89 Years of Devotion to All That Is Good in Anaheim

VOL. LXXXVIII — ANAHEIM, ORANGE COUNTY, CALIFORNIA — 11 — THURSDAY, AUGUST 27, 1959—NO. 10

Little ... Notes

by Bill McCance (Editor)

CHARITY AND RACKETS — Each year as the smooth running United Fund appeal in Anaheim hits its stride, many probably wonder about other campaigns which appear to go-year-around and are nothing but reptetive fund drives by quasi-charitable organizations.

We refer mostly to those drives proposing to raise funds to search for find and develop cures for hundreds of diseases.

While this reporter can see nothing but good and logic to a United Fund composed of 14 local groups, he is sickened by the continual drive for funds by other groups where most of the money raised goes into the pockets of organizers-solicitors.

How many business men have hoped for the day when they did not open a letter appealing to them for funds? How many residents have prayed for the day when of their co-workers wasn't asking them to donate for something?

With a United Fund Anaheim has combined separate appeals into one large community teamwork project.

Under the present setup in Anaheim more than $200,000 is raised annually by the United Fund. Cost of such a campaign is approximated at $6,000 annually due to stock, year-around professional direction and 10-week campaign.

Of course, to be fair about it,

Gazette Changes Phone Number, Office Expanding

If you haven't noticed the Anaheim Gazette this week is sporting a new telephone number.

It is PRospect 2-1800.

The reason is simple—the Gazette office has expanded with the editorial staff and publisher moving to the second floor of the Masonic Lodge building.

The offices formerly were occupied by Anaheim Elementary School District administrative staff. They moved into the old Broadway School.

Nothing has really changed except the telephone number. The address and location of the Gazette offices are the same.

Mayor Predicts Taller Apartment Units in Anaheim

Speculation that Anaheim residents may some day see four and eight story apartment house buildings constructed here has been made by Mayor A. J. Schutte.

The mayor during a discussion on another R-3 (mutiple dwelling) case made the observation Tuesday night.

PROTESTS HEARD

He made the remarks in answers to protests by Andy Van Rassel, 1911 N. Loara St., who took issue with the request by Joseph D. Kopsho Jr. for elimination of some conditions in the already granted change of zone to C-1, R-2 and R-3 on the east side of Euclid Ave., between La Palma and Crescent Ave.

Van Rassel contended that under the new proposal by the de-

Professor's Ostriches Good Racers

Back in 1896, when Anaheim was a village, Center Street was a dirt road and its citizens were grape growers, life was every bit as interesting as it is today with its bustling activity and rapid progress. The Gazette at that time as it does now recorded interesting happenings and its citizens read about them with eager curiosity.

One Professor Frantz, at that time provided good reading material for the citizens of Anaheim and the Gazette printed his activities from time to time. Reprinted here are excerpts taken from the Gazette files arranged in order and in their original quaint phrasing, providing an interesting short story of one of Anaheim's more colorful citizens of 1896.

Professor Frantz has purchased a couple of young ostriches and may be seen any afternoon out

Schools to Review New Course In 'Sex Education' Controversy

HOW DEEP IS IT?—That's what this construction worker asks about this huge puddle at Buena Vista and Euclid in Anaheim. This situation will be corrected with the work now underway to resurface Euclid. City officials pointed out that the street will be lowered and Buena Vista, now only a temporary road to a new subdivision, will be brought up to standards. Meanwhile, residents are reminded of a recent notice carried in the city's newsletter entitled, "Mosquito (Slap) Time Again." The article warns that mosquitos breed in standing water. They suggest that residents can help by controlling excess sprinkling of lawns, allowing water to run in the gutters. Anyone see signs of gutters in this photo?—Gazette photo.

'Outline' Ready for Trustees

Anaheim High School District Trustees are expected Monday to take final action on the new, mixed-group "health and safety" course which initially is responsible for the current sex education controversy here.

Supt. Paul Cook reported that the board Monday night at 7:30 will act on the outline of the course scheduled to begin for the first time this semester. More than 3,000 boys and girls as a mixed group each will take the course for a semester.

FIRST TIME

The plans by the high school district offer such a course for the first time to a mixed group was brought to light recently by the Anaheim Gazette.

Cook has denied that the course can be considered "sex education" despite sections of the proposed text book, "Modern Health."

First Wave of United Fund Drive Opens This Morning

The first wave of Anaheim's United Fund drive will be launched this morning with a breakfast meeting beginning at 6:30 a.m. in the YMCA. Walt Taylor and his 12 teams will open the advanced gifts solicitation.

Mayor A. J. Schutte and Clyde W. Cromer, Chamber of Commerce president, in statements issued today are calling upon the citizens of Anaheim to support this year's appeal.

"Our community has one of the most successful United Fund campaigns in the state last year," Schutte noted.

"Our fund, covering the area of the Anaheim Union High School District, was the first community of United Fund in Orange County to go over the top."

Chamber president Cromer in a letter to members states:

"It was through the efforts of our Chamber of Commerce that the United Fund came into being, having had its origin in the Community Chest. We were convinced that one great teamwork effort should replace the 14 separate appeals that not only falled in reaching their respective goals, but took entirely too many hours of individual effort and duplication of many cost items."

Pre-Registration For Elementary Schools to Close

Registration for pupils to the Anaheim Elementary school district will close tomorrow.

The registrations are being held in each of the district's schools between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Parents of all pupils in grades kindergarten through six, and who did not attend elementary schools last year, are urged to see that their children are registered before the close of the day.

Parents are required by state law to furnish proof of age for children who will be registered in kindergarten or first grade.

Home Bowling Alley No 'Fun' for Council

Henry Blou, 214 N. Grand, Anaheim can build a private two-lane bowling a ley next to his home despite councilmen taking nearly 30 minutes to make up their minds on the matter.

They were informed Tuesday night that special permission is needed for home bowling alleys since construction is not spelled out in the building code for residential zones.

Plou said that he has been advised by a doctor that the exercise the new bowling alley will provide will help clear up his back ailment.

Councilmen insisted that if the alleys are constructed, they should be enclosed and sound proofed.

ALL FOR THE CAUSE—Adolf Schoepe, doing a little clowning, hands Fred Krein a big mallet which he says Krein may need to use to emphasize his authority as general chairman of the Anaheim United Fund campaign for 1959-60. Schoepe acted as general chairman last year and pledged his support to Krein and his organization for the coming campaign which is set to raise a goal of $225,000. Last year, $200,300 was subscribed to support the work of 14 participating human service groups.

... Professor

on Broadway in the endeavor to break the birds to harness. The novelty of seeing an ostrich in harness is not a new one as Charley Landell frequently hitches one up at the farm alongside a gentle horse, and bird and quadrupel draw a light conveyance about the yard.

The latter no doubt doing all the work while the farmer struts along more an ornament than wants to go one better and have anything else. But the professor wants to go one better and have a team of the birds and is confident he will succeed. A year or two of careful training will be required before the birds are thoroughly broken, but in the meantime the professor is thinking of taking out a life insurance.

March 19, 1896

It took a jury in Judge Pierce's court on Tuesday afternoon just two minutes to find Prof. Frantz not guilty of the charge of cruelty to animals, in the alleged beating of a pair of ostriches which he has had for some time past in training to drive in single harness and tandem.

The professor is training the birds to drive, and on attaining his purpose, may take them on a travelling tour and may enter them in the floral pageant at the Fiesta. He informs us he is making progress and promises to give us a ride in his tandem rig shortly.

... Sex Education

which discuss veneral diseases and sex hormones.

Cook took issue with a Gazette interview with Lowell Jones, disdistrict curriculum that, the new course will not shy away from questions on sex when they develop.

Cook has since emphasized that while instructors will not ignore questions on matters of sex, the new health and safety course is not designed for this purpose.

UP FOR REVIEW

Also up for review by the board will be a pamphlet entitled, "Understanding Sex," which has caused considerable comment.

This pamphlet is presently used as part of the senior problems class in the high school district.

It contains information on basic facts of reproduction, discusses the act of intercourse, petting, premartial relations and the pickup boy and girl.

Cook said that board members will decide whether the use of the pamphlet will be continued for the senior problems classes and indicated the possibility of it being added as a reference for girl's physical education courses.

MAY BE ADDED

He also said that if similar physical education classes for boys are added it might be used for this course. At present girls alone receive special instruction on personal hygiene matters.

A pilot health and safety course was given to a mixed group during the district's past summer sessions.

Cancer Booklet Available Here

Senator Richard L. Neuberger of Oregon tells the dramatic story of his bout with cancer in the Summer edition of "Cancer News," which is now available at the Orange County Branch of the American Cancer Society, 848 N. Birc, Santa Ana.

A limited number of extra copies may be obtained by request, according to Dr. James A. Potter, vice-president in charge of education of the Branch.

Anaheim Man In Flying School

One Anaheim resident and two Garden Grove residents recently enrolled as a student pilot at the Martin School of Aviation, according to Johnnie Martin, owner of the Flying School.

The students include: Heinz Zintzmeyer, 117 S. Palm, Anaheim; Stuart Carey, 11122 MacMurray, James Tweddell, 10721 Claussen, both of Garden Grove.

Solo flights have been taken by David M. Beckwith, 127 F. West Vermont, Gail Vary, 536 Grove Avenue, Robert G. Williams, 131 W. Broadway, all of Anaheim.

A private pilot license was issued to Richard M. Simpson, 2240 N. Redwood, Anaheim.

... Final Event

by intermission. Following intermission, the entire cast will present "The Song of Norway."

1, Kenneth Akin, often referred to as "Mr. Music" of Orange County, is well known for his magnetic personality which is in evidence in his colorful programming.

Akin, a dramatic tenor, has been a resident of Santa Ana for the past thirty-five years, attended local schools and the University of Southern California, majoring in violin and conducting in the School of Music. He is active in the Music Department of the First Christian Church of Santa Ana, has appeared as the leading tenor with the Riverside Opera Association for four sessions, with the San Bernardino Civic Light Opera Association, with the Banning-Hemet- Redlands Bowl Summer Concert Series for three seasons, and with many Orange County groups now and through the years.

The course will prepare students for employment as technicians in the rapidly expanding business data processng fields where automation is being applied to the preparation of document reports, accounting and electronic computer programming.

In addition to familiarizing students with various kinds of the latest business data processing electronic equipment, the course will train the students to think through business operations, procedures and problems in order to set up a data processing system for any business.

New Ordinance Needed for Apartments

The City Council's decision to draw up restrictions on sub-standard apartment houses now being erected in the city is long overdue.

Councilmen for months have been aware of the increase in zone change requests permitting developers to erect apartments with little or no control.

Not only are many of the units being constructed hard on the eye, they could in a few years degenerate into a "suburbia-type slum."

Charges made by residents that apartment house dwellers do not always add to the community also are worth considering.

Many Anaheim residents moved away from metropolitan centers which are overrun with apartment houses. And now they virtually face the same situation here.

It has been pointed out by the Gazette in a feature article on apartment houses that these multiple dwellings are more easily financed today than are residential or R-1 tracts.

But that does not mean because they are easily financed there is a great need here for this type of dwelling.

In fact, careful analysis of evidence shows many apartment house buyers are being taken "to the cleaners."

This is done by various methods. But the most discernable at the moment is the use of "professional renters."

These are apartment house dwellers hired to give the impression that the new dwelling is needed and can net a good revenue to the owner.

As soon as a buyer makes his purchase he soon discovers many of the units rapidly become vacant.

The professional renters, finished with their employment, move elsewhere to start the bilking of another apartmnt house buyer.

Proof that professional renters are being used are the records in Anaheim-Fullerton Municipal Court.

Another fact is that current FHA housing statistics show that Anaheim apartment houses are experiencing a 30 per cent vacancy. Many local apartment house owners contend that if there is a 10 per cent vacancy factors this hurts their pocketbook severely.

The council's current decision to halt all action on apartment zone requests until more restrictive controls are adopted is a step in the right direction.

But such controls cannot be worked out in two weeks as suggested in the motion adopted by the council last week.

Mayor A. J. Schutte has been quoted as saying that he does not object to apartment houses as long as they are high quality and do not give a "box-like effect."

In his motion last week he called on city employees to come up with some control measures so that apartments being erected in this city can be of high quality.

Such controls advocated by the mayor are necessary, but they are nothing new to city employees.

Members of the planning department have reported that new controls for apartment houses are contained in a zoning ordinance now under consideration by councilmen.

The new zoning ordinance has been under discussion here for many months. The Gazette editorially in the past called on councilmen for immediate adoption of the new measure after proper public hearings.

At present, according to reports from the city manager's office, City Attorney Preston Turner is ironing out flaws in the new ordinance.

At the risk of appearing redundant, the Gazette again urges councilmen to take immediate steps in adopting the new zoning ordinance.

Not only will they get the necessary controls needed for apartment house building, but will have the "guiding light" which is mandatory for good zoning decisions.

Closed Sessions Open to Criticism

The City Council's decision to apparently continue holding "closed sessions" is definitely open to criticism.

So far no formal word from the council on this practice has been heard following a Gazette article on the matter.

City Manager Keith Murdoch, however, has been quoted as saying that he will continue "workshop" sessions until he hears differently from the council.

No one can really say councilmen now serving are taking advantage of the closed sessions. There is little indication that they are making decisions at the weekly Monday sessions with Murdoch.

Yet, these same councilmen will not always be representing the city of Anaheim. And though the intentions of the present councilmen are honorable, this might not always be the case.

In essence, California's Brown Act prohibits city councils from holding closed sessions. The Brown Act specifically states that city council must notify the press of meetings and also have the city clerk present to record the happenings. The public also is permitted at all city council sessions.

In only one instance has the Brown Act been interpreted to allow closed or "star sessions." That is for the discussion of personnel, only.

City councilmen last week were a little shocked to learn from one resident that she had come to the regular Tuesday meeting with the idea of "lecturing" them on making "cut and dried" decisions. She did, however apologize to the city fathers after she had seen them in action.

But the most striking point of her admission was that she had this preconceived notion. She was of the opinion that councilmen in some other place are making final decisions on important city business.

Other people apparently have the same idea.

The fact that many residents feel decisions are being made at the closed sessions should be sufficient for their discontinuance.

To continue these closed sessions without inviting the press and the public is not only a direct violation of the Brown Act, but is not true representation of the people.

City Manager Murdoch claims that only by holding these "workshop" sessions can he get the opinion and feeling of councilmen on many matters.

If these sessions are necessary, then councilmen should open them up to the press and public so there will be no question or speculation of "good faith."

Anaheim A Poem About Our City

For an acorn very small
A mighty big oak did grow,
It grew slow, not very tall,
Its branches spread far and low.

A few shops, a bar or two,
Here and there a hitching post,
From all this Anaheim grew,
Not much there to claim a boast.

But it sat on fertile soil,
Vineyards thrived wine to produce
Laymen came to lend their toil
To put this rich land to use.

Schools were built and churches too,
China Town enlarged the space,
One bore the name of Ah-Foo,
Laundry work fitted their race.

The lamp lighter made his round
To illuminate the street,
The coyote muffled his sound
When the glare his eyes did meet.

A street car was wheeled on tracks,
A donkey made those wheels turn,
All may ride and rest your backs'
No hurt, no harm, no concern.
Livery stables nags to groom,
Carriages with fringe on top,
This seemed almost like a boom
Nothing should its progress stop.

Then streets were paved, side walks too,
No more rain puddles to wade,
So this town just grew and grew,
By the effort it had made.

Now behold our city grand,
Tourists come from far and near,
Knott's Berry Farm, so well planned,
Walt Disney's brain child lives here.

What marvelous shopping center
And department stores to view,
All welcome you to enter —
The freeway will pilot you.

Anaheim, what hast thou wrought,
A senator came from you,
What glorious future thought
A president bless us too.

IDA M. RANNOW,
10571 South Euclid Ave.,
Anaheim, Calif.

YOUR LEGISLATOR AT WORK!

Graphic evidence of the impact of inflation on our California economy is given by the changes made by the 1959 Legislature in our state unemployment and disability insurance laws. Benefits for workers who become unemployed or suffer off-the-job disabilities were upped, but so were the employer taxes which pay for the unemployment insurance system.

Three major laws were enacted to make these changes. Two relate to jobless pay, the third to disability insurance.

Starting September 18 the maximum weekly unemployment insurance payment for workers who qualify will be increased from the current $40 to $55. This will give California workers the highest weekly maximum in the nation, and is close to double the amount secured in any previous legislative session in the past 15 years. The highest increase in unemployment benefits previously was $7.

OFFSET COST

To offset the cost of paying these more liberal benefits, the same law makes two different kind of changes in the tax provisions, both of which mean higher costs for California employers. The first, which goes into effect next January 1, raises the tax "base" by which taxes are measured from the present $3000 per year to $3600, thus upping employers' taxes by roughly 20 percent. The second, effective January 1, 1961, replaces the present zero tax rate for employers with good employment records by a new minimum rate of three tenths of one percent of payroll, and increases the present top rate from 2.7 percent to 3 percent of payroll.

On the basis of preliminary estimates, an addition of about $50 million per year will be paid in jobless benefits under the new law. The increased costs to employers under the two changes referred to has been fixed at somewhere near $60 million per year.

The second unemployment compensation bill writes permanently into our California law a provision for extended jobless compensation similar to the temporary program of the federal government which was started in 1958. The new system would be financed by a new tax levied on all employers subject to the law, payable in addition to their regular unemployment insurance taxes. At the same time, California employers will have to repay approximately $56 million to cover benefits paid under the federal government's temporary unemployment insurance program, in effect from July, 1958.

When the new law goes into effect this September, a worker who has used up all the benefits due him under the regular jobless benefit program will be able to qualify for additional weekly benefits if the rate of unemployment in the state exceeds a ratio set in the act at the time he files his claim. Up to thirteen weeks of benefits will be payable at the worker's regular weekly amount.

SPECIAL FEATURE

A special feature of this new law calls for the payment of weekly benefits to workers who use up these additional benefits, but who afterward enroll in approved retraining classes for instruction in new kinds of work. Benefits will be payable until the completion of such classes.

The new tax for this program is fixed to range from a low of five hundredths of one percent of payroll to a high of twenty hundredths. It will first be payable for 1959 (in 1960), and the rate will be the same for all employers.

The new disability insurance law makes but one major change. Effective January 1, 1960, the maximum weekly cash benefit will be increased from $50 to $65. The hospital benefit was left unchanged at $12 per day for a maximum of 20 days.

Our California unemployment and disability insurance benefits have been brought more nearly in line with the cost of living. Necessary changes in the tax system to pay for the greater benefits have been made.

Leaders Announced for County Economic Confab

The Orange County Economic Conference will be sponsored by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce Friday morning, September 11, at Santa Ana College, 10 a.m.

Business, professional and civic leaders of Orange County and Southern California are being invited to attend the conference the theme of which is "Balanced Economic Growth."

A panel discussion featuring recognized economic development experts will start off the proceedings. County Supervisor William Phillips of Fullerton will be the moderator.

The high-powered panel will consist of Leroy D. Owen, president, Leroy D. Owen Co., and past president, Society of Industrial Relators whose subject will be "Industrial Development in Orange County."

"Transportation and Mass Transit" will be the theme of the next panelist, Carl P. Miller, executive director, west coast edition, Wall Street Journal, and chairman of the Metropolitan Transit Authority.

The third panelist will be Cecil Dunn, rate manager, Southern Counties Gas Company, who will speak on "Public Utilities Problems in an Exploding Economy."

Following the panel talks, a question and answer period will be held to clarify any questions of the conferees.

Luncheon will follow, and the conference climax will be a review of a recently completed comprehensive survey "The Economic Status and Growth of Orange County" by Conrad Jamison, vice president and manager of the Research Department, Security First National Bank.

Well recognized as a leading economist and analyst in the field of economic development, Jamison's report will be of interest to all those interested in the development of Orange County, according to Santa Ana Chamber officials. Copies of the report will be given free to everyone attending the conference.

According to a statement of the Santa Ana Chamber, the purpose of the conference is "To focus attention on the explosive growth of Orange County for the benefit of the business, professional and civic leaders of this area and Southern California who are interested in Orange County's economic growth, by sharing the knowledge and experience of recognized economic development experts, a broader understanding of Orange County's total economic growth potential, and the problems inherent in such growth, will provide an opportunity for greater benefits in living and earning a living in the dynamic years ahead.

Santa Ana Chamber president Robert B. Wright has sent invitations to the president of every Chamber of Commerce in Orange County asking them to attend with their chamber members. Brochures are being provided for mailing to every chamber's general membership.

Plans have been made to host up to 1,000 conferees because of the widespread interest in Orange County's growth potential, according to Santa Ana Chamber officials.

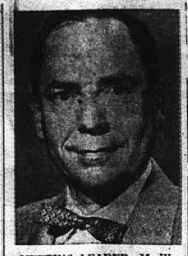

Reservations are being taken at the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 205, Santa Ana.

Final Sessions Begin at Pools

The Park and Recreation Department has completed plans for the final Summer Swimming Session. Registration for this last session in the current "Learn to Swim" program took place at City Park, Western and Anaheim High Schools.

City Residents Get Search Information

"In the event of a lost person, call us collect if necessary at Hamilton Air Force Base, extension 2525," said Major Conrad L. Johnson, USAF search and rescue coordinator for the eight western states in addressing the meeting of the Orange County Sheriff's Aero Squadron at the Orange County Airport this week.

MEETING LEADER—M. W. Weld, Hughes Aircraft personel official, is co-chairman of Orange County Management Conference at Santa Ana College Saturday, Sept. 12.

IN THE DAYS OF LONG AGO

August, 1871

A large audience of both political parties assembled on Saturday evening last on Center St., in front of the water company's office to hear the Republican speakers who had been announced to be present. Music was furnished by the Anaheim band and salutes fired at intervals. S. O. Houghton, candidate for congress led off with the most logical and argumentative speech of the evening. Jessee O. Goodwin of speaker order, tells stories well Marysville is more of the stump and excites frequent laughter and applause. Scpulveda followed with lengthy and spirited address in a few remarks in English and a Spanish, which seemed to be enjoyed by his aurigos y paisanos. Romauldo Pacheco, candidate for lieutenant governor, next came upon the platform, but after a short address excused himself upon the ground of ill health. A few remarks from Hon. Edward Evey, candidate for the assembliy closed the meeting.

The following polling places have been designated in the election proclamation: Anaheim, in the office of S. J. Davis Los Nietos, at the home of Bernardino Guirado. San Juan, at the school house Santa Ana, at the house of Prudencio Yorba. San Joaquin, at the house of Nimmo. Selver Precinct at the house of L. C. Pollard. Wilmington, at the railroad saloon. There are 19 precincts in the county.

Our attention has been called to a nuisance that has long existed among us, viz. the practice of tying horses on the sidewalks so that the horse shall take up the whole walk and oblige foot passengers to go into the street around him. The proper authorities should remedy the evil.

The eucalyptus, or Australian gum tree, is an Australian evergreen tree and more nearly resembles the Australia Acacia in general habits of growth than any other tree that we can compare it to. Where such evergreens as the olive, lemon and Australian Acacia will not stand the climate, it is useless to attept to grow the eucalyptus. The tree will do well on every sort of moist soil in California, and in favorable seasons will grow the year around. While it can stand our frosts it cannot endure freezing weather.

As will be seen elsewhere the residents of Bolsa Grande school district are preparing to build a school house for their district. One is also to be erected at Gallatin to cost $2000. These are good signs for the county.

H. D. Polhemus has sold to Robert Mass 160 acres of Rancho Los Coyotes for $600.

The schooner Fanny Jane arrived at Anaheim Landing on Sunday from Soquel with 150,000 feet of lumber to Dicken, Huntington and Co.

Till Davis, Jacob Keller, and Mrs. P. Hammes returned from San Francisco by Orizaba on Tuesday last.

There came near being a drowning accident at the Landing one day last week when Col Tuffree, William McFadden, F. G. Ryan and several others narrowly escaped a wattery grave. They were out for a sail in the bay and allowed their boat to draft into the swiftly running channel where it capsized. Each of the occupants declares the other was responsible for the mishap.

John Eymann discovered traces of a grape larcenist in his vineyard some mornings ago, the fellow's visit having been during the night before, and the imprints of a bucket at the side of several vines, together with the scarcity of grapes in the immediate vicinity, told how the fruit had gone. About the vineyard, revealed a long leather purse, and on opening it John was rewarded by finding ten cents ensconced therein. He says he will give the dime back to the larcenist if he will come up and reveal his identity and tell why he came to steal grapes in the night when he could have all he wanted for the asking in the daytime.

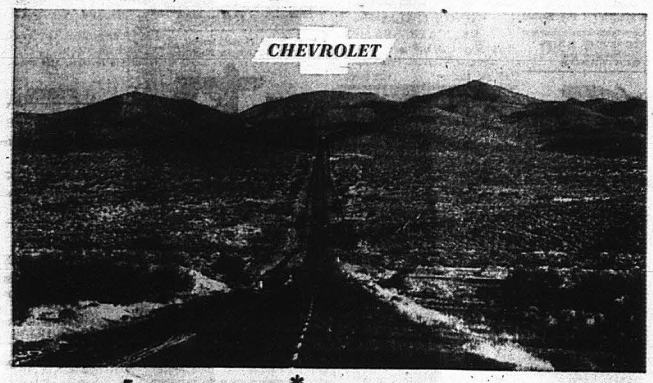

Count Bozenta and Madame Modjeska were guests of Mrs. Langenberger during the week and on Monday took their departure for Los Angeles enroute to Monterey where the Madame will go to recuperate her shattered health. On Saturday they were the guests of Mrs. Northam at the Colonel's pelatial home at La Mirada, and returned to this city on the afternoon train. A few hours after they left the Northum residence was destroyed by fire.

Word comes to us that the sisters at the academy would appreciate donations of fruit and melons from the farmers and horticulturists of the neighborhood, for the orphans under their care who now number upwards of a hundred. We hope the mere reference to this matter will result in libral donations to the academy before the week is over.

Mrs. M. Everharty contemplates leaving for her old home in Mattoon, Ill. shortly to reside permanently. Her daughter, Mrs. Julius Schneider, will probably join her for a short visit in the spring when, as Mrs. Everharty informs us, the remains of her deceased husband will be exhumed and transmitted east for burial.

Joe Hatfield went down to Newport on Tuesday on a fishing expedition and returned with one of the finest specimens of the finny tribe that has been seen in Anaheim for many a day.

most m.p.g.* *miles per gallon

one of 7 big bests Chevrolet gives you over any car in its field

Proof that Chevy delivers the most miles from a gallon comes from an indisputable source: this year's Mobilgas Economy Run. For a pair of Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide walked away with the first two places in their class—got top mileage, in fact, of any full-sized car. Over the Run's long, rugged course, over mountain and desert in the long, long haul from Los Angeles to Kansas City, the winning Chevrolet averaged a whopping 22.58 miles per gallon. That's the kind of economy-engineering that keeps you saving while you drive!

BEST STYLE—It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST BRAKES—In competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NASCAR, Chevy outstopped both of the "other two." Naturally—Chevy brakes with bonded linings are far larger, built to lengthen brake life by up to 66%.

BEST TRADE-IN—Look at the record—the used car prices in any N.A.D.A.† Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

BEST ENGINE—Chevrolet engines have long won expert praise and, just recently, Chevrolet received the NASCAR Outstanding Achievement award for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines."

BEST ROOM—Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.† make this abundantly clear. Chevy front seat hip room, for instance, is as much as 5.9 inches wider than in comparable cars.

BEST RIDE—MOTOR TREND magazine names Chevy ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." But this is one Chevy feature you really should discover for yourself, at your Chevrolet dealer's. Stop by soon!
