Required Points For Rotation Boosted 2 Points

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 30 (AP)—Gen. Mark Clark today boosted by two the number of points required for rotation home from the Korean war theater for all except front-line troops. Headquarters said the order was "due to lack of sufficient replacements."

The order set a new rotation figure of 40 points for troops behind the front.

The number for frontline soldiers remains at 36.

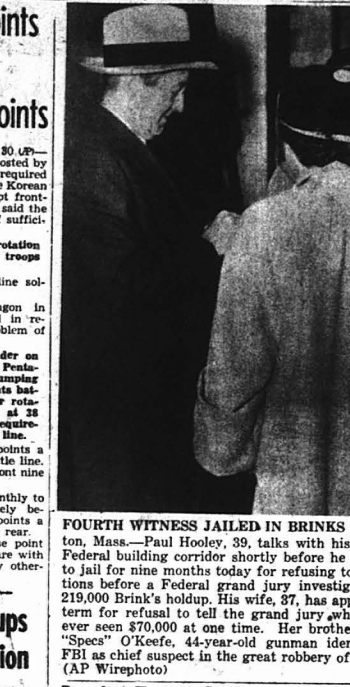

Clark and the Pentagon in Washington have clashed in recent months over the problem of adequate replacements.

The Far East commander on Oct. 22 reversed under Pentagon pressure an order jumping to 38 the number of points battle front troops need for rotation home. But he held at 38 points then the point requirement for time in battle line.

The Army gives four points a month for time in the battle line. Thus troops serve at the front nine months.

It gives three points monthly to troops serving immediately behind the front and two points a month to troops far to the rear.

Troops in Japan get one point monthly if their families are with them, 1½ points monthly otherwise.

FOURTH WITNESS JAILED IN BRINKS PROBE—Boston, Mass.—Paul Hooley, 39, talks with his wife Mary in Federal building corridor shortly before he was sentenced to jail for nine months today for refusing to answer questions before a Federal grand jury investigating the $1,219,000 Brink's holdup. His wife, 37, has appealed a year's term for refusal to tell the grand jury whether she had ever seen $70,000 at one time. Her brother is Joseph J. "Specs" O'Keefe, 44-year-old gunman identified by the FBI as chief suspect in the great robbery of Jan. 17, 1950. (AP Wirephoto)

Congress Groups Ask Tough Union Subversives Law

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29. (AP)—A senate committee backed up a house committee today in coupling a plea to unions to toss out any Communist leaders with a call for tougher laws against subversives in organized labor.

The senate internal security sub-committee headed by Sen. McCarran (D- Nev.) issued its report to the senate on a four-day hearing at Salt Lake City last October into the leadership of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers —UMMSW.

In a statement from its headquarters, the union accused McCarran of "acting on behalf of big mine operators in a campaign to behead and dismember this union."

The union, now unaffiliated, was expelled by the CIO in 1950 on the ground that it followed the Communist party line.

The sub-committee called for a federal law to:

1. Bar Communists from holding office in or being employed by any labor organization.

2. Permit employers to fire workers who belong to organizations designated by the attorney general as subversive.

Brodie Twins Still on 'Critical' List; Roger in Coma, Rodney Active

CHICAGO, Dec. 29. (AP)—The official word on the Brodie Siamese twins today was still "no substantial change," but surgeons were heartened by their tenacious grip on life.

A spokesman for the Illinois Neuropsychiatric hospital emphasized that the condition of both Rodney and Roger, separated from their head-to-head connection 12 days ago, is critical.

Roger, the twin lost his connection with their common brain drainage blood vessel — the sagittal sinus—in the 12 hour 40 minute operation Dec. 17, is still in a coma. Rodney, who has the benefit of the large vein and some brain covering membrane sacrificed by Rodney, is alert and apparently near normal.

Both twins are receiving adequate nourishment.

The great danger is possibility of infection which would prove fatal within a matter of minutes.

Roger, with virtually no dura mater—the membrane which encases the brain—has a substitute membrane of a plastic substance, polyethylene. This is covered by a layer of aluminum foil. Over this is a bandage.

Rodney, who has about two-thirds of the top of his brain covered with natural dura mater, has substantially the same head covering as his brother.

Rodney has been taken off of oxygen. Roger still gets supplemental oxygen.

Gov. Warren to Ask Aid for Totally Disabled

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 29. (AP)—Gov. Warren said today he will ask the legislature for the third time to set up a program of assistance to permanently and totally disabled persons in California. But he will not renew his thrice-defeated proposal for prepaid public health insurance.

Warren told a special press conference he will not advocate any drastic changes in the state's social welfare programs but will continue to try through legislation to better human existence in the state.

These are some of the things he said he will seek from the legislature when it convenes Monday:

1. State subsidies to help build and operate county institutions for senile persons. There are now about 6000 of these old people in the overcrowded state mental hospitals, Warren said, and they don't belong there because they are not insane.

2. An accelerated building program to try to relieve the 19.5 per cent overcrowding in the state homes for the mentally deficient at Sonoma and Pacific Colony.

Completion of the new state home at Porterville will help, the governor said, but he intends to ask for money to start building the 12½ million dollar hospital planned for Costa Mesa, Orange county.

3. Establishment of child care centers on a permanent basis.

Draft all GI's, Hershey Says

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 29 (AP)—Enlistments should be abolished and all the armed forces should requisition their manpower through the draft, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national Selective Service director, said today.

Hershey, touring 11 state Selective Service headquarters, told newsmen the U.S. could have a better military force if it drafted all recruits, looked them over in their first hitch and asked the better ones to stay on at higher pay.

750 Persons Die from All Types Of Accidents During Yule Period

By The Associated Press

An all-time record of 556 traffic deaths during a holiday observance was set during the nation's long Christmas weekend. Delayed reports of deaths occurring in the 102-hour period between 6 p.m. Wednesday and midnight Sunday pushed the toll one over the previous mark of 555 set during the 1936 Christmas holidays.

Deaths from all types of accidents during the 1952 Christmas period reached 750. Of these, 82 were killed in fires. The other 106 persons died in all other types of accidents, including falls, gunshots, railroad and mine mishaps, drownings and electrocutions.

The overall toll was not a record. It fell short of the high mark of Christmas, 1951, when 789 died in all accidents.

The belated reports came late Monday when Texas figures were revised upwards giving that state an overall toll of 81 — highest among the states. Traffic accidents took 48 lives in Texas during the survey period. Ohio was second in the traffic toll, with 45, but the overall toll for Ohio was 50—under New York's 60. The New York state traffic total was 43.

The traffic fatality record was actually less than the 590 deaths which the national safety council had estimated for the Christmas holidays.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the safety council, expressed the hope that the record Christmas death list will inspire caution during the New Year holiday. He said:

"The New Year traffic toll can be held to half of the Christmas toll if each of us will drive as if our life depended on it—and, believe me, it does."

Federal Judge Upholds T-H Injunction Clause

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 29. (AP)—The injunction provision of the controversial Taft-Hartley act met its first head-on court test today and a federal judge declared the clause constitutional.

District Judge John Knight granted the government an 80-day injunction restraining the CIO United Steelworkers union from continuing a strike at the American Locomotive Co. plant at Dunkirk.

In Washington, CIO Assistant General Counsel Davis E. Feller said the CIO will file an appeal with the U. S. court of appeals in New York tomorrow.

Feller said the CIO will also petition the U. S. supreme court late tomorrow or Wednesday, for a hearing.

"The strike, in effect, is a strike against the government," Knight said. He held that his court had jurisdiction for that reason.

"It seems unthinkable that a strike in a plant producing for the government items now vitally necessary to the defense of this country and the security of its people should be permitted to continue," Knight said.

The approximately 1500 workers at Dunkirk made nickel-plated pipe that the atomic energy commission said is vital to its program.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Dec. 29 (AP) — The Vancouver tug Petrel is missing and believed lost with a seven-man crew in the Gulf of Georgia.

Flying Boat Crashes; Ten Airmen Missing

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 30. (AP)—A big flying boat on night patrol crashed Friday night in the Sea of Japan and only four of the 14 aboard were rescued, the U. S. navy announced Monday.

The other 10 members of the crew were listed as dead or missing.

The big four-engine craft, a navy PBM, hit the sea 50 miles off the east coast of Korea from Kosong, the navy said.

The U. S. destroyer Renshaw, speeding to the scene, snatched four crewmen from the icy waters two hours after the plane went down.

The four were brought to the U. S. naval base at Yokosuka near Tokyo Only two required hospital treatment. The other two were ready to return to duty.

The plane was attached to a patrol squadron which had been operating with a U. S. task force in the Korean war zone. The plane developed mechanical trouble, it was believed. All aboard were Americans.

Boy Seriously Hurt in Fall On Mt. Wilson

GLENDALE, Dec. 29 (AP) — Louis Reiners, 11, fell nearly 1500 feet down the side of Mt. Wilson today and suffered critical injuries.

He was hoisted from the bottom of a steep canyon by U.S. Forest Service men and volunteers. At a hospital here, he was found to have a skull fracture and possibly a broken back.

Young Reiners was a member of a party of 32 boys from St. Bridgid Catholic church who had gone to the resort area near the top of Mt. Wilson.

He and two other boys, playing near the edge of the cliff, fell over the rim. The other two seized brush and rocks and halted their fall after about 50 feet.

Rescuers required about three hours to go down on ropes and lift young Reiners to the top in a wire basket.

Grandma, the Bank Bandit, to Get 'Robin Hood' Defense in Court

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29. (AP)—Her attorney advanced a Robin Hood defense today for grandma, the bank bandit.

The lawyer, Miss Joan Martin, 30, had a long talk with Mrs Ethel Arata, 52, confessed robber of two Los Angeles banks who was arrested Christmas eve while trying to stick up another.

After their talk Miss Martin announced she will enter a plea of innocence for Mrs. Arata.

"The holdups were committed in temporary mental lapses," said the lawyer.

She added she is convinced her client robbed on an "irresistible impulse" to do some thing to help poor people."

Mrs. Arata said she had only 63 cents the day she was arrested and had given her last away.

Miss Martin was only one of several who went to the county jail to visit the woman whose father was a multi-millionaire until his wealth was swept away by the 1929 financial crash.

Also appearing but denied permission to talk with Mrs. Arata were the Duncan Sisters, Vivian and Rosetta, with whom she had appeared in the 1923 "Topsy and Eva" show.

"It doesn't seem quite real to us," said Vivian, "that this little girl whom we remember as a bright young flower should turn up in these circumstances. We would like to do something if we can to help her."

An evangelist, Dr. Paul Cain of Dallas, Tex., was allowed to talk with Mrs. Arata. He said he met her in 1947 and she later became a member of his congregation and acted as an usher at his meetings.

Dr. Cain said he drove here from Dallas to be with her "in her hour of need."

Alan Nunn May, Red Atom Spy, Given Freedom

WAKEFIELD, England, Dec. 29 (AP)—Dr. Alan Nunn May, the first atom spy caught by the West, stepped out of prison a free man today.

The brilliant young British scientist had served his time—six years and eight months of a 10-year sentence, with time off for good behavior. Under British law he had paid his debt to society.

But so far as was publicity known May was still a Communist and unrepentant for having given Russia vital samples of uranium used in making the first U.S. atomic bomb. He received $700 and two bottles of whisky. At his trial he defended his action with the statement he believed Russia should share in atomic knowledge "for the safety of mankind."

When prison gates slammed shut on him in 1946 Russia had yet to explode her first atomic charge. When they opened about 10:30 this morning it was into a free world tense with the fear of what Russia would do with the secrets he helped her get.

A joint congressional committee reported last year that May and three other atom spies—Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, awaiting execution at Sing Sing in New York, and Britain's Dr. Klaus Fuchs, serving a 14-year sentence—had advanced the Soviet atomic energy program by at least 18 months.

Thirty newsmen, waiting at the grey prison's main gate, did not get a chance to ask May his reactions today. He was spirited out a side door by a prison official and given a new ration book and a third class train ticket to an unknown destination.

Cutler to be Ike Assistant

NEW YORK, Dec. 29 (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower said today he will appoint Boston Trust Company President Robert Cutler as an administrative assistant when the new administration takes office Jan. 20.

Cutler 57 will have special responsibilities dealing with the National Security Council and liaison with various departments and agencies working with the council, Eisenhower said.

Freak Storm Hits

BOGOTA, Colombia, Dec. 29 (AP) —Hailstones the size of grapes battered this capital 220 miles north of the equator today, breaking windows, clogging gutters and tying up traffic.

The freak storm which continued for a half hour piled hailstones three feet high in some places.

The hail choked drainage canals and backed up water, flooding parts of the city.

Acheson Accused of Trying To Block Grand Jury Report On Subversives in the U.N.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—The foreman of a New York Federal grand jury testified today he was informed that Secretary of State Acheson did not want the jury to submit a report that disloyal Americans had infiltrated the United Nations organization.

Joseph P. Kelly also told a group of House investigators that he heard Atty. Gen. McGranery tried to have the report delayed at the last minute. The report was submitted to a federal judge on Dec. 2.

Three other members of the grand jury joined Kelly in accusing the State and Justice Departments of hampering their search for any Americans with communist backgrounds on the U.N. staff.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, said the department had flatly denied that it attempted to interfere with the inquiry when the accusation was first made a couple of weeks ago.

G. Frederick Mullen, Justice Department press officer, said McGranery would have no comment on Kelly's testimony. The charges will be answered, he added, when Justice officials appear before the House committee. Mullen said McGranery had not been summoned so far.

Kelly testified he was told about the attitude of the two Cabinet members by Roy M. Cohn, a special assistant U. S. attorney who was assigned to the grand jury but is now with the Justice Department.

The witness related that Cohn joined Myles Lane, U. S. attorney for the Southern District of New York, in a Washington conference with Acheson and McGranery about the Dec. 2 report, officially called a presentment.

"From what Cohn told me," Kelly said, "Acheson didn't want the presentment handed down. Cohn and Lane had a pretty stormy session in Washington."

It was reliably reported here today that Cohn is slated for a key job with the Senate Permanent Investigations Committee in the Congress.

Kelly went on to say that Cohn also told him on the day the presentment was filed the attorney general urged Cohn by telephone to get the grand jury to hold up until its reports could be sent to the Justice Department for examination by McGranery.

"I believe most of our trouble came from the State Department," Kelly testified. "I think the State Department was responsible for all these people being employed by the U. N." He was apparently referring to U. S. citizens whose loyalty has been challenged by the grand jury.

Gen Vandenberg Says Russians Outproduce US 5-1 in Airplanes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, said today Soviet Russia has produced five times as many planes as the United States during the last five years.

Declaring that any cutback in U.S. plane production could be "catastrophic," Vandenberg said:

"Even today the Russians are equalling our output, or perhaps bettering it."

Vandenberg expressed his views in an article written for Planes, official publication of the Aircraft Industries Association.

The U.S. Air Force chief said that with the atomic bomb now in the possession of the Soviet Union, "We are entering a period of increased tension and, in some parts of the world, of acute crisis."

Deploring what he called the American "holiday" in plane production during the postwar years, prior to the outbreak of the Korean War in mid-1950, Vandenberg said:

"We must meet our air power goals if we are to have the strength to counter the threat against our national security and the peace of the world.

"The goals can be lowered no further. We dare not postpone the date of their attainment."

Vandenberg's call for full-speed-ahead in aircraft production came in the face of growing reports that the incoming Republican administration and the new GOP-controlled 83rd Congress may seek to trim military spending in the drive to cut over-all federal expenditures.

Vandenberg said that in the 29 months since the U.S. began its air buildup, the program to create a 143-wing Air Force has attained only the halfway mark.

More than half the Air Force's planes, he said, are obsolete.

Bidault Agrees To Try Forming French Govt.

PARIS, Dec. 29 (AP) — Former Premier Georges Bidault agreed today to try to form a new government, if he succeeds, France may be asked to accept a program of strict austerity.

Although he made no statement, there were reports Bidault intends to ask Parliament for far wider powers than those granted to his predecessor, Antoine Pinay, who bowed out Dec. 23 after nine uneasy months in office.

Bidault conferred with various political leaders in an effort to enlist their support.

He was rebuffed at once by the Socialists because of what leader Charles Lussy called the "exceptional severity" of his proposed program.

MAN LOWERED FROM BRIDGE—Providence, R. I.—A man identified as John McLaughlin, 27, of Compton, Calif., is lowered into arms of firemen and other rescuers from the superstructure of the Point Street Bridge. Bridge engineer Joseph Silvia, 53, who pinned McLaughlin to a girder until rescuers arrived, turned a note which he said McLaughlin had given him over to police. It read in part, "Please forgive me for killing myself." (AP Wirephoto)

Anaheim Woman Survives 'Miracle' Surgery; Has Yule Family Reunion

By JOAN S. WHITE

Home for the holidays!

These words spelled out the happiest Christmas ever experienced by Mr. and Mrs. James Kilduff and son Terry, of 412 No. Janss. Terry flew in from Sacramento where he is stationed with the U. S. Air Force at Mather Field — but infinitely more important was the fact that his parents were home from Philadelphia where Mrs. Kilduff had successfully undergone major surgery. Her recovery is a modern miracle of science and of faith, and is the reason why this particular Christmas is so meaningful to the Kilduff family.

Mrs. Kilduff underwent perilous double surgery of the heart and major abdominal surgery within a four week period. This was necessary to correct a condition brought about by repeated occurrences of rheumatic fever.

She was suffering from a condition which until this year has been fatal. Termed mitral stenosis and aortic stenosis because of the damage to the large valves of the heart, the insidious affliction had forced Mrs. Kilduff to a life of complete inactivity. Doctors could offer little encouragement.

In July of this year, Mr. and Mrs. F. Fairfield of Long Beach, long time friends of the Kilduffs, read an article in Time Magazine about th work being done by Dr. Charles P. Bailey. According to the article, in 1947 Dr. Bailey started performing successful surgery in the mitral valve, the medical term for which is mitral commisurotomy, and early this year had successfully performed the aortic commisurotomy.

The Fairchilds encouraged Mrs. Kilduff to write to Dr. Bailey. Her letter brought an immediate answer but held only slight hope since the damage to both valves requires the surgeon to perform two delicate operations in one in order to open both valves simultaneously. However, Mrs. Kilduff's supreme faith impelled Dr. Bailey to make the attempt.

So on September 23, Mr. and Mrs. Kilduff left Anaheim for Philadelphia with this spark of hope and many good friends pulling for them. There followed two and a half months filled with tense moments and anxious waiting for James Kilduff, but his wife never doubted for a minute the outcome of the operation.

The surgery has been termed a complete success.

Mrs. Kilduff is doing very well and will devote the next six months to convalescence.

"A good nurse is half the battle," says Mrs. Kilduff, and is pleased to have had Miss Nancy Arnao, one of Dr. Bailey's specially trained nurses, accompany her from Philadelphia to Anaheim.

They made it home for the holidays—the happiest Christmas ever.

A Pointer from the Philippines

By Rev. WM. McKINLEY WALKER
Wesley Methodist Church

This story comes to us from Manila:

Narcissa was a Filipino woman whose home was in the Luzon Hills above Manila. It was during the Spanish War and her nephew, whom she dearly loved, had gone out to fight the Americans and was captured.

Learning this, and believing that a prisoner's friends must furnish him food, she took provisions and went to Bilibid Prison. Here she saw here nephew and learned that he was well-fed and fairly comfortable and expected to be released soon and would go back home with her.

While awaiting his release, Narcissa heard a missionary street-preacher telling the wonderful things about a loving God. She had been told that one must buy favor of God. Noting Narcissa's interest, the missionary asked if she would love God. She said, "Yes, of course! Who could help loving such a God?"

She went back to her room rejoicing and happy, but couldn't read the little book, the Gospel of John, which the missionary had given her, in her own language,but she began to learn. She told her nephew about it. He could read a little and when he was released, he and Narcissa went home and at once began to tell their neighbors and friends what she had learned in Manila and showed them her little book. She and her nephew read the book to them.

Two years later, when the missionary visited the hill-country above Manila, he found a group of people who already knew the message of the love of God which he had come to bring them.

How many times do we miss telling the love of God and of showing it daily by our deeds to our neighbors in Anaheim? This holiday season would be a good time to begin and continue on through the year 1953.

Tennessee, Texas Evenly Matched for Cotton Bowl

DALLAS, Dec. 29. (AP)—Indications are that Texas and Tennessee will enter the Cotton bowl game Thursday with the shortest odds of any of the major New Year's day football clashes.

They certainly are the shortest in the 17-year history of the Dallas post-season game — a point and a half favoring Texas. Even that is too much, according to Coach Ed Price of Texas. Acting Head Coach Harvey Robinson of Tennessee thinks, it's not enough but he wouldn't broaden them by more than five and a half.

The odds opened at a point and a half two weeks ago. There has been no change and won't be.

Price says he doesn't know the reason his team is favored, even if it's by such a small margin.

In 1950 Texas was a touchdown favorite to beat Tennessee. And the game also was advertised as a struggle between offense and defense. Tennessee wasn't supposed to have much scoring power except through using the opposition's mistakes.

But lo and behold! Tennessee made 340 yards rushing and passing and scored three touchdowns while Texas, which was supposed to be a big ball of fire offensively, got only 243 yards and two touchdowns.

That has made the prognosticators cautious about what's going to happen in this game. Texas is rated much stronger offensively than the 1950 team but weaker defensively. Tennessee appears stronger defensively but weaker offensively.

Robinson had expected the odds to rise when it was definitely announced that Hank Lozar, the great Tennessee fullback, wouldn't be able to play because of an injury. But it had no effect. Price said Tennessee didn't need Lozar anyway.

Price did think that the dramatic return to the bench of Gen. Bob Neyland, head coach of Tennessee, would be a psychological advantage to the Vols. Neyland has been in Florida for his health but announced that he would fly to Dallas Tuesday to take over direction of the team. It might be his last game as head coach at Tennessee. Neyland is expected to retire to the job of athletic director only.

Anaheim Cagers To Meet Bellflower

Anaheim high school cagers will go up against Bellflower's quintet today in the high school's gymnasium.

The varsity game will follow a contest between the two schools' B teams which will begin at 2 p.m.

Bellflower fell to Anaheim once this season when the Colonists won 53-45 at Bellflower. It was the second game for the Anaheim cagers who ran into trouble with Bellflower's diversified defense system before finally starting to score with long shots.

Rain Halts Sugar Bowl Tennis Play

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29. (AP)—Rain halted the Sugar bowl tennis singles championship match today with Gardnar Mulloy leading Tom Brown, jr., 4-6, 8-6, 8-6.

Both title matches were reset for tomorrow.

The score of the first three sets will be carried over to tomorrow.

Playing in the doubles will be the team of Mulloy and Brown, San Francisco, against Halo Burrows, Charlottesville, Va., and Fred Kovaleski, Washington, D. C.

FANS ARRIVE FOR ROSE BOWL GAME—Cheering and waving as they arrive by train in Los Angeles Dec. 29, this group of Wisconsin rooters from Milwaukee and Madison, Wis., was part of a trainload of 300 to arrive for the Rose Bowl game in Pasadena on New Year's Day. Several trainloads of football fans arrived during the day bringing more than 1000 from the midwest.

Big Ten Football Fans Stream into Los Angeles as Badgers and Trojans in Final Drills for Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Dec. 29—Hundreds of Big Ten football rooters streamed into town today, the sun shone in its nicest fashion and the two Rose Bowl teams, Wisconsin and Southern California, launched into final drills for their New Year's Day date.

By special train, plane and automobile, Badger supporters arrived, headed by Wisconsin Gov. Walter J. Kohler and Wisconsin's 155-piece band which has sworn to score another Big Ten triumph over the Coast Conference music makers in the bowl Thursday.

The muscle men, meanwhile, resumed practices at their respective fields and approximately 100,000 eyewitnesses, plus millions of television watchers, got ready for the annual fray.

Expert opinion was still divided with the local horn tooters for the most part predicting a Trojan victory for the coast and an end to the long domination by Big Ten teams stretching back six games.

Much of the coast hope is based on what would appear to be superior reserve strength of Southern Cal in both offensive and defense platoons.

A large part of the Badger attack concerns left halfback Harland Carl, who missed three games entirely this fall but whose running average of 7.4 yards per carry gave him the best mark on the team.

Carl, however, is rated in the China doll class, easily broken, and even today is on the casualty list and a doubtful starter. He has a badly bruised right knee.

Wisconsin sources say Carl's replacement, Bill Hutchinson, at least can stand up under aggressive play.

In contrast, Coach Jess Hill of USC could lose any of his No. 1 backfield combination, including the key left halfback position, and there wouldn't be too much difference between the original and the replacement.

This means that if left halfback Jim Sears went out, Rudy Bukich would step in and handle the job almost as well. If right halfback Al Carmichael, or fullback Leon Sellers, were lost, their places could be well filled by Lindon Crow or in the fullback spot, by Harold Han, Desmond Koch or Addison Hawthorne, with the latter able to take over most any place in the backfield.

Jim Haluska, the Badgers' No. 1 T-quarterback, is a valuable man. His pass completions—112 out of 199 for 1410 yards—and field generalship make him so. But Ivy Williamson, the Badgers' coach, admits he would be hard-pressed if anything happened to Haluska.

Seixas, Trabert Crushed in Davis Cup Singles Play

ADELAIDE, Australia, Dec. 29. (AP)—Australia swept to its third straight Davis cup championship today as the great doubles team of Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor crushed Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert of the U. S., 6-3, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

The Australians who needed only the doubles win to clinch the prized trophy after opening day singles victories over Seixas and Trabert, played superbly.

The final two singles matches, to be played tomorrow night, U. S. time, will be anti-climactic.

On that day, Sedgman is slated to meet Trabert and McGregor to play Seixas, switching the opponents each faced Monday.

Sedgman, playing at the peak of his great game, defeated Seixas, the U. S. playing captain from Philadelphia, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3 in the opening set.

McGregor dumped Trabert, a Cincinnatian on leave from the U. S. navy, 11-9, 6-4, 6-1.

Trabert put up a game battle until he tired in the later stages.

The first set was a real thriller which was decided only when McGregor finally broke the sailor's service in the 20th game.

By contrast the exhausted American youngster lost his delivery four straight times at the end of the second set.

At the end he was just hanging on but still was trying for every point.

McGregor, like Sedgman before him, played one of the outstanding matches of his career in virtually putting a cup victory beyond reach of the Americans.

Sedgman, rated the world's top amateur, blasted Seixas with booming services and brilliant play.

COP Drills for Sun Bowl Game

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 29. (AP)—The only "play" in the Sun bowl for College of Pacific is the playing field, Coach Ernie Jorge ruled today. His 37-man grid squad arrived this afternoon for their New Year's day battle with Mississippi Southern.

Jorge vetoed a western welcome planned for the COP Tigers and rushed them to the practice field for a limbering up session.

The boys will attend the luncheons and the breakfasts and such other events as will fit into our practice schedule," Jorge said.

"But we came here to win a football game from a team that we know is good. And everything else is secondary to getting into the best condition and best frame of mind for that game."

Jorge plans only one heavy workout Tuesday, and will follow it with a light drill Wednesday. He said the squad is in excellent condition, although three boys reported slight colds after their long train ride from Stockton.

USC's Sears Wins Pop Warner Award

PALO ALTO, Dec. 29. (AP)—The University of Southern California's all-American backfield ace, Jim Sears, today won the Glenn Pop Warner award as the most valuable senior football player on the west coast.

Sears, who won AP all-America honors for his stellar defensive played edged out linebacker Donn Moomaw, of UCLA, quarterback Don Heinrich of Washington and fullback Johnny Olszewski of California.

Warner originated the single wing formation which USC employed this year in winning the Pacific coast conference championship.

"It pleases me no end to see a boy who can play on both offense and defense selected for this award in my honor," Warner said.

Sears was chosen by 400 Pacific coast sports writers, broadcasters and coaches. The Warner award has been presented annually since 1949.

Hank Mariho of Milwaukee, who was elected "Bowler of the Last Half Century," has rolled 11 perfect 300 games in league play.

Santa Clara to Quit Football

SANTA CLARA, Dec. 29. (AP)—Closing out two financially unsuccessful years of play, the University of Santa Clara tonight announced it was quitting intercollegiate football.

The announcement was made by the Jesuit school's president, the Rev. Herman J. Hauck, S. J., who said the decision was "regretfully" reached after a survey showed the university couldn't carry out an expansion program and other projects with continued losses at the football box office.

Although school officials said the final totals had not been reached, they indicated this year's football program cost the university about $80,000. Last year, Santa Clara lost about $72,000.

Except for its Gator Bowl triumph over Clemson last New Year's Day, the University of Miami football team has lost all of its road games in two years.

Jockey DeSpirito Pushing Hard To Break Record

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 29 (AP)—Apprentice jockey Tony DeSpirito, driving to break the world's riding record of 388, brought in four winners in seven races at Tropical Park today and pushed his total for the year to 385 with two days to go.

The whopping crowd of 15,197 gave the nervy little Lawrence, Mass., boy thunderous applause when he came whirling home to win the first, second, fifth and seventh races. He did not have mounts in the third and fourth, finished out of the money in the sixth and eighth, and was third in the ninth.

"I think I'll break the record now," DeSpirito said, "if I can just get the mounts.

His agent, Norman Sudduth, said he had six mounts for Tuesday "and I'm taking all the horses I can get."

Sudduth pointed out that many owners have their own jockeys or prefer other riders and it is difficult to get horses for DeSpirito in every race.

"I'm not riding as well as I know I can," DeSpirito said as he lay stretched on a cot in the jockey room between races. "I'm tense up there and can't seem to loosen up like I should.

"Usually I don't go to the whip much but now I find myself using it more. I'm not nervous—just kind of tight."

Lions Beat Browns 17-7 To Capture National Title

CLEVELAND (AP)—Detroit's Lions won their first National Football League crown in 17 years in a game that gave the lie to fans who say pro football these days is all forward passing.

In slamming the door on the Cleveland Browns seventh straight championship try yesterday, 17-7, Detroit netted only 59 of its 258-yard total gain on aerials.

It was a curious struggle on frozen ground for the 50,934 fans who shivered in Lakefront Stadium and millions who watched television warm in their homes.

First, the key run was a 67-yard touchdown sprint by halfback Doak Walker, who hadn't hit pay dirt all year. He missed half the Lions' games to rest a pulled leg muscle and didn't play when Cleveland lost, 17-6, in Detroit eight weeks ago.

Second, the Browns controlled the ball nearly two-thirds of the time, but the Lions held a comfortable point lead for all but a few minutes. Walker's run, midway in the third period, put Detroit ahead 14-0.

The Browns smashed back for their only touchdown four minutes later, with fullback Harry Jagade plunging 7 to cap a 67-yard drive. Just 12 more minutes and the Browns' hopes died on a 26-yard field goal by Lion fullback Pat Harder. Halfback Ken Carpenter fumbled a Detroit punt to set up this three-pointer.

The Lions played it cautiously in the last half, while the Browns piled up a big edge in statistics, which don't pay off.

Jugade, whose 104 yards rushing was tops for the day, took the second-half kickoff back 18 then broke away for 19 and 29-yard jaunts in a drive to the Lions' 25. Jim David spiked this threat by intercepting a pass that bounded off Carpenter's fingers on Detroit's 12.

In the final period big Marion Motley made the Browns' biggest ground gain by breaking away for 42 yards on a pitchout from Otto Graham. He went out of bounds on the 5 but lost 5 trying end the next play. Thurman McGraw smeared quarterback Graham for an 11-yard loss, while Otto hunted a receiver, then Dick Flanagan batted down a toss to give the Lions the ball on their 21.

Detroit Coach Buddy Parker said after the game:

"Our defense won it for us."

Alabama Favored By 13 to Win Orange Bowl Game

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 29. (AP)—If Syracuse upsets Alabama in the Orange bowl football game, it won't be because the Crimson Tide is overconfident, says Alabama Athletic Director Pete Cawthorn.

It was pointed out to Cawthon that bowl games are old stuff to Alabama, which has played in 10 of them before, and the Tide players might be taking it lightly. Syracuse, on the other hand, will be playing its first major post-season game is determined to make a good showing.

"Alabama hasn't played in a bowl game since the Sugar bowl in 1948," Cawthon replied. "None of the players on our squad ever appeared in a bowl. As a result, they have great enthusiasm. They want this one."

Bobby Marlowe, chief Alabama ground gainer, chimed in with: "I think we will win, but I know we'll have our hands full."

"It's an even game," added Coach Red Drew.

The odds on the New Year's day classic shortened today by half a point. Alabama, previously favored by 13½, now is a 13-point choice.

Drew said he was pleased with the workouts Friday and Saturday.

Underdog Rebels To Face Georgia In Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29 (AP)—Mississippi respects perfect football records and great teams—but isn't afraid of them.

The underdog Rebels, facing Georgia Tech's unbeaten and untied Engineers in the Sugar Bowl here New Year's Day, developed their own system for winning during the regular season.

The system, backed by solid reserve strength, is based on a well-balanced running and passing offense and a tough defense.

It brought Mississippi eight victories and two early-season ties in an unbeaten year that gave the Rebels seventh place in the national rankings.

Rebel Coach Johnny Vaught said he isn't planning anything new to throw at Georgia Tech, which won second ranking nationally.

But Vaught said Ole Miss has some tricks they didn't unveil in the regular season and, "Maybe we'll have a little something to surprise them."

Vaught didn't give a hint about what the tricks would be. But he has been known to show up at a crucial game with surprise weapons like spread formations, double wings and other unexpected formations and plays.

Vaught, obviously impressed with Tech's team, praised it highly.

"We're not as big as Tech physically," he said.

"Defensively, Tech's record is enough to scare you. They allowed only 173.2 yards per game. Nobody completed a long pass over their defending backs.

"And don't be fooled about Georgia Tech's offense. I think their 28-7 victory over Duke is the finest example of what its offense can do. Duke was unbeaten before that game. Tech showed tremendous power on the ground. Tech gained 322 yards against Duke. Leon Hardeman is good, but I like this Billy Teas. He had a great day against Duke."

Long Beach Golfer Wins Tournament Qualifying Round

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29. (AP)—Marshall Holt, little known Long Beach golfer, captured qualifying honors today in the 27th annual Los Angeles open tournament. He had two rounds of 69 for 138, one stroke better than Charles Congdon of Tacoma, Wash.

Congdon had cards of 70 and 69.

Eighty players qualified for the opening of the $20,000 championship and 68 were exempt from qualifying because of various tourney wins this season.

Other qualifiers included:

Ralph Lomeli, Fresno, 71-69; M. R. Lazano, Bakersfield, 68-72; Walter Keller, Los Angeles, 71-70.

BOTTOMS UP—Billy Vessels of Oklahoma, West back, is knocked off his feet and lands on his head in this second period play against the East at San Francisco. It was a two-yard gain to the East's nine. Looking things over from a recumbent position (left) is the East's John Guraki, Navy end. The East won, 21 to 20, with a touchdown in dying moments of the game.

Glamour Begins With Beauty Bath

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

After the bright lights of holiday festivities have dimmed, it is time to think about a better-beauty plan for 1953.

One of the easiest and best remembered routines is the bathtub beauty workshop. Every evening at bathtime all the beauty essentials may be assembled as constant reminders of good grooming.

If proper attention is paid to the big three in grooming — skin, hair and nails—in the coming year, a girl always can look as if she stepped out of a bandbox.

A slim figure is important, not only to personal happiness but for appearance's sake. So it is a good idea to work on a slimming program early in the year while you are in the mood to stick to your beauty resolutions.

Experts tell us that the bathtub is a handy instrument for dieters. Two baths a day, they say, are essential for reducers. Pore-elimination is all-important to rid the body of toxins generated when fatty tissues break down during a weight-reducing regimen.

Hair should be kept in good condition by frequent shampooing and brushing. The hairdresser can perform coiffure miracles if hair is shining and healthy to make his job easier. When shampooing the hair use a well-lathered brush around your hair-line to remove powder and cosmetics.

A soapy tub-scrub really pays off when it comes to hair and nails. Hands are likely to get more attention in the winter, because long sleeves focus the eyes on hands, nails and wrists, and with this season's emphasis on big bold bracelets, they'll rate extra glances, in formal sleeves.

If you get into the habit of scrubbing your nails daily with a brush, you won't need to use sharp instruments which roughen the under surface of the nail as well as the skin. Rough edges pick up and hold dirt.

While you're in the tub, give a special scrubbing to your knees and heels. Think of those extra-sheer party nylons you'll be wearing and don't risk snagging them on roughened skin.

The complexion, of course, should be treated to soap and water sudsings which should include the neck and shoulders. If the neck area is scrubbed with a washcloth frequently, it will be glowing and pretty for winter decolette gowns.

P-TA Lecture Series To Begin Jan. 6

Speakers who are exceptionally well qualified to lecture in the field of child education have been scheduled for the annual PTA lecture series, sponsored by the Fullerton PTA council and the Fullerton evening junior college, said Walter J. Pray, this week. The program which consists of four meetings to be held at two-week intervals, will be presented in the Chapman-Wilshire auditorium each time, and is open to the public without charge.

Mrs. Daniel Dailey, state chairman for homemaking and character education, will speak at the first meeting of the series, Jan. 6, at 7:30 in the auditorium. Her subject will be Homemaking and Character Education.

At the second meeting, Jan. 20, Dr. Floyd Bond and Dr. Lewis Perry, professors of economics at Pomona college, will discuss economic problems involved in parenthood as well as economic education in the home. Their spbject is "Pocketbook Problems for Parents."

Dr. William Parker, director of speech clinic at University of Redlands, will lecture at the third meeting, Feb. 10, on spech and behavior problems of children.

Dr. Parker is a specialist in the field of analyzing behavior problems of children and has had extensive work in psychology at the University of Southern California. His background also includes work in the speech and hearing clinic at the university.

Scheduled as speaker for the last meeting, Feb. 24, is Dr. Nathaniel Showstack, psychiatrist for the California Medical society, Terminal island, San Pedro. He will discuss the origin and treatment of delinquency from practical and hayman's point of view.

The PTA council and the evening college urge everyone to support these meetings which offer better information for Fullerton parents. Mr. Pray points out that the speakers are paid by the evening college, who in turn can finance the series on attendance ADA basis. Before attendance can be counted each person must attend a minimum of two meetings.

Ask For Margarine No Longer Oleo

Oleomargarine now can be sold under the name margarine. The prefix "oleo" can be dropped from the label, according to an amendment of the federal definition and standard of identity of oleomargarine.

Another change made by the new regulation is the raising of the minimum level of vitamin A fortification to 15,000 U.S.P. units. Previous requirement was 9000 U. S. P. units of vitamin A.

The name margarine actually is a more accurate label for the vegetable oil tablespread than oleomargarine, the national cotton council points out. When the product was first developed it contained meal oils or "oleo." Now the tablespread is manufactured entirely from American vegetable oils, derived chiefly from cottonseed and soybeans.

Stanton Lions Hold Family Christmas Party

The holiday party for families of Stanon Lions was given Dec. 22 in their clubhouse with an attendance of 75. A buffet of food planned particularly to suit the taste of children, topped by ice cream cones was served by the Lady Lions with Mrs. Bertha Tabatt as dining room chairman.

President Royal C. Marten introduced everyone present as Dan Cobb and Lewis McBratney passed out boxes of candy. Mrs. Florence Black, assisted by Mrs. Florence Muroka, had decorated the banquet tables with silver star trees, cones and berries, set off with clouds of angel hair and white tapers. Place favors were reindeer, glass horns, pixies and plastic stockings filled with suckers.

At 8 p.m. Robert Eriksen showed Christmas movies and Pete Pruett was Santa Claus before an enormous tree. As Santa passed out treats to the scout troops sponsored by the club and children of the community, he was amazed when "Mrs. Merry Christmas" walked in in a costume like his own. When she removed her mask it turned out to be Mrs. Pearl Rube.

The party concluded with Mrs. Marjorie McBratney, president of Lady Lions, accompanying the children singing carols. Marie Pebley, 3 years old, delighted the audience with a solo, "Jesus Loves Me."

Contributions of canned goods, money and gifts were collected for the Lady Lions to give to two needy families. Mrs. Mamie Coolidge and Mrs. Muraoka were given funds to supplement the baskets with fowl and perishable food.

Marten invited the members to attend the New Year's eve party in the club to start at 9 p.m. and the Stanton Red Cross canteen card party at 7:30, Dec. 27, proceeds to defray expenses for Christmas gifts to servicemen just home from Korea at Terminal island.

Charles Moores Hosts at Annual Christmas Party

Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Moore, 7232 Monroe st., Stanton, were hosts at their traditional Christmas party to 72 guests in the Stanton Lions Club, Dec 20th. "Val" gave this party in appreciation for the pupils and parents who have participated in her programs this past year.

The dinner featured "More," a delectable type of goulash, and was enjoyed by 32 families who responded to the "Come as You Are" invitation.

Mrs. Moore surprised the group by showing the colored movie shorts that will be released to the public of her pupils in authentic Hawaiian routines, taken on the lawn of her home.

After a gift exchange for the pupils, before a large tree, the parents swapped "white elephants" with much hilarity.

Games, music and dancing finished out the evening.

W. E. Fennells, Sr. Announce Arrival Of New Grandson

Christmas time brought more than just the usual seasonal gaiety to the William E. Fennells, Sr., of 723 So. Emily St., with the birth of a new grandson, David.

Born on Saturday, December 27, to Lt. and Mrs. William E. Fennell, Jr., David is also welcomed by a future "cops and robbers" or "Indians and cowboys" partner, brother Tommy, who is four years old. Lt. Fennell is stationed at Lawton, Okla., with the Air Force.

A. B. Paul Social Club Meets Today

The A. B. Paul social club will meet at the home of Irene Roberts, 678 No. Lemon st., at 12:00 noon today for a Christmas party. Members are not to bring anything, with the exception of a gift for the gift exchange. No table service is required.

Next spring will mark the 20th year that the Cincinnati Reds have held their spring training in Tampa, Fla.

Laguna Beach Gallery to Have Three New Exhibits in January

Three new one man shows will open Dec. 31 and continue through Jan. 28 at the Laguna Beach Art Gallery. The formal opening will be held on Sunday, Jan. 4 with the Monthly Tea sponsored by the Laguna Beach Garden Club.

In the Entresol gallery there will be exhibit of somt 26 oils by Arthur E. R. Van de Velde of Carlsbad, Calif. Mr. Van de Velde, who has been an exhibiting member of the Laguna gallery for some years is having his first one man show here. His exhibit will include paintings from his work over a period of years while living in various parts of America and Europe.

Mr. Van de Velde was born in Bruges, Belgium, and started to study art at an early age. He majored at the Royal academy in Bruges and at the Institue of Fine Arts in Antwerp.

His talent was recognized as a young man and he exhibited throughout Europe in one man shows and gallery exhibits. Many of his paintings are owned by private collectors and also the museum at Ostend.

Coming to the states some years ago he established a studio in the east and exhibited in current shows at Albany, Rochester, Auburn, Cayeuga, Ithica, Binghampton, Freeport and Cortland, New York as well as New York City. He established a studio on Long Island where he lived for many years, teaching and painting in the New England area.

He is a member of the Salmagundi club of New York, the Art league of Long Island and Boston Art association. After moving to the coast some years ago established his beautiful studio at Carlsbad and since then has been a regular contributor to exhibits throughout the west. At present he conducts classes in life and landscape at his studio in Carlsbad and has been one of the prime movers in establishing the Carlsbad Art league.

Included in his exhibit will be paintings from southern France, Belgium, New England, Arizona and California.

The lower gallery will be shared by Roy Keister and Merritt Boyer. Roy Keister one of our younger members is rapidly winning recognition as an outstanding western painter. He was born in Ohio and his art education began on the farm where he was raised and continued through his school days. When he reached maturity he decided he would be a commercial artist in order to earn his bread and butter and be able to continue his studies. His commercial work took him to Texas then to Chicago, where he was connected with some of the leading advertising firms, producing magazine and billboard art.

During this period all his spare time on week ends and holidays was spent in the country where he had a chance to portray nature in all her various moods. Marrying early in his career, his wife has been a great helpmate to him in assisting him to continue his studies and accompanying him on his trips. While a resident of Chicago he started to paint portraits, soon winning recognition in this field. He became a member of the famous Palette and Chisel club and a member and exhibitor of the Art Institute. His progress in portraiture encouraged him to desert the commercial field and devote all his time to painting. He started teaching in Chicago and surrounding territory.

In 1948 the Keisters sold their Chicago home and moved to the Rio Grande valley of Texas. Here he has met with much success, exhibiting and executing portrait commissions. He has been the recipient of many gold medal awards, honorable mentions and other honors in recent exhibits. He maintains his studio at Wesleco and is always glad to have tourists visit him. He is a member of the Chicago Galleries association, the Artists guild, the Palette and Chisel club of Chicago, the Artists guild of Carmel, the Texas Fine Art guild as well as the Laguna association.

Sharing the lower gallery will be an unusual exhibit of oil paintings by an artist whose work in the past few years, since he started painting, has attracted wide publicity and caused much comment. Merritt Boyer has evolved a style of cubist art which he terms "Symmetrical Painting." In his work he reduces everything to third dimensional figures, which are like puupet figures, in that they are cubistic and yet have a naturalistic feeling about them that makes them human. This unusual approach, together with his wonderful color sense, makes his paintings enjoyable to the ordinary layman, many of them having a humorous touch. Wherever he has exhibited critics have commented that in a few years these will be collectors' items, worthy to rank with the most modern contemporary painting of today.

Although a native son, he spent his childhood in Cuba, where his father had a tobacco plantation. It is probably this early background which gives him his love of brilliant color in his work. He is a graduate of the University of San Francisco and taught at the Alemeda high school for some years. Failure of his health took Mr. Boyer and his wife to Twenty Nine Palms in 1941, where he now resides. His sister, Lieut. Olive Boyer, U. S. A., paints in water colors and his father painted as a hobby. It is probably this inheritance that gave Mr. Boyer the urge to want to paint when he found himself living on a five acre homestead in the desert. He is self taught except for what he has gleaned from books on painting.

Recently he joined the Laguna Art association and several of his paintings have attracted much attention in membership shows. He has had one man shows in Carmel, Alameda, the Allen Gallery, Hollywood, San Francisco, as well as exhibiting in all the recent desert shows and galleries.

Stanton Teacher Entertains

Mrs. Marjorie McBratney entertained the parents and friends of 22 of her pupils at the Stanton Lions Community clubhouse Monday afternoon, last week.

The musical entertainment was an original play by Mrs. McBratney named "Christmas at Home." The children, from 7 to 17 years old, came in from skating to sit by the fireplace as they sang "Wish You a Merry Christmas," "Deck the Halls," "O Christmas Tree" and "Circle Dance" as they linked hands and danced around a huge decorated tree.

While singing "Good King Wenceslas" and "Away in the Manger," a group of carolers arrived singing "Wassail" and "God Bless You Merry Gentlemen," the small children passed plates of cookies and goodies.

In appreciation for the hospitality the carolers encored with "Adeste Fidelis," "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day" and "Angels at Home Heard on High." The entire ensemble joined in "Silent Night" as they started preparing for bed and Betty Johnson, 10 years old, softly spoke "The Night Before Christmas."

As the children dozed off Mrs. Pearl Rube appeared as Santa Claus to gift the group, followed by a tea at which Mrs. McBratney presided at the punch bowl.

Men Promised Cooler Summer

Next summer in going to be more comfortable for the well-dressed man, if a leading manufacturer of men's suits has anything to say about it.

A new wrinkle-resistant cotton cord suit recently has been introduced by Haspel Brothers in its spring and summer collection.

The cool cord fabric is a Dan River wrinkle-shed cotton. It is actually wrinkle resistant, completely washable, and fast drying. It needs no starch, only touch-up ironing, and is treated for mildew resistance.

The suit will be available in wide and narrow stripes and in a color range of blue, brown and gray.

Another comfortable suit to be made for spring and summer wear will be "dress-up" denim. This fabric became popular in 1952 as the warm weather version of gray flannels.

Eat Hopping John On New Year's Day For New Year Luck

A delicious and easy way to have a goodly on the services of Dame Fortune and Lady Luck throughout the coming year is to eat Hopping John on New Year's Day.

This dish was probably first used in the United States in Charlestown, S.C. The name "Hopping John" is derived from the French pois pidgeon. Pois pidgeon or pidgeon peas with rice, is eaten by everyone on the island of Jamaica and must have originated in the West Indies and then been brought to Charlestown.

Don't tempt fate or take a chance, eating Hopping John on the first day of the year. For that matter, the recipe is good enough to become a "regular" on the menu throughout the year.

This Hopping John is made with black-eyed peas and of course, rice. We believe the bay leaf and the spray of celery leaves will add a flavor so delicious that those who eat it will wish to know what secret seasonings have been used.

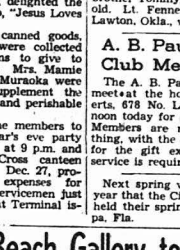

Ingredients

1 cup black-eyed peas
2 cups boiling water
½ pound salt pork or fat bacon
1 large onion, sliced
1 spray of celery leaves
1 small bay leaf
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups boiling water
½ cup uncooked rice
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Place peas and boiling water in a saucepan. Cover and allow to stand for two hours. Do not drain. Cut the salt pork or fat bacon in squares and brown in a hot skillet. After the peas have soaked, add the pork or bacon, the onion, celery leaves, bay leaf, salt and pepper. Add the boiling water and simmer in a covered saucepan until the peas are nearly tender. Discard the bay leaf. Add the rice and simmer in the covered saucepan until the peas and rice are tender. Add water if the mixture becomes too dry. More salt may be added if desired.

To serve, place the pieces of pork or bacon on top of the peas and rice and sprinkle with parsley. Makes six servings.

Pacific station in 1923. The first scheduled train arrived July 15. While the line was a white elephant as far as passenger service was concerned it was—and still is a bonanza for freight . . . Henry Meiser and the Burdorf families were largely responsible for the opening of the Harvard-Lemon streets joining Fullerton and Anaheim in 1924 . . . Jacob Sierra was one of the largest landowners in Northern Orange county. Now the oil companies are.

• • •

PASSING — Jess Mitchell, the Orangethorpe rancher, who took A. C. Berry to the Community hospital after his mishap, says the elderly Anaheimer isn't doing so well. Burns are serious, y'know . . . Johnny Vaheaviras is quite an estimator. He can figure manhours and materials. Beside that he can raise good yams and tomato crops . . . Mrs. Charles Cotten turns out some sparkling color photos with her Exakta. Incidentally, she not only is a neighbor of Adolf Schoepe, but she celebrates her birthday on Jan. 1, too . . . so does Chamber of Commerce president-elect Dick Crandall. Mary Wheeler who was reared in Anaheim, likewise, has a Jan. 1, birthday. Seems like Earnie Moeller started something when he suggested forming a club of "New Year's babies." He's one, too.

• • •

HEADLINERS — Clare Van Hoorebeke is our selection for the high school coach of the year. What he did with the Anahi football team was a miracle . . . James Roy Smith, the naval reserve commander, who is a champion when it comes to coaching championship swimming teams. He's well along on his second hundred . . . Able Paul Cook will do his level best to keep the Anaheim elementary school system a jump ahead of the population increase . . . Supervisor Ralph McFadden will make headlines when he gets signals at the corner Placentia ave. and 101—Manslaughter—boulevards. The supervisors considered them a year ago and are still considering . . . Del Crandall will make sportspage headlines this spring when he returns to the Boston Braves after a hitch with the army. He's a new papa who hasn't seen his firstborn. Anaheimers Bobby Adams and Hal (Skeets) Greer are also looking forward to the 1953 baseball season. They start limbering up next month . . . Danny Rowland predicts a brilliant future for Jerry Philp, the Detroiter who has been playing with the Anaheim Opti horsehiders. "He's better than any of the bonus babies they've signed in the last few years."

PARTING WORD—If you're disappointed by where you are in the world, it's probably because you didn't know where you were going when you started.

If I have freedom in my love
And in my soul am free,
Angels alone that soar above
Enjoy such liberty.

TODAY'S WORD — Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth.—Heb. 12:6.

• • •

GRAPE CITY—Raymond Holt, the former Anaheimer who is now the head librarian at Pomona, wrote a brief, concise history of The Old Home Town for the January issue of Westways. His article, "The City the Grape Built," is illustrated with five pictures of Anaheim landmarks of another day—the Planters Hotel, August Langenberger's store and a real Conestoga built in 1858, the Dreyfus Winery (1886), a so-called "wine room" building, and a picture of George Hansen. All the ancient landmarks except the winery have vanished with the passage of time. Anaheimers owe Historian Holt a vote of thanks for the fact-filled article. It's a gem.

BRIEFLY — Belcha Forrest (Buster) Callan, the former Orangethorpe rancher who now makes his home in Anaheim, is passively interested in the report that Charley Spurlock of Planada (near Merced) Calif., has perfected a perpetual motion machine. In the 1920's Buster had a perpetual motion wheel in his barn—Webb Linbarger, the inventor, just couldn't make his wheel keep rotating . . . Irv Milbrat, Jr., says his little brother is in the service. "He's been gone two weeks and I sure do miss him." That's the way it goes. Y'never miss anyone till they're gone . . . Joe Martin says there's nothing new under the sun—everything's been said and done before.

LIEUTENANT '53' JETS INTO JAPAN — "I'm here to defend Japan," says young "Lieutenant 1953" who stands on one wing of an Air Force 794 at an air defense base in Southern Japan. On hand to greet him were Akemi Kolima (center) and Yoko Sakaki. Lieutenant '53, who carries the shield of the 68th "Lightning Lancers" fighter squadron, is Jeffery Littlejohn whose daddy, Maj. Roger Littlejohn of Mundelein, Ill., is a Japan air defense force pilot.

Walter Knott Tells Rotarians The History of Knott's Berry Farm

Walter Knott yesterday told the Anaheim Rotary club the colorful story of the beginnings and growth of Knott's Berry Farm.

Mr. Knott, who described himself as a "fair farmer," said the berry place was 32 years old yesterday. He recalled that 32 years ago he and his wife drove a model 'T Ford loaded with "kids and possessions" to a little farm near Buena Park and "rented the place." Around the corner was an old house completely devoid of modern facilities, it didn't even have water, which the family rented for $8 a month.

He said he owned nothing at the time, but his kids got a good schooling at the public schools, "as good an education as well-to-do folks." Because of that he never balked at paying taxes; until, he added as an afterthought, "income taxes got so high."

During the depression, he related, the market fell out from under berries. "Necessity drove us toward the restaurant business," he said. "Little things," he pointed out, "change the whole trend of people's lives."

To make ends meet, the Knotts began to serve lunches in the berry season consisting of rolls, jams, jams and other light food.

Mrs. Knott declared at that time, "we are not going into the restaurant business." But, said Mr. Knott, the depression got deeper, so Mrs. Knott decided to sell chicken dinners from their roadside tearoom. The first day she sold eight dinners at 65 cents each.

The word, however, got around; the chicken dinner business began to thrive — so the Knotts made it a year-round business. They then began the expansion which has resulted in the present huge enterprise.

Leroy Ater, who introduced the speaker, described the farm as "the largest dinner place in the world" operated by a man who "buys the finest" of everything for his meals.

By 1937 Knott's business had grown to the point where he could expand the farm and begin to get money for things he always had wanted to do."

In 1940, he started the ghost town. His inspiration for the unusual venture was his grandmother who had lived with Mr. Knott's family for several years while he was a youth.

Mr. Knott said his grandmother was a "typical example of the pioneer woman" who "walked from Virginia to California in her life-time. After living for years in Texas she came to California by covered wagon in 1860.

In later years, she related to her grandchildren stories of the pioneer days. Walter Knott retained a vivid memory of the stories and formed an "impo.tant opinion" of the greatnes of the pioneer folk; and, he said, he received a "good understanding" of covered wagon days.

Sometime before coming to Buena Park, the Walter Knotts lived in the Mojave desert under conditions similar to pioneer times. In 1940, at his berry place, Mr. Knott undertook to create a "picture" of covered wagon days, because, he thought, the era should be preserved.

After days of thinking about it, he decided the setting should be a "town typical of covered wagon days." So, ghost town was born.

"If I had known in 1940 how much time and money would go into a ghost town, I probably wouldn't have dared to start it," he stated.

Many of the buildings have been collected from old, deserted towns. Some of the structures were in only a partial state of preservation. These, he said, were rebuilt exactly as they had been in the old days. Other buildings are almost complete originals.

Others heard from during the course of the meeting included Walt Taylor, Dr. M. Gaylord Brown, Mel Gauer, Tex Middleton, Bernard Jordan, John Dwyer, Richard Gay, Max Besler, and Carryl White. Arch Bake, presided.

New Year's Eve Service Slated At Zion Lutheran

On New Year's eve, Dec. 31, at 7:30 p.m., a farewell service to the old year and a service of welcome to the new year will be held at Zion Lutheran church, Emily and Chartres.

Pastor E. H. Pflug states: "New Year's eve has ever been a time for reflection upon the past blessings and benedictions of our Savior, Jesus Christ. A time of repentance for all of the mistakes and transgressions of the past and a time of joyous anticipation for the new year, knowing that in Christ Jesus a blessed new year awaits us."

The public is cordially invited to attend this New Year's eve service.

State Tours By Bus

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—For nature lovers who wanted to see the fall foliage in comfort, one bus company arranged two 00-mile tours of the state. The two tours, covering different parts of the state, each took almost five hours.

The United Transit Co. claimed you couldn't drive your own car safely and still see the countryside. In addition to motorists, the tours were patronized by business men in town for the week end and residents who had never seen the beauties of the state.

Mrs. Agnes Davis Dies in Rest Home

Agnes E. Davis, 84, a native of Morris Run, Pa., who came to California 48 years ago and who had resided in Anaheim for 34 years, died Sunday afternoon at the Cherry Rest Home after a brief illness. Her home at present was at 314½ E. Wilhelmina st.

She is survived by numerous nieces and nephews in the East and a very close friend, Miss Eva E. White, with whom she lived for 46 years. She was a member of the Methodist church.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Hilgenfeld chapel today at 2 o'clock. Rev. Wm. McKinley Walker, pastor of Wesley Methodist church, will officiate and burial will follow in Fairhaven cemetery near Orange.

Taxes, Highways, Education, Water Top Agenda of 1953 Legislature

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—In the short space of a week, the California Legislature for 1953 will convene in Sacramento with a galaxy of issues facing the 120 members of the senate and assembly, who have been elected by the people of the state to shape the future course of government.

Not a great deal of change in how the state's government is conducted is expected, despite the fact that the 1953 session is expected to be one of major importance in the handling of current issues on taxes, education, highways and water.

These four subjects, legislative leaders say, are bound at this session of the two houses to far outweigh any other measures that may be tossed into the hopper.

On taxes, there is the burning question of whether or not an increase will be voted to supply the mounting needs of government and the support of the school system of California.

Some officials contend that the increase is necessary to meet the requirements of the new constitutional amendment for increased allocations to the schools, while others declare the amazing surplus funds being garnered in by the tax collectors. The surplus monies, however, seem to disappear in a welter of legislative bills even before they are accumulated.

In any event, it has been pointed out that the growing state of California, and its growth has not diminished, during the expansive post-war period, must have additional funds to meet the needs of the people.

This is particularly true of highways, which are some three billions dollars behind the times insofar as keeping up with the demand of the motoring public, which includes virtually everyone in California. The issue of new taxes for highways, probably an addition to the present gasoline tax of perhaps one cent a gallon, will be separate and apart from the question of a tax increase for general fund activities, which include school support and the normal functions of government, such as new buildings for the department of mental hygiene, to take care of the overload of mentally ill, and new structures for the department of corrections, to house a growing group of individuals who have fallen into the toils of the law.

Some different procedures will be suggested for financing highways. It is a known fact that imposition of an additional penny on the gallon will be of major assistance in the program, that it will not correct the deficiencies shown up through engineering studies very rapidly.

Therefore, a proposal will be forthcoming to issue a half billion dollars worth of bonds, and obtain the funds quickly. The building program can be stepped up materially, provided sufficient monies are available. Over a period of ten years, the state could catch up with the deficiencies apparent at the present time, but of course those created during the ten-year period as the result of increased traffic, are another matter.

The legislators will also consider the matter of revenue bonds for huge water and power projects, such as Oroville Dam, and whether or not the state should take over the Central Valleys project from the federal government.

Gal Collects From Fiance

SIDNEY, Astralia (AP)—A 19-year-old girl plans to marry soon a man from whom she won $12,600 damages for a road accident.

She was a passenger in his car when it overturned. Her injuries were a fractured skull and a scalp wound which caused the loss of part of her left ear, leaving her with a permanent scar. She admitted under cross - examination that she became enraged after the accident.

1952 Was Busy Year for Orange County As Population Growth Forced Progress

Orange county moved ahead materially during 1952, as efforts were made to keep pace with the tremendous onrush of population, and provide adequate schools, hospitals, transportation, sanitation, water supply and other services that a growing community must have. At least some progress was made along all lines, although the year-end found the county still trying to catch up with its needs. Local government was busy along many avenues of activity. New schools were built by the dozens, although statistics on expenditures will not be available immediately, officials said. More new schools must be built in 1953.

A new and modern hospital, Hoag's Memorial, Presbyterian, at Newport Beach, was completed during the year, adding to facilities for care of the sick. Santa Ana Community hospital also expanded. Orange County hospital received several additions.

Water supply, the big project before the county in recent years, found improved prospects for solution, as progress was made toward completion of the Metropolitan Water District feeder lines into the county, to deliver Colorado river water, and another season of heavy rainfall appeared to be under way, following last season's bountiful precipitation.

Orange county's suit against four cities in Riverside and San Bernardino counties, to prevent increase in pumping from the Santa Ana basin, remained static during the year, except for moves to keep it alive, while this county watched progress of a move upriver to join MWD. If the upriver territory joins MWD the lawsuit probably will be dropped.

The Prado water salvage program also remained static during the year.

While bending every effort to bring more water into the county, the county must also control and conserve the water that comes into it naturally, such as rainfall, so the county flood control department had its part to carry on.

Chief flood control projects during the year were in the West Orange area, and East Tustin, while plans were started for the long-delayed Loftus diversion, which will control storm water of about 2½ miles near Fullerton.

At the demand of Anaheim officials, the county is planning a survey of the flood control problem along Carbon Creek, which annually floods Anaheim. Construction of a dam in Carbon Canyon long delayed by the army engineers, which is the key to the Carbon creek difficulty, received impetus from the California Flood Control Congress, which recommended a federal appropriation of $1,500,000 to start the dam. Similar recommendation to congress will be sought from the State Water Resources Board, which meets in Sacramento Jan. 8 and 9.

The flood control department is currently considering a plan for flood control in downtown Buena Park, involving works estimated to cost $125,000.

The county-wide sanitation program moved forward slowly during 1952, despite continued haggling between factions.

Associated Chambers Hit 18 out Of 24 on Proposition Selections

Recommendations of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county with respect to the 24 propositions on the election ballot last Nov. 4, coincided with public opinion on 18 of the propositions, it was reported to the Association's committee on legislation and taxation by the chairman, George E. Kellogg, of Yorba Linda, at a luncheon meeting in Santa Ana, Monday.

Votes of the state disagreed with the committee's recommendations on six of the propositions, Kellogg reported. These were: No. 1 (veterans' bonds carried); No. 2 (school funds), which was defeated; No. 10 (grand juries), which carried; No. 22 (hospital bonds), which was defeated; and No. 23 (superior court amendments), which was defeated.

Committee members, while expressing satisfaction that 18 of their selections went the lower, voiced dissatisfaction with the present system, which produces a multitude of special propositions, either as initiative or referendum proposals, or constitutional amendments, each general election.

"Much educational work is necessary to instruct the voters on the propositions before them, and, if possible, methods of reducing the number of these measures should be devised," said David Aaron, Buena Park attorney.

Supervisor C. M. Featherly, of Santa Ana, stated that there were too many propositions. There should be not more than a half-dozen, he said. Requirement that a two-thirds vote for adoption of a constitutional amendment be adopted would head off many such proposals, the members agreed.

The legislature should not refer so many measures to the people, the committee agreed.

Bradley Presents New Buena Park Flood Water Plan

Declaring that the state highway department's plans for handling the Santa Paula downtown storm water problem, created by construction of Manchester blvd., are both impractical and too expensive, County Flood Engineer Jack A. Bradley has presented to the county supervisors, as one of his final official acts, a new plan estimated to cost $125,000, as compared to the state's $140,000 proposal.

Bradley, whose resignation from his post takes effect Jan. 1, proposed a line starting at Seventh and Grand, following Grand ave. to Commonwealth, thence west along Commonwealth to Manchester blvd. and along Manchester to Fourth st. The line would be 36 inch in size along Grand, and 54 inches into an open ditch, lined with gunnite.

At Fourth st. it would empty into an open ditch, lined with gunnite, 14 feet in width. This ditch would carry the storm water directly west to a crossing of the Southern Pacific tracts at a trestle 1900 feet northwest of Western ave. thence southwesterly to empty into the Fullerton relief channel, west of Hansen rd.

The open ditch would have a carrying capacity of 200 second feet of water, Bradley estimated.

The plan, said Bradley, is designed to permit future extensions.

The state's $140,000 project which called for $100,000 from the county, proposed a 42-inch line along Grand ave. from Commonwealth to Manchester, and another line from Whitaker st., westerly along Manchester ave. to Grand ave.

Bradley objected to this plan as making no provision for disposal of the surface flow the lines would collect.

Pope Names New Indian Cardinal

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 28 (AP)—Pope Pius XII today named Archbishop Valeriano Gracias of Bombay as India's first cardinal.

The 52-year-old Indian prelate was named to fill the place vacated by Cardinal-designate Carlo Agostini, patriarch of Venice, whose death Sunday had threatened to prevent again a full membership in the College of Cardinals. The college has not had full membership of 70 in 200 years.

Tom Kuchel Reaffirms Stand on States' Rights in Fallbrook Suit

Fallbrook and state water rights will have a new champion in Congress when U.S. Senator-designate Thomas H. Kuchel of Anaheim takes his seat, it was evident today, as Kuchel reaffirmed his earlier stand against encroachment on state water rights by the federal government, as attempted in the Fallbrook case.

The federal government's suit to acquire all rights to water of the Santa Margarita river basin, for the Camp Pendleton Marine reservation, taking the rights of some 14,000 present users in the Fallbrook area, is still before the federal courts, and new legislation to block it and similar moves by the federal government is now proposed. This legislation would provide for facilities to develope water in the Santa Margarite basin adequate for the use of the present users and the military installation as well.

The new senator, who was appointed to the vacancy left by election of Richard Nixon as vice president, said he will take his stand for legislation that will protect state water rights and water law from invasion by the federal government.

Newly-elected Congressman James B. Utt of Santa Ana, also has announced his purpose of supporting such legislation and will make the Fallbrook case one of his first orders of business. He will represent the new 38th congressional district, comprising all of Orange county and much of San Diego county, including Fallbrook.

Kuchel said that he recognizes the need for reaffirming that the federal government must be restrained from coming into any state—such as the Fallbrook case—and attempting to subvert, pervert and take over state water law.

In Fallbrook, said Kuchel "the federal bureaucracy attempted by a lawsuit to wrest from honest California farmers their legitimate and lawful rights to water, to usurp these rights to the discredit of California water law, under a warmed-over theory of paramount rights and federal sovereignty.

"States have rights under the federal constitution, or at least they used to. We in California mean to enforce them. In Fallbrook, thanks to the vigilance of a free press, the federal new thinkers have retreated a little from their initial stand. But the philosophy back of that stand remains a part of the present (Truman) administration, and until it is replaced, this insatiate desire for power will remain."

In his office as state controller, which he is now vacating, Kuchel said he had direct contact with the grasping federal forces, through his membership of the State Lands Commission and State Water Authority, where he was faced with the tidelands suit and the federal attacks upon local irrigation projects in the San Joaquin Valley.

County Chambers Oppose Changing Of Freeway Name

Proposed changing of the name of the Santa Ana freeway to the Los Angeles-San Diego freeway, as considered by the state highway commission, will be determinedly opposed by the combined forces of the Orange county chambers of commerce, it has been disclosed.

Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county, representing all business interests of the county, will demand that the state commission delay its decision on the change of name until the Orange county group has opportunity for a "meeting of the minds" with respect to the proposal.

Walter Schmid, chairman of the highway committee of Associated Chambers, said the organization hopes to "nip in the bud" the proposal for changing the name. First move in the protest will be to ask for postponement of a decision by the state commission until the local organization can be heard.

Notices of the Associated Chambers' protest will be forwarded to members of the highway commission, its freeway engineers, and the Orange county supervisors, it was stated.

Suggestion that the name Santa Ana freeway be changed to Los Angeles-San Diego freeway originated with the Oceanside chamber of commerce about six weeks ago, it was learned. The state commission considered the proposal at its last meeting, but made no decision then.

SAYS RUSSIANS KIDNAPPED HIM — Sgt. Horace Sincore of Homestead, Fla., sits at a microphone in Berlin at his meeting with newsmen Dec. 26 to tell his strange story of a month-long detention by the Russians and of his release in pitch darkness of a forest more than 10 miles from the American zone in Berlin. At right Major Morris Zimmerman, of Hackensack, N. J., a public relations officer, holds the uniform Lt. Sincore wore when he disappeared while on maneuvers with his ouefit. Sincore said he was picked up at gunpoin by an eastern zone patrol a block and a half from the Soviet zone border.

S. African Fishermen Catches 'Fossil' Fish

DURBAN, South Africa, Dec. 29 (AP)—A noted fish authority who has been searching 14 years for a good specimen of a fish once believed extinct said today his search had ended with "one of the most important discoveries made in science."

The scientist, Prof. J. B. Smith South African icthyologist, won a 3000 mile race in a government plane to reach the the dead fish before it decomposed.

Smith announced his success tonight after returning to Durban from a tiny islet in the French-owned Camoro group between Madagascar and the East African mainland.

Smith, weary but triumphant with his fish in a carefully guarded crate, told a crowd who met him at the Durban airport:

"Yes it, the fish, is a coelacanth—of a new type. It is one of the most important discoveries made in science. That we are able to bring it back to Africa is due to the prime minister's swift appreciation of the fish's significance.

The coelacanths were the first family of bony fish, believed to have evolved anywhere from 200 to 350 million years ago and long known only as fossils. Earlier fish had skeletons composed of something like cartilage, like modern sharks. The coelacanths are believed to have been an important link in the evolution of sea vertebrates into land vertebrates, including man. The fish's scientific name is latimeria chalumnae.

The specimen, the second caught in African waters within 14 years, is a grotesque creature five feet long with a bluish tint. Smith was delighted to find it in a good state of preservation. The first specimen, caught off South Africa and also identified by Smith, was so imperfectly preserved that anatomical study was difficult.

The new specimen was caught more than a week ago by an African fisherman. An acquaintance told him it was valuable. In this way it came into the hands of a schooner trading between Zanzibar and Madagascar. Hunt told the world by cable that another coelacanth had been found.

The fisherman who caught the living fossil had slit the flesh and rubbed in salt to preserve his catch. When Hunt received it he had no refrigeration but an ample supply of a preservative.

In a radio interview tonight Smith told of his agonizing delay in arranging for swift passage to the island and of the government's aid in furnishing the plane. At that time it was feared preservation might be imperfeect. Smith began his flight to the Camoros early yesterday.

Within the next few days Smith plans to make a scientific examination of the fish's anatomical structure.

IN THE DAYS OF LONG AGO

From the Files of Anaheim Gazette

By MRS. HENRY KUCHEL

25 Years Ago

Miss Nell Robertson, president of the YLI presided at the regular meeting of the society on Tuesday evening. Installation of Miss Beryl Kennedy as second vice president and Miss Agnes Stillwell as trustee formed a part of the regular business meeting. Plans for the annual ball to be held at the Breakers hotel, Long Beach next month, were made and a committee was appointed to make arrangements.

After five years of service as rector of St. Michael's Episcopal church, Rev. A. G. H. Bode has tendered his resignation, in order to accept a call to St. John's church at South Pasadena. Departure of Rev. Bode from Anaheim will be deeply felt in many lines of endeavor. He and his family have made themselves extremely popular during their five years residence and the good wishes of all Anaheim will follow them to their new home.

Miss E. Brown was granted a permit Tuesday to build a stucco residence on North Pine street at a cost of $4000.

Samson Edwards and wife were in town one afternoon last week. They have just returned from a trip through the Yosemite in their own conveyance.

Workmen have been engaged this week in tearing out the front of the old brick building belonging to Mrs. Mitchell on Center st. alongside of the new brick block going up on the corner. A new front will be put in to conform to that of the new block. The foundation for the new block has been completed, and a gang of mechanics are engaged upon the superstructure.

Mrs. Robert J. Burdette of Pasadena addressed the Ebell society at Santa Ana on Saturday evening. Her subject was "Verbal Biographs."

A district convention of Rebekas will convene at Santa Ana on Saturday. Members will represent lodges from Orange county and Whittier. There will be present Mrs. Benjamin, president; Mrs. Madison, president and Mrs. Jensen, vice president all of Los Angeles and Mrs. Donohue, secretary, of San Francisco. The meeting will be under the auspices of Sycamore lodge.

M. Calisher arrived on the train last evening. He will remain here a few days and then proceed to San Francisco to purchase a stock of goods for his Arizona store.

Ben Dreyfus is expected to arrive in San Francisco this evening.

A Praise meeting will be held at the Presbyterian church tomorrow. Moody and Sankey's hyms will be used. All, young and old, are invited to be present and join in the exercises and help swell the refrain.

Constable Smith of San Joaquin was in town yesterday for the purpose of arresting the chinaman who did the shooting at Raine's hop-yard Saturday. The Mongol could not be found.

A disease has broken out among the cattle in Westminster and Bolsa Chica, causing great alarm among the dairymen and stockraisers. It assumes the form of a bloody murrain and all efforts to check it have proved futile. Thomas Edwards has lost 12 cows, Samson Edwards nine, Henry Rogers six, Carney and Haley four. The distemper has also appeared among the herds of Carey & Sons, and John Meyers in Bolsa Chica. In the Willows and near the Mesa large numbers have died. The disease is generally attributed to salt grass and alkali water.

Mr. Fischer yesterday received advices from John P. Zeyn. His friends will be glad to learn that he is improving very rapidly—in fact he began to improve while yet on the journey to San Francisco.

Electricity... today's biggest bargain

Electricity for your home is the only thing you pay less for today than ever before. Edison rates have been reduced many times during the past thirty-one years, without a single increase. But in the face of inflation, high prices and staggering taxes it is no longer possible to provide electric service at the lowest rates in Edison history.

However, the rate relief Edison has requested of the California Public Utilities Commission will amount to less than a penny a day—twenty-five cents a month—for the average domestic customer. Even with an adjustment your electric rates will still be at pre-inflation levels, and electricity will still be today's biggest bargain!
