Death Toll in Army Globemaster Disaster Reaches 84

Survivors Tell Tale of Horror as Big Plane Crashed, Burst into Hot Flame

The official Air Force death toll raised to 84 late in the day when one of 32 men previously listed as a survivor succumbed to his injuries.

A number of the 31 still surviving are in critical condition. Many of them ran or were dragged from the wreckage which broke into a searing gasoline-fed fire as the plane crunched to the ground.

Some of the survivors left the scene of scattered bits of metal and mangled bodies in confusion and shock, leading to day-long difficulty in establishing the true crash toll. The number at one time had been given as 101 dead.

It was late evening before the toll was fixed at 83 and a short while later it rose to 84 with the death of the injured man.

The giant four-engine plane, big as a five-room house and able to carry 200 combat troops, roared off a Larson Air Force Base runway at 6:30 a.m. PST. It was snowing lightly, with visibility two miles.

"The plane shook a bit, righted itself, then went into a glide," said Airman 3rd Class Raymond K. Ferguson of Batesville, Ark., a survivor.

"I knew we were going to crash, so I huddled my head down and prayed."

Gasoline from broken wing tanks flared instantly, searing those trapped in wreckage. An hour after the plane smashed into a flat field just off the runway, there was left only strewn, smoldering wreckage and the broken belongings of scores of service men who had thought they would be home for Christmas.

The next worst plane crash in world aviation history killed 80 at Cardiff, Wales, in 1950.

Only a tragedy not only topped this toll but it capped a disastrous six weeks for military aviation in which 10 planes crashed or disappeared along the Pacific Rim from Korea to Montana.

Shocked Air Force officials in Washington dispatched the chief of flight safety research, Brig. Gen. Richard O'Keefe, to head an investigation.

Of the crew of 10, only one survived. He was M. Sgt. Wendell L. Burton of the 7th Troop Carrier Squadron. Officials said he would be questioned later. The Air Force said five of the survivors suffered only minor hurts, but they were not specified by name immediately.

The Globemaster, attached to the 62nd Troop Carrier Wing, scheduled the trip as a routine training flight that provided quick transportation home for men with Christmas furloughs.

There was excitement and gaiety as each squadron on the field was allotted proportionate space.

Capt. Richard Rager of Larson said most of the men aboard were from the South and East. He said the Globemaster was to fly first to Kelly Air Force Base at San Antonio, Tex., then to Stewart Air Base, Tennessee, at Greenville, S. C., then on to Florida. Most of the men at the Air Force said, were from the Larson base.

At the wreck scene there was confusion, terror—and heroism.

S. Sgt. Charles B. Welker of Clarksville, Tenn., a survivor, said, "We all tried to help the fellows inside."

Welker, seated near the tail of the $1,600,000 transport, said:

"The first I knew anything was wrong, the plane started waving up and then back down.

"Then it crashed.

"I passed out for a minute. Then I saw the fire. I was strapped in and I tried to get out.

"After I got out somebody yelled, let's get in there and get 'em out.'

"We started back in to get them. I was all scared up."

Ferguson said he was sitting near the parachute door.

"When I came to," he said, "my parachute was hanging up and Welker was all hung up too. I helped him and some others get out. Then we all tried to get back to the fellows inside."

The Globemaster was demolished and wreckage and bodies widely scattered. Flames charred many bodies beyond recognition.

Air Force men walked through the snow, carrying bodies to a truck. Rescue crews, who arrived too late to help, poked about in the snow and recovered an occasional broken Christmas package. Someone found two Bibles in the personal effects.

"They were a happy-go-lucky lot," said an officer. "Anxious to be on their way. When their names were called to get on the plane, all was confusion."

Some missed the plane, and the disaster.

Sgt. Bobby J. Wilbanks of West Monroe, La., was on the passenger list, but had to pass up the trip at the last minute.

"I kept hoping I'd be able to go," he said, "but couldn't get away from my work."

The Air Force, explaining the trip, said it was a training flight of which service men took advantage "to obtain rides to various points in the United States."

What caused the crash?

Soviets Cut Loose Heavy 'Hate-America' Campaign

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 20 (AP)—The Soviet bloc loosed a concentrated hate-America campaign tonight in the waning pre-holiday hours of the U. N. Assembly. The 60-nation Assembly slogged through a heavy schedule and planned an extraordinary session Sunday to wind up its business and adjourn until Feb. 24.

The drumfire of the Soviet propaganda campaign cut through almost every issue in the Assembly and extended into the Economic committee.

But the Soviet Bloc remained silent when the assembly voted 48-0, with two abstentions, an appeal to the Big Four to reach some agreement on an independence treaty for Austria. The Soviet Bloc refused to participate in the voting.

The Soviet propaganda drive opened in the Assembly, which voted to set up a 15-nation committee to study a definition of aggression and report back to the Assembly in 1954.

The U.S. abstained. The Soviet Block supported it. The U.S. has contended loopholes in a specific catalogue of aggression might protect the aggressor and punish the victim.

Russia's Andrei Gromyko rapped the American stand. He declared defining of aggression was an important step in maintaining peace and security. Quickly A. M. Baranovsky of the Soviet Ukraine echoed the anti-American blasts of his senior partner, charging that the U.S. was preparing for war and opposed a definition of aggression for that reason.

Dr. Gertruda Sekaninova of Czechoslovakia charged the U.S. and its "puppets in war alliances tried to prove a definition of aggression is possible."

"Those preparing a third world war fear a definition of aggression," she added.

Rose Tourney Coach To Leave Anaheim

Pacific Electric will operate extra motor coach service from Anaheim to the Tournament of Roses parade in Pasadena New Year's morning, Thursday, Jan. 1.

A coach will leave Anaheim PE Station at 6:03 a.m., arriving Pasadena at 8:02. A regularly scheduled coach at 6:41 a.m. will get patrons to Pasadena at 8:36 a.m.

The parade starts at 9:15 a.m.

Gen. Mark Clark Clamps Down on Red Rioting

TOKYO, Sunday, Dec. 21 (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark today said the United Nations Command "will not tolerate terrorism, rioting or mutiny inspired by fanatical Communist leaders" in Allied prisoner of war camps.

Clark said the command "will take adequate measures to prevent mass breakouts of those being interned."

The Army said the supreme Far East commander made the statement "in view of recently published newspaper accounts of statements attributed to the international committee of the Red Cross, Geneva, concerning the possible non-cooperation by the UNC of the provisions of the Geneva convention relative to the treatment of prisoners of war."

Clark also released the text of his letter June 12 to Dr. Otto Lehner, senior representative of the International committee of the Red Cross in reply to a specific complaint of mishandling of prisoners.

Clark said in his statement:

"The U.N. Command has respected, and will continue to respect, the principles of the Geneva convention relative to the treatment of prisoners of war. It has afforded, and will continue to afford, prisoners of war decent and humane treatment.

"At the same time, it will require that prisoners of war respect their obligations under the Geneva convention. It will not tolerate terrorism, rioting, or mutiny inspired by fanatical Communist leaders and it will take adequate measures to prevent mass breakouts of those being interned."

In his letter to Lehner, Clark answered Red Cross assertions that the U.N. Command had violated the Geneva convention by using force and withholding food and water from hospitalized prisoners at Camp No. 10 in Pusan, Korea.

Drenching Rains Give Anaheim .66 of an Inch

Rain storms which drenched Orange count Friday night, reaching cloudburst proportions at Huntington Beach, left .66 of an inch precipitation in Anaheim. The season total was brought to 5.95 inches, as compared to 3.37 inches for the same date last year.

Huntington Beach had 1.20 inches, high point of the valley rainfall. Modjeska canyon reported 1.30 inches, while Santiago Park (Saddleback) received only .54 of an inch.

Rainfall measurements at various points Saturday morning were:

	Storm	Season	Last Year
Anaheim	.66	5.95	3.37
Brea	.50	5.61	4.28
Buena Park	.50	4.93	2.94

Southland Gets Rain, Hail While San Francisco Basks under Sunny Skies

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20 (AP)—Northern California had a respite today from Friday's heavy rains, but the southern part of the state more than made up for it.

Sunny skies flooded the San FranciscoBay area and a hailstorm flooded the traditionally sunny clime of Los Angeles. In one part of the southern city, the hail was the heaviest the residents could remember in a decade.

Some streets in Downey and Vicinity were under many inches of water, basements were flooded, yards ground and two boats at Redondo Beach. A freak twister ripped off a roof and uprooted a tree in Panorama City near Los Angeles.

Dozens of cars were stalled by high water, and a 61-year-old Burbank motorist, William McGonigal, was nearly swept into a storm drain. He managed to cling to the curbing until rescued.

A new storm had appeared to be moving down from the Gulf of Alaska, but the weather bureau said a high pressure ridge building up over northern California would successfully block it off.

Yesterday's downpours brought 1.91 inches to San Fancisco, 1.52 to Red Bluff, and 1.25 was registered at the Sacramento airport.

The snow was getting in its licks in the mountains. Over six inches of snow fell on the High Sierra, with more expected from the new storm.

Motorists were warned by the California State Automobile association that chains were required on US 40 over Donner Summit, US 50 over Echo Summit to Nevada, and UP 99 to Oregon over the Siskiyous.

The national park service reported roads to the Wolverton and Badger pass ski regions were temporarily closed but work was progressing rapidly to clear them.

At Wolverton there is 47 to 52 inches of snow on the ground with an 18-inch fluffy surface. At Badger the report showed 50 inches of powdery surface with a total depth of 63 to 69 inches.

In the southern part of the state, the snow also was piling up. Six inches was reported at Palomar, with lesser amounts at Laguna and Cauyamaca.

We Look Up

At this time of year we once again BOW our heads in complete humility for the blessing of a man who lived for 33 years among us to give us the greatest blessing that we ever had . . . . that MAN was the SON OF GOD. Because of the inspiration HE gave us we LOOK UP and say THANK YOU.

LET'S DO IT EVERY DAY.

Ex-Sheriff's Officer Proves too Tough to Handle for Holdup Men

Stealing an automobile in Long Beach Friday night, attempting to hold-up a service station attendant at Capistrano Beach early Saturday morning, and then crashing their car against the wall of San Juan Capistrano Mission in flight from the robbery attempt, Elmer G. Graham, 21, Paramount, and Frank Diggs, 22, Long Beach, were captured a mile from the mission and are being held in jail at San Clemente.

They stole a car belonging to Early C. Hays of Long Beach at 11 p.m. Friday. At 4:30 a.m. Saturday they pulled into a Capistrano Beach service station, where they ordered the car serviced with gas and oil. When this was done, they refused to pay and ordered attendant Ben Broecker to "get out of the way." One of them drew a gun.

Broecker, who had been deputy sheriff and undersheriff of Alger county, Mich., for 16 years, didn't get out of the way.

"I'd met lots of tough customers with guns," he said later.

He took the gun away from the bandit, and both of them jumped into the car and fled, under a shower of bullets fired by Broecker from their own gun. Three bullets hit the car.

Fleeing north on Highway 101, the pair missed the S curve at the mission and wrecked their car against it's wall. They went on afoot another mile, trying to hitch a ride, but were picked up by Officer H. E. Allen of the California Highway Patrol, on the tip of a truck driver who had seen the two hitch hikers.

They were jailed at San Clemente, where they at first refused to give their names, but later answered questions.

Bey of Tunis Gives in to French

TUNIS, Tunisia, Dec. 20. (AP)—The Bey of Tunis capitulated today to pressure from Paris and finally rubber-stamped a couple of French reform decrees. These provide for election of village and town officials—jobs he has been filling by appointment as the nominal ruler.

The action by the 71-year-old Bey, Sidi Mohammed Al-Amin, appeared to have eased at least temporarily a tense situation between France and this north Africa protectorate, which wants more self-government.

Stalin Observes 73rd Birthday

By The Associated Press

Today is Joseph Stalin's 73rd birthday.

As the Soviet prime minister enters his 74th year, there are no reliable reports on his health, a closely guarded state secret. However, there is ground for speculation that he is ailing, greatly slowed down and less active in the government over which he has wielded dictatorial powers.

Less fuss has been made about the birthday this year than in any since the bang-up celebration when he reached 70 in 1949.

Last year, when he was 72, a few statues of him were unveiled here and there in satellite Communist countries, and in Hungary there was a report that the celebration of the day would replace that of Christmas.

This year east Germany is presenting its praises with the unveiling of a Berlin based television system. There will be speechmaking to Stalin in the dedicatory exercises. As yet, only the top Communist officials have receiving sets.

Siamese Twin Follows Brother Into Death

MEMPHIS, Dec. 20 (AP)—A wide-eyed, terrified Siamese twin, joined head-to-head with his dead brother, died here today before brain surgeons could try to save his life.

John Edward Flowers died in an operating room while a team of surgeons clustered around preparing for the enormously complex separation operation.

That was nine hours after his brain-to-brain twin, John L., died in a Greenwood, Miss., hospital this morning. Cause of death was unknown.

When John L. suddenly perished early today, Greenwood physicians knew only drastic surgery—similar to that undergone recently by Chicago's Brodie twins—could save John Edward.

The twins, one with eyes closed in death, the other crying lustily, were placed in the back seat of a highway patrol car. Two nurses accompanied them on the 145-mile race to Memphis.

It was the first time the Flowers twins had left the Greenwood-Le Flore hospital, where they were born to Maybelle Flowers by Caesarean operation, early last August.

Rodney Brodie Active, Talks; His Brother in Post-Operative Coma

CHICAGO, Dec. 20. (AP)—Rodney Dee Brodie, the Siamese twin the surgeons gave the best chance to survive, perked up considerably today, grabbed for a yellow rubber lamp and asked, "What is this?"

In an adjoining bed, his brother, Roger Lee, remained in the deep coma he has been in since the 15-months-old head - joined twins were separated in a 12-hour and 40 minute operation Wednesday.

"Roger certainly will be in the miracle class if he pulls through," a spokesman said.

A hospital bulletin tonight gave the most encouraging report on Rodney since the operation:

"Rodney—is responding well. There may be some definite indication tomorrow whether he can be taken off the critical list.

"Roger—still very precarious."

The spokesman said if it were not for the fact that a portion of Rodney's brain is exposed, he might be considered "making good progress."

"During the operation doctors found only a single brain drainage vein serving both twins. They gave it to Rodney because he was the stronger and deemed most likely to survive.

Doctors said the operation deprived portions of Roger's brain of an adequate vascular blood system—probably accounting for the long period of unconsciousness. The vital brain centers controlling heart beat and breathing still are functioning, however.

Although still on the critical list, Rodney was more alert today than at any time since the operation. He smiled more, talked a little, and played patty cake with his nurses.

Doctors said that although both have experienced "continuous complications" requiring special attention neither has had a critical turn since Roger developed breathing difficulties a few hours after the operation.

None Hurt in Tokyo Bay Crash

TOKYO, Sunday, Dec. 21. (AP)—An air force C-47 crashed into Tokyo bay near Haneda airport today.

The air force said four crewmen were picked up immediately, suffering only minor injuries.

The four were sole occupants.

The plane was coming in for a landing in heavy fog when it splashed in the bay 200 yards from the south end of the runway. Water there is only three or four feet deep.

A Japanese fishing boat picked up the crew.

AMALFI, Italy, Dec. 20. (AP)—A Small fireworks factory blew up here today, killing four workers and injuring two.

German Commies Sentence Seven For 'Spying'

BERLIN, Dec. 20 (AP)—Communist-controlled East Germany, where a widespread purge is under way, today sentenced seven Christian Democratic Party members to prison terms ranging from eight to 15 years on charges of spying for the West.

The Christian Democrats have been collaborating with the Communist-controlled government and have members in the East German cabinet.

The Communist charged the defendants worked inside their party against further codperation with the Socialist Unity Communist Party. The prosecution also claimed that the members of the alleged ring were employed by the West German republic.

Buena Park Pilot Unhurt in Two Flying Mishaps

FULLERTON, Calif., Dec. 20. (AP)—Two separate plane accidents today left Pilot James Montijo, 30, of Buena Park a bit jittery but uninjured.

The light plane he was flying over nearby Santa Ana lost a propeller tip and he made a forced landing at Cypress airport.

Later he took off from the local airport in another light aircraft. His engine iced up after he left the runway. He had to set the plane down in a celery patch, where it flipped over.

Montijo walked away without a scratch.

Phil McAtee, goaltender for the Buffalo Bisons in the American Hockey League, served with the 4th Armored Division of the Canadian Army as a captain. He was wounded in action.

Ike to Present State of Union, Inaugural Talks

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower will meet Monday with four key officials of the new administration and representatives of an organization created to alert America to the threat of Communism.

Eisenhower headquarters today announced plans for the conference as aides reported that the general has started drafting two major messages which will set forth in general outline his domestic and foreign programs.

The first is the speech the president-elect will make inauguration day, Jan. 20.

The other is the state of the union message he will give to congress shortly after he takes office. He probably will go before the lawmakers to deliver that message personally.

The inauguration speech is likely to deal mainly with Eisenhower's general philosophy of government and the major objectives of the first Republican administration in 20 years. The message to congress will contain his legislative program.

On Monday Eisenhower will lunch at his Commodore hotel headquarters with members of "The Committee on the Present Danger," headed by Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard university.

Sitting in with Eisenhower and Conant will be John Foster Dulles, secretary of state-designate; Herbert Brownell, who will be attorney general; Harold E. Stassen, director of the Mutual Security agency in the new administration, and Roger M. Kyes, General Motors executive, whose selection as deputy secretary of defense was announced yesterday. He will represent Charles E. Wilson, the secretary of defense-designate, at the session.

Ammo Rationing Impedes Allies' Battle Progress

TOKYO, Sunday, Dec. 21 (AP)—Rationing of artillery ammunition in Korea—believed to be one of President-elect Eisenhower's prime concerns—adversely affected the bloody battle for the Kumhwa ridges in October.

It resulted in the Communists outshooting the Allies by 21-1 on some days with devastating consequences.

U.S. front line officers said in November that the hold-down order, in effect for several days, was one "of the few real boners" of the Allied command during the Kumhwa action—particularly in the South Korean infantry's losing fight for Triangle Hill.

Maj. Gen. William O. Reeder, an Army logistics expert, said in Washington Friday that Eisenhower obviously meant ammunition when he mentioned "certain problems of supply" that need correcting in Korea.

But he added that, although there still is rationing of ammunition in Korea, the problem was not entirely one of supply. The Army doesn't have enough shells to satisfy organizational commanders "who shoot off everything they have in hand," he said.

Some South Korean commanders were reported as being unrealistic and uneconomical in shooting up available ammunition. American advisers with those units have been critical of that practice.

How Do I Know that God Cares?

By FARNK E. BUTTERWORTH
Pastor, White Temple Methodist Church

Do you ever wonler if God really cares a fig what happens to you and your loved ones? When illness and misfortune and tragedy come cascading upon us, it is easy to doubt that the Creator has time to bother with tiny mites like us.

But wait a minute! Look at that cut on your finger. It's gradually healing over, isn't it? Cell-division is taking place, and scar tissue is building a new roof over the gash. Those whiskers you shaved off yesterdty are reappearing. Your nails continue to grow, and haircuts become periodically necessary. Even that virus infection that laid you low seems to have been overcome by the antibodies developed within your bloodstream. Maybe the will of God is "life and l'e more abundant" after all.

Now look at the earth. Has the Creator forgotten that apricots tree in the back yard that has lost all its leaves? Or is its winter slumber preparing it for a more fruitful spring? Did God ever forget to awaken the earth to a new life each morning, and each spring? Neither will He forget you.

The universe testifies to life, not death; to care, not carelessness.

Ann Brunskill Winner of Good Citizenship Award

Winner of the good citizenship award among senior girls at Fullerton union high school this year was announced yesterday as Ann Brunskill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don W. Brunskill of 175 Hillcrest lane. The award is given annually under sponsorship of Daughters of the American Revolution, it was explained.

Senior girls at the high school selected those girls from their number recently who qualified as outstanding American citizens in attitude, ability and activity. The three chosen were Mary Ann Bafiginis, Patti Quist, and Ann Brunskill.

Faculty members then cast their votes for the outstanding girl of the three student choices, who was Miss Brunskill.

Active on campus in girls' athletics, including swimming and tennis is also editor of the school newspaper, the Weekly Tornades, and a member of the student governing body, the executive board. She has made an enviable record in literary activities during her high school career, having had several poems and essays recognized as outstanding achievements.

During her freshman year she was Y-Teen president, a member of the Y-Teen Interclub council, and a member of the honor society and Girls' Athletic association. In athletics she participated in hockey, tennis, swimming, and the water show.

As a sophomore she was again an honor society student, member of the GAA and Y-Teens, junior class sweater committee, chairman, and member of the class booth committee. She participated in tennis and hockey.

In her junior year she was back page editor of the Pleiades and later business manager, a member of the campus dress board, junior class treasurer, and member of the Spanish club, Y-Teens, honor society and GAA. She served also on the junior class float committee and junior - senior prom committee.

This year's activities include co-chairmanship of clean campus committee, Pow Wow committee membership, Big F (athletic club) as well as basketball, tennis and water show.

As winner of the DAR citizenship award at FUHS, she will compete with winners of other high schools throughout the state through tests on government and history.

Grades on the tests will count 60 per cent and extra curricular activities as 40 per cent of a total score of achievement, recently sent by Mrs. Dorothea Spears, dean of girls, to the DAR commitie chairman, Mrs. C. S. Orton, 525 South Highland, as basis for competition with other California girls.

THE CHRISTMAS STORY

Tell or read the beautiful story of the first Christmas to your children. Do it often in this short time between now and Christmas, make it a tradition to be observed every year throughout the "growing up" years, and the dividends will be most awarding.

Fullerton Notes

Grace parlor 242, Native Daughters of the Golden West, held their annual family Christmas party Thursday evening at 6:30 in the IOOF hall. A gay holiday theme was carried out for the decorations under the leadership of Madalaine Hallman. Approximately 100 enjoyed the planned potluck ham dinner. Rene Johnson and May Lemke were chairmen of the dinner committee.

After a bountiful meal members and their families retired to the lodge hall where a large lighted tree greeted them. Through the chimney of the fireplace which had been erected at the end of the hall, Santa Claus (R. Barbara) appeared to delight the children. He distributed the exchange gifts from under the tree. During the visit of Saint Nick, Betty Mittman, daughter of Dorothy Mittman, played appropriate selections on the accordion.

Notable guests were Irene Wilson, supervising district deputy grand president of Santa Ana parlor, 235, and Ethelwyn Fraser, past supervising district deputy grand president. A small group from the San Fernando Mission parlor were also present.

Announcement has been received from Valley Forge, Penn., of the appointment of Winifred Benson, Grace parlor 24, as district chairman of the home safety committee. This automatically makes Mrs. Benson a member of the NDGW state committee on home safety. Elemaire Dykes, grand president of the Native Daughters sent the announcement from Valley Forge where she is a delegate to the Freedom's Foundation.

Many star-studded candles lit ceremonies at the Presbyterian manse of Edward Cadigan for the candlelight tea on Friday afternoon from three to five. Sponsored by the women's wedding committee to raise money for the organ fund, this event was attended by more than one hundred guests.

Two open stairways were decorated with banks of green ferns, red and silver balls. The other rooms carried out the color scheme with the addition of star-studded white candles in many beautiful candelabrums.

Harriet Wood, of Long Beach, played selections on the harp through the afternoon. Mrs. Wood also gave renditions on the harp with organ accompaniment. She does this by the addition of a special accessory.

Sandwiches, petits fours, nuts, tea and coffee were served from a table decorated with white chrysanthemums and red roses. Pouring were Mrs. LeRoy Lyons, Sr., Chester Adams, Merle Gregory, Nell Prestel, William Geer, Frances Stanley, and Barbara Wilson. One of the silver services used was an heirloom lent for the occasion by Mrs. Max Feighner, daughter of Dr. Graham Hunter, former pastor of the church. It had been presented to his father by his congregation. Members of the wedding committee made all refreshments with Mrs. Ruth Chapman providing the many lovely petits fours.

Leftover pork is sweet meat when combined in its own gravy with the full bodied flavor of cornmeal. And there is an easy way to do it so that cornbread, meat and gravy can be served together as the main dish of a tasty meal.

The framework of this nourishing dinner is the cornbread, baked in a ring mold. While the bread is baking, heat the meat in its gravy, and you have a quick meal for a washday Monday or any other paticular busy day of the week.

ISABEL MARIE PESTERFIELD

Betrothal of Miss Pesterfield Is Announced

The engagement of their daughter, Isabel Marie, to William R. Messecar, is being announced by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Pesterfield, 7931 Second St., Stanton. The bridegroom-elect is the son of W. J. Messecar of 446 S. Poplar, Brea.

Miss Pesterfield is a graduate of Magnolia and Marywood schools, and Messecar is an AUHS graduate. While attending Fullerton Junior college, he entered the Navy, where, in fifteen months service he served as tail gunner in Korea. He expects to return to Korea in April as mechanic on jet motors.

A January wedding in the Buena Park St. Pius church is being planned.

Mary Whitney Pledge of Kappa Delta Pi

Mary Whitney, daughter of Mrs. Alma Hudson, a resident of Anaheim, and a junior at Santa Barbara College of the University of California, was initiated into the Santa Barbara College chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary organization in education.

Dr. John R. Wilson, associate professor of education, was the main speaker at the initiation ceremonies. This organization is one of the many honorary organizations with active chapters on the Santa Barbara College campus of the University.

Lincoln P-TA Gives Delightful Christmas Party

Enthusiastic parents and friends who attended Lincoln P-TA's Christmas program Thursday, are petitioning that next year's Christmas program be presented twice, once in the afternoon and once in the evening, so that all parents, particularly the fathers, may have an opportunity to see this beautiful presentation.

Principal P. S. Doane opened the meeting, welcoming the parents and expressing thanks for the large Christmas tree donated by the YMCA. This tree will be decorated by Lincoln School and presented to the children's ward at the County hospital. Mr. Doane also thanked the Lincoln P-TA for the new string of electric lights for the tree.

Brownie Scout Troop No. 46 posted the colors and led the salute to the flag. Mrs. Raymond Ringwald was the accompanist as the audience sang America. A. E. Bourne conducted the Lincoln orchestra in a series of Holiday selections.

The combined first grades of Miss Curl and Mrs. Franklin gave an animated story of Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer. Miss Strain's kindergarten class entertained with a rhythm band. A voice choir and young performers from Mrs. Beazley's, Mrs. Jolly's, and Mrs. Todd's classes gave the story of The Magi.

"I didn't want mittens" and Christmas in Foreign Lands was given by Miss Howard's fourth graders. The fifth grade classes of Miss Grosbeck and James Hull presented the Story of Christmas.

An impressive two-act play "The Nativity" was the final offering of the program, presented by Mrs. Barnes' and Barton Beach's sixth graders.

Chief James Wilson, coordinator of the junior fire prevention group, explained further to parents the need for cooperation with the children in their search for possible fire hazards. He pointed out that it was to the individual's own benefit to profit by the suggestions of these civic-minded youngsters.

The tea-table, beautifully decorated by the hospitality chairmen, Mrs. Clyde Howell and Mrs. Harry Basse, was presided over by Mrs. Grosbeck, Mrs. Jolly and Mrs. Todd.

More than a thousand different welding operations are required in the manufacture of a single motor car.

Two thirds of the United States cranberry crop comes from the Cape Cod district.

Olive Notes

The Get Together club of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Olive, held their annual Christmas party with gift exchange on Wednesday evening. Vicar H. W. Bruss delivered the Christmas message after the members had sung "Savior of the Nations, Come."

The president, Mrs. Georgia Cudworth asked all who wished to contribute canned fruit for the Anaheim Home for the Aged to bring it to the parish hall this week and also stated that cookies which will be taken to the Orange County hospital must be brought by Sunday.

Refreshments of stuffed rolls, relishes, coffee and Christmas candy were served by Mesdames Henry Lemke, Robert Lemke, Harold Paulus and Artheur Paschall.

Cub Scout Pack 53 sponsored by the Orange Elks Club met in the Elks dining room this week for an old fashioned Christmas party and pack meeting. Carl S. Kenney, cubmaster was in charge and extended greetings to all parents, grandparents and visitors, including Bob Buckheim, Exalted Ruler, and Orley O. Wright, Leading Knight of the Lodge; John J. Hoddess, Scoutmaster of Troop 51 and Clifford Kasad, Scoutmaster of Troop 55; Committeeman Harry Trapp, William Wallevand and Gerald Buzick; Stanley Trevethan, Institutional Representative.

Two boys, Douglas Trapp and Thomas Leichtfuss received the Webelos rank, highest award in cubbing, and their graduation certificates and are now eligible for Boy Scouts.

Skits followed the awards. Den III portrayed Rudolph the Red-Nosed reindeer and his playmates. Dens I and II presented a Merry Christmas portrayal, giving meaning of each letter of the two words.

As Christmas carols were sung, Santa Claus made his appearance and talked to all the boys and girls. Each youngster provided a gift of returned goods to be distributed next Monday evening.

Refreshments of cake decorated with holly and fruit punch were served by the committee, Den Mothers Mesdames Lawrence Fickle, Hugo Kinser, Kenneth Taber and Fred Shaw, assisted by Mesdames Walter Herckt, Jerome Bowen, Bruce Hartwell, William Wedward, Donald Bain and John Tidgewell, Jr.

A Christmas party was held in the Lutheran parish hall, Olive, Thursday evening at the meeting of the Ladies aid of St. Paul's Lutheran church. Gifts which were exchanged were placed under a beautifully decorated Christmas tree on the stage. Christmas carols were sung after which Vicar H. W. Bruss gave a sermonette on the meaning of Christmas.

Contributions were made to the Lutheran welfare board and lunch on plates were purchased by the group.

Refreshments of Christmas candy, cookies and coffee were served by Mesdames Herman Lemke, Robert Paulus and O. U. Heim.

Mrs. Josephine Schenkelberger of Marengo, Iowa, who is spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Fred Heitshusen, was a guest of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Kamrath and Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Kamrath and daughter, Corinne motored to Manhattan Beach Tuesday where they spent the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Kamraths and son, David.

Christmas Belongs To Children; Let Them Aid In Preparations

By JOAN S. WHITE

Kiddie Treat

Christmas is for children and for them, the anticipation is almost as much fun as actually finding the gifts on Christmas morning. Since Anaheim schools have closed for the vacation period, little brother and sister are itching to get into the swing of things. It is to be hoped that mother is not so worn out with last minute shopping and kitchen preparations that she cannot spare time out to help the kiddies savor the expectations to the fullest.

Children love to help with anything as connected with Christmas. Putting up the tree has become a family ritual in homes throughout the city. We put our trees up earlier here than the folks back east. Perhaps, removed from the snow, we need the tree to help us realize that Christmas is close indeed.

While tree trimming is a family affair, do not loose sight of the safety hint of the week—"keep baby away from the Christmas tree."

Amateur Cooks

You may think it will slow you down to have little cooks in the kitchen, but they may be more help than you imagined—and busy hands are out of mischief. Even the smallest child delights in stringing popcorn and makes gay tree ornamentation by alternating pop corn with cranberries with needle and thread.

If the weather is not going to be nice, you will be happy that the youngsters keep interested for hours in shaping cookie dough into fancy cut out cookies.

Need dates pitted or fruit chopped? Little hands will be eager to help when the kitchen is rich ith the aroma of sugar and spice which promises delicious tastes now and then. Daughter will be delighted to whip up a batch of fudge using the packaged fudge mix. Brother gets into the act by making favors for the table from shined red apples. Marshmallows, fluffy cotton and glue is all he needs to make them into jolly fat Santas.

Christmas Party

Whether it is a Christmas party or a family gathering, children will be on hand to be entertained. Here are several games to have ready when interest wanes in the Christmas toys.

The first is a blind-fold game that is a take-off on pin the tail on the donkey. Toward a real or improvised mantel from which a cloth has been hung, send the child with a pin stuck in a small stocking. He pins the stocking to the cloth. The one hanging it in the best position wins the game.

Wreath Game

For this, a large wreath is needed. the tallest boy or girl holds the wreath over the children as they pass under it to the tune of appropriate Christmas music on a phonograph. When the music stops, the wreath is dropped over the head of the child under it. This child is eliminated. And so the game goes until one winner remains.

Drop the Popcorn

Place a quart milk bottle in the middle of the floor and give each child 10 kernals of pop corn. Each player tries to drop them into the bottle while standing erect. One with the most kernels in the bottle wins.

Surprise Present

Place an inexpensive gift in a small box. Wrap it well again and again until there are 10 or more separate layers. Have the players sit in a circle and pass the present around as the music plays. When the music stops, the first wrapping is removed. This continues until the package is unwrapped. The winner is the one that finally unwraps the present.

Last Minute Fruit Cake

So you didn't get your fruit cake made as you thought you were surely going to. No matter. There is a fruit cake that can be put together at the last minute and needs no baking. We give you the recipe here in time for Christmas refreshments.

Take ½ cup butter or maragine, ½ cup honey, ½ teaspoon cinnamon and ½ teaspoon nutmeg and ¾ teaspoon of salt and mix together in a large bowl.

In order, mix in the following ingredients: 1 cup raisins, ¾ cup each of broken walnut meats, finely chopped dried apricots, figs, dates. Next add ½ cup each (about 3 oz.) of candied orange peel, lemon peel, citron, pineapple and candied cherries all cut fine. For flavoring mix in 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, four tablespoons orange juice or cherry.

When well blended, add 2 cups graham cracker crumbs or crisp rice cereal, and mix thoroughly.

Line a bread tin or other loaf pan with waxed paper or aluminum foil and pack the fruitcake mixture firmly into it. Cover with foil or paper and ripen in the refrigerator. This makes a three pound cake that will keep for several weeks.

MRS. GERALD LEE JOHANSEN, the former Nancy Carol Roberts, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Roberts of this city, was married Thursday in double ring rites officiated by the Rev. W. McKinley Walker. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Johansen of Chapin, Iowa.

Miss Roberts Wed in Charming Home Ceremony

One of the loveliest weddings of the holiday season was that of Nancy Carol Roberts, daughter of the Harry W. Roberts, 618 No. Lemon, and Gerald Lee Johansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Johansen of Chapin, Iowa, who were married in the home of the bride's parents Thursday.

The Rev. W. McKinley Walker officiated in the double ring rites before an improvised altar, beautifully arranged with huge white chrysanthemums and wedding bells. Tall candles, tied with white satin bows, centered with a pink rose bud, stood at either side.

The bride was dressed in powder blue and wore a corsage of yellow rose buds. Maid of honor, Patty Cleveland, wearing navy blue with a pink rose bud corsage, was the bride's only attendant, and John Burrows served as best man.

Assisting with the reception which followed the ceremony, were Mrs. Anna Sherman and Mr. and Mrs. William Bradford. Mrs. Sherman served the wedding cake after the bridal couple, in traditional fashion, cut the first slice.

Magnolia Study Club Meets with Mrs. S. M. Benson

Mrs. Samuel M. Benson, assisted by the Mmes. Joseph Stirton and Lyman Booth was hostess to the Magnolia Study club at her home, 7222 Orange Ave., when she entertained 24 members this week.

"Pets Keep Christmas," an original story by Mrs. Peter Marshall, compiled from mementos after the death of her husband, was narrated. Cathy and Lisa Benson of S. Stanton Ave., grand-daughters of the hostess, played Santa Claus in the exchange of gifts which followed the program. Names of two prospective members were presented and will be voted on at a later meeting.

Exquisite little china bells placed on the individual dessert trays, were given as favors.

Miss Williams To be Wed In January

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams, 10632 So. Flower St., Stanton, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Vida Mae, to Donald M. Lowney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Christianson of Sacramento.

Miss Williams is a junior at AUHS, and the bridegroom-elect is machinist's mate 1c stationed aboard the Juneau which is now docked at Terminal Island. His four year enlistment will be completed in April, 1954.

The Rev. Charles A. White will officiate at the wedding to be solemnized in the Stanton Community church on Saturday, Jan. 3, at 7:30 p. m.

Tri-Hi-Y Groups Have Yuel Parties And Make Plans

The Christmas spirit prevailed in the Tri-Hi-Y meetings this week. The freshman Esq-Yers, led by Carol Davenport and Mary Jean Starr, enjoyed a party and gift exchange at the YMCA building.

A film strip, Christmas Around the World," was shown and the girls sang Christmas carols. Gretchen Glover, a former leader, was a special guest. The freshman Bar-Yettes also enjoyed Christmas music and films in the Christian Church. Each girl brought her favorite records to play. The Connie-Yettes made Christmas wreaths to fill orders they had taken this past week. They are selling mistletoe Thursday and Friday at school and a roller skating party is planned for December 29th.

The freshmen Y-Ysers enjoyed a Christmas party and gift exchange in the home of Rosemary Loffhiggin. They also planned a Christmas dance next Tuesday to be held jointly with the Esq-Yers Club.

The Sophomore Electric Y-ers met and planned a Christmas party for Friday evening after the high school program. It will be held in the YMCA with boy friends invited. The sophomore BeY's are having a slumber party Saturday evening after a roller skating party. The girls drew names for a gift exchange and are making Christmas corsages to sell early next week.

The senior Tri-U club, led by Mrs. Orlo Fast, planned a roller skating and slumber party for Monday evening. Girls were appointed to assist the Y's Men's Club in selling trees on the lot. Ice cream and cookies were served after the meeting.

Stanton Red Cross Canteen Visits Veterans Hospital

The Stanton Red Cross Canteen sponsored by the Savanna Civil Defense were represented at the Long Beach Veterans Hospital Friday by Mrs. Marjorie McBratney, canteen chairman; Mrs. Florence P. Black, Savanna personnel officer; Max Moolick, block warden; Mrs. Florence Muraoka, canteen worker, and Mrs. Ray Van Tine, publicity head of Savanna PTA.

The group trimmed three large Christmas trees for the doctors and nurses dining room and the dining hall of the patients.

Club Holds Annual Christmas Party

The Sunshine and Shower club was visited by Santa Thursday afternoon when the founder and president, Mrs. Ruth Bennett, conducted the gift exchange at the Stanton Lions Community clubhouse after a grand march around the Christmas tree.

Mrs. Pearl Rube and Marjorie McBratney were luncheon hostesses serving creamed chicken in patty shells, salads and a beautiful cherry Christmas cake. The table was set in white with white tapers and holly, berries and white chrysanthemums in the clubroom.

Bonnie Sherwood and James Clampitt Wed in Impressive Church Rites

Bonnie Sherwood became the bride of James Clampitt in a solemn candlelight ceremony in the Placentia Calvary Church last evening, Dr. Chester Padgett officiating.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, Lyman Daniels Sherwood, the radiantly beautiful bride wore a gown fashioned of Chantilly lace and white nylon tulle. A finger-tip veil of lace fell from a simple headdress; the tight fitting bodice and long sleeves were also of lace. The bouffant skirt of tulle was held out by crinoline underskirts. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, stephanotis centered with a large white orchid.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Lucille Sherwood, sister-in-law of the bride, wore a gown of pale pink taffeta and net. Sally, Harriet and Carol Sherwood, all sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore identical dresses of pale pink taffeta and net, and carried nosegays of baby pink roses. Each wore a headpiece of baby pink roses.

Mrs. Tom Terry played the traditional wedding march and a prelude of sacred music. "Because" and "I Love You Truly" were sung by soloist Mrs. Bob Dyer.

One hundred seventy-five guests greeted the couple at the reception at the Placentia Roundtable Club House. Mrs. Ann Clampitt, mother of the groom, joined with the young couple in the receiving line wearing a formal of pale blue fallee. She had flown from Kansas City, Missouri to attend her son's wedding.

Both the church and club house were decorated in the holiday theme. The church had small snow-covered trees with deep red poinsettas on the altar. The clubhouse was decorated with greenery and had yule logs burning in the fireplace.

Pouring at the reception were Evelyn Miller, Dorothy Grier, Irene Taverner and Wanda Martin. In charge of the guest book was Betty Straw.

When the new Mrs. James Clampitt left for a Northern California honeymoon, she was wearing a navy blue knit suit with white accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. She is a teacher of the fourth grade at Ford Elementary School, Fullerton. Her husband intends to further his training in business administration in the near future.

Fremont School Presents Yule Musical Program

A capacity audience enjoyed the John C. Fremont school program at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 18 as a prelude to the Christmas holidays.

Carols on the organ preceded a Christmas medley played by the school orchestra, under the baton or A. E. Bourne interspersed with appropriate Biblical selections read by Keith Hysom and Tommy Pratt. a varied program of spirituals, hymns and carols were sung by a mixed chorus, directed by Miss Harriet Schadewald.

Inspired by the fine performance of the pupils, the audience joined in community singing of several seasonal numbers, led by M. A Gauer, business manager, Anaheim city schools, accompanied by Judy Lemcke.

East-West Charity Game Players Take First Workouts at Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20 (AP)—Football stars who will clash in the famed East-West charity game here Dec. 27, went through first workouts today. Onlookers were impressed by the speed and potential power of both squads.

The Eastern team reported 35 strong to coaches Clarence "Biggie" Munn of Michigan State, Ray Eliot of Illinois and Dr. Eddie Anderson of Holy Cross. Duffy Daugherty, as assistant to Munn at Michigan State, also was on hand to help although not officially listed on the East staff.

Three Western players had not yet checked in but 22 others went through their paces under the guidance of coaches Howie Odell of Washington, Jules Sikes of Kansas and Chuck Taylor of Stanford.

Munn, whose Michigan State team topped the Associated Press national poll this season, heads the East staff. He and Eliot assumed charge of the backfield coaching. Dr. Anderson and Daugherty worked with the linemen.

Three different backfield units ran through plays in the East's late afternoon practice. They lined up in "T" formation with an unbalanced line, a setup from which a switch into the single wing system employed by Coach Munn is optional.

All of the backfield lineups were of tentative nature.

Odell and Sikes handled the West's backfield men and ends, with Taylor in charge of the other linemen.

The West will use Odell's type of "T" formation attack, not quite as compact as the standard version.

Ed Crowder of Oklahoma, led another unit embracing All-America Billy Vessels, Oklahoma, at left half; Val Joe Walker, Southern Methodist, at right half and Sam Baker, Oregon State, at fullback.

After a visit tomorrow to the Shriners hospital here for crippled children, the squads will resume practice at their regular camps, the East at Santa Clara and the West at Stanford University.

Wayne U. Pits Record Against St. Mary's Gaels

DETROIT, Dec. 20. (AP)—Wayne university's undefeated basketball team will make a bid for national recognition in the Motor City classic next week.

Wayne, winner of five straight against teams unknown nationally, is favored to defeat St. Mary's on Monday night. In the other Monday game Duquesne, one of the nation's best last year, is favored to defeat the University of Detroit.

Californians Get a Look as Badgers Come to Town

BADGERS WELCOMED TO PASADENA —The Wisconsin Badgers seem pleased with the reception given them by these majorettes as the Rose Bowl-bound team arrived at their Pasadena headquarters. The team arrived an hour before at nearby Burbank. The Big Ten team will meet Southern California on New Year's Day.

'Babe' Martin Assigned to Browns' Camp

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 20. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns today decided to give coacher Boris Babe Martin another crack at major league baseball.

Club owner Bill Veeck said while the Browns had not purchased Martin's contract he would accompany the club to its San Bernardino, Calif., training camp next spring.

The 32-year-old Martin, who was a Brownie in 1944-46 and later played for the Boston Red Sox, was the second best hitter in the class A Texas league last season. He batted .329 as a regular for San Antonio, a Brownie farm.

Doctored Giardello-Graham Decision Puts Fight Commissioner on Spot

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP)—Middleweight Joe Giardello of Philadelphia and his managers cooled off today in their demands for a legal test of the right of the New York State Athletic commission to reverse a decision of its own officials.

But the heat still was on Robert K. Christenberry, the New York hotelman who was appointed commission chairman a little over a year ago.

Christenberry was faced by at least one sports writer's demand that he resign, considerable sharp criticism from New York sports writers and the wrath of bettors and those who accepted bets and were threatened with having to pay off both ways.

It all stemmed from the commission's unprecedented action Friday night in changing the card of Judge Angello in the televised 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

It was first announced that Giardello was the winner. That brought a storm of protest from the small crowd of 1228 in the Garden. Then after a brief huddle, ring announcer Johnny Addie was told to tell the crowd the result was "unofficial, subject to a review."

The review, which took place in a dressing room with Christenberry, Commissioner C. B. Powell and Commission Secretary Dan Dowd sitting in, produced an "official" decision a half hour later naming Graham the winner. This result was reached by changing Agnello's card to give Graham two points instead of one in the fourth round and to give Graham the 10th round by two points, where Agnello had scored it for Giardello by one point.

That made the rounds even and gave Graham a 7-6 edge on points. The other two officials were divided.

Under the New York scoring system, the number of rounds won is the principal basis for scoring. Points also are awarded for each round, to count only if the rounds are even.

Immediately after the bout, Anthony Ferrante, one of Giardello's co-managers, angrily said he would institute court proceedings to test the commission's right to reverse a decision. Today, after the boxer had told them he'd rather fight Graham again than in the courts, managers Ferrante and Carmine Graziano agreed they would "fight it to the hilt for the good of boxing," but the "fight" would consist only of asking the commission for a hearing.

Cage Briefs

SEATTLE, Dec. 20. (AP)—Deadlocked at 81-81 at the close of the scheduled playing time, Washington's Huskies ran a scoring fever in the overtime period tonight and squelched a sharpshooting California basketball quintet, 99-88.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20. (AP)—La Salle of Philadelphia, the nation's No. 1 ranking cage power, turned on the steam late in the game tonight to down Stanford 95-89 at the Cow palace.

The point total broke the pavilion record for a single game, and La Salle's total also was a new high for a single team.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20. (AP)—The undefeated USC Trojans came from behind tonight to run their string to five straight to win their string to five straight with a 72-61 victory over Santa Clara before 4500 fans at the Cow palace.

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 20. (AP)—Unbeaten Tulsa topped San Francisco 69-62, in the nightcap of a basketball doubleheader tonight after Colorado upset Oklahoma A&M, the nation's fifth-ranked team, 56-55, in the opener.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20. (AP)—Pepperdine college's swift Waves made it two in a row over Whitworth college tonight, outscorit the Pacific northwest basketba team, 83-72

UW Prexy Backs Cassill Against Howie Odell

SEATTLE, Dec. 20 (AP)—President Henry Schmitz of the University of Washington backed Athletic Director Harvey Cassill completely today in the controversy that points to the dismissal of Howie Odell as head football coach.

Odell said Tuesday Cassill had told him he would not be retained. The coach's three-year contract at a reported $15,000 annually has one year to run.

Schmitz' statement was the first formal word that Cassill had recommended the discharge of the coach who tutored two All-Americans, Don Heinrich and Hugh McElhenny, during his five years at Washington.

Odell's record this year was seven victories and three defeats and his team finished third in the Pacific Coast Conference race. He now is in San Francisco as head coach of the West team which will play in the annual Shrine game Dec. 27.

The president said it was "regrettable that the public discussion of this situation has centered around so-called personal differences between Coach Odell and the director of athletics when in fact the roots of the issue go far deeper."

The issue will be decided by the university's Board of Regents.

Southern Cal Still One Touchdown Favorite; Rain Interrupts Practice

PASADENA, Dec. 20 (AP)—The judges have taken a personal peek at the two Rose Bowl teams, Wisconsin and Southern California, but most of them are withholding their pre-game picks for a few days to give further study to the problem.

Southern California, winner of nine straight games before bowing to Notre Dame in the season's finale, and the champion of the Pacific Coast Conference, remains a one touchdown favorite.

The Badger contingent got into California from Madison three days ago and most of the Western critices were impressed with the Big Ten co-champions, even in their street clothes.

Their supporters, who came along promptly, suggested that no one out here should take Wisconsin lightly. This was in the form of needless advice. Few had such a thought, despite the fact that the Coast's UCLA Bruins took the Badgers by a 20-7 count, Ohio State defeated them, 23-14, and Minnesota tied them, 21-21.

Six straight victories by the Big Ten teams in the Rose Bowl have made the folks out here ultra cautious and hardly over confident.

As this is written, both teams are in good physical condition. Wisconsin's No. 2 left halfback in their T-style of attack, Bill Hutchinson, has a badly bruised leg. He is expected to round into shape by next week, however.

Wisconsin's No. 1 backs, Jim Haluska, left half Harland Carl, right half Jerry Witt and fullback Alan Ameche, thus far are enjoying good health. The same is true for USC, notably halfbacks Jim Sears, Al Carmichael, Leon Sellers and blocking back George Bozanic.

Coach Jess Hill is conditioning the Trojans on their home field on the school campus and the players are lodged in the exclusive Town House in Los Angeles.

Wisconsin's squad is quartered at the Huntington hotel here, and workouts are at Brookside Park.

The experts, after comparing impressions, wind up just about where they start. The consensus: Wisconsin has the better offense, USC the defense.

Rain threw both squads for a loss today. The Trojans called off practice entirely while the Badgers held a no-contact drill.

Dog Tries Channel Swim, Doesn't do It

CALAIS, France, Dec. 20. (AP)—A dog tried to swim the English channel today but had to give up.

It followed its master aboard the Dover bound Mail steamer and was chased off because the French owner knew his pet would not be allowed to land in England.

When the steamer drew away the dog sprang into the water swimming strongly in its wake.

It was picked up, exhausted, by a fishing boat more than a mile from the sore. Tonight it was back in Calais, tied up awaiting its master's return.

Hope Still 'in' With Cleveland

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20 (AP)—Apparently Bob Hope won't be dealt out in the Cleveland Indians stock shuffle.

The comedian's 50 shares were voted for Ellis Ryan, the Tribe president who resigned Thursday after his opponents showed they could out-vote him, 1526 shares to 1464. Ten shares were not voted. Ryan and his backers agreed to sell 1300 shares to the anti-Ryan faction.

But today Hope's representative said the actor was "not interfering with the club's affairs at all" although he is "very much interested in it."

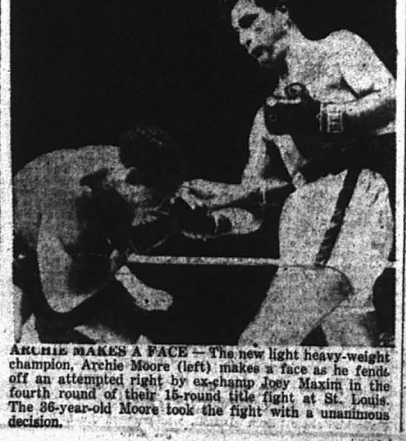

The representative said he did not know of any plan to sell the Hope stock.

Hope, raised in Cleveland, has what he terms a "rooting" number of shares.

Ft. Hays Takes SD

HAYS, Kas., Dec. 20 (AP)—Ft. Hays State outscored San Diego State throughout their intersectional basketball game tonight, tacking up a 74-59 margin.

Bob Brady, San Diego forward, with some uncanny free throwing swelling his total, was the high individual scorer with 22 points.

Middlecoff Ousts Klein, Brosch In Semi-Finals

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 20 (AP)—The accent on age in the $13,000 International Four-Ball Golf Tournament was erased today when two gallant veterans—Willie Klein and Al Brosch—finally fell after beating their way into the next-to-the-last round.

They toppled in the semi-finals, 5 and 3, before Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., the No. 2 golf money winner of 1952, and Skip Alexander, the St. Petersburgh, Fla. star on the comeback trial.

Their victory put Middlecoff and Alexander into Sunday's 36-hole finals against young Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N.Y., and Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa.

Kroll and Worsham, after being held to a deadlock through the first nine, took command on the homestretch to score a 3 and 2 semi-final decision over National PGA Champion Jim Turnesa, New York, and Dave Douglas, Newark, Del.

CHICO, Dec. 20. (AP)—Cal Poly swept a two game basketball series by trimming Chico State, 85-66 tonight.

SALINAS, Dec. 20. (AP)—Shasta college won the Hartnell Small college basketball tournament tonight by defeating Fresno JC 64-50.

FRESNO, Dec. 20. (AP)—Fresno State won the California collegiate athletic opener here tonight, defeating Santa Barbara 67-57.

Detroit Lions Favored to Spill Rams

Kansas State Whipped by Michigan State, 80-63

EAST LANSING, Mich., Dec. 20 (AP)—Previously unbeaten Kansas State, which had been rated the second best team in the nation, was ingloriously dumped 80-63 by upstart Michigan State here tonight to provide a stunning upset for the finale of the Spartan basketball classic.

Notre Dame won 68-60 from UCLA in the first game of the twin bill tonight, using a stall in the final minutes.

Michigan State, which didn't even rate a mention in the Associated Press basketball standings, was beaten 60-55 by UCLA last night, while Kansas State coasted past Notre Dame, seventh ranked, 80-64.

Kansas State had previously whipped Drake, Indiana and San Francisco to rate the second spot in the AP poll.

The Irish showed some clever ball handling during the stall and also picked up four points through free throws.

Notre Dame had a comfortable lead all through the first half, but UCLA tied things up and then went ahead in the third period.

The lead kept changing hands with no more than a 3-point difference between the two right down to the last few minutes when the Irish picked up another point and started stalling.

Notre Dame led 18-14 after the first quarter and 38-31 at the half. UCLA became fired up after the intermission and tied things up at 40-all midway in the third period.

Notre Dame's flash forwards, Dick Rosenthal and Joe Bertrand, poured in 20 and 18 points, respectively, to lead the Irish scoring.

Forward Ron Bane, with 19 points, was the top UCLA scorer. Center John Moore made 11 points for the Californians.

Ex-USC Grid Star Quits as Denver Football Coach

DENVER, Dec. 20. (AP)—John W Baker, once a stellar guard for University of Southern California, resigned today as head football coach at Denver university.

Baker's team won only three of its 10 games this season, losing all of its contests in the Skyline conference.

Chancellor Albert C. Jacobs said Baker, who has been on the university staff five years, would be assigned to other university work at the professors rank he now holds.

Baker said in a statement: "I reached the conclusion that I might be happier with duties other than those of a football coach."

He came here in 1947 as linn coach and was moved to the head position the following year. Baker's former coaching assignments were at Iowa State Teachers, Omaha university, Sacramento junior college and Fourth Air Force, March Field.

National Conference Title Clash To be Televised Across Nation

DETROIT, Dec. 20 (AP)—Deacon Dan Towler, a battering 231-pound back studying for the ministry, hopes to lead the Los Angeles Rams to their fourth straight divisional title in pro football tomorrow. But the Detroit Lions—who haven't touched a title of any kind in 17 years-stand as 3 point favorites locally to spoil the Rams' bid.

Television fans across the nation will watch the two highest-scoring teams in pro football smash at each other.

And 50,000 will jam into Briggs Stadium, which will be 10 degrees colder than your refrigerator.

Rarely have two teams lopked so bad early in the season and gone on to collide in a post-season playoff to determine the National Conference champion.

The Rams lost three of their first four games and the Lions dropped two of the first three. But they each finished with 9-3 marks.

The screaming, partisan fans want the Lions to win, of course, and move on to Cleveland for the National Football League championship game.

The NFL title contest will be played a week from tomorrow in Cleveland's Lakefront Stadium. The Cleveland Browns will represent the American Conference—something they've done all of the three years they've been in the NFL.

The Rams' history in the last four years of playoffs is one of near frustration.

This is the second time they've had to play an extra game to determine the divisional champion they beat the Chicago Bears in 1950.

In the first two of three years they graduated to the NFL playoff. They lost. Last year the Rams finally won the league crown, edging the Cleveland Browns, 24-17.

This year they're carrying an eight-game winning streak and that worries Coach Hampton Pool. He fears overconfidence.

He's also worried about the loss of ace defensive halfback Dick Night Train Lane, who set a season pass interception record 14 last Sunday but suffered a wrenched knee.

Lane ran a bit in Friday's workout here but Pool says it will be a miracle if he plays.

Offensively Pool will lean on Towler, who led the league in rushing and who accounted for nearly half the Rams' sizeable ground yardage. Towler will play at both left halfback and full back.

Stan Musial Captures Sluggers' Crown

NEW YORK, Dec. 20. (AP)—Stan Musial officially was recognized today as the National league's leading batter for 1952. It was the third straight year the 32-year-old St. Louis Cardinals' slugger captured the batting championship.

The official statistics released by the National league reveal Musial won the crown for the sixth time in his 10-year career with a .336 mark. He also paced the senior loop in 1943, '46 and '48.

Musial was also listed on top with a .336 slate on the unofficial compilations released by the Associated Press last October.

The Cardinals' stalwart also led in hits with 194, in doubles with 42 and with teammate Solly Hemus was tied for the most runs scored, each with 105. It was the ninth consecutive year that Musial had scored 100 or more runs, extending his own National league record.

Runner-up to Musial in batting was Frankie Baumholtz of Chicago with .325. Next came Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati, .320. Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn, and Red Schoendienst, St. Louis, and Duke Snider, Brooklyn, each with .303. The only other players to finish in the charmed .300 circle were Alvin Dark, New York, Dee Fondy, Chicago and Enos Slaughter, St. Louis. They just made it.

Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner, despite a disappointing season, established a new National league record by coming out on top in home runs for the seventh straight year. He tied Hank Sauer of Chicago, the league's most valuable player, with 37 circuit wallops apiece. Sauer also took two runs batted in honors with 121.

Bobby Thomson of the New York Giants was high in three base hits with 14.

Cincinnati's Bobby Adams went to bat most often, 637 times, and came up with the most singles, 145.

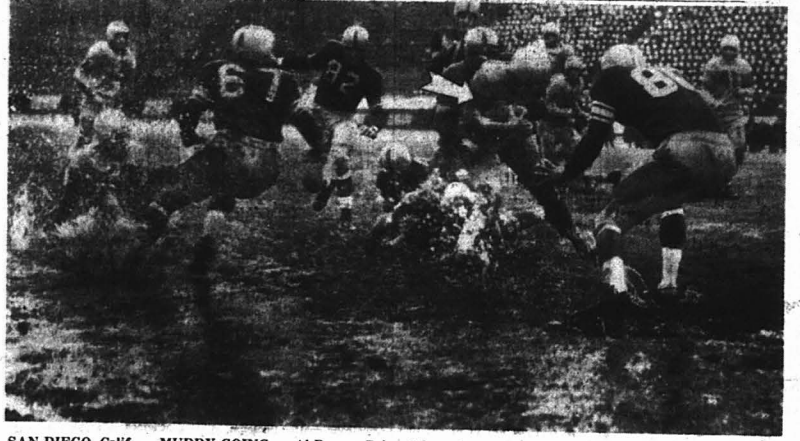

The stolen base title went to Brooklyn's Pee Wee Reese. The veteran shortstop pilfered 20 sacks. Sam Jethroe, Boston outfielder, was the stolen base leader in 1950 and 1951.

Philadelphia's Granny Hamner, with 17 sacrifices, was the pacesetter in that department.

The Cardinals batted highest as a team, .307, but Brooklyn hit the most homers, 153.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — MUDDY GOING — Al Dorow, Bolling Air Force Base halfback (arrow), is halted by an unidentified Bluejacket after a seven-yard gain in first quarter of today's rain-drenched Poinsettia Bowl football game between Bolling and San Diego naval training center. Other players, all NTC men, are Linebacked Bert Tibbs (67), End George Pelonis (82), and Safety Bob Boyd (80). The game will decide the national service football champion. (AP Wirephoto)

American Davis Cup Players Head For Adelaide after Italian Sweep

SYDNEW, Australia, Dec. 20. (AP)—Elated over their 5-0 shutout of Italy in the interzone final, the United States Davis cup players will go to Adelaide tomorrow and immediately begin practice for the challenge round, starting a week from Monday.

The Americans completed their sweep against Italy today when Tony Trabert and Ham Richardson chalked up almost identical four-set victories in the closing singles matches.

Richardson, the Baton Rouge, La., youngster who substituted for team captain, Vic Seixas, defeated the Italian veteran Rolando del Bello, 7-5, 6-3, 5-7, 6-3, then Trabert finished with an impressive 6-3, 5-1, 7-5, 6-3 victory over Fausto Gardini. It was the lanky young Gardini who carried Seixas to five sets Thursday.

As a result of Trabert's performance, Seixas was sublimely confident that the Americans will take the cup home from Australia and Australian experts conceded that he might be right.

The Americans are scheduled to travel to Adelaide by plane tomorrow morning and to start getting acquainted with the grass courts there in the afternoon. Seixas explained that Talbert who is on leave from the U. S. navy, needs every minute of practice he can get.

Tony's long absence from competition didn't show as he whipped Gardini in a much more convincing way than Seixas had done. The American captain and local observers agreed that Trabert is a more dangerous player now than he was a year ago when he was used only in doubles in the challenge round against Australia after playing singles in the interzone final against Sweden.

Trabert has been made the favorite over Australia's No. 2 singles player, whether Ken McGregor or Mervyn Rose gets the call. That apparently puts it up to Frank Sedgman to win two singles matches if Australia is to retain the coup, and Sedgman had better be at his peak when he faces Tony.

Air Force officials, who began an immediate probe, said the reason was undetermined.

There was the light snow, but officials said it was not considered a hazard. The Air Force said the ceiling was 500 feet with visibility two miles.

Back at base operations, another group of airmen sat talking quietly as each new detail came in from the wreck scene.

They were waiting for a chance to catch another plane—to "hitch hike" home for Christmas.

Gentlemen:

We are gratified with the results of the ad that we ran in your classified in the Gazette a few days ago. It goes to show that you can sell snow shoes in July. You will note that we advertised wheelbarrows which at this time of the year is not the season to sell this type of article. However we sold a great many wheelbarrows due to the pulling power of the Anaheim Gazette, also to the every day top values and easy terms offered by McMahans.

Thank you and more power in the future.

Christmas Vesper Service Today at Zion Lutheran

This afternoon at 4:30 o'clock the third annual Pre-Christmas Vesper service will be held at Zion Lutheran church. The theme of this hour of worship is "Christmas Comes with its Grace Divine," which is also the topic of the Pre-Christmas sermon, based on John 1, 16-17.

This service includes a mighty tribute to the Christ-Child as presented in the carol of the Junior School choir, "The Happy Christmas Comes Once More," directed by Mrs. Maxine Heitshusen. The Senior School choirs, under the direction of Paul Lohr will present the lively Christmas Carol, "Oh, How Joyfully." The Zion Senior choir will contribute its share of praise to the Christ-Child by singing, "Lullaby for Christmas Eve." This group is directed by the orangist, Mrs. Olive Kempin. "In A Lowly Manger" will be sung by the Ladies Trio, composed of Mrs. Veda Dutzi, Mrs. Velma Knigge and Mrs. Lucille Oldenburg.

At the morning service the pastor will speak on the theme, "God's Christmas Gift," John 1, 14-15. Music will be by the Ladies Trio. Accoring to Pastor Pflug, these services are in preparation for a blessed, joyful and enduring celebration of the birthday of the King.

Christine Jorgensen Reunited with Parents for Christmas in Denmark

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 20. (AP)—Christine Jorgensen, the ex-GI converted sexually by surgery, had a happy, tearful yuletide reunion tonight with the parents who last saw her as their son, George.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jorgensen of the Bronx, New York, arrived by plane to spend Christmas with Christine, an attractive, 26-year-old blonde who has launched a new career as a color photographer.

They embraced each other several minutes in the customs office of the Kastrup airport, then moved to a closed room for privacy.

Jorgensen, a small, thickset carpenter, and Mrs. Jorgensen showed some signs of bewildement as they talked with their daughter. They shielded their faces against photographers.

Later the party, surrounded by a cordon of officials, was hustled out a back door to the airport apron, placed into a taxi and sped away to an undisclosed destination.

A series of operations and hormone injections over the last two years made George into Christine. Hers is not the only case of its kind in the world, but it has been one of the most publicized.

Allans Open New Anaheim Shoe Store on Center

Anaheim's latest business addition is Paul Allan's Shoes, located at 308 W. Center st. It is owned and operated by Paul Allan, who was with the famous Bonwit-Teller store in New York for 17 years, and his wife, Irene.

The modern Paul Allan store is a women's, teen-age and children's specialty shop, featuring women's shoes by A. Mano, Valentine's and Fortunettes, with teen-age shoes by Friendly. The store handles the famous Acrobat shoes for children.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan came to Anaheim from Phoenix, where he was buyer for the Goldwater's women's specialty shop for two years. The Allans decided to make their home and establish a business in Anaheim after visiting a number of Southern California cities. They have established their home at 924 N. Lemon st.

"We stress friendliness and service and invite the people of Anaheim and vicinity to visit us," Allan said. "We believe they will like our store and our way of doing business." Our policy is to offer the latest in style with prices consistent with quality."

MONTREAL, Dec. 20. (AP)—They opened the Salvation Army Christmas kettle on St. Catherine st. last night. Sorters found a $1000 bill.

The first nickel-bearing coin issued by the United States was the small cent authorized by Act of Congress in 1857.

Accident Victim Dies at Brea

Peter J. Fackelman, 83, a native of Roachton, O., who came to Brea 34 years ago and who has lived there continously died Friday afternoon at the Cottage hospital as the result of injuries received on Monday evening when he was hit by an automobile as he was crossing a street near his home, 302 S. Orange ave.

He is survived by one daughter, Alice Fackelman of Brea and four brothers and five sisters in the east. He was a member of the Citrol lodge, F. and A. M., of Brea and also a member of the Modern Woodmen of the World. Before his retirement he was a custodian of the high school.

Private funeral services will be conducted from the Hilgenfeld chapel Tuesday at 2 o'clock with burial to follow in the family plot in Melrose Abbey cemetery. It is requested that flowers be omitted.

R. Schwartzbach Dies at Ranch Home Friday

Rudolph R. Schwartzbach, 60, a native of Elkton, S. Dakota who came to Anaheim 40 years ago and who has been living on a ranch at the corner of Euclid ave. and Ball rd. for many years, died unexpectedly Friday morning at his home.

He is survived by his wife, Lillie M. Schwartzbach; two daughters, Mrs. Douglas Allan of Balboa and Mrs. Eugene Menges of San Jose; two brothers, Edward Schwartzbach of Torrance and Joseph J. Schwartzbach of Santa Ana; four sisters, Mrs. Aanton Berghofer of Vista, Mrs. Augusta Von Hagen of Sherman Oaks, Mrs. Ben Dickson of Los Angeles and Mrs. George Trainor of S. Dakota and three grandchildren. He was a member of the Anaheim Farm Bureau and a veteran of World War I.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Hilgenfeld chapel Tuesday at 10 o'clock. Rev. Al J. Cassberg, pastor of the Christian Church will officiate.

How Protect Public from Pornography?

By HARRY P. SNYDER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20. (AP)—Members of a special house group that took a long look at the nation's magazine stands today pondered the problem of how to protect the public from pronography without arousing cries of "censorship."

"We are not in favor of censorship of any kind," said Rep. Tathings (D-Ark)., chairman of the group that waded through stacks of pocket size books, comic books and other material stressing sex, crime and vulgarity.

The committee is due to submit its recommendations before Jan. 2, when the present congress expires.

Novelist Margaret Culkin Banning, a star witness at a week-long hearing earlier this month, told the group that about 1100 magazines now being sold have no purpose "except pictorial prostitution."

The 61-year-old writer was recognized by the committee as an expert because of research she did for an article called "filth on the newsstands," published in the October issue of Reader's Digest.

Miss Banning said there are 1,231 magazines being published and all but about 100 are classified as "girlies" which she regards as "vicious and provocative."

About two billion copies of the "girlies" are sold annually, she said.

Retailers, wholesalers, distributors, publishers and authors of the material have been interviewed, either by the committee or its investigators, and a pretty good picture of the business has been obtained.

Government experts on interstate commerce and mail laws and regulations have been called on for suggestions as to how the flood of matter deemed objectionable can be stemmed.

It is expected the committee will recommend legislation to tighten up present federal laws covering the shipment of books and magazines across state lines.

At present material that is ruled to be pronographic cannot be transported from state to state by public carriers—airplanes, trains, buses and trucks.

But there is nothing to prevent a dealer in the material from loading it in his suit case or private car and moving it across state lines.

Yule Services Slated Today at Christian Church

Anaheim's 'City at Night' Is AUHS Night Adult School

By JOAN S. WHITE

Santa's workshop (Anaheim branch), the scene of intense activity for many weeks, closed down on Friday night to allow his helpers to rest on their laurels until January 5th.

The workshop, better known as evening high school or the adult education program, has been going strong on the high school campus night and day with an enrollment of six hundred students under the direction of William Poulson, principal.

"We have never had a more enthusiastic or ambitious group of students", Mr. Polson told us as we toured the plant on Friday night to take a look at the final preparations being made for Christmas.

Courses Offered

Many students enroll in special classes to further academic education as is the case in the typewriting and bookkeeping classes taught by Ralph Wines, the class in citizenship which enables newcomers to pass citizenship exams, and the English class so well attended by displaced persons in the vicinity.

But many more enroll for recreation and the pure joy of creating. That is how Santa's workshop got its start. When fifteen adults express interest in a specific subject or handisraft, a class is formed. These currently include textile painting, lampshade making, cake decorating, needlecraft, sewing, rug making, and woodshop.

Off-campus classes include an English course for Mexican nationals at the nearby camp, and a unique parent education-child observation class for mothers and their children between the ages of two and four. This class is held once a week from 10 a.m. till 2 p.m. at the Investment for Youth Building at La Palma Park.

Needlework

Our first stop was the needlecraft class where teacher Mrs. Lorraine Wilson had just been given a surprise party by appreciative students. Mrs. Ralph Cox and Mrs. Martin Talset were weaving handsome octagonal place mats for the table. Mrs. Paul David was putting the finishing touches on the white stole she was knitting. Mrs. Paul Demaree was fashioning a lovely baby set from hatpin lace.

Other members of the large class were finishing some exquisite gifts for Christmas as crocheted metalic jewelry, knitted toys, hand smocked aprons, Swedish weaving, woven rugs and hand knit sweaters. These lady Santas has even remembered a pet Mexican hairless dog with a neat little sweater!

Arts and Crafts

Well attended too, was the arts and crafts class directed by Ted Wade. One group of students were working on Christmas cards made with a silk screening process while another was boning up on the finer points of photography.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Scott were experimenting with "pointalism" painting which is the application of warm and cool colors dotted on canvas adjacent to each other for truly beautiful outdoor scenes. Mr. Scott took up painting as a hobby when aptitude tests showed decided talent in that direction.

Woodshop

This, the final night before Christmas at the woodshop, found electric saws, planers, sanders and paint spray guns going full blast. Teacher Dick Ryan reported that at least one-third of the students are women and all have completed one or more projects this year.

Gilbert Hund was assisting Santa with the completion of a big circular coffee table made of mahogany with glass top. A revolving television table is to be one of E. H. Bray's gifts to his wife and children.

Bob Siewert was just finishing

Package Wrapping is Important In Giving Christmas Gifts, Too

PRETTY PACKAGES

Gift wrapping is an art in itself. Some gals naturally have the knack and others are all thumbs. The fact remains that everyone likes to receive a well wrapped package. On many occasions at Christmas time, the wrapping is almost as important as the gift itself.

To get down to cases, any present looks better in a box. Miscellaneous candy boxes, etc., can be pressed into service simply by covering the top with attractive paper. Don't overlook the possibilities of milk cartons, cigar boxes, or cracker boxes. Cushion the contents with tissue paper or cotton.

GIFT WRAPPINGS

Anaheim stores still have an ample supply of gift wrappings. Which to choose?

If you are going to wrap a lot of packages, a roll of paper is the most economical because the paper can then be cut as needed. A strong paper will not tear at the corners and its use makes a nice, neat appearing package.

Now then, if you choose a plain paper, you can use a wide range of decorations with it including figured ribbon. But if you have an assortment of the gay printed papers, stick to plain ribbons with simplicity in decoration.

The job will be easier for you if you have on hand scotch tape, Christmas seals, pins, paste, gift cards, and whatever else you fancy in the way of decoration.

PERSONALITY PLUS

Keep in mind the recipient's personal taste as well as your own. If he is sentimental about Christmas, it is best to shy away from sophisicated modern treatments. The reds and greens with sprig of evergreen at the carefully tied bow is traditional. Some other person on your list might enjoy the package done in black and gold finished off with fuschia ornaments.

Jolly old St. Nick sets a theme of Christmas stocking, chimney, wreath and bag of toys that is excellent when used alone but should not be combined with the religiously significant angels, shepherds, choir boys and scenes of the nativity.

The main thing here is to be guided by the pleasure of the person who is to receive the gift.

GOOD DESIGN

Put your big design on the big packages and save the smaller prints for the little packages. This applies to ribbon widths, too, and is a guide as to the size of the bow and where to place it.

Experimentation is good for the soul, so do use your own ideas on decorating as they pop into your mind. Fringe the ends of the ribbon or hold it smartly in place with staples or pins. Bits of lace, clusters of holly, a tree ornament or two are pretty accessories. Small gifts go along with a bigger one on the outside of the package such as the scarf ring or tie clip on the outside of a child's present of a cowboy suit. An inexpensive piece of jewelry or earrings clip nicely to the ribbon and are to be worn with the sweater inside.

What about the box that is just too big for standard gift wrapping? Something like a tent or skis or a doll's house might be wrapped in a plastic table cloth, bright oil cloth or papered with a section of wall paper or the paper that comes in sheeets to resemble fireplace brick.

EUCALYPTUS

Lucky are you if you have access to a eucalyptus tree. The dried branches with leaves and seed pods attached make lovely decorations and Christmas gifts as well. Any dried seed pods, branches or weeds of other varieties can be treated with a color coat to make lasting decorations about the house.

Arrange the material to be colored in several separate piles on newspaper, preferably on the floor of the garage. Fill a hand spray (an ordinary sprayer for insects will do) with aluminum paint. Spray each pile thoroughly with the aluminum and let dry. Then spray each with a fine spray of colored lacquer, using a different color on each pile. When dry, combine the colored sprays in a lovely arrangement.

WINTER BOUQUET

Another way to make a beautiful winter bouquet is to dip bare branch seed pots, etc., into a smooth, dilute with boiling water three tablespoons of laundry starch with cold water. When the starch-water combination is smooth, dilute with boilin gwater until just thick enough to adhere to the branches. Dip the branches and shake off the excess. Dip into glitter or artificial snow. Dry over night and arrange as desired.

Is $180 ADA Sufficient? State School Superintendent Inquires

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The question of whether the State Department of Education should ask the 1953 legislature for additional state school aid money over and above the new constitutional guarantee of $180 per average daily pupil attendance was presented to the Advisory committee on School Finances by Roy E. Simpson, state superintendent of public instruction, at a meeting held here.

The basic is, Simpson said, whether the cost of educating physically and mentally handicapped children, school transportation, equalization between districts and other miscellaneous services should come out of finances based on $180 ADA, as approved by the people in Proposition 2, or whether the legislature should contribute additional money.

Simpson asked the group to help him determine just what the people intended when they upped the constitutional limitation on state aid to education.

Until Proposition 2 passed, the legislature had supplemented constitutional aid to the schools as necessary, and also appropriated additional funds for equalizing the amounts of money between the richer and poorer districts.

The question drew mixed reaction from members of the advisory committee, who represented various educational and commercial groups.

George Wilson, Clarksburg, president of the California Farm Bureau Federation, voiced vigorous opposition to the idea of asking the legislature for additional funds. He said that at no time during the recent campaign on Proposition No. 2 did he or his organization hear that the full $180 would be needed by the state's educators in 1953.

Wilson stated he understood the $180 limitation was to take care of school needs for years to come, without additional aid from the legislature. He called Simpson's laying of the question before the advisory group a "ridiculous procedure."

Alden Fendl, San Francisco, speaking for the state chamber of commerce, declared the chamber, when it backed Proposition 2, understood the absolute maximum in state aid for operation of California's school would be the $180 ADA allotment.

Simpson commented it was not his nor the committee's province to discuss how school aid funds should be raised, but rather to determine school needs and present them to the legislature for consideration.

Stating the people have demanded more money for education, Simpson declared:

"My responsibility as superintendent of public instruction is to give kids in California a decent education whether they live in Alpine county or Los Angeles county or where are you."

Arthur Corey, head of the California Teachers Association which sponsored No. 2, said his organization did not favor as using the 1953 legislature for any money in addition to the $180. He added that this view is limited to the 1953 legislative session. Asked if CTA would go on record as instructing the 1953 legislature not to appropriate additional funds, Corey said "definitely not."

New Real Estate Board Officers To Get Training

Newly elected officers of local real estate boards from throughout the state and regional vice-presidents of the California Real Estate Association will journey to Sacramento to participate in the association's annual "Board Officers' Training Program" to be held Jan. 2, James M. Udall, Los Angeles, retiring president of the statewide organization announced today.

The training program, scheduled in conjunction with the inaugural of President-elect Frank MacBride, Jr., Sacramento, will feature a series of discussions designed to intesify board service to the community. Udall will preside over the opening general session which will hear addresses by William E. McCann, North Hollywood, "Most Successful Activities of Boards and Districts in 1952;" Frank MacBride, Jr., "Work to be Done in 1953;" Thos. J. MacBride, attorney-at-law, Sacramento, "The Art of Presiding Over a Meeting."

The group will then recess to convene in separate meetings of the board officers and regional vice-presidents. Presiding over the meeting of regional vice-presidents will be Fred B. Mitchell, San Diego, past president of the association. Speakers will include "The Vice-President's Program — What to Do and How to Do It"; Kenneth G. White, San Leandro, "Being Helpful to the Local Boards"; Eugene P. Conser, state secretary of the association, "Interpretation of California Real Estate Association Policies."

F. Herbert Lakey, Huntington Park, past president of the association will preside over the meeting of local real estate board officers which will feature timely messages by Arthur H. Voelker, Glendale, past president of the association, "Duties of the Local Board President"; Richard F. Harding, executive secretary, San Francisco Real Estate Board, "Helping the Volunteer Secretary"; H. Jackson Pontius, educational director of the association, "Coordinating CREA and Local Educational Activities"; and John Boydstun, retiring president, Bakersfield Realty board, "Suggestions For a 1953 Local Board Program."

Federal Flood Control Lease Funds Disbursed

SACRAMENTO (CNS, — State Controller Thomas H. Kuchel has distributed $54,758.75 to four California counties in payment of 75 per cent of moneys received by the federal government from leases of federal flood control lands in the counties.

The distribution was as follows: Los Angeles county, $28,342.50; Riverside, $13,169.22; San Bernardino, $12,814.18, and Orange, $432.85.

The federal flood control act, a member of Kuchel's office explained, provides that such money be spent as the state legislature may prescribe for benefit of public schools and roads of counties in which the leased lands are located.

"SCIENTIFIC CHRISTMAS TREE" at Northrop-Anaheim . . . A chemical slant on holiday decorations is provided by this unique Christmas tree, a lunch hour project of process engineers at Northrop Aircraft's Anaheim division. Words describing the chemicals, containers and other bits and pieces used to form this unusual "tree" are pretty tongue-twisting items. For instance, Lee Mueller, 842 S. Euclid, Anaheim, is shown pouring a solution of trichloroethylene into a test tube to achieve the proper note of color in one of the glass "ornaments." Trunk of the "tree" is a metal ring stand used to hold containers during chemical experiments. Glass wool provides the flowing, snow-like effect with aluminum-waste machine shavings used as top dressing. Clamped on the stand are drying tubes, viscosity flasks an test tubes. An aluminum foil star at the top completes the arrangement. You might not recognize these names, but just to satisfy your curiosity, here are a few of the chemicals used as decorations: potassium dichromate, potassium permangenate, phenolphthalein, bromothymol-purple, methyl-red and nickel acetate.

Does State TV Encroach on Right Of Private Television Operators?

SACRAMENTO (CNS — The recent governor's conference on the subject of socialized television opens up a definite line of serious thought for residents of California, who, through their elected representatives, may be called upon during the next legislative session to decide whether they want their government to enter into competition with private industry.

The state for years has regulated private industry in one form or another, but so far, there has been little direct competition with private business. The workmen's compensation fund and the state disability insurance fund could be cited as two of the primary examples of the government's entry into a field where there is direct competition with private insurance concerns.

The proposal for state television, in whatever form it may reach the state legislature, however, has a somewhat different tinge than the competition in the insurance business. The original state insurance funds were set up primarily because of the lack of interest on the part of the insurance concerns to handle the risks. Later the laws were amended to permit them to handle compensation business.

In the case of television, however, there apparently is geen competition for the eight available channels which have been offered to the state by the federal communications commission. should the state, or agencies of the state, agree to finance the erection of television stations and use the channels for "educational" purposes. In other words, if the state takes over the eight channels, or any part of them, all of the people will be depriving a segment of private industry of the right to make a living in its chosen profession, because there are only eight channels to be had.

The educators and government propagandists, of course, seized upon the federal government's offer with avidity, since it would open up a new and wide field of telling the people of the state how to think and what to think. Particularly, the state's educators, who already have almost infallible power in directing the the course of public thinking through the schools and colleges of the state.

So the question becomes not one of whether the state should seize on a new field for the dissemination of information which could be highly beneficial in some respects to the people of the state, but whether it should adhere to the principles of democracy in contrast to the principles of socialism, and permit the development of television by private capital rather than by public contribution.

The people of the state have progressed to a high point of civilization without state entry into the field of private business, and there appears to be no specific reason why such progress cannot continue on the same principles.

On the other hand, there is the contention that failure of the people to seize the available television facilities in California would be somewhat akin to the householder continuing to use a washboard when a washing machine was available. Some householders might find it preferable to continue using the washboard if they were forced to sacrifice principles to acquire the washing machine.

It will be some time before anything definite is decided by the final authority in the matter which is the state legislature. Meanwhile, there is a field for thinking and the subject, and a determination on the part of the public as to whether it wants to sell itself out to government propaganda and educational hypocrisy.

GM to Sponsor TV Show for Queen's Coronation June 2

General Motors will sponsor the National Broadcasting Company's radio and television coverage of the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in London, June 2, 1953, Harlow H. Curtice, acting president of General Motors announced today.

In a joint announcement with NBC, Mr. Curtice revealed that plans for bringing the coronation to NBC radio and television audiences have been under way for more than a year.

Romney Wheeler, Chief of NBC's London Bureau, has just returned to London after three weeks in New York where he has been discussing arrangements with NBC officials.

The radio broadcast will be a combination of tape recordings of the pomp and circumstance surrounding the historic ceremony, plus a live broadcast direct from Westminister Abbey. Plans for NBC's television coverage will be announced at a later date.

Orange Demand Continues Strong

Holiday demand for California and Arizona navel oranges continued strong during the week ending Dec. 20, peak Christmas buying week. Sales moved up about 200 cars over those of last week with the total volume approaching the level of around 1350 cars. Average prices were about steady at the level of the previous week.

California-Arizona shippers were cautioned against shipping too much fruit during the current week since such shipments would reach the market too late for Christmas buying. The produce business is generally dull immediately after the holidays as the trade are busy reducing inventories in preparation of year-end tax reports. The arrival of too much fruit between Dec. 23 and Jan. 10 would inevitably result in a drastically lower market on California-Arizona navel oranges.

The lemon market held steady during the week, both as to volume and prices. Larger sizes, not too plentiful in supply at present, were in strong demand for holiday use. Prorate for the week ending Dec. 27 was set at 225 cars by the Lemon Administrative Committee, the same as this week.

Anaheim's Move To Annex Delco Dims BP Hopes

Announcement by Anaheim officials that the city will shortly take steps to annex the 90-acre site of the proposed new $2,500,000 Delco-Remy storage battery plant near Buena Park, dimmed hopes of Buena Park for annexing the property after Jan. 20, if that community votes to incorporate as a city on that date.

Anaheim's announcement came as the county planning commission approved application of Delco-Remy for a variance permit, and recommended it for favorable action by the county supervisors next Tuesday. The site location is now zoned for residential use.

Situated west of Magnolia ave., between La Palma ave. and the Southern Pacific tracks, The Delco-Remy site would be close to the Buena Park boundaries if that city incorporates Jan. 20. But the site also is contiguous to the shoestring strip recently annexed by Anaheim, which runs to Magnolia ave., and could be annexed as uninhabited territory with comparatively brief annexation proceedings.

Therefore, it appeared likely that the Delco-Remy site will be a part of Anaheim before Buena Park can get into position to annex it.

County Building Just Average For Past Week

Building activities in rural Orange county proceeded at an average pace during the past week, records of County Building Inspector Charles Donohue showing a total valuation of $442,234 in permits issued in unincorporated territory, Anaheim area permits totaled $21,845.

Garden Grove led the unincorporated communities for the week, with a total of $171,851, followed by Costa Mesa with $94,620. Other community totals were: Tustin $61,245, Buena Park $28,475, Laguna Beach $25,200, Anaheim $21,645, Capistrano Beach $8200, San Juan Capistrano $7600, Orange $5300, Placentia $4745, Yorba Linda $2588, Westminster $2575, Stanton $2250, Santa Ana $1740, La Habra $1600, Alamitos $1000, miscellaneous $1600.

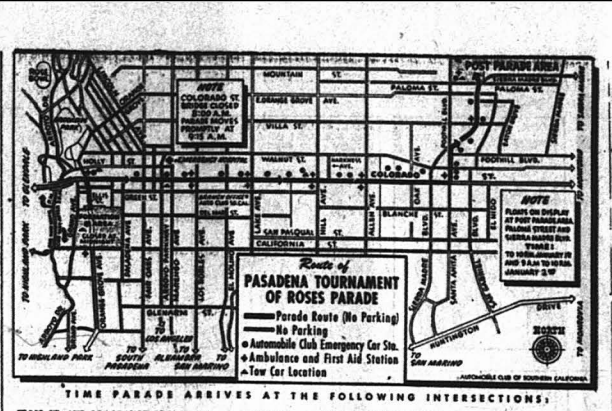

Anaheim permits were:

Fred W. May, residence addition, 13061 Simmons, $9000; Amelia E. Walter, duplex, 787 West st., $9000; Dr. Carlin, wind machine, Loara st. south of Broadway, $1945; Joe E. Lemons, cabinet shop addition, 9361 S. Euclid, $1500; miscellaneous $300.

Survey of County Dumps May Mean End of Burning

Complaint from La Habra residents regarding a smoke nuisance from one of the county's public dumps near that city has developed a survey of the county's public dump management, and may bring about elimination of burning at the dumps, it was indicated yesterday.

"I don't know how we'll solve the problem unless we quit burning rubbish there," Supervisor Ralph J. McFadden commented, with respect to the La Habra complaint. He represents the Third District, including La Habra. McFadden said he believed that ultimately the county must consider burning of trash in incinerators.

Building Begins On 600-Home

Construction has commenced on the first houses in a new tract of 600 homes, largest subdivision in Santa Ana's history, located west of Bristol st. and north of 17th st., boardering Santiago creek. The project will represent an investment of $8,130,000 in home building, it was announced.

Known as Farm Estates, the tract will be developed by Santana Inc., headed by Willlam N. Lansdale of Southgate. First installment of 172 homes, to cost $2,300,000 will be under construction within a few days, it was said.

The cost of the houses, which will be designed in California ranch house style, with three bedrooms and 2 baths, will be from $13,405 upward, it was announced by the Pioneer Land and Realty Co., sales agents for the tract.

San Clemente Realtor Elected Regional V-P

John E. Hempel, prominent San Clemente Realtor, has been elected regional vice-president of the California Real Estate Association representing District No. 33, which includes Anaheim, according to announcement received yesterday from James M. Udall, Los Angeles, president of the association.

He will be installed by former California Governor Frank F. Merriam, Long Beach, honorary president of the statewide organization, during its 49th annual inaugural ceremonies to be held at the Senator Hotel in Sacramento Saturday, Jan. 3. Other statewide officers who will be installed are Frank MacBride, Jr., Sacramento, as president for 1953; Eugene P. Conser, San Marino, state secretary; and Charles H. Brown, Pasadena, treasurer.

Prior to assuming office, the new realty official will attend the association's "Board Officers' Training Program," conducted annually to encourage greater participation in community service by realty officials, local real estate boards, and their members.

Nurserymen Say

(Orange County Nurserymen's Association)

Probably most garden lovers have at some time wanted a rose garden. Such a garden need be neither large nor elaborate and the pest and disease problem can be easily handled if one will lay out a good schedule and stick to it.

Some spot with ample sunlight at least half the day is needed. Half shade, as under a tree, is not sufficient for such conditions cause weak growth and diseases, especially mildew. In windy areas some sort of a windbreak is needed, but creation of a dead air pocket should be avoided as it also encourages mildew and other troubles. A simple windbreak of one row of plants will serve or complex layout several rods in depth may be planted, as space permits.

A strip along the south side of a fence makes a fine garden, the fence furnishing support for climbing roses which themselves provide foliage background for the bushes. In other days, beds of fancy shapes were popular but they proved to be difficult to care for, and now the simple outlines are considered best.

If time allows, ample steer should be worked into the soil several months ahead. If that has not been done, go ahead and plant, using the steer as a mulch, as it should be used each year anyway.

It is best to plant bare root roses, available mainly in January. Only first grade stock should be set out. They are the ones which grow most vigorously in the field and have the reserve to go ahead vigorously. Space between plants should be at least three feet.

Mrs. W. K. Koch Dies in Fullerton

Mrs. Winnie K. Koch, 88, a native of St. Louis, Mo., who came to California 52 years ago and who has lived in the Fullerton area continuously, died Thursday evening at her home, 244 W. Whiting ave., after an extended illness.

She is survived by three sons, Adolph H., Albert W. and George A. Koch all of Fullerton; one sister, Mrs. Annie C. Taylor of Anaheim; one brother, William F. Lindhurst of San Jacinto; six grand children and 13 great grandchildren. She was a member of the Evangelical United Brethren church in Anaheim.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Hilgenfeld chapel Monday at 2 o'clock. Rev. Philip R. Seltridge, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren church, will officiate and entombment will be made in Loma Vista mausoleum.

Students Prepare Beach Speeches

Preparations are underway among speech students at Fullerton high school to enter the sixth annual Homer Beach speech contest, awards going to one boy and one girl for original talks prepared and delivered about an interesting personal experience.

Intermediate speech students from two classes conducted by Duane Johnsop will prepare talks in the near future to deliver before their respective classes, it was announced. Judges of the speeches will be students of the other classes.

Following a process of elimination, best speeches will be narrowed down to one boy and one girl, each of whom will receive prized gold pieces from the collection of Homer Beach, recently retired head custodian of FUHS.

Final contest is scheduled for Jan. 29 at which time announcement of winners is to be made, Johnson stated.

Former winners of the Beach contests were Elden Buck, first; and Noreen Stein, second, in 1947; Barney Blashill and Gail Gifford in 1948; Stan Chapman and Barbara Van Blair, 1949; Phil Layman and Jon Kountz, 1950; and last year, Jack Allbright and Nancy Zehnpfennig.

Students Join Actively in TB Seal Sale Drive

In a concentrated one period, one day drive Wednesday, Dec. 17 Fullerton junior college students contributed $92 for purchase of the familiar Tuberculosis association Christmas seals.

On the Fullerton union high school campus, a similar drive was carried on from Wednesday to Friday, Dec. 19. Results will be announced at a later date, said a representative of the student executive board.

Chuck Hyde, El Monte, student rally commissioner and chairman of the junior college drive, announced results Wednesday afternoon. He was aided by members of the student government commission, which sponsored the drive, and by members of the speech classes.

Students, faculty and employees alike of the high school and junior college derive direct benefit from the sales of Christmas seals, a Tuberculosis association representative recently told the junior college student offices. So do many, many people in many communities. Annually the association's mobile x-ray unit visits the high school and junior college campus. Every student, school employee, and teacher is given a free chest x-ray. Two former junior college students are now under treatment for tuberculosis. Their treatment is paid for by the Christmas seal fund.

These benefits are actually far reaching, emphasized Miss Helen Walker, school nurse for Fullerton high school and junior college. She heartily supported the TB association representative's remarks.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 16 (AP)—How low can a thief get? This one steals snakes.

S. C. Lloyd, manager of the Hollywood Aquarium, told police today two boa constrictors, an anaconda, two indigo snakes and a ghekko lizard were missing.

Also gone were some white mice, which police suspect may have been taken along as food for the reptiles.

In 1920 United States electric companies used oil and gas equivalent to 3,216,000 tons of coal; in 1946, the comparable figure was 20,800,000 tons.

There are four railway systems in the United Kingdom with a total mileage of 20,080.

three pairs of handcrafted maple lamps while his wife was making the shades for three lucky people on their Christmas list.

Charlotte Geske will not be needing her redwood chaise lounge for her garden and so is taking her time, but Mrs. William Loftz who had just finished a Hollywood bed was hurrying to make a table to match. Mrs. Irving Donahue had already presented her husband with a desk and was hard at work to complete a drawing table for him.

New Semester

The enthusiasm was downright contagious. Santa's helpers were unanimous in their desire to continue their courses after Christmas.

Enrollment in the adult education program costs but one dollar per semester and no previous experience or training is necessary. The new semester begins on January 28th and will run through June 11th. Registration dates will be announced in the Anaheim Gazette.

Anaheim Neighborhoods A-Glow as Annual Christmas Light Decorations Turned on

By JOAN S. WHITE

All Anaheim is aglow with the spirit of Christmas. Householders on every side have decorated both inside and out with brightly colored lights, traditional Christmas trees, scenes of the nativity, and life size figures from the realm of Santa Claus.

Already the annual caravan of cars has begun to wind through the city's streets to admire the displays most effective after dark. Sightseers seek out the isolated individual attractions as well as the cooperative neighborhood projects.

Christmas Tree Lane

Anaheim has its own Christmas Tree Lane. It is situated off Palm street between North and Sycamore and the street marker calls it Ken Way. The little street with its fifteen houses became Christmas Tree Lane for the fourth consecutive year last Sunday when the beautifully shaped live Christmas trees which border the street were uniformly lighted.

This pleasant custom was originated by Ralph Maas, local real estate broker who developed the street and planted the trees. It was he who purchased the lights which are used year after year, and he who named it Ken Way after his first grandson who now lives at Number 901.

Ken's dad, Ralph Maas, Jr., is custodian of the lights and with help from near-by home-owners, decks individual trees with thirty multi-colored 25 watt bulbs each year.

A conduit with an underground wire connects each tree to a special house. Ken Way becomes Christmas Tree Lane by a pre-arranged signal from Maas, usually about a week before Christmas.

Evelyn Drive

Likewise a community project, instigated by a local developer, is the winter wonderland at Evelyn Drive. This will be the fifth year that some 35 families have created Christmas scenes on their lawns to commemorate the holiday season.

Children visiting the area for the first time are apt to rub their eyes in disbelief at the life-like animated figures, the snow which appears to cling to every tree and bush, and the startling lighting effects.

Year after year, no less than 50,000 cars by actual count, circle the drive, while many folks come on foot to gaze in awe and wonder at the cow who jumps over the moon, the wooden soldiers marching in unison, the caroling choir singers, and the reindeer which run along the roof tops.

Flowers FOR CHRISTMAS

Beautifully Gift Wrapped

If you are in doubt about the right gift, don't hesitate, choose flowers! Whether it's traditional poinsettias, red berried pyracanthas, or lovely camellias—their small cost will give YEARS of pleasure.

FJC Machine Shop Students to Gain Experience at Northrop Factory

Work experience may now be gained by Fullerton junior college machine shop students through a cooperative program to be initiated between the college and Northrop aircraft's Anaheim plant Jan. 5. Interviews will be conducted at the plant Jan. 2-3, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Students will work after school hours and be paid standard wages for a short shift, said Robert C. McCormick, chairman of the college technical trades division. The work program was outlined after a meeting between McCormick and A. R. Baish, Northrop personnel representative.

McCormick listed the following requirements for students working under the program: Age must be 18 years or over. Student must have had one year of high school machine shop, or 15 weeks in junior college machine shop, or be enrolled in junior college machine shop now.

The student workers will work from 5:15 to 9:15 p.m., five days per week. They will be paid at the rate of $1.60 per hour, equivalent to the rate of a "B" classification machinist.

While working, the students will be rotated from machine to machine, thus gaining wide experience. They will be producing parts for actual use.

Twenty five junior college men are sought by the aircraft company at present. How long the program will be in operation was not specified.

"Eventually, the junior college hopes to be able to work out cooperative training programs for credit and pay with various industries," said McCormick.

Need for machinists in Southern California is vital, according to Baish. In the past two years 1220 new industries have sprung up between the center of Los Angeles and Anaheim. Industry must make every effort to train the machinists needed by mounting production.

Turning Pennies Into Dollars is Class Project

Salesmanship students at Fullerton union high school are learning how to turn pennies into dollars, in preparation for business careers of the future, it was learned yesterday. Miss Mary Kellogg's class in sales started with a penny and by applying the principles of good salesmanship, turned that penny into $2.15.

It all began, according to Miss Kellogg when one of the students, Eugene Carl, wondered if there was to be any practical application of the principal learned. Receiving one cent from the instructor, Eugene was asked to buy something with it, then sell that article at a profit and bring the money back to class so that the next student could repeat the process.

Carl did just that: he bought some candy that was attractively packaged and looked as if it had cost more. He sold it to a friend for two cents and brought the money back next day. Shirley Redelberger was next. She bought comic books at a rummage sale and sold them for three cents to some children she knew who liked them.

Eventually the money, in ever increasing quantity, made the rounds; all 18 students had a chance to put their merchandising skills into practice. First they found they had to select their customers and know their needs and wants.
