Local Ration Board Given New Duties

Don't say Labor Day to any members of Anaheim War Price and Rationing board. They don't seem to anticipate much of a holiday of any kind on the date of September 7, and might not understand your meaning.

For while Arthur G. Porter, executive secretary for north Orange county, has included Fullerton, Brea, Buena Park and La Habra in his district as well as Anaheim, he now finds work of the local office in the city hall, greatly increased since all the detail work of the Placentia district has been transferred to this city.

This move was indicated a fortnight ago to the Placentia board of which Dr. B. B. Griffen was chairman. However sugar ration cards have continued to be handled at Placentia city hall on Wednesday of each week for both Placentia and Yorba Linda. But a new ruling from the office of Fred E. Yerger, state organization officer, went into effect Tuesday, September 1, eliminating the Placentia office altogether.

Henceforth both Placentia and Yorba Linda residents must come to Anaheim for their requirements. All the book work of that district has been transferred to the local office as well, and includes not only applications for sugar cards, but for automobiles, tires, tubes, retracts, bicycles, and every item requiring approval of the OPA.

The change, according to Organization Officer Yerger, was made in accordance with a new national plan which calls for a servicing of a board of a minimum of 50,000 people. His letter paid a high compliment to the manner in which the duties of the Placentia board had been administered by Dr. Griffen.

Anaheim rationing board includes Mrs. Hettie Hurlburt, clerk; Dr. J. G. Hilleary, George A. Koonitz, John G. Dwyer, and two alternates, the Rev. H. G. Schmelzer and A. C. Riutzel.

Southland Gun Club Has Session In Izaak Walton Cabin

Sunday, October 4 is an anticipated date among local members of Southern California Gun club, play, and included three hand-anniversaries at the rifle range near Irvine park on that date. Plans for the event were touched upon at the latest session of the club, held in Izaak Walton clubhouse of Fullerton's Hillcrest park.

Among Anaheim members present with those from Los Angeles and Hollywood as well as from various points in Orange county, were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Morgan and Clarence M. (Bud) Sackett. Sackett, according to established custom, made coffee for the refreshments interval with which the evening closed.

Firearms as usual, were chief among interesting items on display for the club will stage an all-day some silver-inlaid squirrel rifles from the collection of Attorney C. C. Cowles, Santa Ana. Harry M. Hanson, also of Santa Ana, departed from custom somewhat by bringing examples of ancient hunting, bowie and pirate's knives from his unique collection.

In two weeks local club members will motor to Los Angeles where the club meeting will be held at a place to be announced later.

Four From Anaheim Ask Citizenship

Today will bring American citizenship to four Anaheim residents, members of the class of 41 alien residents of Orange county who were to take their naturalization examinations today in the county court house, Santa Ana. The four from this city were Miss Madeline Lusmond, Miss Freda Lusmond, Pedro Ortiz and Placencia Veyno.

Twelve Canadians in the class formed the largest group from any one country. England and Mexico were next with half a dozen each, while European countries, both occupied and free, provided the remainder of the class membership.

SANTA ANA, Calif.—Instruction in the mechanics of an airplane is an important part of the training of the Aviation Cadets in the West Coast Air Forces Training Center. Here is a group of future bombardiers, navigators, gunners or pilots at a classroom lecture.

Biddy May Take Up Where Meat Raisers Leave Off

Anaheimers are beginning to inquire as to what priorities may be on chicken wire. They also are wondering just what varieties of fowl might be considered crow-less, and therefore warranted not to disturb morning slumbers of nearby neighbors.

The reason? Oh it's all because of the meat rationing which OPM has prophesied for the coming winter. Secretary Claud Wickard has pointed out that meatless days and probable rationing will be necessary in order that our boys at the front, may have all they need of the necessary protein food. And if we can't buy the meats we need at the local butcher shops, it looks as though we'd all better start raising chickens. At least that is the Anaheim decision.

Referendum Vote Closed For Orange Industry

With midnight of last night set as the deadline for return of ballots in the pro-rate orange shipments referendum now before citrus growers and packers, it will be some time yet before final results of the vote will be made public, according to executives of Mutual Orange Growers association, one of the associations vitally interested in the measure.

The referendum, which has aroused much interest in this orange-producing area, was introduced to determine grower opinion on the proposed marketing agreement which would regulate out-of-state shipments of California lemons and oranges.

Opinion has been freely expressed that even though the vote of the growers was asked, it would have little effect on the final decision. For each individual board of directors of citrus houses was given power to vote its membership, regardless of votes of the growers themselves.

Controversies have marked the progress of the movement, since opponents have claimed that even favorable votes of growers were the result of a fear that their expressed opposition would result in discrimination against them by packing houses.

Auditing Completed Of City Records

This week's meeting of the city council was devoted to the main, to consideration and acceptance of the report submitted by Diehl and Edwards, Santa Ana accountants, on their audit of records and accounts of the City of Anaheim for the fiscal year. It was gratifying to councilmen that the audit proved the correctness of the records in every particular.

City Attorney Leo J. Friis and Deputy Clerk Beatrice Miller took over the duties of City Clerk Charles Griffith, not yet returned from vacation. Few other business matters were considered, although request of City Treasurer A. G. Tuma for permission to leave the state was granted. He plans a short trip to Las Vegas, Nev.

Eighty Selective Service Men Depart For Los Angeles Induction Center

Not "Old Home Day," but "God-Speed Day" took place Tuesday morning at Anaheim city hall, where representatives of the city's church and civic groups gathered to bid farewell to 80 selective

C of C Will Move To New Quarters In Early October

Early October will see the Chamber of Commerce established in its new location at 134 North Los Angeles street, if present plans for remodeling and redecorating of the building go through as promptly as is expected.

At this week's meeting of Chamber executives, President A. C. Riutzel and Secretary John M. Johnston were empowered to enter into a five-year contract with T. W. Wallace, owner of the North Los Angeles street building. Director Stephen F. Gallagher will be delegated to draw up the contract for remodeling and redecorating the building, and present plans are for a gala open house to all members and friends of the organization as soon as headquarters are moved from the city hall. Headquarters have been in the city hall ever since its completion in 1923.

Plans are progressing also for the big annual C of C banquet to be held Thursday night, October 29. Robert Boney, chairman, August Schumacher and Paul H. Demaree form the committee on arrangements.

League of Cities Returns Gordon To Presidency

Anaheim was well represented at the monthly meeting of Orange County League of Municipalities held during the past week in Brea American Legion hall. Mayor Charles A. Pearson was unable to be present, but in attendance were Charles H. Mann, executive vice-chairman of Anaheim Defense council; City Engineer E. P. Haggood; City Electrician V. W. Hannum, M. W. Marten Jr., and City Attorney Leo J. Friis.

Annual election resulted in the return of Irvin George Gordon of Newport Beach to the League presidency. Louis Crowe, Brea, was named vice president, and Roy Overacker, Huntington Beach, secretary-treasurer.

George M. Rankin, Southern California Edison company, authority on dimout regulations and OGD light control consultant, was guest speaker. He outlined methods of complying with government dimout regulations, and answered a barrage of questions regarding problems arising in various communities. Assisting in clarifying some of these problems was Lloyd A. Gowdy, Orange county deputy light control consultant.

Those in attendance were told that nightly checks of the Southland area are being conducted by the Army and a decision regarding street lighting will be made at an early date.

service men on their way for final medical examination preparatory to induction into the U. S. Army.

It was a truly significant scene, for the group was the largest yet to go from this area to the Los Angeles induction center. There was a touch of military ceremony in the roll call by Glen A. Peck, clerk of the selective service board. At conclusion of the roll, he appointed Aubrey Matthews and Harry Mead to take charge of the men, and shepherd them all to the Los Angeles center.

Anaheim Post No. 72, American Legion, directed the farewell ceremonies, with K. B. Rigby as master of ceremonies. He introduced Mayor Charles A. Pearson, who pledged the support of the home city to the young men, and exhorted their patriotism.

Past Commander Jimmie Heffron was principal speaker and closed a brief but eloquent talk with the wish for an early return of the selectees to a peaceful homeland, rendered secure by their efforts. Commander Roy Helsing brought the ceremonial to a close with the promise of Legion support, and presented the men with copies of the informative booklet, "Fall In." Commander Dick Haster of Garden Grove post also expressed that post's interest and support.

The civic pride and interest in the selectees was further expressed by the serving of coffee and doughnuts by members of Chispa chapter, O.E.S., with Chef Glenn of Elks club cafe in charge.

As soon as physical examinations of the men are concluded, the local board will be ready to make public the list of names of this area's latest contingent of selective servicemen. Since these preliminaries include among other things, various X-ray examinations at Sawtelle Veterans' hospital, it will be several days before the list of new U. S. Soldiers will be ready.

Rotary District Governor Is Local Club Guest

Now making his round of annual visits to all Rotary clubs in this section of the Southland, District Governor Joseph S. Hayhurst of Redlands, was honor guest and speaker at this week's meeting of Anaheim Rotary club in Elks clubhouse.

Introduced by Rotary President Robert Boney, Dr. Hayhurst gave a graphic account of the founding of the service club in Chicago, 37 years ago. The idea originated with Paul P. Harris and he and four associates, decided that it might be an excellent plan to learn more about each other's business, by rotating their weekly meetings among their business houses. This plan inspired the name, "Rotary," and the movement speedily spread across the continent.

When the first Canadian club was formed in Winnipeg in 1911, Rotary International came into being, according to the speaker. Today the movement has spread to 60 countries of the world, representing a membership of more than 210,000.

Two new members were admitted to the local club, Frank Belmont, Granada Packing house manager, and Dr. George Koch, formerly of Sioux City, Iowa.

Reduction In Co. Tax Rate Now Verified

That five cents reduction in Orange county tax rates has now been officially announced from the office of County Assessor James Sleeper, and the current year's rate will be 83 cents on $100 assessed property valuation, as compared with last year's rate of 88 cents.

Orange county's total property valuation this year is rated at $195,677,345, according to announcement made by County Auditor Leslie H. Eckel following receipt of public utility valuations from the state board of equalization. This is an advance of $3,257,317 over last year's total valuation. This does not set a record, but is the greatest in recent years.

One reason given for the advance was the fact that the county's coastal areas went up in valuation, although the interior citrus areas showed a decline. Anaheim's total was $8,690,540, a decrease of $273,970. Nearby Orange took the heaviest drop of $341,805.

Newport Beach registered the largest increase of $968,945, giving that coastal city a total of $11,442,705. Fullerton showed the second largest increase to a new total of $14,772,545, a jump of $382,225. Santa Ana showed an increase of $205,392 to a total valuation of $25,420,240. Placentia, La Habra, Brea and Tustin all reported decreases.

The high figures of the county's total property valuation show that $82,458,865 is in the incorporated areas, a sum which includes $85,603,195 for common property, and $6,855,670 for utilities. Rural property values are rated as $103,218,480, representing $90,360,830 for common property, and $8,857,650 for public utilities.

Combined property valuations of the county's two junior college districts, Fullerton and Santa Ana, registered $55,643,150, a gain of $876,507 over last year.

Appreciation Day To Be Launched On September 24

With more than half a hundred of the city's leading merchants entering with enthusiasm into the plan, the first great "Appreciation Day" which Anaheim business men will conduct for residents of this community, is to take place on Thursday, September 24.

A dozen or more members of the merchants' division of the chamber of commerce met this morning in council chambers of the city hall to confer with W. Alston Johnston, trade counsellor for National Trade association, on plans for the event.

Appreciation Day is not to be confused with a sales plan promotion, for Anaheim merchants are making no plans for special sales in connection with the taking of this measure of expressing appreciation to the community for its support, by presenting a cash gift each week from a "treasure chest," to some fortunate shopper of the area.

The first sales slip coupon drawn from the box on each Appreciation day will entitle its signer to the major gift, or if that signer is not present, to a "consolation" gift of $5. Commodities purchased throughout the 26-weeks interval will entitle their purchasers to the sales slip tickets.

The plan has met with success in scores of cities, according to the Trade association representative. Local merchants are determined to add Anaheim's name to the list.

Co. Peace Officers To Meet Wednesday

Wednesday night, September 9 has been set as the date for the next meeting of Orange County Peace Officers' association. Members will convene in Fullerton city hall at 8 o'clock, with Chief of Police John Gregory of that city; as official host. Harold Nathan, FBI agent from San Diego will be introduced as speaker by Sheriff Jesse L. Elliott.

Sugar Ration Stamp Gets You Five Pounds o' Sweetin'

"Guess I can make some fudge at last," exults Sister Mary.

"No such thing! I'll get more sugar on my breakfast, oats," declares Brother John. "You're both wrong," smiles Mother. "Of course Sugar Stamp No. 8 will get you five pounds of sugar, but do you realize that it is on the same basis of half a pound a week per person? That five pounds must last us until October 31."

"Oh well, I didn't want fudge anyway—it's too fattening," sighed Mary. "Guess the oats tastes all right with honey," agreed John. "After all if sugar is needed for Big Brother Tom and Cousin Jack down there in the Solomon Islands, why should we gripe?"

Mother just smiled—but there was a little tear behind the smile. She couldn't eat sugar—when her boy, maybe, needed the ammunition it would produce.

Personology Is Discussed For 20-30 Club

On the five-man board requested by Warden Clinton Duffy to make personology experiments at San Quentin state prison, was Paul Elsner of 615 South Claudina street, who told his experiences at the prison to members of the Anaheim 20-30 club at their meeting Monday evening.

Elsner attended the Personology Foundation in Los Angeles for 18 months. It was founded by Dr. Edward V. Jones, former superior court judge. The new science has been publicized for only three years but has been in research for 35 years. The main idea of the science is to teach prisoners and juvenile delinquents about themselves—to point out why they commit a crime and then to find out their native abilities and to push them in that direction.

Elsner stated that prisoners gave the board a very warm response and it is believed that a full-time personology system will be established at the prison. Men of the board, all of whom were from Los Angeles with the exception of Elsner, took a cross-section of the prisoners, making an analysis of their native abilities and their idiosyncracies and then showed them how to rehabilitate themselves by making the best of their abilities.

"The prison offers the inmates a chance for schooling," the speaker said, "and they can get a Master's degree in any phase of learning, if they so wish."

The speaker, a member of the local 20-30 club, was introduced by Dick Henning, program chairman. President Kenneth Dougan announced that the club has not abandoned the "Aid to Anaheim Expeditionary Forces" plan, since several responses by parents with sons in the service were received during the week. He urged all persons who received letters from the club asking for names and addresses of servicemen to return the information requested as soon as possible.

Quotas Increased For Ration Board

Nine fortunate automobile owners of the Anaheim-Placentia district are going to be able to secure new first-grade automobile tires under the September quota of rationed articles which has now been reached the local rationing board, according to Mrs. Hettie Hurlburt, secretary.

In addition to the nine new tires, the quota includes 20 second grade tires, 107 recaps and 63 inner tubes; 137 new truck tires, 72 recaps and 122 tubes; eight new passenger cars and 25 bicycles. The passenger cars and bicycles are almost a superabundance of riches, for to date, the allotment exceeds the applications.

Unfortunately the same cannot be said for tires, recaps and tubes. There are more applications from those eligible to receive these articles than the quota permits. However the truck tire and tube allotment will be nearly sufficient to meet the demand.

City Schools Will Open On Monday, October Fifth

Monday, October 5, has been definitely set by Anaheim school board, as the date for the opening of the city schools, following a meeting of the trustees to discuss recommendations of that date made Monday night in Orange, by Orange County School Trustees' association.

Representatives of virtually all school districts in the county took part in the Orange meeting. Consideration was given requests made by civic and agricultural groups of the county, that the opening date should be postponed in order to permit students to aid in harvesting county crops. These groups had expressed a preference for October 12 as the general opening date, but the majority of the 75 or more trustees in attendance, felt that the earlier date would be generally satisfactory.

REGISTRATION

Anaheim high school registration will be October 1 and 2. Paul H. Demaree, principal, today stated that students who have not yet completed work in county agricultural industries by October 5, will be granted leaves of absence until such work is completed, and may then take up their studies. However this rule will not apply to other industries.

Results of a recent survey made of students now engaged in agricultural or war industries, showed that of 462 students responding to the survey, 341 are at present employed. One hundred and 44 of these are engaged in county harvest fields, citrus, industries, etc. In making the survey, the board sent cards to students registered last year with the exception of seniors. There were 670 cards sent out.

High school trustees at Tuesday night's meeting, completed the faculty list. The vacancy in the machine shop, created by the departure of First Lieut. Claud Booth now with the U. S. Army at Sacramento, was filled by W. C. Thompson of Alhambra. He has been in the machine shop department of Alhambra schools for 22 years. Joe Morrow, a member of Taft high school and junior college faculty for the past three years, was named to the social living and journalism post left vacant when Royal C. Marten went to Santa Ana Air Base.

Largest Navy Base In World Dedicated Tuesday

Dedication ceremonies which aroused Southland and worldwide interest, were held Tuesday when Roosevelt Base on Terminal Island, the largest fleet operating base in the world, was commissioned with appropriate ceremonies.

Rear Admiral Raiston S. Holmes, commandant of the 11th Naval District, commissioned the gigantic base. Command was assigned to Capt. Schuyler F. Heim, who placed the base in actual operation after announcing that transition had been accomplished of all equipment and personnel from former naval operations headquarters at Long Beach.

Today, the admiral's flag which flew from the tower of the administration building, has been replaced by the blue-bordered white pennant which signifies that a captain is in command instead of an admiral.

Many notables in Army and Navy circles and in Southland civic circles were in attendance at the ceremonies, as well as Long Beach and Los Angeles harbor commissions. Chief Petty Officer Rudy Vallee, conducted the United States Coast Guard band in musical numbers accompanying the event.

Demaree Is Speaker For S. A. Lions

High School Principal Paul H. Demaree was in Santa Ana today as guest speaker for Santa Ana Lions club. Introduced by President George Tobias, he spoke on "Why Japan Means War."

Bond, Stamp Sale Of Penney Co. Wins High Praise

Employees of Anaheim's J. C. Penney store take a justifiable pride this week, in having taken part in the record breaking sale during the month of July, of United States War bonds and stamps. Like all the 1,609 individual stores in the Great Penney system, the local institution set July aside for aiding in the system's plan to reach the 4 per cent quota assigned it for stamp and bond sales.

But the manner in which this quota of over a million dollars was exceeded, was amazing even to the most active of the workers here and throughout the store system. For when returns were all in, it was learned that the thousand and more stores had rolled up the staggering sum of $8,422,553—almost 25 per cent of the system's merchandise sales for the period.

Importance of this achievement was recognized by the United States government, and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau acknowledged this importance, by addressing a telegram of congratulations to the company president, E. S. Sams.

Truman Stuard, manager of the Anaheim store, today explained the possibilities involved in the large amount realized by stamp and bond sales during the month of July. "The sum of nearly eight and a half million dollars will buy not only a destroyer, but also a submarine, 100 army fighter planes and three dozen light tanks," he stated.

OCD Workers To See Demonstration Of "Victory Siren"

According to present plans of Charles H. Mann, executive vice-chairman of Anaheim Council of Defense, he will be in Long Beach on Thursday, September 3, together with defense chairmen from all Southern California cities and communities, to attend the second and final demonstration of the new "Victory Siren."

This siren, according to the State OCD, is expected to solve air raid warning device problems for many California cities and communities, and all local defense councils interested in its possibilities, have been invited to send representatives to the demonstration.

Chairman Mann and V. W. Hannum, Anaheim power plant superintendent, will represent this city. They are to meet representatives from other Southland communities at Long Beach American Legion headquarters on Thursday morning. From there they will proceed to the point to be designated later, where the demonstration will take place.

Two cities in the state were chosen for the demonstrations, the first of which will take place Monday in San Francisco for all sections of northern California. Permission for the two events was granted by the Western Defense Command and the Fourth Army.

The so-called "Victory Siren" was developed by the National Defense committee. The device has a powerful sound generator and its construction requires the minimum amount of materials needed for the war program, according to the Office of Civilian Defense.

YES, MOTHERS ARE SOLDIERS

Patriotic mothers are in the majority today, and every heart swells with pride at the courage with which American mothers bid farewell to their boys marching away for Uncle Sam, never letting the lads know the heartache and tears that are masked by those cheerful smiles.

But of all American mothers of whom we have heard, we feel that special honors are due a Polish-American mother of Los Angeles, Mrs. Rose Radzinski. She is without doubt, the greatest patriotic mother that California has produced to date, and is perhaps the greatest in the United States.

For Mrs. Radzinski has given ten sons and a daughter to the service of her country. Eleven children in all.

Four sons are in the Army, matched by four sons in the Navy. But of the latter group, Mrs. Radzinski's farewells of two of them were final, even though she did not know it at the time. For two of them are reported as missing in action.

Of the other members of this gallant eleven, two sons are at the Mare Island Naval Base, and the one daughter is engaged in civilian defense work.

Mrs. Radzinski, a quiet little woman of 61, has yet another son, eager to follow in the footsteps of his brothers. He is just 17, and impatient for the time to come when he too may enter the service. One wonders if his mother doesn't breathe the little silent prayers of thankfulness that she still has that one child in the home nest, coupled with an even more fervent prayer that the war may end before he too, answers the call.

They are soldiers, those eleven children and their mother. But we still think she is the best soldier of them all. You remember the poem—

"The bravest battles that ever were fought,
Shall we tell you where and when?
On the maps of the world you will find them not—
They were fought by the mothers of men."

County Attorney Is Named Governor On State Bar Board

Orange county attorneys will be represented on the newly elected board of governors of the State Bar of California, by the election of Colonel M. Burr Wellington of Santa Ana, to represent the election of Colonel M. Burr Wellington of Santa Ana, to represent the eighth district. Wellington, a veteran of the First World war, succeeds Stanley Mussell of San Bernardino on the board.

Five new members were elected, the list including also Joseph Geary, San Francisco; Robert Sheridan, Ventura; Robert Brennan, Los Angeles, and Edwin F. Hahn, Pasadena. They will take office on Friday, September 11 when the State Bar association holds its annual meeting in Los Angeles.

Mexican Farm Labor Is Assured To California Growers

Assurance that California farmers and growers will be able to obtain laborers has come from Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard.

Arrangements are now being completed for importation of Mexican workers to help harvest the state's crops in sections where local labor cannot be obtained, according to a telegram which Wickard sent to Governor Olson.

In order to secure this help, California ranchers must address their requests to the U. S. Employment Service which will certify the applications to the Agricultural department. The matters will be handled by L. I. Hewes Jr., of San Francisco, regional director of Farm Security administration.

Drivers Are Told Law On Passing Army Convoys

Correct procedure when civilian drivers meet big army convoys on the boulevards, was given out this week by Southern California Automobile club, following receipt of that information from San Francisco military officials.

It was pointed out that increased movements of troops and materials in such convoys, require a full cooperation from civilian motorists in order not to interfere with the war program. This cooperation will materially reduce the possibility of accidents and delays.

Civilian drivers are urged to yield the right of way to convoys, and observe the rules set forth. These are: (1) Don't break through army motor columns; (2) Don't pass and then try to cut in front—convoys travel at a speed that is deceptively fast; (3) When you pass, do not cut back into convoy lane; (4) Obey traffic police, both civil and military; (5) When you hear a siren or see a red light on an approaching vehicle, clear the center lane or intersection.

Softball Players Given Dinner

Softball players of the team representing the Evangelical church were honored with a supper and social evening in the church bungalow Monday evening. Games were in charge of Miss Mildred Mauchan. S. F. Hilgenfeld gave a toast to the players and read an amusing letter written by a "lonely soldier." A short talk was given by Rev. A. L. Horn, pastor of the church. Cheese Becomes U. S. Victory Food Special

Rallying to the nation's war needs and surpassing the production goal of one-third increase asked by the federal government in the Food for Freedom program, the cheese industry today offered many interesting ways to prepare its product to be used in place of meat.

Cheese is a fine source of calcium, protein and vitamin B1, all of which are often low in American diets. Cheese and egg dishes: souilles, fondues, rarebits, are just a few dishes which are easy to prepare and appetizing to all members of the family.

One important warning in cooking cheese dishes is using low temperatures. When cooking cheese dishes on top of the stove, heat can be kept low by setting them in pans of hot water and these cooked in the oven need "slow" to "moderate" temperatures.

Every bit of cheese—down to the rind—is good food. If it gets too hard to cut easily, it may be grated and used in that way. Keep cheese well wrapped and in a cool place so that the original good flavor may be preserved.

County Hens Doing Their Part In War Foods Program

Orange county poultry growers who are endeavoring to meet the county farm bureau's efforts to reach a 15 per cent increase in the current year's egg production, see possibilities of surpassing the figures set, according to Ross E. Crane, assistant farm advisor.

During the past four months, egg production per hen has exceeded that of the corresponding interval in 1941 by 12 per cent. This, coupled with an increase in the number of laying hens in county flocks, will help boost the average.

This local increase compares with reports issued by the national Bureau of Agricultural Economics to the effect that total average egg production per hen in the United States is greater than at any time in the past several years.

Since the war was declared against Germany last April, 1,300,000 Americans have offered their services for defense, and from these 448,859 were accepted the remainder rejected on account of dependents, or defectives. The armed forces now number in the various branches of service, in the air, on land, or sea, about 943,141 men—and every one a volunteer. With the 687,000 men who are to report in camp in September—there will be about a million and a half under arms in all departments of war service.

In less than five months 121,514 volunteered and were accepted for navy and marine service. In the regular army 191,347 and in the national guard, 136,998, a total of 327,245, and a grand total of 448,859 in the two branches of service. The largest single item was the 27,341 recently commissioned for training camps. Total land force, 710,024; total sea forces, 233,117, making a total of 943,141.

Anaheim lost one of its oldest and best known citizens when Fritz Ruhman succumbed Monday morning to a long illness. Mr. Ruhman came to Anaheim in 1875. He opened the Germania Hall saloon in 1878 and conducted it until 1906, when he sold it to J. D. Heitschman. Mr. Ruhman was shanghaied at Hoboken, N. J., in 1875 and placed aboard a sailing vessel bound for Pacific waters. After a journey around the Horn, which lasted several months, the vessel dropped anchor at Anaheim Landing and the shanghaied sailor was allowed to go ashore. He secured a position in a restaurant at that place, owned by Max Nebelung, and after working there awhile came to the Mother Colony. He was married in 1897 to Mrs. Helena Boege, who survives him. He is survived also by his niece, Mrs. Peter Syrs. He was a native of Schleiswig, Holstein, and was in his 80th year.

Funeral services were held yesterday, Rev. Schmelzer of the Lutheran church officiating.

The resignation of County Clerk W. B. Williams, news of which comes to us as we go to press, is a distinct loss to the ranks of the officials of this county. He will be succeeded by Nels Edwards of Orange, a thoroughly competent and excellent citizen.

Mr. Williams takes a responsible position as cashier of the First National Bank of Santa Ana. While we regret Mr. Williams' retirement from the office of County Clerk, we are pleased to note his appointment to a responsible position of Santa Ana's leading banking institution. He is the most capable man who ever held the office of county clerk, and his resignation will cause regret throughout all portions of the county.

The Morningstar brothers returned on Sunday from a dove hunt up in Mint canyon. The birds are plentiful and quail are there in large numbers. No signs of deer were seen. At night the howl of coyotes was heard, but none of these varmints were killed as they keep well under cover during the daytime.

Mrs. A. Frohling has received a telegram announcing the death of her niece, Miss Helen Wenzel of San Francisco, which occurred on Sunday, August 19th. The deceased was a sister of Edward and Paula Wenzel, who are well known in Anaheim. She was 43 years old.

William J. Heger and his wife, Emma H. Heger, of Glendale, have purchased a 10-acre orange grove situated on West La Palma avenue, from Mary E. Eskridge. They will make their home there with their young son Billy. Mr. Heger is associated with the Anaheim Brewing company as office manager.

Mrs. T. J. F. Boege and daughter, Miss Olga Boege are spending a few weeks at San Juan Hot Springs where Mrs. Boege owns a cottage.

Mrs. Sophie Stock has petitioned for letters of administration on the estate of her husband, Herman Stock who died August 23. The estate is valued at $8,000.

Quick, call the AUXILIARY FIREMEN!

No branch of civilian defense is more important than that which has the job of fighting serious fires which might result from bombing attacks by the enemy. The men who volunteered to be your Auxiliary Firemen wanted to be in the "thick" of things. They had to be strong, courageous and with lots of endurance. They were required to spend many hours practicing with hose and ladder...then many more hours drilling. These "armband firemen" are still at it and will be...until the war is won.

Three New Vessels Will Be Launched As County Celebration of Labor Day

Orange county's most patriotic observance of Labor Day next Monday, will take place at Newport Beach and will be in accordance with President Roosevelt's suggestion that Labor Day be set aside wherever possible, for the launching of naval vessels.

Seven hundred thousand dollars worth of navy craft will be launched from Newport Beach shipyards by two companies, and a third company will lay the keel for a 72-foot patrol boat whose cost is estimated as around $100,000.

The South Coast company, the first in this area to receive government contracts, will launch a 135-foot motor minesweeper, at a cost of $320,000. Walton Hubbard, president of the company, has announced that the sponsor would be selected from among the shipyard employees following a popularity contest.

The second boat to be launched will be a 110-foot wooden sub-chaser, from the Peyton shipyards. The senior Mrs. J. W. Peyton, whose late husband was prominent in formation of the company, will be sponsor for this vessel, and all company employees will take part with their families.

Employees and their families also will have prominent part in the keel laying ceremonies to be conducted by the Ackerman Boat company, where the 72-foot patrol boat will be the first to be built by them under a Navy contract. G. Fuller Peters is president of the Ackerman company.

County Shriners To Breakfast In Modjeska Canyon

Members of Orange County Shrine club await Sunday like small boys anticipate Christmas. For Sunday morning the nobles, accompanied by their wives, will hike themselves to Modjeska's canyon, there to breakfast beneath the towering oaks and sycamores of the William C. Howell home.

Breakfast will not be the only pleasure in store for the Shriners according to Oscar Brower of this city, president of the County Shrine club. An outdoor orchestra will rival the birds of the canyon trees, and for additional entertainment, Clint Brush of Huntington Beach, will put his educated horse, Serano, through its trickiest feats of reasoning and action. Advance reservations must be made for the day's outing.

Citrus Belt Picnic Slated For Sunday

Former Missourians now living in Anaheim and its vicinity, anticipate with much interest the annual Citrus Belt-Missouri picnic to be held Sunday in Riverside's Fairmount park. There are always several from this locality to attend these annual reunions, and last year 86 California cities were represented.

Special honors will be paid to the military personnel from March Field, Camp Haan and other adjacent camps. Guest speaker will be Major Martin Luther Thomas, base chaplain at March Field. His subject will be "America's Task." A program of songs, dancing, musical numbers and variety will include six men from as many eastern colleges, and a special feature of old-time square dancing by the Fruitvale Farm Center Old Time Dancers, state championship winners in 1941.

Oklahomans Plan Labor Day Picnic

Following their long-established custom, Oklahomans now living in Southern California will observe Labor Day with their annual picnic reunion in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles. The afternoon program following basket dinner, will feature musical numbers, Indian talks and dances by talented American Indians, many of whom are native sons and daughters of Oklahoma, according to the state society's president, E. Worden Conway.

12,500,000 persons in the U. S. are now engaged in work directly connected with war production.

Bus Official Has Suggestions For Labor Day Travel

Approach of the Labor Day week-end holiday brings problems to transportation companies, according to F. W. Ackerman, vice-president of Pacific Greyhound lines, who today issued suggestions that will aid in solving those problems.

Anyone planning a Labor Day trip is urged by Ackerman, to get complete information on schedules in advance of the date; purchase tickets at once in order to avoid a last minute rush; take as little baggage as possible; choose a short trip in preference to a long one, and if at all possible, leave before Saturday and return after Monday.

Concluding his suggestions, Ackerman said "If the Labor Day trip is for pleasure only, postpone it—buy War Bonds instead."

The bus official pointed out that war conditions make transportation a vital commodity in which convenience must yield to necessity, and comfort becomes secondary. "Military traffic cannot stop for holidays," he stated, "and war workers must get to their jobs as usual. Labor has given up celebration of its traditional holiday in order to carry on with vital war production, and civilians should cooperate."

Luxurious Effects Of Normandie Put Up at Auction

An interesting sequel has just been written to the dramatic story of the famous steamer "Normandie," former French liner which has been burned, capsized and affected in diverse ways in the harbor at New York City.

The sequel is the "fire sale" auction of furnishings of the luxurious liner now under way in New York. Carpets, mattresses and pillows were chief among the many articles listed. One dealer who purchased more than 600 mattresses at $2,687, explained his willingness to pay the high price, because the mattresses were stuffed with virgin wool. However more than a thousand fine woolen blankets listed, were withdrawn from the sale.

Spirited bidding resulted when 40 cases of imported beads were auctioned and brought over $2000. It was explained that interest was keen because of the present shortage of such beads. American women may now have the opportunity to wear bright-colored jewelry brought in "on the latest trip of the Normandie."

John Hart Wins Cup, Ribbons In Dahlia Show

Eighteen ribbons and the coveted Kiwanis cup rewarded John C. Hart of Knott's Berry Place, for the many fine dahlias entered from the well-known Berry Place in the first annual show of Orange County Dahlia association held Friday and Saturday in Santa Ana.

The show was an outgrowth of an annual dahlia show staged by Santa Ana Kiwanis club over a period of several years. It had become so successful that it was decided to make it a county-wide event, open to anyone interested in fine dahlias.

The parent organization awarded a silver cup for the best undisputed seedling, which proved in the opinion of competent judges, to be the handsome rose pink bloom entered by Hart. The latter placed second in the number of ribbons won, first place having been taken by Dr. G. Emmett Raitt, a member of Santa Ana Kiwanis and one of the sponsors of the annual show. Raitt also won a $25 War Bond for the best dahlia in the show, a Pink Ambassador.

Judges were three experts, Dr. F. E. Cannon, Los Angeles; Mrs. A. G. Jefferson, Inglewood, and E. E. Jones, Bellflower. The wealth of fine blooms, admired by hundreds of visitors from all over the county, later were sent to Santa Ana Air Base to decorate the chapel for Sunday services.

County Indigent Aid Figures Show Drop From Last Year

July figures on indigent aid extended in Orange county have just been given out by California Taxpayers' association, following a study of the trend of indigent relief for the last fiscal year. Aid was given in this county to 172 cases, a drop of 93 from the peak load of 265 cases reached in August, 1941.

While August of last year registered the highest number of cases to whom aid was given, the following month of September showed the highest expenditure when the sum of $6,413 was distributed among those on relief. July figures this year showed that aid extended totaled $3,586.

"Demands for manpower in both the armed forces and war industry, are opening jobs for many men and women who formerly were dependent upon relief," the association declared. "County aid during the present period of heavy demand for workers can be cut back so that it will be given only to the few who cannot support themselves. This will remove a burden from the backs of the people."

Plan Observance Of Admission Day

San Diego has been chosen as the scene for the official state observance of Admission day on September 9, according to announcement just made by Lloyd J. Cogswave of San Francisco, grand president of Native Sons of the Golden West.

Native Sons and Native Daughters will be sponsors of the celebration, which was set for San Diego to cooperate with that city's quadricentennial celebration.

Contrary to custom, the two host organizations are not urging members from all sections of the state, to attend the celebration. Grand President Cogswave declared that the customary attendance would be detrimental to the state's All-Out War effort since it would tax transportation facilities.

Auto Registration Fees Allocated

Figures just released by the California department of motor vehicles on the apportionment of vehicle license fees for the period from January 1 to June 30, 1942, show that Orange county's share in the apportionment, amounted to $88,208.07.

The figures were given out by James M. Carter, director of motor vehicles, and were based on this county's total fee paid registrations of 61,967.

Registration fees apportioned for the entire state totalled the sum of $8,324,991.68 based on a grand total of 2,924,166 fee paid vehicles. This apportionment was divided equally between the division of highways and the various counties to be spent on road building and repairs.

Orange County Man Included In Group Making Survey of Southland Manpower

Anaheim's man power — and woman power as well — is to be recorded down to the last adult in the city, in line with every city, village and community in the Southland, if plans formulated at a meeting of the War Manpower commission in Los Angeles, go into effect as expected.

William K. Hopkins, regional director of the commission, announced the movement as a means of checking the physical qualifications of all adult citizens in order to determine their place in the nation's war effort. A. J. McFadden of Santa Ana was one of ten well-known Southern Californians named as a committee to aid in the solving of war effort problems arising out of the labor shortage.

The program which this committee will aid in putting into effect will have as its preliminary, the card-indexing of every adult with a list of individual qualifications for determining his or her place in the nation's war effort.

The 10-point program to be put into effect includes: (1) To provide the necessary man power for war production jobs and for the armed forces as effectively and efficiently as possible.

(2) To see that individuals are directed to those jobs or assignments where they can be of greatest assistance to the war effort.

(3) To insure the complete registration, recruiting and orderly referral and training of all available and potential workers in the community.

(4) To see that the best possible preparation and training can be offered to potential war workers so they can assume responsibilities as rapidly as possible.

(5) To see that all necessary steps are taken to use manpower at maximum skills and to see that nonessential men, available for war service, are replaced by women and other groups as rapidly as possible.

(6) To secure the voluntary transfer of skilled workers from nonessential to essential occupations.

(7) To see that the total labor supply is utilized in an effort to

Oregon's Timberline Lodge to be Closed

Anaheim vacationers who in the era of rubber, included Oregon's famous Timberline Lodge on 11,000 Mt. Hood near Portland, as one of their vacation outing "musts," have learned with regret that the beautiful resort is one of the Pacific coast's war casualties. For the million-dollar Lodge will close its doors the morning after Labor Day.

Timberline Lodge was built by WPA and placed under jurisdiction of the U. S. Forest service as the only government-owned project of its kind in the United States. It becomes a favorite spot for both summer and winter vacationers, but transportation difficulties arising out of the rubber situation, have cut the business 50 per cent this year.

This fact, coupled with the difficulty of getting adequate help as employees entered war industry jobs, led the directors to close the Lodge "for the duration."

City of Angels to Observe Birthday

Miss Grace S. Stroemer well-known in this vicinity for her affiliation with Native Daughters of Golden West and president of the Women's Auxiliary of Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, announced today that observance of Los Angeles' 161 birthday anniversary tomorrow will be dimmed but not blacked-out.

In normal years, colorful pageantry and procession from San Gabriel mission to the Plaza in Los Angeles have taken place. Anaheim, once a part of Los Angeles county, has always been interested in the celebration. Miss Stroemer stated that the "birthday party" will be held in Olvera street, early-day pueblo lane now preserved as a Mexican street market, with the lighting of 161 vigil lights at the sundown hour.

"Women of the Auxiliary," Miss Stroemer said, "will coordinate local historically-minded groups to stage a colorful reception for city fathers and pioneers, to be followed by a stellar anniversary program. As a gesture of good will between Los Angeles and Latin-American nations, the program will be broadcast by short wave to our southern neighbors.

reduce immigration and prevent the consequent problem of housing and transportation.

(8) To prevent delays in production growing out of excessive turnover and absenteeism.

(9) To implement this program by developing complete coordination between the various man power agencies now operating in the community.

(10) To obtain the active support of management, labor, government agencies and the general public in furthering this program.

Suggestions Given On Apparel For Women War Workers

Suggestions on what women should and should not wear while working in war industries were made this week by Dr. Bertram P. Brown, director of the State Department of the State Council of Defense.

"I make no claim to being an arbiter of women's fashions," said Dr. Brown, "but the rapid increase of women workers in shipyards, airplane plants and munition factories, make it necessary for me from a safety standpoint, to offer a few helpful suggestions to these women."

The physician said his suggestions on the proper wearing apparel for women war workers are based on clothes that are practical, comfortable and attractive. His suggestions follow:

1. Wear uniform type of outside apparel such as slacks suit, slacks and tucked-in shirts, or cover-all minus loose cuffs or pockets to avoid the possibility of becoming entangled in moving machinery.

2. Wear well-fitting, low-heeled oxfords giving firm support to the arches. Such shoes are an aid to good posture, help prevent fatigue and accidents. Open-toe or high heel shoes are neither safe nor practical in industrial plants.

3. Caps, nets, or wrap-around turban head bands to up long bobs to prevent hair from being caught in moving machinery. Women with short or boyish bobs should also wear head coverings.

4. Do not wear bracelets, wrist watches, earrings, necklaces or rings. These accessories do not add to feminine attractiveness in shipyards or aircraft plants, but do add to the number of accidents.

Women working on certain jobs that are potentially hazardous to eyes, hands and other parts of the body should wear protective equipment such as goggles, gloves and aprons.

Asked what women should wear away from work in war plants, Dr. Brown answered with "No comment."

Four-Man Board Is Named To Set Beet Workers' Wage

In anticipation of the importation into California beet-growing areas of agricultural workers from other states and probably from Mexico, a board has been set up by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, to determine a standard wage scale.

On this four-man board will be David Davidson, chairman of the Agricultural department of California War Board, who will serve as chairman of the group; James Brant, regional chief of industrial and agricultural employment of the War Manpower Commission; John Cooter, regional farm placement representative of U. S. Employment Service, and Homer Mills, regional labor relations specialist, Farm Industry Administration.

San Francisco will be board headquarters, and members will determine the wage scale under terms of an agreement with the Mexican government whereby men will be permitted to enter the United States to help in the farm labor shortage.

Such workers will be recruited under supervision of the Farm Security Administration. Employers will be required to pay the prevailing wages set by the board, and to provide adequate housing and sanitary conditions for workers and their families.

Husband of Local Woman Joins U. S. Coast Guard

Joining the United States Coast Guard seven weeks ago, William Kenneth Banks, husband of the former Miss Dorothy Gregor of this city, has begun training at Alameda.

The Coast Guardsman and his bride were married in April. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Gregor of 524 Chestnut avenue and has been living in Santa Ana where she is employed with the Security Title Insurance company. Although plans have not been completed, Mr. Banks may be stationed at Seattle, Wash., in which case his wife may join him there and establish their home.

Also in the service are a son and a son-in-law of the Gregor family. The son, Martin J., is now training in the school for Fire Controlman at the ninth naval district, Great Lakes, Ill. Roger Ledin, husband of the former Beatrice Gregor, is now a petty officer, second class, in the U. S. Naval Reserve at San Diego.

Resignation Asked Of S. A. Official

Because of the fact that Anaheim, like other cities of this area, is served by the Outfall Sewer district, interest here was keen today in the report that the district's consulting engineer, John L. McBride, had been asked by Mayor Joseph P. Smith of Santa Ana, for his resignation as Santa Ana's city engineer.

According to McBride, he was given no reason for the request, and received only three days' notice for the loss of the post which he has held for many years. Mayor Smith, declined to make any public statement in regard to the matter, but unofficial reports from Santa Ana city hall hinted that the requested resignation was an economy measure.

These reports were to the effect that plans were under way to consolidate the office of city engineer with that of the water superintendent and a registered engineer, in charge of both.

Binoculars Needed For U. S. Navy Use

An appeal has been addressed to Anaheim residents, as to all Southern California cities and communities, for the loan to United States Navy of Bausch and Lomb or Zeiss binoculars, either six power, 30 millimeter or seven power, 50 mm.

Since the Navy is not free to accept gifts or loans, it will pay one dollar each for all such binoculars offered. Then if they are available at the close of the war, they will be returned to the original owners. The one dollar paid will be considered as rental and depreciation charges, Navy officials stated.

"Thumbs Up" For The City's Finest

Anyone who ever played that favorite game of childhood, "Simon says thumbs up," will agree that members of Anaheim Police department have an unusual equipment with which to play, from Police Chief J. S. Bouldin down.

For all the officers have reproductions of their thumbs, carefully done in wax, recording every print and whorl more fully than the most approved finger-printing method. When taking demolition and bomb work, the men learned of this modern way of taking casts of thumbs, and reproducing them in wax as a means of establishing identity.

So if you chance to visit the department and are handed a little tissue-wrapped package, don't be surprised to find within, a very realistic thumb, complete even to red ink "blood." Those with a weak heart are advised against opening the package too suddenly.

Farmers Attend Whittier Meeting Last Saturday

Thirty or more farmers from the Anaheim area were present at Saturday's inter-regional meeting of the Farm Bureau, held in William Penn hotel, Whittier.

Among resolution adopted was that urging all orange growers to vote on the citrus marketing referendum which was in effect at the time. Other agricultural problems were basis for resolutions, one asking that increased labor and feed costs be taken into consideration in future pricing activities. Another urged a national stabilization of labor supply and wages to be tied in directly with the price pattern for agricultural products.

Walnut producers reported an expected California crop of 1,000,000 bags of merchantable walnuts. Difficulty in securing machinery and men for the industry has been encountered because walnuts have not been considered an essential food, it was reported.

Missionary Talks On Evacuation From Burma

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Horton, recently returned missionaries from Pymmana, Burma, who evacuated from there during the Japanese invasion and made the trip to New York with their two year old daughter, were honored at a reception at Calvary Baptist church last night.

Following a covered dish dinner Mr. Horton was introduced by Rev. Earl R. Berg, pastor of the church, who, in his introduction, stated, "Although they were forced to evacuate from the east, the work of the Hortons in this country is of strategic importance. The missionary spirit is greatly needed to bring about the proper attitude after this war."

Mr. Horton spoke on his work in Burma and traced the progress of their evacuation through 400 miles of mountainous country from a Jap infested city to a boat load with 400 missionaries like themselves, and on to New York.

At the close of the evening, Rev. Berg presented the honored guest with a purse, made up by members of the church. The Hortons have been in this city for about a month and expect to divide their time between here and Riverside, the home of Mr. Horton's parents. About 80 church members and friends attended the reception.
