COLONY QUIPS

The tumult and shouting having died down a sober evaluation of the results obtained by the Republican convention can now be made even at this distance. The outstanding theme of the whole business was, to us, the obvious arrival at a meeting of the minds without benefit of deals in the much talked about 'smoke filled rooms.' There will be those who take this with a grain of salt but we point to Gov. Dewey's acceptance speech which set a tone on the whole proceedings of high purpose and real integrity. The nomination by acclimation of Gov. Warren for the vice-presidential spot showed real insistance on the part of the delegates to pick a ticket without 'boss' interference. The platform, too, showed that the party's thinking is forward-looking and, it is our belief, that Senator Vandenburg, who has proven his ability to grow, was very much in the picture. The 'old guard' Republicans were not too well satisfied but from a political standpoint they have no place else to go and it is in the ranks of the independent voter and the nominal Republican that the Dewey-Warren ticket has the real appeal. This is the field where the late President Roosevelt made his most important votes and it is in this same spot that the votes will come which will elect Dewey and Warren. We hope.

About the slickest piece of political manouvering that takes place in these parts is the way Coroner Earl Abbey handles the annual election of officers of the Orange County Old Timer's Association. Nobody seems to be able to find out just how he lines things up. Everything is cut and dried and Earl rides high in the saddle. He just takes things over, sees that all are served coffee, that all lost children are returned, announces over the loud speaker system the names of individuals that other individuals are looking for and in general does all the work. This could explain the votes he gets because everyone else is so busy talking to old friends they give the voting part of the picnic the overlook. Anyway it really is a grand place to tell those stories that get bigger from year to year.

Ever hear the story of how Anaheim got it's first street lights? Back there in the early part of this century the town of Santa Monica put in some street lights. (We are not going to mention any dates because that might make some people seem older than they look and we might run into difficulties). John Zeigler brought the information to town in the form of a newspaper clipping from the beach city and the local Chamber of Commerce was agogg. A delegation visited Santa Monica, looked over the new lighting equipment, were dismayed at the cost, and returned home with little hope of putting in the improvement. The Gazette, of course, ran a story about the hoped for addition, played up the need and in general took an optimistic view of the whole situation. Then things slowed down for a few weeks until one day a man from the Kieroff company in Los Angeles called on Bill Houts in his bicycle and sporting goods store and asked about the status of the new street lighting proposition. Bill said he did not know and the man asked if he would handle the deal. This set Bill back a little and he answered that he knew nothing about street lighting. The Kieroff man said it made no difference and that as Bill was one of their dealers they would like to put in the lights and have the billing go through his store. This thoroughly suited Bill and the two of them went down to the City Hall and made the deal. The lights were to go two blocks each way from the intersection of Center and Los Angeles streets. Each property owner in this area was contacted and sold on the idea of paying for the lights that were to go in front of his real estate. Everyone was happy and Bill put the commission in his pocket.

Credit Monte Webb for this one: A number of years ago a couple of tough vaqueros engaged in a fist fight in one of our high class pool halls. As the contest ebbed and flowed (It was a bit more realistic than the late Louis- Walcott stinkeroo.) the two found themselves out on Center street with a crowd of pool sharks, with cues still in hand, as spectators. Frank Steadman, the City Marshall, came running up the street, elbowed his way through the crowd and tried to pull the boys apart. This was an impossibility so Frank just reached around, grabbed a pool cue and hit the main offender over the head with it. The fight ended abruptly. The city received two new 'guests.'

The largest asparagus cannery in the world is located at Rio Vista in Solano county.

Manufacturer Gets Recognition For Invention

Twelve years planning, thinking and working is paying dividends for H. J. Burdick of 500 North Vine street. In the current issue of Popular Mechanics Magazine, an invention Mr. Burdick has perfected is shown with three pictures and a short story describing an automatic lawn sprinkling system that is now being manufactured.

During the days of the depression back in the early 1930's an incident that arose caused Mr. Burdick to make a casual remark which, in later months, caused him to plan and work on the present invention. Turning on the water one day, he remarked to his wife, if she remembered it she could turn off the water before retiring since Mr. Burdick would be attending a meeting and demonstration at a local automotive supply house. Returning home, he didn't think about the water either and retired for the night. The next morning, finding the water still running he conceived the idea of an automatic cut-off and started working on the idea.

Many models and plans were made, each in turn improved upon, parts discarded and other parts of the plan kept to be used

Orange Market Drags, Lemon Picture Bright

California Valencias dropped last week to an average of about $3.16 a box f.o.b., and at the rate it was dragging the first of the week the average for this week threatened to be even lower while Florida continued to ship big but increasingly poor grade Valencias. The one grain of comfort in the Valencia market to growers this week was that the f.o.b. average this year was about equal to the delivered average last year.

For lemon growers the picture was considerably brighter this week. Last week volume of lemon sales increased but the price average dropped about 46 cents to about $5.88 f.o.b. This week, with weather favorable to lemon consumption, volume of sales and price average leaped upward, as handlers had predicted they would with the first spell of real summer weather. Sales Monday exceeded 213 cars at a f.o.b. average of $6.46. It was not possible to obtain overall averages for Tuesday but on that day the lemon market really went to town. In Pittsburgh 588s sold as high as $11 a box delivered. The average for fancy brands of lemons ranged from $6.40 ot $11 a box, compared to an average of $4.85 to $6.60 for the previous Tuesday.

Importers of Italian lemons tried out the New York market again last week with an offering of 550 boxes. The greater part of the offering was withdrawn when first sales brought an average of $3.58 delivered. The fruit was reported soft and showing slight decay.

The orange prorate for the week ending July 10 was raised by the Orange Administrative Committee this week to 1300 cars. In view of the slow market this week, Arthur Clark, one of the representatives of independent shippers on the board, argued against an increase in volume but the majority of the board were convinced by the time this increased volume reaches the trade the market will have realized that improvement that has been forecast for a month.

Northern and central California got out 90 cars last week averaging 206 to the box while southern California rolled 1181 on a prorate of 1150 cars averaging 278 to the box. There is a difference of opinion on the board as well as in Washington as to whether the committee can legally close a district for any specified variety as long as it has fruit available for shipment. So the committee passed a motion that the Tulare district be closed July 17 and thus see what happens.

In view of the bright prospects for lemons the prorate for lemon shipments was this week raised to 825 cars, within 325 cars of the California Valencia prorate for the current week.

Install Ford Anaheim Lions Club President

Leavitt Ford was installed president of the Anaheim Lions club and the incoming board of directors when he was seated at the regular noon meeting Friday at the Elks club. Frank L. Shufelt, district governor of Four-E, acted as installation chairman.

Those seated with Ford included Rev. H. G. Schmelzer, treasurer; Vic La Mont, secretary; Larry Jones, tail twister, and Beatty Neighbors, lion tamer.

New board members include George LaFollette, Bob Mungall, Joe Critchfield, Mark A. Stephenson, and Paul Havens.

Warren Ashleigh, twenty-fifth and outgoing president of the club, was presented with the past presidents pin by Shufelt.

William Fackiner, baritone, accompanied by Mrs. Fackiner, sang two selections, "Water Boy" and "I Love Life." Bob Rossberg was program chairman.

The annual dinner will be held in the near future when Ford returns from the national Lions convention in New York. He left for the east Saturday.

Receive Gifts at Store Reception

Happy possessors of grand awards given by the Smith-Reafsnyder Furniture Company during a reception Friday afternoon are Miss Mary Middleton, 919 West Broadway, Anaheim, and Miss Carolyn Bradley, 828 North Dickel street. The girls are local high school co-eds. Each received a table model radio and a replica of the Lane cedar chest.

Other Anaheim high school girls attending the event were presented with savings banks. Paul H. Potter, sales representative for the Lane Company, Inc., was present for the occasion.

Wayne Reafsnyder acted as master of ceremonies. Free cokes were served to the large group present.

Small Crowd At Meeting of Citrus Growers

Between 50 and 75 citrus growers attended a meeting called by officers of the California Citrus Producers association at the Anaheim Union high school Tuesday night.

President G. R. Reese and Secretary J. J. Honus were the principal speakers.

Principal object of the meeting was to increase Orange county membership of the organization whose declared object is to seek ways to get more money for the grower of citrus while improving the quality of the fruit which goes to the consumer. The officers say the organization works in the interests of the growers "within the framework of the present marketing groups."

The organization was formed a few months ago in the Redlands district and has since acquired members in all orange growing district.

Non-members among Anaheim citrus men said a foremost objective of members of the association is to get rid of the citrus auction market.

Montgomery Ward Closes Anaheim Catalogue Branch

Montgomery Ward's catalogue office at 224 East Center street, which has been open somewhat more than a year, was closed yesterday.

Customers who have been using the local office have been advised by the company to direct mail orders to its Oakland western headquarters.

It was not known here whether this bit of retrenchment had any connection with the recent shake-up among higher officials of the big mail order house which has resulted in the resignation of several vice-presidents.

Annual Picnic Of Old Timers Break Record

Along with other sections of the population, the number of "old timers" in Orange county is booming. Crowd estimators estimate that nearly six thousand of all ages from 90 days to 90 years attended the annual "old timers" picnic which was held Sunday at Irvine park. This is more old timers than have ever before assembled in Orange county.

Teofilo Manriquet who was born 87 years ago in San Juan Capistrano and who has lived there ever since was greeted as the resident with most years to his credit in the county. One of his firsts was hauling the first load of wood into the pueblo of Los Angeles from the mission village.

William Johnson was credited with being the second white child born in Santa Ana. The first white child, Tom Harlan, was represented at the picnic by his brother, Jess. William Johnson was born at First and Main streets in 1872. He now lives at Fullerton. Others among the oldest old timers at the picnic were Mortimer Hubbard of Tustin who was born at San Juan Bautista in 1857; John Whisler of Orange who was born at San Bernardino in 1873 and Ed E. Bustamante of Los Angeles who was born in Anaheim in 1873. Mary Lavengood of Santa Ana who came to Orange county in 1869 was credited with being the woman with the most years in Orange county at the picnic.

Earl R. Abbey, Orange county coroner, who arranges for the annual event again named himself as perennial of the old timers' association.

Appreciation Day Prize of $45 to Mrs. M. H. Yelkins

Mrs. M. H. Yelkins, 212½ North Philadelphia street, answered when her name was called at the Appreciation day ceremonies at 2:30 p.m. yesterday and became the week's winner. She had a ticket entitling her to a 20 per cent participation of the week's fund of $275. It therefore paid her $45 in cash.

The consolation prize, a $14.50 Breakfaster contributed by Reinhardt, appliance dealer, went to Betty Stiehlman of West Center street.

Board Purchases Future Broadway School Site

With the future prospect of constructing a new Broadway school plant, the board of trustees of the Anaheim Elementary school district accepted a bid for a five and one-half acre site, now an orange grove, on South street, 125 feet east of Olive street, last Thursday night during a meeting in the board room at Fremont Junior high school.

The land was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hagen, 504 East South street, at an entire cost of $22,500 which will include rent from one of the two houses and this fall's crop of Valencias to which the property is planted. According to the present agreement, the sellers will continue to live in the other house for one year, M. A. Gauer, superintendent of elementary schools, stated.

The acreage is centrally located in the Broadway district which is bounded by Orange street (Santa Fe railroad track), Center and Lemon streets and Ball road.

Before purchase, the bid was approved by the State Division of Schools and the Anaheim Planning Commision. The site was secured by the board at this time to eliminate additional expense which subdivision or other improvements would have caused, Gauer said.

County Bank Chooses Two New Directors

Joseph B. Collings, real estate broker, and Kenneth Kellyer, Buick dealer in Anaheim, are now members of the board of directors of the Southern County Bank whose home office is in Anaheim and which has branches in Artesia and Buena Park.

They were elected at a meeting of the board last Friday night, it was announced this week by President R. Foster Lamm.

Mr. Hellyer was assistant zone manager in southern California for Chevrolet before acquiring the Buick agency here in 1945. He is a member of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Collings came here from Oakland, where he was born, as agent of the Wells Fargo Express in 1913. He is also a member of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, vice-president and board member of the Anaheim Building and Loan association, a stockholder of the Savings Loan and Building association of Anaheim and treasurer of the Anaheim Community Industrial Land company.

Enlistment Rush Raises Strength Of Co. K to 97

By the time membership in Company K, the local company in the California National Guard, was frozen last Friday the rush to enlist of young men subject to the draft under the law passed by the 80th Congress, had increased its strength to 95 enlisted men and five officers, according to Capt. Martin Geissler.

Company K had a total strength of 62 men when the enlistment rush began with the passage of the draft act.

Ernesto T. Yorba, Pioneer County Citizen, Passes

Ernesto Toma Yorba, a pioneer citizen of Orange county and descendant of the famous family who came to this country from Old Mexico with the expedition headed by Portola in 1769, passed away at Fullerton General hospital on Sunday, June 27, following a brief illness. Born in Yorba, the community that bears the family name, 77 years ago, he had spent his entire life in this community, the home being at 20741 Esperanza Road, better known as Rancho Canon de Santa Ana.

His great grandfather came to this section with the expedition and later became owner of the Spanish land grant known as Rancho Santiago de Santa Ana. The home ranch is a land grant dating back to 1834 and is famous for the hospitality of his grandfather, Don Bernardo Yorba.

The deceased was the youngest son of Prudencio Yorba. He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church in Fullerton.

Surviving are his wife, Dolores of the home; three daughters, Mrs. Bertha Pizzo of Yorba Linda, Miss Juanita Yorba of the home, and Mrs. Doraldina Lowe of Bell Gardens; five sons, Ernest Yorba of Culver City; David Yorba, of Miami, Florida; Orlando, Herbert and Rudy, all at home; nine grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. J. R. Ruiz of Santa Maria.

Recitation of Holy Rosary was held Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the chapel of Backs, Campbell and Kaulbars mortuary with Mass Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's church in Fullerton. Interment was in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Surprise Dinner Party Honors Vard Hannum

Vard W. Hannum, 215 South Olive street, was the recipient of a surprise birthday party and steak dinner given in honor of his sixty-fifth anniversary and for his 36 years of active service with the city, last Monday evening at the Elks club. The event was presented by members of the Municipal Light Water and Power department where Hannum has been superintendent since 1918.

A month long vacation and a resolution of appreciation from the city council was awarded Hannum for his untiring management of the city department.

Among many beautiful gifts, the honored guest received a Hamilton wrist watch from the light, water and power employees, a deluxe purse and bill fold, two waffle irons, a General Electric mix master, and more than 40 letters of congratulations sent by former city officials, employees and friends.

Leo. J. Sheridan, manager of the Anaheim Union Water Company and former city councilman, acted as master of ceremonies. He introduced several speakers, old-time city employees and gave a vivid description of early times here. Being a councilman during depression days when there were four men for every job and not enough money to accomplish necessary work was a tough job, he remarked.

August 12, 1912, when he became associated with the city department, there were only three light, water and power plant employees, Emil Miller, Al Schneider and Billy Reynolds, Hannum recalled. At that time, he was under direction of L. A. Lewis, father of Fayette Lewis, grand exalted ruler of B. P. O. Elks. Congratulatory letters from both men were read to the 55 guests attending.

With a smile, the honored guest stated that wages at that time were $1.25 per day and that 12 hours constituted a day's work. Employees got only one day off every fourth week, he added.

Special guests introduced were Ed. Ellis, General Electric executive with 38 years seniority; Roy Kidd, also with that company, and Pat Crowe, executive of southern California Edison Company.

Speakers, who gave colorful resumes of early city history, included Charles N. Mann, former mayor; F. A. Yungbluth and M. W. Martenet, Jr., former city councilman, Charles A. Pearson, present

State Highwaymen Authorize Six Miles Of New Roads in North Orange County

Orange county is finally to get a new outlet—two of them in fact—to the Santa Ana Canyon highway which may cut out the grade crossing at Yorba, known as "the worst grade crossing in the state." But it will have to wait until the fiscal year 1949-50 for the improvement.

That much was clear from dispatches from Sacramento. But details as to new highways to be built were obscure and state highway officials in Los Angeles and Santa Ana could give no help. They said no word as to the new improvements had yet reached them and conjectured that only surveys were contemplated by the state highway department this year.

The Sacramento news dispatches described the two extensions thus: "Route 176, two miles, extend easterly from Stern to junction with proposed Route 176 near Esperanza; Route 176, four miles, extend easterly from Yorba Linda to junction with Route 43-B."

The four-mile extension from Yorba Linda to a junction with Route 43-B, which is the Santa Ana Canyon highway, made sense to Orange county highway boosters, for they have been trying for years to persuade the state to extend Imperial highway from Yorba Linda, where it ends at present, southeasterly to a junction with the Santa Ana Canyon highway. But they were puzzled by the authorization to extend "Route 176" from Stern to a junction with "Route 176" near Esparanza. Stern is the name of an abandoned station of the Pacific Electric railway and it is not far from the temporary state highway which extends from Yorba Linda by a tortuous route to the Placentia-Yorba boulevard. To extend a road to the junction of Imperial highway and Esperanza from Stern would in part duplicate the extension eastward from Yorba Linda. But there is among highway users a project to extend the Placentia-Yorba boulevard, or Orangethorpe boulevard, on eastward from the present "worst crossing in the state" to a junction with Imperial highway near Esperanza. This would accommodate a booming traffic from the haymarket at Hynes and the oil trucks from the refineries around Wilmington. Until they are told different by the state highway authorities, this is the route the northeast part of the county will believe the department intends to improve.

The county board of supervisors have already voted to do something about "the worst crossing in the state," but the announcement from Sacramento may cause them to revise their plans.

Rain Season Ends with Total Near Record Low

The 1947-48 rain season comes to an end today with a total rainfall in Anaheim, according to records kept at the city power plant, of 7.35 inches for the 12 months. At the end of last season total rainfall, according to the same authority, was 10.72 inches. The average for this region for the past 70 years has been 15.43 inches for a 12 months period.

In southern California for the past 70 years there have been only four rain seasons with a lighter rainfall than in the season ending today. In 1893-94 there was a rainfall of 6.72 inches; in the season of 1897-98 there was 7.06 inches; in the next season, 1998-99, there was but 5.59 inches, the lightest rainfall for any season on record, and in 1923-24 the total rainfall was 6.67 inches.

Meterologists are swinging away from the belief in cycles of heavy and light rainfall, though records for the past 70 years seem to give some support to it. In the 1897-98 season there was a total precipitation of 7.06 inches. In the next year the rainfall dropped to the all-time low of 5.59 inches, and in the next rain season of 1899-1900 there was a total of but 7.91 inches. Since then the rainfall total has dropped below 8 inches but twice. In the season of 1923-24 it was 6.67 inches and the next season, 1924-25, it was only 7.94 inches.

8 Sanitation District Boards Are Named

Officially organized June 24 with boards of directors and chairman named for each of the eight county sanitation districts already formed, the districts looked forward today to establishment of joint administrative machinery at a meeting scheduled for July 14, at 8 p.m., in the county courthouse.

Meanwhile Chairman Willard Smith of the county board of supervisors is acting as temporary chairman of the joint organization, with Engineer Charles Sweet of the county sewerage survey as temporary secretary. An interim steering committee at the June 24 meeting will meet July 7 at 3:30 p.m. to work out an agenda of organization procedure for the July 14 meeting, which may include employment of a chief engineer or general manager, as well as selection of a permanent chairman and secretary.

While each district has the right of independent action, under the state sanitation act, it is recommended that all act jointly for both efficiency and economy in administrative, engineering, planning and operation expenses.

Organization of the boards in Districts 2 and 3 which cover all of this region were affected as follows:

District 2: Mayor Charles Pearson, Anaheim; Mayor Irvin Chapman, Fullerton; Mayor George Weimer, Orange; Mayor Anton Wilson, Placentia; Mayor Charles McCart, Brea, and Supervisor James Baker, third district. Mayor Weimer, chairman.

District 3: Mayor Irvin Chapman, Fullerton; Mayor Charles Newsom, La Habra, and Supervisor Willis Warner, second district. Warner chairman.

Leave for Elks National Confab

Given a hearty send-off were the Anaheim delegates to the national Elks convention in Philadelphia, Del Wilkinson, exalted ruler of Anaheim Lodge No. 1345, and Mrs. Wilkinson, and Oscar Heying, deputy grand exalted ruler for the California Southern District, Monday evening in Los Angeles.

The local trio was among the scores of representatives who left via a special chartered train from Los Angeles to attend the conclave beginning July 4th.

Among lodge members and their wives, seeing Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson and Heying off were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Verry, Mr. and Mrs. Maury Shirk, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Christie, Judge and Mrs. John Shea, Mr. and Mrs. William Houts and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mattox.

Local Guardsmen In Review Monday

Anaheim's Co. K of the California National Guard participated in a military review with the other four companies in the county last Monday night in Orange. T-Sgt. Albert Miller of the local company received a 15-year service bar at that time. The presentation was made by Lt. Col. Emmett Rink of Santa Ana, commander of Orange county's Third Battalion.

Companies participating in the review included Company K, Company I of Orange, Company M of Fullerton, Company L of Santa Ana and the Headquarters Company, also of Santa Ana. Winner of the competitive drill was Company L.

A 31-man increase in Company K was announced by Capt. Martin Geissler, company commander. Enlistments closed with the company boasting 91 members, he added.

The 224th Infantry Regiment, of which Company K is a part, absorbed 509 men when the draft law went into effect, and between June 16 and 24, approximately 2647 southern Californians rushed to enlist in the 40th Infantry Division, Geissler commented.

This swelling of the National Guard ranks ended last week with the signing of the Selective Service Act of 1948 by President Truman.

NEW NOTARY PUBLIC

Independence Day

The fourth day of July in 1776 was not just one day in our history—it was many days, many years, many struggles, many events, all leading to that great climax of the century—the Declaration of Independence.

The Declaration, then, did not mark the start of the fight for freedom but brought it into sharp focus. The fight had already been going on for decades in this country and for ages in other lands. It is still going on. True, the Colonists won their struggle for liberty. But succeeding generations have learned that each generation must win the struggle anew.

This effort does not always take the form of open warfare as it did in 1861, 1917 and 1941. More often it must be carried on through the implements of education to overcome intolerance, greed and fear—the deadly enemies of freedom.

In observing our Independence Day it is well that we contemplate not only the sacrifices and achievements of our heroes of history, but that we also earnestly consider the tasks ahead and the measures that will be necessary to preserve our form of government.

Let us remind ourselves that freedom is everybody's job. And let us do that job with all our might. Nothing less is worthy of the men who founded our Nation and those who have defended it through the past century and a half.

Dewey and Warren

The Republicans have come out of their nominating convention in Philadelphia with a remarkable degree of unity and with one of the strongest tickets in many decades.

The nominess certainly give a perfect geographical balance with Governor Dewey representing the east and Governor Warren the west. There is also balance from the standpoint of their political views. Dewey is classed as a conservative, though certainly not a reactionary. Warren falls definitely into the liberal group. Both are supporters of the foreign aid program.

Unless something of a political miracle occurs between now and next November, Dewey and Warren will be the next President and Vice Pesident of the United States. They should make a good team. It will be of particular interest to see just what assignments will be given Governor Warren in order to make the vice-presidency a "working job."

Some Democrats are already saying that having beaten Dewey once they can do it again. That can be put down as just so much talk. The Dewey of today is not the Dewey of four years ago. He is a far more seasoned and skillful campaigner now than he was in 1944. Besides, the split in the opposition gives him an enormous advantage.

But in spite of all this neither Governor Dewey nor Governor Warren will make the mistake of assuming that victory is in the bag. Such an attitude on their part and on the part of their followers could leave them holding the bag next November.

Well, one team is on the field and the quadrennial "fall madness" will soon be upon us.

America Comes of Age

Can America remain isolationist in any sense of the word?

The doughboys of World War I had their doubts. The GI's of World War II are rapidly finding their doubts dispelled.

The recently-adjourned 80th Congress, in tune with most American thinking today, took greater interest in foreign policy than ever before in Congressional history. America's course has been charted upon the international sea, and for better or for worse, the United States is tied for some time to come to the political-economic fortunes and misfortunes of the world.

No easy job confronted Congress when casting the die toward internationalism. The lawmakers on Capitol Hill probably were faced with more problems of international scope than members of any preceding Congress. Many measures were shunted aside or hurriedly handled which in another year probably would have gained more searching Congressional scrutiny. Action on some issues of vital importance to California, such as return of the state's tidelands, was postponed until the next session.

To most Americans, however, the primary problem today is world peace. There is a desperate need to achieve a world of Nations which will work together to cure the ills of one and another for the betterment of all; a world which need not look forward to another major war, with its attendant privation, misery and ruin.

If world peace is truly the foremost desire of the American Nation, then Congress acted in the national interest, and certainly America has come of age in the family of Nations.

Blessings in Disguise

To need something, to have the money ready to pay for it, and still not be able to get it, is an annoyance most of us have experienced in the past few years.

It has been the same story with highway construction. During the war road-building came to a halt. But untold millions of dollars in special highway taxes paid by motorists kept rolling in. The money couldn't be spent for highway improvements then, and so it kept accumulating. The result is a tremendous backlog of funds to build new roads and improve old ones. And the tax millions continue to pour into highway treasuries at a greater rate than ever before.

The motorist has been annoyed because he hasn't seen this money converted into roads. With the needed money on hand in greater amounts than ever before, he's been asking what's holding up those promised postwar highway improvements. The answer, of course, is found in shortages of road-building equipment, materials and manpower.

The situation today is like that after World War I. Then the Nation experienced a temporary period of scarcities and high prices. After inflation ran its course, however, prices leveled off considerably in the highway construction field.

Economists expect the same thing to happen when the present inflation blows over. If so, the delays in highway construction will prov eto have been a blessing in disguise. After prices are stabilized, we should be able to get a lot more in highways for the enormous amounts of money now held in reserve for road-building. We'll get more miles of better road for the same dollar.

WESTMINSTER AND ITS WELLS

Among the most notable features of the Westminster colony and one that will particularly recommend it to the notice of strangers are the flowing artesian wells, of which there are thirty-one. They all give forth splendid streams of water, the average flow being about 2500 gallons an hour, enough to irrigate at least 80 acres of orchard land. In depth the wells are from 70 to 190 feet, only a few of them however being over 100 feet deep. At the last meeting of the academy of sciences, A. W. Chase of the United States Coast Survey, read an interesting paper on the artesian wells of Los Angeles county, in which he described two of the wells in the colony, those on the farm of Mr. Edwards and Mr. Stevens. That of Mr. Edwards is 171 feet deep. On the southern end of the colony is a peat bed of 280 acres. The peat is found about two feet from the surface, and the formation is not old enough to be of much practical value as fuel. Being only four miles from the sea, Westminster receives the ocean breeze in a rarer state than we do in Anaheim, and the climate is a few degrees cooler than it is here. Nearly every settler has planted more or less trees and vines. A great many have willow fences around their farms, and in some instances the beautiful pepper trees. The school house is a neat and substantial structure. The average attendance is thirty-six. The teacher, Con Howe, a gentleman whose long experience in his profession is a sure guarantee of his competency. We regret that our limited space renders it necessary to bring this article to a conclusion, omitting many items of interest, which we shall refer to at some future date. Thanks are due to Rev. L. P. Webber and Robert Strong for courtesies extended.

We hear numerous complaints about the practice of "staking out" cows on the side streets of Anaheim. The rope is generally long enough to allow the bovines to cross the street and teams passing have to drive over the rope a proceeding attended with some danger. If the owners of the cattle knew that they are liable to a heavy suite for damages, in case of an accident they would find some place more suitable for grazing purposes than the public highway.

New members to serve on the board of directors for the ensuing three years are Ashleigh, Hellyer, Oscar C. Solter, Robert Mungall, Harold Smith, Clyde Nickle and J. R. Scholz. Hellyer, Mungall and Scholz were re-elected members.

Beginning with a treasury fund of $13,721.98 at the beginning of the past fiscal year, a total of $13,626.72 was spent, leaving a remainder of $93.26 in the general fund; $207.71 in the Hallowe'en fund and more than $3,000 in the Civic Progress Week fund.

Following committee reports, it was announced that the Chamber will cooperate in welcoming the 40 costumed Don Portelo riders, sponsored Mission Trails, historical organization, in honor of the first Spanish entrance into California in 1769. The riders will leave San Diego for San Francisco, stopping here July 27 according to present plans. The council suggested they camp at the Exposition site, North Palm and La Palma streets. Members of the Anaheim Riding club, formerly the well-known La Habra Riding club, are expected to be among local horse enthusiasts who will greet the cavalcade.

Purpose of the Chamber is to further civic progress and protect equities and purchasing power through the joint efforts of citizens and businessmen, Hellyer stated. Goals for the coming year include acquiring new adequate office facilities, increasing the present membership and strengthening the organization financially. These goals will be reached by dynamic committee effort and economic analyzation, commented Hellyer.

New committee chairmen are Merle Soden, assisted by Abe Cone and R. J. Rossberg, budget and membership; Glen Hipes, Hallowe'en Festival; Warren Ashleigh, Civic Progress; Ed Powers, county affairs (alternate Rossberg); Abe Cone, tourists; Joe Scholz, building committee; Bob Mungall, land use; Harold Smith, public utilities; Joe Collings, annexation; Clyde Nickle, welfare safety; Dick Gay, veterans; R. Half a million dollars a day

That's what we're putting to work in new telephone facilities for the West. Where does the money come from?

1. Making the telephone system grow takes money and lots of it...we're spending an average of half a million dollars every day for new facilities in the Pacific West. Some might think all this money comes from telephone bills...or from profits. But that's not the case in this business.

2. This lady, for example, may have furnished the money for that pole above. For we must get money to grow from investors who put their savings into the business. The bills you pay go for payroll, taxes and other operating costs — and for small "wages" for the money of investors.

3. Somebody must put up a lot more money for each new telephone we add today than was necessary before the war. Costs have gone up for us as they have for you. As we put in more and more new telephones, the expensive new portion becomes a larger part of the whole system.

4. Getting telephones to people who are waiting is our big job. And we can attract new working dollars and keep up the installation pace only if we sell our services at adequate prices. These prices must cover operating costs and leave a moderate profit, too...the profit that pays our investors for the use of their savings.

Clemence Baeyens-George Lerno Wed in Formal Church Ceremony

Lovely in a traditional gown of white satin, Miss Clemence Baeyens, daughter of Mrs. Virginia Baeyens, 901-B East Broadway, Anaheim, became the bride of George Lerno, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lerno, 14222 Graham street, Westminster, in the quiet sanctuary of St. Boniface Catholic church, this city, Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, with Father Henry Gross of that church, reciting the nuptial mass for the double-ring formal ceremony.

The young couple repeated their marriage vows before an all-white altar arranged with white gladioli and stock against a background of ferns and potted palms.

Given in marriage by Joe De Sadeleer, her uncle, the bride carried a bouquet of gardenias, carnations and stephanotis. Her gown was fashioned with a high neckline, fitted bodice, full skirt and long train and a fingertip veil that cascaded from a tiera of beaded pearls.

Traditional sentiment was found in three strands of pearls borrowed from the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Goubert, a bit of blue and a lucky six pence in her shoe.

Maid of honor was Mary Baeyens, sister of the bride, who chose an ocean-blue gown fashioned with an off-the-shoulder neckline and bustle accent.

The bride's maids, wearing shell-pink gowns of identical design, were Madelene Beeckman, cousin of the bride, and Rosalie Lerno, cousin of the bridegroom.

Gardenias, carnations and sweetpeas were blended with satin streamers in all the attendants bouquets. Flower girls were Frances Van De Maele and Leona Van De Maele, both attired in frocks of ocean-blue taffeta.

Serving as best man was Emil Lerno, the bridegroom's brother. Ushers were other brothers of the bridegroom, Louis Lerno and Lawerence Lerno.

In addition to the traditional wedding marches, Mrs. A. F. Faust, organist, played pre-nuptial selections.

The beautiful nuptial service was witnessed by more than 500 relatives and close friends. Sixty guests attended an intimate family dinner at 1 o'clock at Mother's Kitchen.

Harmony Park ballroom, artistically decorated in a bridal motif was the scene of a reception and dance at 7:30 o'clock that night.

For the occasion, Mrs. Baeyens chose a shell-pink gown and Mrs. Lerno, a mauve gown. Both mothers had black accessories and corsages of double gardenias.

After cutting and sharing the first piece of their five-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip to Big Bear for an indefinite stay.

Upon their return they will reside at 193 West Broadway, this city.

For travelling the new Mrs. Lerno chose a biege garbardine suite harmonizing with brown accessories. The gardenia corsage from her wedding bouquet graced her lapel.

The bride is a graduate of Marywood Catholic high school for girls of this city and is associated with the Jackson Drug company.

Her bridegroom attended Huntington Beach schools and served with the United States Army for 14 months. He is farming with his father near Seal Beach.

Marin county has 136 miles of paved roads and 183 miles with bituminous surface.

Jean Truxaw, Luverne Hays Engagement Told

A sparkling diamond, third finger, left hand, revealed the engagement of Miss Jean Truxaw, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Truxaw. The betrothal of Miss Truxaw to Luverne Frederick Hays, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hays, also of this city, was announced formally at a Sunday tea given in the Truxaw home on South Los Angeles street.

Two small hearts, one inscribed with the names and the other with the wedding date, decorated with golden wedding bells, were viewed by many friends and relatives of the two families.

The mothers of the engaged couple received guests. Presiding at the tea table during the afternoon were Mrs. Hays, Miss Joyce Ann Hays, sister of the bridegroom-elect, assisted by Mrs. William Sutherland (nee Louise Ann Truxaw), sister of the bride-elect; Mrs. John Truxaw, a sister-in-law, and Mary Lou Heinz, a very close friend.

A graduate of St. Vincent's hospital, Los Angeles, the honoree will complete her training in August. She is a native of Anaheim and was active in curricular and social events while attending Marywood high school of which she is an alumni.

Currently, her bridegroom-elect is a student at the University of California at Los Angeles. He is a World War II veteran and the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Muckenthaler and Mrs. R. R. Pember of Anaheim, members of a poineer Anaheim family.

Give Hawaiian Dance Program

Hawaiian dance routines were interpreted by students of Val Moore of the Val Moore studio, Monroe street, West Anaheim, at the installation meeting of the Women of the Moose, Fullerton, last Thursday night at the American Legion hall, Hillcrest Park, Fullerton.

Poetic symbolism which finds expression in authentic Hawaiian dance steps was explained by Mrs. Moore. Ralph Rouland, also of this city, acted as master of ceremonies.

Featured dancers included Pat McKee, Barbara Lanker, Dolores Pool, Mary McKee and Beckie Ann Harris.

The local instructor returned from a trip to Hawaii recently, where she studied several of the more rare dance patterns which have existed for centuries in the islands.

Dunham, pastor of White Temple Methodist church of this city, reading the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride carried an orchid surrounded by white carnations. Her gown was fashioned with a full circular skirt and fitted bodice. Traditional sentiment was found in a lace handkerchief which had belonged to her grandmother.

Maid of honor was Miss Shirley Ann Osborn, sister of the bride, attired in a gown of aqua taffeta similar in design to that of the bride. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Elizabeth Osborn, another sister of the bride, wearing pink taffeta, and Norma Schulze, a close friend, wearing blue taffeta, were bride's maids. Each carried a bouquet of lavender carnations.

Serving as best man was James Siewert, brother of the groom. Ushers included Raymond Holt and Richard Foster, both close friends of the groom.

Bill Talevich, pre-nuptial soloist sang "The Lord's Prayer," and Mrs. Vera Hilbers, soprano, sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," "Ovet" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." Organist was Mrs. Susan Talevich.

Immediately following the ceremony, the reception was held at the chapel with Mrs. Orman Harlo presiding at the punch bowl and Miss Mary Lenz, roommate of the bride, at the guest book.

Mrs. Osborn, mother of the bride, chose a blue silk street-length dress for the occasion, worn with a white hat. The groom's mother, Mrs. Siewert, wore a blue suit and hat. Both mothers had corsages of white gardenias.

For traveling the bride wore a blue grey suit contrasting with brown and white accessories.

An alumni of Anaheim Union high school, class of 1944, the new Mrs. Siewert graduated from the University of California at Santa Barbara, class of 1948.

Former Anaheim Girl—Long Beach Man Wed Friday

Against a background of pink and white gladioli, Miss Maxis Carolyn Tedford, 1234 East Third street, Long Beach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Tedford, 1107 West Broadway, Anaheim, was united in marriage to Paul Henry Petersen, 1045 Cedar avenue, Long Beach, son of Mrs. C. C. Peterson of Wayne, Nebraska, in a formal candlelight service of the First Congregational church, Booth Chapel, Long Beach, with Dr. Stuart LeRoy Anderson, pastor of that church, officiating for the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a colonial type gown of white marquisette fashioned entrain with insets of delicate lace. Her full-length veil of white net cascaded from a tiara of orange blossoms. The pearls she wore were a present from her bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her brother, Harvey L. Tedford, she carried a white Bible and an orchid arranged with stephanotis.

Miss Nancy Merritt of Long Beach, the bride's only attendant, was attired in a colonial type gown of blush pink. A coronet of pink roses graced her hair and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses.

Serving as best man was John Natteford of Long Beach. Ushers included Henry Kendall Booth, Jr., and John Allan, also of the beach city.

Traditional wedding music for the ceremony was played by Mrs. Henry Kendall Booth, Jr., who also accompanied the pre-nuptial soloists, Miss Catherine Crunk who sang "Because" and "Always," and Paul Lueth who sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Immediately following the ceremony, the reception was held in the parlor. Mothers of the couple wore dark toned gowns contrasting with corsages of pink roses.

Assisting with reception duties were Misses Genevieve and Harriet Helms and Mrs. Henry Booth, Jr. Mrs. Harry Miller presided over the guest book which was signed by the more than 75 friends and relatives attending.

After cutting and sharing the first piece of their four tiered wedding cake, surrounded by pink roses and topped with a miniature bridal couple, the newlyweds left for a two-week honeymoon trip to Santa Barbara, Carmel and San Francisco. Upon their return, they will live at 1102 Lime avenue, Long Beach.

For travelling the new Mrs. Petersen chose a ballerina suit with pink accents. The white orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet was pinned to her lapel.

An alumnus of Anaheim Union high school, the bride is a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley where she was a member of Pi Lambda Theta. She is a teacher in Long Beach schools.

Her bridegroom is a graduate of Nebraska State Teacher's college, where he was affiliated with the Kappa Mu Epsilon, national honorary mathematics fraternity. He is associated with the Todd Shipyard Corporation.

'Holiday Stage' Second Season Opening, Success

When a blond night club hoofer of light affections invades the traditional staid halls of a Princton dormitory in Philadelphia, pandemonium is bound to break out and it does in the week-long Holiday stage presentation of "She Loves Me Not," Howard Lindsay collegiate farce, at Tustin high school auditorium. The play which closes after Saturday night, was presented before a large and enthusiastic audience in a grand anniversary opening Monday night, marking the beginning of the professional stock company's second season in Orange county.

The comedy, which launched Holiday Stage's 10-week stand, features Vera Marshe as the night club dancer, "Curly Flagg," and Oliver Cliff as her champion, one of four college youths who aid the entertainer in an escape from police who want her as a witness to murder. James Connell and Don Quinn are convincing as two of Cliff's fellow conspirators. Sam Edward's interpretation of "Buzz Jones," who appears in a tap routine while eating an apple and reading a book adds gaiety to the show.

A bewitching new love whom Cliff nearly looses in the mad-cap conflict of the second act is "Midge Mercer," the dean's daughter played by Beverly Campbell. The role of his sophisticated billfold conscious fiancee, "Frances Arbuthnot" is portrayed by Georgia Phillips.

Humor of situation is strengthened by John Alvin's interpretation of the fast talking high-presure publicity man, "McNeal." As "J. Thorval Jones, Hollywood Movie Magnate," William Pullen is adept in his false implication of farcial lines.

The false implication of the dean, who is unconscious from being slugged unintentionally by Cliff, by publicity men complicates the action. Climax of the play comes when Curly jumps from the second story window of the double-deck stage, landing on the dean who is announcing publicity that the four boys will not be expelled due to a national poll in their favor.

Stirling Holloway is guest director for the production. The double-deck set was designed by Norman Mennes. The play, staged by Harold Turney, is a difficult one. Despite the smooth performance of the 40 actors, mood of the drama is lessened slightly by the 24 scene changes required, 12 to the act.

LAURETTA BRADFORD IN NEW YORK CITY

Renette Hansen, Los Angeles Man Wed in Chapel

Quiet simplicity marked the informal wedding of Miss Renette Elizabeth Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Hansen, will known real estate man of 515 North Los Angeles street, Anaheim, to Ray Franklin Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Maurice Taylor of West Los Angeles, last Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church, Santa Barbara, with Dr. Joseph Ewing, officiating.

For the occasion, the bride chose a navy-blue gabardine suit with matching hat, complimenting her corsage of small white orchids.

Following a nuptial dinner party at the Santa Barbara Biltmore hotel, the young couple left for a month's honeymoon trip through the northern states and Canada to Lake Louise. Upon their return they will reside in Los Angeles where the bridegroom is associated with the Balfour Guthrie Importing and Exporting Brokerage.

The bride is the granddaughter of the late Gustave and Renette Hansen, one of Orange county's pioneer families, prominent in the development of this area. She attended Anaheim schools and is an alumni of the University of Southern California where she was affiliated with the Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

Also a graduate of the University of Southern California, the bridegroom received his Masters degree in Foreign Trade there and was president of the Delta Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Slate Telephone Hour Broadcasts

Telephone hour broadcasts for July were announced this week by R. J. Rossberg, manager of the local Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. The hour recently was named winner for the fifth consecutive year of Musical America's poll, he added.

John Charles Thomas, noted baritone, will appear July 5, to present a program of familiar American music. He will be joined in several songs by a special choral group on the 9 o'clock Monday night program over NBC stations.

Cloe Elmo, Italian contralto, will make her initial appearance July 12, and will include Bizet's Card scene from "Carmen" in her repertoire.

The first artist to be featured on two consecutive broadcasts, Miss Polyna Stoska will be guest soloist, July 26, as one of seven singers in all-operatic program. The others will be Marilyn Cotlow, coloratura; Mary Davenport, alto; Thomas Haywood and William McGarth, tenors; Mack Harrell, baritone, and Kenneth Schon, bass.

The 57-piece Bell Telephone orchestra, conducted by Donald Voorhees, will provide instrumental selections and accompaniment for the artists.

Sam Hilgenfeld Returns from Eastern Trip

After an extensive three-week trip, S. F. Hilgenfeld returned home last Thursday. He left to visit relatives in Iowa and Nebraska, then combined business with pleasure by purchasing a new Packard Henney hearse from Freeport, Illinois.

Mr. Hilgenfeld left here June 2, flying from Los Angeles, via Transcontinental Constellation airliner to Chicago in six hours and 40 minutes. After spending two days in the Windy City, he visited relatives in Naperville, Illinois, and attended the fortieth anniversary of the graduating class of North Central College, June 5, 6 and 7. He arrived in Freeport, Illinois, and enjoyed a reunion there where he was born and reared. Chicken dinner was a regular feature in Freeport during his stay, commented Hilgenfeld.

He was joined in Freeport by his daughter, Mrs. Robert Farrar and her son, Stanley Frank Farrar, both of Santa Ana, who returned with him.

From Heber Falls, Utah on, they encountered lots of rain, he said. In Rock Springs, Illinois, the temperature was 50 degrees; in Baker City, California it registered 109 degrees during the day. Enroute home they stopped at Estes National Park, Colorado.

Grace Lutheran Bible School Closes Sunday

Bernard Baumbach, a graduate of Texas State university, addressed youngsters and church members, at the annual play day, climaxing the 10-day vacation Bible school at the Grace Lutheran church, Sunday morning.

"As you learned in vacation school," he said, "Be loyal, be courageous and be true."

A children's program of hymns and pledges featured presentations by the primary, beginners, intermediate and junior departments.

The departments were under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Heinze, Miss Ruth Martens, Miss Sylvia Mac kand Rev. and Mrs. J. K. Jung, church pastor and his wife.

Beautiful handwork by the youngsters was displayed in the church basement.

Following the concluding hymn, prayer and benediction, a picnic was held in La Palma park with a large number of Sunday school and church members attending.

FINDS; KEEPS RING

Attend National 'Y' Convention

Three Anaheim Hi-Y delegates, Wesley Bose, Ronnie Lemcke and Dud Helsing were among other representatives from the southern Orange county district YMCA who attended the fifth national Hi-Y Congress at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, which closed yesterday (Wednesday) in session from June 25 to 30. Thommy Thomason, general secretary of the local "Y," accompanied the youths from this city.

Problems of family life, boy-and girl relationships, liquor, racial and religious tensions and world affairs were studied at the congress, according to Thomason. The chief object of the conclave he said, was to enable students to discover the best ways their Hi-Y clubs can aid in meeting problems which face school youth today.

The Congress delegates represented 30,000 high school boys and girls who are members of the 11,000 clubs in the United States.

Croddy Renamed President of Farmer Group

Willam F. Croddy, Santa Ana vegetable and field crop grower, will serve another year as president of the Orange county Associated Farmers. The board of directors at a meeting at the association headquarters in Anaheim Monday night decided that and celebrated the organization's fifteenth anniversary in the county. The board also elected Joe Huarte of Anaheim and John McKittrick of Tustin vice-presidents and voted to retain George Graham as secretary-treasurer. He has held that position since 1937. Clem McColloch of Placentia was named state delegate.

for further development until just prior to the last war, his invention was put into the manufacturing stage. The shortage of materials stopped further work and sale.

The present shortage of materials is again hampering manufacture of the product but the output is increasing steadily as more materials are available. Those sprinklers which have been in use since the early days of manufacture are still in operation and Mr. Burdick is receiving no compiaints on their operation. He has several fine recommendations relative to their efficiency and continued operation.

The sprinkler turns itself off with a valve after a preset period of flow by a valve that operates by water pressure. A tiny portion of the water passing through the valve flows through a by-pass into a cylinder and moves a piston that closes the valve. A dial on top of the valve is set for the number of minutes the valve will remain open.

The device is available in 1, 2 and 4 inch sizes, the valves can be set for any period from five minutes to two hours. Pressure variations do not affect its operation.

Mr. Burdick has as one associate in the business, Ernst Borchert, well known citrus grower and rancher who lives on South Euclid avenue.

Known as the Burdick Automatic Valve Company, the owners plan extensive manufacture of their fine product as soon as more materials are available. A number of large concerns are interested in obtaining dealership of the device. The manufacturing plant is located at present at Mr. Burdick's home on North Vine street.

Mechanical Aid to Lemon Picking Tried Out on Ventura County Ranch

Machine picking of oranges and lemons is not in sight yet, but Orange county growers have learned with deep interest that an attempt is being made by the University of California on a ranch near Santa Paula to apply machinery to the operation.

According to Dr. Roy Smith, university researcher who is examining the whole field of citrus harvesting and distribution under the auspices of the Gianini Foundation, the tests so far made have not been wholly satisfactory but they have lessened cost of picking sufficiently to warrant further search for modifications of the machine that would adapt it to oranges and lemons.

The machine was borrowed from northern peach orchards where it was said it enabled a team of eight men to equal the performance of 30 men working in the conventional way.

The machine operates a boom which raises and lowers the pickers on the trees and thus dispenses with climbing up and down ladders, the most tedious and time-consuming operation in picking any fruit crop.

That bit of information, however, simply whets the appetite of growers and handlers for more. If the machine requires a team of eight to take the place of 30 pickers working from ladders, they point out that more than one machine would be required to serve a whole picking crew and since a packing house normally has from two to a dozen crews working at one time, it would have to own a whole fleet of the picking machines. The original cost of the machine would therefore have considerable bearing on its usefulness to the industry. There was also the question of whether the machine would dispense with the field box, and this in turn raised questions regarding the hauling of the fruit from the grove to the packing house, another costly operation.

Dr. Smith who discussed his researches before a group of Los Angeles county growers, was careful to say that he had nothing to offer at the present time and that his researchers so far had disclosed only the imperfection in the handling of citrus and the uncovering of certain clews as to how some of the imperfections can be cured. He said he was talking at this juncture so that his hearers might atune their thinking to his. His confidence that some new methods would be found, he said, was based on the fact that some operations, particularly picking and hauling, were becoming so expensive that economies must be found.

Lee Wright Funeral Saturday

George M. L. (Lee) Wright, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Wright, passed away at the family home at 526 South Ohio street, on Wednesday of last week, June 23, and funeral services were held last Saturday at 2 p.m. at Backs, Campbell and Kaulbars mortuary chapel.

Born in Oxnard, he had resided in Anaheim since 1937 where he was well known among his school mates and friends of the city. He would have been a junior in high school next year. Lee was a member of the De Molay group of Anaheim, was secretary of the Balsa Butchers and a member of Hi-Y at the high school.

Officiating at the last rites were the Rev. Leslie W. Sim, pastor of Wesley Methodist church of this city, and the Rev. Wm. T. Lewis, pastor of the Episcopal church in Fullerton.

Left to mourn his passing other than his parents is a brother, Thomas E. Wright at home and a grandfather, Milo Waite.

Interment was in Loma Vista Memorial Park.

Exchange Pushes Small Oranges, Small Profits

The Sunkist Merchandiser, circulated largely among eastern and midwestern retail food dealers, reveals in its June-July issue that the California's Fruit Growers' Exchange this summer will place about equal emphasis to the trade on the fact that small Valencia oranges are sweet and juicy, that, measured by juice content, the small fruit is a better buy than the larger fruit and that retailers stand to make more money by paring their margins.

One article in the Merchandiser tells how a Buffalo retailer increased his sales from a normal of 12 boxes of 252s in nine days to 50 boxes by cutting his markup from 33 1/3 per cent to 26 per cent.

Another article demonstrates that in a year a retailer who made a gross profit of $114.75 on canned orange juice would make $504.00 on the same amount invested in fresh oranges.

The growing season averages 262 days at Newman and 250 days at Modesto in Stanislaus county.

Truck Rates Go To 5 Per Cent Next Month

(Western News Service)

California intrastate truck rates are to be increased by approximately 5 per cent on August 1, as the result of an order issued by the California Public Utilities Commission.

The 5 per cent increase is expected by the Commission only to offset recent advances in wage levels and fuel costs which the Commission decision characterized as "unavoidable."

The truck owners association of California and the motor truck association of Southern California had sought increases generally ranging from 5 to 10 per cent, and estimated as amounting to 7 per cent as an overall average.

In the decision, the Commission admonished the carriers against the pyramiding of horizontal rate increases without thorough analysis of how much increases may affect the best interests of carriers and shippers. The order goes on to state that more desirable results would probably follow from adjustment of individual rates or ratings not contributing their fair share of the transportation burden.

In another section, the Commission says that comprehensive cost and economic studies by the commission's staff are nearing completion and will be taken into consideration when finished.

Pacific Freight Lines and Pacific Freight Lines Express, carriers handling large numbers of small shipments between numerous southern California communities, were given permissive authority to increase their rates by 10 per cent on the basis of a separate showing of their revenue requirements.

State Allocates $65,525 to Help County Health

(Western News Service)

The state department of Public Health announced an allocation of $65,525 to Orange county for the fiscal year 1948-49.

The money is available from both State and Federal appropriations for augmentation and improvement of services.

More than $3,000,000 has been appropriated for the state, with $2,464,686 from state funds, and $580,000 from federal moneys.

Activities for which the money may be spent include protective service to mothers and children; planned health education, a community sanitation program; communicable disease protection; public health laboratory facilities; and maintenance of public health records and statistics.

With the exception of whooping cough all cases of communicable disease throughout California decreased during the week ending June 19, the state department of Public Health indicated today.

Measles took the greatest drop from the week previous, the report said, from 3,402 to 2,734 cases.

Healthiest counties in the state of those reporting were Humboldt with one case, and Modoc and Trinity with two cases each.

The report showed that in Orange county during the week, diseases were divided as follows: Chickenpox, 34; Measles, 140; Mumps, 21; Streptococcal Infection, 3; and Whooping Cough, 2.

Costa Mesa Infant Services Held

Last rites were held for Yvonne Earlette Campbell, three-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell, Mesa Trailer Court, Costa Mesa, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Melrose Abbey mausoleum. She died early Saturday morning after a brief illness at an Orange hospital.

She is survived by her parents; one sister, Linda Joyce Campbell, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Woolhouse of England.

Hilgenfeld Mortuary of Anaheim was in charge of arrangements.

Still Funds for State's Jobless Show Increases

James G. Bryant, director of the Department of Employment, announced that California's disability insurance fund totals $74,765,000, available for the payment of unemployment disability claims

There is almost ten times as much in the State's Unemployment Insurance Fund, which totals $727,948,531.50. The unemployment insurance fund is deposited in the federal treasury, and may be drawn upon by California as the need for payment develops.

WASHINGTON AS SEEN

By Congressman JOHN PHILLIPS

There is a saying that when you've seen one convention, you've seen them all. The Philadelphia Republican convention broke the rule. We probably had not realized our conventions had become matters of routine. We were like the football team of any college that was losing all its games. The players, as well as the spectators, were losing enthusiasm without realizing it. This year, there was the old convention spirit, from the milling people, both delegates and spectators, to the hawkers of buttons which said, "DEWEY or Don't We?" or "Bases Full" WARREN is Scorin." I haven't determined if the badge maker thinks Warren rhymes with Scorin', or not. Everyone was here, from the gold braid of the party to the inevitable cranks with solutions of all the problems of mankind. I even saw a young lady, dressed like an angel, complete with robe, crown and wings, and when I stopped out of curiosity, to see what that costume meant, she handed me a card advertising somebody's "Hamburger Heaven."

The best part for me has been to renew long-standing friendships. Men and women from the Legislature, and from all parts of California. It is nice not to be forgotten, in spite of six confining years in Washington. The 22nd District delegation was tops, and making a record. Gordon Richmond was put on the Platform Committee and we can thank him for the Tidelands plank, and for putting in again the "recognition of the west" plank, which I wrote in your years ago. Mrs. Eastman also took immediate leadership in the delegation and the Riverside county alternate, Phil Boyd, threw in his Sacramento experience and cantacts, which meant much in tight places. The Imperial Valley alternate, my own alternate of four years ago, Billy Burke, was unable to come at the last moment, and I'm wearing his badge and sitting on the floor with the delegation.

I rise to remark there is still need for better coordination between the state organizations and the congressional delegation. It was not until after the convention was under way that the state strategists realized that most of the contacts they needed with other states could be made through congressmen. We are the ones who know the men in other delegations, and they know us, and that introductory waste of time is avoided. Maybe having written a plank in the national platform, for recognition of the west, there should be a plank in the state platform, for recognition of Congress.

529 Farms to Go to Vets at Public Drawings

Ben Liebermann, director of Veterans Affairs of Orange county, has announced that 529 individual farm units in the west will be opened to veteran homesteaders in the near future.

Land to be distributed among veterans includes 86 farms in the Tule Lake division of the Klamath project in California and Oregon; 16 farms in the Roza division of the Yakima project in Washington; 75 farms in the Yuma Mesa division of the Gila project in Arizona; 40 farms in the Fayette division of the Boise project in Idaho; 16 farms in the Gooding division of the Minidoka project in Idaho; 77 farms in the heart Mountain division of the Shoshone project in Wyoming, and 210 farms in the Riverton division, Wyoming project.

Veterans will have a 90 day preference for filing applications for the 49,176 acres. In order to qualify, veteran applicants must have agricultural experience and must have adequate capital to work the land.

Farms to be opened on the seven projects will be awarded to veteran applicants at public drawings which will be held after public notices have been sent to those veterans whose names are on file with the Bureau of Reclamation.

Application froms and additional information will be supplied by the Orange County Veterans Service Center at 225 North Broadway, Santa Ana, about August 1, 1948.

County Printers Get Charter at Thursday Meeting

The Orange County Club of Printing House Craftsmen received their charter from A. Gordon Ruiter, International president, from Boston, Mass., at a meeting last Thursday evening in the banquet hall of the Santa Ana Community Center. A sumptuous turkey dinner was served by Rossmore Cafe of that city to a capacity crowd among which were visitors from the International headquarters, members from the Los Angeles, Riverside, Sacramento, Seattle, Wash., clubs.

Carlisle Dennis of Dennis Printers in Santa Ana, was master of ceremonies introducing the first part of the program, a delightful musical interlude of numbers played on the marimba by Barbara and Nancy Fergus accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Fergus, all of this city. A special treat was several selections by the trio working at the marimba. Mrs. Dahl Shearer of Garden Grove led the group in singing "fun" songs followed by the awarding of door prizes.

Congratulations were brought from International officers, Gordon J. Holmquist of Los Angeles, chairman, public relations, and Allison Manners of Los Angeles, third vice-president of International. Charles Gudan, president of the Los Angeles club, Kenneth Comfort, president of the Seattle club, Charles Robertson, president of the Sacramento club and Fred Brower, president of the Citrus Belt club in Riverside, each presented a short talk to members of the new club here. Visitors from other Craftsmen's clubs were presented by Mr. Holmquist.

To highlight the meeting, the International president, who was on the west coast for the western division convention held in Riverside last Friday and Saturday, gave a very interesting talk on the organization of the Craftsmen's clubs prior to the presentation of the charter, stating in his talk that at present there are 10,491 members in the more than 78 clubs now organized and the group is growing each year. "Share Your Knowledge" is the slogan of the club and the purpose of the organization is to bring work and talks of mutual interest to printers and lithographers and the printing world, work with which each craftsman is familiar or of which he is eager to learn more.

Talks were also given by Chet Wolford of Riverside, Norman Shanks of Los Angeles, Robert Kerr of Los Angeles, Ray Fisher of Los Angeles, Ed Strong of Sacramento and Judson Bradley of Riverside, who extended a cordial invitation to the newest club in the ranks of Printing House Craftsmen to attend the convention last week end. Several members of the club attended all or part of the sessions there.

Officers of the Orange County club are president, Dahl K. Shearer of Garden Grove; vice-president, Larry Turner of Fullerton; secretary, Merell Whipple of Santa Ana; treasurer, Wilber S. Lentz of Orange; and the board of governors are Clifford Peale, Dave Gardner and Louis Larson.

McFadden Leads Fight on Senate Reapportionment

McFadden is president of Agricultural Council of California; vice-president of the California Walnut Growers association; past president, California State Chamber of Commerce. He has taken part over a period of years in protecting interests of farmers and fruit raisers throughout California.

A resident of California for 26 years and of Yorba Linda for 19 years, he was a member of the Yorba Linda Methodist church.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Myrtle V. Ball; one daughter, Miss Zelma L. Rucker of Yorba Linda; two sons, Melvin R. Ball of Yorba Linda and Vernon C. PRICE SUPPORTS SET FOR DRY BEANS

Loans to support the price on 1948-crop dry edible beans have been announced by the Department of Agriculture, according to Ray L. Hall, chairman of the Orange County Agricultural Conservation Committee.

Loan rates in Orange County will be: For beans, $5 per 100 pounds of sound, whole, dry edible beans. An additional payment to bring price up to support level will be made at delivery time.

Varieties of beans covered by the program, including thresher-run beans, will be Pea, Medium, White, Great Northern, Small White, Red Kidney, Pinto, Cranberry, Pink, Small Red, Baby Lima, and Standard Lima.

Loans will be available from time of harvest through December 31. They will be based on 90 per cent of parity as of September 1. Difference between loan rate and support price will be paid upon delivery of the commodity to the Commodity Credit Corporation. Loans will mature April 30, 1949, or earlier upon demand.

Support price differentials between classes, grades and locations will be announced later.

U. S. D. A. TO BUY TABLE GRADE HONEY

The U. S. Department of Agriculture through the Fruit and Vegetable Branch of the PMA has announced that purchase will be made of up to 12 million pounds of domestically produced table grade honey of the 1947 production, for use in School Lunch and institutional feeding programs.

Prospective vendors, including beekeepers, associations of beekeepers assemblers, processors or their authorized agents, will be invited within the next few days to submit offers to sell honey. Purchases will be confined to honey meeting the requirements of U. S. Grade A and will be on a bid basis.

NOT MUCH FOOD IN THE FLOOD?

Statistics on flood and wind damage often tell how many acres of crops were destroyed but they do not tell how many future crops were washed away with the top-soil of the land that went down the river — or how much food was blown away in the wind.

E. H. Spoor, chairman of the California PMA committee, points out that it is startling to figure out the loss when the top-soil is removed from a farm. An inch of top-soil from nearly 5 million acres would be required to keep the Mississippi River dumping its annual load of 730 million tons into the Gulf of Mexico. If this erosion were limited to a certain million acres, it would take only a few years to strip this land down to the subsoil.

But, says the chairman, soil loss when thought of in terms of crops lost really becomes startling. A half a million acres of cropland destroyed each year by erosion actually means that so much vegetables, fruit, wheat, cotton, potatoes, pasture, beef, milk and eggs will not be produced. It is not just a loss for this year or next year but the loss goes on year after year.

The chairman points out, the point of vital concern to the Nation "is the 25 to 40 sacks of barley which can never be produced from the soil that is gone. It is the 200 sacks of potatoes per acre — the 20 sacks of wheat — the 3 or 4 tons of hay — that cannot be produced because the soil is not there. If the soil loss continues unchecked for a period of 10, 50 and 100 years, the results in terms of food are tremendous.

"It is potential food that goes down the river in the flood and blows away in the wind. It is the means of sustaining life — in a way it is life itself — which is lost. To check this loss is the real purpose of the Agricultural Conservation Program."

NO CHANGE IN EGG SUPPORT LEVEL

Government price suports for eggs sold in the Midwest continue during July at the same level as during May and June, the Department of Agriculture has announced. This means that firms selling dried eggs to the Department under its current programs must certify that they have paid producers prices reflecting an average of at least 35 cents a dozen for all shell eggs they buy.

IS YOUR FARM COMING OR GOING?

Are you driving your farm away from home? The question is raised by Roy L. Hall, chairman of the Orange Agricultural Conservation Committee. He points out that there may be a good fence around the place but unless the soil is treated it can jump the fence in a good wind or crawl under in a good rain. "The fence may still be there but the farm may be gone. And the part first to go is the top soil, the part from which come the crops."

And, according to the chairman, good top soil is getting away from most farmers every year. On some farms — where the land has been overworked and "underfed" — it may be getting away rapidly. Some soils erode easier than others. Some farms are on hillsides and gravity helps in the movement.

The Agricultural Conservation Program is helping farmers with soil and water conservation practices which do a lot to keep the farm home, the chairman points out. At this time of the year pasture improvement is specifically emphasized. He explains that it is not so much how many cows can be kept on a pasture after phosphate has been used as it is how much of the pasture can be kept on the farm instead of having it wash or blow away.

Improving the pasture so that it will keep more cows is important but it is also important to tie the land down with grass and legumes so they will be there indefinitely and keep on producing.

Across the slope plowing and cultivating, terraces where they are needed, trees for wind break, dams to stop the run-off, sod waterways, strip-cropping — all are conservation practices in the program which are set up to help farmers hold their land, the chairman points out.

LA HABRA NEWS

Miss Mary Ruth Logue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Logue of La Habra, became the bride of Warren Johnson of Fullerton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Johnson of Japton, Ark., in a lovely wedding solemnized Thursday evening, June 24, at 8 o'clock in the Brea Church of Christ. The double ring service was read by Lewis E. Dugger, minister of the Brea Church of Christ. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in the traditional white satin gown made en train, with square neckline and folds of satin below the waist, and trimmed with seed pearls. Her fingertip veil fell from a coronet of orange blossoms, and the bridal bouquet was of white stephanotis and gardenias with streamers of shower ribbons and stephanotis.

Mrs. Hazel Craig, matron of honor, wore pink frosted organdy and carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations. Miss Mary Beth Wood and Mrs. Norma Rill were bridesmaids. Miss Wood wore blue frosted organdy and carried a colonial bouquet of rose carnations. Mrs. Rill wore yellow frosted organdy and carried yellow carnations in a colonial bouquet. Gail Dugger and Maureen Hooten lighted the candles before the ceremony. Mrs. Carolyn Conner played appropriate music and accompanied Miss Marion Zinn who sang "Always" and "Because." The traditional wedding march from Lohengrin was played.

Robert Rill, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man, and ushers were Hershall Logue, brother of the bride, and Tommie Craig, brother-in-law of the bride. The church was decorated with white gladioli and larkspur and candelabra.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. The bride and bridegroom shared the first slice of the lovely three-tiered wedding cake. The table was decorated with white gladioli.

The bride's mother wore a floor length aqua gown with white accessories and a pink rose corsage. The bridegroom's mother was unable to be present. The bride chose as her traveling costume a navy suit with white accessories and the gardenias from her bridal bouquet. Following their honeymoon in northern California, the young couple will be at home at 418 South Malden, Fullerton.

The bride graduated from Fullerton Union high school. The bridegroom graduated from the State Vocational School, Huntsville, Ark., and served with the Amphibious Forces three years in the South Pacific.

"HANK" SAYS . . .

Gene B. Hutain, an Anaheim high school graduate who enlisted through my office last March, dropped in to see me the other day. He is home on a ten day furlough before reporting to Radio School at Scott Field, Illinois.

Gene was one of the many high school graduates who took advantage of the U. S. Air Force school plan, under which they can choose the school of their choice before enlisting. He completed the 13 weeks basic training and says he really learned a lot of things. The food is good; which I could see as he sure seemed well fed.

Saturday afternoons and Sundays are "free" time for the trainees. The field also has very complete recreational facilities and they are given passes to town as well. After graduating from the radio school, Gene will be assigned to some Air Force base for duty. His mother resides at 310 North Claudina street, Anaheim.

Another visitor I had was James R. Stephens, who is a veteran of World War II and who decided the Army had more to offer than civilian life. He reenlisted in his former grade of Sergeant last May and is well pleased with his assignment. He was really surprised to find the vast difference in the Army today and as it was in the past. He says the men are treated as individuals and given all the opportunity for advancement and choice of schools, assignments, etc., as it is humanly possible to do.

He was a former army photographer and is currently assigned to the Public Information Office on the post and is really putting to good use his former experience as a civilian newspaper man.

James has rented the home he recently bought at 9591 Moro place in Fuller Park and has his family with him at his assignment with the 4th Infantry Division at Fort Ord, California. They live a few miles from the post.

The above all adds up to one thing — the Army and the Air Force really have some very attractive offers for the veteran as well as the original enlistee.

Among this weeks enlistees in the U. S. Army are two 17 year old Atwood youths. They are George R. Berton, son of Mrs. George A. Berton and Frank H. Yalas. Both formerly were students at Anaheim Union high school and are presently undergoing basic training at Fort Ord, California.

The time is rapidly approaching when the applicant for enlistment will find that his particular choice of Armed Force Unit has been filled by other people who were just a little quicker on the trigger and got the good things just by being in early. Don't let this happen to you, come in and investigate today. Don't be one of the many that come in daily and see, "Gee, is this branch closed now, it wasn't last week and I really wanted in."

A recent enlistee in the U. S. Army is Luis P. Moncayo, Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Moncayo, 320 South Palm street, Anaheim, who chose the Corps of Engineers as his branch of service.

A job is an interesting and necessary topic these days, and I'd just like to ask you to compare the average civilian job's chances for advancement, retirement rights, take-home pay, opportunity for specialized technical training, and time off with what the new Army and Air Force offer. Come in and talk it over before you make any job commitments.

A former Air Force veteran has set his sights for a pilot's rating by enlisting this week for Aviation Cadet training in the U. S. Air Force. He is Charles A. Kitchens, 22, 9831 South Hanson street, Anaheim. Graduated from Anaheim Union high school in 1944, Kitchens attended Santa Rosa Junior College, Santa Rosa, for two years.

Upon successful completion of his cadet training course, Kitchens will be commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Air Reserve and will be placed on active duty for 2 years during which time he can compete for a regular Air Force commission.

Veterans of the Army or Air Force can now get their medals for the Asiatic-Pacific, and European - African - Middle Eastern Campaigns. M/Sgt. H. E. Loeffelhardt of the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force recruiting station, located at 128 South Los Angeles street has a supply of the medals at his office and veterans can get them there who served in those theatres. The original discharge is required.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
The Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson - Sermon on "God" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, is from Exodus: "I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before me."
In his Sermon on the Mount, as recorded by Matthew, Jesus counsels, "But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly . . . Use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking. Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him."

BIBLE COMMENT
FOR JULY 4

Apocryphal Books Bridge Israel Era Between Testaments

THERE are certain books, known as the Apocrypha, that were included in the "Authorized Version" of the Bible, the version that is most commonly used today, translated and issued in 1611 under the authority of King James I of England.

They have been omitted from the Old Testament as most of us know it. But they can still be found in many pulpit Bibles and in many of the large "family Bibles" that used to stand upon parlor tables.

To describe the Apocryphal books, or to discuss the issues concerning them, would be impossible here. But their chief and deep interest is in what they tell of the history and religious life of Israel during a great part of the 400 years between the periods of the Old Testament and the New.

It was a time of tragic happenings, bitter and ruthless struggles for mastery among those aspiring to rule, murders and assassinations, terrible persecutions and intense sufferings. But there are inspiring records of faith and courage on the part of those who dared to stand for their convictions and resist the powers that sought to corrupt and paganize the purity of the religion of Israel.

The Books of the Maccabees, particularly, tell of that brave resistance to the Hitler-like tyrants and dictators of that ancient day who sought with ruthlessness to pollute popular religion with pagan ideas and practices. That the true faith of Israel was preserved is evident in the remnant of noble and faithful souls in the time of Christ, like Simeon "waiting for the consolation of Israel."

But the faith was preserved at terrific cost. In the persecutions, 800 Pharisees, then the sect of the most earnest and sincere, were crucified in one day.

Yet the faith survived, and Israel has survived. The land of tragedy and glory is a land of tragedy again. What will the future bring forth? We may well say, "Pray for the peace of Jerusalem; they shall prosper that love thee."—(Psalm 122:6.)

Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "The Father in secret is unseen to the physical senses, but He knows all things and rewards according to motives, not according to speech." "God is not moved by the breath of praise to do more than He has already done, nor can the infinite do less than bestow all good, since He is unchanging wisdom and Love."

NEW CONTRACTOR

The Santa Ana Tile and Mantel Company, Rt. 5, Box 11342, Katella Ave., Anaheim, has qualified for a contractor's license in tile work, the Contractors State License Board announced today.

The American Legion's 16th annual Los Angeles Coliseum Fireworks Show July 4 and 5, the largest of its kind in the world, will get off to a booming start this year with Lt. Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, left, and Warner Bros. Actress Virginia Mayo here practicing their part of lighting the first giant display. Ronald Reagan, right, and other Warner Bros. stars will make personal appearances at the two-day show which will also feature an hour-long circus extravaganza and a Nash automobile as a program prize. Tickets may be obtained at all Thrifty Drug Stores.

Since World War II San Francisco has been serviced by three transcontinental railroads, 177 steamship lines, 30 truck lines, three air transport routes, and a trans-pacific air line.

Lumbering, still a great industry in Madera county, was started as early as 1874, and for many years the county had an annual cut of 50,000,000 board feet.

Rev. McCarroll Lecture Sunday

"Christ for the Nation," will be a special lecture given Sunday night by the Rev. Walter McCarroll, D.D., 406 East Walnut street, Santa Ana. The July 4, program will be illustrated by the Flannel-Graph, it was announced.

Rev. McCarroll is an ordained minister in the Reformed Presbyterian church of North America, (historically known as the Covenanter church). He is president of the southern California branch of the National Reform Association, whose primary purpose is "to undergird all specific reforms with the Christian principles of civil government."

The message has had a wide hearing throughout the country and has been presented at Ministerial Association meetings, church spokesmen stated.

HAVE BABY GIRL

CORNHUSKER PICNIC SET FOR JULY 10

Ten thousand Cornhuskers from southern California are expected to attend the annual summer Nebraska picnic, in Bixby Park, Long Beach, on Saturday, July 10. Last summer 92 of the 93 counties were represented and 144 towns in southern California were registered. Mayor Burton W. Chance, a Nebraskan, will welcome the picnickers. The celebration will highlight the special stamp voted by Congress commemorating the century date of Fort Kearney. Mrs. J. C. Reed, recently returned from Omaha, will bring Nebraska news. Registration will be by counties and all Nebraska badge wearers are entitled to free coffee, it was announced.

LICENSE TO WED

A marriage license was obtained by Rollo Dean West of Anaheim, and Barbara Jean Jones of Garden Grove, early this week, at the county court house in Santa Ana.

Proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Wilson of 9611 Valdena street, Anaheim, who welcomed a baby daughter weighing five pounds, 15 ounces, at Santa Ana Community hospital, Sunday.

ANNOUNCE ARRIVAL OF NEW GRANDSON

Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Fayette Lewis of Whittier and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ganahl of Anaheim, whose son and daughter, respectively, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Lewis of 1749 Aldridge, Whittier, became the parents of a son, Thomas Ganahl Lewis. Mrs. John Lewis is the former Nancy Ganahl. The infant arrived at Whittier hospital.

How Dealer Service Helps Sell Exchange Fruit

Two major jobs being handled by the Exchange Dealer Service men right now are...

(1) Getting soda fountains to put on special Sunkist fresh-fruit lemonade promotions; and
(2) Showing retailers how to sell more Exchange fruit through prominent display and reasonable margins of profit.

First of these jobs involves a new hand lemon-squeezer.

Developed by the Exchange to give soda clerks a handy gadget for making a single glass of lemonade—quickly! It's proving very helpful in removing their resistance to lemonade making.

Over 7,000 of these squeezers were placed in leading fountains by the Dealer Service staff last summer—and 10,000 will be given out this year. Bright new display material is going out, too.

The other job—getting retail dealers to give Exchange fruit maximum display and to sell at reasonable margins—is naturally a long-haul proposition. Yet this is the kind of educational work at which Dealer Service men particularly shine.

If you think of the Sunkist Dealer Service men only as fellows who tack up Sunkist signs and build displays of fruit, you're wrong! They're hand-picked men, carefully trained to represent the Exchange to the retail trade. Their most important work is to convey ideas.

When small sizes are a problem they emphasize small sizes. When lower retail prices would mean more sales and profits, they're the men who spread the word. And so on!

When you start outlining the reasons why a grower is better off in the Exchange, as your reporter has been doing lately in these columns, don't overlook the Dealer Service organization! Its work is vital. And no other citrus marketing organization has anything like it.
