CHEER AND CHARM IN RYAN HOME AT AFTERNOON PARTY

AT THE gracious home of Miss Ryan on South Olive St., Mrs. J. J. Schneider and Miss Ryan were joint hostesses at a lovely early spring party yesterday afternoon. With the rooms fragrant and attractive with spring blooms, and the atmosphere extended by other members of the household, Mrs. Alice Ryan Kennedy and Miss Beryl Kennedy, the occasion was one of the most pleasant.

Cards were introduced as entertainment, and when scores were called Mrs. Bob White stood high, Mrs. W. E. Alexander, Sr., second and Mrs. J. W. Truxan, low. Suitable souvenirs of the party were presented to each of the winning ladies.

After games and an interesting chat about the "night" had begun of the plays, the ladies were again seated about the card tables for luncheon, which was served in three courses. Comedy in Song Friday

Rehearsals are being held daily for the three act musical comedy "In Old Louisiana," which will be presented by the members of the club under the direction of Mrs. Marion Higgins, assisted by Miss Irene Jacques and Miss Fletcher of Santa Ana, who are in charge of the dancing numbers. Miss Irene Jacques is lending her assistance with her ability on the stage. The costumes will be most elaborate and all being made by the members of the sewing classes.

The opera opens when Rose Farley is a young lady. She has been adopted by Pilot Farley of the "Winona," they being the only survivors of a wreck. There is a mutual admiration between Rose and Richard St. John, a southern sugar planter. These parts are portrayed by Jane Ottander and Elvin Grauer. Simon Scudder also plays, who refuses his attention. Scudder with Jake Martin and Holy Thomas, a shady lawyer frames up a plot whereby they claim that Rose is the daughter of an octocroon slave.

Rose, not knowing who her parents are, refuses to become a bride of St. John. She fears she may have negro blood in her veins also she is unaware of Scudder's plot.

As Scudder is about to reveal the fact that Rose is an octocroon, Richard intervenes and accuses Scudder of blackmail. A duel follows. Scudder shoots before the signal and wounds Richard. Scudder, MacDougal and Marquis de la Tour appear and the latter proves that he is Rose's grandfather. Rose and the picnic guests are all attracted to the scene by the firing. Scudder, Timms and Martin are put under arrest and all ends happily for Richard and Rose.

Another pretty love scene is carried on between Richard's sister, Martha and his friend Monte Gray, whose parts are enacted by Constance Williams and Lawrence Swenson.

Comedy scenes are furnished by the negro characters, Elvin Millard and Louise Kintler.

The High school orchestra furnishes the musical numbers. New scenes and lighting effects produce one of the most delightful comedies ever offered by the music department of the high school.

EARLY MORNING CEREMONY WEDS ANAHEIM COUPLE

SIMPLE and charming was the wedding which occurred this morning at 7:30 in St. Boniface church when Miss Rosalie D-ock and Mr. George E. Casey were united in matrimony by Father P. Brown, pastor.

The couple entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin Wedding March with Mrs. W. E. Alexander at the organ. Other musical numbers were "Ave Maria," by Miss Elizabeth Donnelly, and the violin solo, "At Dinning," by Miss Rose Donnelly. Miss Elizabeth Donnelly also rendered "O, Salu Tatui."

The bride wore a gown of white tulle, with silver lace and beads, and her corsage consisted of white roses and beauty. Her veil, caught with orange blossoms, was extremely becoming. The couple was unattended. The church was artistically decorated for the occasion with carnations and ferns in the bride's chosen colors, pink and white.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Casey went to the DeCook home where a three-course wedding breakfast was served with only the immediate family present. They then left for an extended journey and will be at home in Anaheim to their many friends, who will wish them words of happiness and prosperity.

The bride is an accomplished young lady of Anaheim, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeCook of East-Center.

CITRUS FRUIT NOT INJURED BY COLD

The Anaheim district has suffered no damage from frost, according to managers of local packing associations. Neither was any damage reported yesterday afternoon at the meeting of Calif. Fruit Growers' Exchange directors.

The cold period is probably behind us, said Manager G. W. Sandilands of the Anaheim Orange & Lemon Growers. Sandilands makes no absolute statement in the matter, but points to other years when the coldest weather came late in January or the first week in February.

"I haven't heard of any damage," said Manager W. H. Schreuer of the Anaheim Citrus Fruit Ass'n. A. A. Brock, county horticultural commissioner, declared also that no harm had been done in the county so far.

L. D. Palmer, reporting for the southern half of the county, said that the crop had been unaffected. Inspectors of Brock's office have even declared that the cold weather did good, by retarding the growth of buds that developed too rapidly during several warm days.

The cold weather came gradually and the trees were protected by the dampness of the soil due to previous rains," inspectors said.

If David's counts, "Dan is there with the goods," and little Henry feels just as big as anybody.

A box social will be held in the near future, the proceeds to be donated to the California Soldiers' and Sailors' Home at Sausalito. They have five acres of ground there and are raising money to erect a building so as to take care of the dependent widows the same as the government takes care of the soldiers in the Soldier's Home.

It is very encouraging to see the improvement in the work under Commander Chas. E. Waffle; he has had his officers training so as to put on the work without the "Book." A motion was passed to have the adjutant write a letter of thanks to Trustee J. D. Jones for presenting

BABY LEO EDWARDS FUNERAL FRIDAY

Baby Leo Edwards, little son of Mrs. Irene Edwards, passed away yesterday afternoon in the Anaheim hospital after a most painful illness of 24 hours. The little boy, aged 2, with his mother had been in the home of Mrs. B. F. Jones prior to the hospital treatment, where he was loved and cared for by Mrs. Jones as tenderly as though he were her own baby.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the chapel of Backs, Terry & Campbell. Rev. Thomas H. Walker in charge. Interment will be in Loma Vista cemetery.

COME TO RESIDE
Mr. and Mrs. M. Haupt, parents of Mrs. William LeVecke, arrived yesterday from St. Louis, Mo. and will make their home in Anaheim. Mrs. Haupt visited here several years ago and has ever since desired to return to make her home.

The camp with a ballot box. Dudley D. Field, of Tustin, Calif., soldier of old Company L, Seventh California Volunteer Infantry, was elected to membership in the Camp.

The meeting was held in the K. P. hall, 305 1/2 East Fourth-st., Santa Ana, on last Tuesday night and the attendance was not so large as could be desired the meeting was a "bummer." It was inspection night and the Camp was inspected by District Inspector Dan R. Meurs. Calumpit Auxiliary will also hold a contest for membership similar to that of the Camp and Mrs. Emma Wasson and Mrs. Neeta Allen were chosen to lead their sides to "battle." It is the hope of the two orders to double their membership during the contests.

H. S. SENIORS HIKE TO MT. BALDY TODAY

"The seniors have gone to the mountains, the seniors have gone to the mountains, to see what they could see," was the popular melody around Anaheim H. S. today. For it was annual senior ditch day. The day they hike off early in the morning without any of the other students the wiser.

As is the custom, the Juniors prepare some burlesque show in their absence. They were given a special assembly and the curtain rose on a class room full of "seniors." The students on the stage carried card boards, on their back with names of prominent upper classmen. As the teacher of this class, Miss Kathryn Cravath asked questions and received many answers, some pertaining to the subject and others very wild. The "seniors" recited for some time and then the class was dismissed.

The seniors, about eighty, in all left for Mt. Baldy in the early morning hours. They were accompanied by Mrs. L. E. Sutherland, Miss Lucille Bleeker, George Hedstrom and a number of mothers.

What Do You Look for, Men, In The Clothes You Wear

Two suits or overcoats may have the same identical cloth, they may have the same linings and buttons.

But though they look identical—one will be worth as much to you as the other? —THAT DEPENDS—

And so, "Getting One's Money's Worth" Always Depends.

If one suit or overcoat is more skillfully, more carefully, more painstakingly, more accurately tailored than the other, it will give you vastly more money's worth.

In considering the price it is well also to consider the make—clothes with a reputation for quality, for value and for style—

If ranch owners realized the value which is added to their properties by good roads, they would be quicker to get together and deed the necessary rights of way to the county, according to deputies of the County Engineer and Surveyors' office.

NEW YORK LETTER

(By Lucy Jeanne Price)

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Never, probably, was there a more dashing crowd, splendidly uniformed, proud of men than the officers in the army of the Russian Quar, back in the days when the Quar was quar, indeed. Two hundred of them arrived here the other day, in the steamer, humbly, with crowds of other immigrants. They were shabbily dressed, some of them still wearing their old uniforms but dulled and ragged with time and wear. They said they had come to the United States looking for jobs and ready to work at anything.

Most of them brought their families with them. They seem philosophic about their fortunes, apparently looking upon their pay and prosperous years as past and gone with and not to be given too much thought.

The club women of this city are going to stand by the constitution, whatever persuasive and insidious forces may try to weaken their support. At the annual convention of the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs the other day a resolution was passed urging the maintenance of the Lusk bill which requires every teacher in any school in the state to take an oath of allegiance to support the constitution of the United States. There has been some opposition to the law from the more radical forces of the state and some effort is being made to have it repealed.

Mrs. William Cummings Stuart, former president of the Federation and a guest of honor of the convention, in congratulating the Federation upon its work in the past year, expressed her pleasure in the resolution just passed, which "restricted the freedom of thought of no one so long as it was not engaged in an effort to undermine our country and which required only that those who have in their hands the training of our boys and girls shall be loyal to the country for whose citizenship those boys and girls are being trained."

Mrs. Stuart emphasized the danger of subversive and disloyal propaganda in these restless times.

William Edgar Smith may have to pay $100,000 because his former marriage "slipped his mind." When he applied for a license to marry the second time, he stated that he had never been married before. His first charges that this is a slander upon her and could injure her reputation. Mr. Smith made no denial of the first marriage but explained to the court that it "just slipped his mind at the time." His first wife was furthermore from his mind, he said, when he applied for this license and that the charge was factitious anyhow, because a man who wanted to injure a wife's reputation wouldn't go about it in such an obscure way. One can't remember everything, of course, always.

Eight hours a day may be all that a woman should work in industry but it's too short a work-day for a college student, decides the board of students at Barnard. Ten hours is laid down as a day's work, there, eight hours for sleep, two for exercise, and four for "meals and incidental duties at home." No work at all about play, except what would come under "exercise," no theaters, no bridge, no boxing—unless maybe beaux are "incidental duties at home."

The announcement of the Charity Ball in New York is a tremendously reminiscent thing. For seventy-five years, this ball has been the biggest social event on the calendar; and there are many social memories of three-quarters of a century. The first balls were held in the old Academy of Music on Fourteenth street, known to this generation only as a noisy motion picture theater. But in 1907 it was the height of fashion. The ball continued there for a good many years, even after the neighborhood was not very fashionable, and finally, after an experiment or two elsewhere, moved to the Waldorf-Astoria, where it has continued ever since. There is a traditional Grand March which has never been given up, and certainly never will be, in spite of all the other changes which the Charity Ball has bowed to in the way of dances. This year's ball will be held next week.

Tonight the third proposition will be proven.

IN A NICKEL

Bishop Woodcock said at a luncheon in Louisville:

"Where is the world going? With our strikes and lockouts, our Genoa conference and armies of occupation, are we going anywhere at all?"

"A colored man got on a trolley car, and then, after a word or two with another passenger, he started to get off again."

"Care on," said the conductor. "What are you getting off so soon for? You haven't paid your fare."

"Ah wants to go to Snoot street," said the colored man, and his gesture says that's no such place."

"Well there ain't, neither," said the conductor.

"Don sho," said the colored man. "Sholy dah's no good mah gwine dar!"

TAX EXEMPT

In Danzig motor cars used by doctors and other professional or business men for transportation in their daily work are exempt from taxation.

It isn't only on the operatic stage that foreign names are adopted as stage names to trick the public. One of the best known costumes for the stage—a young model whose creations usually clothe the fashions of one of our biggest producers—is known by the very French name of Miss Younne and some more French to it, but she comes from the proud state of Oklahoma.

There are some people who never seem to realize what is the money to keep still. Four stowaways who landed here the other day on a North German Lloyd steamer filed a complaint at Ellis Island, saying that the beds in the ship's brig are too hard and that the work assigned them after they were found was likewise too hard. But they are going back to Europe the same way.

The valdiesman of a class of 167 pupils who were graduated the other day in one of our "way down town public schools" was of that race who think of as being super-silent—the Chinese. Yes, it was an almost-eyed belle of Most street, who took that high honor and the other 166 boys and girls rejoiced with her when the award was announced. There is no racial distinction in that district to day.

VAWTER SAYS THAT MAN HAS HIS TASK

The evangelistic meetings at the big tabernacle are being well attended. The chorus of about 50 voices helps to make the music fine. Mr. Brotherton's directing shows that he thoroughly understands how to lead the chorus and the audience to do their best. Everybody says that the music is great. Last night the male quartette sang the chorus of a selection. Mr. Brotherton singing the verse. Miss Reaves' solo was very fine.

Evangelist Vawter is doing great work as an evangelist. His sermons are intensely biblical, bringing a clear conception of the Old Book. There was baptizing at the beginning of the service.

The subject of the evening was "Rolling the Stone Away." Three propositions were offered by the evangelist as follows: (1) God might send a God's work and a God's work only. (2) God uses human agency when it is in the realm of human achievement. (3) God will help. God meaning Delly, Trinity.

By a series of Biblical illustrations the first two propositions were easily proven. The evangelist said that God held back the waters of the Red sea for the Israelites to cross but they had to walk across, for they could do that. When they were hungry, God gave them manna but they had to pick it off of the ground. He gave them the Israelites to cross but they had to walk across, for they could do that. When they were hungry, God gave them manna but they had to pick it off of the ground. He gave them the Israelites to cross but they had to walk across, for they could do that.

Evangelist Vawter asserted that among God's commandments there are no non-essentials and said "God pity anyone who says that any commandment whether ordinance or anything else is non-essential." Throughout the series of illustrations it was evident that man had something to do. The evangelist said: "God wants the people of Anaheim saved but the Christians must do their part in helping them. He has given us our task to do."

Let men and management fight to see what each can get, and neither will get anything worth while. Let them unite to see what each can get and the world is theirs.—Thomas E. Mitten.

QUOTES HAMLET THEN KILLS SELF

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—"The rest is silence." Leaving this quotation from Hamlet scrawled on a bit of paper by his bed, together with a letter to a friend in London, Miss Marie Bloomfield, honor student at Barnard college here, killed herself by drinking poison. Miss Bloomfield, who was 18 years of age, was the first girl student to die in a Barnard dormitory.

ANOTHER BUSINESS BUILDING FOR G. G.

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 8. (Sp.)—Albert Bruck, pioneer of Garden Grove, will soon commence erection of a fine store building on his lots on West Euclid, north of the Wilcox restaurant. The building will be a one story structure, with a 50-foot front, age and 85 feet deep, constructed of brick with the roof. The building will probably be divided into two store rooms.

When they were hungry, God gave them manna but they had to pick it off of the ground. He gave them the Israelites to cross but they had to walk across, for they could do that.

Evangelist Vawter asserted that among God's commandments there are no non-essentials and said "God pity anyone who says that any commandment whether ordinance or anything else is non-essential." Throughout the series of illustrations it was evident that man had something to do. The evangelist said: "God wants the people of Anaheim saved but the Christians must do their part in helping them. He has given us our task to do."

Let men and management fight to see what each can get, and neither will get anything worth while. Let them unite to see what each can get and the world is theirs.—Thomas E. Mitten.

By a series of Biblical illustrations the first two propositions were easily proven. WHY IS ONE PLAYER PIANO BETTER THAN ANOTHER?

Why are some instruments good in Thirty Years and others worn out in Three?

The prospective buyer, in his own interest, should make careful comparisons and inquire particularly into these Six Points:

- 1—Who makes it?
- 2—How long will it last?
- 3—The tone.
- 4—The action.
- 5—Design and finish.
- 6—Guarantee.

Few things so truly reflect the character and honesty of the maker as piano. The kind that is put together to sell for a price, inevitably wears out in a few years. The instrument of Quality, designed correctly and built conscientiously, lasts for a generation.

The Player Piano has, probably more than any other agency, advanced the appreciation and knowledge of good music. And every one who has a Player Piano has a home happy. It provides an enduring source of pleasure and entertainment the most wholesome in the world.

We offer a choice of Nationally known makes of Player Pianos and invite your judgment of their values in comparison to others. Our large stock provides a wide variety in styles and finishes.

Through our Easy Payment Plan you can begin now to enjoy the instrument which will give you a life time of satisfaction and pleasure.

Not to read good literature is to let one's mind starve.

Sometimes matrimonial bliss is like the "blue" in bilger.

He does not so well as he should who does less than his best.

The rule of life is much stronger and more secure than the rule of fear.

Some men could not go through the heavy gates of heaven without covering the pearls.

The road should be made hard and slippery and dangerous for the criminal in California.

Many a small boy feels that heaven must be a place where a boy can have all the pie and ice cream he wants.

Cutting down the state budget involves cutting off waste. The budget should come down and waste and extravagance should go out.

There is a negative, as well as positive, dishonesty. One may be dishonest often times merely by being silent when it is one's moral duty to speak up and tell the whole truth.

The means that Governor Richardson is taking to reduce the state budget is as disgraceful to some of those affected by retrenchment as thought they were reducing on an acid diet.

The greatest reward one gets out of life is to feel that one has done one's best. There is more real satisfaction in this than there is in merely acquiring much money. Possession of riches does not, in and of itself, bring pleasure. More often it brings trouble and bitter disappointment.

President Oregon is doing a good turn by the United States in sending this country's criminals back across the line, when they are found below the Rio Grande. If criminals in this country could find safe asylum in Mexico, there would be many more crimes than there are—and there are too many as it is, heaven knows.

Providence performs miracles on a gigantic scale here in California at this season every year. The refreshing rains and snow in the highlands come, and the snow hills and mountain sides are converted into the loveliest emerald carpeting and the flowers come forth as though resurrected from the grave, and adorn the landscape with beauty inexpressible. Need one look further than this for miracle?

Dealing with criminality in this country is a mighty issue, with many ramifications. Government and society must look to the very origin of the people. Children must be born in such conditions and circumstances as not to be predisposed to crime. Their early training and environment must be clean and wholesome. Boys and girls must be kept from conditions which are veritable schools in vice and crime. This country, in other words, must not breed an element of ready-made criminals.

AID IN RIDDING STATE OF CRIMINALS

The public should support earnestly the movement, emanating from Los Angeles, to suppress outbreaks of criminals in this state and to drive out desperate criminals. There are many ways in which the public can and should co-operate. This is a shameful thing. No doubt many crime results from this very thing—from the hope that the would-be criminal has that he or she would have the sympathy of the public.

Stop sneering at the police and the constituted authorities. This often-times is done thoughtlessly. But the effect is bad. It leads many to lose respect for the law and its guardians and to be hostile to the very forces upon which law and order depend.

Help enforce the law by being staunchly at all times, with the constituted authorities and against crime and criminals. Give the criminal nothing to understand that every law-abiding citizen in this state is against criminality. Say and do everything possible to discourage crime and to thwart the criminal in his nefarious operations.

FUNDING BRITISH DEBT GOOD BUSINESS

Despite criticism and opposition from some quarters, the wisdom of the arrangement proposed by the United States government and accepted in principle by the British government, for funding the war debt due from Great Britain to the United States, is recognized by the open-minded and unprejudiced. It provides for the full payment of this huge debt, principal and interest, with in a reasonable period.

It is suggested that the funds thus received be used by the government of Washington in a bonus to soldiers of the World War. Definite proposals to this end will be before Congress. This may afford the means to meet the bonus without having to impose additional taxes upon the people.

Consumption of the debt-funding plan should have a stabilizing influence upon the money markets of the world.

There undeniably is shrewdness blended with political leadership in Russia. The Soviet magnates are playing a crafty game and are bringing Russia into dealings which magnify its power. The history of that satanic land will be of absorbing interest during the next few years.

The automobile should be appreciated. All unfavorable prejudice against it should be removed. The fact that comparatively few drivers are reckless and cause serious accidents, should not be held against all drivers, or against automobiles in general. Any good instrumentality may be abused. Think upon the stupendously beneficial uses to which the automobile is put. Think of the billions of dollars it is worth to commerce, and its immeasurable value as a pleasurable adjunct to modern life, and its indispensability in swift transportation.

"He's his father right over again," said Uncle Niles Turner 'day when he heard Artie Lane ferret the ring an' ferret 't comb his hair at his wedding. I recall when his paw hobbled the bank he ferret 't pile of banknotes a foot high right under his nose. The "speak easy" must have got its name before it opened up for business.

Some legislators at Sacramento are more inclined to use the sprinkler instead of pruning shears, on state appropriations. The need is not nurture the growth of state expenses, but to prune them down.

We believe so, too.

Chances

Golfers, your chance of doing a hole in one stroke is 1 in 50,000, according to Alexander Hied, golfer. He should know, having just "made a hole in one" for the seventeenth time.

A professor of mathematics some years ago estimated the odds at 100,000 to 1. So the average player's game must be improving.

The thing really worth while in golf is the physical exercise, not the score. The score is the incentive, without which few would try to do the exercise. But it must discourage the average golfer to know that he has more chances of becoming a millionaire in America than making a hole in one stroke.

MATCHES AND PENCILS—PREY!

(Omaha World-Herald)

Why is it, if true, which we are you will leave without a pencil, pen or match. Further, if the host citizen of the United States almost invariably looks upon a hostess as a box of matches as legitimate prey? The old gag about the umbrella is played out completely. In the first place, most folks only carry umbrellas when the skies are sharply upped down. The modern water-proof coats having replaced the "raincoats" to a large extent. Umbrellas are pretty safe anywhere in any company. But a box of matches or a nicely sharpened lead pencil? Boy—page 1, Joe James! Attend a session of bridge, for instance. Or less you have a mighty unusual host?
