

ASK JURY TRIAL IN CONTEMPT CHARGES

By JOHN D. MUELLER.

SUPERIOR, Wis., July 10.—Long a thorn in the side of organized labor, the question of whether Federal judges may continue to find guilty and sentence persons cited for contempt of court under the Clayton Act, is expected to be definitely answered by a decision, expected shortly, from the Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago, on an appeal from the decision of a Superior, Wis., judge, in a case growing out of the stoppage of work last summer.

If the appeal is upheld, defendants in such cases in the future will be entitled to trial by jury. If not, the only alternative will be a fight in Congress to obtain new legislation. Substantiation of the appeal by the Circuit Court, it is pointed out, would establish an important precedent. There would be small likelihood of convicting men of contempt of court in their own communities, where the popular hostility is in sympathy with the strikers, it is hinted.

The appeal is based on a writ of error and was taken following denial of a new trial.

PACKER REPORTS SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Valencia oranges are being packed at the rate of three or four cars a day at the McInnes packing plant in Orange, according to a statement made by Mr. McInnes today. Although this is less than the daily rate for the month of June, it speaks well for the demand for Orange-valencia, as there is usually a lull at this time.

"I am not interested in any other district than Orange," said Mr. McInnes. "A broker recently told me he had quoted one of my cars to a customer in the East at a price five or six higher than a car of Valencia from another district and the buyer wired back acceptance of the car in preference to the cheaper priced fruit."

"Orange, Valencia are heavier, juicier and better flavored than those of other districts and there is less deterioration with late hanging fruit. While a little of the local fruit is turning green we are much better off in this respect than some other localities."

Mr. McInnes further stated that his concern had just finished picking the groves of Dr. Charles Mueller on Grove-Valley, and Seven-oaks-St. Dr. Mueller received $27,000 for his fruit.

Among the other groves this concern has on its books for picking in the near future are the Boynton grove, on Prospect-Valley, Dr. J. N. Bartholomew, near Red Hill; St. Barnabas of Anaheim, grove on Garden Grove-Valley, O. K. Kemp, Ball-Valley, and others.

A total of 231 cars has been shipped by this concern to date.

LEAVES REAL ESTATE VALUED AT $37,000

An estate of approximately $37,000, consisting of realty in Orange, and other counties, was left by the late Cornelius Silbermangel of Anaheim, the petition for probate of the will filed today shows.

The estate consists of the residence and lot at 418 W. Broadway, valued at $12,000; a seven-acre orange and walnut grove near Anaheim valued at $18,000; a $10,000 interest in land in Kern Co., and Kern Co. realty valued at $5,000.

The widow, Anna Silbermangel, and son Philip are the sole legatees. Attorneys Weissel & Stark filed the petition today.

SEARCH FOR SUSPECT WITH BRAWNY ARM

JOULET, Ill., July 10.—Search for a man whose hands were strong enough to twist strands of quarter-inch wire about the body of Frank Murn, was well under way here today by Sheriff Walker, following the discovery of the young man's corpse in a hay stack on the farm of Stephen Lukas, near the village of Joliet.

Combined with this search was a quest for a suit of clothes which had been worn by the youth and which investigation into the low affairs of Margaret Hagerman.

Joliet's over attention to Miss Hagerman, the 33-year-old belle of the village, is believed by the sheriff to have supplied the motive for the crime.

Working on this theory, two men already in jail, but no charge have been placed against them. They are Carl Miffland, 30, a farmer, and his nephew, Charles Wright, 19. They visited the Hagermans about an hour before the body was found, and this about said have not satisfactorily explained their movements.

Sandilands of the Anaheim Orange & Lemon Assn now puts this year's crop of oranges from the Anaheim district at not less than 2750 cars, which is 200 to 250 cars more than was expected at the opening of the season. Small sizes last year steadily pulled down estimates. Sandilands declared today, while large sizes this year steadily are increasing the figures.

LADY GUESTS HEAR McGOARTY ADDRESS

With the ladies of members as guests, and John Stephens McGowarty, author of the Mission Play, as speaker, the Kiwanians today held one of their most interesting meetings at the Elks club.

Mr. Eugene Durfee, tenor, accompanied by Mrs. Durfee and Mrs. W. J. Brown, soprano, and Mrs. W. J. Brown, soprano, sang.

It was announced that quite a few members would attend the dinner at the Hotel Maryland, Pasadena, Friday evening to Leslie Henry, trustee of this district.

McGowarty's subject was "California." Coming a little late he apologized and said his tardiness was due to the roads being very poor.

He hadn't been here in three months, he declared, and now noticed buildings he hadn't seen before.

Most Californians ought to thank God daily for being in California, McGowarty asserted.

Picturing bygone days, he said that one hundred years ago the people of the state were happy and at peace. Governor John S. Gage, the first governor of California, had a ranch which reached all way from San Francisco to Santa Monica, and entertained with a hospitality whose generosity knew no bounds.

The guest would mount his horse, a fine animal loaned from Anaheim and native American horses, and ride for hundreds of miles to join the governor at his home in Santa Monica, a travel 100 miles per day and keep it up for eight days, said McGowarty.

On one of his guests, who came up a dozen other riders, who carried about from the business they were on and ride with him.

At the end of the day would be entertained for perhaps a week. Challenging a statement that the early days of the Indians, the Indians, McGowarty said that at Santa Gabriel there were never less than 5,000 Indians, with only three padres. He said that the Indians could drive the 2,000 in such a manner. The fact was that the padres ruled by kindness.

Referring to the period of the 49ers, McGowarty said that a woman was over for a California community then than now.

The speaker closed with an explanation of how he wrote his poem "Just California." He said that during a visit several years ago, he had referred to California as "West, but west of West." McGowarty's idea which he successfully worked out.

FRANCE MEMORIALIZES UNITED STATES VOLUNTEERS

The government and people of France do the gracious thing, for the most part—particularly in acknowledgments to the government and people of the United States. A graceful tribute has been paid gallant young Americans who volunteered for service under popular subscription, in which school children participated with enthusiasm, a fund was raised to build a monument to these heroic young warriors. The memorial was wrought by Jean Boucher, eminent young French sculptor. Formal dedication of this work, which is in bronze, took place on the Fourth of July.

Relations between nations can be of the best, if the spirit of the respective countries is keenly receptive to appreciate impulses and gratitude for favors extended and for help given in a common cause. America never has forgotten the aid extended by France in the struggle of the Colonies for independence. France, by the same token, is cherishing the memory of the aid given by the United States during the crucial days of the World War.

Mark the historic battlefields of Europe on which American soldiers fought. The world for all time should know the story—know it truthfully. America owes it to her heroic dead to mark and memorialize the fields made memorable by the shedding of valorous blood.

PRESIDENT HARDING POPULAR WITH PEOPLE

Speaking about Warren G. Harding, the man, without reference to his political position or his political leadership, it may be said, with truth, that he stands well with the people. His popularity is attested by the very cordial greeting given him in his journey across the country, on his way to Alaska. A great many of those who were most demonstrative in greeting him are politically opposed to him—many of them voted against him in 1920 and will do so again in 1924, should he be his party's candidate. And yet they admire the man. They like his affable manners and they are pleased with his equable temperament and his optimistic disposition.

This admiration for Mr. Harding is quite general. His resemblance to the lamented William McKinley, in many ways, is marked. He is of sturdy stock, sprung from the people. He understands the folk who live in small towns and the country—he has spent the greater part of his life among them. They understand him.

The bitter legal battle over sale of the Seattle team of the Pacific Coast League is endangering the game in this section. The Pacific West is ardently interested in baseball. But it wants clean sport. No high handed methods from any source will be countenanced here.

HEROIC SACRIFICE MADE BY TRAINED NURSE

The great sacrifices of life—the noble heroisms—are not all on the field of battle. There are no braver souls than trained nurses. They imperil their lives—many of them—time after time, in the performance of duty, and modesty make no ado about it. One of these, according to news reports from Los Angeles, has sacrificed her life to save a patient. She willingly submitted a transfusion of blood from her veins. A pint of vital fluid was taken from her. Weakened by hard work, this brought on fatal illness. Miss Jessie E. Shuart is this heroine.

Sacrifices of this kind deserve special commendation. They sweeten existence and give it savor. They denote an innate nobility in human nature. To any and all who, in the ordinary activities of life, show noble daring for others, unselfishly forgetting self, the highest encomiums are due.

The cruellest experience that can come to any person is to be betrayed by a friend—or supposed friend—whom one has trusted implicitly. There is no offense more damnable than and ignominious than to play traitor to a sincere friendship.

President Harding is giving words of encouragement to the American farmer. The worst is past, Mr. Harding tells the husbandmen. That hope of better conditions should be given from an official source so high as the Presidency is encouraging indeed.

Political activities are very pronounced in the camp of both of the great political organizations of the country. The general effect perhaps will be beneficial in clarifying the atmosphere and in leading the masses of the people to think more keenly on the great issues of the day. It should be a thotful campaign throughout.

TOO CLOSE FOR COMFORTCOMMENTS OF THE PRESS

EDITORS ARE SAYING

DEFECTS OF MOVING PICTURES—Sacramento Bee

A "next door neighbor," probably just an ordinary citizen, is quoted in the Story World as saying in reference to current moving picture offerings:

"I've only seen two good pictures in the last month and a half. I mean by good pictures a good story. I don't care to hang any more if I see John Jones or Sarah Gimp in the leading role. I don't give a whoop for the many-headed sweeties that the film magnates are still starring.

"All I want to see is a good, straightforward story, well and intelligently told, that is not a carbon copy of the hundred others." This nameless individual will find a re-echo of his sentiments in the bosoms of those who enjoy good moving pictures, but are divided between feelings of nausea, boredom and outrage at much of the stuff that is paraded in the films.

The stereotyped picture, for instance—what a pest it is to the public.

One producer makes a success of some idea, and immediately a host of imitators get busy in hectic fashion. If a South Sea film wins popular favor, a perfect mania for South Sea films follows—in the studios.

And as to the exploitation of certain stars—many of whom have nothing more to commend them than a saccharine face, and whose acquaintance with real acting is as extensive as that of a new-born babe's with a dress suit—to what extremes this system has gone!

Sign one of these stars, and the producer thinks he can get away with murder, and too frequently does. And the harvest has been junk, and then more junk, with only here and there a notable exception from some producer with brains, courage, imagination and common sense.

Direction, photoplay, background and all the other mechanics of production are all important.

But good stories and actors and actresses competent to manage them are the prime essentials of good pictures.

Certainly no little "cuties" can be made a substitute for them.

Mrs. Thompson's Story

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Last winter my husband's sister's husband died of influenza and she had to come to live with me. She is a girl who married when she was eighteen, just as soon as she finished high school, and she has never worked. Her husband did not make much money and during the five years of their married life they did not have anything. My husband even had to fund the expense of the funeral. Although we have not a lot of money, we have always tried to save and get ahead. Now it is harder, but I am sure we will get through this. I am afraid she would never forgive me if I suggested such a thing. I really don't know what to do. What would you advise?

FOUR MONTHS OUT OF SIGHT OF MAN

Eight months before the camera: Four months out in the wilds, as far away from human habitation as he can get, with only a burro as his companion. That is the recipe for a contented life given by Hugh Saxon, veteran character actor of the stage and screen, who enacts the role of the minister in Renzo's "The Veiled Woman," which has just been released through Hoffmann.

"The happiest time of the year," says Saxon, "is the day I pack up the old hiking kit and start off into the far hills. I go into the mountains with practically no supplies. Years of experience in woodcraft have taught me to build a fire with a piece of string and two sticks to get my salt and my acids from the soil and from herbs and to trap all kinds of animals."

"I love to get off the beaten track of hunters, entirely out of touch with the world. Then I establish a camp, I sleep under the stars and travel as the whim takes me. In the fall I come back, refreshed and uplifted in body and spirit."

"The Veiled Woman," from the famous novel "A Spinner in the Sun" by Myrtle Reed, will be attraction at the United Theatre, tomorrow. It is said to be an unusually powerful dramatic offering, with an old-star cast, headed by Marguerite Snow, star of "Lavender and Old Lace."

ALL CLUBS REQUIRED TO PAY REVENUE TAX

Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodell today called attention to the fact that all social, athletic and sporting clubs are liable to collection of tax of 10 per cent on initiation fees and dues, from their members, if the dues of its active resident annual members, exceed $10 per year, or if the initiation fee exceeds $10.

The tax must be paid on any payment required to become a member of such a club, regardless of whether or not it is evidenced by a share of stock or a share of the profits.

Collector Goodell said, "The newspapers are full of items about new country clubs, athletic clubs and social clubs, some of which project magnificent club houses, or tracts on which members may build for themselves. The officers of such clubs should make it their business to acquaint themselves with their tax liability and to collect the right amount of tax from each member, as there are penalties up to $10,000 for not complying with the law."

COOKING SCHOOL ATTENDANCE GROWS

The cooking school of the Modern Gas Appliances, which is held every Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 4 or later, now averages 25 in attendance. The school is in charge of Mrs. Grace Howard.

With each recipe given out the proper temperature figure is given, and the student merely regulates at this mark, and if the temperature rises above it the gas automatically is shut off.

Two recipes are issued each week, and the ingredients of the articles are measured, mixed and cooked on the spot.

FRUCK FOR WEAR WHEN WEATHER SAYS, 'COATS OFF'

There is a chance that your daughter is spoiled and selfish, but in your love for her you are not aware of the fact. So often parents are blind in a matter like this, and instead of helping the child they only injure further.

My advice is to entertain some children in your home, and watch the two together. Undoubtedly your daughter has splendid traits, but unfortunately they are not the traits which are difficult to get along with. It is all right to be a leader, but it is wrong to dominate. A leader must be willing to be a selfish and willing that her friends should have their own way too, she will find it difficult to make and keep.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I cannot understand the young people of today. I have a sweet little daughter who is seventeen years old. She does not like to get out at night, she is a girl of that age nowadays, and to

DINNER STORIES

A parliamentary candidate in a rural district made the following remark in the course of his address: "There is no question in the world which I cannot answer with just 'Yes' or 'No'."

"Certainly, my good fellow," said the candidate.

G. G. TO AGAIN VOTE ON INCORPORATION

A new movement to incorporate Garden Grove, which is likely to be successful, is on foot there, according to a reliable report here today. The chief bone of contention, and the one thing which caused the loss of the previous proposition, will no longer exist—the matter of the Garden Grove-Santa Ana road.

Previous opponents of the proposition declared that this was a county road, and its maintenance should not be up to the future city. The county now has decided to re-surface this road with five-inch and eight-inch asphalt, and it will cease to be a factor in the incorporation question.

Incorporation is to be taken as the means of killing many birds with one stone, one of the birds being Garden Grove's hitching up to the new outfit sewer. It could accomplish this by the organization of a sanitary district, but the latter is a somewhat complicated matter, and further subdivisions would be necessary for further improvements.

County Health Officer L. W. Mitchell has advised incorporation when possible instead of the formation of sanitary districts.

ENGLAND YIELDS ANCIENT RELICS

OSPRIDGE, Kent, England, July 9.—A miniature "Lazarus" was discovered recently in this little village. It is about 45 miles from London.

The excavator, William Whitely, well-known archaeologist, has revealed the site of an ancient Roman cemetery, a few hundred yards away from "Walling Street," the first railway constructed by the Romans in England. The place of 500 interments have been dug out.

More than one hundred pieces of ancient Roman pottery have been found, as well as some fine urns and a few small bronzes. There has also been found a set of dice and counters exactly similar to those in use at the present time.

It is evident that not only men but women and children were buried on this spot, for among the discoveries are hairpins, bronze pins and a set of 150 jet beads, twelve or more bracelets, bronze perfume bottles and a bronze strap buckle, which might have been made today.

When the excavations are complete the collected relics will be housed in a fine old thirteenth century house, situated near this village.

STEADY DECLINE IN AGE OF PRISONERS

A steady growth in the proportion of prisoners between 20 and 30 years of age in county jail has been taking place for the past three years, according to Assistant Jailor Joe Irvine, who has been on the job continuously during this period. Irvine today didn't attempt to explain why, except that this is still a post-war period.

The decline in the number of prisoners to 111, today's total, is only temporary, Irvine authorities say. The low mark since last December, when the record maximum of 204 was reached, has been around 80.

Even so, the 111 includes 21 felons and 28 Federal prisoners. There were no Anaheimers today.

Ninety used to be the maximum total, not so long ago, says Irvine, instead of the minimum.

Shirley Sam Jernigan declared that the two commonest felonies were theft of cars and passing fictitious checks. Young fellows want to "keep up with the other fellow" in the standard of living, and find they can't do it in the ordinary way, so they take the other route, Jernigan says.

The Sheriff and Irvine agree that the proportion of Mexicans in county jail is about the same as it has been for a considerable time. Some of the Mexicans have no respect for law or order, says Jernigan, while others get hold of liquor.

The felons and others who constitute most of the criminals handled in the county, are fixturs, men usually young, who have no settled place of residence.

Jernigan is inclined to think that young fellows, most of them fairly well dressed, who are seen walking from place to place, are crooked, but adds that you can't be sure.

SEEK EMBRYO OPERA SINGERS

By JACK CARBERRY
(By International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 10.—Hidden away in New York's tenemented East Side may be a Melba or a Patti of the next generation.

"Who knows what talent may be there among the ranks of the unemployed?" ask Leon Levin, Joseph de Pono and Max Sachs, former heads of the children's opera of Petros, now residents of New York.

The three musicians propose to answer their own question in the first children's opera in the United States.

The trio proposes to instill in children's opera in New York, but along the same lines as the great Metropolitan.

Training would be free, the receipts from the performances going into a fund for the cultivation of little voices into the famous notes of the Metropolitan star.

NEW MACHINE IS TRUTH EXTRACTOR

BERKELEY, July 10.—The scientific cops have a new device for extracting truth from persons in whom this virtue is alleged not to exist.

It is the "lure search" and is the product of the brain of Dr. Albert Schneider, professor of criminology at the summer session of the University of California.

By capillary attraction it draws the truth from the finger tips of the unwilling and does it without their knowledge. The new machine is said to have the "lie detector" and "truth serum" backed off the map.

JAPS MUST STUDY U. S. CONSTITUTION

SACRAMENTO, July 10.—Striking at the alleged practice of Japanese language schools in teaching loyalty to the "fatherland" and disrespect for American ideals, Will C. Wood state superintendent of public instruction, today served notice on the Nipponese schools that they will be required to give a course in the constitution of the United States, including the study of American institutions and ideals, and require all students to take the course.

In addition to forcing the Japanese language schools to teach the constitution, the law provides that such courses shall be given in all public schools of the state from the eighth grade upwards.

Alzamel was not able to make a statement before he died, and the woman refused to talk; police believe the couple quarreled.

CLAIM U. S. INDIAN TREATED LIKE SERF

(By International News Service)
SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 10.—Resonant words, in their most desperate days under the Caste, would not have stood for the treatment American Indians have received from the United States Government.

So declared Mrs. O. J. Kellough, of Green Bay, Wis., the "fighting queen of the Iniquity" while here for a council of the Six Nations at the Onondaga Reservation, where stands the Confederacy "long house."

Mrs. Kellough is a full-blooded Onondaga, who has studied in four universities, traveled two years in Europe, written several books and lectured widely on Indian matters.

Education is the only remedy for Indian ills, she says, adding the comment that the best of modern instruction and influence brought to the Indians through his own system of development—something white men never understood or recognized.

THIEF BESTS HEAD OF CRIME BUREAU

SACRAMENTO, July 10.—Matchless with gentleman of criminal persuasion in a professional way is the every day pursuit of C. S. Morrill, head of California's Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation, but recently his friends found that Morrill's profession had become an obsession.

Suspecting a personal motive because his quibbled professional activity, Morrill's assistants investigated. The secret, carefully guarded, was finally leaked out in this manner: report to police headquarters: STOLEN—Large touring car, property of C. S. Morrill, state criminologist.

EARLY MARRIAGES SUCCESSFUL HERE

(By International News Service)
GREEN BAY, Wis., July 9.—Those experts on the subject of matrimony who decry early marriage might well study the record established by a Green Bay family. Through four generations past members of one family have married before reaching the age of 16 years—and all married happily.

With the birth of Donald Bailey to Mr. and Mrs. Wade Bailey, of Green Bay, Mrs. Fred Toulton, mother of the wife, became a grandmother at the age of 31. Her daughter is 15 years old.

Mrs. Toulton's mother, who was married at 14, became a great-grandmother at 53. The great-grandmother is Mrs. Peter Van Holster, of this city.

The record for the family is held by Mrs. Captain Harry Johnson, deceased, who was married at 12. Captain Johnson, paternal grandfather of Mrs. Toulton, became a great-grandfather at 78.
