WHERE'S THE END OF IT ALL?—Price stabilization may be necessary to save the nation from inflation and communism, but to Joe Hurst, the gentleman above with his head in his hands, it's all a headachy nuisance. OPS Regulation 7, with its pricing charts, categories, et al, have Joe searching back through his jewelry store's invoices, which have been accumulating for years. Multiply his predicament by all the jewelry and other stores in the nation and the "haves" being wrought by OPS is plainly indicated. Another Auto Fatality in Orange County

A U.S. Marine was killed this morning, his passenger hurt seriously, and three members of a family injured slightly, in a spectacular three vehicle smashup at Red Hill ave. and Highway 101, near Tustin.

Edward P. Gilbert, 26, of Santa Ana Marine Corps air station, died in the wreckage of his car which crashed broadside into another machine and then overturned to crash into a truck.

The other motorist, Reno C. Nadeau, 26, of the Air station, escaped with minor injuries and the truck driver, Merle Wolverton, 44, Santa Ana, escaped injury.

John G. Carlisle, 22, also a Marine, who was riding with Gilbert, sustained major hurts. He is at the dispensary at the air station.

Nadeau and his wife, Christine, 20, and their daughter, Helen, 3 1/2 months of age, were hurt slightly and were taken to the base dispensary for treatment.

California Highway Patrolmen said Gilbert apparently failed to make a boulevard stop, crashed the Nadeau machine, then bounced off and collided with the Wolverton truck after the Gilbert car slipped over.

Gilbert's body was taken to a Santa Ana mortuary. An inquest is pending.

Van Fleet Sees 'Great Victory' As UN Controls Red Offensive

Easy Ss Boys Know How to Do It Easily?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Have any trouble paying your bills this week? Plenty of money in your pocket to pay the butcher, the baker, the installment on the car?

Then consider the case of Mickey Cohen, the West Coast gambler. He ran a little short one day so he walked into a bank, talked to the president, and walked out again with a $20,000 loan. No note. No security. Just $20,000.

Or rest your gaze on Tony D'Amico, a Detroit operator. He's been getting an annual salary of $27,000 a year from a car-hauling firm. What does he do to earn the money? Nothing whatever.

Easy money? Well, these are only two among scores, if not hundreds, of men whose fantastic money-handling operations are described by the Senate Crime committee in its newly-published report.

There are sums in the report that could make you dizzy—a $20,000,000-a-year "take" by one East St. Louis bookie, joint, a $3,000,000-a-year income from New Orleans slot machines, a $600,000 payoff by the operators of a racing wire.

"Money," said the committee, "is the key to power in the underworld."

And it doesn't seem hard to get it. If you don't care how you get it.

KOREAN BATTLE FIZZLES TO MINOR SKIRMISHES—This was the picture in Korea today as big red offensive fizzled into minor skirmishes: (A) Reds were out of contact with Allied forces in Seoul area; (B) Heavy red concentration of troops and supplies was noted in Chunchon sector; (C) The reds tried to punch through east of Hwachon dam near Inje but Allied planes, artillery and infantry broke up the effort; (D) South Koreans still were several miles north of Parallel 38. (Associated Press Wirephoto Map)

TOKYO (AP)—The red spring offensive has been stopped by "a great victory by the United Nations," Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet said today. But a new communist assault is in the making.

The Allied ground commander jubilantly announced "the enemy has failed."

The reds lost, too, in their battle to control the rivers which must be crossed in the next phase of their spring offensive.

American Naval planes skip-bombed gaping holes in the flood-gates of Hwachon reservoir and sent water rushing back into the Pukhan and Han rivers. The reds had closed the gates tight in an effort to lower these great natural water barriers for an easy crossing.

As the rivers returned toward normal levels, U.N. tank patrols rumbled out Wednesday on red hunts.

One tank force stabbed 11 miles north of Seoul to the Ullongchong area and ran into a Chinese ambush. Tankers buttoned down their hatches and fought their way back through red attempts to set up a road block.

Other armored patrols searched the immense "V" formed by the Pukhan and Han rivers east of Seoul. They found no reds.

Democrats to Pick Convention Place

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic National committee will meet in Denver on May 23 to pick the time and place for the 1952 presidential nominating convention.

Chairman William M. Boyle Jr., of the committee announced the session last night. Six cities have put in bids for either of the major party nominating conventions. Chicago and Philadelphia are regarded as having made the strongest offers.

Republicans will meet in Tulsa, Okla., May 11-12 to pick their site.

Thus, the Democrats, if they choose, again will be able to hold their convention after the GOP ticket has been named.

US Casualties Reach 62,799

WASHINGTON (AP)—Announced American casualties in Korea reached 62,799 today, an increase of 1053 in a week.

The total includes 6003 killed, 42,246 wounded and 10,250 missing in action. It covers combat casualties reported to the next of kin through last Friday.

Of the wounded, 1110 have since died, 100 of the missing are known dead, raising the total combat deaths to 10,813.

The missing total also included 1166 who have since returned to U. S. military control and 112 known prisoners of war, leaving 9571 currently missing.

Warren Signs Bill For County MWD

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Governor Warren today signed a bill permitting all of Orange county to join the Metropolitan Water district.

The measure was that of Senator Clyde Watson (R-Orange) repealing the law which allowed parts of the county to be excluded from the Orange water district and annex themselves to the Metropolitan.

Farm Accidents to Be Put on Spot

Depicting agricultural accidents as not only an individual physical danger but a financial and economic loss to agriculture as a whole, the Orange County Agricultural Safety council met last night and organized for an accident prevention campaign throughout the county.

Under leadership of Chairman William Cook of Irvine, the council, in session at the Orange County Farm Bureau, discussed means of conducting an educational campaign that will show the extent of accidents on farms of the county, and their causes, so that hazards can be eliminated.

An exhibit will be arranged at the Orange county fair in August, and, meanwhile, 4-H clubs will have poster contests, with prizes offered, and will place skull-and-crossbone stickers on accident hazards they find on the farms. Farm centers will name safety chairmen to distribute information on accident prevention, and to check danger points on farms in their territory.

Warren Wants Legislature to Show More Speed on Anti-Crime Proposals

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Governor Warren urged the California legislature today to act on its requests for legal blows against the underworld.

He said he was concerned over failure of some of his anti-crime proposals to move more rapidly.

In a statewide radio broadcast last night, the governor reported: "His request for funds for a new state crime commission is still up in the air. The 1951-52 state budget includes $101,000 for the racketeer probe. It passed the Assembly several weeks ago but awaits a decision in the senate."

His proposal to give the commission the power of subpoena is not doing so well. The Assembly-passed bill has been slowly passed by a Senate committee which has yet to consider it.

Legislation which he endorsed to outlaw draw poker has been "running into difficulty" even though approved by the Assembly.

Warren said: "I think almost everyone around Sacramento is aware that a fight to prevent the legislature from passing any and all legislation which might hamper or expose their activity."

He did not amplify the statement that the draw poker bill is running into difficulty. It has not been set for a hearing by the Senate committee to which it was referred.

Acheson Says Korea Report Was Heeded

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today the administration carried out the recommendations of the Acheson report.

He told a news conference the exception was the creation of the military mission independent of the Korean forces instead of a Korean scout force with American officers as Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer recommended in a 1947 report.

The Senate Armed Services committee yesterday released the report. Wedemeyer made on a survey of Korea at Chinha, which he undertook at the request of President Truman. The report had been kept secret during the intervening period of almost four years.

The report, delivered in September, 1947, warned that "Soviet-inspired" North Koreans might invade South Korea.

Wedemeyer recommended various policy moves, including arms aid to South Korea and creation of a South Korean scout force, under American officers, to guard against this threat.

Acheson was asked today to state the extent to which the Wedemeyer report was taken into account in the government's development of Korean policy. He was prepared for this question with a statement of which he said the key paragraph was this:

"The actions which were taken and the actions which were recommended in all cases coincide except for the creation of a Korean scout force with American officers."

RAID AUTOMOBILES
Thieves got away with auto accessories and conduct pipe valued in all at $114 in a pair of Santa Ana thefts, according to Santa Ana police reports today.

Truman W. Brewer, 2025 S. Sycamore, Santa Ana, reported theft of four hub caps and a spotlight, worth $85, from his car, parked near the Cypress ave. fire station last evening.

Exact time of the pipe theft was not known, but footprints of two men found at the scene were made since the Saturday night rains, police said.

MacArthur to Ad Lib Pacific Policy Airing

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur will have no prepared statement and no documents with him when he testifies tomorrow in Washington, an aid of the ousted Far East commander says.

MacArthur will be the first witness at a joint investigation by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees into his ouster by President Truman and U. S. foreign policies in the Pacific.

MacArthur and former President Herbert Hoover conferred for an hour yesterday in the general's tower suite at the Waldorf Astoria hotel.

What they talked about was not disclosed. It was the second known talk between the two since MacArthur went to the hotel where Mr. Hoover makes his home. In the first talk, MacArthur called on Mr. Hoover, under whom he served as Army Chief of Staff.

Lotus H. Loudon...

We join with the many, many friends of Lotus H. Loudon in extending our heartfelt condolences to his family on the sorrowful occasion of his passing away late Monday afternoon.

Let's face it, men...

You might as well face it, brother. The little woman is a safer driver than you are. Maybe she drives more tenderly than you do, and makes a three-act melodrama out of parking. But when serious automobile accidents occur, more than nine times out of 10 a man is at the wheel.

There is, of course, a male answer for this one—there are more men drivers than women. "But statistics of the Automobile Association show that there are not that many more. Although 27 per cent of the licensed drivers in the United States are women, men drivers were involved in 82 per cent of all fatal motor vehicle accidents last year, women drivers in only 14 per cent.

These are figures that the much-maligned woman driver might keep handy when her husband begins one of his jokes about widening the garage doors or installing a parking device that will make the wheels go sideways. She needn't mention it at the time, but of course these dramatic statistics are slightly misleading, because as a rule men drive far greater distances than women do, and thus are exposed to more accidents.

Authority for this statement is Dr. Ingene Holloway of Pelham, N. Y., who set up the accident prevention program of the American Red Cross and at present is director of the school and college division of the Greater New York Safety Council. Says she:

"Women are short-haul drivers, for the most part. They take the car downtown to shop, drive their children to school or drive to the station to meet their husbands. They take far fewer long motor trips than men do.

But men make a profession of driving. We have very few women truck drivers, taxi drivers and bus drivers. Some women proved their ability in such jobs during World War II, but it's not the rule. So you can't quite trust the statistics.

Making all allowances, however,

Mr. Bohn, the night-watchman, was circulating a petition to the Board of Supervisors yesterday, to secure his appointment as Special Constable. A large number of signatures were obtained.

A telegram from Washington announces the discontinuance of the post office at Newport this country.

Several large loads of wool passed through town yesterday on the way to the depot.

Don Juan Forster, of Santa Margarita ranch, has telegraphed to Messrs. Davis & Bro. for men to assist in moving a band of cattle.

Mr. C. Brown who was thrown from a bucking horse at Upper Santa Ana a few days ago is improving rapidly and will soon be well again.

Mr. P. Hilton was in town yesterday endeavoring to organize a company of sheep-men to erect works at his place for the purpose of killing and trying the carcasses from sheep. It is estimated that the works will cost about $300. Quite a number of stock men will take part in the enterprise.

We have been requested to draw public attention to the reprehensible conduct of certain youths, who make a daily practice of bathing in the zanjas, to the great annoyance of ladies and others. As it is the intention of the complaining parties to lawfully prosecute the offenders should the practice complained of be continued, it may be interesting to know that the offense is punishable by fine of $500 or six months imprisonment.

"Orange county is a sixth most prosperous agricultural county in the nation, though it is one of the smallest counties in California," said Raymond Nebeling, federal land appraiser, who spoke Tuesday before the Kiwanis club. "Orange county is fortunate in having a large percentage of its total area under cultivation. Last year 44,000 acres in this county were devoted to citrus culture, providing a gross income of $10,000,000. Walnuts, with a total of 14,000 acres and a gross return of $3,000,000 are second in importance. Santa Ana is known the world over as the heaviest shipping point for walnuts. Lima beans, buckeye beans, bay, sugar beets, pepper, tomatoes and other agricultural products added last year to the grand total of $25,000,000 gross return to the farmer.

In discussing the growth of Orange county the other day, Supervisor Schumacher declared it is necessary now in planning road improvements to look ahead at least 10 years and plan accordingly. Increased population gained during the past five years has made the handling of motor vehicles upon county highways a complex question. One hundred foot boulevards was ordered by action by permitting vehicles to pass two abreast in either direction. The routing of cars upon certain streets would also help. California is gaining population rapidly, that the problem of handling traffic is serious. Many county roads are now being widened from 10 to 20 feet by adding extra shoulders to the pavement.

DEATH MARCH

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

WASHINGTON—There has been a significant and sincere difference of opinion regarding full and open hearings for MacArthur testimony beginning tomorrow.

Sen. Dick C. of Georgia has been anxious not to have anything come out of the hearings that would in any way give aid and comfort to the enemy. Everyone else agrees with him on this.

Not in agreement, however, are all the military men in the Pentagon. Some of them feel that such a hearing would start an extremely bad precedent in making public military mistakes of the past. This feeling is not shared by all. Gen. Omar Bradley, for instance, has believed in putting the cards on the table so matter whose errors it shows up, including his own.

However, it has been a traditional policy among the military for 100 years or so never to make public the battle errors of war. For instance, the files on the mistakes of World War I never have been open to Congress or to the public, nor of the Spanish-American war, nor even the Civil War. This is because it is definite military policy that the tragic blunders of the top brass should not be publicized. It is considered bad for the prestige of the service.

General Bradley is one of the nearest to publishing these blunders in his current biography in which he tells of the failure of Gen. Johnny "Cotton" Lee to keep the Normandy invasion supplied with munitions. He also tells of Lee's insatiable desire for grabbing swank hotels for his officers while the G.I.s slept where they could.

I reported part of this story during the war—namely, how General Lee had taken over the swank George V hotel in Paris for himself and how his supply lines got so snarled up that Gen. Thomas Larkin was ordered to make a special investigation. However, the official reports of the War Department have never told this story and probably never will.

Korea's Errors Likewise, the tragic mistakes of the Korean war never have been disclosed. For instance, that when Gen. Edward Almond and the late Gen. "Johnny" Walker were racing toward the Yalu river just before our tragic December defeat, there was no battle plan between them.

This failure was considered so dangerous by the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington that a special warning was cabled General MacArthur to set up communications between his two field commanders. However, he never heeded the warning. The two commanders continued to operate, in effect, without speaking to each other.

Possible explanation was that Walker was a lieutenant general in command of the 8th Army, and outranked Almond who was only a major general. However, General Almond was MacArthur's Chief of Staff in Tokyo, had been close to him, and was sent from Tokyo to command the 10th Corps, which, although not actually an army, was almost of equivalent size.

And for reasons best known to MacArthur, Almond was not placed under the direct command of his superior, General Walker. Instead, he reported back to Tokyo. This would not have been so serious, had not Walker's forces started off at a northward angle toward the Yalu river, while Almond's forces started almost straight north.

And as they fanned out in two different directions with no communications between them, the Chinese adopted the obvious and easy tactic of advancing into the vacuum.

Once the Chinese got on par with the position of both the 8th Army and the 10th Corps became untenable. This was one of the inside reasons for the disastrous retreat of last November-December.

The 8th Army retreated 120 miles pell-mell without making a stop. In some cases, it unhitched heavy artillery, leaving them to the enemy without even a pretense of a fight. This retreat reflected on our men. The war was with the command. No prepared positions had been set up in the rear, perhaps because there was not the slightest expectation the Chinese would intervene.

Furthermore, our troops were not overhauled by superior numbers, as played up in the headlines at that time. While General MacArthur was issuing press communiques about a Chinese force of 1,000,000 men, his own dispatches to the Pentagon, estimated Chinese strength at only 250,000 men, plus 150,000 North Korean troops.

Another serious error the military doesn't like to talk about now was the failure to spot Chinese troops building up on both sides of the Yalu river, which should have been fairly easy for Army intelligence to spot, but MacArthur's intelligence failed to report them.

ARMY ATTACKS EXPANDED WAISTLINES

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The fat is coming off Uncle Sam's troops in Germany. G.I.s and generals alike have been ordered to shake off those extra pounds. The new order is part of the "get-ready-for-anything" program of the new commanding general in Europe, Lieutenant General Mark W. S. Eddy. All officers and men, regardless of assignment or age, are required to take part in a new physical conditioning program, which includes marches, running, sprinting, pull-ups, push-ups and equal jumps.

NEW YORK (AP)—It is always lonelier on a mountain peak than in a valley.

It's that way with military life, too. The generals are lonelier than the lieutenants. Sometimes I think they are among the loneliest of all men, particularly in combat zones.

To the ordinary private, who has so many bosses he sometimes feels like a hare surrounded by a high picket fence, the life of a general looks like one long dream of luxurious liberty.

"Nobody can tell the general what to do," the low man on the army totem pole tells himself conceivably. "He can go where he wants to when he wants to. He can fly up when he wants to. He can't have to walk in the mud—he can get over it in his own plane."

"He can get what he wants to eat and all the liquor he wants to drink. He sleeps between sheets. He doesn't have to polish his own boots. He's got a high-class day-boy to do all his dog-robbing errands. Too man, how do they ever get jobs like that?"

And, of course, the average private envies the privileged—because he knows that the general is the most generous of all men, and he is restricted in many ways by the opinions of those under his own command.

"I can't afford to let myself worry too much whether my officers and men like me or hate me," a general told me once. "But I do have to be sure they respect me—and that they will carry out my orders."

Being boss means having less plain ordinary human fun. When they throw a party of an Army post, the commanding general and his lady arrive early—and they leave early. They can't hang around and let down their hair with the lower-rank lads and their lassies. It wouldn't do. And the boys' find out it's a mistake. Some of the boys are sure to misunderstand. Or some will try to take advantage of the situation. Authority must remain upright—and keep its distance.

"It isn't quite snobbery," one general's wife explained. "The general can't mix too freely in social life for fear the lads will get jealous. He has to be sure he's not being too friendly. That wrecks morale." In battle areas the general is really lonely. His companionship is even more limited. He cannot share his responsibility with his code of life. And sometimes generals whose units have been hit

By the Gazette Farm Editor

THIS COLUMN has been taking it too easy to suit our reader and we had better get back on the job. But remember this, reader, that we are not going to let the column interfere too much with our fishing (three big bass, we got it, too), and we have not run out of ammunition as some of the inmates of the Kremlin have been saying. These boys out there have been getting the growers ready to take less money for their fruit and like it for so long that the deal just seems to work that way automatically. Any salesman wants the price of his commodity lowered so that there will be less sales resistance and his job will thus be made much easier. His employer is usually fully aware of that type of thinking and steps in to help.

But get your thinking about the California citrus deal straightened out. In the way the Exchange operates we fail to see any "selling." The promise board gives the valencia crop so many weeks to get out of the way. The Exchange takes the growers' fruit and ships it east where it is put up at auction and, at great expense to the grower, the eastern buyer bids what he is willing to pay and that is all there is to it. There is no discount for the grower. It is common knowledge that a grower gives a deal either whether or not the grower gets a profit. And why should they? The "hired help" gets theirs just the same.

WHY DID WILCOX sign the "cheaper fruit" contract with Minute Maid last year? We believe that it was because he took the easy way to get rid of the "cheaper-fruit" contract. He took the business away from other processors with fruit that he considered growers. And Minute Maid jumped at the "cheaper fruit" contract. And California growers were not told about it. What kind of business is that? We find it out from a Florida source and blab our big mouth about it and what does that make us? A big go-and-slob.

Even Mr. Prizer stepped up and said that we were controlled by "interests" as he was pleased to put it.

Now just why did we not like the "cheaper fruit" contract? The answer is simple: we had a little fruit in the mess and we had to take 15¢ money for it than if Mr. Wilcox had gone to bal and "sold" the stuff to Minute Maid at the same price Mr. Fox was paying Florida growers the very minute the contract was signed.

Mr. Prizer did not like to be reminded about the pitiful job he turned in for the growers who trusted him and paid that big salary and provident plan.

THEY CAME UP with one of the stock and bull routines and told about the poor fruit. They went on to say that if and when growers gave them good fruit we could expect some money. We growers don't want "some money" we simply want a profit. And we have the sweet crop of valencia oranges hanging on the trees right now that this county has seen for many years. It is ready to move right now.

But the OAC, controlled, we are afraid, by naval men and Mr. McLean of "up north" have the old "Indian sign" on Orange county valencias and you know what will happen to this "stepchild" of the Exchange. We pay the bills and take what is left. The Exchange does not even mention the term "Valencia" in their advertising for the summer crop. And they say to the grower this is "your business."

If that is business men we will take voodoo.

If those guys own their money then we have another thing coming. And we have no axe to grind. We only get what is left.

feels emotionally the death in late of individual men under him. If he did he couldn't stand the tension of being a general. But a general traditionally does regard his command as part of his own body. And any consideration of his men—any loss he could have avoided—is as a spur-thrust into his own side. That is part of his military creed. That is code of life. And sometimes generals whose units have been hit too hard have to be relieved for the same reason a boxer has to retire. The hurt of repeated punches has made him too cautious. Ordering other men to their deaths must be the nature of his task to men who live on the highest peak of decision. That is why, probably, the only person who can really understand a general is—another general.

'Over the Back Fence' Gets Anaheim's Views on Television

This week your "OBF" column will begin a new policy. Each week we will ask one vital question devoted to your opinion concerning politics, personalities, or current issues.

Our question this week: "How has the advent of TV affected your way of life?"

Mrs. Henry Weick of 517 E. Sycamore says, "We don't go to as many movies as we used to, in fact we haven't been to a movie for a long time. Television also makes us feel in closer contact with world events by actually seeing them rather than just hearing about them."

The Weicks have lived in their new home for three years. Originally hailing from Muskegon, Michigan, the couple moved to Anaheim five years ago. Henry Weick was a captain in the Army during World War II, stationed in the European theater.

Mrs. Weick was born in southern Brazil and moved to Michigan while she was very young. While Captain Weick was overseas she moved to Los Angeles to study costume design. The Southern California climate was pretty much like Brazil and she decided to stay. After the finished designer's school she began work in a costume designer's shop in Beverly Hills, where they designed a lot of the motion picture costumes. When her husband was discharged she quit work and they moved down here and he went to work in a local real estate office, C. D. Yoder.

Their collection of animals consists of a pit cocker spaniel, Tuffy, and "Georgious Oats," a parakeet that talks more than any two people.

Mrs. Myrell Royer and her family live right across the street at 512 E. Sycamore. They have only lived in their home since September, when they moved out from Willoughby, Ohio, but they have already formed some definite opinions of Anaheim.

Her answer to our question of the week: "Our TV set is broken right now. The rest of the family likes it pretty well, especially the westerns and variety shows. I really don't care, can take it or leave it."

The Royers have two daughters, Marge, 19, who is employed by the Fullerton branch of the Bank of America, and Joan, 15, who is a frosh at A.U.H.S. Mrs. Royer is also the guardian of her nephew eight-year-old Paul Winters, and has been rearing him since he was 11 months old.

Myrell Royer is a painter and paper hanger who is employed by Walter F. Sorenson, painting and decorating in Laguna Beach.

Cinder, their combination cocker spaniel and terrier, also comes from Ohio.

The family has this to say about Anaheim: "People aren't sociable and neighborly as they are back East. Since we have gotten to know our immediate neighbors, we found they are very friendly, but we mean the people in general. They just don't seem to have the native friendly spirit as the people back East."

Our next interviewees are transplants from Santa Ana. Dr. and Mrs. John Wilcox have now been situated at 419 E. Sycamore st. for 4 years. Dr. Wilcox is an ear, nose and throat specialist, and he was formerly practicing with Dr. Elliott here in Anaheim. About a year ago he moved his practice to Santa Ana. They just can't seem to get together with their work and their residence. They have two children, Carol,

Mrs. John Wilcox, Kirk and Carol. Hanging child, Carol is one of Mrs. Wilcox's own water colors.

Mrs. Myrell Royer, Paul, Joan, "Cinder" and Marge.

6, and Kirk, 3. Carol attends the afternoon session of kindergarten at George Washington school.

Mrs. Wilcox, LeVern, is a vivacious woman who is able to handle a great many things competently. Her answer to our question of the week was "First of all, we eat earlier. We either have to eat before 5:30 p.m. or after 6:07 p.m. or between then and 6:30 p.m. (That's the time of the children's favorite programs.) Another thing, it is practically impossible to get the children to bed. Social life—if we have callers in the early evening hours we have to entertain them on the porch. Also there has been a tremendous increase in juvenile callers. But we still go to concerts, singing groups and visit quite a bit."

The Wilcox's are very enthusiastic about the arts and singing. Every week they trek over to Santa Ana to sing with the Orange Empire Chorale, a mixed chorus of 50 voices, which meets at the Santa Ana high school. They are very much in favor of the prospects of Anaheim initiating its own opera series. The doctor plays the clarinet, also golf. Mrs. Wilcox was a psychiatric social worker in Pennsylvania while the doctor was an interne. They are both originally from Illinois.

Mrs. Henry Weick and "Tuffy"

When we talked to Mrs. Wilcox, she had been finger painting with her children. For the past two years she has been very interested in painting. The rumpled room is filled with finished and unfinished water colors, oils, and temperas. Some of her work has been framed and hangs on the walls in the living room and dining room.

plenty of targets on the highways. Through the night and day they blasted red efforts to build up manpower and supplies for a renewal of their halted offensive.

The present status of the red drive was summed up by Van Fleet after a flying visit to the 10th Corps front. He said:

"We have punished the communist forces severely. The enemy has failed in the first phase of his offensive. He has paid a heavy price (more than 75,000 casualties in nine days). The first part of the battle has ended in a total victory for the United Nations."

Van Fleet made it clear he didn't consider this the final end of the red offensive.

Communist forces, he said, have "the capability of hitting again as hard as before or harder. However, I am confident the results will be the same."

Every red attempt in the drive so far has ended like the battle of the Chosen.

The communists closed the sluice gates Monday night to lower the level of the two rivers. That would make them easier to cross. The water level dropped sharply.

Sky raiders from the carrier Princeton opened the gates Tuesday. They swept in across the reservoir and skipped 300 pound bombs into two flood gates. First reports said they used aerial torpedoes but later AP correspondent Tom Bradshaw said they used bombs with special fuses to cause the greatest amount of underwater damage.

One of the 18 floodgates was destroyed. A 10 foot hole was ripped in another.

Paul Alexander

The body of Paul J. Alexander, 35-year-old fisherman who was drowned in an attempt to take a line to a stranded fishing boat off the rocky shoreline around Crystal Cove in high seas Monday, was recovered yesterday about 5 p.m. by searchers west of Crystal Cove.

Mr. Alexander was born in Sioux Rapids, Iowa, and has been a resident of Anaheim since 1921, residence at 123 N. Resh st.

He is survived by one son, Harold C. Alexander; his mother, Mrs. John Sullmans of Anaheim; stepfather, O.M. Sullmans of Anaheim; his sister, Mrs. Killingsworth of Washington; one stepbrother, Harriet Doane of Fullerton, and one stepbrother, William Doane of Manhattan Beach.

Funeral services will be conducted from the chapel of Backs, Campbell and Kaulbars, Thursday at 2:30 p.m. The Rev. Howard S. Longdon will officiate.

ATMOSPHERIC ACCIDENTS

Johanne Espinoza, two, of Santa Ana, was injured when he ran into the street near his home at 102 Central ave., Santa Ana, yesterday afternoon and ran against the side of an automobile driven by William Collins, 28, 1338 W. Third st., Santa Ana. The boy received cuts and bruises and was treated by a physician.

James Hugh Prentiss, 26, 482 N. Batavia st., Orange, escaped injury when his car collided with a car driven by Nellie Fraser, 71, 11342 S. Standard, Garden Grove, yesterday at Sixth and Ross streets, Santa Ana. Mrs. Fraser also was unhurt, but police gave her a citation for not having her correct address on the registration slip of her car.

Johnston Says Dam Will Hold Against Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Economic stabilizer Eric Johnston assured businessmen today the government will hold the dam against "a new inflation" anticipated by Christmas when arms production reaches full tide.

"So far we've had only a flash-flood of inflation," he said, "compared to what we could have by early winter without the sternest and steepest of controls."

In a speech prepared for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce at its 45th annual meeting, Johnston promised to write wage-price ceilings off the books "the minute I see controls are no longer necessary."

He predicted that this day is about two years off.

The PSA administrator urged his audience of industrialists not to let down until the job is done. "We can't talk turkey to communists with a feather duster," he said.

Himself a former president of the Chamber, Johnston urged its members to ignore the "fear salesmen" who warn that defense expansion will overbuild the industrial plant and leave the country ripe for a depression.

"The inconsistency of these goose-pimple peddlers is almost a thing of beauty," he declared. "They said controls would put the kibosh on production—which they haven't and which they won't—and now they foresee it producing ourselves straight into a bust."

"They look ahead not to 5-day security day—for America, but to bust day for America."

GRASSHOPPERS IN RIVERSIDE
RIVERSIDE (AP)—Swarms of grasshoppers are attacking pastures near Indio and Escondido, says County Agriculture Commissioner William Wright.

On his recommendation, the board of supervisors yesterday voted to buy poison to sell to ranchers in the threatened areas.

"We will have a stockpile of arms so ample and a defense production capacity so big that an aggressor anywhere will count 10 before he speaks—and then bite his tongue before he speaks at all. And then, God willing, we may produce the loaded gambling den of war."

Baseball
NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants came up with another big inning—a six-run surge in the seventh—to rout the Chicago Cubs 8-1 for their third straight victory today. Rookie George Spencer, making his first start of the year, held the Cubs to six hits off a six-inning performance.

Philadelphia Red's P. J. Egan pitched a 4-1 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies today.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A two-run ninth inning rally, featuring a double by Connie Ryan and a single by Grady-Matten off reliefs.

BROOKLYN (AP)—Ted Beard's pick-double in the eighth inning drove in the winning run today as the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped Brooklyn, 4-3, for their second straight victory over the Dodgers. Murry Dickson held the Brooklyn to five as he shuttled up his third victory against no outcasts.

CLEVELAND (AP)—With their sensational new rookie, Harry Simpson, enjoying a perfect day at bat, the Cleveland Indians beat the Boston Red Sox, 4 to 3, today, to sweep a two-game series.

An amazed crowd of 11,388 saw Simpson lace three consecutive singles off Mel Parnell and close his performance with a double off Ellis Kinder. It was the second major league ball game Simpson had ever played.

CHICAGO (AP)—Joe Collins' triple in the ninth drove in the winning run today as the injured-plagued New York Yankees came from behind to nix the Chicago White Sox, 5-4.

HAWTHORNE RECALLS TWO
HAWTHORNE (AP)—Mayor George Hawthorne and Councilman Lines Hargrave were voted out of office in a recall election yesterday. Councilman Lines Hargrave, also an object of the recall movement, retained his office by a slim margin.

Backers of the recall charged mismanagement of city affairs.

On the mayor, the vote was 1824 to recall him, and 1823 against. The vote on Councilman Hargrave was 1839 for the recall and 1851 against.

BOSTON (AP)—Lefty Warren Spahn blanked the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-0, today to return the Boston Braves to the National League lead. It was the fourth shutout by a tribal hurler in a week, and the first suffered by the Cardinals this season.

Speak ye truth each one with his neighbor, for we are members one of another—Eph. 4:25.

CALIFORNIA — Its first transcontinental, non-stop air plane flight was made by Lieutenant Kelly and Macready from New York to San Diego. They covered the 2516 air miles in 28 hours and 50 minutes, May 28, 1931.

ROUNDUP — A couple weeks ago a couple young fellows, Tex Middleton and Randy Bell, made a trip to Arizona to play in a tennis tournament for men 40 and older. Both were defeated by the ultimate winner—Tex went down in the opening round, while Randy filtered in the finals. He was beaten by one point. . . . Bill Cook, the Anaheim businessman, is really performing a miracle with the high school tennis team. The team plays a smashing game. Bill isn't big with a racket himself. . . .

Montoya played a lot of ball for the Anaheim-Fullerton, McManis Girls. She is the new Mrs. Demetrio Castro Lopez. Incidentally, Tony Cadena's girls are already working out. He has several trips to Baja California in the offing. . . . Melia Foster, the Capitano beaver, is the Orange Lionetter star catcher this season. Elwood Case, the Lionetter business manager and Orange Chamber of Commerce secretary, doesn't miss a bat. Betty Jean Allen is doing a lot of the pitching in the practice sessions, thus saving Bertha Hagan for the important games.

DRAFT NOTICE—Dave Hernandez might tell you that a lot of colleagues are buckling down to book learning. It seems that a lot of Joe Colleges would rather be a Joe College than a GI Joe.

VIGNETTE—Del Crandall, as you know, is playing on the P. Ord baseball team. So is Jim Baxie, the Hollywood Star; Dave Melton who was with the Seals last year; and Bill Madala who is playing with the Army team until released last week. Joe Fatta, the Buena Park kid who broke into organized baseball at La Palma park last year is also on the club.

There's nothing unusual about a service club being loaded with talent. Crandall, however, made news a couple of weeks ago. . . . The kid got married the week before he was inducted and so he got himself a week-end pass when his wife came up to see him. He had a week-end pass, but he returned to camp so he could play ball.

FOURTH ESTATE — Charles Vernon, former editor of the Yorba Linda Star, is seriously ill. . . . They tell me that the former Gaestebitter, Willard Gregory, is making a slow comeback at his home in Glendale. . . . Don Smith left the Fullerton Tribune to become a featured writer for the Santa Ana Register. . . .

PEOPLE — Bob Williams and Fele Wisner could tell you that there were a number of disappointed Anaheimers. Rain spoiled the trout season opening. It's all ways that way. . . . Lee Kavanagh investigated reports that there were fish in Holly Jim Canyon. John P. O'Kane, the Izzac Walton State Conservation director, should be that Orange county streams are stocked with both fish and water. . . . Maxwell Erwin, one-time Anaheim high school shop instructor, nor his twin brother, Marion Erwin, are no longer avid sportsmen. Not since they went deer hunting and found out that the rustling brush didn't mean that there was game. . . . Floyd Wildermuth, the Placentia packinghouse impresario, remembers how Floyd Hatfield spent an uncomfortable day at the clinic as a Doc fished out the buckshot imbedded in his hide. . . . Glen Vanhan, Arky Vanahan's little brother, can't verify that Glen is now a northern California agriculturalist and the beginning of the deer season he heads for cover because those San Francisco sportsmen take potshots at everything that moves. And at the opening of trout season, he posts see of some folks the better you like place with "No Fishing" signs.

Crime Probers Plan New Fields To Investigate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dope peddling, organized prostitution and "fixes" of basketball games and other sports events shaped up today as possible fields for new investigations by the Senate Crime committee.

With Senator O'Connor (D-Md.) taking over from Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) as chairman, the group discussed these lines of inquiry at a closed door session yesterday but made no final decisions.

The committee's immediate attention will be focused on drafting the anti-crime legislation it has recommended, and on rebuilding a staff, including the selection of a successor to Chief Counsel Rudolph Halley.

The staff had been cut to a skeleton size before the Senate recently voted to extend the life of the committee for four months beyond its previous May 1 wind-up date.

O'Connor, a former governor of Maryland, has emphasized the committee had lacked the time in the past to make a thorough investigation of the distribution and sale of narcotics.

In a report yesterday on its year-long probe, the committee warned of a recent "sharp upsurge" in the narcotics traffic. It added this has been accompanied by an outbreak of youthful addiction in many large cities.

The committee also linked the Mafia, secret underworld society, with dope peddling and said the traffic "appears to be in the hands of some of the most astute, wily and desperate criminals operating in interstate commerce."

Charges made by the committee against Ambassador William O'Dwyer brought a suggestion today from Senator Wherry (R-Nebr.) that O'Dwyer either "resign or clear himself."

Lone Voyager off From Long Beach To Pacific Isles
LONG BEACH (AP)—Seaman Ronald H. Barney, a rugged 170-lb. back to the salts of yore, is off for Tahiti on a long, lone voyage in his 26-foot ketch. And it's lone by choice.

Barney, a seagiving veteran converted a war surplus Navy sloop and christened it "China Doll." For emergency use he has aboard a two-cylinder engine and 25 gallons of gasoline.

Before he sailed, Barney disclosed he had received several offers from women who wanted to share expenses with him on the trip.

But the Tahiti-bound mariner did not choose to share his expenses with anyone on his voyage.

poker should be allowed when stud poker and other card games are prohibited by law. The legislation seeks to close down licensed draw poker parlors in Gardena and other California cities.

The major legislative development saw the Senate band together solidly in backing its rules committee's action on a demand for the impeachment of Secretary of State Acheson.

The heavily Republican upper house, with only one dissenting vote, rapped what it called a vicious and unwarranted attack on the committee by a Los Angeles anti-communist publication known as "Alert."

The rules committee decided two weeks ago to hold up a resolution by Senator Jack B. Tenney (R-Calif.) calling for steps to impeach Acheson. Tenney accused Acheson of fostering a communist appeasement policy.

The game of ice hockey originated in Montreal, Canada, in 1879. Nine men played on each side. Today six play on each team.

A lot of sportsmen aren't sportsmen at all. . . . NITECAPSULE—The less you see of some folks the better you like them.
