

To Transfer Moffett Field Air Corps Training Center

Establish General Headquarters Building
Near Santa Ana Municipal Bowl; Entire Personnel Be Housed In New Structure

Of deep interest to this section of Orange county was the announcement made last Saturday that the West Coast Air Corps Training Center at Moffett Field would in the near future be transferred to Santa Ana, with a general headquarters building being erected near the municipal bowl at an estimated cost of a quarter million dollars.

Major Gen. Barton K. Yount, commanding officer of the training center, was the authority for the announcement.

The training center has a large coverage, directing army air corps activities in 11 western states, as well as parts of four others, and includes 22 aviation cadet training schools under its direction.

Within the next few months construction work will begin on the headquarters building, 192 feet by 144 feet in dimensions and two stories high. The ground plot will have a frontage of 616 feet.

According to announcement of Maj. Gen. Yount, the West Coast Air Corps Training Center, originally intended to train 2000 cadets a year, has been expanded to carry one-third of the new quota of 30,000 pilots a year demanded by the air corps.

The transfer will involve movement of 280 administrative officers and enlisted men to Santa Ana, Major Gen. Yount said.

The new headquarters at Santa Ana will control, among its many functions, elementary training bases at San Diego, Hemet, Ontario, Oxnard, Santa Maria, Tulare, King City and Visalia, in California, and Glendale, Ariz. Basic schools are located at Moffett field (to be transferred at same time the headquarters is transferred, to Chico, Calif.), Taft, Ontario and Bakersfield, Calif., and at Phoenix, Ariz. There is one air corps gunnery school at Las Vegas, Nev.

Demaree Chosen As Successor To Late J. A. Claves

Former Faculty Member
Choice of School Board;

Paul H. Demaree, for the past four years principal of San Juan Capistrano union high school and at one time a member of Anaheim high school faculty, was on Tuesday chosen by the school board to succeed the late Joseph A. Auto Row Raided; Losses Confined To Single Firm

Nocturnal Visitors Take
Cash; Radios; Parts;
Enter By Window

Disordered premises greeted three office crews on auto row last Friday morning when they opened their offices for business; papers, file records, tools and displays being promiscuously strewn over the floor, giving evidence that unwelcome visitors had called during the night.

At Cone Brothers, 215 N. Los Angeles St., a small amount of money had been taken from the cash register; this, combined with the loss of car radios, spotlights and other accessories, brought the estimated loss to well over $200.

Chase & Redmond, 306 N. Los Angeles St., as well as Middleton Motors, 235 N. Los Angeles St., had also been called upon, presumably by the same person or persons. A checkup of these premises showed nothing had been taken, although the offices presented the same strewn effect as did the Cone establishment.

Entrance to all three concerns had been effected in the same manner; through a rear window of the service department. Indications were that at least two persons were engaged in the raids, with no apparent clues being left behind.

School District Property Values Trend Southward

Millions Represented In Valuations of Orange County School Property

According to assessment statistics covering school districts of Orange county, released last week-end by County Auditor Leslie H. Eckel, the valuation trend is noticeably moving to the southern portion of the county.

The new valuation statistics, giving the county as a whole a slight advance of $49,978, show that Northern Orange county generally dropped away on valuations, with the south coast districts making decided gains.

Twenty-one of the 43 school districts in the county showed increases. Of these, only three, Anaheim, Lowell Joint and Magnolia, were in the north. Orange, El Modena and Silverado in the central belt, made negligible gains. Six of the advancing districts were in the west: Alamitos, Buena Park, Garden Grove, Laurel, Seal Beach and Westminster.

The remaining nine districts, including Santa Ana, are distinctly in the south. It was in these districts that the largest gains were made. Newport Beach district led with a jump of more than $850,000. Santa Ana school district advanced $642,683. Laguna Beach had a fat increase $422,830.

Salary Question Cause of Debate

Supervisors Squabble Over
Raises Asked; Ordinance
Must Be Amended

A request for a raise in salaries over the prevailing rate precipitated something of a squabble at the board of supervisors' meeting last Tuesday.

The opening tilt arose when A. A. Beard, highway superintendent and acting chief of the flood control district, requested a $55 monthly raise for J. A. Bradley and his elevation to assistant engineer of the flood control district. Bradley, at present hydraulic engineer, receives a salary of $220 a month.

Beard's suggestion brought a protest from Supervisor N. E. West, Laguna Beach, who held that the proposed increase was too much of a jump. He was willing to compromise on a $250 salary. Wordy debate passed between the chief and board member, assuming at time a serious aspect. On vote West's suggestion was defeated, 4 to 1.

Another request from Beard, covering a $40 a month raise for Harold Sprenger, assistant in the road department, also drew a protest from West. While supervisors tentatively agreed on the Sprenger increase, no decisive action was taken. West's proposal that a committee be named to overhaul the recently salary law received no support.

As matters now stand the salary law must be amended to conform to any proposed salary changes.

Unlimited Installment Credit Buying Non-Existant; Rules Not Permanent

Throughout the nation, under Federal Reserve Board rules, it is now illegal for the dollar-down-dollar-a-month method of doing business to be conducted; the ruling became effective last Monday morning. It will be illegal for stores, banks, finance companies or other business to give unlimited installment credit terms to customers.

On a question and answer basis, here's the situation:

Question—Do the rules apply to all consumer transactions?

Answer—No. Cash and ordinary charge account transactions are exempted altogether. The rules apply only to specified installment sales or loans.

Minimum Limits

Q.—What are the restrictions?
A.—Minimum down payments and maximum time to pay the balance are specified in each case.
Q.—How much time is allowed to complete payments?

A.—The limit is 18 months from the date of purchase (except that "lay-away" purchases are dated when the goods are taken home).
Q.—How much down payment is required?

A.—33 1/3 per cent on automobiles, airplanes, power boats, boat motors, motorcycles; 20 per cent on mechanical refrigerators, washing machines, ironers, suction cleaners, cooking stoves and space heaters, electric dishwashers, room air conditioners, sewing machines, radios and musical instruments made principally of metal; 15 per cent on furnaces (including oil burners, gas conversion burners and stokers), water heaters, water pumps, plumbing and sanitary fixtures, home air-conditioning systems, attic ventilating fans; 16 per cent on furniture, pianos and electric organs.

Q.—Do the rules apply to the cost of labor and materials for repairing or improving a home?
A.—Yes, if the cost is under $1000. No down payment is required, but the loan must be paid off in 18 months. Also if one of the restricted items listed above—a new furnace, for instance, is installed—that item must be paid for as if it were purchased separately.

Q.—Do the rules apply to the construction or purchase of a house?
A.—No. Transactions involving a complete house are exempt.

Q.—Are cash loans restricted?
A.—Yes, if the loan is under $1000 and is to be repaid in installments. Eighteen months is the limit.

Q.—Are farm implements involved?
A.—No. Nothing which was not named specifically above is affected. Furthermore, cash loans for farmers to be used in the business or farming are also exempt.

Q.—Does the furniture restriction cover such things as curtains?
A.—No. Floor, wall and bed coverings and draperies are exempted, but "furniture" does include ice boxes, bedsprings and mattresses.

Q.—Can a university student still borrow money for his education without the restrictions?
A.—Yes, loans to students are specifically exempted.

Q.—What provision is made for a family that may have to borrow money to pay emergency expenses?
A.—Exemption is made on loans to pay medical, dental, hospital or funeral expenses if the borrower can show the limitations would work a hardship.

Q.—What do the rules say about past installment contracts, particularly if a consumer buys more after Monday and wants to consolidate the two debts?
A.—Old debts are not affected, except that after Nov. 1 an old debt consolidated with a new debt will come under the rules.

Q.—Are the sizes of installment payments regulated?
A.—Yes. They must be of approximately equal size and spaced not more than a month apart (except in minor cases.) Also, after Jan. 1 the minimum monthly payment will be $5.

Q.—What will happen to a store that violates these rules?
A.—Its license to give installment credit (everybody gets a license automatically to begin with) may be revoked or suspended. Then, if someone is caught giving installment credit without a license he may be prosecuted under a World War law which has maximum penalties of 10 years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

Q.—Who will administer the rules?
A.—The Federal Reserve Board in Washington with the help of the 12 Federal Reserve Banks and their 24 branches throughout the country.

Q.—Are these rules permanent?
A.—No. They are subject to change at any time. Later, if it chooses, the Federal Reserve Board is authorized to regulate charge account and other consuming credit, if it desires, or it can add or delete items on the restricted list, change the down payments or length of time to pay.

Q.—What is the purpose of the regulation?
A.—To conserve materials for defense and to prevent inflation.

Motorists Urged To Be Cautious On School Days

Law's Provisions Will Be Enforced; Parents Should Give Instruction

Drivers were reminded this week by the Department of Motor Vehicles that more than 1,000,000 children from kindergarten to secondary grades will be returning to their classrooms within the next few days and that careful driving will be necessary to avoid tragedies.

Particular care will be needed, the department said, to avoid collisions with children riding bicycles, walking along highways or rushing suddenly across streets. Departmental statistics show that 121,731 children of school age were killed or injured in the state in traffic mishaps in the decade 1930 to 1940.

Director James M. Carter called attention to sections of the Vehicle Code requiring drivers to slow down to 15 miles per hour when passing school buildings or grounds where children are at play and to come to a complete halt before passing a school bus receiving or discharging passengers, proceeding only when safe at a rate of speed not exceeding 10 miles per hour. Highway Patrol officers have received instructions from Chief E. Raymond Cato to enforce these provisions rigidly.

Parents were urged by the department to instruct their children to walk on the left hand edge of highways facing traffic and to use great care in crossing highways and streets.

The bride was on the arm of her father in an ivory satin gown with a long train and veil and carried a prayer book and an orchid and bouvardia bouquet. Pale pink gladiolus and white delphinium banked the patio, lending beauty to the occasion.

In Aqua Taffeta

Miss Jean Gross, sister of the bride and maid-of-honor, was attired in aqua taffeta and carried a bouquet of shell pink carnations. The bridesmaids, Miss Maxine Schoening and Miss Clara McNeil chose rose taffeta and both carried hybrid delphinium bouquets.

Mr. Webb's best man was Bruce Cook and ushers were Edward Clements and Theo Walker.

Miss Gross began her education in Orange and graduated from the High School there. She attended Fullerton Junior College and graduated from Santa Ana Junior College and Redlands University. Mr. Webb attended Anaheim High School and is employed at the Vultee Aircraft Corporation.

RELIEF ARGUMENTS GO ON

Even now, Governor Olson and the leaders in his administration continue to blame the legislators of starvation in abolishing the State Relief Administration, while in the same breath announcing that there is no unemployment problem in California.

If ever there were a jumble of misinformation irrationally designed to plague its opposition, it is the position of the State administration on relief.

The simple fact is that the abolition of SRA was one of the best achievements of the last legislature. With a fantastic history of political corruption and intrigue behind it, the administration of relief under Governor Olson could not, in the interests of good government, be allowed to remain in existence.

Of course, it is too bad that the carefully worked out "integrated relief" bill was vetoed by Governor Olson—particularly when its primary design of home rule administration of relief by counties was the very position for which he himself had contended as a senator from Los Angeles county.

Incidentally, it cannot be reiterated too many times that that bill, killed by the Olson veto, included, also, needed relief to the real property owners of the state. Whereas under existing law, the home owner shares equally with the state government in costs of our aid to the aged law, the vetoed bill made the state pay 70 per cent to the real property owners reduced 30 per cent.

But, in any event, the Governor, while condemning the legislature for failing to enact legislation on relief (a rather tenuous position in view of his vetoing the home-rule bill) nevertheless states that no problem now exists. In that position, he speaks correctly.

A few days ago, 358 able-bodied recipients of relief from the State Relief Administration refused to accept employment in private industry through the State Employment office. Of that number, 174 failed to show up at the employment office for interviews relative to jobs in private industry, and 184 flatly refused to accept the work.

Should this type of person be given relief monies raised from taxes on the man who does work? Of course not. It is apparent that the arguments on relief as advanced by the Governor grow a little more confusing each week.

Christian Sciences Churches

"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist. The Golden Text is from I John: "Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God."

A Bible selection includes these words from John: "And there was a certain nobleman, whose son was sick at Capernaum. When he heard that Jesus was come out of Judea, into Galilee, he went unto him, and besought him that he would come down, and heal his son: for he was at the point of death. . . . Jesus saith unto him, Go thy way; thy son liveth. . . . And as he was now going down, his servants met him, and told him, saying, Thy son liveth. Then enquired he of them the hour when he began to amend. And they said unto him, Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him. So the father knew that it was at the same hour, in the which Jesus said unto him, Thy son liveth; and himself believed, and his whole household."

One of the passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "In the illusion of life that is here today and gone to-morrow, man would be wholly mortal, were it not that Love, the divine Principle that obtains in divine Science, destroys all error and brings immortality to light."

Conformity To Insurance Code Will Be Stressed After September 16

On September 13, 1941, a new law will become effective placing thousands of employee associations, lodges, labor unions, benefit and relief associations, church societies, burial societies and other like organizations under the jurisdiction of the Insurance Commissioner.

Most of these organizations have not come within the scope of the insurance laws in the past, although some have and have been operating illegally. The law applies to all such organizations that pay benefits or render services contingent upon illness, death, or accident, for fees, premiums, dues, assessments or similar considerations. Even though your organization is of a non-profit, charitable, or eleemosynary character or of a purely religious, charitable, or benevolent description, in order to meet the requirements of the new law, it must apply for and obtain a permit from the Insurance Commissioner.

Any organization subject to the new law that can qualify and fails to file with the Insurance Commissioner notice of intention to comply before September 29, 1941, is subject to civil and criminal prosecution, and its operations after September 29, 1941, are in violation of law.

Organizations which are not charitable, eleemosynary, non-profit or purely religious, or benevolent cannot legally continue to pay benefits or render services contingent upon illness, accident or death for fees, premiums, dues or assessments after September 13, 1941, unless they apply for and receive from the Insurance Commissioner a certificate of authority and meet additional legal requirements.

The enactment of this law was made necessary by the use of organizations of this type by unscrupulous promoters for mulcting thousands of California residents.

Legitimate organizations need have no fear that they cannot meet the requirements of this new law. The law is designed for the protection of bona fide organizations and the people of this state, and will be administered in that spirit.

Forms of applications for permits and certificates of authority with instructions for completing and filing them are available at the Los Angeles offices of the Division of Insurance. Inquiries from organizations or persons located in that portion of California south of the northern boundary lines of the counties of San Luis Obispo and Kern and east of the westerly boundary lines of the counties of Inyo and Mono should be addressed to the attention of the Document Bureau at the Los Angeles office, 621 South Hope Street.

It cannot be stressed too strongly that this law will be energetically enforced and that responsibility for violations cannot be avoided by pleas of ignorance. As the law takes effect September 13, 1941, prompt action will be necessary.

State Finances Are Improving

Greater Revenue; Less Spending; Is Bringing State Out of Red

Complexion of state finances is changing from red to black, State Controller Harry B. Riley said recently.

By spending less than it makes the state gradually is climbing out of the hole, Riley said. In July revenues were $1,641,905 greater than those in July last year. Expenses were $1,904,008 lower.

Controller Riley said the state has cut its general fund cash deficiency down to $37,279,989, a reduction of $23,343,665 under that of a year ago.

Increased sales tax returns and smaller expenditures for unemployment relief are mainly responsible for the improved conditions, Riley said.

More people are run down by gossip than by automobiles.

The census bureau gets more than 5000 inquiries per week from persons desirous of obtaining proof of age and antecedents.
