Chamber Directors Elect Dick Gay President for 1953 at Balboa Banquet

Richard 'Dick' Gay, assistant manager of Anaheim branch of Bank of America, will head the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce organization during 1953. That was the unanimous decision of the board of directors of the organization, meeting at Balboa Bay club last night. E. R. "Buss" McCoy, Anaheim Ford dealer, was elected vice-president, and Earnie Moeller was reelected secretary-treasurer.

Newly-elected board members were guests of honor at the meeting. They are Vera Auest, only woman elected to the board in the organization's 21-year history; J. B. Collings, Barney Jordan, Fred Krein, Manly Stuart, Tom Quayle, and C. E. Young.

Retiring board members, who also attended the banquet, included Joe Hurst, Clyde Cromer, John Ganahl, Adolf Schoepe, A. J. Schutte, A. H. Shipkey and Stan Whieldon, the retiring president.

Clyde Cromer, chairman of the Industrial division of the Chamber, presided over the meeting. He was introduced by Whieldon. After the introduction of the new board members, Rex Coons, chairman of the Housing committee, demanded the floor and nominated Gay for the presidency. His action was immediately followed by that of Robert Rossberg, who moved that the nominations be closed. The election was made by acclamation.

McCoy's and Moeller's elections followed the same pattern. Following the elections, gifts were presented to the out-going directors by Santa Claus.

Present at the meeting were incoming and outgoing directors and their wives, holdover directors, including Robert Borden, Rex Coons, Harry I. Horn, Claude Owens, Ray Reafsnyder, Oscar Schulz, Walter Swanberger, Dr. Samuel Gendel, Wilson W. Phelps, Robert Rossberg, Walter Taylor and Tom Wallis, and their wives, a few guests and their wives.

Sectional Split Perils County Water Program

NEW YORK — TEN-STAR HANDSHAKE — A pair of five-star generals, Douglas MacArthur and President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower, bid each other a cordial farewell outside the John Foster Dulles home here today following their confab on Korea. They discussed MacArthur's plan for solving the Korean stalemate over a luncheon in the residence of Dulles, Ike's Secretary of State. (AP Wirephoto)

Santa Ana River Seen as Dividing Line Between Antagonistic Groups

By GEORGE E. HART

It is high time to recognize, however regretfully, that Orange county water interests are not by any means in complete harmony regarding various water conservation measures, and that powerful groups are, to say the least, out of sympathy with other powerful groups and what they are trying to do. There is no evidence that the rift has thus far seriously impaired the progress of the county as a whole in the over-all water program, but it certainly seems to hold possibilities of impeding if not actually crippling advancement of this program. It is hard to say how far they would be willing to go with the split in event of a showdown, since nobody would want to take responsibility for sabotaging the water supply. So far, the incidents have been irritating but not yet beyond mending.

Let it be said, happily, that this lack of accord does not seem to be showing up in the new program for equitably spreading out the cost of Colorado river water imported to replenish the local basin. There is no word of interference with that important project, although it may develop its own disagreements, unrelated to the basin discord.

The division discussed here appears to be geographical, which seems to be a pretty good excuse for disagreement. The Santa Ana river, water lifeline of the county, is the line of divergence.

It is hard to conceive of sectionalism in so progressive a community as Orange county and, in fact, there is very little of it aside from the field of water—and sanitation. Orange county, compact and single in its interests and aim, generally enjoys harmony. Chambers of commerce work together. Law enforcement departments cooperate. Educators support a common course. There is teamwork among the cities, though they may occasionally clash over annexations. It remains for the water leaders, handling the most vital community business of all to earn the doubtful distinction of not getting along with one another. Again not forgetting the sanitation district's mess, which is an older story.

Possibly the water disaffection is a heritage of the old fued of

JoAnn Faust to Vie for Orange Show Title in Tri-County Contest

JoAnn Faust, Miss Anaheim of 1952, was chosen yesterday to represent this city in the competition for the title "California Orange Queen."

Miss Faust, selected by Anaheim Junior Chamber of Commerce to enter the competition, will vie with young women from three counties for the honor of presiding at the National Orange show in San Bernardino, March 19 to 29, and represent the state's multi-million-dollar industry through the year, 1953.

The contest in which girls from communities of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties will vie for the title of California's Orange queen was launched yesterday by the National Orange Show.

The rules for entry in the contest are simple. Contestants must be unmarried, between the ages of 17 and 23 and be bonafide residents of the community they represent in the competition. Judging will be on the basis of beauty, personality, poise and microphone presence, according to Fred J. Burmester of San Bernardino, chairman of the National Orange Show's queen selection committee in charge of the contest.

Girls selected in community competition will enter the final judging, to be held at the Ralph E. Swing Auditorium on the citrus exposition grounds in San Bernardino Feb. 13—an event expected to draw between 7000 and 8000 spectators. Prior to the final judging, all contestants and their escorts will be guests of the show at a day and night of festivity at the famed Apple Valley Inn, near Victorville. An elaborate corona-

MacArthur and Eisenhower Confer for Two Hours on Korean Peace Prospects

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower and Gen. Douglas MacArthur discussed across a luncheon table today the problem of how to achieve peace in Korea and the rest of the world. "We discussed the possibility of peace in Korea with particular reference to the world situation, in which, of course, such Korean peace would have to be determined," Eisenhower said afterward.

Eisenhower and MacArthur conferred for more than two hours as guests of John Foster Dulles, secretary of state designate, in Dulles' town house on Manhattan's East Side.

The President-elect described it as a "very enjoyable luncheon." MacArthur said it was a "very pleasant reunion with the President-elect."

The meeting stemmed from a Dec. 5 speech in which MacArthur said there "is a clear and definite solution" to the stalemated Korean fighting.

Neither Eisenhower nor MacArthur gave any details on the views they exchanged nor did they reveal whether they were agreed on a course to follow to achieve peace.

Dulles and his two guests left the house together after the session, and the two military men gave an informal report on it to more than 100 newsmen and photographers congregated about the entrance.

Eisenhower spoke in a low voice that could be heard only by those nearest to him.

Later, back at Eisenhower's Hotel Commodore headquarters, he gave a recapitulation of his remarks, as he recalled them, to James C. Hagerty, his press secretary, who relayed them to the press. They were as follows:

"I have just met with two old friends for a very enjoyable luncheon.

"Our general topic of conversation was peace. We discussed the possibility of peace in Korea with particular reference to the world situation, in which, of course, such Korean peace would have to be determined."

Yorba Linda, Anaheim Water Co.'s Line Up Against Water Well Law

Facing the fact that the Anaheim Water Company will assist in court the validity of the water well permit ordinance if the county supervisors pass it, the county board conducted a hearing late yesterday and then took the matter under advisement. Aligned against the ordinance were representatives of the Anaheim Union and the Yorba Linda Water Co., which also had filed written objections. Urging passage of the ordinance were representatives of the Orange County Water District and the Regional Water Pollution Control Board.

The ordinance would require that permits be obtained for the drilling of any new water well or the reperforating of any old well in Orange county, duplicating an existing requirement by the state.

It's advocates declared that it would provide the logs of all new wells be filed with the county flood control department, thus providing information valuable to anyone planning to drill a well, showing the probable location of water. It also emphasized that such records would assist materially in curbing contamination of the underground water supply, which is reaching more and more alarming proportions in the coastal areas.

Attorney H. Rodger Howell, for the Orange County Water District, and Paul Brown, engineer and executive of the regional water pollution control boards, spoke on behalf of the ordinance, after it had been attacked by Attorneys

Motorist Saves Woman's Life

Quick and capable action by a Costa Mesa motorist saved a Costa Mesa woman's life when she was pinned beneath her overturned car Monday at 1:15 p.m. on Mesa drive, near Riverside drive, on Costa Mesa's north side.

Mrs. Bessie E. Posey, 50, received serious internal and head injuries when he car went out of control and turned over, pinning her in the wreckage.

Leonard DeBord, Costa Mesa, came upon the wreckage and, without assistance, managed to pry the automobile off of Mrs. Posey before she was fatally crushed. She was taken to Presbyterian hospital, where her injuries were pronounced major.

Orville Amburgey, 18, Costa Mesa, was driver of a car that collided with a bicycle ridden by Robert L. Hays, 14, of Santa Ana, causing minor injury to young Hays Monday afternoon. The accident took place on Durant st., near 17th st., Santa Ana. The Hays boy was taken to Santa Ana Community hospital.

Buena Park May Claim Proposed Delco-Remy Site

Anaheim may encounter competition from Buena Park in any move to annex the proposed new Delco-Remy storage battery plant site, which lies between them, it was disclosed late yesterday.

If Buena Park votes to incorporate as a city of the sixth class at the special election set for that purpose Jan. 20, it will be in position to discuss annexation of the 90-acre site for the Delco-Remy plant, which lies just outside the proposed Buena Park city limits.

Anaheim, where the chamber of commerce was said to be instrumental in bringing the new plant to Orange county, also is said to be proposing a shoe-string strip annexation several miles northwest to the Delco-Remy site, west of Magnolia st., between La Palma ave., and the Southern Pacific railroad.

Buena Park spokesmen point out that the plant site is located within the Buena Park library district and is served by the Buena Park post office. Even if it were annexed to Anaheim, it still must depend upon Buena Park for some services, they declared.

Yugoslavia Cuts Vatican Ties

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. (AP) — Premier Marshal Tito's Communist government cut diplomatic relations with the vatican today, charging in effect that the recent nomination of Archbishop Alojzije Stepinach to the College of Cardinals was a slap in the face.

The Holy See was accused anew of hostility toward Yugoslavia and interference in her internal affairs. Deputy Foreign Minister Ales Bebler called in the vatican's charge d'affaires, Msgr. Silvio di Oddi, to notify him of the break and asked him to leave as soon as possible.

Yugoslavia has had no diplomat at the vatican since last year, when Charge d'Affaires Oren Ruzic packed up and left as otherwise deserted legation building. Yugoslvia was the last of the Communist nations with which the vatican had diplomatic relations.

Air Force Active Over Korean Front

SEOUL, Thursday, Dec. 17. (AP) Allied warplanes smashed an officers' training headquarters and three Communist supply centers in North Korea last night.

Ground action was minor.

Far East air forces reported 10 Superforts hit the Yongsan training headquarters with "good strikes." The B-29s ran into anti-aircraft fire and encountered Communist propeller driven night fighters but the fighters didn't attack. Yongsan is in extreme northwest Korea.

Head-Joined Siamese Twins Separated

CHICAGO, Dec. 17 (AP) — The 18-months-old heads-joined Brodie Siamese twins were successfully separated tonight in a tension-packed 11½ hour operation but a spokesman said "the surgery has not yet been completed."

"The ultimate outcome of the operation is as yet unknown," the spokesman said.

If the twins live, the operation will be the first successful one of its kinds in medical history. It will go down as one of the longest on record involving children.

Doctors said the odds were against the twin's survival from the start but that the boys, Roger Lee and Rodney Dee Brodie of Moline, Ill., were "unbelievably hearty."

Stanley Olson, dean of the University of Illinois College of Medicine, said the twins still had a "long way to go" before their survival is assured.

He said the post operative period usually is more critical than the operation itself.

Teams of doctors, representing five medical specialities, began operating at 8 a.m. CST; announcement that the twins had been separated came at 7:30 p.m. But surgeons continued to work over the twins as the announcement was made.

The hospital spokesman reported the separation was accomplished at 6:26 p.m. That was 10 hours and 36 minutes after the start of the operation.

The spokesman said a detailed account of the history-making surgery will not be available until tomorrow morning. He explained:

"The members of the operating team are exhausted."

Two of the surgeons, including the head surgeon, did not leave the operating room during the entire operation.

The operation was conducted in the Illinois Neuropsychiatric Institute, part of the University of Illinois Medical Center on Chicago's West Side. Cost of today's surgery and eight previous preparatory operations was borne by the university without cost to the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Royt Brodie.

In comparison, the successful separation of twin girls born Sunday in Mount Sinai hospital, Cleveland, was relatively simple. The girls were joined at a point where the chest and abdomen meet by a thin band of flesh, small vessels and cartilage. No vital organs were involved.

The Brodie twins appeared to have their heads joined wholly to each other at the top. But tests showed the babies have separate brains and separate brain coverings, at least in part.

Brodie told newsmen he realized the great risk involved in attempting to separate them but that "we wanted them to have a normal life."

The babies had an easy delivery at birth Sept. 16, 1951, in St. Anthony's hospital, Rock Island, Ill., although their legs pointed in opposite directions.

Public Funeral for Killer Billy Cook Called off by Irate Family

COMANCHE, Okla., Dec. 17 (AP) —Elaborate public funeral plans for killer William E. Cook, Jr., were quickly called off today when the executed man's relatives threatened legal action.

An investigation into the handling of the funeral was promised by Ben V. Hunter, secretary of the State Embalming Board in Oklahoma City.

Cook's attorney, John Connolly Jr., said the family was incensed by what he termed a "Roman holiday" atmosphere surrounding public display of his body.

Funeral Director Glen Boydstun, after a telephone conference with Connolly and the family, sent the body to the Deerfelt Funeral Home at Galena, Kas. The family said private services will be held later at a cemetery near Joplin, Mo.

The body of Cook, executed last Friday in the San Quentin, Calif., prison gas chamber, had been viewed by an estimated 12,000 persons since it went on display at the Boydstun Funeral Home here Sunday.

Durkin Offers Post to AFL Man

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17 (AP)—Lloyd A. Mashburn, California state labor commissioner and long a leader in the American Federation of Labor, announced today he has been offered the post of assistant secretary of labor in the Eisenhower administration and has accepted.

He said the appointment was tendered a week ago by Martin P. Durkin, named secretary of labor in the Eisenhower cabinet, but that he withheld his acceptance until he could confer with Governor Warren.

State labor commissioner since November, 1951, Mashburn, was secretary-treasurer of the Los Angeles Building Construction and Trades Council of the AFL.

Music with Meaning

By Rev. Wm. McKINLEY WALKER
WESLEY METHODIST CHURCH

Do you remember the story of Richard Lionheart, one of the famous old-time British kings, who lay in prison in a foreign land, and his favorite minstrel traveled all over the country looking for his master? Everywhere he sang the king's favorite song, knowing that if the king heard it he would respond if he could.

At length the minstrel came to the castle where King Richard was imprisoned, and sang there. The king heard the song and took up the melody, and the minstrel knew that his master was there.

We hear the Christmas music in the air at this season, and even it is used to attract people to bargains in merchandise, nevertheless to the thoughtful, it is the music of heaven announcing the birth and praising the Savior of mankind.

There's something about Christmas music, whether it comes from a beat up old radio, or phonograph, or the sweet voice of a little child, it brings us anew the grand old story—God's minstrels singing at our prison-hearts of sin—"And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." (St. Luke 2:13,14)

We cannot be the same after we have heard the Christmas music and have felt the joy in our hearts.

Fullerton Students Ready to Produce Christmas Musical Drama Tonight at 8

Christmas dramatic and musical production this year at Fullerton Union High School and Junior College, which will disclose some of the problems and dreams of servicemen in Korea at this time, is to be presented to the public without charge on Thursday evening (Dec. 18) at 8 p.m. Among student activities which will contribute to the color of the Christmas play are preparation of the stage setting by members of the stagecraft class, who have designed and consructed props which represent the bleak hills of Korea and the dugout hospital site around which action takes place in "Christmas 1952."

Among problems confronting the stage crew was one in size and position of the huge "mountainous country" props, which stand 25 feet in height. They are built on a swing stage, suspended by two ropes from the middle framework over the stage, an idea conceived by Ronald Gunn and Howard Stucker.

Another problem of how to give the illusion of a cave in the rocks, was solved by painting with variations of color on the flat surfaced backdrop. Located so far upstage and against the back wall, the speakers must have specially located mikes so that their voices can be carried out to the audience.

Lighting at the play will be under the direction of Gunn, assisted by Stucker, and will attempt to portray a cold day and gradually fading light with the final effect a night scene. Other effects incude stars which seem to glow, and special lighting for modern dance numbers.

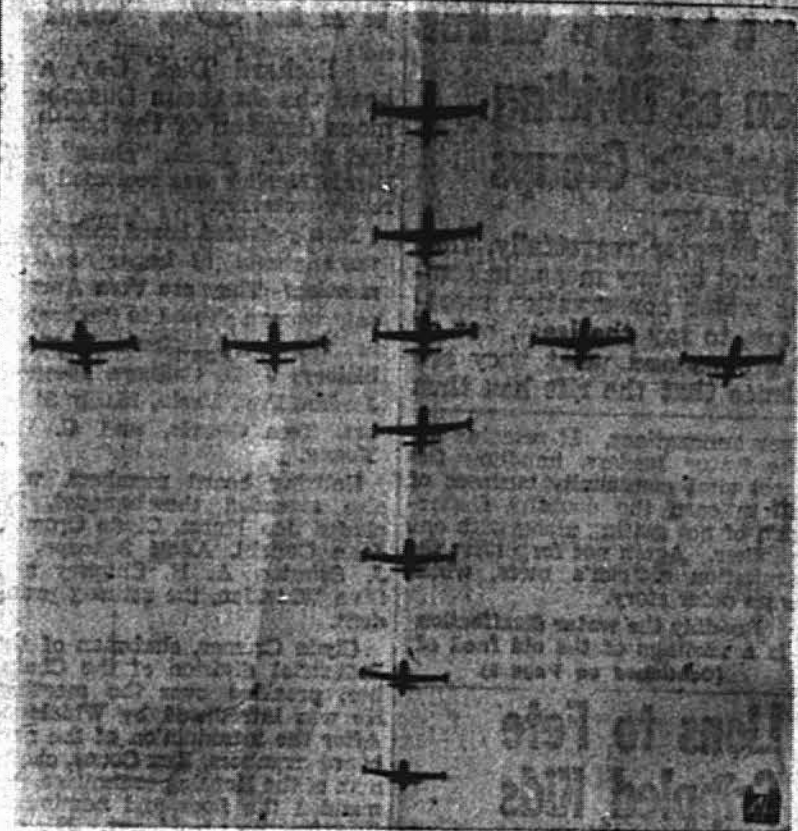

Sound effects are to be by Fred Thibault, whose responsibilities include simulation of dive bombers and machine guns in acting as well as other noises common to modern warfare.

Members of the stage crew include Ellen Nelson, Phil Gilkerson, Don Darr, Jim Engle, Barbara Lingle, Jane Amondson, and John Beeslie. Painting was done by Gilkerson, Stucker and Gunn with Ellen Nelson serving as stage manager.

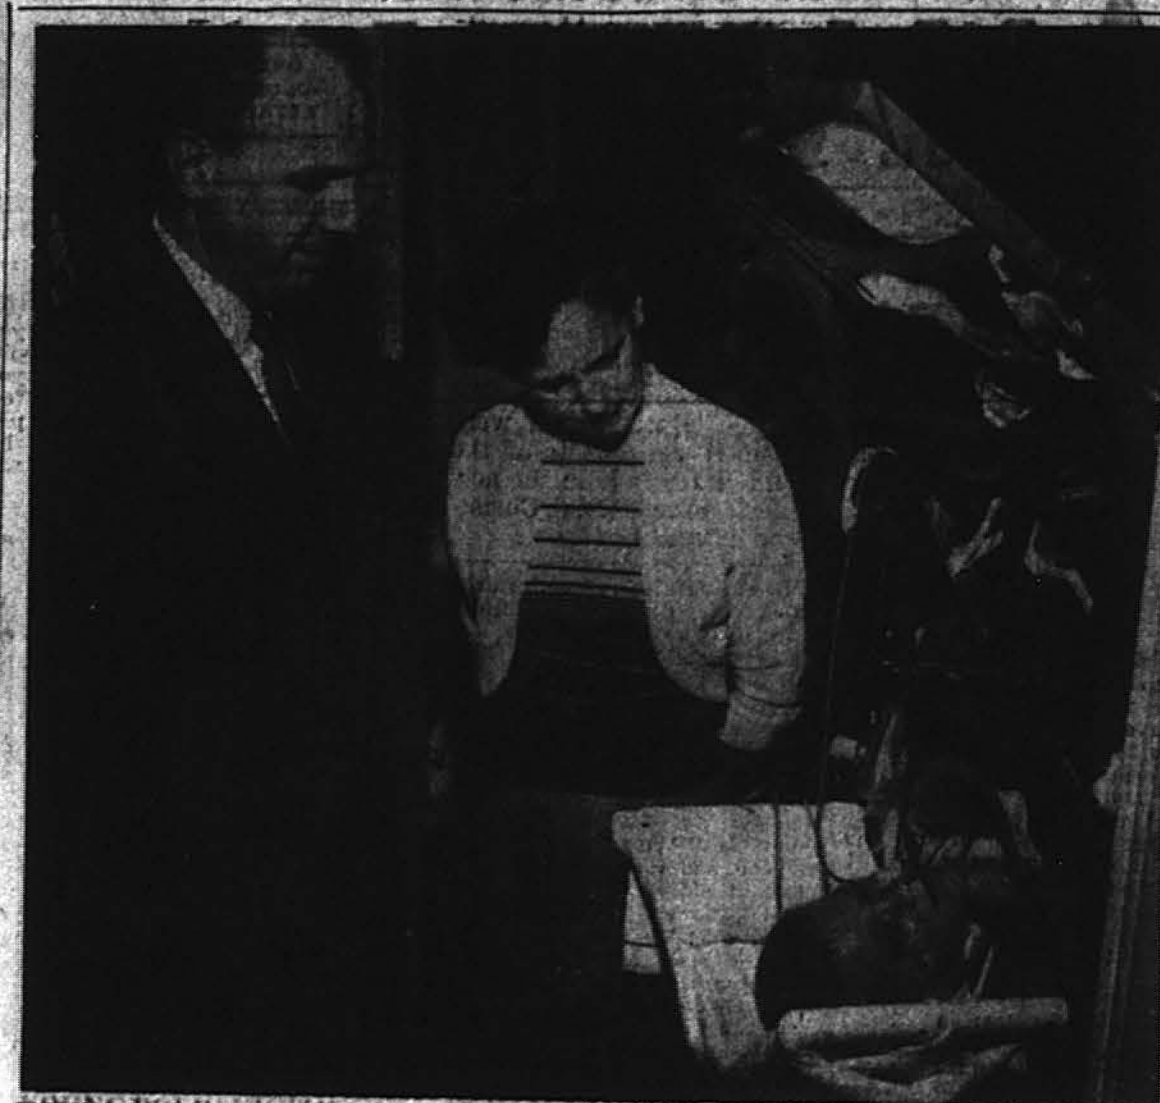

Costumes for the play, authentic uniforms worn by GIs in Korea, will be made more realtistic with actual weapons brought back by veterans of the Korean war.

At the opening of the play, a dog fight takes place directly overhead, above the cave entrance to the field hospital. As the story unfolds, the lives of American soldiers are told including their memories of events dear to the heart of a soldier. Events include death of a buddy, emotion under gunfire, and relaxation behind the lines in a period of calm.

Script of the play, which is punctuated by pleasant scenes representing fond memories of the servicemen, was written by George Archambeault. Modern dance class members and members of a cappella choirs numbering 120 students will contribute to the effectiveness of the production.

Stanton Chamber Board Welcomes New Directors; Dubbs Reelected

The old board of the Stanton Chamber of Commerce welcomed the 1953 members Tuesday night at the Carbon C. Dubbs plant on Western ave.

President Dubbs, reelected for second term, welcomed Don Rez, first vice president; Jack Reams, second vice president; Mrs. Goldie Rutul, secretary-treasurer; Anthony F. Parra, James Howard, M. O. Knutson. Richard H. Morley and Andrew Limon were not able to be present.

Outgoing officers who attended were vice president Herman J. Thompson; Mrs. Hazel Lewis, secretary, and Mrs. Florance P. Black who completed her fourth year on the board as the first and only woman director.

It was decided to hold the installation banquet in the Steak House of Knott's Berry Farm Jan. 6 with invitations being sent to members and special guests only.

A lifetime honorary membership and gift is being sent William C. Poe, Jr., Los Alamitos attorney, for assisting the chamber in recent legal matters.

G. W. Irwin announced the petitions for a sanitation district are in the hands of the county clerk to call for a public hearing after which a special election will be called, anytime after February.

The Southern California Water Company have asked the fire station board for the right to install water hydrants in the fire area. President Irwin and his fire-fighters have spotted 21 possible spots for hydrants. One plan proposed by E. R. Stang of the water company is to install the hydrants free and assess each water user in the area about 15c per month. The insurance rates will be lowered as much as 30 per cent when hydrants are installed, Irwin said, and further pointed out that a hearing would have to be held before the public utilities commission before rates were established.

Another plan proposed by the water company is to install hydrants free and rent them to an organized group for $2.50 per month was not well received by the directors.

Letters had been sent in from the Savanna P-TA, Lions Club and a petition from residents on Fern st. for a stop signal on Main st. at Highway 39. These with several other similar requests will be sent to the State Highway department.

The new board will hold their first meeting Jan. 20.

County Defense Bond Sales Hit $2,330,675.89

The treasury department today reported sales of $8,091,125 in series E and H defense bonds and investments of $552,982 in series J and K savings bonds in the 11 Southern California counties during November.

At month end, November's total of $8,644,107 brought this year's purchases in the area to $115,311,276.51, it was announced by J. B. Messick state director of the savings bond division.

In Orange county, series E and H sales were $187,012.50 last month. This brought sales in the county to $2,330,675.89 in the January-November period.

Fullerton School Trustees Retain 8-4-2 Program

Representatives of elementary and secondary boards of trustees of the Fullerton Union High school and Junior College district agreed in conference Thursday that the present plan of an eight year elementary program with four year high school should be continued rather than attempting an election for junior high schools at this time. This decision allows all areas to continue planning for additional elementary and secondary school housing required to care for the unprecedented population increase.

While recognizing desirable features of the junior high school program, it was agreed that the additional cost and time required to establish a series of junior high schools prohibited further consideration at this time. Financial and contract difficulties under the present school law for operation of a junior high school system by a union high school district were also determining factors.

Continuing cooperation of all districts in solving school problems was assured by plans for further meeting of trustees and administrators to refine construction time tables, financial programs, educational planning and guidance services.

March of Dimes Drive Gets Under Way with Volunteer Recruitment

Recruitment of an extensive volunteer force to raise funds in Orange county's January March of Dimes polio drive is in full swing with a number of community chairman named today by Stanley Bates, Orange county chairman for the drive.

The county campaign will begin Jan. 2 and ends Jan. 31, during which $100,000 is hoped to be raised to combat the worst epedemic in Orange county's history.

"The county chapter at the present time is without funds," the drive chairman said, "and the National Foundation has advanced $40,000 to the county to carry on its work."

Dr. Edward Lee Russell, county health officer, declared that 193 countians have been stricken this year to date, of which 13 cases have been fatal. He said the seriousness of the epidemic this year can be compared with 1948, the next highest year, when 106 cases were reported.

"Deaths have been higher in Orange county this year from polio than the county's usual number one contagious disease killer, tuberculosis," Dr. Russell said.

Chuck Moon, representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce, has been named Anaheim March of Dimes chairman.

Aviation Leaders Celebrate 49 Years of Flight

KITTY HAWK, N. C., Dec. 17. (UP)—Fliers of all the armed services, aviation leaders and a few Carolinians who knew the Wright brothers celebrated the 49th anniversary of powered flight today.

The airmen put on a display of jet age flying, including a demonstration by three F-86s flying faster than sound.

At a luncheon in nearby Nags Head, after the ceremony, speakers extolled the achievements of Orville and Wilbur Wright of Dayton, Ohio, in propelling their handmade biplane along a monorail track and into the air Dec. 17, 1903.

Among the crowd were figures who knew and worked with the Wrights. They included:

Capt. William J. Tate, 83, of Coinjock, N. C., who invited the Wrights to Kitty Hawk half a century ago and in whose home the brothers lived while making their flying experiments.

Harry Moore, veteran shipping reporter of the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot who, at the age of 20, scooped the world with his first news of the epoch making flight—only to have the story rejected by most editors as a cock and bull yarn. Fred C. Kelly, Washington, D. C., biographer and long time friend of the brothers.

Olive Notes

Well known Olive couples, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lemke and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Timken, who were married 35 years ago, in a double wedding ceremony, at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Olive, by the late Rev. William Theiss, were guests of honor at an anniversary party Sunday evening at the Lutheran parish hall.

Hostesses at the dinner were sisters and sisters-in-law of the couples, Mesdames Robert Paulus, Walter Timken, Henry Timken, William E. Paulus, Herman Lemke, Henry Lemke, and J. M. Bush. The hall was beautifully decorated for the party by the children of the anniversary celebrators, Elmer Lemke, Irene Lemke Maglio, Viola Lemke Crane, Velma Lemke Burdg, Evelyn Timken Graupensperger, Julaine Timken Sloan, Miss Barbara Lemke, James Timken and Clarence Lemke.

Used in decoration of the hall were two large baskets of yellow chrysanthemums which had been placed in St. Paul's Lutheran church that morning by the children in honor of their parents' anniversaries. Table appointments were groups of three white tapers, pine needles and berries. At the head table was a low arrangement of poinsettias and white tapers in crystal holders.

Seated at the head table with the anniversary couples were Mrs. Fred Nielsen, who was a bridesmaid, and Mr. Nielsen, Henry Lemke, who served as best man and Mrs. Lemke, Vicar H. W. Lincoln P-TA Holiday Program To Be Given Today

The Lincoln P-TA December meeting will feature a Christmas program presented by the faculty and students of Lincoln, this afternoon, at 1:15 in the new cafetorium.

We are particularly grateful for our newly equipped stage in the cafetorium, in that it gives the children a wonderful showcase for plays and pageants. "Appearing before an audience should be part of every child's experience," stated Mrs. Paul Williamson, president of Lincoln P-TA.

Brownie Troop Number 46 will post the colors and lead the audience in the salute to the flag.

C. E. Bourne will conduct the Lincoln orchestra. Chief James Wilson will review for the parents, safety measures to be taken during the holiday season. Following this will be the program by the Lincoln students.

The head room mothers will be hostesses during the social hour. There will be a nursery for small children during the social hour.

Korean Girl To Represent CARE Agency

A college educated, English speaking Korean girl who has spent much of the last three years wandering with the droves of war refugees who have foraged for food and slept in tunnels, has just been placed in charge of the Taegu operations of CARE, the package-sending agency.

She is Kim Whang whose husband was killed by the Communists in 1950 because he was employed by CARE, a United States government approved agency. He gave his life to save for his hungry countrymen the precious contents of CARE food packages. His widow now resumes his work.

Dr. C. R. Joy, CARE mission chief in Korea, notified O. G. Thomason, local CARE chairman today, that he found the widow of the CARE hero by accident after nearly three years' search and placed her in the position left vacant by her husband's death.

She told me that the CARE packages these refugees were able to get were often their only source of food, Dr. Joy wrote. She said without them many would not have survived. As she took the position with CARE, she urged me to ask Americans to keep sending these life giving food and textile parcels to the refugees who have been less fortunate than she is, and have no means of livelihood and no way of getting food and clothes.

Orders for CARE packages or contributions may be sent to CARE, 855 S. Broadway, Los Angeles.

Personals

The Evelyn Raegan Chapter of the Foreign Missionary Society met in the social hall of the Nazarene church for a pot luck dinner in honor of the missionaries for whom they named their chapter.

Mrs. William Howard, wife of the pastor, reports the Raegans are visiting in the United States from Guatemala and that they narrated films of the work they have been doing with the native workers.

The women of the chapter have been meeting once a month and making quilts as their ways and means project.

Mrs. T. Lloyd Byrd of Second st., Stanton, was hostess to the executive board of the Savanna P-TA Monday night. Mrs. Francis Millonzi announced the business would be set aside until January in consideration of this Christmas party.

Yule logs in the fireplace and a white fir tree trimmed in candy canes, glass bead ornaments and lighted candles was the setting in the recreation room. Mrs. Lewis Wolter acted as Santa Claus and gave out prizes for games played. Christmas recordings were played as the hostess served fresh strawberry pie, coffee and candies made from the new mashed potato recipes.

The Stanton Mexican Methodist church, 10851 Central ave., will present an original Christmas play written by their former pastor, Rev. John Perez of Lakewood village, at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 22.

Paul Galvan is directing the play which will be given in Spanish and tells the story of "Christmas of an Orphan." The public is invited.

The Anaheim Business and Professional Women's club had as guests their families and friends when they entertained at a Christmas party in the Masonic temple. Following dinner a program featuring the Richards-Martin dance studio and a gift exchange were enjoyed. Sue Brown served as chairman, Josephine Fulfer was in charge of decorations and Eva Gooden was accompanist for the carol singing.

Dick Hathcock, president of the Cypress Kiwanis club, has announced that the Christmas ladies night party will be held Monday, Dec. 22 at Lloyd's on Lincoln ave.

TEASING

Practically every child goes through a phase of teasing, especially if there is a younger child in the family. Don't worry, they always outgrow it.

HOME-MAKERS' FORUM

By The Gazette's Own Home Economist
JOAN S. WHITE

Top of the morning to you!

It's nice to join you with your morning coffee. Ignore the dishes in the sink, the unmade beds and the dust in the living room. If you relax a few minutes before pitching into the morning chores, you will actually finish faster and feel better for it. Efficiency experts find it true in factories, and the principle applies to home work as well.

Another thing that helps you to feel fit all day is a good breakfast.

So you're watching your waistline. What of it? All the more reason why you should eat a well balanced morning meal. Nutritionists recommend fruit or fruit juice (preferably citrus) eggs (boiled or poached are best for weight-watchers), whole grain cereal or toast or both and coffee if you like. Black coffee has nary a calorie, so help yourself.

CLOTHING CRUSADE

The hassle of getting the children off for school is over for another day. There always seems to be a note to write, money to take, a snack to carry or some such.

Do you have the bulletin handy that came home from school to tell of the clothing crusade? If it was lost enroute or misplaced since, it tells of the urgent need for children's used clothing. The clothing you send to school may help some child live. Send coats, underwear, dresses, shirts, pajamas, night gowns, sweaters, pants, socks, blankets and sheets. Shoes are needed and so are baby clothes. The Childrens Federation sends them to western Europe, to Korea and Lebanon, and tto the needy American Indians. Wrap the bundle in paper and tie it well.

PRIZE WINNER

Do you use chlorophyl toothpaste at your house? You may have noticed some rather permanent green stains on your wash cloths, bath towels and clothing as a result. This angle has plagued toothpaste manufacturers for sometime. Also the American Institute of Laundering.

Chemists got busy, and in a research laboratory of the commercial laundry industry found that chlorophyl stains left by "Amm-i-dent" easily washed out of cotton, rayon and cellulose acetate fabries. That toothpaste has been awarded the Certified Washable Seal by the Laundering Institute.

HERE AND THERE

The morning mail is one of the high points of the day, isn't it? This morning brought income tax forms for 1952. Oh joy!

If your medical expenses have been heavy this year, it might be wise to pay up your doctor's bills before the first of the year. They may add up to quite a deduction.

How is your Christmas list coming? With the high cost of living being what it is, practical useful gifts are bound to be appreciated more than the seasonal "trinket" variety. Lots of folks on your list would be happy with edibles, wearing apparel, really useful items for the home.

What's for dinner? Like to lean toward thrifty dishes to fill the gaps between holiday splurges? Here are suggestions:

Canned corned beef hash topped with poached egg, fried chicken-using the frozen chicken wings that are packed about eight to a package, chum salmon filets baked in a moderate oven with seasonings, lemon juice and sliced onion; frankfurters with sauerkraut, stewed breast of lamb with vegetables and dumplings, Spanish omelet, spaghetti and meat balls, fried liver and bacon (try pin money pork liver this time), tuna-mashed potato croquettes with cream sauce.

PROGRAM HELP

At this time of the year, mother is often called upon to dream up a recitation for the youngster's part in the school or church program or at family gatherings. We found the following appropriate poem on the children's page of The American Family Magazine and have permission to print it here.

A CHRISTMAS SECRET

The packages are gaily wrapped
In red and blue and green,
And all around us joy looks down
Upon our Christmas scene.

But even though my gifts are nice,
I really do believe,
I find it even nicer
To give than to receive.

Two Schools Hold Open House Today

Lexington school, the new quarter of a million dollar plant located on Bloomfield at Katella on 11¾ acres, opened its eight classrooms Thursday. This permitted 300 pupils in the Laurel school district to attend their first full day of classes, according to Superintendent Jack Weaver.

The Laurel school on Los Alamitos Blvd., also has a new kitchen, and both schools will hold open house today between 7:00 and 9:00 p.m. Funds for the construction and the improvements, exclusive of the site, were made by state allocation, Weaver said.

Bobo Olson Set To Square off With Hayes

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17. (AP)—Carl Bobo Olson, No. 1 middleweight title contender, takes on another formidable rival here tomorrow night when he squares off with Norman Hayes of Boston in a scheduled 10 round fight at the Civic Auditorium.

Ted Honolulu-born Olson, who belted out topnotcher Lee Sala in two rounds here last month, has been established a 10-7 choice over Hayes. Handling of the 21-year old Negro discount the odds and points to his most recent ring achievement. Hayes flattened strongly favored Joey DeJohn in three rounds last month.

Olson, who lost a close 15-round title fight to champion Sugar Ray Robinson here last year, hasn't been considered a one-punch knockout specialist until he dropped Pittsburgh's Sala. He credits the new found ring wear on to the use of different type of neck and shoulder exercise.

The pressure will be on Olson. He has been signed to meet champion Jake La Motta here next month contingent on the outcome of his battle with Hayes tomorrow. Hayes has won from and lost to La Motta.

Over 2,000,000 students are now attending America's 1750 colleges. 700,000 more than there were the year before the war.

Wisconsin Football Team Arrives for Bowl Contest

PASADENA, Dec. 17 (AP)—Wisconsin's Rose Bowl squad—44 bulky Badgers, plus coaches, trainers and similar extra help—flew in today in a rainstorm.

Coach Ivy Williamson cast an eye at the sky and said: "We had a pleasant trip, but it got a little soupy toward the end." A few minutes after they arrived, the sun tried hard to come out but didn't quite make it.

Immediately, the team was swept into the Rose Bowl pattern. Clipped aboard buses, it was brought here from the landing field, Lockheed Air Terminal in Burbank, for a reception complete with Tournament of Roses Queen Leah Feland and her court.

A crowd of several score jammed the airport passageway to get a view of the Big Ten's representative in the New Year's Day classic. The team will suit up tomorrow for photographers and the first practice, and Williamson remarked: "I hope it stops raining."

A hardy group of ex-Wisconites met the plane, along with various Tournament of Roses officials, headed by President Bill Nicholas, and Athletic Directors Willis O. Hunter of Southern California and Wilbur Johns of UCLA. Hunter's Trojans will provide the Badgers' opposition in the Rose Bowl. Johns might have been the official greeter except for UCLA's 12-14 loss to SC.

Anaheim Cagers Win Second Game In Tournament

With a team that "didn't look good," Anaheim's Basketball Coach Bill Hunstock's lads squeezed past Valencia High school yesterday 43-38 to rack up their second victory in the Annual Hundred Coach Invitational Basketball Tournament.

Led by Forward Bill Ames, with 15 tallies, the Anaheim aggregation played a fight ball game to defeat a strong team that threatened throughout.

STOCKTON, Dec. 17. (AP) — The San Diego Naval Training Center Bluejackets won their eighth straight basketball game tonight, whipping College of Pacific 71-45.

Northrop Cagers Down Rosan in Industrial Play

Northrop and Rosan staged the closest contest last night in the Industrial League basketball play with the former coming out on the long end of a 57-51 score.

Joe Wilzel spearheaded Rosan's scoring by hitting the nets for 21 points which included nine field goals and three free throws.

In other league play Kwikset downed Alpha Beta 44-26 and Union Oil had an easy time defeating Knott's 44-11.

Maxim Loses Unanimous Decision

By MURRAY ROSE

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 17. (AP)—Grim-faced, determined Archie Moore made up for years of bitter frustration by battering light-heavyweight champion, Joey Maxim into a bleeding hulk to win the 175-pound title by unanimous decision.

Ignored by one champion after another for over five years, the "uncrowned champion" made it official tonight by blasting the steel-chinned, 30-year-old Clevelander with a blistering barrage of punches from beginning to end.

A roaring crowd of 12,610 in the St. Louis arena and millions more along the coast to coast television beam, watched the powerful, 36-year-old Negro score his one-sided triumph.

Thus Moore became the oldest light-heavyweight king since Ruby Bob Fitzsimmons grabbed the crown at the age of 41. Maxim's defeat came in his third defense of the crown he won nearly three years ago.

The challenger, fired up for his big moment, rocked the champion in the very first round, staggered him often afterwards but couldn't bring the game Maxim down.

At the finish, Maxim was bleeding from cuts under both eyes, from a gash on his left cheek bone and from the nose. There was no doubt as to what the decision was going to be.

Judge Howard Hess scored it 82-68; Judge Fred Connell had it 82-63 while Referee Harry Kessler, who kept up a running fire of chatter throughout the fight, had it surprisingly close, 74-76.

The Associated Press had Moore the winner, 87-63, giving Moore 12 rounds, Maxim two and calling one even. One of the rounds, the fourth, went to Joey because of a low blow.

Moore, who was outweighed 174½ to 172½, was the 8 to 5 favorite when the nationally telecast bout got under way. But after the seventh round you could have gotten a 100 to 1 on the battered champion.

The challenger, who has lost only one fight in nearly three and a half years, poured on the pace in a relentless fashion. Fighting out of a crouch, he whaled Maxim's body with devastating body punches that took their spring out of Maxim's lefts, cut his face to ribbons, and rocked him in almost every round after the seventh.

When Maxim held on for deer life, Moore snarled at him:

"Fight." Maxim just held.

All that Maxim would offer were his occasional left jabs and short left hooks plus a few rights that just brought a smile on Moore's face.

The crowd which contributed to a record St. Louis gate of $89,487, at times roared for Moore to "put him away" and to Maxim to "hold on."

It was just a question of whether Joey could keep from being knocked down or out. The wily champion held his feet although he was hurt time and again.

In the eighth round Maxim started to bleed from a cut under his left eye. In the ninth blood spurted from a deep gash on his left cheek bone. In the tenth a cut was opened under the weary champ's right eye.

It was in the tenth that Moore, sporting a neat mustache and a goatee, almost put Maxim away.

A thunderous right clipped Maxim on the jaw and the champion, who had been knocked out only once before in his career, reeled to the ropes. Moore pounded him unmercifully but he couldn't put down the reeling, bleeding defender.

Maxim was hurt in every round thereafter as he held continually. Despite his beating, Maxim said he wanted a return bout with Archie. Under their contract, Moore must give him a return bout within 60 or 90 days.

Moore commented happily:

"A rematch? That's what I want. That was a good fight out there. That's what they wanted. I gave him a good figat. What more they want."

Maxim was guaranteed $100,000 Maxim was guaranteed $100,000. Moore signed for 10 per cent of the net receipts if anything is left after Maxim collects.

The radio, television receipts added $50,000 to the pot.

Grove Applies For Retirement

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 17. (AP)—Orval Grove, 33-year-old right hand pitcher recently traded by Sacramento to Portland, today informed local sports writers he is applying for voluntary retirement from baseball.

Grove, who came to the local Pacific Coast league club in 1949 from the Chicago White Sox, makes his home here, working as an auto salesman in the off-season.

The Sacramento club traded Grove and pitcher Glenn Elliott to Portland for outfielder Joe Brovia and pitcher Marino Peretti during the winter baseball meetings.

FANS IN LINE TO GET ROSE BOWL TICKETS — Here's part of the crowd that gathered at the Rose Bowl, Pasadena, to buy 3500 general admission tickets to the New Year's Day classic between Wisconsin and Southern California. Only two tickets were permitted each purchaser. All the rest of the remaining 100,000 seats have been allotted.

Famed Football Coaches Readied for 28th Annual East-West Charity Game

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17 (AP)—Famed football coaches who will combine their talents to coach the East and West teams in the 28th annual charity game here Dec. 27 assembled here today for a brief round table discussion with the press.

The two 25-man squads are loaded with seniors who have played their last college games. Rival coaches agreed it should be a close contest. The East won last year, 13-6. Clarence Biggie Munn of Michigan State, the nation's No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll this season, will serve as head coach of the eastern contingent. Co-coaches will be Ray Eliot of Illinois and Dr. Eddie Anderson of Holy Cross. Former mentors Bernie Bierman of Minnesota and Andy Kerr of Colgate will assist in advisory capacities.

Howie Odell, who expects to be deposed as coach at the University of Washington because of "personal differences" with Athletic Director Harvey Cassill, will direct the west's coaching staff. He said he was sorry the Washington incident came to light yesterday and preferred not to discuss it.

Odell will be assisted by Julie Sikes of Kansas and Chuck Taylor of Stanford.

Head coach Munn said the single wing system that brought Michigan State an undefeated season, would be used by the east. The west will employ Odell's version of the T-formation, not quite as tight as the standard "T".

The first two players to check in were Norman Montgomery, a Purdue linebacker and fullback, for the west, and Don Heinrich, pass pitching quarterback from Washington. Heinrich is an army private stationed here but will be on leave until Jan. 2 to play with the west.

CHICAGO, Dec. 17 (AP)—Julius Boros, golf's Cinderella man, today officially was crowned 1952 money-winning champion and sharp-shooting Jack Burke, Jr., certified as Vardon Trophy winner for the best scoring average.

Final PGA tabulation of cash-collecting along the tourney trail credited Boros with $37,032 against a paltry $4697 in 1951 when finished 34th money-winner in his first full year of pro tourney play.

Georgia Tech Man Wins Top Honor As Toe Champ

NEWY YORK, Dec. 17. (AP)—Frank Pepper Rodgers, Georgia Tech's specialist, was the toe-scoring champion of major college football teams during the past season, final statistics disclosed today.

The National Collegiate Athletic association's service bureau, which keeps tab on such details, revealed Rogers accounted for 48 points with his kicking alone.

The pepper boy with the redhot toe booted four field goals, high in the country, and made good on 36 of 41 conversion attempts.

The top extra point kicker, however, was Tom Miner, Tulsa end, who put 41 of his 45 attempts through the uprights. The NCAA figure filberts announced this is the most extra points any kicker ever made with such few misses.

Drop-kicking generally was on a high scale around the country and there was the largest number of field goals experienced by the college sport in years.

The best kicking percentage among those with at least 30 attempts belonged to Buddy Leake, Oklahoma halfback, who scored on 32 of 33 chances for 97 per cent. Leaket kicked 28 straight before missing against Iowa State.

Columbia's Al Ward kicked the most extra points without a miss, 16. Rox Shains, Army center, booted 21 of 22 for 95.5 per cent. Mel Roach of Virginia and Evan Slonac of Michigan State pressed Miner for the largest number of conversions with 37 each.

The nation's leading scorer was Jack Parker of Mississippi State, who tallied 120 of his team's 255 point to his most recent ring downs and 24 extra points.

Bolling Prepares For Bowl Game

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 17. (AP)—The Bolling Air Force base football team went through offensive and defensive drills here today in preparation for its Poinsettia bowl game with the San Diego Naval Training Center Saturday.

Coach Roger Antaya said he has not scheduled any scrimmage for his gridders. "No, we've got this far without injuries and I can't see it this week," Antaya said.

The Generals arrived here by plane Monday night from Washington. Forty one players and four coaches made the trip.

The Training Center Bluejackets coach Tay Brown sent his charges through their second day of scrimmage. Light workouts are planned for the rest of the week.

The game which will decide the national service championship, starts at noon. It will be televised and broadcast nationally NBC TV-radio and also carried by the armed forces radio.

BERKELEY, Dec. 17. (AP)—The University of California seismograph recorded a medium sized earthquake at 3:17:30 p.m., PST., today.

It was about the time the Spring Hill college seismograph at Mobile, Ala., recorded what the Rev. Louis Eisele, seismologist, called an earthquake of major intensity centered 2544 miles south of Mobile.

Crazy Legs Held Threat to Lions

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17. (AP)—Warning to the Detroit Lions:

You may have to compete with a 60 minute Los Angeles Rams star when the teams meet in Detroit Sunday for the national conference title and a crack at the National Football league championship.

Coach Hampton Pool, sending his men through their final rough workout on the local scene today, said nothing about it, but it was reported that he plans to use Elroy Crazy Legs Hirsch as a defensive halfback in addition to the crazy one's duties on offense at right end and mailback.

Hirsch would fill in on defense for the injured Dick Night Train Lane. He is no stranger to defensive tactics, having played the position in the past.

The former Wisconsin hero on offense is one of the most dangerous pass receivers in the league. He was stymied early in the season by injuries but when he returned to action, first at strategic moments, and then for full game service, the Rams proceeded to wade through eight straight foes without a defeat.

Discrimination Charges Discussed By Jackie Robinson, Ford Frick

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 (AP)—Jackie Robinson said today he had talked with Commissioner Ford Frick concerning a television interview in which the Brooklyn infielder accused the New York Yankees of discriminating against Negro players.

Robinson added, however, he had not been "silenced" by the commissioner but simply had been asked to avoid such issues in the future.

"Frick called me," explained the Dodger second baseman, "and asked for a transcript of the interview. I told him exactly what had taken place at the studio. The question was brought to me 'Do you think the Yankee management is prejudiced against Negro ball players?' I answered 'yes.' That's all I said. I didn't elaborate except to add that as far as the Yankee ball players were concerned, they were some of the finest I've ever met. I merely said what I honestly felt. Whether it's true I do not know, but that's the way I felt.

"Frick asked me to avoid the issue in the future if I could do so and I said 'certainly.' But I also told him while I was not looking for any arguments with the Yankees or anybody else, I would give the same answer if I were ever asked the same question again.

"As I told the commissioner, I'm not looking for any arguments with anybody but I have to live honestly with myself. That's the way I felt about it then and that's the way I feel about it now. There are thousands upon thousands of people in Harlem who feel the same way. Maybe we're wrong. But that's the way I feel. I've at least tried to be honest in everything I've done. I've made mistakes before but they were honest ones. I hope I'm mistaken in this too."

LIONS PIN HOPES ON LAYNE

By HARRY STAPLER

DETROIT, Dec. 17 (AP)—Bobby Layne, the Detroit Lion quarterback who sometimes confuses foes because he runs with the ball instead of passing, will test his injured leg with full-scale sprints tomorrow morning for the first time in four days.

Layne and his leg are important to the Lions' hopes of beating the Los Angeles Rams Sunday.

The Lions need his running ability as well as passing. Since Layne stretched a ligament and limped from the field Saturday against the Dallas Texans, he has run slowly in all workouts.

He reported no stiffness or pain. But tomorrow he'll run at full speed for the first time. If anything is wrong, Bobby will feel it then. The Lions' title hopes will feel it, too.

Layne is the team's second best ground-gainer and the Lions would likely enter the postseason tie-breaking National Conference playoff as slight favorites if he can operate at full ability.

But if Bobby—the No. 1 passer and No. 1 inspirational force—can't run well, the Lions would likely be underdogs in the scrap to see who faces the American Conference champion Cleveland Browns in the National Football League title game Dec. 28 at Cleveland.

A few hours after the crucial test the Rams will arrive by plane. They're bidding to reach the NFL playoffs for the fourth straight year—a feat only the Chicago Bears of 1940-43 ever did before. The Rams will work out here Friday and Saturday.

Right now the Lions are one-point favorites among local bookmakers in the NFL's sixth tie-breaking game in 20 years of divisional competition.

The game will be nationally televised.

PARIS, Dec. 17. (AP)—In the face of warnings from their military commanders, Western diplomatic and political leaders today cut to ribbons the proposed 1953 million dollar western defense building program for 1953.

GOING UP—About three weeks from now the new plant of the Rotary-Offset Printing Co. at Vermont st. and the Santa Fe tracks will be complete, according to the Rex Construction Co. foreman in charge. The cement block and brick structure will house equipment for high-speed printing of magazines and other types of publication. (Gazette photo)

Seixas-Trabert Favored in Davis Cup Play

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 17. (AP)—Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert are heavily favored to score opening singles victories tomorrow when the United States Davis cup tennis forces meet Italy in the interzone finals.

Seixas, the sharp volleying Philadelphian who heads the U. S. team, plays Italy's top performer, Fausto Gardini, in the opening match.

Trabert, the Cincinnati sailor on leave, faces the 35-year-old veteran, Gianni Cucelli.

The Italians are so pessimistic about their chances that they have booked seats for home on Sunday night's plane. The Americans, on the other hand, made reservations to Adelaide, where the challenge round with Australia will be played Dec. 29-31.

The Italians were far from happy over the draw. Manager Pino Bono said, "It makes it tough for us from the start. Had Gardini met Trabert first we would have had a much better chance."

Around 10,000 Australians are expected to pour into White City stadium for the three day interzone finals. The doubles will be played Friday, with Seixas and Trabert probably meeting Cucelli and Mareewilgo del Bello. The other two singles are scheduled Saturday.

L.A. State Beaten By Centenary

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 17. (AP)—Bob Wright, Centenary guard, made five free throws in an overtime period tonight as the Louisiana team defeated Los Angeles State, 68 to 61.

The game ended 55 all in the regulation time. At one time in the second period, Centenary led by 12 points, but Bob Fresenius came into the Los Angeles lineup and scored three quick baskets, and guard Gene Boucher scored five more to spark a third period scoring drive.

Toar Hester, forward, kept Centenary in the game in the fourth period by scoring eight points.

Bunco Artists Miss on Second Confidence Try

Two Negro women who teamed to obtain $3000 from Mrs. Jennie Cackerly in Santa Ana last week, through operating of a bunco game in which they proposed to divide with her $3600 one of them claimed to have found, providing she first posted $3000 with them, tried unsuccessfully to land another victim in Santa Ana yesterday.

One of them met Mrs. Harry Anderson, 824 Louise st., Santa Ana in the Rankin department store, Fourth and Sycamore sts., and engaged her in conversation. The other woman arrived, and announced she had found $600 in lottery tickets. They discussed what to do with the tickets, and asked Mrs. Anderson's advice.

"Turn them over to the police," she advised them, and started to leave.

One woman seized her by the arm and urged her to remain, as the other woman intended to buy her a Christmas present. But Mrs. Anderson shook her off, and reported the incident to police. Officers were unable to locate the pair.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (AP)—The government today authorized makers of automobiles and other civilian goods to increase their use of steel in the second quarter of next year up to 70 per cent of the amount they consumed before the outbreak of the Korean war.

SA River

early days when armed forces west of the river collided with armed forces east of the river over canal in take from the Santa Ana river. And just as that blind misunderstanding of long ago, when Orange county groups fought each other for water that Riverside was stealing from both of them, caused lasting loss to Orange county's water rights and supply, so can it do today. In that earlier day, the two Orange county dogs fought over a bone, and Riverside grabbed it. Today, with another historic water shortage confronting the county, there seems to be the same tendency to grab.

Fortunately there has been no objection generally to getting as much water into the local basin as possible from any and every source, which inspired the preceding comment that so far there seems to be no actual damage to the over-all water program. What alarms some water leaders is the scramble for advantage in receiving the water obtained.

The county's two major water companies, Anaheim Union Water Co., west of the river, and Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Co. (SAVI), east of the river, have evolved a working arrangement, through the Santa Ana River Development Co., which has stood up well, and no doubt can stand minor irrigations. Each company owns half of the surface flow of the Santa Ana river.

But now comes complaint from the Orange county water district, which represents both sides of the river in protecting Orange county's water rights and conserving the water supply, this being the water supplied by Colorado river water imported. Officials of the water district say they cannot get the same kind of support from the Anaheim Union Water Co., that they get from the SAVI Co.

Currently, for example, they are unable to get the Anaheim Union to sign an agreement that the SAVI signed, to compensate the water district for Colorado river water purchased by the water district for all parts of the district but taken into the canals of the two water companies as it flows down the Santa Apa river from the Metropolitan water district aqueduct at Arlington.

They say that Anaheim Union Water Co. takes the position that it owns half of the flow of the river and intends to take half of whatever flows down the river, from whatever source.

That is one of the reasons why the water district wants MWD to increase the capacity of its proposed feeder line into Orange county from 220 second feet to 400 second feet, so that the water district could receive the water it buys from MWD at a point on the river below the water company canal intakes.

Another reason is that then the water district could put into effect its plan of purchasing perhaps 90,000 acre feet of Colorado river water a year, instead of the 20,000 to 25,00 it now purchases annually. The larger volume would of course more quickly and effectively replenish the local underground basin. But sinking that much water underground in a season is impossible, unless larger spreading areas can be utilized. The water district has such spreading areas, not now in use.

Water spread in the present spreading grounds above Yorba bridge is said to percolate first to the westward toward Anaheim, following the old course of the river. The percolation underground doesn't turn the corner at Burrell point, Olive, and work back toward Orange and Villa Park, east of the river. So the water district would like to use some excellent spreading grounds it owns east of the river, if it could put the water there. That way the east side of the river could get some earlier results from the water it helps to purchase. But the west siders do not like that idea, according to the east siders.

Fred side, great side, don't let the bridge fall down.

Yorba Linda

R. C. Mize and Horace C. Head, speaking for the Anaheim Union Water Co. and Yorba Linda Water Co. Attorney Charles D. Swanner added his objection on behalf of Swanner Bros. and W. B. Williams, San Juan Capistrano ranchers.

They declared that the ordinance would serve no useful purpose and would be a nuisance to ranchers; that it gives the flood control engineer unwarranted power to control the water supply as he might see fit; and that it duplicates the state permit requirement, so is unnecessary.

Attorney Head said he didn't need anyone to tell him where to drill for water on his ranch, and nobody had the right to tell where he could or couldn't drill. The ordinance does not touch on any matter within legislative jurisdiction of the supervisors, he said. Health authorities already have full powers to investigate water supply for contamination.

Howell and Brown pointed out that the records of the state, from water well permits, do not reach local agencies within 18 months after they are filed, so are of no local benefit.

The contest to name California's Orange Queen is an outgrowth of the National Orange Show's annual competition in which for the past 30 years a girl to reign throughout the 11-day run of the exposition was named. This year's contest was expanded to select a girl to serve both the National Orange Show and the citrus industry. She will preside at the show, appear in a series of functions and programs throughout California, on radio and television shows and at conventions as the queen of one of California's major agricultural industries, a title which will distinguish her as one of the state's prettiest girls. The orange queen will receive a complete wardrobe with costumes for every character of event at which she will appear.

Cal Poly, FJC In Agreement on Transfer Credits

Through careful evaluation of Fullerton Junior College technical trades courses in comparison with similar California Polytechnic College courses, more Fullerton courses are now elegible for trasfer credit at California Polytechnic Institute, San Luis Obispo.

This agreement on printing, electronics, architectural drawing, and certain agriculture courses was reached at a conference of officials of the two schools Friday, Dec. 12, at Cal Poly.

"Over a conference table," explained Robert McCormick, chairman of Fullerton's technical trades division, "it was possible to evaluate better our courses in comparison with those offered at Cal Poly in the first two years."

From Fullerton, McCormick, Ralph R. Porter, printing instructor; Elwyn Saferite, cabinet-making instructor and chief counselor for technical trades students; and Walter Wood, agriculture instructor, all went to San Luis Obispo for the conference with Cal Poly officials.

The Fullerton printing courses and some agriculture courses had not previously been evaluated for credit by Cal Poly, said McCormick. Students may now apply technical trades courses taken here to majors at Cal Poly, with greater assurance that credit will be granted. For example, printing courses at Fullerton may be applied to a printing major at Cal Poly.

"We gained a better understanding of offerings at Cal Poly and how our courses parallel them," said McCormick. "Therefore our counselor can aid our students better in choosing courses here that will apply on majors at Cal Poly."

$169,000 Damage In Ship Collision

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 17 (AP) — It will cost an estimated $169,000 to repair the freighter Seafort, damaged in a collision with the escort carrier Sitkoh Bay southwest of San Diego Dec. 9, the ship's agents said today.

There were no casualties on either vessel.

The carrier sustained moderate damage to the hull and superstructure.

The Seafort damage estimate was announced by Capt George Hardy, port captain of Transmarine Lines, West Coast agents for the vessel.

Hardy said that in addition to rebuilding 35 feet of the bridge and replacing 350 feet of caved in bulwarks on the starboard side, the buckled deck of the steward's storeroom below deck also will have to be replaced.

The Seafort is undergoing repairs at San Pedro. It is expected to resume its voyage to Japan with 10,000 tons of coal Feb. 1.

Two Classroom Buildings Scheduled For Construction Next Year at FJC

Two new two-story classroom buildings, of earthquake-resistant reinforced concrete, will be constructed within the next year on Fullerton Union High School campus by the low bidder, Kemp Brothers of Los Angeles, for $288,900, it was announced Monday night at a Board of Trustees meeting after 10 bids were opened and read.

Work will begin immediately by Crane Service Company, subcontractor, in raising the old science building along Pomona ave. on which ground the two new structures are to be erected.

Both English and business education buildings are to be two stories high with exterior appearance similar to other building on campus. Generous use of Luxite and Coolite glass along wall space, including obscure glass made by Mississippi Glass Company in Fullerton, will provide for natural illumination of classrooms and offices.

Among appointmenis which will enhance the mission style of architecture are hand wrought iron lamps fabricated on the Fullerton campus as a student project directed by Charles Hart.

The business education building, to be located along the "gutter" between Pomona ave. and the recently completed new 17-room classroom building, will be 38 by 118 feet in size. On the first floor the plan calls for three typing and shorthand rooms, one office machines room, and teachers' offices. On the second floor, will be two business education classrooms, two bookkeeping rooms, teachers' offices, lavatories and display cases.

To the south of the business building, and running in the same east-west direction, will be the larger English language building, to measure 70 by 117 feet when completed. Instead of having one row of classrooms with walkways on the south side, the English building is to have two rows of rooms, with corridor between them.

On the first floor of the English building are to be located seven classrooms, a sound stage, workroom and storage room, as well as teacher offices and lavatories. Second story space will be occupied by six classrooms, a lecture and projection room, and more offices.

Both buildings will include locker equipment, for student use, to cost approximately $5000, it was stated. Cantilever roofing over walkways will provide maximum safety as well as protection from direct sun and rain when students go to and from classes and to other buildings.

Plans call for occupation of the two new structures within the next year, it was disclosed.

Metal Trades Students Put Training to Use

Solving a practical problem of metal fabrication, three Fullerton Junior College metal trades students have at the same time contributed to school safety.

The students, Norman Ufholtz (Marywood), Marvin Strain (Whittier), and Jewel Owens (Anaheim), have constructed a metal grate to protect a basement window well in one of Fullerton Union High school's new buildings.

"This student job is a typical one," says Charles Hart, metal trades instructor who supervised the students, "We train our metal trades students on 'live' jobs."

Metal trades students have in the past fabricated a good deal of ornamental iron work around the junior college campus, as well as off campus. The ornamental iron fence and gate in front of one of the buildings is an example. The auditorium is decorated with 200-pound iron lamps inside.

Although the grill made to cover the basement window well is not primarily ornamental, it is a representative job, said Hart. It involved taking measurements at the spot, the careful designing of the grate, and planning of construction procedures. Finally, the construction itself is undertaken.

Bostonian Named MOD Sales Head

REDLANDS. — The appointment of E. A. Melia, jr., as general sales manager of the Mutual Orange Distributors was confirmed by the board of directors at its meeting Dec. 15. Melia has been sales manager of the eastern division of M. O. D. for the past two years and succeeds Joseph Imhof, who resigned recently to enter the brokerage business in New York City. Imhof had been general sales manager for the past four years.

Additional experience was gained with other firms distributing fruits and vegetables in the New England states. His business career was interrupted for four years by service in the U. S. army air force.

JUST WAITING — Carol Jo Hine, 6, of Delton, Mich., whose heart has three instead of the normal four chambers, sits with her widowed mother, Mrs. Betty Hine, and waits for Jan. 19 when she is to undergo an operation in Boston that may save her life. A fund drive for the young sufferer has been started in Kalamazoo.

Metropolitan Water District Makes Final Payment on Parker Dam Plant

A check for $3,289,147.38 was on its way today to the United States treasury, marking the final payment by the Metropolitan water district for Parker dam and a portion of the power plant on the Colorado river.

This makes a total of $11,-668,000 which the Metropolitan water district has paid for the Parker dam projects, it was pointed out by A. W. Mellitzlay, district controller, who signed the big check. The "payment in full" was presented by Controller McKinlay to Wade H. Taylor, assistant director, region 3, of the U. S. bureau of reclamation.

Practically the entire cost of Parker dam has been paid for by the Metropolitan water district, although the federal government owns the dam, and controls its operation, it was pointed out by Chairman Joseph Jensen of the Metropolitan water district board.

"The construction of Parker dam made possible the production of hydroelectric energy, one half of which is retained by the federal government, while the Metropolitan water district was permitted to have the other half of the falling water rights, provided it paid one half of the power installation and production costs," Chairman Jensen explained.

"Here is another example of the way in which our people in Southern California pay in full for their water and power rights on the Colorado river," said Jensen. "The check in excess of $3,000,000 that has been handed to the federal government closed a payment transaction which might have been delayed for a number of years. We believe that the federal government in respect to a decided benefit through this prompt payment made by the Metropolitan water district," he continued.

"The district's Parker power will be used primarily on its 457-mile Colorado river aqueduct system that serves 47 Southern California cities. Surplus power over aqueduct pumping needs will be made available to the Los Angeles department of water and power, the Southern California Edison Co. and the California Electric Power Co., Jensen stated.

Parker dam forms Lake Havasu, the reservoir from which the Metropolitan aqueduct intake pumping plant lifts Colorado river water and starts it on its long journey to Southland cities.

"The Metropolitan water district aqueduct was built at a cost of approximately $260,000,000," said Chairman Jensen. "Construction of the aqueduct was financed by bonds, which are being paid for, with interest, by the cities of the Metropolitan water district.

"More than 6,000,000 persons now live within the Metropolitan water district boundaries and are dependent upon Colorado river water for future growth of the community," he said.

Going to be downtown shopping in the next few days? Why not drop in at the Air Defense Filter Center at 1012 North Main and see how civilians help prevent enemy bombers from attacking Southern California. Visitors welcome.

Chiropractors Form Statewide Pressure Group

Formation of a new organization, the United Chiropractors of California, to promote the best interests of the chiropractic profession throughout the state of California was announced yesterday after several meetings held in various sections of the state.

Alfred E. Grady of Los Angeles has been named managing director and treasurer, said the following constitute an advisory committee: Dr. Edgar R. Burkhart, D. C., Riverside; Dr. Carl J. Waelder, D. C., San Bernardino; Dr. Roseda C. Hallwell, D. C., Hermosa Beach; Dr. Una B. Carey, D. C., San Bernardino; Dr. Oren A. Range, D. C., Los Angeles, and Dr. Cynthia Chatfield, D. C., Hollywood.

County chairmen are being appointed in every county of the state, Mr. Grady said, and the organization will be directed by laymen who are specialists in public relations and legislative work.

"The purpose of the organization," Mr. Grady explained, "is to render an aggressive public relations service and also a legislative service to the profession throughout the state," and to sell the chiropractic profession to the general public, also to develop cooperation among the chiropractic practitioners.

Dr. Burkhart stated that "the opinion of the advisory committee represented those of 70 per cent of the entire profession."

State headquarters have been established, at room 207, Sherman building, 2221 So. Hoover st., Los Angeles 7, California.

Tug Manages to Move 'Yorkmar'

ABERDEEN, Wash., Dec. 17. (AP) A salvage tug pulled the freighter Yorkmar "a length of the ship" toward deep water today and hopes ran high for refloating it on the high tide at noon Thursday.

The 7200-ton ship has been held a captive of beach sands for nine days.

The coast guard reported the tug Salvage Chief from Portland succeeded in swinging the ship's stern on today's high tide and pulling it about 400 feet closer to the safety for which salvage observers once almost despaired.

As the hour of triumph in the fight against the sea and the sands seemed close, there was one new hazard to worry the salvage workers and owners. They feared the possibility of its "bedding down" at low tide across a sand ridge, which might cause enough stress to break the hull.

One major obstacle was cleared today when the Yorkmar was pulled through the reef that had built up on its seaward side by the pounding surf.

The captain and 37-man crew of the Calmar line ship have remained aboard while tryouts to enter Grays harbor on a trip from San Francisco.

The tug Sea Lion from San Francisco will be added to the salvage forces for tomorrow's try.

Special $225,000 School Approved

Construction of a $225,000 school for handicapped children, on the grounds of the Orange county hospital and farm, has been authorized by the county supervisors, who employed the firm of Faulkner and Wildman, Santa Ana architects, to prepare plans and specifications.

County Superintendent of Schools Linton Simmons recommended construction features from preliminary sketches presented to the supervisors Tuesday by the architects.

Plans include four buildings, to be erected along the Santa Ana river side of the hospital grounds. One would be for administration, another would combine an auditorium and cafeteria, the other two units would house 10 classrooms, and the shop and home economics departments.

All will be of one-story construction, and all equipped with ramps for the handicapped students.

American Farmers Produce Bumper Crops Despite Variety of Setbacks

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (AP) — American farmers produced a record volume of agricultural products this year despite handicaps of drought, delayed seasons and market lower farm prices.

Furthermore, most of the crops were of generally excellent quality.

This achievement, which had been forecast earlier, was reported in the agricultural department's final crop report of the year. It described the job done by farmers as "astonishing."

The production of crops—food, fiber, tobacco, etc.—was the second largest in history, being surpassed only in 1948. A record output of livestock and livestock products—meat animals, eggs, poultry, dairy products and wool—pushed overall farm production to a new high.

This was accomplished in the face of a severe drought that plagued most of the farming area at one time or another during the growing season, and despite the fact that farmers planted about 3 per cent less land than last year.

The harvest was a well rounded one attested by the fact that only two relatively minor crops — rice and oranges—set individually production records.

Other larger than average harvests included sugar beets, pears, cherries, lemons, cranberries and tree nuts.

The only crops for which low harvests were reported were rye, buckwheat, grain sorghums, dry peas, sweet potatoes and sugar cane syrup.

County Bar Association Requests Superior Court Enlargement in SA

Backing of the Orange county supervisors for recommendations by the county grand jury that two more departments be added to superior court and that salaries of the judges be increased from $14,500 to $16,750 a year was urged by a delegation from the Orange County Bar association Tuesday afternoon.

Attorneys Fred Forgy, Clarence Sprague, and O. A. Jacobs, Santa Ana, and Gordon X. Richmond of Orange, told the supervisors that superior court calendars are badly jammed, hearing of cases is being long delayed, and there is no hope of catching up unless two more departments of the court are added.

Orange county judges "work harder" than any other judges in the state, they declared, but even so, only jury trials are now being heard, and other lawsuits are being piled up in a hopeless mass, unable to get into court.

"This is not merely a matter of the convenience of the judges, or annoyance to attorneys," said Richmond. "It is a matter of justice to the litigants. It is not only demoralizing, it is devastating to his rights in many instances because long delay results in loss of witnesses and perhaps vital evidence, so that legal rights are denied."

Richmond pointed out that since he began his practice in Orange county 22 years ago, only one judge has been added to the court, despite the tremendous growth in population and number of cases, which have finally choked the courts.

The attorneys agreed that adding only one department would not solve the problem. They also told the supervisors, on behalf of the salary raise, that Orange county judges should be paid as well as the judges of other counties who do less work.

Stories Conflict In 'Fernstream' Investigation

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 17 (AP) —The master of the Norwegian motorship Fernstream, sunk in a San Francisco Bay collision a week ago, told a Coast Guard board of investigation today his ship was "dead in the water" at the time of the impact.

The testimony by Capt. Axel Kristensen was in conflict with that given a few moments previously by the chief officer of the freighter Hawaiian Rancher, which struck the Fernstream.

The Rancher's Anatole M. Gordienov said his ship also was either "dead in the water or practically going astern."

Cmdr. E. C. Hawley, chairman of the board, said, "That makes it very difficult. If one ship . . ." His voice trailed off.

The Hawaiian Rancher crunched through the hull of the Fernstream into her engine room. All eleven passengers and 42 crew members of the sunken Norwegian motorship were saved. A $6,000,000 ship and cargo went to a watery grave.

The 40-year-old Kristensen said the Fernstream, which had been making only three or four knots, was ordered stopped two to two and one half minutes before her lookout yelled, "Ship ahead, ship ahead."

Then, Kristensen said, the pilot gave a full astern signal.

When collision looked inevitable, Kristensen said, the pilot ordered full ahead but countermanded the order with another stop signal. Officers of the Matson Navigation Company's Hawaiian Rancher have agreed their ship had been fully stopped at the moment of impact.

Costa Mesans Tell Supers of Dump Objections

County Supervisor Heinz Kaiser of Costa Mesa was designated by the board of supervisors Tuesday to represent the county in matters relating to the controversial Newport Beach public dump proposal, commencing with a hearing Wednesday at 10 a.m. before a special meeting of the Newport Beach city council.

A Costa Mesa delegation, including Attorneys Selim Franklin, Donald Dungan and Fred Dudley, appeared before the supervisors Tuesday morning to outline their objections to the location of the proposed public dump, near 19th st. and Whittier ave. adjacent to the proposed 619-home subdivision of the Republic Construction Co.

Not only would the dump in that location interfere with rapid development of the community, including the Republic subdivision, but the burning of refuse would become a nuisance to the areas already built, they emphasized. They asked the supervisors to commit the county to study the future rubbish disposal problem of both Costa Mesa and Newport Beach, and name a committee to make recommendations to the county board.
