
Train, station and switching, and other transportation	1.98
Traffic expenses	8.49
Fuel	8.49
Salaries and expenses of clerks and other general office employees	1.08
Legal, valuation, general officers, pensions and death benefits and miscellaneous	1.08
Depreciation of real estate, equipment and tool shops	1.08
Loss, damage and casualties	1.07
Cost of investment, interest, etc.	1.04
Interest on bonds and other interest charges	4.80
Dividends on capital stock	8.75
Expenses available for expanding facilities	8.75
	100.00 cents

Of the last item 3.02 cents came from sources other than rates so that a reduction of less than 6% in rates would have wiped out the entire margin of safety from earnings through rates.

Even a decline in gross business such as has occurred this year inevitably reduces this balance of 8.75 cents because not many of the cost items can be cut down in proportion.

The adjustment between success and failure is a delicate one in the transportation industry. For the welfare of the country, it should not be lightly tampered with, either by laws or by the various commissions that control the main elements of railroad earnings and costs.

It is particularly notable in the above statement that taxes more than dividends and only a little less than all the fuel used for the system. Taxes were $23,516,491.

Good service requires ample money for operation and maintenance. Even a rather substantial reduction in rates would benefit individuals as slightly as hardly to be known, while it might readily (because of poor service) cause them tremendous loss which would be quickly and keenly felt.

A railroad gets money from its rates and has no other large source of supply, even though attempts seem to be made to have the public believe otherwise. Since 1921 freight rates have been almost continuously in process of reduction. Santa Fe freight earnings were decreased $14,500,000 in 1922 and $23,945,000 in 1923 from what they would have been with 1921 rates.

The Santa Fe already has reduced freight rates many millions. But adequate service is vital for shippers. It can be furnished only when fair rates provide the money needed.

PRESIDENT CALVIN COOLIDGE

Republican Voters of Orange County

An onslaught is being made upon the stability of our government and upon the effectiveness and strength of the Republican party. This is not a time for divided or indifferent allegiance. It is not only essential to National progress that Coolidge and Dawes be elected in November, but imperative that representatives be sent to Congress capable of supporting and willing to support the Republican administration. The Republicans of Orange county have shown themselves to be loyally behind President Coolidge and his administration and this county will give the Coolidge-Dawes ticket one of the greatest majorities ever accorded a Presidential ticket. There should be no mistake made in sending a representative to Congress known to be unequivocally loyal to the Republican administration.

Senator E. P. Sample, Candidate for Congress in the 11th District is a Coolidge Man

He has loyally supported the President and bases his campaign for election on allegiance to the Coolidge ideals and policies. Sample is able, courageous and well acquainted with the needs of this district. The opponent of Senator Sample voted with the Democrats and the radicals to override the President's veto and was aligned with those opposing the President's policies. THIS IS HIS RECORD and is not open to contradiction. The issue of LaFolletteism is involved in this election—and the LaFollette radicals are working desperately to defeat Sample and elect his opponent.

Send a Man to Congress Who is an Undiluted Republican and Who Can Command the Confidence and Attention of the Republican Administration

Senator Sample has made a frank and fearless campaign throughout the 11th District and has not evaded a single issue. His record in the State Senate of California is a distinguished and an honorable one. He is an attorney of high attainments. C. C. Teague, president of the California Fruit Growers' Association and the California Walnut Growers' Association, says of him: "Everything I know of him is in his favor. I know him to be a man of high integrity and good ability and he has served the public in numerous capacities with distinction, and I have no doubt if he receives the nomination that he will be an excellent Congressman." His standing as a champion of the prohibition cause in California is rated 100 per cent by the Anti-Saloon League. He has an intelligent and practical plan for conservation of the waters of the Colorado River. He understands Orange County problems and will not neglect the general interests of the district as a whole to support special legislation or favor the interests of a few selfish individuals as his opponent has done in pursuing the impossible and economically undesirable All-American Canal in Imperial Valley. A PROJECT WHICH HAS JUST BEEN REPUDIATED IN A SIGNED PROTEST BY A MAJORITY OF THE LANDOWNERS OF IMPERIAL VALLEY.

TALBERT FOR SENATOR

Anahaim, Calif.
 August 26, 1924.

Mr. E. H. Metcalf,
 Anahaim, California.

Dear Sir:

In your now rather famous interview published in the Anahaim Daily Dealer about a week ago, you urged that the voters of Orange county should vote for Chester Kline in order to keep faith with Riverside county on the ground that there existed a so-called "gentlemen's agreement," made twenty-eight years ago, which provided that the position of state senator should be held alternately by Orange County and Riverside County.

As this was the only argument advanced by you in favor of Chester Kline for senator—and about the only argument that could be advanced in his favor, it is worth while to give it due consideration.

Away back in the old convention days, when a few astute politicians met and decided how they would distribute the offices among themselves—when the prevailing system was the "spoils" system, which you seem to favor in selecting public officials—when the common voters had absolutely nothing to say about the selection of candidates—there WAS a "gentlemen's agreement" that the position of state senator should be held alternately by the two counties, which two counties then constituted this senatorial district.

This senatorial district now consists of three counties—Orange, Riverside and Imperial—and Orange county has a population and assessed valuation about equal to the other two counties combined. Your approval of this old "gentlemen's agreement" does not seem to contemplate rotating the senatorial office so that Imperial County may have her share.

Riverside county has on at least one occasion refused to recognize this so-called "gentlemen's agreement." And this year, before any nomination petitions were circulated, prominent citizens of Riverside county declared that they did not consider that Orange County was now bound by what old time politicians had agreed upon among themselves twenty-eight years ago.

The voters of Orange county were never consulted about this politician's agreement under the old convention days. The primary election system wiped out, once and for all time, all these old deals made between politicians; and whether you, nor any other advocate of the old "spoils" system, can ever bring back the old, out of date, corrupt method of selecting candidates.

Since you have no other argument in favor of Chester Kline, and since you have failed to "keep faith" with two local candidates whose nomination petitions you signed and whom you later opposed, it can hardly be expected that any voter capable of independent thinking will follow your advice to "keep faith" with Riverside County by voting for Chester Kline.

The voters of all three counties in this senatorial district—Orange, Riverside and Imperial—are entitled to select the best possible candidate for state senator, regardless of what part of the district he lives in. To accept an inferior candidate simply on the geographical argument would be the very essence of foolishness.

The voters of Orange county as well as the voters of Imperial and Riverside counties, are warranted in supporting the candidacy of Tom Talbert on his record. For fifteen years he has given faithful and efficient service to the people of Orange county as a member of the board of supervisors—the last twelve years as chairman of that body. The fact that neither in this nor in any previous election contest has one single word ever been said against the record of Tom Talbert, as a public official speaks for itself. Knowing the kind of arguments that have been used and are being used against reputable candidates by the Metcalf machine, we can readily imagine how greedily they would jump at any blemish there might be in the record of Tom Talbert. But there is none. He has "kept faith" with the people of Orange County just as he will with the people of this entire senatorial district as a member of the state senate.

Away with this cheap, sly, stupid argument for Chester Kline based on an out of date politician's agreement under the old, corrupt convention system. That kind of argument is the cheapest kind of clap-net. Pity the poor candidate, whose supporters can not bring forth in his favor anything better than the geographical argument which in the past often cost weak, cheap and useless men or our legislative bodies. Let us select members of our legislative bodies because of their known records, because of their fitness and because of their known ability.

Let us vote for Tom Talbert for senator and C. H. Hartsuff for Assemblyman and thus "keep faith" with Orange county and with the best interests of every part of Southern California, for these two men are big enough to be of real service to the general public welfare.

Yours for "keeping faith"

THOMAS CRAWFORD.

EPIDEMIC CAUSES SUIT

Trial of the consolidated actions brought by John S. Hull of San Diego county against Carl Ray and the Orange County Title Company for -12,024.97 judgment is in progress this week in Department No. 3 of the Superior Court.

Testimony at the trial dealt with valuation of cattle, particularly registered thoroughbreds, such as the horse of blooded Jerseys purchased by Hull from Ray, which led to the present litigation. E. G. Stinson of Orange, prominent Orange County stockgrower, was among the witnesses summoned by Hull.

Hull says that the cattle had been without his knowledge, exposed to an infectious disease before he purchased them from Ray and transferred them from Los Angeles county to his stock farm in San Diego County. The disease later developed and had ruined the herd, he claims. The cost of moving the herd, treating it for the disease, and for fumigating and ploughing his ranch against contamination.

In his suit, Hull seeks to force return of notes aggregating $3000 and a $500 cash payment; also the return of $3,140 of his money which he claims was turned over to the title company to be paid to Ray. In addition he asks damages to cover the cost of moving the herd, treating it for the disease, and for fumigating and ploughing his ranch against contamination.

50 COMMITTEES REPORT SHOWS FRONTAGE

Comprising an invaluable record of the details of the Newport Bay, the tentative report of the co-ordinator on harbor lands of the Orange county harbor committee of fifty today had been approved by the executive committee, composed of the chairman of all committees, and officers of the general committee, following a meeting of the executive committee held at St. Ann's Inn Friday.

Data presented that will be of service to the county in future years, and which contains intimate details of land accretions at the harbor, former surveys and other information evinced vast research work on the part of the committee, the chairman of which is H. H. Hale of Placentia, George T. Peabody, secretary of the sub-committee, read the report.

Of interest was the presentation of maps and data showing that back in 1857 the accretions of the East End, Peabody and Balboa are located was not in existence. The tides of the ocean at that time swept the shore of what is now the north side of the bay and the ocean entrance to the bay was direct into what is now the upper bay. According to Peabody, his investigations developed the interesting information that in the early days boats went up the channel to the upper bay, now navigable only for small craft and that a spring in the upper bay supplied about the only fresh water available in that region.

Peabody showed that this condition obtained at late as 1858. The bay outline today is virtually as it was in 1852 when he first saw the harbor. John Cubbon, a member of committee, said, in drawing the conclusion that the great change had been wrought within the period of fourteen years.

The change, in the opinion of Peabody and Cubbon was due to heavy storms in the period and the depositing in the bay by the Santa Ana River of large deposits of silt.

The report was not made available to publicity because of decision by the executive committee that it should not be given to the press until the committee of fifty has made its final report to the supervisors.

The report substantiates previous public statements made by Peabody that the committee had definitely acquired for the county about three miles of frontage on the bay and that probably three miles more would come to the county through court action.

The executive committee, according to Hale, virtually goes on record recommending to the supervisors that more lands in the bay be purchased.

"That recommendation now is out of order," Hale said, "for the county will have all the land on the bay it will want."

DEFENSE DAY

Major General Hunter Liggett, who commanded more than one million men in France during the World War and who is now national president of the Association of the Army of the United States, today made a public statement on the Defense Day, September 12 to dispel certain misunderstandings which exist as to the purpose of the Defense Test.

General Liggett's statement has been sent to the National Committee for the participation of veteran and patriotic organizations in the Defense Test at Washington, D. C. which was organized to co-ordinate the work of the various societies which have pledged their support to the Defense Test.

"The Defense Test is simply a test of National Defense Plans prepared in accordance with the express provision of our Federal law and a test of local unit plans made in accordance with this general plan," said General Liggett, "It is designed to acquaint our citizens and communities with exactly what will be demanded of them in the event of a national emergency, and in order that the officers of the Army of the United States, especially the National Guard and Organized Reserve components, may visualize the problems which will confront them in such an emergency and which must be solved. These problems include recruiting, supply, shelter, medical care, sanitation, training, payment and many others, all of which require a considerable amount of study. A proper economical solution cannot be obtained in a hurry, or under the sudden pressure of war."

"The Defense Test will enable our government to check the general national plan and the plans in each locality, and to improve them where necessary, so that if an emergency occurs, we will have detailed plans well thought out in advance and understood by all our people, thus doing away with much of the confusion, inefficiency and suffering, and a part of the waste of lives and treasure that have attended all our past wars."

"The plans, which the Defense Test is designed to illustrate to the American people, have been worked out by experts, men who have devoted their entire lives to the study of national defense. General Liggett continued: "These men have seen the realities of previous wars and have witnessed the blundering and inefficiency that are inevitable when a nation is suddenly plunged into war and its resources hastily called to the colors and assembled and directed by inexperienced leaders."

"To no one are these facts more apparent than to those who served during the last war and who saw the effects of lack of training and preparation. These are not the people who are opposing the Defense Test."

"Opposition seems to come from those who are least qualified to know what they are opposing and from those who have been misled by the platitudes of misguided individuals and propagandists of various so-called peace societies. They would deny the rights of the American people to see for themselves and judge for themselves just what provisions our government has made for our national safety."

WARNS WALNUT MEN OF OVER PRODUCTION

Over production of walnuts in Southern California looms within the next few weeks, according to 600 growers attending the fourth annual field meet were warned by Carlyle Thorpe, manager of the California Walnut Growers' association. The cultivators, meeting at Birch Park under the auspices of the local department of the Southern California farm bureau, subsequently were advised by Thorpe to guard against increased acreage.

Only 27 per cent of the acreage of the counties is now in full bearing, 36 per cent is not bearing and 37 per cent is non-bearing, the manager stated. In predicting that in six years the present production would double and that it would triple within the next twelve years—and this without the planting of more acreage to nuts.

"We must be careful about increasing the acreage to walnuts," Thorpe advised, "for when we get into an over production period marketing becomes a greater problem and is certain to result in loss to producers."

In discussing in a general way the market conditions, the manager went into detail in explaining the importance of making an accurate estimate of the crop. "Eighty per cent of the crop is sold by wholesalers long before the crop is harvested—in fact most of the selling is done during the summer months—and it is important that the association be in a position to advise as nearly as possible the supply," Thorpe said.

"The present situation is a very serious one," he said, "and it is important that the association be in a position to advise as nearly as possible the supply," Thorpe said. "The present situation is a very serious one," he said, "and it is important that the association be in a position to advise as nearly as possible the supply," Thorpe said. "The present situation is a very serious one," he said, "and it is important that the association be in a position to advise as nearly as possible the supply," Thorpe said.

price that may be established later, Carlyle presented figures showing that within the next few years prices on commodities in general had been reduced 34 per cent, which, he said, in point of purchasing power of the dollar, was equivalent to an increase of three-fourths of a cent a cent on walnuts.

"On other words we can sell for 3-4 cents a pound less this year," he added, "and still buy as much with our dollar as we could under the prices prevailing last year."

BALL ANSWERS GOVERNOR

In reply to a statement issued by Governor Richardson attacking Assemblyman C. D. Ball, candidate for re-election, Dr. Ball today declared that he would not be a rubber stamp for any governor, and, at Sacramento, would be free to listen to the people of this county and to protect them against any bill that may be designed to save money for the state by showing state expenses off on the counties.

"I want the voters of this county to know, however," said Dr. Ball, "that on every economy measure proposed by Governor Richardson that I thought sound and advisable, I voted with him. My attitude at the next Legislature will be exactly the same. When I think he is right, I will vote with him. I'll vote against him when I think he is wrong."

"I want to go to Sacramento to work for water conservation and for a square deal for this county from the state in its appropriations."

"I favor keeping new legislation down to a minimum, making only those changes that, seem necessary. Most legislation goes too many laws."

In an advertisement appearing in this paper today, Dr. Ball declares that no organization and no group of men asked him to run for assemblyman. He says he ran of his own free will and is himself paying every dollar of his campaign expenses.

"In fairness, I ask every voter to read my advertisement," said Dr. Ball, "and vote before voting August 26th."

CURTAILMENT MAY END BY NOVEMBER FIRST

Long and detailed cross examination of Power Supervisor H. G. Butler took place in one of the hearings before the State Railroad Commission in the matter of the Southern California Edison Company's application for rate increase, and served to bring out the fact that the Edison company will be in operation before that date and that the San Joaquin generating plants will be able to make delivery to the Edison distributing system in only a few months.

Definite figures on the amount of curtailment suffering by irrigators are hard to get but in a broad way it can be said that it never has reached the full 25 per cent required of other consumers.

Injury to farmers has been less than was expected. Injury to the community at large has been appreciable. Seventy five per cent of the power sold by the Municipal Bureau of Power and Light is being supplied by the Edison company. This figure will be lower for the months of November and December. The bureau, however, is absorbing its full share of the 25 per cent curtailment ordered.

Industrial consumers are receiving only the rigidly diminished allowance but the rigor of curtailment effected in July if it is continued, will be slackened off elsewhere. Street lighting was cut by some cities at first more than prayed necessary. There have been small concessions to motion picture houses in the matter of low power rates.

Some illumination has gone down about 20 per cent, according to Edison figures and the decrease remains constant. This business is the most profitable the company does. The Los Angeles Railway and the Pacific Electric companies are buying about 12 per cent less power.

Further curtailment is being held in Huntington Lake to provide against a possible breakdown in any of the large steam generating units now running full blast to make up the deficiency in hydro-electric power.

ENDORSE DEFENSE TEST

Twenty-seven national patriotic societies have endorsed the Defense Test and will co-operate with the government in carrying out the plans for that day.

The societies are:
 The Daughters of the American Revolution.
 The Sons of the American Revolution.

Sons of the Revolution.
 The Daughters of 1812.
 The United Confederate Veterans.
 The United Daughters of the Confederacy.

The United Spanish War Veterans.
 The Naval and Military Order of the Spanish-American War.
 Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

The American Legion.
 Disabled American Veterans of the World War.
 The Military Order of the World War.

Grand Army of the Republic.
 Women's Overseas Service League.
 The Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion.

The National Guard Association.
 The Reserve Officers' Association of the United States.
 The Military Training Camps Association.

The National League of Women's Service.
 The Women's Constitutional League.

The League of American Penwomen.
 Sentinels of the Republic.
 The National Association for Constitutional Government.

The National Civic Federation.
 Camp Fire Girls.
 The National Security League.

These societies which are all "civilian" organizations, do not propose to confine their assistance to mere "lip service" or to writing "letters of commendation." They propose to work and assist in every way toward making the "Defense Test" a success. All will co-operate locally as well as nationally.

Represented in these societies are all of those who have participated as soldiers in all our wars from the beginning until now. They believe in National Unity and because they know that war is a grim reality that must be faced by our Nation with or without an army.

ACHIEVEMENT IN LATIN AMERICA
 Probably no other similar period in our history has shown such a marked advance in our relations with the Latin American republics as has come since the Republicans took control of the government in March, 1921. A brief reference to the more salient features of that brilliant record is convincing of that fact.

A treaty with Columbia was consummated under which the long standing differences growing out of the revolution in Panama were settled.

The occupation of Haiti and Santo Domingo by United States marines was brought to a successful conclusion, leaving the island in a state of prosperity and contentment never known before.

The forty-year old dispute between Chile and Peru over the Tacna-Arica territory was ended through a meeting in Washington of delegates from both countries and a reference of the controversy to the President of the United States as arbiter.

Cuba was again rescued from impending economic chaos and possible revolution by a visit and a meeting of General Crowder to take charge of the island's finances and his subsequent appointment as Ambassador to Cuba.

An American naval mission has been two years in Brazil assisting that republic in perfecting its navy.

Our Secretary of State and a distinguished delegation attended the great international exhibition at Rio Janeiro, thereby further cementing our friendly relations.

Differences with Mexico were successfully adjusted for the first time in ten years.

American plenipotentiaries were sent to Santiago, Chile, to participate in the Latin American conference held in that city.

A steamship service between United States and South American ports has been maintained that challenges competition with the best trans-Atlantic ships.

All this took place under a Republican administration. Each one of these achievements is a separate bit of evidence of sound, practical, Republican statesmanship. They reveal the friendly interest which the United States should always feel for its southern neighbors, and are examples of how that interest may be intelligently translated into practical and mutual aid. The future is going to bring other situations when appropriate action by the United States will be for the benefit of all.

If our pride in the conduct of Latin American relations is not to be lowered, it behooves us to keep in power the party and the men who now are charged with their supervision.

Vote for Swing at the primary, August 26.

How this Store Serves All the Public

There are many ways in which a clothing store may serve the people.

Keeping up the standard of merchandise is one.

Keeping the prices down to the lowest possible notch is another.

Then there is the duty of selecting the right style; of providing ample selections; of employing salesmen with taste and intelligence to help you in your purchase; of competent tailors to make alterations.

We are never satisfied here unless every customer goes out of our store with the clothes that are best for him; unless he has received his full money's worth in style as well as quality—in short, unless he is well dressed.

THREE BOYS ADMIT THEY PLANNED A DUPLICATE FRANKS MURDER

Joseph Mesmer, Nine Year Old of Zeyn Street, Was the Intended Victim — Notes Left on Doorstep Led to Arrest of Youthful Conspirators — After Hearing Confession Judge Kuehl Turns Them Over to Custody of Their Parents.

A generation or two ago the minds of boys of an imaginative disposition were inflamed by the perusal of yellow backed dime novels. Today the dime novel does not exist, but the big daily papers furnish ample inspiration for the youngsters who eagerly devour sensational stories and yearn for adventure. Half the columns of metropolitan papers these days are filled with stories of crimes. In order to fill space and print something interesting, details are exaggerated and the bare facts of sordid and such a romantic setting that the low browed criminal becomes a hero in the minds of the young.

Three Anaheim boys, who admitted they had read all the details of the Franks murder in Chicago and were influenced by their reading to attempt a similar crime, were taken in custody. They had left threatening letters on the doorstep of the Mesmer family on Zeyn street, directed to Joseph Mesmer, nine year old son of the family. The parents of the boys turned the notes over to Chief Moody, who caused the arrest of the boys. Out of consideration for their families and because no real harm was done, the police are withholding the names of the youthful would-be assassins. The boys confessed their guilt, and stated that their only reason was that they did not like him. They had no intention of holding him to ransom, but to just lik the hood and see what he was made of. They admitted that they had been reading the Leopold-Loeb case and were influenced by the theories advanced by the youthful Chicago murderers. However strangulation and blows on the head were not their methods. They intended to slay young Mesmer with a dagger, according to the police.

Death notes figured in the plot and led to the arrest of the three alleged conspirators who were later released on probation in the custody of their parents. These notes were couched in careless schoolboy phrases and were intended to frighten the victim.

The next night another note left on boy's doorstep read: "You are warned this day, August 10, 1924, to watch your step. Don't get comical and keep out of the neighborhood unless you want to meet death."

The next night another note left on the doorstep read: "If you do not desire to meet death you had better watch your step and cancel your acts for the future."

The third and last note was brief: "We will kill you with a dagger," was the terse warning.

At first the notes were considered merely the prank of schoolboys, but an investigation began and the three youthful conspirators were arrested. They confessed they had organized a club known as the "Ancient and Honorable Choo Choo Club" and had plotted the murder.

Inasmuch as no harm had befallen the Mesmer youth and the trio promised to reform, the boys were released in the custody of their parents who were instructed to keep close watch on their movements.

KWEER KOUNT IN KLINE KLUB

ORANGE, August 20.—(Extra Special)—Kampaigning in Orange County these days completely confirms the belief that life is just one doggone thing after another.

No sooner had they uncovered the "double kross" over in Anaheim, than we came up against a kewer kind of clever and classy kamouflage in this up-and-coming community of Orange. It is currently kronicled that Kanditate Kline—that's the guy from Riverside County with whom we are kcondemned to "keep faith"—kamped in this neck of the woods last week-end and thereafter gave to the Santa Ana Register a korking story to the effect that Komrade Koepsel, another keen and kude kampaigner, had organized a Kline Klub last Friday evening in the light of the moon. And, as the Register had it, this Kline Klub Konklave was attended by three hundred kwite kurious Kline kampaigners.

Kwever how reports will get started, ain't it so? Whoever would have believed that this Konservative kampaigner from Riverside County would akt as his own press agent. But such is such.

So, korrrespondent konkluded to just lik the hood and see what made the Kline Klub wheels revolve.

Kontrary to the kount of the Register, a kareful, korprensive kompilation of kollekted facts indikate that only thirty Kline Klubbers met in mutual admiration in the Klu Klub Konklave or Kline Klu Klouellum.

And now the good people of Orange are twisting their tongues to toll the tale of truth about this Klu Klub Klub—or is it the Kline Klub Klub, or the Kline Klub Klub, or the Kline Klub Klub, oh, shucks, what's the use. Just call it anything you want to.

INSPECTING THE HARBOR

The Orange Lions' Club visited Newport Beach on Tuesday last to make a trip over Newport Bay. The Lions were accompanied by their ladies and arrived at the Yacht Club promptly on scheduled time, at 5:30. A trip to the entrance was followed by a journey into the upper bay and there was never a more surprised bunch of good people than the fifty members from Orange, nearly all of whom had never been into that little known part of Newport Bay. Enthusiastic and delighted beyond measure the members returned to the Newport Harbor Yacht Club, with appetites keened for one of the dinners for which the Yacht Club is famous. After the meal a roaring time was enjoyed, music, songs, stories, short speeches and then the group adjourned to the Rendezvous at Balboa where dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

During the meeting the suggestion was advanced that every luncheon club and organization in Orange county, in order to acquaint their membership with Newport Bay and its great possibilities as Orange County's harbor, should within the next few months hold at least one meeting at Newport Beach and make the tour of inspection over the bay.

Many of the Lions stated on their return from the trip that the possibilities of the Upper Bay was a revelation.

REVIEW FIRE SITUATION

The danger of terrible losses from forest fires in California, created by the extreme drought throughout this state, the prevailing low humidity of the air and the almost daily occurrence of high winds, continues unabated. These conditions threaten the most widespread loss of the natural resources of California that the city has faced for at least twenty-five years. There have been 1360 forest and brush fires in California this year burning over about three hundred thousand acres. On the National Forests alone we have had almost a thousand fires which have swept approximately two hundred thousand acres of public land. The season is giving the hardest tests it has ever experienced in any part of the United States. So far, however, the fires in National Forests have burned but one half of one per cent of their area in the state. This goes to show that with a sufficient organization hard work and eternal vigilance it is entirely feasible to protect the vast forest and water resources of California even during the worst drought in her history.

The emergency has been splendidly met in California. The assistance given by many business interests and organizations to the protection plans of the State Forestry Department and the Federal Forest Service, the cooperation of the public generally, and the support of the press have been admirable. What California is doing this year is an outstanding example of what can be done by good team work in meeting a critical situation. The forest using and forest loving people of the state have shown a fine spirit in accepting the restrictions which the government has been compelled to place around the use of a number of National Forests. Their necessity is plain from the fact that already 268 fires have been started on the National Forests by smokers and 125 by campers, together more than 40 per cent of all the fires we have had.

Many of the Forest Supervisors and Rangers have been fighting forest fires, with only occasional breathing spells, since the first of May and the stress they have been under can be compared only with that of men at the front in time of war. The record of the Forest Service by no means is perfect, but the black pins on the map in the San Francisco office show 64 bad fires that have been fought and stopped, in the National Forests, and at this time, as the worst of the season approaches, but three fires are not under control. We are searching for every possible means of strengthening our defenses during the remainder of the dry season with the certainty that it will bring more peak loads of bad fires during the waves of very hot, windy weather or in connection with lightning storms. A reserve force of experienced Forest rangers from other states will shortly be concentrated in California, to be available for any emergency which may arise. The California State Forestry Department is ably handling the areas under its jurisdiction. The United States Army is giving splendid help. We can and will carry the forests and watersheds of California through until the rains come without any overwhelming loss. Every year the opening of the hunting season in this state has been marked by a tremendous jump in the number of man caused fires. While we have been compelled to close extensive areas in the National Forests to public use, a number of commonly used hunting grounds within the Forests will remain open to the sportsman of California. This in contrast with the situation in Oregon where the governor has suspended all hunting for the duration of the fire season. I cannot impress upon the hunters too strongly for the necessity of extraordinary precautions to prevent the starting of fires. If the hunting season brings any considerable increase in the number of fires we will be compelled to close all of the National Forests in this state. If every hunter will constitute himself a citizen fire guard, his presence in the forests will be a help rather than an added fire hazard.

I regret deeply the revival of the old notion that the protection of California's forests requires their "light" or annual burning. That idea was thoroughly studied and tested years ago and its impracticability from the standpoint of cost and destruction of merchantable timber alone was thoroughly proven. Furthermore light burning means the end of timber growing and future timber resources of California, to say nothing of its disastrous effect upon stream flow. Even the lightest fires kill young trees. The immense brush fields around Mt. Shasta, which have replaced valuable pine and fir forests, represent the last word in light burning, or "Pine Forestry." On the other hand, there are hundreds of thousands of acres in California where continuous protection from fire has now restored a new growth of young trees which "light burning" had previously kept down. Forest protection has its difficulties, but to adopt light burning as the remedy would be as sensible as to prevent epidemics of diphtheria by killing our babies.

There are always irresponsible people or people with some selfish interest to serve who are quick to act on suggestions of this sort. We have already had to fight 60 incendiary fires in California this year. Those who advocate light burning, particularly in the middle of a severe and hazardous as the present one, are, consciously or otherwise, allies of the incendiary.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Robert LaFollette is not a candidate for President. He knows just as well as does every one of his supporters that he has not the slightest chance of being elected. His most enthusiastic followers cannot figure that he can get more than 51 votes out of the 531 in the electoral college. What then is his aim? It is solely to prevent the election of Coolidge and Davis throw the election into the senate and there exercise some control over the election of the next president. He knows that the House would be as effectively deadlocked as the electoral college and the senate would have to choose between the two vice-presidential candidates, Dawes and Bryan. Then LaFollette could make terms with the Democrats by throwing his votes to Bryan. These are the plain facts which are realized fully by the managers of the two big parties and which they hope to get clearly before the people. Another fact they hope to get to the rank and file of the voters is that inasmuch as LaFollette has not, and knows he has not, the slightest chance of being president, he can promise anything. He will never be called upon to make good. Consequently he is shaping his campaign to meet the wishes of every discontented individual with entire recklessness. It is easy to make promises where one will never be called upon to make them good. LaFollette has just asserted his opposition to the Ku Klux Klan to the great detriment of the Democratic managers who see in this step a scheme to draw from their candidate that great mass of normally Democratic voters who are disgusted with the cowardly course of the Democratic National Convention.

"We are, both Democrats and Republicans, striving for an honest upright government in the United States," declared John W. Davis at Rockwood, Maine, as he stopped to make a brief speech on his way back to New York. He told the truth, but when he met his political advisers in New York he found them in tears. What possible issue had the Democrats other than to charge the Republicans with dishonesty? they asked in mournful accents. And if he, their candidate, was going to admit that the Republicans were honest and striving for an upright government they might as well throw up the sponge. But Davis has seen the error of his ways. One week later, opening his campaign at Poughkeepsie, he said, "The great issue in this campaign is honesty in government." Of course the two statements are in flat contradiction. If the Republicans are "striving for an honest and upright government," honesty in government is not an issue. But if the voters believe Mr. Davis' first statement they will naturally ask themselves, "If both parties are honest and striving for an upright government, why should we turn from those who are striving with four years training and experience and put in their places men who, however honest, are wholly inexperienced?" According to the state statements made at the Democratic headquarters here, the candidate will never again make the blunder of admitting what he well knows to be true and what he so frankly said at Rockwood, that "both Democrats and Republicans are striving for an honest and upright government in the United States."

It is also declared that the oil leases will constitute one of the chief issues of the Democratic candidate. Judicial determination of the legality and justice of the oil leases cannot come until after the election. The charges have been made, the indictments have been returned, but the government has been instrumental in putting off all the trials until October or later, so there can be no doubt as to the plans of the Democratic managers to make these leases an issue. If, of course, after the election the courts find the leases honest and legal and beneficial to the navy and the United States, and if the juries find that neither Secretary Fall on the one hand or Messrs. Sinclair or Doheny on the other did anything improper in making the leases, but instead saved millions of barrels of government oil for the government, it will not effect the campaign at all. The election will be over and the so-called "oil scandal" will have served its purpose nicely and incidentally, Senator Walsh of Montana will have been saved from that defeat at the hands of the Ku Klux Klan in Montana which was staring him in the face when he conceived the idea of exploiting a scandal and playing somewhat to the safety of the campaign even if it "ain't doing the Democratic candidate no good."

While politics generally will remain in abeyance until after the formal notification of the candidates, the condemnation of Davis by the Federation of Labor is adding somewhat to the safety of the campaign even if it "ain't doing the Democratic candidate no good."

You'll be popular if you limit your efforts at reforming the world, to the effort to reform yourself.

LUCKY STRIKE

Is Five Cents on the Dollar of Valuation too Much to Earn?

If a business worth $10,000 earned $500 net income in a year (or $41 a month), would it be considered an unreasonable profit and proof that its prices were too high?

The railroads are in that situation today. The 1923 net return for the whole country was less than 5 per cent. As of December 31, 1919, the Interstate Commerce Commission gave to the railroads a tentative valuation of $16,900,000,000. With actual figures for 1920, 1921, 1922, and with 1923 conservatively estimated as $1,100,000,000, there has been invested in the railways since this tentative valuation a net amount of $2,371,583,000, making the value as of December 31, 1923, $21,271,583,000. On this amount the Railways in 1923 earned an aggregate net operating income of approximately $997,610,000, or 4.69 per cent.

The Government guarantee of earnings expired August 31, 1920. If this guarantee had been continued—as repeatedly but erroneously claimed—the Government would owe the railroads more than a billion dollars.

Last year the roads handled a record volume of business but could not earn the fair return of 5% per cent to which the Interstate Commerce Commission, under the Transportation Act, has found they are entitled. If the roads cannot earn 5% per cent in a big year, what will they do in a small year?

The Transportation Act provides that if a road in any year earns more than 6 per cent it shall pay one-half of the excess to the Government. The Act is, therefore, a limitation rather than a guarantee.

GIVE TRANSPORTATION ACT FAIR TRIAL

The Transportation Act should be given a fair trial and its merits judged by the results of a normal period of reasonable length. The year 1923 was the first since the war under conditions approaching stabilization.

What the railroad situation demands just now is not more law but more confidence. The railroads have emerged from the welter of the war, restored their morale, made enormous investments of new money, and in 1923 handled a peak business with universal satisfaction.

The Transportation Act is the only really constructive railroad legislation of a generation. Previous acts were almost solely repressive. In framing the Act the public interest was paramount. The Act directs the Interstate Commerce Commission to "give due consideration to the transportation needs of the country and the necessity of enlarging railway facilities in order to provide the people of the United States with adequate transportation."

Give the Act a chance. Don't amend it. If the roads are let alone they should make as good a record for efficiency this year as last. Constructive suggestions are always welcome.

Would Fight Any Move to Shove State Expenses on Our County

I MAKE THIS PLEDGE TO ORANGE COUNTY

ILL FIGHT ANY MOVE TO SAVE MONEY FOR THE STATE BY SHOVING STATE FUNCTIONS ON TO CITIES AND COUNTIES.

This county has lost $5000 for its health department, it is taking care of insane patients, it has to hire fire guards, cost $800 or $1000. For opposing this kind of thing, Richardson says that I am a "spend-thrift."

ILL VOTE WITH GOV. RICHARDSON WHEN HE IS RIGHT, BUT HE CAN'T BULL DOZE ME INTO VOTING WITH HIM WHEN HE IS WRONG.

ASK EACH OF MY OPPONENTS THESE QUESTIONS: WHAT ORGANIZATION OR GROUP PERSUADED YOU TO RUN? NAME THEM.

WHOM DID THEY REPRESENT? You have the right to know. For myself I answer as follows: Nobody and no organization asked me to run. I am paying every dollar of MY campaign expenses.

In his anxiety to dictate to this county whom it should send to Sacramento, Governor Richardson issued an unfair malicious attack on me in which he said Dr. Ball "is lined up with the spendthrifts and certain notorious wet politicians of San Francisco."

To this I answer: I favor horse sense economy. I am absolutely opposed to the economy that sacrifices the lives of helpless feeble-minded girls (I think of Playa del Rey); that lets our forests burn; that shoves the care of hopelessly insane persons off on to the county; that cripples institutions for the blind.

I'm not wet. I never was wet. Make inquiry; I've been here 37 years. At the Legislature there were just eight test wet-dry bills. I voted dry on seven, and was sick in bed unable to vote on the eighth.

CONSTRUCTIVE RECORD

Following is an extract from a speech delivered by Herbert Hoover at Los Angeles August 13.

One of our political opponents in the last few days diated at some length upon what he considered the failures of the Republican Administration. Naturally he could not dilate upon its successes. He did not indeed mention a single one of the great problems that confronted this government four years ago when we took over the administration. And I will state the first of the problems that we had to secure a job for four and a half million American idle men and women faced with unemployment. This is the first real problem of life, to secure jobs at reasonable wages and a protection to the family. The American people needed a job, and they got it, for today there is no unemployment of consequence in the United States.

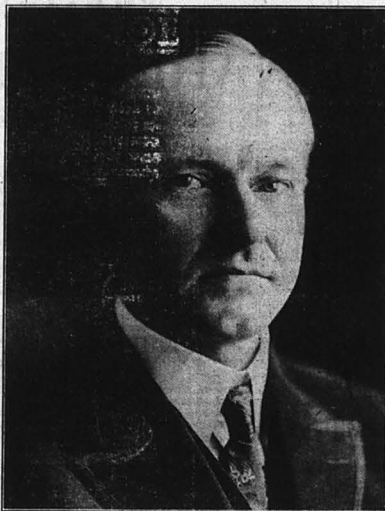

But as yet no peace with any of the enemy countries was made. Further than that, the economic instability of our country abroad had fallen to a lower ebb than ever before in our history in spite of the magnificence of our effort. The American people demanded that that stability should be restored; that has been done. The American people needed a reduction in government expenditures and in taxes. These expenditures have been reduced from five and a half billions per annum to three and one quarter billions per annum, and taxes have been reduced likewise. The reduction of expenditures and taxes is no problem in statistics; it is a problem in administration. In order to reduce the expenditures of this government it has been necessary to discharge from government employ about two hundred thousand people and in the selection of those who are to go and the difficulties that arose from public pressure were things that required courage and positiveness in administration which have been met.

The country needed increased housing; it needed increased transportation, and these things have been obtained; it needed reconstruction of commerce and industry, and reconstruction of commerce and industry is not a problem that the government can directly attain. It is necessary, however, that confidence in government should be restored in order that commerce and industry may of themselves recuperate. The Republican Party in power has been an assurance that there will be stability and that there will be safe economic policies, and it has been on that assurance that a large part of our economic recovery has taken place. We had vast problems in agriculture. In every great depression we have problems in agriculture, and this depression was brought about partly by the war and partly by the financial policies that existed subsequently to the war; but in this depression agriculture had suffered more than industry. Industry can rearrange its policies quickly, can change its turn over every quarter, whereas agriculture must take a year to a single turnover; and a larger understanding of the farmer in world problems must be had before an adjustment can be brought to him; so that agriculture has lagged behind industry. The first principal in the reconstruction of agriculture has been the maintaining of prosperity in industry, itself. The greatest consumer that the American agriculture has is his own domestic market, and that depends upon employment in our industrial centers.

During the year 1921 the consumption of American agricultural products in that year of terrible unemployment fell twenty per cent; and in the year 1923 with full employment in all industrial centers the consumption of agricultural products increased twenty per cent; so that in the reconstruction of employment in the industrial centers we were fundamentally correct in the conclusion that agriculture responds; and agriculture has within the last three or four months responded with prosperity in industrial sections of the United States with great fundamental increase in the price of products. Conditions in Europe have also improved and that has been done through the plan put forward in co-operation with your townsmen, Mr. Henry M. Robinson, (president of the First National Bank of Los Angeles) generally known as the Dawes plan.

The American people feel that something should be done to stem the tide of increasing armament throughout the world, increasing naval armament is brought to a halt or a reduction, that was done by this administration at the Washington arms conference. All of these things and many others have not been accomplished, but many things have been done through the result of reconstructive work through sound, progressive policies. I would not claim that every tide of progress and economic movement in the United States is due to the action of the government. No one could be so fool-lish as to make an assertion of that kind, when the economic system has received a great wound, the process of healing is like the process of healing wounds in the human body. It is not as shown in the protection of the patient, then the cells of the body will cure that wound of themselves, and in the government maintaining confidence in our business the commercial world is giving an opportunity for the cells to produce the healing, and we have secured the restoration of the United States far beyond that secured by any other nations of the world.

HEAD OF THE CONSTRUCTIVE ADMINISTRATION

Everyone of the great countries involved in war or against us in the great war is still struggling with the problem of unemployment and until there is harmony in every household there is no hope of reconstructive, social advancement for the people, nor is this period of reconstruction complete as yet. There is need for more constructive work, for sound progress for sound economic policies, for the world has not yet reached stability and the United States is not isolated from the rest of the world.

We need constructive building of permanent peace; we need elimination of war from the prospects of our people. The Republican Party has professed that we should adhere to the World Court, that we should take every other step to produce those ends which do not limit the independence of the United States. We do have big problems in our financial relations; we have great problems of state; we have great problems of tremendous economic necessity; we have great problems in the developments of commerce and transportation; we have great problems in the reconstruction of agriculture and advance in technology which have come to men, greater problems than man ever before enjoyed; we have great problems throughout the western part of the United States and more especially in California in the storage of water; we have great problems in a better and more effective system of growing of agricultural produce; we have great problems in reorganization of the Federal Government in such a fashion that we can still further reduce the expenditures and further reduce taxes and above all we have the problem of maintaining the social system of the United States that will produce effective results from these efforts and that will allow the solution of those problems with a prosperous and happy people.

CARE OF THE EYE

A statewide campaign is under way to protect the public against non-licensed and untrained practitioners in the field of optometry by driving them out of business under the state law. It was learned here this week when legal action was brought against a number of San Francisco practitioners by the State Board of Optometry.

A. K. Kessell, employee of a wholesale optical house was the first albat that was done by this administration at the Washington arms conference. All of these things and many others have not been accomplished, but many things have been done through the result of reconstructive work through sound, progressive policies. I would not claim that every tide of progress and economic movement in the United States is due to the action of the government. No one could be so fool-practice optometry and is not licensed or registered.

"We are determined to drive the unqualified practitioner out of business throughout the State of California," said Dr. Brombach, discussing the bill. "That is what the State Board of Optometry was created for and we propose to protect both the profession and the public by prosecuting these quacks."

According to the Optometric Board official, the Kessell case is only the beginning of a campaign that is to be carried on in every city and town in the State of California where complaints have been filed against the filling of optometric prescriptions by non-licensed practitioners. Operatives of the State Board have been at work gathering evidence throughout the state for several weeks, according to Brombach.

Certain manufacturers and wholesalers of optical lenses and supplies are in conspiracy with "quack" optometrists and oculists, Brombach said to defraud the public and bring disrepute upon the optometric profession. Under their system of operation, according to the state official, a quack oculist sends his patients to a confederate optometrist employed by a wholesale house, with prescriptions which the fake optometrist fills. He charges the patient the retail price for the glasses and turns over the difference between the wholesale price and the retail price to the oculist who has sent him the business.

The California State Optometrists Association, is co-operating with the State Board in its campaign to apprehend and prosecute the state law violators, according to a statement issued by R. C. Endress of Oakland, president of the state association.

AN INCORRIGIBLE RIVER

A fire belching volcano, stacks of dynamite used as candles on a Christmas tree, a herd of 10,000 wild cats and tigers scratching and hitting at a bolshevik convention; or the two Democratic United States Senators from Arkansas at their favorite sport would, generally speaking, be considered as decidedly exciting events. But when compared with the Colorado river on one of its frequent rampages they would be innocent and childish amusements.

The Colorado river begins its career, in the state bearing that name almost three miles above the level of the sea. No river on earth rips and tears and snorts and plunges so strenuously as does this queer stream in its mad haste through deep, rocky gorges and canyons to reach a haven of tranquility in the quiet open spaces 900 miles away. At times this famous stream is as harmless and serene as the gentle flow from the hunchole of a barrel of molasses. But when spring and summer sunshine gets busy with the accumulated winter snows on the Rocky Mountains and converts them into water, then things begin to happen. The 900 mile race to the sea is on. The former placid stream of molasses speed is converted into a raging deluge with the speed of a deer. There are many places where it works itself up to a speed of 30 miles an hour and looks twice that fast to the man who wants to get on the other side. No living thing can resist its onrush. Everything must get out of its way or perish. It grabs up boulders in its embrace weighing hundreds of tons and rolls them along the bottom of its course for hundreds of miles with the same ease that a small boy rolls marbles along the sidewalk.

and grinding of these thousands of granite stones along the bottom and sides of the river deepen the channel through the centuries and send the powdery breakage seaward. But this is nothing in comparison to the soil from the high hills and valleys that is carried to the flat valleys on the comparatively level stretches. Right there is where another form of trouble arises. There is enough silt carried through the river each year and deposited in the level stretches of the river to cover an area of 360 square miles of land with a layer of mud six inches in depth. This is more earth than was excavated in building the Panama canal. When the current becomes slow and sluggish, this floating silt grows weary of its wanderings and gently settles to the bottom of the stream and goes soundly to sleep. To those unfamiliar with this sort of a thing there would seem to be nothing to get excited about. But that silt is selfish. It is not satisfied to occupy a fair share of the bed, but wants it all. Soon it is taking up all the bed space and the poor old river is obliged to go elsewhere. Everytime this happens a lot of people suffer.

A bed hunting river is no respecter of people or farms. It is as unreasonable as a domineering and as lawless as some senatorial investigating committees. Everything must get out of its way. True, the farmers try to hold it in check by building mud levees, but they have no more effect than a West Indian hurricane trying to compete with "Talkin' Tom," the Senator from Alabama. The river and the silt could easily be forgiven for one performance of this kind, but they are never satisfied. It is sooner does the river get nicely settled in a new clean bed than a fresh batch of floating silt comes blithely along and again it crowds it out.

This river and its rebellious conduct has been a source of worry to the United States government for more than a half a century. During this long period of years various governmental agencies have spent almost $2,500,000 in studying the Colorado basin and trying to work out some plan whereby the great volume of water, now going to waste can be held in check and used for irrigation purposes power development, water supply for various towns and cities, and, at the same time, prevent flood damage and the changing of the course of the river.

Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the Interior, thinks it is time to get down to brass tacks on the proposition. He expresses the view that the time has arrived when the government should decide whether it will proceed to convert this natural menace into a natural resource. Dr. Work says the scope of this subject is in many directions; its urgency in some, and its opportunities for development, together, demand the determination of a definite government policy. Not temporary expedients but plans comprehending the immediate necessities and those of succeeding generations, especially for power, which is now the pressing necessity of this country as a whole and is going to become an acute problem for the territory within distribution distance for electrical energy of the Colorado river. It is quite likely that the solution of this great problem will be one of the important things tackled by Congress when it convenes next December.

The bigness of this problem is understood by but few people. Its possibilities are equal in importance to the Panama canal, the Territory of ways project. It means the development and blossoming of the southwestern section of the United States. The Colorado river basin alone contains over 244,000 square miles, an area almost 30 times as large as President Coolidge's home state of Massachusetts.

The idea of the United States Reclamation service is to construct a dam in one of the deep granite gorges of the river which will bear the name of Boulder Canyon dam. It will be the biggest thing in the world of its kind. This dam would raise the water to a height of 605 feet, 50 feet higher than the Washington monument. It will be four times higher than Niagara Falls. To construct this immense dam will require almost four million cubic yards of concrete, which is more than three times as much as the Aswan dam in Egypt containing the greatest amount of masonry of any dam heretofore built.

The foundation of the dam will begin 150 feet below the bed of the river. It will be 550 feet thick at the base. Its length will be 1,350 feet and as stated above, its height will be 605 feet. Its estimated cost of $50,000,000. It must be built in a normal current 20 to 30 feet ordinary depth, which has a velocity of 15 feet per second of time. "All of which indicate engineering difficulties attractive to ambitious engineers."

The reservoir formed by the dam will be a whole of a body of water. It will be 120 miles long and will cover an area of 157,000 acres.

The power production possibilities of Boulder dam sound like a fairy tale. It is conservatively estimated by the engineers that it will be capable of developing 600,000 horsepower. With water power of that magnitude it would easily be possible to generate enough cheap electricity to supply the entire Colorado basin and also an abundance of light and power for Los Angeles, San Diego and the numerous smaller towns in Southern California, hundreds of miles distant.

A generous and constant supply of pure water for drinking and cooking purposes is the best asset of which any community may boast. The Boulder dam will not only insure this for the whole Colorado basin but there will be plenty for Los Angeles and the other growing and always thirsty villages of that section.

When Boulder dam has been completed and its possibilities have been fully taken advantage of, and the country is blossoming and prospering additional dams and reservoirs farther up the river with still more power, irrigation, water supply and flood control possibilities will be gotten under way. The far seeing engineers have worked out plans and sites for ten other dams.

In a detailed report on the Colorado project made to the Committee on Irrigation of Arid Lands of the House of Representatives, Secretary Work closes with these admonitions.

"I am concerned for the future of people menaced by temporarily controlled floods and entertain a lively sense of the magnitude, the necessities and the importance of conserving one of this potential natural force for the great waiting territory to be directly benefitted."

"I would recommend that the Congress promptly initiate such commensurate measures as it may determine the government's financial status will warrant and probably commercial returns justify, from a point of view 50 or 100 years hence, rather than now. The whole subject in a broad way and is well worthy the serious consideration and action of Congress."

"The Rocky Mountain range physically divides the United States. The two extremes of the East and West are rapidly becoming less dependent on each other commercially. The cost of covering the distance between the two oceans compels this semi-independence. The Colorado river and its possibilities for contributing its forces to a territory greater in area than many nations, should be appraised by the Congress representing every state."

INVESTMENT FEATURES

PROPERTIES AND BUSINESS—This company was incorporated March, 1920 for the purpose of conducting a general packing house business, and the wholesaling and retailing of its products. From a modest beginning the Company has grown until today annual sales exceed $1,450,000.00 and the total personnel employed is 95. This progress has been made under the direct supervision of Mr. John Ruethe, President and General Manager. Mr. Ruethe's entire business career has been spent in the cattle, packing and meat business. He is ably assisted by the following: Messrs. Second Gusti, Jr., Vice-President; A. E. Huck, Secretary and Enos Ruethe and C. S. Chapman, Directors.

The plant is located on four acres of ground between Anaheim and Fullerton, and is served by both the Union Pacific and Santa Fe railroads. More than sufficient water is developed on the property for the needs of the plant which is equipped with the best and most modern machinery. Buildings contain seven refrigerating rooms with cooling and storage capacity of 1000 hogs, 250 cattle, 50 lambs, 150 calves and thousands of pounds of pork cuts in process of curing. In addition to the full line of fresh meats there is manufactured in the plant all kinds of smoked meats, sausages, bone meal and dried blood tankage.

The Company owns and operates twenty-five of the finest and best equipped retail markets in California in such communities as Anaheim, Fullerton, Orange, Santa Ana, Huntington Beach, Brea, Whittier, Downey, Norwalk, Garden Grove, Corona, Montebello, and Long Beach. These shops in addition to operating at substantial profit assure at all times a continuous outlet for the output of the packing plant.

SECURITY—A recent appraisal by Messrs. Chas. Eysenbrod Eugene Durfee and H. H. Krause, fixed the value of real estate, retail stores, machinery, trucks and other equipment at $281,857, or nearly three times the amount of this issue.

EARNINGS—Since incorporation the net earnings of the Company applicable to interest on this issue of bonds have averaged more than four times interest charges and for the year ending January 31, 1924 were $24,258.19 or 4.59 times interest requirements.

PURPOSE—Funds derived from this financing will be used to reimburse the Treasury for expenditures made to plant and equipment and should put the company in position to take advantage of its rapidly increasing business.

GUARANTEE—Mr. C. C. Chapman of Fullerton guarantees by endorsement on each bond the payment of the principal thereof and the interest thereon. The high moral and financial standing of Mr. Chapman is well known in this community.

SINKING FUND—Beginning January 1, 1924, the company will pay to the Trustees on the first of each and every month $1500 or at the rate of $18,000 a year, said monies to be used by the Trustees for the redemption of bonds on or before their maturity dates in the order of their maturity. This sinking fund will work to retire the bonds more rapidly than provided in the serial maturities.

WHY THE UNITED STATES IS SO WEALTHY

The London Daily Mail comments as follows on the prosperity of the United States.

Aristocrats demanding vast public expenditure on their pet projects frequently tell us that England "is rolling in wealth," that is "the richest country in the world." That was, perhaps true, decades ago, but matters are very different now. England is poor, very poor, if compared with the United States.

The United States are fabulously wealthy. Although they possess only about one-twentieth the population of the world, they have half the world's wealth and more than half the world's gold, diamonds, pearls and precious stones of every kind.

The true wealth of a nation can best be measured by the condition of the markets. The prosperity of the American workers is almost unbelievable. More or less unskilled men, such as carters, milkmen, builders, laborers, etc., earn 45s per day. Vast numbers of skilled workers earn 1,000 pounds and more per year.

The assertion that America's wealth belongs to the few, that the high cost of living counterbalances the high wages prevailing is incorrect. The white population of the Republic is a little more than twice as large as that of this country. However, the United States have not merely twice the number of telephones and motor cars that there are in this country but they have fifteen times as many. To every three families there are two telephones and two motor cars. Millions of unskilled workers have not only roomy houses which belong to them but have a telephone, a motor car and other luxuries of which the English working man scarcely dream.

Before the war England's savings came to about four hundred million pounds per year. Although the American people are terribly extravagant, their savings are estimated to come to two billion seven hundred million pounds per year. Last year the American people spent on motor cars and trucks alone seven hundred and fifty million pounds. If we add the expenditures on garages, etc., the motor car expenditure last year exceeded one billion pounds.

It is frequently stated that the United States owe their vast wealth to the possession of their great natural resources, to the possession of a fruitful agricultural plain, to extensive forests rich in mines, etc. That explanation is fallacious. Every student of American economics is aware that the bulk of America's vast income is furnished not by the farms, mines and forests, but by the factories and the shops.

The United States are foremost in the world, not only by the productivity of their wheat fields, cotton fields, coal mines, iron mines, forests, etc., but also by the output of their manufacturing industries.

With the existing armaments this country can produce 12,000,000 tons of steel per year. That figure has never been reached. The United States can produce at least 55,000,000 tons of steel per year. They produce far more than half the world's steel and the products made of steel. Among other things they produce about 90 per cent of the world's motor cars, both in their own country and in other establishments abroad.

In the city of New York alone vast money building takes place than in the whole of the United Kingdom. The textile industries of the Republic consume considerably more cotton than the whole of this country. In the production of goods made from copper, brass, rubber, wood, leather, etc., America's superiority is overwhelming. In view of these facts Cobden's prophecy "England is, and always will remain, the workshop of the world," is ridiculous.

Why are the Americans foremost in the world, not only in the output of food and raw products, but also in that of manufactured goods? The reason is obvious to any student of economic condition on both sides of the Atlantic.

England, which used to be the stronghold of individualism and of efficiency, has become a stronghold of socialism. Owing to socialistic influence can hardly be become universal. The successful policy of restriction has led to hostility to labor-saving machinery. The result is that the average American produces as much as three English workers.

Goods must be consumed. They are consumed and enjoyed chiefly by the working masses. Production being three times as great in the United States as over here workers receive not merely three times as much money but receive three times as much real wages in the form of goods which they can buy. Hence the American workers are infinitely better clothed and housed than the British workers.

The American worker recognizes that property consists in an abundance of useful goods and nothing else, and that such abundance cannot be created by insisting high wages in respect of an utterly insufficient output. He recognizes that capital and labor saving machine are not his enemies, but his friends. Hence the American worker can afford a motor car and other things in this paradise of trade unionism, of Socialism, and of 'cat' canny are the privilege of the rich and the well to do.

WHEN BOLSHIEVISM FAILED

Most social theories touted as modern by revolutionary reformers are really reactionary doctrines tried and discarded by earlier generations. This is true of communism as being practiced by the bolshievists today, and which has brought such disaster in it waken that if the Russian people were permitted the slightest freedom it would be cast aside.

This year marks the centennial of applied bolshievism in America. The year Lafayette began his farewell tour of the United States witnessed an experiment in bolshievism on the largest scale ever attempted until Russia was torn out by war and revolution, seized by an insignificant minority of demagogues and doctrinaires and made the experiment station of a philosophy which leaves human nature out of account and discards that motive of private possession which is the explanation of all human progress.

The great American experiment was launched in 1824 by Robert Owen, the father of English socialism, at New Harmony, on the "Wabash river, 60 miles above its confluence with the Ohio. There Robert Owen, who had won world wide fame as the most successful cotton manufacturer in England and a social reformer, purchased an estate of 60,000 acres, with a substantial town built by a colony of German religious communists, homes, factories, vineyards and farms. There the religious, acting in strict obedience to an autocratic leader, had accumulated a million dollars in a decade of activity.

Owen's philosophy, which he set forth in his "New World" was a complete anticipation of modern bolshievism. He sought the overthrow of the church, marriage and the "capitalistic" state, not by violence, however, but through peaceful agitation. He bought this vast estate for the purpose of showing the world how well the plan would work. His announcement of the great experiment attracted world wide attention. Owen delivered lectures while enroute to the scene of his ambitious effort, in the hall of the House of Representatives at Washington, with the President, the cabinet and most of the members of Congress as his auditors. Owen had a sublime faith in the practicability of his scheme.

Robert Owen did not attempt to practice his bolshievism upon the general run of humanity. He invited to join the colony those who were in sympathy with his purposes. They came a thousand strong from almost every state in the union and from every country in the north of Europe. Owen brought to New Harmony a collection of scholars and savants such ability that the "educational" experiments they launched at New Harmony outlived the failure of the social experiment and affected American educational development deeply.

The scheme of common property proved after some months of experiment during which Owen wasted a fortune a complete failure. It turned out that people would not work even under the leadership of the greatest master of industry of his time, without the incentive of direct personal reward. The community became a debating society which was constantly in session evolving schemes for superintending the millennium of changes in the constitution of the organization, and of the down separate communistic societies into which it soon split. There was constant suspicion on the part of every communist that he was doing more than his share, and getting less than his proper reward.

In the end New Harmony became the most discontented community in the country. Private business began to make its appearance and within two years communism was as dead as a dried mackerel. Robert Owen mournfully concluded that humanity had not been sufficiently educated in the principles of communism to understand and apply them. His brilliant son, Robert Dale Owen, said the trouble was human nature had not yet been exorcised from human beings. Emerson said that Owen's difficulty was that he supposed human beings could be made over into something they were not and never could be by mechanical process.

During the continuance of the Indiana experiment, some 25 similar colonies were founded in the United States on the same principles. Twenty years later there was a revival of communism in the United States under the name of Fourierism. Brook Farm being the most notable experiment. All of these communistic colonies collapsed.

Owen found that human nature, at ter thousands of years of civilization, was still human nature. It has not changed in the hundred years which have succeeded the beginning of Owen's New Harmony experiment, which even his business ability, his fanaticism and his fortune could not carry to a successful conclusion.

Only the rope, the rifle and the bayonet have kept communism enthroned in Russia. The claim of a disinterestedness which in business endeavor, even with as much zeal and efficiency for society in general as for one's own self and dependents, is only a hypocritical pretense or a fanatical delusion.

ENTER ANOTHER RAINMAKER

Since the opening of the conservation campaign in charge of Power Supervisor H. G. Butler one mystery has deepened with the passing days. Where was Rainmaker hidden with his wizard chemicals that he says never—almost never, fail to coax from an insatiable providence what the prayers of the most devout seem unable to do?

Hatfield, for some strange reason, still withholds the name of the valiant valiant the confidence of the more famous sky magician has indicated in a letter to Mr. Butler that the rationing of "juice" need last only so long as it takes for the magician to get on the job.

The letter is from W. H. Elliget, a business man of high standing in Corcoran, California, who is speaking for the rainmaker. The latter is remaining modestly in the background for the present. Says his sponsor:

"This party knows more about weather and the action of the moisture clouds that surround themselves over the Sierras, caused by the intense heat of the desert, to attract the gulf storms that ordinarily move in a north easterly direction."

"This is not guess work; if conditions are right we will be able to place sufficient water in your watershed to obtain the required amount."

"We would be willing to sign a contract setting forth the conditions and start work immediately. If you don't get the water, we are out nothing. If we are successful you pay us a nominal sum."

Mr. Elliget has turned the offer over to the Edison company, which owns Huntington Lake. Without a doubt it would erect an imposing statue to any rainmaker who at this moment should bring the liquid manna from heaven. Perpetual motion inventors, theorists who suggest the plant of water might be drawn up out of the ocean and other resourceful parties have written the power supervisor.

Also, his prerogatives are limited, and he is forced to confine his energies to feeling that a couple of million people waste none of the limited supply that is known to be available until the late fall when enough auxiliary steam plants will be installed to put an end to the necessity for power rations.

JAP WIRE SYSTEM IS BEING REBUILT

Telephone Facilities Damaged By Earthquakes Undergoing Repairs

Slowly the work is progressing of restoring the apashe telephone service which was paralyzed by the earthquake of last September, but probably it will be some time in 1925 before the damage is fully repaired. The total damage to the system in the city of Tokio alone is estimated at seventy five million dollars.

For four days after the disaster not a telephone was in operation in either Tokio or Yokohama. In January, nearly five months later, there were but 18,000 telephones for a population now estimated at 2,500,000 while in Yokohama, whose population was reduced to 233,000 only 500 telephones had been restored.

Of the sixteen central offices at Tokio which were destroyed by fire, six are being rebuilt on their former sites and will be completed this fall. The other ten exchanges must await the land readjustment and will not be ready until 1925.

To accommodate business firms in Yokohama, the government department of communications has granted the first permit issued in Japan for a privately owned telephone exchange. A group of 120 business firms opened a private exchange in February with eighteen telephone operators and six inspectors. The license was granted for three years.

AN IMPRACTICAL CANAL

"There aren't enough steam shovels between El Centro and Chicago to dig an all-American canal through the shifting sand hills in the eastern part of Imperial Valley."

That's the way J. S. Nickerson, Brawley rancher, sums up the problems of the proposed Swing-Rose all-American canal in writing to the Gazette to urge killing the costly measure by electing Senator Ed P. Sample to congress.

"Imagine cutting a ditch 50 to 150 feet deep and 200 feet wide through those shifting sands between Yuma and El Centro," Nickerson continues in his letter. "Any man who has ever driven across the impossible planked road of that district can picture the costly difficulties that would have to be surmounted to build the proposed canal. Half of the time the planked road is buried with sand."

"And Phil Swing, an Imperial Valley Man is trying to choke this folly of his down fellow citizen's throats to satisfy political ambitions and desires of private interests."

"The canal is dynamite to the Valley taxpayers. They would have to pay heavily for the canal and wouldn't be benefitted by it a bit more than they are through the present system, besides losing valuable revenues from water users who would be cut off from an American supply ditch."

"This is the kind of monkey business Swingle is delaying the much needed Boulder Canyon with. Can you

VOTE FOR
WILLIAM SCHUMACHER
FOR SUPERVISOR
Third District of Orange County

Builder of the magnificent paved highway system of Northern Orange County, comprising nearly fifty miles of paved roadway, which attracted most favorable attention to Orange County from all parts of the country. Supervisor Schumacher is at the present moment preparing to construct 20 miles more of paved highway in this supervisor district. Do the people of this district desire this great work to be continued? Do they want this faithful public servant who has done so much for the advancement of this district to continue in this great work? If they do, let them go to the polls on Tuesday and vote for Bill Schumacher for Supervisor.

Millions of dollars have been spent by Schumacher in the construction of roads in this district, and not one dollar has gone wrong. Taxpayers have received their full money's worth for every dollar collected from them. Much money is yet to be expended. Keep this faithful servant.

Go to the primary on Tuesday and vote for Schumacher.
