Press, Army Battle Over Briefcase

HONOLULU, Dec. 3 (AP)—Did an atomic scientist's temporarily misplaced briefcase contain top secret atomic reports or dirty linen? The press and the Army in Hawaii swapped verbal blows over the question today.

The Honolulu Star-Bulletin had said yesterday that Dr. H. L. Plank, homeward bound from the Eniwetok atomic proving grounds, absent-mindedly left on a counter a briefcase containing microfilm, charts and top secret atomic material. The briefcase was recovered by military police.

Various Army officials then said:

1. The briefcase contained dirty linen.
2. The briefcase was locked;
3. There was no briefcase.

Maj.-Gen. P. W. Clarkson, who headed the recent atomic tests at Eniwetok, demanded the source of the Star-Bulletin's information. The paper refused.

The Honolulu Advertiser quoted army officials as saying the report was fantastic and, in fact, the briefcase contained only dirty linen and personal letters.

Maj. D. W. Mitchell, top Army spokesman here, told The Associated Press he could not confirm the denial.

"I don't know a thing about it," he said.

The Star-Bulletin wrote the latest chapter tonight:

It said it had held up publication of the story for 10 days, on the request of the Army, "for security reasons."

Search Fruitless

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Air Force planes put in a second fruitless day searching for a C-47 transport missing with 13 men aboard today in operation involved 18 planes flying high and low level patterns from Bakersfield to the Mexican border.

Capt. Howard K. Hoover, March AFB search mission commander, reported no sign of wreckage yet spotted. A fire reported earlier in the San Bernardino mountains near Big Bear Lake proved to be a blaze in a winter sports lodge.

NORTH SACRAMENTO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Two West Sacramento brothers, Donald and Albert Smith, today admitted burglarizing nine places and agreed to take police to the spot where they cached some of the loot.

When police and the brothers arrived at the appointed spot, they found that somebody had stolen the goods from the hiding place.

Proceeds to Go To Optimists' Youth Program

Tonight's the big night. At 6 sharp the Anaheim Optimist second annual big Country Style Auction in the Tex Middleton DeSoto showrooms, located at 420 W. Center st., gets underway. There'll be bargains galore with plenty of variety for everybody. For the past week the entire Optimist club has been enthusiastically on the job preparing for the big event.

Once again the famous Descanso Camellia gardens from their growing nurseries near Chino contributed an entire truckload of camellias and other desirable flowering plants. From the Keeline Wilcox nursery came a truckload of ornamental shrubs. Of special note to new home owners are two large shade trees, boxed and ready to be set out.

Several automobiles contributed by local dealers will be sold at auction. Four new bicycles have been contributed by Orval Starmer for the event.

Home furnishings include two living room suites, occasional chairs, lamps, tables and articles too numerous to mention. A brand new 14-foot Croaley deep freeze, and a Kelvinator nine cube foot refrigerator will go under the auctioneer's hammer.

"We have been promised a new kitchen range and an automatic washer of a well known make direct from the manufacturers. We are keeping our fingers crossed hoping that they will arrive in time for the auction," stated President Al Garey.

Six cocker spaniel puppies have been obtained through Dr. Rose Desk, local veterinarian. There will be many choice items suitable for Christmas presents from toys to auto accessories, fishing tackle to bathroom scales, jewelry to garden items.

Every article will be tagged with a full description of the merchandise, together with its normal retail purchase price. Because these items come directly off the shelves of our local merchants, every effort will be made to publicly thank them for their generous donations at the time of sale.

Actively assisting Bob Schooler, auction chairman, are Optimists Walt Gooden, in charge of pickups; Roy Kirk and Harold Botts, garden and nursery supplies; Bob Martin, Cliff Elliott, L. M. Lichtenwalter, automobiles and accessories; Tom Yellis, Leonard Schwacofer, Frank Olvers, trucking, and Louis Larson, Bert Ashworth, D. Stockwell, Don May and Harwood Larson, solicitations.

SEATTLE, Dec. 2. (AP) — The navy transport Gen. H. B. Freeman is due here Thursday morning with 1096 passengers from the far east.

Former Top Czech Communists Hang For "Zionist Trotskyite" Views

VIENNA, Austria, Dec. 3. (AP)—Rudolph Slansky, former Communist boss of Czechoslovakia, and Vlado Clementis its former foreign minister, were hanged in Prague today with nine other fallen party leaders. They were judged "Zionist, Trotskyite" enemies of Stalinism.

The 11, eight of them Jews, sentenced last Thursday in a mass show trial of 14 top Communists who confessed in the accustomed wooden manner to all sorts of crimes against Czechoslovakia communism and the Soviet Union. Three others, all Jewish got life imprisonment.

The swiftness with which the executions were carried out hinted that the savage purge of Czechoslovak Communist ranks was beginning. At the same time, there were many signs that communism's 1952 purge was to hit all the satellite Communist nations and perhaps many persons inside the Soviet Union itself.

The Prague radio announced the executions were carried out at grim Pankerac prison. Those hanged were:

Slansky, former Kremlin favorite installed by Moscow in 1945 as secretary general boss of the Czechoslovak Communist party. He was one of the chief architects of the February, 1948, coup which put the Communists in power. His fall appeared to stem from a struggle for power with President Klement Gottwald, who decorated him with a high order on Slansky's 50th birthday in July, 1951, for services to Moscow and communism.

Clementis, former foreign minister and former Czech chief delegate to the UN. He sat out World war II in London instead of in Moscow, his major mistake. When he was arrested in the spring of 1950, he was accused of "losing faith in Stalin."

Bedrich Geminder, former head of the party's foreign affairs section, a "gray eminence" behind scenes who was a potent power in International Communist ranks, dictating in the name of the Communist International to the French and other parties.

Karel Svab, former deputy national security minister.

Otto Sling, former deputy finance minister.

Rudolpr Margolius, former deputy foreign trade minister.

Andre Simone, former editor of the official party paper, Rude Bravo.

The three under life sentences are Arthur London and Vavro Hadju, both former deputy foreign ministers, and Erzen Loebel, former deputy foreign trade minister, who the court said implicated others after his arrest in 1949.

The fact that 11 of the 14 tried were Jews and the violence of the attack on Zionism and Israel caused speculation that with Moscow's blessings, the satellite Communist parties had adopted anti-Semitism as an official policy. This would not only supply scapegoats for lagging consumer production, but woo sympathy and support in such areas of the cold war as the Arab middle east and Germany.

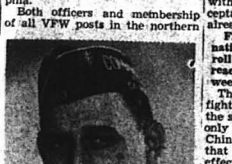

The anti-Zionist attack promises now to spread to Romania and other satellite nations, all apparently ripe for major party purges.

The Communist party inside the Soviet itself particularly in the 15 republics outside great Russia, appears to be undergoing a severe purge. Evidence of this was the announcement from the Soviet Ukraine of death sentences for three men accused of embezzlement. The circumstances suggested that Ukrainian nationalism and underground opposition to Moscow are on the rise there again.

VFW Commander To Visit Here Saturday Night

Commander Walter Keil of the Department of California will preside at a meeting in Anaheim Saturday night, Dec. 6, at 8 in the VFW hall at 106 N. Philadelphia.

Both officers and membership of all VFW posts in the northern part of Orange county are to be guests.

Among the activities which will be discussed by Commander Keil are: VFW action to carry out its condemnation proceedings against the educational program of UNESCO; coordination with the national VFW drive to collect ten million pints of blood for the U. S. Armed Forces Units; to acquaint all veterans as well as the public with veterans benefits as provided by the State of California; and dissemination of information for the Korean veterans newly eligible for Federal benefits.

As elective head of the 50,000 members VFW group in California, Kall will also discuss plans for increasing membership in this area.

All members of the VFW are urgently requested to attend this meeting.

Cypress Girl Is Polio Victim

Polio claimed its 13th victim in Orange county, Nov. 20, with the death of Francis Pluim, 5401 Orange st., Cypress. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pluim.

The cause of the child's death was not disclosed until yesterday following an autopsy by the county health department.

She had been ill since Nov. 13, was treated at her home for five days and was admitted to the hospital. She succumbed on her second day there.

U.N. General Assembly Approves Indian Plan for Peace in Korea

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Dec. 3 (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly approved overwhelmingly today an Indian plan for peace in Korea. It was ordered dispatched speedily to Red China and North Korea with an appeal for their quick acceptance. They and Moscow have already condemned the plan.

Fifty-four members of the 60-nation Assembly voted on a final roll call for the resolution which reached the Assembly flood after weeks of debate.

The five Soviet bloc countries, fighting bitterly to the end against the solid free world front, cast the only negative votes. Nationalist China abstained on the grounds that the resolution would not be effective.

Although the Communists already have rejected the resolution, some U.N. leaders hoped for a change of mind in Peiping and Pyongyang. The action today closes the first chapter of the Korean case in the Seventh Assembly and there is expected to be a lull now until the Communists react.

Delegates feel that such reaction will not come in time for fresh decisions here by 1953.

They are ready to suspend action until President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower takes office in Washington Jan. 20 and sends a new delegation to the Assembly reopening in February.

U.S. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross told the Assembly the resolution shows the way to peace.

Gross said the people of the U.S. are united with other peoples of the world in a prayer that the Communists will accept the proposal. If they do not, he said, "it will make clear to all the world that the Communists do not want a peace in Korea acceptable to the conscience of civilized men. This will be a disheartening conclusion, but if we are compelled to reach it, we shall do so with courage and determination."

The vote for the Indian plan was the biggest cast by the non-Communist world on Korea. The record total until today was 44 votes on Feb. 1, 1951, for a resolution branding Red China the aggressor in Korea.

Lester B. Pearson, Canadian foreign secretary and president of the Assembly, is expected to rush the resolution to Peiping and Pyongyang. The Assembly asked him to report on their reaction as soon as appropriate.

At the last minute, India made a change to try to win Soviet agreement, but Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky said the change was not enough. India inserted a provision that the Assembly considered the plan a "basis for an agreement so that an immediate cease fire would result." Vishinsky said it was not specific enough. He said he wanted an immediate cease fire.

The resolution would establish a four-country repatriation commission, made up of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Switzerland. This commission would handle the repatriation of all prisoners and the resolution states that force will not be used to send the prisoners home or detain them.

Truman Invokes Taft-Hartley

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP) — President Truman today invoked the Taft-Hartley Labor Act, a law he has often condemned, in an effort to end a strike of 1500 CIO Steel Workers who make nickel pipe essential to the atomic energy program.

The steel workers union was reported determined to make a fight in Federal Court over the question whether the law can be used in this case, which involves a single plant of the American Locomotive Co. at Dunkirk, N.Y.

The president's action today appointing a board of inquiry paves the way for the attorney general to ask a Federal District Court for an order halting the strike for 80 days. Failure to obey such an order can bring heavy fines and other penalties for contempt of court.

Truman has used the law 10 times since it became effective in 1947. The last time was more than a year ago. Despite heavy criticism from Congress, the president refused to invoke the law in last spring's steel strike.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 3 (AP) —A family of seven was wiped out tonight when flames swept through a one-story frame house just north of the city limits.

The dead were Henry Tuchman, 34, a bakery route salesman; his wife, Catherine, 33; and their five children, Henry, Jr., 12; Patricia, 10; Carol, 8; Mary Grace, 4, and Joan, 2.

ROK Troops Hold Fast Against Reds

SEOUL, Thursday, Dec. 4 (AP)—Chinese soldiers made new attacks in below-zero cold today against the icy Central Front fortress of Sniper Ridge.

An Eighth Army staff officer said Republic of Korea troops were holding fast.

The Reds yesterday forced the South Koreans off Pinpoint Hill, highest peak on the long, north-south ridge, and held it for about six hours. A ROK counterattack won back the crest after dark.

Between then and dawn, the Chinese tried to storm up the icy slopes three times but were driven off in hand-to-hand fighting. The staff officer estimated South Koreans killed 92 Reds in the night actions.

Between assaults, the Reds pounded the peak with some 5000 rounds of artillery and mortar fire.

Fifteen F-80 Superforts from Japan and Okinawa dumped 150 tons of bombs last night on a Red troop and supply center at Taeyu.

Confidence Girl Gets Jail Term; Operated Here

A female confidence artist sentenced to 60 days in jail yesterday by Fullerton justice of the peace, Lloyd Verry, will probably face a similar charge in Anaheim at the completion of her jail term.

Annette Ileen Holder of Long Beach, alias Mrs. Maria Gonzales, received the sentence for attempting to bilk two female residents of LaJolla colony. She was connected with a similar Anaheim case when Mrs. Thomas Hill, 903 W. Center st., Anaheim, was called into the courtroom to identify Miss Holder, which she did.

Mrs. Hill related that Miss Holder is the woman who, on Oct. 22, took an electric razor and various items of jewelry as a deposit for rental of a house which Miss Holder said she had available through the Roquet Realty Co. at $45 per month. She identified herself, Mrs. Hill said, as Mrs. Marie Gonzales.

Miss Holder left with the "deposit," saying she would meet Mrs. Hill at the place where she lived at the time, 410 S. Clementine st. When the Holder woman failed to show, Mrs. Hill called police.

Lt. T. V. Taylor of the Amaheim police department, said yesterday that his deparatment is contemplating filing charges against Miss Holder as soon as she completes her current jail term.

After that the Holder woman may face prosecution on a number of bunco charges in the county, according to the lieutenant.

Senator Taft Says He "Took Great Care" Before Criticizing Durkin

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft said today he "took great care" in writing his outstanding criticism of the designation of Martin P. Durkin, Democratic labor leader, to be the next secretary of labor in the Eisenhower cabinet.

Taft said his statement was no hasty action.

"I took great care in writing it," he said, "and I think it speaks for itself."

This correspondent telephoned the senator today in an effort to obtain answers to the political question arising from his sharp criticism of Durkin's selection.

Taft parried some questions about his own plans now, or his ouinion about the effect of the statement on the incoming Republican administration.

On Tuesday, Taft described Durkin's appointment as "incredible."

Durkin, a Chicago Democrat and a highly-placed official of the American Federation of Labor, supported the Democratic presidential candidate, Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, in the last election. Of his selection for the cabinet by President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower, Taft said:

"It is an affront to millions of union members and officers who had the courage to defy the edict of officials like Mr. Durkin that they vote for Stevenson."

The statement also described Durkin as a "partisan Truman Democrat who also advocated the repeal of the Taft-Hartley law."

Taft said today he knew some of the circumstances of Durkin's designation by Eisenhower. "I didn't even know who he was," he said.

He said he learned of the selection of Durkin in a news broadcast Monday night. Several people called him to ask for his comment, he said, but he gave none. The following morning, when he went to his office, he wrote the statement.

He declined to answer when asked if he discussed it with anyone before releasing it.

The senator is next in line to be chairman of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee. For that reason, and since he is co-author of the Taft-Hartley Act, most observers assumed he would be consulted on Eisenhower's choice for a secretary of labor.

The senator said he suggested Clarence E. Manion, dean of the law school of Notre Dame, and John A. Danaher, former senator from Connecticut, for the labor secretaryship.

He did not say what the answer was to the suggestions.

President Overrules WSB; Grants Miners Wage Hike

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—President Truman today gave the nation's soft coal miners a $1.90 daily wage increase because, he said, he does not want President-elect Eisenhower to have a coal strike on his hands when he takes office. Truman, in approving the full $1.90 which John L. Lewis negotiated with the industry, overruled the Wage Stabilization Board, the Economic Stabilization Agency and Defense Production Chief Henry H. Fowler.

The Wage Board had held that any more than $1.50 would "irreparably damage" the program to control inflation. The other high stabilization officials sided with the Board.

But Truman said he was not willing to take an action which would confront his successor with a big strike emergency. Therefore, he approved the full $1.90 for the 375,000 soft coal miners.

The President's decision, reached one week ago, was announced by Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam who said:

"This is not the decision I would have made. It is not the decision I would have recommended."

But Putnam told newsmen he would not resign over the disagreement in handling the case and he was certain that at least three of four public members of the Wage Board would also stay on the job.

Some of the board's public members told newsmen privately some time ago they intended to resign if the government rejected the board's decision that a $1.50 rise was all that could be allowed under the government's anti-inflation program.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and the industry jointly appealed the board's decision to Putnam and the matter then went to the White House.

Lewis and the industry had agreed on a $1.90 rise but under wage-price controls it could not be put into effect without government approval.

Truman's decision that the miners should have the $1.90 means higher price ceilings for many varieties of soft coal but probably not for all. Most soft coal has been selling well under existing prices and the higher wage costs can be absorbed for some varieties within present ceilings.

Actual prices, however, are expected to go up. Truman estimated the additional cost of producing coal will be "perhaps five or six cents a ton."

Your Solemn Obligation, Also

But he who takes the oath today to preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States only assumes the solemn obligation which every patriotic citizen—on the farm, in the workshop, in the busy marts of trade, and everywhere — should share with him.—Grover Cleveland.

New Secretary Plans Probe of His Department

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP) — John Foster Dulles, the next secretary of state, today projected a thorough investigation of the State department, but said "loyal servants of our government have nothing to fear."

An indication of what may be one of Dulles' first actions upon he takes over the State department Jan. 20 came in a statement he issued after a meeting with Secretary Dean Acheson.

Obviously aware of the impact of long-sustained Republican criticism on career diplomats and other workers whose boss he will be, Dulles said the foreign service "will be protected by the Eisenhower administration "insofar as it is sound and free of corruption."

"There are, of course," he said, "many angles that need to be looked into and will be looked into very thoroughly, but the loyal servants of our government have nothing to fear."

The reference to "corruption" and to the "angles" that will be thoroughly studied left no doubt that Dulles plans to rake over the department and foreign services from top to bottom. Some authorities believe that one of his first and most pressing needs will be from reinforcing the morale of the thousands who will work under him, will be to try to restore public confidence in the department to whatever extent it has been destroyed.

Republican critics have assailed the department as a hotbed of Communist or persons of Red sympathies and have attacked many of its policies, and have questioned the adequacy of its leaders. A wholesale shakeup of top personnel here and of U.S. missions abroad is expected under the new administration.

Dulles said he discussed with Acheson today "the problems of transition which will be involved" in handling the responsibility over foreign policy from the Democratic to a Republican administration.

"Secretary Acheson," Dulles said, "was very kind in offering me all the facilities in order to make the handover a smooth one, and I am confident that it will take place without any interruption or prejudice to the vital business of the U.S."

A Sickroom Meditation

By FRANK E. BUTTERWORTH, Pastor
White Temple Methodist Church

What more can I do to get well? I have the services of the finest physicians, the power of the newest medical discoveries. "What lack I yet?"

Look at the ray of sunshine streaming in your window. You can't exactly touch that sunlight, but it can touch you! It is not hard and material, yet it is so real that you know if you lie in it for a while there will be energy flow into your body from contact with it. Then why not try prayer? You can't touch God either, but He can touch you. You can't see Him, but you can experience an inner flow of strength by contact with Him.

Is the healing power of prayer any more wonderful than the mystery of X-ray or radium? These, too, are but hidden energies that we only recently discovered. For centuries the Chinese perished with cold while under them lay the stored up warmth of past summer in beds of coal. There are resources for health that are available, but none the less real, if we will use them. God's energy is flowing everywhere: in the streams of water, in the radio waves, in the power of thought. Open your life to Him, and see what happens.

Nation's Coaches Will be Asked for Opinion of ND's New "Sucker Shift"

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—The nation's 1600 college football coaches will be asked for an opinion on Notre Dame's controversial "sucker shift," Columbia's Lou Little said today.

"Let's not call it a 'sucker' shift," Little, chairman of the Football Coaches' Rule committee, said. "Let's say we are checking on the rule covering false starts."

This matter has been raised, no doubt by Notre Dame's use of the shift, so I am including it on the questionnaire which I am distributing to all our college coaches.

"There's no doubt the subject will be looked into thoroughly and we should come up with a satisfactory answer."

Notre Dame used the shift last Saturday at South Bend, Ind., in whipping previously unbeaten Southern California, 9-0. Southern Cal's Coach Jess Hill said he thought it violated the "spirit of the game."

Yale's Jordan Olivar and other coaches criticized the maneuver as another "end run" but in actual violation of the rules.

"It's a trick," said Olivar. "I don't think it belongs in football."

Edward Moose Krause, Notre Dame athletic director, defended the shift as perfectly legal and said Knute Rockne invented it in 1913 when he had his team shift from the T to the box.

"So when is trickery wrong?" Krause asked. "How about the reverse and the end-around? They're tricks, too, aren't they?"

In the move, Notre Dame's backfield shifts from the balanced T into the box formation with the quarterback behind center shifting over to the blocking back spot and feigning a pass.

With the ball on USC's nine-yard line in the second period Saturday, Notre Dame suddenly pulled the shift and three Trojans leaped across the line of scrimmage. Southern Cal. was ruled offside and the ball was moved down to the four, from where the Irish easily scored.

"We have a rule covering false starts," Little said. "It's No. 1, Section 1, Paragraph G, which says no player of the offensive team shall make a false start. A false start includes a shift which simulates a play. It draws a five-yard penalty.

"But whether the Notre Dame shift violates this is something for the rules makers to decide. I know Michigan State shifts from an unbalanced T to a single wing and nothing is said about it. But coaches may want the present rule clarified."

Little said there were only two other major rule changes proposals up for consideration. One is the substitution rule and the other involves a ball-carrier who slips and falls.

"We will decide one of three things about substitutions," Little said. "1. Is our present rule satisfactory? 2. Do we want to liberalize the rule more and go to the unlimited substitution like the pros? 3. Do we want to go back to limited substitution we had several years ago?

"On the question of the ball-carrier, we have some coaches who want to let a runner continue if he slips and falls and is not brought down under another team's tackle. Under the present rule, if the runner's knee or hand touches the ground, the ball is dead right there."

Zatopek Beats Out Mathias as Top Sportsman

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Emil Zatopek, Czechoslovakia's triple-Olympic champion, beat out American Bob Mathias today as the world's No. 1 sportsman in a poll sponsored by World Sports, official magazine of the British Olympic association.

In the unique poll of leading sports authorities, Britain's Prime Minister Winston Churchill tied for sixth place, edging such notable athletic figures as Rocky Marciano, world heavyweight boxing champion, and Casey Stengel, manager of the champion New York Yankees.

Russia's Yoka magazine was asked to participate in the ballot, but the query had to be referred to the USSR's committee on sports and physical culture. The reply never came.

Churchill broke into the list of outstanding sportsmen through the scoring system under which five points were given for a first place vote, three for second, two for third and one for fourth.

Torsten Tegner, editor of Idrottsbladet of Stockholm, named the 78-year-old prime minister first because, "He has victoriously fought all dictators, prejudices, fortresses of aloofness and aimlessness, all parties—and old Father Time! A grand sport."

Zatopek, who won the 5000 and 10,000 meter races and the marathon in last summer's Helsinki Olympics for an unprecedented triple, received 63 points compared with 22 for Mathias, the young Tulare, Calif., athlete who won his second Olympic decathlon championship and played fullback for the Stanford university football team.

Marjorie Jackson of Australia, Olympic spring champion and world record holder, was third with 14 points, followed by two tennis players rated the world's best in their divisions—Australia's Frank Sedgman, 13 points, and Maureen Little Mo Connolly, 8.

Scoring Title Won on Tackle

SPOKANE, Wash., Dec. 3 (AP)—Ed Barker, the Washington State college end who took the Pacific coast conference scoring title, actually won it with a spectacular tackle.

His chief challenger was George Black, Washington wingman. Late in Saturday's game between the rival Washington schools, Black caught a pass from all-American quarterback Don Heinrich and seemed headed for a sure touchdown.

He had broke into the clear and was under full sail when Barker angled across the field and overhauled him from behind on the WSC seven after the play had gained 70 yards.

Washington went on to score, but it wasn't Black that made the touchdown. Barker finished the season with 44 points, Black with 42.

Grid Franchise For Baltimore Has Steep Price

BALTIMORE, Dec. 3 (AP)—The National Football league hung a steep price on a franchise for Baltimore today.

Bert Bell, league commissioner, offered to restore professional football here if the fans will buy $250,000 worth of season tickets within six weeks.

When that's done, Bell said, Baltimore will have a franchise again after a two year lapse and then he'll find an owner for it.

"I don't have an owner now," he told a news conference, "but I guarantee you will have one. The reason I don't have one is I'm not going to make an agreement with an owner who is not going to operate the franchise as a business 365 days a year."

He said he had "two or three" in mind.

In effect, Bell said, the situation at the moment is that "Baltimore has a team, players and a franchise if the Baltimore people will buy 15,000 season tickets by Jan. 22." This deadline date coincides with the annual league meeting.

The players are those now on the roster of the Dallas Texans, whose franchise didn't last a season. It has been forfeited after being transferred this year to Dallas from the New York Yankees.

Baltimore had a franchise three years in the all-American conference and then lasted one year in the National Football league when the two were consolidated in 1950. Baltimore was the 15th member then. It would be the 12th head season.

Attendance at Pacific Coast Grid Games Drops 15% Over Last Year

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—The south and the midlands kept college football attendance on an even keel during the 1952 season although declines were registered in nearly every other region.

The annual Associated Press survey of attendance at major games revealed today that the crowds increased by a whopping margin in the southern, southeastern, Big Seven and Missouri valley conferences. They were smaller elsewhere, notably in the east and on th Pacific coast, but the gains in those four conferences just about offset the losses of the others.

Actually, the over-all figure, including all the major conferences and the unorganized eastern independents, showed a decline of 1.49 per cent. The average crowd per game was smaller by 378 cash customers.

Those figures are so small they probably can be disregarded, since some colleges furnished only "round number" estimates of their crowds and since only conference members were counted outside the east.

The biggest declines in attendance were noted on the Pacific coast and among the eastern independents. Over-all attendance for the Pacific coast conference was down almost 15 per cent in spite of some huge turnouts, a drop that left the experts scratching their heads to find explanations.

Southern California, the coast champion, recorded a total of 242,466 for six games as compared to 254,298 last year. That was mainly because UCLA was the "home" team for their annual clash, which drew 96,889, and the over-all total wasn't affected.

Stanford, another big loser, pointed to a similar switch in the locale of the "big game" against California but also blamed televising the Michigan game for a drop from the estimated 65,000 to the 35,000 who actually attended.

The Big Ten, as usual, drew the largest crowds in spite of a 3.22 per cent decline in the game average. Including Michigan State, a conference member in everything but football, the 49 Big Ten games attracted an average of 48,616 spectators.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 3 (AP)—James Heittiko, Ohio State tackle, was withdrawn today from the east squad of the Dec. 27 Shrine east - west football game because of an arm injury that failed to heal properly. George Guthrie, another Ohio State tackle, replaced him.

Fullerhi Grid Banquet Set For Tonight

Announcement of next year's Fullerton Union High School Varsity football captain and this year's most valuable player will be made tonight at the annual football banquet in the cafeteria. Master of ceremonies is to be Jim Gardiner, senior sportscaster and student body vice-president.

Banquet speaker will be George Allen, who coached the Whittier College Poets to Southern California Intercollegiate championship this year. The Poets recently defeated University of Redlands by 46 to 7, winning the 1952 pennant.

Allen formerly coached at Morningside College in Sioux City. He earned degrees from University of Michigan and in 1946 and 1947 assisted in coaching the varsity.

In addition to Varsity players and coaches, others are invited to attend the banquet including parents and interested sports fans. Dinner, sponsored by the Big F this year, will begin at 6 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the high school office at $1.50 each.

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 3 (AP)—Solar Aircraft Co. today announced receipt of two million dollar order for marine contracts to equip naval vessels with gas turbine engines.

Anahi Footballers Honored Annual Grid Banquet

Members of Anaheim High school's varsity, Bee and Cee football teams were presented with their school letters last night at the 17th annual Football banquet to be held here.

In addition to the emblem awards, representatives of the varsity and Cee football teams received trophies emblematic of Sunset league championships on behalf of their grid mates. Miniature gold footballs, which were also scheduled to be presented, were late in arriving and will be distributed later in the year.

The evening began with the entrance into the school cafeteria, of the football team and the singing of the school song. Then, following the invocation by the Rev. Howard S. Congdon, dinner was served.

After dinner, guests were introduced by Toastmaster L. Frank Kellog.

The Rev. "Bing" Crosby, of Lakewood's St. Thomas Episcopal church, was guest speaker of the evening and he gave a very inspiring talk on the value of football to the future of the nation.

The Rev. Crosby, who played in the backfield at Dartmouth college for three years, said that football develops everything we want in our citizenry. "The game is worthwhile, and should be backed by parents," he said.

Presentation of awards to the players was made by Principal Paul H. Demaree, as coaches Clare Van Hoorebeke, Bill Hunstock and Dick Glover read off the names of those to be honored.

A representative of each team presented a gift to each of the coaches and their assistants.

The AUHS string ensemble, under the direction of Bill Cook, played during the dinner and school yell and song leaders directed cheers and singing.

Christmas Theme Highlights Ebell Junior's Meeting

Christmas was in evidence Tuesday night at the general meeting of the Junior Ebell club. The clubhouse was festive with snow-laden pine branches and cones arranged on the stage, and on the walls were large red Santa socks filled with the boughs and decorated with tiny Christmas balls.

The program also ushered in the Yuletide season as the Triple Trio from the Presbyterian church sang a Christmas Cantata by Clokly, "The Childe Jesus." Triple Trio members are Rachel Cadwalader, Miriam Congdon, Carol Fitz, Dorothy Gosnell, Yvonne Fitz, Sandra Johannes, Phyllis Kirchmann, Janet Larson and Barbara Simonton. Mrs. George Sloop, Jr., directed and Frances Cowel was accompanist.

Wayne Andrade, local florist, assisted by Mrs. Lewis L. Wright, Jr., added to enjoyment of the evening with a program in which he presented holiday decorations, explaining step by step the procedure in the making of each arrangement. Included in his program were typical centerpieces for provincial and modern settings, along with a ceramic Santa stuffed with goodies for the children. Concluding his enlightening lesson for the young homemakers, Wayne donated a centerpiece as a door prize, which was won by Mrs. May Schneider.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. McFarland Tolf, president. Introduction of guests followed the Pledge, which was lead by Mrs. Mike Grandi and the inspiration by Mrs. Wes Mendoza.

Mrs. Robert Armentraut announced that the welfare section was scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 9, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. R. Kenton Wines. They will fill Christmas stockings and make Christmas tree ornaments. Mrs. Charles Endicott announced the bridge section for Dec. 16, at the clubhouse, and Mrs. John Heinz reported that there will be no beginners bridge section this month.

Mrs. Bill Wilmer reminded the members of the Christmas dinner dance to be held at the Clock country club on Dec. 13, at 8:30 p.m. Reservations must be made by Dec. 6, and Mrs. Wilmer emphasized that guests are welcome.

The children's Christmas party will be Tuesday, Dec. 23 at the clubhouse from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, with Mrs. Mike Grandi as chairman.

Membership chairman, Mrs. Robert Rauthm introduced Mrs. Walter Studhalter and Mrs. Paul Jones as new members.

Mrs. Harry Arnold reported that the reciprocity meeting will be held in Huntington Beach on Dec. 6 and a convention to be held later in Palm Springs.

Mrs. Robert Armentraut named the organizations which have asked for aid from the annual spring club benefit, and asked anyone with additional suggestions to contact her.

A dessert of assorted cakes, coffee and tea was served from a lace-covered, candle-lit table, centered with an arrangement of evergreen, pine cones and Christmas ornaments entwined in silver candelabra.

Mrs. Tolf, president and Mrs. W. E. Whiteman, advisor, poured.

Iowa's First White Settlement

What now comprises the state of Iowa was first visited by Marquette and Jollet in 1673. The first white settlement in the state was made in 1788, when a party of ten went to work in the lead and zinc mines located near the present site of Des Moines.

Information Panel Features AUHS P-TA Meeting

William Walker, parent education chairman, was program chairman for the evening at the regular meeting of the Anaheim union high school Parent-Teacher association, which was held at the school recently. Mr. Walker presented a splendid information panel, each member of which was well qualified to speak on the topic, "Who Runs Our Schools?"

Linton T. Simmons, county superintendent of schools, touched on the duties of his office, stating that 95 per cent of their value lies in their advisory services to the local schools districts. The county office, according to Mr. Simmons, also acts as an intermediary between the state legislature and state board of education and the local schools.

Paul Demaree, who 11 years ago was elected to serve as superintendent of the high school district and principal of the Anaheim union high school, spoke on his duties in this capacity. His authority, according to Mr. Demaree, is derived directly from the board of trustees, and he is responsible for interpreting and carrying out the policies established by the board, and in organizing an educational program which will meet the needs of the students in this particular district.

Arthur Shipkey, speaking for board of trustees, expressed their thanks for the cooperation given by the PTA in the recent bond election. At present, he stated, the board is spending much time on plans for the new junior high school system. In addition the local board of trustees sets policies and rules governing the school—always in accord with state laws. selects administrators, approves all employees, and exercises control over all purchases and expenditures for the school.

Mark Stephenson, chief of police for the city of Anaheim, touched on Anaheim police authority as it touches the local high school. The biggest problem, at present, stated Mr. Stephenson, is a lack of parking facilities. However, plans are now in the making for a school parking lot in the near future.

Ronald Legg, student body president, explained the three branches of student government. The executive department is composed of the student body officers who are elected in a general election by the students. The legislative department consists of the student council, members of which are elected each year in the social science classes. The judicial department, or student court, is headed by the vice president of the student body, and is made up of representatives from each class, appointed by the student body officers.

Following the talks by the panel, a lively and informative question and answer period was conducted by chairman Walker.

During the business meeting, presided over by the president, Mrs. Foster Warwick, poster awards in the recent PTA membership drive contest, were presented by Mrs. Howard Wilkinson, membership chairman. First award of a blue ribbon and $2 was presented to Carol Owston; second award, a red ribbon and $1, to Lois Claussen; third award, a white, ribbon, went to Barbara Lanker. The posters, all of which were outstanding, will now be sent to the fourth district for further competition in January.

Mrs. Wilkinson announced that the PTA has a total of 692 members, including 100 per cent teacher membership. This is larger than the number of members any other year.

Mr. Demaree announced visiting week at Anaheim union high school to be held from Dec. 1 through Dec. 5. Parents are urged to visit classes during the week and become acquainted with classroom procedures.

Hostesses for the social hour following the meeting were Mrs. E. E. Smith, Mrs. W. G. Head, and Mrs. Fred Fischle.

Corder-Hutain United in El Toro Chapel Rites

Dolores Hutain, daughter of the Pete Hutain's of Anaheim and Pfc. Bill Corder, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Corder of Alexandria, Louisiana, were married recently in informal rites held in the chapel of St. Peter at the El Toro Marine base, Santa Ana, Father Stephen Horvath, officiating.

The bride wore a ballerina length dress of white lace with accents of nylon net and tulle, fashioned with fitted bodice and long pointed sleeves. Her illusion finger-tip veil was held by a crescent, and she carried a boquet of shattered white carnations with a rosary belonging to her close friend, Mrs. Gene Knutsen.

Attending the bride as maid of honor, her sister June Hutain, was dressed in a ballerina length frock of pink organdy, and carried shattered pink carnations. Her headdress was a narrow band of tiny pastel flowers. Ray Brasheres served as groomsman.

Mrs. Hutain, mother of the bride wore a blue dress with a gardenia corsage. Parents of the bridegroom were unable to attend the wedding.

Only the immediate family of the bride and two friends witnessed the nuptials, after which a reception was held in the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Meeks, for other relatives and friends. Mrs. Alvin Bartoan and Mrs. Sarah Palomares assisted with hostess duties.

For her wedding trip the new Mrs. Corder was dressed in brown wool jersey with full-pleated skirt and brown accessories.

The bridegroom is stationed at the Lighter than Air base in Santa Ana, and is now on a 20 day leave. He was educated in Louisiana schools.

The bride is a graduate of St. Boniface and the Anaheim high school.

The new home will be established in Anaheim for the present.

Fullerton Notes

GOLDEN HILLS PTA

Golden Hills school presented its annual Christmas program Tuesday evening at the Wilshire auditorium. A religious pageant, "Why the Chimes Rang," was presented by children in the kindergarten, first, second third grades under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Flint. The play told the famous story of the chimes that rang only on very special occasions. The fabulous gifts upon the altar from the rich and the king failed to make the chimes ring; the humble gift of a poor boy brought music from the chimes because of his act of Christian love for a beggar. Special effects of falling snow and lighting add to the effectiveness of the presentation.

Choral selections were presented by the fourth, fifth and sixth grades. Mrs. Alice Fletcher, primary music supervisor, accompanied by Mrs. Martha Stearns, classrom music instructor, led the singing. One hundred and 25 children participated in the program.

Mrs. Hutain, mother of the bride was a family affair attended by parents, relatives and friends. Mrs. Robert Beaver, room chairman of the fourth grade and other fourth grade mothers provided refreshments of decorated Christmas tree cookies and punch. Mrs. Russell Vail, president, Mrs. Edward Sumner, hospitality chairman, and Mrs. Robert Bowman, program chairman, cooperated with the teachers in making this project a success.

Y-WIVES

Fifty members of the Y-Wives of Fullerton met for a 9:30 coffee hour Wednesday morning for a special Christmas program. Mrs. Ernest Walther, president, presided at a brief business meeting. Mrs. Ada Jane Green introduced the speaker, Ms. Margy Rutledge. She began her talk with a resume of the history of many Christmas symbols and the customs of foreign countries. Special stress was laid on the importance of music during the holidays. She then demonstated and displayed Christmas decorations; Mrs. Rutledge suggested a good look around the house at many common articles to add in decorations. Arrangements for the front door, fireplace, mantle, and coffee table were shown. The suggestion was made that members should go to the Fullerton public library where a special collection of books and magazines pertaining to the subject are on display.

Mrs. Rutledge suggested using last year's Christmas cards on the tree, making bells from tin can tops, animal cracker decorations on a child's tree, making trees for cards from tinker toys, and using painted sea shells for decorations. Members were fascinated by her "feather tree" made from red feathers stuck in plastic foam.

Mrs. Richard Cole, aiding the speaker, displayed several arrangements made from weeds and pods. Package decorations of silvered pods and leaves were shown.

A drawing for the articles made and displayed by Margy Rutledge was held. Winners were Cecil Mayo, William Wickett, jr., Earnest Walther, Lloyd Blount, Henry Schmahl, E. Standley, Donald Bauman, Orny Jacobson, Ivy Battersbe, and an Anaheim guest, C. C. Morris.

Hostesses of the day were Mrs. A. Leon Anderson, Harvey Gulles, Robert Hurley and Mrs. Lloyd Blount.

ALL THAT GLITTERS

What's on your mind today? Been thinking of treating yourself to a new gown for the holidays?

Say there's an idea to really give a gal a lift. There are some mighty swishy looking numbers on display in store windows around town — and it doesn't cost a thing to look. You will love the street length dresses in Christmas colors and the full length or cocktail length in dark and pastel shades. Laces, nets, taffetas, rayon crepes and velvets and the new wonder fabics that are so easy to care for.

Note the scintillating sequins for that slinking siren look. It's the new mood! But if you want to keep that look, take care when you buy that siren dress.

Some sequins are dry - cleanable and some are not. It's best to know what you are buying in the sequin line. They are made from a variety of materials such as glue, celluloid, mica, metal and plastics.

Sequine made from glue are soluable in water which will either dissolve them or cause them to stick together. They have a tendency to break and curl with heat.

SERVICEABLE SEQUINS

Newest development is the plastic sequin. Most are very satisfactory although occasionally you will find a material that dissolves entirely away in the cleaning fluid. Best check on this point.

Celluloid sequins have a habit of breaking easily and many are colored with dyes that run and therefore stain the dress fabric.

Metal sequins are very durable but are not widely used because of their weight. Mica or isinglass sequins have lacquered surfaces that chip in wear and cleaning.

SOUTHERN STYLE

We have been stressing ways to use pork lately because it is on the plentiful and thrifty list. If you have formed the habit of "plan-overs" or cooking meat in quantity so that there will be some left over for several meals, pork and gravy in cornbread ring is for you. This nourishing main dish scores a ringer because it looks so attractive when brought to the table yet fits splendidly into a particular busy day.

Pork and Gravy in Cornbread Ring

1½ cups cornmeal
1 1/3 cup sifted flour
1½ teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
2 eggs, beaten slightly
1¾ cups sweet milk
¼ cup salad oil
3 cups diced leftover roast pork
1½ cups gravy.

Mix and sift together the dry ingredients. Combine beaten eggs, milk and salad oil. Pour liquid over dry ingredients, mixing only until moistened. Pour into a well greased 9-inch ring mold and bake at 400 degrees until it shrinks from the sides of the mold—about 25 minutes. Unmold and fill with pork and gravy which have been thoroughly heated together. Serves 6.

BRIGHT NEW ROAD

There is no reason not to entertain. Actually the single woman is obligated to return some of the hospitality she has received. If money is limited, this can be done inexpensively with afternoon tea or two tickets to a good movie.

It helps her self esteem not to accept everything that is offered her, and to find unobtrusive ways to fairly share expenses when in the company of others.

Adjustments will come easier if she makes a point of looking and feeling her best. By putting her best foot forward, she finds that other steps follow naturally along a bright new road.

Yuletide Decorations, Indoors and Out, Should Proclaim Yule Spirit

By VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press Writer

Christmas of the warmest season of the year, no matter what the weather. It is sad to contemplate the end of Yuletide when the tree is denuded, church chimes are quieted and outdoor decorations are put away for another year.

It is such a gay, exhilirating period that we should make the most of it. The respite of solemnity and gaiety combines to put us in the mood to tackle the gloomy winter ahead.

Our houses should proclaim the Yuletide spirit indoors and outdoors. An outdoor tree is fun and it can be planned either with plastic snow if the weather man doesn't cooperate, or with colorful lights or a combination of both. A snowman or Santa Claus of translucent plastic can be illuminated and used outdoors. At the windows small silhouettes such as reindeer, Santas and other Christmas-season figures are festive and gay. These adhere to moistened windows for an indefinte time and are easy to peel off later.

Old-fashioned Christmas wreaths of real or artificial holly are always popular window and door decorations. Sprays of pine cones and fir tree boughs, tied with a large red satin bow and tacked to the door can enhance the outdoor Christmas picture even more.

Everything and everyone should demonstrate the Yuletide spirit indoors. Christmas cards can be displayed on the mantel, pasted to the mirror or strung across one end of the room. Fir tree branches with sprigs of real holly, if available, can be used in place of the usual floral decorations in the house.

If the children are old enough to enjoy the tree-trimming, the family can get into the Christmas spirit on the Eve. An early dinner the children will enjoy —such as a festive buffet served on gay paper plates and tablecloth— will put everyone in the mood for the holiday to come.

Pine boughs sprayed white or silver or sprinkled with sequins or sparkle dust, holly, mistletoe or a miniature Christmas tree can make a delightful centerpiece for the Christmas Eve meal. Paper plates, especially designed for Christmas, such as square white plates with a red candle motif in the middle or silver paper plates are very gay. Pale green paper plates on a dark red or green tablecloth makes a pretty contrast.

If you do plan to use paper plates, remember that the shiny coated plates are for moist foods and uncoated plates for dry food. Another advantage of the Christmas Eve paper plate idea is that Mom will not have dish-washing chores after dinner. She can begin her Christmas plans early.

Australians Prepare to Exploit Uranium Finds in North Territory

By ROBERT FREEDEN

DARWIN, Dec. 3 (AP)—Full preparations are now in progress for large-scale uranium mining operations at Australia's Rum Jungle field but the government has clamped down a virtual security blackout on the operation.

It will not disclose how many men are to be employed in the mines, whether the geological staff will be increased to work on new discoveries, or when the Australian Zinc Corp. charged with the exploitation of the field, will start operations.

However, one thing is obvious: The Australian government certainly means business as far as uranium deposits in the northern territory are concerned.

It is known that the government plans to employ several thousand men in the northern territory uranium industry before 1960.

The Rum Jungle field alone is expected to employ more than 1000 miners and other workers within four years.

Government plans for the development of uranium deposits include:

Handing over as much as possible of survey and development work to big private mining companies;

Allowing discoverers of uranium deposits to peg leases and mine ore on the same basis as other minerals, except that the government would be the sole buyer of the ore;

Continuation of aerial surveys;

Recruiting of experienced geologists from overseas.

The Zinc Corp. will be responsible for the construction of buildings at the mine site and is the town area at the Rum Jungle. The government believes that the company can do the work more cheaply than the Department of works.

Government geologists will make ground surveys of the 100-odd discoveries made recently by the Bureau of Mineral Resources' aerial survey. Finds which show promise will be handed over to private enterprise to develop.

Prospectors who genuinely make a claim for a find already located by aerial survey will be able to peg leases and work them and also will be entitled to the government's uranium reward. They will have the right to sell their leases to bigger companies and have their ore treated at the plant which will be established at the Rum Jungle.

To encourage uranium mining by private enterprise, it is understood the present price of 17 shillings will be substantially increased.

About 100 aerial uranium discoveries have been made in an area 40 miles north and south and 30 miles east and west of the Rum Jungle. It will take several years to complete a ground survey of these known outcrops.

November Permits For Rural Area Show Increase

November building permits in rural Orange county ran up to a total valuation of $2,696,447, a gain of 22 per cent over October, and an increase of 130 per cent over November, 1951. The total for November placed the total for 1952 to date, with one month remaining, at $27,689,640.

November building consisted chiefly of home building, $2,432,533 being expended in new homes, remodeling old ones, building garages, and foundations for movo-ins. There were 219 permits for new residences, coasting a total of $2,067,467. Permits were issued for 12 multiple-family dwellings, aggregating 34 single units, representing $221,840 in valuation.

Permits for alterations, additions and conversions amounted to $58,425. Another $66,206 was represented in private garage permits, $18,095 for foundations.

Four industrial structures, costing $62,600, two office buildings costing $10,800, two store buildings costing $12,000, and nine storage sheds, representing $29,075, were included among the 538 total permits issued during the month, as shown by records of Building Inspector Charles Donohue.

Massed Choirs to Sing 'Messiah'

Sixth Annual Performance Here Due In FJC Auditorium December 7

Fifteen north Orange county church choirs and Fullerton junior college a cappella choir will be heard Sunday evening, Dec. 7 in a performance of Handel's famous "Messiah," oratorio said to capture most beautifully in music the religious inspiration of Christmas.

To be held in the Fullerton junior college auditorium at 8 p.m. the performance is the sixth annual presentation of the "Messiah" in this area. With the junior college a cappella choir, as host the production is sponsored by the Southern California Council of Protestant churches. Director is Kenneth Helvey, choir director of Fullerton First Methodist church and vocal music instructor at the college.

Soloists for the performance are Elizabeth Wagner, soprano; Barbara Hall, contralto; Maxson Foss, tenor, and Wesley Marquart, bass. Organist is Mrs. Susan Talevich.

Marquart, who is a church choir director in Orange, sang a solo role last year in the Santa Ana "Messiah" production. Foss was soloist at the Fullerton performance two years ago. Barbara Hall is soloist with the Fullerton First Methodist church choir, and Miss Wagner has appeared in the "Messiah" previously in the east. Mrs. Talevich is organist of the Anaheim First Presbyterian church.

With the junior college a cappella choir more than 200 voices will be included in the Fullerton production. Vice President-Elect Nixon Calls For Joint U.S.-Mexican Leadership

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 3 (AP) — Richard Nixon, the U. S. vice-president-elect, called on the Mexican Congress today to develop a joint leadership with the U. S. so that young military cadets "will never have to fight the battles that we so well prepared to fight."

Nixon spoke at a joint session of the Congress which honored legislators among the special foreign missions here for last Monday's inauguration of President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines.

The vice president-elect was called on at the last minute to deliver the address scheduled to be given by Sen. Dennis Chavez, D-N.M. Chavez' plane was grounded en route by bad weather.

Nixon said his state, California, "owes much of its progress to the splendid people of Mexican background who became citizens of our state."

He also reposed to Congress what he told the new president yesterday — that President-elect Eisenhower had said "one of the major objectives of the new administration in the U.S. would be to develop the most friendly relations between the U. S. and Mexico and other American republics."

Nixon, who criticized U. S. Ambassador William O'Dwyer during the presidential campaign, failed to keep an appointment at the American embassy today.

The vice president-elect had arranged to visit the embassy "just to get to know the staff." O'Dwyer and Nixon have managed to avoid each other during most of the vice president-elect's stay here, and O'Dwyer had left an open field today by staying at home "with a cold."

Local Woman Sues Alpha Beta Mart

Injuries received by Mrs. Florence C. Burroughs of Anaheim when she slipped and fell upon the floor of the Alpha Beta market at 405 E. Center st., Anaheim, last Dec. 14, culminated late yesterday in a suit for $3850 damages filed in superior court at Santa Ana.

Mrs. Burroughs and her husband, Lloyd A. Burrows, are plaintiffs in the action, which is brought against Alpha Beta markets.

The complaint charges that due to the unsafe and dangerous condition of the floor by reason of a "slippery or foreign substance" allowed to remain upon it, Mrs. Burrows fell and broke her right wrist.

Demand is made for $2000 for her injuries, and $850 for medical, nursing and hospital expenses.

Seven Fullerton Hi Players Named To All-Sunset League Grid Teams

Seven stars shone in the Fullerton varsity football co-championship crown this week, and one for good measure, an announcement was made of all-Sunset selections for the 1952 season. Four Indian players, Art Schade, Jack Cartwright, Ronnie Pitts, and Lin Sitton, received first team honors; and three others, Gary Johnson, Stan Tallant and Charles Ledbetter, were named to second team. One other, George Barrera, was given honorable mention.

Sunset league coaches, in voting for outstanding players throughout the league, selected Fullerton the lion's share in spite of their handicap of lightweights this year. Of 15 first-string berths, the four Braves named included two players Art Schade and Lin Sitton, who were lightest of the group, weighing 133 and 131, respectively. Average weight of the four Fullerton winners was 160, compared with 188 pounds average for the other eight winners.

Two of the three Fullerton second team all-Sunset selections were lightest of their group of 12, Gary Johnson and Charlie Ledbetter, both weighing 165. Average weight of the nine other non-Fullerton second stringers was 186 pounds.

Anaheim, co-champion this year with Fullerton, was second in coaches' selection of outstanding players, receiving three first, two second and two third team mentions. Colonial first stringers were Bob Padilla, 210 pounds; Jim Roberts, 168 pounds, and Dean Philpott, 180 pounds.

Two Huntington Beach players received recognition on first team, Bill and Bob Bartell at 200 and 180 pounds respectively; with Orange, Santa Ana, and Sunset each winning one first place. Orange winner was Eddie Meadows, with Bill Miller selected from Santa Ana and Bobby Pulsell from Newport.

Only two first stringers on the all-Sunset list are Juniors this year, Anaheim's Philpott and Orange's Meadows; and only one junior is among second stringers, Anaheim's Aaron Peralta. Barrera is the lone junior player on the Fullerton team honored with mention.

Stan Bates of Santa Ana Named County March of Dimes Chairman

The sharp, unexpected increase in polio cases in Orange county and throughout the nation has made urgent early organization to insure the next March of Dimes drive will be the greatest in history, Stanley Bates, newly-appointed Orange county chairman for the drive, declared today.

Returning from a regional pre-campaign meeting of March of Dimes chairmen, directors and workers in Los Angeles, Bates said, "We heard both good news and bad news at the meeting. A staggering total of more than 4000 new cases a week at summer's end throughout the nation piled up a burdensome total.

"The total to date in Orange county alone is 172 cases and 12 lives lost, which is the most devastating year the county has ever suffered."

Plans have been made to recruit the greatest force of workers ever enrolled in the March of Dimes so that the drive from Jan. 2 to Jan. 31 will raise the funds which must be contributed this year, the chairman declared. Although a definite goal is not established by the March of Dimes, it is hoped that $100,000 may be contributed by Orange county residents.

Bates said that although polio is rolling up a much higher total of cases than in 1951, there was some good news reported at the Los Angeles meeting. The National Foundation is assisting hundreds of chapters which have exhausted their funds, such as in Orange county. To date this year funds to aid chapters total $5,000,000.

Other good news is that the crippling effects of the disease have been greatly reduced due to prompt diagnosis and improved treatment sponsored by the March of Dimes. And the fight against polio, he said, at last seems to be on the road to scientific success.

Fred A. Backs and family arrived in Paris on Monday from Italy and will spend the week in the French capital. They go to Cherbourge on Monday next and board the Leviathan for the return trip to New York. They will sail up the Hudson river and, after visiting friends in different points east, will come west over the Canadian Pacific line. They have been absent since June 19. Letters received from them state they have had a most enjoyable tour of Europe.

Yesterday seemed to be a good day for the smashing of carriages as that class of accidents was somewhat numerous. Mrs. Frohling's charger became rather excited over some matters probably connected with the coming election and gave expression to his emotions by knocking the buggy into a cocked hat. The yellow horse belonging to Mrs. Hammes, an animal hitherto inclined to be rather sedentary in his habits, being near the scene, was seized with a desire to emulate his companion. He broke from his fastening, kicked the new carriage to pieces and wound up the performance by stabbing himself in the breast with a figment of a broken whipple-tree, inflicting an injury which may prove fatal. Strange to relate the blacksmith and wagon makers are not in extensive mourning over the delapidated state of the carriages.

A dispatch from Paris says that Adelina Patti's case has been decided. Both the lady and her husband had filed petitions for separation. Madame Patti's application was refused, but her husband's was granted. Testimony was given showing that her conduct did great injury to her husband and she was ordered to pay costs. As divorce is not recognized by the French law, neither party can marry again. The sitting was public. The Marquis De Cook was present when the decision was rendered by the Tribunal.

Culligan Buys Out Dealers to Settle Suits

Damage actions against the Culligan Ziolite Co., of Chicago and San Bernadino by three Orange county franchised dealers were settled yesterday when the soft-water company bought out the franchises of all three and took over all operations in the county.

The three dealers, Lloyd E. Brogan of Santa Ana, C. Beatty Neighbors and Joseph C. Neighbors of Anaheim, and George P. Jonnson of Fullerton, filed actions against the parent company when it established a branch in Santa Ana.

Brogan sued first, claiming the branch establishment violated his franchise, and asked $250,000 in damages and a court order restraining the parent firm from operating here.

Culligan countered with a suit to enjoin Brogan from using the Culligan name and trademarks.

Johnson and Neighbors then filed intervening actions asking a total of $250,000 from Culligan.

Price of the purchase of the three franchises was not revealed.

Santa Anan Takes Two Shots at His Brother

Booked at the county jail on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, Joseph William Graeber, 28, Santa Ana machinist, 1512 W. Fifth st., was taken to the county hospital for observation after he allegedly fired two shots at his brother, Ernest F. Graeber, former Santa Ana police officer, at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Graeber, 2019 S. Cedar st., Santa Ana.

According to a Santa Ana police report, Joseph Graeber had threatened to kill his wife and son, and later threatened his brother, Warren, taking $7.50 from him at gun point.

When Ernest Graeber arrived and tried to reason with Joseph, the latter allegedly fired two shots at Ernest with a .32 calibre revolver.

Police were called to make the arrest.

Utt Leaves County Cemetery Position

Congressman-elect James B. Utt, Santa Ana who soon will be packing his grip for departure to Washington, has started pulling up his roots in local official activities.

One of these was his membership on the board of directors of Orange county cemetery district No. 1 where he has served nearly 25 years. He presented his resignation to the county supervisors, who named Frank Latham, rancher and real estate broker, to the vacancy.

Utt has not yet resigned as inheritance tax appraiser for the southern portion of Orange county.

Another Civic Site Acquired

Purchase of another property in the new county civ center was announced yesterday by the county supervisors, the county acquiring the residence of Cecil Combs at 627 Riverine ave. at $5000.

At the same time the board sold a house off a lot purchased earlier at 631 Riverine ave. to Enterprise Homes of Santa Ana for $1,725. The same buyer paid $65 for another building at 627 Riverine, and Arthur J. Nelson acquired one at 632½ Riverine for $30.

PEACE—"Blessed are the peacemakers."—Matt. 5:9.

BUENAS DIAS—Good morning. Are you set for a busy day? Even if you don't do anything you ought to be fired by the time you hit the sack tonight. Why? Your heart will beat 48,200 times unless is skips a beat or two; your corpuscles will travel 168 million miles; and you'll breathe 12,520 times, inhaling 289 cubic feet of air; besides you'll probably eat three or four pounds of foods, drink a gallon or two of liquid, perspire 1.42 pints, give off 85.6 degrees of heat while generating a couple of hundred tons of energy. You'll probably speak several thousand words, flex five or six thousand muscles while exercising ten million brain cells. Doesn't the very thought of all this activity make you tired?

HISTORICAL — Remember the first bridge over the Santa Ana River? It was the old S.P. bridge just south of the County General hospital. It was built in 1877. . . Prior to the building of Santa Ana Fifth street bridge in 1899, the Santa Ana river had to be forded. . . The first caesarian section in Orange county, we're told, was made by an old time Anaheim doctor in the early 1880's. . . Ray Palmer was the first subscriber to the Anaheim Daily Gazette. Prior to 1875, it was a two-day trip to Los Angeles. The round trip cost $6 just for transportation. Overnight lodging and food was extra. . . Major Max Von Stroble who took part in the German Revolution of 1848 with Carl Schurtz and Fritz Siegle, first advocated the formation of Orange county. He wanted to call it Anaheim county, though.

ANAHEIMERS — Bob Watson is back with the telephone people, but he'll be out in the groceteria in his spare time. . . Frankie Perez isn't the aquaplane enthusiast he once was. He learned a lesson on those water skis. . . Paul Greening is a mighty successful man, but seems to be unsuccessful in getting rid of that industrial site he has in the north end of town. . . . Grant Brown's grandfather was a director in one of Anaheim's first financial institutions. Grant is doing a yeoman-like job for Charlie Pearson's transportation concern. . . Leo Sheridan, the genial water company manager, has watched Anaheim grow. His concern was largely responsible for the development of Northern Orange county. . . Kendall Yorba, the Anaheim zanjero of the AUWC, is only passively interested in baseball nowadays. He was a sensation in his day.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS — Bob Fergusson ran 109 yards for a touchdown against San Berdoo in 1950. Bill Jewett, one of the Jewett Bros., builders, ran 103 yards for a score that beat Compton in 1928. . . Sammy Reymundo is a better athlete than rival coaches figure he is. He was a total cog in John Tynes' great Valencia B team of a couple of years ago. They were unbeaten and unscored upon, winning their league (5-0-0) by rolling up 223 points to none. Reymundo scored 149 of the team's 343 points made during that season. That's outstanding. . . And don't forget Clare Van Hoorebeke did a great job with this year's Anaheim varsity. It wasn't easy to get a tie for the league title with a team the so-called experts picked for the cellar. . . City Judge L. F. Bonnat will celebrate another of life's milestone's on the 21st; which reminds us that Earnie Moeller's Birthday Club of which Adolf Schoepe is a charter member will celebrate New Year's day. They're looking for club members. . . Louis Dana, former Anaheim intellectual, has written another book.

TODAY'S THOUGHT — Thorjas Deloney knew whatof he spoke when he said: "God sends meat and the devil sends cooks."

Edgar Schmued Named Northrop Engineering Head

HAWTHORNE — Appointment of Edgar Schmued, one of America's foremost aircraft designers, as vice president in charge of engineering of Northrop Aircraft, Inc., was announced today by Oliver P. Echols, chief executive officer.

As head of Northrop's engineering and design activities, Mr. Schmued will fill a position vacated by the recent retirement of John K. Northrop, pioneer aircraft designer, from the aeronautical field.

Mr. Schmued will be responsible for direction of Northrop's Scorpion F-89 and guided missile engineering program, as well as numerous other research and development projects.

Mr. Schmued previously had served as technical assistant to Mr. Northrop. Before joining Northrop, he had been assistant chief engineer in charge of design for North American Aviation, where he played a leading role in the designing of the F-51 Mustang, B-25, F-86 and other military airplanes.

A native of Bavaria, Mr. Schmued began his aircraft career as a member of the technical staff of the Austrian Air Service during World War I and was later employed as a designer for Fokker aircraft in New Jersey immediately after his move to the United States.

In addition to directing Northrop engineering activities, Mr. Northrop had been president of the company. In accepting his resignation, the Northrop board of directors named General Echols, who has been chairman of the board and general manager since joining the firm in 1949, to serve also as president of the company.

Big Band Review to Salute Santa On Arrival at Huntington Beach

The sixth annual Huntington Beach salute to Santa Claus band review is destined to be the biggest Christmas parade ever attempted musically, scheduled for Friday evening, Dec. 5, and starting at 7 p.m. Twenty five bands and drum corps, etc., are entering the contest.

They are as follows:

Colton Union high school band, Ernest Kellogg post 1680 V.F.W. drum and bugle corps, Santa Ana college and high school combined band, Orange union high school band, Brea-Olinda union high school band, Orange Coast college band, North Long Beach Lions club girls' band, Sybil Ring's Starlets, St. Anthony's school band.

Monterey Park girls' drum and bugle corps, Anaheim union high school band, St. Catherine's military school cadet band, Long Beach youth band and Carmenettes, Music Center studios of accordion band, Huntington Beach elementary school band, Linda Truman's majorettes and tiny twirlers, Culver City boys band and pom pom group, Franco Grotto drum and bugle corps, La Habra high tone, Veterans' Community band of Long Beach, Arcadia high school "Apache" band.

Milton Mann accordion studios of Huntington Beach band, Boy Scouts troop 43 drum and bugle corps, Alhambra high school band, Huntington Beach union high school band, along with a number of beautiful floats.

"Miss Merri Christmas," Miss Marianne Terry, age 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Terry, will reign supreme over the Christmas holiday season and will ride atop the electrically-lighted float at the head of the parade.

Her attendants are Lois Holliday, age 15, Marilyn Renner, age 16, Glenda Orrell, age 17, Rose West, age 14 and Carolyne Applebury, aged 15, all students at the Huntington Beach high school.

The band chosen to lead the parade this year is the Colton union high school band from San Bernardino county, traveling the farthest distance with 85 band members. This band has won acclaim all over Southern California. The biggest band in the parade this year will be the Santa Ana high school and college combined band with 130 members total, including the pom pom girls.

The U. S. marine corps training center at Seal Beach will send its Humpty Dumpty float and Knott's Berry Farm has entered a unique float featuring its Indian lore. Total number of participants in this year's parade will be 1150 persons. The parade is strictly competitive and will be judged by the National Association of Contest Judges. Trophies and prizes will be presented by Miss Merri Christmas (Marianne Terry) at the Pavalon ballroom following the parade.

Santa Claus will pull up with his six black ponies pulling a real sleigh with Santa on top. The sleigh will be equipped with lights and a public address system. Santa will stop in the first block downtown and present candy to all the children. Saint Nicholas will again be portrayed by Whitey Walker. Mayor Roy Seabridge and city officials will ride in the parade, also President Dave Jones of the chamber of commerce.

Adlai Visits

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP) — Gov. Adlai Stevenson came to Washington tonight to "discuss the Democratic party" with President Truman.

That was about all the defeated presidential nominee would say about plans for his two nights and a full day as a White House guest, but there appeared no doubt that the big subject for talks with Truman and other party bigwigs was planning for a Democratic comeback.

Local Students Return from YMCA Congress

A group of Anaheim high school students from the YMCA report a marvelous time on their return from the fourth Pacific area Hi-Y Tri-Hi-Y congress held at Asilomar Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Those making the trip were Gretchen Decker, Glenda Mungerson, Mary Lou Casebeer, Ann Betts, Myrna Lewellyn, Betty Osborne, Gloria Taylor, Peggy Kohlenberger, Wendell Taylor, Bob Owston, Kevin Stanton, John Dobkins, Jim Moore, David Visel, and Bob Stebbins. Adults accompanying the group were Tommy Thomason, Mrs. Orlo Fast and Mrs. Pat Piantoni.

Four hundred and fifty delegates and advisers were in attendance, covering an area which included Arizona, New Mexico, west Texas, Utah, Nevada and California. The theme of the conference was to "create, maintain, extend high standards of Christian character."

The delegates were divided into groups of 20 to make recommendations. The legislative committee of which Bob Stebbins from Anaheim was a member, then passed on these recommendations. These will be sent to all YMCA clubs in the area to set standards for the coming year.

An outstanding speaker of the congress was Rev. Elbert Hoffman of the north Glendale Methodist church, the son of Rev. Dow Hoffman who is well known in Orange county. Tommy Thomason, accompanied by Pat Piantoni, was song leader at all the sessions. Charles Van Winkle, associate secretary of the Pacific Southwest area YMCA council, was general chairman.
