AMACK HOME RANSACKED SAT. EVE

Clothing and Jewelrg Worth $300 Taken in Absence of Family

The home of U. S. Amack, building contractor, 711 West Broadway was entered Saturday evening between 7 and 8 o'clock while the family was down town, and household goods valued at $300 were taken.

The burglars entered thru a rear bedroom window by cutting the screen, and went out the same way. It is believed the burglars must have been watching the house, since the family was not gone over two hours.

The house was thoroughly ransacked, the thieves taking quantities of bed clothing, clothing, silverware, shoes, a gold locket, a diamond lavalliere and a revolver. The latter belonged to Wayne Amack, son of U. S. Amack, who lives on Ohio-st.

Beulah Schmidt, of Long Beach, was visiting with the Amack family, and her traveling bag and all it contained were taken, leaving her only an apron.

Five ladies' dresses were taken. Mr. Amack lost a new suit which he had worn but once. The burglars, however, left him his new overcoat, tho a number of other suits were taken.

The case was immediately reported to the local police and the sheriff's office. Men from the sheriff's office were here today working on the case.

It is reported that there is no clue but the taking of bedclothes and silverware, it is believed, indicates the thieves might have been hoboes who are "beating it" from place to place, and want something to keep them warm at night and knives for their meals. The taking of the revolver might indicate the same. Since both men's and women's clothing were taken, there is probably a woman in the case, police believe. Footprints of a woman's shoe were found near the window.

Sheriff C. E. Jackson and deputies paid Anaheim a couple of visits over the week-end.

As a result of a visit Saturday evening to an alleged gambling resort at the north end of Lemon-st., 13 Mexicans were arrested on gambling charges. They pleaded not guilty in justice court ao Santa Ana today and will be given hearings at 10 a. m. on Wednesday.

Jackson and deputies reconnoitered about the building, approaching from the rear. Thru a rear window they report they witnessed the Mexicans engrossed in a gambling game, with money on the table. However, by the time the sheriff and deputies were able to get into the room, which they did thru a side door, the cards were strewn on the floor and the money disappeared. 347 DELEGATES BACK FROM Y. CONFERENCE

FATTY'S OWN STORY OF PARTY TOLD TO JURORS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28.—"Fatty" Arbuckle, famed comedian of the movies, now on trial for manslaughter, bundled his 240-pound form out of the defendant's chair today and ambled to the witness stand.

He was called suddenly to tell the jury of his version of the death of Virginia Rappe, which he is accused of causing.

It was the climax of the trial—the one great thrill for which all had awaited—the hero of countless silent comedies testifying in his own tragedy.

A dull rumble swept through the courtroom as the spectators shifted to better view the comedian. Attorneys leaned back in their chairs and tried to look unconcerned. The jury strained forward, frankly expectant.

The comedian bumped into a chair as he advanced to the witness chair and had difficulty in squeezing between two tables. He seated himself carefully, pulling up each trouser leg so his nifty blue Norfolk wouldn't get baggy at the knees. He twisted in the chair a couple of times and glanced down at the defense table. It was the signal for his lawyers to begin.

He testified as follows:

"My name is Roscoe Arbuckle. I am a movie actor.

"Virginia Rappe came to my room at the St. Francis hotel Sept. 7. Mrs. Delmont was with her. She did not come by my invitation, neither did Al Semnacher, Zey Pyvron or Alice Blake. I invited Marie Traube.

"I was dressed in pajamas and bathrobe." The bathrobe was placed in evidence.

"Around 3 p. m. I saw Miss Rappe in my room.

"I was then going out for an engagement with Miss Taube.

"I had seen her in the other room just previously.

"The door of the room was open when I saw her.

"I found her in the bathroom. She was on the floor in front of the toilet holding her stomach.

"I picked her up and she vomited. I held her hair out of her face.

"Then I took a towel and wiped her face.

"I gave her a glass of water.

"She said she would like to lie down, and I carried her to a bed.

"She said she had these spells often.

"I went to the bathroom and when I came back she was on the floor writhing and moaning.

"I called Miss Pyvron and Mrs. Delmont.

"When they came in she was tearing her clothes.

"She pulled up her dress and tore her stockings and pulled the lace of: her garter. I told the girls to stop her and tried to help her.

"I went out and when I came back Mrs. Delmont was rubbing her with ice.

"She picked up a piece of ice and Mrs. Delmont told me to get out and I told her to shut up or I'd throw her out the window.

"I then had Miss Taube call the hotel manager.

"When he came we put Mr. Fishbeck's bathrobe on Miss Rappe and carried her to another room.

"I carried her three-quarters of the way and Mr. Boyle then took her.

"I asked Boyle to get a doctor.

"The door leading from my room to the corridor was not locked. The window was open and the curtain up.

"Miss Rappe said nothing anyone could not understand.

"At no time did I tell Mr. Semnacher anything about ice and Miss Rappe's body."

Completing his testimony under direct examination, Arbuckle said:

"I placed my hand on Miss Rappe's while she took hold of the door. I did not come into contact with the door.

"I did not ask Oscar Norgaard for the key to Miss Rappe's dressing room at the Culver City studio. I have told everything that occurred while I was in the room with Miss Rappe."

Arbuckle, on cross-examination, said his room at the hoted was Room 1219. He said:

"I can't remember that I ever saw Oscar Norgaard at Culver City. I rented a studio from Henry Lehrman at Culver City in 1919. Yes, I saw Miss Rappe there."

Arbuckle was an ideal witness, speaking rapidly and clearly in a deep, pleasant voice.

Just what the state expects Louise Glaum, who has been called as a witness, to testify to, is being kept a closely guarded secret by District Attorney Brady and his aides. It is certain, however, she is going to testify on one of two points in order to refute defense testimony:

1. As to whether Arbuckle was a perfect gentleman around the studios and whether he didn't often try to pry his bulky form into the girls' dressing rooms.

2. Whether or not Virginia Rappe, whose death the state charges was caused by the application of external force by Arbuckle, was frequently given to tearing her clothes off when she had had a few drinks.

WALKER PREACHES ON NATURE'S SCHEME

At the Presbyterian church Sunday, the pastor, Rev. Thomas H. Walker, took Gen. 1:31 as his text: "And God saw everything that he had made, and, behold, it was very good;" also Gen. 3-1: "Now the serpent was more subtle than any beast of the field which the Lord God had made." He said in part:

"Nature laughs at the orderly array of our gardens. The trees of the forest are not in rows, nor do the grasses and bushes come in squares and circles geometrically laid out. Nature is extravagant, lavish. Generous breezes blow the seeds of forest and garden, of thorn and thistle and dandelion, everywhere across the countryside. Man can never reproduce nature's unrestrained artistic production. Just like nature, we say, in highest compliment of some man's work of imitation.

"Richard Jeffries, the English naturalist, in writing of snakes says, 'vipers have their favorite localities. So soon as the violets push up and open their sweet-scented flowers, under the first warm gleams of the spring sunshine, the snake ventures forth from his hole to bask on the south side of the bank. In looking for violets it is not unusual to hear a rustling of the dead leaves that still strew the ground, and to see the pointed tail of a snake being dragged after him under cover.'

Now if we had the ordering of snakes would have their place and be compelled to keep it. We would choose the site for our home; wave a magic wand and lo! the desired flowers and fruits would spring up in prim rows and all snakes, bugs and other creeping things, with thorns and thistles would have no place there. Someway or other, I like nature better, for I know there is a reason for these annoying things and it is for me to deal with them and gain the ascendency over them. The careful student of history has to account for the devil. The thoughtful student of God's word finds the answer there. Ian MacLaren's friend said to him: 'I get more good out of one glorious sunset than out of all the sermons I ever hear.' But nature is not all sunsets. Storms and clouds are there, too. Do you find God in fragrant flowers, singing birds and twinkling stars and the rainbow after the storm? You are sorting nature over—you worship the God of Nature and yet ignore the storm and the serpent. You admire the sweep of the eagle's flight, but she has dripping talons; the gentle grace of the gambolling lambs provokes our interest, but what of the gory fangs of the wolf? "The occurrences of the past few years have raised many questions, destroyed many of our assumptions and shattered many of our easy-going, amiable beliefs. Human nature is not the naturally good thing we thought it to be. Every battle field has driven us back on the tragic but true Bible view of human nature, that essential good is not there and from every quarter the world weltering in misery and blood has shouted: 'Except a man be born from above, he cannot see the Kingdom of God." Pelagins, a British monk of long ago, preached this rosy doctrine of the inherent good of human nature and that man was slowly but surely by his own energy, evolving from the primeval slime. The millenium was thus to be established through man's own unaided efforts. This was to be done by creating a favorable environment. Man, he contended, is the result of his surroundings, education and scientific culture was also to assist in this evolution. Science ordering life would speedily banish all the ills of life and consequently its evils too. Scientific culture was to get rid of the beast in man. William James called this 'sentimental optimism.' No need of the second birth so long as a man was well-born the first time. No room in all this for Jesus and his heaven-sent salvation. The present condition of the world scornfully repudiates such superficial views. Human nature under 'scientific culture' did not look good in France. It made a mock of national good faith,committed unspeakable atrocities at Louvain and murdered Edith Cavell.

"So long as such parties like the San Francisco affair are held, we know but little progress has been made by science to tame the beast in man. Culture has left a ghastly catalougue of crime. Browning gave as one reason why he believed in Christianity, that 'it launched its dart point blank at the head of a lie, taught original sin, the corruption of man's heart.'

"The natural goodness of man is a popular lie, at which even the pulpit has smiled indulgently at times. Redemption of man according to Jesus is by a Divine miracle from without. "Except a man be born from above, he cannot see the Kingdom of God.'

"You cannot explain Jesus Christ by the theory of evolution. He came down, not up, to save the lost; from God the Father to prove His willingness to save though it cost the awful death of the cross. Is there any hope for the man in sin? 'And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me.' Is there any hope for the world, for the abolishment of righteousness and peace and love? Yes, for though civilization has failed, Jesus Christ has not failed. He can re-create. He rakes the gutters of humanity, and lifts out of them the jewels for his crown. The poison will yet be extracted from the fangs of the snake, the thirst of blood from the tiger's nature, and Isaiah's picture of Christ's perfect day will come true, when 'a little child shall lead them,' unafraid and unharmed.

"It was one such reclaimed bit of humanity, in whom the beast had been in the ascendant, who sang of his redemption experience, 'Somebody came and lifted me out of my sin and misery: somebody came, oh, who could it be, who could it be but Jesus?'

DEMAND GROWS FOR BETTER GRADE OILS

Local dealers report a steadily increasing demand for the better grade lubricants despite the fact that many lower grade oils sell for considerably less and, in many cases, yield more profit. They are of the opinion that this very marked tendency is an indication of the effectiveness of truthful advertising as well as the better results that motorists invariably get when they use high grade lubrication.

Take for instance, the Panama Lubricants Company of Los Angeles. This concern has gone to no small amount of trouble to see that their products are distributed through only the most reputable dealers. Subsequently they have widely advertised the fact that the Pennzoil sign, wherever displayed, is nothing short of a guarantee of the dealer's responsibility.

Local dealers who have been fortunate enough to secure the Pennzoil line have found that the Panama Co's. policy is both appreciated and valued by the thousands of So. Calif. motorists.

This widely known lubricant has won its popularity solely on merit. It is pure Pennsylvania product, manufactured in Oil City and shipped to this coast in sealed tank cars. It is then barreled and delivered to customers throughout the southwest.

Pennzoil Motor and Tractor Oils are but one item in the extensive line of lubricants put out by the Panama Company. Steam cylinder oils, tractor, gas engine and dynamo oils, greases of all kinds, automobile soaps and lubricants for every imaginable type of machinery constitute the array of products which this company supplies to its patrons.

EMPLOYMENT CONDITIONS ARE BETTER THOUGHOUT COUNTRY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—According to the United States employment service, industrial conditions thruout the country showed decided improvement during the month of October. There were marked increases in employment in the basic industries of iron, steel, metal products and the railroads which more than offest the decrease in the employment in seasonal industries. The report is based on data received from 231 principal industrial centers. Public improvements are absorbing a very large quantity of common labor that has been out of work thruout the summer or that has been released from agricultural, canning and other seasonal activities.

GIVE THANKS FOR BETTER BATTERIES

"The man who owns an auto has something to be thankful for this year in the fact that he can now get the most efficient battery now known for less money than he paid for an inferior battery in 1914," says Mr. Clyde Williams of the Anaheim Vulcanizing Works.

"Because of increased production and lessons learned during the war the Philadelphia Storage Battery Co. is now able to offer the famous Philadelphia Diamond Grid Battery with a two-year service guarantee at prices that mean a worth-while saving. The Philco Slotted Retainer and the Quarter Sawed Hard Wood Separator, two exclusive features of this battery, eliminate short circuits and buckled plates, and insure perfect uniformity of porosity and insulation.

"Tests demonstrate that Philadelphia Diamond Grid Batteries equipped with these patented features actually outlast other batteries 25 to 50 pct. They are made in three special types, for Ford, Buick and Dodge cars and may be installed in 90 pct. of all makes of machines run today. The man who has one in his car may be sure he won't be late for his Christmas dinner, for a car equipped with a Philadelphia Diamond Grid Battery gets where it is going without mishap unless the driver tries to make his machine climb a telegraph pole."

FEDERAL ARSENALS TO BID ON GOVERNMENT WORK

WASHINGTON Nov. 28.In order that the government may have advantage of its own plants competing with private concerns in bidding for government work, and also that its productive machinery may be fully utilized, orders have been issued that all war department arsenals are to be given an opportunity to bid upon all articles required to be manufactured for government purposes.

COMPLETE SHOW OF STUDEBAKER CARS

The more comprehensive the line of models produced by a motor car manufacturer the more difficult it becomes for a dealer to show the complete line but Harry D. Riley, after weeks of endeavor, has finally succeeded in getting together, at one time, the complete line of Studebaker enclosed cars.

He intends to take advantage of it and stage an automobile show of his own in his Anaheim salesroom and has issued a general invitation to the public to come in during show week and make a thorough inspection of the fine examples of coach work that Studebaker is producing. There are six different models of the coupes and sedans, two one of the three each chassis.

Starting with the light six coupe-roadster the body types range up to the big roomy, luxurious seven passenger sedan. According to Riley each one of the models covers a particular field of passenger transportation without leaving any gaps.

The design and finish of the bodies shows that experience has gone into their construction and Studebaker is rather long on experience in fine carriage building for the founding of the house dates back seventy years. The wonderful attention to detail is ascribed to the fact that hundreds of the skilled craftsmen who work for Studebaker have been with the house for years.

Riley is, of course, enthusiastic over the chance to show the complete line of enclosed cars but while he was glowingly describing the beauties of line and finish and trim and appointment he said that one fundamental thing might be overlooked when the cars were judged solely by appearance and that was the chassis. Riley claims that every man who purchases a fine enclosed car has a right to have it mounted on a chassis that is free from noise and vibrations and so extends his invitation to make an inspection to include a real demonstration of Studebaker performance as well.

POSTMASTER GENERAL HAS CUT FIFTEEN MILLION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Approximately $500,000 saving has been effected in the railway mail service thru careful inspection and reorganization of the Sunday service. This has been accomplish by having the clerical force and the space used in transporting the mail conform to the needs of the service on that day. It is the first time that a systematic survey of the Sunday service as a whole has ever been made.

This is a part of Postmaster General Hays' program of effecting economies in the postal service by checking up on service that was expanded during the war period. A similar check up has been effected in all other branches of the service which has resulted in a total saving of $15,000,000 in the running expense of the postal service for the present fiscal year.

HONOR BESTOWED BY FRIENDS OF DECEMBER BRIDE

As a prenuptial compliment, Miss Lillian Dumpke was the surprised honoree at a miscellaneous shower given at the home of Mrs. L. C. Blake by Mrs. W. J. Jewell on Saturday afternoon at 2:30. The rooms were tastily decorated with bright red hearts and green streamers extending from the chandeliers to the corners of the rooms.

As all were sitting about the dining table busily conversing, Mrs. Jewell presented Miss Dumpke with a large basket and this was found to contain many pretty presents that are dear to the hearts of all brides-to-be. Miss Dumpke will become the bride of Raymond Potter of Orange, on December 21. After the pretty contents of the basket were revealed, and the excitement subdued, a delicious luncheon was served.

Those enjoying the afternoon with Miss Dumpke were the Misses Lillian Bennerscheidt, Alice Pannier, Coy Amack, Buelah Schmidt of Long Beach, Lucinda Dumpke, Edith Hedstrom, Theresa Stewert, Flora Yeomen, Orange; Mesdames Carl Leib, Wayne Amack, W. P. Quarton, Wade Quarton of Fullerton, Gerlock of Fullerton, Elsie Blake, Will Dumpke, Alice Booth, E. M. Carver, R. C. Hein Folkers, Claud Potter of Orange, and the hostess, Mrs. W. J. Jewell.

The Daniels had been invited by the Romellos to pass the evening with them, but had no idea they were bringing along 40 other guests. However, this greatly pleased them, they realizing "the more the merrier" Quantities of pretty flowers were carried along and the handsome home was quickly decorated with greenery and blooms of various kinds.

Cards, games and dancing filled the evening with delight, and at midnight a two-course luncheon was served, and at an even later hour, Mrs. Ramello, who has a reputation as a taffy maker, was induced to make candy for the crowd, and a lively taffy-pulling resulted.

The honorees were presented with many pretty articles for their new home.

NEW RECREATION HALL PRESENTED TO STANDARD MEN

To R. R. Winger goes the credit of the most wonderful and successful barbecue ever served, which was held at Kraemer lease No. 2, Saturday evening. The occasion will mark the banner event in the history of the Standard Oil Co's social functions.

The lease was greatly illumined by five big gas torches, which were kept burning. The inspiration for the affair was the completion of new recreation hall, and this was the formal opening. The hall was presented to the employees of the Standard Oil Co. for their benefit and use, and to make the place as home-like as possible, a large fireplace has been erected in one side of the hall. There are several stands and tables on which are found books and magazines to suit each individual. As a token of appreciation for what the boys have done, Mr. Sam Kraemer presented to the hall a beautiful Kurtzman baby grand piano. A pergola runs around the three sides of the building and on this particular evening the hall was made more pleasant by the appropriate decorations of holly and greenery, which were used. The early part of the evening was given over to Chef Winger and his able assistants to serve the meal that had been prepared. The big juicy steaks made everybody hungry and together with beans, buns and salad, made a most delicious outdoor supper. After the nine hundred of the employees and their wives and sweethearts had been fed, all gathered in front of the hall where a program, of which George Thomas had charge, was rendered.

Thomas H. Sutton, well known among the oil men, delighted the audience with several very enjoyable solos. He was accompanied by Mrs. J. O. Tallman, on the piano. Among the songs he sang were "Mother Machree" and "For You Alone." Another surprise that was happily received was the solos and dances by little Miss Sarah Muirhead, with the piano accompaniment by Miss Simpson. She appeared on the scenes in a gypsy role, singing and dancing. She sang very sweetly "Just Like a Gypsy." Mrs. Hall was another of the delightful persons on the program. She appeared with the pleasing songs "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," and "Goodby to Summer." Miss Dolling played the accompaniment. A great feature of the evening was the privilege of hearing the noted newspaper man and oil authority, J. W. Foley, who is now residing in Pasadena, in a wonderful address which he delivered to the assembled oil workers and their wives and sweethearts. The Fullerton Masonic quartet rendered several pleasing selections. This quartet is composed of Thos. Sutton, 1st tenor; Dr. Mattnerm, 2nd tenor; R. H. Lee, 1st base; J. O. Tallman, 2nd base; Mrs. J. O. Tallman accompanied them on the piano. After these numbers, Miss Muirhead again appeared, this time in the role of a boy, singing "Freckles," and after that she recited in negro dialect. Mr. Hall gave several other solos. As a conclusion to the program the quartet gave more of the songs which were enjoyed by all. Chairman Thomas announced dancing, which was the pastime of the evening. The famous jazz orchestra of W. H. Wachtel of Whittier furnished the dance music, which was played until late in the evening.

Mr. Kraemer and his family were among the audience who enjoyed the evening's treat.

EFFICIENCY

It ain't senseless hoardin'
Nor stinting of our need,
But efficiency in spendin'
That should become our creed.

It ain't some money set aside
On impulse once awhile,
But steady savin' day by day
That builds the steady pile.
—S. V. Periman.

Thrift is shorthand for "Waste not, want not."

Roy Gardner has not killed anybody. But he has killed his own chance to be an honest, useful man. What is more worth while than being honest and useful?

Of the few billions of currency in circulation in this country, who gets the little residue that is left after the baseball players and moving picture stars are paid off?

Scientists say there are 25,000,000,000bacilli in one teaspoonful of ice cream. But there is a girl in this block who is remarkably courageous along this line.

Love in the royal palace is essentially the same as love in the peasant's cottage. Love is the great leveler—the universal democratizing, equalizing influence.

There is no virtue more splendid than loyalty. Loyalty to country; loyalty to family; loyalty to friends; loyalty to good principles—these loyalties are the noblest adornments of human character.

As the smoke lifts, along the Mexican border, the lid is discovered, tightly down, and President Obregon sitting on it. That latest "revolution" seems to have stopped before it got started.

There are a few public men who, deluding themselves into thinking that the Presidential bee was buzzing in their direction, have been rudely awakened by a stinging rebuke from the people.

Among other things, be thankful, on Thanksgiving, that you do not have an income of $200,000, for by not having it, you escape having to pay $100,000 income tax. What a luxury it is to be poor!

Roy Gardner lost all claim to public sympathy when he showed that he was insincere in his promise to reform. The only place for Gardner is prison. He would be a public menace at large. To turn him loose would be to put a premium upon crime.

If the powers collaborating with the United States in the Arms Conference do not hew to the line of candor and good faith, as to the great issues before the conference, the United States will not hesitate about letting the world know the unpleasant truth.

HIGH SURTAX RETAINED BY CONGRESS

The person with an income of $200,000 a year or more, must pay one-half of income into the United States Treasury. This is the descision of Congress, although President Harding has urged a maimum rate of not more than 40 per cent surtax. The House voted to accept the Senate rate of 50 per cent.

The division on this proviso of the tax-revision bill was not rigidly partisan. It was more sectional and class than partisan. The agricultural bloc of the Middle West and the Far East voted almost solidly for the 50 per cent rate. Republicans joined with Democrats in this. Representatives of the granger states arrayed themselves on the side of high taxes for those of swollen incomes.

President Harding's argument was, in effect, that a very high surtax would yield less than a moderate rate, and also that a heavy surtax would tend to discourage business investments and industrial activities. The House, however, went counter to the President in this and agreed to the high rate already voted by the Senate.

The effect of this rigorous surtax will be watched with interest. Even though it may have dampening effect on business and industry, it will be beneficial, on the whole, for the country to know what revised tax rates are to be, though they may not be altogether satisfactory. Uncertainty about rates plays more havoc with economic activities than would the rates themselves, be they ever so high.

EXILE FOR HAPSBURGS: DYNASTY BROKEN

Former Emperor Charles, of Austria-Hunary, and former Empress Zita, are being conveyed to the island of Maderia, where they are to be held in exile by the Allied powers. This course comes as a sequal to two abortive attempts of Charles to regain the throne from which he was deposed after the close of the World War.

Thus ends, apparently for all time, the proud royal house of Hapsburg—a house which brought immeasurable misery and ruin upon Europe and the World. It was this autocratic dynasty which provoked the World War. No democrat and no lover of freedom will shed a tear that the royal scions of this bloody dynasty are put away effectually where they must needs cease their troubling.

Absolute monarchs fast are passing from the world's stage of action. Absolutism in government and militarism are being banished. In truth, it would be hard for one to put one's finger on the map of the world and denote a country, large or small, ruled today by an absolute monarch, with no semblance of democratic government. The monarchs that remain are constitutional or limited.

Step by step mankind has ascended the heights of civil freedom. One by one the yokes of autocracy have been thrown off. The World War brought several proud monarchs crashing to ruins. That the Hapsburgs and the Hohenzollerns and the Romanoffs are dethroned and their autocratic dynasties are smashed is cause for congratulation and gratification in Europe and throughout the world.

Coroner Urges Careful Driving

ACCIDENTS from automobiles resulting in death, are often very dim and vague to the majority of people. But to the coroner of a county they represent vivid and unforgetable tragedies. Next to those left by the victims of the accidents, he is closest to the grim realities of these catostrophes.

Interviewed by an official of the Auto Club of So. Calif., Coroner Charles H. Brown spoke strongly and feelingly of the importance of the No Accident Week campaign now being conducted in Orange-co.

"The people outside of the immediate family and friends of a person killed," he said, "have no idea of the sorrow and of the financial loss occasioned by the death of the father or the mother of a family thru these accidents nor of the grief and irreparable loss caused by the death of a child. I wish that some of the reckless or careless drivers could have been thru half of the scenes I have witnessed because of these calamities. It would, I believe make them realize the terrible results of speeding, or carelessness.

"I am glad that the campaign for safety has been begun. I hope it will bear fruit in the way of more care, more consideration for public safety, and a resolve on the part of every motor driver to do everything in his or her power to help preserve human life and limb."

SENSATIONAL NEW MAXWELL IS HERE

It's here. The new Maxwell that has caused such a furore in the motor world, and it certainly is one of the most agreeable surprises that the season has had to offer. The car is now on display at the salesrooms of Turton and Lumsdon, local dealers.

"Perhaps, the outstanding feature of the Maxwell is the unstinted praise that has been accorded the car by various distributors, dealers and salesmen of other automobile companies," states Messrs. Turton & Lumsdon.

"All who have witnessed the Maxwells have remarked that they are 'knockouts' not only due to the beautiful lines of the car, but more so because of the remarkably low price.

"The new Maxwell's popularity has spread like wild-fire. It, apparently, is exactly the type of car and with the price in accordance, that the motoring public has been waiting for. Scores of the new cars have been sold already and we anticipate the heaviest sale ever accorded a new automobile model.

"Distinctly different from any previous Maxwell, people who have seen the new 'job' simply cannot believe their eyes. There are numerous features to the new models, but the beautiful and different body lines and the disc steel wheels are undoubtedly the two points which have attracted the widespread attention of the motoring public."

MORE AIR FREIGHTS

MANCHESTER, Eng., Uov. 18.—Strong, standardized "truck" airplanes are being planned to carry freight between such cities as Manchester and Lyons. Railways are showing a growing interest in commercial airplanes.

ORGANIZATION BACK OF CAR BIG THING

"One of the greatest features that goes with the purchase of a Chevrolet is the wonderful organization that stands in readiness to make good the investment," states Frank P. Taggart, local dealer. "Selections of representatives are made from the most reliable individuals in a city, they must be financially able to maintain thoroughly equipped service stations with a complete stock of parts, so that owners will be placed at the least inconvenience when repairs are necessary.

"Now the latest protection which is offered by this company is a uniform scale of charges for the repairing and installing each unit in the Chevrolet. These cost sheets have been compiled after extensive checking and research work on each operation necessary to replace each unit and the results have been made public to the owners as a protection against those that might have a tendency to be unscrupulous in their charges."

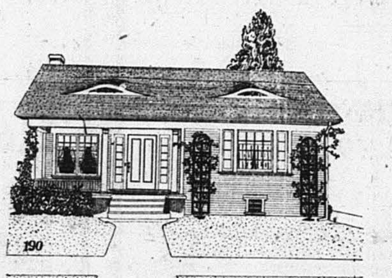
Lower Building Costs Is Stimulating Building.

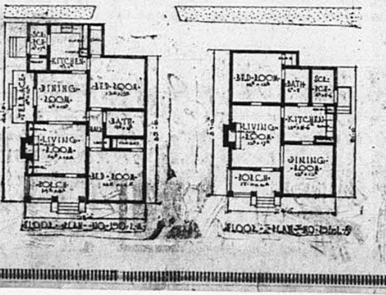
Those in need of homes and other constructions are taking advantage of present conditions, which means substantial savings to them and makes for general prosperity.

It is generally conceded that in readjusting prices many commodities have become under priced and one of them is lumber, which cannot long stay at present prices. Information received from saw mill districts show the mills operating only part of the time with many of them closed altogether. Realizing this, and that the retail yards of the country are short some five billions of feet to bring their stocks up to normal, should be an incentive for all to become active and get new construction under way at the earliest possible time.

Now is the time to build and the sooner you make the start the greater will be the saving to you.

Here's another thought—Now a sufficient amount of building materials are available for immediate construction—this condition will not prevail when once the yards throughout the country start buying to bring their stocks up to normal. If you are contemplating any kind of construction, our recommendation is to give it consideration now.





Plans No. 190-195

A charming semi-colonial bungalow, in which just enough special details are incorporated to make it most attractive and convenient. The mahogany window sash and trellis produce a most pleasing contrast to the white walls and green-stained roof.

Ideal arrangements are incorporated in the interior and those wanting a small, inexpensive home will find many features in this plan that will appeal to them.

Care should be exercised in selecting a plan that will not only meet present needs, but one that is modern in every way and one that you would be proud to possess.

"CHRIST AND WILL OF MAN" IS TOPIC

Dr. J. A. Geissinger spoke yesterday morning at the White Temple upon "Christ and the Will of Man." Luke 18:41. He said in part:

"We have here Christ alongside of the will of man. We have had much confusing talk about man in these latter days. On the one hand it is said that there isn't anything the matter with man. Let him alone. See how far he has come. He will arrive. Give him room and time. On the other we are assured from the same sources that not much may be expected of man as he is a creature of heredity and circumstances.

"Here in this Scripture we have an honest word about man, a true picture of man: Man is a free, imperial will in need of help.

The law holds that man is responsible for his needs, that is free, practically. A pistol if it could talk, might urge that some one pulled its trigger. We never try the pistol. Man pulls own trigger. Common sense takes the same standand man himself knows that he is free. Every man who has gone wrong knows that he had a moment, if only a moment that was his and that he made the decision that settled matters for him thus far. In like fashion philosophy and science are coming round to this postion again. The latest word from the biologist is that heredity has the least to do with man of all animals. It is scientifically true that while we may not be responsible for the disposition we are born with we are yet responsible for the disposition we die with.' All life is a making over of man's life.

Similarly we know that empires sleep in man's brain. The Roman Empire was not a drift nor was Alexander's conquest. Bismarck was man of iron and blood and the mightiest kind of dynamite known in the world is that done up in human packages. Given a man with an idea beneath which beats a conviction and you have an irresistible force.

Yet also this man with empires in his brain is much of the time mired in mud. He does not seem to be able to get free.

Now if man is in need of help, what kind of help is it that he needs? I name five things that man needs.

He needs to be aroused. The average man and woman never gets fully awake. Now and then some man like Booker Washington buys a hen coop and starts a college and lifts a race but multitudes of men and women black and white lie around all day. The blackest fact in the world this morning is spiritual inertia. Man striking eight when he should be striking twelve. What God can do by mountains and seas and sunsets and dawns and poets and music and art he has done to arouse man; but in Christ as in nother, the soul of man leaps to greatness. He makes the lame to leap up and carry the bed upon which he has been lying.

"Man needs light. He must be able to see where he is going once he is aroused. The great questions man asks perforce are three: What can I know? What may I hope? What shall I do? As in no other we find answers to these questions in Christ.

"But man needs to have his life reconciled to the nature of things—to itself and to God and to have it recentered. It is not enough that man shall have light.

Man has a strange way of preferring the darkness to the light. The fact is human perversity is to be reckoned with. You may not recognize this fact of sin. It is possible not to. You may prefer to run your head into the sand ostrich-like. Possibly you can do as much good with your head there as anywhere. But your refusal to recognize the fact of sin does not blot out sin. It simply advertises the fact that you might know more than you do. Man needs to have this bias taken out f him. This is his deepest trouble. elf-will—that is one thing but it is very lovely thing. To identify will with the will of God, to be to say "I am come to do thy will God," that is a higher type of life man. We have seen the ruthless lfish will riding over human rights and carrying out its policy of blood and iron but how much better that man's will should be set to see that the humblest child has the fullest opportunity for self-realization? That cooperation for righ tshall be realized on the earth? That goodness and goodwill shall prevail?

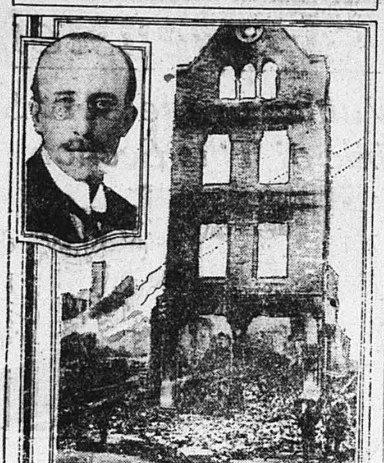
"Yet again, this will of man recentered and re-motived, needs an adequate task. It is interesting to note the reflex action of man's work on himself. Booker Washington while lifting his race lightward, is lifted himself. As you study Abraham Lincoln at his bloody but beneficent task you can see him changed and greatened. So Paul hurrying forward with his good news to the world is changed from character to character until when you see him as Paul the aged you can scarcely believe that this is Paul the youth who came up to Jerusalem from Tarsus.

"So Jesus sets man to building his Kingdom. That is the task of the redeemed that they may be redeemed.

"Finally man must be nourished as he goes forward with his task. And this is the meaning of fellowship with Christ.

"These are the needs of man's will and these are the ways in which Christ relates himself to us. How is it with you this morning? Do you feel like saying: "Lord let me alone. I have no desire for help. Spend your time and grace on someone else?" Are you going to say that, if not in words at least in indifference? Or are you going to pray for forgiveness, for release from the burden of guilt, for a new [illegible] life for a new power of lovi [illegible] larger outlook and for a will [illegible] will?"

Ireland Grateful for America's Aid



This wall, once a portion of a chemists' shop, is the only wall left standing in Patrick Street, Cork, Ireland, following the conflagration which left the city a mass of ruins. (Insert) James Douglas, treasurer of the Irish White Cross.

JAMES DOUGLAS, treasurer of the Irish White Cross, is in this country with a message from his organization, thanking the American people for their contributions for the sufferers in Ireland, made to the American Committee for Relief in Ireland of which Justice Morgan J. O'Brien is chairman, and Thomas F. Ryan, E. L. Doheny, John D. Ryan, Nicholas F. Brady, and other prominent Americans have taken an active part. The White Cross has charge of the distribution of the American Committee's funds.

According to a statement made by Mr Douglas immediately upon his arrival, relief from this country arrived at a time when the Irish people were in most desperate straits. Without funds from the American Committee, the relief work could not have continued, he said, and widespread desolation of whole sections of Ireland would undoubtedly have followed.

Mr. Douglas is a Quaker and has taken no part in party politics. The work of his organization, begun a year ago at a time of the most bitter warfare, has been conducted on a non-partisan, non-political basis. Relief has been given to non-combatant women and children on both sides of the Irish struggle. Protestants and Catholics, Jews and Gentiles have worked side by side in a national effort to relieve suffering, and Mr Douglas says that the White Cross is providing one of the most influential forces for promoting the peace that every Irishman desires.

"It is the suffering of the innocents, the women and children, that is the hardest to witness," said Mr. Douglas. "No one can estimate what the effects of constant warfare will be on the future generations of Irish. There have been, however, an unprecedented number of premature births due to fright on the part of mothers, and medical men predict that children born in the days of such desolation will grow up heavily handicapped. A nurse in the south of Ireland told me that the number of premature births in her neighborhood has increased threefold since the fighting started in 1920."

There are but thirty paid workers in the White Cross. All over-head expense is borne by the Irish. Every cent contributed by Americans goes directly for relief work.

BUSINESS MEN FACE 'NIGHT RIDER' SUIT

APPLETON, Wis., Nov. 28.—Trial of the suit of Mrs. Lillian Black against several Appleton business men, said to have been identified with night riders in Outgamie-co during the war, was begun here today. Mrs. Black charges that her husband, John Black, was driven insane by threats of night riders who sought to induce him to invest in Liberty bonds. Black is now in an asylum for the insane.

17 HURT IN WRECK

CINCINNATI, Nov. 28. — Seventeen vagrants riding on a fast train wrecked near Seymour, Ind., were reported injured today.

COMPLETE SET OF VENTURA OIL MAPS

With the completion of Map No. 18—showing Piru, Simi Newhall and other oil fields, a complete set of maps of the oil fields of Ventura-co is now available at the various offices of the state mining bureau.

Ventura-co was the scene of the first search for and production of oil in California. Mexicans are reported to have developed petroleum in Ventura-co as early as 1854, although at that time and for a number of years thereafter, the crude oil was taken principally from seepages or tunnels driven into oil sands near the outcrop.

Standard Oil Co. was operating in Ventura-co in 1877 and the Hardison and Stewart Oil Co., forerunner of Union Oil Co. of California, started operating in Rancho Ex-Mission and Sespe Creek in 1883. None of the present major producing fields of California had been discovered at that time.

Oil fields of Ventura-co represent a great variety of surface and subsurface conditions. The South Mountain field, for example, covers the almost inaccessible slopes of South Mountain, near Santa Paula. The construction of a well site and grading of roads along the steep mountainside represents expenditures which almost equal drilling costs. During the first six months of 1921 the wells in South Mountain field produced 547,870 bbls. of oil. The Ventura field, near the City of Ventura, has continuously lured some of the larger oil companies to large expenditures for development, where danger of losing wells from gas blowouts and difficulties of shutting off water cause the most difficult drilling conditions existing anywhere in the state. The Ventura field produces some of the highest grade oil of the state. During the first six months of 1921 wells in the Ventura field produced 82,240 bbls. o oil. Another recent development in Ventura-co is the so-called "post-hole paradise" near Conejo. Here, during the early part of 1921 a number of companies were organized to drill shallow wells in the old Camarillo field. One hundred twenty-four wells have been reported ready to drill in this field since the first of the year. The wells are finished at depths less than 200 feet. Some were drilled to oil in less than 24 hours and sarted producing anywhere from 10 to 120 barrels of oil per day. The wells are reported to be short-lived.

The interest shown in the development and recovery of oil from the shallow Conejo pool was another manifestation of the stimulus given the oil industry of the California by the raises in prices of crude in 1920 and the increased demands:, It indicates the extent to which operations will be carried when, in the years to come, the demands for California's petroleum greatly exceed production and every known accessible source of oil will be exploited.

ECHO OF OLD WORLD IN HACIENDA CLUB

An echo of the Old World, a breath from the warm fires of a younger Spain, will be brot to So. Calif with the completion of the new clubhouse which is planned for the Hacienda Country club, near Whittier ,according to the announcement today of Alphonso Bell, of Santa Fe Springs, president of the club. With architect's plans completed and in the hands of club officials work on the construction of the new clubhouse is expected to begin before Jan. 1.

The building of the clubhouse will be followed by the extention of the golf course, according to Bell. The golf course at present consists of nine holes and to these will be added the fairways and putting greens of another nine holes, making a regulation 18-hole course, which, when completed Bell declared today, will be one of the finest links in California.

The new clubhouse was designed by Carlton Monroe Winslow, a well known California architect ,who has won prominence thru his work at the San Diego exposition and at Santa Barbara. The clubhouse will be built by units, the first unit to be erected between the present time and the first of next year, and others to be added later. The design of the clubhouse is typically Spanish. It will be of either tile or concrete construction. The first unit will consist of a veranda 50 feet in inegth and 18 feet wide, providing sufficient spaces for tables and lounge chairs; a dining room 59 feet long and 50 feet wide! a Spanish court or patio in the center and on the east end of the building a locker room and showers for men club members. The entrance to the clubhouse will be an arcade of Spanish design. The second unit which will be added in the near future will be the lounge room on the west end of the clubhouse. Until that is completed the dining room will be used as a lounge.

The work of laying out the second nine holes of the golf course will begin next spring, according to the club president. No pains have been spared to make the links one of the finest in this section of the state and the results have fully met expectations, according to Bell. The course is entirely of grass, both fairways and greens and an elaborate water pressure system and pipe lines have been installed to keep the grass fresh and green.

The course was laid out by William Watson, a nationally known designer of club courses, and the final plans were submitted to Charley Mayo, of the Edgewater Country club, of Chicago, who offered a number of valuable suggestions.

ALLEGE REALTY FIRM CHARGED TOO MUCH

Alleging real estate agents, thru whom they purchased a walnut grove, misrepresented the purchase price to the extent of $2,000 and collected that amount from them above the actual price, Elmer and Laura Gedney appeared today in the superior court in a $2,000 damage suit against Hoffman, Smith and Holcombe, Santa Ana real estate agents.

The Gedneys saw an advertisement ,they claim, in which the agents advertised for sale a ten-acre walnut orchard in Los Angeles county, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mossinger. They answered the advertisement and opened negotiations with the realty firm for the purchase of the orchard.

The agents told them, according to the Gedneys, that the grove was priced at $20,000. The Gedneys authorized the agents to offer $19,000. Next, they claim, the agents told them that the $19,000 offer was accepted on the following terms: $7,000 to be paid down, $5,000 to be paid a year later, and a $7,000 mortgage to be assumed. This proposition was accepted and the transaction was concluded, the plaintiffs allege, the agents having represented that they had paid the initial payment for the buyers.

Later, they assert, they learned that the owners of the grove had only asked $17,000 for the orchard, and required only $5,000 down. The realty agents are charged with having misrepresented the price and the sum that they claimed to have paid down on the property, and to have collected from the plaintiffs $2,000 more than they paid.

MILK. THE GREATEST FOOD

In the preservation of foods, an art which has reached considerable perfection in these days, it is interesting to note how important a part is played by opposite forces of nature.

For instance, after milk is obtained from the cow, it is a greater stride toward keeping it pure, to use "cold" (in the form of natural ice generally) to bring the temperature promptly down until near the freezing point.

Later, however, an opposite plan is essential. By prolonged heating of the milk to a moderately high temperature the bacteria or germs which are unhealthful are killed and the milk, unchanged in its digestibility, is rendered safe for use by the infant or invalid.

Both of these methods are used in their amplest form in the preparation of Horlick's Malted Milk, so as to obtain the highest purity of the food.

The absence of moisture is an efficient safeguard against the growth of bacteria and it also makes the product capable of being taken easily to all parts of the world.

It was no little achievement of Horlick's (who originated malted milk) to make a product which retains all the nutritive value of malted grain and rich milk and which produces at a moment's notice a food-drink that is sustaining, invigorating and also delicious to the taste.

The Way to Get Rid of Winter Troubles

Winter again approaches, and with it all the unpleasant horde of cold weather cooling troubles you know so well—unless you own a Franklin.

Franklin owners waste no time draining and refilling radiators, no patience using anti-freeze mixtures, no money getting leaky radiators repaired. The Franklin is direct air cooled, has no radiator and uses no water.

Light and flexibly built, it also gives unusual results in comfort, ease of handling, reliability and economy. Remember its owner averages:

20 miles to the gallon of gasoline
12,500 miles to the set of tires
50% slower yearly depreciation

20 acres (1744 trees) which unquestionably stands unchallenged as the best orange grove in this section. A grove with a record, a grove with a future. There is not one weak feature attachd to this offering. Upon inspection one becomes impressed with the size of the trees, their vigor, health and thrifty condition. The soil is of the finest, setting indicates that it will be one of the heaviest producing 20 acres in Orange-co. This is a grove which has received not only the best of care, but all work has been done by the owners themselves. Its location is ideal, situated in city limits, 3 blocks from the new postoffice, with frontage on 3 streets. The only reason this splendid grove is on the market is due to one of the owners being desirous of returning east. It is offered for sale at a ridiculously low figure, and we are prepared to produce figures which will show an income of 22 per cent. This is your one big opportunity to purchase a grove which is now increasing in value. Don't wait until the fruit colors up. Don't wait until the owners change their minds but buy now.

5 aces of 5-year-old Valencias that would do your heart good to see. The trees have an exceptionally heavy setting for next year, with every indication of sizing up well. Soil conditions fine. This grove is all piped. There is a nice home, all modern, with garage, which makes this proposition exceptionally attractive. We doubt if there is another 5 acres which can compare with this. Anyone purchasing this beautiful grove will feel greatly satisfied especially when the fruit colors up. Better look into this before it is too late.

CALIFORNIA OFFERS CHAPLIN IN LATEST

Charles Chaplin and "fun" are synonymous. Who is it that does not agree that today Charles Chaplin occupies a pedestal in the American public's mind as the premier of fun makers. So whenever any theatre announces that Chaplin is to be on the program in one of his great comedies, the patrons gin to get ready to turn out.

Such was the announcement made today by the management of the California theatre. This splendid theatre is to show Chaplin in his latest comedy smash, "The Idle Class," starting tomorrow, and this means that packed houses will greet the mustached comedian.

This latest comedy production of Chaplin's is without a doubt something entirely new in mirth. The noted star takes a dual part, and both as the tramp in his old familiar garb, and also as the society lounge lizard, he is ridiculously funny.

The audience is kept in a continual uproar of mirth from the time the curtain opens on the picture until the final fade-out. New and novel comedy stunts are "pulled" by the big-footed comedian, and they are so unusual that the spectators are held in a suspense of laughter and tears while the hilarity is on.

In keeping with such a strong feature, the management has prepared an added program fully up to the standard demanded by such an attraction. Popular Eugene O'Brien will be seen in that powerful play, "Clay Dollars," and Mack and Mack, vaudeville headliners, will dispense good music and other splendid entertainment for this program.

Charles Hawley, the organist has prepared a dandy musical offering which should go over like the veritable "house afire," and all in all the whole bill is a hummer.

INTENSE INTEREST IN CHRISTMAS SALE

The largest showing of toys ever exhibited in No. Orange-co is now on display at Weber's Book & Music Store, where Santa Claus has arrived in all his glory. Besides a large section of the main floor being given over to holiday goods, the entire second floor is packed with Christmas goods.

The annual Christmas sale opened Saturday with the greatest display of interest on the part of the public that this popular store has ever witnessed so early in the season. Two thousand souvenirs were given away Saturday and today.

The line of dolls and doll carriages and of electrical and mechanical toys is particularly complete.

MEN'S SOULS BIGGER

Men's souls, says Marshal Foch, are bigger since the war. The great French soldier, with characteristic directness, has hit upon an essential truth. Men's souls are bigger, men's understanding is broader and men's sympathies are deeper than ever before in the history of the world.

It is largely because of Foch's own dignity and strength of soul that the American people love him. There is in the man's makeup nothing of the provincial. Acclaimed the world's greatest soldier, his modesty is in keeping with his strength of character. "Coming to America" he said, "has enlarged my vision."—San Francisco Chronicle.

MISSING NUMBER CLUE TO BURGLARY

The mystery of the missing number occupied the attention of City Marshal Sam Jernigan of Santa Ana today.

Search has been instituted by Jernigan for a red headed man and a man who limped. At the same time he sought the last numeral on the license plate of a Ford car, which the men are believed to have rented in Los Angeles Wednesday night, and to have used while robbing the W. E. Lanyon home at 801 South Ross-st, in Santa Ana.

A neighbor of Lanyon, on the night of the robbery, saw the red headed man and the man who limped leave the Lanyon house. He also saw the Ford and got the car's license number —all but the last figure. He gave the police the number 219,26—.

It was up to Jernigan to supply the missing numeral. He found that the numbers from 219260 to 219,267 are all registered to the same owner, the Ford Rentral company, 810 Marsh Strong building, Los Angeles.

This seemed to simplify the situation materially. Of course the number sought might be 219,268 or 219,269, but the chances were 8 to 2 against that possibility especially since neither of those two numbers was registered to a Ford car.

Accordingly, Jernigan is investigating the rental company, to ascertain whetheir a man who limped and a red headed man rented one of its cars Wednesday night. If they did, the next step will be to locate the men and prosecute them for the crime.

The burglars who visited the Lanyon residence thoroughly ransacked it after gainging entrance by slashing a rear screen, then using a pass key to open the door. Lanyon found that only a child's savings bank, containing about $5 in silver had been stolen.

MEASUROGRAPHS INSTALLED

Sebastian Bros. have installed a measurograph at each of their wrapping counters, which will greatly facilitate the work of the sales people and save much time to the customer. The machine accurately measures and computes the cost of the smallest portion of yardage goods, and should the material be reversed in feeding, the amount and cost are thus deducted, making it impossible for the customer to pay for more than he has received. As a time saver and a benefit to the sales people, as well as to the customer, the measureograph is a great addition to the equipment of this wide awake firm.
