Bank of America In East Anaheim To Open June 6th

Willard Colean has been named manager at Bank of America's East Anaheim branch which will open early in June. Colean, whose banking career dates back 35 years, joined Bank of America's Fullerton branch in 1941 where he became an officer.

WILLARD COLEAN
In 1946 and head of the Time-plan department in 1953.

Born in Kansas, Colean attended high school and college there and has also studied at American Institute of Banking, the educational wing of American Bankers Association.

Active in Community Affairs—Long-active in community affairs in Fullerton, he is past director and treasurer of Community Chest; present director and chairman of finance committees, Kiwanis Club and Izaak Walton League; and is a member of Royal Arch Masons, American Legion, and Chamber of Commerce. His wife, Mable, is director and past president of Ebell Club and has held various other important offices in California State Association of Parliamentarians, Crippled Children's Relief Association, Girls State, and Begonia Society.

In East Anaheim Center
Location of the new branch is the East Anaheim Center, which will hold its grand opening June 5 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Address of the branch is 2032 Anaheim-Olive Road. The bank will be open for business Friday, June 6, at 10 a.m. and will be open each Friday until 6 p.m. other days until 3 p.m.

According to Colean, the branch will have 8,762 square feet of floor space on its main and mezzanine floors. Streamlined, glass-topped teller counters will provide space for 17 teller stations when future growth requires that many.

The new branch will provide complete metropolitan banking services, including escrow and safe deposit facilities and a night depository.

New Manager at Safeway Store

New manager for the Anaheim Safeway Store is Robert Mansell. Mansell said, "Go easy on that Robert," just call me "Bob," please. "Bob" has been in the Safeway organization for 17 years and is happy over his transfer to the Anaheim location which was handled so efficiently for more than ten years by Joe Richard. Bob has worked in Safeway stores in the city of Orange and in L.A. His last assignment was in the store at Paramount.

YOUR LEGISLATOR AT WORK!

Whether or not the water-logged jam which has tied your legislature in knots for the last several weeks will have been blasted loose by the time this appears in print cannot be foretold. Certainly, all hands, including the governor, have been heaving mightily at the deadlocking water issue, and something may have already come from their labors as you read this.

Two and a half solid days of conferences from each house of the legislature and the governor demonstrated that your legislators are fully aware of the grave responsibility laid on them to work out an equitable solution to the water problem. Slowly, and sometimes acrimoniously, there was forged in these days of conferring what many representatives from both ends of the state believe the basis for acceptable water legislation.

The fact that the budget bill was still in the hands of the fourth compromise committee which tried to work out the differences between the two houses gave a unique opportunity to have this idea pre-tested by both. But to make absolutely sure that some action on the budget be completed as soon as possible, a second line was also developed for action in case the first one was wrecked by the irreconcilables.

One thing now appears certain. That is, that we will still be in session during the week in which you read this. Much still remains to be done on the 50 items on the agenda of the first special session. Bills relating to about a third of these items passed both houses, and many of them are now law. Others progressed steadily through the legislative mills. Our success in this respect was practically the only compensation we got to offset the stalemate on water.

Despite our eagerness to get home to our various districts, there have been disquieting rumors that the fourth compromise committee may not be able to reach agreement on the budget, even if amended in accordance with suggestions worked out in the conferences with the governor. If no agreement is reached, and the committee members report no further possibility of one, under our rules it will be necessary to appoint a fifth compromise group, and the wrangling could go on for weeks more.

One thing is dead certain. That is, your legislature will have to pass a budget bill before June 30 so your state government can continue to operate after that date. We simply cannot permit schools and colleges to close because no funds for their needs are appropriated, nor can we let the courts be shut down, or any other state function.

Massachusetts has required since 1827 that prisoners must be "constantly employed for the benefit of the commonwealth."

The controversy with Massachusetts over the eastern boundary of Rhode Island was settled in 1861.

The Rhode Island General Assembly held its first session in the new State House at Providence on Jan. 1, 1901.

Mrs. Mary Shearer Is Lucky Mother

Mrs. Virgil (Mary E.) Shearer, 1636 E. Elm, Anaheim, was the lucky mother, and also the surprised mother, last Saturday afternoon when she answered her telephone and was informed that her name had been selected from hundreds of others at the East Anaheim Center as the "Lucky Mother of the Year."

Mrs. Shearer learned, that by this selection, she is entitled to a list of 18 or more special awards provided for the occasion by the East Anaheim Center merchants.

YOUR LEGISLATOR

But whether the budget adopted will have any funds in it for water project construction, or whether it will not, is a question which no legislator can safely attempt to answer right now. If a budget with no water funds is passed, it now seems a foregone conclusion that another special session on water will be called soon after. Staunch supporters of both the northern and the southern positions on water legislation are in solid agreement on that.

Believe me, more than one of us has wistfully wished that all the water of the recent heavy rains could have been bottled up and given, gratis, to the thirty southern part of this great state of ours.

the process of painting a ten-foot wide landscape picture on one of the walls in their living room. Modestly Mrs. Shearer exclaimed, "The room needs redecorating anyway, so if the picture doesn't work out, I'll paint over it." But Mrs. Shearer has what looks to be a real professional start toward her California landscape and it will be a real conversation piece in their home.

As to the prizes: Mrs. Shearer was asked Tuesday afternoon if she had received them all yet. "Oh, no," she answered, "We've been so busy going to the East Anaheim Center stores that we haven't got around to all of them yet." "We certainly do appreciate all of the gifts," she added "and it's wonderful that such a thing as a hobby Mrs. Shearer is now in has happened to me."

SCHOOLS

A NATION'S BULWARK

In 1937 Bank of America underwriting groups furnished $289,088,000 for school construction, repairs, equipment and upkeep. Thus assuring carrying out the sound educational curriculum piloted by California's school administrators and carried out by able teachers.

From January 1947 through 1957 1 1/2 billion dollars was provided by Bank of America underwriting groups to meet California's growing educational requirements.

Between 1930 and 1957 California's population increased from 10,586,223 to 14,160,000. To meet the needs of this ever-growing population for water, adequate hospitals, sanitary facilities, airports, highways and other necessary requirements, Bank of America underwriting groups supplied California communities with over 2 billion dollars.

Washington REPORT

By Your Congressman
JAMES P. VITT

Recently I recounted my visit to Cape Canaveral in Florida, which is the missile testing center. The following week-end I went for an over-night trip on the USS Seawolf, which is an atomic-powered submarine based at New London, Connecticut, the only submarine base on the continental United States. Here are located the submarine construction shipyards operated by the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics. The Seawolf has been in operation for 18 months, and it will be another 18 months before it has to refuel. It can stay submerged indefinitely, whereas any diesel-powered submarine has to surface regularly to recharge its batteries. No air-breathing engine can operate submerged due to exhaust problems, and when submerged, a conventional submarine must be propelled entirely by electric batteries. While Russia has several hundred submarines, it does not have a single atomic-powered submarine to the best of our knowledge, so that their submarine fleet is rapidly reaching obsolescence.

We were submerged from 200 to 700 feet in depth, for more than eight hours, and were told that of the SONAR equipment picked up the signal of a Russian submarine, we could expect to be absent without leave for many days while they were tracking it down. Luckily, none was picked up, and we returned to New London the next day.

The Seawolf is powered by a sodium atomic reactor, while the Nautilus has a water-type atomic reactor. Some trouble with a super-heating apparatus developed, so they are bypassing this stage. This causes some reduction in the efficiency of the operation, but it is still more efficient than the water-type reactor in that the circulation of the fluid is done magnetically rather than with pumps. The submarine is driven by steam turbines and is capable of exceedingly high speed under water. It is very maneuverable, and can submerge and surface at about a 45° angle. There was a complement of about 75 men and officers, together with more than 40 trainees in preparation for additional submarine crews. It is equipped with very sensitive SONAR devices which continuously chart the bed of the ocean, indicating the smallest rise or depression in the sea bed. These SONAR devices, like a radar, pick up the slightest vibrations coming through the water for hundreds of miles. These vibrations are amplified thousands of times in order to be plotted on the chart. These charts are interpreted by experts, and they can tell whether the noise is picked up from a merchant ship, a battle ship, or a submarine.

Three days before we made this trip the Seawolf was on maneuvers and picked up the vibrations of a Russian submarine, and spent some time tracking it, but it moved far out into the Atlantic. They can tell when a Russian submarine "snorkels", which means that it has come close to the surface without surfacing, and has raised a periscope-type, they can run their diesel engines of intake and exhaust, so that to charge their batteries for a few hours with nothing more than a small pipe showing above the surface. Prior to the use of the "snorkel" it was necessary to completely surface, and their presence was picked up by radar and they were immediately vulnerable to attack. The Seawolf can travel to Europe and back completely submerged, or it can go under the polar ice cap from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean in the dead of winter. It is being equipped with missiles that can be fired from deep below the surface into the air, and which will automatically seek out their targets as they drop back into the ocean. The submarine fleet of the future will be a very important branch of our service in the defense of our country.

The training for submarine personnel is most rigorous. This includes not only mechanical operational maneuvers, but also escape training. Every man has to practice being released in a tank of water 100 feet deep, where the pressure is about 50 pounds per square inch, and some to the surface. When the lungs are filled with air under 50 pounds pressure, the volume of air so far exceeds the lung capacity at the surface, that the man must exhaust this air rapidly on his way to the surface, otherwise his whole body would explode. I have great respect for the men in our submarine fleet.

America's first submarine was the Turtle which was built in Connecticut and operated for a short time in the Revolutionary War.

GOLF is the hobby of P. R. Palmer of San Francisco. He states, "Boron gives me a smoother running motor."

LAKE MEAD PILOT TELLS SECRET

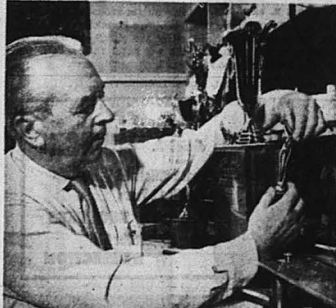

"CHRIS-CRAFT engines in our boats give smoother performance on Boron," says W. H. Tomlinson of Boulder City, Nevada. "My '55 Ford performs better on Boron, too!"

MACHINIST'S HELPER, Austin Yancey, of Wenatchee, Washington, knows a lot about engines. "Since I started using Richfield Boron," he reports, "I've been getting 3 more miles per gallon."

TROPHY MAKER FINDS A REAL WINNER

DESIGNING TROPHIES is the occupation of Thomas Ryan, Jr., who lives in San Diego. He told us, "I've got a Cadillac. On overhauling it recently, the mechanic was amazed at the lack of carbon. I give Richfield and Boron all the credit for this."

MT. HOOD ski instructor, W. H. Truswell, says, "Boron is the only gasoline that gives me instant starts in the coldest weather."

People who have tried them all say—

NOTHING MATCHES RICHFIELD BORON.*

*Only at Richfield stations can you buy a Boron gasoline in the West. Boron is the high-energy element now being used with spectacular success in fuels for jets, rockets and missiles. In a gasoline, Boron creates a completely new type, years-ahead motor fuel. It gives even the latest model cars all the octane power they can use. You enjoy more power...smoother anti-knock power with your very first tankful. Join the thousands who say nothing matches Richfield Boron!

LAW IN ACTION

ACCRETION

In early days bitter disputes arose over land boundaries, especially where marked by streams. For as the stream bed shifted, the boundaries changed.

With years a river could slowly add land to its east bank, say, at the expense of the land owner on the west bank. Here the law of "accretion" helps to set boundaries and thus end disputes.

1. Where land forms imperceptibly upon a stream's bank, that land belongs to the owner of the bank (subject to any existing right of way over it).
2. Except where the land grant says otherwise, the owner takes to the ordinary high water mark when the land borders to tidewater.
3. When the land borders on a tideless navigable lake or stream, the owner takes to the edge of the water at low-water mark.
4. In other cases the owner takes to the middle of the lake or stream.

Land deposited imperceptibly by accretion belongs to the owner of the bank.

When a stream tears away a large piece of land, the owner who lost it may reclaim it within a year after the other land owner takes possession of it.

The rule of accretion applies only to rivers and streams. But a similar common law rule applies also to land on the ocean, depending on the parties' intent.

The law of accretion, like other law, serves two main purposes:

To forestall disputes and to do justice. In the early days, when violence might break out over a question of boundary, both purposes were important—as they are today.

Note: California lawyers offer this column to you may know about our laws.

WHAT'S DOING

H. I. Perry, your Telephone Manager in Anaheim

If you're on the go these fine spring weekends, you won't often be far away from a phone. We install phone booths where you're most apt to need them. Last year more than 2500 new ones went up in the Pacific West. You'll find these handy booths in vacation spots and in everyday places, too. By finding out where the demand is greatest, we're able to select the locations that are most convenient for you. Near busy street corners. In hotels, drug stores, gas stations. Wherever you go, your phones away from home make your service even more valuable to you.

Next time you see a group of telephone men at work, take a good look. Bet you'll notice they're all wearing glasses. These are individually-fitted safety glasses. And they're a big help in preventing eye injuries. The glasses are made so they won't shatter even under a heavy blow. The way we look at it, our people are the biggest asset we've got. And your best guarantee of good service. So we're strong for safety around here.

BE SURE TO SEE PACIFIC TELEPHONE'S LECTURE DEMONSTRATION, "AN ADVENTURE IN SOUND" when you attend the Orange County Fair to be held May 23 to June 1. You will hear the sound of a jet boring a hole in the sky, of a train pulling into a station, of a thunderstorm unleashing its fury. A comparison will be made between Hi-Fi, Binaural and Stereophonic sound. Exhibited on a mammoth portable stage, the sound demonstration explores the progress of sound recording and reproduction during the past 80 years. It includes sound transcripts from Alexander Bell's first telephone call; Edison's "talking machine", the Gramophone, the wax disc and the modern juke box. Come see, hear, and enjoy "An Adventure in Sound."
