

Between the Headlines

By Fleetwood Lawton

LIBERTY, EQUALITY, FRATERNITY—France has experienced a third revolution. First was the bloody French revolution which saw the fall of the Bastille, an event which has been commemorated yearly on July 14. One wonders whether even a perfunctory gesture was made by the new rulers of the French nation to honor this anniversary, generally considered to be the birthday of democracy in France. The next great upheaval was that of the Commune which ended the reign of the Napoleons after the war of 1870, and ushered in the French Republic.

Last week this republic was officially buried by a National Assembly, in a move to try to curry favor with the dictator conquerors of France. Of the new regime, Marshal Petain is nominally the head, Petain whose valorous cry of "They shall not pass" made stirring history at Verdun in the first World War. Petain, who in the second World War changed his color to a feeble "unlock the gates to the conqueror." But Petain is generally believed to be nothing but a puppet. Worse, he is only the puppet of a man who is himself the subject servant of others. For Pierre Laval, the swartzy, scheming Moorish politician will pull the strings controlling his nominal leader, and Laval has long been the tool of Mussolini. Pierre Laval was the organizer of the Stresa conference. It was he who, in cooperation with his English sympathizer, Sir Samuel Hoare, proposed the Hoare-Laval pact designed to make Mussolini a present of Ethiopia. Laval was an enthusiastic supporter of the Munich surrender, the entire policy of appeasement has long been his religion. Under the influence of Laval the spirit and vitality which was the soul of France languished and died, and with it died the French Republic.

Yes, France has passed through another revolution, but this has been a revolution of the few. Here has been no sudden and spontaneous uprising of a people aroused. This new revolution has been the work of the few to whom financial power and political office was much more important than the freedom of their homeland. And that even this slight degradation may be insufficient to clearly forecast by the words even of those who gave their approval to the tragedy of Vichy. Herriot said that there must be no hesitation, for the existence of France was in the balance. But, grimly amused, the spokesmen of Berlin and of Rome said their future course would not be swayed in the least by the change in French official heart at so late an hour. No, it is most unlikely that there was any celebration on July 14, 1940. More probably the people of France in the secrecy of their hearts devoted the anniversary of their freedom to prayer that their slavery may not long endure.

GOBBELS GETS FUEL—With the fall of France, Dr. Goebbels, head of the Nazi propaganda machine, should have no lack of fuel for his gas works. When the Nazis captured Warsaw, the city had been completely evacuated by the Polish government and had further been reduced to ruins and gutted by innumerable fires. But Goebbels agents said they found many documents. We were asked to believe that numbers of compromising documents had been left behind by the Poles, and that these documents had not been harmed by the holocaust. Berlin some what naively expressed astonishment at the contents of many of these secret papers alleged to contain plans and agreements drawn up by the Polish and the allied governments. And then, with an almost staggering lack of logic, Goebbels said these plans were for, and the justification of, the German invasion in the first place.

But that was not all, for the archives of Warsaw produced evidence to exonerate the Nazi onslaughts against Norway, Holland, and Belgium. After that, it seems likely that even Dr. Goebbels realized that Warsaw had been somewhat overworked as a source of secret documents. Now, however, Nazi apologists can claim no less than the entire files of the French government itself as their mine of material.

Prado Basin Land Cost Established By Jury Verdict

Property Owners to Receive $58,000 from County For 11 Parcels

Seven owners of property in Riverside county which was condemned by Orange county as part of the Prado dam site will receive awards totalling $58,000, a Riverside superior court jury decided Monday night. Thus a trial which opened last March 23 is closed. Recipients of the awards decided upon by the jury are Frederico Chavez, Fred Botiller, and Botiller's five sisters, Zenaida Botiller, Concia R. Robles, Isabella Chavez, Celeste D. Otis and Clara D. Dominguez. Their properties were located within the boundaries of the old Yorda estate, an early-day Spanish grant.

Slightly Above Offer
The figure arrived at by the jury is only $10,823 above the highest offer made to the property owners by Orange county, but is $80,639 less than the lowest demand of the property owners.

The case included more than 300 acres of land, divided into eleven parcels of property. The estimated valuations made by four individual county appraisers ranged from a low of $32,433 to a high of $40,055. The highest combination of appraisals on the 11 items in these four appraisals gave the $47,177 representing the county's highest offer.

Appraisals Vary
Appraisers for the property owners ranged from a low of $145,800 to a high of $211,577 in their valuations. The combination of lowest appraisals on the 11 items amounted to $138,629.

The apparent savings to the county will be reduced considerably, however, when the cost bill for the case is ascertained and added to the jury awards, officials said. The cost bill will include the salaries and fees of attorneys, engineers, appraisers and others who represented the county at the long trial. Superior Judge George R. Freeman presided over the trial.

Preparedness is Urged by Pastor

Spiritual preparedness is more vital than the admittedly important problem of preparedness for defense, Rev. C. H. S. Hunziker, pastor of the Grace Lutheran church, declared Sunday night in his sermon at the union church services at the city park. He also warned that many of the events of today are pointing toward the final judgment, and said that that day shall come suddenly. The only way to escape is through repentance.

Rev. George Busdiecker of Santa Ana served as liturgist for the service. The chorus, under direction of Samuel Hunziker, sang Molitor's "Praise Ye the Lord" with Mrs. Dorothy Dutton of Santa Ana and Beatrice Baum-bach the accompanists. A vocal duet was sung by Shirley Kemp and Gloria Knutson.

Rev. U. S. Schauer, pastor of the Salem Evangelical church, will be the speaker at next Sunday evening's service.

Louis Kraemer, Long Beach photographer, was the guest speaker at this morning's meeting of the Anaheim Merchants association. He discussed the importance of establishing a schedule of costs in any business, and outlined the various factors which enter into the determination of costs.

The California fair trade act will work if businesses cooperate, Kramer said, adding that he advocated the abolishment of loss leaders in advertising. Mrs. Mary Bettsold introduced the speaker and John W. Price presided in the absence of President O. E. Hanson.

Harry B. Wilson Denies He's Dead

Reports of Death in Norway Untrue, Writes Son of Anaheim Resident

Harry B. Wilson, 22-year-old former Anaheim man and son of Mrs. Ann Wilson of the Colonial apartment, is very much alive in spite of earlier reports that he had been killed in action "somewhere in Norway." The young man is a member of the Princess Pats Canadian regiment.

The definite news that Wilson is still alive came through the various news services. In a letter to one of the news agencies, he said that he had received from a friend a newspaper clipping telling of his reported death. He concluded, he said, that the reason why he had received no mail during the past several weeks was because of the reports that he had been killed.

Tells of Loneliness

In his letter he told of his loneliness, likening it to a "little war all of my own." "All I need to win," he said, "is mail—postcards, letters or anything from my land of the Stars and Stripes."

Private Wilson, in his communication, expressed the belief that Adolf Hitler will not try to land forces on the British Isles, adding that such an attempt would result in his defeat. In that part of his letter, Wilson wrote, "Every one says he's crazy. All I have to say about that is if he does try to land it proves they are all right."

The Anaheim man left classes at Anaheim union high school in 1934 or 1935 to go to Spain to take part in the civil war there. When that conflict ended he applied for enlistment in the Princess Pats regiment and was accepted. Wilson was born in Canada.

Valencia Growth Exceeds Average

Growth rates for Valencia oranges as recorded by the Association laboratory for the past 30 days exceed the 15-year average by .003 of an inch for outside fruit and by .008 of an inch for inside fruited fruit. The growth rates during the period were .021 of an inch and .044 of an inch for outside and inside fruit, respectively. Averages sizes as recorded between July 1 and 9 were 2.658 inches for outside fruit and 2.592 inches for inside fruit. Both figures are slightly higher than at the same period last year, but are almost identical with the 15-year average. The difference between sizes for this year and last year amounts to one packing size, it was said.

Committees Are Chosen by Head of Booster Body

Several Activities Discussed By Board of Directors Yesterday Noon

Announcement of committee appointments for the coming year and a discussion of several activities were the highlights of the meeting of the board of directors of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce yesterday noon at the Elks clubhouse. The committees were appointed by President Louis H. Hoskins.

Considerable time was given to discussion of Fullerton's new handbill ordinance which eliminates payment of license in favor of the obtaining from householders permission to leave circulars of all types at the dwellings. O. H. Renner and L. H. Loudon were named by President Hoskins to take the problem before the Merchants association.

Armory is Urged

Frank Tauchert reported on a conference held here Tuesday night relative to the proposed plan to construct an armory in Anaheim. He reported that the ground must be donated to the state and that an area of 100 feet by 150 feet would be required for the structure. It was decided that Secretary John Morgan write to the adjutant of the California National Guard expressing this city's desire that such an armory be constructed here.

Morgan was also instructed to make a survey of stores to determine the number of colored postal cards of scenes in Anaheim that could be placed on sale.

The booster body is considering underwriting the cost of printing the cards if there is enough demand for them by the stores.

New Station Suggested

The secretary was further instructed to write to the Southern Pacific Railroad company to ascertain possibility of that company erecting a new station in this city.

A membership drive will be opened by the Chamber of Commerce in the near future, with two teams competing against each other. Directors were also given questionnaires regarding steps to be taken to increase the population of the city.

Reich Seeks Part of Rorden Estate

Judge West Acts to Prevent German Government From Receiving Bequest

Adolf Hitler won't get his hands on the money left by a Fullerton woman if Superior Court Judge Franklin G. West has everything to say about it. Judge West took action Saturday which will prevent the Reich for a time at least, from receiving part of the estate willed by the late Mrs. Marie Rorden of Fullerton to her brother in Germany, which assertedly has been turned over to the reich by the brother.

German Consul George Gyssling from Los Angeles appeared in Judge West's courtroom with a document which purportedly surrendered control of the $5000 legacy of Joseph Togel of Sternberg, Germany, to his government. The legacy was part of Mrs. Rorden's $40,439 estate.

The document surrendering the legacy was signed not only by Togel but by his heirs, and had been prepared in Germany on February 26, six days after the will had been filed for probate in Santa Ana.

Martin Bandixen of Los Angeles, petitioner for probate of the will, contested Consul Gyssling's power of attorney, presenting Judge West a letter in German which withdrew the permission of at least one heir from the deal which would have given Germany the $5000.

In addition, Judge West couldn't read the document anyway, and declined to grant power of attorney to the German consul, continuing the matter until September 13 for additional investigation. Judge West remarked upon the speed with which the German government had acted to gain control of the bequest and said he did not intend to release the estate to the heirs in Germany if it would be promptly seized by the state and devoted to war purposes.

The event is being staged to meet the war relief quota of Anaheim chapter of the American Red Cross. Included in this group will be a one-act play, "Murder in a Tuxedo," or "He Dressed to Kill," dance numbers by Tillie Sanchez and Dollie Frazee, a group of selections by a double quartet, and solos by several of the personnel of the octet. Hunting Accident Takes Man's Life

Funeral Services Conducted Today for Victim of Unusual Mishap

Last rites were conducted in Fullerton this afternoon for Gerald Ragsdale, 26, of Willowbrook, who was the victim of one of the most unusual accidents ever recorded in Orange county. Burial was made in Rose Hills cemetery, Whittier.

Ragsdale met instant death last Monday afternoon while on a hunting trip in Brea canyon, when he stumbled and fell, at the same time discharging the .22-calibre rifle he was carrying. The man's two young companions, Harold Ragsdale, 12, brother of the victim, and James W. Flechenor, 13, of Compton, were walking immediately behind Ragsdale and witnessed the tragedy.

Barrel Enters Mouth

According to the account given by the boys to Coroner Earl Abbey, the older man was walking ahead of the two boys along a narrow cowpath in the Brea hills, and was carrying the rifle on his shoulder. As he suddenly stumbled, Ragsdale lost control of the gun when he attempted to regain his balance. The rifle fell in front of him, but to the ground, and the barrel entered the man's mouth. The discharge, coming instantly, sent the bullet into the base of his brain.

The boys rushed to a nearby ranch for assistance. Police Chief J. M. Pearson of Brea was notified, and he called Coroner Abbey to the scene.

Ragsdale is survived by his wife, Helen Mae; a three-year-old daughter, his parents, five sisters and three brothers.

Our friend, Wm. Schumacher. It is said that Pomona is raising money by subscription to lobby a county division bill through the next session of the legislature. The division scheme involves both Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties as well as the new county which will be taken from both of the old ones. There is some alarm in both the latter counties in consequence.

Child Succumbs To Rare Ailment

Schilder's Disease is Fatal to 12-Year-Old Girl at Santa Ana

One of the world's rarest ailments, Schilder's disease, Friday claimed the life of 12-year-old Eleanor Florence, daughter of Santa Ana after brain specialists from Mayo Brothers clinic as well as other noted specialists had waged a failing fight to save her.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Hurd, 514 Beverly place, died in the Orange county hospital after a six-month battle against the disease. In addition to the Mayo Brothers' experts, physicians from Los Angeles, Long Beach and Orange county fought the dread disease.

According to medical authorities, there have been but four authenticated cases of Schilder's disease in the United States. The disease, said to be related to infantile paralysis, mainly affects children and manifests itself by marked loss of hearing, sight and speech due to cerebral inflammation and deterioration.

Dr. John Montanus, Orange county autopsy surgeon, and Dr. Robert Patrick, resident physician, results of which are expected to aid in further fights against the disease.

CONTRACTS FOR ORANGE COUNTY FEEDER LINE AWARDED BY MWD

Contracts for the construction of 28 miles of pipe lines which will deliver Colorado river water to Anaheim, Fullerton and Santa Ana were awarded Friday by the board of directors of the Metropolitan Water district. They were the last major contractors in connection with the building of the giant Metropolitan aqueduct. The line is scheduled to be completed in the early part of 1941.

The American Concrete and Steel Pipe company of Los Angeles was awarded a contract for the construction of 19 miles of precast concrete pipe line at a bid price of $997,399.75. At the same time a contract was awarded to the Macco Construction company of Clearwater for $876,720.00, for the construction of nine miles of steel pipe line.

Known as the Orange county feeder of the distribution system of the Metropolitan aqueduct, the 28-mile pipe line will run south from a point near La Verne to the city of Santa Ana and will pass through the cities of Fullerton and Anaheim. It will be connected to the aqueduct distribution system at the point where the Metropolitan Water district is now building a large water softening and filtration plant to soften and filter all Colorado river water used for domestic and industrial purposes in the 13 cities of the water district.

Friday's action of the District's board of directors practically completed the awarding of contracts for the construction of the 282-mile Metropolitan aqueduct, which stretches clear across the state of California and which will eventually bring a billion gallons of water a day from the distant Colorado river to Los Angeles and 12 other cities on the coastal plan of southern California.

All but 50 miles of these pipe lines have already been completed. Recently the water district awarded contracts for distributing lines to deliver water to the cities of Glendale, Burbank, Beverly Hills, and Santa Monica in the northern section of the Metropolitan Water district area.

Work now under construction includes the ultra modern water softening and filtration plant near La Verne, which is now approximately 60 per cent completed. Nationally recognized water authorities have stated that the water turned out of this plant will be of a quality superior to the average water now being used for domestic and industrial purposes in southern California.

Engineering work on the Metropolitan aqueduct has been under way continuously since 1923; and actual construction work on the giant project has been under way since December, 1932. Since that time more than 35,000 people have been directly employed on the aqueduct construction work. All of these employees have been residents of the 13 cities comprising the Metropolitan Water district.

Contracts awarded today, as well as work now under construction, are expected to be completed and the entire aqueduct system ready for operation in the early part of next year. Completion of this, the world's largest domestic water supply system, will guarantee an abundant and everlasting water supply for the fast growing cities of the Metropolitan Water district in spite of the fact that southern California by nature is a semi-arid region.

Henry's Barbecue Drive-In to Open

Formal opening of Henry's Drive-In on Highway 101 between Anaheim and Santa Ana will be held Saturday evening, it was announced today by Mr. and Mrs. George Henry of Anaheim, proprietors of the establishment.

"We are re-opening the old Armstrong establishment under our own personal management, and we are happy to inform the friends of ourselves and Joe and Esther Armstrong that Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong are being employed by us," Mr. and Mrs. Henry said. "Armstrong will do the cooking and will prepare the same foods which made his place so popular before."

Henry's, which will offer service at the curb, counter and booths, will feature the famous Monarch hamburgers, barbecued ribs, barbecued sandwiches, short orders and fountain products. The establishment will be open daily from 10 o'clock in the morning until two o'clock the following morning, and will remain open until 4 o'clock Sunday mornings. The building was completely remodeled and all new fixtures were installed, Henry said. Ten persons, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Henry, will be employed from the start, it was said.

WHERE DOES CALIFORNIA COME IN

Is it worth a $10,000 superior court judgeship to resign the position of lieutenant-governor of the state of California, which pays only $4,000 per annum?

Don't talk about qualification for the bench, or legal training or experience; that is entirely irrelevant to the question. This was the question which Lt.-Gov. Ellis Patterson had to ponder over the telephone this week, as Governor Olson called him from Chicago to tell Patterson that he, Olson, had a great chance to be nominated vice-president, but that Patterson should get out of the way first.

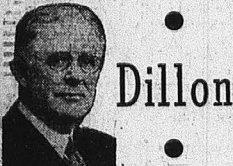

Mr. Patterson, according to newspaper reports told the governor to go somewhere.

Mr. Patterson said to the press that he would not be a party to "any cheap maneuver," to further the political ambitions of the present governor.

Any number of sound, substantial reasons occur for Patterson's turning down Olson's offer. For whatever reason, the lieutenant-governor deserves credit for his decision. He is reputed to have told the governor where to go.

But the people of California have a stake in all this amazing political juggling.

Are appointments in general, by the governor of California, made with no thought towards ability or qualification? Patterson has been a lawyer for only a short time, and has had very little experience in his profession. Should not this fact alone have deterred Governor Olson from his very foolish offer to place Patterson on the bench, where presumably, he would sit in judgment over the lives or property of those who would come before him?

I find some comfort in the report of Dr. George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, given in the national convention of the National Editorial Association at New York recently. The old ideas about the public swallowing whole all kinds of propaganda, he said, would have to be revised. His investigations during the last five or six years prove, he said, that it is not propaganda, or speeches, or showmanship but events that shape public opinion. Every time he made up his mind that propaganda was turning things upside down along came some event or a series of events that changed everything and most men's thinking.

Dr. Gallup says the public at large is not stupid and does not need to be led, as so many of the "great leaders" have been saying. Many cases might be cited, he says, in which the public is actually far ahead of its legislators and political leaders. American voters, he says, were calling for a large air force FIVE YEARS AGO. About one-half the voters replying to the institute were urging compulsory military training to

A Woman Looks On

BY MARY ROUTH PATTERSON

Mrs. Roosevelt, via her column indicates she will not keep hands off in the coming presidential campaign. Immediately following the Wilkie nomination she wrote "And so Wendell Wilkie is nominated for President on the Republican ticket.... The headline in one of the metropolitan papers recently said: "Wilkie aims at unity, defense, and recovery." I'm discouraged. In heaven's name, will any one aim at anything else?

"Sometimes I wonder whether we shall always go on using generalities to which every one can subscribe, and which mean very little. What is important, is how we expect to achieve the above objective. That is the only thing that matters to the people of the country and, apparently, we are going to be very vague about these methods.

"We can, however, judge parties and people by their records, and Mr. Wilkie's record is something all of us should study in the next few weeks."

The country little realizes the tremendous influence which Mrs. Roosevelt wields in the politics of the New Deal and the policies of the Administration. Right now her power is greater and more far reaching than at any time during these seven and half years. I well recall those early days of March, 1933, when Mrs. Roosevelt broke all First Lady precedents and began her regular weekly press conferences with the feminine scribes of the national capital. One of the first announcements she made to us as we sat around her in the cheerful west end hall, which the Roosevelts at that time used as a combination living and breakfast room, was that she would gladly answer any questions we might care to put to her except those pertaining to politics and pending legislation. "If you ask such questions I shall have to ignore them," she said.

But the temptation was more than even so self-disciplined a woman as Mrs. Roosevelt could long withstand. Inch by inch she edged over into the political area. Her press conferences, her newspaper columns, and her lectures began to include the politics of the day until now she has few inhibitions in discussing them.

Placentia Minister Red Cross Chairman

Dr. David Jack Brigham, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Placentia, was named late last week as chairman of the Orange county council, American Red Cross, as successor to Alfred Higgins of Orange, who resigned because of ill health after having filled the post for three years.

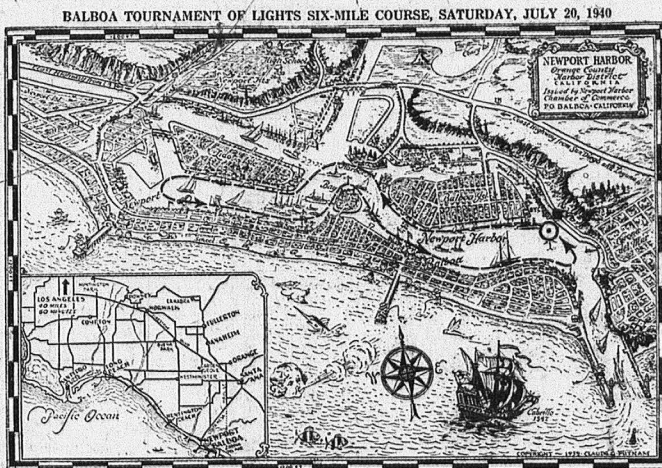

Norman Lombard of Fullerton was chosen vice chairman. Mrs. Robert B. Johnson of Orange was named secretary, and Dr. John Wehrly of Santa Ana was elected treasurer. War relief fund contributions in the county totalled $13,769.60 at the time of the meeting.

The total valuations for June were $467,739, as compared with $612,781 for May.

Heavy losses were recorded in Santa Ana and the un-incorporated area of the county, while San Clemente made no report for June. Increases were made by Fullerton, Huntington Beach and Seal Beach, only, it was reported.

Nine Persons Are Hurt in Mishaps

Resident of Anaheim Faces Two Felony Charges as Result of Accident

Week-end traffic accidents on Orange County highways brought injury to nine persons, four of them members of the same family. Only one of the nine was believed to have been seriously hurt.

The injured were: Frank Sebilla, 17, of 119 Grand avenue, Santa Ana. Mrs. Willette Craig, 43, of 45 West Eight street, Upland. Mrs. Yos Munemitsu, 48, Rt. 1, box 240-B, Anaheim. Miss Phillis Rupp, 19, of 131 North Newlin avenue, Whittier. Miss Inez Baugh, 18, of 1060 American avenue, Long Beach. Mrs. Nora Lawver, 61, of Santa Santa Ana. Mrs. Walter Lawver, 30, of Santa Ana. Miss Eleanor Lawver, 14, of Ana.

Hene Lawver, 5, of Santa Ana. Sebilla was injured at 7 o'clock Monday morning when his car went out of control on Irvine boulevard near the Irvine ranch house and overturned. He was taken to Orange county hospital where his condition was said to be "only fair."

Mrs. Craig was slightly hurt as the result of a three-car accident Sunday morning at Lincoln and Stanton avenues. Drivers of the cars involved were Roy H. Craig, 52, of Ontario, Tom E. Torres, 26, of Upland, and Joe L. Torres, 26, of 1115 1/2 North Lemon street, Anaheim. Torres was arrested for hit-and-run driving, felony drunk driving, and drunk. He was arraigned Monday before Justice of the Peace Charles Kuchel and his preliminary examination was set for July 23.

Mrs. Munemitsu was treated for minor injuries after the car driven by her husband, Kichima Munemitsu, 59, crashed into a palm tree on Lincoln avenue near Cypress Saturday afternoon.

Miss Rupp was injured about 12:30 o'clock Sunday morning when cars driven by Gerald C. Rupp, 18, of Whittier and Alfonso V. Rivera, 26, of Stanton collided at the intersection of Manchester boulevard and Grand avenue, Buena Park. Rivera was charged with drunk driving in Anaheim justice court Monday and was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Miss Baugh was bruised when the machine driven by Leo M. McDonald, 22, of Long Beach went out of control on Coast highway near Huntington Beach at 2:15 o'clock Sunday morning and ran into an electric company pole.

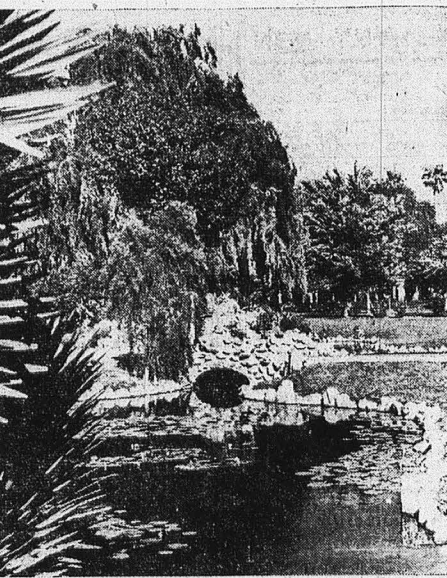

The four members of the Lawver family were treated at St. Joseph hospital for head injuries suffered last Saturday in an accident at Highway 101 and Manchester boulevard. Kenneth Kimball, 27, of Rosemead was reported to have been the driver of the second car involved in the accident.

Anaheim, Settled as Germany Colony, Cherishes Culture

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of educational articles prepared under direction of the Orange County Associated Chambers of Commerce. Another, treating on some other county community, will be printed in this paper in the near future.

As Orange county's second oldest city, Anaheim boasts a romantic background paced only by its aggressive record of achievements. The community was founded in 1857 by a scant handful of Germans who purchased a piece of desert land upon which to build homes free from the tyrannies of Europe.

The 83 succeeding years have carried the colony through a wide variety of adventures, some distressing, some happy, but all looking toward a better community.

Anaheim long cherished the reputation of being a center of culture. Its early settlers brought a love for music and for spiritual growth. These continued through the decades and remain a dominant factor in guiding the affairs of the community.

It is largely because of this that Anaheim has public parks which lure thousands to the city annually. Approximately 40 acres have been set aside and landscaped for parks. (The early German love for beauty has been nourished and expanded in these parks, one of which contains one of the nation's finest baseball training grounds.

Croatians Defeated Sunday by Score of 10 to 6; Horton Stars

Even as tough an outfit as the Los Angeles Croatians couldn't break the winning streak of a 10 of the Anaheim Athletics, which Sunday reached eight gas as the result of a 10 to 6 victory for Manager Joe Huarte's club.

A five-run outburst in the seventh inning sewed up the contest for Anaheim. With the game deadlocked at 5-5 when the Athletics opened their hot of the inning, five hits, including a double by Marsdon Tom Franco, a walk and an error chased over a quintet of runs and left the Croatians for in the rear.

The seventh inning rally came just one inning after the Athletics had wiped a one-run deficit with three tallies in the sixth round. Hits by Johnny Lan Farneo and Cliff Horton, plus a walk, a sacrifice and an error accounted for the runs. Single runs were scored in the first and fourth innings.

The Croatians picked up three tallies in the third, added two in the seventh and finished off their scoring with one in the eighth. They outlast Anaheim, 11 to 10, but their five errors were more damaging than were the four committed by Anaheim.

Horton, who made his debut with the club, led the Anaheim hitters with three bingles, including a double that drove on a run in the fourth inning. Marsdon Franco rapped out two safeties and came up with a spectacular running catch in right field that saved at least two runs.

Orange Girl Loses Fight for Freedom

Efforts of consul for Miss Audrey Hibdon, 20, of Orange to win her release on a writ of habeas corpus failed Monday and as a result the young woman must face trial in superior court on hit-and-run charges July 24. The charges is the outgrowth of an accident last June 30 at First street and Harbor boulevard.

Miss Hibdon's attorneys contended that insufficient evidence has been introduced during her preliminary hearing to warrant holding the young woman for trial. Judge Harry C. Westover, in denying the writ, held that the evidence was sufficient.
