Women's Auxiliary Police Meets With Enthusiasm

An important event in the city's defense program is scheduled for tonight in American Legion chambers in the city hall, where more than a score of Anaheim's public spirited women will join the ranks of the Women's Auxiliary Police, already established with 38 members.

Work of the men's auxiliary police group has been found invaluable in preparing for any emergencies here, but upon the occasion of the recent March alert here in the Southland, it was discovered that fully 60 per cent of these men were employed out of the city.

At that time, members of the auxiliary group conceived the idea of enlisting the women's aid. Madames Yurda Ackerman, A. G. Kohler, Peter H. Funk, Harold Hille and James Young responded to this request and did valiant work as a recruiting committee, with the result that at an organizational meeting in the Legion clubrooms on March 30, the first group of 33 women were sworn in.

Tonight's new class will go through the same finger-printing and identification processes, and will receive their arm bands, whistles and night sticks like their predecessors in the civic movement. Duties of the Women's auxiliary will be only in daylight hours, and each will be assigned to a street intersection as near her own home as possible. At times, three women will be assigned to each station in the event of an alert, so no one will ever work alone.

Their work will augment that of the men's group, which now numbers 205 auxiliary police, who cover the city from East street to Manchester boulevard on Center street, and from Ball road to Romney drive on Los Angeles (Continued on page 7)

Marine Reservist Will Train At Hunter College

Anaheim's newest recruit among young women ready to serve in some needed capacity with the nation's military forces, is Miss Evelyn Hunt, who for the past three and a half years has been secretary to City Attorney Leo J. Friking.

Miss Hunt, with "Free a Marine to Fight" for she has enlisted as a private in the Women's Reserve of the U. S. Marine Corps. She took her oath last week before Capt. Norman S. Nye, in charge of the Marine Officer Procurement office, Los Angeles, and having passed all her examinations with flying colors, has been told to stand by for travel orders.

These travel orders, when they come, will take her to New York City where she will enroll at Hunter College for six weeks' basic training leading to assignment to some Marine base to be named later. Her college work will be specialized, but will supplement that which she received at California Christian College, Los Angeles (now Chapman College, Whittier) after her graduation from Santa Ana Polytechnic high school. She is the daughter of Mrs. Darle M. Hunt, 1018 West Sixth street, Santa Ana.

She has been active in defense work in this city, and was identified with the Women's Ambulance Corps prior to its transference to Fullerton.

Pastors of City Complete Program For Crucifixion Day Services

Good Friday, the solemnest day in the church calendar, will be given special observance by the city's Protestant churches on Friday, April 23, when the Ministerial association will hold a three hour Crucifixion Day service beginning at noon in White Temple Methodist church.

All congregations will join in this sacred service which will open with an organ prelude followed by congregational singing of "The Church's One Foundation." The impressive Passion Story from Matthew will be read by the Rev. Stanley Frederick George, its episodes interspersed with prayerful selections and meditations.

Among the prayers to be offered will be that of Resignation by the Rev. Bergen Birdsell; for Loyalty by the Rev. J. W. Henry; for Courage, by the Rev. Rogers; for Penitence by the Rev. A. L. Horn, and the final benediction by the Rev. Herbert W. Ezell.

Meditations will include "The Garden" by the Rev. Thomas L. Burden; "The Trial Before Caiaphas" by the Rev. Don Earl Boatman; "The Trial Before Pilate" by the Rev. C. H. Archibald, and "The Crucifixion" by the Rev. H. G. Dymmel.

Each interval of the Scriptural reading will have hymns appropriate to its theme, and numbers by different church choirs. These will include White Temple Methodist, Church of Christ, Wesley Methodist and Bethel Baptist choirs. Each interval will end with silent prayer and meditation.

All the hymns chosen, that of the church, of courage, intercession, prayer, aspiration, penitence and consecration, will be printed on the programs so that the congregation will be able to join in the singing with no trouble.

Student Speakers Give Program For Rotary Group

In keeping with their plan to acquaint the community with patriotic activities at Anaheim Union high school, prominent members of the student body provided this week's luncheon program for Rotary club members in Elks club cafe.

Rotarian Paul H. Demaree, high school principal, introduced the speakers, who were Raymond Yelkin, president of the student commission, and his fellow officers, Don Baggett, Betty Sims, Mary Adams, Marjorie Metzger, Lester Jones, Norma Tompkins and Warren Heckman. Their talks on the high school's part in the War bond drive provided an excellent observance for Rotarians of Public Schools week.

Climaxing their talks was Superintendent Demaree's plea for Rotary cooperation in the current War bond drive, to aid this city in meeting its assigned quota of $800,000. He is local chairman for the drive in which the nation is asked for 13 billion dollars.

President Robert H. Boney, the Rev. Thomas L. Burden and Lee C. Deming gave brief accounts of the Rotary district conclave which they attended last week in Riverside, and President Boney announced the County Council meeting to take place tonight in this city.

Of chief importance was the annual election in which Paul H. Demaree was named as president with E. A. Maher and E. P. Hapgood returned to their respective posts as vice-president and secretary. One-year directors were named as Ronald Brandon, the Rev. Mr. Burden and George Hedstrom together with the new president and vice-president, Demaree and Maher.

Higher Bean Prices Are Promised

Recently announced increase of 90 cents per 100 pounds in government support prices for dry edible beans should result in a material increase in plantings in Orange county, in the opinion of Ransler J. Baker, county AAA chairman.

Price supports were announced at $6.50 per 100 pounds for U. S. No. 1 grade of pea, great northern, small white, flat small white, pinto, pink, small red and cranberry beans in carload lots cleaned and bagged, at country shipping points. Lima, baby lima, light red kidney, dark red kidney and western red kidney varieties will be supported at $7.50 per 100 pounds.

In addition loans will be made on thresher run beans of all varieties except tepary and mixed beans at $5.50 per 100 pounds for U. S. No. 1, $5.35 for No. 2, and $5.10 for No. 3. These loans will make it possible for growers to finance harvesting operations and still retain title to the crop it was explained.

In view of the increased price ceilings no incentive payments are now contemplated on beans though incentive payments will be made on potatoes and fresh truck crops as previously announced.

Greatly increased quantities of beans are needed this year for military and lend-lease shipments as well as to supplement other protein foods in civilian diets. California's production goal has been set at 600,000 acres compared with 385,000 acres produced in 1942.

Quotas Are Named For Current War Bond Campaign

Southern California's quota of $221,216,500 in the huge Second War drive, has been broken down into county and city quotas, according to Paul H. Demaree, Anaheim drive chairman.

Of this sum, Orange county has been assigned the task of raising $6,057,000, Chairman Demaree explained, while Anaheim must meet her quota of $800,000. These figures are exclusive of allotments to banks, he stated.

"The amount to be raised in the three weeks' drive is large, but it must and will be raised," Chairman Demaree declared. He pointed out that the task was not out of proportion to the increased income of the people, due to war industries, and stressed the importance of the drive's slogan, "They give their lives—you lend your money."

Hughes Family Has Short Visit With Army Lieut. Nurse

Receiving a telephone call Saturday night from their daughter, Second Lieut. Elizabeth Hughes, that she was to report Wednesday at her port of call for overseas nursing duty, Mr. and Mrs. Everett V. Hughes of Harbor boulevard, left Sunday morning for Camp Beale, Marysville, Calif., for a short visit with her.

They were accompanied by their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hughes of Fullerton, and their baby son Dennis. The little family party had only a few days with their daughter and sister, who had to forego the usual short furlough granted nurses called to such service, because of the shortness of the notice given.

Five nurses out of Lieut. Hughes' class of 100 at Camp Beale, were called. She has been stationed at Camp Beale ever since her induction on December 9. A native daughter of Anaheim, Lieut. Hughes went through Kattella grammar and Union high school, and entered Immaculate Heart in Hollywood for her pre-nursing course. She graduated from Queen of the Angels hospital School of Nursing in 1942, and was stationed at Orange County General hospital when she enlisted in early December, to be called to Camp Beale just five days later.

When she was instructed to report Wednesday at the port of call, Lieut. Hughes was given no indication of the point to which she will be assigned, nor will her parents have any knowledge of her approximate whereabouts for many weeks to come.

Lieut. Bob Rimpau Interviewed On Nation-Wide Radio

Former Union high school classmates of Lieut. A. R. ("Bob") Rimpau, pilot of one of the famous Flying Fortresses in North Africa, had the thrill of hearing their former schoolmate on a nation-wide radio program last week, when he talked on the recent airplane raid on the Axis North African base at Cagliari.

Lieut. Rimpau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theo. R. Rimpau, Route 2, Box 171, has many relatives in this city, including his grandmother, Mrs. Adolph Rimpau, 119 South Melrose street, his great aunt, Miss Sophie Rimpau, 309 South Palm street, and various cousins.

He enlisted in the U. S. Army Air Forces in January, 1941, after completing Union high school here and Fullerton junior college. He starred in athletics in both U. S. No. 1, $5.35 for No. 2, and $5.10 for No. 3. These loans will make it possible for growers to finance harvesting operations and still retain title to the crop it was explained.

In his radio interview Lieut. Rimpau told of the raid of 100 of the big Fortresses, all of which returned safely after doing almost incalculable damage to the Axis base. He declared "If there was anything we didn't hit, then it must have been buried. I saw thousands of bursting bombs. They seemed to be exploding over every bit of the harbor."

Members of his family are hoping that the young air hero will be granted a furlough and return home for a visit before he resumes service in one of the war zones.

Eight Auxiliary Police Deputized

Eight members of the city's auxiliary police have been appointed as special deputies by Police Chief Teed L. Wilder, according to his report Tuesday night at the city council meeting.

The eight, who have been active in the organization ever since it was formed as a civilian defense measure, are Eldon W. Stark, Claude E. Lane, Peter H. Funk, James E. Young, Norman H. Voland, Henry W. Baxter, Norbert DeCook and David Proud.

City Wells Record High Level

Water level in the city wells registered 111 feet on April 1, the highest point reached since February 1, 1930. Steady rains of the late winter were credited for the high level.

Insurance Company Would Gain on March Fire Record

Those intrepid lads of the Hook and Ladder Gang rolled up some sort of a record for the month of March. Or maybe it rolled up for them. Anyway in Fire Chief Rudolph Nyboe's report submitted Tuesday night to the city council, it developed that the men were called out on only one fire during the entire month.

And it was a sort of a two-penny ha-penny fire at that. An automobile which blazed merrily away in the 200 block on West Center street. Too bad for the car owner, but good exercise for the firemen.

High School's Aid To War Effort Told To Kiwanians

Importance of Public Schools week was given due recognition at Tuesday's Kiwanis club meeting over which President Ewald Lemcke presided in Elks clubhouse, where members of Union high school's student commission presided.

These were under program chairmanship of Kiwanian Clyde Nickle, a member of the faculty. One of the points of special interest brought out by the young people was that the school is eligible for the Minuteman flag awarded by the U. S. Treasury department on War bond and stamp sales. The high school has sold a total of $87,000 in bonds and stamps so far this year.

Other school activities as geared to prevailing war time conditions were outlined by the speakers, who stated that school activities during the coming weeks would revolve around the new war bond drive, with every effort centered in raising the school's quota.

Members of the commission who took part in the program were Ray Yelkin, president; Don Baggett, vice-president; Betty Sims, secretary; Mary Adams, finance; Marjorie Metzger, girls' athletics; Lester Jones, boys' athletics; Norma Tompkins, safety and welfare; and Warren Heckman, student affairs.

Frank N. Gibbs announced that next Tuesday's Kiwanis program will be on the Easter theme, and will be presented in cooperation with the Anaheim Ministerial association.

Local Basso Works In Production Of Irving Berlin Show

Work in the various Hollywood studios continues to demand all the time that Albert M. Cranston, popular local basso, can possibly spare from his teaching, and at present Cranston, whose home is at 206 South Rose street, is working on three different pictures at as many studios.

Perhaps most interesting of the three, is the Warner Brothers production of Irving Berlin's "This Is the Army." For while Cranston takes no dramatic role in the picture since he is engaged for his voice alone, he has opportunity to meet the famous members of the cast, and enjoy association with all the soldier members forming the great company.

He has renewed friendship with several of the principals, with whom he had been associated in former Metropolitan and San Carlos Opera company productions. In addition to his song transcriptions for the Warner Brothers picture, he is also engaged at present on the Samuel Goldwyn lot in the making of "North Star" in which Jane Withers has the starring role and has not yet completed his singing and acting work on Columbia's "Merry-Go-Round."

All Radio Stations To Be Silent In Event of Alarm

Army authorities have announced that all radio stations in the Southern California area will be ordered off the air the next time there is an air raid alarm.

It is believed that this will eliminate any recurrence of the confusion that prevailed on the occasion of the alarm on March 18 when stations remained on the air. Many persons ignored the alarm when they found radios still broadcasting.

Marine Will Return To Take Part In High School Event

Union high school students who are preparing to welcome a packed auditorium tomorrow night when the present a special musical program in observance of Public Schools Week, have a special treat in store for their guests.

In the final number of their carefully arranged program, the presentation of Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance" by combined orchestra, glee club and a cappella choir, the solo part will be sung by Wesley Mendoza, coming up from San Diego Marine Base especially for the occasion.

Pvt. Mendoza, younger son of the Roy Mendozas, 837 South Lemon street, is a member of the senior class who sped up his high school graduation by attending summer school in order to become a mid-term graduate. His reason for this, was his eagerness to join the Marines, and he enlisted in early December, after completion of his high school work. He will receive his diploma with the others of his class in June. His brother Ensign Richard Noel Mendoza, who was commissioned in early March at the Naval Training Center, Corpus Christi, is now stationed at Miami, Fla., as pilot in a fighter squadron.

When plans for tomorrow night's concert were nearing completion, Miss Elizabeth Hunziker, in charge of vocal features, wrote to Pvt. Mendoza's captain at the Marine Base, asking that the young man might be permitted to return to his home school for the event. This request was granted freely, which is not at all surprising to those who know the record the young man has made in his school career and in his determination to join the Marines. At present he is attached to the public relations office at the Marine Base.

Tomorrow night's concert will culminate the open house event at the high school. Superintendent Paul H. Demaree and his entire staff of teachers will welcome guests to all departments. Just preceding the musical program in the auditorium at 8 o'clock will be installation of newly elected officers of the High School P.-T. A. In this musical program, the 60 voices of the a cappella choir will be increased to 110 voices for the grand finale, with the 60-piece orchestra under Joshua Williams' direction, providing instrumental background. Accompanists will be Marian Pickell at the organ and Marian Hill at the piano.

20-30-ians Devise Novel Plan for Soldier Messages

An unusual plan now being put into effect by Anaheim 20-30 club, promises to have far-reaching results. For the club has devised a Service Man's book to be distributed through fraternal and civic organizations, whereby motorists who give a lift to some lad in his country's service, or entertain him in private homes, may retain a record of the event.

This record is not for the personal satisfaction of owners of the little booklet. Twenty-Thirty men have a much broader vision than that. They have systematized the pages in such a manner that each one will offer a message to be transcribed on a postcard and relayed to the service man's family or anyone whom he may designate.

The booklets, attractively printed in two colors, and with the American flag and the 20-30 emblem both given prominence, may be carried in the glove compartment of a car and always be ready to hand to a chance rider. The owner after transcribing the message, will have a lasting memorial of his thoughtfulness.

The booklets are to be given general distribution, and anyone wishing copies may obtain them free of charge, by addressing Nick Lo Porto Anaheim 20-30 club, 210 Cherry street.

League of Cities Will Meet Here

Anaheim is to be host city to Orange County League of Cities just a week from tonight, when that organization is to hold a dinner and program session in Elks clubhouse. "Child Delinquency" will be the program theme, and Walter Tipton of the sheriff's office will be guest speaker.

Placentian To Be Installed As Native Sons President

With the selection of a capable staff of officers headed by S. James Tuffree of Placentia as president, Mother Colony parlor No. 281, Native Sons of the Golden West is preparing to take its place as one of the community's outstanding civic organizations following formal institution on Friday night, April 30.

Civilians Will Have Freedom Again Of Popular Irvine Park

Good news to all Orange county folk whose idea of a perfect outing is a picnic in Irvine park providing they can scrape together the necessary picnic fare, plus the gas and tires, is the fact that today, April 15, celebrates the military's relinquishment of the park back to the county.

For the past six months the historic retreat, gift to the county from James Irvine, has been occupied by U. S. infantry troops under the command of Col. Clarence Jenni. During the interval the county has kept a few civilian employees on the task of keeping up park facilities, but now with the evacuation of the troops there will be certain employment difficulties according to Supervisor Willard Smith, chairman of the park committee.

Although the Army left the park a week ago, a few soldiers have remained to police the grounds and leave them in the same condition as when the military took over, as per agreement. However the present difficulty of getting civilian help makes it seem advisable to keep the park open to the public only on weekends.

Supervisor Smith has pointed out that the supply of county prisoners usually available for work in the park, has dwindled noticeably, so that shortage of labor will make it necessary to restrict opening days.

Reason for the Army's surrendering the park to the county is that James Irvine has made adjoining land available to the troops who have now completed barracks and moved to the new site. They will continue to use a part of the park property for training operations.

Farm Labor Committee To Hear Plan For Conserving Valuable Crops

When Orange county's Farm U. S. Employment service, all members of the Farm Labor committee. The tentative plan of operation calls for establishment of a food production council in each community, with chambers of commerce or local newspaper offices to be asked to maintain headquarters for recruiting local farm labor corps. Civilian Defense setups in each community will be asked to aid in conducting intensive search for volunteers from business and professional men and women.

Such volunteers would be card indexed to show those available for emergency work the days and hours when such work could be undertaken, and the types of work for which each individual might be suited. Efforts would be made to place volunteer workers in or near the own communities, it was stated, and a standard (Continued on page 3)

Response from native Californians of the North Orange county area has been enthusiastic ever since the plan of instituting a local parlor was first proposed here by Native Sons Leonard Schwaefer and John M. Johnston.

Organizational meetings held in Elks clubhouse have been well attended and that held Friday night indicated the enthusiasm prevailing. Southland deputies were hosts at the dinner which preceded a general meeting and election of officers. The vote was unanimous for James Tuffree as the parlor's first president. He is a prominent rancher of the Placentia area, and represents one of the county's oldest and most substantial families.

Officers elected with the same unanimity of spirit included the senior and junior past presidents, necessary for the conduct of the parlor business affairs and all the remaining officers. Attorney Thomas L. McFadden of this city, also a citrus grower of the Placentia district, was named senior past president, while named to the junior past president's post was Theodore B. Kuchel publisher of the Anaheim Gazette, the county's oldest established newspaper.

Remaining officers represent the same family and area traditions and are Edward P. Backs, Placentia; Forest B. Callan, Fullerton; and Roy Mendoza, Anaheim, first, second and third vice-presidents; Gilbert Kraemer, Placentia, marshal; Elton R. McCoy, Anaheim and Fullerton, inside sentinel; Ernest Ganahl and Arnold Plegel, Anaheim, and Lawrence Lemke, Placentia, trustees; F. A. Backs, treasurer; John M. Johnston, recording secretary; and Leonard Schwaefer, financial secretary all of Anaheim. Installation of these officers will take place on April 30, when the (Continued on Page 8)

Jack Phillips Music Opens Harmony Park

Announcement made last week that Harmony park was to open Saturday night for a series of weekly dances to the "Sweet smooth swing" of Jack Phillips' orchestra, was received with enthusiasm by a large crowd gathered for the opening event.

Dancing was from 8 o'clock to midnight, and the same hours will be observed each Saturday night. The dancers discovered that Phillips' orchestra produced exactly the kind of music that had been promised, and were especially delighted to find that many dreamy waltzes were included on the program.

Harmony park's location at Broadway and Manchester, makes it of easy access not only for Anaheim dance and music lovers, but for those from Fullerton, Santa Ana, Orange and all neighboring communities. It is noted as one of the Southland's unusual ballrooms, and is set far back among the trees to give the effect of seclusion from the rest of the world, yet is only a block from busy Manchester highway.

Fullerton Jaycee Sells Typewriter Surplus To Army

Official praise has come to Fullerton junior college for "backing up the Army's fighting machines with writing machines," because that institution responded to the government's call for typewriters, by turning in 25 per cent of its machines to the Treasury department for use by military services.

Appreciation of the school's generosity was expressed by D. L. Sullivan, chief of the WPB type-

Fruit Moth Menace Still Threatens

That danger still exists from the Oriental fruit moth one of the citrus industry's worst enemies, was indicated by inspectors of the State Department of Agriculture located in this city, who confirmed reports that the moth had been discovered in nearby San Bernardino county.

According to reports, the discovery was of a single adult moth in a grove near Chino not far from the Orange county line. But it was explained that the true extent of the infestation may not become apparent until warmer weather. Heavy infestation has been found near Olinda, but up to the present none has been discovered in the Carbon canyon area between Olinda and the Chino grove where the single moth was found.

Infestation in this county is the first on record west of the Mississippi river

Individual owners are being asked to sell such typewriters (standard, non-portable machines built since January, 1935) to the government, since typewriter factories have been converted to armament production. Typewriter dealers in different localities act as buying agents for the Treasury, which pays the official government price directly to the owner.

Rancho Santa Ana Botanic Gardens Open On Weekdays

Gas rationing, which prevents Anaheim folk as well as all other Southland residents from enjoying their annual trips to the desert and up around Bakersfield to see the springtime blossoming of wild flowers, has affected also a much closer home interest, the weekly visitors' day at Rancho Santa Ana Botanic gardens on the famous Bixby ranch in Santa Ana canyon.

In view of the curtailment of this weekly event, the board of trustees of the garden has announced that visitors will be welcome every weekday through April and May, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. No guest cards will be required for admittance and picnic tables and parking grounds will be available with all their facilities for heightening the comfort and pleasure of those visiting the gardens. Members of the staff will be ready to give any information about the native plantings.

The usual flower shows and afternoon talks in the assembly hall have not been scheduled, but the trustees point out that there are unexampled displays of wild flowers on the hillsides and in the fields and canyons of the 200 acre tract, and that their gorgeous display of color will grow in brilliancy during the next few weeks.

Anyone who finds it necessary to drive through Santa Ana canyon, would find that a stop at the gardens would be well worth while. Their location is on the north side of Santa Ana river, about 15 miles each of this city.

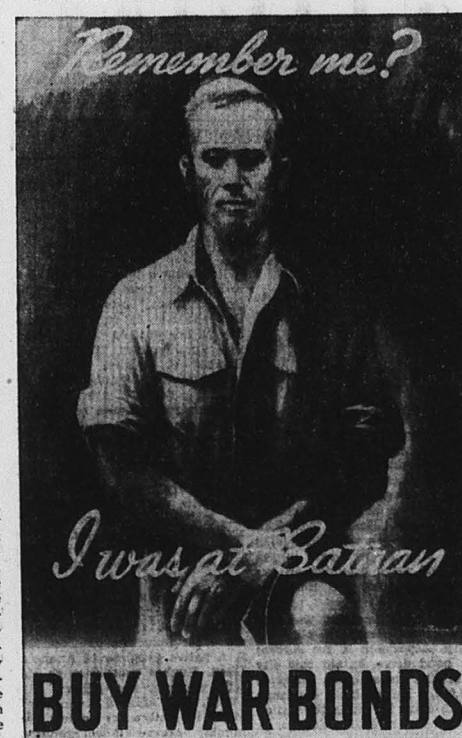

MRS. MARTHA ELIZABETH WOOD, a resident of Anaheim for the past dozen years, died April 7 at the family home, 109 South Melrose street, where her husband, John J. Wood, survives her.

Born 50 years ago in Minnesota, Mrs. Wood had lived in Idaho for many years before coming to this city. Many members of her family still live in that state including her mother, Mrs. Emma L. Ross; a brother, Arthur Desbire; a half brother, Elmer Ross, and a sister, Mrs. Ida Harris. Another sister, Mrs. Minnie Parker, lives in Canada and two half sisters are Miss Stella Cooper of Oregon and Mrs. Bernice Hutchinson of Washington.

Mrs. Wood was a member of the Congregational church. Funeral rites were conducted for her Thursday afternoon in the Hilgenfeld chapel, from which the remains were sent to Kellogg-Wardner, Ida, for burial in the family plot.

POSTER COMMEMORATES BATAAN DAY

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—More than 20 canvases, including the above commemoration of Bataan Day, have been contributed by a score of distinguished American artists for a traveling exhibition throughout the country to stimulate the purchase of War Bonds. The painting pictured here, by Alexander Brook, is one of those currently featured at the "Art for Bonds" exhibition of the Brooklyn Museum.

Lesson In Citizenship

Here is a study in human psychology. We'll use no names, but suffice it to say that a home owner at Olive street and Broadway, has a loquat tree, whose golden fruit was an irresistible temptation to a group of small boys. The boys simply couldn't be kept out of the tree and finally an appeal was made to the city police station.

Officer Decker called the youths before him and made the situation so clear to them that he not only won their promise to leave the tempting loquats alone, but every single boy volunteered to aid in keeping other marauders away from the tree, so that the owner might have the fruit for jelly making.

Who'll be willing to bet with us there will be a certain group of boys who will receive a taste of luscious loquat jelly by and by? Even if the reward doesn't come in such tangible form, there will still be the reward of a training

Police Department Has New Course

Monday night brought the first session of the school of instruction which City Attorney Leo Friis will conduct at semi-monthly intervals for men of the police department and special deputies.

At the series of meetings he will explain to the men such laws as pertain to arrests, law violations and all matters that effect their profession. The next session will be Monday night, April 26.

If Germany is able to carry out her scheme of Mittel Europe she will build the mightiest empire in the history of the world and liberty will be destroyed. Germany was determined to reach Asia Minor and India by way of a Berlin to Bagdad railway. Remember what Tallyrand told Napoleon; Whoever controls Asia Minor is master of the human race. Look at the map and see how Germany could strike at India, Egypt, Persia, the Suez canal and Russia. Why did the United States come into the war? What have we to do with all this? Simply this: Germany placed America last upon her list of countries to be conquered. She planned to impose a staggering indemnity upon America after she had taken our leading cities on the eastern seacoast. Theodore Roosevelt has truly said that it is lucky she did not place us first on her list! But one thing stood between us, the British navy. For twenty years Germany has been preparing for this war, but the world slept on.

Within thirty days Germany will put out peace propositions, offering peace on condition that she be allowed to retain free passage to Asia Minor and a broad highway to strike again at civilization by means of her railroad into Asia Minor. If we agree to this all we have fought and worked for will have been lost. Germany will have welded Austria, Serbia, Bulgaria, Turkey and the Ukraine into a mighty empire to be hurled upon the rest of the world when the German military masters will it.—Extracts from a lecture by Sidney Coryn, of San Francisco in Los Angeles last week.

Clyde Bishop thrilled his audience with his eloquence and patriotic utterances in his speech at the business men's luncheon Thursday. He scathingly rebuked those who would assist eligible men to resist serving their country through the selective draft. Individual patriotism is going to win the war and the man who shirks his duty now is a slacker of the vilest sort. Mr. Bishop declared. It may come to pass that labor will be conscripted, because no man has a right to refuse to give his services to build ships and munitions of war. Also the conservation of food is paramount, he said, and people must not waste a single particle.

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Stock this week received a letter from their son Reinhold conveying the news that he has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the United States service. He has been stationed at Camp Robert E. Lee, Petersburg, Va., but expects to be transferred to some unknown destination.

At the last city election Fullerton favored a proposition to pay the city trustees $10 per month. Anaheim has twice voted this down, the people evidently believing that the honor that hedges about a trustee and the pleasure he gets out of the job is sufficient reward for the labor he performs.

Earl Abbey, manager of the Pacific Telephone company, the other day said a person stepped into the telephone booth and put in a call on long distance for a party in Denver. In just 14 minutes the connection was made and the gentlemen carried on their conversation. Mr. Abbey says when it's service you're looking for, ring him up.

A swarm of bees settled in the hanging fringe of the awning in front of Heying's Pharmacy at noon Tuesday, but as a few hundred of them appeared to be restless and uncertain about the location that corner was an extremely unpopular place for a time. Officer Phil Gerhann who was appealed to, procured a box, enticed the strays into it, and placed the colony under arrest. There were no casualties.

The merchants and bakers of a number of California towns have united to stand behind the food administration and are issuing food cards, and no flour cereals, pastries, breakfast foods, bread or other wheat products can be procured without a card which will allow six pounds of flour or six loaves of bread per month for each member of a family.

J. H. Whitaker has received word that his son Loring, who is a soldier at Camp Lewis, has been a pneumonia victim, but is now recuperating.

C. J. Mauerhan was in town from the Standard lease a few days ago. Cooney has a job of tool dressing with the company and is getting along well.

During the week petitions to the Board of Supervisors have been circulated and numerous signed asking them to take steps to strengthen the channel and open the banks of the Santa Ana river and to open the old Landing road. A petition to the County School Superintendent has also been very numerous signed asking him to call an election in this school district to take the sense of the people on the formation of a District high school. To comply with the law the latter must contain a majority of the names of all heads of families appearing on the last census. The petition was signed almost unanimously very few refusing to sign it, and has been forwarded to the County Superintendent, who has called an election on May 6th next. The outside districts will vote on the union high school district on April 29th.

On the ostrich farm at Placentia a number of the female birds are now setting, and eggs are also being hatched out by an incubator. In each wing of an ostrich twenty-six white plumes grow to maturity every eight months and seventy-five short feathers are plucked for tips from each wing. Sixty-five of the tail feathers have commercial value. The female ostrich lays seventy eggs a year. The feathers are worth from $35 to $75 per pound, and are in good demand. A few days ago a large shipment of feathers was made from this farm to London, showing that this county has established a reputation abroad for this industry as well as in its numerous other products.

While driving a band of cattle from the Chino onto the Olinda ranch last Friday Viet Bentz and Charley Bailey came upon a big rattlesnake lying in the road which immediately showed fight. Mr. Bailey dismounted from his horse and had no trouble in dispatching the reptile, which measured four feet in length and sported ten rattles. When opening the scales on the ranch a short time afterwards to weigh the cattle, Mr. Bailey found another snake coiled within the scales and killed him. Snakes of all varieties seem to be unusually plentiful in the hills and picnic parties had best be on their guard for the varmints.

A bee man named Johnson, living in Brea canyon lost a valuable four-day-old colt last Monday night, which was killed by coyotes. The coyotes came down to the corral and slaughtered the colt in the night time, but were unable to make away with the carcass and were driven away in the morning.

Ebell Section Speaker Illustrates Talk On Rare Garden Products With Variety of Beautiful Flowers

April showers' complement of spring flowers came into prominence Monday afternoon in Ebell clubhouse where Home and Garden section members gathered to hear Mrs. J. E. Paul of the sister Ebell club in Santa Ana, discuss "What's new in the nurseries."

For Mrs. Paul illustrated her talk by producing a succession of lovely blooms from what appeared to be an almost bottomless basket. It proved to be an extremely interesting session over which the section leader, Mrs. Charles T. Frantz presided. Mrs. Paul, who long has been prominent in the Orange County Garden club, always has new ideas to present any group. At present, she stated, there is really nothing new in the flower world, and nurseries find themselves limited by war conditions, even on the old standbys. Flowers, plants and seeds are difficult to secure.

Interest of home gardeners, which formerly centered in flowers, has now been transferred to vegetables and along this line, Mrs. Paul had various items of importance. She told of the cross pollination that already has pro-

Puppet Show Comes Tomorrow At Katella School

That long anticipated puppet show which seventh and eighth grade pupils at Katella school have been planning under direction of their teacher, Miss Edith Holsinger, has been set for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the school auditorium. The afternoon show will be for the public, but there will be an advance program at 10:30 tomorrow morning for Katella pupils.

The plays to be enacted by the small figures, fashioned and manipulated by the young people, have been adapted or written by the pupils themselves. They include "The life of Stephen Foster" based on authentic material adapted by Mary Wright; "The Corn Husking," "A Nightmare" written by Leroy Ater, the skit "Barnacle Bill," worked out from the famous comic strip character by Patty McFarren, Arlene Kubitz and Dorothy Saulsbury, and other entertaining comedies.

A group of boys including Bob Lahey, Bill Weatherman and Don Muckenthaler, built the stage with the assistance of T. B. Cooney, and the curtains were made by Mrs. Albert Kettler, one of the room mothers of Katella school.

Guests attending the show tomorrow afternoon, also will have opportunity to see the display of industries and products of other states which the classes have collected under their nation-wide exchange plan directed by Miss Holsinger.

the lovely cymbidium orchids.

Other program details including an amusing article on old-time "grandmother" remedies from Henry McLemore's column, read by Mrs. Carrie Lou Sutherland, and the naming of Mesdames Newman Sanford, Emma Karlen and John H. Boege as a nominating committee.

Sciability prevailed during the tea hour at which Mrs. Boege, Mrs. John Anthony and Mrs. John Henry were hostesses. Mrs. Frantz and Mrs. Edward Bimat presided at the lace spread tea table which was centered with a low bowl of delicate pink Australian wax flowers. Guests especially enjoyed the little iced cakes, when they learned that their artistic flower decorations were the work of Mrs. Anthony's husband. Next Monday afternoon when Bible section meets under leadership of Mrs. Fred Weisel, the guest speaker will be Mrs. T. C. Miller whose husband is an Army chaplain in Honolulu. She will talk on his work and on her own experiences during the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Spring Time Setting Given By Flowers To Bridge Breakfast

Expressing their own message of springtime charm were the fuchsias and roses which Mrs. Theodore B. Kuchel combined effectively in arranging a breakfast table Friday morning for members of an intimate little three-table bridge club.

Following the enjoyable breakfast interval, guests found places at card tables for the session of bridge play in which prizes were won by Mrs. B. B. Barton of Orange and Mrs. Everett Cone.

The club membership comprises with Mrs. Kuchel and the two winning players, Mrs. Barton and Mrs. Cone, Mesdames Robert Easton, Wilbert Bonney, J. Ben Kaulbars, H. G. Wilson of Santa Ana, Harry I. Horn, Howard Tewes, John Poyet, William Hall and John Wood.

Meetings are at monthly intervals, and at the next meeting on Friday, May 14, Mrs. Easton will receive the group in her Newport Beach home.

New BPW Officers To Be Installed At Afternoon Tea

Selecting a Sunday afternoon tea as an interesting feature for their annual installation of officers, members of Business and Professional Women's club have set the date of May 2 for the event.

Plans were outlined in connection with election of officers held at the recent dinner meeting in the H. T. Hathaway home, 314 South East street, where Miss Alice Williamson, a member of the Franklin school faculty, was elected to the presidency, succeeding Miss Marjorie Pibel.

Officers to be installed with Miss Williamson are Miss Beulah Hineman, vice-president; Mrs. Mary Heinlein recording secretary; Miss Irene Zitzmann, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Mae Boeckman, recording secretary. Election was only one of the interesting features of the meeting, which started with a tempting dinner menu served by Mrs. Hathaway and her co-hostesses, Mesdames O. L. Shoemaker, Naomi Holland and Dr. Hazel Nelms. As entertainment feature, Recruiting Officer Frank Cochran of the

Pleasant Program Spurs Interest In Building Funds

So elated were First Presbyterian church members over the success of their building fund benefit party Monday night, that everyone is anticipating future entertainment events to be held on the second Monday night of each month.

The church dining room where the opening party was staged almost overflowed with the large crowd enjoying the program presented by the Mariners' club, skippered by Midge and Forest Simonton, and the choir, directed by Margaret Macmillan. They staged a rollicking comedy, "The Promised Land," together with incidental music keyed to the "Gay Nineties" era of the amusing play directed by Mrs. Nan Moore.

The play featured three generations, whose men folk believed Oklahoma to be truly "The Promised Land." The first generation was aptly represented by the rapturous "Grandma," played by Mrs. Louise Marten, whose scathing arraignment of the men kept the audience in a ripple of mirth. "Susan," played by Evelyn Thompson, was the down-rodden mother of the next generation, vainly attempting to pry her family loose from their "Promised Land." Of this generation too was "Uncle Ezra" (Harry Moore), bitter against "them new-fangled horseless kerridges" that threatened to disturb his prosperous business as a coach and buggy manufacturer.

The happy ending was provided when Susan's son Ed (played by Jimmy Jay) struck oil on his dusty acres, justifying the faith of his pretty fiancée "Mary" played by Helen George. Furthering both the plot and the fun was the stuttering farm hand "Mike" played by Stafford Minder.

Members of the choir, all in costumes of the period, not only added topical and specialty songs, but sold home-made candy as they moved through the audience. Candy sales were in charge of Ruby and Arval Morris, while tickets were in charge of Royal Marten and Jack Wilson.

Prominent among specialty numbers was the first public presentation of a new song "Rollin' Wagons," whose composer, Tom Helmick of Seal Beach, was at the piano when the song was sung by Jimmy Jay, his son-in-law, Jack Wilson and Marilyn Rogers sang a medley of songs of the period, and similar medleys were provided by Juanita Ross. A popular number was "Red River Valley" sung by Chad Boliek.

JUICE FOR USE
California orange products plants are expected to process 60 per cent of the 4,800,000 gallons of concentrated orange juice that the U. S. government plans to purchase during the current year. This state will produce all the concentrated lemon juice which the government will take during the year for military and Lend-Lease use.

Sorority Group Will Install Staff at Founders Day Event

New officers of Tau chapter Beta Sigma Phi sorority, elected at the latest meeting, are to be installed on Friday, April 30, in connection with the annual Founders' Day dinner to be held in the W. C. Mauerhan home on Katella road.

Mrs. Josephine Karriek, who has guided the chapter's destinies so successfully during the year just coming to a close, will conduct the rites installing Miss Dorothy Weatherly as her successor in the presidency. Seated with Miss Weatherly will be Miss Mildred Mauerhan, the evening's hostess, as vice-president; Mrs. Ruth Hall, corresponding secretary; Miss Mary Fine, recording secretary, and Miss Margaret Allan, treasurer.

The Founders Day dinner event is being planned by the social committee comprising Miss Beulah Hineman, Mrs. Charles V. Schutz and Mrs. Robert Schweinfest, cooperating with Miss Mauerhan.

Plans were outlined last week when election took place at a meeting in the Harold Hall home, 601 South Philadelphia street. After the business session conducted by Mrs. Karriek, Miss Mary Fine gave an interesting review of "Respiral" by Ethel Vance.

Farm Labor Hear Plan For Conserving Crop

wage scale will be worked out by the committee.

It has been stressed that production and harvest of Orange county's tremendous contributions to the nation's food supply will depend largely upon the reception which the plan meets among such volunteer workers. Hunt Brothers found that the plan worked successfully in the emergency facing them when the perishable spinach crop had to be processed. This experience caused them to propose that the plan might be expanded to apply to the entire county.

NUMBER 8 OF A SERIES

There are those of us who take cheese eating to heart—and those who could let even an all-out cheese rationing pass gaily by. True, good cooking cheese—like American (Cheddar)—is rationed down to pretty small bites, but even the cheese fancier can struggle along with the non-rationed cream cheeses, Brie, Blue, Neuchâtel, Liederkranz and the others.

If you have leaned heavily on this aristocrat of foods—you will now need to adjust your menus considerably, both from the "taste" standpoint and nutrition. Because cheese is particularly high in proteins and comes close to milk as the almost perfect food.

You can stretch your ration allowance in numerous ingenious ways: by grating it to make cheese dumplings, pastry toppings for vegetable pies or casserole dishes, or as the added touch to white sauce for vegetables. Again, instead of macaroni-and-cheese, see your cookbook for good substitute main dishes high in proteins.

RECENT HOUSEGUEST

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Daigle and their young daughter Marilyn, 521 North Zeyn street, had as recent guest, Mr. Daigle's sister Mrs. Effie Howard of Covina. One of the enjoyable features of her visit was attendance at the Sunday afternoon review at Santa Ana Army Air Base, where Mrs. Daigle's nephew, Richard ("Dick") Gardner, son of the Harvey Gardner of Santa Ana, is now stationed. Dick's brother Jack is now in England and the Daigles get frequent V-mail letters from him. Another nephew, Lieut. Robert Fluor, son of the P. E. Fluors, 700 North Clementine street, is based at the Army flying field on Oahu, Hawaiian Islands.

Little of Everything ON SHOE LEAVE

Mr. and Mrs. Norval Ulvestad and their small son Jerry were down from their San Marino home for a recent visit with Mrs. Ulvestad's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Yungbluth, 815 West Broadway. A feature of the home visit was the pleasant Sunday dinner which the family party enjoyed in the Long Beach home of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Strodtfoth, uncle and aunt of Mrs. Ulvestad.

HOME AGAIN!

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Miller who for the past eight years have lived at La Vida Springs, have returned to their home at 521 North Lemon street, which they had occupied for many years before going to La Vida Springs.

THEODORE A. TANKE, 87, died Sunday at the home he shared with one of his daughters Mrs. Ida Trendle, 420 North Claudina street.

A native of Germany, he had lived in this country many years and came to California 10 years ago since when he had made his home in Anaheim. He was a retired farmer, and had operated in North Dakota, the former family home.

He was survived by two daughters, Mrs. Trendle and Mrs. Cora Schultz, both of this city; four sons, George, Conrad, Ted and Louis Tanke, all of Grafton, N. Dak.; 16 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The remains lay in state in the Backs, Campbell and Kaulbars chapel until Wednesday when they were sent back to Grafton for final funeral rites and burial in the family plot.

All the deep rose tones, soft grays and vivid yellows of an April sunrise are blended in this tricky satin and taffeta modified sailor chosen by pretty CBS entertainer, Lois January. Note the clever back treatment of the V-dipping brim, the upstanding bow and the novel veil of navy blue horsehair.

Well Known Doctor Of Community Summoned By Death

The death on Tuesday of Dr. John Janss at his home, 529 West Center street, removed a prominent member from the county's medical circles. For Dr. Janss had been one of Anaheim's leading physicians ever since he first established his home in this city in 1910, until his retirement a few years ago. He was especially noted for his charities, always extended in quiet, unostentatious manner.

Of Danish parentage he was born 86 years ago in the Schleswig-Holstein province but came to the United States in 1876, and had his medical training here. He graduated from Jefferson Medical college in Nebraska in 1884. From 1890-95 he was head physician of the Nebraska Soldiers' Home. After returning to private practice he was established in Welcome, Minn., where he served also as county coroner and as railroad physician until coming to Anaheim.

Dr. Janss was active in Masonry and was a member of Tangier Temple, Omaha, Nebr., and of Fairmont Minn. Blue Lodge. He was a member of the well-known Janss family of Los Angeles, representing the Janss Investment company of that city. His aunt, who heads the company, is a noted world traveler and was frequently accompanied on her trips abroad by Dr. and Mrs. Janss and their daughter, Miss Freda Janss.

He left as his immediate family his widow and daughter, Mrs. Mary C. Janss and Miss Freda Janss of the home; three sons, Elmer and Marlow Janss of Los Angeles, and Hubert Janss of San Francisco, and one grandchild. Funeral services tomorrow afternoon in the Backs, Campbell and Kaulbars chapel will be conducted by Dr. Robert Burns McAulay of Orange Presbyterian church. Interment will be in Rose Hill mausoleum, Whittier.

OWI Issues Ruling On Replacing Lost Ration Books

For the benefit of the many unfortunate Anaheim folk whose ration books have been lost or stolen, we present the following information sent out by the Office of War Information especially to cover such cases.

Under new regulations, the person desiring to replace a ration book or coupon sheet must apply to his local War Price and Rationing Board on Form No. R-194. In case of a mutilated book, the board shall determine if it was willfully mutilated. If not, a replacement (so marked) may be issued and the old book destroyed.

In case of a lost or stolen book, the form must be made out in duplicate and the local board must forward the second copy to the enforcement section of state or district office. Also it may require the applicant to report his loss to the police.

Ten days after the first application is filed, the applicant may return to the board. The board then may examine the facts, and if satisfied may issue the replacement. The board may require the applicant to appear at a hearing before issuing the replacement.

If the board finds that the book was lost or stolen through negligence on the part of the owner, it may hold up issuance of the new book for as long as 60 days.

Horace Mann P.T.A. Train 62,000 As Installs Officers At Special Program

Installation of new officers of Horace Mann P.T.A. held yesterday afternoon in the school auditorium, was preceded by an entertaining program of music, a playlet and a talk. One of the impressive features of opening exercises was the half minute of silent prayer for the men on the battle fronts.

Miss Kathryn Smith's little first grad pupils staged a clever playlet, "How the Sandman Lost His Sand," featuring songs and choral readings. Master Jimmy Pearson delighted the audience with his piano solos.

Mrs. E. T. Bradley, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Richard Roehm whose talk on "Measuring Your Vitamins by the Yardstick," was illustrated by a food demonstration using Victory Garden vegetables in well-balanced menus, graded for their vitamin value.

Mrs. John P. Mary in her final session as association president,

Since August 1942 more than 62,000 work supervisors have received job instructor training in the Army Service Forces program to develop competent supervisors and foremen for its civilian personnel, the War department announced, and within the next three months 15,000 additional supervisors will receive the training.

The Job Instructor Program, a 10-hour course of intensive instruction in how to teach a worker his new job, was developed for use in war production plants by the Training Within Industry Service of the War Manpower Commission. As a result of this training the time ordinarily consumed in "breaking in" an employee has been sharply reduced and, owing to the improvement in the instructing skill of supervisors and foremen, a marked increase has also followed in the individual worker's quality of workmanship and amount of production.

named three members to assist Rudolph Boysen in his volunteer duties as inspector of school Victory Gardens. These named were Mesdames Francis Mattox, Lawrence Mills and John Mary. Annual reports were given to wind up the association year before Mrs. Harold Harling a past president, installed the new officers.

They were Mrs. L. A. Loukota, president; Mrs. Richard Roehm, vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth D. Figgins, secretary; Mrs. Henry Schneider treasurer; Mrs. Carl Lemcke, auditor; Mrs. Homer Wallace, historian and Miss Lucia Up, parliamentarian.

Climaxing the business features was presentation to the retiring president, Mrs. Mary, of a handsome potted plant from her board members. The tea interval which followed, was in charge of a hostess group composed of Mesdames Earl Hopkins, Frank Miller, Henry Schneider and A. H. Kirchman. Calla lilies in softly lovel jewel tones which graced the tea table, had been tinted by Mrs. Hopkins.

Parachute Prophet S.A. Flying Pioneer

While Glenn Martin was alarming Orange county with his flying contraption, two other young men were busy building a plane in Santa Ana. They did their construction work in an old cannery building which still stands on east First street, beside the railroad tracks.

These two were Floyd Smith and Frank Shaw. Smith was the man who later invented the modern safety parachute, and now heads a huge parachute manufacturing plant in the east. Shaw also has turned to parachute making in San Diego. Shaw's daughter is a civilian employee on the air base.

Smith and Shaw started out, like Martin, as plane builders, but soon branched off into parachuting. Some of the first leaps from an airplane were made here in Orange county, by these two men.

FUNNY TUMBLERS

The two had been associated in a theatrical act in vaudeville together, under the names of Sylvester Smith and Densel Shaw. They had a humorous tumbling and acrobatic act, and this training stood them in good stead when they started experimenting with early parachutes.

The first plane was built after Martin's was already flying, but it was radically different in design. Martin's plane was the pusher type, with the propeller behind the aviator. Smith and Shaw, in a huddle with their mechanics and assistants, decided to put the propeller out in front. This type of plane was an innovation at that time, and came to be known as the "tractor" type.

Trial flight of this queer Smith-Shaw bird caused much consternation among Santa Ana's citizens and farmers. They were accustomed to seeing Martin's plane struggling around with the propellers in back, and when Smith and Shaw came in for a landing most people thought it was that eccentric Martin boy landing his plane backwards!

Smith and Shaw had the usual humiliating experience of airplane builders of that day. They did their construction work indoors, and then when they were ready to fly they discovered that the doors were not big enough to get the plane out. They had to tear out the walls of the cannery to free their plane. This was not quite as bad as Martin, however, who had to wreck the front end of a church in order to move his plane out of doors.

First landing for Smith and Shaw was made on the site of the present Santa Ana high school. This may be a historic spot, possibly the site of the landing of the first tractor type plane in this country. Smith's greatest contribution to aviation, however, lies in the parachute he invented. This has saved the lives of thousands of flying men, and has made the new strategy of parachute troop invasion a military possibility.

Tea Hostess Pays Compliment To Son's Fiancee

Paying a delightful compliment to Miss Betty Jo Mandy of Santa Ana, fiancée of her son, Lieut. Claude Wilmer Chapman, U. S. Signal Corps, Mrs. John E. Keefe entertained with a Sunday afternoon tea and personal shower in her home, 302 East South St.

Guests were relatives and close family friends from Fullerton, Santa Ana, Los Angeles, San Pedro and Santa Monica as well as from this city. All took special interest in selecting lovely personal gifts for the prospective bride. Two of Lieut. Chapman's aunts, Mrs. Arthur S. Osborn of this city and Mrs. Emmett W. Roenne of Monrovia, presided at the flower-garlanded tea table when refreshments were served, and the Misses Shirley Ann Osborn and Elva Clausen were their assistants.

Mrs. Keefe's hospitality for her future daughter-in-law was one of the last of a succession of nuptial "recusities" paid Miss Mandy before her departure for the east on Tuesday evening. She is now enroute to Boston, Mass. where her wedding to Lieut. Chapman will be an event of the Easter season. Lieut. Chapman is taking a special course in electronics at Harvard University.

NEW BABY DAUGHTER

The birth this morning of an eight-pound baby daughter to Mr. and Mrs. J. Colman Travis of Santa Ana Canyon, brought special happiness to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Borchert of Euclid avenue, grandparents of the new baby. Mrs. Travis is the former Miss Dorothy Borchert, and her small daughter who will be christened Ann, is the first child. The baby was born this morning at St. Joseph hospital.

Motor Bus Reserve in training

Motor Bus Reserve Driver

In case of an emergency requiring mass troop transport to threatened points on the Pacific Coast, the Motor Bus Reserve would spring into action as an auxiliary of the regular army. Fleets of swift, streamlined motor buses, operated by personnel already trained in troop transport, would be immediately available to move thousands of soldiers quickly and efficiently.

Pacific Greyhound Lines has organized a number of Motor Bus Reserve units to serve the important military and population centers of the Coast. A unit is composed of 55 drivers and officers, 24 buses, 3 reserve buses, a maintenance section consisting of 2 light trucks, a wrecker, a tank truck for reserve fuel and oil, automobiles for the officers and 2 motorcycles for runners. Each unit provides seats for an infantry battalion. The men volunteer their services and Greyhound furnishes the buses without charge to the Army for training.

In addition to the Motor Bus Reserve, buses are contributing to the war effort in many other ways; carrying military men to and from camps and bases, providing vital service to many war production plants. In fact, the motor bus is a tremendous new force for victory that grew up after World War I to serve the nation in peace and now is extending its vast facilities to serve the nation at war.

Supplying Books To War Prisoners

A program for the distribution of books to officially identified prisoners of war and civilian internees in enemy-occupied countries has been set up by seven government agencies and the Red Cross. The plan also provides for reception of books by prisoners in United States internment camps. Restrictions on sending V-mail to these prisoners and internees were announced.

The book distribution program, superseding all previous regulations, was drawn up by the Office of Censorship and approved by the Board of Economic Warfare, Office of the Provost-Marshal General, Post Office department, Naval Intelligence, Military Intelligence, the State department and the Red Cross. Regulations contain an official list of condemned subject material as in different as lithography and politics.

Since only new books may be sent directly to individuals, the sender gives the publisher or bookseller the prisoner's name, address and number. The publisher wraps and addresses the books, forwards it to the Office of Censorship's New York station where it is checked for conformity to the regulations and for security reasons. If approved the book is mailed directly to the prisoner. Only one package of 5 pounds can be sent every 30 days.

Enemy censorship authorities undoubtedly examine the book thoroughly to see that it contains no objectionable material. It is assumed that the plan works exactly the same in reverse if Axis subjects wish to send books to specific individuals in prison, internment or detention camps in the United States or territories.

Holders of "B" and "C" gasoline ration coupons have been informed that they may renew them now by mail instead of appearing personally before their local war price and rationing boards. The same rule will apply to non-highway uses of gasoline, such as for farm machinery and industrial equipment.

Food ration cards are not a development of the twentieth century. They were used in Athens about 490 B.C. but they were far more inconvenient than those of today. For they were marble slabs which had to be presented in person in order to get food.

capacities will be Wilbert Bonney and the Misses Adah Louise Wilcox, Doris Robbins, Mary McPherson and W. Ethel Campbell. Glee clubs participating and their directors are Benjamin Franklin, Miss Dorothy Doring; Broadway, Miss Gertrude Anderson; Lincoln, Miss Mabel Barnes; Washington, Miss Betty Holland; La Palma, Miss Leonora Clark, and Horace Mann, Miss Betty Hardman.

General Chided For Wasting Bullets In Bringing Down Hidden Jap Sniper

How much is a dead Jap worth in the open market these days?

Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon, commanding Army Forces in the South Pacific area, has informed Major Gen. J. L. (Joe) Collins that they are not worth the tariff of eight bullets per head.

Brigadier Gen. Allison J. Barnett, writing for Gen. Harmon, has addressed the following correspondence to Gen. Collins:

"1. It has come to the attention of this headquarters, unofficially, that one of your commanders, Major Gen. Joseph L. Collins, personally expended 8 rounds of 30 calibre ammunition for a net return of only one Jap sniper. This is considered an excessive expenditure of ammunition by a least 6 rounds, particularly in view of Gen. Collins' previous record as an expert rifleman. Furthermore, it is understood that considerable damage to a coconut tree resulted from his firing. This may later develop into a claim against the government.

"2. In the future, it is desired that major generals of your Command be limited to two rounds for each mission—one sighting-shot and one shot for record. No additional 30 calibre ammunition is authorized for further instruction of General Collins. Any difficulty encountered in complying with the above will be overcome by reducing the range.

"For the Commanding General: (unofficial)

"Allison J. Barnett
Brigadier General, G.S.C.
"Chief of Staff."

Gen. Collins sent the following reply to General Barnett:

"Dear Al,

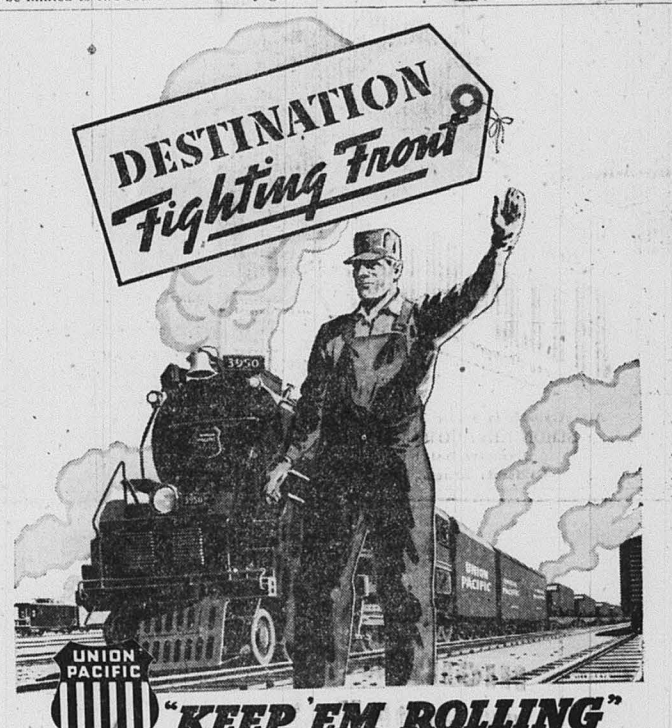

"It was just a question of old age, failing eyesight, and buck fever. When Bill McCulloch (Col William A. McCulloch, Washington, D. C.) and I went over the field right after our troops had taken the "Horse's Neck," we found my Jap pitched forward on his face alongside the lump of coral where I had spotted him with my glasses.

"Imagine my chagrin when we examined him to find that only the last of my well-aimed shots had found a vital spot. A careful checkup revealed that the first round nicked his trigger finger and prevented his returning the fire. The second tore off his cartridge belt. The third grazed his left eyebrow and the fourth splashed dirt in his face. I must not have squeezed off the fifth because it only bit off a chunk of coral close to his head. The sixth was also a trifle wild but did carry away the big toe of his right foot. By this time my buck fever had evidently calmed down for the seventh shot tore off an ear. And then, believe it or not, the eighth round, a silver bullet which I had been carrying for some time for just such an occasion, plunked him squarely between the eyes.

"Just about that time in the action, a burst of Jap machine gun fire splashed around us. . . . When I came to, I found that I had lowered the level of the fox hole I was in by a full seven feet."

Sincerely yours,
Joe Collins."

Changes Announced In Regulations On Tire Inspection

Revision of tire rationing regulations to provide a closer check against possible bootleg operations as well as violations of tire inspection requirements, have been announced by Paul B. d'Orr, Southern OPA ration chief, as becoming effective today, April 15.

1. Tire inspection record for each car must be kept in the vehicle while in operation, unless its removal is authorized by the OPA. This insures a check of the record serial numbers on the tires at any time.

2. A tire inspector will report any serial number irregularities to the local war price and ration board that issued the tire inspection record to the car, rather than to the board which appointed the inspector. This is to insure that the board best able to investigate discrepancies that indicate illegal acquisition of tires will get the report.

3. When an applicant for tire or tube does not have a tire inspection record showing that all inspection requirements have been met, the local war price and rationing board, at its own discretion, still may grant the applica-

Quota Exceeded by County in Annual Red Cross Campaign

This city may feel a definite pride in the part which it played in Orange County's fine record of over-subscribing its quota in the Red Cross campaign so recently concluded. For the county, which had been assigned the sum of $89,400 to raise in the drive, had topped that sum by fully $30,000 when the county council held its recent meeting in Fullerton.

The figures have continued to increase in the meantime, and Mrs. Laura Warren, county executive secretary, today stated that almost $125,000 has been raised to date. Each of the county's four chapters exceeded its quota. Anaheim already has turned in $22,000 to the general fund, far above her assigned quota of $12,400. Edward H. Power was local chairman.

William J. Tway, chairman of the County Red Cross council and also chairman of Southern Orange county chapter, presided over the Fullerton meeting when such gratifying reports were read. Anaheim chapter embraces all of Anaheim school district extending to Los Alamitos. North Orange county chapter with headquarters in Fullerton, reported the sum of $22,000.

Orange chapter which includes Silverado and other canyon districts, reported $15,246. Largest sum reported was of course that of the Southern Orange county chapter, for it embraces not only Santa Ana and its nearby communities but all of the coastal communities from Seal Beach to San Clemente. Its reports showed a total of $60,336 at the time of the council meeting.

ON MANY ISLANDS

While America's sea soldiers have seen some of their bitterest fighting in the Solomons, there are few island groups in the Pacific where the U. S. Marines have not landed at some time or other on missions of diplomacy, peace, or war, or while accompanying scientific expeditions.

WEDDING RICE

It is traditional to throw rice at weddings in this country, but in distant Burma the custom is for the bride couple to share a bowl of rice as central feature of the wedding ceremony. It is symbolic of the cereal's life-supporting power.

Rulings Announced On Enlistment In Navy "Seabees"

Changes involving the voluntary induction of men between the ages of 18 and 38 into the Navy's construction battalions or "Seabees," have been revealed in an announcement by Lieut. Comdr. L. D. Blanchard, officer in charge of the Los Angeles Navy Recruiting service.

The new plan to be put into effect immediately, allows men eligible for voluntary Navy induction who wish to use their trade to fight with the "Seabees," to volunteer for enlistment at any Navy recruiting station and, if qualified, have opportunity of entering their chosen branch of service.

Hitherto, "Seabee" recruiting procedure for men in this age bracket had been to draw those with construction experience from general Navy induction quotas. These men were enlisted only as apprentice seamen.

One of the advantages of the new policy of "Seabee" procurement, allows qualified men from 21 to 38 the opportunity of enlisting with a petty officer rating up to chief petty officer, immediately upon taking the Navy oath.

The new recruiting plan does not affect men in the eligible volunteer age brackets of 17, and 38 to 50 inclusive. They may continue to volunteer in the Naval service as before.

Full information on the new plan can be obtained at the Navy Recruiting station, Post Office bldg., Santa Ana.

HIGHWAY AT WORK for Victory

The nation's highways, too, are doing their part for victory. In addition to the large volume of military traffic, the bus lines carried three-quarters of a billion passengers in 1942—nearly six times the population of the U.S. And still more are riding this year.

These millions are not traveling for scenery or pleasure. Most of them are selectees, military personnel, and war workers. Others are farmers, nurses, teachers—people in nearly every walk of life whose trips in some way or other are essential to the national welfare.

Greyhound is putting all its efforts, experience and resources into helping perform the biggest transportation job of all time. That is why our service to you now cannot always be what we would like to give, or what you have come to expect of Greyhound. We appreciate your patriotic consideration of these conditions created by the war.

But when victory is won, travelers will be rewarded. Then you can look to Greyhound for a brand-new chapter in comfortable, convenient, enjoyable highway transportation.

WARTIME TRAVEL SUGGESTIONS

You will help the war effort and have a better trip if you do these things:

1. Consult your Greyhound agent for information and get your ticket in advance.
2. Travel in mid-week rather than on week-ends.
3. Carry as little baggage as possible.

Joining The Battle Line

Haven't your pulses leaped when you've read in the papers or heard on the radio, some of the daring exploits of those courageous boys of ours on the far battle fronts of the world? Some of them are youths whom we have known right here in our home community of Anaheim, have watched as they progressed from their first lost tooth to their graduation from Union high school, from these mischievous raids on an unsuspecting neighbor's fruit tree to their first blushing "date."

"How I wish I might be a fighter too," you have sighed. "I wish I didn't have to keep plugging away at this monotonous job and could do something really big for my country."

All right, you can! You can, and I can, and so can John Smith at the corner grocery, and Mary Jones, teaching those youngsters at the grade school, and Mary's mother, busy at home duties, and ohn's father, trudging his postman's route. All of us can make a vital contribution to the war effort.

We can help fight this war on the most important front of all—the

the Food Front.
 We have the word of the Commander in Chief of the country's fighting forces, President Roosevelt, that food in this war is of equal importance with planes, tanks and guns. And this year, the need for food, especially canned food, is greater than ever before.

All these oranges, fruits and vegetables grown right here in the Anaheim area, processed by our local plants, are of vital importance. They are needed just as much as are those lads that send away with a brave smile—and a breaking heart.

But these important foods must be harvested, processed and packed before they can be of service. When this is accomplished (and it MUST be accomplished) they will help feed our fighting men, our courageous Allies, and the starving little children in distant lands to whom they will be truly a God-send.

These very war conditions create a scarcity of workers. Yet such crops cannot wait. They must be harvested swiftly—and

County Elementary Teachers Name New Officers

This city's school system received recognition when Orange County Elementary Teachers' association held its annual business meeting last week in Orange. For both the presidency and vice presidency came to Anaheim teachers, with the naming of Miss Ethel Campbell to the executive post, and Miss Edith Holsinger to the vice-presidency.

Miss Campbell is a member of the Fremont staff where she heads the music department that does outstanding work. Miss Holsinger is on the Katella faculty, and among her interests is the class project of the nation's industries, furthered by a unique exchange of county products with pupils of other schools all over the United States.

Completing the list of officers for the year to come is Miss Gladys Head of the Garden Grove elementary school as secretary. The three will take up active duties at once in planning for the association's program for the next school year.

Other events of the evening included short talks on teaching materials for the several grades, given by Opal Knox Wallace, Garden Grove, and Irene Loose Schoeffe, Santa Ana, and a talk on music by Miss Jane Deming of this city, a member of the Brea school system.

 Anaheim heeded a call for help when the spinach crop was threatened with total loss. Business men and women, housewives, teachers, students turned out with a will and met that emergency.

Will you all do it again? Right here in this city we have important processing plants that are doing a tremendous job in this fight on the Food Front. But they are facing emergencies. Could you sleep well at night if you knew that because of your lack of interest, that Marine at Henderson Field, or that Flying Fortress pilot in North Africa was unable to get the orange juice that would mean so much to him?

Why not visit the city's packing plants and find out for yourself, just what their labor needs are? Perhaps you would like to leave your name with them, and indicate the hours that you would be free to help when an emergency arises.

It's our battle. Let's get in and FIGHT!

Local Men Offered Opportunity For Seabee Enlistment

Offering Orange county men of draft age the opportunity of receiving a petty officer rating in the Navy, Lieutenant Willis B. Hayes, Jr., Civil Engineer Corps, USNR will spend all day Saturday only, April 24, at the Navy Recruiting station, post office bldg., Santa Ana.

Men with experience in construction fields are desired particularly. Carpenters, plumbers, electricians, heavy equipment operators and other artisans may apply for voluntary induction into the Navy's construction battalions and will be assured a rating upon their acceptance providing they meet with all requirements and come in under the quota set.

Lieutenant Hayes' recommendation will be the first step toward the petty officer goal for Orange county men. Those recommended will be furnished with transportation to the Los Angeles Navy Recruiting station where they will be given a physical examination. If found sound, the applicants will be released through their draft boards and earmarked for the Navy's Seabees—"the build-in-est, fight-in-est outfit in the world"—with rating up to chief petty officers.

The Santa Ana recruiting station will remain open from 8 a.m. Saturday and as late as required to take care of the influx of Navy candidates expected to apply under this new plan. It is necessary that applicants be cleared by an officer of the Navy Civil Engineer Corps before they can be considered for voluntary service with the Navy's Seabees. Men 38 to 50 also are eligible.

 parlor will receive its charter at the formal institution ceremonies. These will be held in Elks clubhouse and will be open to the public after a closed session when new members will be initiated.

The charter, which already boasts more than a hundred signatures, will be kept open until the night of the institution ceremonies. President-elect Tuffree presented the longest list of members at the recent meeting, thereby winning a cash prize offered by Roy Mendoza, temporary chairman, and Woody Wade, district deputy grand president. This prize was immediately turned over to the homeless children's committee of which Ben Hiss, Los Angeles, is chairman.

Hiss was among those making short talks, the list including also Clarence H. Hunt, editor of "The Grizzly Bear," the organization's magazine; Walter H. Odemar, grand trustee; Judge Reuben Schmidt of Los Angeles county superior court; Eldred Meyer of Santa Monica, past grand president, and various others including the several district deputies who were dinner hosts.

Hi School Assembly Features Naval Aviation Talk

Naval aviation, that branch of the U. S. Navy which has dealt so many decisive blows to the enemy, was explained in full detail to Anaheim Union high school students at a recent morning assembly, when Lieut. James L. Brader was guest speaker.

Lieut. Brader is a member of the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection board, Los Angeles, and his talk was of special value to young men of the graduating class, since he explained the eligibility of seniors and graduates in the 17-year-old bracket, for the Navy's flight training program.

According to his explanation, applicants who are accepted as Apprentice Seamen in Class V-5 before May 1 will have opportunity to obtain eight months of college training in addition to the regular 17-month course in aviation.

He described the steps to be taken by such applicants, and emphasized the necessity of their remaining in school until their graduation. Naval aviation cadets will be commissioned as ensigns in the Naval Reserve or as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve upon completion of the entire training program.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM

All former and visiting Illinois residents now in the Southland have received notice of the patriotic program to be held Saturday in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, in observance of the bi-centennial anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson, Los Angeles Supervisor John Anson Ford will speak on "Thomas Jefferson and the World Today." A variety of musical numbers will feature many gifted guest soloists.

Fine of $300 For Civilian Display Of GI Insignia

Dear Girlie: If you have been wearing military insignia given you by your GI boy friend it would be better if you didn't in the future. You may face a $300 fine if you don't change.

 According to a War department ruling, civilians may not wear military insignia or uniforms unless they are members of official organizations authorized to wear such insignia through present or past military association, and then they may be worn only on official occasions.

The War department recently banned the sale at post exchanges of ornaments, insignia, and other articles of the uniform that are issued by the supply services. This measure became necessary because many civilians have been wearing the insignia of various services, contrary to army regulations 600-40, Aug. 28, 1941.

Penalty for violation of this ruling may include the cash fine of or imprisonment, not to exceed six months.
 It's common sense to be thrifty. If you save you are thrifty. War Bonds help you to save and help to save America. Buy your ten per cent every pay day.
