CHRISTMAS NAVELS STARTED EARLY

Anaheim Orange & Lemon Ass'n. Ships Carload Tomorrow

The first car of Anaheim navel oranges for the Christmas trade will leave here tomorrow over the Southern Pacific. The Anaheim Orange & Lemon Ass'n. is the shippers. The association began to pick yesterday, and is packing this afternoon.

Manager G. W. Sandilands said today picking had begun earlier than had been expected because of the early start to competition on the railways. Instead of Dec. 10, Dec. 5 is being figured on as the final date for shipments can be made in time for Christmas. Sandilands expects to ship 10 cars for the holiday trade. While this fruit will meet the legal standard, it is "substantially good." Sandilands said, shipments were made mainly to satisfy the clamor of the citrus and Mid-West for Christmas fruit.

The demand is heavy.

Manager W. H. Schumann of the Citrus Fruit Ass'n. who is shipping that Dec. 5 was the final date for most of the shipments, said Dec. 5 would be a small percentage of fruit to arrive in time. At the same time Christmas fruit on Monday necessitates that the Florida seedlings are now being supplied in quantity to the growers.

The Anaheim Co-operative Orange Ass'n. started to pick Saturday and will begin packing Thursday. The organization's first car will go out on Saturday or Monday. Only three or four cars will be shipped. The color is pretty good, said Schumann, and sizes are satisfactory.

EXCHANGE STAMPS FOR CERTIFICATES

A large number of Anaheim people are now reaping the harvest from their stamp savings, a larger number than in most towns where Anaheim, in the war stamp campaign as in the liberty loan drive, went far over the top. Anaheim's stamp quota was $100,000. Postmaster J. F. Ahlborn said $139,000. Because of this record, he received gratifications from the department.

Many of the larger holders of war savings stamps are affecting the exchange for war savings certificates. Postmaster Ahlborn invited others to come to the exchange. You have $100 in war stamps, you can exchange for a $100 certificate and receive $100 in cash. Or, by adding $25 to your $100 stamps, you can swap for a $100 certificate and a $25 certificate, total $125, or cash value five years from now.

Or, if you haven't been satisfied with the thrifty efficient way in which it has been demonstrated that Old Man Interest can work for you stamps and get face value in cash.

RICHES IN CHRIST. TOPIC OF SERMON

"The Pathless Riches in Christ" was the sermon subject of Dr. Geisinger at the White Temple Sunday morning. His text was Eph. 3:8. He said in part:

"Paul was always great. He had a great philosophy of history; for he saw from the beginning human sin and God's purpose of grace pressing down to human need until in Christ full redemption came not only for the Jews but also for the Gentiles, for all mankind and on the same basis. He never forgot that it was his mission in the world to preach this grace of God to man. He was his own man. He was the ambassador of Christ."

"Hear him: 'I am determined to know nothing among you but Jesus Christ and him crucified.' That was his gospel—an atonement for sin in Christ; a way out for man thru the grace of God made manifest in Christ. We preach not ourselves, but Jesus who has Lord.' He never forgot that his Lord had said 'And if he be lifted up will draw all men to himself' and materially he lifted Jesus up, crucified and risen, for the redemption of the whole humanity."

"He says here that he is set to proclaim the riches of grace in Christ Jesus; the forgiveness of sins, the redemption of those bound in the enrichment and empowering of every man thru faith in Christ."

Let us think about these pathless riches of Christ. The riches of his teachings. Think of Jesus' teaching about God, man, duty, destiny, God. He says "Your Father knows that which is his word to the mind of man. 'All things are possible to God'; that is his word to give good gifts to your children, do you think you are better than God? That is his word to the fruitful hearts of men. He has made all men say when they think of the ultimate reality in the world: 'Our Father'."

He said that man was worth dying for and made men see that they are sons of God."

He spoke great words on man about duty and illustrated his teachings by the parable of the Good Samaritan and then said to man, the son of God: "Be ye perfect as your Heavenly Father is perfect."

He gave men a sense of eternity and told men that they were builders and they themselves had a choice of foundations."

And then he sent men forth under these mighty inspirations to build a civilization, not upon self-interest but upon love and service and goodwill. But his life was richer even than his teachings. How he moved men to the highest and best they were capable of. He made them love truth and right and their fellows. And he does that with men to this day."

And yet what Paul most emphasized of Christ, he knew that man needed more than a great word from God, more than a holy example. He needed to have his heart broken—to be brought to penitence for his sins and in the death of Christ he saw sin broken and atonement made be-

WOMAN IS HEAD OF POISONING GANG

LONDON, Nov. 27.—A woman signing herself "Molly," living in an obscure London suburb, was revealed tonight as the principal in the poisoning plots directed against officials of Scotland Yard to which Sir William Harwood, commissioner of London police, already has fallen a victim.

Harwood is critically ill in a London hospital while all the forces of Britain's secret service are on the track of the supposed maniac, who has made three attempts on lives of Scotland Yard officials by means of boxes of poisoned candy and cake.

The woman's name will be announced in the postal lists required by the British law to be signed by "Molly" in unmistakably feminine handwriting.

Harwood was stricken after eating several pieces of candy sent him by mail Thursday.

ROSES RESTORED TO FADED CHECKS

Can roses be restored to faded checks? Can modern science bring parenthood to the childless? These and many more questions that are now in the public mind will be answered at the premier of the first motion picture description "Rejuvenation Through Gland Transplanting" which will be shown at Fairland Theater, Thursday and Friday. One of the above questions will be answered conclusively in motion pictures of the world's first, great gland baby and his father. The father, William Stittsworth, is a well known business man and agriculturist of William, Kansas, while the boy, now four years old, is a healthy normal youngster. In addition to the picture description of gland transplanting, a sensational feature "How Human Life Begins," describing the little known mysteries of life's origin, will be shown.

tween man and God. In that death we see God's love pressing down to human need and we see what a hideous thing sin is that it would destroy the noblest heart man ever had. No man can stand by Calvary without feeling his own heart made to aspire toward God and his righteousness."

And, what Christ does for the man of faith is to lift him to his own level until he too may feel the power of his resurrection, the power of an endless life beating in his own heart."

Thus by faith in Christ men may become Christ-like. That was the message of Paul to the heathen people of his day and it is the word of Christianity to the world today. And this is the teaching, the gospel message that the world needs today."

This week we observe nationally a Day of Thanksgiving. What do we commemorate on Thanksgiving Day? The heritage of America. We thank God for the men and women who have gone before us and have three faith in the Most High God made righteousness to prevail in the land. The men who laid the foundations of this Republic, were for the most part men of God. Their ideals of life and political organization had been shaped by the Bible and by the teaching and example of Jesus Christ."

How rapidly our civilization is changing! Not only on the surface but the depths of life have changed since the days of the Pilgrim Fathers and the Founders of the Republic! But after all the human heart is the same and the spiritual needs of men in this electrical age are the same as in that more slowly moving age."

It seems to me we Christians surely must see that we have an obligation resting upon us that we too, in our generation, shall proclaim the faithless riches of Christ and break the power of sin in men's lives by the power of God's grace."

Sure, I am, of this: It is our duty to make the teachings and spirit of Christ prevail in human life. More Christianity is the supreme need of the world. In our international relations, in our political institutions, in our industrial situations as well as in our personal lives we need to have wrought into the very marrow of our bones the spirit of Jesus Christ and his teachings."

CURE CHILD LABOR BY STATES—New York Evening Post

There cannot be much surprise over the decision of the supreme court in declaring the Child Labor Law unconstitutional, even though the law was carefully drafted with an eye to meeting the very objections which have proved fatal. As Chief Justice Taft, with the trace of a smile, remarks, Why should not the justices see what everybody else sees,—that the law is a palpable attempt to use the taxing power of Congress for the purpose of preventing the employment of children? That is, it is an attempt to do indirectly what Congress admittedly has not the authority to do directly. That this is the motive behind the law nobody has ever denied. The justification advanced for what on its face is a subterfuge is the end to be served. Whether that end is good or not, however, is not the business of a court. As Justice Taft observes, it is the duty of the judges to stand guard over the line drawn by the Constitution between the powers of the federal government and the powers of the States, even though the performance of that duty should require them "to refuse to give effect to legislation designed to promote the highest good." Any other course would make the Constitution a scrap of paper. By this decision the battle against child labor is relegated to the States. This is undoubtedly a setback to the movement to give children the opportunities that should be theirs, and some of the more earnest spirits in the movement may be tempted to impugn the bitter comment upon the conflict thus disclosed between a humane reform and a legal limitation. The attitude will be a far greater triumph for those who have won the more successful battles on the battle for complete victory in the backward States. It was the unresponsiveness of these states that led to the passage of the Federal Child Labor Law. To convert these states to the desirability of such legislation will be a far greater triumph than to impose upon them in the way that has now been held invalid.

BREA SCOUTS WILL HAVE OWN BUILDING

Boy Scout News Letter
Two sections of the Court of Honor were held last week, one at La Habra on Tuesday night, and one at Costa Mesa on Friday night, with a very large attendance by both Scouts and visitors. A total of approximately 200 Scouts and visitors were present. Second class badges, first class badges and merit badges were awarded.
The troop committee of the Brea troop met on Wednesday evening and formulated plans for the completion of the campaign there to erect a Scout building for the troop at Brea. This project is well under way and the Scout will soon have a stylish modern building.
Troop No. 11 of Santa Ana was reorganized at the Highland-as Methodist church, with promise to be a real troop during this coming winter. One of the greatest days in Scouting was spent last Saturday at the Orange-co park when between 50 and 60 Scoutmasters and Scout leaders from all over the county assembled at 3 o'clock to receive instruction in how to put the "out" in

MARCEY BACK FROM SCHOOL CONVENTION

G. A. Marcey, principal of the Fullerton grammar school, who attended the superintendent's convention at Oakland last week, reports it was a very beneficial meeting. There were about 125 in attendance from all parts of the state. He said that the problems of transportation were discussed, also the trustees' liability, teachers' tenure laws, and other things.
The present tenure laws make a teacher permanent after two years, subject to removal only by special action of the board. New courses of study were also discussed, and there were many lectures and conferences.

At 4 o'clock each man constructed a fireplace over which he cooked his evening meal. At 5:30 the evening entertainment program was held under the direction of the Scout Executive. Games, jokes and stories were told. Many Scoutmasters brought their families.

H. S. GRID PLAYERS GUESTS OF ROTARY

The Rotary Club's observance of Thanksgiving Day as a club took place at yesterday in connection with their weekly luncheon at the Elks Clubhouse. It consisted of a reception to the Anaheim H. S. football team and Coach Ray. Elks as guests. The latter were given an exhortation on patriotism by John R. Williams, district governor, for the second district of Rotary and incidentally an ever-ready pencil a piece to help them make their mark in life.
Another feature of the meeting was President Harry D. Riley's reading of President Harding's Thanksgiving proclamation.
William's speech was one of the most inspiring heard at the club's meetings. Immigrants, he said, would be right to reverse the Stars and Stripes as the flag of flags. "If a man thinks right he will act right."
He referred feelingly to Lincoln's visit as a boy to the slave market at New Orleans, where he said, Lincoln first saw the Emancipation Proclamation. He urged upon his hearers, particularly the boys, the importance of consecrating their lives to Lincoln as it at Gettysburg, to the flag of Washington, Jefferson, John Adams and Franklin, and of Betsy Ross. Williams concluded his speech with the reading of the poem, "The Measure of a Man."
Secretary Walker in acknowledgment said it would be a fine thing if "these thrilling words" would remain always with the club.
The secretary complimented the club on their sporting morale, their discipline, etc. He congratulated them further on having had Elliott for their coach. He predicted victory for Anaheim in 1923.
President Riley also told the boys that the Rotary was with them heart and soul. He then called up each lad and presented them with the souvenir.
Art Mann, for the club, spoke in appreciation of the backing of Rotary. Mann said that the organization of "Howling Hundred" was not necessary. The team present consisted of Al Hill, captain; Roderick Brasted, Dana Newkirk, Arthur Mann, Wilford Hayes, Romeo Ingram, Homer Wallace, Walter Guttorf, John Festham, Donald Pannier, Victor Rees, Marvin Ross, Howard Mulvey, Clinton Griggs, John Wood, Albert Harris, Gerald Fergus.

LAST EXCURSION TO CITRUS STATION

The last Citrus Growers Excursion to the Riverside Experiment Station will be held Friday, Dec. 1st. The excursion will leave at 8:30 a. m. The Farm Advisor's car will lead out at exactly 8:30 in order to arrive at the Riverside Experiment Station by 10 a. m. The Riverside plots will be visited in the morning and the main station plots in the afternoon. The plot will include fertilizer treatments, bud selection, pruning and root stock for citrus.

These trips have proven very popular and instructive. One hundred scientific growers attended the last excursion. The Agricultural Extension Service, in arranging these excursions, in affording the citrus growers opportunities to see first-hand the actual results obtained by various treatments in citrus management. The Experiment Station staff, headed by Dr. J. T. Barrett, director in charge, will conduct the excursions through the various plots and explain them in detail. Bring your basket lunch, good accommodations at the station will be provided. Or lunch may be obtained in town during noon hour. Ladies are invited to come along. The demonstrations will adjourn early enough to allow the growers to return for the afternoon chores.

Nations are under obligations just as solemn and binding to be honest and honorable and just toward other individuals.

ROY FLIPS TIGER; READY FOR SANTEL

(By Sargum Sprout)
The little feud between Roy Mabee and Jack Padullo is a thing of the past. The great Italian Lion was crushed, defeated, beaten, but still some man, good sport. He was a badly hurt man at the close, but had only words of praise for his conqueror.

Roy Mabee was right last night. We have never seen him really fight before, and we want to say to the world that when Roy is fighting, he is a very very tough proposition. At the word go, he sprang at Padullo like a wounded tiger, and landed and fought the Lion through to the first fall which came in 45 minutes 25 seconds with a half Nelson and croch. Roy had just broken away from a starter of a hammer lock. The men were on their feet, when Roy rushed in and secured the half Nelson. Like a flash his right hand slipped to the croch. Padullo was raised to a level with Roy's shoulders, a magnificent display of muscle and sinew. Then he was down to the floor with Roy's full weight on top. The magnificent Lion quivered and relaxed. Referee Vic Braden took one look into the Italian's ashen face and gave Mabee the signal that the fall was his.

It was several minutes before Padullo was able to walk to his dressing room. After a ten-minute rest, Mabee was in his corner ready to go. Padullo was slow in coming back. When the referee stepped from between them Mabee drove in and swept Padullo's feet from under him. As the big man fell, Mabee swung around and clamped on a head scissor. After a half minute's work strapping the Italian gave up. The second fall came in just 14 seconds. It was the most vicious and bold contest match yet seen in Anaheim. Roy is now ready to meet Ad Santel for the light heavyweight championship of the world. The preliminary to last night's show must not be overlooked. It was by far the best preliminary yet staged at any of the wrestling bouts. It brought together Chas. Quigley of Norwalk and Howard Hill of Perris. Quigley secured the only fall of the 30 minutes with a body lock in 21 minutes 11 seconds. What Quigley lacked in science he made up in strength.

There was a full house and if all present didn't receive their money's worth, no wrestling show would please them.

LOTTA HOT AIR IN BIG PUGS' CAMPS

(By Sargum Sprout)
The Jess Willard-Jack Dempsey argument is getting tiresome. For months the public has been watching one hot air blast after another. If Dempsey was a fighting champion, Willard would give Willard a return match without demanding the U. S. treasury for it. If Willard was a real fighting man he would jump in and knock the Bill Brenness and Floyd Johnson's out of the way and knock the high stepin Dempsey into a return. The champions of today are not satisfied with making a comfortable fortune every time they show. They want the whole world with a fence around it. We will admit that the heavy weight crop of boxers is a frost, but what there is, Jack Dempsey is the king bee, should be willing to meet. This stage stuff he is answering Willard with is just cheap advertisement. On the other hand, Willard should prove to the public that he is fit and ready to give the people who would pay to see him in action against the crown holder, their money's worth. Perhaps if Willard and Dempsey would get together they could arrange to settle their differences, but with each represented by good hot air merchants the possibility of a conclusion is arrived at.

FRANKIE MONROE IS MATCHED WITH JOE CHANEY FRI. NIGHT

Frankie Monroe of Los Angeles and our own Joe Chaney will feature in the main go at the Athletic Club's Arena next Friday night. Matchmaker Billy Danley, in signing these two edisay performers, figured it would be a bout that would draw every fan for miles around.

Chaney is going up against class, of that, there is no doubt for this Monroe boy is a fighter of high call-met once before several months ago and Hollywood clubs and he has won a splendid amount of himself. He is training diligently for his meeting with the Whittier flash and hopes to stop his streak. Chaney, also, is leaving no stones unturned in order to be in the best shape possible for he realizes that a win over Monroe would put him "ace high" with the big town promoters. It is bound to be a ripper snort from start to finish. In the semi-windup, Danley has rematched Scotty Delat and Young Terry. Terry scored, what is not the fans thought, was a lucky win last Friday and the blonde boy from Oakland immediately was granted a return match. He says he was caught napping last time but to watch him start on Friday he will quit the game for good.

Another bout that is deserving of mention will be the go between Benny Heller and Kid Louie. These lads met once before several months ago and the Piacenta banty was awarded the palm after a close and hard fight. Heller has been going great guns of late and so had Louie. It is bound to be a "humdinger" of a scrap. Three good preliminaries are also down on the bill and they will furnish fire-works aplenty.

FAMOUS DETECTIVE PICTURE AT UNITED

Any person who ever goes to the motion picture theatre (that is, not what you should go to see) "Sherlock Holmes", starring John Barrymore, at the United Theatre, will be sure to find it should not neglect to see, no matter what happens. Yes, "Sherlock Holmes" is that kind of a picture—it arouses enthusiasm. It is a big motion picture, with thrills and mystery, and romance and adventure enough to suit every sort of theatregoer. It photographs surprisingly well in spite of the great detective's deductive methods of tracing crime; the reason for this is that the screen version is based upon the stage play fashioned out of Conan Doyle's stories by William Gillette, not only a great actor, but an expert builder of plays. Mr. Gillette's Sherlock Holmes was replete with action and with human characters. His Sherlock Holmes was a human being and not an abstraction. John Barrymore's Sherlock Holmes is even more human; divested of the human voice in his picture appeal. Mr. Barrymore has striven—and succeeded admirably—in humanizing the great detective and giving him a compelling and appealing reason for his relentless pursuit of the mastermind of London's criminal world.

One of the big bowling events of the season will take place on the Anaheim Alloys Wednesday night when the popular screen comedian Al St. John will lead his specials against the home team. The movie star is some bowler and the home team will have to be in top form to hold first place in the Interurban League. Today will mark the close of the Turkey Shoot on the local alloys and a large number of our best will try to capture one of the three birds donated by the alloy management. Hanson with 604, O'Donnell, 577, and Berger 600, are leading. The Roehm-Sylvester team of this city defeated the Oaks No. 2 team on the latter's alloys last night, two games out of three, being the first game by the narrow margin of two pins. Geo. Theodore of the local five rolled 572 pins for the high average while Al McCormick shot the single game, 224, substituting for Capt. Bill Karam who is laid up with auto wreck injuries. The local team is shooting consistent ten pins and is up in the race. The score:

"BURNING SANDS" AT THE CALIFORNIA

One of the most sensational as well as appealing pictures ever booked for any theater in Orange County will open at the California theater tomorrow when "Burning Sands", a George Melford special Paramount production starring wonderful Milton Sills and Wanda Hawley will grace the screen. This is one of those widely liked desert romance pictures, and it is certain to be received with great acclaim here. Milton Sills is superb in this picture, says the critics, and Wanda Hawley actually outdoes herself. The picture had a tremendous run at Grauman's, Los Angeles, and was announced as a supreme success. The story of the mysterious desert with its far-flung wastes of sands and hills proves a lure that is bound to attract the average person who only hears of such things in tales or sees them on the screen. Mr. Melford, the director, spared no expense in making this photodrama a triumph. Included upon the same program will appear Mendel and Grey, well known vaudeville topinners who offer a splendid act. Tonight will be the last times for local theatergoers to see "Lorna Doone" with Madge Bellamy and John Powers in the lead roles. Special music as provided by Marguerite Eaves will prove a treat to California patrons.

HITS WORLD ON HIGHWAY

H. E. Priddy of Anaheim reported to the local police today that he had run his Chevrolet into the Ford touring car of H. F. Holloway of Orange on the state highway about half a mile east of 12th Street. He said that the Ford was standing still on the highway, and he did not see it until too late to miss it.
