ALLIES DECIDE UPON GERMAN INVASION

Great Fires Sweep thru Petrograd, in Revolt

SAYS CHURCH MUST PUNCTURE FALLACY OF PREPAREDNESS

Must Interpret Christianity in Its International Bearings, Dr. Geissinger Tells Large Audience.

Dr. J. A. Geissinger spoke last evening at the White Temple to a large audience upon "Woodrow Wilson—Some Considerations for Americans." His text was from Mat. 5:9, "Blessed are the peacemakers." He said he knew that there were varying opinions as to what Mr. Wilson had meant for America and the world and that we are too close to him to estimate his character or his work. Besides there is still too much political heat generated in the late campaign for any one to talk dispassionately about Mr. Wilson. But he said that his purpose was not that.

"I do not intend to attempt to characterize Mr. Wilson or his service to mankind. I do not feel that I am capable of doing that. Perhaps no one yet is in a position to speak with any authority either as to Mr. Wilson's character or work. My purpose is far otherwise. I do have some very definite ideas about Mr. Wilson but this is not the place nor the time for me to indulge in the luxury of expressing them.

"There are two outstanding facts worthy of consideration. Every one agrees that Mr. Wilson was the mightiest man in the world at the signing of the armistice and many are calling attention to the fact that he does not occupy that position of eminence and supreme leadership now and are pointing out the tragedy of his life. Let us think a little on this score.

"It is true that Mr. Wilson did achieve a world-wide leadership by the time of the signing of the armistice. And he had come by it legitimately. For he had clarified the issues, at stake and had made it clear to the world that the gigantic struggle was between autocracy and democracy and that the Allies were fighting for the liberties of the whole human race. It is well for us not to forget that Mr. Wilson had so preached his quadrilateral democracy that millions of people around the world not only read what he had to say but arose as one man threw themselves into the fray. Perhaps any other one leader he was responsible for the fine idealism that broke down every obstacle and enabled 300,000,000 Americans to mobilize their entire strength against the Central Powers.

"And yet, Woodrow Wilson was almost as much the expression of that idealism as the creator of it. The great fact about the war was that then lived 99 per cent of men as well as the will to kill came into play. Never before had the passion for liberty and democracy so so high and we all felt that we were never to recede from that lofty position. It is a fact that our aspirations have sunken down again and much that we hoped for has not come to pass. It is natural for us to try to place the blame. But it will yet be clear that the blame must rest on all of us. The millenium was not as near as we thought. With many others think Mr. Wilson made many serious blunders in the appointment of the peace commission and in the conduct of the negotiations at the peace table. But I think his most serious mistake was in thinking that the whole world could so easily be reorganized to guarantee the rights of weaker peoples and the liberty of all. Progress is never in such a straight line or so swift as that.

"Yet, it was good for us that we rose to that great mood and Mr. Wilson certainly helped us to by setting forth as convincingly as he did the ideals of a complete social justice. But the point I would have you keep in mind tonight is that the human race has a great passion for liberty and justice and brotherhood.

"The second point I wish to make is this: We must find a way of organizing the good-will of mankind. We are not as far along as we thot we were. Lloyd George and Clemenceau knew that. Still that does not mean that we are to settle down where we are. We have rid ourselves of many evils and the next great evil we must destroy is war.

"Christianity has a message for the nations as well as for the individual. When Jesus said: 'Blessed are the peacemakers,' he meant that to apply to a man's household but also to his neighborhood and the world. We have organized peace and good-will by setting up courts and courts up to the boundary of the nation. We must cross beyond that imaginary line. We simply must re-organize the world in some way so as to guarantee the liberties of the race and peace. We can do it. It may not be by the way of '14 points' but it must be done in some way.

"And the church which has done next to nothing in the way of creating a public conscience along these lines has its work marked out for it.

"I think when the final records are made up Woodrow Wilson will have to be given credit for having given expression to the international aspiration of the race; its passion to work out a plan whereby the people of the earth might live together peaceably; and it will be seen then, even though the plan finally adopted may be very different from the one set forth by Mr. Wilson, that he rendered a great service to humanity by insisting that some constitution is practicable for the united states of the world."

Looting And Carnage Increase Death List

LONDON, March 7.—Great fires are sweeping thru Petrograd, the most of which is in the hands of the revolutionists, who have risen against the government of Trotzky and Lenine.

Looting and carnage are running riot on every side in the old Slav capital and the death list is mounting high, according to reports from Helsingfors, Copenhagen and Odessa.

Bolshevik troops are reported concentrating in Moscow for a dash at Petrograd in an effort to regain the city, mutiny and dissatisfaction are general and it is not believed that progress can be made against the flame the revolt has kindled.

Fine Records Made by Presby. S. S. Classes

Yesterday was the day for monthly reports at the Presbyterian Sunday school, and the officers were greatly pleased with the record made.

This month there was a tie for the best average attendance between two classes of girls—the fifth grade girls under the leadership of Mrs. R. Dabney and the sixth and seventh grade girls taught by Miss Rumsey. The eighth grade boys, who are in Mr. Collins' care, led in the best average attendance in the boys' classes. Each class was awarded a large wall motto for their class room.

Fourteen pupils have learned every golden text letter perfectly, during the month, and should be given special mention. They are Sarah Fay, Mary L. Parsons, Arthur Boege, Kenneth Sloop, George Sloop, Jr., Marguerite Schlosser, Idaline Schlosser, Mary Beebe, Mabel White, Winifred Beebe, Josephine Cook, Paul Sloop, Edwin Beebe and Billy Utter.

The committee on special program for Easter is making elaborate plans for that glad day and an interesting meeting is promised. The school spent some time practicing several of the songs that they expect to sing.

The banner for the largest average collection per Sunday, per pupil, was again won by Miss Ruth Coons' seventh grade boys.

WITH WALNUTS ALL SOLD, THORNE URGES BIG CROP IN 1921

Next Fall Calif. Nuts Will Go Onto Barest Market That Has Ever Existed.

A communication from C. Thorne, general manager of the Cal. Walnut Growers' Assn., has been received by George M. Ross, secretary of the local growers association, stating that practically all the 1919 and 1920 crops of walnuts, both shelled and unshelled, have been sold without a reduction in price and the final returns will be forthcoming within a short time. An increase in the crop this year is predicted, and much emphasis is placed upon the necessity of irrigating.

"While trade conditions generally are still in very unsatisfactory shape, it is the concensus of opinion that by next fall trade conditions will be back to about normal altho the level of prices on food commodities will generally be lower than in the recent past, Mr. Trorne said.

"It is a certainty that next fall's California walnut crop will go onto the barest market that has ever existed. It is our prediction that 70,000,000 pounds of California walnuts can be easily consumed in America next season at prices that will returne the average grower a reasonable profit. It would be difficult to make a similar prediction on any other food product we know of.

"Therefore, every grower should devote his greatest efforts to producing a maximum crop of the HIGHEST POSSIBLE QUALITY for QUALITY is the one factor that will assure higher prices and greater consumption. Size, appearance and quality are what put us over this year and the lack of these is what hurt us last year, so please bear constantly in your mind that these three points: SIZE, APPEARANCE and QUALITY are the dominant factors in determining profit or loss, success or failure in the walnut business.

"Indications up to now point to our experiencing another very dry winter. Nothing is so important in developing size, appearance and quality in nuts as a sufficient amount of moisture in the soil. No walnut grower can afford longer to take a chance on nature providing sufficient winter and spring moisture storage. A heavy irrigation right now is no longer a matter of profitability but of necessity. Nut buds are already commencing to swell on the walnut trees. The nuts will soon commence to form and their ultimate size is determined EARLY in the spring. A heavy irrigation now will put a reservoir of moisture in the grove that will last while the nuts are forming and coming to size. Lack of irrigation now (unless already recently applied) is likely to cause a great many of the nuts to drop from the tree shortly after setting. Lack of adequate moisture is certain to mean small, imperfectly filled and light weight nuts. This is a year when adequate and proper irrigation will probably double the average walnut grower's output. When irrigation is done the grower should be sure that the moisture has penetrated at least 5 1-2 feet down.

"Let us also advise that the market for No. 2 walnuts is becoming more limited each year. The public is demanding and is willing to pay considerably more for the larger nuts. In all probability No. 2 walnuts of the 1921 crop will haveto be sold at about 40 per cent less than No. 1's.

"This year, therefore, the walnut grower has a unique opportunity to make a very satisfactory profit and to promptly market a large output, provided only he produces a good sized, well filled nut.

"The answer is IRRIGATE! IRRIGATE!! IRRIGATE!!! And do it now."

KARAM HITS 626 IN TOURNEY SINGLES

Bill Karam was the bright and shining light of the Anaheim entrants in the Los Angeles bowling tournament yesterday when he rippled the pins to the tune of 626 in the singles. In the doubles, Herman Elker grabbed off a 644 score but his partner didn't bit 'em off so well.

Karam will enter an Anaheim team in a tournament event of the tourney next Sunday. With him will be Mighty Johnson, Lefty McNeely, Guy Evans and Stormy Gordon.

Suggest New Business Street on Southside

A movement was under way today to request the city council to arrange for cutting thru a street from Los Angeles-st at least as far as Claudina-st as an extension of Elmst. Those interested point out there is a dearth of east and west thorofares south of Broadway, while there are many such streets to the north. In fact, outside of Santa Ana-st, use of which for a thorofare is retarded by reason of the S. P. tracks, there is no east and west street between Broadway and South-st, more than half a mile.

A. L. Miller has completed a building at the northwest corner of Elm and Los Angeles-sts and Nenno & Bock have just purchased a lot directly across Los Angeles-st in the Schulte tract. The lot is 50x155 to an alley. The purchase was made with an eye to the future when larger quarters will be necessary for this growing firm. They have already found themselves badly cramped in their present quarters.

Lots of Housewives Keep Check on Hens

No wonder No. Orange-co biddies lay so well! The February egg laying contest that was started by the report last week from Mrs. C. A. Williams, of the Santa Fe Lease, Fullerton, R.F. D., has demonstrated that there are a number of housewives who keep a careful check on their layers. The biddies simply have to make good. Results—eggs have been dropping in price recently, as all have noticed.

Mrs. O. E. Carter, of Santa Ana Canyon, Anaheim, R. F. D. 3, Box 289, reports to the Plain Dealer that she received 416 eggs from her two dozen Rhode Island Red hens in the 28 days of February. Pretty good for a short month!

TWO WHO WERE SUED THEMSELVES VICTORS

After granting a motion for a non-suit in the case brought against E. W. Minney and Gertrude Minney by Clarence L. Belt and Susanne S. Belt to quiet title to a house and lot in Sunset Beach and hearing testimony in another suit brought by the Minneys against the Belts, Superior Judge Williams ordered that the property in dispute be restored to the Minneys and that the Belts pay them $25 per month until they are "square" on rent claimed by the Minneys.

Mr. and Mrs. Minney produced a quitclaim deed to the property and also an assignment of foreclosure on the premises. They assart that they were ejected from the property by the Belts Oct. 2, 1920.

The Belts claimed to have an option on the property and that the Minneys refused to carry out the terms of this agreement, thus committing a fraud upon their rights.

The office is picking up business daily and expects soon to be among the most profitable of the smaller So. Calif. branches.

Berlin Plea Refused; Fleet and Army Ready

LONDON, March 7.—Allied troops will begin advancing into Germany from the Rhine tomorrow to compel the Germans to accept and execute the allies' indemnity demands. Official announcement was made at 6:30 o'clock this evening that orders had been issued to the troops to move tomorrow.

At 4:30 o'clock this afternoon the allies formally announced that the German counter-proposals were not acceptable and they did not justify postponement of the penalties to be inflicted.

French, British and Belgian troops are ready and the advance into German territory probably will take place late this afternoon or this evening.

Marshal Foch has left for the Rhine, according to a report printed by the Evening Standard today. The objectives of the invading allies will be Dusseldorf, Duisberg and Ruhrort.

Practically the entire Ruhr district will be seized and occupied.

How much further the invasion may continue into German territory remains to be seen.

The supreme war council was called into session in Paris today with premier Millerand, himself presiding. It was believed the council is concerning itself with preparations for advancing into Germany if the need arises.

The final allied conference was held at 4 o'clock this afternoon and at it the determination was reached to employ the full military power of the allied to compel Germany to pay the amount of indemnity which had been fixed by the peace conference delegates.

At the opening of today's session, the German delegates made brief counter proposals which were in no way acceptable to the allies and they were bluntly informed to this effect.

MERCHANTS ELATED AT COOPERATION OF LOCAL HOUSEWIVES

And Still They Pile Up—Hundreds of Them—Trade in Anaheim Agreements.

And still they pile up—the "Trade in Anaheim" agreements signed by Anaheim housewives. These agreements, which are being presented by a number of Anaheim ladies to fellow housewives are meeting with practically unanimous endorsement. Anaheim women believe in boosting Anaheim stores and they do not hesitate to sign a pledge to cooperate as far as possible with Anaheim merchants, realizing it is to their mutual interest in furthering the prosperity and development of the city. Following is the agreement which is being signed so generally:

I .....

Wishing to do my part in the building of Anaheim and its enterprises and to aid in maintaining it as the most prosperous city in Northern Orange County, I will endeavor to do all my trading here, realizing that it is my duty to cooperate with Anaheim business firms in the upbuilding of our beautiful and progressive city.

Name .....

Address .....

The Trade in Anaheim campaign has the particular endorsement of the following 12 stores which are underwriting a series of page advertisements calling attention to the wisdom of trading in Anaheim: The Prince Store, Heying's Pharmacy, F. A. Yungbluth, J. C. Penney Co., Falkenstein's, O. A. Loomis, The S. Q. R. Store, Sebastian Brothers, Holland Electric Co., The Style Shop, Anaheim Laundry Co.

Altho the ladies have not yet covered half the city, they have already obtained several hundred of the signed agreements. When they were displayed to merchants today, they were unanimously delighted with the fine spirit shown by Anaheim housewives.

"It is mighty fine," declared Al Heying, of Heying's Pharmacy. "The personal appeal to the housewife is something that we would have liked to have made long ago.

"Anaheim people do trade in Anaheim to a wonderful extent. Still, there are some yet to be educated to the fact that the home merchant can best serve them. For instance, a man came in here the other day feeling mighty good over the purchase of a pocketknife at the Los Angeles store. He said he paid $2 for it. I took him over to a showcase and pulled out the identical purse which we sell at $1.50.

"It is the same way with prescriptions. My attention was called to one the other day. Our price was 75c. The customer stated he had been paying $1.50 for the same in Los Angeles. My brother used to work in one of the large Los Angeles chain drug stores. He tells me it is quite the thing to mark up instead of marking down leaders for a sale. For instance, a regular $1.50 hot water bottle will be advertised at $1.89 in a sale and the people will say the extra 39c for it. But it can be no other way. The big city stores must pay enormous rents and the customer has to pay sufficient profit to meet that and other overhead expenses which are much higher than Anaheim."

O. A. Loomis—"It is a mighty fine idea to set the example of Anaheim people in such a whole-hearted manner. I have noticed in our line that Fullerton, Placentia, Yorba Linda and other outside people do more trading in Anaheim stores than do Anaheim people who seem to be attracted elsewhere. However, we can meet city prices and then some. I am entirely willing to stop with the addition the city store must make for overhead expenses before the city store tacks on its profit. A personal appeal like this will get many people to thinking as to what support to the Anaheim merchant means in the building up of Anaheim."

O. H. Renner, of the S. Q. R. Store—"It's a great scheme and I am certainly pleased to see that it is going over in such great shape.

"We have the people coming from

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

Arnold W. Walker was the honoree at a very fine dinner party at his home northwest of Anaheim on Sunday when a number of friends and relatives gathered, the occasion being his birthday anniversary.

An excellent dinner menu was served at two o'clock. A color scheme of orange and green had been selected for the decorations and this was carried out in the menu as far as possible. The birthday cake was decorated with candles of orange and green. Jonquils and ferns were used also in the decorations for the rooms and the table. The place cards carried out the Easter idea.

A delightful afternoon was spent by the guests in conversation and with vocal and instrumental music.

The guests were: Mr. Walker's mother, Mrs. Corinna Walker, of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grisett and children, Louise, Helen, and Dorothy of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Irwin and son, Myrle, of Greenville; Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Planchon and children, Carl, Earl and Martha, of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Planchon and children, Evelyn and Gilbert, of Springville; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Walker and daughter, Maybelle, of Greenville; and Miss Edith Northrop of Springville.

Mr. Walker was remembered with a number of splendid birthday gifts.

PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING

A simple but very pretty wedding took place on Sunday at the German M. E. church, following the regular morning services. The bride was Miss Dora Tuschoff and the groom, the Rev. E. Rathert, of Appleton, Mo. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Tautenhahn, pastor of the church, who was assisted by the Rev. H. Lange of Artesia.

Following the wedding ceremony, the party repaired to the home of Mrs. Rathert's sister, Mrs. J. Schroff on Olive-rd, where a wedding dinner was served to a number of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Rathert came from Missouri about a year ago and has been with her sister, Mrs. Schroff, since that time. Rev. Rathert is pastor of the German M. E. church at Appleton, where they will make their future home. He has been enjoying a vacation from his ministerial duties for some time on account of ill health.

Rev. and Mrs. Rathert will spend a few days in California and will then leave for Appleton.

ONE O'CLOCK LUNCHEON

A number of Anaheim ladies enjoyed a pleasant day Saturday at the home of Mrs. J. P. Hatzfeld, a former resident of this city and now living at Tustin. The affair was in the nature of a one o'clock luncheon which was served in buffet fashion.

The rooms of the Hatzfeld home had been prettily decorated with flowers of the spring season.

The afternoon hours were spent in playing bridge. In the games the highest honors were given to Mrs. Dyer of Santa Ana, while second and third prizes were won by Mrs. Sears and Mrs. Borchert of Anaheim. The prizes consisted of pretty hand made handkerchiefs.

The ladies from Anaheim who were included in this courtesy were: Mesdames J. Frederick Ahlborn, E. Borchert, O. A. Mullinix, H. L. Sears, F. H. Houck, F. A. Yungbluth, J. W. Wallop, Miss Fay, Homer Ames, P. J. Weisel.

Those in attendance from Santa Ana were: Mesdames A. McCain, T. Barnes, H. W. Dyer and Earl Abbey.

ENJOY "DUTCH POT" PICNIC

A jolly party which had been planned by a number of Anaheim people for Sunday was somewhat interfered with by the rain. They had intended going to Silverada Canyon and enjoying a "Dutch Pot" but instead gathered at the B. H. Sidnam home on Pythian-ave and enjoyed the "feed" there. Each one brought what they had intended to take to the mine and at four o'clock a most appetizing meal was set forth. The afternoon was spent in a social manner.

Those who enjoyed the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway, Mrs. M. E. Canby, Mr. Conklin, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Holland, Mrs. Trotter, Frances Backs and Tom Gisler.

300 AT PARK SUNDAY

The J. E. Stroup family went to Orange-co park Sunday and met relatives from Costa Mesa, Orange and Owenmouth and enjoyed a picnic dinner.

There were about 300 people at the park and the rain did not spoil the pleasures of the day at all, the tables being brought into the pavilion and a general good time indulged in.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

NEW YORK, March 7.—The state of Manhattan! The once whispered idea has been revived and shouted in the open. Greater New York, feeling herself put upon and brow-beaten, scorned and vilified, by "upstate" and its legislative majority, has expressed its rebellion thru a resolution offered by one of its state senators. He calls upon the legislature to memorialize congress asking that Manhattan become the 49th state of the union. Senator Salvatore A. Cotillo sets forth that Greater New York has more than 6,000,000 inhabitants, representing more than 60 per cent of the present state's population, pays 73 per cent of the taxes, and yet has but 40 per cent of the representation in the legislature.

There is one way of getting an apology that is truly sincere. Loonia Capedoglia, a beautiful model of nineteen years and Grecian lines, got such a one from the forelady of the costumer's shop, where Loonia makes overly buxom, over-fed, women of fifty assume believe they will look just like her when the gown is once purchased and home. The forelady slapped Loonia, in spite of her beauty and her commanding lines. And beautiful Loonia took her forthwith to the police station. Magistrate Rosenblatt explained the disciplinary limits of forelady-ing and told the slapper that she must apologize to the model or go to jail. "I won't do it," she cried. "I can't. I don't feel apologetic. I won't." "All right," sighed the judge. "Take your choice." "How long will I be sent once he" wept the forelady. "Maybe thirty days." The forelady turned to the model. "My dear, I'm awfully corry I slapped your face. I'm really awfull, awfully sorry." Which, as I said, was quite sincere.

Leaders of the "back-to-the-barrel" movement which is just now so agitating women's clubs and unaffiliated New York housewives have seized upon the current issue of the New York telephone book as propaganda for their cause. It happens that the directory, just off the presses, looks like Joseph's coat. There are more colors of paper, and more grades of it represented in the book, which is some 600 pages big, than you can shake a stick at. The telephone company explains by telling how it was forced, because of the print paper situation, to send its people here, there, and everywhere, buying up all the job lots of paper stock they could get their hands on. It was trucked into New York from as far north as Boston, as far south as Battimore, and as far west as Buffalo. "It all goes to show, says Mrs. Percy Heath, president of the National Housewives' League, "what lengths the American public has gone to in encouraging the diversion to fancy food cartons and so forth, of wood pulp that should be made into news print for newspaper use. I am no ta newspaper proprietor, nor yet an authority on the paper market, but any woman with a grain of common sense will realize that the newspapers are far more important than the handsome packages in which we nowadays buy our crackers, our rice, our coffee and—goodness knows, everything we get from the grocery store. If we women rose up and demanded the restortion of the good, old-fashioned barrel, one wouldn't have to be occupying a college chair of economics to realize that newsprint prices would drop like plummets."

Maybe it had something to do with the psychology of a war benefit. It may have been an attempt at realism. But whatever it was, the Pennsylvania hotel was well-nigh wrecked when 2000 aspirants appeared for the jobs of posing as models in the fashion show to be given for the benefit of the service house for crippled soldiers. It was expected that 200 or 300 would arrive; but the advertisers hadn't realized the appeal of the ad, which made each reader see herself posing in a lady-like bathing suit for $15 a day. The corridors were jammed, and when the doors were opened, every woman made a center rush. One woman fainted, one lost a handsome yellow wig, and scores had their hats crushed, their blouses torn and, sad though it be to relate, their faces punched, before the judging was done.

Direct action propaganda seems to be gaining. Here is another disciple of the method. Mrs. Adele Kruse, of Brooklyn, "City of Homes," thought her husband was calling on a widow who lives in Fulton-st, so she set the house on fire. Juries being insufficiently alive to the sentimental point of view, she is facing a possible seven years in Sing Sing.

Whether skirtless riding costumes are proper school clothes when the snow packs high and slush abounds, threatens to become an important question in scholastic circles. A school girl in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., wore that costume for making her way thru the drifts the other day and was sent home. Her father took the matter up with the board of education, but the board members sided with the superintendent that riding breeches do not belong in the school room. Then a girl in New York City, determined not to let Poughkeepsie carry off anything of that kind, bedecked herself in her own trim riding outfit—equally skirtless—and hied her forth. There was hurried whispered consultation in the school room. But nothing was said to her. "How did you decide it?" a disinterested teacher asked. "We—er—we—not caring to have any issue raised upon which we weren't sure, we just assumed that she had merely dropped in for a few minutes on her way to a riding lesson. So we didn't ask her to recite or do anything official at all."

One of Greatest Young Stars Will Visit City

Interest always attaches to people of stage and screet, hence the coming of one of America's greatest young actresses in person to Anaheim is of more than ordinary moment.

In the past it has been the rule, rather than the exception, for a third class traveling attraction to rely wholly on the merit of an established play to attract audiences, and, in most instances, the cast of players are secondary.

Just the reverse is true of the "Peg O' My Heart" company coming to the Grand Tuesday night, March 8, as each member of the cast was especially chosen for the respective character portrayed.

Miss Audra Alden, who will appear here in person in the title role, is a second season star who was selected to follow her famous sister actress, Billie Burke, in "Jerry," when she came into national theatrical notice.

Last season, Miss Alden starred in "The Brat," and her success was no less than that scored the season before with an all English cast, she being the exception, in Cosmo Hamilton's eugenic play, "The Blindness of Virtue."

It is said that as "Peg" she is at her very best, and from ocean to ocean the newspaper reviewers have enthusiastically proclaimed this little artist as the most delightful reader gracing Thespia.

But one performance of "Peg" with Miss Alden and all-star cast will be given here hence early seat reservation should be made.

THEATRES

"The Frontier of the Stars," starring Thomas Meighan, will be the feature at the Fairyland tonight.

Will Rogers will be seen at the Grand tonight in "The Guile of Women." Tomorrow night, "Peg O' My Heart," a stock company show will be seen.

IMPUDENTLY RASH MAIL ROBBERY

Hold-up and robbery of a truck carrying United States registered mail, in Los Angeles, was a crime startling in its boldness. The robbers displayed considerable shrewdness in deceiving the railroad gateman. They won on points in the first round of defiance of Uncle Sam and his laws. But Uncle Sam will have the last round and it will be his decisively. The good uncle is somewhat slow, at times, in his processes, held by red tape. But in cases like this he is sure and relentless.

If robbers or would-be robbers would study soberly the lessons of experience they would see that mail robbers of this type have not one chance in a million of being successful in eluding ultimate detection and arrest. Uncle Sam's tireless servants will trail and trail and trail until the guilty are found and punished, even though it may require years and even though the trail of the criminals may lead to foreign lands.

LAWYER AND AUTHOR TO BE MR. WILSON'S ROLE

Like the proverbial "bolt from the blue" was the announcement that Woodrow Wilson is to form a law partnership with Banbridge Colby, just retired from the position of Secretary of State. While no announcement is made of the character of the legal work this eminent firm will undertake, yet it is assumed that Messrs. Wilson and Colby will specialize in international cases before the United States Supreme Court. This doubtless will call Mr. Wilson into service only occasionally, and then perhaps more as a consultant than as an active court practicitioner. Both Mr. Wilson, from experience in the Presidency, and Mr. Colby, from his experience as head of the State Department, are familiar with international questions and international law.

It is to be assumed that Mr. Wilson's attention, for the most part, will be given to authorship. It is known that he is very desirous of writing the history and his impressions of the World War period and Peace Conference.

Mr. Wilson began his career as a lawyer. Then he became an educator and author. Then he efforted the realm of statecraft. Would now back again to the law and authorship. Few men have distinguished themselves in such diverse spheres of action and thought.

OPTIMISM IS PORNOUNCED IN MR. HARDING

In his inaugural address and in all his recent utterances Mr. Harding has been remarkably optimistic in the tenor of his treatment of the great problems confronting his administration. He fully recognizes, it would seem, the gravity of pending issues, both as affecting domestic affairs and as pertaining to foreign relations. But, after weighing these grave questions, he yet is confident that the genius and good sense of the American people will carry them safely through, and at the same time wield salutary influence upon the situation throughout the world.

President Harding's abounding optimism is quite refreshing and reassuring at this time. The Nation needs it. The world needs it. Without confidence, without the clear vision of possible achievement, this Nation and people would drift into a dangerous state. And the Harding brand of optimism and confidence is infectious. The people have it, in liberal measure. They will have more of it, doubtless, as the new administration settles down to the momentous work before it.

CONSCIENCE should be at the helm of government everywhere.

CALIFORNIA should control its floods and turn them to good use.

—)x(—

MRS. HARDING is fond of blue, but does not allow it to color her disposition.

—)x(—

THE UNITED STATES does not want war with any nation on earth and has no intention of provoking a war.

—)x(—

A CHRISTIAN gentleman has just retired from the presidency. A Christian gentleman has just come into the presidency.

—)x(—

HAVING BEEN a member of the senate for several years, Mr. Harding has no illusions as to the easiness of the task of getting co-operation from congress.

THE DISABLED service men of the world war should be treated as generously and as appreciatively as was promised when, in the full pride of health and vigor, they marched away to the training camp and the firing line.

SIGNAL HONORS are paid the late Champ Clark by congress, by official dignitaries and by the people. He died beloved by congress by official dignitaries and by the people. He died beloved by those who knew him intimately and respected by all.

IT IS not unreasonable for the United States government to insist that the government of Mexico give assurances that it will protect the lives and properties of American citizens in Mexico, as a condition precedent to formal recognition of the Mexican government by the government at Washington.

—)x(—

CARELESSNESS with fire entails property losses of more than $250,000,000 annually upon this country. Many deaths also result from this form of recklessness. The cure should begin where the trouble begins—with those who are careless. Such persons should turn from their reckless ways and should be careful with fire.

—)x(—

ON AN occasion like this fourth of March inauguration at Washington the colossal power and world-wide importance of the presidency of the United States is impressed strongly upon all. All over the civilized world the unfolding of the policies of the new administration will be awaited and noted with keenest interest.

—)x(—

THE UNITED States is a nation, not ARE. The solidarity of the country was sealed by the civil war and became more pronounced during the world war. The forty-eight states are as one and all questions of national scope and import. The plural number of states, in all national crises and on every issue of national character, dissolves into oneness with the nation, the flag and the constitution as embodying the supreme governmental power in the land.

UNIVERSAL disarmament is an ideal toward which the U. S. should strive, meantime keeping itself sufficiently armed to protect itself should it be assulted. This nation should be ready and eager, at any and all times, to join in and to lead a sincere, ingenuous movement on the part of the great powers of the world to disarm. But this nation cannot afford to risk its safety and to invite aggressions by greatly reducing it down armament in advance of similar bona fide action on the part of other great powers.

THE PRESIDENCY of the United States should be treated with the utmost respected by all the people. Children should be taught to reverence this exalted office and not to speak lightly of the president. In a free land like this the president, as a public official, is no timmune, of course, to criticism by the humblest citizen. But, in fairness and in keeping with American ideals, criticism of the president always should be within reasonable bounds and ever should be respectful toward the high office. Break down this respect and subject the president to indiscriminate abuse, and the foundations of loyalty to the American system of government would be undermined. The presidency, it should be remembered, is a representative power and functioning, and it symbolizes the embodied strength, dignity and commanding voice of this nation. The presidency is not a position or an entity apart from and far removed from the people; it is of them, by them and for them. It is a position created and maintained by the people, therefore should be respected as the popular handiwork.

Letters From People

The Plain Dealer: It might be of interest to the voters of Orange-co to know where the supervisors and county engineer are spending some of their money, viz., in the incorporated city of Stanton. The above mentioned officers are furnishing men, tools and gravel to pave about two miles of road inside of Stanton's city limits. Furthermore, they are doing this work thru the conviance of two of Stanton's trustees and Stanton's city clerk, who have their names posted for recall proceedings. Five-sixths of the voters of Stanton are on the petition for this recall and it surely appears to an overwhelming majority of the voters that there is a large black man in the woodpile. Why? Please tell us why the county is so anxious to spend the city's taxes, with the county's outfit and even on a street inhabited by more Japs than white people? The road being paved had several cars of gravel placed on it last year, yes, county gravel paid for by this city, and these worthy gentlemen are plowing this in now to get it out of sight before putting on more.

In the meanwhile the balance of the city's roads and streets are getting almost impassable. The voters of Stanton will get rid of four trustees and one city clerk by recall proceedings and some day there will be one county supervisor that will be remembered at election time.

You can verify these statements if you care to by calling on Mr. F. G. Redmond, the only trustee who has worked for the interests of the whole city, or any one in the east or south sections of town. It is just possible that the district attorney might find something of interest out this way if he looks real hard. Your very truly, E. J. McPHERSON
Stanton, Cal.

The Village Gossip

"Aw, fergit it, kid."

"None o' yer business."

"Go chase yerself."

Expressions such as these may have been seldom used among the girls of Santa Ana junior high school.

Whether they have or not, courtesy of speech, will be the rule hereafter.

For, politeness in conversation is one of the chief objects inherent in a new girls' club which was in the process of final organization.

"A soft answer" will be the rule hereafter.

Every Girl's club is the name of the new organization. The club is made up of a number of groups, each representing a different line of activity. No matter what particular line of endeavor a group may pursue it will be guided at all times by the principles evolved for the organization as a whole.

Many Orange-co residents were discussing today the fact that William I. Traeger, clerk in the state supreme court, has been chosen by Los Angeles-co supervisors to succeed John C. Cline as sheriff of that Old-time football players were especially pleased to learn of Traeger's selection for the post, inasmuch as Traeger was at one time probably the best tackle ever to have played on the Stanford University team and that a number of years ago he played a large part in coaching the whirlwind gridiron squad of the Orange Athletic club.

It was in 1904 or 1905 that Traeger, who was then a deputy United States marshal, used to come to Orange and put the Athletic club's men through their paces. Willard Smith and Robert Northcross were members of the Orange team.

Another thing which makes Traeger well known among old-time football players and fans is the fact that for many years he was official umpire intercollegiate and inter prep school gridiron contests in So. Calif.

Traeger, who was born at Porterville Feb. 26, 1880, and who won special honors in Stanford football, came to So. Calif. in 1902 to become football coach for Pomona college. During subsequent years he was football coach at the Los Angeles high school and at the Univ. of So. Calif. Each of these institutions won championships of this section of the state while under his direction.

He is head of the Stanford club and president of the Los Angeles County Anti-Asiatic association, besides being active in a number of other prominent organizations.

Celebrate National Fish Day March 9

The U. S. Fisheries Assn has sent out a nation-wide request that March 9th be observed as Fish day. It will be real news to many that this fact actually is of greater importance to So. Calif. than to almost any other section of the United States.

It may not be generally known that at San Pedro and San Diego are located the largest and most up-to-date wholesale fish markets on the coast. Large quantities of delicious food fish of many varieties are caught in So. Calif. waters. Some of these are available during the entire year; some are extremely abundant in the spring of the year only. During the winter months the hardy fishermen from San Pedro and San Diego make trips as far as the extreme end of the Lower California peninsula in search of the more popular varieties of fish.

There are many people who do not realize that all food fish are delicious if properly prepared. For this reason the demand has been concentrated on one or two varieties when it is certain that fish could be delivered more cheaply throughout the entire year if the public were not so skeptical about the varieties with which they are less familiar. The varieties which are most widely used in So. Calif. as fresh fish are halibut, barracuda, yellowtail, rock cod, bonita and mackerel. Better known in other parts of the country are California sardines and tuna, which are used almost entirely for canning.

Approximately 50,000,000 cans of the finest of fish are taken from So. Calif. waters annually. Like the gold from the mine sand fruit from the orchards, this wealth from the sea is new capital which So. Calif. is contributing to the world's work.

Youth Pleads Guilty; Asks For Probation

Carl D. Duke, 16, who recently pleaded guilty in the superior court to having attempted to hold up and rob W. B. Carr and C. P. Jesse on the corner of Tenth and Spurgeon sts. on the night of Feb. 3, came before Judge West this morning with an application for probation.

Deputy District Attorney Mozley reviewed the facts in the case and Judge West after asking Duke several questions continued the hearing until 9:30 a. m. March 22. Charles Miller, who is alleged to have been an accomplice in the hold-up also appeared before Judge West today and gained his release from the county jail after putting up $500 bail. Miller's trial is set for March 25.

In answer to questions by Judge West Duke admitted that he got into trouble once before when he and another boy stole a watch and some money from a bathhouse at Huntington Beach.

Duke said he could not remember whether it was he or Miller who suggested and planned the holdup on the night of Feb. 3. He denied having a gun in each hand as Jesse and Carr testified at the preliminary hearing. Duke said he had but one gun and that it was a .38 caliber revolver.

Questioned as to why he attempted the alleged holdup, Duke said he did not know. He did say, however, that he understood that Jesse, one of the victims of the holdup, usually carried a roll of bills in his pocket.

Miller recently pleaded guilty to the holdup charge. He admits, however, that he was on the other side of the street when Duke ordered Jesse and Carr to hold up their hands.

Jesse ran and Carr refused to comply with the order.

Baby Camel Feature Of Al G. Barnes Show

One of the most valued possessions of the Al. G. Barnes big four-ring wild animal circus which comes to Anaheim Wednesday, March 16, is a baby camel, the only one of its kind in this country.

The camel was ushered into this world in the Pacific ocean on board a ship which brought to the United States the first consignment of wild animals to arrive since the World's War ended, years ago. All of these animals were obtained by trainers sent to Africa by Mr. Barnes as soon as the armistice was signed.

The young camel is described as being so ugly that it is really attractive looking. Like a calf it is built on lines striking for their slimaniness, the legs and ears being predominant.

Mr. Barnes has not as yet named his newest find, and hundreds of suggestions have been received in the few days that have elapsed since its arrival in this country, so that it should not be difficult for him to decide upon a proper appelation.

Camels and elephants born in captivity rarely live over a year or two, but Mr. Barnes has hopes that his unexpected addition to the camel section of his menagerie will shatter traditions in this respect.

The baby camel takes naturally to the circus parade, according to word received from the show, but causes its mother many moments of worry by insisting upon taking its own sweet time in covering the route, being as frequently a block or two behind the calliope as ahead of them. The baby camel will be seen in the Barnes circus parade here and also the menagerie of the circus.

American Express Will Aid European Relief

"Among the numerous agencies throughout the country co-operating with Herbert Hoover, chairman of the European Relief Council, in his effort to raise $33,000,000 by means of a national collection for the relief of incipient starvation among 3,500,000 children in the war-stricken countries of Central and Eastern Europe are the American Express Company and the American Railway Express Company," J. B. Collings, local agent stated today.

"Through the authorization of G. C. Taylor, president of both organizations, 'Invisible Guest' certificates, certifying that the purchaser has salvaged the life of one or more of the little war victims, have been placed on sale at 25,000 of the company's offices throughout the United States. The cost of saving one child until the acute condition has been relieved by the next European harvest is $10.00, but donations of smaller sums are welcome, and a contribution of only $1.00, under the economical administration of the Council, will keep life in a little body for a month.

"The European Relief Council is an amalgamation of the American Friends Service Committee, American Red Cross, American Relief Administration, Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, Knights of Columbus, Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., formed by Mr. Hoover for the elimination of duplicate effort in ministering to the starving children, to the end that the last penny of every dollar contributed might reach a hungry child in the form of food or medical service.

"'Invisible Guest' certificates which can be purchased for any amount from $1.00 up, are on sale at the local office of the American Railway Express Company."

FAMINE IS FACING MILLIONS IN CHINA

With parents in the famine region of China selling, giving away and even killing their children, rather than see them starve before their eyes, the people of the U. S. are being urged to make voluntary financial contributions to aid the stricken Chinese.

It is not thousands that are suffering the pangs of hunger. It is millions. They have been reduced to living on leaves, bark, grass, weeds and roots, and even these cannot last much longer, according to statements of missionaries operating in the famine stricken section. Locusts have swept over the land, devouring the very last blade of grass, the only possible food left to the people in the stricken district. The district is inhabited by between 35,000,000 and 50,000,000 persons.

Unable to feed their animals, the farmers are selling cattle and horses for almost nothing and when it becomes once more possible to raise a crop they will be without animals to work the land.

It is conservatively estimated that to carry the distressed people through until they can get a harvest will require a sum approximating $250,000,000.

The American committee for a China famine fund has been organized and throughout the United States today bankers in every city and hamlet are co-operating to the extent of accepting public contributions for the fund. There will be no campaign or person-to-person solicitation—the big heart and generous spirit of the American people is being appealed to that there may be relief for the starving millions—a people who suffered the hardships of a big flood three years ago.

E. L. Crawford, cashier of the California National bank of Santa Ana, has been appointed a member of the Southern California committee for relief, and chairman for Santa Ana. He has appointed as members of his committee men in the other Santa Ana banks.

Bankers in No. Orange-co who have been appointed by A. C. Way, of Los Angeles, chairman of the So. Calif. committee, as chairmen in their respective cities, includes: C. H. SUES BROTHER FOR INTEREST IN BUSINESS

Dissolution of a partnership and a restraining order to prevent the defendants from disposing of certain properties is asked in a suit brought by Andrew Gryalva against Antonio Morales and George Morales, brothers. The case comes up for trial before Superior Judge West in Dept. No. 1 Monday morning.

Gryalva alleges that in August, 1919, he entered in an oral agreement with Antonio Morales to engage in the business of running a hay baler. The business was conducted for three months, resulting in profits of $500.

The palintiff alleges further that Morales failed to divide the profits as agreed upon and that he invested all of the earnings in a lot in Santa Ana.

Gryalva claims that he is entitled to half of the profits and possession of all real property.

IDENTIFY PRISONERS AS NAVY DESERTERS

Two men held in the Orange-co jail on suspicion of being deserters from the navy, were identified when Chas. Holbrook, fingerprint expert in the sheriff's office, received a letter from the navy department stating that the names of the deserters were Luther Fancher, alias Frank Davis, and Walter Dreyer, alias William Forton, following the receipt of fingerprints and photos sent the department by Holbrook.

Fancher, under the name of Davis, was arrested about three weeks ago by Under Sheriff E. E. French at Harper, on a charge of passing worthless checks. He formerly worked in the oil fields at Brea.

Forton was arrested at Fullerton by Santa Fe Special Officer Joe Murrillo for beating his way on a train. According to the navy department records, Forton's real name is Walter Dreyer. He is alleged to have deserted from the navy receiving ship at Mare Island in March, 1920.

MARCH 1921

News of Fullerton

Laguna Art Exhibit At Fullerton, Mar. 15

The Laguna Beach Art Exhibit is to be at the Fullerton Public Library about March 15th. Further notice will be given when the exact date is known, Miss Minnie Maxwell, librarian, said today.

The library has arranged for a series of ten Saturday afternoon story hours for the children. The first of the series will be on March 19th. Miss Faye Kern who is a graduate of the Fullerton Junior College, and is now a student in the University of Southern California, will be the "Story Lady."

The use of the library continues to increase rapidly as shown by the librarian's report for February, which was the busiest month in the history of the library. The circulation for the month was 6664, or a daily average of 230. One hundred and twenty new cardholders were registered, 83 new books were catalogued and prepared for circulation, 271 old books were mended, and an unusual amount of reference work was done. At least 1000 adult readers used the reading and reference rooms.

There will be no excuse for garden failures this year in Fullerton. The library has many books that tell just how to go about it. Children who are planning gardens will find simple instructions in books written especially for them. The Garden Magazine and the California Garden Magazine are both helpful, especially for the flower garden.

Boys and men who are interested in wireless telegraphy will be glad to know that the library has added to its magazine list the Radio-News, and also that two new books on wireless, giving the ver ylatest developments, have been ordered.

FULLERTON SCHOOL WINS OVER WHITTIER

The Fullerton Christian church Bible school won by 75 points over Whittier in the contest which ended yesterday, the total attendance for all the classes being 651. The main class alone had an attendance of 301. There were 145 new scholars yesterday.

Rev. J. T. Houser preached on the Democracy of the Christian Religion, taking the text from the story of Cornelius. He showed that the a man may have lived a wholesome, moral life, tho he may have recognized the supremacy of a supreme being with all power in Heaven and on earth, yet that is not enough to be saved. To be saved he must acknowledge and receive Jesus into his life, for there is no other name under Heaven whereby men can be saved. The evening service was given to a discussion of the lessons derived from the life of Daniel.

MISS SIMMON'S FUNERAL

Funeral services for Miss Esta Simmons, 24, of Los Angeles, who recently died at Monrovia, was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church in Fullerton. Rev. Perry officiating. Interment was in Loma Vista, Angus McAulay, funeral director.

PLUMMER IN SACRAMENTO

L. E. Plummer of the Fullerton high school is in Sacramento this week to oppose the oil bill and the grammar school bill. The oil bill would classify oil companies as public utilities thus diverting the taxation from the county to the state, robbing Orange co of one-third of its school money, and the grammar schoo] bill would divert the control of the grammar schools from the community to the county.

CROWN STAGE HITS FORD AUTOMOBILE

There was a collision at the corner of Orangethorpe-ave and the State Highway between Anaheim and Fullerton yesterday when a Crown Stage, operated by Driver Leslie, bumped into a Ford which was coming off Orangethorpe-ave. Both cars were badly damaged. No one was seriously injured. A Seale ambulance was summoned before it was discovered there was no one hurt.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE

G. W. Schneider and E. L. Orbaugh pulled off the blind baggage of a passenger train by Joe Marillo, were given a suspended sentence this morning by Judge French of 30 days each. One of them has a brother near Fullerton where they were going.

30 DAYS FOR RIDING FREIGHT

F. O. Peterson, pulled off a freight train by Joe Marillo, was sentenced to 30 days in the county pail by Judge French. He admitted that he was a deserter from the marine corps at Mare Island. The Mare Island authorities will be notified.

SEATS AT HEYING'S PHARMACY

Millions of Chinese Starving Now—TODAY

More active efforts to bring immediate aid to the "starvin" people of China will follow the successful close of Herbert Hoover's campaign for the relief of the Children of Europe, according to the statement of the chairman of the American Committee for the China Famine Fund. Co-operation of all churches, Protestant, Catholic and Jewish, is already assured, while the United States C. of C. and other national associations have promised liberal aid.

Cable advices just received at the State Department from Charles R. Crane, American Minister at Peking, give details of relief measures needed and already in operation. Food and clothing, the minister said, are the urgent needs, while medical units are also required for preventive measures against typhus. Five such units are already being organized, each consisting of one foreign and two Chinese doctors, six nurses, and ten coolies, but in the probable event of a severe epidemic of typhus 50 similar units will be required.

Transport difficulties, according to the minister have been completely overcome; 3000 tons of food a day are now being moved by railroad, and this quantity could be increased immediately to 6000 tons, if the money was forthcoming to buy the food of which ample supplies are available in Manchuria. The question of getting relief to the starving is solely one of money.

Reports of plans to aid the suffering people of China by actually reducing the quantity of food ordinarily consumed, and giving money thus saved to the China Famine Fund, have come in from many quarters. A good example of the practical application of the self-denial plan comes from Dover, Delaware, where the members of a church, first having obtained gratifying results from an agreement to go without one meal for the benefit of the starving Chinese, later decided to give up one meal a week regularly, and contribute the money thus saved as an offering.

On thousands of American dinner tables throughout the country there appear daily a number of delicacies which we could well do without. Butter is just an instance. During the war butter was scarcely seen on an English or French table, and a lack at the most caused only a trifling inconvenience. It is suggested that the women of America get together to deny themselves and their families some little table luxury, and give the money saved to their local committee handling the China Famine Fund.

Every bank in Anaheim is now accepting donations for the relief of starving China.

MORE CITRUS FRUIT MOVING BY WATER

With Villa Park lemons starting from San Pedro Saturday, preparations were being made today for a consignment of Tustin lemons to New York by water, Wednesday of next week.

A carload of lemons from the Central Lemon association at Villa Park was one of eight to leave Saturday and three carloads will go forward from Tustin as part of a shipment of 25 carloads to be consigned to New York.

It is understood that trucking firms have made an offer to transport lemons from Orange co to San Pedro at 10 cents a box at this time as a tentative rate, with an offer to make it regular at 12½ cents a box. The lower rate is made merely for the present to induce shipment by truck and develop business during the present dull period for commercial trucking.

Lemons from Riverside are being included in some of the shipments and according to reports trucking charges from that district to San Pedro vary from 15 to 18 cents per box.

Introduction of water transportation for citrus fruits is considered an epoch in the history of the industry in So. Calif., with shipments being made direct to Atlantic coast and European points.

The recent trial shipments by water both of oranges and lemons to Eastern markets have opened the eyes of growers to the possibility of this transportation method and have stirred them as has nothing else in the development of the big citrus industry in So. Calif.

The success of transporting by water has been far beyond the expectation of those who first considered the method available to the industry. Growers all over the Southland are interested in the investigations of the California Fruit Growers' exchange looking to the establishment of an exchange owned and operated line.

Interest is not limited to citrus growers, for producers of all farm products are watching the movement with keen interest. It has been suggested, and the suggestion is being given serious consideration ,that in event it is decided to institute a line associations of other growers cooperate with the citrus people in building and operating a fleet of steamers.

It can be stated today on good authority that the exchange management is not considering a fleet limited to 7500-ton vessels. They are contemplating boats of various tonnage and in sufficient numbers to operate one of two every week. The peak of consumption of citrus fruits in New York is 100 carloads each day.

Vessels of from 3000 to 4000 tons are being advocated by some persons for service during the light shipment period and on runs to ports where only bottoms of light draft can be admitted.

It is possible that should a fleet of the size contemplated be organized the smaller boats would operate out of Newport harbor, for the convenience of growers in Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino-cos. Men in close touch with the situation express this view.

The three counties named produce over 50 per cent of the citrus products of the Southland and the haul to Newport would be a great deal shorter than to San Pedro. It is believed that these growers would demand Newport be given the preference as the port for the smaller craft.

Ten carloads of oranges and 100 boxes of lemons were en route from San Pedro to London today aboard the steamer Eemdyk. The fruit was shipped as an initial step to put So. Calif. citrus fruits on a competitive basis with the produce of southern Europe. In the past when it was decided to get citrus fruits from California to London they were first shipped by rail to New York and loaded aboard vessels there. A saving of at least 50 per cent is affected by shipping direct to London from San Pedro by water.

With Orange-co car dealers and accessory men having had ten days in which to file their applications for units in the big auto show to be held in Santa Ana next month under the auspices of the Orange-co Auto Trades Assn., the remaining units have been thrown open to application from auto men outside of the county.

There are not very many units to offer to the outsiders, however, for the majority of Orange-co men have not been slow in getting in on the ground floor with applications.

Only four units were left this morning in the tent to be devoted to display of automobiles.

More than two-thirds of the units in the truck, tractor and accessory tent have been taken.

The show committee is proceeding with all arrangements for the big event in a business like manner and is closing up on contracts as early as possible to have most of the details out of the way a week in advance of the opening of the show.

Drawings for locations in the two tents will be held at the regular meeting of the trades association at Albert Sitton's garage, Fullerton, on Friday evening, March 18.

CHIROPRACTORS' MASS MEETING TONIGHT

Under the auspices of the Progressive Chiropractors' Assn. of So. Calif., a mass meeting will be held at the Temple theatre, Santa Ana, this evening.

Griffith Jones, of Los Angeles, Pacific coast counsel for the national chiropractors, will be the chief speaker. A large party of Los Angeles chiropractors and their friends, it was stated, will attend. There will be a program of music.

Following the regular program, members of the audience will be called on for testimonials as to the benefits they have received from chiropractic adjustments.

A bill has just been reported on favorably by the house committee at the state legislature providing for examination and licensing of chiropractors by a chiropractic board, not under the direction of the state medical board, and stipulates the educational requirements for securing a chiropractor's license in California.

The Progressive Chiropractors' association of So. Calif. has been rejoicing in numerous court victories in various cities recently, many of their cases having been dismissed, a number of acquittals having been secured, and several cases having ended in "hung" juries.

MERCHANTS ELATED OVER HOUSEWIVES' COOPERATION

a wide radius to Anaheim to do their shopping, particularly on Saturday night. The thing to do is to arouse Anaheim people to a realization of the mutual benefit to cevryone residing in Anaheim to do their trading here. As an illustration of how far out Anaheim's trading radius extends, last Saturday evening, after 6:30, I personally fitted four women from Whittier with shoes. There were four others waiting on customers in the shoe department at the same time. Anaheim stores are attracting trade from Santa Ana's territory as well as from all over No. Orange-co. If Anaheim shops can attract business from such distances outside the city, they can certainly induce Anaheim people to avail themselves of the offerings made here.

W. B. Holland, Holland Electric Co.—"I think the scheme is very meritorious. It is certainly timely. I would like to see some arrangement made by the city council which would protect local builders against unscrupulous electrical contractors who come in here and put up an indifferent job, get the money and skip out, leaving the Anaheim men holding the sack. If a bond or license were demanded, the local public would be protected to a far greater extent than at present. Most cities demand such protection for their cities but Anaheim is sadly remiss in this respect."

George Prince, the Prince Store—"The scheme appeals to me. It will make a lot of people stop and think, coming as a personal appeal. The housewife will realize the importance attached to her patronage when she is approached by a personal interviewer. I am certain the campaign will be of great benefit to everybody.

Alex Witman—"The Los Angeles stores are continually sending their appeals into the Anaheim home. A personal appeal as this will do real good. No one can take any offense because it's for the mutual welfare.

Kurt Epstein, Falkenstein's—"I want to see the stack of agreements when the entire city has been covered. They certainly look good to me and should make every merchant feel good.

Wm. Sebastian, Sebastian Bros.—"Say, that's fine. It should have been done long ago. They sure sign 'em up, don't they!

W. H. Lewis, J. C. Penney Co.—"The idea is a good one. It will start a lot of people to thinking. I believe everyone will benefit.

Mrs. Harry Rose and daughter, Miss Myrtle, of Chicago, who are spending the winter in Los Angeles, were week-end guests in the home of Mrs. Rose's nephew, M. Lichtenstein, and family. Mr. and Mrs. Lihenstein and their guests spent a part of Sunday motoring to Orange and Santa Ana.

Miss Catherine Dresser, of Los Angeles, and her friend, Miss Helen Lewis, spent the week-end with Miss Catherine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Dresser, S. Palm. Bernard Dresser left this morning for San Francisco, making the trip with a number of friends in a car and expecting to remain in the northern ity about a week.

Studebaker

SERIES 21 BIG-SIX

Performance that will surprise you

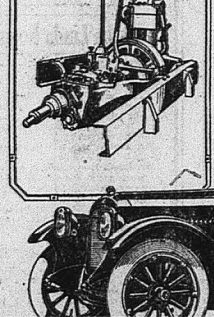

YOU must actually see and ride in the BIG-SIX to appreciate its many splendid qualities. Its light weight and scientific balance induce unusually low fuel consumption and high tire mileage. Its responsive 60-h. p. motor with hot-spot intake manifold gets maximum power from even low-grades of fuel, driving the car with efficiency that will surprise you.

Although the BIG-SIX has a wheelbase of 126 inches and seats seven adults in perfect comfort, it is not a heavy car. It weighs, in fact, but 3125 pounds—and is so perfectly balanced and so flexible that the touch of two fingers on the wheel keeps it easily in the road.

The BIG-SIX is the crowning achievement of the unsurpassed manufacturing resources of Studebaker—the best that an organization of 68 years of business success, and the keenest engineering brains, can produce.

Compare Studebaker Cars, point by point, with other cars on the market, and we will rest our case with you.

The Studebaker intermediate transmission means positive and noiseless action and a more flexible system of power application than is possible through any other method
