Hallowe'en's 'Big Blastoff' In Anaheim Brings Parade and Stadium Festival Saturday Night

Kiddie Parade Friday Event

Hallowe'en's "Big Blastoff," one designed to make puckish elfins and broomstick witches hunt cover, and spilling over with pageantry, music, noise galore, fun and frolic for all, will be staged Saturday night, weather providing.

Closing event and climax to the week-long activities supervised by the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, and participated in by thousands of adults and youngsters, will be the La Palma Show and Parade Pageant starting at 6:30 p.m. This show, a dilly, will comprise a band extravaganza, with six of seven high school bands in the area, performing under the batons of Vesey and Tommy Walker. There also will be a 100-voice a capella choir to sing.

All this will precede the parade scheduled to move into the Stadium following its procession through downtown streets, and the drawing of the lucky number for a free trip for two to Hawaii.

Big time for Anaheim kiddies is Friday afternoon. This is the traditional annual Kiddie Parade in which last year 3,500 youngsters, in costume, paraded through city streets. Parents and spectators were lined up for blocks along Center St., and the kiddies put on a real show. This year, Eldor Rauch, parade chairman, expects more than 4,200 participants and would not be surprised if the total reached 5,000. There will be 30 schools participating, with George Washington School pupils in the lead.

Kiddie Window Art

"Each year," Hauck comments, "a different school is allowed to lead the Kiddie Parade, and since there are 20 elementary schools in the Anaheim district, it will be 20 years before George Washington School will again head the parade."

Many Anaheim residents, young and old, are right in the middle of many of the activities while others could hardly miss the decorations, kiddie window art and even the clever window decorations by many of the business firms.

The big week started last Saturday with a Buckaroo and Orange Shirt breakfast served in front of the SQR store by the Izaak Walton League. It was hot cakes and sausage for everyone and the Orange Shirts were worn for the first time, officially.

Window Painters Busy

Another big breakfast has been planned for Saturday, this one in City Park. It will also be served by the Isaak Walton League for $1 a plate. Tickets are now on sale at all Anaheim banks, SQR store and the Chamber of Commerce office.

Tickets for the breakfast must be purchased before Friday night. There will be no opportunity to buy tickets at the breakfast Saturday morning. Reason for this is that the folks preparing the food want to know how many tickets have been sold and how much food to prepare.

Orange County State College Is Assuming Shape

With master plans for a campus for 35,000 students authorized by the State Department of Education at Sacramento, Orange County State College will be in its initiatory or temporary buildings by September, 1960, Dr. W. B. Langsdorf, its president, announces.

Temporary buildings will be constructed on portions of the future college site being acquired by the state in the Pioneer and Cypress area of Fullerton.

The site, chosen by the Public Works Board of the State of California on March 13, 1958, is located in the northeast portion of Fullerton and is bounded by Pioneer Ave. on the north, Cypress Ave. on the west, the extension of Nutwood Ave. on the south, and the proposed north-south freeway on the east.

Temporary Facilities

Temporary facilities will comprise 12 buildings totaling approximately 35,000 square feet, housing 17 classrooms, physical education, library, administration and faculty offices, and maintenance buildings. The buildings will be designed by the State Division of Architecture, and will be similar to temporary buildings in use at Los Angeles State College and San Fernando Valley State College.

COUNCIL BUSY

Medic Center and $1 Million Store O.K'd

Anaheim City Council, playing to standing room only, including half a hundred women in the crowded councilmanic chambers, Tuesday night approved zone changes permitting $1,350,000 in new construction by private firms. They were:

1. A million dollar, one-story, 80,000 square foot structure to be erected by Interstate Department Stores on the east side of Harbor Blvd., between Chapman and Orangewood Aves.

2. A $350,000 medical center, with medical offices, to be constructed by Dr. Sam Gendel and associates at the southeast intersection of Orange and Euclid Aves.

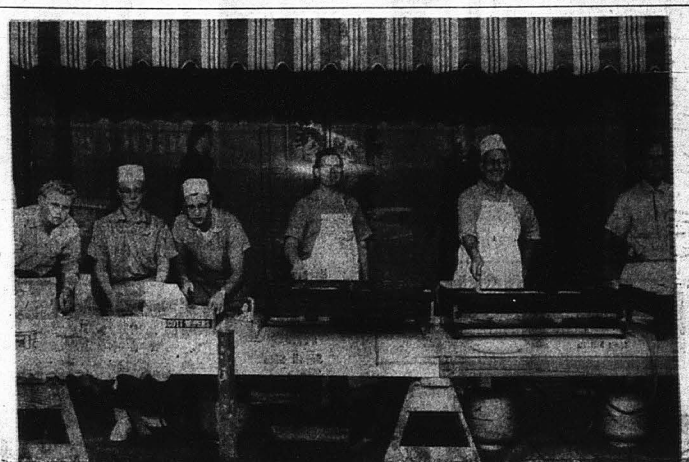

"Application for the new department store was presented by Joseph C. Whitman, president of Monterey Manor, Inc. The latter emphasizes that its completion means a 25 million dollar a year gross business, with attendant increased tax payments to the city.

Interstate Department Stores has taken over the White Front Stores in the Los Angeles area and will merge them into the new Anaheim establishment.

Children's Playground

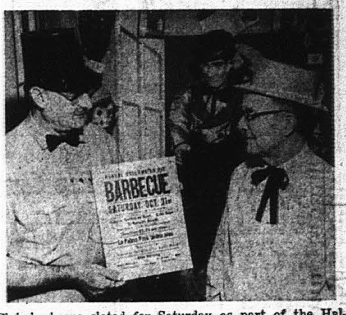

Whitman announced that Charles Luckman Associates, nationally known architects, will draw up the plans for the new setup, that a screen of trees will be maintained in front of the property and that there will be a special playground for children of store patrons. Council disregarded a petition signed by 75 nearby residents when Whitman agreed

STUDENTS GIVE CASH

United Fund Needs $44,000 for Goal

"It's going to take a lot of hard work to put this campaign across. We hope Anaheim won't lag behind."

Fred T. Krein, general campaign chairman, and Joseph R. Thompson, Fund president, issued this joint statement after Tuesday's meeting of United Fund leaders and workers at the Snack Shop, 520 N. Los Angeles St.

At that time the total raised was $181,686, a gain of some $50,000 over the previous total of $131,686. This represents 80 per cent of the designated goal of $225,000.

But, and Chairman Krein and President Thompson emphasized this pointedly:

"There remains more than $44,000 to be subscribed for the benefit of "The 14 Human Service Groups" in Anaheim by Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock when the final rally is scheduled at the YMCA.

"Otherwise, we will have to go into the "Survival Period" to complete our goal. Business has been good this year in Anaheim, both for employers and employes, and there is no reason why Anaheim should not meet its quota for its human needs."

Encouraging Notes

Encouraging notes during Tuesday's meeting were "a bag of money"—$300 in all in small donations—from students at Western High School, through Paul Cook, chairman of the Educational Team, and a young man and girl student, bringing the total to date for that unit to $15,823, and $9,450 by the Manufacturing Team headed by Tom Quayle, with Bill Poirier as staff aide. This brings the total of the latter unit to $38,822, with $54,000 its quota.

"The rock-bottom minimum goal of $225,000 which we need to support the Human Service Groups of the Anaheim-Western Communities will not only provide the major share of the budgets for 1960 for the four Youth Agencies in the Fund which serves a joint membership of 12,000, but will also provide the needs of eight health and human service groups," says Walt Taylor, former general secretary of to certain changes in plans for the surrounding terrain.

Wayne B. Reedstrum, 517 South Faloon St., Anaheim, a custom service representative of Douglas Aircraft Co., at El Segundo, led the battle against the easement of zoning restrictions on property for the proposed medical clinic. Protests against the proposal were signed by 145 taxpayers.

Plans for a filling station nearby were eliminated after almost an hour's argument, including protests by Paul Willey, 421 Van St., and the C-1 and C-3 zone changes were approved. Dr. Gebdel made the point that Euclid Ave. is no longer a home area but has become a commercial district.

Incidentally, some 40 questions were included on the council's agenda and all were approved unanimously.

Other Conclusions

Among the other matters disposed of were:

Denial of a request by John Bello and Harry Silverstein for a zone change permitting operation of a tavern at 1720 East Ball Rd., on the south side of Ball Rd., between Euclid Ave. and Nutwood St. Proposal evoked determined opposition from 144 residents in the neighborhood, Orville Halverson, Russel Hodge and Richard Steel speaking against it.

Fifty-two single home owners fix $38,000 to $40,000 residences on property at 11712 Euclid, between Katella and Chapman Aves., and adjoining Garden Grove, won a battle against rezoning asked by Dan and Alma S. Bernhart. Council turned down their request to make it a C-1 zone and instead moved to make it a uniform R-A area in cooperation with Garden Grove.

The Psychology Guidance Center was granted a request for a zone change permitting acquisition of additional property at 1035 West La Palma Ave.

Request for a subdivision on a tract 660 feet west of Euclid on the north side of Broadway, was approved, subject to efforts to solve a drainage problem.

A request from the Pop Warner Football Committee for use of La Palma Stadium Thursday, Nov. 26, was granted, as was a request from the Downtown Merchants Association, Anaheim C. of C., for a lifting of parking meter charges in the area during Dollar Days, Nov. 6 and 7.

Three Contracts Awarded

These contracts were awarded: Construction of underground, reinforced concrete vault at southwest intersection of Placentia Ave. and Vermont St., to the Fricke-Barrington Corp., Pasadena, $10,940.

Placentia Ave. sewer, from Katella Ave., approximately 955 feet south, to Orange County Construction Co., $4,512.

Demlar St. sewer, from Cypress Ave., approximately 955 feet southerly, to Plumbing Contractors, $3,169.

Council officially established Tuesday nights for its weekly meetings.

New Photogs' Club

new construction in this county has exceeded two billion dollars.

Among the reasons advanced by Security-First National Bank's Research Department for Orange County's phenomenal growth are:

"Its location is such that at this stage of the Los Angeles area's growth and suburbanizations Orange County could hardly avoid getting a substantial amount of 'spill-out.'

"It has vacant space to accommodate growth.

"The area has an exceptionally fine climate and environment for living and working.

"It has less congestion, lower land prices and less smog than areas closer to the core of the Metropolitan area.

"The area has acquired an impressive list of companies and a tremendous pool of skilled workers in electronics, 'avionics' and related fields. This attracts still more companies in these fields."

To which may be added that Anaheim is the natural center of all this manufacturing and business activity.

Also that the "Santa Ana Freeway Peoples" have the necessary spirit, intelligence and independence which spells "GROWTH" in large letters.

Remember, Orange County is the fastest growing county of more than 700,000 population in the United States.

In the next decade, the county's population is expected to show an increase averaging 62,800 to 74,000 each year.

Manufacturing employment and payroll have expanded more rapidly in Orange County than in any other county in Southern California.

In the decades ahead, Orange County is expected to remain the fastest growing county in Southern California.

The range of "growing things" in Orange County extends from a $34 million crop of Valencia oranges to small beds of vegetables and flowers which are backgrounds for countless homes.

Justly, Senior U. S. Senator Thomas H. Kuchel of Anaheim, remarks:

"Orange County is the fastest growing county in the fastest growing state in the nation."

Favors Reports on Teacher Suspects

According to a resolution adopted by the Orange County Associated Chambers of Commerce school boards should receive reports on teachers who have been investigated by the Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities.

The recommendation was made in connection with a current controversy in California whether such information should be made available to the school districts through the State Board of Education.

The Associated Chambers also went on record as favoring the continuance of loyalty oaths for public officials and employes.

Chapman College Hall Dedicatory Orator Is Kuchel

Chapman College, at Orange, this Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock will dedicate two new student residence halls. U. S. Senator Thomas H. Kuchel of Anaheim, principal speaker, will discuss "Education—Our First Line of Defense."

Among those bringing official greetings as part of the dedicatory will be Rep. James B. Utt, Vice Mayor T. E. White of Orange, and Fred P. Clatworthy, general manager, Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County. The Rev. Mayman W. McReynolds, secretary-director of the Arizona Christian Missionary Society, will represent the Christian Churches of California, Arizona and Nevada which give financial aid to Chapman College.

Dr. John L. Davis, Chapman College president, will preside. Ministers taking part will be Dr. Robert Burns McAulay of the First Presbyterian Church of Orange and Dr. Ray C. Jarman, of the South Gate Christian Chapel.

Special Guest Donors

Special guests will be donors to the $75,000 Furnishing Fund which provided the furniture and accessories for the new residence halls.

Following the dedication ceremonies, an open house will be held in both residence halls, with refreshments served in the lounges.

Winchell Issues Light Warning

Capt. Floyd Winchell, commanding Orange County Division, California Highway Patrol, warns that under no circumstances should automobiles or trucks be driven with only their parking lights turned on.

Captain Winchell's admonition was incidental to the switch to Standard Time, with dusk occurring earlier during the evening rush hours.

The captain noted that highway patrolmen will be particularly alert for violators of the three-year-old light law." He cautioned that there still are some persons unaware of the state law that only headlights may be used when an automobile is in motion.

Minute Editorial

'Tis reported on good authority that Norman Chandler, the Los Angeles Times tycoon, now wants to annex Orange County to his Los Angeles County political empire.

In other words, after an Orange County Metropolitan District is formed, Chandler would combine it with the Los Angeles County Metropolitan District, under his control, of course.

Some men just never do known when they're surfeited with trouble and overcome with the lust for power. It would be better if Chandler would tend to his own knitting in his own L.A. backyard. Apparently the lessons of the Republican state debacle last November for which he and "The Spring Street Boys" were largely responsible, hasn't yet percolated deeply enough in his consciousness.

He also ought to hear the repercussions from Orange County leaders to this latest tentative grasp for more power by the Chandler machine. Phewie! Would the Chandler face be red!

Water Hearings Seen as Vital in Nation's Progress

U. S. Senator Thomas H. Kuchel of Anaheim, in a statement issued through his Washington office, says that this fall's hearings on the future of America's water supply may be among the the most important inquires ever held by a Congressional Committee.

The statement was made on the eve of the first sessions of the Select Senate Committee on Water Resources, of which Senator Kuchel is vice-chairman. The prolonged field investigation by the Select Committee opened Wednesday in Bismarck, N. D., and the first leg of the committee's nationwide tour will be concluded in Los Angeles Oct. 16. A hearing at Sacramento is scheduled Oct. 15.

Senator Kuchel said:

"The announcement last week of a site for a salt water conversion plant in San Diego County is especially timely as our Select Committee starts considering the entire broad subject of our country's needs and uses of water. The decision of the Senate to take this long look into the future of our nation's water supply may have been one of the most important things we did in the 1959 session of Congress.

California Awareness

"Like the millions of acres of land which were here for the taking, the unlimited supply of wild game and the seemingly endless forests of 100 years ago, the day of taking water for granted is past history. Our rapid population increase and headlong urbanization make the maximum beneficial utilization of our nation's water resources more urgent almost by the hour.

"I am looking forward with tremendous interest and hope as these hearings start in North Dakota and continue during the next several weeks in all sections of the United States.

"California has had an awareness of the water problem for many years. We have had a forward-looking program toward its solution. We have started on a great state project, the Feather River development. But we are also keenly aware of the continuing importance of working in close cooperation with Congress and the federal agencies on many aspects of this critical matter, with respect to which our state and its people have had magnificent assistance in the past.

Help Development

"I believe the hearings which we will hold at Sacramento on Oct. 15 and at Los Angeles on Oct. 16 will develop an important contribution to the record of the Select Committee as it prepares to make its report to the next session of the Congress. By the same token, I am sure California will learn a great deal from the inquiry into the needs and desires of the other states.

"The sum total of the committee's work this fall will be to help plan for the sound development of our remaining water resources, with consequent benefit to all the people of America."

Recent contracts are in addition to Interstate's role as prime contractor for the test and evaluation instrumentation used in the Navy's Fleet Ballistic Missile program, for test firings of the Polaris missile.

Another Interstate contract is a high resolution, closed-circuit television system for the U. S. Army Signal Corps at Fort Huachuca, Ariz.

Mrs. Ortega and Mrs. Giles will direct census takers who will canvass all farms in the southern and northwest sections of Orange County, respectively. Before assuming their duties, they will go to Riverside for five days training by a member of the Census Bureau's staff.

After completing their training, the appointees will return to their districts for several weeks work in recruiting census takers and training them for start of the field canvass Nov. 18.

Crew leaders are key people in the field operations of the Census of Agriculture. It is their responsibility to recruit and train the farm census takers, supervise their work, plan and allocate work assignments, review the work of the census takers and take remedial action when necessary.

Two Million Dollar Gemco Store Opens Thursday for 4-Day Preview

The newly-established Gemco Department Store, starting Thursday will present a four-day special preview of this modern establishment at 9700 Lincoln Ave., Anaheim.

Highlighting it's "New Dimension in Merchandising," which will be explained to visitors, Gemco is eager to show prospective patrons through its 70,000 square foot setup which, incidentally, also boasts a nursery and a service station.

The Gemco Department Store has been developed on a 10-acre plot offering ample free parking for its shoppers. It represents a total investment of almost $2,000,000. The store is completely air-conditioned has uniform fixtures throughout and is designed in a new concept to provide both beauty of display and complete self-service selling.

New Idea in Selling

Gemco's "New Dimension in Merchandising" will serve all of Orange County, and through its low overhead self-service method of selling will be able to offer quality merchandise at lowest prices.

Gemco is operated on a membership basis, and has announced creation of a Charitable and Scholarship Fund which will be made available for worthy causes and deserving students. This fund will be administered by a board of advisors comprising Gemco members, headed by Councilman Pat Arnold of Cypress. Councilman Arnold is a widely-known civic leader and a pioneer developer in the Orange County area.

Exterior of the Gemco building is of oversized red brick and was designed by the firm of Ross DeYoung, A.I.A., and John M. Paul, associate. Engineering and construction was executed by the Dencon Company.

NEW PARTNERS THE UNITED WAY—Although not yet open for business, two new firms to the Anaheim area have each contributed $500 to the Anaheim-Western Community United Fund. The goal is $225,000. The Falstaff Brewing Company which is establishing a new plant in Anaheim, and the new Gemco Company which soon opens for business, support this largest annual community teamwork project. Noted above is Pat Arnold, chairman of the Gemco Charitable and Scholarship Fund as he presents a $500 check to Girl Scout Carol Wagner as her Troop 17 sister, Judy Cook, helps Mayor A. J. Schutte display the Community Teamwork sign of the "Red Feather."

the Y.M.C.A., and now an outstanding business leader in Anaheim.

"Each adult who has been called upon to participate with his or her gifts, or services to help put this vital community teamwork project over the top, should search his heart to determine whether he has done his part for our entire community.

"Do we believe in community teamwork — then let's demonstrate, in this our most important community teamwork project, and let's demonstrate it by Thursday night when we are scheduled to assemble at the 'Y' in our United Fund Victory Rally."

Gazette Co-Publisher Is Named Chairman For Publishers' Unit

Bert J. Abraham, co-publisher of the ANAHEIM GAZETTE, has been appointed chairman of the nominating committee of the California Newspaper Publishers Association according to an announcement by Carroll W. Parcher, president of the organization and publisher of the Glendale News Press.

Associated with Abraham on the committee will be Fred McPherson, Jr., publisher of the Santa Cruz Sentinel; Grady Setzler, Valley News, Blythe; Newton Wallace, Winters, and Carl Miller, publisher of the Wall Street Journal.

Thirty-four directors and officers are nominated by the committee and the election will be held at the Statler Hotel in Los Angeles in February.

Murdock Attends St. Louis Meeting

General Manager Keith A. Murdock of the Anaheim City Administration is attending the convention of the International City Managers Association being held this week in St. Louis, Mo.

Abraham is the immediate past president of the publishers group which includes all daily newspapers in the State and more than 300 weekly publications. The association is recognized as the largest newspaper organization in the United States. The Anaheim Gazette and the Anaheim Bulletin are both active members.

Savings Bond Sales In County $288,241

Orange County sales of United States Savings Bonds totalled $288,241 for September, it is disclosed as the Federal Reserve System and the Treasury continued to stress the new 3¼ per cent interest rate.

Sales of E and H Bonds for January through September for this county were $3,068,286.

Local banks are receiving new redemption tables from the Federal Reserve System, which make it clear that the interest rate increase advantages are being extended to all E and H bond holders. Thus, there is no need or advantage to cash in old bonds to buy new, it was stated.

Hallowe'en

The parade will feature some 25 floats depicting this year's festival theme, "Musical Moments."

Pageant Parade Chairman Herb Perry announces the five divisions of the floats are "Inspirational Reflections," "Tender Ages," "Romance," "Folk Songs," and "Hallowe'en," with division captains named as Al Marcoux, Bob Wetzler, Myron Reed, Chuck Corson, and Felix LaMarinel. Bill Cook is chairman of bands and Gale Harmon is chairman of the equestrian groups.

Miss California 1959, Susan Diane Bronson, third runnerup in the 1960 Miss America Pageant will ride as a queen on one of the commercial floats. Excelsior Creamery of Orange County will enter its 42-foot float, complete with a golden fort, in the "Folk Songs' division, with the saga of Davey Crockett being told. Anaheim High School lovelies, Emilie Robertson and Carol Ferguson will add to its beauty.

The Western High School Band, directed by Theron Jackman, will perform "Hallowe'en;" Anaheim High School Band, directed by Boo Reynolds, will stage "New Orleans;" and the Fullerton High School Band under its director, Nelson Bonar, will do "Around the World."

Classic Beard Contest

The finale will include the three bands, as well as the Disneyland Band, which will combine with a chorus of some 500 high school students, drill teams, majorettes, pompom girls, and 50 Boy Scouts from the Anaheim District as the group plays, "This Is My Country."

Judging of the classic beard contest, directed by Howard Loudon, will begin at 8:30 a.m. in City Park. At 9:30 a.m. a costume promenade will continue on downtown streets with Mary Hesketh, chairman. Costume awards will be given in the 100 block of W. Center St. at 10:30 a.m.

All day, barbecue, hot dogs, ice cream and homemade pies and cakes will be served in La Palma Park by the Optimist club with Harold Botts as chairman.

The Juages Dinner will be held at 5 p.m. in the Elks Club with Warren Ashleigh, chairman.

Window painting by the kiddies has been going on all week and some wonderful Hallowe'en ideas have been presented. The windows on business houses in all areas of Anaheim have been offered to the youthful artists and they have certainly taken advantage of the merchants' generosity. The paint, of course, is only water colors and will soon wash off the first day of November. Much easier than soap or wax.

Recreation Parties

Parents who wish to calm down their little "ghosts and witches" after a full Hallowe'en evening of trick or treat, will find refuge in a special program planned by the Anaheim Park and Recreation Department this Friday night.

Following the trick or treat hours (6 to 8 p.m.), the Park and Recreation Department will open five of the city playgrounds for short bonfire parties conducted by the Recreation leaders at Thomas Edison, Mattie Lou Maxwell, Clara Barton and Abraham Lincoln.

The bonfire parties, according to Supervisor Don Arnett, "are designed as a culmination of the school program and to give the children a chance to settle down after their evening adventures."

The five bonfires will be lit at 8:30 p.m. to signal the program's beginning, which will feature primarily an evening of community singing and getting acquainted. The entire family is urged to take part at one of the five locations and relax with their neighbors. The bonfires will conclude at 9:15.

All City Elementary after-school playgrounds will be closed Friday afternoon to allow time for the schools' costume parades.

New College

building is expected to be completed in 1963, according to President Langsdorf.

Since last March the administrative offices of Orange County State College have been on the Fullerton Union High School campus, and since last September college classes have been held at Sunny Hills High School. Both of these facilities are leased from the Fullerton Union High School District.

Current Enrollment

Current enrollment is 459 students, of whom 107 are regular students and 352 limited students carrying six units or less. Full-time equivalent of those registered is 174. Twenty-four courses are offered in 45 classes during this fall's semester.

A total of 29 instructors teach the classes. Of these five are full-time faculty members, and 24 are part-time. Part-time instructors are educators who are regular employes of neighboring local city or county schools and colleges and conduct a class or two for Orange County State College.

Backing up the instructors are 17 persons who serve in administrative and clerical capacities. All told, there are 46 employes of the college. On March 1, 1959, there were only three employes.

Orange County State College is making plans to enroll 700 full-time equivalent students for the fall semester of 1960, President Langsdorf says. KEVIN LEE BENNINK

Funeral services for Kenneth Lee Bennink, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Bennink of 825 W. La Palma St., who died at St. Jude Hospital, were held in the chapel of Backs-Troutman and Kaulbars Mortuary with the Rev. E. W. Matthias officiating. Burial was in Melrose Abbey Cemetery. He is survived by a brother Lynn E.; a grandmother, Mrs. Margaret E. Bennink of Anaheim; grandfather, Lawrence E. Bennink of New York; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Stoddard of North East, Penn.

FLORA BELLE HYSOM

Funeral services for Flora Belle Hysom, 79, of 2536 Greenleaf Ave., and a native of Kansas, who died Wednesday at Parkview Convalescent Hospital, were conducted in Emporia, Kan., with burial in the family plot in Maplewood Cemetery. Hilgenfeld Mortuary was in charge of arrangements here. She was a member of the First Methodist Church in Emporia and had come to Anaheim three and a half months ago to be with her daughter, Mrs. Edward R. Rich. Surviving also are two sons, Cattoll E. and Warren E. Hysom of Kansas; three sisters, Mrs. Fred Brown of Illinois, Mrs. Martin Sorenson of Wisconsin and Mrs. Mable McCaw of Long Beach; and five grandchildren.

Bicycle Handlebar Warning Is Given

Young bicycle riders are urged by P. E. Winchell, California High Patrol commander in the Anaheim area, not to turn their handlebars upward so that the grips are more than head-high.

Commander Winchell says that this dangerous practice has spread rapidly in recent months "probably because the youngsters don't realize the hazard they create. We hope that they will voluntarily return their handlebars to the normal, safer positions before something tragic occurs."

Commander Winchell explains that during safety programs conducted at the schools, bicycles with handlebars turned upward take up to 15 feet longer to stop than bikes with the bars where they belong.

Deadline Approaches for Disneyland Community Service Award Entries

Orange County service organizations planning to participate in the 1959 Disneyland Community Service awards program are reminded only a short time remains before the Oct. 31 entry deadline by Walter Taylor, Anaheim civic leader and chairman of this year's Awards Committee.

Taylor issued his reminded at a committee luncheon meeting at Disneyland. The meeting was called to consider the applications and entries already received in this year's program and to review judging procedures.

In his statement Taylor noted that Disneyland has expanded the scope of the program, now in its third year of operation. A total of 11 cash awards will be made in 1959.

Awards Total $9,000

"This year awards to deserving organizations will total $9,000, with a major award of $2,000 to the group or club judged by the committee the 'Outstanding Community Service' organization operating in Orange County for for the past year," Taylor said.

An innovation in this year's awards will be special recognition of youth groups, with four awards of $250 each in the Junior category.

To date, Taylor revealed in his report to the committee, "letters of intent" to enter the program have been received from 87 organizations. Judging of the entries will begin shortly after the Oct. 31 deadline. Awards will be made at a special luncheon on Nov. 24.

Senator Kuchel Slated to Talk on Defense Work

Senior United States Senator Thomas H. Kuchel of Anaheim, will discuss effects of "Threats to Southern California's Defense Industries" and describe possible counter measures at a special meeting of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, Nov. 10.

The Senate Republican whip will speak at a joint luncheon meeting sponsored by the Chamber's Federal Affairs Committee and the Special Board Committee on California Defense Contracts.

Russell S. Bock, chairman of the Federal Affairs group, reports Senator Kuchel has been a keen observer and an active opponent of efforts made during the first session of the 86th Congress, recently concluded, by eastern pressures to alter defense procurement policies.

Fights Restrictive Laws

The Special Board Committee, headed by Director Charles F. Horne, was formed by the Chamber to defend California's defense industries against restrictive Federal legislation.

Underlying purpose of the attacks on Southland contracts is to reduce the amount of defense dollars spent with Southern California industry and parcel them out to so-called "depressed" areas in other states.

Senator Kuchel will bring the problem into focus for Southern California business and industry leaders, commenting also on other vital issues affecting the business climate of this area, Bock says. Special emphasis will be placed on the issues which will occupy the spotlight of debate and action in the second session of the 86th Congress, opening in January.

New Unit's Topic 'Quality Control'

A newly-formed Orange Empire Section of the American Society for Quality Control will hold its initial meeting in Anaheim tonight. John Tamsen, manager of quality operations development of Hughes Aircraft, will discuss "the Value of Quality." Election of officers also is on the agenda.

Shorter Days Abet Auto Mishaps

The days grow shorter, the nights longer, and so, automobile driving—safely for you and your's—becomes more a premium than at any other time of the year.

There is more dampness on city streets and country highways; there are leaves gathered on the latter—you have to be more careful than in spring and summer, also early fall.

Here are some commonsense and trouble-saving rules if you are in an accident:

1. Stop.

2. Render aid to injured persons.

3. Notify local law authorities or a California Highway Patrolman if anyone is hurt or killed.

4. Identify yourself and show your driver's license and registration card to the other driver or persons involved, or to any officer.

5. If you hit a parked car or damage other property, make an immediate effort to find the owner and identify yourself before you leave the scene. If you are unable to do so, leave a note with your name and address, name and address of the car you are driving, stating the circumstances of the collision. If it is an unattended vehicle you have hit, leave the note in it or securely attached to it.

You should:

1. Protect against further accidents. If it is night, use flares, headlights or place someone with a flashlight in a safe place.

2. Write down the name and address of the other driver, names and addresses of witnesses, the time, place and conditions of the accident.

3. Protect your legal rights by not discussing the circumstances of the accident with anyone except the police.

4. Protect your legal rights by not signing any papers.

5. Protect your legal rights by not incurring any expenses except for immediate medical aid.

Within 24 hours you should make a full written report of the accident to the California Highway Patrol in case of injury, death, or if you hit a parked car and did not exchange information with the owner.

Within 15 days you must make a full written report of the accident to the Department of Motor Vehicles, Sacramento, if the accident involves death, injury or damage in excess of $100 to the property of any person, including yourself.

You should notify your insurance representative immediately.

Many motorists know some of these rules, but not all of them. It's a good thing to follow out carefully, in detail—and soberly—everyone of the above precautions. Use your head!

FEP Law Provisions Strict

How does the California Fair Employment Practices Law, which went into effect Sept. 18, affect the businessman or manufacturer?

A fair question—and vastly important—for chances are that thus far he has not thoroughly informed himself of the severity of many of the law's provisions, something he should do if he is to avoid discrimination in employment due to race, color, national origin or religion.

The Anaheim Gazette, searching into the law, finds that the employer cannot ask for a photograph as a condition for hiring or considering an application; he may only suggest that the applicant may submit a photograph "if he desires."

He cannot require a job applicant to submit a birth certificate or baptismal certificate.

The employer cannot inquire about an applicant's religious affiliation.

He cannot ask any question which directly or indirectly would cause the applicant to indicate his race, color or national origin.

Accurate records must be maintained so as to show at some later date, if necessary, that a particular person was employed, promoted or laid off strictly on the basis of merit.

This might be necessary in the event a member of a minority group files a complaint with the Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC), charging that he was discriminated against. To keep themselves in the clear, employers must have some solid reason or record to show why some one else was hired or promoted instead of the person filing the complaint.

Such complaints of discrimination must be made at any time within a year after the alleged act occurs.

If an employer finds himself in a position of not being able to prove that he did not discriminate on a race, color, creed or religious basis in hiring or firing, he will be given the opportunity of avoiding a penalty by assuring the commission that the person filing the complaint will be given the next available job for which he is qualified.

From this it may be seen that it is going to require much alert watchfulnuess by employers to avoid even unintentional violation of tthe FEP law.

Shopping Center, Office Building For Harbor Blvd.

Land-use application for a 25-acre shopping center just northeast of the intersection of Harbor Blvd. and Chapman Ave., will go before City Council in about three weeks. Developer is J. C. Chapman, Beverly Hills.

The area, with 820-foot frontage on Harbor Blvd., and with a 3,000-car parking space, would include a supermarket, department store, two farmers' markets, a six-story office building and two restaurants. Rezoning of the land has been recommended by the Anaheim Planning Commission. The site is on a tract currently being annexed by Anaheim.

The department store would occupy a site 400 by 200 feet, Whitman reports. He hopes to complete the ground floor for the entire setup by Easter and to add three or four more floors as tenant demand occasions.

The site is bounded by Anaheim on the north, Garden Grove on the south and west and an unincorporated area on the east.

TV Use in Plants Given Exposition By Anaheim Man

Television will be used on an increasing scale to help management deal with one of its major problems — communicating with its employes, in the opinion of David M. Snow, industrial relations director, The Siegler Corporation's Hallamore Electronics Division, Anaheim.

Snow's viewpoint that closed circuit television in an industrial plant enables a company to overcome "the barrier in personality resulting from the trend toward larger operating units," was voiced while addressing the Pacific Northwest Personnel Management Association, meeting in Eugene, Ore.

"The unique personal quality of television can do much to humanize the company in the eyes of its workers," Snow commented. "It also affords management the opportunity to tell its story quickly, directly and effectively.

Two-Way Avenue

"Closed circuit TV opens up a two-way avenue of communication in that questions by employes can be answered personally in a manner which demonstrates the company's interest and sincerity."

He added that closed circuit TV has been used for reports by the company president, explanation of work procedures, presentation of awards to employes and important plant announcements.

26 Gifted Fullerton High Students Discover 350,000-Mile Error in Russian Orbit Calculation

3-2-30—26 GIFTED Fullerton ... Twenty-six gifted Fullerton High School science students have discovered a 350,000-mile positional error in a widely-used Soviet Russian astronomical publication. In uncovering the error, the Fullerton students correctly calculated the orbit of "9-Metis," one of the minor planets in our solar system.

Working together as a class during a science project jointly sponsored by the California Institute of Technology, Pasadena; the Hughes Aircraft Company, Fullerton, and the Tustin School, the youngsters found the error in the Russian scientific research tablets, "Emphemyerdi Malikh Planyet," a volume published under auspices of the International Astronomical Union in Leningrad. Published annually this volume, used worldwide by astronomers gives the orbital position of 1629 minor planets (asteroids) for the current year. Dr. A. Victor Stern, one of the course organizers, and a senior scientist at Hughes' Fullerton plant, chose "9-Metis" as a team project because of its current brightness and position in the sky, making it relatively easy to observe.

Telescopic Photos

The students took telescopic photographs of the "9-Metis," calculated its orbit and compared their data with the Russian table. They turned up errors in the basic Russian computations, proving the minor planet to be many miles off its listed position. Subsequent check calculations by Dr. Stern and Prof. Leland C. Cunningham, at the University of California in Berkeley, confirmed this.

Dr. Stern, in describing how the class discovered the error, explained their first step was to mathematically determine an ephemeris, or tabulation of positions, during the time observed, employing the orbital elements of "9-Metis" listed in the Russian publication. Second step was to determine the orbit from three photographic observations of the minor planet over the period of about a month.

The class first discovered that the ephemeris calculated from the elements listed in the Russian tables did not agree with the ephemeris published in the same volume, and neither agreed with the measured positions. Dr. Stern explains that this process should ordinarily check out correctly since the published elements include "perturbations," or orbital variations peculiar to "9-Metis."

Calculate Elements

Correct elements for "9-Metis" have been calculated by the class based on its observations of the minor planet. The error was found to be principally in the "Epoch" of the elements.

The minor planet "9-Metis," whose orbit is located between Mars and Jupiter, was so numbered because it was the ninth asteroid to be discovered. "Metis" is a nymph in Greek mythology. "Ephemyeredi Mahlikh Planyet" has been published as an astronomical service for 13 years by the Institute of Theoretical Astronomy in Leningrad.

Far from doubting the basic validity of the tables, a class spokesman, with typical scientific objectivity, says that "We only want to see the error rectified in the 1960 edition of the publication.

Orange's Water Needs to Double In Next Decade

Orange County is going to need a lot more water for its residents and industry.

Its requirements for imported water will more than double in the next ten years, predicts Howard W. Crooks, Orange County Water District secretary-manager. His figure is based on an estimate released by the State Water Resources Board at Sacramento after a study on future water demands.

Orange County, in 1950, imported 35,700 acre feet totaling more than ten billion gallons. According to state figures, the county will need 107,000 acre-feet in 1960; 192,700 acre-feet in 1970, and 262,800 acre-feet in 1980, Crooks reports.

Crooks will be one of the speakers at the water symposium meeting planned by the Orange County Water Works Group for Dec. 12 at Disneyland Hotel. He will outline the condition of the county's underground basin and tell how it is proposed to operate the basin during the next 20 years to insure an adequate water supply.

PRESENTS CHECK—Russell H. Knott, left, of Knott's Berry Farm in Buena Park, presents Miles A. Sharkey, chairman of the steering committee of the St. Jude Hospital Expanson Fund Drive, with a signed subscription card for $25,000, representing the contribution of the Knott family to help construct the new 125 bed addition to the hospital. Goal of the public subscription campaign is $700,000, to be matched by state and federal grants totaling $1,470,074.

St. Jude Hospital Expansion Campaign Launched at Dinner

The $700,000 public subscription campaign to raise funds to expand this area's St. Jude Hospital was officially launched Thursday night at the kick-off dinner held at the Los Coyotes Country Club. Miles A. Sharkey, chairman of the steering committee of the Expansion Fund Drive, presided at the meeting attended by civic and community leaders of the area who are serving as members of the Big and Special Gifts Committee of the campaign. Representing the North Orange County communities served by St. Jude Hospital, committee members heard campaign plans outlined and received materials for their solicitation of industrial and business firms and private individuals.

Sharkey delivered the keynote address which officially opened the campaign which seeks $700,000 to construct a 125-bed addition to St. Jude Hospital. "Although total construction costs are estimated at $2,100,000, the sum of $1,470,074 has been granted by Stateand Federal governments provided that business firms and private individuals in this area contribute $700,000, or one third," said Sharkey.

"The urgent need for more hospital beds is clearly shown by the following facts:

1. The government grants of money show that both the State and Federal governments recognize the need; 2. The tremendous growth in population; 3. St. Jude Hospital is 100 per cent occupied, and has been operating at 100 per cent occupancy almost since its opening; 4. An average of 150 patients are being turned away each month because no beds are available."

"This critical hospital situation must be recognized by everyone here," he said. "It affects individuals, families, and business firms. The Governments have already seen the need and their grants give us an opportunity to meet the need. However, we must subscribe this $700,000 fund now as the time limit imposed by the government is short.

"St. Jude Hospital is operated by the Sisters of St. Joseph of Orange. The nine Sisters at the hospital receive no compensation for their services. They have dedicated their lives to the service of humanity. They also provided $1,300,000 to construct the present hospital which was considerably more than the $640,000 provided by Federal grants or the $700,000 raised through public subscription in the 1954 campaign. St. Jude is a non-profit corporation and as such is exempt from income taxes. There are no profits, since all funds in excess of income, if any, are used for improvements to the facilities. Income from operations, if any, cannot provide funds for additional building construction.

"We need, and we invite, all residents of this area to join us in raising the $700,000 needed to qualify for the State and Federal grants. When we raise this amount the new 125 bed wing will become a reality and St. Jude will be able to do the job that needs to be done. North Orange County and adjacent Los Angeles County residents will then have more adequate hospital facilities."

Tickets are available in three downtown Fullerton locations for the concert to be presented at 3:00 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 1, by the internationally famous Feld String Quartet in the Fullerton Union High School and Junior College auditorium.

Tickets, priced at one dollar for adults and 50 cents for students, are available at the Fullerton Music Company, the Turntable, and Nielson's Men's Wear store.

The concert is under sponsorship of the music department of Fullerton Junior College.

Orange County ASC Nominations Announced, With Vote Nov 20-Dec. 2

Nominating the required ten farmers for the five county committeemen to direct the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation program, U. S. Department of Agriculture in Orange County during 1959-60, has been made by the Orange County Election Board, according to Eric E. Eastman, Election Board secretary. The board comprises Ray Beem, chairman; Ray Prothero and Max Hoeptner.

The nominees consist first, of the present five members of the ASC County Committee; namely R. Cecil Farnsworth, Joseph R. Callens, Ernest H. Gisler, Ernest L. Danker and Glenn A. Harris; and secondly of the following five farmers: Howard T. Gould, field crop producer of the Irvine area; Jack M. Hubbard, field crop producer of the Hunting Beach area; Edward Ruoff, Jr., field crops from the Westminster area; Marco F. (Tom) Forster, livestock producer of the San Juan Capistrano area; and George H. Rasmussen, citrus grower of the Tustin area.

The five receiving the largest number of votes will be elected: the one with the most, chairman, the second, vice-chairman; then in order, regular member, first and second alternates.

Names Can Be Added

Those ten nominations, Eastman said, were intended by the committee to include representation from all agriculturally important parts of the county as well as all important crops. Present committee represents all the important agricultural products of the county with the exception of cattle.

New Water Pump Boon to District

Residents in the approximate area from Lemon St. to Euclid Ave., and south from Chevy Chase Dr., at the Freeway to North St., are benefitting from installation and operation of a 75-horsepower submersible pump, with a capacity of 750 gallons of water a minute.

Located on Romneya St., between West and Citron, the new pump will insure water pressure and help maintain lower water costs which Anaheim residents now enjoy.

Another pump, in the Placentia-La Jolla area, will be operating in about three weeks. This 250-horsepower pump will have a 2,500 gallon a minute capacity.

Incidentally, Herb Strandt, assistant water superintendent for the Public Utilities Department, cautions Anaheim residents not to waste water, especially in watering lawns and then forgetting to shut off the water—in time.

Local Man Makes President's Club

The Lincoln National Life Insurance Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind., has informed its Anaheim representative, N. Doyle Ford that he has again paid in excess of $1,000,000 of new business for the year and has qualified for the top producers club known as the "President's Club."

In the past month Ford has ranked second in the United States in the amount of paid premiums on new business. He is a member of the J. Nelson Agency of Los Angeles and has been local representative for more than 10 years.
