It has by now been pretty well proven that the large, nation-wide distributors of fresh frozen concentrate run into trouble with their customers in the west when they substitute the Florida product after an interlude with that made from California valencias. Indeed this has happened right here in Orange county. When the new product was introduced by Minute Maid in southern California a few years ago the only pack was from Florida and it sold very well. Then last year they contracted with an Anaheim plant to make a lot of the stuff and some of it was sold locally. Now when the California valencia concentrate is all gone and the product is being replaced in local freezers by the Florida pack the customers are setting up a squawk. And don't you think for a minute that Minute Maid is not aware of the kicks and their cause. To hold their place in the western market they simply must get more California valencia concentrates bearing their label. And although they have paid around $3.50 a box to Florida growers for almost the entire pack so far this season they have come out to California this year and have suceeded in signing what to them was a very satisfactory contract with the Exchange in which the only figure mentioned is $50 a ton, at the packing house, this figure meaning only an escape clause whereby Minute Maid can withdraw from their agreement if the price of fruit goes that high. The deal does not look so hot to us although it may be a good one. We are only afraid that it will prove good for Minute Maid and poor for the grower. We mean this in a financial sense, you understand, because Minute Maid gets none of the thrill of growing the fruit, listening to all the boys tell you how to bring it to the peak of perfection, seeing it made into the wonderful frozen concentrate. After all of this why should the mere grower squawk if the fruit hardly brings him cost of production? Let Minute Maid have that part of the fun, after all they are only in business to make money the poor souls, while we, the growers and our most wonderful selling organization, are trying to perpetuate the future of that greatest of all endeavors, the raising of some beautiful valencias which will be shown at the fair, raved over in song and story, taken off our hands by concerns like Minute Maid for enough of the filthy lucre to allow us to live in respectable poverty. You all know that the California growers were warned against the insidious product and that it would not be wise to spend any money to get 'into the act' because of this and that. So now we are going to be shown that there is no money in it? Of course, that dire prediction has come true. The price of Florida fruit has fallen. For fruit that is barely sweet enough to make the concentrate the canner is only shelling out $2.50 a box to the grower. Isn't that just terrible, no wonder they came out to California to find cheaper fruit. But on the other hand the grower with good fruit is getting a lot more for his product. Florida put a floor under what her growers would take for their fruit, either in the big northern cities or to the canner. The effect of this action by Florida Citrus Mutual was an immediate stabilization of the market and new incentive to increase the quality of the fruit.

But with everything, including the big ballyhoo, the product does not sell anything like the California product in western markets. It sells alright but does not give anywhere near the consumer satisfaction the California valencia juice does. These are provable statements and Minute Maid has been keenly aware of this fact for some time. They knew they would have to have a lot of California concentrate this year to keep satisfied customers and they knew that the cheaper they could buy it for, the more money they would make. Now don't get this confused with the idea that the cheaper they got the concentrate the cheaper they would sell it for because, as we have been told, the Minute Maid concern is in business to make money so we growers should try doubly hard to keep up the esthetic side and knock that dollar sign right out of our eye. Let us get in there and pitch and raise some even more beautiful valencias. We may win a pair of glass slippers at the fair come summer. At least this would be beautiful and not vulgar like those nasty old profits of Minute Maid.

Bernardo Yorba Dies Monday of Heart Ailment

Bernardo M. Yorba, Sr., of Placentia, senior member of California's oldest farming family, died Monday in St. Joseph hospital in Orange of a heart ailment. Yorba was 56. His death culminated a year's illness.

The Yorba family traces its California lineage back to the year 1769. In that year Jose Antonio Yorga, a member of Portola's expedition settled on property which still remains as part of the Yorba family holdings. Here Jose's son, Don Bernardo Yorba established a hacienda which was known far and wide.

Farming the same land for 181 years has earned the Yorba family the title of the oldest farm family in California. This designation was bestowed on the family last year by the Associated Farmers of California.

Mr. Yorba, known as "Ben" by acquaintances, was born on the Yorba ranch. A monument, erected by Orange county now marks the spot. During his last year he lived in a new house built on the south rim of the canyon in full view of the family groves and fields.

Wednesday, two days after Yorba's death, the California Centennials Commission and the Placentia Round Table club unveiled a bronze plaque commemorating the discovery of the canyon by Jose Antonio Yorba. The plaque is located on the site of the original Yorba hascienda. Ben Yorba was to have participated in the dedication ceremony.

Surviving Yorba are his widow, Edna; two sons, Bernardo, Jr., and Jack; and a brother Vincent, all of whom reside on the family ranch. Also surviving are four sisters: Mrs. Martina Pelanconi and Mrs. Uvenia Wents of Hollywood; Mrs. Mary Vejar of Placentia and Mrs. Hortencia Palomares of Pomona.

Holy Rosary was recited for Mr. Yorba Wednesday evening at the Backs, Campbell and Kaulbars mortuary. Mass was recited Thursday at St. Boniface church.

Interment took place in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, located just a short distance from the Yorba family ranch.

Stranahan Cites Requirements for Anaheim Growth

Constantly increasing industry and job opportunities are necessary in the immediate future if Anaheim is to maintain its economic health, John Stranahan, Counsellor in Public Relations told Rotarians Monday at the Anaheim Rotary Club's lunch meeting at the Anaheim Elks Club.

Stranahan is currently engaged in public relations work for the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce and the Kwikset Manufacturing Company of Anaheim.

Stranahan sees three basic requirements which must be satisfied in order to preserve community equilibrium. They are: physical comfort, economic safety and personal appreciation. Drawing an allegory between development of communities and life cycle unicellular organisms, Stranahan indicated the necessity for industrial development and the ensuing employment opportunities as a means of satisfying these basic requirements and producing ultimately a thriving, healthful community.

Immediate and vigorous attention to this task, Stranahan feels, will enable Anaheim to keep pace with rapid southland expansion.

Response 'Overwhelming;' 5,000 Homes Will Receive Daily Gazette

Anaheim's first newspaper, the Anaheim Gazette, will climax 80 years of recording the news in this locale by beginning daily publication on Monday, May 8.

Over 5,000 homes in this city will receive copies of the Gazette during its first two weeks of publication.

Response Overwhelming

Response to the informal announcement made last week of the Gazette "going daily" has been "overwhelming," according to Publisher Ted Kuchel.

"The decision to start a daily publication was made after much deliberation and only after demands by the people of Anaheim for a daily newspaper which would record the local lews scene completely and accurately reached the point where we had no other alternative," said Mr. Kuchel.

Full Coverage of AP

The Anaheim Gazette has been selected to represent The Associated Press in Northern Orange County, enabling readers to have the news of the international, national and state scenes reported to them by the world's greatest corps of journalists. In addition, the Gazette will continue to exclusively report the news from the state capital at Sacramento as reported by Western News Service.

Enlargement of the editorial, business and shop staffs has been completed. Max Besler, former Washington correspondent for Newsweek Magazine, will be assistant publisher. Robert Funseth, who joined the staff in 1948, will be managing editor. Willard B. Gregory is city and sports editor and Mrs. Emma Lawrence is society editor. Myles Bradley, who was staff photographer with the New York American is staff photographer and will be in charge of the recently installed engraving department.

Neil Stanley is advertising manager, assisted by Mrs. Mary Rowland. Ralph Rowland will continue as classified advertising manager. Circulation manager is Lyle Shafer and Frank Nipper will continue as shop foreman.

Founded in 1870

The Gazette began weekly publication in 1870, two weeks after the San Diego Union. Founder of the Gazette was George Washington Barter, who sold to Richard Melrose in 1875. In 1887 Henry and Charles Kuchel bought the paper and in a short time Henry bought his brother's interest. The late Mr. Kuchel served as editor and publisher of the Gazette until the time of his death in 1935 when his son, Ted Kuchel took over. Mrs. Henry Kuchel, mother of the present publisher, is still active in the publication of the paper and writes Anaheim's most popular and most read feature, "In The Days of Long Ago." This interesting feature will be enlarged and will be published daily in the Gazette.

Present Movie of Pilgrimage Play, May 11

The Pilgrimage Play, distinguished as America's outstanding Religious drama during its 29-year run in Hollywood, has been filmed and will be presented to Anaheim residents in the AUHS auditorium next Thursday night, May 11, at 7:30 p.m. Sponsored by churches of Anaheim, the program is admission-free.

Tickets, though not necessary for admission, are available at Anaheim churches.

Filmed in natural color, the full-length movie version adheres faithfully to the story of Christ's life as presented in the Pilgrimage Play since 1920. The movie cast includes many members of the original stage version.

Many authorities consider the film version of the "Pilgrimage Play" to be one of Hollywood's finest efforts to date. Adhering to the principles of dramatic staging, the movie is presented with professional understanding which subdues the purely theatrical effects in the interest of the bringing out the message, the spiritual import of the Word.

More than a million people have seen the stage version of Christ's life which has been presented more than a thousand times. It is expected that the film version will be shown in 5200 churches throughout the country during 1950.

The Pilgrimage Play was first produced on June 27, 1920 to combat spiritual chaos which was widespread after World War I. It was originally conceived by the late Christine Wethrill Stevenson.

During the past years, many Hollywood notables have appeared in the play, among them: William Faversham, Ian McLaren, Helen Jerome Eddy, Reginald Ploe, Robert Vignola, Betty Blythe, Victor Jory and Herbert Grimwood.

Nelson Leigh, who has appeared as Christ more times than any other actor, portrays this role in the film version. Possessed of a broad theatrical background, Leigh toured with Ian MacLaren's Shakespeare group in 1935 and with the highly successful Maurice Evans company. He has appeared in four films of a religious nature. Leigh's daughter, Pamela Christie, also appears in the film version of the Pilgrimage Play.

Altogether, there are nine family groups taking part in the production: Stephen Chase, his wife and three children; Leigh and his daughter; John Parrish and his wife; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Evans; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Cates, and their daughter; and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wood.

Hot Springs—As the summer weather commences, the Hot Springs are beginning to be crowded with seekers after health and pleasure. The springs are situated on the Mission Vieja rancho, near San Juan Capistrano, and are said to be unequalled as a health resort. In cases of rheumatism, they have in many instances effected a complete cure. Many of our townsmen visited them last summer and returned greatly benefitted. There are at present no accommodations in the shape of hotels or lodging houses and all who go there are obliged to carry with them a full supply of everything needed for comfort. San Juan can be reached by the telegraph stage line, but private conveyance must be depended upon from there to the springs.

While the weather last Sunday was unpleasantly warm in Anaheim, we were exempt from the sirocco which blasted the vegetation in and around Los Angeles. The hot air withered the leaves of the willow and walnut trees in the northern part of the county.

Acting upon our suggestion, the members of the fire company met on Monday evening last. The committee appointed at a previous meeting was directed to have the apparatus put in good order. Money enough has been collected for that purpose. Those desirous of enrolling their names on the list will find it at Menzel's.

State Court Rules Freeways Constitutional

Freeways are constitutional, and the State Legislature has made a valid delegation of authority to the California Highway Commission to determine when and where they shall be constructed.

This is the gist of a decision of the California Supreme Court, in the North Sacramento freeway case, upholding the power of the commission to authorize relocation of highways. The decision was unanimous in upholding every contention of the State Department of Public Works in the litigation over the Sacramento - Roseville Freeway in Sacramento and Placer counties. Traffic Signal Contract Given In South Laguna SACRAMENTO (WNS) — Contract for traffic signal system and intersection lighting in the city of South Laguna was awarded to the Clinton Electric Corporation of Los Angeles last week by Director of Public Works C. H. Purcell.

Area involved is the intersection of the Pacific Coast Highway with Third avenue.

The Clinton Corporation placed a bid of $3,845 for the job.

The decision, it was pointed out by Director of Public Works, C. H. Purcell, completely validates such highway relocations as the Ridge Route between Bakersfield and Los Angeles, the Pruneadle Cut-off north of Salinas, the recently completed Fairmield By-pass in Solano County, and the proposed relocation of the State highway as a freeway between Sacramento and Roseville, proposed relocation of the Redwood Highway northerly of Petaluma, and other similar improvements heretofore completed or presently proposed by the State.

CITRUS PRODUCTS

In the next few years processed citrus, and all citrus products, will be far more important than ever before.

Are you affiliated with an organization that can do a first rate job with the products end of the citrus business?

Is your return going to be the best possible return?

To make sure you get the most money for frozen concentrate, canned juice, orangeade base, lemonade base and all citrus products this year and in the years just ahead, make sure your organization measures up in these 4 ways:

4 important questions

1. Does your products operation get all the value out of your fruit, or just part of it?
The Exchange has the most complete citrus products plants in the entire world, the only ones equipped to take out of your oranges, lemons and grapefruit everything that can be sold. Other organizations manufacture only a few products.
2. Can your products plant turn your fruit into whatever products are currently bringing the best prices?
This question is vital. What products will bring the best returns this year? Next year? In '52?

Greater flexibility

The Exchange orange and lemon products operations have been over 30 years developing. Both now have such ample capacity and diversified equipment that they can take full advantage of the changing market and make whatever products will return you the most money. Other organizations do not have this flexibility.

3. Must you leave part of your return with the owner of the plant as his profit, or will it all come to you?
When you join the Exchange you, yourself, become a plant owner. You do not pay for a plant which someone else will eventually own! Every penny above actual costs comes back to you and the other cooperating growers.
4. What investment must you make in order to participate?
When you join a cooperative organization, the amount you are called upon to invest in products facilities depends primarily on the number of growers participating.

More growers—less investment

Here the fact that the Exchange includes 8 out of every 4 citrus growers in the area makes a tremendous difference!

Because the Exchange products operations are long-established and highly developed, the facilities are largely paid for. And because you share the cost of these facilities with 14,500 growers instead of just one or two thousand, your individual investment is small.

The frozen orange and lemon concentrate facilities now being completed are costing the Exchange grower a fraction of the cost that must be paid by smaller groups of growers.

The most for your entire crop

In fresh fruit marketing and supply operations as well, the Exchange is equipped to do a better job for you. In every field, large-scale grower cooperation pays off. Don't be misled by extravagant claims. Investigate!

We have a method of comparing returns based not on random "field box comparisons" but on careful figuring that takes into account grades, sizes, quantities and weights. Would you like such a comparison made from your statement?

Drop a line today to Felton Browning, Grower Service Division, Sunkist Building, Los Angeles 54, California. An experienced Exchange man will gladly work out a comparison for you without obligation.

"En el Mes de Mayo" at Padua Hills Theatre

Schools and colleges in all parts of Southern California are organizing large parties to view "En el Mes de Mayo", the Mexican Players' 17th annual production of the fiestas for San Ysidro, patron saint of Mexican farmers, at the Padua Hills theatre.

Among groups who have viewed the play recently, with the number in each party, are Lindbergh School Faculty of Buena Park, 16; Garden Grove High School, 35; San Pedro high school, 34; Hemet Union high school, 35.

Numerous other organizations have occupied large blocks of seats at recent performances, including a party for 45 members of the Upland Fruit Growers Exchange Club.

The spectacular play tells a modern story of the two-day fiestas in honor of the patron saint of Mexican farmers to implore San Ysidro to send rains to insure good crops.

Colorful ritual dances originating in pagan ceremonies to the Aztec rain god, Tlaloc, are contrasted with modern dances and romantic songs typical of the State of Tamaulipas, setting of the play.

With a merienda, or after-theatre party in the Mexican manner, "En el Mes de Mayo" will be staged Wednesday through Saturday evenings, and Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, through May 13.

Publish Prize-Winning Essays In Elks' 'Our Country' Contest

Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles publishing the prize winning essays of the "Our Country" contest sponsored by the Anaheim Elks lodge. The final two essays will be published in subsequent issues of the ANAHEIM DAILY GAZETTE.

Our Country
By TRAVIS HASKINS
I Am The American Flag

I am the American flag. Colored cloth, hoisted high! But I am far more than the material of which I am made, I am the symbol of America.

I stand for the men and women who have built America, for their toil, their sweat, and their blood while making your country a better place in which to live. I stand for the Pilgrims setting out to find a place to worship God in their own way . . . of pioneers hacking their homes out of the wilderness . . . of Washington fighting for a new nation, Lincoln holding that nation together . . . of men who have fought and died for their country.

I was born in June, 1776, in the midst of the Revolutionary war. Yet it was September, 1777, at the Battle of Brandywine when I first flew, high and mighty, rippling in the breeze, proud that this was my country. I had only thirteen stars then, much different than now. I came to be called "Old Glory" about then, and I began to see that the war was serious and that there was no room for a flag that didn't understand this, or one that didn't take its job seriously.

It made me unhappy watching those men who were fighting for me. Fighting so that I might fly over a country where it was safe to live, where people could do as they pleased and live comfortably without fear. Fighting for a country where the people were free to worship as they pleased, and where people could speak when, where, and about what they wanted. Yes, that's what they were fighting for and they won, but many of them died in doing so, without living to see what they had fought for.

But whether I liked it or not it was my duty to be at the battles, and I was, all of them. They were not all victories and it was hard to take when they weren't, but finally, on Sept. 3, 1783, the peace treaty was signed at Paris, and it recognized the independence of the United States.

After that I was changed several times. It was at the time when I had fifteen stripes that Francis Scott Key, on that memorable night of September 14, 1814 awoke to find me still flying over Fort McHenry and wrote the poem which eventually became our National Anthem. I continued to fifteen stripes until April 4, 1818, when President Monroe restored me to thirteen stripes with a star for each state. In 1912, the last two stars were added, giving me forty eight. I have remained the same ever since getting older with the country. Flying over millions of places all over America, flapping in the breeze and shouting to the world that this is my country and that it will continue to be as long as there is an America, with liberty for all! Liberty that is yours because your forefathers had the courage to fight for it! It has been threatened, time and time again. But each time, men who believed in it took up arms to keep it for America, for you! Americans proudly gave their lives on the battlefields of New Orleans at the Alamo and at Gettysburg, on San Juan Hill, on Bataan and Guadalcanal, in Tunesia and in the skies over Europe. Those are all over now, but there will be other obstacles, and it's up to you to keep this country free, so your children and theirs will enjoy the same privileges you did.

Remember these things the next time you see me, and please never forget my purposes in life; I fly for liberty!

Our Country
By MARLENE ANDERSON

We, in America, live in a self-governing democracy, and may follow what ever path we choose. We do have in America a type of civilization which means a great deal to each one of us. We should remember the hard drive, and enthusiasm and the purpose of the early American pioneers. We need to recall the history of American developement and growth in industry, agriculture, and transportation. We must remember the march of the pioneers across the entire continent, until they spread over the United States and attracted millions of emigrants, built great factories, and developed the finest transportation system in the world.

Nature gave the western hemisphere gifts of fertile soil, forests, minerals, waters, and useful wild animals. Rich deposits of stone, coal, iron, gold and other mineral resources were found in many parts of the country.

Our water resources also have been abundant. The Atlantic sea board has a large number of harbors. The Great Lakes provide the finest system of inland waterways. The Mississippi river system can not be matched anywhere in the world. The Niagra and other rivers produce enough electricity to do more work than millions of horses.

The United States also have a varied and favorable climate. The northern parts of the country gets cold in winter, whereas the southern parts are semi-tropical. When we consider the plains higher altitudes, mountains, winds, rainfall, location, and size of the United States, we see that it has been greatly favored by nature.

The women of today in the United States have the same position and enjoy the same political privileges as men. They enjoy a wide range of economical and educational opportunities. More and more women are making their way into business and professional life.

The American public school is a unique institution. In our schools, the children of emigrants from all over the world meet on common ground. Each racial group may have its own talents and its own peculiar characteristics, but the school molds and shapes the individual students into Americans.

Our schools offer education in all fields of work. Vocational courses are included to train students to spend their leisure time usefully.

Before America was settled, it was customary to deny people the right to worship as they pleased. Recent religious persecutions by European dictators have increased our appreciation of tolerance in America. Religious toleration is really a gateway to opportunity. It permits people to choose their own methods of dealing with religious questions and problems.

Many types of recreation open new doors of opportunity here. The government aids in providing for recreation. Local, state, and national governments all offer beautiful parks where people can play and rest. Also, there are play grounds, athletic fields, tennis courts, summer camps, golf courses, bathing beaches and bath houses, and picnic grounds for all. The national government maintains large parks and forests, the oldest and largest of these is Yellow Stone Park.

It makes one very proud to know that he or she may worship in God as he pleases, speak his true feelings about problems and situations, and enjoy the very beautiful country side that God has provided for us here. We in America have everything to be beautiful countryside that God guiding hand, under our democratic procedures we can make sure progress through participation in planning by citizens at all levels of government.

She is survived by two sons; William F. Blaich of Whittier and Lloyd F. Wessler of the home address; one grandson, John A. Blaich of Whittier and numerous nieces and nephews in this community. She was a member of the Calvary Baptist church.

High School Players Give "Glamour Boy" Friday Night

Culminating weeks of intensive preparation, 22 Anaheim Union high school students will present the play, "Glamour Boy", Friday evening, May 5, on the high school stage. Curfain time is 8 p.m. Miss Louise Hitt is directing the annual junior production.

Tickets can be obtained from AHUS juniors for 40 cents. Reservations, at 60 cents can be made at the high school.

Play revolves around a shy high school lad who wishes he were a glamour boy but who somehow just isn't. To solve his problem, he constructs an imaginary and highly idealized autobiography which leads to all sorts of complications. Also involved in the plot are a genuine glamour boy, a dream girl, an harrassed principal, a high school editor and a very giddy young lady, some trouble-makers whose main task is to keep things lively, and numerous others.

Don Jackson portrays the potential glamour boy. His dream girl is Joyce Shunk. Jack Conklin adds a dash of egotism as a real-life dreamboy and is pursued in a hectic fashion by Jerre Locke who comes on stage as a hero-happy young thing.

Trouble-makers are Jim Ball and Margaret Elkholt. As a much-disturbed principal, Kenneth Gross finds help in Shelley Smith. Charles Huff has the happy part of the dream girl's father and local tycoon. Janet Schacht portrays a meddlesome miss. Theresa Smith takes on the job of editing the high school paper.

Also contributing their talents for the evening will be Donna Clodt, Sheldon Welsh, Phil Lamori, Carol Shafer and Jo Burdick, Mally Brummett, Helen Weir, Gordon Chamberlain, Jan Fort, Jim Waisworth, Bonnie Wood and Ronnie Bevins.

Banking Group Hears Address

The Independent Bankers Association of Southern California which lists the Southern County Bank of Anaheim as a member, featured Harry J. Harding, president of the First National Bank of Pleasanton and president of the Independent Bankers Association of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District, as principal speaker at the April dinner meeting of the group held in Los Angeles.

Harding told his listeners that the rules for banking success were much the same as those for any business or profession.

"There is no special formula for building a successful bank," he said. "Friendly, personal service to the needs of customers is as important today to a bank as it is to a merchant or any business or professional man dealing with the public."

Continues and Broadens Policy of Reporting the Local Scene First and Foremost

The Anaheim Gazette is celebrating its 80th year of recording the Anaheim scene by "going" daily on May 8.

Publishers of the Gazette are convinced there is a definite place in the newspaper field in this area for a newspaper which will concentrate on telling the story of local people, local events, local achievements, local problems—all with local pictures.

To supplement this formula, the Gazette has been selected to represent the incomparable Associated Press in Northern Orange county. We will have the FULL AP service, news, features, and pictures.

The weekly Gazette will convert publication with this issue—an octogenerian. But its devotion to the people of Anaheim, its important place in the affairs of this area, and its position of recorder of the eventful history of Anaheim will not be discontinued.

In fact, publication of a daily newspaper will provide greater facilities and opportunities for us to broaden, improve, and carry on the tradition of the weekly Gazette.

The mission of the new Gazette, as it was during the first 80 years of publication, will be only to serve the best interest of the good folks of the Anaheim area.

Eleven Colonist Trackmen Set For Inglewood Meet This Friday

Eleven Colonist tracksters earned the right to participate in the C. I. F. Southern Section track and field competition at Inglewood High School this Friday afternoon as a result of their efforts in the Sunset League finals held at Huntington Beach last week. The Anaheim High delegation took third place in B competition and fifths in A and C divisions in the beach town encounter.

Larry Kirchman, flashy B sprinter, came home from Huntington with more ribbons than anyone. Kirchman sped to a 10.5 100 yard dash victory, a 22.7 win in the 220, and did a stint with the first place Anaheim B 660 relay squad, along with teammates Ronnie Maese, Ronnie Hawkins and Don Steffan. Time was 1:10.6.

Other B cindermen who earned rides to Inglewood were Steffan, with a second in the 100 and a third in the 220, Charles Webber with a second in the 660 and Don Roberts who ended up third in the shot put.

Colonist B's who also contributed to the squad's third place rating at Huntington Beach but who will miss out on the Inglewood jaunt because they weren't within the first three in their particular events were Jim Ball, 5th in the 120 low hurdles; and Del Schmidt, fourth in the broad jump.

One C track man will contend in the Friday preliminaries. He is Bill Walker who romped home second best in the C 100. Other C scorers last Friday were Bill Davis, fifth in the 660 and the relay Team members included Bill, Walker, Don Davis, Henry Lin and Don Switzler.

A spikesters headed for Inglewood include Paul Lenz, third in the 440 and Larry Weaver, first in the broad jump and third in the lows.

Ray Sharp contributed a fourth in the A 880 at last Friday's meet.

The May 6 meet at Inglewood is a C. I. F. preliminary affair involving high school leagues which make the C. I. F. central division. Individual leagues are Bay, Catholic, Citrus Belt, Coast, Foothill, Pacific and Sunset.

First three placers in each event will go on to the Group Finals slated for May 13 at Compton. Athletes who win, place and show in their events at Compton continue on to the C. I. F. Southern Section Championships at Woodrow Wilson High in Long Beach on May 20. Final step, after Long Beach, is the state C. I. F. meet at Sacramento on May 27.

Colonist JV's Blank Orange Crew 9 - 0

Unlike their big brothers, Anaheim's JV baseballers took the measure of a visiting Orange delegation last Tuesday afternoon on the AUHS diamond. Final count was 9 to 0.

Anaheim pitcher Pat Roberts held the visitors to three his while he and his friends took six from the Orange hurler.

Colonists' next game is with Fullerton at La Palma Park on Friday, May 5.

Owner Thompson presented awards to Mrs. Charles Waters, Mrs. Leo Gaspar and Mrs. Morton Crosby who each won flights in the low-net play.

In other activity of the afternoon, Mrs. George Parkinson, Mrs. George Thompson, Mrs. Charles Waters and Mrs. Leo Gaspar all advanced to the semi-final rounds of the current President's Cup tournament.

Opening Day Sports Work For Fish

By BILL GREGORY

Finding the place where the other guy wasn't and finding it early was the formula which brought success to local fishermen who sallied forth on opening of the 1950 trout season last weekend. Fish were taken from neighboring waters by early risers who set their lines the instant the law said "go" and who took the trouble to stump into the back country where less ardent anglers didn't care to tread.

Reports on early season fare varied from "so-so" to "pretty good" considering the amount of water open and the number of fishermen who took advantage of it. The question of size got roughly the same answer. A few fish ranging up to 16 and 18 inches were reported, but run of the mill catches averaged about 10 inches.

One Anaheim angler, Henry Schneider, 417 N. Janss street, found that starting early, 'way back in, paid off. Schneider and his son, Bill, made two trips to San Gabriel. First time, they fished with the crowd and had scant success. Next day, Sunday, they rose early and made their way up the West Fork, farther than most nimrods, and took fish. Young Schneider landed half a dozen, the largest measring 11¼ inches. Salmon eggs did the trick for them.

In addition to the San Gabriel river, Trabuca canyon and Bear creek were tabbed as productive. Word from more distant fishing grounds is yet to come.

Most of the fish taken locally were hatchery bred. Heavy stocking of near-by waters was completed by the fish and game commission just prior to opening day.

150 Golfers Sign For Western Open

Western Golf Association officials announced this week that over 150 entries have been received for the 47th Western Open Golf Championship to be played at Brentwood Country Club, May 18-21.

Among the early entries are Jim Ferrier, San Francisco; Joe Kirkwood, Jr., Hollywood; Paul Runyan, Pasadena; Ed (Porky) Oliver, Seattle, Wash.; E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Little Rock, Ark., Eric Monti, Santa Monica; Stewart (Skip) Alexander, Southern Pines, N. C.; and Ted Kroll, Philmont, Pa.

According to the WGA the Western Open exempt list numbers 115, leaving approximately 50 spots open to qualifiers.

The sponsoring Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce reports that 36 holes qualifying play for an expected field of 300 has been set for May 15 at the following courses: Riviera, Virginia, Baldwin Hills, Wilshire and Rancho.

Deadline for all Western Open entries is May 9.

On May 17, the Junior Chamber, in conjunction with the PGA will conduct the Parade of Champions Golf Clinic at Brentwood Country Club. Such name pros as Sam Snead, Lloyd Mangrum and Dr. Cary Middlecoff will participate in the clinic, which is held in order to show golfing fans how the game should be played.

Price of admission to the clinic is $1 per person, while Western Open pre-season ticket holders will be admitted free of charge. Four dollar pre-seasons are now on sale at all private and public golf courses, driving ranges and at the Junior Chamber office, 1151 South Broadway.

Escondido Plans Horse Show May 20-21

Seventh Annual Escondido Valley Riders Horse Show is slated for May 20 and 21 at the Valley Riders' field, according to the Escondido Chamber of Commerce. Opening grand parade is set for 10:30 a.m., May 20.

Entries in the show are expected from southern California and Arizona.

AUHS Golfers Head for Long Beach

Coach Chet Shirk's AUHS golfers head for Long Beach's Recreation Park this Friday to participate in a divot contest which will attract high school teams from all over Southern California. Woodrow Wilson High School of Long Beach will host the affair.

Competition will consist of 36 hole team match play in which six man squads vie on a basis of total scores, and individual medal play.

The Anaheim delegation will consist of Bob Marshall, Loren Herman, Dub Helsing, Ron Lemcke, Ray Echols and Don Schilling.

The Colonists enter the squabble with an impressive record. To their credit are wins over Whittier, Huntington Beach, Alhambra, Glendale and Santa Ana. On the other side of the ledger are a pair of defeats, one to Woodrow Wilson and one to Whittier.

On May 11, the locals travel to Santa Anita to engage Monrovia.

UCLA Holds Sports Day on Saturday

UCLA's second annual Varsity club all-sports day is all set for this Saturday (May 6) with 8 big events on the program in addition to a luncheon in Kerckroff Hall honoring former Bruin lettermen.

The all-day program follows:

8 a.m. — Stanford-UCLA golf match at Bel-Air Country Club.

10 a.m.—Spring football game on Spaulding field.

12 noon—Letterman luncheon in Kerckhoff Hall.

12:30 p.m.—Varsity-Alumni tennis match on Westwood courts.

1 p.m.—Grid highlights film in the education building.

1:30 p.m. — Occidental-UCLA swim meet in men's gymnasium pool.

Hollywood Athletic club-UCLA cricket match on athletic field.

USC-UCLA track meet at Los Angeles Coliseum.

Southland fans are invited by the Varsity club to turn out with the Bruin lettermen for this big sports day. All events are free, with the exception of the football game and the track meet. A nominal admission charge of 75 cents will be made for the grid game which annually climaxes spring drills.

Poets Clinch Baseball Tie

Whittier College's rampaging horsehiders, having cinched a tie for the S. C. I. A. C. baseball crown, close their loop season this weekend against the Caltech Beavers.

The Poets downed the two main threats to their second straight title when they defeated the Occidental and Redlands nines last Friday and Saturday. A victory over the Beaver squad this Friday afternoon would give the league leaders the championship outright.

The Tech team is hopelessly resting in the cellar and on the basis of league performance the Poets are rated as favorites to down the braintrust nine.

Track and Field

Coach Aubrey Bonham's Quaker track and field squad end their schedule this Friday night when they meet the Los Angeles State College tracksters in the Staters newly finished stadium. It will mark the third night meet for the Whittierites this season.

The Poets recovered enough from an early season slump to climb the loop track ladder and finish second to the Oxy thinclads in the All-Conference meet. On the basis of recent scores of both teams the meet is rated a toss-up.

Coach Wallace "Chief" Newman greeted a 50-man turnout this week for the Whittier College spring gridiron session. Coach Newman will form his 1950 grid machine from twenty-one lettermen and some promising transfers as well as members of last year's frosh and varsity squads.

The spring drill is expected to show whether the Quakers will come back in the 1950 campaign as strong as the 1949 conference championship Whittier eleven.

Community Chest Pays Agencies

Checks covering another one-fourth of each participating agencies' 1949-1950 quota, have been mailed this week, in accordance with agreement reached at the last meeting of the Community Chest board of directors.

AUHS Baseballers Drop 9-4 Tiff To Orange

Too many free passes issued by AUHS pitchers proved the Colonists' undoing last Tuesday as a visiting Orange high nine capitalized on 12 walks to go back home with a 9 to 4 victory over the locals. Game was held at La Palma Park.

Dick Ramella, Joe Bruce and Larry Weaver all did mound chores for the home-towners but couldn't control their generosity. Nor could the invaders resist.

Anaheim collected a total of 8 hits from Orange pitcher Ted Herrera. Ken Kohne got two for two in a perfect day at the plate.

Coach John Wallin's boys travel to Newport next Tuesday to take on the harbor horsehiders.

AUHS Political Aspirants Send Petitions Around

Petitions for student body offices are now being circulated on the Anaheim Union high school campus for next year's offices. Nominations will close May 9 and a nominating assembly will be held May 11.

Nominees for student body offices must hold a "C" average and maintain a merit record of 90 (out of 100) or above.

Primary elections will be held May 16 and a general election May 23.

Successful candidates will be inaugurated at an assembly May 25.

AUHS Glee Club Girls Compete At Beverly Hills

Competition with ten other southland schools for choral honors will highlight May 5 for the Girls' Glee Club of Anaheim Union high school.

Under the direction of Miss Gania Demaree, choral instructor, they will sing at Beverly Hills high school, where they will be judged by leading choral directors and musicians from the area.

The numbers to be sung are: "The Nightingale" by Tchaikovsky, "The Holiday Song" by Ware, and "The Artisan" by Shuman. Marilyn Miller, Delores Giardino and Phyllis Rodgers will combine voices to present the "Artisan" soprano solo.

Forester Warns of Coming Fire Season

Ranchers were urged by State Forester DeWitt Nelson to protect their lush growth of range feed from possible loss by fire during the summer ahead by plowing firebreaks around their range lands.

Livestock association's report feed conditions, except in the upper San Joaquin Valley and Southern California, are the best in several years Nelson said, a condition brought about by well distributed winter and spring rainfall and a warm early growing season. By middle May or early June this grass will be dry and highly inflammable Nelson emphasized and will create a serious fire hazard.

For the last four years the State Forester said over 20% of all grass and brush fires starting on land protected by the State Division of Forestry had their origin along roadsides. Ranchers and farmers could undoubtedly save thousands of dollars each year if effective fire-breaks were placed within the fence lines.

Nelson indicated the Division again will post more than 400 roadside signs on highway rights-of-way in range and forest land and will use other information media to warn motorists of fire dangers.

Damage and losses resulting from roadside fires can be prevented the State Forester said. To do it ranchers must take necessary precautions, government agencies must intensify hazard-reduction programs, and the public must be careful with fire in the forest, range and watershed areas.

Jack Regan, Santa Ana businessman, has accepted the chairmanship of the Orange County Raymond V. Darby for Lieutenant Governor committee, according to announcement from Darby's Los Angeles campaign headquarters.

AUHS Students Frank, Claussen Named Future Business Leaders

Dudley Frank and Stanley Claussen were elected to two state offices of the Future Business Leaders of America at the annual convention held at El Camino Junior College during the past weekend.

Appearing as speaking delegates, the local candidates were selected by all three of the judges on the basis of the presentations. Judges were Emmet Long, head of the Speech Department, Pepperdine College; Glenn Gooder, associate professor of Speech, Pepperdine; and Gordon Hahn, member of the California state legislature.

The local aggregation included besides the two speakers: Joe Clayes and Dixie Lee Hopkins, voting delegates; Pat Berry, president of the local chapter, and Miss Kathleen McFaul, and Philip Engebretson, advisers.

Frank was elected vice-president of the State group and Claussen, secretary. The only reason the local chapter failed to make a clean sweep of the election was that the office of president must be held by a junior college student.

Following the general meeting of the morning, a tour of the campus was made and luncheon was served the delegates in the school cafeteria.

In the afternoon, delegates went to the International Airport where they were conducted on a ground tour of facilities before the new officers attended a State officers meeting at the chairman's home.

FBLA has been in existence for nine years serving as the means of giving young people who plan to enter the business world an opportunity to learn about the organizations and the way they work. It has been giving young people the business preparation and leadership qualities which will help put them in strategic positions for advancement to responsible positions.

Nicholas Rigirozzi, 24 years, of Los Angeles, was slightly injured Tuesday when his car skidded off the highway at the Anaheim-Olive bridge while trying to avoid collision with a truck at the west approach. He claimed that the truck driver signalled to make a left turn just as they met.

He is in the pecussion section of the band and a member of the college orchestra. He was also in the journalism club, Spanish club, Toastmasters, Colonist Knights, and the Science club and received a science award in 1946.

Salveson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Melvin Salveson, 8115 Sunkist, Anaheim. He is a junior music major and plays oboe in the band. He was graduated from Anaheim Union high school in 1947, where he was in the band, orchestra, class plays, a member of the Latin club, Boys' Honorary Service club, of which he was treasurer in 1947, and a member of the honor society. He attended Fullerton junior college in 1947-49, where he was in band, orchestra, German club and the honor society.

St. Michael's Church Names Lay Reader

Mr. Jeffery C. Palin will be received as the second active Lay Reader in St. Michael's Episcopal Church on Sunday, May 7, at the 11 a.m. service of the Holy Communion, according to St. Michael's rector, the Rev. John Kimball Saville.

Mr. Palin will be presented to Rev. Saville by Mr. Gerald Goodrich, Senior Warden of the parish. Mr. Goodrich will also give the new reader the license issued by the Rt. Rev. F. Eric Bloy, Bishop of the Los Angeles Diocese. The license entitles Mr. Palin to read the services of Morning and Evening Prayer, the Litany and the Burial Office in any of the Episcopal Churches in the Diocese.

Rev. Saville will give Mr. Palin the Lay Reader's collar and medal.

To become eligible for the Lay Reader's office, Mr. Palin studied prescribed courses under Rev. Saville for eight weeks and then passed an examination administered by Dean Edwin T. Lewis of Whittier.

Baptized at St. Michael's Church, Mr. Palin was confirmed at St. John's Cathedral in Denver, Colorado.

Returning to Anaheim several months ago, he was appointed general manager of the A. P. M. Brown Insurance Company.

Along with Mr. Terry Kilduff, now attending Occidental College, Mr. Palin will assist the rector of St. Michael's in conducting the services.

Christian Science

"When I said, My foot slippeth; thy mercy, O Lord, held me up." This statement from the Psalms will be the Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Adam and Fallen Man" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

Luke's Gospel relates that when Jesus was a guest in the house of Simon, the Pharisee, "a woman in the city, which was a sinner, . . . brought an alabaster box of ointment, and stood at his feet behind him weeping, and began to wash his feet with tears, . . . and anointed them with the ointment. . . And he turned to the woman, and said unto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entered into thine house, thou gavest me no water for my feet: but she hath washed my feet with tears, . . . My head with oil thou didst not anoint: but this woman hath anointed my feet with ointment. Wherefore I say unto thee, Her sins, which are many are forgiven; for she loved much."

"Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals," writes Marry Baker Eddy in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." Again she says, "In this Science, we discover man in the image and likeness of God. We see that man has never lost his spiritual estate and his eternal harmony."

Rooster Bites Girl but Girl Doesn't Bite Back

A nine-year-old girl residing in the Delhi district of Santa Ana was bitten by a rooster this week. But that wasn't news. The girl didn't bite the rooster.

Mrs. Rosenda Curiel reported to Santa Ana police that her daughter suffered a rooster bite. Police verified the bite.

No complaint was filed against the rooster.

The rules of modern professional boxing were first adopted in 1860.

Building Permits Hit $1,266,605 Since January 1

Building permits authorizing construction of $1,266,605 worth of new buildings have been issued in Anaheim since January 1, 1950, according to records compiled by city Building Inspector, Rudolph Nyboe. Permits granted in April set a new record total of $525,959, more than doubling April, 1949 mark which stands at $215,479.

Permits issued for dwellings between May 1 and May 3 came to $288,780.

Among the largest proposed expenditures authorized by Nyboe's office were $207,000 for the new Thomas Jefferson School at 422 E. South Street, $176,000 for the New Presbyterian Church and $142,000 for the Lutheran Home at 891 S. Walnut.

Monthly breakdown showing number of proposed buildings and total expenditures since January 1 was: January, 27 buildings, $101-730; February, 27 buildings, $223-892; March, 50 buildings, $415,224; and April, 62 buildings, $525,959.

Thieves' Late Snack Costs Packer 18 Hams

"Ham and hold the relish," was what thieves had in mind when they broke into the Bridgford Packing Plant at Commercial and Patt streets early Tuesday morning. And they must have been hungry thieves at that. Glenn O. Donovan, 518 S. Palm, manager of the plant, reports that 18 hams, worth $144.00, were taken and three doors were broken off in the effort.

The midnight diners broke into the pickle room too, but left things undisturbed, apparently preferring their king-size midnight snack ungarnished.

Donovan told Anaheim police that he was apprised of the crime by an employee, Alfred Owens, who couldn't remember whether he had locked up or not and who on checking, found evidences of the theft.

Officers Curtis and Wilson went to the plant and reported back that a meat saw had been used to dismantle a padlock in order to gain entrance.

4-H Club Fair Set for May 6 At Fair Grounds

Several hundred Orange County 4-H club boys and girls will exhibit livestock and home economics projects at the 4-H club fair on Saturdday, May 6 at the Orange County Fair Grounds. H. W. Longfellow, farm advisor states that judging of livestock exhibits will commence at 9:30 a. m.

A contest for judging all classes of livestock and home economics entries will be conducted in the forenoon.

The afternoon program will include demonstrations by teams from various community 4-H clubs.

4-H club girls will present a style review in the afternoon.
