Colony Quips

Calvin Coolidge, said in 1925, "No method of procedure has ever been devised by which liberty could be divorced from local self-government. No plan of centralization has ever been adopted which did not result in bureaucracy, tyranny, inflexibility, reaction and decline. While we ought to glory in the Union and remember that it is the source from which the states derive their chief title to fame, we must also recognize that the national administration is not and cannot be adjusted to the needs of local government. It is too far away to be informed of local needs, too inaccessible to be reponsive to local conditions. The states should not be induced by coercion or by favor to surrender the management of their own affairs."

Every man should occasionally ask himself if he is growing in mental stature. Some men at twenty and even earlier begin to manifest the ability that is in them.

As they turn the corner of each passing decade, you can see them grow. Others who show promise under favorable circumstances, wilt under adversity. Avarice calls one. Service another. Only the moron stands still. And finally as time pushes back the horizons there emerges the kind of a man his thoughts and deeds have created, for all the world to see.

The national passion for joining things was well illustrated by the late William Allen White who said that if three Americans fell out of a plane together, before they hit the ground they would be organized and have elected a president, a secretary and a treasurer.

A movie camera man found a way of timing the famous "long count" of the Dempsey-Tunney fight by clocking the film recording of it, says that Tunney was on the floor for 21 seconds. Well, it took 21 years to find out.

Thoughts along the road to the Windy City come to a person thick and fast and one with four arms could write them down and fill a column up easily between whistle stops. The difficulty is that we have to depend upon what we are pleased to call our mind and at this distance to confess a few limitations that would make us mad if they were called to our attention face to face. Here is one put down strictly for a more beautiful atmosphere along the road: Happy is the husband whose wife knows the limitations of her provider and neither goads him toward a goal he hasn't the capability to reach nor belittles his mentality in consequence. Man has no boon on this earth comparable to an understanding and charitable helpmate.

Nothing that the Democrats have done has been other than helpful to the Republican cause next November. The fighting, backbiting and pure unadulterated venom poured back and forth can not do anything but hurt their chances of success. They are a group dangerously divided in many ways with the many divisions still as far apart as the ends of the earth. (It would not do to say polls.) No matter how calm the surface appears the undercurrents are there and they are all at cross purposes. Dewey and Warren look like a winning ticket for the Republicans. The G.O.P. reversed its traditional policy in picking a standard bearer, previously defeated, but there was no stopping the smart crew behind the New York governor. Warren is a vote getter in his own right. He has never lost an election. Both candidates are sufficiently left of center and internationally minded to satisfy the so-called liberals. It looks like Truman will need a war to win.

Becomes Partner With C. B. Frank

The new partnership of James L. Morris of this city with Charles B. Frank, in Frank's general insurance business, Suite 304, Bank of America building, was announced this week. Morris will be in charge of the office during Frank's current vacation and business trip in the east.

Announcement of the new association was made by Frank just prior to his departure for the east coast last Saturday. He plans to be away for several months.

A resident of Anaheim for the past 29 years, Morris formerly was associatd with his father, William L. Morris, as a broker in the W. L. Morris insurance company.

A time extension of at least 15 minutes to the previously announced hour and on-half "Queen for a Day" show to be presented at La Palma Park, Friday night at 8:30 o'clock, under the auspices of the local Elks lodge was announced today by house manager Warren Ashleigh. The program will feature Jack Bailey and his entire cast.

One thousand dollars in prizes will be given away and all contestants and judges will be selected from the audience, lodge members stated.

Any profit from the program will go to charity. This program is broadcast regularly Monday through Friday at 11 o'clock in the morning over the Mutual network. Friday nights program will not be broadcast or transcribed.

Tickets to the show may be obtained at the Elks lodge, 423 North Los Angeles street; Heying's Pharmacy, 144 West Center street; Jackson Drug company, 237 East Center; Cotler's Apparel Shop, 158 West Center street, and Hurst Jewelery store, 119 West Center street.

Out-of-town residents may procure tickets at the Wilkinson drug stores, Fullerton and Buena Park, or Nielsen's Men's Store, Fullerton.

Last minute details released from Bailey's Los Angeles headquarters listed a fabulous array of prizes for the queen in addition to a full day and evening of events sounding like a chapter out of "Wonder-Wonder Land."

Some lucky woman from this vicinity to be selected from the audience will be chosen for the program here and with another queen to be chosen at Earl Carroll's Monday during the regular morning broadcast.

Friday's queen will receive a hat, a tailored suit, gloves, nylon hose, shoes, a dress, blouses, a Joan Castle pin, two dozen roses, a silver scepter, a Ronson Crown lighter and case, a formal gown, a string of Delta simulated pearls, an Air King bagless vacuum cleaner and attachments, a Speed Queen washer and many other items.

In addition to this finery, a shining limousine from the Tanner Motor Livery, Los Angeles, will call for the queen and a companion of her choice at their homes Monday morning. They both will be special guests at the Monday broadcast at Earl Carroll's.

Following the broadcast the queens will be given deluxe hair stylings and glamorization at the famed House of Westmore. Also scheduled is a tour of all major Hollywood motion picture studios with introduction to well known stars to be featured.

The party will conclude the evening with dinner at an exclusive establishment and a tour of Hollywood night spots after which the queen and her companion will be returned home in the limousine.

Rubel Takes on Duties of Late B. H. Crocheron

Chester W. Rubel will be acting director of the University of California Agricultural Extension Service, according to word received today by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg from Dr. C. B. Hutchison, Dean of the College of Agriculture, Berkeley.

Rubel succeeds B. H. Crocheron, former Extension director, who died recently. He came to the Agricultural Extension Service in 1915 to serve as farm advisor in Alameda County. He became assistant state leader of farm advisors in 1917 and has since built a wide acquaintance with farm families in the areas under his supervision in the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys.

Before joining the staff of the Agricultural Extension Service, Rubel taught animal husbandry at the California Polytechnical school at San Luis Obispo. He is a farm-born native of Iowa and graduate of Iowa State College.

Reno, Nevada, is farther west than Los Angeles, California.

Anaheimers were still talking today about last Friday night's "Philadelphia convention" banquet held at Santa Ana by the Orange County Republican Central committee to bring reports of the Quaker City nominating confab where Gov. Dewey and Gov. Warren were chosen as Republican running mates.

The affair, sold out far in advance of the dinner date, was attended by the capacity 250 persons, with many more jamming into the Ebell clubhouse to hear the after-dinner reports.

Mrs. Lelia Eastman, chairman of the central committee, and presiding officer, reported on preconvention organization of the California delegation of which she and Gordon X. Richmond of Orange were delegates. She stressed the unanimity of the delegation—it was all for Gov. Warren, and she told of the hectic times the individuals had in "buttonholing" other delegations in their attempts to swing support to California's favorite son.

Richmond, currently president of the California Republican Assembly, had been called east prior ot the convention to sit in on its resolutions and platform committee, to which he was appointed by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, its chairman.

Richmond became chairman of the subcommittee on western affairs, and thereby caused the platform committee's hottest arguments with his proposal that the platform include a plank favoring return of the oil-rich tidelands to the states. A U. S. Supreme court decision had given title to the tidelands to the federal government.

Richmond was able to ram the tidelands plank through to its adoption first by the committee and then by the convention.

It is, he said, of great interest to the Great Lakes states because certain interpretations put the question of ownership of their water frontages in doubt.

He noted that the Democratic platform does not have a plank favoring return of the tidelands to the states.

Much of Richmond's talk was devoted to his analysis of how Dewey captured the presidential nomination on the third ballot, which was unanimously cast for him. His first roll to victory came when his supporters won out in a battle over seating of rival delegations from Georgia, Richmond declared. California sided with the Dewey delegates on this, and so California's prestige was much increased.

Dewey's victory over Harold Stassen in the Oregon primaries likewise had much to do with his

Two Adults Are Among Recent Polio Cases

With the report of three new infantile paralysis cases in Orange county within the past week, Dr. Edward Lee Russell, county health officer, said the total number of cases of this dread disease in the county had increased to 12. At the corresponding date last year the total number was five.

"While the number of cases is substantially larger at thhs time than last year, we do not consider the situation in Orange county as critical yet," said Dr. Russell.

An unusual feature of the cases so far reported in Orange county this year is the high percentage of adults attacked by the disease. Of the three reported in the past week two were over 20 years of age. However young children still predominate.

Imperial and Orangethorpe To Be Extended

In answer to a query from the Gazette, the state highway department has sent to this office a map of the highway extension it proposes to make in northeastern Orange county.

While the map shows one extension carries Route 175 from Stern to a junction with Route 176 at Esperanzo, it actually is as eastward extension of Orangethorpe (or, as it is known at its eastward end, the Placentia-Yorba highway) to a southeastward extension of Imperial highway at Esperanzo. It would thus, as conjectured in this paper two weeks ago, eliminate "the worst grade crossing in California" on a busy highway. It doubtless would also result in a great increase in use by trucks of the Orangethorpe route between the harbor district and the interior of the state and thus relieve Anaheim streets of a great deal of this traffic.

The Orangethorpe extension would involve the improvement or rebuilding of what now is known as Esperanzo road from the Yorba railway crossing to the Santa Fe siding of Esperanzo, a distance of about two miles. Also contemplated in the state highway department plans is an extension of Imperial highway from its present terminus at Yorba Linda to a junction with the Santa Ana Canyon highway, a distance of about four miles. This extension would involve the construction of a bridge over the Santa Ana river at a point near Esperanzo.

The Gazette's Sacramento correspondent says that the project is still in the proposal stage and that surveys must be made and rights of way obtained before any work is done.

Lemon Prorate So Successful in State Exchange Would Apply It to Oranges

'Chest' Prize Goes To Local Woman

Elizabeth A. Lieb, 207 North Claudina street, Anaheim, won a 20 per cent Appreciation Day award valued at $20 during the big weekly "Treasure Chest" event in front of the Anaheim theater on Wednesday afternoon.

A consolation prize of a modern metal and ceramic table lamp, courtesy of Mahaffey and Fitz Furniture Company, went to John Andrade, 135 West Center street.

Not present to receive the main treasure chest award were T. Moldenhauer, 120 North Clementine street, Anaheim, 5 per cent; Virginia Lorn, Route 5, 9265 Katella road, Anaheim, 50 per cent; Mrs. Ella McCracken, Orange Trailer Park, 10 per cent; Mrs. P. A. Fuentez, 801 Carmelita road, Norwalk, 30 per cent; Mrs. E. H. Neiman, Route 4, 7421 Baxter, Anaheim, 20 per cent, and Sylvia Mapes, Angelina Hotel, Anaheim, 20 per cent.

Gabbert Stephens, KVOE, Santa Ana, announcer was master of ceremonies and Bill Thorneycroft, new general manager of Mahaffey-Fitz, assisted with arrangements.

IT'S A BOY!

A baby son arrived for Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Pyner, 119 West Francis street, La Habra, Friday, at Fullerton General hospital. The infant weighed eight pounds, nine and one-half ounces.

The first three months of operation under the new lemon marketing order which provides that all lemons, whether sold within or without the states of origin must have prorate allotment, show a total sales volume increase and sharply increased price returns. The new order became effective on March 28, this year.

"No one should attempt to give the present lemon marketing order the entire credit for the improved lemon market this year since so many elements affect sales volume and returns," stated Paul S. Armstrong, general manager of the California Fruit Growers Exchange. "Proponents of the new order have continually stated, however, that the order would mean better returns from California sales and help to stabilize the national market. Sales figures for the first three months prove they were right."

Exchange lemon sales for April, May and June show an increase of 347 cars over the same period a year ago. Prices for lemons sold in California show a 92 percent gain while prices obtained outside the state show a 28 percent increase. Total returns for lemons sold throughout the United States were almost 45 percent greater than a year ago.

Sales within California alone were 180 cars less than for the same period in 1947. Sales outside the state, however, were 527 cars greater, leaving a net gain of 347 cars.

City Mustn't Muss Plan for CNG Armory

The California National Guard looks with disfavor upon the suggestion that the armory it proposes to build at the east end of La Palma Park be enlarged by the City of Anaheim and at Anaheim's expense, it developed at the meeting of the city council Tuesday night. But National Guard officials are agreeable to internal changes in the prospective plans proposed by Anaheim City Engineer E. P. Hapgood reported.

A year-round recreation committee to act as a recreation advisory group and to hire a full-time recreation director was authorized by the council. The Anaheim elementary schools and the Anaheim Union high school will each provide 20 per cent of the resulting expense and the city will provide the remaining 60 per cent.

The Geiser company of Buena Park was awarded the contract for resurfacing Broadway. Walter Geiser, representing the company, offered to sign a contract providing for the beginning of work within 15 days of the signing of the contract and to complete the job in 30 days.

After considering it for a fortnight, the council approved a contract with the Crane Ambulance company under which the Crane company agrees to provide the city with the service of one ambulance 24 hours a day. The fee is $150 a month. Ernest R. Crane, owner, also operates the Northern Orange County Doctor's Exchange.

The Balsa Butchers, Anaheim's model airplane club, was granted permission to try out for 90 days the City of Fullerton's offer to rent the club a field within the Fullerton pumping plant grounds (which are within the Anaheim city limits). As spokesman for the club, Glen Sharp said the club would use mufflers on the models of members and provide them for

Orange Market Forges Ahead; Lemons Drop

The market for California Valencias did pretty well last week but there was a sharp break in the lemon market, for which unfavorable weather was blamed.

The sales volume of oranges was increased about 100 cars and the price was up about 19 or 20 cents over the preceding week. With last week's increase of about 51 cents a box, the average reached about $3.86 a packed box, f.o.b. At the corresponding date last year the average was $3.17.

Of last week's shipments 72 per cent was 252s and smaller.

Larger sizes showed an upward tendency the first of this week but 252s and smaller were bringing less money than the same sizes last week. Fancy 150s brought an average of about $7.65, delivered, Tuesday, compared to $7.42 at the same date last week; 176s brought an average of $7.50 while last week they averaged $7.38; 200s averaged $7.26 last Tuesday and $6.92 a week ago Tuesday; 220s averaged $6.53 on both days; 252s were down from $5.64 to $5.52 last Tuesday; 288s fell 18 cents to $4.78 last Tuesday and 344s brought $4.19 Tuesday compared to $4.44 a week earlier.

Prorate for next week was set by OAC at 1500 cars and probably will not exceed that figure for the remainder of the season.

The average price for all lemons of all grades and sizes in all markets last week was $5.44 a packed box, f.o.b., down $1.20 a box from the preceding week. Sales volume increased 12 cars over the preceding week. But there were lots of lemons in the market and as a consequence old and weak appearing lemons sold at a sharp discount while strong, fresh appearing fruit brought a good premium.

While the average last week declined $1.20 a box, the average was still about 28 cents a box higher than it was on the corresponding date last year.

Because of large supplies in the market, the Lemon Administrative committee cut the prorate for the current week to 525 cars, about the average for this time of year over the past three years.

Sales early this week were about

'Y' Boys Return From Osceola

One hundred six boys and 14 leaders have returned from Younger Boys camp at Osceola. The 8-day period was spent in wholesome activities including development of the spiritual, mental and physical phases. Early morning watch, individual cabin devotions and chapel under the towering pines furnished inspiration for the beginning of each new day.

After cabin cleanup and work period, recreation activities included swimming, horseback riding, hiking, softball, basketball, ping pong, badminton, horseshoes, tether ball, fishing, etc. Many boys spent hours in the craft lodge.

Food served by the Demarees was the best ever.

Group singing, skits and stunts by cabin groups, the Osceola Grumbler newspaper and inspirational stories made the evening campfire programs great fun. All these things combined, made this Younger Boys camp one of the best ever, according to Tommy Thomason, director of the camp and general secretary of the 'Y'.

Leaders and counsellors included the following: Bill Gathas, Gene Cranston, Ralph Alexander, Ronnie Lemcke, Jim Webb, Loren Herman, Don Schilling, Jerry Thatcher, Bill Bonney, Johnny McConough, Erdman Palmore of Anaheim, and Jack Murdy and Frank Powers of the beach area.

Another such camp is scheduled for August 27, but no more registrations can be accepted unless some cancel.

Young Republicans Meet August 26

Next general meeting of the Young Republicans of Anaheim and Fullerton is scheduled tentatively for August 26, at 7 o'clock in the evening at the Bagnall's ranch, Golden avenue and Caroline street, Placentia. This was was decided during an executive committee meeting at the home of Glen E. McCloud, 721 North Tokeka street, this city, Tuesday night.

The GOP group met also for tne purpose of selecting speakers for the forthcoming meeting when the Republican platform will be discussed. Highlight of the session is expected to be the re-apportionment bill which will be on the November ballot.

Among those present at the Tuesday session were John Harpster, president of the Anaheim Young Republicans, and Paul Huff, head of the Fullerton group.

NEW DAUGHTER

Proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Martinson, 750 North Claudina street, Anaheim, who welcomed a baby daughter Monday at St. Joseph's hospital, Orange. The tiny miss weighed seven pounds and one ounce.

Irvine Officials Say Exchange Should Try Selling Oranges Direct to Trade

A more satisfactory substitute for the fruit auction and the elimination of the fruit jobber from the citrus marketing picture has been advocated ever since those institutions were developed whenever the price of citrus fruits are unsatisfactory.

But Charles J. Cogan, sales manager of the Irvine company has just offered a specific substitute for these institutions and has suggested that it be given a trial at some big market like Chicago.

His proposal was made at the monthly meeting of the citrus department of the Orange County Farm Bureau at its meeting last weekend. It was that the California Fruit Growers Exchange set up its own warehouse in some big middlewestern market where the industry should set the price, instead of having it set in the open auction, and pass its fruit out directly to wholesalers and retailers instead of having it pass through the hands of jobbers who, he said, sometimes add as much as $2.50 a box to the price.

Cogan thought unsatisfactory prices could also be avoided by keeping 344s and smaller off the fresh fruit market, sending the small sizes instead to processors. To support his advice, Cogan said he had traced about 15 cars of fruit from Orange county to eastern markets and calculated the fruit would have averaged $100 more per car if the fruit had been sent to processing plants at $25 a ton. Certain cars he picked out returned less than the cost of getting the fruit to market. In these cases the difference between the cost of marketing the fruit and the return came out of the pocket of the grower.

The cost of getting the fruit from the tree to the auction market is $3.21 a box, he said. If the fruit sells at less than $3.21 the grower must dig into his pocket to make up the difference. In one auction alone Cogan said he had noted in a 24 day period sales representing a total of $106,000 in red ink.

The California Fruit Growers Exchange estimated that when cultural costs are included, the grower of oranges and not as an $4.78 per box before he earns any profit. Very few 344s and no 392s shipped so far this season, Cogan said, have sold for this much.

Cogan, who made it clear that he was speaking as an individual grower or oranges and not as an official of the Irvine company, suggested that his idea be perfected by a committee of Orange county growers and then be presented to the officers of the California Fruit Growers Exchange. He said he was sure, from talks he had with General Manager Wilcox and Assistant General Manager Wilcox, that the proposal would be given serious attention.

Portola Party Greeted Here By Program of Singing and Dancing

Don Gaspar de Portola and his doughty party (or a reasonable facsimile thereof) which opened California to Spanish colonization were guests of Anaheim yesterday and today.

The party of horsemen, which had grown from a low point of 14 to 21 members when it reached Anaheim, is following as nearly as modern conditions will permit the route which the original Portola party opened 179 years ago in its celebrated ride from San Diego to San Francisco. The trek is part of California's three-year celebration of the centennial of its birth.

After plodding up Highway 101 from Santa Ana the cavalcade was met at the corner of Vermont avenue and Los Angeles street by city and Chamber of Commerce officials and escorted to La Palma park where the visitors camped until noon today when they took up their progress northward. They were scheduled to camp tonight at La Habra.

Led by a motorcycle escort provided by Anaheim the party moved into Anaheim flying the flag of ancient Spain, behind which rode the figure representing Don Gaspar. After him in order came the two representatives of the original friars who have left a history of the march which is carefully preserved in California archives, officers in uniforms, Catalonia soldiers and finally the "soldats de cuerna" in leather jackets and bearing bull hide shields. By the time the party reached Anaheim its members were as tanned and bewhiskered and their dress as dusty and travel-stained as were those of the members of the original Portola party.

Behind the horsemen was the jeep-drawn, golden float of the California Centennial. And behind the float were 10 members of the Boots and Saddles club of Costa Mesa, followed by a motorcade.

The cavalcade was paraded to La Palma park where the visitors pitched camp, picketing their horses on the vacant lot across Palm avenue.

Here at 7 p.m. the Rythm Riders of Orange county, with Wayne Hart of Buena Park as manager, Felix Cole as assistant manager and Johnnie Lane of Long Beach as caller, present two sections of a square dance on horses.

With Ross Lee Laird as master of ceremonies and Leonard Schwacofer, deputy grand president of the Native Sons of the Golden West, as narrator, the formal cere-

Moral: Don't Spank Children Next Door

It seems to be all right with the law if you spank your own children—in moderation. But you mustn't spank the children of your neighbors. Stanley W. Lewis, 1020 North Olive street, learned this when City Judge Bonnat fined him $75 on a charge of battery. Lewis was charged by Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Wimberly, 1012 North Olive street, with spanking their son, Garry, about 3 years old, good and red. Judge Bonnat suspended $50 of Lewis' fine and he paid the rest.

Officers to serve in the coming Community Chest drive will be elected from representatives of the seven agencies supported by the local organization next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the council chambers of the city hall with outgoing chairman Charles A. Pearson presiding, it was disclosed during a meeting Friday night in the council chambers at which seven representatives-at-large from the community were named tentatively to head the 1948-49 drive.

Representatives elected to serve as delegates-at-large Friday, included John Shea, Arval Morris, Walter Taylor, Marie Roquet, Everett Cone, Clyde Nickle and Wayne Griggs.

Pearson presided at the meeting which was attended by 30 contributing members. He indicated that press of business would prevent his serving again this year.

Outgoing representatives are Oscar Renner, Salvation Army; Dave Collins, YMCA; Mrs. Mabel Spencer, YWCA; Mrs. Leroy Ater, Girl Scouts; Mrs. Mae LeVecke, Catholic Welfare Bureau and Gilbert T. Bottger, Teen Canteen.

Representatives-at-large for the concluding term present at the session were Chairman Pearson, J Ben Kaulbars, Harry I. Horn and H. G. Schmelzer. Absent were John Shea, Edward Power and Howard Loudon, Jr.

Draft to Get Estimate 12,564 County Youths

Orange county will be served by three draft board which will be numbered 133, 134 and 135, it has been announced by the state director Col. Kenneth H. Leitch. It is estimated that 12,564 men between the ages of 18 and 25 will register with the three boards in this county.

Santa Ana has been designated as headquarters for all three boards.

There are 144 draft boards in the state and it is estimated the number of men between 18 and 26 is 653,000. Registration dates are from August 30 to September 18.

No determination has been made as to what method will be used for the registration. Leitch said this would be announced as soon as it has been worked out. During the first draft of world war II, the state's election machinery was utilized to register 980,000 persons in one day.

The draft boards, in most counties are bounded by the county line. However, in the larger areas, boundaries were determined on a basis of one board for every 100,000 population. The boundaries in these areas have been announced except in general terms.

Public Schools Local Responsibility

One might almost be expected to believe that education of the youth of the country is a national political issue in 1948.

Government statistics show that in 1870 illiteracy in the United States was 20 per cent. The average per cent of illiteracy among native whites in the United States is less than two per cent.

To say that the support of local schools is not the responsibility of the communities in which children live is dodging the issue. It is just as much the duty of parents in small districts to send their children to school as it is to put clothes on their backs and food in their stomachs.

The trouble that exists in nearly every part of the Uinted States is the growing demand that the national government must furnish the means and money to carry on all kinds of civic responsibilities, including paying the teachers and all the school expenses.

The Federal Government cannot—and will not—do a better job for public schools than local communities.

The government has not been stingy in its aid of public educational institutions, even though Federal aid and assistance is demanded in nearly every section of the country.

Supposing there are 90,000 one-room schools in this country—what's the answer?

That answer was found a great many years ago when school buses appeared upon the highways and carried pupils to and from consolidated schools, that are now in operation in the United States. The American public is carrying on an adequate school system, and there is no reason why they should shirk their duties by failing to keep their schools in operation.

The states give a good deal of help to support and maintain public schools—and that's the way it should be. A very moderate local tax system has always kept our schools up-to-date.

The National Education Association, meeting at Cleveland, rounded up three thousand teachers and school and college officials and made a demand upon the President of the United States to summon a special session of Congress to pass legislation voting three hundred million dollars in Federal aid to education. That was carrying things too far.

The nation believes in the public school system and local communities must continue to manage their own business. Local government belongs to local communities that can do a good deal better job than "brass hats" down in Washington.—J. E. Jones, National Industries News Service.

Fight for Health

Parents throughout the state can take heart from the news that all the resources of modern medicine are being marshalled against infantile paralysis. Overworked though our doctors, nurses and hospital staffs are, we know that with the help of the entire community they will conquer this dread scourge.

But it should not take an epidemic to bring united community action to fight disease. Parents who have been forced to stand by helplessly while their children have been stricken by polio can demand: "Why weren't we prepared for this? Why don't we have enough dactors, nurses and medical facilities to meet any emergency?"

We cannot brush the questions of these sorrowing parents aside. They must be answered. We must face the issue squarely:—What are we going to do to insure adequate medical care for all, both in normal times as well as in emergencies?

We have no glib solution to offer. It is obvious that no real solution will be reached except through the combined efforts of doctors and laymen, of federal and local government. That is the only way to secure adequate medical care for all and yet avoid the dangers of socialized medicine.

Two excellent starts have been made toward workable pay-as-you-go medical care programs which would be run by the doctors and laymen in each locality. On the state level, we refer to Governor Warren's proposal. But even more inclusive and perhaps better geared to the national solution of a national problem is the National Health Insurance bill, S. 1320. This measure would enable the people in every state to secure complete medical care from the doctor and hospital of their choice.

What commends the National Health Insurance bill particularly is its sensible approach to the problems of state and federal cooperation. This measure would leave full control with the people in each locality.

Our doctors and scientists are doing everything they can to end epidemics like infantile paralysis. Now it is up to us to find the way to bring the miracles of their research within the reach of all. Only when we have some form of health insurance will we really be conquering epidemics and disease.

White House Versus Congress

The recent Decomratic National Convention nominated Harry S. Truman because the delegates thought that he might win the election. Unpredictable Truman issued an immediate call for an extra session of Congress to pass legislation that he demands.

Of course the President and everybody knows that Mr. Truman cannot lead this Congress. That fact has been demonstrated this year of 1948. The President's vetoes were overridden by the votes of both the Democrats and Republicans in the two legislative branches.

Walter Lippman, an outstanding commentator, reported a few days ago: "Mr. Truman's actions are not those of a man who wants Congress to legislate but of a man who wants to spite Congress because he has figured it out that he can do better againt Martin, Taber, Allen and Halleck than against Dewey and Warren." Every intelligent citizen in the United States cannot help but admit that the world's "United Nations" and our United Nation are not carrying on successfully.

In any event the Associated Press has a new tag for what it calls "Dixiecrat ticket," and it reports that President Truman likely will lose the support of six southern states in the November election, viz: Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina, Florida, Georgia and Tennessee.

No senator or representative in Washington, regardless of whether he is a Democrat or Republican expects President Truman to control Congress by telling it what to do. The Congress is an independent branch of the government and in that capacity it has defeated President Truman's recommendations in many cases—and even rounded up two-thirds majorities in the Senate and House that overrode his vetoes. Democrats joined Republicans in those crack-down affairs.—J. E. Jones, National Industries News Service.

Another church. We are informed that efforts are being made by the Episcopal portion of the community to erect a church edifice. The Rev. Mr. Loop of San Gabriel was in town on last Sunday, but owing to the illness of his child, was prevented from bringing the subject prominently before the public. It is his intention during the latter part of the present month to hold religious services in Anaheim, the Presbyterians have kindly offered him the use of their building. During his visit here at that time he will investigate the probabilities of securing the funds necessary to erect a suitable building.

One of the institutions of Los Angeles city is the public library, founded some months ago. It is a child of the people, originated and supported by them, and has proved already of incalculable benefit in offering to all but more particularly to young men, a pleasant place for recreation, amusement and instruction. Through the kind assistance given the undertaking by Gov. Downey, Dr. Griffin and other public spirited citizens of Los Angeles, much of its present prosperity is indebted, yet one cannot refrain from expressing the belief that in its arrangement and management, the institution has prospered by having secured the services of the gentlemanly and courteous librarian, J. C. Littlefield.

Sin Se Wan invoked the aid of the law to recover from another chinaman the sum of ten dollars, alleged to be due for board. The witnesses being all natives of the Flowery Kingdom, and no interpreter could be had, it was impossible for Kohler to decide intelligently, but having great confidence in his powers as a physiognomist, he gave judgment for Sin Se Wan, being convinced from the honest expression of his feature, that his claim was just.

Owing to an attack of ptomaine poisoning caused by eating Seattle crabs, all of President Harding's itinerary through southern California has been cancelled. He is now at San Francisco undergoing treatment, and as soon as he is able to travel it is expected he will leave by train for Washington. There is a possibility that he may recuperate in a day or two and be able to resume his journey by water, going home by way of the Panama canal, but his physicians will probably think otherwise. There is much disappointment in southern California and also much concern lest his condition prove more serious than has been reported. E. A. Beard, manager of the telephone company, a relative of the president, was at the Remsberg home in Santa Ana, Sunday, and states that Mrs. Remsberg and her two daughters decided to leave for San Francisco Monday after getting a message from the north. Mrs. Remsberg stated, however, that the news she received was not alarming.

The assessed valuation of Anaheim school district during the past year increased from $7,433,340 to $8,448,605. Most of the districts in the county gained, but some show a loss. Fullerton dropped from $15,009,000 to $12,330,000, while Huntington Beach jumped from $9,336,000 to $20,585,000.

Zanjero Charles Stom was walking on the dam at the Tuffree resgervoir one day recently when he saw an animal running along. His dog gave chase and the animal prepared to do some biting, so Mr. Stom secured a stick and killed it. The animal was found to be an opossum. The finding of such an animal is extraordinary. The neighbors had lost at least eighty chickens and they blame the loss to the opossum.

Nick Theodore and Miss Lucille Stevens were married Thursday evening in the Greek church in Los Angeles and have gone to Catalina for a month's outing and upon their return will reside in this city. Mr. Theodore is one of the proprietors of the Anaheim Laundry and is one of the city's most prosperous young businessmen.

J. Frederick Ahlborn and Miss Myrtle Owen motored over to Riverside Saturday and were married. Mr. Ahlborn has for many years been one of Anaheim's most prominent citizens, having retired after eight years as postmaster, only a month ago. His bride was formerly an employee of the First National Bank. They will probably make their home in this city.

Secretary Fraser of the Chamber of Commerce, has notified P. G. Allen, who was engaged to construct the Orange county float for the Harding parade, that the order is cancelled. There will be no parade and no necessity for a float.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wright went down to Balboa Sunday to visit Mr. Wright's parents. Their children who have been staying with their grandparents returned home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. K. Humbert, Miss Janice Humbert and Mrs. G. H. Bailey arrived from Phoenix, Arizona, some days ago and will spend some time visiting with friends and relatives on the coast. On their way over from Phoenix they were held up for 24 hours by a cloudburst, which caused a great flood of water several hundred feet wide. Twenty cars were held up and one was washed away and wrecked. When the flood had somewhat subsided, ropes were attached to the cars and they were hauled across, the water being too deep to permit of their operation on their own power. After making the crossing the journey to Los Angeles was continued without mishap. Three days were consumed in making the trip.

WASHINGTON AS SEEN

By Congressman
JOHN PHILLIPS

When I ended last week's letter, I said I would talk more about this matter of the Congress being "committed" by some action from outside, either by the U. S. representative on the UN, or by the President, or by the head of some department, or even by one body of the Congress, before the other body has acted. I will use the ECA appropriation and discussion for the example, this week.

The Foreign Affairs committees of both Houses brought out bills which were finally combined, passed and signed by the President, AUTHORIZING the expenditure of NOT MORE THAN $6,098,000,000 divided among four titles, as follows: For ERP, which the people spoke of as the "Marshall Plan," $5,300,000,000, of which however, $1,000,000,000 was to come from the sale of Treasury notes, and not from direct appropriations; for the children's aid organization, $6,000,000; for the Greek-Turkish fund, $275,000,000 and for China $463,000,000.

This was the regular procedure. It didn't COMMIT the Congress, nor the committee, to any exact amounts. It set the top figures, over which the Committee on Appropriations could not go without additional authorization. Member after member, in both House and Senate, including the distinguished Senator from Michigan, Mr. Vandenberg, got up and said they wouldn't have voted for the authorization bill, without much more detailed information, if it were not that this bill, like all money bills, would have to go to the committees on appropriations, where the figures would get careful scrutiny.

After the authorization bill was signed, not only were reports and anlyses available that hadn't been seen before, but the State Department changed its requests, and conditions changed. The final bill allowed $4,000,000,000 for ECA, which had in the meantime changed its name, plus an item of $55,000,000 which came through in another appropriation bill; the childrens' organization got $35,000,000; the Greek-Turkish fund had $225,000,000 added, and $400,000,000 was included for China. However, through the entire time of consideration by the committee, there was a well directed propaganda campaign, joined in by many innocent citizens, to pressure Congress to give the "full amount" which had appeared in the authorization bill, on the grounds that the United States had "committed itself."

If this column had a theme song, it would set to music the repeated reminder that the United States of America is a REPUBLIC, the strongest form of government in the world, by proof, not just by patriotic expression. If we are to preserve the Republic, we must understand its procedures.

The principal minerals of Michigan are coal, natural gas, petroleum, cement, iron ore, copper gypsum and silver.

HOW TO SET UP HOUSEKEEPING ..telephone style

1. Building a home for telephone equipment is a big and complex job. The framework must be extra massive to carry heavy loads and resist shock. To make room for equipment, the stories are taller, too. This new building, larger than most but of typical construction, has fifteen floors...yet it's as high as a twenty-story building.

2. The "furniture" for our telephone home is the equipment needed to handle your calls. Manufacturing and installing it takes time...and lots of money. Your new telephones can't get to work without it, so we're putting in equipment, constructing buildings, and providing other facilities to the tune of over half a million dollars a day.

3. A lot of close, exacting work is still ahead. Thousands of tiny connections must feel the heat of a soldering iron before new equipment can handle your calls. Scenes like this are common in telephone offices all over the Coast today as we build and expand—in the face of high costs—to meet the West's growing needs.

4. Where does the money come from? Millions of new working dollars...needed to extend and improve service...must come, not from telephone bills, but from thousands of people who put their savings to work in the telephone business. To attract these working dollars, we must pay a reasonable amount for their use. This depends on the sale of our services at fair and adequate prices.

Jean Seekins-Robert Woodbury Wed in Formal Church Ceremony

Gowned in white satin, Miss Jean Elizabeth Seekins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Seekins, 118 North Palm street, Anaheim, became the bride of Robert Lee Woodbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Woodbury, 808 North Olive street, this city, last Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the sanctuary of the White Temple Methodist church with the Rev. Rollo E. Dunham, pastor of that church, assisted by the Rev. Al Casebeer, pastor of the Church of Christ, reading the double-ring ceremony.

The young couple repeated their marriage vows before an altar arranged with tall baskets of white gladioli and blue delphinium and lighted cathedral candelabra.

The bride's satin gown was fashioned with a deep "V" cuffed neckline, long fitted sleeves coming to a point at the wrist, fitted bodice and skirt ending in a train. Her full-length veil of bridal illusion cascaded from a dainty crocheted crown. Traditional sentiment was found in a lace handkerchief carried by a close relative, Mrs. Marie Strong, at her wedding 43 years ago.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations surrounding dark pink roses blended with pink tulle.

The bride's two sisters served as her attendants. Miss Phyllis Seekins, wearing Nile green taffeta, was the maid of honor, and Miss Shirley Seekins, attired in maize taffeta, her bride's maid. Each carried a colonial nosegay bouquet of white and pink gladioli and blue delphinium.

Miss Nancy Seekins, youngest sister of the bride, was the flower girl. Attired in a frock of pink taffeta, she carried a basket of rose petals.

Candlelighters were Patricia Seekins of Compton, cousin of the bride, and Naomi Stulz of Long Beach. They wore gowns of pale yellow net and white crepe respectively.

Serving as best man was Ted Fischbach. Ushers included Keith Mahoney and Dale Horton, cousin of the bridegroom.

Albert M. Cranston, uncle of the bride, was the prenuptial soloist. Accompanied by his daughter, Marjorie Cranston at the organ, he sang "Because," "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Immediately following the ceremony, the reception was held in the home of the bride's parents on North Palm street. For the occasion, Mrs. Seekins, the bride's mother, chose a formal gown of grey shadow sheer contrasting with pink accessories. Mrs. Woodbury, the bridegroom's mother, wore an aqua blue gown and matching accessories.

Assisting with reception duties were Mrs. Albert Cranston, Mrs. Charles A. Holiday and Mrs. Floyd Seekins of Compton, the bride's aunt.

After cutting and sharing the first piece of their three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom standing in a wedding bell, the young couple left for a short honeymoon of undisclosed destination. They will reside at 321 South Lemon street.

For traveling the bride chose a blue-grey pin stripe suit worn with pink accessories and the rose corsage from her wedding bouquet.

The bride is an alumnus of Anaheim Union high school, class of 1948. Her bridegroom is a baker at Knott's Berry Farm Steak House. He attended Anaheim Union high school and served in the Navy for 18 months during the recent war.

The bone-handled cake knife used to cut the wedding cake at the reception was sent by Mrs. R. W. Hargrave, Sr., of Carrington, North Dakota. It has been used by 15 other brides at their receptions.

A recent pre-nuptial bridal shower was given in the Seekins' home with the Misses Phyllis Seekins, Alice Prentess and Joyce Siefkin the hostesses. Refreshments were served buffet style to the 25 guests present. Mrs. Woodbury presided at the coffee urn. The table was decorated with pink roses and tall lighted tapers tied with satin ribbons.

Return from Utah Vacation

A nine-day vacation and fishing trip in Utah was enjoyed by a party of Anaheim residents who returned here in two cars plus two trailers loaded with camping equipment Sunday night.

Those on the excursion included Dutz Hilbers and his wife, Vera Jean, and son, Gary; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Held and two children, and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Gamble.

The group camped at Panguitch, Utah, where they visited Beaver Dam. They also viewed sights of Zion and Bryce Canyons and Cedar Breaks.

Enough rainbow trout for four meals were caught with live bait, Hilbers stated. The fish averaged three-quarters of a pound each, he added.

Saville Family At Balboa Island

Word was received this week from the Rev. John Kimball Saville, pastor of St. Michael's Episcopal church, who is enjoying a two-week vacation at Balboa Island with his family.

His younger daughter, Deborah, calls the ocean a "big bath" and Susan, her elder sister, is learning to swim with the aid of a junior life jacket, the pastor commented.

Of the picture post card received, showing several commercial fishermen cresting a wave in an open boat, Rev. Saville said, "See me in this picture! I'm holding the biggest fish!"

He will return here to deliver the regular morning sermon next Sunday. The Rev. William J. Hatter of Santa Ana has been the vacation pastor at St. Michael's.

Welcome New Club Officers

New officers of the 20-30 Anns were introduced by Mrs. Reese Baker, outgoing president, during the regular monthly meeting held recently with Mrs. Odra Chandler the hostess at her Ellsworth street home, this city.

Mrs. Ralph Spencer, president, and Mrs. Anthony J. Onton, secretary and publicity chairman, and Mrs. Paul Bruce, treasurer, will serve for the coming term.

Other members present included Mesdames Jack Gledhill, Albert Mittman, Les King and Grant Stiner. A guest, Mrs. Gordon Ferguson, who will be initiated into membership at the next meeting, was introduced.

Plans for future projects include participation in the radio show, "Women are Wonderful" and the selling of greeting cards. All proceeds will go toward charitable activities.

Following the business session, members completed a number of pillow slips for veterans hospitals, to be distributed by the local Red Cross chapter.

Refreshment of dessert and coffee were served during the evening by Mrs. Chandler.

Carroll Milbrat, Orange Man Wed By Candlelight

Radiant in a gown of ivory slipper satin, Miss Carroll Marie Milbrat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar C. Milbrat, 13041 Chapman avenue, Anaheim, became the bride of Ralph Thomas Saez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Saez, East Chapman avenue, Orange, last Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church, Orange, with Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, pastor, reading the double-ring ceremony.

The young couple repeated their marriage vows before an all-white altar arranged with baskets of gladioli and delphinium with lighted cathedral candelabra.

Her veil was caught to a crown of pearled orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of hybrid delphinium and bouvardia centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Don Miller the bride's sister, was matron of honor, wearing a pale aqua gown of colonial design with a fitted bodice and full skirt. She carried a nosegay of pastel pink carnations and Los Angeles rosebuds blended with satin ribbon.

Other attendants to the bride were Mrs. Robert Fogarty and Mrs. Ernest Eckhoff. Both wore champagne-colored gowns of identical design to that of the matron of honor. Each carried a pink nosegay tied with blue satin ribbon.

Pre-nuptial soloist, John La Monica of Santa Ana sang two selections, "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Alan Reville, church organist.

The reception was held in Memorial hall immediately following the ceremony and was attended by more than 300 guests. The decorations were white Shasta daisies.

The bride's mother wore a blue and white print dress with white accessories and a white shattered carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a pastel print dress, black accessories and a pink shattered carnation corsage.

Miss Martha Roustan, a cousin of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Don Miller served the cake, Mrs. Robert Fogarty presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Ernest Eckhoff poured coffee. Others assisting were Mrs. Clara Bachle and Mrs. Beulah Munhall.

After cutting and sharing the first piece of their five tiered wedding cake, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip in the vicinity of Sequoia National park. They will reside in Orange.

For traveling, the bride chose a white dress of light wool and gold and white accessories. The bride is a graduate of Orange Union high school, Fullerton Junior college and UCLA, plus one year of post-graduate work at that university.

'Life With Father' Big Success at Holiday Stage

"Life With Father," hilarious drama of the Day family written by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse, had its west coast premier by a non-New York company Monday night as presented by Holiday Stage in the Tustin high school auditorium. The show will continue this week through Saturday at 8:30 p.m. plus a 2:30 o'clock Saturday matinee.

Donald Curtis stars as the bombastic and strongly opinionated father who somehow is cajoled into whatever mother, played by Mary Finney, decides is best.

Their four red-haired sons are portrayed by Don Quinn, "Clarence;" Victor Auer, "John;" Curtis Auer, "Whitney," and Carl Auer, "Harlan."

Authentic stage set of the Day living room where all action takes place is by Norman Mennes. Harold Turney is stage director for all the professional summer stock company's productions.

GIVE BRIDAL SHOWER IN LAGUNA BEACH

Charter Boat Parties Troll For Albacore

Varied fishing was reported by two charter boat parties of Anaheim Izaak Walton members who trolled for albacore Tuesday out of Newport Beach harbor.

Bill Wallop was in charge of a party of 16 aboard the "Happy Landing," 45-foot craft, out of King's Landing, skippered by Ernie Lane. A party of ten was aboard the "Mary Anne" out of Port Orange with L. N. Wisser in charge.

It seems the "Happy Landing" made a happy choice by turning west at the Fourteen Mile banks. John Mary won the King's Landing $500 prize for a 24 pound 13 ounce albacore. Third place winner was Sully Roquet who caught a 22 pound albacore. The second placer was a harbor man. A total of 14 sizeable albacore was boasted by the party.

Aboard the "Mary Anne" only one albacore was sighted by the group of ten which turned east at the Fourteen Mile Banks. White sea bass and halibut were taken, however. Top honors went to Sam Loard who caught a 14 pound bass. The take was small but numerous, Wisser stated.

Skipper Lane of the "Happy Landing" gaffed a 150 or 160 pound shark which had clipped three of eight albacore on lines simultaneously, Octave Roquet commented. Roquet hauled in one 19 pounder hand over hand after his reel broke, he said.

on a level with last week and were expected to remain so until weather grows hotter in the consuming centers.

Reports from the east indicated last week California Valencias were receiving prominent mention in retailers' advertisements. But so was canned orange juice. Kroger, one of the big eastern chain markets, advertised two 46 ounce tins of orange juice for 45 cents. And Florida was still in the Philahelphia and New York markets with a few cars of its big Valencias which averaged $3.65 delivered.

Lemon sales for June set an all-time on dollar returns, totaling almost $7 million, more than a million and a half dollars ahead of June last year. Sales for the month were 108 less than all-time volume record set in June, 1941, but the f.o.b. average for that month was $3.22.

Field men of the Orange Administrative committee say the southern California orange crop is picking out heavier than the estimate of a total of 52,500 cars but they expect eliminations to be heavier as the season advances.

Portola Party Greeted Here

monies began at 8 p.m. in the park. Fullerton joined with Anaheim in acting as hosts to the visitors. In a dance program by students of the Richards-Martin studio, Janice Sargent presented "La Calasaria" and going into the dance known as "Elanantone" and Sally Newlin and Carol Hooker danced the Mexican hat dance. Mrs. Less Sargent was accompanist. Frank Morena, editor of Accion, Orange county's Spanish-language newspaper published at Fullerton, presented a program which included the Placentia Singers trio, Wesley Mendoza, singer; Ina Ybarra, Lydia Duran and Tillie Elias, dancers, and Huas Marquez, singer. This program was followed by an old fashioned Spanish bailie.

In their progress from Anaheim to La Habra through Fullerton the Portola trek was escorted by members of the Anaheim Riding Club.

In addition to Orange county officials the Portola party was met here by reporters and photographers from Los Angeles papers.

DR. EUGENE S. BRIGGS
New President of Lions International

Lions Choose University Chief As New President

Eugens S. Briggs, Enid, Oklahoma, is the new president of the International Association of Lions Clubs. He was elected by unanimous vote at the 31st annual convention of the Association which closed in New York today. Briggs succeeds Fred W. Smith, of Ventura.

The convention concluded one of the most successful years in the history of Lions International, according to the report made by the Secretary-General and founder of the Association, Melvin Jones, of Chicago. He reported the formation of 819 new Lions Clubs and the addition of 31,696 men to the roster of the association in the twelve months period ended June 30, 1948, for a total of 6,808 clubs and 358,144 members. He stated also that during the year Lions Clubs were established in four additional countries: Sweden, Switzerland, Chile and Newfoundland.

Briggs, in accepting the presidency, said: "Peace is the number one problem of today. It is the first obligation against our efforts and resources. It is the primary obligation of our generation. Since Lions International is vitally interested in every constructive movement for world peace and good will around the world, it shall be our unwavering purpose to see to it that well-qualified representatives of our organization attend all meetings of Specializzed Agencies of the United Nations, such as UNESCO, if it appears that we can be of service in charting a way to better international undertsanding.

Dr. Briggs is president of Phillips University in Enid.

Cypress Snake Zoo To Open Again Sunday

Decision as to what shall be done with the snakes and other reptiles in the Cypress zoo of Mrs. Grace Wiley who died last week after being bitten by a cobra awaited the reading of her will.

Meantime the zoo is being cared for by Wesley Dickenson who was associated for a decade with Mrs. Wiley is her venture. Mr. Dickenson said several offers had been made for certain specimens in the zoo since Mrs. Wiley's death, but nothing could be done toward accepting any of these offers until the inheritance tax appraiser had an opportunity to place his valuation upon the collection. This valuation, Mr. Dickenson predicted, would be but a small fraction of the valuation of the collection published in some southern California newspapers. He said the total would be under $5,000.

A collection of snakes which had been started by air express from Australia before news of the death of Mrs. Wiley reached there arrived at the Cypress zoo Monday. The shipment included a pair of giant blue-tongued skinks and a tiger snake. The skinks are non-poisonous and are valued by collectors for their vivid blue tongues which contrast sharply with their grey skins. But the tiger snake, Mr. Dickenson said, is regarded as the most poisonous reptile in the world. There are about 200 species of poisonous snakes in Australia, he said, but the tiger alone is responsible for half the deaths from snake bite on that continent.

The Wiley zoo will be open again to the public next Sunday, Mr. Dickenson said. At that time the new specimens, including the skinks and the tiger snake will be on exhibition.

Kuchel Finds State's General Fund Has Grown $30,000,000 in Past Year

California's general fund took in almost half a billion dollars during the year ending last June 30, and after paying current obligations, had 30 million dollars more cash than it had one year ago, according to State Controller Thomas H. Kuchel.

While general fund receipts were thus increasing, Kuchel pointed out, specific revenue receipts, such as the personal income tax and liquor taxes, were smaller than the previous year.

The cash excess over current obligations at the close of the fiscal year was $125,742,746, or $30,642,072 above that reported on June 30, 1947. It was a decrease of $50,252,902 under the cash excess reported on last May 31, but $26,800,000 of this decrease was due to a statutory transfer of that amount from the general fund to the Postwar Employment Reserve Fund during June.

Kuchel's report showed retail sales and use taxes as the leading revenue producer with a total of $275,575,979 for the year, a gain of $34,059,634 over the preceding twelve months. Bank and corporation franchise and income tax increased 10 million dollars and brought $69,181,241 to the state treasury. Other revenue increases were Insurance companies tax, $2,835,894; inheritance tax, $527,826; private car tax, $137,126; and sundry other revenue, $2,252,596.

Personal income tax declined $1,034,117 but accounted for $49,482,379 of the revenues deposited in the general fund. Other decreases were: Interest on investments and treasury deposits, $1,228,633; royalties and other revenues from state lands, $948,974; and gift tax, $142,070.

General fund expenditures for the 1947-48 fiscal year totaled $446,299,741, a decrease of $63,697,614 under those of the preceding fiscal year, according to Kuchel.

Exchange Ups Orange Juice Fruit $5 Ton

An opening price of $1.25 per dozen number 2 tins, slightly more than a pint, of canned orange juice at the cannery was announced this week by the Exchange Orange Products company, the state's largest orange products plant. This represents an increase of 15 cents per dozen over the price for the 1947 pack.

The new price reflects a return of $30 per ton f.o.b. packing house for juice grade fruit; $5 per ton more than the 1947 figure. On a box basis, the price is equivalent to $1.91 per packed box or $1.23 per loose box f.o.b. packing house. On a delivered at auction basis, the juice fruit price is equivalent to $3.57 per box.

"The industry will have 20 percent less fruit available for products use during the valencia season that we had last year," stated Paul S. Armstrong, general manager of the California Fruit Growers Exchange. "Over 40 percent of our total of 266,000 tons available for products will probably be used for concentrated orange juice for the national schol lunch program and expected overseas purchases."

It is expected that the industry will produce only slightly more than one million cases of canned juice this year compared with more than two million produced last year. Because of this shorter production and the marketing outlook, the increased opening price is fully justified, Armstrong explained.

Canned juice from Florida is being quoted at 80 cents to $1.00 per dozen number 2 tins, with some distress sales below the 80 cent price. Market reports show, however, that canned California juice commands a premium in retail stores.

Lemon Prorate Successful In State

The lower sales volume within California is probably directly due to the overall prorate, Armstrong explained. Last year, without the instrastate prorate more lemons were offered for sale in California. Many of them were purchased in the Los Angeles and San Francisco markets and "bootlegged" out of the state by speculators who sold them at good prices in competition with fruit moving interstate under legitimate prorate. Thus shippers received a much lower price on California sales and, in addition, found the same fruit undermining their eastern market.

The Exchange has proposed at government hearings that orange shipments be placed under an overall prorate similar to the lemon marketing order.

ultimate success, Richmond said.

When the third ballot came, the California delegation was polled individually; every delegate was for Dewey, just as they had been for Warren before he released them.

Warren's acceptance of the vice presidential nomination was after he had assurances from Dewey that it would be "an important job" and that he actually would have much responsibility if elected, Richmond said.

"The party acquired an outstanding team," Richmond declared. "Either man could fill either job with credit."

Vice Chairman Edward S. Shattuck of the Republican State Central Committee was last speaker, calling upon Republicans to heed the early-day warning of Lincoln that "we must think anew and act anew." He called for a revived interest in affairs political, to make the Republican party truly "for the people and by the people."

"Too long," he declared, "have people lost their voice in their own government. Dewey and Warren have demonstrated their ability to return government to the people," and he declared that "this will be a victory not for Republicans but for the people."

Special guests of the dinner were Mrs. Jean Fuller of Encino, president of the Southern Division of the Council of Republican Women; Mrs. Henry Kuchel, mother of State Controller Thomas H. Kuchel; secretary John Hamlin of the Republican State Central committee; and Assemblyman Earl W. Stanley of Newport Beach.

Both Assembly Speaker Sam L. Collins of Fullerton and State Senator Clyde Watson of Orange were in Sacramento attending a meeting of the board of regents of University of California.

A permit was denied for the use of City Park and environs for a two-day celebration of Mexican Independence September 15 and 16 on the ground that street dancing is prohibited by city ordinance which also confines the use of the park's Greek theatre to city organizations.

Walter Kluthe was granted a variance to operate an ammonia fertilizer business in the triangle formed by Center street, Tustin avenue and Anaheim-Olive road. He displayed sketches of his office, loading platform and the fence with which he proposes to surround them. The area is zoned for neighborhood business. Also the council upheld action of the city planning commission which denied Paul L. Sanford a variance to use property at 201 South Claudina street, in a multiple residence zone, for cutting and treating dust cloths for automobiles.

LOOKING BACKWARD

BY C. E. HOLCOMB

Gold was discovered in southern California seven years before James Marshall discovered it in Sutter Creek. As related in a preceeding article, Abel Stearns sent 20 ounces of gold dust to the U. S. Mint in Philadelphia before the northern discovery.

Francisco Lopez had found small nuggets clinging to the roots of wild onions while digging in Placerita canyon east of Newhall. Boyle Workman in his reminiscenses of the "City that Grew," says of this discovery that, "It was not a great strike, only about $100,000 was taken from these diggings," but it gave the county of Los Angeles the right to claim that the first California gold ever coined in the U. S. Mint was from southern California, in 1843.

Abel Stearns was at one time the wealthiest man in southern California and was a hard man to deal with in making a trade, however, the story is told of how he got the worst of it in one deal. It seems that transportation facilities were primitive and as his business deals covered a wide territory, he needed means of transportation for small shipments of goods to outlying camps.

One evening, after the sun had set, a stranger appeared at his door who had a "burro" to sell. Stearns looked at the animal and the stranger told him that it was a good pack animal; could carry a load a long ways, was easy kept, etc. The idea occurred to Stearns that he could use burros to pack supplies to outlying sections and as the animal looked sound he offered the owner $10 for it which after some haggling the owner accepted, took the donkey to Stearns barn and left; but in a little while returned with another donkey to show Stearns and Don Abel bought this one also as he wanted to get enough animals for a pack train. So he bought this one for the same price that he had given before, paid the money and told the man to put the animal in the barn as he had done before. After a short time the man brought another donkey which was bought and continued bringing more donkeys till Stearns had bought twenty and given the seller $200.

The next morning Don Abel went down to his barn to look the purchases over and found only one donkey in the barn. The stranger had sold the same donkey to Stearns twenty times.

Don Abel Stearns after marrying 16 year old Senorita Bandini felt that there was no dwelling in Los Angeles suitable for his beautiful bride, so he built for her the most costly and beautiful residence in California outside of San Francisco and called it "El Palicio de Don Abel" and it became the social and political center of southern California.

As stated in a preceeding article, Stearns died in San Francisco in 1871 and his funeral in Los Angeles was tragic. His casket was metal and weighed nearly a thousand pounds. It was so heavy that a block and tackle was erected at the grave and while the casket was being lowered, the ropes broke and the casket crashed with a terrible sound and careened into the grave in a shower of earth and stones. The widow screamed and some of the mourners grew hysterical.

Later Donna Arcadia married Col. Robert S. Baker and the "Palicio" built by Stearns was torn down and the "Baker" block, with its elaborate towers, windows and stairway was erected in its stead and was the social center of the City of the Angels for many years.

In order to get an idea of social conditions in Los Angeles in particular and southern California in general, I quote an incident, related by Boyle Workman, "In the City that Grew."

The writer of this column had the pleasure of being associated in a corporation with Boyle Workman of which he was president about twenty-five years ago. He was also mayor of Los Angeles at this time.

Here is the story related by him. "I remember a story told of my father-in-law, Judge Robert M. Widney."

When he first arrived in Los Angeles in 1867, the only meeting place for business was in a saloon. Widney did not drink; no one had ever heard him swear, and he rented an office and hung out a sign—Attorney-at-law.

For a man not to stand up at a bar and toss off a glass of brandy, was regarded as a sign of effeminancy not to be tolerated. All in all, this new arrival didn't belong here.

One of the hardest characters of the pueblo was especially resentful and made a boast to "run that ..... teetotaler out of town."

One day, a few renegades, this man among them, were shooting at a knot in the wall, when they saw Widney standing by the saloon door watching them. This was their opportunity. Sauntering over, the man who had made the boast, asked Widney to take a drink. Widney said no, he didn't drink.

"You'd better have a drink, it's good for your health."

"I don't drink," Widney repeated.

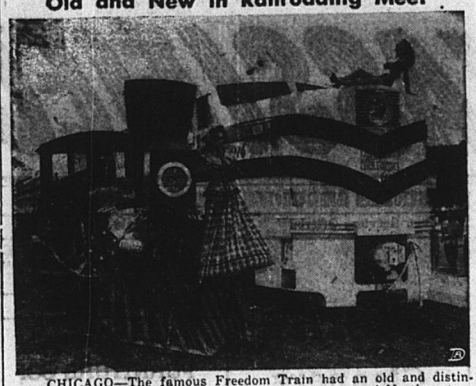

"Oh yes you do," and the man drew a pistol from his belt. Instantly Widney drew his pistol.

"Come on," the man taunted him and the onlookers began to grin.

"I don't drink," Widney said again and raised his pistol three times in succession and at double their distance, each time hit the knot at which they had been firing.

"You win," the challenger said and left.

Old and New in Railroading Meet

CHICAGO—The famous Freedom Train had an old and distinguished visitor here when a replica of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway's hundred-year-old "Pioneer", first locomotive to serve Chicago paid a visit to the Soldier's Field exhibit area. Dressed in an 1848 costume is Pat Feely of Elmhurst, Ill., and in a bathing suit is beautiful Mykell Myers of Chicago. In contrast to the Pioneer, the Freedom Train is a 2,000 HP Diesel-Electric, which was donated by the American Locomotive Company.

BABY DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Traux, 7182 Jefferson street, Anaheim, became the parents of a baby daughter, July 19, at St. Joseph hospital. The newcomer weighed eight pounds, two ounces.

The Hot Springs area, in Arkansas, was probably visited by De Soto in 1541.

One, Maybe More Balsa Butchers To Eastern Meets

The Anaheim Bolsa Butchers, model airplane club, is certain to have one representative at the national model airplane meet early next month at Olathe, Kans., and at the international later in the month at Detroit, according to George Kitchen, club president. And possibly another will go as member of an Orange county team.

The ones certain to go, Kitchen said, is Bob Thomas who has two planes to enter in Class D, the fastest class.

There is also a possibility that Clarence Wallich will join Thomas, Babe Dunning of Santa Ana and Keith Storey of Laguna Beach to form an Orange county team in the international meet with entries in all classes. Kitchen said all four had qualified to enter the meet and their expenses will be paid by the Plymouth Motor corporation.

The present world's record of 155 miles an hour for model airplanes, Kitchen said, is held in Orange county.

BLESSED EVENT

Mr. and Mrs. Rosalio Tovar, La Jolla colony, Placentia, became the parents of a baby daughter who arrived July 20 at Fullerton General hospital.

Paul Huff to Fly In Guard's Air Show Saturday

As a member of the 62nd Fighter Wing of the California National Guard, Paul Huff, 143 South Lincoln road, Fullerton, will represent this vicinity in a special air show marking the re-opening of the air field near Lake Tahoe, Saturday afternoon.

The celebration at the newly enlarged field will feature flight events by two of the guard's squadrons of P-51's and one of its A-26 squadrons.

Headquarters of the 62nd Fighter Wing is at Burbank. The pilots will return to their homes from Lake Tahoe Sunday Huff stated.

Well known in Anaheim, the Guard airman is the assistant secretary of Associated Farmers, this city.

The total vote cast for the election of a President of the United States in 1843 was 2,636,491. In 1944 the total vote was 45,608,783.

The army first established the weather forecasting service which eventually became the United States' weather bureau.

Sportsmen Pay $66,332 to State For Licenses

(Western News Service)

Orange county sportsmen paid a total of $66,332.50 for hunting and fishing licenses during 1947, the California fish and game commission announced today.

The first release of these figures showed payment of $54,451 for angling licenses: $11,881.50 for hunting licenses, and $218.50 for permits to keep deer meat in cold storage.

LOCAL ANGLERS TAKE ALBACORE

Eight albacore were caught during a deep sea fishing trip Wednesday of last week out of King's Landing, Newport Beach. Local anglers were Paul Rumfelt and Dominic Hoffman, Jr. Niles Fiscus returned last Thursday after a four-day fishing trip in Catalina waters. He is said to have taken no fish.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
"Love" will be the Sunday Lesson-Sermon subject in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The Golden Text is from I John: "We have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him."
In a Scriptural selection the Psalmist sings, "Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! . . . He turneth the wilderness into a standing water, and dry ground into water-springs. And there he maketh the hungry to dwell, that they may prepare a city for habitation; And sow the fields, and plant vineyards, which may yield fruits of increase. . . . The righteous shall see it, and rejoice: and all iniquity shall stop her mouth. Whoso is wise and will observe these things, even they shall understand the lovingkindness of the Lord."
Mary Baker Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "All nature teaches God's love to man, but man cannot love God supremely and set his whole affections on spiritual things, while loving the material or trusting in it more than in the spiritual." "Divine Love blesses its own ideas, and causes them to multiply,—to manifest His power."

Scribes, Pharisees Offer Lesson in Racial Tolerance

IN the gospel story of the life and teaching of Jesus there are many references to the Scribes and Pharisees.

Who were these Scribes and Pharisees, whom Jesus often criticized so harshly and whom He found so lacking in sincerity and loyalty? They were the successors of those who had played a fine and honorable part in the history of Israel in the four centuries following the return of the Jewish exiles from Babylon.

There were among them still noble and earnest men like Nicodemus (John 3), and Gamaliel (Acts 5). But power and authority, in religion as in other spheres of life, is subject to the temptation of abuse and pride.

The Scribes were the lawyers of the Jewish community, but as such they were much more than the lawyers of today. Every reader of the Old Testament knows how great a part the Torah, or the law, represented in the life of Israel. The law was religious as well as political and social, and the Scribe is described as being something of preacher, scholar, lawyer and magistrate.

But the Pharisees, also, had historic and spiritual greatness. They had been the party of strict observance, seeking to maintain the integrity and purity of their religion.

Why, then, did Scribes and Pharisees fall under the criticism of Jesus? It was because so many Scribes had become formalists, concerned about the letter, but neglecting the spirit, of the law. Law, when it is law and nothing more, ceases to be protection against injustice and a furtherance of liberty and becomes a curse rather than a blessing.

Also in many Pharisees the zeal that had once been for racial and religious purity had become a matter of spiritual pride and the despising of others. "They trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and despised others."

Thus it was that a Publican, praying humbly for God's mercy upon him as a sinner, stood in noble contrast to the proud Pharisee, telling God how good he was.

The lesson of it all ought to be obvious for everyone who would be truly religious.

In the battle of Santanio, Cuba, between the United States and Spain the Americans lost one killed and ten wounded.

First a professor in the department of Christian Ministry at Chapman college, Dr. Reeves became head of the division in 1935, where he remained until delegated to take the pastorate in Pomona .In 1942 he became president of the college. He received the honorary degree of D.D. from Whittier college in 1945.

Tax on Drink Still Falling

Fractional gains in distilled spirits excise taxes and large increases in wine taxes imposed on May distributions were more than offset by decreases in beer taxes, resulting in a 5.1 per cent decline in overall revenues from alcoholic beverage taxes, when compared to the levies on distributions in May, 1947, according to figures released by William G. Bonelli, chairman of the State Board of Equalization. Assessments on May distributions of all beverages combined amounted to $1,239,882, Bonelli stated.

Yorba Linda Man On Committee of State Chamber

J. E. Lewis, superintendent of the Yorba Linda Water company, has been named a member of the southern California resources committee of the California State Chamber of Commerce.

His appointment is regarded as particularly important at this time because of the contest with Arizone over division of the waters of the Colorado river and the efforts of California to recapture ownership of the state's tidelands and their oil deposits which the United States Supreme Court recently held were the property of the United States.

GREGORY BANKS

Proudly passing out cigars to his fellow associates at Cone Brothers Chevrolet agency is Kenneth Banks, 711 South Emily street. Mr. and Mrs. Banks became the parents of a bouncing baby boy, Gregory, Monday morning at Fullerton General hospital. The newcomer tipped the scales at eight pounds, six and one-half ounces. Awaiting his arrival at the family home was his older sister, Judy, age 3½ years.

About twenty-nine states of the United States have provisions for conciliation, or arbitrarion in industrial disputes.

HANK SAYS

The appointment and ordering to active duty of 1st Lieutenant John P. Nelson, formerly S/Sgt. John R. Nelson of the Santa Ana Recruiting Office, who was better known around the county seat as "Honest John, the people's friend," were received 24 July, 1948.

Nelson has been assigned to Recruiting duty since November, last year and was one of the ace recruiters of the area. The Recruiting Service will certainly feel his loss and we wish him the best of luck in his service as an officer of the United States Air Force.

The first Orange county youth to enlist under the one year term authorized for 18 years olds by the 1948 Selective Service Act, Arthur L. Parker, 1418 E. Center St., Anaheim, son of Mrs. Dorothy Parker, is already receiving basic training. A 1947 graduate of the Anaheim high school, where he was a tackle on the football squad, Parker plans to attend college after his year's service to study construction engineering.

Another Anaheim enlistee, with fifty five months of service already to his credit, Billy M. Netherton, who has resided with his wife and two children at 927 N. Los Angeles St., re-enlisted this week for three years in the Corps of Engineers, United States Army. During World War II, Netherton saw action in both the Pacific and the European African Middle East Theaters.

"Devils From the Sky." That's the way the Germans referred to the men of the Airborne. And they had good reason, too. For the Airborne is everything that is swift, sudden and tough. For the man who is looking for a branch of service that combines everything in the regular army and is the essence of this modern and highly technical age of flight, then he wants an enlistment in the Airborne.

Not many years ago Airborne armies were only a dream. Now after the battles of the Pacific and Europe, Airborne is here to stay. And it will play an ever-increasing part in the nation's military establishment. No service calls for more; no service offers more. Here is the thrill of the jump, the swift silent descent of the glider, the sudden avalanche of the troop transport. And here is a specialized and highly technical training. If you want to shape an army enlistment into a future career, either as a soldier or as a civilian you'll find no better training or practical experience than the Airborne has to offer.

Airborne means everything found on the ground suddenly transposed into the air. Airborne Engineers and Infantry, Medical men and Artillery, everything adapted, trained and improved for aerial operation.

The Airborne teaches you to become self-reliant, original and builds individual initiative into the soldier. That's because the men of the Airborne drop behind lines, into isolated spots, into difficult terrain where every man must be able to do the work of two and think for himself under all conditions. Every man is a highly trained specialist, ready for any emergency, keen, quick and thoroughly familiar with his trade. The training that an Airborne soldier receives will enable him to say when his enlistment is terminated "I served with the Airborne. I know my stuff."

Does your fruit have the reputation it deserves?

If you've followed this column lately, you know that your reporter has been telling about some of the reasons why more growers are joining the Exchange today than at any time in many years.

Haven't even hinted, though, at one of the biggest reasons of all... the new reputation a grower's fruit takes on as soon as he joins the Exchange.

The reputation of a product is a good deal like the reputation of a person. The one that's unknown may be just as good as the one that's widely and favorably known. But you put your trust in the one you know.

A grower may produce the best oranges or lemons in his district. But when that quality fruit gets to an eastern market, it won't command the price it deserves unless it has the quality reputation, too.

When a grower joins the Exchange, his fruit at once and automatically starts to share in the quality reputation that goes with the names Sunkist and California Fruit Growers Exchange. His oranges and lemons suddenly get known to be as good as they really are.

So what's happening in our California citrus industry? Well, a lot of growers are realizing the extremely tough competition they must now meet from greatly increased quantities of cheap Florida and Texas fruit and still cheaper canned citrus. They have decided to give their fruit the marketing advantage that goes with the reputation of the California Fruit Growers Exchange.

They know that, because of this and all the other benefits of Exchange membership, they'll come out better at the end of the year. You will, too.

More about Exchange benefits in future columns.

School Lunch Program Uses Lots of Oranges

The United States Department of Agriculture has just gotten through adding up the amount of orange concentrate used in the 1947-48 school lunch program and announced the results. All 48 of the states with the exception of North and South Dakota participated.

Biggest purchaser was Ohio which state bought 114,000 gallons. Texas bought 84,000 gallons and California, 44,000 gallons. Total for the nation was 1,300,000 gallons from all sources. On a basis of one part of concentrate to seven of water, this represents approximately ten million gallons. In fresh fruit form this is the equivalent of about two and a half million boxes.

Sales Tax Is Considered by Supervisors

The board of supervisors of Orange county is seriously considering a sales tax for the county, it was disclosed by Supervisor Willis Warner at a dinner meeting of the League of Cities of Orange county at Huntington Beach last weekend. Warner indicated the state Legislature probably would be asked to adopt at its next session an enabling act which would make a county sales tax legal if an when the supervisors passed such an ordinance.

The disclosure was made after several Orange county cities had revealed they had under consideration municipal sales taxes to take part of the tax load off property.

FARMERS URGED TO FOLLOW ACP SPECIFICATIONS

Farmers of Orange county who are cooperating in the Agricultural Conservation Program are urged to follow through on their indicated intentions to carry out conservation practices — and actually complete the practices. Roy L. Hale, chairman of the county ACP committee, says that every year some farmers fail to complete practices or fail to meet specifications in the practices they do carry out.

Mr. Hale explains that the county committee has the responsibility of seeing that funds used to assist farmers in carrying out conservation practices are used to obtain the maximum of soil and water conservation. Assistance is given to help a farmer build a dam only when the dam meets specified slopes and dimensions. The same is true of other practices.

Some farmers fail to qualify for assistance because they didn't understand what was required. The committee doesn't want any farmer to carry out practices and then find that assistance cannot be given because the practices fail to meet specifications.

Farmers also are reminded of their responsibility in furnishing acceptable evidence of conservation practices carried out. Measurements, price slips, analysis tags, or whatever is required should be obtained at the time the material is purchased or the practice carried out. A little attention to these matters now, said the county chairman, will save time and money later on, and only in this way can the nation be assured of maximum conservation.

Free Chest X-Rays Offered Nationals

In the interest of protection the health of the general public the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health Association is providing free chest x-rays to various agricultural and industrial groups. The work will extend from August 2 to 10, inclusive and the service will be offered to all Mexican Nationals employed in labor camps of Orange county as follows: Delhi Camp, August 2; Garden Grove Camp, August 3; Atwood Camp, August 4; and Anaheim Camp, August 5.

In addition to this service all employees of the Towner Manufacturing company will be served on Friday, August 6 and employees of the Santa Ana Telephone company on August 9 and 10.

This service is free to the public. It is financed through the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association by the purchase of Christmas seals.

ANNUAL OHIO STATE PICNIC AUGUST 1

The annual picnic of the Ohio State Society will be held Sunday, August 1, in Bixby Park, Long Beach, it was announced by President Fred C. Morgan. A basket dinner hour is scheduled to be followed by a program of varied entertainment and a concert by the Long Beach Municipal band. All former residents of the Buckeye state and friends are invited to attend. Registration will be by counties.

PROUD PARENTS

Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Christian, 111 South Main street, Placentia, became the parents of a six pound, 12 ounce baby daughter Saturday at Fullerton Cottage hospital.

Report Huge Albacore Run

One of the largest runs of albacore in years is reported in San Diego water. According to commercial fishermen great schools of the delectable fish arrived last week and are moving north toward this area.

A school estimated 27 miles across was reported at San Diego. The fish are large, weighing on an average of between 22 and 26 pounds. Catches in this vicinity have been between 15 and 18 pounds for the most part.

With the cannery price for albacore set at $7.20 per ton, almost all available commercial crafts have rushed to the scene. The sight of more than 500 boats off the Banks last week was a picturesque one, according to a local angler. One $5,000 boat loaded with several times its value in albacore, lost a gamble, sinking under the too-heavy weight. Another craft, literally swamped with fish, nearly capsized but limped triumphant into port, batten down fore and aft, gunwales awash.

Anaheim deep sea fishing experts speculated that San Diego salmon canneries, which have been inactive this season, will be reconverted to pack albacore.

SUGAR AND SPICE

A baby daughter arrived for Mr. and Mrs. William C. Roseberry, 1212 Pearl street, Anaheim, Wednesday of last week at Fullerton General hospital.

"HANK" SAYS . . .

Authorization has been received this week for the enlistment of 18 year olds for a one year period for service with the Army or Air Force. The number that can be enlisted from Orange county is small so it's first come first served.

A veteran of nearly six years service in the Army Air Forces in both the European Theater and Asiatic Theater, has just re-enlisted as a Staff Sergeant in the U. S. Air Force. He is Robert E. Eakins, 27, who has resided with his wife and three sons at 9722 Valdina, Free Way, Anaheim. During his prior service he was at Pearl Harbor when the Nips appeared on that fateful December in 1941 and experienced the destruction in England caused by the V-2 Rockets in 1944. Eakins has two brothers now serving in the Air Force one of whom holds a Major's commission, the other is also a Staff Sergeant. He chose an assignment at the Long Beach Air Force Base.

In an effort to acquaint some of the younger men, contemplating enlistment in the U. S. Army, with the work and advantages of the various branches of service, this column will attempt to outline one each week. First let's start with the Field Artillery.

The Field Artillery is one of the most fascinating and instructive branches of service. It offers almost every type of interesting work and experience in many modern technical subjects which prepares you for a fine future, if you decide to leave the service upon the completion of your enlistment.

This is a service that relies on punch, stamina and ingenuity. Whether you are interested in the Rocket Battalions, the sound and flash battalions, pack howitzers, self-propelled or tractor units, headquarters work, or any other phase of the Field Artillery training, you will be given plenty of opportunity to learn any one of many trades which mean advancement in the Army and a foundation for many civilian jobs.

Modern fire power is both complicated and highly technical. You may be trained as a meteorologist, a precision instrument man, an automotive technician or a communication specialist. In fire control work, mathematics, the use of charts, transits and a dozen other scientific things are part of the training of a good "Red Leg." Radar, radio, telephone, radiosonde and all types of up-to-the-minute devices are in constant use in the Field Artillery. Experts are on hand to give the most personalized instruction, both in the classroom and in the field. The latest textbooks and moving pictures, the best techniques and operative methods are taught by men who are masters in their profession. In this way, you will become a skilled technician. For only skilled technicians, the men with a specialized trade, is found in the Field Artillery. That's why American gunners are admitted by all armies to be the finest in the world.

Charter Boat Trips Underway

An eight-week series of charter boat trips, arranged by Bob Williams, local sporting goods store owner, began last week and will continue each Tuesday morning out of King's Landing, Newport Beach, at 5:30 o'clock aboard the "Tynie." William Wallop is in charge of the excursion.

Regulars signed up for the series include Sully Roquet, Octave Roquet, H. E. Arnold, Dick Martin, Sid Hammond, Everett Cone, Bill Trapp, Dr. M. M. Henderson, Bob Williams and Ray Dinkler.

Alternates for the trips, which are limited to 10 anglers to assure good trolling, are Charles Frank, Herman Lenz, Dominic Hoffman, Sr., Ray Reafsnyder, Fred Beck, Niels Boege and John Boege.

Tourists Still Pour Into State

A suspicion that California's tourist boom was subsiding is dispelled by figures just released by Automobile Club of Southern California.

An influx of out-of-state cars, carrying more than 1,000,000 passengers, entered the state during the first six months of this year.

First-half totals showed a record-breaking 448,325 "foreign" cars, carrying 1,183,175 passengers, being checked into California this year as compared to 436,217 cars and 1,169,008 passengers for the similar period of 1947's peak travel year.

The club said 397,216 California cars returned to this state during the first six months of this year, giving additional evidence that California motorists are the greatest "gypsies" in the nation.
