Dealers Overwhelm Council

By DOUGLAS HUFF

Service station dealers have won a partial victory in their fight to change or junk a proposed ordinance which would limit their operations. The city council in a preliminary discussion agreed to allow a re-study of the ordinance by a committee of the dealers, councilmen, the Planning Commission, the Planning Department and industry representatives.

More than 190 dealers packed the council chamber to overflow, protesting the ordinance and calling it a "death knell" for all the service station dealers in Anaheim.

Public hearing for the proposed ordinance is Sept. 3 but it will probably be continued for additional time to allow the dealers to submit their proposals to make an ordinance acceptable to both them and the city.

Ralph Clark, a Richfield Dealer at Magnolia and La Palma Aves., and Service Station Dealers' Association chairman, took the Council to task for the restrictions in the ordinance which would prohibit dealers from performing any "major automotive repair" and limit their staff to vehicles under one and one-half tons.

Fear Certainty
The ordinance as now proposed stipulates that heavy auto repairs would only be permissible if the specific zone in which the station is located allows it. As it stands now almost all the service stations in the city are not in the permissive zones and thus would be forced to curtail their major source of income.

In the definition dealers would be prohibited from doing such as "performance of minor automotive maintenance, repair, washing and lubrication services when conducted in the building only. This would mean the service station dealers couldn't change a tire outside the building walls."

Also specified in the definition of the proposed ordinance is the display of merchandise products. Everything would have to be displayed in the building and portable racks or cabinets, banners and other temporary signs would be outlawed and the rental of trailers and other equipment would be prohibited except where the zone permits but most zones don't permit this.

"Unworkable"
Applause broke out among the dealers several times during Clark's speech, especially when he asked the council to scrap the whole ordinance as being "unfair, unworkable and a threat to the entire economy and welfare of the city." He said several of the restrictions would force him "to seek a station outside the city of Anaheim" if they are approved.

Arguments were against the proposed ordinance were not limited to the dealers alone. Several councilmen told the council that the city has no plans to force a radical change on the dealers although the dealers claim that the ordinance would do just that.

Councilman A. J. Schutte said that dealers should be able to do "heavy auto repairs" as an integral part of their operations.

Gives Violations
Mayor Rex Coons told the dealers that as the ordinance now on the books stands, most dealers that as the ordinance now on the books stands, most dealers are technically operating in violation of the city zoning code. He said that the new ordinance was drafted to resolve an existing inconsistency between the present day operations of the stations and the ordinance now in effect, which he added, if enforced, would put every station dealer in the city out of business tomorrow. The new ordinance would allow you to do most of the things you now do legally in your zone.

Chandler said the city wants to help the dealers, not hinder them "by protecting them from their present vulnerability."

Frank Wilson Mobile Brake Supply, dealer, told that he is "anxious to see any government agency offering to help business" and that the best kind of government was "that which governs least."

Gobel Coming

Comedian George Gobel, one of the top laugh-getters in show business, opens Thursday night, Aug. 22 in "Bye Bye Birdie" at the Midway Theatre in Anaheim, with skyrocketing dancing-singing star Elaine Dani as his leading lady. "Bye Bye Birdie" is a two-week run Sunday night.

Gets Utilities

The City Council has acted favorably on application of developer Mervyn B. Johnson for city utilities service to a 400-parcel subdivision northwest of Anaheim. The subdivision had been engineered slightly below the city's standards for parkway width. When homes are built and occupied the area's residents will vote on proposed annexation to the city.

Gets Contract

Among 102 prime contracts valued at $1,000,000 awarded by various Government purchasing agencies during the month of July to small business concerns in this area was a $100,000 order given to Bea Corp. of Anaheim for a test range addition.

'Hootenanny'

A "Hootenanny" is planned, 8 p.m., Friday, at Pearson Park in the Anaheim Park and Recreation Department extends its summer "Under the Stars" series another two weeks. Taking stage-center in the Greek Theater will be the Ray Tovey Singers, an all-male quartet, and the Tychouder Singers, a mixed group of 11 folk singers.

Faces Hearing

One-time Anaheim City Council candidate Henry (Rans) Rankin, 42, convicted last September on charges of check charges and grand probation, is held to answer on new charges of passing $5000 in worthless checks. Rankin was arraigned in Anaheim Superior Court last Thursday and his preliminary hearing set at 2 p.m. Aug. 27 in Division 3 of the same court.

Employment

A survey on employment and unemployment is being made this week in Orange County by the Census Bureau's Current Population Survey Office in Los Angeles. Information furnished by local households will be combined with that gathered in 250 other sample areas of the country to obtain national estimates of the August employment situation.

Due in Court

Henry "Rans" Rankin, former Anaheim City Council candidate, will appear in Superior Court Friday to answer one count of forgery. The former candidate, who generated less than 1000 votes in the last municipal election, had been caught since July 8 for passing more than $2000 worth of stolen payroll checks. He was arrested last week in a Downey Bar.

Plan Field Trip

The Pioneer House on Sept. 14 will be a point of interest for the Orange County Chapter of the American Institute of Architects field trip to several historical buildings in the county. The Anaheim Public Library will be the group's host at the Pioneer House.

Want Clinic

Orange County presently lacks facilities for an out-patient clinic for the mentally ill, but a new program was gone provide assistance to the county to establish such a clinic. Assemblyman William Dummeyer (D-Fullerton) said this week, "Testimony and evidence, he said, presented by the legislature demonstrated a great need for such a clinic. An out-patient approach is many times more economical for the taxpayer," he stated.

Slate Bid Call

Planning is moving forward on schedule at University of California, Irvine, with the announcement that working drawings have been completed for six of the 18 buildings in the first increment for the new campus on the rolling hills three miles inland from Corona del Mar coastline in Orange County. Grading for roads and building sites on the central campus will start in mid-September and ground will be broken before the end of the year. In about 30 days, the university will advertise for construction bids on the first units of the library, social sciences, humanities, natural sciences, engineering and cafeteria structures.

8 New Policemen

Eight new police officers were added to the Anaheim Police Department this week bringing the total force up to 186 men and several women. An additional 11 men are provided for in the 1963-64 budget recently approved by the City Council. Of note is the fact that in 1959 the department had a staff of 27, and in 1955 a staff of 37.

What Have We Done for you Lately . . . ?

The late Vice President Alben Barkley was fond of relating the story of an old farmer friend in his home county who voiced similar complaints against the administration. The "Vee" reminded the farmer that he had personally aided him in getting a farm loan the year before and two years previously he had helped him through red tape with the Veterans Administration. Exploited the farmer. "But what have you done for me lately?"

Readers and advertisers — and taxpayers — have a right to ask that same question of a newspaper. If the Anaheim Gazette has not done anything for you lately it's only because the editor, not being omniscient, does not yet know what you want. Write me your card. Tel. PR 2-1800. He won't kick! 'Streamlined' Financing Offered For Municipal Convention Facility

Plan Laid Before Council

A method of financing that "takes the props out from under the old-fashioned lease-back" is offered by the City of Anaheim for its proposed auditorium-convention-facility exhibit hall.

In a conference Tuesday with city officials, Robert C. Bulot, municipal financing consultant, declared that the firm he represents has eliminated many hidden costs from lease-back financing.

Bulot said his firm, Stone & Youngberg of Los Angeles and San Francisco and the law firm of O'Melveny & Myers would prepare and submit to the City Council a financing program at their own risk, although at considerable expense.

Given the amount of the city's outlay for the facility, the firm would submit a program "for acceptance or rejection," Bulot said. No charge would be made up to that point.

Nonprofit Corporation
Steps to be taken in putting the project together, Bulot said, are formation of a nonprofit corporation to build and operate the facility and issuance of bonds with the lot to the city as security.

At the end of a 25-year period, or when the debt is paid, the nonprofit corporation would be dissolved and all assets go to the city.

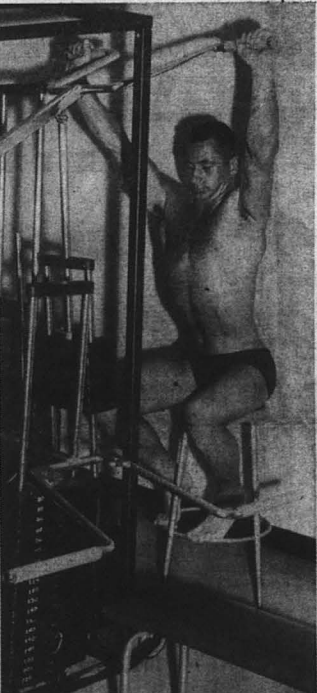

City officials and employees could serve and be officers of the corporation but could not serve on the board of directors because of conflict-of-interest considerations. City Atty. Joseph Geisler noted.

Not A City Debt
The outlay for the facility, it was pointed out, would not be a city debt. The bonds would be paid off from the lease to the city and the board of directors could sue the city for annual lease payments.

Mayor Rex Coons said the site would be included in the outlay for the project. No site, however, has been selected.

Others at the conference included Councilman A. J. Schutte and Fred T. Krein and City Manager Keith Murdoch.

"Lesson From Industry"
It was said that the city could initially hire an architect and call for bids on his proposal or it could "take a lesson from big industry" and employ an architectural-construction team to work together on planning and construction.

PATRICK'S DAY AT GYM — Universal Gym Machine in basement of new Anaheim Police Building is tried out by Patrolman Patrick Murphy (of the Fightin' Murrays) for benefit of any one who might doubt that he can swing a mean nightstick. Device was recommended by Gene Donnelly, Anaheim Union High School trainer-conditioner. Murphy observes the machine's primary purpose is to condition men, not necessarily to build them.

The new East Anaheim bank site will serve North American Aviation's huge Autonetics complex, and will be situated across the street from the Autonetics' free building on Anaheim Road.

Both Autonetics and the City of Anaheim are closely scrutinizing all new proposals for development in the area, Burns reports, in order to avoid any land usage incompatible with long-range healthy industrial growth.

The same site was rejected last year by the City Council after considerable study as to the feasibility of locating a convention center restaurant and hotel there. It was felt that a development including any residential use at all would necessarily be indirectly dependent on Autonetics construction, would tend to overload the road system and might be affected by the noise of the industry in the area.

Form Soccer Club
Plans for the formation of a soccer club covering Anaheim, Fullerton, Brea, La Habra, Placentia and Yorba Linda were announced this week by Case Leachman, captain of the proposed "Bangers Soccer Club."

Plans for the club call for its first game to be played in October as a member of the Pacific Soccer League. Players 17 years of age and older should call Leachman at 828-5305 after 7 p.m.

Land Use Question Considered Critical

Does Anaheim have too much industrially-zoned land? Should some of that land be re-zoned for other uses, such as apartment? No says the Planning Department in an industrial reanalysis report presented to the Planning Commissioners in their regular meeting Monday night.

The meeting was marked by several heated arguments when Robert Dowling's request that his triangular shaped parcel bordering the Northeast Industrial Area be re-zoned to R-3 and was turned down.

But the planning Commissioners after discussing the report and turning down the re-zoning said members still haven't completely made up their minds and will discuss the matter in a joint meeting with the City Council.

Topic of the discussion is expected to be over about whether the 2,300 net acres of industrial reserve now set up is realistic. The Planning Department has recommended that the commission should reaffirm its earlier approval of the large industrial reserves.

Make Recommendations
At the meeting Monday night Commissioners did not vote on the total number of acres, but voted instead on the following recommendations to the City Council:

1. That the county board of supervisors be urged to make a county-wide industrial areas analysis with emphasis to the area northeast of Anaheim and to establish a regional framework within which the individual communities can accurately formulate their own long-range industrial programs;

2. That the county be encouraged to delay applications for residential development in this area (northeast of Anaheim) pending completion of the study.

The report by planning Department head Dick Reese stated that Anaheim would have, if developed along current plans, 25 percent of the county-wide need for developed industrial land by 1980.

According to Reese's report Orange County will have 2.5 million residents by then and need 19,250 acres of industrial land to support the population.

Reese further stated that other sections of Orange County have been yielding to the economic pressure of rapid urbanization by reclassifying their industrial land for residential use.

In summarizing he said that this most often results in a situation of indiscriminate land uses, followed by the loss of integrity in both industrial and residential areas.

In voting against Dowling and E. A. Raulston of Heritage Construction Co. of Fullerton, proposed buyers of the triangular responsibility with me and help our community by generously supporting our United Fund. Causes participating in the coming United Fund Drive will be American National Red Cross, Association of Christian Churches, North Orange County Council Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Catholic Welfare Bureau, Children's Home Society, Children's Hospital, Crippled Children's Relief Association, Family Service Association, Anaheim Girl Scout Council, Orthopaedic Hospital, St. Anne's Maternity Hospital, The Salvation Army, U.S.O., Visiting Nurse Association and the Y.M.C.A. (including girls work).

Dr. Kellogg Heads United Fund Professional Unit

Dr. Wm. C. Kellogg has been appointed chairman over the professional divisions in the forthcoming 1963-64 Anaheim - Western Communities United Fund Drive.

Among professions which will be under Dr. Kellogg's chairmanship are dentists, physicians, accountants, architects, hospitals and clergy.

Dr. Kellogg explained: "This year we have the largest goal yet, $400,000, and it's going to be a big job once again. I am proud to accept the responsibility and challenge of taking part in this community endeavor. I am sure everyone will want to share Y.M.C.A. (including girls work).

Dr. Helen L. Morton of Richmond, Va., has been appointed fulltime physician at Orange State College, according to OSC President William B. Langsdorf.

Dr. Morton received her medical degree from the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond where she was graduated third in her class. She has for many years engaged in private practice in Richmond and has been an assistant clinical professor of Pediatrics and Chief Resident in Pediatrics from 1952-1953 at the Medical College of Virginia.

Dr. Morton is a member of the Richmond Academy of Medicine and a Fellow of the American Association of Pediatricians. She is a member of the American Medical Association and served as Chairman of the School Board of Richmond Junior Academy, 1952-1953. She has published numerous articles on children, germs, and clinical experiences and diagnoses encountered by her in private practice.

Urges Budget Cut
The California Taxpayers' Association has recommended that Orange County Supervisors chop $600,000 out of the record-setting $77 million preliminary budget. The cuts were advocated by Hugh H. Brown, assistant director of research for the association, in the areas of general relief and medical aid to the aged.

A public hearing and final adoption of the budget was scheduled this week by the Supervisors.

Some 300 teachers newly employed in the city's schools will gather at 9 a.m. in Fremont Junior High School auditorium for assignments in groups of 20 as guests of Anaheim industrialists who will escort them on tours of 20 factories and plants. Pat Patterson of Kwikset is chairman of the project.

Tuition Charge

No tuition will be charged out-of-state students who enter Orange Coast College in September, but tuition fees may be charged, starting in January with the opening of OCC's second semester. Correllan J. Thompson, associate dean of admissions and records, points out that Senate Bill, signed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, makes it mandatory for junior colleges to charge out-of-state students for tuition fees. However, Thompson added, "the earliest possible effective date will be the second semester of the 1964-65 school year."

The amount of the tuition charge for out-of-state students will be determined by the California Board of Education and will be uniform for all junior colleges in the state, he said.

Set Dance Benefit

Distaff members of the Board of Directors will comprise the committee of arrangements for the Wayne King dinner dance benefit of the Symphony Association of Orange County scheduled for Thursday evening, Oct. 17, at Disneyland Hotel. piece of property bounded by Placentia-Yorba Rd., Dowling St. and Orangehorpe Ave., planners may have voted to make Dowling, resident of Anaheim and property owner in the area for 50 years, wait as much as 17 years longer to develop his land as industrial.

Dowling and Raubson argued bitterly with the commissioners, particularly Planner James F. Chaves, stating that he had $850,000 riding on the deal and that they most likely wouldn't be around in 17 years.

Following one vote on Dowling's request, Commissioner Calvin Pebley, who said that Anaheim "get the ball rolling" to fill the land as soon as possible. He suggested that the city hire a full-time planning consultant for industrial expansion. The Commission generally agreed but decided to talk to the City Council about it rather than make any recommendation about it for them.

Chamber Opposed
The Chamber of Commerce is opposed to the controversial question. Pebley said the Chamber is "doing a fine job" but that it can't be expected to take all the responsibility for filling the industrial land.

"It is the cities responsibility to bring industry into the city and we need to hire a full time consultant to promote Anaheim to industry."

Also discussed was some sort of incentive to property owners holding their land for industrial use but nothing was suggested.

Orange County's bid for recognition as a separate Metropolitan Statistical Area moved a step this week when the matter was sent to the Federal Committee on Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas without recommendation.

Congressman Richard T. Hanna, advised Supervisor William J. Phillips, chairman of the Orange County Metropolitan Area Committee, from Washington after the Bureau of the Budget's Technical Committee on Area Definitions debated the pros and cons of the issue for more than four hours.

Hanna said that he had been informed by Frank Carr, chairman of the technical committee, that his committee would merely compile the facts in the matter and pass the decision on to the House of Representatives.

Hanna said he expected to have some further word on the subject from Frank Ryan, chairman of the Federal Committee, by the middle of this week.

The Technical Committee, Hanna explained, is made up of four representatives of the Bureau of the Census and one representative each from the Bureau of the Budget, the Department of Agriculture, the Bureau of Employment Security and the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The Federal Committee, Hanna pointed out, has a much broader base.

It is made up of Ryan and Carr of the Bureau of the Budget, plus two representatives of the Bureau of the Census and one each from the Housing and Home Finance Agency, Department of Agriculture, the Bureau of Employment Security, the Federal Housing Administration, the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the Office of Distribution of the Department of Commerce, the Office of Area Development of the Department of Commerce and the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

$1 Million Gain

American Electronics, Inc., Fullerton, recorded operating profit of $114,926 for the second quarter of 1963, according to Robert C. Loomis, president and chief executive officer, bringing the six months 1963 earnings from operations to a total of $239,192. For the period last year, a loss of $54,451 was recorded. The manufacturer of electronic systems and components for the aerospace industry had sales for the six months 1963 period total $5,741,713 compared to $4,669,307 for the first six months of 1962.

New County Clerk

William E. St. John, 1932 Greenwood, was named Tuesday as Orange County Clerk by unanimous vote of the board of supervisors.

Previously employed as county data processing coordinator, St. John was chosen from a list of 10 candidates to fill the unexpired term of Lynn B. Wallace who resigns Sept. 3. St. John's appointment, effective Sept. 4, will run through 1966.

St. John stated that the new job was "quite an honor" and also "quite a challenge. The responsibilities are extremely detailed, including registrar of voters, clerk of the Board of Supervisors, head of the marriage license bureau, and many other jobs requiring a staff of 103 people."

"We hope to make many improvements," he added, "but just what they will be I couldn't say now. Six months from now I will be able to go into more details. I can say we are going to try to make it easier for the people of Orange County to register in order to increase the voting population."

Young Woman Hurt

Lois Dorothy Hilliges, 22, of 1877 Flippin Drive is recuperating in Anaheim Memorial Hospital this week from severe facial lacerations, a fractured jaw, mouth and an undetermined thoracic injury, the result of a head-on collision on Brookhurst Ave. some 600 feet south of Broadway, with a car driven by Stuart Silverstone, 28, of Buena Park. She is listed by hospital officials as in "Fair" condition.

Injured in a second accident last week was James S. Bucheri, 23, of 811 Sunstik, Anaheim. He was taken to Anaheim Memorial Hospital after veering across State College Blvd. against traffic and striking two parked cars at 12:43 a.m., police said. Bucheri told police the car's steering mechanism failed while driving north on State College Blvd.

Gardeners Checklist

By the California Association of Nurserymen
Set out tall bearded iris this month. You'll find good selections of new varieties in nurseries.
Stop pinching out the growing shoots of chrysanthemums. Except for removing excess side buds, these should be left to grow now.
August is the best month for tuberous begonia. Sturdy young plants are available now and will bloom well into fall.

Water lawns thoroughly and regularly. A well-watered lawn looks handsome in August as it did in spring.
Plant Sweet Peas now for bloom before Christmas. Make sure you plant the winter varieties.

Goodwill Industries Needs Plant Equipment

Goodwill Industries here soon may be "all dressed up but with no place to go", so to speak. Walls of the new $350,000 addition to the Santa Ana Goodwill Industries production plant are going up, which will shortly relieve current space problems at the present crowded plant.
But another problem — equipment lack — is equally pressing, according to Gaylord Hicks, executive director.
"Here will be a new building. It should be fitted with up-to-date efficient equipment. Much of our

TB Fighters Cite Fatigue As Warning

Chronic fatigue is a symptom from which many people suffer. And it shouldn't be ignored, according to the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health Association. However, since it is a symptom, and not an illness in itself, you shouldn't treat it with something you read about in the paper or hear about over TV.
It's something you should take to your doctor.
That "always tired" feeling can be a symptom of many things amiss. It can result from overwork or not enough work. It can be a sign of anemia, not enough sleep, tuberculosis, thyroid disease, low blood pressure, malnutrition, boredom, lack of exercise, infection of almost any kind.
Tiredness all the time, or even most of the time, is not normal, not something to resign yourself to. Your doctor can find out what the basic trouble is and treat that. If you try to treat it yourself, you probably won't do any good. And you may delay diagnosis of a condition which should receive medical care.
So stop just dragging yourself around. Drag yourself to the doctor.

A Dangerous Concept

Many influential people in government want to extend the role of taxation. They look beyond the dictionary definition of the word tax, which is a compulsory contribution levied upon persons, property, or business for the support of government.

The planners hold to the dangerous concept that taxation should be used as a social instrument.

They urge that taxes should be used to bring about some desired result other than the raising of government revenue.

This kind of thinking is not new. In fact, government already has ex-

IT DOESN'T MEAN 'PUSHED'

The Declaration of Independence says everyone is entitled to the pursuit of happiness.

But this doesn't necessarily mean that the government should regulate the chase.

The word "pursue", in fact, involves voluntary, individual effort.

It certainly doesn't mean we should be pushed, carried, or otherwise artificially transported en masse toward some goal.

In fact, they regarded freedom as a responsible duty and as one of the most important requests which they could make to those who would follow them.

It's time, past time, we remembered.

The urgent task at hand is to achieve difficult social and economic goals while staying within the framework of a free nation based upon individual liberty.

Infinite care should be taken to prevent powerful government from becoming the dominant Big Brother or individual rights, individual freedom and the pursuit of happiness will be lost by every American.

The founders and developers of this country knew that.

$100 assessed valuation tax rate for the coming year.

Increases in the county's assessed valuation enabled the county to finance the $11.8 million increase over last year's total without raising the tax rate.

Original estimates of a possible five-cent tax hike were overcome by larger amounts in the carry-over funds and a greater income.

Of the $73,543,638 budget, only $77,031,820 will be financed by all county taxpayers. Some $1.4 million will be paid by residents in districts using county library facilities.

Police Chief Urges Auto-Bike Safety

Mark A. Stevenson, Anaheim chief of police, urged bicyclists to observe:

1. Observe all traffic regulations, signs and lights.

2. Keep to the right. Ride single file.

3. Have a white light in front and a red light or reflector on the back for night riding. Wear light colored clothing at night.

4. Have a workable horn or bell. Maintain safe speed.

5. Watch for cars pulling into traffic. Be careful of doors opening on parked cars.

6. Never hitch a ride on another vehicle.

7. Carry no passengers or objects which interfere with vision or control.

8. Keep your bike in perfect operating condition. Make sure brakes are functioning properly.

9. Stop, look and listen at all intersections.

10. Use proper hand signals when stopping or turning.

11. Ride in a straight line. Do not weave or weave.

12. Avoid sidewalk riding. Always give the pedestrian the right of way.

Chief Stevenson pointed out that the best way for cyclists as well as the predicted number of motorists to have a safe as well as a happy holiday is for both groups to observe the rules of the road and to show respect for "the other guy."

"Cyclists and motorists must share the streets, and share the responsibility of being on the road," Stevenson stated.

"We don't want anyone in Orange to be a statistic," he said. Stevenson concluded with 12 major bike rules which he urged

Rhyme and Reason

By LOUISE MEYER

Let no small girl today declare
She has no single thing to wear.
Her frocks are bright with reds and blues.
That she may look upon and choose.
But tell me this, oh, tell me,
pray,
Why must she look like Grandma's day?

The powers that be, they who design and manufacture children's clothes, have a sudden interest in what they fondly call "the quaint look".

Quaint it may be. It is also ugly.
Shades of my childhood! I saw a whole store window full of little dresses that were replicas of those I wore.

They were plaid, and how I remember plaid. There was a certain plaid dress when I was nine.
It was red and brown with a line of green, and I hated it with a passion. Being of good strong gingham it never wore out, and even the plate of beans I spilled on it at the Sunday School party did no lasting damage.

I can see it yet, hanging on a hanger in the closet, waiting for me to recover from influenza.
How much the prospect of wearing it deterred me no can say.
At nine I longed for pale blue with sprigs of pink roses, red candy stripes with tiny black velvet bows, and organza yokes with white embroidery and baby blue ribbon showing through.

I have not outgrown it though I try not to say anything when my grandchildren sometimes appear in the "quaint look".

This calls for dark colors with pinpoints on top, lots of navy blue, wine color, forest green and brown. It is worn with long black stockings whose only improvement over those I wore lies in the fact that they continue into panties so that no garters are required.

Remember the garter waists of yesterday, the black saten bloomers and the gaping expanse between the place where the stockings ended and the bloomers began? Remember too, the long underwear put on without fail just after Halloween. How it stretched as the months went by, so that only by the most intricate of wrapping could it be made to fit at the ankle under the hightopped shoes.

Of course, there were compensations. I count as greatest among them the black patent leather shoes with buttoned straps above the ankle, the whole topped by a beautiful pink or red tassel.

I remember, too, a certain cousin one year, my junior who was lucky enough to have eczema.
This meant that she had to wear pure white next to her skin, and undershirt. Oh, lucky girl. Try as I might I could never "catch" her eczema, and was relegated for years to the hateful white panties, white stockings, black saten and miserable black cotton stockings.

Little wonder that I cringe on seeing little girls today playing blissfully in black leotards. There are some things that leave a mark on you.

Jack was on the road for Associated for 10 years and then went into the service station business 30 years ago. Took on the scooter business as a side line and for the last 23 years motorcycles and scooters have been his full time business. Needless to say Jack Gledhill is an expert and his years of experience are very evident. Come to 623 S. Courses at OCC Include Russian

When classes start Sept. 10, Or-ange Coast College will offer 40 schedules, wholly new or completely revised and up-dated courses in addition to the technical, vocational, pre-professional and general education listings in last year's catalog. Students who may someday fight the cold war as a diplomat or read Soviet technical papers to stay in front in the race for space can enroll in the new course in Elementary Russian, a four-credit course to be taught by Irene V. Goyevski. The course parallels the elementary Russian course taught at the University of California at Los Angeles. Credit from the course is transferable to four-year colleges.

Physical Anthropology, dealing with the historic origins of culture and society, archaeology, establishment of chronology and the biologic history of man; and Cultural Anthropology, dealing with the analysis of social structure, family kinship and anthropological methods, will be offered.

Another new course is Principles of Economics, an introduction to economic analysis, the development of the private enterprise economy, distribution, economic security and labor-management problems.

New chemistry, engineering drawing, basic photography and advance photojournalism courses teaching advanced dance techniques, composition studies based on movement in relation to music, art and literature, will emphasize choreography, with a stage production as the goal. It is to be taught by Mrs. Dorothy Duddridge.

Revised courses are in commercial and art photography, escrow procedures, merchandising and display, shorthand, data processing, automotive technology, wood-working, arc and oxy-acetylene welding, pre-engineering, design, voice training, and logic.

IN ALASKA EXERCISES

Army PFC Karl E. Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Reynolds, 817 S. Sherrill, Anaheim, participated with other members of Company C of the 23d Infantry's 4th Battalion in Exercise KING CRAB III, a four-day airborne maneuver in Alaska.

The exercise, which was designed to exploit the capabilities of an airborne unit, ended July 26. Reynolds, a rifleman in the company at Fort Richardson, entered the Army in February 1962 and arrived in Alaska the following August.

The 18-year-old soldier attended Orange High School.

Orange Coast Budget Lower

Orange Coast College will operate on a 1963-64 fiscal year budget of $5,110,978.

A budget breakdown shows expenditures of $3,006,688 for current operations; $8,795 for food service; $123,226 for community service; $1,829,419 for capital outlay; and reserves of $142,750.

Revenues shown, with a beginning balance of $641,154, are $12,300 from federal sources; $1,141,409 from state sources; $1,143,038 from Orange County sources; and $2,250,077 from local sources.

The 1962-63 budget total was $5,962,718.

The 1963-64 tax rate is 49.23 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. This is 32 cent, less than one penny, above last year's tax rate. The less than one cent tax increase is due to road improvement taxes and a change in California law which requires additional employee health insurance.

The budget is based on a total district assessed valuation of $479.53 million. Last year's district assessed valuation was $425,886,790.

KEEP IT CLEAN — Working with no roof over her head during the Goodwill Industries expansion, Anne Helen Kutzman, one of the Handicapped workers who was voted "Goodwill Worker of the Year" in 1959, points up the acute shortage of equipment for the new building, especially the laundry department, where emphasis is placed on assuring clean clothing for the Goodwill stores. Goodwill needs many more steam hand irons, also "Susie" machines for form finishing, pressing machines and various other equipment to outfit the new building, say Goodwill officials.
