

THE HOUSE OF MUSICAL

Miss Gladys Head, as "Miss Dolly Dimples," Shows Unusual Talent

For the benefit of those persons in Anaheim who could not see "Miss Dolly Dimples" last night, the three musical comedy girls under the auspices of Anaheim Lodge No. 1345 B. P. O. E., it may be told it was great. Everybody said it was the performance, and from the applause which greeted the numbers, there was no question of its being such. Every person in the cast surprised even the expectations of the faithful little director, Miss Gladys Head, who worked so untrusting through the past three weeks.

The specialties and musical numbers were a quality seldom heard in amateur performances, and the excellent assistance given by the orchestra in accompaniment, added further quality.

Miss Gladys Head, as Miss Dolly Dimples, shows unusual talent for a young girl, and her entire self possession before the audience of fully 1500 persons equals that of many a more experienced performer. Miss Head's dancing is especially fine, her care and grace and ability being remarkable. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. H. Lewis, and is a pupil in the Ziegler Dramatic School this year.

Dolly, the imaginative young girl, who thought a car's hand and title enough to turn any girl's head, had several others to her credit, among them being the real count, Earl Aubrey, "Dr. Graviton," "L. P. Bonnat," and the make-up artist, Walter Cadman. Her character, "Bess," Mrs. E. Harbison, who thought her lack of experience would be a handicap, but of fortitude, became the beloved of the bogus count, Earl, and the love songs which she sang, and her pleasures were sweetly sung and enthusiastically applauded.

The Wizard of Oz, L. H. Lewis, in real life, was more creditable than in the play. His personal attention was great; that he had great success in fact, a great get-up, and his manner was that of a man who desired any success to come from his own efforts.

"Mr. and Mrs. DeParks," Harry Riley and Mrs. Arthur Shipke, American ambassador and his wife, perfectly portrayed the couple, and skillfully managed the tangle into which the bogus count's presence threw them. "Queenie," Harry Riley, and "Mrs. Clem Staples," and "Will Bill Williams," a very busy valet, of dark hue, "Doc," Harry Riley, excellent, and both cruelly treated the bogus count in his professed to "Bess." "Doc" was cruelly taking the audience into his confidence in song, telling "it was a wonderful change for me to play 'Bess' and when presented with a new bouquet of vegetables, tied with a fluffy ribbon, he sang the tragedy of his 'little bottle-stand' on a shelf."

"Mrs. Littleman Strong" and "Master Robert De Grew" who played Jack and Betty in the scene, were played by Hugh Adams, and although there was a well-founded suspicion that his monkey was a mere man, whoever it was, he must have been taking monkey training for some time, and hunted first in truly characteristic manner.

The Dream Dance and the Butterfly dance, by Marguerite Swore, were most gracefully done, and the choruses were sung by the same girls, and whatever he was, he must have been taking monkey training for some time, and hunted first in truly characteristic manner.

Woman, 5 Men Temporarily Passed or Hear Testimony in Case of Film Actor

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Judge Lauderback began to force proceedings in the Arbutus case today. His honor had evidently grown tired of the bickering between the defense and prosecution and was determined no time be wasted in the completion of a jury to try the case.

In this decision the audience in the courtroom and the people who are watching the case all over the world were told that the defense was not to be gained by quibbling. There was a new standard of the trial. The judge was to be the chief of the defense, and the defense was to be the chief of the prosecution.

What the state of California wants and what the people want to know is whether the state of California is guilty of causing the death of beautiful Virginia Rappe, who died following attendance at a drinking party which was staged in Arbutus apartment in the St. Francis hotel.

The charge against Arbutus is manslaughter and if he is convicted he may be sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Under the spending influence of Judge Lauderback it looked today as if the jury would be sworn in before adjournment tomorrow afternoon, some even expecting the jury would be sworn in today.

When court convened this morning there were five attorneys for the defense, including one woman. All these attorneys were in the courtroom, but only two were heard from.

Only two jurors have been excused for cause and no apparent reluctance to serve on the part of the jury. The jury was sworn in at 10 o'clock and the trial began at 10:15.

U. S. Plan for Naval Reduction Adopted "in Principle and Spirit"

CONTINENTAL HALL, WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The British empire, with its far-flung dominions all over the world, and Japan, the island empire of the Pacific, both officially announced their acceptance "in principle and spirit" today the drastic naval reduction plan proposed by the United States on Saturday.

Japan accepted in principle the American plan for limitation of armament, Admiral Kato of Japan declared before the conference. His statement followed the official declaration of Great Britain that the proposals of the United States would be accepted.

He said Japan, like Great Britain, would propose modifications of the American proposals regarding armaments.

Kato brought the great crowd to his feet when he announced that Japan was ready for a "sweeping reduction" in its navy.

A few modifications relating to naval vessels, he said, did not now desire a navy to equal those of the United States or England, but wanted to put on a new naval program.

There was a new standard of the trial. The judge was to be the chief of the defense, and the defense was to be the chief of the prosecution.

What the state of California wants and what the people want to know is whether the state of California is guilty of causing the death of beautiful Virginia Rappe, who died following attendance at a drinking party which was staged in Arbutus apartment in the St. Francis hotel.

The charge against Arbutus is manslaughter and if he is convicted he may be sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Under the spending influence of Judge Lauderback it looked today as if the jury would be sworn in before adjournment tomorrow afternoon, some even expecting the jury would be sworn in today.

When court convened this morning there were five attorneys for the defense, including one woman. All these attorneys were in the courtroom, but only two were heard from.

Only two jurors have been excused for cause and no apparent reluctance to serve on the part of the jury. The jury was sworn in at 10 o'clock and the trial began at 10:15.

The defense was the same as yesterday, and the prosecution was the same. The defense was the same as yesterday, and the prosecution was the same.

ORANGE-CO LABOR COUNCIL CONVENES

The regular meeting of the Building Trades and Labor Council and the Orange County Labor Council, which was held last night at the labor temple on No. 100 Angeles-st., was a very successful one. The meeting was called to order shortly past eight o'clock. C. Connel, chairman, presiding. Mr. Connel announced that "Daddy" Dale who had intended to address the meeting, was unable to do so because of a cold. He then turned the matter over to the other speakers who would later entertain the assembly.

There was a business session, an officers' roll call, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read. Bills were presented for the plumbers for payment. The finance committee reported no bill. "No hall, no dance," was the slogan of the night.

The committee reported progress.

It was moved and passed that a committee of three should be appointed to help add the books of labor day. A communication was received from the labor temple, and the council will act on it.

U. S. Plan for Naval Reduction Adopted "in Principle and Spirit"

CONTINENTAL HALL, WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The British empire, with its far-flung dominions all over the world, and Japan, the island empire of the Pacific, both officially announced their acceptance "in principle and spirit" today the drastic naval reduction plan proposed by the United States on Saturday.

Japan accepted in principle the American plan for limitation of armament, Admiral Kato of Japan declared before the conference. His statement followed the official declaration of Great Britain that the proposals of the United States would be accepted.

He said Japan, like Great Britain, would propose modifications of the American proposals regarding armaments.

Kato brought the great crowd to his feet when he announced that Japan was ready for a "sweeping reduction" in its navy.

A few modifications relating to naval vessels, he said, did not now desire a navy to equal those of the United States or England, but wanted to put on a new naval program.

He said Japan, like Great Britain, would propose modifications of the American proposals regarding armaments.

POLICE RAID MAX'S BAR, SEIZE BETTERS

Two men from the sheriff's office and the local police last night raided Max's bar on No. 100 Angeles-st., in search of intoxicating liquors.

Max Salchenberg, proprietor, was arrested on the charge of selling liquors, according to the police.

Joe Amato was also arrested on the same charge.

Salchenberg appeared before Judge Howard this morning and was fined $100.

Amato pleaded guilty and was fined $100.

Salchenberg said that from Max's bar they obtained 35 cases of Hurlford bottles, 21 cases of alcohol, 23 cases of beer, and six cases of Bitter Wine bottles, 15 per cent alcohol.

Salchenberg was purchased at the Anaheim Pharmacy and an arrest made on a selling charge, and was reported to the police. He will appear before Judge Howard later.

BURCH SAYS 'OBENCHAN IS BOOB'

"Steady Ralph" Is Flayed by Suspect for Seeking to Re-Marry Wife

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—Superior Judges Revere and Williams, Sheriff, together today, decided not to allow "Steady Ralph" Obenchan to remarry Madeline Obenchan, his divorced wife. Tracer announced he would not permit the marriage in the county jail and Judge Revere declared he would not give a court order for the marriage outside the jail.

"Man in a Million? Bah! Boob in a Million!" That's what Arthur C. Burch, facing trial for the murder of J. Edgar Kennedy, said about "Steady Ralph" Obenchan today, while Obenchan was striving to carry out his plan to remarry Madeline Obenchan, his divorced wife, this morning.

Miss Gladys Head, as "Miss Dolly Dimples," Shows Unusual Talent

For the benefit of those persons in Anaheim who could not see "Miss Dolly Dimples" last night, the three musical comedy girls under the auspices of Anaheim Lodge No. 1345 B. P. O. E., it may be told it was great. Everybody said it was the performance, and from the applause which greeted the numbers, there was no question of its being such. Every person in the cast surprised even the expectations of the faithful little director, Miss Gladys Head, who worked so untrusting through the past three weeks.

The specialties and musical numbers were a quality seldom heard in amateur performances, and the excellent assistance given by the orchestra in accompaniment, added further quality.

Miss Gladys Head, as Miss Dolly Dimples, shows unusual talent for a young girl, and her entire self possession before the audience of fully 1500 persons equals that of many a more experienced performer. Miss Head's dancing is especially fine, her care and grace and ability being remarkable. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. H. Lewis, and is a pupil in the Ziegler Dramatic School this year.

Dolly, the imaginative young girl, who thought a car's hand and title enough to turn any girl's head, had several others to her credit, among them being the real count, Earl Aubrey, "Dr. Graviton," "L. P. Bonnat," and the make-up artist, Walter Cadman. Her character, "Bess," Mrs. E. Harbison, who thought her lack of experience would be a handicap, but of fortitude, became the beloved of the bogus count, Earl, and the love songs which she sang, and her pleasures were sweetly sung and enthusiastically applauded.

The Wizard of Oz, L. H. Lewis, in real life, was more creditable than in the play. His personal attention was great; that he had great success in fact, a great get-up, and his manner was that of a man who desired any success to come from his own efforts.

"Mr. and Mrs. DeParks," Harry Riley and Mrs. Arthur Shipke, American ambassador and his wife, perfectly portrayed the couple, and skillfully managed the tangle into which the bogus count's presence threw them. "Queenie," Harry Riley, and "Mrs. Clem Staples," and "Will Bill Williams," a very busy valet, of dark hue, "Doc," Harry Riley, excellent, and both cruelly treated the bogus count in his professed to "Bess." "Doc" was cruelly taking the audience into his confidence in song, telling "it was a wonderful change for me to play 'Bess' and when presented with a new bouquet of vegetables, tied with a fluffy ribbon, he sang the tragedy of his 'little bottle-stand' on a shelf."

"Mrs. Littleman Strong" and "Master Robert De Grew" who played Jack and Betty in the scene, were played by Hugh Adams, and although there was a well-founded suspicion that his monkey was a mere man, whoever it was, he must have been taking monkey training for some time, and hunted first in truly characteristic manner.

ATTY. WEBB KIWANIS LUNCHEON SPEAKER

There was a large attendance at the weekly meeting of the Anaheim Kiwanis club today at the high school. The chief speaker was Atty. William P. Webb, Jr., of the local post of the American Legion, who addressed the Kiwanians on compensation due the ex-soldiers of the World War. There were several guests including men from Texas, Arizona and Los Angeles. There was a large attendance at the luncheon.

A resolution was passed endorsing the plan of the American Legion to hold a campaign as expressed by Secretary Hughes.

The speaker then turned the matter over to the meeting of the League of the Southwest at Riverside, Dec. 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 1921.

Woman, 5 Men Temporarily Passed or Hear Testimony in Case of Film Actor

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Judge Lauderback began to force proceedings in the Arbutus case today. His honor had evidently grown tired of the bickering between the defense and prosecution and was determined no time be wasted in the completion of a jury to try the case.

In this decision the audience in the courtroom and the people who are watching the case all over the world were told that the defense was not to be gained by quibbling. There was a new standard of the trial. The judge was to be the chief of the defense, and the defense was to be the chief of the prosecution.

NOTED SPRINTER OF OLDEN DAYS HOME

Tom Morris is back! "Spirit" mascot of his old team, known as the "grand old man" of the elder track, said to be about to beat Charlie Paddock, present amateur dash champion, "the best day Paddock ever lived." Morris is paying the first visit to Santa Ana, his home town, in 27 years.

Morris has been a professional runner for more than a quarter of a century. He was the first runner to run 100 yards in 12.5 seconds. Because he was a professional athlete the record is not included in the official running records. But this record has never been beaten and has been equaled only by the present amateur champion, Paddock, and D. J. Kelly, the latter champion in 1918.

C. W. Ranney, of Santa Ana, boyhood friend of the runner declares that Morris is the greatest footcutter the world has ever seen.

"I have held watches on all the great professionals in the past 20 years," says Ranney, "but I have never seen Morris' equal. His greatest race time was 9.25 for the 100-yard dash. He set up this record at the St. Louis world's fair in 1904, but I have seen him repeatedly do 100 yards in 8.5 seconds and better while he was training at Salt Lake City.

"I have held watches on both Morris and Paddock. I checked Paddock when he broke the world's record and hung up the present time of 9.25 for the hundred and was acclaimed as the greatest racing machine ever produced. But Tom Morris could beat Paddock the best day Paddock ever saw. He could beat him a yard in every hundred."

The greatest race Morris ever ran that I saw was in Santa Ana years ago when he raced Jim Kirk, 75-yard dash champion, on the old horse track. Both men were betting $500 a side. Kirk's time for the distance was 7.5 seconds. Morris ran the race in 7 seconds flat.

"Jim Murray, now a professional, and I used to check Tom in his practice runs on the horse track. We have seen him run a 100-yard dash in five seconds from the gun and do the same distance in 4 1/2 with a flying start. The world's record for that distance was 5.5 seconds.

Morris will begin his 17th year of life on November 18, but he still races. He was 80 years old at the time he was an Indian and won easily.

For the past quarter-century his feet have won him a living. He was part owner of the Santa Ana track, and runners who would quietly enter a race would go to him to get the "rules" into thinking they were runners and win the races after bets had been placed.

MAXWELL ATTAINS IMPOSSIBLE CLIMB

Here is the story of a trip made by a Maxwell touring car driven by Frank Howe of the Maxwell organization in Seattle over and up tortuous ten-mile road and winds from Gold Bar to Lake Wallace, an elevation of 2600 feet, as it was reported to Turton & Lumsdon, local Maxwell dealers.

When Howe announced his intention of going up the road, which in reality is an abandoned logging "switch-back" to visit Lake Wallace, a tiny body of water on the slope of Mt. Stickney State Park, the citizens of Gold Bar warned him that he was gambling with fate. They stated that the road was impassable and impossible; that there was no automobile made whose axles, springs and frame could stand the beating such as the attempt to drive to Lake Wallace would give it; that no engine had yet been designed that would pull a car thru such a road.

Howe was undaunted, tho. For a quarter of a half hour the car would fight thru mud and clay to a hairpin turn. Then, the turn negotiated, the car would start into a field of jutting rocks. After rocks would come stretches of roadbed on which young stumps, thick and one eight or ten inches high would offer what would seem an impassable barrier.

But each time the car made good until finally, with its passengers thoroughly shaken and racked, the Maxwell came to a stop at the end of the road where a big tree with upturned stump had fallen across with Gold Bar 2600 feet below.

Grammar School Notes

The Grammar schools of Northern Orange-co, closed this afternoon at two o'clock, giving teachers the privilege of hearing the address given in the auditorium of the Pullerton Grammar school by Mrs. Kate Barham, a member of the California Board of Education, who brings a very important message.

Geo. Sloop, M. E. Beebe and C. C. Smith had the privilege last evening of hearing the famous naturalist, E. A. Mille, in a wonderful lecture in the Los Angeles C. of C. rooms under the direction of the Academy of Science. The composition of his talk dealt mostly with the monopolies of the national parks and forests. Mr. Sloop went up to the city with the intention of bringing Mr. Mille to appear before the Kiwanis Club today, but owing to many other engagements, he was unable to appear. However, he expressed his desire to visit the prosperous city of Anaheim.

BERTONNEAU TELLS OF STADIUM PLANS

Manager Bertonneau, in charge of the sale of seats for the new stadium in the Arroyo Seco, near Pasadena, to be owned by stockholders and members of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Association, was in Anaheim yesterday, to ascertain how many five and ten year seats would be purchased in this locality. The committee in charge of this matter has had great success in the sale of long term seats. The plan is to buy the use of the stadium, for five and ten year terms at $50 and $100, respectively, plus war tax of 10 per cent. A plaque is issued to the owner of a seat which admits him to every game, entertainment or other functions, carrying out within the stadium during the term for which it has been bought. This plaque is transferable or may be sold or loaned any time and for any event.

There is no extra war tax or other holders, 30,000; press and participants in parade of tournament, 1,800; total 49,800. The maximum seating capacity of the present grounds is 42,000.

Mr. Bertonneau will explain the situation to the board of the local chamber at its regular meeting Friday noon next, and interested members are cordially invited to be present, if they require further information.

In the course of the committee's rounds, it was found that Orange will take 100 $50 and 50 $100 seats; Santa Ana is down for 250 $50 and 100 $100 seats; Long Beach will answer for 1000 seats. Pasadena will take a large per cent of those remaining. There are only 16,000 tickets to be sold: 5000 at $50 and 5000 at $100.

There is no promotion commission paid in this enterprise so that the sale of these tickets, less a few hundred dollars for publicity, will net the organization $750,000 which, with funds in hand will complete the stadium, to have a seating capacity of 65,000, with possibility of extension to 80,000. Last year the grounds were filled and more than 20,000 persons unable to secure admission.

ALLEGED BEGGAR HOLDS $600 STOCK

Ernest Singer, crippled epileptic man, who appeared on a charge of vagrancy before City Recorder Heathman at Santa Ana, appears to have prospered at his alleged practice of begging, since serving his last sentence in jail, about a year ago.

When arrested while begging on the Santa Ana streets, Singer had $64 in cash, as proceeds of his soliciting, and a $500 certificate of stock in the Orange Building and Loan association. He still had the certificate when City Recorder Heathman got through with him but he had only $44 in cash. He had also, a suspended sentence of thirty days, for which he had exchanged his promise to leave Santa Ana permanently.

city of 65,000, with possibility of extension to 80,000. Last year the grounds were filled and more than 20,000 persons unable to secure admission.

NEWS OF FULLERTON

LEGION MEN FIRST TO BOOST RED X

Fullerton, Cal., 11, 12, 1921
To the American Legion,
Brea, Calif.

I wish personally to express my thanks for, and appreciation of, the wonderful good feeling and courtesies and help you have given the Great Red Cross in your wonderful street carnival.

It is a very significant fact that the very first money to come in from the American Legion in Fullerton was the very first money to come in from the American Legion in Fullerton.

The matter of first or second does not signify, between the two posts. It was simply which had the first chance. Neither does the amount signify. But the great big hearted good feeling and cooperation expressed and shown can not be measured in dollars and cents.

I am now on my fourth week of continuous hard work in the reorganization—trying to make complete work, and get the very best results possible. I have yet to hear of the very first word against the Red Cross from any of the Legion boys. On the contrary, such good will was shown that the "Great Mother of Peace and War" has made good in every day and such continuous good feeling, everywhere, has opened wide every door to make the work tremendously pleasant.

I now hope, in this, everybody will try to show the boys who have made this supreme sacrifice, we do appreciate what they have done and I wish I knew how to thank you.

ORANGE-CO LABOR COUNCIL MEETS

When Orange-co arranges its elections next year it will have 125 precincts to deal with.

Under an order of the board of supervisors last week effective by County Surveyor Warren Hilliard, maps showing increase in the number of precincts from 113 to 125 have been finished.

Precinct changes in any county of the state must be made previous to Jan. 1 of any general election year. Two years ago the growth of the county called for an increase in the number of voting precincts. This year says.

Area and voting population are the main factors in making precinct lines. So far as possible in making adjustments, old precinct lines are followed.

For the reason that Fullerton precincts were not changed two years ago to add five precincts to Fullerton that city will have twelve precincts instead of seven.

Anaheim is to have eleven instead of ten; Brea, three instead of two; Huntington Beach, thirty-five instead of thirty-two.

A new precinct to be called Richfield is to be established. This precinct will be made from portions of Placencia and Yorba Linda precincts.

1922, County Clerk J. M. Backs will begin making a complete new great register.

The Priceless
Ingredient—

The House of "Stribb" in a very recent national announcement set forth a far eastern legend describing the Priceless ingredient which enters into every successful product or service.

It has to do with that very personal element which is a distinct part of the product of this famous house of chemicals.

So too you will find upon contact with the "Gibbs Lumber organization" that there is that insuperable element of personal quality entering into every transaction and bound up in the Service rendered that part we cannot describe more clearly than to use the term above "Priceless Ingredient."

Over ten years of business life in Northern Orange county make us more and more jealous of maintaining our reputation for quality and dependability of service.

SAMARITAN REPORTS
SWEATER STOLEN

A story of alleged betrayed confidence was given local police by L. E. Hart, 519 East Fourth-st., Santa Ana, who reported the theft of clothing from his room by a stranger, whom he had taken in and given food and shelter over night.

The stranger admitted being without funds and was given aid as a lodge brother. Hart provided supper and took him home for the night. Next morning Hart left the man in his room. Upon Hart's return, the stranger had departed, taking with him a favorite sweater of Hart's, according to a report made to the police. The stranger, who carried a card in the miners' union, of Nevada, was described as a medium build and sandy complexion, wearing a brown suit and cap. He carried a bruise, Hart said, over his right eye.

SERVICEMEN GIVEN 1009 EXEMPTIONS

In the 1921 assessment rolls of Orange-co there are exemptions for 1009 ex-service men and widows of ex-service men.

The total amount of the exemptions is $172,140.

The figures show the number of exemptions in Orange-co to be one more than in Sacramento.

M. D. Lack, secretary of the state board of equalization, has just finished a compilation of veterans' exemptions to the state, and finds the total number allowed by county assessors to be 47,007, representing assessed valuations of $25,413,232.

Orange-co is listed by Lack as among the larger counties, as follows:

No. of	Exemptions	Amount
County
Los Angeles	13,003	$6,527,810
Alameda	4,051	2,694,275
San Francisco	3,475	2,468,880
San Diego	2,209	1,128,835
Fresno	1,750	1,189,060
Orange	1,009	572,140
Sacramento	1,008	572,140

"There are many instances," said Lack, "in which the veteran has failed to receive his exemption in different counties because he did not make his application for it, or in some instances made the application after the tax rolls were completed and when the assessor had no power to grant it. Many of these cases, in fact, practically all of them, occurred by reason of the fact that the veteran did not know the requirements as to the time for making the application. It seems to me that if you have not already done so perhaps to publish briefly the method to be pursued would reduce the number of those who lose their exemption from this cause. If you do not happen to have at hand the information, it is as follows:

"The veteran desiring exemption must appear before the assessor or deputy assessor during the assessment period and before the first Monday in July, and make affidavit upon a form supplied by the assessor, and give such other evidence as the assessor may require to satisfy him of the veteran's service. This must be done each year by every exemption holder, unless with the consent of the assessing officer some other satisfactory arrangement is followed. In the case of those veterans too far disabled to appear, the assessor will be glad to make arrangements to have a deputy call and afford opportunity for the exemption holder to meet the requirements."

ENTHUSIASTIC OVER DUCK HUNTING HERE

Duck shooting in Orange-co, and George B. Shattuck of Santa Ana, manager of the Golden West City and Assn., of Tustin, have been given equal publicity in the October number of Outing Magazine. The two four-column engravings of Shattuck, his dog, and a string of ducks embellish the pages according to an article by Ernest McAffrey on duck shooting in this vicinity.

McAffrey becomes enthusiastic over the game facilities in this county and says:

"In Orange-co some very fine shooting is had at the various clubs, and limit bags of 25 birds are often made in an hour's shoot in the morning or evening. Most of the birds killed here are of what is known as the 'pudgy duck' variety, or shallow feeding birds, distinguished from the deep-water variety, the canvasback, redheads, the bluebirds, etc. Puddie ducks, however, are among those giving the finest sport over decoys and number among their ranks the mallards, teal, spoonbill, pintail or sprigs, and with the greater part of the flight over these ponds being composed of these birds, there are also pidgeon, occasional buffaloes, many ruddy ducks and rarely a canvasback or a redhead is picked out of passing flocks."

The writer lays stress on the comfort of winter duck shooting in Orange-co and rejoices that winter shooting is not in synchronism with dreary skies and cold weather.

Shooting in Orange-co during the winter is had under blue skies and fair, with the weather just cool enough to give a comfortable tang to the occupants of the blinds," he says.

In regard to information about the best shooting district he says, continuing: "Inquiry at the office of the Auto Club of So. Calif., at Santa Ana or Anaheim, or the C. of C. in either city, or the gun stores in these places will give the strangers necessary information concerning the shooting, and often a visitor will have an opportunity of accepting the hospitality of one of the clubs for a day's shoot."

Tossing on the weather again, he says: "It will be rather a unique experience in mid-January to shoot with absolute comfort, sitting out in a blind for several hours without even the semblance of chilly weather, and see the air dotted with ducks in every direction. Then I sit close and amused myself watching the birds sweep over me."

Legion Carnival Opens to Big Crowds

The Grand Carnival—the American Legion Celebration—opened last night in a blaze of multi-colored lights and flaming colors. Hundreds of Anaheim residents saw the novel attraction that the Sheddley shows are presenting under the auspices of the legion. Mr. Sheddley and his staff did themselves proud in the way they entertained the first night's visitors. The boys of the legion were very much in evidence during the evening and every one knew that they were among those present.

The carnival entrance is on Los Angeles near Broadway. The first sight that greets the visitor is a "hot dog" stand, then comes a line of concessions that the operators tell you will yield almost everything from a tin pan to a Henry Ford—take your choice. But the show, here is where you get amusement and thrills aplenty.

A little further on is the Twister, one of the funniest things on the lot. A ride in this mystery will produce sensations akin to several bags of hootch all wrapped in one package. The sensation of the evening is supplied by Miss Olive Hager at the Automobile.

L. F. POMEROY NOT QUITTING BUSINESS

In yesterday's issue of the Plain Dealer the statement was made that Mr. L. F. Pomerooy was "quitting the business."

This was our mistake and we hasten to correct same. Mr. Pomerooy is moving his business from one location to another. To save the expense of moving his stock of tires and accessories, and the consequent breakage and waste, he is offering an extremely attractive price on this part of his stock and is offering any one location to another. To save the expense of moving his stock of tires and accessories, and the consequent breakage and waste, he is offering an extremely attractive price on this part of his stock and is offering any one location to another.

If the proof reader had thought, it would have never gotten by, because that individual should have known that nobody quits business in Anaheim—they all keep going, and more are coming all the time.

But Pomerooy is offering some exceptional prices on cars, tires and his stock of accessories.

Everything cannot be brought down once. Hence, rates are still high, but then you see they have reduced the size of the rooms.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR ENCLOSED MOTORS

There is an unprecedented demand for enclosed cars, says George Dunton, Ford and Fordson distributor. Out of ten new cars delivered this week, four were coupes, and we have delivered three more coupes this week.

Last week Dunton visited the new Ford body and upholstery plant in Los Angeles, which will begin operation shortly. He reports a very extensive plant, being installed for the manufacture of all sedan bodies used on this coast.

Dunton has just promoted L. W. Mason to the sales department. He has been employed in the Ford service department for two years.

CHARLES HILL, 89, DIES LAST NIGHT

Charles Hill, 89, an elderly and honored pioneer of Anaheim, died last evening at the hospital after an illness of more than one month. Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 o'clock from the chapel of Backs & Terry, north Lemon st., Rev. H. G. Schneider officiating.

Mr. Hill was born in Germany, Oct. 21, 1847, but left his native land in June, 1856, locating in Philadelphia. In 1860 he moved to Omaha, Neb., and in 1862 made the trip to Utah by oxen train. Prices in those days were very high and the travelers had to pay $1.00 per pound for potatoes, and being unable to purchase lumber, he made his house of sticks and mud. In 1864 he continued his oxen journey to California, locating first at Spadra, near Pomona, and two years later came to Anaheim.

He started a bakery in what was then a village, his location being on South Los Angeles street, in the Metz block, where the Krammer building is now under construction.

In 1877 he moved his bakery to the more convenient location, now West Center street, where the White Lily bakery is located, and afterward sold out, buying a 25-acre ranch of Mr. Royer.

Later he sold this ranch to J. C. Seaman, now living at 114 1/2th st., and entered into partnership with Mr. Browning, settling out about 40 acres near Anaheim, to vineyard. In three years he acquired a half-interest in the 40-acre at a reward for his industry. Selling the vineyard, he moved to town, occupying property on Emily street, and later to the old Brewery on Adair st.

His health began failing some time ago, and about four weeks ago he was removed to the county hospital where he passed away after a strenuous, ambitious life. Mr. Hill, August Backs and other intimate friends has assisted him in his needs for years, and are left memories of many pleasant associations in the years passed.

DOUBLE-BARRELED INVESTMENTS--

"Killing two birds with one stone" has become a principle in the game of efficiency. Have you ever used that principle in making your investments?

True, you have been careful to investigate the company behind the security, its surplus earnings, and dividend data—but have you ever thought of your investment in terms of benefit to your community as well as yourself, individually?

More hydro-electric power is the Pacific Coast's most pressing need.

A problem for the electric power company, you say. But is it?

Isn't it as much your problem, if you are a property owner, business man or resident? Will not the building up of your community mean more business, with resultant increasing value of your property?

The electric power company can solve the problem more expeditiously, more satisfactorily, if you help, and in helping the company you help the community and yourself.

Southern California Edison Company common not only yields you 8½ per cent on your money, but it is a DOUBLE-BARRELED INVESTMENT. Its purchase will add to the investor's business and enhance the value of whatever property he may own.
