Anaheim 'Big League' With Groundbreaking

In elaborate ceremonies before 1500 highly enthusiastic fans, the Angels took their biggest step yet in the 35-mile trip from Chavez Ravine to Anaheim.

When Angel owner Gene Autry, Anaheim Mayor Odra

Chandler and Contractor Del Webb dug up the first scoop of ground. Orange's neighbor city was officially on the way to becoming the smallest major league city in the country.

As the first ground was broken, thousands of balloons were sent flying into the sky and fireworks boomed at the site just across the freeway from Disneyland.

Disneyland played a popular part in the hour-and-a-half program. Mickey Mouse, Pluto and Goofy made an appearance coming in on a fire engine, red light, siren and all.

And Disneyland hostesses helped control the crowd.

Angel players Jimmy Piersall and Jim Fregosi were the most popular people there and hundreds of youngsters surrounded the pair wanting autographs from the Angel stars.

Promises were the rule at the groundbreaking. Orange City Councilman Max Reynolds, acting as the President of the Orange County League of Cities, promised full support from the League (verbal, but not financial). Chandler promised full support by Anaheim. Webb promised a stadium that would not "cost the taxpayers three or four million dollars extra like some of the recently built stadiums have."

As Webb brought out this last statement, Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, on hand for the festivities, got a good laugh.

Orange County Mayors at the ceremonies were Paul Wishek of Brea Park, Robert Wilson, Costa Mesa; George Honold, Garden Grove; William Martin, Laguna Beach; Leonard Crapo, La Habra; Charles Long, Los Alamitos; Paul Grubert, Newport Beach; Don Durdord, San Juan Capistrano; and A. Allan Hall, Santa Ana.

Angel manager Bill Rigney was presented a Mickey Mouse banner by Mickey; and Chandler was presented with a trophy by Anaheim Chamber of Commerce President Ed Hawkins.

Patrice Wymore, co-star of "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" which closed last night at Melodyland, came up with one of the best lines of the ceremony.

"One of the most popular songs from 'Gentlemen Prefer Blondes' is 'Diamonds are a Girl's Best Friend,' Miss Wymore said. 'And it should be that this diamond will be Anaheim's best friend.' So it should."

Bikini Beach at Low Tide

One of the strongest contenders for the title of "Worst Picture of the Year," is currently headlining the show at the Orange Drive-in.

But, the populace is lucky. "Bikini Beach," unless for some ungracious reason it is held over, will end its week-long run tonight.

Interested to find out just what it was that caused "Bikini's" predecessors, "Beach Party" and "Muscle Beach Party," to gather in money faster than many an Academy Award winning movie, we waited excitedly for it to start.

After five minutes, we waited excitedly for it to end.

Starring in this picture was what was known as the "Beach Party Gang." It includes busty Annette Funicello, Frankie Avalon and professional Watusi dancer Candy Johnson.

Although we searched through the complete movie, we still can't figure out what the plot was or even if there was one.

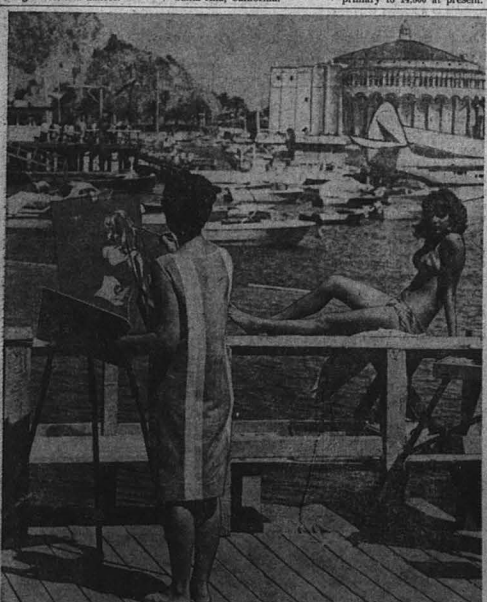

To be brief as possible, it involved a bunch of teen-agers who camped out on the beach by night and rode their surfboards by day.

Now, one day this fellow called "The Potato Bug" moves in. It seems that Frankie and Annette have a romance going and to make Frankie jealous — at least, that's the way we figured it — Annette decides she wants Mr. Bug as her boyfriend.

(For those of you who don't know, The Potato Bug is supposed to be a takeoff on the Beatles.)

Then there was this newspaper publisher who prints some nasty articles about the surfers saying that his gorilla can do anything they can do. The gorilla surfs, drag races, and dances.

40,000 New Voters Sign In County

County Clerk William St. John announced today that approximately 40,000 new voters in Orange County have signed up for the Nov. 3 general election since the June primaries.

At the same time, he said an all-out drive is under way to voter total to 440,000 by the Sept. 19 cutoff date for the presidential election.

Total registration as of Aug. 25 was listed as 422,292 including 211,938 Republicans and 196,238 Democrats. Another 12,425 voters declined to state a party preference and 2,881 were in miscellaneous small parties, St. John said.

The registration figures showed an increase in the number of Democratic voters over the June primary of 24,300 while Republican voters increased 13,648. The separation between the two parties there was cut from 25,432 in the primary to 14,800 at present.

PHONE PROGRAM

Used Equipment Finds New Home

Students aren't the only ones getting ready for school.

Teachers, and Pacific Telephone representatives in Orange County will be heading during the next several weeks to develop a program in science and physics that will allow students to use telephone company electronic equipment for classroom experiments.

"The equipment, although obsolete for everyday telephone company use, comes to life again in the hands of curious students eager to build and experiment themselves in the marvels of the electronic age," Mrs. Mary Bell, Pacific Telephone's teaching aids consultant declared.

The donation of the equipment under Pacific's "Obsolete Telephone Equipment Gift Plan" is being arranged under the company's desire to accelerate the program in Orange County where engineering has become a major industry and interest.

Basic aim of the gift plan is to aid teachers by providing equipment they can use for instruction and experimentation.

"We also hope to foster a greater student interest in science," Mrs. Bell said.

Available to students this fall will be workable batteries, relays, switches, power plants and other assorted equipment which may even include complete switchboards.

The meetings now being arranged in various county school districts will not only acquaint administrators and science teachers with the program but demonstrate how teachers may use the equipment to its best advantage.

Included in the experimental use of the obsolete equipment are electronic games developed by Pacific Telephone engineers.

"But it's not just a game," the teaching aids consultant carefully pointed out.

Best Photo Contest on At Irvine

Visitors to The Irvine Ranch during this week's 100th Anniversary Open House are being invited to enter photographs they take of Ranch scenes in a "Best Photo" contest being conducted by The Irvine Company. It was announced today by Charles S. Thomas, company president.

Stipulating only that the photographs actually be taken during the August 11-September 7 period, and that they be made by non-professionals, Thomas set Sept. 20 as deadline for submitting entries.

Entries may be 8 x 10 prints in black and white, or any size color transparencies. Black and white photos will become the property of The Irvine Company, color transparencies will be returned to owners.

All entries should be directed to Mr. William L. Aldrich, The Irvine Company, 13941 Myford Rd., Irvine.

Bobby's Reception Is Rough And Tumble

Candidate Visits Fulton Fish Market

NEW YORK (UPI)—Robert F. Kennedy was greeted enthusiastically by clamorous fish peddlers and commuters with briefcases today in his first round of campaigning for the U.S. Senate.

Then, starting down a campaign trail he hopes will take him to the Senate where his two brothers served, Kennedy went to Battery Park where the Staten Island Ferry docks to greet Manhattan-bound office workers.

Through a station wagon mounted loud-speaker, Kennedy spoke of the state and nation "spying still or moving forward." His voice and words were reminiscent of the 1960 campaign pledge of his late brother, President Kennedy, to "get the country moving again."

Though his reception in the fish market was more rough and tumble, the business-suited crowd at the ferry landing also crowded around the smiling Kennedy, eager to shake his hand and get his autograph.

His new political base now secure, Kennedy was expected to announce soon, perhaps Thursday, his resignation as attorney general. President Johnson was certain to accept it, probably in a Washington ceremony to be attended by other prominent members of his administration.

Should Kennedy defeat incumbent Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating in November, he would be the first time in history that a single family produced three U.S. senators in one generation. The late President Kennedy was a senator before being elected. In the White House and the attorney general's young brother, Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, now is the junior senator from Massachusetts.

New York Democrats assembled in convention, handed the nomination to Kennedy in a lopsided vote Tuesday. Kennedy was opposed for the nomination by Rep. Samuel S. Stratton but the attorney general won 946 to 153 on the first ballot.

Bob Geier, 24th District Congressional nominee, said "This kind of unity will surely bring us victory for all Republicans in November."

Incumbent Assemblyman Bob Badham (71st) and James Whitmore (70th) described California's future as bleak under present administration policy.

Six-term incumbent James B. Utt praised Orange County's volunteer organization, all of whom joined in sponsoring the breakfast.

Longest Show On Earth

The longest running show in the world is not a Broadway musical but, of all things, the armistice talks at Panmunjom, Korea.

The word "show" is used advisedly because these negotiations — the longest in history now going into their 100th year — have become real tourist attractions.

Civilians and servicemen on pass, from both North and South Korea, visit the steel corrugated hut at Panmunjom where they can look through open windows to see the long table placed exactly on the truce line. Americans on one side of the table and Communist Koreans and Chinese on the other trade stares and charges day in and day out.

Actually, Panmunjom is only one scene in the longest running show of all — the one called the Human Comedy.

Where Will We Put Them?

Bad news or good news?

It is not only our increasing numbers that we have to worry about. Its our increasing size as well.

It has been reported before that Junior is generally taller than Dad. Today's GI averages an inch and a quarter taller and 20 pounds heavier than the Doughboy of World War I.

It's not just a male phenomenon.

Susie is also taller than her mother.

Whatever the reason for this growth — nutrition or a combination of things — it shows no sign of stopping.

While the population explosion has been pretty obvious, the consequences of this trend to bigness have not yet become too apparent to the general public, though the designers of bus seats, automobiles and wearing apparel have long been aware of it.

As with any other kind of change, someone stands to cash in on it.

Bedding makers are good candidates for this fortunate category.

For years they have been campaigning for bigger beds and now report that it is paying off in sales.

The old fashioned double bed is doomed, they say.

In its place is the super double bed — either "queen size" or "king size."

The one is six inches wider and 10 inches longer than a standard double bed; the other is no less than two feet wider and 10 inches longer.

This is all well and good, but where does it end?

Bigger beds or at least bigger people — require bigger houses; bigger houses require more land and lumber and other materials, and so on and so on.

Eventually there's going to be a squeeze somewhere.

One begins to suspect that the Lilliputians were really glad to get rid of Gulliver.

Bicycle Instruction Needed

There is a slow but steady stream in this city and others of bicycle collisions. Fortunately, the accidents of late have resulted in bent frames and bruised elbows but they could be much worse.

Most of the collisions, the bicycle rider is primarily to blame.

This situation is not remedied by the old adage that "kids will be kids."

Highways and city streets are as dangerous as they are useful and they are no place for child's play.

If "kids will be kids" on public thoroughfares, kids might also be statistics.

It is the duty of every parent to make his child fully aware of the dangers of bicycle riding. One lapse in conduct could be one too many.

Rural Flavor Wanted

Lot Decrease Causes Battle

By LINDA DUDLEY
Staff Writer

The ever-present battle between those who would develop the lands surrounding Orange and those who charge the adjacent county should retain its rural atmosphere is raging in Orange today.

Under consideration by city planners is a proposed 200-acre annexation to the City of Orange and pre-zone change on property located generally north of Santiago Canyon Road, west of Windes Drive.

Approximately 50 residents from the Orange Park Acres helped fill the council chambers to overrule when the planning commission met last night. The Orange Park Acres Association was protesting a possible zone change which would designate some 35 acres of the annexation either R-1-8000 (single family residential with 8,000 square foot lots) or R-1-10,000 (single family residential with 10,000 square foot lots).

The protesters requested that the planners allow not lots of less than one acre in size in order to retain "the rural flavor" and provide an orderly development.

"We are somewhat disappointed by these maps. We would like to see a more orderly blending of lot sizes with no lots smaller than one acre," one area resident stated.

Stan Hurt, who said his property overlooked any of the proposed lots, told the commission that they were trying to keep a rural setting.

"These proposals get away from the character of the territory. Go out and look at this land and see if this is what you want to destroy," Hurt said. His speech was interrupted several times by applause from the audience.

One resident said that the smaller-than-one-acre lots would bring what the residents have tried to get away from, including noise and traffic.

Population Boom Cited

According to Commissioner Thomas Ashley, the county, which now has a population in excess of one million, is destined to be populated by more than five million persons.

Orange School Teachers Study New Math Program

School opened earlier than usual this fall for 146 Orange elementary teachers who are studying the latest developments in the "new math program" recently adopted by California educators.

The four-day sessions, arranged by Owen Smith, director of elementary education, are being held at Portola Junior High School under the direction of Robert Cameron, district mathematics chairman. Cameron will co-ordinate the current program with five other monthly sessions scheduled to be held during the first semester of the coming school year.

Local teachers co-operating as grade leaders in the workshop sessions include Mrs.

Hazel Davis, kindergarten; Mrs. Thomas, and Mrs. Shirley Leigh, first grade, all of Heim School;

Mrs. Josephine Delgado, Kaella School; Mrs. Mary Bishop, La Veta School; and Miss Marlene Kozina, Jordan School, all second grade teachers;

Mrs. Dorothy Breneman, Palmyra School; and Mrs. Margie Burch, La Veta School, both representing the third grade level.

Mrs. Marcela Surovic, master teacher on the administrative staff of the Orange Unified School District, is supervising grade level procedures and also handling the construction portion of the program, Smith said.

"Workshop deliberations are designed to give local teachers a well-rounded background in the New Math program," he explained, "as well as instruction in formulating lesson plans and practice in constructing teaching aids for use in their own classrooms."

Richard Denholm, consultant in mathematics and science for the Orange County Schools, is serving as a teacher adviser and resource person during the local conference.

Sixteen teachers attending the session represent the kindergarten through sixth grades. They are first grade teachers, 46 second grade teachers, and 33 conduct regular classes at the third grade level.

Lagerquist Elevated by Accountants

Edward A. Lagerquist, Jr., who resides with his wife, Marie, and three children, at 18221 Valley Drive, Villa Park, has been elected Treasurer of the Los Angeles Chapter, National Association of Accountants.

He is Vice President of Rich and Fenlon Co., Company, Inc., Los Angeles.

Lagerquist joined the Los Angeles Chapter in 1953 and has served in many capacities, as associate director and director of chapter activities. His teaching manuscript titled "Flexible Budgeting for Departmental Control" was published by the National Office of the Association this year, and is used as textbook material in the Association's periodic seminars on flexible budgeting presented for the advancement of modern accounting methods among its 32,000 members.

Orange Grad Wins 4-Year Grant

Wayland R. Minx, Jr., 18, who was graduated from Orange High School last June, has been awarded a four-year scholarship by the National Merit Scholarship.

Minx was named by Arthur C. Stewart, president of the Union Oil Company of California, which sponsors the scholarship.

Minx will enter the University of California at Santa Barbara next month where he will major in French.

Competition for Merit Scholarships was exceptionally keen this year. A record 70,045 students from 16,377 schools were tested by the organization.

Minx's scholarship award was made on the basis of the results, plus his high school grades and such other qualifications as leadership, citizenship, and extra-curricular activities.

At Orange High, he was a member of the American Field Service Club, the Poetry Club, the French Club, and was active in dramatics. His poetry has been published in the American Poetry Society's national high school anthology.

His father, Wayland R. Minx, Sr., is an analytical specialist at the Union Oil Research Center in Brea. The Minxes live at 362 N. Waverly, Orange.

The Union Oil Company of California Foundation is a non-profit organization devoted to the support of charitable, scientific, educational, and cultural pursuits. As part of its program for aiding institutions of higher education, the Foundation offers four scholarships each year to sons and daughters of Union Oil employees, dealers, consignees, and distributors.

Selection of candidates is made by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Popular Local Couple Are Newlywed

First Church of The Nazarene, Santa Ana, was the setting for the wedding of Miss Betty Skiles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Bert Skiles, Orange and Dennis Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harris, Anaheim.

A double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert Scott, pastor of the church in the presence of 500 guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length Alfred Angelo original of lace top and pearly white skirt. Her shoulder-length veil was of white rose buds centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Evelyn Feenell, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of pale yellow with a lace top and tulle skirt with matching head piece and carried a bouquet of pale green carnations.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Shirley Skiles, Miss Suzanne Gower, Miss Shirley Parsons, Miss Deane Knight with a rhinestone ornament, and the carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid served as junior bridesmaid. All were dressed identically to the gowns worn by the matron of honor but were in pale green.

The bridegroom chose Carl Lackey as his best man. Bob Skiles, brother of the bride, Floyd Feenell and David Gower, attendants and Barry Rodick, cousin of the bridegroom, as junior attendants. Ushers were Mr. Howard Severance, Mr. Bartha Durham and Mr. Dean Noe.

The altar of the church was flanked with large baskets of yellow and white mums and gladioli. Albert Skiles provided organ music, favorite selections of the bride. Mrs. Gilbert Krage sang, "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Guest books were in charge of Mrs. Sherri Carter, cousin of the bride and Mrs. Judy Carlton, cousin of the groom. Mrs. Wayne McIntire, cousin of the bride was in charge of the gift table.

The bride's mother wore a dress of blue crepe with a lace overblouse and matching accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet. Her only piece of jewelry was a pearl pin given to her by her husband.

Grandparents attending the wedding were A. W. Martin, grandfather of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Breje, grandparents of the groom and Mrs. Mathilda Harris, grandmother of the groom.

The reception was held at the Orange County Medical Association building in Orange where guests were served from a five tier cake.

Before her marriage the bride was honored with many pre-nuptial showers. Mrs. Norma Dickerson and Mrs. Juli Roberts were hostesses to fellow employees of the Orange Savings and Loan Ass'n., housing Mrs. Lester Rodick, hostess with a shower in the home of Mrs. Dorothy Tyreman, Anaheim. Mrs. Sharon Lackey and Miss Suzanne Gower, bridesmaids, gave her a pre-nuptial shower in the home of Mrs. Lackey, Santa Ana. Mrs. Billie Timken, aunt of the bridegroom was hostess at a pre-nuptial shower at her home in Anaheim.

The bride's mother wore a dress of blue crepe with a lace overblouse and matching accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet. Her only piece of jewelry was a pearl pin given to her by her husband.

Grandparents attending the wedding were A. W. Martin, grandfather of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Breje, grandparents of the groom and Mrs. Mathilda Harris, grandmother of the groom.

The reception was held at the Orange County Medical Association building in Orange where guests were served from a five tier cake.

Demand Freeway Progress

SACRAMENTO (Special) — More than 30 interested civic, business, and political leaders, representing route communities for the long-promised Orange Freeway, Monday carried their cause to the California Highway Commission.

Headed by Dr. Stuart McComb, chairman of the Orange Freeway Action Committee, and executive dean of California State College at Fullerton, the group urged immediate budgeting and early construction of the planned Route 57 freeway.

ANAHEIM CIVIC LEADERS AT PREMIERE — Premier Mayor Charles A. Pearson and Mrs. Pearson of Anaheim were among the specially invited guests at the premiere of Walt Disney's new musical "Mary Poppins". They are shown here in the forecourt of Grauman's Chinese Theater at the gala premiere held Thursday. Other special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Walt Disney and the stars of the picture, Julie Andrews and Dick Van Dyke.

PUC Allocates Money for Area RR Crossings

The California Public Utilities Commission reported today that it has allocated a total of $6,857 to Orange County to assist the county in paying its share of providing protective devices at four railroad grade crossings.

The crossings, where flashing light signals have been installed, are Fourth Street over the Southern Pacific tracks near Tustin; Bolsa Avenue over the Pacific Electric tracks near Westminster; Idaho Street over the PE tracks near La Habra; and Fairhaven Avenue over the SP tracks near Orange.

The allocations were made from the Highway Protection Fund established by the Legislature to assist cities and counties in providing improved safety protection at hazardous highway-railroad grade crossings throughout the State.

Plan for Courts Handed to Board

The Orange County Board of Supervisors today had in its possession a basic plan for the county's future municipal court buildings.

Also included in the package, handed to the supervisors yesterday, was a recommendation for a $1.8 to $2 million bond issue in November to take care of immediate needs.

Architect Leroy Rose was author of the plan. Supervisors said they would decide Tuesday, Sept. 1, if any funds should be bought in November to build new courts in the Anaheim - Fullerton and Huntington Beach - Seal Beach areas.

County Building Services Director Robert Thomas recommended the board provide $1.1 million for four to six new courts in the Fullerton area and $219,000 to $300,000 for four courts in Huntington Beach district.

However, supervisors said there is a chance they may be able to lease or lease-purchase facilities in a proposed $14 million center in the Fullerton area between Harbor and Brea Blvds.

Rose said his plan provides for a basic type of construction for all future municipal courts.

County Teachers Attend Reading Lesson Workshop

Orange County teachers and administrators, numbering 256, went back to school this summer vacation to study ways of helping children to read more effectively.

Dr. Van Allen, University of Arizona language and reading expert, met with the kindergarten through fourth grade teachers from ten Orange County school districts. The two-week workshop was held at the Paul Revere School in Anaheim as a cooperative project with the Orange County Schools Office.

Dr. Allen is well-known among educators for his research in the importance of oral and written language in beginning reading. His field projects in classrooms in the state of Arizona and San Diego County have aroused great interest among educators anxious to improve teaching techniques for developing reading skills in the young child. Dr. Allen's appearance was arranged through the office of Frank Grunewald, Orange County Superintendent of Schools.

Other resource consultants offering professional guidance to these groups, include: Dr. Una Smith, assistant professor of education, San Fernando Valley State College; Richard Parry, reading consultant, San Bernardino City Schools; Verna Brunelli, assistant professor of speech, California State College, Fullerton; and from Orange County Schools Office: Margaret Smith, curriculum coordinator; Barbara Hunt, social studies coordinator; Glenn Smith, speech coordinator; Edith Holinger, director, curriculum center; Dorothy Zegen, language arts coordinator. During workshop periods, teachers worked in small groups to develop projects for use in their classrooms.

The two-week workshop held its final sessions today. County School Coordinator, Dorothy Zegen said.

$300 Million Projects Told By Irvine

By LOUISE MEYER
Feature Editor

Irvine community development projects worth $300 million were described in detail by Charles S. Thomas, president of the Irvine Company, at a Thursday afternoon press conference Thursday at the Newport Inn.

Of the 11 projects described, five are of particular importance which will have the first of its University of California Irvine, which will have the first of its facilities completed one year from this September; a junior college to occupy 112 acres secured from the Irvine Company by The Lutheran Church Missouri Synod; and an industrial park the purchase of land for complex which will boast three big years.

During a huge barbecue which multi-million dollar corporations followed the press conference in the heart of Irvine ranchlands, officials of Orange County, and civic leaders, including Mayor Jack Hillman and city councilmen from Orange, heard Thomas describe the Irvine holdings as a historic $325-acre property which borders upon portions of six Orange County cities, including Orange. He presented Master Planer William L. Pereira, F.A.I.A., in charge of the giant master plan for The Irvine Ranch.

During a bus tour of the vast Irvine complex representatives of the press were shown the University of California, Irvine. Located less than 10 miles from Orange, the University is expected to be a strong drawing card for future residents as well as those already making up its increasing population. Classes for up to 2,000 students are scheduled to begin in 1965 and grow to an ultimate enrollment of 27,500 students. This is more than the number presently enrolled at the Berkeley Campus of the University of C.L.A.

Of particular interest here has been the construction of a junior college by the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, to be located approximately two miles from the new University of California, Irvine.

Initial capacity of 200-600 students will allow expansion to 700 resident students. Courses will include classrooms, offices, dormitories and service buildings as well as a library and chapel. It is believed that the campus will be completed by 1966-67.

SALVATION ARMY PLEA

Think Twice Before Calling About Junk

Bigadier John M. Allen, Manager, Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center in Santa Ana, today urged Orange County housewives and friends of the Army to, "Reconsider before they call for a truck to pickup an irreparable item such as a washing machine, refrigerator or upholstered furniture."

"Our facilities and trained personnel are limited," he further explained, "and often the cost for parts exceeds the resale price. If we try to hold the items and sell them for junk metal that has a maximum value of $10 a ton — which is less than the cost of pickup and hauling — the expenses mount and the profits lower."

"The same applies to upholstered furniture. State law requires that each piece be sterilized before being resold and if there is as much as a small tear in the item it cannot be effectively sterilized. However, the pieces with good frames and upholstery are renovated and resold at a small profit which makes our rehabilitative program possible, he said."

GOLDWATER GREETES GEIER — Barry Goldwater wishes Bob Geier well on the kick-off of Geier's campaign to capture the 34th District Congressional seat.

Geier Opens Fullerton Campaign Headquarters

The first day of a three day series of events scheduled in every city in the 34th Congressional District was climaxed this afternoon with the opening of the Geier for Congress headquarters at 1318 W. Commonwealth in Fullerton.

Open from 5 to 9 daily, the headquarters will serve as a base for all District operations including a precinct work.

Voters in the 34th District will find a wide variety of Geier literature outlining Bob Geier's position on various issues as well as a complete selection of campaign materials.

A Geier spokesman expressed confidence for victory in November, citing the swelling grass roots movement in the District of disenfranchised voters, who are eager to express their displeasure with the current Administration. He felt voters were especially receptive to Geier's pledge to work for fiscal responsibility in government.

The remainder of the week will see candidate Geier meeting with precinct workers in all of the cities in the 34th District.

Voters in the 34th District who would like to meet Bob are urged to call Geier headquarters at 525-4794 to find out the time of Bob's appearance in their city.

Utt Cuts Visit; Returns to D.C. Congressman James R. Utt (R-34th District) today prepared to return to Washington cutting his visit to the district short by a week.

Utt decided to return when his Washington office advised him that the Administration was preparing to push its "Appellate Bill" through the House. Utt said he opposed the bill and described it as "another boondoggle."

VACCINATIONS URGED

Smallpox Danger Warning Issued

The potentially explosive smallpox situation in many parts of the world and the fact that these areas are literally only hours away by air travel have prompted the United States Public Health Service to issue the following recommendation: "All persons who work in and around international seaports, airports, and land border points of entry, and those who meet and treat the sick, should be vaccinated against smallpox at least every three years and preferably every year."

In commenting upon the statement, Dr. Edward Lee Russell, Orange County Health Officer, said that the recommendation is intended to increase and maintain at a high level the protection against smallpox of those persons most likely to have contact with an international traveler.

Dr. Russell continued that persons whose occupations require their coming in close contact with world travelers are most liable to be infected and to spread smallpox into the community. He mentioned such persons as port workers, airline and shipping company employees; taxi, bus and ambulance drivers; policemen, porters, restaurant, hotel, and laundry workers; and physicians, nurses as being more likely to be exposed to infected travelers.

The health officer pointed out that the smallpox virus can be transmitted from an infected person to others before any signs of the disease appear. And with modern air travel, the infected person could enter the United States and be on his way before the illness becomes visible. He warned that the smallpox vaccination certificate required of all persons entering the United States cannot always be relied upon to guarantee that individuals have been completely protected.

Dr. Russell stated that the routine infant vaccination does not provide protection against smallpox in later years. To be protected, persons who may be exposed to smallpox should be vaccinated at least every three years.

HEADS FOR ARIZONA

Goldwater Ends Cruise; Back to Political Work

Republican presidential nominee Barry M. Goldwater, tanned and relaxed after a six-day, seagoneer pre-campaign holiday, buckled down to the political business at hand today.

Goldwater planned to spend most of the day at a motion picture studio making short films on a variety of subjects to be used as the campaign progresses.

Later today Goldwater planned to fly to his Phoenix, Ariz., home to await the formal opening of his presidential campaign, Thursday in Prescott, Ariz. The trip to Phoenix will give the Arizona senator the first look at the Boeing 727 jet airliner which has been outfitted for his campaign plane.

Plane Fully Equipped The plane, which carries a fully equipped office, with elaborate communications equipment, was to be formally turned over to the senator after his arrival at Phoenix.

Goldwater began his cruising holiday a week ago and sported a healthy gray chin growth Monday when he departed from the borrowed 83-foot yacht Sundance.

Even before his holiday officially ended at the Balboa Bay Club Goldwater had resumed mapping campaign details. Campaign director Denison Kitchel boarded the Sundance off nearby Santa Catalina Island Sunday to discuss strategy with the senator.

Kitchel met with newsmen after leaving the Sundance Monday and said he thought President Johnson should be more active in using the influence of his office to curb rioting in Philadelphia and elsewhere in the nation.

Governors Might Participate "The thing is getting to the point where one would think that the (Johnson) would call some kind of a conference to see what could be done in the 98.38% PERFECT!

Practice Makes Almost Perfect

98.38%. That's about as close to perfection as anything can come. In this case the subject is the quality of home loans. California Federal has over 48,000 first mortgage loans representing an investment of about $950 million. And 98.38% of them are in good standing with all payments up to date. Loan quality like that is nothing short of sensational even for a practiced lender like California Federal. It tells you what a remarkable group of people California Federal borrowers are... and how careful were the California Federal counselors who approved the loans. And it tells you 412,000 savers that, for dividends and safety, their savings could not be in better hands. As someone has said, nobody's perfect. But we keep trying.

State Fair Open Today

12-Day Run in Sacramento;
Governor Opens Festivities

SACRAMENTO (Special) — Climaxing work-filled months of behind-the-scenes preparations, the spectacular California State Fair opened today for 12 action-packed days of fun and excitement for the more than a million visitors expected at this year's gala festival.

Opening day ceremonies, spotlighting a modern-day rocket, an ancient locomotive, Golden State residents in a bicycle parade and a man who really flies, started at 10 a.m. as Governor Edmund G. (Pat) Brown officially declared the Fair's opening.

Prominent Californians led state residents onto the grounds in a bicycle parade, marking the most unique opening in the 111 year history of the Fair.

Bell Aerosystems Company's famed Rocket Belt Man, headlining the nightly Spectacular Grandstand Show, delighted Fairgoers of all ages as he soared over the gates of the Fair during opening day ceremonies.

Symbols of California's changing times, the historic C. P. Huntington locomotive and a modern-day rocket from the Aerojet General Corporation were accepted on behalf of all Californians by Brown and will be on display throughout the Fair.

Hundreds of shows, displays, exhibits and attractions are featured at this year's Fair, recognized today as the top cultural, educational and fun-filled event of its kind in the west.

Since its beginning in 1854, the Fair has grown from a small display staged by 10 pioneers in a San Francisco music hall to a vast panorama of wealth in agriculture, industry and culture which aptly reflects California's own phenomenal growth.

From its art displays and livestock exhibits to the fireworks and midway, the State Fair, running through September 13, will offer something for everyone.

One of some 40 entries in the 12th annual Maid of California contest will be selected tonight during a televised pageant from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. in Governor's Hall to reign over this year's Fair.

Winner of the coveted beauty title will receive a $1,000 U. S. Savings Bond and a $500 Gold Medal wardrobe. Her court of ten maidens will each receive $100 U. S. Savings Bonds.

Groups of California and Nevada Indians will set up camp today on the Fairgrounds where they will remain throughout the Fair to give Fairgoers a view of tribal ceremonies and activities.

Rodeo lovers will have the chance to see the nation's longest-running Rodeo Cowboys Association rodeo at this year's Fair. Top rodeo cowboys from throughout America will meet the challenge of some of the west's finest rodeo stock.

Some 300 thoroughbreds, harness and quarter horses will run in the State Fair's 10-day racing meet.

Among the hundreds of other attractions at this year's Golden State showcase are the Hall of Flowers, Hobby Show, Gem and Mineral Show, clowns, contests, prizes, concerts, fashion shows, hootenannies and a host of things to see and do.

Insurance Women to Hear Director Speak

Mrs. Pauline Kincaid of Long Beach will present her comments on the national convention held in Buffalo, N. Y. in July of this year, to the Assembly of Insurance Women of Orange County, Wednesday at 7 p.m. The regular monthly meeting of the organization will be held at Stodder Restaurant in Town & Country Square.

Mrs. Kincaid is immediate past-Regional Director of Region Eight of the National Association, of which the Orange County Club is a proud part. The information she is to present will give an insight into the national scope and workings of the N. A. I. W. and is planned to interest women in all lines of Insurance, who are invited to attend.

By Amy Palmer
A resident of Orange County for more than 20 years, Mrs. Max Boethin has moved from her home at 477 North Center St. to the Goforth Mobile Home Park, 1801 East Collins.

In her new home Mrs. Boethin was honored a few days ago at a surprise housewarming attended by Mesdames Cleo Owens and Bill Everett both of Orange, and Mesdames Charles Tulone, Charles Rhinard and Gerald Williams, all of Santa Ana. She was the recipient of a lovely gift.

Cheer Club
Cheer Club held a share-a-dish luncheon meeting Aug. 26 with Mrs. Alice Rinkley as hostess at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Field, 250 North Pine.

During a business session, conducted by President Luella Sanderfick, the club decided to make a cash gift to the local Mexican Friendly Center.

Only absent members of the club were Mesdames Florence Humphreys and Faye Hoffman.

Injured
A long-time resident of Orange, Rotarian Roy E. Bonham of Santiago Boulevard, has been a patient since June 15 at Cape Lodge.

Under treatment for injuries suffered in a fall down cement steps at his country home, his condition is improved.

Mrs. Bonham joined her husband at the lodge on Aug. 29 for observance of their 47th wedding anniversary. They had luncheon as guests of Mr. Mary Roberts and staff.

Miss Christine Franz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Franz, 1014 North Shaffer, will enroll this fall at the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Christine, a member of the graduating class of 1963 at Orange High School, was enrolled during the 1963-64 school year at Portland, Oregon, State University.

Foreign Studies
Miss Carol Scheblin, 3512 East Adams, is one of five Orange County students who will spend the next few months in Europe or Asia attending foreign universities as part of the California State College system's second international study program.

Recent visitors in the home of Mrs. J. A. Bergen, 1078 North Shaffer, were Mesdames Edith Tabl and Judith Burge, sisters, both of whom live in Corona del Mar. Mrs. Bergen and her guests are former Munsing, Mich., residents.

Her Mistake
After Kathryn Murray appeared on the "Gilt Talk" television show, a woman approached her and said: "Mrs. Murray, I watch your show on television every week." Mrs. Murray thanked her for her loyalty.

Her show hasn't been on the air in almost three years.

Triple Role
Nita Talbot has been signed to portray four roles in one segment of the new "Valentine's Day" television series.

She'll play three sisters and their mother in the show, which stars Tony Franciosa and Jack Soo.

Cannon Appeal Reported Incorrectly; Wins Okay

In last Wednesday's issue of the Orange Daily News, the decision on Paul Cannon's appeal to the City Council was inadvertently given incorrectly.

The story stated that the appeal was denied and three landowners, Oliver Johnson, George M. Lawson and Hubert Turnbaugh were granted the right to slice their three lots into six lots, all over the 6,000 square-foot minimum standard.

Actually, the council favored Paul Cannon, who made the appeal of the Planning Commission's decision to grant the variance.

Here are the minutes, as compiled by City Clerk Florence Phillips, which relate to the case.

"In Re: Public Hearing on appeal number 36 — Paul Cannon, Variance 806: This being the time set for public hearing on petition by Paul Cannon for appeal number 36 appeal of Planning Commission decision granting a variance to require the required lot frontage a lot depth in conjunction with a proposed land division creating lots on a private street upon three lots on E1 zone, subject to certain conditions.

"Mr. Paul Cannon, 382 N. California, applicant, stated all the reasons filed in appeal number 36, why variance should be denied.

"Mr. Jerome Gach, 341 N. Magnolia St., stated there was no sewer available for connection, and parking would be a problem because of narrow street.

"Mr. Harry Hall, 1314 Hickory Lane, stated he did not think this was a hardship case at all until they wanted to sell. That these people would not be living there so were not interested in rest of residents in the area.

"Mr. Ed Runkle, 383 N. California, stated he did not believe the developers were referring to septic tanks but cess pools and that would not be good at all.

"Larry Sogel, 1324 Hickory Lane, stated he felt the street was narrow and parking would be a problem.

"Mr. Robert Fairbairn, Atty. representing applicants, stated there was a sewer at Palm Ave. and could be brought up to this property, but did not feel Planning Commission members meant for the developers to stand entire cost of bringing sewer line up, and other people on septic tanks should be required to hook into it and pay their share.

"Mr. George Lawson, 349 Magnolia, stated a block wall would be constructed around this development so would not interfere with any residents.

"Mrs. Oliver Johnson, 263 1/2 Magnolia, stated they were not approached to sell this land but were selling because it has become a hardship on them when they found out her husband could not park his truck on it.

"The mayor declared the hearing closed.

"Councilman Reynolds made the motion, seconded by Councilman Jordan, approval of a given appeal No. 36 and Variance 806 granting land division creating three lots in an E-1 zone was denied."

PATIO WARMING

Baptist Women Plan Breakfast

The annual Patio breakfast for the Woman's Baptist Missionary Society will have a special significance this year, since it is to be held in the patio of the new church at 1831 E. Maple St.

Tuesday, Sept. 2, is the date with guests gathering at 9:30 a.m. Previous affairs have been held at homes of members.

Following breakfast Mrs. Lewie Moesta will speak to the group of "Echoes from Europe".

The devotions will be offered by Mrs. George Forghash. Special music will be a solo by Mrs. Morris Brooks.

Of interest will be a White Cross project display which will show a variety of items recently completed for shipment to the Holt Orphanage in Korea.

Throughout the year the Baptist women, working with others of that same denomination, have been busy playing benefactor to the children of Korea. They have made dresses, diapers, quilts, little drawing bags in which the children keep their belongings, and colorful scrapbooks.

All of the items will be displayed. Soon they will be taken to Korea by the U.S. Navy for arrival there in time for Christmas.

Since learning of the need of the orphans in the famous Harry Holt orphanage several members of the local Baptist Church have adopted children from there.

The children, it was learned, have few toys. Often a child will have simply the part of a doll. Many dolls have been made from stockings and cloth balls, stuffed with old rags, also have been popular.

Police Nab Suspect on Rape Case

An Orange busboy was in custody today on charges of attempted rape.

William Ralph Arling, III, has been charged with the attempted rape of a 15-year-old Orange housewife early this morning.

The assault reportedly took place at the victim's home.

The victim reported to police that she had a small party with herself and four men, including the suspect, from 9:30 p.m. last night to 3:30 a.m. this morning.

Two of the men left at 1 a.m. this morning and the other two left at 3:30 when the woman went to bed.

She told police that she was awakened at 6 a.m. by the suspect who then attempted to attack her.

The woman's 13-year-old son crawled out through a window and to a nearby house where he called police, officers said.

When officers arrived they observed the suspect running from the house and gave chase.

About Your Neighbors

By Amy Palmer
A resident of Orange County for more than 20 years, Mrs. Max Boethin has moved from her home at 477 North Center St. to the Goforth Mobile Home Park, 1801 East Collins.

In her new home Mrs. Boethin was honored a few days ago at a surprise housewarming attended by Mesdames Cleo Owens and Bill Everett both of Orange, and Mesdames Charles Tulone, Charles Rhinard and Gerald Williams, all of Santa Ana. She was the recipient of a lovely gift.

Cheer Club
Cheer Club held a share-a-dish luncheon meeting Aug. 26 with Mrs. Alice Rinkley as hostess at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Field, 250 North Pine.

During a business session, conducted by President Luella Sanderfick, the club decided to make a cash gift to the local Mexican Friendly Center.

Only absent members of the club were Mesdames Florence Humphreys and Faye Hoffman.

Injured
A long-time resident of Orange, Rotarian Roy E. Bonham of Santiago Boulevard, has been a patient since June 15 at Cape Lodge.

Under treatment for injuries suffered in a fall down cement steps at his country home, his condition is improved.

Mrs. Bonham joined her husband at the lodge on Aug. 29 for observance of their 47th wedding anniversary. They had luncheon as guests of Mr. Mary Roberts and staff.

Miss Christine Franz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Franz, 1014 North Shaffer, will enroll this fall at the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Christine, a member of the graduating class of 1963 at Orange High School, was enrolled during the 1963-64 school year at Portland, Oregon, State University.

Foreign Studies
Miss Carol Scheblin, 3512 East Adams, is one of five Orange County students who will spend the next few months in Europe or Asia attending foreign universities as part of the California State College system's second international study program.

Recent visitors in the home of Mrs. J. A. Bergen, 1078 North Shaffer, were Mesdames Edith Tabl and Judith Burge, sisters, both of whom live in Corona del Mar. Mrs. Bergen and her guests are former Munsing, Mich., residents.

Her Mistake
After Kathryn Murray appeared on the "Gilt Talk" television show, a woman approached her and said: "Mrs. Murray, I watch your show on television every week." Mrs. Murray thanked her for her loyalty.

Her show hasn't been on the air in almost three years.

Triple Role
Nita Talbot has been signed to portray four roles in one segment of the new "Valentine's Day" television series.

She'll play three sisters and their mother in the show, which stars Tony Franciosa and Jack Soo.

WCTU to Hear Talk On Russia Wednesday

Orange WCTU will meet Wednesday, Sept. 2 at 2 p.m. in the Church of the Nazarene, 1125 E. Palmway St. Guest speaker will be Miss Mary Page who will discuss "Russia". Mrs. Nettie Witt will preside as president during the business session. The Orange WCTU is one of the oldest organizations in this city.
